EARL CARROLL GRINS ON WAY FOR PEN CELL

5000 Cheer Producer Who Leaves For Term In Federal Prison

FINGERPRINTS TAKEN

Carroll Sobs at First As Arrangements Include Taking of Record

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Five thousand persons cheered Earl Carroll today when he boarded the train for Atlanta where he will serve a year and a day in prison for telling a federal grand jury that the pretty Joyce Hawley never occupied his famous bathtub.

"Goodbye Earl," shouted his friends, sympathizers and acquaintances when he reached the station with four other prisoners in a big limousine.

"Goodbye everybody," Carroll called out to the throng and he made his way into the station. There was a broad grin on his face.

As the crowd surged around him several persons were bowled over in the crush and it took the combined efforts of 25 patrolmen and several detectives to clear a path for him to the train.

Remarkable Demonstration

The demonstration was the most remarkable ever given in New York to a man about to begin a prison term.

The theatrical producer was apparently in good spirits when the train pulled out. This was a great contrast to his attitude when he surrendered to Marshal William Hecht this morning.

At that time he broke down and wept. While his finger prints were being taken the tears rolled down his cheeks and he sobbed convulsively. He was very pale and nervous.

"I want my wife near me in Atlanta when I am down there," he cried.

As he entered the federal building he was greeted by newspaper reporters.

"Goodbye, boys, I am a good loser," he said in a trembling voice. He was taken to the marshal's strong room where he collapsed in sobs. It was there that he was fingerprinted.

Among others who called on him at the federal building was Dorothy Knapp, one of the beauties of his vanities. She wept hysterically at the sight of the prisoner.

Later he became so unnerved that the officers forbid other visitors to see him.

He was spared the ordeal of formally surrendering before Judge Hand. When his name was called the clerk announced that he had voluntarily surrendered to the marshal.

He's Given Lunch

At noon a deputy gave him a lunch but Carroll ate sparingly.

Carroll was sent to Atlanta with 20 other prisoners. Seventeen of them, after their appearance in the court room this morning were sent back to jail to await the prison van which took them to the train.

Carroll and three others, however, received better treatment.

They were permitted to remain in the marshal's strong room, which has steel doors but no bars, until almost train time and then were taken to the station in a limousine.

By the time they reached the station Carroll had regained his self control and he wore a broad grin as the big crowd roared:

"Goodbye Earl"

NO FORMAL APPEAL YET FILED FOR PARDON.

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Earl Carroll, whose bathtub party brought him a sentence to the Atlanta penitentiary, has not made a direct appeal to President Coolidge for executive clemency, it was announced at the White House. Any such appeal, if it comes, would be sent to the attorney-general's office for investigation like all similar requests, it was said.

TEXAS STOCK IN BIG COUP

Wall Street Operator Cleans Millions in Sulphur

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—A sensational stock market coup of $4,000,000 was attributed to Jess L. Livermore by the New York Times today.

Reports in Wall street from persons known to be in Mr. Livermore's confidence, said the Times, were that the coup was made in a cleverly maneuvered pool operation in stock of the Freeport Texas company. The stock yesterday touched 74 5-8, 1-8 below its high for all time, reached Saturday, its low mark was 8 in 1925 and 19 5-8 in 1926. After yesterday's high mark it had a break, closing at 72.

Mr. Livermore is reported to have directed the pool operation. The Times points out that if the pool has not been dissolved, Livermore's fabled profits are still largely on paper and there is yet the possibility of their being reduced.

Freeport Texas company has come to be known as the most interesting speculative issue on the New York stock exchange. It has been a market spectacle for weeks. Dividend payments on it on an annual basis of $2 were resumed last February. This was recently increased to $4 through the declaration of a quarterly dividend of $1, payable May 2. The company owns sulphur and oil properties and public utilities.

TRADE BOARD BARS GIGANTIC GRAIN CONCERN

Armour Grain Company Gets Verdict of Suspension In Fraud Inquiry

EFFECTIVE SATURDAY

Grain Firm Used Inferior Grade to Fill Orders Is Decision

CHICAGO, April 12. (AP)—Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade by unanimous vote tonight denied all trading privileges to the Armour Grain company, which for 40 years has been one of the leading firms transacting business on the exchange.

The decision becomes effective at the close of business next Saturday.

The action was based on a preliminary report by a special committee which for several weeks has been hearing witnesses in connection with the recent findings of an arbitrator in a dispute between the Armour Grain company and Rosenbaum Grain interests, growing out of the formation of the defunct grain marketing company.

The arbitrator held that the Armour Grain companw Marketing debeted to the Grain marketing company to the extent of $3,000,000 and charged that the Armour Grain company had mixed inferior grain and turned it in as grain of higher quality during the merger when the Grain Marketing company was formed.

The special committee recommended that all trading privileges be denied the Armour Grain company pending trial of charges against individuals connected with the company before the directors of the Chicago Board of Trade for alleged violation of exchange rules.

The committee's preliminary report said 30 witnesses had been heard since it was appointed March 8, and added:

"The testimony clearly shows wrongful acts for which we deem the Armour Grain company responsible, since these acts were those of persons then in the employ or under the continuing influence of the Armour Grain company. Several persons engaged in these wrongful acts are not members of the Board of Trade or subject to its discipline. The charges were such as to constitute to major offenses, being acts of dishonesty."

Town Of 800 Located In Edwards County Leveled By Destructive Tornado

WACO, April 13. (AP)—At 12:30 this morning, the long distance operator at Kerrville told the News-Tribune here that an hour ago she established communication to learn that 50 bodies had been assembled from out of Rock Springs wreckage at 11:30, and included in the number were said to be some of the town's leading merchants or citizens.

WACO, April 13. (AP)—First reports of the killed in the Rock Springs tornado came from the Kerrville long distnace operator to the News-Tribune here naming Burnett Babb as among the 50 or more dead.

Attempts to establish telephone communication with Rock Springs were succesful here for only a moment, the Kerrville operator relaying the report that th operator at Rock Springs was manipulating her board at a telephone pole and temporary hook-up and was deluged with calls, especially in sending for help.

By Universal Service.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 12.—More than 200 were killed and several hundred were seriously injured late tonight when a tornado struck Rock Springs, 150 miles northwest of here.

Of about 600 buildings in the village only three were left standing. The dead were reported buried in the debris. Rescue workers from Hackberry reported several hundred persons were buried under the wreckage.

Shortly before midnight a Red Cross relief train left here with surgeons, nurses, medical supplies and food for the devastated area. The tornado came from the south, according to reports, where it had left death and property destruction in its wake at Del Rio. The telephone operator at Rock Springs said the tornado struck without warning. "The people were caught asleep," she said.

Mayor J. H. Lockley of Rock Springs Sends Out Appeal For Aid to Tornado-Swept Community

KERRVILLE, April 12. (AP)—Meagre reports obtainable here at 10 p. m., said 125 people were killed at Rock Springs when a tornado struck the town shortly after dark. Mayor J. N. Lockley of the stricken town in a message appealing for aid said not over four houses were standing at Rock Springs.

A relief party of surgeons and nurses left here at 10 p. m. In the party were physicians and nurses from the United States hospital at Legion near here. In his call for aid Mayor Lockley asked that Uvalde, Del Rio and other neighboring towns be notified to send help with all possible haste.

Toll Of Dead Expected to Climb to Higher Mark When Daylight Permits Check of Storm Damage

SAN ANTONIO, April 12. (AP)—More than 125 persons are believed to have lost their lives in a devastating cyclone which struck the little town of Rock Springs, county seat of Edwards county, located 120 miles west of San Antonio at 8:30 Tuesday night according to information reaching San Antonio two hours later over an improvised emergency telephone established one mile east of the town.

Meager information indicated that the total dead would mount still higher when a final check is made. A relief party left Del Rio over the Southern Pacific lines within an hour after news of the storm reached that city and a party of doctors were organizing another relief party at Uvalde to go to the stricken town. A relief party headed by City Health Officer W. A. King and Fire Chief J. G. Sarran was dispatched from San Antonio.

With the telephone exchange blown away an operator at the Rock Springs exchange went with a lineman to a point one mile east of town and installed a telephone with which to maintain communication with the outside world.

Greater Part of Town's Population Hurt in Storm

The first message reaching San Antonio told of the death of 126 with many injured. Later the operator at Rock Springs declared that the dead, hurt and missing comprised so near the entire population of the town that there was little probability of obtaining the number of casualties before morning.

The Southern Pacific offices in San Antonio reported shortly before 11 o'clock that a contingent of United States cavalry from Fort Clark had been ordered to proceed to Rock Springs to assist in relieving the distressed town.

Mrs. Jack Rote, a niece of Mayor John W. Tobin of San Antonio telephoned the mayor from Rock Springs of the disaster and estimated the dead at more than 125 persons.

The storm approached the town from the northeast, according to the telephone operator plowed through, taking practically every house in town, cutting a swath two miles wide and sweeping everything before it. Only five or six houses were left standing, one of these being the court house. The roof of the building remained intact after the storm but the walls of the building were badly scored by flying timbers.

Only One Telephone Line Gives Link to Torn Area

Little information was obtainable during the first few hours of the night, with only one telephone line in operation and every available citizen of the town engaged in relief work.

A message from Fort Clark to Kelly Field at 11 o'clock reported more than 100 killed in the storm but did not refer to a movement of troops to the stricken town.

Rock Springs has a population of approximately 800 persons and is located in the heart of the sheep and cattle country of Texas. No information was available as to damage done outside of the city.

Rock Springs is the county seat of Edwards county which no railroad traverses. It is situated on one of the highest points of the Edwards plateau in a picturesque country. A range of mountains on the south merges into the plateau. The population is estimated at less than a thousand.

Country Devoted To Livestock Ranges.

The surrounding territory is devoted to livestock raising, including cattle, sheep and goat raising. Wool and mohair constitute practically all the other business pursuits.

There were about 30 business houses, including two banks.

Many tourists have visited Rock Springs because of the beautiful scenery in the semi-arid territory and the healthful climate.

The altitude is 2450 feet.

Following the tornado a deluge of rain and hail was reported, which slowed up the rescue work.

Force of Tornado at Rock Springs Described As Similar to Great Hand Laying Houses Flat

HOUSTON, April 12. (AP)—Between 150 and 200 persons were killed and hundreds injured at 8 p. m., Tuesday when a twisting, tearing hurricane laid waste practically the entire town of Rock Springs, county seat of Edwards county, railway dispatches reported.

Rock Springs is an inland town of 800 population without a railroad about 70 miles northeast of Del Rio and 70 miles from Kerrville.

Because the town is isolated, without either railroad or telegraph communication, and because every available telephone was being used in calls for relief from the stricken area, only scanty details of the disaster could be obtained by wire services and railway dispatchers.

Clearest accounts, given by a telephone lineman who walked through the devastated district to the nearest telegraph line, climbed a pole and "tapped" the wire, thus getting connection with a dispatcher at Del Rio said that the force of the cyclone slapped the entire town flat as though by a gigantic hand.

This report, relayed to Houston railway office, said that few residents of the town escaped death or injury and that the suffering of the injured without means of relief, almost surpasses description.

The call to Del Rio urged that all available doctors and nurses, with huge quantities of medical supplies be recruited at once and started in automobiles for the storm center.

Meanwhile, according to word from Del Rio, the wind was growing in intensity there and residents feared that that city also might feel the force of the same storm.

SAN ANTONIO, April 12. (AP)—First casualties reported in the tornado which wiped out Rock Springs, Texas, Tuesday night, telephoned here from Uvalde this morning are:

Dead, Mrs. H. L. Speers, baby Speers.

Seriously injured: Rev. H. L. Speers, Methodist minister at Rock Springs.

The Speers lived in the hotel at Rock Springs and news of the death of Mrs. Speers was brought from Rock Springs to Camp Wood by a Mrs. Coleman, who escaped unhurt.

A relief party from Uvalde, consisting of 40 automobiles was compelled to turn back by high water in a creek but will endeavor to push through at daylight. A hand car from Uvalde on the Camp Wood railroad, a small line built to haul cedar timber, managed to get through to Camp Wood.

ST. LOUIS, April 12. (AP)—Plans for aiding the tornado-stricken here tonight at the headquarters of the mid-western branch of the American National Red Cross.

Officials of the division received telegrams tonight from John

15,000 Easter Eggs Ordered For All-City Hunt For Kids

An all-city egg hunt, with every child in Wichita Falls invited and expected to attend, will be held Easter Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Scotland park.

The Easter egg party, expected to be the largest in the history of Wichita Falls or perhaps the state, is being given under the joint auspices of the Wichita Falls Lions club and The Record News.

An order for 15,00 candy eggs and goodies, an array of Easter treasure, that would stagger the most ambitious rabbit, was placed Tuesday as the first step in providing for the hundreds of children expected at the park for the hunt. Other eggs, of the more common hen variety, will also be ordered, while a number of merchants Wednesday volunteered to offer prizes in the hunt.

The spacious Scotland park will be roped off in sections, in order that children of about the same age will have equal chances of finding their share of eggs. Prize eggs, or rather eggs which will bring prizes from Wichita Falls merchants, will be liberally distributed in each section.

Decision to stage the Easter egg hunt for all the children of the city was reached at a meeting of the directors of the club Monday afternoon. The expense of purchasing the eggs will be born jointly by the Lions club and The Record News, while volunteer workers and members of the Lions club will hide the Easter treasure. Commissioner Roy Carter has volunteered a sufficient number of brave, strong and affable police officers to hold the crowds of youngsters in check until the rope barrier is dropped for the big search.

Great Plane Roars On Through Dark Hours of Night in Flight For Record

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Two men in a Bellanca monoplane roared through the blackness high over Broadway tonight in an attempt the break the sustained flight record.

