Flooding Fears Prompt Buffalo Drainage

By JIM STEIERT
Outdoors Editor

UMBARGER - Perhaps it's a victory for the bureaucracy, or just another chapter in the ill-fated history of a drought-plagued impoundment. The draining of Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge will get underway here today, marking yet another setback only three months after the lake received its heaviest inflow of water in at least a decade.

The lake, which has long been popular with recreation-starved residents from throughout the Panhandle, was apparently to enjoy a revitalization in the wake of heavy rains that fell along its watershed in late May.

Federal authorities approved the lake for recreational use, giving the nod to the structural soundness of the dam at the site, and the area was subsequently opened to boating and water skiing. Fish were also stocked.

Now, ironically, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has directed that the lake must be drained only three months after it was okayed "because the dam's spillway would be unsafe if flash flooding occurred."

Gates at the dam were opened this morning, and water will gradually be released into Tierra Blanca Creek, which flows through the city of Canyon and into Palo Duro Canyon.

W.O. Nelson Jr., southwest regional director of the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service reported that engineers from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Texas Department of Water Resources, the Bureau of Reclamation and the Interior Department have all declared Buffalo's spillway unsafe.

"We regret having to take this action, but it's a matter of public safety that cannot be ignored," Nelson stated.

Draining of the lake will result in the loss of some 5,000 largemouth bass fingerlings stocked earlier this summer by the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department, in addition to some four inch Florida bass. No monetary loss figure is available.

County Hires 2nd Attorney For Reapportionment Lawsuit

Deaf Smith County commissioners Monday hired attorney Rex Easterwood to assist District Atty. Roland Saul in action taken during a special meeting concerning a lawsuit filed against it by three Mexican-Americans.

The suit was filed last week in Federal District Court for the Northern District of Texas in Amarillo by the three Deaf Smith County residents, who contend that commissioner pericinct lines discriminate against Mexican-Americans.

Saul requested that the commission employ Easterwood since the workload for the district attorney's office would not allow Saul to devote full time to the suit. A vote approving the request was taken in open session following closed discussion.

Americo Gamez, Cecelia Garza and Oralia Guzman, who in the suit claim they are suing "on behalf of all Mexican-American residents of Deaf Smith County", contend that the county should be reapportioned.

The plaintiffs contend they are members of a class which is the subject of "invidious and discriminatory treatment" and are requesting "fair and equitable representation."

Randell 'Fair' After Shooting

A Hereford man was improved from critical to fair condition today in Deaf Smith General Hospital after he was shot in the right side by a .22-caliber pistol early Sunday morning.

Police received a call at 4:05 a.m. Sunday concerning a shooting at 519 Ave. F, where they found Ernie Randell of that address with a bullet wound in his side.

Witnesses at the house told police that Randell was demonstrating his "quick draw" when the gun discharged. However, the incident had not been termed accidental as of this morning.

Randell was listed in critical condition but a spokesman in the intensive care unit of the hospital said he had improved today.

The shooting is still under investigation.

Rameriz Resigns As Trustee

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Paul Rameriz, a police lieutenant who this year became the first Mexican-American ever to be elected to the Hereford Independent School District board of education, this morning resigned from the board in order that his wife could keep her job in the school system.

The board accepted the resignation during a special meeting in the administration building board room.

A state statute on nepotism prevents the rehiring of a school board trustee's spouse working in the school system for less than two years.

Rameriz's wife, an aide at Stanton Junior High, was ineligible for employment for the 1978-79 school year.

Rameriz was appointed to the board on March 14 and subsequently was elected in April to fill the unexpired term of David Pruitt, who moved from Hereford.

"I feel my resignation to be in the best interest of all concerned," Rameriz said.

In his letter of resignation, Rameriz stated, "I would like to take this opportunity to thank the community for allowing me the opportunity to serve on the school board. This board is comprised of some of the finest people I have ever had the good fortune to be associated with."

Board president James Gentry today called Rameriz "an asset" to the board, adding that his resignation was a disappointment. "It's a real shame that state laws are some times like they are," Gentry said.

The board may allow the position to remain vacant until next April or appoint a successor to remain in office until that time. No decision was made on the matter.

dilutes and minimizes the impact of Mexican-Americans on elections.

The suit states that the apportionment "now contains a population disparity in the neighborhood of 100 percent."

The plaintiffs, who are represented by San Antonio attorney Luis Segura, contend that reapportionment should be done by November in order to conduct new elections for all four commissioners.

The suit also request that all court costs, including attorneys' fees, be paid by Deaf Smith County.

The county must submit a formal answer to the suit in the Amarillo court by Aug. 31.

Voyles and Smith were the only commissioners present at the Monday meeting.

Krueger Says Tower Pay Hike Conflicts with Farmers' Interests

Democratic Senate nominee Bob Krueger today accused John Tower of voting for price supports for himself, in the form of a 29 percent pay raise, while opposing price supports for the American farmer "who needs financial aid far more than John Tower."

"We must recommit ourselves to passing legislation that will provide farmers with parity prices for their crops, Krueger said as he discussed current agriculture legislation during a campaign stop here.

Krueger outlined specific proposals he has offered aimed at remedying the problems of financially plagued farmers.

"American farmers and ranchers are having a harder and harder time breaking even and making a decent living than they have had in years," Krueger said. "Many face deeper and deeper debt. As a result, many young people are leaving farming—the average age of the American farmer today is 55."

Krueger recommended a greater commitment of federal resources to agriculture research, particularly in energy research for the farm, plentiful low-interest rate loans for farmers and ranchers who have been hurt by drought this year and land-use planning at the local, rather than federal, level.

The second-term congressman said he has cosponsored legislation creating a flexible parity system, allowing farmers to obtain up to 100 per cent parity by setting aside portions of their acreage.

Krueger said he also introduced legislation to tighten inspection standards for foreign meat which currently does not undergo the same scrutiny as domestic meat.

"The current system affords foreign producers an unfair advantage," the Democratic nominee said. "Domestic producers are required to pay inspection costs, while foreign producers are not."

Krueger is also the sponsor of a bill forcing imported beef will be required to bear a label informing the buyer that the meat is imported."

Krueger attacked the voting record of his Republican opponent John Tower, saying Tower has "compiled the worst record on agricultural issues of any Texas senator since Texas joined the Union."

Krueger lambasted Tower for his support of price controls on beef, and his vote against the passage of a bill extending price support programs for wheat, feed grains and wool and increasing the price support level for milk from 75 percent to 80 percent of parity.

"It is clear that John Tower is not a supporter of American agriculture."

"One of his first actions on the Senate floor was the introduction of an amendment to require development of a plan to eliminate all price supports," Krueger said.

"Farmers and ranchers need to be able to rely on stable long-term government policy. I will continue to see that this occurs."

Krueger said he favors the retention of secret balloting and protection of the rights of small businessmen.

"Any labor reform must be in no way jeopardize right-to-work laws. Right to work must be protected...and preserved," he said.

The New Braunfels native also criticized government overspending during his appearance here, saying we "cannot spend ourselves into riches."

"Our nation must follow the example of our state and live within its budget. If it requires a constitutional amendment to do so, then so be it."

Krueger said he offered a budget amendment last May to reduce the size of federal spending by $7 billion. That amendment was defeated, however.

"Our national government simply cannot spend the next generation's inheritance and impose on our young a lifetime in debt. It did not take Californians and Proposition 13 to teach Texans about government overspending. "The taxpayers are undoubtedly sending a message to Washington: 'Don't try to do everything for us, and don't promise what you can't deliver.'"

Calling education "our best investment in the future," the New Braunfels native said the United States must not fall into an "educational materialism" which confuses the surroundings of learning with learning itself.

United Way Sets Board Meeting

The board of directors of the Deaf Smith County United Way will meet at 6:30 a.m. Wednesday at Dickie's Restaurant, it has been announced by incoming president Paul Sims.

New directors will be installed during the dutch-treat breakfast and a budgets and admissions committee will be appointed.

The United Way will set a kickoff date for this year's drive in a future meeting.

Hereford and Vicinity YMCA directors Monday night asked the Hereford City Commission for land to build a $1.5 million underground YMCA to be constructed within the next five years.

YMCA board president Tom Burdett asked the commission to consider donating land adjacent to 15th Street and Ave. C-property which includes the city-owned lake in the area—for construction of the building.

Burdett said that Jay Swayze, who has designed the proposed underground Cowgirl Hall of Fame, will plan the YMCA, which Burdett said would cost around $1.5 million.

The commission did not vote on the request but voiced approval of the project.

Burdett said an underground facility "will draw national attention while serving the needs of our people and particularly our youth."

The YMCA president, who attended Monday's regular session along with YMCA director Rick Wood, program director Weldon Knabe, Swayze and board members Bud Eades and Roger Owen, said the facility would include an indoor pool, handball courts and offices.

The YMCA is presently housed inside Sugarland Mall.

Burdett's aid tentative plans call for securing a site this year, working with an architect and seeking a government grant in 1979 and starting a local fund drive in early 1980.

"We'll approach federal and state agencies interested in developing energy-saving projects concerning the possibility of funds," Burdett said.

Swayze told the commission that the advantages of an underground building include living in harmony with nature, a constant temperature and insurance savings.

Swayze, who has designed underground homes beside the Cowgirl Hall of Fame building, said his Geobuilding system is patented and endorsed by the National Science Foundation.

"I'd like for somebody to take the land out there and do something with it," Mayor Bartley Dowell said.

All four commissioners agreed with the mayor.

In other business, the commission discussed plans for a new city hall with Andrews architect Tommie Huckabee, agreed to join other West Texas cities in examining a proposed 26.36 percent rate increase by Pioneer Natural Gas Co., maintained the city sales tax on utility bills, set a meeting for next week concerning rules on use of the banquet room at the Community Center, resolved to authorize the state to construct a traffic signal, tabled bids on concrete and demolition work, tabled discussion on Southwestern Public Service's proposed rate increase and postponed discussion on a resolution banning toxic materials from the sanitary landfill area.

