Texas Motorists Get Rate Hike Reprieve

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas motorists have been granted a reprieve from possible increases in the price of automobile insurance.

The State Board of Insurance has decided to delay a meeting to consider rate changes until after a hearing is held to decide whether investment income should help determine the rate-making formula.

PHS 'Grads' To Renew Acquaintance

More than 600 'grads' from the Pampa High School classes of '52, '53, and '54 are expected in Pampa Saturday to attend the first planned reunion.

Registration and a reception beginning at 10 a.m. in the high school cafeteria will be the start of the day-long activities.

While parents are registering and renewing old acquaintances, children of the ex-Harvesters will attend a movie at the Capri Theater, according to Gary Baker, reunion chairman.

A picnic is scheduled at 1 p.m. in Hobart Street Park, where games of baseball, volleyball and horseshoes will be supervised by the PHS Key Club.

A dance is planned in the National Guard Armory with music provided by Jerry Whitten and his combo from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. The reunion has been planned by the newly-organized Pampa High School Alumni Association headed by Baker (class of '53) with Mrs. James Lewis (class of '53) as secretary; Jean Martindale representing the class of '54; Dr. Bill Campbell representing the class of '52.

That hearing was originally scheduled for July 4. But insurance board chairman Ned Price announced Thursday it probably will be rescheduled for Sept. 9. But he said the date was not a definite one.

"The rate hearing will come sometime after that, but we haven't set a date for it yet," Price said.

The rate hearing, during which the board probably will recommend an increase in the cost of insurance premiums, was originally scheduled for Aug. 7. The rate changes usually take effect around 30 days after the hearing, and, if the hearing was held in August, the new prices would have taken effect between mid-September and the first of October.

For years, many officials have urged auto insurance companies take investment income into account when setting rates. The rates are based on the profits of an insurance company and officials said the company's income from investments should be included in the profit margin. The Texas Insurance Board currently figures investment income into the rate-making formula only indirectly.

The most important reason for the delay in the hearing on investment income was a volume change in the treatment of investment income in rating formulas. This 326-page report "assumes as one of its purposes that investment income will be brought directly into the rate formula," the board said.

The board's statement said the board and its staff "must have sufficient time" to study the national report and its different approaches at establishing rate making formulas before the state hearing on the subject. Price said at least 60 days will be required for the study. He also said insurance companies will have to provide additional statistical information and this will take some more time.

PRETTY 16-year-old Becky Galey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Swift, 600 Red Deer, will be celebrating the fourth of July tomorrow, along with other Americans, across the nation, an event that took place 178 years before she was born. The traditional fireworks, symbolizing the bright hope of freedoms, and the American flag, enduring in the past and holding promise for the future is what the Declaration of Independence, signed 194 years ago, is all about. HERITAGE OF FREEDOM

Pampans Pause To Contemplate Patriotic Heritage Of America

Pampans are asked to pause Saturday in their pursuit of holiday pleasure and think back upon the patriotic heritage that has brought this country through many dark hours.

At 11 a.m., Pampans are asked to join a nationwide "Honor America Day" by sounding auto horns, sirens, and ringing church bells. Or it can be observed in silent meditation.

The observance is being sponsored locally by the Chamber of Commerce.

"We urge every home and business place in Pampa to fly the American flag all day on July fourth," Don Lane, chamber president, said.

"You don't have to think this country is perfect in order to honor America on the Fourth of July," the Rev. Billy Graham said today in Washington.

"Critical patriots may be the best kind," he said in an interview with UPI. "People who really love their country should acknowledge its faults and get to work to correct them."

Graham and comedian Bob Hope are co-chairmen of "Honor America Day," a sort of super-colossal Fourth of July celebration which will be observed Saturday in Washington and many other cities and towns across the nation.

Former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Lyndon B. Johnson and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower are honorary chairmen of the event.

Graham will lead off the daylong program with an address before an interfaith religious service at the Lincoln Memorial. The program, beginning at 11 a.m. EDT, will be broadcast to the nation by all three major television networks, and many communities are planning local tie-in services.

It will open with "a national salute." In the capital bells and carillons will ring, auto horns will sound, and factory whistles will blow for two minutes in a patriotic cacophony without precedent. A large turnout — estimates range from 200,000 to more than 400,000 — is expected for an evening show at the Washington Monument which will be emceed by Hope. It will feature what Hollywood calls a star-studded cast of performers, ranging in era from such grand old-timers as Jack Benny, Kate Smith and Louis Armstrong to such current idols as B. J. Thomas, Roberta Flack and soul king James Brown.

CBS plans to televise a one-hour segment of the evening entertainment and NBC will tape a segment for showing later. ABC said Thursday it plans to televise only the morning event.

The Rev. E. W. Hill, a black minister from Los Angeles who will preside at the morning service, deplored efforts by local black militants to organize a Negro boycott of the event.

"Unless Negroes are badly misled about the nature of this celebration, they'll take part in it," Hill told UPI. "The vast majority of the black community is pro-God and pro-America, and I think they'll welcome this chance to register that fact."

Hill said blacks who are both religious and patriotic are "a silent majority" rarely quoted in the news media.

TAKE A LOT LONGER

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Haircuts for the younger generation are less frequent, a barber's union leader says, but they take a lot longer.

Cuts previously lasted about 15 minutes, but now take an hour because of long hair, said the union's Local 148. He suggested charges made according to the trim's difficulty.

Hedrick spoke after more than 200 barbers from all parts of California spent one day in a seminar aimed at retaining them to clip long locks.

Damage to the window was estimated at $10.

Lumber Co. Breakin Nets Thieves Nil

A breakin at Pampa Lumber Co., 1301 S. Hobart, was being investigated by sheriff's deputies today.

Deputies said entry was gained by someone breaking a window and then prowling the offices, as if looking for cash. Nothing was reported missing, however.

Damage to the window was estimated at $10.

Safe Door Peeled By Lumber Co. Thieves

More than $375 in cash was taken and an estimated $1,100 in checks were mutilated by burglars who broke into the safe at Houston Lumber Co., 420 W. Foster, Thursday night.

According to police reports, the burglars entered the building by breaking out a window.

Police said the safe was knocked from a pedestal and the door peeled with tools taken from the front of the store.

Officers said debris was scattered throughout the store when they arrived at the scene about 6:15 a.m. today.

Reports said the intruders were apparently scared from the scene, overlooking about $20 in bills and rolled coins.

The checks were torn and mutilated and scattered across the room. Damages to the safe were estimated at $700.

The incident was under investigation early today.

In other activity, officers are investigating the theft of 22 stereo tapes from a car parked at Coronado Center between 4 and 9 p.m. Thursday.

The owner of the car, Linden Laubhan, 1316 Hamilton, said he was working at the shopping center and when he returned to the car, the tapes were missing.

Value of the tapes was estimated at $225.

Urges Tolerance Of Peaceful Protest

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Attorney General John N. Mitchell tossed a bouquet in the direction of peaceful student protesters Thursday and vowed to protect their right of free speech.

He also urged local police officers and other citizens to permit non-violent demonstrations even though they do not sympathize with protesting youths. He said even the obscene language shouted by the demonstrators is protected by the first amendment.

"Given our times, we cannot expect political demonstrations to be conducted like prayer meetings," Mitchell said. "We must expect language which may incite hostility and may be obscene. This is because the first amendment protects all of us including men and women who choose to be unruly, unreasonable and impolite."

But he added: "I reject the notion that persons exercising freedom of speech have a right to shut down a community any more than a community has a right to keep out demonstrators."

He urged American communities to "encourage the exercise of the first amendment's rights regardless of how unpopular the cause. Merely to tolerate freedom of expression is not good enough in this generation."

