Guardsmen And Oil Workers Battle Over Re-Opening Of Forbidden Wells

STATE FORCES HALT WORK ON WILCOX LEASE

Troops Refuse to Read Court Writ Granting Flowing of Oil

NEW PATROLS POSTED

Company to Carry Case To Highest U. S. Court, Officials Say

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 20. (AP)—National guardsmen blocking an attempt to open oil wells charged with overproduction fought today with lease workers in the Oklahoma City field.

O. A. Kyle, a gauger for the H. F. Wilcox Oil and Gas company, was struck on the head after extra guardsmen had rushed to the field and locked up three of the company's wells. Several others in the fight were reported bruised.

Later when a crowd of about 200 had gathered in anticipation of another clash, the guardsmen tossed tear gas bombs to clear the scene. Although one family was forced to evacuate its home temporarily, none of the crowd of curious suffered any ill effects.

Establish Patrols

Determined to keep the 10 Wilcox wells closed under an order of the state corporation commission, Col. Cicero I. Murray, heading more than a hundred guardsmen in the field, established patrols on the company's leases.

The Wilcox company, through George A. Dye, vice president and general manager, announced it had started to open all 10 of its wells under a supreme court supersedeas bond granted last week. Colonel Murray had declared previously that he would countenance no such action.

In this he was joined by Gov. William H. Murray, his cousin, who first put troops in the field more than a year ago.

"We're running it, not Wilcox," said the governor.

Plan Court Fight

After today's trouble, Wilcox officials announced they would carry their case into federal court.

Kyle, who was not seriously hurt, said he was struck by a blackjack in the hands of a guard lieutenant. Company officials said Kyle was proceeding to open the Wilcox Nellie Ann well for a second time after it had been closed by the troops when the scuffle started.

Several oil field workers and about a dozen guardsmen were reported to have participated in the fight, which was over in a few minutes. The situation quited when company workers withdrew from the properties and a fresh detail of guardsmen arrived at the Nellie Ann lease.

Ejected With Bayonet

Kyle also said that an hour before the struggle, he was ejected from another lease at the point of a bayonet by Lieut. Messina Murray, son of the governor.

A. F. Johnson, Wilcox superintendent, said national guardsmen refused to look at copies of the supreme court order lifting the shutdown.

Dye, who declared the state "never has proved we are overproduced," said "we regard the supreme court as the highest tribunal in the state and, acting under the order given us last week, we were opening all the wells. However, I expected we would be shut down."

Colonel Murray said 50 additional guardsmen had been ordered on duty after the melee, bringing the total in the field to 156. They are equipped with tear gas bombs.

"I am going to keep the wells shut down until they have complied with the corporation commission's orders," said Colonel Murray. "We know they are overproduced."

Governor Murray has contended the court was without jurisdiction in granting a $5,000 supersedeas bond to lift the shutdown, declaring justices should have taken cognizance of his military law order on file with the secretary of state.

RENEW STRIKE

Middlewest Farmers Hope Movement Will Hike Produce Prices

DES MOINES, Sept. 20. (UP)—A farmers strike becomes effective in the Middle West at midnight tonight—a strike that its leaders hope will develop into a holding movement extensive enough to boost the sagging prices of farm produce and thereby aid the entire business world.

That strike that starts tonight is a foster child of the farmers holiday that was begun in Iowa six weeks ago. The purpose of the present movement is similar but its leaders hope to extend it to more than a dozen states and to avoid bloodshed and violence such as accompanied the Iowa strike.

FUNERAL TODAY FOR MOTHER OF JOHN N. GARNER

Aged Woman Dies at Home Surrounded by Her Large Family

LIVED FOR OTHERS

Speaker Says 'My Mother Was Sweetest Woman In the World'

DETROIT, Texas, Sept. 20. (AP)—Mrs. Sarah Jane Garner, whose ambition it was to live to see her eldest son, John Nance, elected vice president of the United States, died at her old colonial home here today.

Surrounded by her children, three sons and two daughters, the pioneer mother slipped quietly away at 12:25 p. m. after showing remarkable vitality against a general toxic poisoning which sent her to bed more than a week ago.

Rallied Repeatedly

Although she rallied time and time again from her critical illness, her three physicians and members of her family realized several days ago that there was no hope for the 81-year-old patient to recover.

Only yesterday, Mr. Garner, who arrived here Sunday after a hurried trip from Washington where he was engaged in formulating plans for the Democratic presidential campaign, said:

"My mother cannot recover. It's only a matter of time now."

She recognized Mr. Garner only once after his arrival, and that was a faint "Yes", in response to his question of "Do you know me, Ma?"

After that feeble greeting—Sunday afternoon—Mrs. Garner dozed off into a stupor from which she did not arouse sufficiently again to know those about her.

Funeral Set Today

Funeral services were set for tomorrow, after which the body will be placed in the family vault in the Detroit cemetery alongside those of husband, John Nance Sr., who died in 1919, and two of her children, a son and a daughter.

Mrs. Garner spent her whole life within the confines of two northeast Texas counties, Lamar and Red River. She was born in a roughhewn log cabin, May 20, 1851.

Her father was Mark Guest, who came with his father from Tennessee in 1821, traveling up the Red river by steamboat and settling at a little village on its bank.

There he married a young woman by the name of Dickson, whose family had settled at Clarksville.

Evidence Disappears, Probe Ordered at Lawton

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., Sept. 20.—The mysterious disappearance of three gallons of whisky from the vaults of the city jail will be officially inquired into early next week, according to announcement of County Attorney Dwight Malcolm today. The whisky had been stored in the vault last spring and marked as evidence, but when the case in question was called in county court this week the evidence could not be produced and the case against the defendant was dismissed. The group also strongly criticised O. P. Ray, of the state criminal identification bureau, sent here to take charge of the men guarding the mines.

Coronado's Battle Ax And Boone's Tomahawk Added To Jubilee Display

A wealth of valuable museum exhibits dealing with Wichita area and Southwest lore has been secured for the golden jubilee historical display at the Martin building on Eighth street after months of negotiations, Chairman Lester Jones said Tuesday.

The exhibits are part of the private collection of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clift of Lawton, Okla., and will be placed on display by A. W. (Jake) Avis, who is in charge of the historical collections here.

Outstanding in the collection from the point of rarity in the United States is a castiron battle-ax used by Francisco Vasquez de Coronado in 1536 when he made a second exploration into the North American continent from Mexico. The ax was found at the site of Quivera in what is now central Kansas.

Coronado started on his return trip at Quivera and it was at that point that a sword used by his lieutenant was found on which his name was inscribed. The sword was partly eroded when found but the ax is in good condition due to its composition of cast iron.

A pistol owned by Quanah Parker, famed Comanche chief, which is of particular interest in this section, is in the collection. The gun was given Quanah 40 years ago by cattlemen of the Kiowa-Comanche territory range, including Burk

Bullington Asks Texas Democrats To Lend Support

WACO, Texas, Sept. 20. (UP)—Orville Bullington, Republican nominee for governor, took up defeated Democratic Ross S. Sterling's fight for "honesty and responsibility in government" when he opened his campaign here tonight.

Bullington said his sole desire is to save Texas from the calamity that threatens it. He made a bitter attack on "Fergusonism" and tactily invited good government Democrats to break their primary pledge and vote against Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson in November.

The Wichita Falls man outlined a platform with planks of orthodox suggestions for reforms, improvements and economies in governmental operation, promising to stop graft and corruption wherever found if he is elected.

"This is neither a party nor a political contest," he averred. "It is a contest between the forces of good on our side and the forces of evil on the other, and I have repeatedly said, in view of the menace which confronts Texas, that partisan politics must be adjourned."

Then he declared "The people of this state have been subjected to turmoil, strife and degradation for nearly 20 years and it all can be traced either directly or indirectly to one man.

"Since the day when Texas breweries laid $156,000 in currency on the

DAVIS PICTURED AS LODGE CZAR

Secret Contract With Senator Is Revealed

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. (US)—A secret contract between U. S. Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania and the Loyal Order of Moose whereby the senator became a virtual czar of the organization was presented today at Davis' trial for violation of the federal lottery laws.

It was submitted by the government as an exhibit after five high officials of the Moose called to the witness stand by the prosecution pictured the former secretary of labor as a mere figurehead in the organization, rather than a "Mussolini."

Contract in Force

Assistant United States Attorney Louis M. Treadwell who submitted the contract in evidence told the federal jury that it was made Jan. 21, 1928, and is still in force, giving Davis the right to keep initiation fees and to contract for new lodges. Because of his dominant position as director general of the Moose, the government claims Davis must have been aware of the sale of $3,000,000 worth of tickets for two Moose charity balls which are alleged to have been conducted illegally as lotteries.

The government contends Davis profited personally from the two alleged lotteries by at least $172,000, which the government traced through checks.

Exclusive Power

In the contract introduced at Davis' trial today, the Pennsylvania senator was granted "the exclusive right to contract with lodges, chapters, legions, and all other units of the order for the purpose of recruiting the memberships of such units."

One of the principal witnesses during the day's session was Harry Shanor, whose iron-grey hair is the same shade as Davis', with whom he has been identified in Moose affairs for 20 years.

Shanor told of his work in connection with the charity ball of 1930 at Mooseheart, Ill., just outside of Chicago. He testified he was paid for his work by Fred Jones, described by the government as Davis' "financial agent."

He described the drawing for prizes in the alleged lotteries conducted by the Moose but declared that Davis was not present at either drawing.

Explains Drawing

The first drawing, Shanor testified, took place at Mooseheart on Jan. 3, 1931; the second on Jan. 1, 1932, aboard a steamer off the Connecticut shore.

The witness explained that stubs from the charity ball tickets were thrown into a barrel and the lucky numbers were drawn out.

Shanor admitted that 80,000 tickets were sold to the 1930 ball although only 32,000 persons attend-

GANDHI BEGINS DEATH FAST IN INDIA'S CAUSE

Mahatma Takes Last Food And Starts Keeping His Promise

DIET UNTIL DEATH

84-Pound 'Saint' Refuses Freedom as Compromise Sought by Friends

BOMBAY, Sept. 20. (US)—Mahatma Gandhi began his fast unto death at noon today with a hymn, and lived from then until bedtime at 10 o'clock tonight on 29 pints of water, sipped occasionally during the day.

The mahatma's last full meal was a sizeable early breakfast, which dwindled to a spot of honey and hot water at 11:30 a. m. Sharply at noon, he sang his hymn, and then went on the water diet by which he plans to starve slowly to death on the hands of what he calls the "heartless" British empire.

Hour in Meditation

Gandhi is determined to exist as long as he can be water, hopeful that the British raj will alter its plan to establish separate electorates for the Hindu castes, Moslems, Sikhs and other religious sects.

The 84-pound mahatma spent an hour in meditation after his fast began, and then answered many telegrams from a pile before him on the floor of his cell in Yeravda jail, where he is now the unwelcome guest of the British government. He refuses to leave unless ejected forcibly.

Six hours later, he received a few friends, and told them:

"My cry will arise to the throne of the Almighty. Beautiful thoughts and hymns will be my food during this wearisome journey toward death, and water will be my sole sustenance.

"I feel well. I am not faint. I am hopeful, because I suppose I'm an incurable optimist.

"My friends should not follow my

Police Fail to Link Prisoner in Lindy Case

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 20. (UP)—Attempts of New Jersey police to link a federal prisoner here with the Lindbergh kidnaping failed today.