The plane piloted by Clarence D. Chamberlain and Bert Acosta hopped off from Mitchell field, Mineola, Long Island, at 9:30 this morning with the intention of remaining aloft for 50 hours.

The two fliers took off from the same runway where Captain Rene Fonck met with disaster when he started on his non-stop flight to Paris a year ago.

At 4:30 this afternoon the plane swooped down from its high altitude and dropped the first message on the landing field. It was addressed to C. A. Levine, president of the Columbia aircraft corporation, who has an office in the Woolworth building, and reads:

"Seven hours and all is well. The Wright engine doing fine. We have not begun to feel the effects of the trip. It is less tiresome so far than riding in an automobile. We have been flying at an altitude of 2000 feet but will come down to 1200 feet tonight. Tomorrow morning we'll swing down and fly around the office in the Woolworth building."

The plane weighed 2500 pounds when it hopped off and the food for the 50 hour test consisted of two thermos bottles of coffee; two of soup; a dozen sandwiches and a dozen almond and chocolate bars.

This flight is a preliminary test in preparation for a hop across the Atlantic which the two pilots intend to attempt.

The American record for sustained flight is held by Lieutenants Oakley Kelly and John Macready who remained in the air in 1923 for 26 hours, four minutes and 34 seconds.

Noisy Tank Car Blast Wakes City Tuesday Night But No Damage Done

An explosion approaching the Mendenhall nitro magazine blast in volume of sound caused a flurry of excitement in Wichita Falls before 9 o'clock Tuesday night when an oil tank car containing less than 50 barrels of residue oil exploded at the Texas Electric Service company power plant. Damage was negligible and no one was injured.

Joe Hye, an employe of the Texas Electric Service company, was atop the tank before the explosion occurred, having jumped to the ground when a rumbling noise ensued from within the tank.

John L. Gibbs, chief engineer at the power plant, was at a loss to explain the cause of the explosion. Mr. Hye had opened the lid on the tank and flashed a flashlight to ascertain the amount of oil it contained, Mr. Gibbs stated.

Charles Skaggs, an employe of the electric company, who lives within 300 feet of the spot at which the tank car was located stated that a flame shot 50 feet out of the hole when the explosion occurred. Mr. Skaggs stated that he heard the rumbling noise preceding the blast.

The car is the property of the Continental cracking plant here. It was emptied after the explosion.

Scores of telephone inquiries were received by The Record News and at the police station, regarding the explosion.

Shovel Digs Up 150 Big Snakes

CHILDRESS, April 12. (AP)—A perfectly sober steam shovel operator was dumbfounded when his big shovel digging the south plains railroad tunnel near here scooped up 150 big rattlesnakes.

The dipper had dug into a nest of rattlesnakes and instead of earth was full of snakes when it came up. Workmen fled in disorder and the engineer thought he had delirum tremens.

The snakes were rather stunned by their sudden exposure to the cool air and were harmless. Few attempted to crawl to safety. Rattlers hibernate during the winter months and come out when spring arrives. As the tunnel is being drilled through a hill at the cap rock where the elevation is 3000 feet the weather had not become sufficiently warm for the reptiles to leave their winter quarters.

Ballinger Feels Wind

BALLINGER, April 12. (AP)—Part of the windstorm which struck Kinney was felt in this section Monday night, trees and wind mills being blown down on ranches south of here. Ranchmen coming into Ballinger reported Tuesday that houses and barns were not damaged.

FLOODS CONTINUE TO DAMAGE IN OKLAHOMA.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 12. (AP) Flooding streams tonight were continuing to increase the damage caused by the two-week siege the elements have laid down on Oklahoma and apprehensive eyes were cast on two more rivers that have joined the rebellious torrents.

Tornadoes last night added terror to the situation in the southwestern part of the state, taking a toll of one life in addition to the 17 taken last week by flood waters.

Three Towns Hit.

Three towns were swept by twisting winds last night, causing the death of Mrs. Frank New at Mustang in Canadian county, and the serious injury of a small girl at Union City, Canadian county, and the destruction of houses in Eakley, Caddo county.

The most serious flood situation tonight apparently was at Guthrie were Cottonwood river, repelled by the flooded waters of the Cimarron river, was backing up in the city. More than one hundred families had been forced from their homes early tonight and were being cared for by the Red Cross. The Guthrie-Oklahoma City highway was under six feet of water, cutting off road communication. The full rise of the Cottonwood, fed by heavy rains south of Guthrie, had not reached the city late today, and it was feared that 500 families would be forced from their homes when the crest reached.

Streets Under Water.

A number of streets in the south section of Oklahoma City were under water today as the North Canadian river left its banks. The city reservoir above the city was holding back half of the flood waters, but C. E. Bretz, water superintendent, said it would be necessary to open the gates of the dam, turning the water into the low lands of Oklahoma City, when the full force of raises from the west reaches here.

Fresh falls of rain threatened to create flood conditions on the Arkansas river at Tulsa; the Neosho at Miami and the Caney at Bartlesville.

OKLAHOMA WIND TOLL STANDS AT FOUR DEAD.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 12. (AP)—The known dead in tornadoes which last night and today plowed across towns and rural communities in the central and eastern parts of Oklahoma were increased to four when it was established tonight that a man named Dozier had been killed at Milton, Okla. The injured were numerous.

Two reported to have been killed near McCurtain and 16 injured late today.

Three Injured.

Three members of the Magbee family in the Liberty community nor far distant were said to have been injured, the father and daughter, whose name is Emma, critically so. All were taken to a hospital in Fort Smith, Ark. Several other persons also were said to have been hurt.

Sweeping through the far region near Bokoshe the tornado leveled some houses, but was said not to have injured any persons, as all in that region sought refuge in storm cellars.

Three towns were visited by the fury of a tornado within a radius of some 25 miles of Oklahoma City last night, claiming the life of Mrs. Frank New at Mustang and injuring a dozen others.

Near McCurtain today the home of M. M. Northum was blown away, but it is believed that none in the family were injured. The home of a farmer named McCauley was destroyed and the five members of the McCauley family were injured. Every member of the Magbee family was injured, several seriously, when the wind destroyed their home.

The injured were being brought to McCurtain. Physicians were called from Quinton, Okla., and Stigler.

Communication Cut.

Virtually all communication except one telephone circuit from McCurtain to Crowder, Okla., was cut off.

D. P. Brown, manager of the McCurtain telephone exchange, describing the storm devastation declared that every house and building in the path of the storm was splintered and that relief parties made up of dozens of residents of McCurtain and many farmers living nearby were searching the wreckage of houses and barns and aiding the storm-stricken families.

THREE REPORTED KILLED IN M'CURTAIN AREA

STIGLER, Okla., April 12. (AP)—Three persons are known to have been killed and 15 possibly fatally injured by a tornado that struck Haskell and Poteau counties late today. It cut a swath about 300 yards wide and 10 miles long, demolishing buildings. Parts of the residential districts of McCurtain and Bokoshe were destroyed.

Two of the dead: A. G. Driegher, an aged man, and John Ross, age unknown.

TWO KILLED, SIX HURT IN FORT SMITH TORNADO.

FORT SMITH, Ark., April 12. (AP) Two persons are known to be dead and six injured as the result of a tornado which struck Fort Smith late this afternoon.

The dead are: Mrs. T. L. Fuller, an aged woman, and Mrs. S. T. Hester.

The injured are: Mrs. L. B. McAleb and two small daughters, Jasper Stewart, a Mr. Anderson and Cleme Berry. Their injuries were not believed serious.

About fifty houses are badly wrecked and the roofs blown off many others. The storm moved from the southwest.

One mile west of McCurtain, Okla., the wind wrecked a small rural community, killing two persons.

Names of those dead were not available. Five persons were injured there, but none serious.

Practically all of the northern section of Fort Smith is in darkness due to broken wires. The business section of the town was undisturbed.

BEER TRAFFIC UP TO COURTS

Officers Also Need Public Aid Says Bralley

Curbing of beer traffic in Wichita county will not be made a hobby of the sheriff's department during the coming summer but will be carried out along with a general policy of law enforcement, Sheriff W. G. Bralley stated Monday.

It is largely up to the courts just now to determine what course will be pursued in the future as to the alleged violation of prohibition laws with reference to beer gardens and spike joints, Mr. Bralley declared.

"If the courts find that beverages taken by the sheriff's department in recent raids is not intoxicating and is a legitimate drink, we must, of course, abide by their findings," Mr. Bralley said.

Mr. Bralley stated that on many raids made on the establishments supposedly selling nothing stronger than "near beer" small funnels have been found ostensibly to be used in "spiking" the beverages. In some instances small amounts of whiskey or pure alcohol have been found which leads him to believe that spiked beer is as common as home brew, Mr. Bralley stated.

Co-operation received from the citizenship will be an important factor in determining what steps will be taken against makers of home brew, Mr. Bralley said.

Other law violations considered more important than the selling and making of beer will not in the slightest degree be neglected in order that more time may be given to stamping out beer violations, the sheriff emphatically declared.

"Officers cannot effectually combat any illegal practice without co-operation and backing from the citizenship. I have made no special plans to eradiacte alcoholic brews in Wichita county but it is my intentions to give every effort to enforcement of the laws and if the home brew business is a law violation then it will be treated like any other violation. The matter lies largely in the hands of the courts and the citizenship," Mr. Bralley concluded.

Leasing of Hospital Not Legal Attorney General Rules in Opinion

Due to a ruling made Tuesday by the attorney general that the city-county General hospital cannot be leased to private individuals the financial status of the hospital is uncertain, E. P. Walsh, county auditor, said Tuesday.

A group of physicians in Wichita Falls recently offered to lease the hospital for a term of five years. To ascertain the legality of a transaction of this kind Mr. Walsh communicated with the attorney general.

The attorney general's opinion held that institutions, such as the hospital, could not be used for any purpose other than that for which the institutions were originally established.

"The hospital will continue to be operated," Mr. Walsh said, "but it is very probable that a new system of financing will be established so that the cost of operation to the county and city will be materially reduced."

The status of the hospital will probably be determined at a near future joint meeting of the county commissioners and the members of the city council.

The hospital was erected with funds derived from the sale of $200,000 worth of bonds.

H. L. Hunter, a member of the hospital board said Tuesday night the question of leasing the hospital had been discussed by the board two or three months ago, but no action taken. The affairs of the hospital have been in such an improved state lately that no change in the status of the hospital has been discussed, Mr. Hunter said.

State to Contest Any Insanity Plea by Carter, Says Allred

Any efforts made by attorneys for Jack Carter, under indictment for charges growing out of the robbery of the Gulf Refining company filling station at Eighth and Brook streets to have the prisoner declared insane will be strenuously contested by the state, Ben Allred, district attorney, said Tuesday.

Attorneys for Carter announced that they would object to having their client brought to trial until his sanity had been determined.

Since his incarceration in the county jail, Carter has on several occasion committed acts which his attorneys attribute to the fact that he is mentally unbalanced.

Mr. Allred expressed the opinion that Carter is feigning insanity.

Lead Injected Into Blood Used To Combat Cancer, Local Medics Told

Some advancement is made in the treatment of cancer by the administration of lead in the veins and the use of X-ray and radium, members of the Wichita County Medical society were told Tuesday night in the monthly meeting at the Wichita club.

The society also heard of the good results being obtained by the use of ether with whooping cough, and of new methods of treatment and prevention in cases of accidents to the new born.

Three addresses featured the meeting, Dr. Forrest Dutton of Amarillo, formerly assistant professor of medicine in the University of Pennsylvania, speaking on "The Practical Application of Intravenous Theraphy" (Administration of drugs in veins); Dr. J. W. Powers of Wichita Falls on "Birth Injuries Resulting in Intracranial Hemorrhage," and Dr. I. D. Russell of Burkburnett on "The Treatment of Whooping Cough."

In discussing the administration of drugs in the veins, Dr. Dutton said more than 125 drugs are now being given, with much better results. His paper was discussed by Drs. S. W. Stevenson, J. D. Hall, Everett Jones, G. H. Hampshire, and O. T. Kimbrough.

Dr. Powers urged proper care of the mother and baby before birth in preventing accidents to the new born which result in cripples and imbeciles as the result of injuries to the head during birth.

The paper was discussed by Drs. F. R. Collard, H. P. Ledford, G. T. Singleton, C. W. Stevenson, and L. B. Holland.

Use of ether in treatment of whooping cough seems to lessen the severity and durability of the cough, Dr. Russell said in his address. The paper was discussed by Drs. W. J. Masters, F. R. Collard, F. D. Shepherd, H. P. Ledford, J. M. F. Gill and Wm. Roenblatt.

The society voted to offer its services to W. B. Hamilton and to the chamber of commerce in entertaining the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention here in May.

OLNEY SHOWS RAPID GROWTH

Town Has Had Steady Gain In Popuation

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, April 12.—The Olney of todal represents a true spirit of progressiveness typical of growing west Texas cities. Three years ago Olney was a town of only about 1000 inhabitants, but today there are approximately 6000 permanent residents and practically all of the conveniences found in the large cities are now within the limits of the city.

Oil was discovered in the Olney territory in 1925 and today there are more than 1700 producing wells within a radius of fifteen miles from town. All of these are shallow producers ranging from 500 to 1400 feet. Every week witnesses more producers with new pools opening up with regularity. There are approximately thirty-five separate and distinct pools.

In addition to oil some of the most fertile soil in the state is located in Olney territory. Cotton, wheat, oats and barley are the principal crops grown. During the 1926 season the Olney gins handled 10,000 bales of cotton.