Huckabee submitted near-final plans for the new $700,000 city hall. The commission will be able to let bids for construction of the building probably in October, Huckabee said.

The architect told the commission that final details on the building would be worked out "in seven or eight days."

The commission agreed to join with other cities in hiring rate analysts to examine Pioneer's recent rate increase proposal. The action also voted to postpone the increase in Hereford for 120 days, as is allowed by the Texas Railroad Commission.

Commissioners did not discuss the Southwestern Public Service request upon City Manager Dudley Bayne's recommendation because the Public Utility Commission has not yet ruled on the SPS proposal.

The commission will set a hearing to determine its own rates after the PUC rules on the request. Municipalities are allowed to determine electric rates under the law which created the Public Utility Commission.

The commission took no action on removing or maintaining the one percent sales tax on utility bills, which, in effect, means that the tax will remain.

Bayne called the tax "the fairest tax I know of because it hits everyone" and recommended that the commission not

Blood Mobile Slates Stop

Joan Bookout, chairman of the local blood drive, has announced that Hereford owes a total of 191 pints of blood to the Coffee Memorial Blood Center and will have the opportunity to repay this debt when the mobile unit is at the Community Center from 3-6 p.m. Wednesday.

Area residents may designate blood in the following names: Bennie Moore, deceased, 15 pints; Pearl Gass, deceased, 8 pints; Robert Beles, 4 pints; Beulah Robinson, 8 pints; Wayne Milam, 16 pints; Exie Martin, 50 pints; Herminia Delgado, 24 pints; Janie Zepeda, 8 pints; Elsa Balderaz, 16 pints; Annie Cummings, 8 pints; and Larry Bain, 34 pints.

Mrs. Bookout also announced that 24 pints of blood will pay the premium for one year's blood insurance for a family.

Witherspoon...He's Prepared for 50 Years

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

If preparation makes perfect, then James Witherspoon won the game a long time ago.

Surprisingly, though, Witherspoon doesn't feel he has accomplished much as an attorney.

"I haven't really accomplished anything. I've just been getting prepared all this time," said Witherspoon, who next year will have been in Hereford for 50 years, either as an attorney or judge.

"The more you practice at anything, the more successful you become. I hope I've been successful."

His track record indicates he has. Witherspoon, whose name is in front of a list of attorneys comprising Hereford's largest law firm, is a member in good standing of more legal organizations than his office walls can hold, is executive secretary and legal representative of the Texas-New Mexico Sugarbeet Growers Association, is called upon by the country's Democratic political candidates for his influential support and has met every president since—and including—FDR.

Witherspoon, who says he has never considered entering politics except as a district judge "because you can't be a politician and be a lawyer both and I wouldn't give up law," often has spoken out in Washington D.C. on behalf of farmers.

"I'm not a registered lobbyist. I just claim the right to talk to our representatives in Washington on behalf of growers, producers."

"I haven't slowed down any. I'm working harder right now than I ever have."

"I like what I'm doing. My profession,

I guess you could say, is my hobby. I like to brief and split hairs and try lawsuits. I like to represent people to help them accomplish what they want to do. I like tax work, probate work. I like to help people be successful in their private endeavors."

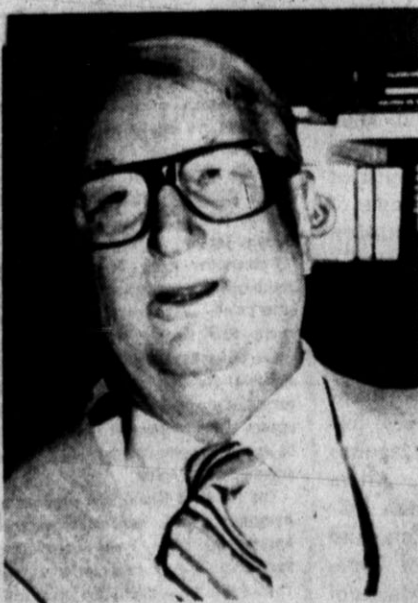

Witherspoon, who was raised in Curry County, N.M., attended Montezuma Baptist College, which no longer exists in Las Vegas, N.M., University of Texas at Austin and University of Oklahoma, came to Hereford in 1929 to set up his first law practice.

"I came to Hereford because Hereford was our trading center for the Bellview area (in Curry County)."

Witherspoon was elected district attorney for the seven-county 69th Judicial District in 1932.

"I ran for it because I was about to

Pill Still Popular For Birth Control

WASHINGTON (AP) - Although fewer women are using the oral contraceptive pill, it is still the most popular method of birth control, a new federal report shows.

Also, almost one-third of America's 27.2 million married couples with wives of child-bearing age are sterile, the report says, a result of the dramatic increase in surgical sterilization among white couples.

"Sterilization is taking over because it is so effective," said Dr. Kathleen Ford, author of the report released by the National Center for Health Statistics.

Sterility is defined as the physical incapability of one or both partners to produce a child.

Ms. Ford's report shows that 22.3 percent of all fertile couples in 1976 used the oral contraceptive pill to prevent conception, a drop from 25.1 percent in 1973.

In contrast, figures show that in 1976, about 7.2 percent of all married couples used a condom for birth control; 6.1 percent used intrauterine devices; 3.4 percent used the rhythm method; 3 percent used foam and 2.9 percent used a diaphragm. The rest used less effective methods, such as withdrawal.

"It is the first time the center has found a decrease in use of the pill," Ms. Ford said in an interview. She added that there was little use of the pill before the 1960s but that use increased rapidly during the 1960s and early 1970s.

Davis Back in Jail For Soliciting Murder

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) - Millionaire T. Cullen Davis goes before a district judge hopeful that today's bond hearing will prove more successful than one held here two years ago when a judge denied him bond, forcing him to spend 15 months in jail before being acquitted on capital murder charges last November.

Davis was arrested Sunday morning and charged with solicitation of capital murder. Tarrant County District Attorney Tim Curry said the 44-year-old industrialist attempted to hire the murder of District Judge Joe Eidson through karate expert Dave McCrory. Eidson is presiding over a 4-year-old divorce suit filed by Davis' estranged wife Priscilla.

Still pending against the soft-spoken oilman are one capital murder charge and two attempted murder charges in connection with a 1976 summer shooting spree at his $6 million mansion here.

Mrs. Davis was the state's chief witness at her husband's capital murder trial in Amarillo last year. He was tried and acquitted of charges he killed his 12-year-old stepdaughter Andrea Wilborn in a midnight shooting spree at the lush, hilltop estate Aug. 2, 1976.

A meeting will be held at 5 p.m. next Monday to discuss regulations governing use of the new banquet room at the Community Center. Commissioners discussed the matter Monday and heard a request from Robert Thompson of the Jim Hill estate trustees to provide security to civic clubs.

this morning. Rameriz told The Brand following the meeting that the board "bent over backwards trying to help me in this and I have no hard feelings towards anyone."

He said that he plans to seek election again in April. His wife according to the nepotism statute, will be eligible for re-employment in 1979 if Rameriz is elected.

In other business, the board approved a $5.4 million budget, accepted a low bid for transportation-fleet insurance and heard a report from its attorney concerning the Voting Rights lawsuit.

The budget calls for a beginning balance of $140,225 on Sept. 1, the start of the fiscal year, and an ending balance of $121,425 on Aug. 31, 1979.

In adopting the budget, the board approved a $100,250 athletic department request, which calls for a $14,700 increase over the 1977-78 fiscal year.

Two-thirds of the increase ($9,850) is in

Mrs. Davis' lover, Stan Farr, 30, was also killed in the incident. Mrs. Davis and a chance mansion visitor, Gus Gavrel Jr., were wounded. Both survivors named Davis as the gunman, as did Beverly Bass, Gavrel's date that night. She escaped unharmed and summoned police.

Textbook Committee To Read 40 Volumes

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - after five days of listening to homemakers, feminists, evolutionists, fundamentalists and other persuasions, the State Textbook Committee now must read some 40 volumes of materials.

In hearings that end today, the committee has heard critics assail and publishers defend almost $40 million in textbooks proposed for use in Texas public schools beginning in September 1979.

Reviewers and critics filed objections and responses prior to their committee appearances, which lasted from 15 minutes to several hours.

Committee members will recommend selections Sept. 11 to the State Board of Education, which approves a final list Nov. 11.

Among the hearing's Monday reviewers was Mrs. Janie Riddle of Houston, who deplored what she called a textbook's failure to show women in "traditional roles."

"These stories show women in careers outside the home," she said of a seventh grade supplemental reader, "The Big Ones" by Allyn & Bacon Inc.

"This is completely unrealistic. This is trying to mold the minds of children to accept a concept of life as someone wants it to be and not as it is," Mrs. Riddle said. "The vast majority of women are mothers and should be depicted as mothers if textbooks are to be realistic and not vehicles for social change."

Businesses Seek Larger Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) - Representatives of the nation's businesses, usually among the most conservative witnesses to appear before Congress, are calling for a tax cut nearly twice the size recommended by the Carter administration and the House.

There are two catches, though. The Chamber of Commerce says corporations and investors should get a bigger share of the $30 billion tax cut it proposes and that the cut should be accompanied by a slowdown in federal spending growth.

"The time is ripe for Congress to limit 1979 outlays to $480 billion," which would permit a 7 percent growth in spending and still allow bigger tax cut without increasing the deficit, Jack Carlson, the chamber's chief economist, told the Senate Finance Committee on Monday.

Congress seems likely to limit spending to about $489 billion next year. But the chamber's philosophy on taxes seems to fit well with that of the committee. That panel is expected to enlarge the House-passed tax cut of $16.3 billion - though not to the chamber's $30 billion mark - and is a good bet to increase the share for business and investors.

