Some Winter Texans were among those viewing the fish kill in Copano Bay over the past weekend. Some 40,000 to 70,000 fish, mostly mullet, washed ashore along the scene of this photo near the end of Rattlesnake Point. A 44-inch alligator gar was among the fish washed ashore, observed by these men, from the left: Leonard Walm, Raytown, Missouri; Chuck Steinbrink, Moline, Illinois; and John Dyer, Quincy, Illinois.

School Discusses Health, Security, Taxes, Books

By Sarah L. Durdin
At their regular meeting March 12, the Board of Trustees for the Aransas County Independent School District approved a motion to continue a tuberculosis examination program for school personnel by buying the vaccine and having the shots administered by a school nurse.

The program is being discontinued by the state because of high costs. Superintendent E.J.

Random told trustees he had learned the vaccine could be obtained at a cost of $5 per bottle, with approximately 50 vaccinations from each bottle. He estimated the district would need five bottles to vaccinate school personnel.

A school nurse is qualified to give the shots and take skin results. If a person has a positive reaction to the vaccination, he or she must then have a chest x-ray taken, and a doctor will read the test results.

Trustees unanimously approved a motion to double the salary of a security guard patrolling the high school, junior high and Fulton elementary schools. The salary will be increased from $50 to $100. Several of the trustees agreed the increase was justified by recent occasions when the guard had saved the district large repair bills by quick action after acts of vandalism.

The textbook committee report was reviewed by the trustees and a motion was carried to approve the committee's choices for textbooks. Of the 14 people assigned to the committee, Random said 11 were present, and participation in the meeting was quite good.

The committee recommended books for math, science, art, history, literature, industrial arts crafts, and metal working, among others. The books are considered to be good for 5-7 years, at which time they will be reviewed again.

During the Superintendent's Report, Random said (See SCHOOL, page 8)

Copano Fish Kill
Clean-Up Done

By Carl D. Hoit
Clean-up was expected to be completed today of fish killed in Copano Bay over the weekend.

Early reports indicated that the cause of the kill was the result of heavy seismograph tests in the bay. Tom Heffernan, regional director of coastal fisheries for the Texas Parks and Wildlife at Rockport, said the fish were apparently killed by a shock wave too great for them to survive.

Fish and Wildlife technician Bill Mercer of the Rockport office said that the estimated kill would range from 40,000 to 70,000 fish, based on a survey taken by fish and wildlife personnel Monday.

Mercer said that the kill was mostly mullet, along with some shad, menhaden and one gar. He said the greatest concentration was along the shoreline in the vicinity of Rattlesnake Point.

Two seismograph companies were doing the cleanup, mostly on Tuesday, and the dead fish were to be taken by truck to the sanitary landfill at Gregory.

Temporary Burning
At Garbage Transfer Site

By Sarah L. Durdin

A letter to Aransas County Commissioners read at their regular meeting March 12, prompted them to approve a temporary burning center for brush and debris.

Raymond Owens, commissioner of precinct three, presided over the meeting in the absence of County Judge John Wendell who is recuperating from surgery.

Anne Warren had written to Commissioner J.M. Spiegel, saying that freezing weather had caused an excess of brush to be cleared from her property. However, there were no facilities to remove the brush unless it were hauled to Gregory.

Commissioner Ray Longino suggested a temporary burning center at the county garbage transfer station, to be opened one day a week. The station will accept brush and debris for burning from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays, beginning March 17.

Only wood and debris will be accepted. Plastic, chemically treated substances and painted wood cannot be accepted because of toxic fumes emitted during burning.

Volunteer Military

The Pentagon's failure to meet recruiting quotas for all four military services during the fourth quarter last year underscores the need for a thorough congressional review of the all-volunteer military.

Until now, substantial increases in both enlistment bonuses and recruiting advertising have enabled the services to keep their noses above water, but just barely. Even so, their supposedly encouraging statistics are misleading. Wash-out rates for first term enlistees range up to 40 percent. And some special-skill categories, such as that for physicians, are chronically unfilled. Moreover, reserve and national guard units are badly understrength.

The figures for active duty recruits enlisted during the last three months of 1978 disclose shortfalls ranging from five percent for the Air Force to 15 percent for the Navy.

Granted, the inability to meet quotas for a single quarter is hardly definitive proof that the all-volunteer policy has failed. But considered together with the chronic deficiencies already documented and directly attributable to the reliance on voluntary enlistments, this latest recruiting deficit is indeed worrisome. Should it continue for any length of time, the readiness and combat capability of essential units could be seriously affected.

The time to conduct a comprehensive congressional study of the all-volunteer military is before, not after, present deficiencies have crippled this country's armed forces. The time for such a review has arrived.

"Low Down"

FROM THE
Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

REPRESENTATIVE BARRY M. GOLDWATER, Jr. (Calif.)... On the 8th of this month (Feb.) the Carter administration resubmitted the proposal to create a Cabinet-level Department of Education. The House in its wisdom, killed this idea in the last session of Congress, and I think we should be wise to do so again.

"We hear a lot of talk these days about scaling down the Federal bureaucracy. It was preached by Jimmy Carter when he campaigned for the Presidency, and rhetorically, at least this belief has been the theme of this administration.

"Why then this proposal to enlarge the bureaucracy, to create more positions on the Federal payroll, to spend more tax dollars?

