Graduation tonight for Class of '84

The some 170 members of the Snyder High School Class of 1984 will receive their diplomas Wednesday in ceremonies beginning at 8 p.m. at the Scurry County Coliseum.

Both Commencement and Baccalaureate ceremonies are combined with Wednesday's program.

Honor graduates for the Class of '84 are Valedictorian Guy Staton and Salutatorian Susan Brim.

Following an invocation by Class President Paul Tate, SHS Principal Ray Courtney will introduce speaker Miller Robinson, pastor of the Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

Class honor students will then be recognized by Ned Underwood, assistant principal at SHS.

Scholarship announcements will follow, presented by John Short, high school counselor.

A student group will then sing the Class Song, "The Best is Yet to Come," under the direction of Bill Lyon, choir director.

The 1984 graduates will be presented by Superintendent Bill J. Hood, who is marking his final SHS graduation as head of the Snyder school system. Hood will retire at the end of June.

The diplomas will be presented by J.D. Hinton, school board president.

The entire class will then sing the school "Alma Mater" under the direction of class member Jeana Fox.

Dale Sands, class vice president, will close the program with the benediction.

Both processional and recessional music will be provided by Mrs. Wayne Bethel.

The entire list of class officers this year include Paul Tate, president; Dale Sands, vice president; Kathy Norris, secretary; and Mickey Broach, reporter.

SOIL STEWARDSHIP WEEK KICKOFF — Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District Chairman Charlie Henderson (center) presented a program on the traditions of Soil Stewardship Week Tuesday for a gathering of county leaders, agricultural services workers and local ministers. Stewardship week traditions retold

Local ministers met with officers and directors of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District for a luncheon Tuesday in conjunction with the local observance of Soil Stewardship Week.

The week runs from May 27-June 3 and conservation district officers are urging local religious leaders to remind their congregations of man's role as "keeper of God's soil and water" in this week's services.

District Chairman Charlie Henderson presented the program for the group. He noted the modern observance of Soil Stewardship week is the outgrowth of a tradition of springtime prayer and penance begun over 1,500 years ago in France to give thanks for "the wealth derived from the land."

The ministers were also shown a film about wind and water erosion — the two principal problems with Texas soil conservation — presented by conservation district board member Bill Wilson of Borden County.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A go-getter is a man who runs out of gas two miles from a service station."

If any of you 8th graders have difficulty with high school next year, it certainly would be in order to blame the junior high staff for failure to provide you with "broad" learning opportunities.

Take the kids in Trenton, N.J., for example. Those students were taught how to play poker during school hours using paper markers for bets and learning that a flush beats a full house.

Pupils learned poker rules in an opitional class that ended abruptly when a parent telephoned the principal to complain that students were participating in up to five poker games per day.

We're glad we live in Snyder and not in New Jersey. Such activity here would have gotten more than a "bluff" call. You could have bet on a "full house."

If any of tonight's grads wonder how they may do in future years, a human motivation expert has come up with standards for peak performance.

A mover and shaker is in good physical condition and full of energy. He eats mostly fruits and vegetables, exercises 30 minutes or more at least twice a week. He also doesn't smoke or take drugs.

Those who excell are emotionally well-adjusted and have a high level of self-confidence and trust in others. They enjoy daily contact with people.

They are not workaholics and avoid repetitious activity, maintain felixibility in their work. They often spend time sitting and thinking.

Movers and shakers are well-organized and undertake specific study projects at least four times a year. They write out their personal goals and keep them updated.

Grads, we failed on every item except eating. We get plenty of vegetables. Who says potato chips are not brain food?

Superintendent hiring said possible

With four interviews now completed, Snyder school board members have scheduled a meeting for 5:15 p.m. Thursday and initial indications are a new school superintendent may be named.

If a hiring is announced, it will end a search here which began March 13 when Superintendent Bill J. Hood announced his intent to step down effective June 30.

Hood will have completed 17 years with the system.

Board members set an April 30 deadline to apply for the superintendent's job. When that date passed, more than 50 inquiries were reported and some 40 job applicants.

Following guidelines set down by the board, these had to include either superintendents or assistant superintendents with no less than three years experience.

The only other guideline set by the board was that the hiring would be "outside" the Snyder school system.

Personal interviews were conducted by the board as recently as Monday night. Other interviews were conducted May 9, 15 and 16. The board met again Tuesday night to discuss the field of candidates.

Persian Gulf...

No troops to be used

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says he's not preparing to send American troops to war in Central American or the Persian Gulf, although he is pledging to keep the gulf open to oil tankers despite the brewing crisis in the region.

However, when pressed, the president refused to unequivocally rule out the possibility of sending U.S. forces to either region.

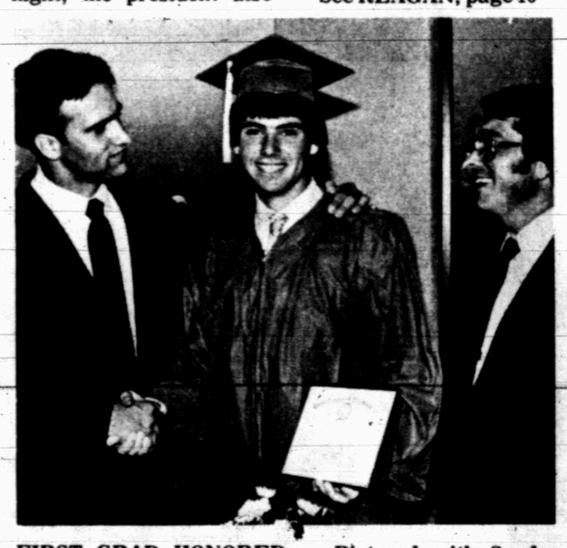

At a nationally broadcast news conference dominated by foreign policy questions Tuesday night, the president also said:

—The Soviet Union may not return to the nuclear arms reduction bargaining table until after the November presidential election, but he is not willing to make any concession to get them back earlier.