He called on law enforcement officials to give demonstrators the benefit of the doubt and said "in questionable situations it is always wiser to offer a little more freedom than a little less."

"Police should remember that they are professional law enforcement personnel who should not be swayed by their approval or disapproval of the views expressed by the demonstrators," Mitchell said. "And if, under the circumstances, arrests must be made, they should be accomplished by a minimum of force to restore order."

He said these youths wanted to reform the society overnight and that when they failed they began criticizing.

"They were becoming disillusioned with their own efforts," he said. "Being young they were not prepared for the years of hard work that is necessary to implement reform programs."

And many of them—having given their best efforts to reform society overnight within the system—started criticizing the system itself on the grounds that it is not responsive to the needs of the nation.

"A small minority, whose violence but the great majority of the dissenters have chosen to highlight their cause by exercising freedom of expression as protected by the first amendment. They are a whole new culture, parading in the streets, striking against schools, crowding the halls of Congress, and organizing political campaigns."

"In general they are activists, but also peaceful young men and women who—in our best traditions—are working within the system in order to change it."

"What this proves beyond a reasonable doubt is that there is more freedom of speech and more freedom of assembly to them to clip long locks."

ICC To Investigate Railroad Bankruptcy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interstate Commerce Commission has decided to open a full investigation into why the Penn Central Railroad went broke — a move that "may delay government" efforts to back a loan of several hundred million dollars for the bankrupt line.

Pampa Miss Named Jr. Rodeo Queen

CANADIAN (Staff) — Ten-year-old Kelly Freeman of Pampa was named Junior Rodeo Queen at the Canadian Junior Rodeo Thursday.

Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Freeman, 2212 N. Dwight, was presented a pair of spurs, a bouquet of red roses, a rhinestone tiara, and a $25 check for horsemanship, showmanship and appearance.

She is scheduled to ride in the parade at 10 a.m. Saturday that will be the start of daylong fourth of July activities in Canadian.

An Old Times Reunion, the Golden Spread Turtle Race, a fireworks display, and a rodeo queen contest are a few of the scheduled events that will lead up to the final performance of rodeo scheduled at 8 p.m.

The rodeo queen contest will be at 7 p.m. in the city park followed by a fireworks display.

The fourth of July activities are under the sponsorship of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Jaycees, and the Canadian Roping Club.

Sens. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., and Vance Hartke, D-Ind., both applauded the ICC decision.

They said Congress and the people should know all of the facts in the "financial debacle" of the Penn Central case "before one penny of the taxpayer's money is spent."

Capitol Hill sources said the ICC investigation was certain to delay congressional action on a Nixon administration bill under which the government could guarantee a loan of several hundred million dollars to Penn Central.

As recently as June 23 it appeared the ICC was reluctant to make such an investigation. Senior ICC Commissioner Kenneth H. Tuggle expressed such a reluctance in that date in an appearance before Magnuson's committee.

At that time Tuggle admitted that the ICC did not know the names of the major stockholders in the railroad's controlling holding company, the Penn Central Transportation Co. Hartke urged the ICC to make an investigation of whether the railroad went broke because it funneled railroad earnings into real estate and other investments of the holding company.

Under the law the ICC is using to authorize its investigation, it has the power to subpoena the railroad's officers, books, tariffs, contracts, agreements and other documents relating to the investigation.

It appeared that many of the hearings would be open to the public.

Old Glory--A West Texas Town That Changed Its Name In WWI

OLD GLORY, Tex. (UPI) — Mrs. Adolph Vazalik knows the meaning of Independence Day. She has a reminder of it hanging in her home. It was her father's most prized possession — a picture of the statue of liberty.

"My father came to America from Czechoslovakia when he was 16-years-old," said Mrs. Vazalik. "He had heard of the freedom in America. His mother burned his first passport to keep him from coming but he had the second one sent to his uncle."

"He came here without knowing a word of English. You know how he learned to speak English? He bought a book with an English - Czech translation. He loved America, don't think he didn't."

"His pride and joy was a picture of the statue of liberty. We kids weren't allowed to touch it. I still have it and someday I'll hang it in the living room when we have a nice home."

Mrs. Vazalik said she guessed there would be some flags flying in Old Glory this Fourth of July weekend.

"What we call town," she said, "it's just a store post office, school and filling station."

Old Glory, Tex., has not always been known by its red, white and blue namesake. This predominantly German settlement was once named Brandenburg. But Brandenburg had a distinct German sound and in 1917 German-Americans felt a name change was desirable.

"Some of the people around here were embarrassed," said Mrs. H. E. Carr, who at 89 years, 11 months is the second oldest resident of Old Glory. "So they decided to change the name. My mother-in-law, Mrs. Emma Carr, decided it should be done."

"I remember how we laughed once when we were visiting relatives in Mississippi. My mother had written a letter home and addressed it to Brandenburg. It came back."

Mrs. Carr says the people of old Glory "are the most marvelous people I've ever been around."

Old Glory, with its 45 residents, is not exactly a boom town. But it's good enough for George Rhoads, a grocer, and his two children.

"I wouldn't live anywhere else. I might be a little prejudiced but I would rather raise my kids here," said next year's Stonewall County school superintendent.

"It's just like a private school. The kids got so much more personal attention. And we don't have much trouble here with our teen-agers. They're mostly farm kids and they're pretty busy. We haven't had a problem that I can think of in 15 years."

One of the teen-agers is 17-old Virginia Barrera. Virginia is a junior at Old Glory High School. Her sister Jane was the only girl in this year's graduating class of four.

Manuel Barrera, her father, is the school custodian and supports 11 children. Jane is hoeing weeds in the cotton fields to raise money to attend Cisco Junior College and then on to nursing school.

Mrs. W. T. Weinke, 91, the oldest resident of Old Glory, says she won't be doing much celebrating on the Fourth of July.

"I'm in a wheelchair now and I don't get out much," Mrs. Weinke said. "But my husband and I used to go to the cowboy reunion in Stamford every year until he passed away three years ago."

Mrs. Weinke, whose grandparents came to this country from Leipzig, Germany, because they "couldn't make a living over there," said she liked the name Brandenburg.

"But they said it sounded too German. So they changed it. But I like Old Glory, too."

And, as is typical of elderly West Texans whose living has come from the soil she doesn't waste words. She said she preferred to live in America and her reasons were simple:

"I couldn't get along over there," she said. "I don't speak German."

Communists Make New Drive To Seize Communications Center

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — North Vietnamese and Viet Cong reinforcements moved in from the Laotian border today in a new effort to seize the communication center of Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of Phnom Penh.

Cambodia army forces with help from American F4 Phantoms jets drove back a Communist push toward Kompong Thom two weeks ago.

A military spokesman said new units had moved into position around the city, coming from the north near the border with Laos. The Communists have been trying to take the city for six weeks. It is a rail center and crossroads with a population of 10,000.

The spokesman said the Viet Cong had been avoiding contact in the area of Kompong Speu, the town astride the road from Phnom Penh to Kompong Som, the nation's only deepwater port. Kompong Speu is 30 miles southwest of the capital.

The Viet Cong's unwillingness to fight was because of what the spokesman called heavy losses over the past month.

In South Vietnam, military sources said today a board of high-ranking officers will meet in Hawaii Monday to plan withdrawal of 150,000 more U.S. troops from Vietnam by next spring.

Pacific Commander Adm. John S. McCain Jr., made the same announcement Thursday in Honolulu but mentioned only 50,000 troops to be withdrawn.

In the Mekong Delta of South Vietnam, terrorists struck in the provincial capital of Soc Trang, 90 miles southwest of Saigon Thursday night. They threw a grenade into a soft drink shop and the blast killed five civilians and wounded 16 others along with seven South Vietnamese soldiers.