L. A. Marlowe, held for investigation for allegedly removing mortgaged property, refused to give officers a sample of his handwriting to be compared with ransom notes passed in the abduction of the infant son of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

"It's preposterous," Marlowe said. "I knew nothing about that case."

The handwriting specimens had been asked by Col. H. Norman Schwartzkopf of the New Jersey state police.

Marlowe also has been questioned regarding the murder of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, Chicago newspaper man, by underworld assassins.

La Follette Lags Behind Kohler In Wisconsin Vote

(By The Associated Press)

Incomplete returns from primary elections in three states yesterday put conservative candidates in Wisconsin ahead of La Follette contestants for Republican nominations, with organization-backed Republican congressional candidates in upstate New York generally weathering attacks on their differing prohibition views.

With almost a sixth of the state heard from former Gov. Walter J. Kohler was leading Gov. Philip F. La Follette of Wisconsin by about 18,000 votes for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. For the Republican senatorial nomination, John B. Chapple, Ashland editor, clung to a lead of about 2,000 over Senator John J. Blaine, despite the incumbent's inroads into his early two to one margin.

Lieut. Gov. William S. Youngman continued to roll up a big plurality in Massachusetts for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. He had a lead of 7,000 votes over Frank A. Goodwin on the basis of early returns. Two other candidates were virtually out of the race.

In New York Representative Crowther, a prohibitionist, of the 30th district, Walter G. Andrews, a repealist, of the 40th district; Frederick M. Davenport, with a record for prohibition in the 33rd district; Ruth Baker Pratt of the 17th, all

HOOVER PLANS SPEECH IN IOWA

President to Wage Vigorous Campaign

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. (US)—President Hoover will open his speaking campaign for re-election at Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 4, it was announced today by Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican national committee. Sander's statement was telegraphed from Chicago.

The president's decision to take his campaign to his old home state, scene of recent farmers' strikes, and now regarded as in the doubtful column, came as a surprise. It had been generally understood he would make his first speech either in Boston or New York, and then invade the West. Sanders said:

"President Hoover will make his first speech of the campaign at Des Moines, Iowa, on the evening of Tuesday, Oct. 4. Arrangements for a nationwide hookup are being made.

"The president will return immediately to Washington after his speech. He will make no other addresses en route. Time and place of other addresses by the president have not yet been arranged."

President Hoover's Iowa address is designed as a reply to the recent farm address of Governor Roosevelt at Topeka. It will be delivered the day following the conclusion of Roosevelt's western tour.

Returning to Washington the president will make his next address before the American Bar association, about the middle of October. He then plans to take the road again. He is determined, his advisers said, to make an unusually vigorous campaign and mobilize every resource of the G. O. P.

Until today the president's plans were in doubt. Some of his closest advisers in the cabinet had urged him to remain in Washington and make no speeches. He overruled them. The Des Moines trip will be one of at least three speaking trips away from Washington. He may later go to the coast, it was said.

Ryan Tax League And City Councilmen Suspend Bitter Tax Feud With Truce

Special to The Record News.

RYAN, Okla., Sept. 20.—A truce was declared today in the war between the Ryan Taxpayers league and the city administration when concessions by both sides were granted.

Led by several of the city's business men, the tax league has waged a campaign for the past six weeks for more economical government, specifically demanding reductions in light and water rates and calling for a reduction in the salary of C. E. Collins, superintendent of Ryan's municipally owned and operated light and water plant.

The city council until today steadfastly refused to heed demands of the citizenship.

However, in a public meeting this morning, attended by members of each faction, the council agreed to place Superintendent Collins under $5,000 bond and to require a complete accounting of the light and water plants operations at the end of each fiscal year. In turn, the tax league leaders abandoned, temporarily at least, its fight to require city councilmen to accept a $5 per month salary instead of free light and water, which heretofore has been the manner of paying their services. No provision was made to cut Collins' salary, which is $175 per month. Neither were the utility rates reduced.

Ired by the demands and accusations of the tax league, Collins in-

NEIGHBORS OF SLAIN COUPLE FACE CHARGES

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Goff Die From Shotgun Charges At Farm Home

GIRL SEES SHOOTING

L. H. Reynolds and Stepdaughter Charged With Double Killing

Special to The Record News.

SAINT JO, Texas, Sept. 20.—O. P. Goff, 46, and his wife, Nettie, 39, were shot to death at their farm home, five miles west of here late this afternoon.

L. H. Reynolds and his stepdaughter, Amanda Poole, residing on a farm adjoining the Goff place, surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Bill Donley.

Reynolds and Miss Poole told W. L. Scott Jr., Sain Jo undertaker, that Reynolds fired when he thought he was about to be attacked by the man and his wife with clubs.

Two Charges Fired

Two shots from a shotgun were fired, one striking Goff in the head, the second striking Mrs. Goff. The shots were fired at close range.

Scott accompanied Deputy Donley to the scene of the slaying where Reynolds and his daughter waited until their arrival. Scott said the man and his wife lay on the ground, both clutching clubs in their hands.

In giving an account of the slaying, Reynolds and his step-daughter said some of Reynolds' calves broke into the Goff corn field. Reynolds said he and Miss Poole went into the field to retrieve the animals when they were met by Goff and his wife. Goff and his wife then charged them with the clubs, they said.

Reynolds and Miss Poole were charged with murder shortly after the shooting in a complaint filed before R. F. Simpson, Saint Jo justice of the peace. They were removed to the county jail at Montague tonight after Sheriff Lee Husband was summoned to Saint Jo by Deputy Donley.

Feeling had existed between the two families for about a year, Reynolds and his step-daughter, about 25, said.

Claim Self-Defense

Reynolds and Miss Poole said that Reynolds was retreating before the rush of Goff and his wife as he fired. The slain man and woman were almost on their neighbor before he used the gun, they declared.

The slaying occurred just inside the Goff farm, a short distance away from the fence that separated it from the Reynolds farm. The scene was about one quarter of a mile from the Goff home and a half mile from the Reynolds house.

The highway passes a quarter of a mile away. Reynolds shouted to the first passer that came by after the shooting told him to summon officers. The passerby, informed of what had occurred, hastened to the nearest phone where he reported the shooting. Reynolds and his daughter remained with the bodies of Goff and his wife until Donley and Scott arrived.

Pair Taken to Saint Jo

They were taken into custody and taken to Saint Jo, before being removed to Montague.

Temple Yarborough, Montague county attorney, and Sheriff Husband made a preliminary investigation of the slaying before returning to Montague.

Goff had resided at intervals in this vicinity for more than 10 years. At the time of his death he was a tenant of the M. W. Aubrey farm.

The couple are survived by six children, Lulu, 17, Alvah, 14, Lois, 13, Orville, 11, Travis, 6, and Velma, 5.

Funeral arrangements had not been made late Tuesday night. Goff's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Goff of Walters, Okla., were en route here after being notified, and were expected to arrive, early Wednesday.

Garner Rites Slated Today

They established their home at what was known as Blossom Prairie.

Lived in Log Cabin

There on a farm, Mrs. Garner grew to womanhood and, like her mother, married a frontiersman, the Texas congressman's father. The couple made their home in a log cabin near the present town of Blossom.

It was in this cabin that their distinguished son, John Nance Jr., was born. Six other children were born to the couple, four of them now living. They are Jesse L. Garner, Jolly Garner, Mrs. John R. Wright and Mrs. Maud Blair, all of whom live here.

In addition to rearing her own children, Mrs. Garner brought up five orphan children of her kinspeople.

It was announced that Mr. Garner would return to Washington immediately after his mother's funeral services tomorrow, leaving by automobile for Texarkana where he will board a train for the capital.

"I think my mother was the sweetest woman in the world," Mr. Garner said after her death. "Besides rearing seven children, she took care of five orphans. Her entire life was devoted to doing good for others."

Just before Mrs. Garner passed away, the congressman turned away, saying he did not want to see his mother die but wished to remember her as he had known her as a boy with her arms around him.

Mr. Garner left home to study law before he was 20 years old. After living some time in Clarksville, ill health caused him to go to Uvalde, Texas, where his climb to fame started in the field of politics.

He visited his old home here whenever he could, his last visit being about a year ago.

Speaker to Return East

After last services are held for his mother tomorrow, Speaker Garner will return to Washington.

The speaker said he would spend a day or two in the capital and then go to Democratic national headquarters in New York.

"I am going to national headquarters to help in any way I can," he said. His campaign itinerary is being prepared there. Under present plans he will meet Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt as the presidential nominee swings back from his western tour. The meeting will be in either Albany or New York, Oct. 5 or 6.

The speaker received many messages of condolence after his mother's death. He asked newspaper men to say for him that he was deeply grateful to those who remembered him and his family in their bereavement. He said he hoped he would be able to avoid public appearances or speeches at way points en route to Washington, preferring to go his way silently and quietly.

CAPITAL MOURNS DEATH OF MOTHER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. (US)—The capital mourned today the death of Mrs. Sarah Jane Garner, mother of Speaker John N. Garner, Vice President Charles Curtis, Republican opponent of the speaker in the vice presidential race, said:

"I wish you would say he has my sincerest sympathy. I am very sorry."

Senator Robert R. Howell, Republican, of Nebraska, said:

"The loss of a mother, even at the advanced age of Mrs. Garner, comes as a shock to every man.

"My regret is that she could not have lived to the time when she might have seen her son vice president."

Senator Walter F. George, Democrat, of Georgia declared:

"The people, no matter to which party they belong, mourn the loss of Mrs. Garner whose fine character and pioneering quality are so magnificently exemplified in her children."

Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, Democrat, of Florida, said:

"My sympathy goes out to Speaker Garner and the other survivors of his mother. There has passed from us a truly great American. Born in northeastern Texas when it was a frontier of our civilization, she was a pioneer in the upbuilding of our nation."

RELICS ADDED TO DISPLAY

Ancient Weapons Shown By Lawton Man

Burnett, Dan Waggoner, the Suggs brothers and the Silversteens.

Another pistol in the display was worn by William Quantrell when he was outwitted and killed in 1864 in Kentucky. He was a famous American guerilla who first became known when he raided Lawrence, Kan., destroying 185 buildings, killing 140 people and leaving the village devastated.

A famous American weapon, a tomahawk used by Daniel Boone, also will be shown by Mr. Clift, as will a surveying compass used by Abraham Lincoln at Springfield, Ill., shortly before he left for Washington, D. C., for his inauguration as president.

A relic of the Battle of Wichita, a ring from the finger of a soldier killed in the skirmish on Oct 1, 1858, will be displayed. Gen. Van Dorn and Sul Ross were in charge of 135 scouts who killed 92 Commanches. The graves of the soldiers were found recently—74 years later—on the banks of Otter creek in the Wichita mountains near Snyder, Okla.

Other relics include bullets from the battle of Lookout mountain and type from the Lawrence, Kan., Free Press during the bloody days of Kansas in 1855 when the press and type were tossed into the Kaw river by pro-slave raiders.

Three Methodist congregations of Wichita Falls will be directly interested in gavels shown by Mrs. Clift which will later be presented the First, Grace and Floral Heights churches. The gavels have been fashioned from walnut logs cut 102 years ago and used in construction of the Shawnee Mission, pioneer Methodist missionary station west of the Mississippi. Pamphlets on history of the mission will also be shown.

Among the manuscripts and books in the Clift collection will be displayed a copy of The Gentlemen's Magazine, published in London in 1779, giving a long account of the American war for independence. A copy of Thomas Jefferson's "On the State of Virginia" also will be shown, as will many other old volumes.