—He doesn't believe the United States and Soviet Union are any closer to a "confrontation that could lead to a nuclear conflagration" than before he took office.

—He doesn't foresee an impending recession,

Ask Us

Q. — Is it a school policy that all elementary classes have a school play?

A. — School officials note no "hard and fast" policy regarding the plays. Elementary teachers are encouraged, however, to join with the music teacher at each campus to organize and perform a play each year.

In Brief

Duarte's appeal helpful

WASHINGTON (AP) — A dramatic appeal to Congress by Salvadoran President-elect Jose Napoleon Duarte is brightening the prospect that the lawmakers will approve emergency military aid for his war-ravaged Central American country.

President Reagan, congressional leaders and the newly elected Salvadoran official himself indicated Duarte's stint of more than 10 hours on Capitol Hill Tuesday appeared to be bearing fruit.

"I have great hopes that after President Duarte's visit here and meeting with as many in the Congress as he did that there is some reason for optimism," Reagan said in a nationally televised news conference Tuesday night.

Speaker of the House Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., made a similar assessment from his perspective as an opponent of Reagan's Central American policies.

"I think he (Duarte) has sold enough people in the House," O'Neill told reporters. "I think the votes are here overwhelmingly, despite my opposition."

Countries begin war games

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — More than 4,000 American, Honduran and Salvadoran troops begin combat exercises today that will take them near troubled border areas of El Salvador and Nicaragua.

It is the first time that El Salvador's government, locked in a 4½-year war with leftist rebels, has sent troops to participate in military maneuvers here.

The war games, to last until June 30, are the second phase of Granadero I, the latest in a series of exercises that critics of the Reagan administration charge is creating a semi-permanent U.S. military presence in this strategically located Central American nation.

Washington says the exercises are aimed at increasing the defensive capacity of troops of friendly nations in the region.

A U.S. diplomat, who spoke on condition he not be named, said the maneuvers are more than a training exercise.

Church woman killed...

Murder trial to begin today

ZACATECOLUCA, El Salvador (AP) — Five former national guardsmen go on trial today for the murders of four American churchwomen in a case where a verdict could mean more U.S. aid for government forces in El Salvador's civil war.

The trial, which comes after 3½ years of pressure by the administrations of former President Jimmy Carter and President Reagan, is expected to last no more than two days.

Judge Bernardo Rauda Murcia, who is in charge of the case, said the trial would proceed today unless the five jurors stay away out of fear for their lives.

Prosecutors were optimistic about prospects for conviction. But some defense lawyers have told their clients there is insufficient evidence for guilty verdicts, and U.S. diplomats concede the defendants may be acquitted.

Under Salvadoran law, a conviction is nearly impossible without a confession, and only one of the guardsmen has confessed.

The trial is in Zacatecoluca, 35 miles east of San Salvador and the town closest to where the women's bodies were found in a shallow grave on Dec. 4, 1980.

The victims were Ita Ford, 40, and Maura Clarke, 48, Maryknoll nuns from New York; Ursuline Sister Dorothy Kazel, 41, and layworker Jean Donovan, 27, both of Cleveland. The women had reputations as leftist sympathizers.

According to pre-trial testimony, their killers were five national guardsmen who abducted them as they drove to San Salvador from the airport.

The guardsmen allegedly took the women to an isolated dirt path, raped some of them and shot them.

Papers traced to 1980

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators have concluded that CIA Director William Casey received some of the Carter administration documents that reached President Reagan's campaign in 1980, according to sources familiar with the House probe.

These sources said that besides naming Casey, a 2,400-page report scheduled to be released today states that the House investigation was unable to identify who in the Carter camp supplied the documents.

The report further says that the year-old probe by the Post Office and Civil Service human resources subcommittee found credible evidence that a crime had been committed in the transfer of the Carter papers, sources said.

Last year, White House Chief of Staff James A. Baker III told House investigators that Casey gave him Carter documents, including a briefing book used to prepare Jimmy Carter for a pivotal presidential campaign debate against Reagan.

Sources said the subcommittee's report cites independent testimony supporting Baker's statement. However, Casey, who managed Reagan's presidential campaign four years ago, repeatedly has said he cannot recall seeing any Carter papers during the campaign.

"Mr. Casey will have no comment until he has read the report," Dale Peterson, a spokesman for the CIA chief, said Tuesday night.

On Tuesday, subcommittee chairman Donald J. Albosta, D-Mich., released a letter from the panel to Attorney General William French Smith urging him to immediately appoint a special prosecutor to investigate the case.

The Democrat-controlled panel said the special prosecutor, permitted under the 1978 Ethics in Government Act, should "pay particular attention to the questionable and flatly contradictory statements made to the subcommittee during the course of its investigation."

The letter, signed by Albosta, said the recommendation was "made completely independent" of the May 14 order of U.S. District Judge Harold H. Greene directing Smith to seek appointment of an independent counsel.

"The subcommittee has had access to significantly more material than Judge Greene utilized to make his conclusion that there was specific and credible evidence of a crime," the letter said.

Justice Department spokeswoman Judith Pond said the department had no comment because "we haven't gotten the letter yet."

A three-judge panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals has stayed Greene's order pending legal arguments in an appeal brought by the Justice Department, which maintains that the judge's order is unconstitutional.