"Could it be that the endorsement of the nation's largest teachers' union, the National Education Association (NEA), with a membership of nearly 2 million school personnel, is at stake, just as it was in the 1976 election?

"Political consideration aside, there is a fundamental principle involved here which we should recognize. A number of us in this body were quite vocal a few months ago in pointing out the importance of local autonomy in the administration of our education policy...How can an oversized bureaucratic institution here in Washington effectively manage the activities of a schoolhouse which, in the case of my district, is 3,000 miles away?

"I have heard the promises of Vice President Mondale and Budget Director McIntyre that the centralized control of 150 education programs will actually entail less money and fewer public jobs in the long run. But I have also learned in my 10 years as a Congressman that such projections are seldom, if ever realized. There is no need to reshuffle the deck of bureaucratic cards, especially at the cost of $10 million.

"All we would be doing is establishing a jumbo national super school board, and that, Mr. Speaker, is something we do not need."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Some teachers and school personnel would like to bypass the local voter who pays the school tax bill. Failing to have the voting of school tax dollars shifted to the states, they are working to create a Department of Education at the Federal level. With college professors and college personnel forming unions, the education lobby would have overwhelming National clout.

Two organizations listed in Washington under the Lobbying Act are: The American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, and the National Education Association (NEA).

STATE OF THE REGION

By Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend
Council of Governments

Operating your own business is tough at any time. In these inflation days, it is perilous. Statistics are quoted such as "Out of 10 small business starts, only one will make it." That could discourage a person. But it doesn't. Being your own boss is still a part of the American dream for a lot of wide-awake people.

The Coastal Bend Business and Development Corporation is financed with Economic Development funds to assist small businesses and contractors in our region. Mario Hernandez, the executive director, recently obtained a grant through the Greater South Texas Cultural Basin Commission to pay for a training program called "Own Your Own Business." Del Mar College is cooperating with the Development Corporation in putting on the program. They could handle 300 people for the first sessions. As soon as the program was announced, applications to register surpassed that number.

Tony Garcia, director of distribution and marketing at Del Mar, says the program will be carried on as long as this much interest is shown. Other educators in the region may respond to the obvious need.

Hernandez finds people going into business are often trapped by unrealistic expectations. With a hollow laugh, he tells about people who say, "I'm tired of working hard, I want to go into business for myself." They do not realize the hours they have to put in, the fact that they'll be doing very well if they break even in the first year and that no salary is guaranteed for them.

These are some of the things the Development Corporation makes sure they know when men or women come in and ask for technical assistance, as they are free to do from any community in the Coastal Bend. Helping them to obtain financing is an important part of the Development Corporation's work. But the personal contact can be even more important.

Cyril Johnson went into business for himself three years ago and has had technical assistance from the development corporation since the beginning. He said he received help in the beginning in planning, forecasting, and establishing a realistic budget. He said he could have gotten into a lot of trouble if he had not had assistance in keeping good records and complying with regulations of local, state and federal government.

He is established now, but the Development Corporation has continued to help him, showing him how to get on bid lists and making sure he is doing a good job of marketing.

Asked what characteristics he considered necessary to succeed in your own business, Johnson put attitude first, believing in yourself and automatically responding, "Yes, I can."

Knowing how to use resource people was his next suggestion. You have to be able to say, "I don't know, but I'll find out."

Hernandez says you often find those who are going to be your competitors to be the best resource people. They know the answers. Businessmen who have managed to survive themselves, such as Johnson, will be teaching the courses in the "Own Your Own Business Program." Bankers and others will be drawn from the communities to teach.

Core programs will include 20 hours each in basic management, basic bookkeeping, personnel and customer relations, and finance and accounting. There is no fee for the course and there are no educational requirements. It doesn't matter whether you dropped out of school before you obtained a high school diploma, or whether you have a college degree. You can be in business for yourself, thinking about going into business, or in management of someone else's business.

Those interested can register with the Coastal Bend Business and Industrial Development Corporation which has offices in Corpus Christi, Beeville and Alice. Dates of future courses have not yet been set, but with the interest shown, they are sure to come. It will be first come, first served.

Rationing Could Cost State Lost Fuel Tax

AUSTIN—State Comptroller Bob Bullock today said mandatory gasoline rationing could cost Texas about $75 million in lost fuel tax revenues a year and turn major urban freeways into permanent parking lots.

He said gasoline rationing authority being considered in the Congress was the most controversial aspect of the Carter Administration's mandatory energy control measures.

Holding drivers to two gallons per day will drastically reduce the state's collection of motor fuels taxes, Bullock said.

"I don't know what the real likelihood of rationing is at this time, but rationing would work a genuine hardship on thousands of Texans, particularly those living in Houston or the sprawling Dallas-Fort Worth area," he said.

Texas drivers, because of the great distances between cities, simply can't get by on two gallons per day, Bullock said.

He said Texas will suffer more than many other states and said he hoped that Congress would not approve mandatory gasoline rationing unless they gave some consideration to the state's geography and population density.

"If people can't get to and from work, the economy will eventually suffer. I hope Congress will consider the political and economical effects of mandatory rationing before they give their stamp of approval to something that would be a disaster for Texas."