The Carter administration says it is comfortable with the size of the bill passed by the House, but prefers that a larger share go to lower- and middle-income individuals and that the capital gains relief, aimed at helping investors, be reduced.

Police Report

Hereford police today are investigating a rash of vandalism in the city, along with an assault on a woman at the Bluewater Garden Apartments.

Emelda Donjuan, whose address is listed as the Bluewater Garden Apartments, was hospitalized for bruises and cuts sustained in a Monday assault. She told police two women beat her at the apartments.

Jesse Maldonado, of Black, told police that someone threw a rock through the front window of his car while it was parked Monday afternoon at 501 Blevins.

Tires were slashed on two cars at Warren Brothers car lot, 1410 E. Park, some time Monday morning.

Allred Oil Co., Veteran's Park Road, reported Monday that someone broke windows with either a bat or club.

Six windows were broken out of the front of Poorboy Wrecking Co., 100 4th St. sometime Monday morning.

Pratt Chevrolet reported that a windshield in a new van was shot with a BB gun sometime over the weekend.

Delia Quintera, 701 Stanton, reported that a watch was stolen from her house over the weekend. Police plan to make an arrest in connection with the theft.

Dairy Queen on Park Ave. reported that someone ordered two soft drinks and left without paying Monday night.

A clerk at Allsup's No. 113, 529 Ave. H, reported this morning that she had received obscene telephone calls.

A man told police Monday afternoon that he was propositioned for sex by a juvenile male in Veteran's Park.

Policeman Ted Langgood was involved Monday night in a traffic accident. According to reports, he was responding to a call and as he attempted to pass a car driven by Joe Angel Garcia on Park Ave., Garcia's car turned left, and a collision occurred.

Langgood was cited for passing in a no-passing zone.

Flooding

A spokesman for the Fish & Wildlife Service reports there is no way to save the fish, because of heavy undergrowth in the lake and the size of the fish.

The Interior Department has known about structural weakness at the dam's spillway since June of 1967, but a spokesman for the department said nothing had been done about the structural weakness any earlier "because there just hasn't been any money available for extensive repairs."

The spokesman pointed out that the financial situation for the hard-pressed national wildlife refuge system is much the same at this time, and because of the financial pinch, the only remaining alternative is to drain the lake.

Nelson explained that concern for the safety of residents in the Canyon area, downstream from the lake, is one of the major factors in the decision to drain.

"We have no way of knowing if flash flooding, such as that which brought the lake up to its current level, could occur again next week of five years from now," Nelson stated.

Officials hold that flash flood waters could undermine the spillway and result in a portion of the dam giving way.

"The spillway should have been reworked in the last five years, when the lake was dry and before it filled up. We hate to lose the water because of all the waterfowl that could have used it this winter," stated Larry Wynn, acting manager at the refuge.

The 7,664-acre refuge is home to mule deer, pheasant, coyotes and other wildlife species, in addition to serving as the wintering ground for thousands of ducks and geese each year.

Water is expected to drain out of the lake at a rate of three acre-feet, or approximately one million gallons per day, a rate of flow expected to stay within the streambed of Tierra Blanca Creek.

It is expected to take about four months to drain away the lifeblood of the drought-ravaged lake after its short-lived lease on life.

Throughout much of its history, Buffalo has been plagued by misfortune.

Built in the 1930's by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, the lake became a water sports and picnicking playground for the entire Panhandle region during the 1950's and early 1960's.

But in the 1960's, pollution and lack of water inflow became a problem at the lake and it was eventually closed to recreation.

The lake received 1,700 acre feet of water in 1973, that was eventually drained when it became stagnant. Until the late May rains, it had remained dry since that time.

DALE JOHNSTON

Southwest Bell Names Manager

Dale Johnston, formerly of Houston, has been named Southwestern Bell manager for the business office for Hereford and Canyon, according to the company's district manager John Clemmons.

Johnston replaces Gary Terry, who has taken a position with the company in Austin.

In his new position, Johnston will be responsible for Southwestern Bell's residential business office service in the two cities and for service to business throughout the Panhandle, with the exception of metropolitan Amarillo. He will also oversee the company's community relations activities in Hereford and Canyon.

A native of Orange, Texas, Johnston received his bachelor of business administration degree from Texas Christian University in 1968. In 1971, he was awarded a master's degree from Central Michigan University.

While at TCU, he was a member of the football team and lettered in 1967 and 1968. He was also selected to the All-Southwest Conference team in 1968.

After graduation from TCU, Johnston served as a pilot in the Air Force for 5½ years.

He joined Southwestern Bell in 1975 in Houston, holding the position of manager until his transfer to Hereford.

Johnston is married and has two sons, ages 6 and 2.

In 1743, Sweden ceded a large part of Finland to Russia.

Capital Gains Tax--

What's That To You

The capital gains tax. What's that to you? Presently Congress promises to pass and the President threatens to veto a reduction in the capital gains tax.

Capital gains--that's the tax investors pay on invested money. But you have all you can do to pay monthly bills, with nothing left over to invest.

The capital gains tax--what's that to you? Sometimes we have let Congress slip through something--or slip up on something--because we, the people, did not pay attention.

Monetary considerations are frequently so complex that most members of Congress do not understand the tax legislation on which they vote. They trust the knowledgeability of members and go along with the committees' recommendation.

If you are retired and living on the income from invested money, the $5,000-a-year income you thought would keep you in comfort for life now barely keeps you fed.

Also, the house you bought 20 years ago has doubled in value. But if you sell it the taxes you will pay on the sale price plus the shrunken dollar value means you will go backward on the transaction.

This is true of money anybody invests in anything.

Again, what's that to you? you have no factory, no machinery, no stocks and no bonds.

But almost everybody who has a job owes that job to somebody else's invested capital.

That's the way our economic system, the most successful in the world, works.

Industries share the risks of expansion and the resultant profits or losses with thousands--sometimes millions--of investors.

If those people stop investing, those wheels stop turning. You can't have lights without generators.

Our nation's tax system was designed for an economy with little or no inflation.

The National Bureau of Economic Research has added all invested capital during one recent year, and discovered that individuals paid a total capital gains tax on corporate stock of $4.6 billion.

When the costs for these shares were adjusted for the increase in consumer prices between the time of purchase and the time of sale, the $4.6 billion "gain" became a $1 billion loss.

Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal recently lamented, "Our financial system is not providing sufficient equity capital. We are not investing enough."

Little wonder.

CALLIE Z. GILBERT

Funeral services for Callie Z. Gilbert, 83, of 1209 E. Park Ave. will be conducted at 2 p.m. Wednesday in First Baptist Church with the Rev. Doug Manning, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in West Park Cemetery under the direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mrs. Gilbert, who had resided in Hereford for 28 years, died Monday afternoon in Central Plains Hospital at Plainview.

Born Aug. 31, 1894 in Georgia, Callie Edwards married J.D. Gilbert Sr. Dec. 24, 1941 at Hulver. He preceded her in death in August, 1961.

The Gilberts came to Hereford in 1950 from Artesia, N.M.

Mrs. Gilbert was a homemaker and a Baptist.

SAFE BROWN BAG LUNCHES

When kids come home from school with the cramps, diarrhea, vomiting, fever-the tendency is to dismiss it as just "a bug that's going around." Or when you miss a couple of days work with the same symptoms, you figure you merely "caught something somewhere." But the bug you caught-or that caught you-may well have been food poisoning. And you might have sent the bug to school or work in that innocent brown bag lunch. The following questions and answers will help you pack a safe lunch:

Q. What is the real key to packing a safe "brown bag" lunch?

A. Very simply: good sensible sanitation, personal hygiene, and sound food care. Following a few simple, easy precautions now will save you and your family a lot of grief later. First, cook food thoroughly. If it's meant to be hot, keep it hot. If it's meant to be cool, keep it cool. Bacteria thrive between 45 and 115 degrees F.

Second, keep utensils and countertops used in preparing lunches clean. Wash them thoroughly with soap and hot water. The same goes for your hands. If you have cuts or sores, use rubber gloves. Also, wash vacuum bottles and rinse in boiling water after each use. In short, keep hot foods hot, cold foods cold, and everything clean. Use tongs or a fork to place meat, poultry or cheese in the sandwich-not your fingers. Fingers spread bacteria.

Q. How can I keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold?

A. The familiar vacuum bottle is a good way to keep certain kinds of food hot or cold. There are several other ways to keep food cold. Ideally, you should put your lunch in the refrigerator-if you have one. If not, use a freezer gel device, or make one by cleaning out a plastic margarine tub, filling it with water and freezing it. Put it in the lunchbag to keep the lunch cold 'til you're ready to eat. Or you might try freezing certain types of sandwiches, though you will experience some loss of quality.

Frozen sandwiches thaw in time for lunch, and also help keep the rest of the lunch cool until then. One other thing to remember-letting your lunch sit in a warm place (such as the top of a radiator) lets bacteria grow at will. The longer it sits, the greater the potential for problems.

Q. What kinds of meat and poultry products are best for "brown bag" lunches?

A. Canned meat and poultry products, opened and eaten immediately, are a good bet (if the can is sealed and not bulged or dented). Dry meats or fully cooked products, like bologna and franks, also keep well. Frozen chicken or turkey is good, too. Virtually any meat or poultry product can be used - if it's cooked and handled properly.

Q. How about soups, stews and chili?

A. If these products are boiling hot when poured into a sterile vacuum bottle, you shouldn't have any problem with them at all. Salmonella, for example, are killed by exposure to 155 degrees F. - well below boiling temperature of 212 degrees F.

Q. Are special precautions needed with fruits and vegetables?

A. Just be sure they're clean and well scrubbed.

Q. Should I use a lunchbox instead of a paper bag?

A. That's a good idea. Lunch boxes, especially insulated ones, hold the cold much better than paper bags. Plus, a box is easy to clean and sanitary. If you do use the familiar "brown bags," however, buy them specifically for lunches and use them once-don't use bags in which you bring home left-over lunches, groceries, or other items.