The subcommittee told Smith that a special prosecutor should be named in order "to fully resolve the pending issues in this matter."

We need a name for our "star warriors."

Our Pentagon is contemplating investing 28 billion of your dollars in space weaponry.

President Reagan says the only way we can prevent star wars is to develop an adequate deterrent.

Already we have conducted three tests — and a fourth is scheduled for this summer — of technology and techniques designed to destroy Soviet nuclear missiles in space.

The "homing overlay" experiment is not yet successful.

Nonetheless Lt. General James Abrahamson, director of this program, believes we have the know how now to build a system which will give us enough protection to reduce the threat of nuclear attack.

What we're looking for are "weapons that kill weapons that kill people."

It might work.

Legend says that about 200 B.C. the Greek scientist Archimedes held the Romans at bay for three years by focusing mammoth concave mirrors on their offshore warships. If they dared move in close, they caught fire.

Our laser cannon would similarly concentrate light — not against ships — but against space-ships — against inbound nuclear missiles.

But whom shall we trust with the trigger and what will we call him?

On land and sea, we are defended by the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines.

But the preparation for — the prevention of — "star wars" — will require space specialists.

Heritage Foundation proposes a separate academy to teach this new military science. What would you suggest we call it and its graduates?

President Reagan has not yet proposed a separate branch of military service but he has directed Pentagon priority to whatever long-term research is necessary to "eliminate the threat posed by strategic nuclear missiles."

Present military space policy is the province of NASA. But while the Soviet has been concentrating on strategic space weapons, our NASA has concentrated on the peaceful and scientific objectives of space.

We were first to the Moon — but they were first with earth-orbiting weapons.

It would help our nation focus its efforts if we had a new handle for the new discipline. Any suggestions?

The Army, the Navy, the Air Force, the Marines — and the what?

When Fred Karpin was a private in the Army in World War II, he had a master sergeant who wanted to learn bridge. Fred worked with him and found that his boss was very good at playing the dummy, but he bid as if there were no tomorrow.

When the sergeant wanted to find a rubber bridge game, Fred suggested a club in Brooklyn. Early on a Saturday morning Sarge left Fort Dix, New Jersey, ready for action. He returned late Sunday night with a fistful of winnings. He also gave Fred this hand, which shows bidding at its worst and play at its best.

Sarge's seven-club bid must rank as one of the worst overbids of all time, but his play must rank as the best.

Sarge received the opening lead of the heart queen. He won the trick with his king, took the club finesse, which worked as Sarge expected, repeated the finesse, and knocked the king of clubs out on the third round. He then went into a long study. He saw that his problem would be with the diamond suit. He wanted to get a count on the hand so he led dummy's ace of hearts, ruffed dummy's last heart and entered dummy with the ace of spades. Obviously West had, at most, one diamond.

Sarge went through some more thinking and decided that a first-round diamond finesse was the best play. He played the nine from dummy and let it ride. It worked and South was home. He took a second diamond finesse, cashed the diamond queen, entered dummy by ruffing a spade, and made his grand slam with dummy's ace and king of diamonds.

Missing kids found dead in refrigerator

HOUSTON (AP) — Two children who disappeared four days ago were found dead inside an abandoned refrigerator and police were trying to learn who violated a city ordinance by dumping the appliance without removing its door.

Police investigating complaints of an unusual smell found a small hand sticking out of a refrigerator Tuesday, officials said.

Inside they found the bodies of 3-year-old Juliana Mancilla and 5-year-old Gerardo. The two were last seen playing in the front yard of their apartment complex Sunday afternoon in southeast Houston.

Dear Abby

Rapist Weighs His Choice Of Doing Time or Treatment

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I'm in jail for rape. I am 25 years old and have been in jail for eight months waiting to go to the Western State Mental Hospital where I will be put through a sex offender's program. I'm told the program will take anywhere from three to seven years to complete.

Well, I don't feel like giving up that much of my life for a first offense.

If I get five years in prison, I could be out on parole in 18 months. My lawyer tells me if I take the mental hospital treatment, I will find out why I did the rape so I won't do it again. I would like to know why I did it, but I don't want to spend three to seven years to find out.

If I go to prison I will be out sooner, but I'll have a prison record for the rest of my life. So what should I do?

LOST IN OLYMPIA, WASH.

DEAR LOST: If you have a choice, go to the mental hospital. You need the treatment. What good will it do you to be out on the street in 18 months if you risk committing the same crime?

It's not fair to society to turn you loose, and it's not fair to you. A second offense could put you in prison for a much longer stretch.

DEAR ABBY: This is another one of those "I can't believe I'm writing this" letters. My twin brother died recently following a long illness. (He was 59.) Three years ago he had a will drawn up specifying that his estate be divided equally among our two sisters and me. He appointed me executor of his will, and I accepted. Last year he added a codicil to his will eliminating one of our sisters.

During our first meeting with the probate lawyer, he suggested that "some families" get together and mutually decide to alter or ignore the deceased's wishes and/or codicils. My two sisters are now using that statement to force me (by legal means, if necessary) to ignore my twin's codicil and abide by the original will.

Abby, I promised to carry out my brother's wishes, which he made very clear to me. Now I'm being asked by my family, "Am I a brother, or am I 'Mr. Executor?'"

No one in our family is "needy." Should I carry out my twin's wishes? Or must I yield to the wishes of my family?

TORN IN NEW YORK

DEAR TORN: As the executor of your brother's will, you are not only morally obligated to carry out his wishes, you are legally responsible for doing so. And for a lawyer to suggest that you do otherwise is both unprofessional and dishonorable.