The Viet Cong bombarded nine Allied installations overnight with one of the attacks against the U.S. 101st Airborne Division's artillery base Ripcord, 24 miles west of the former royal capital of Hue.

Dean Predicts Opposition To Code Revision

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Sometime next January the Texas Legislature will receive recommendations for the first revision of the state's penal code in over a century. The dean of the University of Texas law school predicts it will spark one of the liveliest debates the chamber has seen in years.

Page Keeton, the law school dean who headed the committee that authored the proposed list of revisions, went before the Texas Bar Association convention Thursday to present the list.

He said the proposals should be greeted with loud opposition from extremists "on both sides of the law and order issue."

"They might be afraid that we are either going to release everyone from our jails and prisons or are going to endanger rights of innocent people," he said.

Five Arrested In Theft Of Fireworks

Five persons, including one juvenile, were arrested by sheriff's deputies Thursday and charged with the Wednesday afternoon burglary of a fireworks storehouse in the 100 block of Price Road.

Remaining in Gray County jail this morning in lieu of $1,500 bond each set by Justice of the Peace Nat Lunsford were Thomas R. Lubke, 19, Terry G. Bowman, 17, and Ronnie T. Burch, 18, all of Dallas, and Harold J. Whitley, 21, 723 W. Francis.

The juvenile, from Amarillo, was released in the custody of his mother.

Deputies said they recovered about nine cases of fireworks in a motel room being occupied by the suspects.

The fireworks, owned by T. W. Johnson, 119 Price Rd., were valued at $900. Original reports listed the value at $400, but Johnson told deputies he missed more fireworks Thursday.

Safety Council Predicts Over 560 Holiday Deaths

By United Press International

Vacationers drove the nation's highways today seeking fun and relaxation over the Fourth of July weekend.

Between 560 and 660 of them instead would find death, the National Safety Council said. And, the council predicted, between 27,000 and 30,000 would suffer disabling injuries.

The holiday began for the council at 6 p.m., local time Thursday and ends Midnight Sunday.

Council President Howard Pyle said that during a normal 78-hour weekend at this time of year the count rises in accidents. Last year's three-day Independence Day weekend accounted for 609 deaths.

Council records show:

"Motorists must take special care to drive defensively" over the holiday, Pyle said.

In addition to dangers on the highways, the National Fire Protection Association predicted 10,000 persons, many of them children would suffer serious injuries from fireworks during the weekend.

Obituaries

H.M. NORRIS
Funeral services for Hardy M. Norris, 89, are pending with Duenkel Funeral Home.

He died Wednesday in Highland General Hospital after a short illness.

He was born Dec. 12, 1880, in Vernon and moved from Mangum, Okla., to Laketon in 1930 and lived there two years before moving to Pampa. He was a retired sheet metal worker and lived here at 814 S. Reed.

Survivors are his widow, Bettie, of the home; two daughters, Mrs. C.E. Manry, of Pampa and Mrs. Gene Stevens of Stockton, Calif.; five sons, Leslie of Kingmond, Ariz., Russell of Tahoma Beach, Fla., John of Gardena, Calif., Roy of Deer Trail, Colo., and Melvin, of Los Angeles, Calif.; 25 grandchildren and 54 great-grandchildren.

Traffic Mishaps Up During June

Traffic statistics released by Police Chief Jim Conner today show 18 persons were injured in 58 accidents in the city during the month of June.

That brings the total for the year to 395 accidents, 109 injuries and one fatality.

By comparison the June, 1969, statistics show 50 accidents and 11 injuries. A total of 371 accidents and 60 injuries were reported in the same six-month period last year.

Damages in June accidents were estimated $20,068.

John N. Allen

JOHN N. ALLEN
PANHANDLE (Staff)
Funeral services for John N. Allen, 76, were held today in the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Raymond Hall, former pastor and now pastor of Snyder First Baptist Church, officiated. Burial was in Panhandle Cemetery directed by Poston Funeral Home.

Mr. Allen was killed Wednesday in a mowing accident six miles east of Panhandle beside Farm Market Road 293. Workmen at the scene said the mower fell on him pinning him beneath after he crawled under it to remove wire from a blade.

He was born in Leander and was a World War I veteran. He moved to Panhandle from Clarendon in 1950 and was a member of the Borger Elks Lodge.

Survivors are his widow, Faye, a daughter, Mrs. W.J. Chambers, Pampa; two sons, Aubrey of Panhandle and Granville of Hereford; two brothers, Charlie of Palm Springs, Calif., and Earl of Holiday; two sisters, Mrs. Ed Mote of Hereford and Mrs. Tillman Mote of Spade and five grandchildren.

Horse Throws Lefors Girl

Seventeen-year-old Linda Sue Gilbreth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Young of Lefors, was reported in satisfactory condition in Worley Hospital today after being admitted Thursday for treatment of injuries received when she was thrown from a horse about a mile west of Lefors around 2 p.m.

Miss Gilbreth was rushed to Highland General Hospital by Lefors Fire Department ambulance and was transferred to the private hospital after being treated by a doctor for possible hip injuries.

She was reportedly thrown from the horse when it tried to go through a fence and could not be stopped.

Commission OKs Pioneer Gas Price Hike

AUSTIN (UPI) — The Texas Railroad Commission made a ruling Tuesday that is expected to result in higher natural gas prices for residents of 61 West Texas and Panhandle cities.

After more than seven months of deliberation the commission gave Pioneer Natural Gas Company permission to raise its gate rates by four cents—to 32 cents per million cubic feet.

Cities affected include Lubbock, Plainview, Midland, Odessa, Big Spring, Levelland, Tulia and Dimmitt. The new rates begin today.

Pioneer asked the rate be raised to 34 cents while the cities argued the previous 28-cent maximum was sufficient.

Pioneer first asked for the increase on Oct. 9, 1969, and presented its case in a series of hearings that began in November and did not end until the latter part of January.

Pioneer said higher construction costs were the main reason it needed to charge higher rates. During the rate hearings, however, appraisers from several of the affected cities said Pioneer had overestimated its construction costs.

Movie Chain Owner Drowns In Car Wreck

PORT ARTHUR (UPI) —The owner of a string of movie theaters who planned to open a new $3 million gambling casino in Reno, Nev., this weekend drowned today when his car went out of control and plunged into a bayou.

Police said W. Bonner Phares, 41, also an attorney from Beaumont, was still in the late model Cadillac when it was pulled from the water.

Phares was president of Golden Triangle Theaters, which operated 35 theaters in 17 Texas cities. He was also president of London Properties, with headquarters in Beaumont, which owned and operated motels and apartment houses in Texas and Louisiana.

On June 18, Phares was granted a gambling license to reopen the Riverside Hotel and Gambling Casino in Reno. He was reported to have paid $3 million for the property and had scheduled the opening for this weekend.

His car went out of control on U.S. 69 in the southern limits of Port Arthur and went off the road.

Joint Chiefs Chairman Retires From 38-Year Military Career

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Leslie B. Wheeler retired Thursday stepping out of a 38-year military career that began as a teen-age National Guardsman and ended with a record six-year term as the nation's No. 1 soldier.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, in a spit-and-polish ceremony at Andrews Air Force Base, called Wheeler "a great soldier statesman" who has "forever his country's respect, its confidence and its gratitude."

Wheeler's successor as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, was to be sworn in later in the day.

Wheeler, 62, left his country's service to the salute of four years.

His contact with top policy started in September, 1960, when he was summoned from command of the 2nd Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Tex., to become director of the joint staff — the working unit of the chiefs.