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—You could be costing yourself money in the long run, if the lowest price is all you look for when making a major purchase, say our Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division attorneys.

The lowest price tag doesn't always mean the lowest overall cost. In fact, the purchase price is only one thing to consider when making a major product selection, they note.

Our attorneys have received some consumer complaints from persons who say they were sold a "lemon" that's costing them more in repairs and maintenance than they expected. What sometimes is the case, though, is that the consumer failed to take into consideration normal maintenance costs, operating costs, and typical repairs to expect.

A buying technique called "life cycle costing" has been developed by consumer researchers to weigh these and other factors consumers should consider when making purchasing decisions. Life cycle costing takes into consideration the total cost of owning a product, and can result in substantial savings over the life of a product, even if that product is more expensive in the beginning.

Life cycle costing helps you determine which product will be more costly to run, and with escalating utility costs and gasoline costs, that can be a major consumer expense.

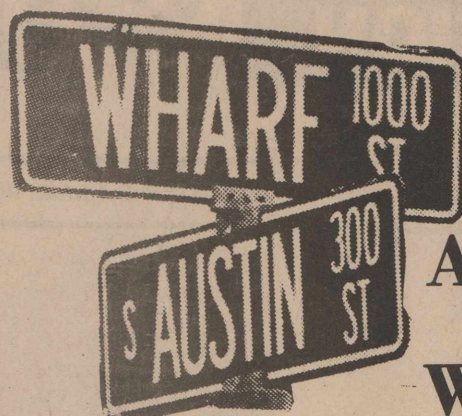

To determine the total life cycle cost of a product, our lawyers say you should weigh these factors: (1) the price of the product; (2) the installation charge, if there is one; (3) the operating cost of the product. If you're buying an appliance such as an air conditioner, look for the energy efficiency ratio, or EER, and ask the dealer what average operating costs run. With cars, multiply the Environmental Protection Agency's average miles per gallon figures for your car, or the figures supplied by the car manufacturer, by the number of miles you expect to drive the car.

You should also consider: (4) anticipated repair costs. To do this, you must evaluate what the product warranty will and will not cover, then compare warranties on various brands for coverage. You should also consult consumer rating publications to determine reliability of a product after its warranty period is over; (5) how many years you expect to own the product; and (6) how much you plan to use the product.

Of course, you may have to make trade-offs when using life cycle costing. If you have high utility rates, you likely will be more interested in operating costs of an appliance than in repair costs or initial price. If you work and can't take time off to meet a repairman frequently, then perhaps reliability is more important to you than product life or installation cost. Or, if you have several major purchases to make at one time, you may feel that more weight must be given to purchase price.

Life cycle costing can help you buy a product that's the most efficient and economical for your needs. For more information, or to obtain assistance with a consumer complaint, contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division in Austin, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, El Paso, Lubbock, or McAllen. Or contact your district or county attorney.

Austin At Wharf

AT THE RECENT CORPS OF ENGINEERS HEARING in connection with the Rockport Sailing Club application to build a harbor at the end of Rockport Beach, a Houston man, part-time Rockport resident, made a statement that reached a new zenith in naivete—and integrity.

Said he, in effect: "I didn't come here (Rockport) to see growth and condominiums, etc. etc."

Now Rockport is a place where newcomers vastly outnumber natives. These newcomers, myself among them, came and will continue to come of their own free choice. Time was when this was a quaint little fishing village, a lovely place with an equitable semi-tropical climate. Perhaps you might have called it an undiscovered paradise. Then came the artists, bringing with them what must have been a sort of puzzling sophistication. The rest of us have trailed them, and I suspect that in the hearts of each of us was the thought that we'd prefer that the place remain as "it is." Each of us indulged in the futile hope that he might be the last newcomer. Impossible dream.

ROCKPORT-FULTON MAY BE UNIQUE WHEN compared with surrounding towns, but it is typical of others across the land that are situated by the sea, bays, rivers and lakes, a circumstance the Houston-Rockport resident determinedly refuses to recognize.

Were he a realist, his thinking might be bent toward what is frequently called "controlled growth." That is a responsibility that belongs to every elected county and city official, and indeed, every man, woman and child. Each of you who are readers must have his or her own assessment of that obligation.

During the past year the Rockport city council has on at least three occasions demonstrated an awareness for the future. The most important move is, of course, the effort to change from the General Law form of government to Home Rule. Other commendable moves by that body is denial of a permit to build high rise condominiums and the effort to acquire funds for a public swimming pool that will meet established health and safety standards. The last, sorry to say, should have been done long since.

I MUST PERHAPS AGREE WITH AN EDITORIAL in the Caller last Friday which applauded the Nueces County Navigation District's move to hire a consultant to conduct a series of meetings in connection with Deepport. A committee made up of people from both sides of the question will be named. As the Caller editorial said, that should have been done long ago.