In keeping with the growth of the community, civic progress has kept pace. In 1925 there were forty blocks of pavement laid, since January of this year fifty blocks of brick pavement has been laid and at least the same amount of sidewalk. A new $30,000 sewage disposal plant was completed a few months ago. A $50,000 municipal building is now nearing completion, as is also a $60,000 hospital and sanitarium. A number of brick business buildings have been erected during the past year and residences have been completed at the rate of more than one a day. During the twedve months of 1926, by actual count, there were 117 homes erected that represented an expenditure of from $3000 to $35,000 each.

Free delivery of mails was established in November 1926. At that time there were only enough sidewalks and pavement to furnish a route for one delivery man. Since that date however there has been enough territory opened up by additional sidewalk and pavement, that at the present time at least one if not two more carriers are needed, and the postal department have already been petitioned for same.

The Olney Country club organized a year and a half ago, located one mile south has one hundred acres, a nine hole golf course, sand greens, tennis courts and a fine club house. Practically everything that can be found in the larger cities in the state can now be had in Olney. All modern conveniences with the exception of natural gas are obtainable, and according to present indications this convenience will be in operation within a short time. Surveys are now being made for supplying Olney with natural gas, and it is very possible that within another year gas will be piped to every home in Olney.

Election of Officers Feature P.-T. A. Business Session Tuesday

Mrs. Claude Woods was elected president of the high school and Junior college P.-T. A. which met in final session for the school year Tuesday afternoon. Other new officers include Mrs. W. A. McGee, first vice president; Mrs. M. J. Michaelas, second vice president; Mrs. G. T. Drinkard, third vice president; Miss Verna Sellars, recording secretary; Mrs. Sam Kruger, publicity superintendent and Mrs. Ed Peterson, treasurer.

Sheriff W. G. Bralley and Oral Jones, city finance commissioner cashier of the City National bank, spoke before the association.

Mr. Bralley talked on "An Officer's Problem in Enforcing the Law and the Parents' Responsibility." Mr. Jones spoke on the subject of controlling the child's spending money.

Mr. Jones stated that to encourage saving and thrift and at the same time direct the child in properly spending money is a wise policy. Children should be taught the proper use of money, he said.

Both extravagance and too close frugality should be guarded against, Mr. Jones stated.

People in general do not place enough confidence in peace officers, Sheriff Bralley declared. When it becomes generally understood that officers are trying to enforce the law solely because it is being violated then their efforts will be better appreciated, resulting in better co-operation between the citizenship and officers, the speaker declared.

"The sheriff's departments of Texas operate at a loss financially because of fee limits outlined in the statutes," Mr. Bralley said.

"Deputies' salaries are paid out of the sheriff's salary and fees and if the fees are not sufficient to care for the expenses the sheriff must go into his own pocket to meet his payroll.

"When lawbreakers wanted in other counties are captured the sheriff has no recourse in the expenditures made in apprehending them. When the cases are called for trial the sheriff or his deputies are forced to travel long distances to appear as witnesses and at the same time the deputy's salary runs on," Mr. Bralley said.

One of the greatest problems faced by peace officers is gaining and keeping co-operation from law abiding citizens, Mr. Bralley said.

The term "home brew" is applied to a beverage made in homes and which is in many instances found to be intoxicating, Mr. Bralley explained. The local sheriff's department will deal with the home brew situation in the same manner that it treats all law violations, he said.

Miss Oscar Bilbro gave two violin solos and Miss Margaret Bone gave a declamation on "Patriotism." Lawrence Bash gave one on "Patrick Henry's Call to Arms."

Dean S. Rider introduced Junior college, high school and Junior high declaimers, debaters and winners in recent contests as follows: Dorothy Reid, Morine Ulmer, Marie Ford, Margaret Bone, Lawrence Bash, John Emmett Llyle, W. M. Cason and Russell Comley.

In the business session reports were heard from officers and chairman, and Mrs. R. P. Haney, membership chairman, announced Mrs. C. W. Staley winner of the electric lamp donated by Mrs. J. L. Art for the room sponsor having the largest attendance of mothers present during the year.

There were about 100 present.

SOPHIE IRENE LOEB Says—

Man Who Would Marry a Young Woman

A man writes to me as follows: "I am a man 59 years of age and very much in love with a woman at least 25 years younger. I hesitate to declare my love for several reasons, but I think she would accept me if I proposed. I hesitate because in 10 years or so my earning capacity will be impaired and I will be close to 'old age,' while she will still be comparatively young.

"I feel there is an element of risk for her, and I care too much for her to want her to assume any such risk, although as far as I possibly can I shall never be old.

"My earnings average $8000 per annum and I am worth about $40,000. If in the next 10 years my earnings continue at this rate I can save an amount which would put us on 'easy street,' but if before that time something should happen and I, like so many others, had to give up, I would not be able to stand it—to know that I had made life hard for her.

"She does not know it, but I have made a will leaving her everything, and I shall continue to work and save so that her future will be protected just as if she was my own in fact.

"I could marry someone about my own age, but I do not want to marry excepting for love, and while my heart cries out for a home there must be true love there also, which would not be the case with any other woman, and so I will remain single unless I can see my way clear not to become a burden to her.

"If I should marry her there would be those who would criticize her because she would take a man 'old enough to be her father.' You know how some people talk and how such talk hurts a sensitive person. I want to spare her that hurt if possible.

"In the event our marriage does not take place, leaving her all I possess will cause tongues to wag and ugly things to be said which will hurt, too. I do not want to hurt her while I live, and surely would not want to do so from my grave. I have no family nor anyone dependent on me, and I want her so much, but don't know what to do. Will you help me?"

The man has summed up the problem clearly and honestly. As a general thing the marriage of "May and December" are rarely happy ones. It is unnatural. Old age and youth were never intended for Cupid's realm. When he is looking at life with a tired vision she is seeing it through rosy glasses.

When the man comes to a stage of existence where he wants to "settle down" she is usually energetic and anxious to be up and doing. In a word, they are not in tune with each other. After a while they get on each other's nerves. The inevitable happens. They are bound to grow apart, even though they remain together.

Such marriages usually occur when the girl is very young. She agrees to the marriage often because she is flattered, or longs for the frivolities of life and marries for money, believing that will overcome the most necessary thing in the world—love—because she has everything else.

She awakens to realize that nothing can take the place of love. However, once in a long, long time there comes the unusual case, where she understands the various elements that enter into the thing and realizes what she will have to meet in the future. Having thus weighed all facts carefully she goes into marriage, not blindly; and by such full knowledge does her part to continue happy. If this is such a woman, the case this man writes about might be the "unusual" one.

The one way would be to tell the woman all that you have told me—and more. Point out to her the full risk she takes, and who knows?—it may be the best thing for both, even if it is the rare case.

Indigestion From Over-Eating

Thedford's Black-Draught a Dependable Medicine In Bringing up Family Of Children Says Florida Mother

Jasper, Fla.—"In bringing up a family of young children," says Mrs. E. G. Green, of this place, "it is necessary to have on hand some reliable medicine which will give quick relief in cases of overeating and digestive disorders. I have found that Thedford's Black-Draught can always be depended upon. We could hardly keep house without it.

"I was troubled with bad spells of sick headache. Sometimes I would have to go to bed for hours. Everything would get black before my eyes and I would feel dizzy and dull. A friend told me about Black-Draught, and that is how I began to use it, for myself and in my family.

"Since the first time I took it, about twelve years ago, I have tried to keep a package of it always in the house. I get over a bad spell of indigestion quickly after taking it and find immediate relief from constipation.

"Once, one of my children, a little girl of three, was suffering from an acute attack of indigestion. I gave her a dose of Black-Draught and she was soon all right again.

"I can heartily recommend Black-Draught as a reliable medicine."

In use over 85 years.

Conceit Costs Love of Friends
Dorothy Dix Tells Pretty Miss

Advice to a Pretty Girl Who Wonders Why She Has No Friends—Tips to Boys Who Out-Stay Their Welcome When Calling on A Girl.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a very pretty girl 16 years old. I dance very well, dress well, but I am not popular with either the girls or boys. I see girls who are not nearly so good-looking as I am who have plenty of dates, while I scarcely have one a month, and I see other girls have plenty of friends when I have none. Why is this?

BROWN-EYED BEAUTY.

Answer—Well, answering your question right off the bat, I should say that perhaps the reason you are not popular is because you are conceited. Any girl, who signs herself "Brown-Eyed Beauty" proclaims her vanity to the world, and it seems to be a law of nature that those who admire themselves very much are never admired by others.

God has been good to a girl when he gives her a pretty face and Lady Luck has been kind to her when she has given her parents who can dress her nicely. But it takes more than a pretty face and good clothes to make a girl popular, even with boys. A young man is naturally attracted to a girl who has a peaches-and-cream complexion and lovely brown eyes, as you have, and a slender, willowy figure; but these will not hold him long if she is spoiled and selfish or catty and scratchy or if she is dull and stupid.

So if you find that you haven't many dates try to forget that you are easy on the eyes and see if you are pleasant to get along with and interesting to talk to. One of the homeliest girls I know is the most popular, and I have heard dozens of boys say: "Oh, what difference does it make even if Mildred isn't pretty? She dances like a dream and she's the jolliest company and the squarest and kindes hearted girl in the world. There isn't a thing she would not do to help anybody out if they needed it."

Are you that kind of a girl? Are you amiable and good-natured, always ready to make the best of things and fall in with everybody else's plans? Are you unselfish and generous? Do you introduce your boy friends to your girl friends and divide your chocolates and try to see that everybody has a good time?

Or are you one of the girls who gets miffed and goes off and sulks every time she can not have her own way about everything? Are you irritable, so that everybody has to handle you with gloves? When you meet a new boy, do you try to monopolize him and keep him away from all the other girls? Do you tell the boys mean things about the other girls and never speak of one without giving her a little claw?

To have friends you must be friendly. You must be sweet and lovable. You must be pleasant and agreeable. There are too many nice people in this world for anybody to bother with the hateful ones.

Think it over, my dear. Spot your weakness. Turn the light on your faults and cure them, because when we have no friends it is we ourselves who are to blame. The whole world is hungering and thirsting for love, for understanding, for friendship, and it will love us if we will give it a chance.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—Can you tell me what to do with a boy who simply won't go home at a reasonable hour? He is gentlemanly and good-looking, but you can't be interested in a person when your eyes are dropping shut for want of sleep. No matter how much I yawn or tell him how late I have been up every night for a week, he just won't take the hint and I can hardly throw him out of the house bodily. What are we girls to do with the night hawks?

DISTRACTED.

Answer—Goodness knows, for when a man is so enamoured of the sound of his own voice that he can never get enough of listening to himself talk there is nothing that a poor girl can do unless she hires a professional bouncer to chuck him out of the door at 11 o'clock.

In my young days one of the chief functions of father was to call time on lingering young men who stayed too late, but I suppose that wholesome custom has gone into the discard along with family prayers and saying grace at the table.

But aside from the consideration of the sufferings of the poor girl who has to endure agonies of boredom listening to the drivel of the man who stays on and on and on, until the very clock yawns in his face, what a mistake the dull-witted youth makes who wears out his welcome!

How thin the conversation gets that has to be stretched out over hours and hours! How short we run of topics after we have fed the mill for an unconscionably long time! How any one palls on our appetites after we have got fed up with him!

Certainly any young man makes the mistake of his life if he thinks he can make a hit with a girl by making calls that run into visitations. Nobody is brilliant enough to keep us fascinated more than thirty minutes at a stretch, and an hour is the extreme limit during which any woman can inject pep into a conversation.

There is only one topic which any girl wants to discuss until midnight, and that is what sort of a wedding they are going to have and is he utterly, perfectly sure that he never loved any other woman.

Short visits make long friends, says the old adage; to which may be added for the benefit of young men that brief calls make big hits with girls.

In half an hour any youth can say all that he has to say that is worth listening to and all that any girl wants to hear. Then, if he wants to be popular, his cue is the quick getaway

Take this tip from me, boys.

When a girl gets you on your feet when you go to call or when she begins to look at the clock or turns on the radio or asks you if you wouldn't like to hear a new phonograph record, it's time to leave. And when you leave, go as if you were shot out of a gun. Don't stand saying "good-by, good-by" to a girl who has on shoes with lead-pencil heels that are making her suffer the tortures of the damned.

MODISH MITZI — Isn't It Always the Upkeep? — By JAY V. JAY

Mitzi has achieved a great moral victory. She isn't going to buy any more clothes until she goes to Paris. You see, now, how she looks when she is being firm. It doesn't, of course, interfere with her looking very well in this brimless hat with its flat-crowned top.

She is still firm when she meets Polly for luncheon. She does admire, though (and who could blame her?) the black satin wrap which has a wide cape collar edged with fur. There's no harm in just looking at it as she explains to Polly. She doesn't intend to buy one.

Mitzi is going to a matinee and it seems hard that she should keep meeting black silk coats—each one of them reminds her that a black silk coat is what she needs for her black frocks. This one is of cire satin. Mitzi sighs, but is firm—besides, she's late for the play.

Wasn't it lucky? This coat is the one coat that could have made her break her resolution Mitzi is sure. And the store was just about to close when she saw it and came in to buy. It only took a minute and it's black satin—and perhaps the bill wont come until she's gone to Paris!

Just AMONG US GIRLS
by Kathryn Kenney

FILLING HER JOB

Every woman is after some man, but the one who gets him wires on ahead! It's no disgrace to go after what you want, but there's a lot in not wanting what you go after. Some women want battery, and like their square meals, they don't care who gives it to them.

You have to be clever to get anywhere, and you have to be superhuman to stay there. The reason that so few people get what they want is because they aren't certain of their desires. Give almost any woman a catalogue and she'll pick out a fur coat when she really started out to get a washing machine.