Mrs. Clift is co-author of "Wild Bill Hickok," soon to be published, authoress of the "Shawnee Nation" and many other books and articles.

desk of the then governor of Texas the people of this state at each state election have been torn asunder by factionalism and personal animosities to such an extent that constructive programs for efficient government have been obscured and to a large degree abandoned."

Of party pledges, Bullington said:

"Every citizens of Texas is bound by a higher and stronger pledge and obligation than any which may be required for the privilege of participating in the primary election of any political party. I refer to the obligation which every citizen has to support and observe the laws and constitution of this state."

Exclusive Oil Sale Rights Proposed In Cuban Senate Bill

HAVANA, Sept. 20. (AP)—A bill introduced today in the Cuban senate would grant exclusive rights to the sale of petroleum in Cuba to a large oil company for a period of 40 years.

The company was not named. Under the terms of the bill it would be required to pay immediately the entire Cuban debt, including internal obligations for public works, external debts for foreign loans, and the floating debt.

The measure also provides that oil companies now operating in Cuba would sell their plants at auction. There would be strict supervision of gasoline prices.

League Wins First Round In Economy War

sisted in the meeting that he be placed under bond of $75,000. His plea, however, was rejected.

Earl Pruett, county attorney, drafted the resolutions calling for posting of bond by Collins and his annual accounting of the plants' affairs. The council passed the resolution into law.

The tax league's move to pay the councilmen salaries was based on its asserted statement that city officials were creating a waste of light and water, inasmuch as no limit of consumption was placed upon them. The league insisted that meters be placed in the homes of the councilmen and that they be charged the same rates as other townspeople.

The council, however, contended that payment of salaries to its members would be unlawful.

The present rate for light and water is $1.50 per month for each consumer.

Today's cessation of open hostilities was preceded by several meetings of townspeople during the progress of the dispute. Bitterness between the two factions cropped out a number of times, threatening the usual tranquility of the city.

The tax league's fight was lead by Bob Hughes, newspaper publisher, J. T. Neesmith, Jim Steed and Dr. J. W. Watson. Whether or not they will be satisfied with the partial victory of today is a matter for speculation. However, the difference between the league and the city administration will remain under the surface at least for the time being, it is believed.

Bohemians View Lands In Valley

Policies of the Wichita Valley Development association were discussed at the regular directors' meeting Tuesday at the chamber of commerce, but no definite action was taken by the board. The program of work of the association in colonizing irrigated valley lands has been curtailed recently by lack of cooperation on the part of landowners, it was pointed out.

Field Manager J. F. Meurer of the association introduced a group of Bohemian farmers from Alabama at the meeting who are in Wichita Falls to inspect the irrigated valley with a view to establishing permanent homes. They were attracted to Wichita Falls by reports of friends recently established here through the work of the association.

The Valley Development association exhibit during the golden jubilee opening Monday will be housed in the Mytinger building at 909 Eighth, east of the historical displays. The exhibit will present a miniature model of the irrigated valley and canal system as well as valley products and home demonstration club work under direction of Miss Ethel Luise Webb and County Agent G. C. McGown.

Dandruff?
No Excuse for It Now

Mr. E. Doucette, 1600 E. 45th St., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"Send me one bottle of JAPANESE OIL as soon as possible, as I find nothing to compare with it for removing dandruff. My hair is doing fine and I am sure that if JAPANESE OIL won't help it nothing else will."

Mr. Doucette is one of thousands who knows by actual experience that JAPANESE OIL, the antiseptic liniment, seldom fails to remove dandruff. Try it tonight. Massage it well into your scalp. After a few nights you'll be gratified to find that the dandruff has disappeared. Then use JAPANESE OIL regularly twice a week. It will keep your scalp clean, stop falling hair and encourage the growth of strong, healthy hair.

JAPANESE OIL, the antiseptic medicine for the hair and scalp, costs $1 at any Renfro Drug Store or other good druggists.—Adv.

Mahatma Begins Fast Unto Death

footsteps with sympathetic fasts. I am anxious to live, else I should not drink water. Water has an infinite capacity for prolonging life.

"I must make a supreme effort to hold myself together until the conscience of not only the British government but of the Hindu political leaders is shaken."

Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, H. H. Jayakar and Dr. Ambedkar, Hindu representatives, conferred with Gandhi last night, asking him to withdraw his objections to Britain's plan for establishing separate communal electorates for the Indian castes.

Impresses People

Sapru and Jayakar, after meeting othere leaders here, went again to Gandhi tonight, hoping to gain his acceptance to a compromise.

Gandhi's determined death fast has aroused a tremendous wave of nationalism all over India, being just the type of spectacular sacrifice for "spiritual" reasons which deeply impress people of all religions in India.

Gandhi today has probably secured a greater hold on the imagination of Hindu natives than ever before, but India's 300,000,000 people seem to feel that Gandhi will be unable to move the British empire to reconsider its scheme for comemunal elections in India.

The 84-pound mahatma was technically released from Yeravda prison by the British government in India as soon as he began his death fast, but he refused to accept the release, preferring to die on Britain's hands unless forcibly removed from his cell.

Compromise Sought

He is free to receive visitors, but physicians said Gandhi is indisposed, owing to the strain of receiving many friends and Hindu leaders during the past few days. This, it was learned, is merely Gandhi's way of avoiding newspaper men anxious to talk with him.

Hartals (strikes) prevailed in numberless little Indian towns and villages in sympathy with Gandhi, and Hindu leaders conferred today and will confer again tomorrow in an attempt to strike a compromise acceptable not only to Gandhi, but also to themselves and Britain, which will end Gandhi's fast unto death.

Chest Subscribers To Vote On Reducing Number Of Organizations

Decision on elimination of organizations listed as character building groups from the Wichita Falls community chest for the approaching year will be decided by a questionnaire which will be distributed to subscribers to the chest budget, it was announced at a meeting of the chest executive committee with Walter D. Cline presiding Tuesday afternoon at the Wichita club.

A general discussion of the chest program and the participating organizations preceded the vote to place the matter before subscribers in the city.

The Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and Y. W. C. A. are the organizations which would be affected should the vote of subscribers call for elimination of character building groups.

Estimates for the year have been completed but may be subject to revision on basis of the questionnaire results and the goal for the fall campaign will not be announced until the returns are made. The committee heard reports on the effective work of the Salvation Army, Boy Scouts and travelers groups.

J. H. Allison, president of the scout council, stated the needs of the organizations here would require $4,000 for the year.

BRONX LEADER VISITS TEXAS

East Is Roosevelt's Says Edward Flynn

FORT WORTH, Sept. 20. (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt will sweep New York and the rest of the East this fall and will receive the support of Tammany, Secretary of State Edward Flynn of New York, district leader in the Bronx, declared here today.

The Democratic leader arrived aboard an American Airways plane en route to San Francisco where he will join Governor Roosevelt Thursday for the rest of his swing around the circuit, relieving James Farley, national chairman of the Democratic party.

"I'm like Jim Farley," Flynn said. "I don't concede Hoover anything."

Flynn, close personal friend of the New York governor the last 15 years and his political adviser, said Farley would leave the party in San Francisco and Roosevelt would have to be back in Albany by Oct. 3 to attend the state Democratic convention there. For that reason, the Democratic standard bearer will be unable to include Texas in his stumping tour.

From California he will swing into Arizona, New Mexico, Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan and back to New York.

The resignation of Mayor Jimmie Walker of New York City will not injure Roosevelt in New York state, Flynn declared.

"There is no doubt of it," he said, "the East is just as strong as the West for Roosevelt and he will absolutely carry New York and the rest of the eastern states.

HIGH POINT, N. C., Sept. 20. (INS)—Following an agreement reached under the supervision of Gov. O. Max Gardner, approximately 1,400 striking workers in the Stehli Silk mill and the Thomasville Chair company were back at their jobs today.

Six hundred persons returned to work at the silk mill, with a salary increase of 79 per cent. A similar increase was given 800 striking employes of the chair factory.

BULLHEADS FERTILIZED OATS

PIERRE, S. D.—Fertilized by bullheads, a field of oats in the dry bed of Red Lake, in Brule county, yielded 95 bushels to the acre. At one time the lake was several feet deep and contained thousands of fish, the greater portion bullheads. The lake dried up, and the fish died. The field was plowed and the dead fish turned under as fertilizer.

SOVIET EXPELS NEWS WRITER

Newspaper Woman Accused of False Stories

MOSCOW, Sept. 20. (AP)—Rhea Clyman, a Toronto, Canada, correspondent here for the London Daily Express and newspapers in Canada, was ordered expelled from Soviet Russia today on a charge of writing false news about the country.

The order followed recent publication by the Daily Express of a series of articles she wrote after a trip to the timber regions in northern Russia, purporting to reveal methods employed by the secret police at a prison camp near Kem.

These articles and several others she had written in recent months were quoted at length today in the newspaper Izvestia, which attacked her in a half-page editorial as a "provocateur from the bourgeois camp."

Miss Clyman, who is 28, is now at Tiflis. She telegraphed a friend here that she had received the order of expulsion last Saturday over the signature of Yagoda, vice chairman of the ogpu, or secret police. She was directed to leave the country in 24 hours.

She has been in Russia four years, contributing to numerous newspapers and magazines in Canada and England.

Five-Day-Week Adopted By Goodyear Employes

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 20. (AP)—All Goodyear Tire and Rubber company office employes go on a five-day-a-week basis Oct. 1, it was announced today.

Along with the reduction in hours a salary adjustment goes into effect which, the company said, "involves reductions ranging from nothing for the lower salaried employes to 10 per cent for higher salaried executives."

The new policy will prevail until Feb. 1, 1933.

Frisco President Says Receivership Suit Lacks Merit

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20. (AP)—J. M. Kurn, president of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway company for which receivership was asked yesterday by stockholders, said today counsel for the road advised him "there is no merit in any of the suits" asking receivership.

Another suit asking receivership was filed recently by two holders of prior lien bonds.

"We are advised," Kurn said, "that there is no merit in any of the suits which have been instituted against the company by holders of small amounts of securities apparently seeking to obtain some special advantage for themselves by embarrassing the company in carrying out the readjustment plan."

Kurn said the readjustment plan, now being carried out, was worked out in negotiations with the company's largest stock and bondholders.

"No objector has suggested any other plan," he said, "and the criticisms of the present plan contained in the complaints in the various suits are wholly inconsistent with each other."

Kurn said the road is urging security holders to deposit their holding, in line with the plan, by Sept. 26, the day the plan expires.

This action was taken late yesterday at an organization meeting attended by representatives of 31 gins, representing the Oklahoma cotton belt.

CRACK TRAINS CEASE SERVICE

Boys Who Would Be Engineers Feel Anguish

MEMPHIS, Sept. 20. (AP)—Two southern railroads have withdrawn their best trains to save money and have brought anguish to hearts of little boys who would rather be engineers than kings or even cowboys.

The Illinois Central's Panama Limited and the Frisco's sunnyland, institutions down here where trains and steamboats still are romantic things, have been driven to early graves by hard times. And since there is an affinity between trains and little boys—the kind with warts and freckles and day dreams—the passing of the limiteds means more than just an economic change.

The Sunnyland was what the folks in the Ozarks called the "slow train through Arkansas." It came snorting around the mountains, always on time and filled a fast assignment between St. Louis and Memphis.

The Panama, that sleek, de luxe limited that followed the valley from Chicago to New Orleans, will never be replaced in hearts of thousands of persons to whom it was a timepiece and inspiration.