Q. OK, but how would I know food poisoning was the problem in the first place?

A. You wouldn't-without thorough medical tests. But if you have severe headache, diarrhea, vomiting, abdominal cramps and fever after eating, there's a pretty good chance the culprit might be food poisoning. Because the symptoms are similar, "flu" and food poisoning are often mistaken for each other. Food poisoning is rarely fatal, but may affect infants and elderly persons severely. If you get sick, ask your doctor about the possibility of food poisoning. The important thing to remember is-why take chances? You can prevent food poisoning.

Prenuptial Party Fetes Miss Lowrie

A bridal shower honoring Miss Karen Lowrie, bride-elect of Russell Harkins was held Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ernest Flood, Harrison Highway.

The couple plan to be wed Saturday in the Frio Baptist Church.

The honoree's sister, Sharon Lowrie, invited guests to sign the registry.

Guests were served from a table covered with a blue linen cloth. The floral centerpiece was made of silk tiger lilies and blue daisies. Yellow and blue votive lights were scattered about the table. Refreshments included petit fours, cheese balls, nuts and mints. Banana punch and coffee were served.

Hostesses assisting Mrs. Flood were Mmes. Clark Andrews, Ronnie Andrews, Stan Brock, Floyd Cole, Charles Cosper, Ernest Flood, Kenneth Frye, Clayton Jobe, Wayne Keeter, Sid Killough, Karl Mannschreck, Bill Marquis, John Mathews, Charles Newell.

Also, Mmes. Richard Price, R.M. Reinauer, Frank Robbins, Charles Self, T.L. Sparkman, Weldon Stephan, J.E. Warrick, and Mrs. Richard Zinser.

Lingerie Shower Fetes Bride-Elect

An informal lingerie shower for Mary Jean Reinart, bride-elect of Jimmy Sims, was held Saturday in the home of Mrs. Clifton Kelley.

A bouquet of yellow daisies was the centerpiece for the refreshment table where lemon punch, cake and snacks were served. A corsage of yellow daisies was presented to the bride-to-be.

Hostesses for the shower were Sina Rowan, Julie Urban-cyzk, Grace Vasek, Bridget Williams and Mrs. Kelley.

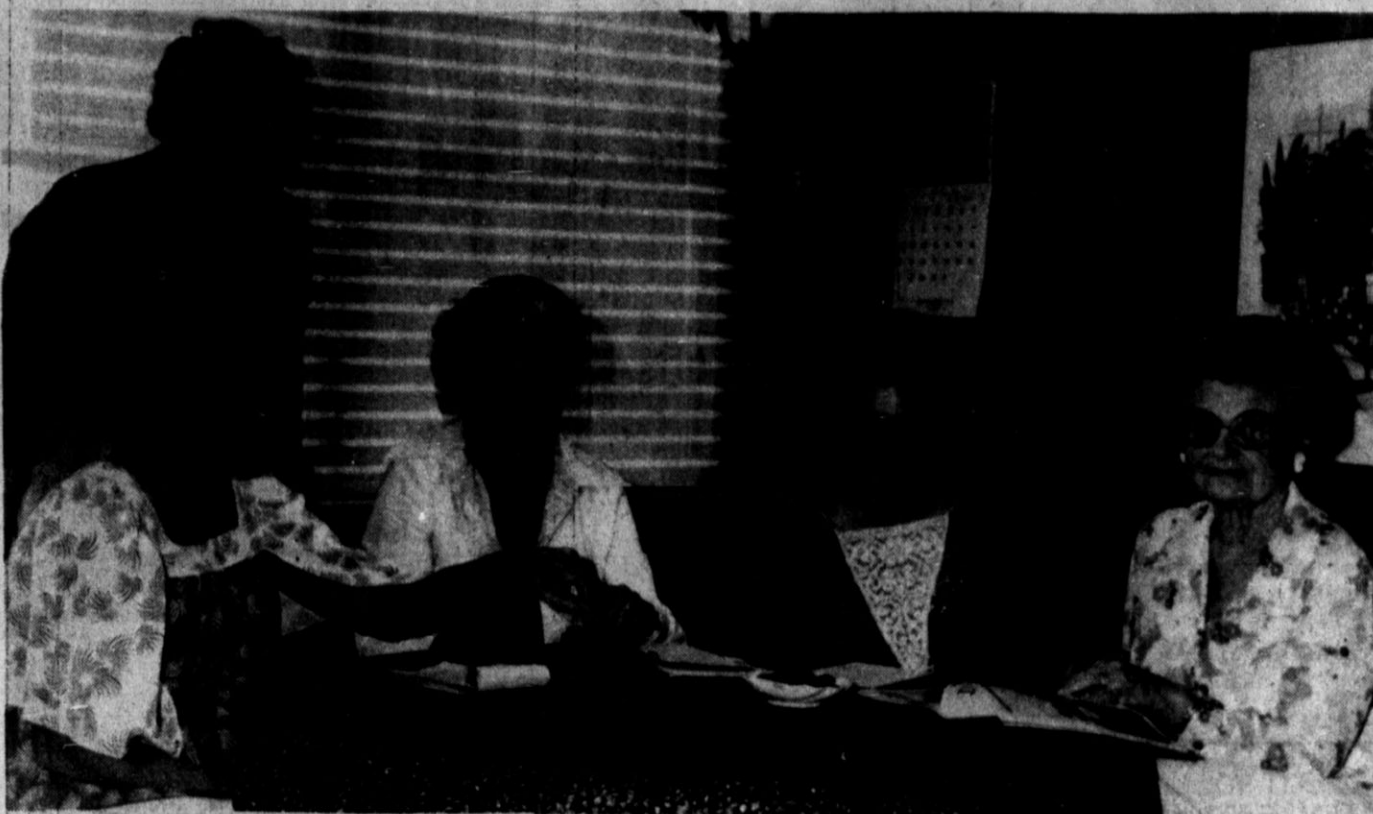

Friends who attended were Reta Sims, Donna Turnbow, Donna Kendall, Juanita Hartman, Sammee and Pam Mazurek, Babette Spinhrine, Brenda Batenhorst, Chris Hartley and Miss Crystal Kelley.

MORE RECORDS SOLD

NEW YORK (AP) - The recording industry in the United States experienced an increase in 1977 over the previous year by 28 percent in dollar sales and 18 percent in unit sales, according to the Recording Industry Association of America.

The greatest percentage increase was registered by pre-recorded tape cassettes which rose to 36.9 million in unit sales in 1977 from 21.8 million in 1976, an increase of 69.3 percent.

The only phase of the business which didn't jump was 45 rpm records, called singles, which remained even with 1976, at 190 million units.

Preparing For Breakfast

the Hall of Fame hostess committee as entertainment for the seven honorees, two of whom will be unable to attend the induction ceremony. Shown from left is Mrs. Newsom, Caroline Higgins, Florence Trawick, Mary Lee Aven and Leona Kimball. (Photo by Dianne Banner)

Ann Landers Counting On Ann

DEAR ANN LANDERS:

Boy, do I have a dumb habit-and I don't know what possesses me to keep doing it or why. I COUNT everything I do! I count all my household chores and if I get through by a certain time I feel "uncomfortable" and "unfinished." I count how many dishes I wash, how many strokes it takes to brush my teeth and comb my hair. I even count the number of steps it takes to get from one place to another, although it doesn't matter and there's no reason to know.

Has anyone else ever written you about this nutty problem? I realize it's unusual and I'm embarrassed about it but I don't know who else to ask. I'm COUNTING on you. Hal--Connecticut Counter

DEAR COUNTER: You have what the experts call an obsessive-compulsive neurosis. In simpler language it means your uncontrollable urge to count is a symptom of other problems.

DEAR MISS LANDERS: I am 15 years old and would like to respond to a letter you printed April 19, 1978, signed "Second Time Around and Fighting to Win."

I would like to inform the moron who wrote that just because a woman is a second wife doesn't mean she owns her husband. The odds are that the children knew him long before she came along and they have "squatter's rights."

Father-Dear cannot divorce his children, even though Wife No. 2 would like him to. Since he has obviously ditched most of his paternal responsibilities, the children seek material things to substitute for his time and attention, of which they have been deprived for many years.

The first wife may have a right to be bitter. She may not take kindly to a female who has seduced her husband while she was at home taking care of five kids, two dogs and a big house.

Please try to print this letter, Ann Landers. It expresses the view of millions of children in America, which is rarely expressed or taken seriously. BEEN THERE AND UNDERSTAND

DEAR BEEN THERE: If you are a 15-year old girl I'm a belly dancer in Egypt. But your letter represents a valid point of view and I am happy to print it. I know a letter from a first wife when I see it-and I just saw one.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My 39-year old husband and our 14-year old daughter have a "father-son" relationship I used to think was great. Now I'm wondering.

Almost every evening after dinner, Debbie and Dad roll around on the floor and have a "rassling match." Debbie is a fully developed young lady and I don't think she should be horsing around like this.

Our 15-year old son has never been comfortable with his dad. I wish Dad would rattle with him and leave the girl alone. Right or wrong?--Delano, Cal.

DEAR DEL: Right. Family counseling would be marvelously helpful. Check the local mental health society or Family Service.

Graduate Honored At Dinner

A dinner honoring Sara Pesina, West Texas State University graduate, was held Saturday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Pesina, 313 Ave. F.

Mrs. Pesina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Gamez, hosts for the dinner, graduated from WTSU during the commencement exercises held Saturday afternoon at Amarillo Civic Center.

She received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Elementary Education and was named as "Student Teacher of the Year" by Phi Delta Kappa Sorority. She is a 1974 graduate of Hereford High School.

Parents have been under fire a lot lately for not knowing their children. They've been accused of selfishly pursuing their own goals and not giving a tinker's toot who their children are, where they are, or where they've been.