Of course it's a good rule to change your mind, if you can afford the overhead. But concentration is the thing that makes it possible to change a boullon cube into a cup of soup.

Women fall in love with a profile and pursue a bankrole. It takes the first to love—and the second to live. But having decided that money makes the world go round in a Rolls Royce, the woman wants the collar ad to wear her neckties. She thinks she wants to love—and she knows she wants money. Because she isn't absolutely certain, she tries to get both—and gets shot!

There are a few women who know what they want and refuse to regret their choice. The shoulder on which they lay their heads may not be the last, but it's the most lasting! They know that love fades and it takes a lot of money to buy good rouge. This is the type of woman who has looked around and decided that after all, it's the wealthy widows who have all the fun in the world. An old man may not be long for this world—but he may belong to all the best clubs.

The girl who really can't live without love, and cares nothing for money—in fact, she throws it away—should marry the poor boy with the nacel wave. Then she can run through his hair instead of his money!

But if you're really going out to marry for money, don't insult the intelligence of your friends by telling them that you love your boy friend, even if he's all bent over from picking up pennies. It's all right to be a good wife to him, but don't introduce him as Apollo!

A great many man hunters make so much ado about wooing that they frighten their game. Give them an inch and you're a mile on your way to the minister without notice through the mails. They are always open for compromising position, because when father calls downstairs it's the last call.

Chase a man—but do it cleverly, if you give him the glad eye, that's all you get in return. Unfortunately, the women have to do the pursuing, otherwise the stag party would last forever.

The men who chase women are rare, because if a man is any good at all and has one good side to his face the girls will fight over him. Man may run the world, but woman runs after him. And if he's already married—she passes him!

O! ROMEO! ROMEO!

CLEVELAND, O. — Weeping, with tears in his eyes, Eugene Foley, a trolley car conductor, appeared before Police Prosecutor Schrieber recently and said he wanted something done for him. He sobbed: "Prosecutor, I'm all upset. There's a gal rides on my car every day, and she don't do a thing but make love to me all the way downtown. It's got on my mind so that I forget to call the streets, and I give wrong change, and a lot of things like that. If she don't stop it, I'm scared I'll lose my job." The prosecutor promised to demand an explanation from the pursuing female.

SATISFACTION in a purchase of any consequence cannot be complete without a certain measure of pride in what is bought. When you buy a thing it isn't quite enough that it be "all right" or that it will just "do." You want to feel glad to have it; to feel proud of its quality.

ARE OIL KING'S PRICE FIXTURES

AND now the Standard Oil companies of Indiana and New Jersey, the Texas Company, the Gasoline Products company, a Standard Oil concern, and 42 smaller oil concerns, are charged with price fixing in a brief filed by an agent of the department of justice at Indianapolis. Taking of testimony began two years ago in Chicago and ended in New York last month.

As for the department of justice it alleges that these companies have established artificial prices by imposition of heavy royalties on independent refineries after agreeing as to the amount of these charges. This in interesting to say the least. Texas is getting to be a great oil producing state. Heavy producing fields are expected to be brought in in the region known as the Piney Wods of East Texas.

Price cutting of crude has lessened the profits of the independents, but it hasn't decreased the activities of the wildcatters who are said to be in evidence in many of the older counties of East Texas. As for the Texas Company, it was a creature of Texas laws until it provided itself with a Delaware charter. Two giants of the legal world will represent the Texas Company in the courts of the country.

ON THE GOLD COAST

THERE must be money in patent medicine Elden C. Dekett is dead. He started his business career as a young druggist in Sioux City, Iowa. He invaded the patent medicine field. He gathered in the golden fleece. He moved to New York 20 years ago. He shunned publicity all his life. He never boasted of his wealth.

He was looked upon by his friends as a man of moderate fortune.

An inventory of his estate created a sensation. He had accumulated a fortune of $85,000,000. A widow has a life interest in the estate. Fourteen relatives will enjoy rich legacies. There are no children to quarrel over the wealth accumulated and left behind by Dickett. He started on his career of money making more than 50 years ago when Sioux City was a lawless town and the Missouri river valley was almost a wilderness.

FIGURES FOR JONES

EIGHTY-TWO per cent of the population of the United States pay no income tax. More than 95 per cent of the collection paid by. 29 of one per cent of the people Jones may be interested in knowing that there was an increase in the number of persons paying taxes on income of more than one million.

This number jumped to 207 in 1925, compared with 75 in the preceding year and 74 in 1923.

Several persons pay taxes income of more than $5,000,000, reaching an aggregate tax of $61,382,863. Of course, the topnotchers are the Rockefellers, the Fords and the Bakers, widely known bankers of Wall street.

There is a surplus, or will be of $500,000,000 in the treasury. Another cut in the income tax rate is coming next year.

CHEAP LABOR CUT OUT

NEW labor saving machinery in the industrial centers of the United States has cut down the steady stream of cheap labor into this country. A Harvard professor says that practically 80 per cent of all immigration under the new law consists of relatives.

As for inventions there are coke handling machines, mechanical brick makers, mechanical track layers, mechanical ditch diggers, the largest of which can do the work of 400 men. Mechanical tools and machines of all kinds.

Labor saving machinery, according to this Harvard educator, has solved the problem.

Indeed, he says the day may come when skilled labor alone will count and the manual laborer will find himself out of a job.

NET EARNINGS OF ONE RAILROAD

ACCORDING ot a trade journal the net income of the Pennsylvania Railroad company for 1926 was $67,567,958, the largest in its history. It was equal to 13.53 per cent of the outstanding capital stock and was an increase of $5,347,634 over 1925. This calls for the comment that the Pennsylvania railroad is one of the greatest passenger and freight carriers in the world and covers three states where the net earnings of thousands of business corporations were larger in 1926 than ever before. There is prosperity in the United States, although ten cent cotton does not make prosperity in the southern belt.

IRRIGATION PROJECTS IN THE VALLEY

ZAPATA COUNTY is a Texas-Mexican baliwick. Its people have emerged from their trance and are planning a canal extending from Maverick to Zapata or a distance of 138 miles. They are going to water 150,000 acres of land pronounced of rich fertility.

There will be 100,000 acres in Maverick county and 50,000 in Zapata, and the water will be taken from the Rio Grande river somewhere in the vicinity of Eagle pass.

A wilderness yesterday; a productive garden of the Lord today. This is what happened in the valley and to the valley people.

A STORY OF MYSTERY, SUSPENSE AND LOVE

THE SOB-SISTER

By CLIFFORD WEBB AND ROSE ELO

ILLUSTRATED BY R. J. SCOTT

Dinny's Fist Caught the Big Lawyer Fair and Square.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED.

DIANA BROOKS, beautiful daughter of ROGER BROOKS, owner and publisher of the CATAWBA CITY TIMES and a chain of nine other newspapers, had been kidnapped, then released. Her father is engaged in a persisent fight against the corrupt administration of CATAWBA CITY and through the medium of the TIMES, redoubles his scathing attacks on politicians of the RING and the UNDERWORLD.

Later, Brooks himself is kidnapped and in five days released. On his return he finds that his newspaper stock is being manipulated. Te suspects JOHN W. WALDEN and determines to fight.

Brooks' closest friend is DONALD KEENE, his literary editor, who is guardian of TEDDY FARRELL, reporter and SOB SISTER. Teddy loves Don. He, however, believes himself in love with LOLA MANTELL, Diana's cousin.

Diana, in response to a call telling her that Lola is detained at a roadhouse with a sprained ankle, goes to her. She finds that she is the victim of a ruse on the part of JOHN W. WALDEN, JR., an unscrupulous suitor who locks her up in a remote part of the inn. He begs her to marry him, then, when repulsed, becomes maddened and attacks her. Diana has managed to call the Times and Teddy comes to her aid.

NOW READ ON.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

Walden's distended eyes bloodshot, staring, remained fixed. He seemed like a man in the grip of hypnosis.

"Diana!" came the call again from the other side of the door, the voice of Teddy, "let us in, can't you?"

The words appeared to strike into Walden's dazed brain, to bring him to a realizing sense of things.

"Us!" he muttered, "what in hell—"

He broke off short with a vile oath at the sound of a body being hurled against the door. This was repeated twice, three times, and at the third attempt the lock gave way, the door swung in with a crash and Dinny Morrison was precipitated bodily into the room, bringing up short in its center.

His gaze flashed around the place, taking in the situation in one swift glance. He saw Diana, blood streaming from a scratch on her cheek, her flimsy gown half torn from her body. Four feet away stood Walden, also in a state plainly indicating recent combat.

His gaze turned back to the girl again, evidently the victim of assault. Then, without uttering a word of warning he stepped forward, his right fist came up in a swift uppercut, catching Walden full on the point of the chin.

In the language of the ring it was a "haymaker," or would have been with a man fifty pounds lighter than John Walden. But the latter's 190 pounds saved him from a knockout just then, although he went down, knocked backward to the wall, where he sank to the floor.

But Walden was no quitter whatever else he was. Astonishment was written plainly on his face as he sat there staring at the slender figure above him. This gave way the next instant to a look of wild rage as he clambered to his feet and lunged forward, aiming a blow.

The blow split the air over Dinny's left shoulder as he side-stepped. Walden whirled with surprising quickness for so big a man. This brought his left side before the reporter. Again the right came un, but this time in a half swing. Dinny's fist caught the big lawyer fair and square under the ear.

The blow didn't knock him over. He just sank down, his knees buckling and hit the floor with a resounding bump. Then his body fell over on one side and he lay there, still but for a choking gurgle that came with each breath.

"Oh, Dinny, you—you—"

Teddy was staring, not at the form on the floor but at her escort, her long-suffering, long-loving, would-be sweetheart. There was intense admiration mixed with a vast wonder in her wide-open, fascinated eyes. Her Dinny had knocked the hated enemy of her dearest friend into Cuckoo-land with just two blows of his fist. He was a hero, Dinny was, even if she couldn't love him as he deserved.

"Oh, Dinny!" she gurgled again, "you—you darling! I'm—I'm just going to kiss you for that!"

And she did—kissed him swiftly and explosively full on the mouth.

Dinny almost fainted from pure rapture. Gone was all recollection from his mind of his recent encounter with Walden. Gone was everything but just the joy and sweet realization of that kiss. If she never kissed him again—if he never felt again the delight that lay in the touch of her lipe—he had at least the memory of that one brief caress—and given voluntarily, too! That was the joy of it. He looked at her, adoration in his gaze.

Then his eyes turned. He looked at the form on the floor. It was showing symptoms of returning life. The legs jerked; the arms jerked; the muscles of the face and neck twitched and the mouth twisted grotesquely. Then the bloodstreaked eyes, popping out like door knobs, rolled wildly. A groan gurgled through the smashed lips.

Four times Walden essayed to rise. Each time he dropped back. On the fifth attempt he negotiated a sitting posture. Dazedly he looked about him, his pop-eyes blinking.

Diana, watching him, disgust and dislike etched in every line of her face, marveled at the repulsiveness of him. He didn't seem like a man.

She turned to Teddy with a wan little smile.

"Take me home, dear. I'll tell you about it later. This place"—a shudder shook the slender body—"fills me with horror, and he"—she indicated the man she had fought so desperately—"ugh!"

As they started to leave Dinny looked again at the fallen Walden. The lawyer's countenance indicated returning understanding.

"Get this, Walden," he said, bending threateningly over the other; "if you ever so much as glance at Miss Brooks again, or speak to her, what you got this time is nothing. Next time I'll kill you!"

The trio crept cautiously down the stairs and past the suave young man at the desk. Diana caught an instantaneous flash of surprise in the clerk's dark eyes. To their right, they could see a large group sitting at tables in the huge hall, while in the center a spotlight played on a glittering quadroon shimmy queen. The orchestra was blaring a wild accompaniment.

"Which of these is yours, Miss Brooks?" asked Dinny when they had arrived at the driveway outside. He motioned toward the cars parked in a row. She indicated the flivver she had used.

"I'll drive your car," volunteered Dinny, "and we'll tow my coupe behind."

He sprang forward and eagerly assisted Diana into the rear seat, tipping his hat respectfully.

"You're nice, Dinny, thanks," the girl said, giving him a feeble but affectionate smile.

"Shall I sit with you and hold you so you don't get jarred too much?" asked Teddy solicitously.

"No, never mind, dear. Don't bother, I'll be all right."

Teddy jumped in beside. Dinny around whom she had woven a brand new halo. She decided to treat him with more respect after this.

"Dinny, wherever did you learn to hit like that?" she asked admiringly.

This was Dinny's hour. Under the tribute his chest expanded. He threw his head back proudly.

"Oh, that," he explained with nonchalance, "I train right along at Kid Kalitsky's gymnasium. It's my special hobby."

"Do you swim, too?" pursued Teddy with awe.

"You bet. I'm a regular lifesaver."

"I swim some myself," announced Teddy modestly.

"Do you fer a fact? Say—" Dinny's brain was giving birth to a bright idea, "tomorrow's Saturday. Let's you and I go out for a picnic, are you on?"

Teddy nodded.

"All set, then. Put your bathing suit on at the house. I'll call for you and bring eats. We'll spend the afternoon at the beach.

"Uh-uh," gurgled Teddy.

She turned in her seat to face Diana. "You're a real life saver yourself, Diana," she said generously. "You had a chance to test your prowess when you saved Don's life in the storm."

"It's a question whether I saved his life or you, Teddy," replied Diana gently. "It's certain that if you hadn't dug out of that subcellar there wouldn't have been any Don for me to save."

"Don's a prince!" remarked Dinny unexpectedly although he felt that Teddy had changed from the subject of him, Dinny, almost too easily.