DEAR ABBY: This is an open letter to my loving father and some dear, elderly friends:

When will you accept your hearing problem as something which, in most cases, can be helped? There are some wonderful, vastly improved hearing aids on the market as well as surgical techniques that might help you hear better.

Hear this! I am irritated at your expecting me to shout myself hoarse because you are too stubborn to seek professional help. Please see an audiologist or go to a respected hearing aid dealer and at least find out what's available to improve your hearing.

Remember, I love you, but it's difficult to love someone I am constantly shouting at!

A DAUGHTER AND FRIEND

Man gives away money

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Harold Collins is quite happy on the money he earns from his factory job. So, he said, he is giving away the $2.3 million he won in the Illinois Lottery, making good twice over on a 16-year-old promise to a friend.

"Most anybody would think it's weird what I did. I think it's all right," Collins, a 57-year-old engine repairman at Caterpillar Tractor Co. in nearby Pekin, said Tuesday.

"I clear $350 to $360 a week," he said. "I don't need any more. I don't do any running around any more, so I got no use for the lottery money."

After hitting the jackpot last August in the Lotto Game, he said, he gave the first of 20 annual installments of $115,000 to a woman he regards "sort of like an adopted daughter."

Businesses donate to computer fund

Students in the marketing and distributive education program at Snyder High will have a new professional business computer system in their classroom next year thanks to their own efforts and help from the Snyder MDE Advisory Committee.

According to MDE Coordinator Jim Rosson, the upcoming purchase of an Apple IIe professional computer system for use in the program was prompted by this year's MDE students' desire to "put something back into" the program that has allowed them to gain valuable experience in the business world by working outside the classroom.

The current students completed various fundraising projects during the year with all profits committed to the computer purchase.

Even with the fundraising, the students were short of the amount needed for the purchase and several local businesses which employ the MDE students made up the difference with the presentation of individual donations during the last week of school.

Local businesses contributing to the project included West Texas State Bank, Kmart, Johnson Insurance Agency, and J. C. Penney.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm deeply concerned about my wife, who has been in the hospital three different times for tests that cost about $20,000. She has orthostatic hypotension, which was diagnosed with each hospitalization.

She wears surgical hose but still passes out. She's hurt herself a few times.

Your column about the abnormality in the sympathetic nervous system that controls the ability of the arteries to dilate and constrict interested me. She was told her blood slides down her arteries to her legs which causes her to pass out. They prescribed Florinef and the stockings. This has helped some, but she still passes out. Sometimes after eating she feels very faint and has to lie down for awhile.

Her blood pressure goes down by half when she passes out; when she's OK her pressure is very high. Please send me your article on fainting and loss of consciousness or syncope.

I read that hypoglycimia could cause this. What about an allergy?

DEAR READER — With that amount of study and the unanimous diagnosis of orthostatic hypotension, you can be fairly certain your wife has orthostatic hypotension. This is related to a loss of the nerve reflexes that constrict the arteries when she stands. She may also have other findings of abnormal nervous system function.

Such responses are not caused by allergy. While severe hypoglycemia may induce shock, the fact that she has had these soon after eating argues against hypoglycemia, and the fact that they occur with postural change supports the diagnosis of orthostatic hypotension.

I'm sending you the Health Letter 9-2, Fainting: Loss of Consciousness or Syncope, as you requested.

Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York NY 10019. But it deals with common causes of fainting and management, while your wife's condition is a rare disorder.

The treatment she's receiving is that commonly used for her condition. The Florinef is to help her body retain sodium and help to raise her blood pressure. If she's still having a lot of symptoms you might get more help by using the lower half of the pressure suit used by pilots. More pressure can be used and you may get one with a pressure bladder over the abdomen. Compression of the legs, thighs and lower abdomen may help prevent blood pooling and fainting attacks.

DEAR DR.LAMB — I've been having an argument with one of my friends about the new babies born from a transplanted ovum. She claims the woman who carries the baby and delivers it is the mother. I say she's wrong. The real mother is the woman who provided the ovum that was transplanted. Who is right?

DEAR READER — It depends upon your definition of mother. Any baby is the combination of the genes from the ovum and the sperm cell. Genetically speaking, the baby's mother is the woman who provided the ovum that was fertilized and transferred to another woman's womb. Regardless of how you manipulate the situation that cannot be changed.

The woman who carries the fertilized ovum in her uterus and delivers the baby is the "functional mother," meaning that she serves as mother in all senses, except genetically. The baby will have traits from the genetic mother who provided the ovum for the pregnancy.

Bodies to be shipped home

HOUSTON (AP) — The bodies of seven workers from an American drilling ship are to be shipped home in zinc-lined coffins late this week, seven months after their vessel sank during a typhoon in the South China Sea, an attorney says.

Fred Hagans, who represents 10 families of crewmembers from the wrecked Glomar Java Sea, said Tuesday the remains of six Americans and an Englishman are to leave Hong Kong Friday or Saturday.

They are among 31 bodies divers recovered from the vessel.

Dick Vermeer, vice president of Global Marine Inc., the ship's Houston-based owner, refused to confirm that such a shipment is planned.

"The coroner's report is supposed to be issued" today, said Hagans. "Subsequent shipments will be made next week."

A coroner in Hong Kong has been working since March to identify the bodies, members of a crew of 81 aboard the American ship which sank Oct. 25 when struck by Typhoon Lex.

Hagans said he hopes the coroner's report will "give some indication what the person was doing prior to death. It will tell us if there was any indication of a struggle, any indication of cause of death besides drowning.