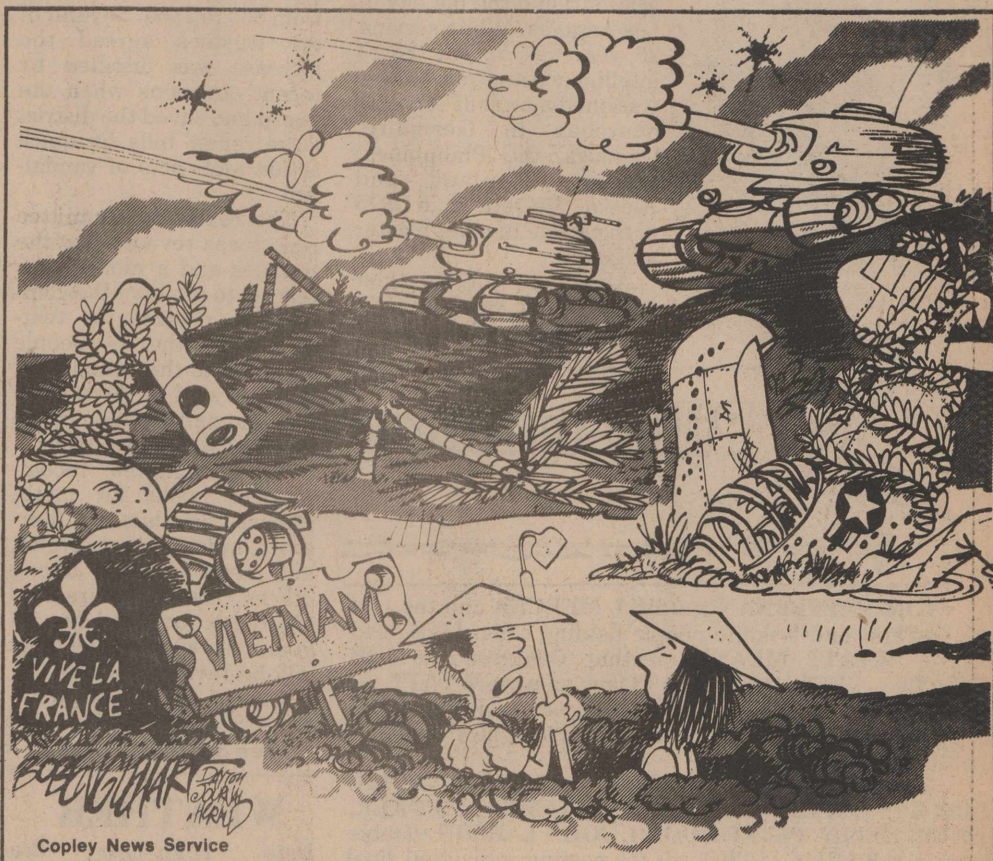

What happened instead was that the district organized goon squads skilled in Babbitt to swoop down upon civic groups and elected officials with a wild pitch on progress. I describe the circumstance in simplistic terms.

For my own part I remain adamantly opposed to the project and shall remain so until such time as someone can convince me that I can live comfortably in a residential district with an abattoir operating on the lot which adjoins my home. The comparison is not exaggerated. As said before, Port Aransas will be first affected, and in time, Rockport and other nearby areas. The reasons for not building Deepport are identical to the reasoning that goes into city zoning ordinances in a town, proper separation of residential, business and industrial areas. Deepport will mean the end of the tourist-retirement orientation of this part of the Texas coast. Doubters have only to visit the Houston area which now extends south as far as Wharton. You can see it, smell it, on any day you visit those environs. Should Deepport become a success, industry would increase and the lovely prevailing south wind would, in short order, become about as pleasant as the air on a Houston freeway. On the other hand, I am convinced that Deepport will, if built, become a multi-million dollar fiasco. Naturally, this last is opinion, an opinion which I hold because the day of the super-tanker is already nearing an end. Millions of tons of super-tankers are already laid up, others remain half built on the ways; construction stopped. A super-tanker can be bought for less than half its construction cost.

I'll use an old seafaring phrase to describe the knowledge of shipping shown by Deepport advocates: They know less about the subject than an ordinary seaman on a three-masted scrubbing brush.

WELL, IF YOU HAVE FOLLOWED THIS COLUMN, you'll be obliged to agree that events in Iran are going about as predicted. At this point I suspect that a lot of Persians are ready to sing "God Save the Shah." Certainly many of the ladies are already indicating that they've no fancy for returning to Islamic law. Fancy the pretty girl in any country who would exchange freedom (by the grace of the Shah) for purdah and life in a harem.

FRIDAY, MARCH 9. I'm sticking my neck out, but not far, I think. I respect President Carter's efforts to bring agreement between Egypt and Israel, but it will fail. I'll these words stand and give you a chance to laugh if I prove to be wrong. Naturally, I hope to be, but wouldn't give a plugged nickel for my hopes.—ahab

 Mercer said the companies were not admitting specific responsibility, but are doing the cleanup.

The companies were Shoreline Geophysical Company and Seiscom Delta, who are conducting oil and gas exploration tests in Copano Bay. One of the crew managers indicated that the crew was using prima-cord in the tests, and Mercer felt they might have been using more than in the past.

No other test results on cause of death for the fish have been completed, but Mercer said the investigation would continue.

the writers will be here April 18 for a seafood lunch following a bus tour of the coastal bend area.

The group, representing newspapers and magazines from different parts of the United States and Great Britain, will be guests of the Texas Tourist Development Agency. They will spend three days in Corpus Christi and surrounding area.

A special feature of the noon hour program will be a display of paintings of several local artists which is being arranged by Estelle Stair.