Lola had been surprised when reaching home after a long ride in the afternoon to find that Diana had gone out and had not returned.

"Miss Brooks was rather ill, have you any idea where she went?" she asked Gretta.

Gretta had no idea. Miss Brooks had taken the Ford and left in a hurry without saying anything. She had been called on the phone. That was all the maid knew.

Pop had brought Don home with him for dinner to discuss the investigations of the Times' business affairs.

Mrs. Ingram advised that dinner be deferred until Diana returned. They waited. At seven o'clock Gretta complained that the food would be spoiled from standing, so Lola, Don and Pop sat down to eat, each searching for an explanation of Diana's absence.

Don was the first to see her and sprang to his feet with a glad cry when Diana, followed by Dinny and Teddy, filed into the dining room. He was dumfounded at the condition of her clothing.

"Diana!" he cried and bent tenderly over her, taking her limp hand in his own.

"Finish your dinner," she interrupted, "and let Gretta get something for Teddy and Dinny. I've eaten," she added ruefully.

A little later she told her story, recalling Walden's threat to break her father. Brooks' fists doubled and Don's face hardened.

"THE TRIUMPHANT SPIRIT"
Wednesday

"Love Finds Peace in the Midst of Anguish."

Scripture: Read—Luke 22: 35-46.

"And being in an agony he prayed more earnestly; and his sweat became as it were great drops of blood" (Lk. 22:44.)

"Peace I leave with you: my peace I give unto you" (Jn. 13:27.)

See—Romans 8:18; Philippians 4: 11-13; I. Peter 4:12.

Meditation: Jesus had peace within through all the oppositions of Gallilee and Judea. The sublime triumph, however, came in His passion, may it be that there are Gethsemanes for me, then "breathe on me, breath of God," the peace that passeth knowledge.

"Son of Man, I shall only get thy peace by moving in thy sphere. Thy peace came to thee by going where thy Father sent thee, Thou didst not get it first and then go into Gethsemane; it was in Gethsemane thou didst find it."

Hymn:

Beneath the cross of Jesus
I fain would take my stand—
The shadow of a mighty rock
Within a weary land,
A home within the wilderness,
A rest upon the way,
From the burning of the nontide heat,
And the burden of the day.

I take, O cross, thy shadow
For my abiding place;
I ask no other sunshine than
The sunshine of His face—
Content to let the world go by,
To know no gain nor loss,
My sinful self my only shame,
My glory all the cross.

—Elizabeth C. Clephane, (1830-1888.)

Prayer: Pray for—peace within; those making Christian decision; our community.

Collect—Our Father in heaven, whose patience knows no bounds, we thank Thee for the oncoming of Thy kingdom in the world, and for the means of grace in our lives. We bless Thee for the Son of Man; serving in Galilee, loving in Judea, triumphing in Gethsemane, atoning on Calvary and rising from the grave. We rejoice in our redemption through Him and in the hope of immortality brought to light by Him. Yet in our weakness we have set our hearts on things on the earth. We have thought success better than righteousness and ease desirable above service. In Thy patience brood over our dull spirits till love awakens in us. We commit ourselves to the Son of Man in holy living and loving service, for His name's sake. Amen.

BO BROADWAY ..... By Joseph Van Raalte

NEW YORK, (EFS).—Laurence Stallings, co-author of "What Price Glory," used to be a copy reader on Park Row. He was a good copy reader, and a good copy reader is one of earth's treasures.

The copy desk of a large journal confers upon a man a discriminating sense of values. It endows him with a legitimacy of appraisal not to be gleaned elsewhere.

Copyreaders, as a class, are bitter men. They are bitter because, having plumbed the depths of the fellow-man's well-nigh unfathomable limitations, life holds no further promise. Thus, they grouch, cuss, chaw terbaccer and always frown and try to appear mad.

Brother Stallings entered the field of dramatics and the "shittin'" picture game with an immense realization of human fallibility for which—being a young man—he failed to make adequate allowance.

When the royalties of "What Price Glory" and "The Big Parade" had earned him a parole from the Lockstep of the City Room, he fell to criticizing the bustle, smell, noise and dust of the ranks he had just quit.

Criticism is like hop—easy to take on, hard to quit. When Laurie had criticized everything criticizable hereabouts, he climbed aboard a choo-choo train, journeyed to the Capital of the Commonplace, where he unlimbered his typewriter and batted out some juvenile jibes about the Magic Lantern Lots of the Pants Pressers.

Hollywood had its disabilities and Little Laurie marshaled them for the bewilderment of Moronia.

PART TWO

The curse of money is that the more we have the more we want. Down in Wall street the Wise Ones have minted an adage, now worn smooth, to the effect that no one ever loses anything by taking a little profit and then, like the Arabs, folding their tents and quietly stealing away.

Instead of packing his typewriter, his oil painting of Franklin P. Adams, his plaster bust of "Red" Lewis, and his collection of Pits from Olives eaten by Eminent Members of the Algonquin club, and moving them to southern France, spending the rest of his life in a garden by a river, sitting out under a rose tree in the sun, the Worthy Brother is traveling over the country on the Trail of the Lonesome Dime.

Recently he signed up with the Metro-Goldwyn for six months for something like $50,000 and experience, to embroider some screen stuff and, in his off-time, remove the freckles from the literary output of the M-G Mill.

But, drawing up the contract, the canny Eskimos of the Metro-Goldwyn outfit recalled that Laurence had one time made some cold, sassy remarks about Hollywood and its environs. They knew his heart didn't thump at the prospect of renewed contact with the sunlight and canned tomatoes of the West Coast, and so they interpolated a Gilbert and Sullivan clause whereby the author of "What Price Glory" committed himself for the term of the contract not to indulge in soiled remarks for publication, at the expense of his Boss, the Boss' man-servant, his maid-servant, his ox or his pet pup; nor was he otherwise to criticize adversely Hollywood, its industries, people, topography, brand of hooch, religion, philosophy or sense of humor.

And if he's a good boy and lives up to that clause, refusing to permit his temperament to throw him for a loss, the Metro-Goldwyn people have promised him a bonus of $10,000.

What price, story?

HEALTH AND DIET ADVICE

THE SALISBURY DIET

Years ago, when I was a confirmed vegetarian, it was my good fortune to come across a book written by Dr. Salisbury, an English physician. This book outlined a treatment for disease which struck a new note in the study of dietetics. The writer claimed to cure practically every ailment by placing the patient on a dietetic regime, consisting of ground round steak and raw vegetables. The claims he put out were so startling that I immediately started experimenting according to his system to find out what there could be in his claims.

I was agreeably surprised to see such diseases as rheumatism and Bright's disease disappear rapidly under this strange treatment which was so diametrically opposite to the accepted dietetic procedure in such cases.

By careful, unprejudiced investigation I soon discovered the reason this revolutionary diet yielded such remarkable results. First of all, it is very simple diet and that alone accounts for a great deal of its success. Also, all excess food fermentation is avoided in the absence of any starches or sugars. Even with the large amount of protein food consumed, no harmful effects are observed. The withdrawal of all foods having a tendency to produce flatulence immediately relieves one from the distress of being a "walking gas factory." If other diet systems have not helped you, try this Salisbury regime for a week and watch the good results.

Three times daily eat one-fourth of a pound of Salisbury steak with either sliced tomatoes or raw celery, as desired. One half hour before each meal drink one pint of warm water, also sip one pint of warm water while eating the meal.

Prepare this steak by grinding through a meat grinder only the red, lean part of round steak from which all fat and gristle have been removed. This is more palatable than hamburger steak as the absence of fat gives it an entirely different flavor than when the fat is left in and makes it more wholesome. Make into thin patties and bake in the oven for about five minutes or pan broil in a dry hot pan without grease.

After you have used this diet for about a week, return to your usual well-balanced diet and you will find many symptoms, such as flatulence, have disappeared.

This diet can be repeated occasionally with marked benefit. The results will teach you the great dietetic truth that excess fermentation of food is responsible for many symptoms and ailments caused by indiscriminate eating and wrong mixtures of even good foods.

QUESTION: Mrs. J. B. asks: "Is surgery the only thing left to overcome an ovarian syst?"

ANSWER: An ovarian syst can often be cured by fasting and dieting, but I cannot tell you whether or not this method would be the best to use in your case. It would be unwise for me to attempt to advise you in such a trouble as this unless I had first the opportunity of making a complete examination.

QUESTION: Mrs. J. M. C. writes: "I am a suffere from Anemia. I have tried so many things without results, but when I started to read your health column I felt sure that you could tell me the right thing to do to get well."

ANSWER: The only treatment which will have and beneficial effect on Anemia is a treatment with fasting and dieting. A fruit fast is indicated in this disorder, and the blood will improve for from ten days to two weeks on nothing but a diet of orange juice and water. Full instructions cannot be given in this colum, but I will be glad to mail you a treatise upon receipt of a stamped, addressed envelope.

QUESTION: J. J. writes: "I have suffered from constipation for years, until now I never have a natural movement. I am fifty years old—is it too late to overcome this trouble?"

ANSWER: Your trouble can be overcome by following these rules: 1—Go to the toilet regularly. Do not wait for an uncomfortable feeling to notify you. 2—Assume a squatting position on the toilet with the feet placed on the rounds of a chair in front of you. 3—Take plenty of vigorous physical culture exercise. 4—Eat a large amount of cooked and raw greens. 5—Do not take laxatives, and give your bowels a chance to move naturally.

QUESTION: Mrs. W. H. writes: "I would be glad if you would tell me what to do for heartburn."

ANSWER: Heartburn can be cured by living on the proper food combinations, and avoiding the use of an excessive amount of food. Over-eating must be cited as one of the principal causes of these troubles. Continue to study my articles each day and learn how to combine your foods properly so they will not form incompatible mixtures.

QUESTION: A. O. C. writes: "Please give us some information about the taking of an enema, whether to use soapy water, and just what position to assume."

ANSWER: I will be glad to send you a complete treatise on this subject if you will send me a self addressed, stamped envelope. It would require too much space for printing in this colum.

AUTO CRASH FATAL.

EL PASO, April . (AP)—R. S. Durell, of Denver, Colo., was almost instantly killed, and, M. E. Moody of San Antonio was slightly injured when their automobile crashed about 20 miles east of here late today.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help, else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 50cent bottle at any drug store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

Friend Al:

Well, Al, I got a bad break yesterday because Huggins started me in the opener against the A's thinking I'd know their weaknesses, but the weather was so cold this here Dr. Peary that went to the North Pole couldn't of pitched in that climate. At that I was going along O. K. when Ruth let one get away from him he had ought to have caught in his pants pocket. All the flat feet ain't on the police force or the A's, Al. Well, I finally hit Cobb in the head and Huggins chased me to the shower. On the way out, I passed Kid Gleason who was coaching at third base and he says "You were pitching nice ball in there for us" and I says "Is that so" and he didn't have no comeback so I guess Connie is sorry he let me go. If Kid Gleason is the master mind of the Athletics, Harry Thaw is the brains of the U. S. Steel Company.

Yours as usual, Jack Keefe.

Circling Bases With Major League Aces: Eight New Pilots Start 1927 Drive, But Heaviest Interest Turns to Work of Cobb, Collins and Speaker

IT'S UP TO THEIR LEGS—Success of efforts of Ty Cobb, Eddie Collins and Tris Speaker to come back as players with Athletics and Senators depends upon how their aging limbs stand strain. At top, closcup of Speaker's "pins." Cobb's below them. At right, Collins' on second.

SHOOTS AGAIN—At record. George Burns, Indian first baseman and "most valuable" man in his league last year, hopes to beat mark of 64 two-base hits, world's record.

TO CLEAR—His title. Bubbles Hargrave, Cincinnati catcher, whose claim to National League batting crown was challenged by two teammates, hopes to settle the matter.

THEY ARE EIGHT—The new managers in the major leagues, as the season opens, are "Stuffy" McInnis, Philadelphia Nationals; Dan Howley, St. Louis Browns; George Moriarty, Detroit Tigers; Donie Bush, Pittsburg Pirates; Ray Schaik, Chicago White Sox; Bill Carrigan, Boston Red Sox; Jack McCallister, Cleveland Indians, and Bob O'Farrell, seen elsewhere on the page, and manager of the champion St. Louis Cardinals.

TOUGHEST JOB—In big leagues is that of Bob O'Farrell, above, new manager of world's champion St. Louis Cardinals, who, as managerial novice, must lead team to repetition of last year's triumphs.

INDIANS' HOPE—Is George Uhle, home-town boy, who led his league in box last year with 27 victories, a big factor in their fight for the pennant which landed them in second place.

PITCHING "ACE"—Of National League, "Woz" Kremer of Pirates, faces keen competition for the honor. Won 20 and lost 6 games last year. Led in effectiveness, too.

HOUSTON BUYS OMAHA PILOT

Buffs Swap Three Players For First-Sacker

SAN ANTONIO, April 12. (AP)—Fred Henry, brilliant first baseman and manager of the Omaha club of the Western league has been sold to Houston of the Texas league, President Barney Burch of the Omaha club announced today.

It is understood that Omaha is to obtain three players and cash in the deal, including First Baseman Harry Strong, Pitcher-Infielder Ray Pipkin and a left-handed pitcher. Henry's acquisition gives Houston a brilliant and experienced team. President Burch said that he would probably manage the Omaha club himself.

Henry said this morning that he and President Burch parted the best of friends and that he desired the trade in order to allow him to devote all of his attention to his play. As playing manager he feared that his work at first sack might suffer.

President Burch and the Omaha team left for Oklahoma City today.

Giants Run Riot With Home Runs

PHILADELPHIA, April 12. (AP) Terrific hitting, featured by home runs off the bats of Hornsby, Terry and Harper, gave the Giants a one-sided victory over the Phillies today, 15 to 7.