Prison divides groups

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas prison officials have filed court papers promising to separate deranged, ill, violent and weak inmates from other prisoners and to improve recreation facilities.

The papers, filed in federal court in Houston, call for separate housing for inmates with medical or psychiatric problems, physical handicaps and intellectual impairments.

The prison system also will house in single cells prisoners deemed to be "assaultive or vulnerable to the extent they cannot be safely housed with another prisoner," the papers said.

A related court filing details the prison system's program for special handling of intellectually impaired prisoners whose IQ is 70 or below.

The system has also promised to improve its recreation facilities.

The steps outlined in the papers will postpone a June hearing on crowding before U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice, an attorney said.

Crowding in recreation areas is a major unresolved issue in Justice's massive 1981 order to implement reforms in the Texas Department of Corrections.

BIKE-A-THON WINNERS--The top two winners in last month's Diabetes Bike-a-thon were named Tuesday afternoon in a brief awards ceremony held at the Towle Park pavilion. Reagan Key, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Key, collected the most money for the second year in a row--$854.60. Traditionally the top winner gets a bike donated by the Lions Club; however, since Key won a bike last year he elected to let the second place winner--Gina Brooks--have the bike instead. Brooks, 13, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Brooks. She collected $517. In addition she will also receive a $50 savings bond donated by Leroy Kessler and Mrs. Wayne Glass. Key will also receive a $50 gift certificate donated by Tot to Teen. Presenting the bike was Dennis Chisum, president of the Lions Club. Vanessa Taylor (not pictured) will receive a $50 savings bond donated by Snyder National Bank. The savings bonds were given for the first time this year as part of the chapter's first annual fitness awards. Thus far the bike-a-thon has earned some $4,813.00 with a few more pledges still to be received. Last year Key was also the top winner in the state of Texas. (SDN Staff Photo by Shirley A. Gorman)

Officials see red over hair stripe

HOUSTON (AP) — An honor student who dyed a black stripe across the back of his otherwise blond head has filed suit against his school district for barring him from graduation exercises.

State District Judge Peter S. Solito scheduled a hearing Friday on the motion of Dean Bradley, an 18-year-old senior at Nimitz High School in the Houston suburb of Aldine.

Bradley said he died his hair "for the prom" in late April and did not hear any complaints from school officials until Monday.

Then, he said, principal Jack Welch told him his hairstyle was "unconventional" and said the stripe would have to go for him to participate in cap and gown ceremonies.

M.B. Donaldson, assistant superintendent for administration, said Welch told him about Bradley's hair May 14 and he thought Welch had already talked to Bradley.

Bradley is a member of the National Honor Society and was the school's physics student of the year.

His lawsuit says the district also forced him to take final examinations, from which honor students are traditionally exempt. The suit also says district hair codes address only overall length and general grooming.

Reagan says no military troops

despite the rise in interest rates. "There are always some pessimists out there," Reagan complained.

—The increase in the number of Soviet submarines off U.S. shores doesn't worry him. "If I thought there was some reason to be concerned about them, I wouldn't be sleeping in this house tonight," he said.

—"I just hope and pray that the Soviet Union will do the humane thing" and allow Yelena Bonner, the wife of Soviet dissident Andrei Sakharov, to seek treatment of heart and eye ailments in another country.

During the East Room session, the president was asked about the likelihood that U.S. servicemen would become involved in a war in the Middle East, where Iran and Iraq are at war and have attacked oil tankers plying the Persian Gulf.

"I think very slight," he replied. "I can't foresee that happening. As things stand now, no, I don't think so."

In a nearly identical question — this one concerning the possibility of committing U.S. troops to El Salvador if that nation ever appears ready to fall to the communists — the president said:

"We'd lose all those friends and neighors (in the region) if we did that. They want our help ... But they don't want American manpower there."

Asked if he could be unequivocal, Reagan said, "You're asking me a hypothetical question, and one in which I think that I would be very foolish to try and answer."

At another point, the president was asked why so many people believe the world is moving closer to war rather than peace. "I would say that is because that's all that most of the people have been hearing in political dialogue ... that I somehow have an itchy finger and am going to blow up the world. ..."

But he said he didn't know of anyone more committed to peace than he.

Reagan began the news conference with a statement urging Congress to approve his request for $62 million in emergency aid to El Salvador, now awaiting action in the House. House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., has predicted Reagan will win handily.

"If Congress offers too little support, it will be worse than doing nothing at all," the president said.

Asked to confirm reports that the United States had offered to provide air cover to vessels in the Persian Gulf, Reagan replied: "We haven't specified what we would do but we have told them ... that neither we nor the Western world as such would stand by and see the straits (of Hormuz) or the Persian Gulf closed to international traffic."

The president added, "We have not volunteered to enter, nor have we been asked to intervene ... It seems as if the gulf states want to take care of this themselves. They're concerned, as I think we all should be, about not enlarging the war." Iran and Iraq have been at war since 1980.

Asked if there were any circumstances in which the United States would take unilateral action in the gulf, he responded: "I can't foresee that ... We are in consultation also with our allies — with those nations that would be affected — because we're not contemplating anything unilaterally here. This problem is one that affects all of us."

He said the United States receives only 3 percent of its oil from the region, and acknowledged there were contingency plans in the event the gulf nations seek U.S. help, but he would not be specific.

On the domestic side, Reagan was asked about rising interest rates in the face of his recent prediction that they would decline during the warm weather season. "We may have to have a warm September," he said, "but summer isn't over until then."

He said he was not distressed by the possibility of being greeted by protesters when he arrives in Ireland on June 1.