This is quite an indictment, and to make a distinction between parents who take their job seriously and those who don't, I offer today a quiz on "HOW WELL DO YOU KNOW OUR CHILDREN?"

1. Can you name three of their best friends by their first and last names?
2. Do you know when they last changed their underwear?
3. Do you know for a fact that the voice from under the bathroom door belongs to your nine-year-old?
4. Do you know what books are being hidden that they think you don't know that you know they're reading?
5. Do you communicate? Or was the last time they spoke to you when the smoke alarm went off in their room?
6. Do you know where their school is located?
7. Would you recognize your child if the braces were removed?
8. When it's 11 o'clock do they know where their parents are?
9. Can you read their report card without an interpreter?
10. Did they have to flunk biology before you realized they were taking it?
11. How long has it been since they brought their gym shorts home to be laundered?
12. Do you know what they want to be this week when they grow up?
13. What are their allergies besides soap, homework and closing doors?
14. Who are their heroes? Heroines?
15. What do they do with their allowance?
16. What's under their beds?
17. What makes them laugh? Cry?
18. What size are their shoes?
19. Have you ever watched them play anything competitively?
20. Do you understand what was written under their pictures in the yearbook?
21. Who are their favorite relatives? Why?

If you bombed out on the above 21, you can redeem yourself by answering, "How do they feel about themselves?" and still get a pretty good score.

Mud Marathon Held in Missouri

SEDALIA, Mo. (AP) - Tom Yung of Salisbury drove his four-wheel drive pickup truck 212 feet into a 500-foot-long pool of mud to win first place in the Missouri State Fair's first mud marathon.

The object was to see which vehicle could get the farthest before getting stuck in the mud, which was several feet deep. Hundreds of fair-goers risked splatters to watch the event Sunday.

"It ain't too good on my truck, but it's a heckuva lot of fun," Yung said.

Ouch!

Grim expressions were the rule rather than the exception Monday when two-aways commenced here for high school footballers. Over 150 boys turned out for the conditioning drills according to officials. This hard working youth appears to have his hand caught under someone's shoe but actually he's simply doing neck drills by pressing against his partner's leg.

Iowa State Coach Agrees With Sooner Selection

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Earle Bruce would hate to see anyone but Oklahoma favored this year in the Big Eight Conference.

"If you didn't make Oklahoma the favorite, everybody would collapse," says the Iowa State head coach.

But Bruce also says there are more good football players at Iowa State this year than ever. And nobody in the Big Eight, after watching the Cyclones go 8-3 each of the past two regular seasons, is arguing.

The 17 starters who are back after leading Oklahoma to last year's Big Eight title are logically expected to do it again.

Four of the eight schools have new athletic directors and two have new head coaches.

Regardless of who winds up in the Orange Bowl — and most observers figure Oklahoma, Nebraska, Iowa State and Colorado have the best shots — the champion seems unlikely to be as powerful as the Nebraska-Oklahoma titans who ruled earlier in this decade.

Not surprisingly, the top teams in the league, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Iowa State and Colorado, are the same ones who have their athletic directors coming back.

Good athletes always abound at Nebraska, and the Huskers, say Osborne, never have had two running backs at the same time the caliber of Rick Berns and I.M. Hipp. As a consequence, Osborne is designing a Veer-type offense to supplant the I-formation so both can be on the field at the same time.

Colorado returns 13 lettermen, including All-Conference running back James Mayberry. Of greater significance is the schedule, which includes eight home games and trips only to Oklahoma State, Missouri and Kansas State.

Kansas State, under new head Coach Jim Dickey, will be trying to win its first Big Eight game in three years. Missouri, under new head Coach Warren Powers, will be trying to awaken the slumbering giant people always have referred to when speaking of the Tigers. Kansas Coach Bud Moore, for the first time since he came to the Jayhawks in 1975, will not be using the Wishbone offense, deeming it wise to fit the plan to the personnel rather than the other way around.

West Texas State has about as many returning starters as Oklahoma and is regarded the favorite to retain the Missouri Valley Conference title. Running back Bo Robertson, who ran for 1,399 yards last year, has a seven-yard average-per-play that is tops among college players.

Wichita State was a close second in a pre-season poll of coaches and writers, mostly because of quarterback Jim Andrus.

Unless Settlement Reached "We're Out" Say Umpires

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The 52 major league umpires, claiming baseball officials have balked at discussing their demands for improved benefits and working conditions, have threatened to strike by the end of the week.

Attorney Richard Phillips, who represents the Major League Umpires Association, said he filed an unfair labor practices suit Monday against the National and American leagues with the National Labor Relations Board.

"The feeling on the part of most umpires is that at this point we will engage in a work stoppage in order to force the major leagues to desist from unfair labor practices," said Phillips.

"The NLRB will initiate its own investigation," Phillips said.

But the lawyer added, "It will be decided this week by the umpires whether to strike before the NLRB makes its decision. I don't think we will sit back and wait."

Phillips said the umpires association executive board, which consists of four National League and three American League umpires, would confer by phone, probably today and Wednesday, to make a final decision on the strike.

National League President Chub Feeney, contacted at the San Francisco Giants-New York Mets game in New York, said a strike "is not going to happen."

Bob Fishel, assistant to the president of the American League, confirmed the umpires' association had sent President Lee MacPhail a request to negotiate.

But, Fishel said, the wire had only arrived Friday and it was unclear whether the umpires were seeking changes in the current five-year contract or whether they were offering proposals for a 1981 contract.

Phillips said the umpires' demands are items not covered by the current contract, which was approved in 1977, but he claimed there were procedures for reopening negotiations.

He said the umpires have several demands, including three one-week vacations during the eight-month major league baseball season.

Other proposals cited by Phillips include:

• Job security after three years experience for those who maintain a 90 percent rating for their performance.

• Cost of living increases based on the consumer price index.

Phillips represented National Basketball Association referees two seasons ago when they struck the league's playoffs in a contract dispute.

The NBA brought in minor league officials to work the early playoff games. However, an agreement was reached and regular officials worked later games.

Phillips said a 10-year referee in the NBA earns $42,500, compared to $31,000 for a baseball umpire.

"The baseball umpire makes 75 percent of what the referees make and work twice as many games," Phillips said.

Volleyball Meeting Slated

Girls planning to participate in volleyball this year should report to the high school gym Thursday.

Volleyball coach Helen Reed said girls should meet at 4 p.m. at the gym, "and please bring their physicals," she said.

The first National Assembly representing both North and South Vietnam met on June 24, 1978. The country was officially reunited July 2, 1976. The former North Vietnamese capital, flag, anthem, emblem and currency were applied to the new state.

Horton Finds a Home; Blues Whip Rangers

TORONTO (AP) — Times have been frustrating for Willie Horton this season, but after spending four months with three separate teams the veteran slugger is hoping he's finally found a home.

"I just hope maybe I can finish out my career here," the 35-year-old designated hitter said after belting a two-run homer and adding a run-scoring single as the Toronto Blue Jays defeated the Texas Rangers 8-6 in a battle of the long ball.

Alan Ashby also contributed a solo home run for the Blue Jays in the American League baseball contest, played before a Canadian National Exhibition crowd of 16,001.

The Rangers got a three-run homer from Jim Sundberg and bases-empty shots from Bobby Bonds, Kurt Bevacqua and Al Oliver as Texas lost its third consecutive game.

Horton, who lives in Detroit, was with the Rangers this spring. But just as training camp opened, he was dealt to the Cleveland Indians, who released him three months into the season.

He was then signed by the Oakland A's but was shipped to Toronto, along with minor-league pitcher Paul Hoffman, last Monday in exchange for slugger Rico Carty.

"I've felt comfortable since the first day I put on the Toronto uniform," said Horton, who went 2-for-4 in his first game before the Toronto fans after hitting .125 in seven games on the road. "It never takes me long to fit in. I never try to force my ways on anyone."

The Rangers had built up a

6-2 lead after 4½ innings on the four home runs with Horton's blast, his ninth of the season and first since joining the Blue Jays, accounting for Toronto's two runs.

Dave McKay led off the Toronto fifth with a single off starter Dock Ellis, and Tim Johnson's ground-rule double moved him to third. Mike Hargrove's error allowed the first run of the inning to score.

Roy Howell's grounder scored the second run, Horton's single delivered another and chased Ellis. Jim Umbarger, 4-8, walked John Mayberry and pinch-hitter Otto Velez before Ashby's bloop single to right scored two runs and put the Blue Jays ahead 7-6.

Ashby, blooped his eighth homer in the eighth in support of Tom Murphy, 5-9, who blanked the Rangers over the final 4½ innings for the victory in relief of Balor Moore.

"On most days, four home runs is enough," said Texas Manager Billy Hunter, who saw his club drop seven games off the pace of idle Kansas City and California.

"Dock pitched super for the first three innings and then he just got tired. It was his first start since July 18," Hunter said.

Ellis retired the first eight Blue Jays before Johnson's two-out single in the third. The Toronto shortstop had three hits.

Moore was touched for all six Texas runs on nine hits while Murphy blanked the Rangers on three hits the rest of the way. The Blue Jays also collected 12 hits off Ellis, Umbarger and Len Barker, who came on to get the final out of the Toronto eighth.

"It was a big home run for Willie and that two-out single of his in the fifth certainly helped out too," said Toronto Manager Roy Hartsfield.

Tennis Classic Produces Various Net Participants

They 1978 Hereford Tennis Tournament concluded here Sunday, despite on-again, off-again rain clouds.

Tournament helpers Lucy Rogers and Dave Hopper said they were pleased with this year's tennis tournament.

Over 40 junior tennis buffs played in the classic, while about 20 adult players participated in matches.

In girls singles, 12-years and under, Connie Zinser, 11, won the "division while Vanessa Sims, 12, was runner-up.