The honor poling the first home run of the National League season here today fell to Bill Terry of the Giants, who smashed out a circuit drive with the bases full in the fifth inning of the game between New York and the Phillies. The blow scored Tyson, Roush and Hornsby ahead of him and drove Hal Carlson from the box.

Coolidge Starts Sens to Victory

President Doesn't Let Hurt Wrist Hinder Him

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—His right wrist unbandaged for the first time in a month, President Coolidge today opened the baseball season in the national copitol by hurling out the first ball in the game between the Boston Red Sox and the Nationals, which the latter won, 6 to 2.

The speed and precicion with which the spheroid traveled into the mit of Tris Speaker, furnished proof that the presidential wrist is again in shape forthe rigors of White House handshaking receptions.

Mrs. Mrs. Coolidge, the president remained throughout nine innings of good, bad and indifferent baseball. While Mr. Coolidge was somewhat sparing in his applause, his commendation for only the most sensational plays, it was noticed that the first lady, ever an enthusiastic fan, applauded a score of plays unstintedly.

The presidential parcy was met at the players clubhouse by Clark Griffith and escorted to the presidential box near the Washington dugout, while a band played "Hail to the Chief" and the "Star Spangled Banner," while the great crowd remained standing.

Mr. Coolidge wore a blue serge suit and a heavy overcoat. He shed the latter, however, after the first inning as the day was warm. Mrs. Coolidge was attractively attired in a suede combination sport and walking suit.

The Coolidges were accompanied only by their aides and the secret service men. It was the first time that they have had no guests for the opening game. In nearby boxes, however, were many notables, among them Speaker Longworth, C. Bascom Slemp, former secretary to the president; Senator Smoot, Postmaster General New and Maj. Gen. John A. Le Jeune, commandant of the marine corps.

Spudder Game Reproduced At Palace Theater

Slick Ansley will play 'em over at the Paleo theater this afternoon. Wichita Falls' Spudders open the season at Shreveport, but Ansley declares he'll make Spud fandom feel almost like the gang is playing at home when the bugs turn out to watch the game on the "Marvel board."

Game starts at 3 o'clock, Louisiana time, which happens to be ethe same as "pue hora es?" in Wichita Falls.

George Payne faces Lefty Thompson on the hill.

Ansley plans playing all the out-of-town games on the board.

PENNANT CHANCES

By CONNIE MACK.
Manager Philadelphia Athletics

I feel younger this spring than I have in years. My ball club is responsible. After all of those losing years I feel like I am starting a new chapter in my career. I cannot say too many kind things about by boys—that'h what they are, my boys.—Ty, Eddie Collins, Zack Wheat, andd all of them. I did not ask for any of the creditt when I was winning pennants, and I do not want any it my team goes over this yer. I am not going to say we will win. I have been at this game too ong to become so bold so early in the season. I'll know more about my chances next September. I'll have no complaint to make if I lose. I tried to rebuild my team up to the top in purchasing the players I did during the winter, and I honestly believe I have as good a chance as anybody in the league. I am satisfied with my pitching staff, my catchers, my infield and my outfield. I wouldn't change a single position or trade with anybody in the league. If they beat this team I won't know which way to turn next winter to improve what I have.

Major Attendance Tops 1926 Figure Despite Raint-out

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—Despite the postponement of the St. Louis-Detroit game because of rain, the outpouring of fans for today's major league opening contests exceeded the inaugural attendance for 1926 and came within 2,000 of the high mark for the last five years.

The turnstiles registered a total of 230,660 spectators for the seven initial battles, as compared with last year's figures of 214,000 for eight games and the record mark of 233,000 set in 1925.

The three games in the American League outdrew the four played in the National because of the tremendous gathering of 65,000 that saw the Athletics pry off the lid against New York at the Yankee stadium. The National League's largest crowd, 45,000, saw the world's champion Cardinals lose to the Cubs at Chicago. A record turn out of 34,758 saw the Pirates beat the Reds at Cincinnati.

Attendance figures are:

American League—New York 65,000, Washington 30,000, Cleveland 21,902, St. Louis, rain. Total 116,902.

National League—Boston 12,000, Philadelphia 22,000, Chicago 45,000, Cincinnati 34,758. Total, 113,758.

Once Again.

"Abie's Irish Rose," Anne Nichol's comedy, has crossed England. The premiere appeared to indicate a repitition of its successful run in New York. Anne Nichols feels sure that it will become as much a part of London as Piccadilly circus or Buckingham palace.

SPORT a la CARTE

BY ROY GROVE

Nineteen fast and furious baseball seasons ago Rube Marquard was a $11,000 beauty, or lemon, as you may have preferred it at that time, coming up from Indianapolis to do "big time stuff" for the majors, stopping with New York, N. L.

Since then Rube has been forgotten in baseball terms and ways.

Today the Rube is back in the uniform of a McGrawman, and above all, pitching as lefthanded as he was back in 1908.

To add to the drama of the diamond, the beauty was received by Roger Bresnahan, the catcher who stopped Rube's offerings back in those "high-salaried" days.

Rube's return to the game would be a great tribute to the dark days that have just passed. He comes back into the game, we earnestly hope, when his little play-fellows about him were crying for air while Rube was striking them out.

Marquard, in tossing his four innings for the Giants, radiates with a better pitching poise than when at the height of his career.

* * *

In the same breath McGraw looks for the showman of the game to draw in a few extra grand. It doesn't matter to him whether they are young or old, and regardless of race or creed, only satisfied as long as the professionals can play the publicity pull so essential to any club.

For this reason alone Marquard would be worth anything John could salary him. He has mingled with his staff, one Andrew Cohn, of Jewish descent, and an attraction. Today he presents Alamads, a lad of Spanish accent, very much so, indeed, as he has enough English words to talk back to an ump.

* * *

On the other hand, and during the same set of spring training games, waged betwixt the Giants and the Athletics, and while on the subject of old-timers and comebacks, we mention for your approval, none other than Raymond Tyrus Cobb, of Detroit, Philadelphia and Atlanta.

Connie, with his "youngsters" and the "bought and paid for" oldtimer gathering, had to go 10 innings to win over the Giants, and it was Cobb who took the game with two tallies by driving in two runs in those extra sessions.

It is just that that is going to mean so much toward the success of Philadelphia during the progress of the 1927 major league season.

ALL PRINCIPALS ON DECK FOR DOUBLE MAT SHOW TONIGHT

Yaqui Joe Appears to Be in Great Condition and Several Pounds Heavier—Nope, Freddy, Charles Hasn't Run Out

THE CARD

Yaqui Joe, Sonora, versus Charley Grip, Buffalo. Catchweights, two falls to a finish.

Charley Leahman, Detroit, versus "College" Bates, Berkeley. Middleweights, two falls to a finish.

Place: Palace theater.
Time: 8:15 o'clock Wednesday night.

All four principals in Wednesday night's wrestling show were on hand Tuesday, including Charley Grip who absolutely did NOT take a run-out powder, even though Freddy Boone and several of Charley's personal enemies tried to rib him into dodging Joe this time. Not because they were afraid the Indian would beat him but because they wished to make Charley look like a skate.

Yaqui Joe blew in yesterday morning. He looks better than ever, appears in top condition and if anything, several pounds heavier than when he last worked on a Wichita Falls mat. The Indian still is a legitimate welterweight, they say, but he's beginning to look heavier. Grip yesterday said he (Grip) will not scale more than five pounds over the welter figure.

Both Bates and Leahman were in town yesterday. Neither has appeared locally before. Each looks to be in good shape and capable of waging a hard battle.

Both bouts are to be run under New York commission rules.

BLAM! AND THE BELL RINGS FOR ANOTHER ROUND.

* * *

Those pennants iced away in the winter melt in the summer. The thawing process begins today.

* * *

Wichita Falls this year can boast of one unique claim regardless how the race runs. Wichita Falls copped no flag during the winter, hence loses no flag during the fall. One team in eight that already has not cinched the bunting. And it will be the more unique if should our unpretentious Spudders wind up at the top of the heap.

* * *

But if you will awsk the critiics in Fort Worth, awsk the criti-i-cs in Dallas, the criti-i-cs in Houston, in San Antonio, in Beaumount, in Shreveport and almost in Waco you will discover our nine doesn't stand a chawnce of grabbing anything similar to the grapes. Why, of course, not. Dallas has the bunting refrigerated. Ask Dallas, No? Well, Cowtown has. No? Why, ask Cowtown. If not satisfied then query the Tomaleville boys; They'll tell you where the rag will wave next september. Houston, however, will win in a walk. You can confirm that by interrogating any Buff scribe. And so goes it. Our nine (pardon the parlance) just ain't in it.

* * *

Wouldn't it be a comical situation if Waco finished second and the Spudders landed high and dry on top? Yeah, wouldn't it? After all the warm atmosphere which has been fired over this fuzzy commonwealth by the "championship-in-the-bag boys?"

* * *

They have us out-voted at least 8 to 1, baybe seven. Looks like we're relegated to lower seven or eight again with the Wacoans. Just too tough to talk about. But how god it hurts if your 7-to-1 entry slips it over on the boys. Yus, yus, just think of it.

* * *

There is one satisfaction. We may be hypothetically the only club in the league that hasn't already snatched the atchel on paper, but it's darn sure we're the only league in the club not worrying about it. These self-admitted champions invariably flop into hot water when they start trying to prove it.

* * *

But laying off the guff, it does appear the affable Joe Mathes, Houston pilot, has just about "made" his club. Annexation of Snake Henry, Omaha first sacker, tops off an infield that looms even more powerful both at bat and defensively than our own Spudder inner works. Just as long as they could keep their heads above water, most of the so-called crit-i-cs over the circuit admitted the Buffs look like the class. That infield, that outfield, them throwers—what more could any manager wish? Then, the critics, as critics will, developed an attack of the heart and began booming the home boys. Now, if you ask one of 'em they will say, "Why, our team (whichever one of the other six that may be) will show 'em the way to go home but those Buffs look like good second-placers."

* * *

Ho hum, something else for the rest of the league to worry about. Naw, our nine isn't bothered. Why bother? Williams has instilled into the Spudders a spirit that brooks nothing. Why should it? Just rocks along taking 'em as they came, trying, full of ambish, but not crying, not so easily flurried, almost cynical yet happy, scrappy and for the first time in many seasons, teaming together, battling for the combination benefit, not individual.

* * *

Many will be the changes, err the race runs far. There's a place to make for Alex Metzler in the outer works. There's a topheavy mound corps to be pruned. What happens the next week or so in the percentage column won't necessarily indicate the power stored up in the Spudder machine, nor will it indicate the weakness, fully. If they lose a few, it means not so much. If they win a few, it's all the same. Walt.

Junior College Bills Brace of Contests

The Junior College Indians have two baseball games lined up for this week. They will clash with Duval high school teday on the Junior college diamond. Friday afternoon they will play the Panhandle Longhorns at Panhandle park.

The club will be banking on three pitchers to carry it through the games, Lefty Robertson, Sooty Thompson and Doyle Stephenson will pack the brunt of the hurling. Stephenson is a first baseman, also.

The club will be without Homer Doke, star maskman, who is out of the game with a broken finger on his right hand. Riesner will do the receiving for the Tribe.

DALLAS LOSES

DALLAS, April 12. (AP)—Dallas Steers lost the final exhibition game of the season to the Des Moines Demons 10 to 5 here Tuesday afternoon, Pitcher Joe Lucey being in a generous mood which resulted in eleven free passes in five innings, nine of which the Demons promptly turned into runs. Score:

OFF THEY GO OVER ROBERTS CIRCUIT TODAY

Payne Faces Thompson In Spudder Opener At Shreveport

As if in echo to the crack of the bat which resounded throughout the major leagues yesterday the resonant ash will take up the bombardment today in the Texas league the best known baseball outside the majors. Eight teams in new uniforms and with records still as spotless will trot out to greet four opening day crowds.

The fighting Cats from Fort Worth, long monoplists of the circuit and Dixie pennants, will invade Dallas, present Texas and Dixie champions.

The Beaumont Exporters will call on their neighbors, the Houston Buffs. The Waco Cubs recently restored to the league, will shower down upon the grizzly denisons of San Antonio. East will meet west when the Wichita Falls Spudders descend upon the Shreveport Sports.

Fresh from a jarring 10 to 5 defeat yesterday at the hands of the Des Moines Demons frequently licked by Texas league teams, the Dallas Steers will enter the fray in no humor for ceremony and as the Panthers have never asked for quarter, the combat promises much gore.

Scott Perry, probable hurling choice of Manager Snipe Conley, will have a worthy foeman in Paul Wachtel, veteran Panther spit baller. Dick Shuman will be Snipe's probable reserve hurler and Denny Burns Manager Jake Tiz' anchor to windward. These redoubtable flingers will doubtless tend to reduce the hitting for which both clubs are noted, but the batters may break through, regardless.

Umpire assignments for the opening games are:
Kane and Daly at Dallas.
Hill and Erwin at Shreveport.
Griggs and Sabris at Houston.
Chrisian and Barr at San Antonio.

Lots of Pep at Houston.

At Houston a parade through the business section was to precede the opening game between the Houston Buffaloes and the Exporters. Bands were to lead the paraders who were to give baseball possibly its greatest send-off in a number of years commensurate with the apparently greatly increased local interest in the national pastime.

Manager Joe Mathis had not decided upon a pitcher but in the opinion of the fans he probably will select Ken Penner because Penner, it was said is well acquainted with the strong points of the Exporters. His batting order, Manager Mathis said will be:

Hock, ss; Kane, 2b; "Snake" Henry, 1b; Taylor, 3b; Powell, lf; Miller, rf; Martin, cf; Schnag or Burns, c; Jacobus, Frankhouse, Whitworth or Penner, p.