It was news when the Panama was late. A lavishly equipped train that made the 1,000-mile run in less than 24 hours, it was the pride and joy of the valley just like the City of Natchez and Robert E. Lee were a few years ago when folks did their traveling on steamboats.

The Panama's fame was so great that boys were promised trips on its clubcars as payment for good behavior.

Odd Fellows Grand Lodge Names Officers

DENVER, Sept. 20. (AP)—W. F. Jackson of Fort Scott, Kan., today was unanimously elected grand sire of the sovereign grand lodge, governing body of the International Order of Odd Fellows, in convention here.

James H. Davis of Tacoma, Wash., was elected deputy grand sire, over a field of seven candidates.

Springfield, Ill., was selected as the 1933 convention city.

FLIES FOOLED FIREMEN

Need Of Replacing Abandoned Church Buildings Heard By Rural Preachers

FORT WORTH, Sept. 20. (AP)—A desolate picture of abandoned country churches was presented before a meeting of about 100 circuit preachers at a meeting of the Central Texas conference of Methodist churches today.

J. D. F. Williams, secretary of the conference, reported 30 abandoned church buildings, 20 schoolhouse congregations no longer holding services and 25 congregations that no longer have any place to meet, their buildings having fallen in decay.

No immediate solution is apparent but the needs of the rural churches were to be presented so the conference could work out some way in which to help them.

A surplus of preachers and an insufficient number of churches on the circuits make the situation acute, Rev. B. E. Kimbrow of Mertens said.

FAIR CROWDS JAM AMARILLO

Out-of-Town Delegations Visit Exposition

AMARILLO, Texas, Sept. 20. (AP)—The first of the out-of-town delegations scheduled to take part in the Tri-State fair were swarming the grounds today, their bands playing over local radio stations and their citizens taking in the sights of the exposition. The day was given over principally to delegations from Canyon, Tulia, Borger, Lockney, Hedley, Mobeetie, Wheeler, Memphis, Paducah, Matador, Silverton, Quitaque, Turkey, Estelline, Gruver and Stinnett. However, many other visitors were on hand.

Nearly 30,000 persons thronged through the free gates yesterday. A slightly smaller crowd was looked for today.

Loot From Burglary Recovered by Police

Recovery of clothing and two guns taken Monday from the S. E. Middleton residence, 1713 Ninth, was reported by Detectives Luke Hart and O. A. Roberson Tuesday. The property was located near the Middleton home in servant quarters, but no arrest had been made Tuesday night.

City officers received reports of thefts of 15 automobile tires and two wheels at Electra Monday night and loss of two sets of harness, bridles and lines and a saddle at Decatur.

Mine Controversy In Kansas Quieted

PITTSBURGH, Kan., Sept. 20. (AP)—Officials of district No. 14, United Mine Workers of America, and coal mine operators of Kansas have reached an agreement whereby several deep mines in the field will resume operations by Oct. 1, Henry Allai, district president, announced today.

The agreement calls for a wage reduction of approximately 25 per cent for day and month workers and 22½ per cent for men on dead work and yardage.

Provisions of the agreement will be subjected to a referendum vote of the rank and file Thursday, Allai said. He expressed a belief the miners would ratify the agreement.

The move means between 1,200 and 2,000 miners will be given employment, mine officials said.

101 Ranch Headquarters Go Under Hammer

NEWKIRK, Okla., Sept. 20. (AP)—Col. Zack T. Miller, master of the 101 ranch, and his former wife, Mrs. Margaret Blevins-Miller, lost today in their district court fight to keep the homestead of the former "inland empire."

Disallowing their homestead exemption claim, Judge Claude Duval rendered judgment for $111,792 in favor of the John Hancock Life Insurance company, covering a mortgage on 2,119 acres.

The "White House," ranch headquarters and Miller home, is on the land involved in the foreclosure proceedings.

Crockett P.-T. A. Hears Outstanding Addresses

One of the most interesting and instructive talks on the common childhood diseases was given Tuesday afternoon by Dr. Austin F. Leach at the first meeting of the Crockett Parent-Teacher association. Dr. Leach took each of the most common diseases by itself, told how it may be recognized and its effects on the child and on those exposed to the disease. He devoted a few minutes to an open forum inviting the women to ask him about any of the diseases he mentioned. In closing Dr. Leach urged the mothers of Crockett school to enter whole heartedly into the five-point child project in that it calls for all defects in the child's health to be corrected and also for vaccination against smallpox and immunization against diphtheria.

Dr. N. F. Grafton gave the devotional service using for his Scripture reading the 128th Psalm which he said has to do with family, church and nation. He closed with a prayer. Miss Ida Moore gave a few words of greeting and introduced the school's teachers, Misses Ruth and Ruby Watson, Lelia Crain, Marion Roberts, Ellen Parker, Evelyn Barry, Elaine Clark, Ethel Morgan, Sara Jones, Lena Stevens and Mesdames W. E. Hunter and Ethel Parker.

In a splendid address of welcome, Mrs. Grover C. Johnson, president, likened the P.-T. A. to that of a stained glass window composed of many small pieces. She said that all the blocks in the window are not the same size, nor are they of the same coloring, that the light does not fall the same on them all, and that if one small piece is gone, the picture is not complete. The same applies to the P.-T. A. with the state associations forming the small pieces and if one unit drops out the work of the association is broken and incomplete. She compared the school of today with that of tomorrow and prophesied that tomorrow's schools will have other improvements, fully equipped libraries with paid librarians and also that tomorrow's schools will be better equipped to deal with the delinquent child.

Mrs. Johnson urged all members to cooperate in the unit's work and cordially invited all women of the Crockett district to attend the P.-T. A meeting even though they have no children or their children have graduated from this to a higher school. She introduced the new officers and chairmen.

Misses Ruby and Ruth Watson, teachers of the first grade, sang a duet accompanied on the piano by Miss Barry, the music teacher.

In the business session, Mrs. Grover Bullington read the minutes of the recent executive meeting and Mrs. C. P. Warman, treasurer announced a bank balance of $80.46. Mrs. Johnson stressed the buying through the schools of tickets for the golden jubilee pageant and thus help swell the school stadium fund. Mrs. Grover McGown announced the meeting of the Zundelowitz Junior High School P.-T. A. and invited all mothers whose children will be promoted to that school after the first semester. The low third grade room taught by Miss Ellen Parker was awarded the room attendance prize.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

"Oh, he's a fine fellow," said one young college man of another, "only his head is full of sawdust." There was an uproar of remonstrance. "Why he has a master's degree and a doctor's degree," argued one indignant speaker. "Yes," answered the authority on brains, nonchalantly, "but he knows nothing but that one subject. Haven't you ever noticed how many authorities are nuts on everything but their own study?"

Argument did no good. The speaker believed in what he said. But, thinking it over, we decided later it was better to know all that can be learned on one subject than to be dabblers in all and never to go below the surface. Too many people merely have smatterings of learning.

Do you not know that there are graduates of colleges who in a few years drop back into a state of simplicity. It may be they got through in dubious ways, but we know valedictorians and salutatorians who become in after life, the dullest of the dull.

That is why we constantly preach the blessing of good reading. It is riches for all years. Parents should take courses, if they have not graduated in life's school, and learn what the children should be fed in books. There is so much that is good in real literature; good, and interesting, we mean, from a child's viewpoint—that it is useless for a growing mind to be either empty or filled with what is worse than rot.

There is a big difference between genius and common sense. Common sense is "an impartial, instinctive result of truth and nature." Genius is a strong quality of the mind answering to and bringing out something striking in nature, or the equivalent. Both may be improved by the right sort of reading.

A year or two ago a prize was offered by a certain group in the state for the best essay on "The Right Use of Leisure." It seemed to us really the most foolish theme that could be chosen. We were asked at times to enter the contest and our reply was invariably we had not the leisure to write the essay.

But it is something like our concept of the golden rule. "Do unto others as ye would have them do unto you." We figure it out that others would probably not have us treat them as we would wish them to treat us, being by nature of quite different temperament. So we try to remedy it by using our own rule, "Do unto others what we feel they would want us to do unto them."

So it is with leisure. Who can prescribe for his neighbor? Many a time we have been told what we should do when we have a little leisure time. One favorite "right use" suggested by our dear ones is to go to bed and go to sleep. And we do not wish to go to bed and go to sleep. We much prefer riding slowly in the cool night air; lying beneath the stars, or, if we must be indoors, propping ourself up with the kind of book we like.

Thus that gentleman who "had a head full of sawdust" was probably quite satisfied with the education he had acquired. And he will probably go far with it. It is the poor simps that care for nothing but the funny pictures and the latest dance and the number of girls whom they think gaga over them that we pity. Oh well, you may pity us if you wish.

Altrusa Club Makes Plans for New Year

Altrusa club members held an enthusiastic meeting at the Wichita club at 6:30 Monday evening. Mrs. Madge Whitney, president, called the meeting to order, expressing her pleasure at seeing so many out after the summer vacations. Sunday School Class Pays Tribute To Mrs. Creighton

Mrs. Frank B. Creighton, who will leave Wednesday morning for Denton to make her home, was honoree Tuesday morning at a beautiful party given for her by the Highland Heights Loyal Workers' Sunday school class, at the home of Mrs. J. H. Crouch on Monroe. The home was brilliant with autumn flowers.

Mesdames Crouch, W. A. Scarborough and Paul Barnett were in the receiving line with the honoree and when the class members and guests had gathered, a delightful musical program was given.

Mrs. Earl Rees accompanied Mrs. Crouch in a beautiful violin number and interspersed between the musical numbers were pretty tributes to Mrs. Creighton from her friends and classmates. Mrs. T. E. Durrett toasted her warmly as a teacher of the class; after a piano number by Mrs. Rees, Mrs. T. J. Brooks paid tribute to her as a friend and neighbor and following a duet by Mesdames Crouch and Paul Steed, Mrs. P. B. Curd talked on what Mrs. Creighton had meant to the church in Wichita Falls. In behalf of the class, Mrs. Curd also made a pretty presentation speech in the gift of a handsome present. Mrs. Creighton's response was touching in its feeling.

Mrs. Clyde Carey presided at a dainty register, which was presented as a keepsake to Mrs. Creighton and Mesdames W. R. Hammond and Charles Nachtigal presided at the hollowed ice punch bowl, that was banked with lovely roses.

Two Frocks in One

The wisest thing one could ever do this season is to have one frock take the place of two. Here is a delectable model that does that very thing. The gilet of contrast may be removed and the frock will reveal tiny revers that turn back in keeping with the other smart lines. Surprising, isn't it, how attractive it is either way.

Pattern 2440 may be ordered only in sizes 14 to 20 and 32 to 42. Size 16 requires 2⅞ yards 54-inch fabric and ⅞ yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with this pattern.

Business Women Plan Colorful Jubilee Party

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club will demonstrate at an old-fashioned dinner Friday at the Kemp hotel, just what the business women's clubs would have been if such organizations had flourished 50 years ago. The club has extended invitations to all other business women's clubs and business women not affiliated with clubs to join them on this occasion.

Old-fashioned calico dresses with slat bonnets, boots, blouses and sombreros will be the mode of attire and while the business women of vanished years might have blushed at such garb, leather breeches will be shown in their full glory.

The invitation extended by the group is wide in age area as business women from 15 to 75 are included in the hospitality of the Wichita Falls club which has become known state-wide in its activities.

Pep songs will be sung and R. E. Shepherd will probably be a guest and lead the singing.

Approximately 25 members of the Business and Professional Women's club will be present. Their reservations and reservations of all business and professional women who wish to attend the old-fashioned meal, will be taken by Miss Erma Schnelle, telephone 6929.