The board voted to write to Senators John Tower, Lloyd Bentsen and Representative Joe Wyatt opposing mandatory closing of gasoline service stations on weekends, feeling this action would be detrimental to the area economy. Gerry Kleypas volunteered to draft a letter to be sent to the officials.

Ed Armstrong, Larry Boone and Pat Brown were appointed to serve on the budget committee for 1979-80.

Other business included approval of advertising in the South Texas Chamber of Commerce vacation guide magazine to be published this spring.

Attending were Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Berry, Brown, George Craig, Connie Garcia, Jack Guillet, Bill Janeczek, Charles LaBounty, Steve Mahnke, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Muecke and Boone. Also present were J.M. Shellenberger, Walter Falk, Bob Albin, Joe Randow, Loyce Landrum and Kleypas.

CANCER CRUSADERS

The month of April is when the members of the American Cancer Society go knocking on doors, collecting for research. In charge of residential crusading are, from

Cancer Drive Is Underway

The Aransas County American Cancer Society Unit's 1979 education fund-raising Cancer Crusade is slated to begin April 1.

An ACS volunteer will be contacting their friends, neighbors and business associates during the month of April to offer practical and helpful information about cancer.

The purpose of the crusade is two-fold. Fund-raising is important, but so is cancer prevention. A brand new leaflet will be distributed with the headline "You Do Make a Difference." It tells how lifestyle and health care can influence the outcome of cancer.

Larry Boone, Senior Vice President of the Live Oak State Bank, will be contacting business associates during the month and the

and Mrs. Anne Rozelle, will be supervising the volunteers for house-to-house contacts.

Pharmacy Topics

A New Jersey doctor has come up with a basic rule for avoiding ulcers: don't go to bed angry.

Recent research indicates that moderate alcohol intake may serve as a deterrent to heart attacks.

Children consume more milk and cereal than adults, but eat less meat, poultry, and fish. Around age 10, though, they tend to adopt more grown-up eating patterns.

Several studies suggest that pregnant women ought not to use a sauna for more than 10 minutes at a time.

Candle-making is so popular now, but take care—paraffin catches fire easily and can re-ignite spontaneously. Always melt it in a double boiler and use a candy thermometer to make sure it doesn't exceed 300 degrees.

Martin-Thompson Wedding Vows Spoken

DeeAnn Martin and Gary Glen Thompson were united in marriage February 24 at the First Baptist Church in Gregory.

Officiating at the double ceremony was Victor Edge, pastor of the church.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Billy J. Martin, Portland. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Keith Moore of Rockport and Mr. Julian Thompson of Corpus Christi.

Mrs. Jean Faye McLeod played the piano, accompanying Miss Marcia Freeman and Mrs. Linda Bradley.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore an Old South styled dress of Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice and v-neck were accentuated with pearls, and the puffed sleeves tapered at the wrists. The skirt was formed by cascading rows of lace, with a billowing train. The bride's veil was of matching lace, and she wore a diamond and pearl necklace given by the groom.

The bouquet included pink carnations and burgundy roses accented with baby's breath, held over a white lace-covered Bible which belonged to the bride's grandmother.

The groom wore a white tuxedo, and his boutonniere was made of a pink carnation and a burgundy rose.

Attendants were Miss Marcia Freeman of San Antonio, and Tommy Richardson of Corpus Christi.

The maid of honor wore a floor-length dress with sheer puffed sleeves and a scalloped overskirt. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations and burgundy roses.

The best man wore a burgundy tuxedo with a white ruffled shirt and a pink carnation boutonniere.

Dane Martin, brother of the bride, was the usher.

The mother of the bride wore a pink gown with a v-neck insert of lace and pearls. The groom's mother wore a rose gown with a burgundy overjacket. Both women had corsages of pink feathered carnations with burgundy trim. The bride presented each woman with a long-stemmed burgundy rose before approaching the altar.

The couple repeated the traditional vows, and the groom added some special vows he had chosen from the Scriptures.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Bride's cake and a German chocolate groom's cake were served along with punch and coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Thompson

Serving at the house party were Mrs. Pat Worack, Mrs. Patty Martin, Mrs. Lindy Hentzel, Miss Susan Stillman and Miss Lona Thompson.

Attending the guest book was Miss Nancy Worack, who joined Dane Martin to pass out rice to throw at the couple.

The couple will reside in Hill City, Kansas, where the groom is employed with Magobar as an engineer.

Greater Convenience For Boat Registration

AUSTIN—The Texas Senate unanimously passed a bill March 7, co-authored by Senator Carlos F. Truan of Corpus Christi and Senator A.R. "Babe" Schwartz of Galveston, that will provide a greater convenience for boat owners to register boats and motors.

S.B. 423 will allow persons seeking boat titling and registration to make applications in the Tax Assessor-Collectors Office in county courthouses across the state.

Under the present law, motorboat certificates of number and title require that these applications be filed with only one of 30 offices operated by the Department of Parks and Wildlife.

Senator Truan said, "As a member of the Natural Resources Committee, I have been concerned over the present inconvenience to Texas boaters who wish to register and license their boats and motors. I am obviously very delighted with the passage of this bill by the Senate as a service to my many constituents and other citizens where boating is such a prominent activity."

The bill will also allow counties to retain 10 per cent of the collection fee to be used solely for the salaries of persons issuing the certificates.