In March, 1962, he was appointed deputy commander-in-chief for Europe under Gen. Lauris Norstad. Tall, slim and scholarly, the West Point graduate at that time was expected to succeed Norstad. But in a reshuffle that may have been a delayed reaction to the Bay of Pigs disaster in 1961, Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer was named to the European post and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor succeeded him as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Wheeler was brought home, only six months after his assignment to Europe, to become Army Chief of Staff. His appointment to succeed Taylor followed in mid-1964 when Taylor became U.S. ambassador to Saigon.

Although his military service officially dates from his graduation from West Point, it is 46 years since Wheeler at the age of 16, joined the National Guard in Washington, D.C., where he was born Jan. 13, 1908.

With Wheeler being replaced by Moorer, some observers were convinced the admiral has been chosen to steer U.S. defense policy toward greater reliance on sea power.

A spokesman said Wheeler has made no retirement plans and will rest at his farm in West Virginia before deciding what he will do. He also will continue to maintain his home in Alexandria, Va.

Pretrial Hearing Set For Ft. Hood Soldier

FT. HOOD, Tex. (UPI) — The pretrial hearing for St. Sgt. David Mitchell who faces charges in connection with the My Lai massacre will start July 15, the date originally set for Mitchell's court martial.

An eight day delay in the hearing was granted Tuesday at the request of Mitchell's lawyers. Mitchell, however, will still be the first person to stand trial in connection with the massacre of South Vietnamese civilians in the hamlet of Song My.

The court martial will begin when the pretrial hearings are complete, according to the Army's announcement.

Mitchell, 29, of St. Francisville, La., was originally charged with firing his M16 rifle into a group of 30 Vietnamese civilians. But the charge was changed to state specifically Mitchell shot and killed an 8-year-old boy.

At a news conference last December Mitchell denied any knowledge of a massacre.

"I was very surprised that I was accused of something I had no part of," he said at the time.

"I don't know where I heard it, but I heard that sometimes innocent people get in the way and get hurt," he said. "But I can recall no such case where I know of anyone being hurt."

"I did not see a massacre but anything is possible. A lot of memories have faded over this time. It's been such a long time that a lot of things that are being said cannot be true."

East German Leader Brings Change Of Tune After Moscow

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When Walter Ulbricht, Communist party leader of East Germany, returned from Moscow early in June, he brought with him a remarkable change of tune.

The change suggested that despite a seeming stalemate in talks between the two Germanys in their last meeting on May 21, Ulbricht now was ready for a third, and perhaps meaningful, round in search of a solution for differences that for 25 years had kept them hostile.

Ulbricht proposed the two German states exchange diplomatic representatives and apply for membership in the United Nations even before establishing full diplomatic relations.

Recognition of the East German state under international law had in the past been Ulbricht's No. 1 condition for any improvement in his relations with Bonn.

Makes Identical Proposal
West German Chancellor Willy Brandt had rejected the condition but had made a proposal identical to Ulbricht's at his May 21 meeting at Kassel, with East German Premier Willi Stoph. Stoph brusquely turned it down and the two separated with no firm plans for another meeting.

The circumstances accompanying Ulbricht's apparent change of heart were noteworthy.

The fact that he made his suggestion so quickly after his return from Moscow suggested he was acting under pressure from the Soviets, already far advanced in their own negotiations with Bonn on a renunciation of force agreement and anxious that nothing should happen to Brandt's appeasement.

The Russians hope the agreement will bring increased West German trade and technical assistance.

There also was some speculation that Ulbricht may have been extending an unexpected helping hand to Brandt, whose coalition with the West German Free Democrats had just suffered a damaging blow in three German state elections.

Whatever the reasoning, the proposal that the two Germanys go ahead and exchange representatives without waiting for full diplomatic recognition had at least one definite advantage for Ulbricht.

East Germany profits annually by many millions of marks through access to the European Common Market. A protocol to the treaty of Rome which established the Common Market permits East German goods to enter West Germany as internal and not third-country trade.

Formal diplomatic recognition would end all that and make it very expensive for Ulbricht.

WASHINGTON—Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., having second thoughts about her proposed legislation to prohibit federal assistance to any organization which discriminates on the basis of sex:

"Neither the Boy Scouts of America or the Girl Scouts as presently constituted could continue to receive surplus federal material and other benefits under the proposed amendment."

SEATTLE UPI—The 44-year-old man hopped into a parked car as plainclothes policemen approached the lot in the international district here. The officers asked him if the car was his. The man said no, it was a friend's, but he didn't know his friend's name.

At that point he was arrested. The car was registered to E. C. Burkhardt, a Seattle police officer.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—After all these years of mystification, we may finally be on the brink of finding out what happened to Judge Crater.

There is a good possibility that the missing jurist, the central figure in one of the most celebrated vanishing acts of all time, is alive and is serving in the House of Representatives.

I base this theory on a press release, or lamentation issued this week by a House member whose name I won't bother to mention but who obviously is on the verge of developing an inferiority complex.

Although the two bodies of Congress were created equal, he writes House members labor in obscurity while Senators bask in the limelight.

Run for the House.

To those recluses who shrink from publicity, who don't want to be on Page one or the 6 o'clock news every night, who would like to lead a monastic existence, my advice is to run for the House. Once elected you'll never be heard of again.

Immediately upon encountering this plaint, I asked the Library of Congress to put out a tracer with the aim of determining whether anyone answering Judge Crater's description had been elected to the House on or about the time of his disappearance.

I should have an answer soon and I'm betting the judge will turn up in the New York delegation. By this time he should have enough seniority to be at least a subcommittee chairman.

Meanwhile, let us give some thought to the problem pointed up by the press release: Namely, how do we prevent the House from being used as a haven by modern troglodytes who wish to drop out of society?

The author of the release suggests that the press might pay more heed to the House if congressional reforms were adopted to give younger members a stronger voice in policy.

Must be Younger Member

From which you might deduce that the author of the release is himself one of the younger members.

As I see it, however, the anonymity of the House seems not so much from age as from number.

Keeping track of 435 House members overtaxes the facilities of the average journalist. Consequently, he turns his attention to the Senate, where the job is four times easier.

The only way the House can hope to compete publicity-wise is by reducing its own membership.

Some of the younger members might then lose their seats. But if it forces Judge Crater out of hiding, the reform will be worthwhile.

LTV Reduces Bank Debt $35 Million

DALLAS (UPI)—Ling-Temco-Vought Inc. said Wednesday it has reduced its bank debt by $35 million down to $75 million.

President James J. Ling said the company used proceeds from the sale of its 75 per cent interest in Wilson Sporting Goods Co. to make partial payment on the debt. He said the reduction of the debt will cut interest payments by $3.2 million annually.

Ling also said three LTV subsidiaries negotiated renewals of bank loan agreements aggregating $214 million. The companies are LTV Aerospace Corp., LTV ElectroSystems, Inc. and OTV Altec, Inc.

AWARDS BONE
PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Police Commissioner Frank L. Rizzo gave out 25 commendations and one shinbone Wednesday. The bone and one of the commendations went to Kig, a German shepherd, who put police on the trail of a suspect in a $3,100 bank robbery in April.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You advised a flat-chested girl, "What nature has forgotten — stuff with cotton." That may be all right during the pursuit but once they've agreed to matrimony, she should shed the artificiality. The poor guy may want a bosomy wife more than anything else in the world (an immature attitude, but many men are immature). The girl may have known this all along and deceived him with "falsies." If you think this is ridiculous, it isn't. I've seen it happen.

So on their wedding night when the bride is found to be wearing balloons full of jello, there's going to be trouble.

I agree, some things are better left untold, but when two people plan to enter a relationship as intimate as marriage, such "secrets" are bound to be found out.