"I think that's just Irish hospitality," he said. "I haven't gone anyplace in years that there hasn't been a demonstration, and they don't want me to feel as if I'm not at home."

Obituaries

Suspect in bike theft

Snyder police report identifying Tuesday afternoon a suspect in a recent bicycle theft.

A juvenile suspect has been linked to the theft of a bicycle from the Laddie McMillan residence May 15. The missing bike was found and returned to the McMillan residence the following day.

Officers report that the case has now been fowarded to the juvenile prosecutor's office for consideration.

City officers are also investigating a misdemeanor assault complaint filed by a local woman Tuesday night in connection with a Monday night incident at an east Snyder residence.

No arrests have been made in this case.

In other action, city police arrested four suspects for public intoxication and two for DWI Tuesday evening. One of the DWI suspects was also charged for driving with a suspended license.

The U.N. Security Council called on its members in 1961 to make all of Africa a zone free of nuclear weapons.

Minor wreck here Tuesday

A single minor traffic mishap was reported in Snyder Tuesday evening.

Involved in the 8 p.m. accident in the 3200 Block of College Ave. were a 1974 Ford driven by Opal Squires Baker of Sweetwater and a 1978 Ford driven by Gloria Rios Hermosillo of 411 31st St. No injuries were reported.

Jeana Fox tapped for 'Texas' role

Jeana Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Fox and a 1984 graduate of Snyder High School, has been cast in the musical production "Texas" which is staged every summer at Palo Duro Canyon.

"Texas," a musical romance of Panhandle history, is preparing to open its 19th season. To date nearly 1½ million people have seen the production.

Fox has studied under Dr. Hugh Sanders at West Texas State University and Dr. Robert Robinson of Baylor University for three years. During these summer choral institutes she placed first in the Top Ten at Baylor in voice and won first place honors in talent competition at WTSU last summer.

To win over Texas...

Cooper braces Brewers

by The Associated Press

Cecil Cooper is back in the swing of things because his back is finally letting him swing at things.

After sitting out 11 games with back spasms and driving in only four runs in the 26 games in which he appeared, Cooper snapped out of his RBI doldrums Tuesday night. He drove in five runs with two singles, a double and his first homer of the season and powered the Milwaukee Brewers to a 7-1 victory over the Texas Rangers.

"I'm a lot better, but I can't say I'm 100 per cent," said Cooper, who drove in more runs (535) than any player in the majors over the past five seasons, including a club record 126 last year. "I haven't been concentrating. It's been a combination of things, worrying about hitting home runs and my back. Hopefully, I'm back in the groove. I finally got a hit in a key situation. It's nice to finally drive in some runs."

Elsewhere in the American League, the amazing Detroit Tigers stopped the California Angels 3-1 for their 15th consecutive road victory, the Toronto Blue Jays edged the Minnesota Twins 3-2, the Kansas City Royals nipped the Chicago White Sox 7-6, the Oakland Athletics downed the Baltimore Orioles 6-4, the Boston Red Sox trimmed the Cleveland Indians 7-1 and the Seattle Mariners beat the New York Yankees, 5-3.

In National League games, Philadelphia won its 10th consecutive game, 3-1 over Los Angeles, Houston edged St. Louis 4-3 in 11 innings, San Francisco beat New York 5-4, Cincinnati topped Pittsburgh 5-3 and Montreal took San Diego 3-2. Atlanta's game at Chicago was rained out.

Milwaukee winner Chuck Porter scattered seven hits over six innings. Texas' Pete O'Brien tied a major-league record shared by five other first basemen by starting three double plays.

Tigers 3, Angels 1

Juan Berenguer hurled three-hit ball for six innings as Detroit won its seventh game in a row and boosted its over-all record to 33-5. The Tigers are within one game of the AL record of 16 consecutive road victories set by the 1912 Washington Senators. The 1916 New York Giants hold the major-league mark of 17.

The Tigers took a 1-0 lead against Mike Witt in the first inning when Kirk Gibson singled, stole second, continued to third on catcher Bob Boone's throwing error and scored on Lance Parrish's single. Rod Carew's homer tied the score in the bottom of the first but Detroit went in front again in the second on Dave Bergman's double, Boone's passed ball and Chet Lemon's grounder. The Tigers added a run in the eighth on Larry Herndon's sacrifice fly.

Schnellenberger leaves Miami for USFL post

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) - Howard Schnellenberger is quitting as coach of the defending national collegiate football champion Miami Hurricanes, according to a published report.

The Miami Herald reported in today's late editions that Schnellenberger announced his decision Tuesday after weeks of speculation that he would join Floridian Sherwood "Woody" Weiser, the new owner of the Washington Federals of the United States Football League.

The only coach to bring the Hurricanes to a national title, Schnellenberger said he may join the Federals immediately if Weiser can bring the team to the Orange Bowl for the 1985 season, the Herald reported.

Schnellenberger says the University of Miami was out of the picture.

"I simply do not think the overall priorities for college athletics here are high enough for me to work successfully within them," he said.

He outlined two factors that cemented his decision:

-Objection to budgetary restraints imposed by university President Edward Foote.

-The USFL offer which the coach calls "maybe the best financial opportunity any coach ever had," totalling between $3 million and $3.5 million for five years. Schnellenberger also would reportedly receive a six-figure salary for life with the Federals.

Schnellenberger's 11-1 Hurricanes won the national crown with an Orange Bowl triumph over favored and previously top-ranked Nebraska.

Chiles admits he goofed; restores food regulations

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - The Texas Rangers have admitted that they struck out on their controversial food and drink policy.