Manager James Galloway of the Exporters likewise sent over his batting order: Capes, ss; Connally, 2b; Edington, rf; Vache, cf; Galloway, 1b; Dorman, 3b; Dunning, lf; Robertson or Boelzle, c; Foss, Holzhauser, Pillette, J. Robertson or Phillips, p.

A brisk sale of tickets was reported and the indications were that a great throng would greet the order to "play ball."

With an announcement that two more men had been cut adrift, temporiarly at least, the Fort Worth Panthers were stripped for action in the premier of the season at Dallas. Ralph Minetree, catcher, obtained from St. Paul to help Smith and Bischoff, regulars, will be loaned to Wichita Falls while Castle, outfielder, will go to Paris of the Lone Star league immediately the Cat management said today.

Although conscious that their exhibition series with major clubs in so far as games won was concerned, was not as successful as was that of Dallas, the Cats today were supremely confident. While they won one game in eight and Dallas won four in the same total played, the Cats were telling the world that playing Dallas is quite another thing from playing big league clubs.

Strengthened in the box by the acquisition of Watt, Hubbell and Moore behind the bat by the substitution of Bischoff for Possom Moore, in the infield by Rerfern and in the outfield by Clayton and Bonowitz, speed artists the Panthers were all set and waiting for the break.

Spudders All Set.

Wichita Falls bludgeoners, 21 in number, pulled out for Shreveport Tuesday noon in great fettle and rearing for the opener with Art Phelan's Sports. Every man but one was in the best of condition and confident of getting away to a running start. Frank Tobin, wily backstop acquired from Portland of the Coast league the past fall, nurses an injured digit on his throwing hand, result of a misjudged foul tip in the final exhibition game of the season Monday. Elmer Francis, youthful semi-pro catcher, was taken along by Manager Carl Williams to fill in behind the plate should the veteran Pete Lapan bup disaster, too.

George Payne, veteran right-hander also purchased from Portland, was slated to ascend the hurling eminence in Shreveport for the Spudders. If George goes the route, Lefty Fred Fussell, Williams' main silencer, will work the second game. Williams has picked himself for chunking chorus in the third game. Williams plans to hold Lester White, Herb Cobb and Milt Steengrafe, all right-handers, in reserve as relief men.

The veteran portsider, Harry Thomson, is Manager Phelan's selection to oppose Payne. Grady Adkins, formidable righthander, will be thrown into the breach if the Spudders get rough.

Sports, with the exception of Crutchfield Nason, are ready. Nason injured one of his legs in a game at New Orleans and his appearance today in the outfield is problematical.

Tris Speaker Tells Own Story

Number One

Tris Speaker started his baseball career as a pitcher and as a cowboy before breaking into the professional game. "The young fellow of today is making no mistake by starting a baseball career," says Speaker.

By TRIS SPEAKER
(In An Interview)

The young fellow of today who is starting on a baseball career is making no mistake. If I had it to do over again, if I could return to my days at Fort Worth Polytechnic and have the choice of any profession, I would put on the spiked shoes and uniform and go on my way.

Thousands of times I have been asked this question:

"Tris, how did you come to start?"

There is but one answer. Like all youngsters I loved the game. And I still love it.

It starts as a pleasure and then leads to a successful business. Of course, every boy is not going to become a major league star but where there is a desire, success is just around the corner ready to knock on the door.

Take my case. I started as a pitcher. An outfielder became injured and the manager asked me if I would play the outfield? Would I play the outfield? I would have polished the five bats we had if that job would have kept me in the game.

The idea I want to impress upon the young fellow is to keep hustling. You can't down courage. There are many players who remain in the big league because of their aggressiveness. How often have we heard this line: "He's worth his salary if he never plays an inning."

The corner lots and minor leagues have not sent up many stars during the past decade. My solution to this condition is that the youngster does not give the game everything he has. Perserverance won out for me.

I was never late in reporting for practice, because I wouldn't let the other fellow beat me to the job.

Two years ago I saw a young star in the league tap to the pitcher and trot down to first base.

When the game was over I waited for him. "Young fellow," I said, "I've been here 15 years and ask any manager if they ever saw Tris loaf. I've seen many games won on just such a play with the runner digging all the way to first."

There's a big income and the young fellow who passes up the opportunity is foolish.

BUFFS NEW BALL PLANT WON'T OPEN TILL 1928

HOUSTON, April 12. (AP)—An announcement here Tuesday said that the new baseball plant for the Houston Buffaloes would not be in operation this year. Previously it had been believed that it could be completed by July 25. After a conference, however, between Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals, majority owner of the Buffs and President Fred Ankenman of the Houston club it was decided that more time is necessary and that construction would begin about October 1.

BOWLERS CONVENE.

AUSTIN, April 12. (AP)—Probably 300 devotees of bowling, many of them experts, will be tenered in the four day state tournament to be re-elected off here the latter part of next week.

Austin alone will have sixty entrants divided among the three classes in the meet. Members of the Austin club have subscribed a total of $600 for entertainment of the visitors, expected from throughout the state.

WHAT TEXAS LOOP PILOTS SAY ABOUT FLAG RACE

By Universal Service.

Snipe Conley, Dallas Steers: "Dallas will repeat its 1926 success. We have the same ball club to open the season with tomorrow that kicked Fort Worth out of first place and won the Dixie title from New Orleans last year. Yeh, we've been lucky to a certain extent but Dallas has got as good, if not a better club than was on the field in 1926. I am not making any rash predictions but watch our smoke."

Honus Mitze, San Antonio Bears: "I have got a better fielding and a better hitting club than I had last year and if those babies continue to smack the apple in the pennant grind as they did in the exhibition games, it is going to be a hard job keeping the Bears from climbing to the top rung of the percentage ladder. I am not worrying about my pitching staff.

It is as good as last year's, and I think, much better."

Jake Atz, Fort Worth Panthers: "Fort Worth has been used to seeing championship ball clubs play out on North Main Street. Last year they missed out but this year I think they will not only see us take Dallas to the cleaners but the Southern League champs as well. My Cats are stronger in every department of the game this year."

Del Pratt, Waco Cubs: "It would be foolish for me to predict a pennant for Waco this year but I have great hopes of finishing in the first division."

Jim Galloway, Beaumont Exporters: "You can't get me to say a thing. We will see what we see next fall."

Art Phelan, Shreveport Sports: "I have a well-balanced ball club—good hitting, good fielding and good pitching. I am not predicting anything for Shreveport except a good ball club that will be in their fighting right up to the finish."

Carl Williams, Wichita Falls "With an improved ball club I can't see why we shouldn't be in the thick of the fight all the way."

Joe Mathes, Houston Buffs: "With Fred Henry at first, the Buffs will ask no odds of any team in the loop. My infield is the fastest ever gathered together in Houston; the outfield is not only made up of fly hawks but consistent hitters and my pitchers have shown up well. Yep, Houston will be in there."

ED INJURIES CANTOWINE

SHREVEPORT, La., April 12. (AP)—Howard Cantowine, heavyweight wrestler of Iowa, was in a serious condition Tuesday as the result of an injury which he sustained Monday night in a bout with Ed "Strangler" Lewis here. Physicians said that a broken rib punctured Cantowine's lung when Lewis fell across him. He was unable to continue the match.

TOUGH ON BUCKY

Minimzing Finger Injury Caused Harris to Get Hurt Worse.

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—Minimizing the injury "Bucky" Harris, manager of the Washington Senators, sustained to the index finger of his right hand, presumably to keep him from worrying, is believed to have done more harm than good.

It is now developed that the finger was broken in two places. Although it was bound up in a steel splint, Harris was not told it was broken and once removed the splint without advising his physician and attempted to bend the finger and bring life into it.

This is believed to have prevented the finger from healing as quickly as it might otherwise. He injured the finger in a game with the St. Louis Cardinals at Avon Park, Fla., March 21, when a fast throw from Goslin lanned on the end of the digit.

BAN MISSES OPENER.

CHICAGO, April 12. (AP)—Ban Johnson, ailing president of the American league, missed attending an opening game Tuesday for the first time in years. Instead of viewing the athletes in action President Johnson remained in his office, getting his thrills from the baseball ticker.

AGGIES MEET OWLS

COLLEGE STATION, April 12. (AP)—Two of the strongest and best balanced track teams the southwestern conference has boasted in several years will meet Thursday in Houston when the Texas Aggies and the Rice Owls compete. The Aggies have lost only to the Longhorns this year and lacked only a few points of taking the meet. The Owls have swept aside all opposition.

Johnson All-Steel Lawn Mowers

We still tell you Johnson All-Steel lawn mowers are the best we have. In fact, we believe it's the best made for the price. You can see them used all over Wichita Falls. Ask anybody who has a Johnson All-Steel mower how he likes it, then call at our store and see the difference in a cheap cast iron mower and a Johnson All-Steel mower. The difference in quality and appearance between the two is so great and the difference between the price so small that you will almost certainly buy a Johnson.

STOVALL'S NEW GUSHER AND MUENSTER WELLS BREAK RECORDS

STOVALL WELL MAKES 7000

Two Big Producers Completed in Muenster Sand

The old South Bend field of south Young county vied with Cooke county, the district's newest oil producing county, for attention Monday and Tuesday. A gusher making between 6000 and 7000 barrels of oil daily hardly overshadowed in importance the completion of two heavy producers from the new 1585-foot sand in the Munester townsite pool of Cooke county.

The South Bend well is C. C. Stovall's No. 5 Fee, located in block 30, J. Tobin survey, which started off at the rate of 200 barrels per hour and Tuesday was flowing 300 barrels hourly, according to reports received from the field by local companies. The test topped the lime at 3892 feet and is five feet in.

This is the second old producer to respond when deepened to the prolific lime on C. C. Stovall's land. His No. 1 Fee went into the deep pay on Christmas day last and made 1800 barrels daily for several weeks. The wells formerly produced in the 2000-foot sand from which the field's discovery was brought in.

Fitzer and West were the next operators to reach the deep horizon. Their No. 2 Boozer came in as a gasser and later drilled itself into a nice oil well and at the present time their No. 5, Keller which was completed last week as a 11,000,000 foot gasser is spraying 100 barrels and increasing.

Cooke County.

Excitement is reported at high pitch in Gainesville and Muenster as a result of the new shallow discovery which is more than 200 feet deeper than the original oil level.

In contrast to the South Bend field, there is still considerable available acreage and royalty in the vicinity of the Muenster pool.

Monday the Camp-Hendrick Drilling company topped the sand at 1594 feet and at a total depth of 1604 feet the well, No. 4, Kleiss, is swabbing 450 barrels daily.

The pool's prize well, however, is Stroube and Stroube, Corsicana operators, No. 1-B Koelzer which was swabbing at the rate of 30 barrels per hour from the sand at 1604-12 feet.

The Muenster townsite pool is already being called another Healdton. There are 11 producers there, eight of which are in the first sand and three in the lower sand. Preparations are being made to deepen several of the present shallow producers, while a number of dusters in the 1200-foot level are already being carried deeper.

Other than Cooke county's first gas well, all of the commercial producers have been drilled by independents.

Montague Gassers.

The Nocona pool of Montague county was extended eastward by the Pure Oil company in its No. 1 Keck, a wildcat located in the southeast corner of the William Donohoo survey, which had to be shut in as a 20,000,000 cubic foot gasser when the plug was drilled out of the sand at 815-40 feet.

Leah and Seigler also completed a large gas well in their No. 1 Cunningham on the south edge of the pool which is making 40,000,000 feet from the 900-foot sand.

Fluhmann Pool.

The Gulf Production company has gotten under way with three wells in the Fluhmann pool of Wilbarger county. Gulf's Nos. 3 and 4, Blackman have just spudded and No. 2 Milner is rigging up rotary.

Atlantic Oil Producing company was drilling out the plug in its No. 1 Wilbarger county but no reports of production had reached the local offices Tuesday.

Sets Record

The younger generation is also winning honors. Frederica De Laguna, 20 years old, has set a new study record for Bryn Mawr college. She has won the school's European fellowship by breaking every scholastic record there, making 304 out of a possible 318 honor points. The previous high record was 270 points. Both of Miss De Laguna's parents are professors at Byrn Mawr.

Stamp Out Illiteracy

There seems to be no undertaking too large or difficult for the modern woman, or too important. It is the latest ambition of the General Federation of Woman's clubs to stamp out illiteracy in the United States before the next census, which comes in 1930.

This sounds like a large order, but Mrs. William Blackman, chairman of a committee organized for this work, believes it can be done. She plans to gradually enroll the backward men and women of the United States in educational courses prepared for their particular needs.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, April 12. (AP)—Wheat tightened up today, but corn dropped to a new low level for the season. Wheat was influenced by reports of unfavorable weather conditions southwest and of further delay to seeding operations here and from previous speculative sellers who could collect a profit.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ¾c higher, with corn ⅝c to 1@1¼c off, oats ¾c to ⅞c down, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 40 cents.

All deliveries of corn reached new low record figures. Shipping demand here was extremely slow. Oats sympathized with corn.

Provisions were affected by a decline in the hog market.

TRADERS TAKE STOCK PROFIT

Prices Slip Off As Sales Orders Increase

BY BROADAN WALL.
Universal Service Financial Expert.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Traders were in a profit taking mood today and prices slipped off following new high records for the year in some issues. Banks called loans coincident with April 15 government disbursements and other corporate transactions.

As a result money renewed at 4½ per cent. Cotton was up; wheat steady. One of the big houses with a number of southern branches is getting bullish on cotton, figuring the crop yield and consumption. Italian lire were the only strong feature in foreign exchanges.