I'm an old-fashioned guy and I don't believe in rehearsals, in bed before marriage, but I do think both parties should be completely honest about what is natural and what isn't before, as the young people say, the marriage is consummated.

Taft DEAR TAFT: I find your "old-fashioned" attitude refreshing. However, not all girls wear falsies in order to deceive and entrap. (Some feel they look better in clothes with a few curves.)

No bride with a brain in her head would present herself as a truly bosomy babe right up to the wedding night, and then "deflate" herself — and her disappointed bridegroom, but if she did, she deserved to be left "flat."

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend and I argue about one thing constantly. He says that if you love someone you don't have to show it. I would like your opinion.

Karla DEAR KARLA: If by "showing it" you mean putting on a public demonstration, that doesn't mean a thing. One "shows love" by treating another with kindness, consideration and understanding.

DEAR ABBY: Backing up your reply to the mother who does not want her daughter associating with a little neighbor girl because of the behavior of that child's mother. Many years ago I tactfully suggested to my five-year-old son that it might be better if he didn't play with a five-year-old neighbor boy because that boy's homelife was miserable, he told outrageous lies, used extremely bad language, his mother was "suspect," and so on. After listening, my son said "But Mom, how will Billy ever learn to be a nice boy if no nice boys will play with him!" I was so ashamed! "A little child shall lead."

MOTHER in PORTLAND

DEAR ABBY: On Mother's Day I received a card, "TO GRANDMA ON MOTHER'S DAY" — signed "from Cindy and Jeff" — my two grandchildren, ages two and one. But my daughter (their mother) didn't remember me in a special way. Maybe I'm foolish for feeling a little put out, but Abby, Mother's Day is the day for children to get a bit sentimental about their mothers, and I've always enjoyed that holiday above all others. Don't get me wrong, I love my grandchildren, but they are not my children, and just because I happen to be a grandmother doesn't mean I'm no longer a mother.

"PUT OUT"

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to Abby: Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Groom

GROOM (Sp) — Marriage vows were exchanged in an afternoon ceremony in the First Baptist Church by Miss Jackie Pair and Dal R. Howerton. The Rev. Alvin Hiltbrunner, pastor, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Jack Pair of Amarillo and Mrs. Stella Kempf, Clovis, Calif. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dania Howerton. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length white dress and carried a bridal bouquet of roses atop a white Bible. Attendants were Miss Jan Ledwig and Russell Pair.

Your Horoscope JEANE DIXON

SATURDAY, JULY 4 — YOUR BIRTHDAY

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Your faculties for attending to details will be tested many times in this year of sweeping changes. You may start your campaign upward this weekend, as plenty of free energy is available. Emotional experience broadens into a swirling tide of exploration and development toward a new phase of life. Saturday's natives are prudent, bright and charming for the most part. Most of them have a talent for politics.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your imagination paints many pictures of what might be — take the brighter of them for your goals. Your home is the place for an evening of fun and games.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Come to terms quickly with everybody. Creative work and free personal expression are favored. Make it a party evening, with no serious business permitted.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your impulse is to let feelings unravel your purse strings — real emotional ties do not depend on finances. Pursue the best side, giving all a chance to be their brightest.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Avoid overdoing as you pursue personal goals this crowded weekend. Some definite opportunities exist, despite the festival movement of people around you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Strive for a private, personal holiday. You have an exceptional chance to get at neglected matters. Keeping busy brings special rewards.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Every direction is toward more exposure. Resolve to let comment pass unanswered. Pursue creative projects, but take time to reflect on your good future.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Moderate your enthusiasm to be sure you don't miss significant details. Your intuition is alert; follow where it leads. Dealings with establishment are smooth and lucky.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Personal matters intrude into the flow of a productive day. Distant matters attract notice, strangers provide fresh views.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Simply relax and enjoy the weekend; refrain from business and the wild ideas of friends. Participate in your favorite sports or hobbies.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): For once let others organize things. Just go along quietly. Your energy is adequate but worth conserving. Find a lively party for the evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): There is a chance to correct some past error with minimum fuss. Group or joint plans progress well. Relax and tell your favorite stories — to people who haven't heard them.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Creative projects, games find great favor Saturday. Just don't try to revise financial plans. New people have interesting viewpoints.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Come to terms quickly with everybody. Creative work and free personal expression are favored. Make it a party evening, with no serious business permitted.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your impulse is to let feelings unravel your purse strings — real emotional ties do not depend on finances. Pursue the best side, giving all a chance to be their brightest.

Miss Brannell believes in the midi for summer cocktail parties and cuts this one in a delicate, contemporary Paisley silk print. It is accessorized with dripping ropes of cultured pearls (left). Adele Simpson does her summer cocktail dress (right) short and crisp in sheer navy lace over taffeta. The wide scooped neckline becomes a frame for a single, choker length strand of cultured pearls. A cluster-pearl ring and large Mobe cultured pearl earrings complete the ensemble.

SIMPLE LINE DRESS

Treat a simple-line dress to scallops at the neck and hem lines, and presto... a most feminine fashion. For that extra touch of femininity, nip in the waistline with a partial belt that buttons at each side of the front panel. Whether you make it in sparkling white or a soft pastel, it's sure to be a favorite.

First Presbyterian Church

Rev. Martin Hager, First Presbyterian Church pastor, will use "Like a Thief in the Night" as the topic for his sermon at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship services, Sunday. His text will be taken from 1 Thessalonians 5:1-11. Ruling Elder Wayne Irwin will serve as pulpit assistant at both services of worship.

First Christian Church

The Rev. Shelby H. Anglemeyer will present the sermon for the Sunday morning worship beginning at 10:30 a.m. He has chosen for his sermon subject "A Sound Investment," with Scriptures from Matthew 6:19-24. The choir, under the direction of Miss Rosemary Lawlor, and accompanied by Mrs. John Gitt will present the Anthem.

First Baptist Church

The pastor, Dan B. Cameron, will preach for the 11 a.m. worship in the First Baptist Church Sunday. He will continue preaching the series of Sermons on "The King and I," with this message entitled "Watching the King." Hoyte Phillips will direct the congregational singing in the absence of David Campbell, who is singing with the Century Men in Washington D.C. for the "Honor America Day" program. Richard Hill will sing a solo, "Fill My Cup." Miss Eloise Lane, organist, has chosen "America the Beautiful" for the offertory.

METHODIST BISHOP SAYS

American War Goal Not Freedom Of Vietnamese

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

"Whatever else we're fighting for in Vietnam, we're not fighting for the freedom of the Vietnamese people. They are not free."

A campus radical speaking? No, a Methodist bishop. And he's not one of those way-out clerics who'll say anything to be considered "relevant." He's a soft-spoken patriot from the Midwest farm belt who doesn't think it's corny to link "God and country"—provided you put God first.

His name is James Armstrong. At the age of 43, he is bishop of the Dakotas in the United Methodist Church. In another time, his concern might be focused on parcelling out pastorships or meeting budgets. But Bishop Armstrong has had an experience he can't forget.

Last year, along with several other U.S. churchmen, he visited Vietnam to see for himself what his country was doing there. He was appalled by what he learned—or perhaps one should say thought he learned, for who can know for sure what is the truth about that confused and controversial situation?

"The Saigon government is run by a band of generals who need to keep the war going in order to stay in power. They do not represent a majority of the non-Communists in South Vietnam," General Thien and General Ky won the 1967 "free election" because their most popular opponents weren't permitted to run against them. The one candidate who did give them a race was imprisoned as soon as the election was over—and is still in jail.

"And he's only one of thousands of non-Communist political prisoners who've been jailed by the Thieu-Ky regime. This is the kind of 'freedom' we're defending in Vietnam."