Few Attend Wildlife Hearing

Members of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department heard comments, critiques and compliments from the public March 12 during a hearing on proposed pieces of legislation.

Tom Heffernan of Rockport, Regional Director of Coastal Fisheries with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, presided over the hearing.

Public comments were taken in similar hearings across the state, for review by the Parks and Wildlife Commission, before final action is taken in late April. In some counties the final action will be subject to approval by county commissioners.

Appearing at the hearing were Peter Lazidis, Jim Jones, Jim Johnson, James Folsom, Dave Campbell and Frank Smith, among some 20 attending the hearing.

overseas, with a year in Vietnam.

He and his wife Penny reside at 1106 North Allen Street in Rockport. They have three children, Jason, Jeremy and Melanie. They are members of the First Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Mills has been the owner-operator of his own business in Ward 2 since 1971. He says, "My everyday contact with the people has made me aware of their various problems and needs."

"I would strenuously favor a policy of sound management and progressive growth of our city," says Mills, adding, "I would assist the City Police department in any way I can, to communicate the needs of the citizens and the police officials in the betterment of the security of the citizens and business community of Rockport."

"I favor a 'modest tax rate reduction' and holding the line on future increases," notes Mills, "and for the elderly I would favor increased property tax exemptions."

Mills said that in his opinion "serious thought and consideration (should) be given these factors on a priority basis for the immediate benefit of the majority of the people and the future growth of Rockport."

(Paid Pol. Adv. by C.H. "Burt" Mills Jr.)

Antonio, the Rollands soon discovered big city life was not for them. They sold their house, purchased Taylor Oak Trailer Park, and made Rockport their home. Since then they have become vitally concerned with the future of the Rockport area.

Dale and Charlotte, his wife of 28 years, have four children and one granddaughter. Theresa, their oldest daughter, lives in Portland, Oregon. Their son Mike, serving in the Air Force, resides in San Antonio along with wife Debbie. Patrick, his wife Trish and daughter, Katie, make their home in Rockport. Frances, their youngest daughter, is in the fourth grade at Rockport Elementary School, and is an active member of the Girl Scouts.

Dale Rolland's ideas and convictions are those of a mature, responsible man who is proud of his home town and wants to see it grow into a better place to live, work, retire and visit. Dale's background includes two years of college and many years of community affairs experience such as: five years as a board member of a San Antonio Civic Council, president of Toastmasters and Sergeants Association chapters, chairman of fund raising efforts, softball manager and frequent banquet master of ceremonies. He is a member of the Stewart-Wendell VFW Post 3904, the Chamber of Commerce, and is currently serving as treasurer of the Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association.

Dale states: "Rockport will keep growing whether or not we have adequate planning. As pointed out in the Bartholomew Comprehensive Plan, 'Rockport need not continue to grow in a casual and haphazard manner. It is within the power of the community to determine what its future will be.' The kind of city we have ten years from now will depend largely on how we handle our current problems and how well we can work together today. We have to decide what kind of a community we want to be: a retirement center, an industrial complex, a tourist area, or just a quiet small town. With proper planning we can be all of these!"

"Rockport offers an ideal location for retirement and vacation homes; we have some fine examples of these. There is also a need for industry, and everyone can be proud of the job producing companies in our area. We appreciate the tourists who spend millions of dollars annually supporting small businesses and increasing job opportunities. With all these things, we still offer a quiet home-town atmosphere, where your neighbor's word is good and people still speak to each other on the street!"

"There are improvements needed however, such as: better drainage, a good community organized clean-up campaign, better ordinances for building safety and animal control. New facilities, such as a swimming pool and eventually a larger city hall would enhance the area even more. We can accomplish all of this if we cooperate among ourselves, work with County, State and National authorities, and if we plan wisely."

(Paid political advertisement by committee to elect Dale Rolland, Blas Ramirez, Treasurer.)

that there had been 846 visitors to county schools during Texas Public School Week March 5-9.

Random also noted that trustees might consider the possibility of raising prices for school lunches for the 1979-80 school year. The present charge is 55 cents, but Random said if that price stays the same, the district will lose money for the first time in three years. Trustees said they felt the cafeterias should not be considered as profit making areas, but they agreed the costs might have to be raised in order for the cafeterias to come out even in the budget.

Trustees received copies of a form that will be sent to county property owners explaining the difference in tax procedures this year.

Trustees received copies of a letter from John Bell, who is Division Director of Elementary and Secondary Education in the Division Office of Civil Rights, Region VI.

Bell stated that the district's plan for compliance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 was not adequate to meet the requirements of the act. The plan is to identify and provide adequate instruction to non-English speaking or limited English speaking ability students.

Staff members will visit Rockport March 14 for an on-site review. Random said he planned to appeal to Senators John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen for help in the matter.

During the executive session, teacher contracts were reviewed for renewal, with April 13 as the deadline for the teachers to decide if they want to renew their contracts.

Bills for the three elementary schools, the junior high, and the high school totaled $40,395.74 for the month of February.

ZONING

council acted on the following matters:

—Accepted with regret the resignation of Del McLain, member of the Planning and Zoning Commission.

—Denied a request to pay for first year lighting of streets in Harbor Oaks, Unit 5.

—Approved travel expenses for election judges and clerks attending a seminar March 14.

—Appointed members and set time of meetings for the Board of Equalization.