Business women from out of town are invited to take part in this prejubilee party.

Family Relationships Easily Strained

By EMILY POST

Author of "Etiquette, the Blue Book of Social Usage."

Dear Mrs. Post—My husband's niece is to be married in church with a small breakfast at a fashionable hotel afterwards. And this is where I should like your advice: Some relatives have been invited to the church and the breakfast, while others have only been invited to church. My husband is very much upset as our 13-year-old daughter has not been included in our invitation to the breakfast. Nor were other young members of the family invited, which he considers very improper and so does another sister, and both say they will not go to the wedding, and there is a great deal of criticism and resentment. The reason why all are not invited to the hotel is that she cannot afford to have such a large breakfast. It is my husband's opinion that she should omit the hotel breakfast, have a simple collation at the house and invite all the family to participate and have everybody feel happy. Mrs. Post will you kindly answer and let me know what you think we should do, as I feel somewhat like my husband and his sister, who is not the mother of the bride. But we must let them know if we are coming or not.

Answer—It is always difficult to reply to questions of this sort without causing trouble for someone. But to be honest, I must agree with your husband in feeling that your daughter should have been invited too, because a wedding is very much like Christmas in that the children of the family are an essential part of the picture. Personally, I think a simple collation at her own home would be in much better taste than one in a hotel, regardless of outlay. But the wedding, after all, is hers!

If your husband refuses to go, and you do not want to go without him, then the only thing for you to do is send your regrets. But this course of action is fairly certain to result in strained family relationship. Of this I suppose your husband is aware!

Special features marked in reports were the cooperation the forum is showing with the committees working for the golden jubilee. Their work with the merchants of the city in putting on the fashion show was discussed, and credit given Mrs. John B. Rhea, chairman of drama for her direction of that work and of Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis, chairman of music, for the musical features.

Mrs. Rogers, the forum president, has been asked to be chairman of a pioneer community house and will accept this responsibility and an open discussion was held of the request made by the jubilee committee to cooperate in a community house for the general public.

Flower Show

Among the chairmen of different departments present, Mrs. Peyton Gwynn, chairman of the Garden club and of the autumn flower show, was enthusiastic in plans for a bigger and better show than has been put on at any previous date. The show will be held at the forum clubhouse but will assume more of a community affair than in previous years. Tentative plans for this event, which will occur in November, were discussed.

Announcement of the open meeting Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 4, at 2:30 o'clock when the play "Michael and Mary," by A. A. Milne will be read at a tea by Miss Winnie Mae Crawford of C. I. A., Denton, was discussed with enthusiasm. This meeting will be open to the general public.

Cook books were displayed and are now on sale and the new forum books, ready for distribution with new membership cards, were much admired.

A special membership drive has opened and will continue until Nov. 15, when new members will be special honorees at a luncheon at the clubhouse.

The attendance of members from the affiliated clubs was full and their interest enlivened the plans announced.

Why?

Because for every 1000 cubic feet of gas burned in an open-flame heater 10 gallons of water vapor are generated inside the home. That is why your piano strings rust, windows frost over, why your wall paper gets spotted and peels off, and why the bedding is clammy.

Home from the dance with ruinous Stocking Runs

If she'd only save the ELASTICITY that makes stockings WEAR!

SHE could easily cut down on those embarrassing runs. Other girls do. They make stockings last twice as long by Luxing them after every wearing.

With Lux, you keep your stockings elastic—so the delicate silk threads give under strain—stretch and then spring back into shape without breaking.

Try it yourself! It takes only 2 minutes to Lux a pair of stockings. You'll agree that the easy Lux way of washing saves stocking money—makes even delicate chiffon hosiery wear.

The LUX Way to make stockings last twice as long

Wash this 2-minute way:
1. One teaspoon of Lux for each pair of stockings.
2. Add lukewarm water, squeeze suds through stockings, rinse well.

Don't use too-warm water—this fades color. With Lux you use lukewarm water. No hot water needed.

Don't rub with cake soap. It ruins elasticity. With Lux there's no rubbing! Even stubborn spots come out perfectly if you press a few dry Lux diamonds into the dampened spot.

Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkali, which robs silk of its life, weakens threads, fades colors. Lux has no harmful alkali. Anything safe in water alone is safe in Lux.

A song by the group and the 23rd Psalm said in unison opened the meeting, after which Mrs. W. C. Duncan gave as a devotional, "An Appeal to the Great Spirit." All numbers on the program featured the interesting theme. Mrs. A. R. Prothro gave "Footprints on the Trail," and Mrs. W. B. Hickman, in an interesting questionaire, "Do You Know?" suggested many new bits of information for the members and guests.

"The Indian Legend" was told by Mrs. N. B. Adams and a resume of American Indian life given by Mrs. W. C. Duncan, was both interesting and informative.

Lost 20 Lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I am only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at Allison's Drug store or any drug store—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.—Adv.

Mrs. Edwin Bebb, vice president, presided when the executive board of the local Camp Fire council met at Fresar's store Tuesday instead of having the regular luncheon session.

Plans were discussed for the musical comedy the council will sponsor which the Wayne B. Sewell Co. will present Oct. 7. Mrs. Bebb was formerly appointed general chairman of plans and she appointed Mrs. R. E. Davis as chairman of publicity and Miss McIlheran, tickets. Other chairmen will be appointed later.

A letter of resignation from Dr. Masters stating that he had accepted an office as troop committeeman on the Boy Scout troop organized at the Episcopal church, of which his son is a member, was accepted with regret. Mrs. Bebb agreed to serve as president until a new president could be elected.

Members voted to send a letter of sympathy to Mrs. J. A. Benninger and family in appreciation of the many courtesies shown to Camp Fire Girls by Mr. Benninger. Helen Benninger is a member of the Mankilo group of Crockett school.

A few of the interesting activities for August and September were reported as follows: Mankilo group made a bird bath in the back yard of the guardian's home, cooked one fire makers' dinner including corn cooked in the ground, and are working on their club room at Crockett school. The desks have been taken up in one of the annex rooms, floors scrubbed, and plans for furnishings began. The Oawakiya group made hand-blocked covers for Century club year books and were entertained with a backyard supper at the home of Mrs. R. E. Davis, a member of the Century club and of the local council.

A gypsy day was announced for all Camp Fire Girls and prospective members for Saturday, Oct. 1, at Boone's park from 2:30 to 5.

Those attending the meeting were Mesdames R. R. Clark, R. E. Davis, Edwin A. Bebb, Mr. Ivan Murchison, and executive, Mary McIlheran.

Secret Contract With Senator Is Revealed

ed. These 32,000 however created such a rumpus, he said, police were called to keep order among the ticket holders.

"Did Senator Davis have any connection with the charity balls," Charles H. Tuttle, defense counsel, asked Shanor in cross-examination.

"He did not," the witness replied.

Through Donald F. Stewart, editor of the Moose magazine, who was the first witness on the stand today, the defense drew an admission that Davis had not passed on the proofs of the magazine which advertised the charity balls.

Throughout the session, Senator Davis himself glumly watched the slow parade of witnesses. He leaned his elbow on the counsel's table, his chin resting in his hand.

Stewart testified he frequently used Davis' name in the magazine "without permission" because "his name was always an inspiration to every Moose."

Twelve letters between Davis and Stewart were presented as evidence but they had virtually no bearing on the alleged lotteries and were merely submitted to show Davis had more than an inactive interest in the organization's affairs.

One of these letters instructed Stewart:

"Please do not emphasize that Mooseheart farm is run at a loss."

Malcolm Giles, of Baltimore, supreme secretary of the Moose, was another witness today. He testified that Davis was not a member of the Moose executive committee but "sometimes attended its meetings as other non-members did."

Matthew Fischerte, secretary of the Mt. Clyde, N. Y., lodge of the Moose, was called to the stand for a few minutes to identify tickets his lodge had received for the alleged lottery which he said he "understood" had the support of Senator Davis and "other high officials."

Al Expected To End Silence At State Conclave

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. (AP)—"Al" Smith's silence on party politics will end, one of his associates said tonight, when he goes as a delegate to the Democratic state convention Oct. 3.

"It is very possible he will be the one to place Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman in nomination as a gubernatorial candidate," Smith's friend said.

Lehman is Governor Roosevelt's own choice for the nomination.

Whether this move on the "happy warrior's" part would end the political rift between the 1928 and 1932 standard bearers was a matter of speculation in political circles but there was no comment from Smith's office.

It was said there, however, that the former governor probably would make some definite statements about his attitude toward the presidential campaign either just before or during the convention.

What the Democratic campaign leaders want to know is whether Smith will make any speeches on behalf of the man who succeeded him as governor, then as head of the party.

Two years ago Smith likewise was a delegate to the state convention, and placed Roosevelt in nomination. The break between the pair began not long afterwards when the governor's pre-convention campaign for the presidential nomination was launched.

Childless Marriage Favored By Russell For College Studes

LONDON, Sept. 20. (INS)—Companionate marriage for university students was advocated by Bertrand Russell, famous English philosopher, in a new book published today.

In the book, titled "Education and the Social Order," Russell said:

"University life would be better both intellectually and morally if both male and female university students had temporary childless marriages."

EXTRA SESSION TO END TODAY

Legislature Passes Bill To Curb Oil Thefts

AUSTIN, Sept. 20. (AP)—The Texas legislature today passed bills to curb oil theft and to remit penalties and interest on delinquent taxes and made ready to adjourn the special session tomorrow night.

The house approved several proposals but their chances of being passed by the senate in the short time remaining were considered poor. One of them would reduce the poll tax from $1.75 to $1 and another would lower the salaries of all county officers.

Broadens Definition

Final action was taken on the oil theft bill when the senate concurred in house amendments. The senate voted 13 to 11 not to send the proposal to a free conference committee. The proposed new law would broaden the definition of theft to make it certain that an operator who took oil belonging to a landowner, royalty owner or other partner in the lease was guilty of theft.

Since Gov. R. S. Sterling sent up a special message submitting the subject, his approval of the bill was considered a mere formality. Proponents contended the law was needed to minimize the stealing of oil in the great East Texas field.

Utility Bill

The delinquent tax remission bill had been agreed upon yesterday and both houses adopted the free conference report today by a majority sufficient to put the law into effect when the governor's signature is affixed. The bill proposed to remit penalties and interest on all delinquent state, county and district property taxes paid by Dec. 31.

Keeping steadily at work on the next to the last day of the 23-day session, the legislature passed a bill by Senator J. J. Loy of Sherman to provide for railroad commission appraisal of gas company properties in towns of less than 5,000 people. The house passed the bill with a few minor amendments and the senate concurred in the amendments. Senator Loy said the purpose of the proposed law was to prevent gas companies from fixing unfair rates in the small cities.

GRAFTON HEADS CHURCH AREA

Presbyterians of District Elect Moderator

Dr. Nat F. Grafton, pastor of the Floral Heights Presbyterian church of this city, was elected moderator of the Wichita Falls presbytery for the ensuing six months in the opening meeting of the semi-annual session held at the Floral Heights church Tuesday night.

Dr. Grafton, veteran minister in this city, succeeds Rev. E. L. Moore, D. D., of Vernon, who is absent from the current session of presbytery because of illness. J. W. Henderson of Burkburnett, formerly a moderator in this district, organized the presbytery Tuesday night.

Horst Gives Sermon

Failure of churches today to utilise the accumulated and refined experiences of their older members was deplored by Dr. George P. Horst, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, in the opening sermon.