"It was a bad policy and we were dumb not to realize it," said owner Eddie Chiles of a rule that forbade fans bringing food and non-alcoholic drinks into the ballpark.

After the Rangers reversed a 12-year policy allowing spectators to bring in food, fans wrote blistering letters to local newspapers, particularly after one gate guard was caught eating some confiscated fried chicken.

"I goofed," Chiles said Tuesday. "I was the guy who approved it. The buck stops here.

"Everyone seemed to realize it was a bad policy but us. In due time we realized we were wrong," he said.

Vice President Larry Schmittou said, "We made a mistake and admitted it and changed it."

Asked if the policy hurt attendance, Schmittou said "I don't know whether it hurt attendance or not with the team record being what it was. It certainly wasn't helping our public image."

The restored regulations, in accordance with the City of Arlington ordinance, will permit food and beverage to be brought into Arlington Stadium.

No ice chests, cans or alcohol will be permitted.

Glass containers also will be prohibited and all items must be able to fit beneath a seat.

Astros 4, Cardinals 3

Pinch hitter Kevin Bass singled home Mark Bailey in the top of the 11th inning to give Houston a 4-3 win over the Cardinals Tuesday.

With one out in the 11th, Bailey doubled in front of diving Andy Van Slyke in right field. Bailey went to third on a groundout by Bill Doran before Bass' clutch hit.

Van Slyke slammed a two-run homer, triple and single in the game.

Expos 3, Padres 2

Charlie Lea tossed a four-hitter and got a two-run, tie-breaking home run by Gary Carter in the sixth for host Montreal.

Western signs Amarillo golfer

Bo Kay, outstanding golfer from Amarillo High School, has joined the Western Texas College golf lineup for the fall semester, Dave Foster, golf coach, has announced.

Kay was voted Most Valuable Golfer at AHS this year. He placed second in district and shot a 152 to finish 14th in the regional standings.

He placed second at the Hereford Invitational with a 150 and second in the Amarillo Relays with 151. In his junior year, Kay lettered in varsity golf and was nominated for class favorite. He attended Clarendon High School in his sophomore year and placed fourth in district that year.

"Bo has a lot of natural talent," Foster said. "He strikes the ball as well as any player we have had at WTC. We are pleased to have Bo here for the coming season."

Foster had previously announced the signing of Ryan Heller from Abilene Cooper for the 1984-85 season.

Rockets win coin toss

NEW YORK (AP) - The Houston Rockets took advantage of an incorrect "tails" call by the Portland Trail Blazers today to win a coin flip and the right to select 7-foot All-America Akeem Olajuwon with the first pick in the June 19 National Basketball Association draft.

Both teams had announced previously that they would use the first selection to take the 7-footer from Nigeria and the University of Houston if they won Commissioner David Stern's flip of a 100-year-old silver dollar.

Since both teams expressed a desire to make the decisive call, Stern made a preliminary flip that was won by Portland owner Larry Weinberg. Then Stern flipped again, Weinberg called "tails," and the toss came up heads.

It will be the second year in a row that the Rockets will have the first choice in the draft. In 1983, Thomas correctly called "heads" in a coin toss with the Indiana Pacers.

They used the first pick to select 7-4 Ralph Sampson, who could team with Olajuwon to form a potentially awesome frontcourt, barring a trade.

FARM LEAGUE

Cubs 14, Braves 5

The Farm League Cubs evened their season record at 2-2 by holding the Braves to two-hit ball Tuesday evening. Earnest Ynguanzo and Carroll McNeil got a single apiece for the Braves, now 1-3.

Raymond House powered a double and a single for the Cubs while Martin Orosco and Kyle Highfield knocked two singles each. Jeff Black, Eber Suarez, Cedric Sneed and pitcher Raul Guerrero added one single apiece.

Bryant Thomas was the losing pitcher.

Cardinals 17, Yankees 2

Mitchell Barrera slugged a triple and a single while Michael Barrera cracked two doubles and pitched the Cards to a runaway victory over the Yankees.

Also hitting for the Cardinals, 2-1, were Wacey Parks, a double and a single, and Joe Paredes and James Sturdivant, a triple apiece.

For the Yankees, 2-2, pitcher Zeke Rodriquez had a double and Chad Minson and Steven Bollinger looped a single each.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Cubs 2, Braves 1

Willie Garcia won the hitter's battle but lost the pitching duel to Tracy Braziel Tuesday as the Little League Cubs nipped the Braves.

Garcia got both of the Braves' two hits - a double and a single - while Fletcher Davis and Ron Baker each slapped a single for the Cubs.

The Cubs, now 3-1, took a 2-0 lead into the fourth inning. The Braves retaliated with a run in the bottom of the stanza, but both teams were scoreless the rest of the way. The Braves fall to 1-3 on the season.

Cardinals 12, Yankees 12

The Little League Yankees delivered some power hitting, including a grand slam home run by Marcus Greene, but had to come from behind to tie the Cardinals 12-12 in this contest.

The Yanks, who also got a double from Greene and a double and a single from David Botts, scored six runs in the fifth and one in the sixth to rally for the deadlock. Jonathan Alarcon also knocked a single for the squad, now 2-1-1.

The Cards, also 2-1-1, got some strong hitting too as Jason Taylor and Brandon Martin slugged three singles apiece and John Griffin plugged a double and a single. Others hitting for the Cardinals were Coy Berryman with two singles, Greg Abell and Steve Ybarra with a double apiece, and Daniel Espinosa and Tory Garza with a single each.

Chief knows trouble

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Ray Procunier, named this week as director of Texas prisons, will be taking over a department under a strict federal court reform order and under investigation for its financial dealings.