—Amended the zoning map for a segment being changed from Special Permit to B-1.

—Approved closing of Fourth Street between Bronte and Young streets.

—Approved expenses for a tax deputy to attend tax school.

—Considered appointing an alternate municipal judge.

—Registered a "no comment" on a preliminary proposal for an apartment complex at Mathis and Second streets.

—Set the dates for clean-up weeks, the first two weeks in April.

—Approved bills and reviewed the financial statement.

—Reviewed the police report, and hired a new patrolman to replace Mike Kerr, who resigned recently. The new officer is Martin De Leon, 23, formerly with the Aransas Pass police department.

—Approved the purchase of surplus equipment for loan to the Rockport Volunteer Fire Department and the Aransas County Medical Services.

A more complete report will appear in a subsequent issue of The Pilot.

The next regular meeting of the council will be Monday, March 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall.

BURNING

burned will determine the fee charged.

Commissioners also approved a motion to pay a Corpus Christi attorney $2,502.40 for legal representation of Sheriff Robert Hewes and Deputy James Russell. Lois Hunter had charged the men with rough treatment during an arrest.

Etylene Marsh, vice-president of National Foundation of Life, presented a payroll employee's insurance program to the commissioners, but was told the commissioners were not interested in purchasing group insurance for county employees at the present time.

Commissioners also approved a motion to appoint Ruth M. Gibson as dumpground custodian. She will replace Jeannie Santos.

The cost of rock for road repairs was discussed during commissioners court. The problem lies in the cost of transporting the material to Rockport. While the rock itself cost $5-6 a ton, the freight charge is $14-15, for a total of approximately $20 a ton.

Commissioner Longino said he planned to investigate the possibility of transporting the rock by truck, to determine if the difference in cost would be beneficial to the county.

County Auditor Mary Deane presented the monthly report of court funds. The balances county agencies totaled $1,432,463.31 on February 1, and $1,400,939.75 was the February 2 balance. Certificates of deposit totaled $889,147.66.

Section 1. The City Council of the City of Rockport, Texas does hereby appoint Murray C. McMillan, W.B. Allen and Joseph Lister, each a qualified voter, a resident and property owner of the City of Rockport, Texas, who shall be styled the Board of Equalization.

Section 2. Such Board shall meet at the City Hall on May 31, 1979 and June 1, 1979 from 9:00 o'clock a.m. to 4:30 o'clock p.m. for the purpose of determining, fixing and equalizing the value of any and all taxable property situated in the City of Rockport, Aransas County, Texas for taxable purposes for the year 1979. Such Board shall also meet jointly with the Aransas County Independent School District's and Aransas County's Boards of Equalization at the Aransas County Courthouse on June 18, 1979 from 9:00 o'clock a.m. to 4:30 o'clock p.m. for the purpose of determining, fixing and equalizing the value of any and all gas and oil and utilities holdings situated in the City of Rockport, Aransas County, Texas. Before such Board enters upon its duties, it shall be sworn faithfully and impartially discharge all duties incumbent upon it by law as such Board.

Section 3. The Board shall convene, at the time so fixed, to receive all the assessment lists or books of the Assessor for examination, correction, equalization, appraisal, and approval. At each meeting of said Board the City Secretary shall act as secretary therefore or make Section 4. The Board of Equalization shall cause the Assessor to bring before them, at the time so fixed, all the assessment lists or books of the Assessor for their examination. Said Board shall have power to send for persons and papers, to swear persons who testify, to ascertain the value of such property; and, if they are satisfied it is too high, they shall lower it to its proper value; and, if too low, they shall raise the value of such property to a proper figure. Said Board shall also have power to correct any errors that may appear on the Assessor's lists or books.

Section 5. Any person may file with said Board at any time before the final action of the Board a complaint as to the assessment of his or any other person's property, and said Board shall hear said complaint. The Board shall examine said lists and appraise the property so listed by the Assessor.

Section 7. In all cases, where the Board of Equalization shall raise the value of any property appearing on the lists or books of the Assessor, they shall, after having examined such lists or books and corrected all errors appearing therein, adjourn to a day not less than ten nor more than fifteen days from the date of adjournment, such day to be fixed in the order of the adjournment, and shall cause the secretary of said Board to give written notice to the owner of such property or to the person rendering the same of the time to which said Board has adjourned, and that such owner or persons rendering said property may at that time appear and show cause why the value of said property should not be raised. Reclamation District Amends Boundaries

A resolution to amend proposed boundaries of a proposed planning area was approved at a meeting of the board of directors of the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District in a meeting March 5.

The resolution was passed in an effort to reach final agreement on division of responsibilities for facility feasibility studies for sanitary sewage, between the city of Rockport and the county.

Local agreement on this question is required before a request for money grants to finance preliminary engineering studies can be acted on by the Texas Department of Water Resources. Both the city and county are seeking such funds.

During the past several months a number of meetings have been held by representatives of the city and the district in a so far inconclusive effort to resolve questions as to which body should be responsible for certain areas adjacent to Rockport's corporate limits.

The resolution may stabilize the situation sufficiently to reduce further delay in providing much-needed sanitary sewage service for additional areas in the county, according to John (Jack) McDavid Sr., president of the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District.