In 12 boys singles, Blair Rogers beat Rob Snyder 6-0, 6-1 to win 1st place.

The 12 boys doubles team of Snyder and Rogers then won their division, while Larry Welton and Greg Reinauer came in second.

Kim Sims won the 14 girls singles bracket, after she defeated Beth Frye 6-3, 6-0.

In girls 14 doubles, Carol Zinser and Lisa Snyder teamed to win over Kim and Vanessa Sims, who took 2nd place honors.

Trent Thomas won the 14 boys singles bracket after downing Steve Barrett 6-4, 6-3.

Both Thomas and Barrett then teamed up to win the 14 boys doubles event.

Kevin Coupe and Bob Templeton won the 2nd place spot in the division.

Roy Rodriguez captured the 16 boys singles trophy, downing Adolfo Garcia in the finals 6-4, 5-7, 6-3.

Joni Webb and Lynn Mitts won 18 girls doubles in round robin play. Larla Driskell and Lisa Blakely were 2nd in the competition.

Joni Webb won 1st place in 18 girls singles. She downed Karen Compton 6-0, 6-0 in the finals.

In 18 boys singles, Ruben Vargas won 1st place while Tim Hamlett was 2nd.

Jim Ramirez and Ruben Vargas won 18 boys doubles 6-2, 6-2 after downing Adolfo Garcia and Roy Rodriguez.

Other participating in the junior division were Wade Easley, Brent Clark, Scott Gentry, Steve Vaughn, Todd Martin, Ryan Lawson, Marta Jorde, and Crystal Zinser.

Also Nedra Fuhrmann, Scott Simmons, Blair Rogers, Bowie Neumayer, Mike Allred, Kelly Cassels, Tim Martin, Kathy

Rudder, Mendi Rogers, Mark Moore, Robbie Snyder.

ADULT DIVISION

In women's A singles play, Joni Webb beat Karen Grimsley 6-2, 6-3 while in women's A doubles, the team of Janet McWhorter and Jenny Cassels won over Karen Grimsley and Susan Grimsley.

In men's A singles, Rocky Rodriguez beat David Zinser in the finals 6-1, 6-2.

Rodriguez then teamed with Ruben Vargas for the doubles championship.

In women's B singles, Kylene Gentry beat Teri Beth Rush 4-6, 7-6, 6-2. The doubles team of Rush and Lucy Rogers won the women's B doubles defeating Zinser and Zinser 7-5, 6-3.

James Williams won the men's B singles downing Jim Easley 6-3, 6-0.

Men's B doubles champions were Williams and Jimmy Blair who downed Wood and Julius Bodner 6-1, 7-5.

In mixed doubles, Joni Webb and Ruben Vargas won the division 6-4, 6-1. They defeated Dave Hopper and Sheila Watley in the final match play.

Vickie Green and Jake Webb won the doubles B division after winning over Lucy Rogers and W. Robinson.

Caulkins Picked To Collect Gold

BERLIN (AP) — Tracy Caulkins had a good chance of winning her third gold medal today in the World Swimming Championships, while American teammates Phil Boggs and Jesse Vassallo figured as favorites in their events.

Caulkins, 15, whose golds include a world record victory in the women's 200-meter individual medley and an outstanding performance in the women's 400-meter medley relay, was entered in the 100-meter breaststroke, one of six finals scheduled today.

Vassallo, a 16-year-old native of Puerto Rican who lives in Mission Viejo, Calif., holds the world record in the men's 400-meter individual medley.

Boggs, at 28, one of the grand old men of the American team, outclassed European champion Falk Hoffmann of East Germany in Monday's qualifying for the men's springboard diving.

Victories in the three events would extend the Americans' lead in medals which began in Sunday's finals, when the United States earned nine medals including four golds for a decisive lead over East Germany in the 49-nation meet.

Stupy's Double Help Diablos Down Dodgers

Terry Stupy doubled off the outfield wall to drive in the winning run Monday night as the El Paso Diablos defeated the San Antonio Dodgers, 7-4, in a Texas League baseball game.

In other Texas League action, Jackson defeated Shreveport, 5-2, Amarillo edged Midland, 7-5, and Arkansas beat Tulsa, 7-5.

Stupy's double gave the Diablos a 6-4 lead. He scored the seventh run later in the inning on a single by Bob Slater.

Bill Ewing's 23rd homer of the year in the first inning gave El Paso a 2-0 lead, but San Antonio bounced back with four runs in the third. Then came on Kelly Snider's 13th homer and a double by Bobby Mitchell.

Ken Schrom, now 8-6, was the winning pitcher.

Thomas, Kevin Coupe, Bob Templeton, Blair Rogers, Robbie Snyder, Tim Hamlett.

Houston Snaps Losing Streak With Cub Win

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston right fielder Jose Cruz hopes recent history doesn't repeat itself.

Cruz, who has been flirting with the .300 mark the last few weeks, knocked in four runs with three singles and a home run to help pace the Astros to an 8-3 drubbing of the Chicago Cubs Monday night to snap Houston's six-game losing streak.

"It seems like every time I get close to .300, I fall back down," said Cruz, now batting .302. "This wasn't my best game of the season offensively."

I had six RBIs in a game against Atlanta."

J.R. Richard and Joe Sambito combined on a six-hitter as Houston moved into a fifth-place tie with the Braves in the National League West.

Dennis Walling's RBI single and Jimmy Sexton's run-producing double staked the Astros to a 2-0 second inning lead against losing pitcher Rick Reuschel, 12-11.

Run-scoring singles by Richard and Sexton and Cruz' two-run single to right triggered a four-run fourth inning explosion as the Astros prevented the Cubs from narrowing Philadelphia's three-game lead over second-place Chicago in the National League East.

Cruz drove in the Astros' final two runs with his 10th homer of the season, a seventh-inning blast over the right-field wall against Cub reliever Ken Holtzman.

Richard, 13-11, ran into control problems in the eighth as he walked four and surrendered a two-run single to Bill Buckner. Sambito, who signed his 1978 contract earlier in the day, uncorked a wild pitch to bring in the Cubs' final run of the inning before shutting off the rally by retiring pinch-hitter

Mike Vail on an inning-ending grounder.

"That was some of the best control I've had all year," Richard said of his first seven innings on the mound. "We still have a good club. I think they (the Cubs) came in and took us too lightly."

The victory was Houston's 15th in 17 games.

OU Coaches Hoping For Familiar Team

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma University coaches are "trusting" that, besides contempt, familiarity also breeds winning football teams.

Members of the school's 1978 team will be among friends, or at least old acquaintances, when they meet their first opponent, Stanford, on Sept. 9.

Of last year's team, 43 lettermen are returning, 15 of them starters. Among the missing are flashy left halfback Elvis Peacock and defensive All-American Zac Henderson.

Offensive coordinator Galen Hall said his "new" backfield will revolve around returning quarterback Thomas Lott, with halfback David Overstreet replacing Peacock, and fullback Kenny King and halfback Billy Sims returning.

But all is not rosy. "I'm really concerned about injuries," head Coach Barry Switzer said. "They almost wiped us out last year. We may have been lucky to finish 10-1, considering all the people we had injured at one time or another."

In addition to a regular-season loss to Texas, the Sooners were beaten 31-6 by Arkansas in the Orange Bowl.

Switzer's concern over injuries apparently is warranted since the first 1978 injury already has occurred, Veteran center Paul Tabor is expected to be out six or seven weeks of the season with a broken hand.

Seitzer said this loss would leave the team with "no experience" in the center spot and may cause coaches to cancel plans to redshirt sophomore. Billy Bechtold so that he can take over the post.

Defensively, injuries also will present a problem, according to new defensive coordinator Rex Norris.

"We've got All-Americans

Reggie Kinlaw, Daryl Hunt and George Cumby coming back," Norris said. "So we will have some obvious strengths, but we have to get over our injury problem."

Last year, Kinlaw and free safety Bud Hebert were back by major injuries. Kinlaw seems to have overcome his recurring knee injury and Norris said that this spring "he is looking the best I have ever seen him."

But Hebert, especially, still is a cause for concern.

"We've got to have some defensive backs come through," Norris said. "We have to have someone come through at free safety."

Switzer insists the team will be quick and experienced, but said he doubts there will be the "quality depth" of some of the past squads.

He also said the rough schedule will start early since he considers Stanford "the toughest opening team we've had to face since Notre Dame in 1968."

THE HOT DOG VENDOR

There was a man who lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs.
He sold very good hot dogs.
He put up signs along the highway and advertised in the newspaper telling how good they were.
He stood on the side of the road and cried:
"Buy a hot dog, Mister?"
And people bought.
He increased his meat and bun orders.
He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade.
He finally got his son home from college to help him out.
But then something happened.
His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio and watching TV?"

There's a big depression.
The foreign situation is terrible.
The domestic situation is worse."
Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college, he listens to the radio and watches TV and he ought to know."
So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his signs and cancelled his newspaper ads and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs.
And his hot dog sales fell almost overnight.
"You're right, son" the father said to the boy.
"We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."

Dallas Shots Fired in Commission's Investigation

By TOM DeCOLA
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Rifle and pistol shots echoed through a sealed-off Dealey Plaza Sunday morning as police marksmen fired into sandbags from the old Texas School Book Depository and an adjacent "grassy knoll" to help audio and acoustics experts probe the 1963 killing of President John Kennedy.

Pre-dawn preparations lent an eerie quality to the re-enactment. A police helicopter made several sweeps before sunrise, the glare from its searchlight helping tactical officers make sure the area was clear.

The project was ordered by the House Select Committee on Assassinations after the recent discovery of audio "blips" on a police recording made during the assassination. There were indications that the recording, made accidentally by an unidentified motorcycle officer whose microphone stuck in the "open" position, revealed that four shots were fired.

The Warren Commission report claimed Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone, fired three shots into the presidential motorcade. Experts generally agree that a fourth shot would mean another gunman was involved.