"Science and business have set a costly example which has been followed, unfortunately, by the church," he said. "The man who has passed 40 years of age is presumed to be on the down hill, and is being shunted aside as of no value. The church is showing a similar negligence of the qualities planted by years of experience in its matured members. Judgment and experience and character should increase with years of living. We are overlooking a tremendous social asset when we allow the calendar indiscriminately to place men on the shelf."

Devotionals Tuesday night were conducted by Dr. Grafton, and will be in charge of Rev. J. Wood Parker of Electra, Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

Business sessions of the presbytery will occupy all of Wednesday with the exception of the 11 o'clock hour in the morning, which will be given to a communion service over which Dr. Grafton will preside. At that hour also, Jack Ray, local junior college student, will present himself as a candidate for the ministry.

Leaders Attend

Those present Tuesday night were Rev. E. C. Cargill, Seymour; Dr. N. F. Grafton, Wichita Falls; Dr. George P. Horst, Wichita Falls; Rev. J. Wood Parker, Electra; Rev. J. W. Wright, Wichita Falls; Rev. T. J. Bryant, Crowell; Rev. L. R. Hogan, Fort Worth; Rev. Curtis Cook, Wichita Falls; Elders J. M. Patterson, Burkburnett; T. J. Cates, Crowell; W. L. Wilson, Electra; Isaac O. Newton, Seymour; F. B. Elliott, Vernon; J. L. Ware, Wichita Falls; Mike Newman, Wichita Falls; J. C. Ziegler, Wichita Falls; F. B. Stryker, Ray community, and J. W. Henderson, Burkburnett.

A number of women representing auxiliaries in the various presbyterial churches are expected to meet Wednesday morning here, it was announced. This presbytery extends westward to Childress county, southward to include Baylor county, eastward to Bellevue, and north to the Red river.

Seattle Throngs Cheer Roosevelt In Farm Address At Washington Fair

SEATTLE, Sept. 20. (AP)—Speaking from a rose-covered automobile, Governor Roosevelt, the Democratic presidential candidate, today told 25,000 persons at the Western Washington fair in Puyallup that "we liberals are willing to try something" to relieve agricultural and industrial distress.

"We do not intend to leave things as they are," he added, and the throng packed into the race track stands and jammed against the fences and inside the track cheered.

Acclaimed in Tacoma

Through villages whose streets were lined with shouting school children and less noisy elders, Roosevelt drove to the fair city. He returned by way of Tacoma where another huge crowd acclaimed the nominee on his one-way stop in Northwest Washington.

After a short address tonight in the auditorium where arrangements had been made for 12,000 persons, he will entrain fort Portland. Mr. Roosevelt will make the third of the major speeches tomorrow night at Portland. He will discuss public utilities.

At Renton, Auburn and Sumner, villages en route to Puyallup, crowds were out to see the candidate. Among the school children that lined the streets were many Japanese youngsters. From the fertile truck gardens along the highway many orientals waved to Roosevelt, who waved back.

At the Western Washington fair, a solid line several persons deep circled the race track and the stands were jammed as amid a roar of applause, the governor's car circled the track and came to a stop on a platform in front of the grandstand.

Two Yakima Indian chiefs in full regalia were presented to the governor. He was introduced by Gov. Roland H. Hartley, a Republican, and spoke briefly from his seat in the car.

After saying he ought to know something about fairs, having lived on a farm for 50 years, Governor Roosevelt said "one of the chief concerns of every man in public life today is to raise the value of the farm dollar to what it was a generation ago.

"I believe," he said, "that we liberals, regardless of party are going to have an opportunity in the coming years to bring about some kind of a solution to this problem. We are not content to leave things as they are."

At this point, the crowd broke into his speech with cheers.

In conclusion, Mr. Roosevelt said he was sorry he did not have time to go and look at the trotting horses at the fair.

"My father," he said, "raised on our farm at Hyde park 50 years ago the first horse that ran a mile under 2:30."

Primaries Held In Three States

Republicans, were re-nominated. Philip A. Goodwin, an organization Republican was nominated in the 27th district, where prohibition did not figure in a three-cornered fight.

Representative James M. Mead of Buffalo, was renominated Democratic candidate from the 42nd district.

Contests for Democratic nomination for three congressional seats in Brooklyn were won by organization candidates. They were George W. Lindsay in the third district, Patrick J. Carley in the eighth, and Emanuel Celler in the 10th.

Voting was heavy in Massachusetts and Wisconsin with the Democrats turning out in the latter state in unexpected strength. Mayor A. G. Schmedeman of Madison took the lead for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in Wisconsin. F. Ryan Duggy was unopposed for the Democratic senatorial nomination in that state.

Massachusetts Democrats renominated Gov. Joseph B. Ely, who was unopposed.

Reds Shout Against Queen of Holland

THE HAGUE, Sept. 20. (INS)—The Communist deputies shouted "down with the queen! Down with royalty!" as Queen Wilhelmina was reading a speech of the throne opening the Dutch parliament today.

The reds were seized immediately and hustled out of the chamber while the deputies rose enmasse, singing the national anthem and cheering the queen.

The queen continued reading the speech, outwardly undisturbed by the interruption, and completed it amid a new outburst of cheers.

DENVER TO RUN SPECIAL TRAIN

200 From Fort Worth To Attend Anniversary

Adding a touch of reality to the Wichita Falls birthday party next Tuesday, a special train from Fort Worth will arrive in the city during the morning as an excursion train on the Denver tracks arrived 50 years ago about 10 a. m.

Plans for the special train—to carry 200 persons—were launched in Fort Worth Tuesday with Van Zandt Jarvis as chairman of the committee in charge, himself a pioneer Texan. Fort Worth business men and leaders are sponsoring the train as an appropriate observance of the anniversary of the opening of Wichita Falls to rail connections with their own city, Mr. Jarvis told Walter D. Cline, jubilee head, in a telephone conversation.

In line with the jubilee plans the special will be pulled into Wichita Falls by an old Denver locomotive, similar to the engine used on the first train arriving in the frontier village. Assistant Manager Charles G. Cotton of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce is handling details of the train.

W. E. Connell has been named honorary chairman of the Fort Worth committee with Mr. Jarvis as active chairman. J. H. Barwise is vice chairman and members of the committee, leaders in Texas and development in this section, are W. T. Waggoner, W. C. Stripling, Mrs. Charles Schuber and Miss Margaret McLean, daughter of the late Judge McLean, a pioneer Texas jurist.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—About the time The Bystander makes up his mind that Mr. Hoover would be going over the presidential bumps with less personal discomfort were his sense of humor better developed, something happens to show the other side of the president.

HERBERT HOOVER.

The difficulty seems to be that Mr. Hoover shuts the throttle utterly on any but the most serious treatment of things concerning his position.

He is a hard subject to "humanize" in the way, say, that Calvin Coolidge was sidelighted to the public during his six White House years.

Mr. Coolidge made no objection to that. And The Bystander never heard that Mr. Coolidge resented as intrusions on his private life the circulation of those countless stories accenting his dry, New England wit.

Humor Lurks Behind

Off Stage, Mr. Hoover gets more fun out of life than his solemn look and manner in public indicate. An old story illustrates the point.

It so happened that a very formidable looking report of alleged "red" activities, made in part at least by no less an investigator than Gaston B. Means, reached the presidential desk. Conning it over, Mr. Hoover discovered an account of the supposed storing of arms in nearby Maryland by certain radical groups.

On the president's looking further, it developed that the fishing preserves acquired by Larry Ritchie, ex-detective himself and now an important cog in the White House secretariat, near Catochtin Forge was the place where the arsenal was said to be secreted.

Mr. Hoover chuckled. Then he sent for Ritchie. With straight face and grave manner, he handed the report to Larry.

One glance, and Mr. Ritchie was storming out of the White House, leaping into a car and dashing for Catochtin. He recalled the many abandoned mine shafts about the old-time iron works.

On the "Red" Trail

Arrived on the ground, Larry organized a formidable search party, beat the woods in all directions, plumbed the depths of every shaft.

"What did you find, Larry?" he was asked.

"Well, if you must publish the story, just say I found so many snakes there was no room for anything else," he said.

But when M. Hoover wants to shoot his secretary up a bit, he just cocks an eye at him and murmurs something about "Catochtin Arsenal."

Methodist Churches in Great Britain Unite

LONDON, Sept. 20. (UP)—Ten thousand persons crowded Albert hall today and watched leaders of the three chief divisions of the Methodist church in Great Britain sign a deed marking the final union of the branches and making it the largest Protestant church in the world.

The act of union, bringing together the Wesleyan, Primitive Methodist and United Methodist branches after years of negotiations, has been widely described as "the most notable event in the religious history of the country since the birth of John Wesley."

PIONEER ILL

STAMFORD, Texas, Sept. 20.—C. W. Williams, pioneer of Avoca, is critically ill at the family home there. He was stricken Friday morning. Little hope is held for his recovery. His daughters, Mrs. Bob Hines and Mrs. Leslie Culwell of Avoca, and Mrs. Ernest Honea of Wichita Falls and his son, Matt Williams from Yoakum county are at his bedside.

Hambone's Mediations

It is revealed that New York's new mayor, Joseph Vincent McKee, has only taken one long trip in his life—to Havana. How the railroads will miss Jimmie Walker!

A British tennis player, appearing on the court in shorts shocked some of those Americans who saw the recent national singles tournament. Not so deeply though, as some more of our Americans were shocked during the last few years by Wall street shorts.

Judging by the ease with which the United States wins the Walker cup periodically, there ought to be some agitation toward changing the name to the Walkaway trophy.

It is about time for somebody to offer us a poem, mentioning something about "melancholy days," "sere and yellow leaves" and "the twilight of the year." Not that we're asking for it, however.

Why Peace Moves Fail

ALTHOUGH the great majority of Europeans and Americans, beyond a doubt, want peace, not very many well-informed men and women really believe that there will be no more wars; and the chief reason, perhaps, is the fact that those who want peace have only the foggiest notion how to keep it.

A realistic little footnote to the peace-or-war problem was furnished not long ago when a delegation of pacifists called on Norman Thomas, the Socialist candidate for the presidency. To the surprise of the delegation, Mr. Thomas expressed himself as follows:

"I am fed up with these peace societies that think you can wish peace on the world. . . . Peace is no panacea. Men will have to shift their interests from spots like Manchuria and the Polish corridor before they can have real peace."

We tend to an assumption that wars come because statesmen are stupid and depraved, and forget that the best reason usually is the fact that vast masses of people very deeply want things which they can get only by fighting.

The Japanese, for instance, are not in Manchuria because they are inherently pugnacious. They are there because they are convinced that the fertile plains of Manchuria are vitally needed for the continued well-being of the Japanese people. All the diplomatic notes in the world won't make them feel otherwise.

Similarly, this country is objecting to their presence there, not from a high-minded desire to see even justice done but because it feels that its own vital interests will suffer if Japanese domination of Manchuria becomes complete.

Here we have a perfect example of the sort of thing that menaces world peace. It isn't a situation that can be remedied by soft words. Nothing short of a complete revamping of international relationships will prevent such situations from arising.

Time to Harvest Weeds

DURING the ensuing week Wichita Falls very properly may wish to be dressed up for company, and a casual survey of the city reveals that in the residential section there is much that yet could be done for the sake of appearances.

Among the thousands of visitors assured for next Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, there will be many who have not seen this city for more than a score of years. After marveling at the impressive business district which has developed where they hitched in former years to "do their trading," those pioneers will betake themselves at once to the districts "on the hill" and beyond. They will recall the pastures and scattered settlers' houses which once commanded extensive prairie land now converted into densely peopled residential sections of a city.