Even if he could be certain that the Vietnamese people are better off under the "police state" Corruption of Saigon than they would be if left to the mercies of Hanoi's "Communist terrorism," the bishop said, he would still have grave doubts about the morality of America's role.

"The truth is that our overwhelming fire-power is simply destroying these people and their land," he said, and as he said it, he shuddered visibly at some of his memories.

New Commander Named For Texas Salvation Army Post

Lt. Col. Gordon A. Foubister assumes command of all Salvation Army forces in Texas effective July 1 with headquarters in Dallas. The appointment was announced by Commissioner William Chamberlain, the Army's Southern Territorial Commander in Atlanta, Ga.

The new Texas divisional Commander will have charge of Salvation Army operations in the state, including over 200 officers and employees and approximately 3700 advisory board members and volunteer Service Unit committee members. He succeeds Colonel Paul Thronburg, who was promoted field secretary of the Southern territory.

For nearly four years before his Texas appointment, Lt. Colonel Foubister was divisional commander of Northern Illinois and director of Greater Chicago activities, the first officer to be responsible for the dual appointment. In the Chicago metropolitan area last year, the

Mormons To Present Patriotic Broadcast

A special patriotic television broadcast, "Let Us Forget," will be shown Saturday at 9 a.m. on KFDD-TV, channel 10.

The program is sponsored by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints and will feature the world famous Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

HEADING A delegation of Jehovah's Witnesses from the Pampa congregation to the upcoming "Men of Goodwill" district assembly are Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Pinard of Pampa, who are full time ministers serving on the pre-convention staff of volunteer workers. More than 6,500 Witnesses from Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico are expected for the convention to be held July 23-26 in Amarillo's Civic Center.

The Weekly Message of Inspiration...

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

MARTIN HAGER, Pastor
First Presbyterian Church

One of the most moving portions of Shakespeare's play Macbeth, occurs when Macbeth turns to his physician:

"Canst thou not minister to a mind diseased, pluck from the memory a rooted sorrow,

Raze out the written trouble of the brain, and with some sweet oblivious antidote

Cleanse the stuffed bosom of that perilous stuff which weighs upon the heart?"

"Some sweet oblivious antidote," an escape, a plunge into a pleasant privacy, a sign, not only of Shakespeare's time, but of our own as well.

I find it shocking, but not all surprising that Americans paid $150,000,000 dollars for three hundred tons of tranquilizers and barbiturates (1,250,000,000 pills in one year). I find it shocking, not surprising, that $400,000,000 was paid for contraband heroin in one year. I find shocking, but again, not surprising, that 103 heroin addicts (average age 22) died in New York City in a month.

Macbeth asked his physician about "some sweet oblivious antidote," and it seems as though we've found it. We are in the midst of a frantic search for some secret private sanctuary; for some sweet quiet inside to dampen down the confusing noisy demands of the outside. It's a search, the pathetically unproductive search, for a self that will stand.

There's another search, a more socially acceptable one, to escape a world you can't stand: apathy. And it, like drugs, is highly addictive. And it manifests itself in much of the hyper-individuality you hear tossed about these days. "You take care of your problems, I'll take care of mine." Another unrealistic addiction, another sweet oblivious antidote. Both are symptoms of the same disease, an unwillingness to face facts. Never before have our lives been so intertwined in so complicated ways. Never before has the search for quality in life been so obviously a job for us all. And the job is one that none of us can handle by ourselves.

"And God saw everything that he had made, and behold, it was good." The man of faith has within his reach the strength, the necessary depth and stature and commitment, to live proudly in any kind of a world. So if the worst should come, he is prepared, abundantly, for it. And it is this same human possibility that he has been granted by God in Christ, that turns him constantly away from himself and the blind alley of self gratification. I am convinced, that we have been granted something by God that will enable us to face the challenges and complexities of these days without aid and comfort of the "Sweet oblivious antidote" of apathy.

Niekro Hurls 1-Hit Victory

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer
New York Yankee second baseman, Horace Clark, has the knack of breaking up no-hitters in the ninth inning. He did it for the third time within a month Thursday night and Joe Niekro had to settle for a one-hitter in pitching the Detroit Tigers to a 6-0 victory.

Second baseman Dick McAuliffe made an excellent play in snaring Clark's grounder but he had to throw while falling to the ground and it pulled Niekro off the bag as Clark streaked across first.

"It was my fault," Niekro said. "If I had stayed on the bag, I would have had it. My momentum just carried me off the bag."

Niekro also helped his own cause by singling in two runs in a three-run second inning. Jim Northrup and Price hit solo homers to account for the other runs.

In other games, Cleveland edged Baltimore, 10-9. Minnesota beat Kansas City, 5-2.

Tourney Set At Elk City

ELK CITY, Okla.—The annual Elk City Key Club Fourth of July Tennis Tournament will begin at 9 a.m. here Saturday at Akeley Park tennis courts.

Finals in the four-division tourney are slated for 1 p.m. Sunday.

Trophies and medals will be awarded in the following classes: girls to age 18, singles; boys to age 18, singles and doubles; women, single and doubles; men, singles and doubles.

Entrance fee for boys and girls will be $1.50. Men and women will pay $2.00.

All proceeds will be used by the Key Club for civic improvements.

Dumas Will Host Pampa Saturday

Pampa's American Legion baseball team, which sports a 5-2 season record, will meet Dumas at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Dumas.

The Rebels will host Borger at 5 p.m. Sunday at Optimist Park. Spearman will be in Pampa Wednesday for an 8 p.m. struggle.

Wednesday's scheduled game with Liberal, Kan., was cancelled.

COWBOYS SIGN TACKLE
DALLAS (UPI) The Dallas Cowboys have signed their second draft choice, Vanderbilt tackle Bob Asher, and two free agent kickers, Donny Warner of Indiana and Tom Rodgers of Baldwin-Wallace.

Oakland drubbed Chicago, 10-6. California topped Milwaukee, 10-7, and Boston blanked Washington, 5-0.

In the only National League game, Philadelphia beat New York twice, 6-1 and 3-2. Cincinnati edged Atlanta, 2-1, and Montreal outlasted St. Louis, 13-10.

The Indians beat the Orioles for the first time this year as Ray Fosse hit a three-run homer and Tony Horton hit for the cycle.

Minnesota maintained its four-game edge over California in the West by downing Kansas City to sweep a four-game series. Tom Hall allowed only two hits in seven innings before tiring, and Stan Williams finished up. Harmon Killebrew, Leo Cardenas and Cesar Tovar homered for the Twins.

Gary Peters pitched a six-hitter and Carl Yastrzemski drove in three runs and hit his 10th homer as Boston blanked Washington.

California erupted for five runs in the seventh to beat Milwaukee. Joe Azcue and Roger Repoz hit doubles during the rally. Tommy Harper hit his 14th and 15th homers for Milwaukee.

Tommy Davis collected three hits to pace a 13-hit attack as Oakland outslug Chicago. Reggie Jackson had a two-run homer, his 11th, for the A's. Carlos May hit his eighth for the White Sox.

Gilbert Captures Lead In Canada With Record 65

LONDON, Ont. (UPI)—Gibby Gilbert found his golf game in a slump lately, so he called his own personal "dial-a-lesson" service and the long-distance advice Thursday helped him to a course record 65 at the London Hunt and Country Club and the first-round lead in the $125,000 Canadian Open.

Gilbert, of Hollywood, Fla., led by one stroke over 1960 Canadian Open champ Art Wall and former Masters champ George Archer, both at 66. Gilbert's round was seven strokes under par on the par 72 course, which played to 7,168 yards.