An Italian rifle similar to the Mannlicher-Carcano that the Warren Commission said Oswald used to gun down Kennedy spat out the first shot at 7:10 a.m. The round struck one of three piles of sandbags placed at the approximate positions where Kennedy was hit.

More shots followed from the sixth-floor window from where Oswald is said to have fired. As repetitions became boring, a ninth shot was fired. Markedly lower in volume, it came from behind a fence at the rear of the knoll, a position that would have been in front of the motorcade.

Police spokesman Bob Shaw later confirmed that the marksmen were also firing a .38-caliber pistol from behind the knoll. Several theorists have claimed shots were fired from there during the assassination.

Batteries of more than 50 microphones had been placed around the plaza by employees of the Boston firm of Bolt, Beranek and Newman, the firm that analyzed the 18½-minute gap in former President Richard Nixon's White House tapes.

In all, more than 40 shots were fired in three separate programs as technicians changed the placement of microphones, generally tracing the motorcade route toward the "triple underpass." The entire project took more than six hours.

Dr. James Barger of the Boston company spoke briefly with newsmen and said the recordings would be analyzed in Boston and the results turned over to the Assassinations Committee by Sept. 1.

"Standard electronics will be used," Barger said, repeatedly refusing to speculate about what might be heard.

Officers C.L. Metcalf, Jerry Compton and Tom Knighton fired the shots. "I had 12 hits," Metcalf said afterward. "I fired all my shots from the knoll. The pistol shots from there were all hits," too.

Compton said the bolt-action Italian rifles weren't hard to fire. "It's not much of a weapon, though," he said.

Later, Compton dry-fired three shots at different targets to simulate tracking. The AP timed the shots in 5.8 seconds.

The demonstration left many questions unanswered. Dallas police, acting only in a support role, did what they were told. No one from the Assassinations Committee was on hand.

One of the biggest puzzles was the recording made by the Dallas officer in 1963.

"We don't know who he was or where he was," Shaw said. The Warren Commission has had the original tape since its investigation, but Shaw said it was only "recently" that the possible fourth shot was identified. "I can only guess that the reason might be because they didn't have the technology until recently," Shaw said.

Besides the surprise shooting of a pistol from the knoll, shots were also fired at a fourth target in the general area where concrete curbing was found to be chipped following Kennedy's shooting.

Blockades positioned before dawn restricted traffic in the area to official cars.

A few spectators drifted in and out of the scene amid the more than 100 media representatives scattered around the site. By late morning, heat and discomfort chased most of the spectators away.

Davis Accused in Murder-for-Hire Plot

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - A murder-for-hire plot allegedly conceived by accused killer and oilman T. Cullen Davis to eliminate the judge presiding over his bitter divorce has backfired, and today the diminutive millionaire finds himself back where he was exactly a year ago - in the Tarrant County Jail.

District Attorney Tim Curry will recommend today that the 44-year-old Fort Worth industrialist be held without bond.

Speaking through his attorneys late Sunday night, Davis called the charges "some kind of frame or setup."

Davis, the star defendant in the state's longest and costliest murder trial last year, was acquitted for the Aug. 2, 1976 shooting death of his 12-year-old stepdaughter Andrea Wilborn, at the lush $6 million Davis mansion here.

That same night, Davis' estranged wife, Priscilla, 37, was wounded. Her lover, Stan Farr, 30, was killed, and Gus Gavrel Jr., 23, a chance visitor to the mansion was also wounded.

Curry said Davis was arrested on solicitation of capital murder charges Sunday morning for allegedly attempting to hire a "hit man" to kill District Judge Joe Eidson. He was also charged with carrying a prohibited weapon - a pistol with a silencer.

"Cullen offered no resistance," the prosecutor said. "He made no statement...There is additional evidence, but I can't comment on it right now."

Curry produced an affidavit signed by David McCrory, identified as an employee of a firm owned by the Davis family, that said McCrory had several meetings with Davis over the past four days in preparation for the alleged contract killing. He added, "We expect to fully corroborate McCrory's statement."

McCrory, wired for sound by federal and local authorities during the meetings, last met with Davis about 8:50 a.m. Sunday in a nightclub parking lot, Curry said.

Sources told The Associated Press McCrory had to show Davis a phony snapshot of Eidson's "body" stuffed in a car trunk and the judge's driver's license before the millionaire produced a manila envelope containing $25,000 in $100 bills. Eidson, the sources said, agreed to pose for the photo when asked by authorities.

McCrory's statement said he obtained a .22-caliber pistol and a silencer at Davis' request. He said he turned the pistol and silencer, which was furnished by police, over to Davis Sunday morning.

"It's a frame-up, a goddamn frame-up," said Davis' niece, Kay. "David McCrory is an opportunist. If Cullen wanted to hire somebody to kill Judge Eidson, he wouldn't go to someone like...McCrory. He just doesn't trust that man."

"Eidson was no threat to Cullen at all. None whatsoever. Cullen had nothing to lose in that marriage."

Curry said investigators found the weapon in the trunk of Davis' Cadillac when they stopped him minutes after he drove away from the parking lot. Sources said the pistol definitely was not linked to the alleged plot against Eidson, but indicated police are not certain what plans the millionaire may have had for it.

The same sources said police also found a "hit list" that included five others - beside Eidson - who figured prominently in the mansion shootings that kept Davis behind bars much of last year.

Those on the list were identified to The AP as Mrs. Davis Gavrel; Beverly Bass, a friend of Mrs. Davis' oldest daughter Dee; District Judge Tom Cave, whose decision to deny Davis bond kept the millionaire in jail until he was acquitted of capital murder Nov. 17, 1977 in Amarillo; and Davis' brother, Bill, who was ousted from the Kendavis Industries business empire in a powerplay by Cullen Davis and Ken Davis Jr. in August 1973.

Cullen Davis still faces a murder charge in Farr's death and two attempted murder charges in the shootings of Mrs. Davis and Gavrel. However, no trial dates have been set.

In addition to the criminal cases, Davis' 4-year-old divorce is still pending. Last month, court papers said Mrs. Davis was willing to settle for $21.5 million. Davis' attorneys countered with an offer of $1.2 million.

The case was scheduled for trial Aug. 14, but Eidson granted Mrs. Davis' attorneys a three-week delay and reset it for Sept. 18.

"We're not sure how this Sunday's criminal charges will affect the divorce case," said Mrs. Davis' attorney, Ronald Aultman. "However, we're prepared to go forward."

It was exactly two years ago Sunday that Davis was snatched from the doorstep of his gleaming twin-engine Lear Jet, by Curry's investigators as he prepared to take off for Houston. Davis was out on $80,000 bond at the time. He said he was en route to Houston on business.

He was jailed and charged with two counts of capital murder in the deaths of Miss Wilborn and Farr. Both charges had been upgraded from simple murder warrants filed hours after the Aug. 2 shootings.

McCrory's name initially surfaced while Davis' high-priced defense team, led by colorful Richard "Racehorse" Haynes of Houston, tried to get him freed on bond. Haynes produced an unsigned affidavit purportedly given by McCrory that described several instances of blatant drug use and sex parties by Priscilla Davis and her friends at the mansion.

McCrory denied making such a statement and Judge Cave held Haynes and co-counsel Philburleson of Dallas in contempt of court. But the publicity the affidavit generated was sufficient to get the trial moved from Fort Worth.

Mrs. Davis was the state's chief witness at the capital murder trial. Miss Bass and Gavrel, who is partially paralyzed from a bullet in his spine, also testified. All three identified Davis as the dreaded "man in black" who did the shootings.

NAWAPA, Lake Progress On Agenda Table Wednesday

TEMPLE - An explanation of the North American Water and Power Alliance (NAWAPA) and a discussion on the progress of Lake Mackenzie will be the program of the Panhandle Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts' meeting, announced Roland Wheat, president of the organization.

The meeting will be Wednesday in Tulsa at the East Ward Elementary School. Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. and the meeting will start at 10 a.m.

NAWAPA is a concept which proposes taking advantage of the geographical and climatological factors of the North American continent in contrast to the single river basin plan to shift surplus waters to needed areas.

The plan suggests the use of excess waters which drain into the Pacific and Arctic Oceans from Alaska, the Northwest Territories and the Rocky Mountain Regions of Canada and distributing these waters to deficient areas of the United States, Canada, and northern Mexico.

Frank Gray, chairman of the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board, and Charles Wood, vice-president of the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts are expected to present reports on the activities of each organization at the meeting.

Twenty-five soil and water conservation districts are members of the Panhandle Association of SWCDs. They include Hall-Childress, Tule Creek, Gray County, Cap Rock, Donley County, Dallam, Salt Fork, Lipscomb County, Running Water, Moore County, Hemphill County, Farmer County, Wheeler County, Ochiltree, Tierra Blanca, Roberts, Hutchinson, Palo Duro, Hansford, Hartley, Oldham, County Staked Plains, McClellan Creek, Sherman County and Canadian River.

Current officers of the organization are Roland Wheat, president; Higgins, James Bible, vice president; Wayside and Frank Buzzard, secretary; Perryton.

Workers Overcome From Assembly Line Hysteria

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) - Last November, workers at a shoe factory began fainting. Four passed out the first day. A short time later, they began dropping by the dozens.

The workers at the Perry-Norvell plant said they were overcome by toxic fumes from a new batch of glue. But federal researchers recently said the workers were victims of "assembly line hysteria."

A 14-page report compiled by the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health concluded that the fainting and dizziness were the result of hyperventilation - overly fast breathing stemming from fear.

And, the report added, the sickness was more severe among those workers most dissatisfied with their jobs.

Union officials at the plant termed the report "a lot of bunk." They said unsafe working conditions, not fear, caused the workers to be overcome.

Plant officials declined comment.

The workers began fainting the afternoon of Nov. 4 when four were overcome. Four more complained of dizziness and nausea the next day. A total of 48 employees were treated at local hospitals on four consecutive workdays.