Returning old-timers are not coming back in a hypercritical frame of mind. But they will more thoroughly enjoy their sojourn here if modern Wichitans reflect the same pride in their city that these old-time Wichitans will have. Rank growth of weeds and grass has provided unsightly spots along many of the principal traffic arteries through the city. Nothing more quickly suggests the "deserted village" than just that kind of landscape.

Pioneers meandering through our city, remembering the herds which grazed here in the old days, might actually come upon a few stray mavericks on some of our streets, particularly on the street car right of way along Kemp boulevard. The Johnson grass there is tall enough to offer fair concealment to the average steer.

Company's coming to town Sunday in large numbers. The front yard is in pretty good shape, but there's some tidying up yet to be done in the back yard.

Kingfish To Resign As Boss

KINGFISH LONG of Louisiana, with all the scalps of his political enemies hanging from his girdle, has decided to resign as state political boss of the Democratic party of Louisiana. Kingfish has announced that he will devote all his time in future to national affairs, that he is booked for a hundred speeches the country over and is going to tell it to the world why America can get along without multimillionaires. If Kingfish were a multimillionaire, he would be the loudest and most brazen defender of princely fortunes under the American sun. As he isn't a millionaire, he knows the value of making his appeal to the bleechers and not the reserved seats.

Texans Members Of Demo Committee

TEXANS have not been overlooked in the naming of the 51 members of the national Democratic finance committee. They included R. W. Morrison of San Antonio and Clara Driscoll Sevier of Corpus Christi. It is said that Texas Democrats are expected to contribute $100,000 to the national campaign fund. John Nance Garner is the vice presidential nominee. Democratic men and women of the home state of Garner should make their contributions without delay. The Democratic party calls itself the "party of the people." Well, the people are expected to furnish the campaign dollars.

SO THEY SAY!

If I were 20 years younger and confronted with this crisis I would try very hard to continue my education . . . because in this new world which will emerge from this crisis there will be a demand for greater skill, better education and broader understanding.—Glenn Frank, president University of Wisconsin.

My Girl Friday Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W. W.: Nothing in print in weeks has thrilled me so much as the editorials in the papers lately rebuking Mr. Hutchinson for risking the lives of his children in his mad desire for publicity . . . The editorial writers certainly spoke the minds of the majority when they said that The Flying Hutchinsons should be ignored when they return—no parades, no fuss and no committee of welcome—unless the committee be members of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children! . . . The night the Sophie Tucker item about her plans for divorce appeared she reconciled with her groom. The power of the press, if you asked me . . . A Pittsburgh theater advertises it this way: "Dick Powell of Pittsburgh in 'Blessed Event'" . . . What! No Lee Tracey? . . . Al Schwartz phoned that it might be said that J. Walker's enemies gave him a McKee Finn—And also that the trouble at the racetracks is that the people lead a faster life than the horses.

Silver Screen found itself in a tough spot because it had four attractive pages all set up depicting the Paul Bern-Jean Harlow home—when the suicide took place . . . The whole thing had to be ripped apart just as it was going to press and the issue practically ruined . . . One of the local columnists is having his nose bobbed in a hospital here—and I don't mean Eddie, who is convalescing at home . . . Cal Coolidge had breakfast with Matthew Brush at the latter's home yesterday . . . Wonder what's up? . . . I have it on unimpeachable authority that Paul Bern did not kill himself over the generally-supposed "humiliation." And don't ask me. My Chevaliers are sealed!

Robert Andrews' most recent novel, "Windfall," is being filmed, as you predict it would be when it first came out last year . . . Incidentally, Andrews is unquestionably the world's most prolific radio scribbler, despite the fact he is little known as an ether writer . . . Andrews has written over a million words for the air since Jan. 1, when he isn't working on a book, a play or a newspaper! . . . Cab Calloway resumes at the Cotton club on this Sabbath night and the event has practically been sold out, already . . . I'm going just to hear his version of "Star Dust," and heaven help the person who jangles a clacker or any ice in a glass while Cab Callowah-wah's it!

Michael Bartlett, who succeeds Georges Metaxa in "Cat and Fiddle," is supposed to be the only Princeton man on the stage. So all right . . . Gladys Swartout, who wears those tights at the Met Opera house, spurned an offer at 6 Gs at the Roxy for a fortnight because her contract doesn't permit her to canary in a place where movies are shown . . . Lee Wahl called. Says that married men certainly have their troubles. They buy frigidaires to do away with ice men—who now deliver laundry! . . . Jack Fulton of the Whiteman crew will be the next warbler to be built up by NBC . . . When Fatty Arbuckle makes a personal appearance at the State Sept. 30, his first flicker comedy in a decade will headline three other Broadway houses . . . Johnny Mack Brown, the movie actor, may play football with the local Giants, if certain deals are put through . . . Harry Barris, who writes such lovely ballads as "It Was So Beautiful" and "I Surrender Dear," can't sing them! . . . Hot tunes are his forte, which he can not write! Poor Joe Lewis. The only good parody he ever wrote has been thefted by so many rival comedians that Lewis never gets a chance to do it . . . Dozens of rivals copied and beat him to it and he is afraid to get up at a night club opening and offer it for fear he will be accused of lifting . . . When he told Jay C. Flippen that it belonged to him the other night Flip said Phil Baker gave it to him . . . Such goings on! . . . A chorus girl pal just phoned and told me how shocked she was this afternoon while walking near 9th Ave. in the 50s . . . A derelict approached her for alms and she kept staring at him until she remembered him. He is one of the better known revue stage managers. Once worked for Earl Carroll, and he is popular with chorines, because of his fairness and kindness . . . If Carroll or any of them want to know his name let them call me . . . He ought to be given a break . . . John Ringling is fully recovered and now walks without a cane . . . Loney Haskell, however, is ailing, imagines he is sicker than he is . . . Arthur Tracey, "The Street Singer," deferred his wedding until tomorrow.

Dave Chasen called. He wishes people wouldn't put him out of a job. He remains with Joe Cook . . . Edward Eliscu called about your recent paragraph on punch-lines in song lyrics that "told a story" . . . He feels badly because you tossed an orchid at a couplet in "Without a Song," and you credited it to Billy Rose, when Eliscu says he collaborated on that number. And to date got no royalty. Your unintentional snub, he added, was the final straw . . . Here is a new low in Americana . . . A certain flashlight company in New Jersey sent their employes up to the roof to see the recent eclipse, and then deducted one hour's pay for watching it! . . . A lad named William Shakespeare has just signed up with Notre Dame and says he wants to play football—a mid-summer night's dream? . . . Have another simile on me—As much to be avoided as a broker's advice.

Here's something. A 7-reel film depicting the nudist camps of the world now is in the last stages of production. During the past year cameramen traveling in all principal countries of Yurrop have taken over 50 reels showing nudist camps in action . . . From these 50, seven reels have been made . . . A leading radio announcer has been hired as the screen voice to provide a running commentary on the flicker. He has already seen it and reports that it is excellent, beautifully done . . . In addition, leaders of the nudist movement in important European countries appear on the screen and offer their views on nudism's aims and purposes . . . Connie Bennett wears frowners whenever she's not on the set making a picture, because of a furrow she's getting between the orbs . . . And Helen Henderson, former "Follies" femme, who divorced Bob Rice of the George Olsen orchestra, to marry old man Benesch, and then divorced old man Benesch to remarry Bob Rice, and then divorced Bob Rice to resume with old man Benesch, and then married William Duryea, from whom she recently melted, is going to marry old man Benesch, again! —GIRL FRIDAY.

GREENBERG'S HOMER GIVES BEAUMONT 1-0 WIN IN OPENER

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Ripley's Problem

The believe it or not feature on the editorial page the other day had a baseball nifty. Rip said that with two out it is possible for a batter to reach first safely on a foul fly that is caught and score on a fly that is caught, although there are only two balls pitched, and there are no errors, balks, delays or stolen bases to help the runner get around.

It looked like one of the great mysteries of life to me, but my loyal assistant, Mack Turner, veteran sandlot baseball scribe, figured it out quite easily.

Here's the solution:

The batsman swings at the first ball pitched. His bat, on the swing, comes in contact with the catcher's mitt. Nevertheless, he manages to come around with his swing and taps the ball lightly, enough to pop up a foul, which the catcher handles. The batsman is awarded first, then, on the catcher's interference, despite the fact that the foul pop was caught.

But how are you going to score him from first with only one more pitched ball? It's easy, says Turner. The next batter hits a fly to the outfield (on the second ball pitched). The outfielder catches it in his cap. This is a violation of the rules, and this particular violation entitles the base runner to three bases. And that scores the runner from first.

The catch in Ripley's puzzle is that he says the fly ball is caught, but does not say how it is caught.

Olney vs. Graham

The Olney Cubs were not as good last year as they were in 1930. Will they be as good this year as they were last? That remains to be seen, but one thing is certain, the Cubs will have one of the finest backfields in this neck of the woods, including class A schools.

The powerhouse of the quartet is Co-Captain A. J. Graves, who was a member of the great 1930 crew, and who was the outstanding ball lugger of the team last year. He has three experienced backs with him. They are Cleve Rue, and Elmore, halfbacks, and H. L. Perkins, fullback, playing his second year. Graves, a natural halfback, was shifted to quarterback last year and was versatile enough to do a good job of it. He should be a better general this year. And his line charging, so we hear, is better than ever before. Graves is a powerful line bucker. He has been compared with Benny Withrow, all-district halfback for the Coyotes last year. He is more versatile than Withrow was, for Withrow could not switch from half to quarterback when the change was badly needed by the Coyotes.

In all, Olney has nine letter men on this year's team, including the other captain, George Gilmore. Gilmore has been eating spinach and raw steaks. He has gained 35 pounds in the last year and can hardly be recognized as the small lad who somehow or other managed to hold his own for three quarters against Slaton in the regional championship contest three years ago.

But Olney is going to need every bit of its strength and experience and a whole lot more besides to retain its stride this year. Olney has nine letter men, but Graham has 12! And Olney meets Graham in the first game of the season Sept. 30. If Graham slaps the slats out of Olney—and it has a fine chance to do it—it would dampen the ardor of the Cubs at a most inopportune time; for on the following week-end the Cubs play the Crowell Wildcats in their first conference game. Olney was able to beat Crowell by only one touchdown last year, and the Crowell gang is just about as tough this year.

Olney will have to go some to survive those two opening games of the season.

Heh Heh

Coach Ted Jefferies after looking over some of his backfield candidates has revised the definition of triple-threat men—stumble, fumble and fall.

Hall of Fame

And J. L. Creecy, lanky center, made the boys laugh the other day To start the afternoon workout Jefferies told his men to take a lap or two around the track. They had had time to make about one lap when Creecy, panting like a marathon runner on the 97th mile, came up to Jefferies and said:

"Coach, I cannot tell a lie. I've just made seven laps!"

Cisco Reinstated by Court

The Cisco High school, banned from the interscholastic league last year for using an ineligible player, was reinstated Monday by Judge George L. Davenport of the 91st district court at Eastland.

Cisco had sued the state and district committees for $10,000 damages, as well as reinstatement. The $10,000 damage plea was denied. A jury had failed to agree on the case, and both sides filed motion for judgment from the court.

The judge held, in effect, that Cisco had been punished enough by having their victory over Breckenridge forfeited, and that the district committee acted without jurisdiction in inflicting the further punishment of barring Cisco from league competition.