The top Canadian was Toronto native Gary Pitchford, who now plays out of the Bahamas, who was tied at 67, five-under-par, with John Kennedy, of Edgemont, Pa., in fourth place. Bob Stone, of Independence, Mo., was another stroke back at 68, and nine players were bunched at 69, including three-time Open champ Sam Snead, who was runnerup in 1969. Tommy Aaron, the 1969 winner, had poor front nine, with a 42, and finished the round at 78, six over par.

PHILLIES TAKE PAIR FROM METS

Merritt Pitches 2-1 Red Victory

By STU CAMEN
UPI Sports Writer

"You get beat by a guy like Merritt and you feel like going home and cutting your throat," said Hank Aaron Thursday night, shortly after Jim Merritt became the major league's first 13-game winner by pitching the Cincinnati Reds to a 2-1 victory over the Atlanta Braves. "You're looking for the slow stuff and you get the fastball in a good spot," Aaron added. Aaron was hardly in a position to complain, however, as he collected two of the six hits allowed by Merritt.

Batterymate Johnny Bench, Cincinnati's brilliant young catcher, contributed to Merritt's latest triumph by knocking in both runs while speedy Bobby Tolan tallied both markers. Tolan helped set one run by stealing second and third after being hit by a pitch by losing hurler George Stone. Clete Boyer, who also had two hits for the Braves, doubled Atlanta's only run, in the second.

In the only other National League action, Montreal outlasted St. Louis, 13-10, and Philadelphia swept a two-night doubleheader from the New York Mets, 6-1, and 3-2.

In the American League, Detroit shut out the New York Yankees, 5-0. Cleveland nipped Baltimore, 10-9. Boston blanked Washington, 5-0. California downed Milwaukee, 10-7. Oakland belted the Chicago White Sox, 10-6, and Minnesota beat Kansas City, 5-2.

A slimmed-down John Bateman belted the first grand slam homer of his major league career and set a club record by driving in seven runs as Montreal extended its record.

winning streak to five with its victory over St. Louis.

Montreal starter Carl Morton had easy sailing until the ninth when he needed Claude Raymond's relief help before nailing down his ninth victory against five losses. Joe Hague belted two homers for the Cardinals while Lou Brock and Leron Lee chipped in with one apiece.

Philadelphia scored all six of its first-game runs in the eighth inning and snapped a string of 53 scoreless innings turned to by Met pitchers at Connie Mack Stadium. Oscar Gamble's two-run single snapped a 1-1 tie and enabled Jim Bunning, with ninth-inning relief from Dick Selma, to pick up his sixth win against eight losses.

Selma also saved the second game, relieving starter Chris Short with runners on first and third and only one out in the eighth and Philadelphia holding its 3-2 lead. Selma got Art Shamsky and Joe Foy on foul popouts and retired the Mets without a hit in the ninth to record his 10th save.

Mann, Caponi Tie Ladies Open

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (UPI)—Towering Carol Mann was nine shots better off today than the start she got toward her 1965 U.S. Women's Open golf championship. But it wasn't enough to get a jump on the confident defending champion, Donna Caponi.

Both carded two-under-par 69s in the opening round of the 1970 Open in searing heat on Muskogee Country Club's 6,210-yard course Thursday. The 69s tied the first-round record for the classic.

I've got all the confidence in the world in my game right now," Miss Caponi said after dropping a 10-footer on the 18th hole to save a par.

Miss Mann had been three under until she suffered her only bogey of the day on the 390-yard finishing hole which plays uphill all the way.

"I've been very poor" in opening rounds and had to come on strong at the end," she said. "This is the best opening round I've played this year, scorewise and determination wise."

Shirley Englehorn, who played with Miss Mann Thursday and also bogeyed 18, was just one stroke back at 70 along with Sharon Miller.

And just another stroke back were a host of golfers capable of walking off with the $5,000 first prize. Kathy Whitworth.

Meaning Of July Fourth

The significance of the Fourth of July, the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, is all too often forgotten. No longer taught in the school system, unknown or ignored in the home, few children of today have ever seen a copy of the document and fewer still have more than a vague idea of what it contains.

Somehow, down through the years, the real meaning of the Fourth of July became confused with waving flags, marching bands, political speeches and fireworks. And, of late, even these appear to be on the way out; the last, fireworks, because of the squeeze of restrictive laws.

The extent to which the original meaning of the day and knowledge of what the document itself contained have been dimmed in the minds and hearts of the American people was ointed up by a little story related to us.

Told as a true account, it seems that an individual quoting that part of the Declaration which reads, "But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security," was accused of quoting from the Communist Manifesto.

But, be that as it may, reading the Declaration and comparing the list of abuses which caused the American Colonists to rebel, not against an alien foreign despot, but against their own duly constituted government, with the onerous restraints placed on the American people today, it is not difficult to grasp why the study and understanding of the Declaration of Independence is not encouraged these days.

Keeping in mind the increasing governmental restraints and violations of our freedoms in this country and the growing resort to violence which seems to occur as a form of backlash, some of the causes leading to the Colonists' rebellion are instructive. We quote from the Declaration of Independence:

"The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world."

Letters To North Vietnam

Not a great deal has been said about the plight of hundreds of Americans held captive in North Vietnam. But a few prisoners have made it back and told of the bamboo cages, vicious beatings, malnutrition and indignities. Still we hear nothing from the North Vietnamese.

Now the American Red Cross is attempting to help. It is launching a new "Write Hanoi" campaign to gain more humane treatment for U.S. prisoners of war in Vietnam.

There is one man who can change things and who can make possible the release of information about who is dead and who is alive, so that families can adjust their lives. This man is the president of North Vietnam, and it is to his office that letters should be addressed.

As for content, the Red Cross urges that letter writers ask him to release the names of prisoners, permit them to write their families, let the Red Cross

Sometimes it pays to get things upside-down.

When a bolt on the main spar of his stunt airplane failed, aerobatic pilot Neil Williams in Bristol, England, turned his plane upside-down in order to relieve strain on the weakened wing. When he got within several feet of the ground, he flipped the plane over and landed safely.

Then spectators turned their stomachs right-side-up also.

LT. GEN. EAKER TALKS ABOUT MY LAI

Now that the schizophrenic screams from the Left about My Lai have become less deafening, it might be profitable to take a sane look at the real issue. Here is what Lieutenant General Ira C. Eaker (USAF Ret.), who knows something about the subject, has to say.

"The attack on My Lai often is called a massacre by press and commentators. This leads to a natural and needed query: When does a military operation become a massacre?"

"Strangely, those who are now so certain a massacre occurred in My Lai did not call the bombing of Dresden a massacre although more than 100,000 noncombatants, including thousands of women and children, died there. Nor did they so label the low-level attack on Tokyo with fire bombs where 90,000 Japanese non-combatants were killed in a single night.

"They gave scant space to the Tet atrocities at Hue and seldom express any sympathy for U.S. dead or wounded in the Vietnamese war. They have not reminded our people that more than 500 U.S. soldiers have been killed by the Viet Cong in the vicinity of the My Lai hamlet and the adjacent Song My village.

"When I was in Vietnam in 1967, visiting more than 50 U.S. and South Vietnamese units at 25 bases, while flying several thousand miles from the Delta to the DMZ I learned of many atrocities committed by the VC about which I had read little in the U.S. press. These are two typical examples. Many similar experiences were reported at every base where I landed.

"A U.S. patrol nearing a village observed a woman approaching who appeared to be pregnant. When she neared our troops she began pulling hand grenades from a belt under her shirtwaist and throwing with skilled precision, killing or wounding most of a U.S. platoon.