Trouble is nothing new for Procunier.

When Utah's state prison had a riot in 1956, officials called in Procunier to clean up the mess. When a series of strange deaths plagued California state mental hospitals, the governor called on Procunier. When Virginia's prisons were the subject of scandal in 1982, officials hired Procunier to restore the system's image.

The 60-year-old Michigan native told the Houston Chronicle on Tuesday he doubts he'll stay in his new, $64,400-a-year job more than two years.

"That's about as long as it'll take," he said. "I can mantain my enthusiasm in a complicated job for about that long. Texas has some people who can do this job once it gets straightened out."

Procunier hopes to move from Taos, N.M., to Huntsville by June 10 to take over the nation's second-largest prison system. He has been second-in-command in New Mexico's prisons.

He said his main concern is drooping morale among prison employees.

Level child molesting charge

HOUSTON (AP) — A 41-year-old man suspected of paying a teen-ager to bring him small children has been charged with molesting a 5-year-old, authorities said.

William Lee Reeves, a roofer, was charged Tuesday with injury to a child and held in lieu of $15,000 bond in connection with the abduction of the little girl, the Harris County district attorney's office said.

Police were questioning a 13-year-old girl suspected of selling her 5-year-old cousin and another child to Reeves, officials said.

The teen-ager's aunt, Gayle Johnson, had told police she thought the 13-year-old had taken the 5-year-old to a nearby convenience store to buy her a soft drink Sunday.

The 5-year-old was found Monday in a northeast Houston neighborhood about two hours after Reeves was questioned about her disappearance.

Sgt. Norman White of the police department's juvenile division said the girl would say only, "Bill was bad" when asked about her abduction.

"And then she clams up," he said.

Juvenile Officer J.O. Williams said medical examinations indicated the child had been sexually assaulted.

Police said they originally thought both the teen-ager and the 5-year-old were kidnapping victims. But Lt. Bill Sanders of the juvenile division said police became suspicious when they learned the teen-ager was reported missing last week with a different 5-year-old girl, who was reported missing from her family's home May 13.

Investigators questioned the suspect Friday and "all of a sudden the little girl (abducted May 13) shows up on her front porch," Sanders said. The child was later found to have been sexually molested, he said.

Officers said they lacked sufficient evidence to arrest the man last week.

A 29-year-old woman who said she was a prostitute told police the man also offered her money for young girls.

"He said he would pay $80," the woman said. "He asked me if I could get him a baby — my daughter, my niece. Someone who would do as I said and wouldn't be afraid of him."

Investigators said an aunt of one of the girls led police to the man, who identified himself to his victims only as "Bill."

Wants shop returned

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A hatmaker, who has branded himself a mad hatter these days, has taken a pair of Fort Worth hotel owners to court to get back what he says is rightfully his — the lobby of the hotel.

Ellis E. Aldridge, who makes cowboy hats, says he holds a lease to the renovated Stockyards Hotel.

"I don't like to be pushed around," Aldridge said. "I'm going to fight this to the Texas Supreme Court or the U.S. Supreme Court if I have to. Those guys came in and built this fancy place, and they just thought they could squash me and never pay me anything for my lease."

On Monday, Aldridge went to court to try to get his sewing machines, wooden hat models and steam irons moved into the lobby, the Booger Red's Saloon and the $300-a-night Celebrity Suite of the hotel.

Jury choosing to begin in teen slayings

WACO, Texas (AP) — The mother of a teen-ager found bound, gagged and stabbed to death along with two friends near Lake Waco watched nervously as jury selection began in the trial of her daughter's accused killer.

David Wayne Spence, 25, is the first of four defendants to be tried on capital murder charges in the July 1982 stabbing deaths of Kenneth Franks, 18, and Jill Montgomery and Raylene Rice, both of Waxahachie and both 17.

Jury selection in Spence's trial began Tuesday in state district court.

"I'm shaky, excited," said Nancy Shaw, Ms. Montgomery's mother. "It is a hard feeling to describe."

Spence faces life imprisonment or death by injection if convicted.

A total of 273 prospective jurors were summoned and asked by State District Judge George Allen to fill out personal background questionnaires. Attorneys said direct questioning would begin Wednesday and that the entire process of seating a jury could take three to four weeks.

During pretrial hearings, Allen turned down a defense motion for a change of venue.

Spence's attorneys had requested that the trial be moved because of reports in news stories that Spence might be linked with the Church of Satan. Allen said earlier he would not allow prosecutors to mention those reports before jurors.

McLennan County Justice of the Peace Joe Johnson said the girls' throats had been slashed. Franks had a slash wound to his chest and his neck may also have been slashed, Johnson said. All three bodies had numerous stab wounds, he said.

The trio disappeared during an outing to the lake and the bodies were discovered by a fisherman.

A Sept. 17 trial date has been set for another defendant, Muneer Mohammed Deeb, 24, court officials said.

No trial date has been set for Gilbert Melendez, 28, and his brother, Anthony, 24. All are charged with three counts of capital murder.

"This is the first time I have ever been in a courtroom for a criminal case. I am really interested to see it all," Mrs. Shaw said.

She said she and her husband, Benny Shaw, probably will not return to Waco until actual testimony in Spence's trial begins.

Mrs. Shaw said she expects the trial to rekindle memories of her daughter and to renew her grief.

"I have kind of tried to disassociate myself from the whole thing, and sometimes it is still not clear to me that it was my daughter that this has happened to," she said. "Sometimes it is like I am on the outside looking in, not really believing that it is my child that is involved."