The plant was soon closed and federal researchers investigated.

They examined the batch of glue, took air samples and interviewed the workers. Their report states that the outbreak stemmed from "mass psychogenic illness," also known as "assembly line hysteria, collective delusion and hysterical contagion."

"As best we're able to determine that's the only logical explanation," said Dr. Mitchell Singal, the NIOSH medical officer who coordinated the investigation. "The circumstances precipitating the outbreak and the results of the environmental investigation provided no evidence that there was any toxic explanation for the illness."

He also said that those workers under the most personal financial stress and the most job stress were hit the hardest.

"Those people who have the most stress are the ones who are most affected by this mass psychogenic illness," he added. "The symptoms these people have are real. They actually do have headaches and nausea."

Clergymen Concerned About Pope Selection

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP) - Protestant clergymen in Rome and around the world are voicing concern and hopes about the next pope of the Roman Catholic Church.

"We hope and pray that the election falls to a pope who is open to continuing movement toward unity of the whole church," said the Rev. Wilbur C. Woodhams, the American Episcopalian who is pastor of one of Rome's leading English-speaking congregations, at St. Paul's Church Inside the Walls.

"The pope is the symbol of unity of Christianity," he continued, "and his personal attitude sets the pattern for the way Catholics and Protestants think of each other, in their mutual regard and acceptance."

Cardinal William Baum of Washington, D.C., one of the 111 cardinals who on Friday entered the conclave to elect the new pope, said the "great love and concern voiced by fellow Christians is a sign of hope."

"They see what happens for our church as also involving them," he said in an interview, adding that it is of "utmost importance" for the church's new leader to pursue the quest for Christian unity.

A Lutheran expert on inter-religious affairs, the Rev. Dr. George Lindbeck of Yale Divinity School, expressed hope the next pontiff will "take more risks in the ecumenical area" than Paul VI did. However, other Protestants acclaimed the contributions to Christian unity of both Pope Paul and his predecessor, Pope John XXIII, who first opened the doors to working Protestant-Catholic ties.

"We need a combination of John and Paul - that kind of personality," said the Rev. William Rucht, a Southern Baptist from Texas who for 18 years has been pastor of the Rome Baptist Church.

"If the Catholic Church continues to move in the area of evangelical action and cooperation, it will mean a more united and stronger Christianity in the world today."

He said that since the reforming Second Vatican Council of 1962-65, "Protestants and Catholics have developed strong friendships and mutual interests, despite the historical differences."

Drug Charges Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) - A suburban prosecutor decided Monday not to file criminal charges against former White House drug adviser Peter Bourne for writing a prescription with a fictitious name.

Paul Ebert, the prosecutor in Prince William County, Va., where an attempt was made to fill the prescription, said, "I don't think Virginia law applies to a drug violation outside the state."

Bourne quit July 20 as President Carter's chief adviser on drug abuse just 36 hours after public disclosure that Bourne had given a prescription for the much-abused sedative Quaalude to Ellen J. Metsky, his assistant in the White House.

To keep secret the fact that the emotionally troubled aide was getting the powerful sleep-inducing drug, Bourne wrote the fictitious name, "Sarah Brown," instead of Metsky's name on the 15-tablet prescription when he issued it July 7.

Four days later, Metsky's friend and former roommate, Toby M. Long, 26, was arrested near her job in Prince William County and charged with trying to fill the prescription. Mrs. Metsky said she had not had enough time to fill the prescription in Washington and had asked Ms. Long to fill it as a favor.

Congressmen Hope To Smooth Relations

By DENIS D. GRAY
Associated Press Writer
MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Eight U.S. congressmen flew to Hanoi Monday for a six-day visit to Vietnam and Laos that the leader of the delegation, Rep. G.V. Montgomery, D-Miss., said could help smooth U.S.-Vietnamese relations.

The delegation will also visit Ho Chi Minh City, formerly Saigon, and Vientiane, the Laotian capital. The congressmen are the first official U.S. group to visit the former South Vietnamese capital since it fell to Communist forces in April 1975.

Montgomery said he believes the Vietnamese are willing to normalize relations with the United States.

"All indications from the Vietnamese are go," he said in an interview Sunday night.

Montgomery, who favors trade and other ties with the former wartime opponent, brought seven other congressmen on the trip, six of them Democrats. He said he selected them because they have been opposed to normalization of relations, and their conversion might carry weight in Congress. Montgomery said he hoped to get new information on Americans missing in action in the Vietnam War and to learn something about Vietnam's relations with China, Cambodia and the Soviet Union.

"Ideally, we'd like to wrap up the issue of the MIA's to the satisfaction of most Americans," satisfaction of most Americans," he said. "We'd like to be satisfied that we could get all the information that the Vietnamese and Laotians had. I know we won't be able to satisfy all the families."

About 2,500 Americans are still listed as missing in action in Indochina or dead without recovery of the remains, a large percentage in Vietnam. The Vietnamese refusal or inability to turn over more American remains or information on the missing has been a major barrier to normalization of relations between the two governments.

Montgomery said he was confident the Vietnamese had made an effort in the past 18 months to search for and identify remains of Americans, but he said the Laotians had done little.

The group is also expected to discuss U.S.-Vietnamese trade and prospects for U.S. technical assistance. But Montgomery pointed out that they "can't negotiate nor can we make policy." Others making the trip are Reps. George E. Danielson, D-Calif.; Antonio Borja Won Pat, D-Guam; John P. Murtha, D-Pa.; Sam B. Hall, D-Tex.; Ike N. Skelton, D-Mo.; James Broyhill, R-N.C.; and W. Henson Moore, R-La.

Shah Opponents Blamed in Fire

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The government blamed opponents of shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi's reforms for the arson fire that killed at least 377 persons in a southwestern Iranian city, and the local police chief reported 10 suspects have been arrested.

An Iranian newspaper, in an unconfirmed report, said 430 died in the Saturday night blaze in Abadan, an oil-refinery city. The paper, Ettelaat, claimed 728 tickets had been sold for the show. It did not explain the discrepancy between the number killed and the number of tickets sold. The paper said only 200 of the badly burned bodies have been identified so far.

Officials said the toll stood at 377 killed and 10 injured. They said 20 to 40 persons escaped without injury.

Cinema Rex, in a working class section of the city, was showing a Persian-language film and no Americans were believed among the victims.

In 1866, the first successful transatlantic cable was completed with the landing of the 2,134-mile cable at Heart's Content, Newfoundland. The first cable, laid in 1858, failed three weeks after it was completed.

"Serving the Hereford area for 20 years"

Mexican National Escapes From Arizona State Prison

FLORENCE, Ariz. AP—Exactly three weeks after the well-orchestrated escape of convicted killers Gary Tison and Randy Greenwalt from the Arizona State Prison here, a Mexican national serving five-to-seven years for possession of heroin for sale waded away from the facility. Prison spokeswoman Carolyn Robinson said Luis C. Tabarez, 41, an outside trustee, checked in at 6:15 p.m. Sunday, and was listed as missing at 8:15 p.m. He had been outside irrigating near the prison dairy, northeast of the facility.

Unlike Tison, he is not believed to be armed. Ms. Robinson said authorities were tracking Tabarez along a canal bank, and that road blocks had been established by Pinal County Sheriff's deputies. She said authorities do not believe Tabarez had outside help in the escape, but if the tracks end, they will begin working on the assumption that he was picked up by someone in a vehicle.

Tabarez was convicted in Santa Cruz County, and had been at the prison since Jan., 1977.

Tison, 42 and Greenwalt, 29, escaped July 30 when Tison's three sons, Donald, 20; Raymond, 19; and Ricky, 18, smuggled shotguns inside the prison. Greenwalt, along with Raymond and Ricky Tison, were captured Aug. 11 when they tried to run a roadblock in their desert south of Casa Grande. Donald Tison was killed in a gunfire exchange at the roadblock, and officially, no one has seen Gary Tison.

The gang is accused of four killings during their flight, and authorities believe they also have murdered an Amarillo, Texas couple honeymooning in Colorado. The couple, James and Margene Judge, have not been seen since the gang stole their van weeks ago.

Meanwhile, authorities continue the manhunt for Tison, with reports of him turning up throughout the state. The only solid lead Sunday came from a man who claimed Tison pulled a shotgun on him at a truck stop north of Tucson.

Pima County law enforcement officials used an airplane to search back roads south of Tucson for Tison.

Authorities said the witness claimed he saw another man changing license plates on a blue Dodge Charger. When he approached the man changing the plates, a shotgun was leveled at him. The man authorities think may be Tison then jumped in his car and sped off without the plates, authorities said.

Pima County Sheriff's Lt. Jim Rose said the man at the truck stop in I-10 was identified as Tison from police photographs.

But Rose added that it could turn out to be just another of numerous false alarms of Tison sightings since the escape.

Arizona State Prison Warden Harold Cardwell was fired by Department of Corrections Director Ellis MacDougall in the wake of the Tison escape. MacDougall said the man in charge must assume responsibility for the institution he directs.

Doctors Seeking Opinion

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas doctors have asked the attorney general to decide if it is legal for midwives to practice in Texas.

The Texas State Board of Medical Examiners said it asked the legal opinion because it has received complaints that midwives sometimes administer drugs and perform small surgical procedures without direct supervision by doctors.

Austin attorney Charles Babb said he was filing a brief supporting midwives for the Texas Nursing Association.

"There is no way a physician can deliver all the babies in some areas of the state," Babb said.

The request from the board of medical examiners said present state law holds that midwifery is not the practice of medicine.

The board asked the attorney general to determine if specific acts by a midwife, such as administering medications that are classified as "controlled substances," are legal.

The attorney general set Aug. 28 as the deadline for receiving comments about the requested opinion.

Pope Paul VI issued his edict against artificial birth control in 1968.