"A W.S. captain was leading a patrol into a hamlet when eager children greeted him. A boy of 10 or 11 asked for chewing gum. When the captain put his hand in his pocket, the youngster plunged a rusty knife into his abdomen, inflicting a mortal wound.

"Upon my return to Saigon, I asked at headquarters why we in the United States had not been told of the Red atrocities about which I had heard so much from troops in the field. The staff officer replied: 'We give the correspondents this information, but apparently it is now old hat and no longer news or it does not jibe with the editorial policy of the anti-war press back home.'

"Upon my return to the United States, I asked one of the Joint Chiefs of Staff why the Pentagon did not release more force than it wished to said it was against Administration policy, since this might build up a psychology in this country which would pressure our leadership to use more force than it wished to employ in this limited conflict.

"It seems to me unfair and un-American to convict U.S. soldiers of atrocities under the stress of combat without trial and in fact without hearing any of the evidence from their side.

"There will be additional lurid atrocity revelations. When a broadcasting network offers $7,000 for reports of U.S. atrocities (Red atrocity reports are not wanted) and when a national magazine pays thousands of dollars for pictures of alleged U.S. atrocities, many neurotic disgruntled soldiers will find their memories revived and imaginations stimulated.

"I never knew a U.S. citizen in uniform or out, who advocated or applauded the killing of noncombatants. But I have known many leaders, including Presidents, members of Congress, reporters, editors and even clergymen, who sanctioned it when unavoidably incident to the accomplishment of a military mission required to force a cruel enemy to surrender or to deny him the weapons and resources to carry out his designs for ruthless conquest." —American Way Features.

The Declaration Of Independence

The Unanimous Declaration of the Thirteen United States of America:

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the Powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.

That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness.

Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security. — Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good. He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only. He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their Public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative Powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary Powers.

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our People, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our legislature.

He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil Power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments;

For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with Power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow Citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare, is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these Oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free People.

Nor have We been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be Free and Independent States; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the Protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

—Adopted by the Continental Congress in Philadelphia on July 4, 1776.

There is, as noted, little evidence that either technique has produced any startling results in Hanoi. On the other hand, (unless you happen to be the leftist prime minister steering a neutral nation through ideological shoals), there is nothing to be gained in keeping quiet.

That is why many celebrations this July 4 weekend will incorporate a POW plea.

Palme was rewarded some time ago with a short list of names of U.S. prisoners. Unfortunately (like the letters recently obtained through peacenik groups) they were, for the most part, the names of prisoners who were already known to be held by the North Vietnamese.

The League of Families of American Prisoners of War in Southeast Asia — a nationwide organization formed by Mrs. James B. Stockdale, wife of a Navy POW pilot — is taking another tack. For a couple of years, the League has been actively publicizing the plight of the prisoners.

In the early part of the war, the U.S. government was wedded to the quiet diplomacy tactic. In early 1969, however, perhaps because of the League's mounting efforts, the State Department began to stress the POW problem at the Paris peace talks and in such forums as the UN and its Human Rights Commission.

HANOI'S READING — H. Ross Perot, the Dallas computer multimillionaire who has made the POW problem his own, uses both techniques. Perot's widely publicized trips to meet with the North Vietnamese have obscured the fact that a couple of his people work quietly, and rather constantly, with intermediaries in Paris and the Far East.

Perot is convinced, however, that the public airing of the POW problem is the key. He thinks no efforts, public or private, will succeed until the Hanoi government is convinced that its treatment of prisoners to date has worked to its disadvantage in the United States.

From his contacts with North Vietnamese, Perot thinks they believe government officials carry little weight in the councils of a representative government. Perot says the views of the public which elect U.S. officials, are the views which can sway Hanoi toward better treatment for U.S. prisoners of war.

There is, as noted, little evidence that either technique has produced any startling results in Hanoi. On the other hand, (unless you happen to be the leftist prime minister steering a neutral nation through ideological shoals), there is nothing to be gained in keeping quiet.

POW PROBLEM: Making Hanoi Know We Care

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — No one can be sure that the government in North Vietnam fully understands the intensity of feelings which it has provoked here by its treatment of U.S. prisoners of war.

Hanoi has repeatedly made it clear that it has no concern whatever for the North Vietnamese held in South Vietnam, Laos and now in Cambodia. That disinterest raises, in itself, the question of whether North Vietnamese authorities correctly interpret the signals here.

There is a little bit of evidence to indicate that Hanoi is easing the plight of U.S. prisoners ever so slightly. That flimsy evidence comes from an upward trend in the number of letters from U.S. prisoners which have been permitted to reach their families here.

In 1967, for example, with 878 Americans classed as prisoners of war or missing in action in Vietnam, a total of 73 wrote letters which were received here according to the best available count. Thirty-three of the prisoners were contacting their families for the first time.

For 1969, totals are still incomplete, because letters written late last year are still trickling in to families here. However, with 1,428 Americans in the MIA and POW categories, at least 208 wrote letters, and 114 of them were writing their families for the first time.

The trend seems to be continuing into the present year. One of the peacenik organizations, which is a major conduit for the POW letters, is recently reported to have obtained 143 of them from prisoners held in North Vietnam.

TWO TECHNIQUES — Two techniques, representing two very different rationales, are being used to secure better treatment for U.S. prisoners — to expedite their mail, improve conditions under which they are held and provide generally for treatment in accordance with the Geneva convention.

Olof Palme, neutral Sweden's leftist prime minister, personifies the technique of quiet diplomacy. Questioned about his POW efforts during his recent visit here, Palme replied that he could not comment publicly on the subject.

He had told two wives of U.S. prisoners, who sought his help in Stockholm, that it might endanger his diplomatic channels to Hanoi if his efforts were publicized.

For those unpublic efforts, there is, as noted, little evidence that either technique has produced any startling results in Hanoi. On the other hand, (unless you happen to be the leftist prime minister steering a neutral nation through ideological shoals), there is nothing to be gained in keeping quiet.

That is why many celebrations this July 4 weekend will incorporate a POW plea.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION — How does the government bring on depressions and unemployment?

ANSWER — It does it in many ways. The government can bring on depressions and unemployment by inflation through spending more than it takes in and creating fiat money to finance its activities and through encouraging unbacked expansion of credit, which makes it difficult for people to make binding contracts for future operation.

Special privileges to certain groups like labor unions, who can combine in restraint of trade and reduce competition without violating anti-trust laws, can lead to unemployment and depressions. Businessmen would be prosecuted if they did the same things unions are permitted to do. Minimum wage laws also help bring on the same result. Costs can be forced up so high, that employers must eliminate jobs or be forced out of business.

Protective tariffs which interfere with people freely exchanging goods and services and buying at the lowest possible price and selling at the highest possible price also contribute to depressions. If people were free to sell to the highest bidder and buy at the lowest price, locally as well as all over the world, the chances of depression would be minimized. There might be small slumps occasionally, but without government restrictions, men who erred in judgment would be allowed to correct their errors, and any economic declines would be corrected.

Taxation, which is increasing at all levels of government, also contributes to depressions. Recent stories of the financial difficulties of the Penn Central showed the railroad last year had expenses of $1.8 billion, including $2.41 million in taxes and interest, despite the fact the road has been suffering a deficit.

The government retards the standard of living and spiritual development and interferes with voluntary and free exchange of goods and services throughout the world, and thus is a major cause of unemployment and depression.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

In 1864, President Abraham Lincoln wrote a famous letter of consolation to Mrs. Lydia Bixby pertaining to the death of her five sons in the Civil War. The letter has been described as "a blending of sentiment, uplift and delicate, unaffected sympathy." The World Almanac says, Ironically, unknown to Lincoln, only two of Mrs. Bixby's sons had sacrificed their lives "upon the altar of freedom."