Reading and Atchison featured the rails. The Midwest Refining company is drilling for the Atchison railroad on its property in western New Mexico. It has already brought in a 1000-barrel well and is now drilling another which may prove to be a gusher. Atchison holds large acreage in that part of the state as it has not sold its mineral rights. The drilling, therefore, is carried on without expense to the railroad, and may ultimate prove of great benefit.

Victor Talking Machine was strong in the face of a reactionary market. It closed at the highest on record. Attention was called to the stock here early last week when it sold lower. This scored another big success for the bank interests who brought out the issue. They are also the bankers for Pere Marquette, St. Louis-San Francisco, Rock Island and Missouri, Kansas and Texas.

This banking firm more than has developed some of the best railroads in America. The bankers' big success lies in their wise judgment and the reorganization of these properties and advancing them any money that was necessary to carry them through their trying times. That's why Frisco is now an 8 per cent paying issue; Rock Island back on a dividend-paying basis and "Katy" "Sweet Pea" bonds dividend class. These bankers have always been conservative and do not put a stock in the dividend class until they are well able to maintain dividends for a definite period.

Buying occurred in Kansas City Southern by the interests spoken of here before, and with the bankers connected with the Morgan-First National group. This stock is understood to be subject to the situation in the southwest and may turn out to be the pivotal stock of the carriers operating in that section. The minority interests are reported to be buying Chesapeake and Ohio. Western Maryland experienced profit taking. The prior preference stock and not the second preferred is cumulative. The best kind of buying is said to be going on in Philadelphia and Reading Coal on rumors that a big deal is impending.

Mack Trucks reached a new high for some time. Buying is credited to the crowd that sold out 40 points higher. Because of the vast amount of new subways and public works all over the country, since Mack is the contractor's truck, the demand should be larger for Mack Trucks than at any time in its history. Buying is taking place in Hartman Corporation "B" shares. A strong group is understood to have taken an interest in the stock.

Union Bag and Paper rose nearly five points to a new high for the year. The stock was in demand coincident with the announcement that Philip Mumford, president of Commercial Solvents, a prominent baker, have been added to the board. Union Bag has made considerable progress with its secret raymat process and is now ready to engage in large-scale commercial production under this process, which, it is said, will revolutionize the paper industry.

Commercial Solvents soared to 225. Attention was called to this stock in this column last fall when it sold at $175 a share. The prediction also was made here at that time that it should rise at least 100 points. It is now 164 points and still going strong. Allied Chem. held around 146. This is another stock which should appreciate in value through the able guidance of its president. The corporation's business is increasing and it has one of the largest surpluses of any company in the country.

Reynolds Tobacco rose four points to 103. There is only a small floating supply of the shares. The stock is now approximately 25 points since it sold at the 25 per cent stock dividend on account of the increase in sales. Liggett and Myers also rose sharply. The new factory will be replaced by C. S. Eaton, head of Trumble Steel, who also has an interest in Central Alloy Steel. Mr. Eaton hails from Cleveland and is understood to have acquired a large block of Republic stock.

Want Ad Columns. Results will surprise you. Call 4121 and ask for Ad Taker.

Steel closed low and Republic Steel was unchanged. Matthew C. Brush, of the American International corporation, is understood will resign as a director of Republic Steel tomorrow. He will be replaced by C. S. Eaton, head of Trumble Steel, who also has an interest in Central Alloy Steel. Mr. Eaton hails from Cleveland and is understood to have acquired a large block of Republic stock.

Horse Races.

All devotees of the race track are not society women.

Marguerite, the cook of M. Paul Prudent Painleve, French minister of war, has quit her post after 25 years, to devote all her time to betting on horse races. She severed relations with the Painleve kitchen on the evening of the day she won 35,000 francs at the races. After serving the family with coffee this admirable cook explained that she had accumulated 100,000 francs on the race track and planned to give all her time to the turf.

LOUD SPEAKER PINCHED.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—Patrolman John Conway was patroling his patrol as usual in the dim hours of the early morning when his affrighted ears were suddenly assailed by a loud and raucous blast of music. Conway traced the noise to the radio store of Bailey Cole. Cole had a loud speaker set in the fanlight over his door, and he'd forgotten to turn it off when he locked up for the night. While the dance program from a late night club was coming through Conway stood around and listened, but after the station signed off and an earsplitting mess of static began to hurl itself against the silent night, the patrolman went into action. He arrested the loud speaker, and carried it to the police station. The charge was disturbing the peace.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—Frequent selling squalls swept through today's stock market, forcing moderate reactions in several of the recent favorites, but operators for the rise succeeded in bringing forward new leaders, and pushing them up to new high ground. The bewildering movement of prices reflected the sharp cleavage of speculative opinion regarding the future trend. Trading showed a marked reduction in volume, but total sales were still above the 2,000,000 mark.

Banks called between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000 in loans, but the call money rate held steady at the renewal figure of 4½ per cent. Operators for the rise regarded the increase of nearly $37,000,000 in brokers' loans last week as nominal in view of the extent of the advance in many issues, and looked upon the stiffening in call money rates as temporary and incidental to middle of the month requirements.

The day's business news was mixed in character. Bullish enthusiasm undoubtedly was created by the publication of excellent 1926 earnings reports by the Pan-American Petroleum and Sinclair companies, and the maintenance of the Skelly dividend, previously reported in progress.

U. S. Steel common, General Motors, American Telephone, Chrysler, Hudson, Woolworth, American Water Works and Dupont, all of which have been prominent in the recent upswing, closed today at net losses of a point or more. On the other hand, Baldwin was run up three points and American Can, International Combustion, Mack Truck and National Lead advanced one to three points.

New peak prices in the industrial group were registered by American Sumatra Tobacco, Republic Tobacco B., National Biscuit, three of Victor Talking Machine issues, International Nickel, Union Bag and Paper, National Dairy Products and several others. Radio Corporation, Auburn and Leather preferred, American Metals, American Woolen preferred, Interboro Rapid Transit, Peerless Motor, Pullman and Texas Corporation sold at their lowest prices of the year.

Commercial Credit, B., sold down to 249 in the early trading and then rallied to 329 for a net gain of 16½ points on the day.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Establishments of the highest rate in several years by Italian lira around 4.87 cents featured the firm foreign exchange market. The sterling market ruled steady around $4.85⅛, despite the huge government deficit reported by the chancellor of the exchequer and French francs held firm above 3.91 cents.

A realtor is a courteous, gentlemanly business man skilled in the best business methods of buying and selling Real Estate; who conducts his business in an honorable way, who belongs to his home Real Estate Board and associates and co-operates with the leading business men of his locality.

He so highly regards his vocation and business that he will not permit himself to be connected with any transaction that is not strictly honorable and fair, so far as his connections with it are concerned. He is active and alert to promote the business of those whose interests he represents, whether it be those of the buyer or seller.

He is a wide-awake Real Estate business man who makes it his business to know the conditions affecting Real Estate values in different localities, whether favorably or unfavorably.

He is the business man through whose aid and assistance Real Estate can be bought most advantageously and, likewise, he is the business man who can sell property at prices, on terms and conditions more advantageously than the owner can whose service to those who employ him are worth all they cost and oftentimes much more.

No investor of money needs expert assistance as much as buyers of Real Estate, because of the many matters of detail, legal questions and necessary business formalities.

MAJESTIC: "Children of Divorce," with Clara Bow, and Esther Ralston; comedy, Pathe News, and Topics of the Day.

OLYMPIC: Pola Negri in "Hotel Imperial." On the stage, "A Night in Hawaii," also comedy and Fox news.

Strand: "Faust," starring the famous German actor, Emil Jannings; and comedy.

MISSION: Mae Murray in "Valencia," and Chapter 3 of "Scotty of the Scouts."

GEM: Martha Maddox in "The Warning Signal," and comedy.

GARDEN: "The Night Stage," with Wm. S. Hart, and comedy.

Some of the most unusual war scenes ever filmed are shown in Pola Negri's current production, "Hotel Imperial," which is showing for the last time Wednesday at the Olympic.

In this drama of love, war and intrigue, which gives Pola the finest vehicle of her career, greater even than "Passion," an entirely new conception of drama has been combined with the most extraordinary camera technique ever used.

Having as its fundamental purpose the portrayal of the reactions of war upon individuals, the battlefields are suggested rather than pictured. Through the unusual methods employed, Erich Pommer, former head of UFA, has given a swift mental picture of the inferno of conflict, with a sweep of limitless fighting fronts, that leaves an indelible impression,—one that is retained throughout the dynamic drama. As a result, "Hotel Imperial" is unlike any war picture ever attempted.

In the cast supporting Miss Negri are James Hall, Paramount's sensational new leading man, George Siegmann, Otto Fries, Max Davidson, Nicholas Soussanin and Michael Vavitch. Mauritz Stiller directed.

John Francis Shows Open Here Monday in Legion Spring Frolic

The John Francis shows, advertised as "America's Cleanest Shows" will furnish the attractions for the American Legion big spring frolic to be held in Wichita Falls starting Monday, April 18 and continuing through the week, closing Saturday night, April 23.

W. S. Streeter, special agent for the show arrived in the city Monday and has been busy completing the necessary arrangements. Mr. Streeter's duties are manifold as all requirements of the big show must be looked after in advance, including the location of the show grounds and convenient routes to be used to haul the 50 odd wagons some of which weigh as much as 15 tons, contracting for the electric lights, water, hay and feed for animals, a laundry to do the flat work for the five Pullman sleeping cars and the bundle work for the 300 attaches of the show. Meat, bread and pastry, ice, ice cream, soft drinks, etc., for the eating and refreshment stands. A dry cleaning and pressing establishment must be located and the information turned over to the porters on the cars, in fact every little detail must be looked after before the arrival of the show train.

The 20 double length cars known as the "red and white special" will arrive here about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The Francis shows consist of 15 shows of the better class of entertainment, 8 riding devices and numerous well stocked concessions, 300 people make up the personnel.

Bryce Named Fort Worth Mayor After Meacham, Foe of Dr. Norris, Resigns

FORT WORTH, April 12. (AP)—William Bryce, real estate man was elected mayor of Fort Worth at a meeting of the city council today. At the same meeting former Mayor H. C. Meecham tendered his resignation from the council, assigning as the reason for his action ill health, which, he said, has troubled him for some time.

Brice's selection followed canvassing of the vote of the recent election at which nine men were re-elected to the city council. Under the city manager form of government the council chooses the mayor from its own number.

With Meacham's resignation, one of the storm centers of the present city administration retires to the background of private life. A staunch supporter of the city manager form of government and a member of the first council under the new charter, Meacham figured in various attacks made on the administration.

He was involved in the murder trial of Dr. J. Frank Norris when his friend, D. E. Chipps, went to Dr. Norris' office to protest against statements which the pastor had made concerning Meacham's administration and was there shot down. Meacham publicly stated that he put up the money to secure a prominent firm of Fort Worth lawyers to aid in the prosecution of Dr. Norris for Chipps' killing.

Recently, Meacham was re-elected to the council by less than 200 votes majority, a Baptist minister the Rev. Pat Beckham being his opponent. While Dr. Norris took no active part in the pre-election campaign, close observers agreed that the Norris controversy was a silent factor in the race.

Suits to collect taxes which the city alleges are delinquent are now pending against the First Baptist church, of which Dr. Norris is pastor.

Carnations for Sentiment—Life Insurance for Love and Gratitude

That Gibbons boy hadn't been the same since the war. The Navy had done something to him. Milford hadn't been big enough to hold him. A shame he'd leave his mother like he did . . . traipse off to the city . . . and her yearning her lonely heart away for him.

But they didn't know what secrets that little old lady hugged to her heart. They never saw his letters. News of progress, promotion, success . . . and usually a check as well. They didn't know that on his birthday, he sent her roses . . . and on Mother's Day, always carnations. This Mother's Day, had come the carnations as always . . . but in addition a Life Insurance Policy, forever protecting her from worry or want. Could they have heard her prayer: "God Bless My Boy," they might have understood.

Thoughtful men everywhere are remembering Mother's Day in this beautiful, yet practical way. May 8th is not far off A sacred day to remember. There is time if you act now. The Southland Life Agent will help you.

ADVERTISING

POWER, MAGIC, WIZARDRY, ENCHANTMENT—to the amateur no word seems strong enough to describe the undeniable accomplishments of advertising. But from a professional viewpoint, advertising merits somewhat more sober terms. As a matter of fact the making of successful advertising is a difficult business, requiring both skill and experience.

It is true that advertising will speed up sales and secure a large volume in a shorter time for a manufacturer with foresight, courage and financial resources to carry definite business policies to completion.

But no amount of advertising will sell a product that cannot be sold without advertising.

It is certain that advertising can and does create valuable good-will for a brand or a trade-mark. Witness the actual money value of any well-advertised name.

But it is equally certain that back of that name, there must be honesty, fair dealing, and full value for the price asked. Advertising an unworthy product simply means that a larger number of people will presently discover its disadvantages.

Advertising pays its way, often many times over. It will permit lower prices through increased volume. It can reduce selling costs. It can lessen the time in which a product moves from factory to consumer.

But advertising that does not consider the problems of the jobber, the retailer and the salesman often loses more than it gains. Advertising must contain the principles of sound merchandising to be successful.

Advertising points out the merits of a product and impresses the buyer with its desirability.

But advertising cannot create a single point of superiority in a product, or add a single virtue to its manufacturer.

Advertising is accepted as a necessary part of modern business promotion. It has won a place for itself in virtually every industry. Rightly directed and prepared advertising has proved that it can return a profit to the advertiser. But advertising always should be considered as a business enterprise, and not as a magic formula for unearned success.