Amendments to the proposed boundaries of the proposed planning area previously submitted to the Texas Department of Water Resources are intended to conform with the latest boundaries proposed by the city of Rockport.

The city's current proposal reflects Rockport's extraterritorial jurisdiction line between its corporate limits and the proposed corporate limits of the city of Fulton.

However, to be sure that the areas in question are not excluded in a study, the Conservation and Reclamation District expressly reserved the right in its resolution to further amend its proposed planning area boundary lines to include such areas. This plan is included in the event the city of Rockport does not receive a grant for a preliminary engineering study to expand the sanitary sewage system within the present grant funding period.

An aerial spray using 1 1/2 lbs. of Sevin Dust dissolved in 10 gallons of water per acre will be performed after the Tussock Moth eggs hatch. The aerial spray will be applied on a date between March 15 and April 25, 1979. This is a non-profit community project by the property owners of the area involved.

The area involved is between Fulton Beach Rd. and Hwy. 35, from Lot 18, Live Oak Point subdivision north to the causeway bridge approach. This operation was planned after consultation with and advice from the County Agent and Area Entomologist. This area was very successfully aerially sprayed in late March, 1976.

How much do you love God? Would you like to know? Allow me to give you a measuring stick to measure your love for God! Think about the person you like the very least; remember I said the very least. That's how much you really love God. Notice I Thess. 3:12, "And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you." How many men?

Perhaps you rebel at such a thought, but before you reject this teaching, consider I John 4:20 and 21, "If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar; for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen? v21 And this commandment have we from him, that he who loveth God loves his brother also."

TOURIST ASSOCIATION NEWS

Our Wednesday evening covered dish supper on March 7 was a great success with Sandpiper Realty acting as hosts for the occasion. The "Gong Show" following the supper was enjoyed by everyone, and we would like to publicly thank all the performers, both good and bad!

Wednesday, March 14, our hosts for the supper will be Alfred Edge Realty and they will be providing baked ham for the main course; so plan on bringing a covered dish to accompany that basic menu. Following the supper there will be a repeat of the "Womanless Wedding" program. Everyone attending the Womanless Wedding is urged to wear an appropriately decorated "wedding" hat and a prize will be given for the best decorated hat.

The covered dish supper starts at 6:30 p.m. with the doors opening at 5:30 p.m. Tickets for the suppers can be obtained from any member of the Tourist Association. Admission is 50 cents with a ticket and $1 without a ticket.

Our game nights will continue through the end of March, every Monday evening. The doors open at 6:30 p.m., and the first game is called at 7:30 p.m. The game nights will discontinue for the summer months.

More and more people are returning north each day, and we wish them a good journey home and hope to see them again next winter.

Shrimp Landings Down In January

Shrimp landings amounted to 486,900 pounds in the Rockport, Fulton and Aransas Pass areas in January 1979, down from the 584,500 pounds harvested in the same month last year.

Landings across all gulf ports amounted to 1.3 million pounds valued at $4 million in January. This was 24 per cent below the volume and 13 percent below the value of landings last year during the same period.

lowest monthly total in recent years. Cold water temperatures of below 50 degrees Fahrenheit were reported from all producing areas. Fishermen received 25 cents per pound for live crabs.

Finfish landings by commercial fishermen were seasonally low and almost non-existent in the sports fishery. Cold rough weather and the lack of good fish in all central and northern bays kept effort minimal as in the previous month.

Fuel supplies were adequate at 44-52 cents. The price of fuel and constant threat of restricted supplies is causing considerable apprehension among all segments of the marine fisheries.

Ten new large vessels entered the shrimp fishery in January. One was lost at sea.

Water Safety Aided

It's been a long winter, and when the first pretty day comes along people can't wait to get their boat into the water. Conditions look fine when you set out, but suddenly the wind direction changes, the water is chopping and waves are beginning to rise.

The average wave moves through the water at 10 to 20 miles an hour. Do you know what to do?

Most boaters don't know what to do in rough water, according to an article in the March issue of Texas Parks and Wildlife magazine. Casualties often result because boaters panic when the water gets rough.

It is not just in the Gulf of Mexico that sudden weather changes make boating risky. A sudden wind change on other large bodies of water, such as Aransas and Copano bays, can also cause rough water.

The article also tells boaters when to "heave to," bringing the bow around so it heads into the swells at a 45-degree angle, and gives instructions on using a sea anchor.

Weather conditions were the determining factors in shrimping operations along the entire coast throughout January. High winds, rough seas and cold temperatures kept many vessels in port and restricted dragging time for the vessels that were at sea. Brown shrimp catches were fair to good in waters beyond twenty fathoms. Vessel crews reported catches of 175-400 pounds per night on broken trip from all major producing areas. White shrimp catches were poor to fair around major passes but restricted generally to small shrimp.

Blue crab landings of 59 thousand pounds were the

Beautiful Replicas of The Past Provide That Special Bedroom for Your Home Today...by Riverside

The spool and spindle were the most common types of turned woodwork in furniture in the early 19th Century America. Riverside, in The Great Hill Road Collection, has captured the very essence of the skilled furniture makers of old and combined it with the knowledgeable craftsmanship of today. The unique multi-step finish places the furniture in harmony with today, while the hand-crafted, all-wood construction of solid oak and oak veneers assures lasting beauty for years to come.