It was stated that the state committee will appeal the case.

When it is appealed, it will be interesting to know what the higher court thinks of any court system meddling in the affairs of an organization of high school athletes. This is one of the most curious suits ever filed. It is easy to see that the court has a right to pass on Cisco's suit for damages, but it's hard to understand how Cisco can hope to be reinstated in the league by any power other than the state committee of the interscholastic league. That committee is the supreme court of the league, and not a district judge, or a civil appeals court or any other court. There may be legal ways of upholding the validity of the district court's order, but we never heard of them.

ALTUS HURLER BEATS BARFOOT

Herring Duels Veteran In Dixie Series Starter

By BILL PARKER

BEAUMONT, Texas, Sept. 20. (AP)—Henry Greenberg, from the New York ghetto, and Art Herring, from the city square of Altus, Okla., wrote themselves star roles in the first chapter of the 1932 Dixie series here today when Beaumont beat Chattanooga 1 to 0.

While an estimated crowd of 9,000 screamed and bellowed, Art Herring limited Chattanooga to five hits to out-duel the veteran Clyde Barfoot, who nearly stopped Beaumont with four hits.

Hank Bangs Homer

After the two teams had battled through six innings of scoreless ball, Mr. Greenberg, the New Yorker who plays first base for Beaumont and was recently voted the Texas league's most valuable player, decided he had better help Herring. His contribution was a home run that cleared the left field fence several yards for the game's lone run.

It was the one ball the 41-year-old Barfoot made a mistake on and it cost him one of the best pitched games of his career. It was a knuckler, a fraction more than waist high. Previous to the home run pitch, Barfoot had fed Henry a knuckler that the Beaumont first sacker let drift by for a called strike but Barfoot's second effort to sneak over one resulted in the jolt that rocked Lookout mountain.

Both Teams Hustle

Neither team was tight and both clubs, composed of young infielders and outfielders, hustled hard. Beaumont had only two runners stranded. Chattanooga had seven.

In the eighth the Lookouts made a gallant attempt to knot the score. Kingdon, first up, singled. Bonowitz hit late at a curve and rolled out to Greenberg unassisted. Gill flied out to Fred Tauby in center field and Kingdon romped to third after the catch. It was then that the best play of the game occurred. Reese, a hard hitter, banged a sharp grounder that Herring deflected off his glove. Newsome at shortstop charged the ball like mad and made a lightning underhand throw to Greenberg at first. The throw was low and wide. It hit the ground in front of Greenberg but the big first sacker made a complete turn on the bag, stretched the full length of his six feet four inches and made a backward one-hand catch out of the dirt to have Reese called out by a split inch. Kingdon had crossed home for a one-run tie had Greenberg missed the catch.

Pitchers Star

Both clubs played errorless ball. There was few hard hit balls. Barfoot never had more stuff. The veteran teased the Exporters with a knuckler and a double breaking curve that had them hitting slow grounders and weak fly balls. Herring was steady with blazing speed and a deceptive curve that constantly riddled the outside corners. Herring struck out seven. He started by fanning Kingdon and Bonowitz, walked Gill and then fanned Reese. Barfoot whiffed four, and was at his best in the pinches.

Estep Pharmacy Nine Beats Southern, 14-0

Hedman pitched the Estep Pharmacy to a 14 to 0 victory over the Wichita Southern Tuesday afternoon on Debus field in a Merchants Playground league game. Hedman let the Railroaders down with only three hits while he hit two home runs to aid the Druggists' attack greatly. Smith also hit a home run for Estep. Moore pitched for Wichita Southern and while being touched for 11 hits was badly hampered by six errors in his defense.

LIONS OUT IN OPEN TODAY

Team Comes Out of Secret Practice Grind

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Sept. 20.—For the third time since the opening of the training grind, Vernon fans will see the candidates for the Lion football squad in action Wednesday afternoon at City park at 4 o'clock. Secret practice, inaugurated here last year by Head Coach W. C. Weir, was started as soon as the Lions reported for practice Sept. 1 this year, and fans are permitted to view the workouts but one day each week, Wednesday.

Team Taking Shape

positions on many plays. Both are well over six feet in height and may be the vital points in the Lion passing attack, with Garner, Watson, Grogan, and Miller doing most of the tossing. The first named is a left-hander.

Need Place Kicker

Thompson, Watson, Grogan, and T. Jones are still being drilled in punting, and work is still in progress in an attempt to develop a capable place kicker despite Coach Weir's recent statement that the Lions in all probability would depend on passes or knifes at the line in an effort to add extra points after scoring touchdowns. The Lions have not boasted a place kicker who could boot one-half of his attempts through the uprights since the graduation of Robert Cox, plunging halfback and captain of the 1928 eleven.

The squad is gradually shaping up in the third full week of practice which opened Monday. Various backfield combinations stressing Edwin Garner and 1931 Captain T. M. Watson at the quarterback positions, Capt. H. A. Thompson, Donahue, Wilson, and Wheeler at the halfback posts, and Paris Grogan and Ed Miller at fullback, are being used by the Lion mentors. Kermit Ammons, a halfback prospect at the start of practice has been shifted to end where he is fighting for a wing berth with R. S. Parr, Henry Ben Hopson, B. C. Thomas, and Howard Witchers as the other major candidates. This shift is the only major change made by Lion coaches recently.

The battle for the guard and tackle positions is being led by Tarleton Jones, Billy Reed, Roy Jones, Frederick Stewart, Paul Taylor, Jim Caldwell, Leonard Liles, and others. Odie Maney and Henry Galloway still have the inside track on the center position. T. Jones and Galloway, two basket ball players, incidentally, are still being worked at the offensive end

Workmen Busy Installing Lights For Electra's First Night Grid Contest

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Sept. 20.—Work is progressing on the floodlights on the Tiger football field and they are expected to be completed in time for the initial game Friday night, Sept. 30, when Coach Harvey Stanford brings his Matador hopefuls to Electra. Coach W. W. Gibson is grooming his Tiger aspirants for the game and a heated contest is anticipated. A number of Electrans are looking forward to the night games as the Tigers are lined up for several battles under the lights. The Rotarians, Lions, American Legion, chamber of commerce, and others have been assisting in the floodlights project. Loans were made to the athletic association, and the officials hope to receive enough from games here to pay for the lights. It was pointed out that since most of the games were played on Saturday, business men were unable to come and by playing night games, most of them scheduled for Friday nights, larger crowds will come.

The Tigers have only one conference tilt on the home gridiron this year, but that is one of the most interesting games of the season, as the Wichita Falls Coyotes will be the opponents on the night of Oct. 7.

CHILDRESS STARTS DRIVE FOR NIGHT FOOTBALL

CHILDRESS, Texas, Sept. 20.—Childress High school may join Electra and Vernon in the installation of lights for night football this season. A drive will open in Childress Wednesday to sell 225 season tickets at $1.50 each. The success of this campaign will determine whether the school will contract for the lights, which may be paid for out of a percentage of the gate receipts.

CUYLER'S BLOW WINS CONTEST

Kiki Slams Triple With Bases Loaded

By PAUL MICKELSON

CHICAGO, Sept. 20. (AP)—One sweep of Kiki Cuyler's lusty war club clinched the National league pennant for Chicago's Cubs today and made his old Pittsburgh mates also rans.

At bat in the seventh inning of a torrid duel, with the bases loaded and one out, Kiki erased what little remained of the championship hopes of the club that once "sold him down the river," by smashing out a long triple to supply the winning margin of 5 to 2.

40,000 Cheer Victory

Cuyler's "revenge act" was as dramatic to a roaring capacity crowd of 40,000 as it was timely. The score was tied at two all when the big Cub seventh opened with a single by Bill Jurges.

Guy Bush, tamer of the Buccaneers with eight hits, laid down a perfect sacrifice bunt and was safe as Gus Suhr pegged wildly to catch Jurges at second. Billy Herman advanced both runners with another perfect bunt and the Pirates called a huddle.

It was decided to walk English to load the bases and make the opportunity for a play at any base. Swetonic put everything behind every pitch and the setting stood at three balls and two strikes when Cuyler met one square.

New for Yankees

It was a dazed and happy crowd of Cubs that frolicked about the clubhouse with the prized pennant and a world series chance against the New York Yankees in their pockets. Billy Herman won the race to the clubhouse but nothing much was said until Manager Grimm poked his head through the door. He was pounced on immediately by his happy mates.

"Great, great, great, boys," he choked with tears in his eyes. That was all he could say.

President William Veeck joined the crowd, shook hands with each player and then turned to Grimm: "Thanks manager, but we knew we could do it."

Not a word was mentioned about the world series or the Yankees.

Grimm dismissed most of his tired regulars for the second game of the double-header and there was a big rush toward the ice cream stand.

"I'm glad that job's over," Grimm reflected as he took his shower. "We've played pretty hard and can stand some rest."

Cubs Score First

The Cubs were first to score in today's deciding game that Cuyler swiped.

Herman slammed the first pitched ball for a single to start the battle, stole second and scored on Stephenson's single. Another run was added in the third. With one out, Cuyler doubled to left center, advanced to third on a hit and run play as Stevie rolled to Suhr and scored on a passed ball by Catcher Earl Grace. Pittsburgh promptly tied it up in the fourth with singles by Suhr, Vaughan and Grace and a walk to Piet. Vaughan drove in Suhr with a short fly to right, Piet scoring on Grace's hit. Close plays and spectacular fielding featured the game until Cuyler stepped into the picture and it was all over.

Pirates Win Second

Presenting a patched up battle-front, the new National league champions were given a 5 to 0 beating in the second game, most of which was played in the rain. Heinie Meine held the Cubs to three hits. The crowd, however, struck to the finish.

The play by play account of the first and deciding game follows:

Pittsburgh—L. Waner walked. P. Waner grounded to Herman, who tagged L. Waner and threw to Grimm to completed a double play. Comorosky doubled. Rain began to fall. Traynor walked. Suhr was easy for Herman and Grimm. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Grace singled to right, scoring Piet, and sending Vaughan to third, while Grace took second on the throw-in. Swetonic tapped to English, who threw Vaughan out at the plate to Hartnett. L. Waner lined to Cuyler. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning

Pittsburgh—Bush threw out Swetonic. L. Waner fouled to English. P. Waner fouled to Grimm. Nothing across.

Cube—Jurges singled to left. Bush bunted to Suhr who made a wild throw to second, Jurges being safe there and Bush at first. Herman sacrificed, Traynor to Piet. English was walked purposely, filling the bases. With a count of three and two, Cuyler tripled to left, scoring Jurges, Bush and English. Swetonic tossed out Stephenson, after holding Cuyler at third. Moore popped to Vaughan. Three runs, two hits, one error.

Eighth Inning

Pittsburgh—Herman threw out Comorosky. Traynor singled to left. Suhr sent a long fly to Moore. Piet was called out on strikes. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Ninth Inning

Pittsburgh—Herman tossed out Vaughan. Stephenson went into center field for Grace's fly. Dugas batted for Swetonic, and was thrown out by Herman. No runs, no hits, no errors.

ASK RECEIVER FOR WALDORF

Bondholder Files Petition For Protection

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. (AP)—Appointment of a receiver for the Waldorf-Astoria hotel was asked in a motion filed in supreme court today by Bernard Breslauer, a mortgage bondholder, alleging that the hotel and its furnishings are liable to be seized by the New York State Realty company for non-payment of rent.

Breslauer initiated the action in behalf of himself and any other bondholders who may wish to protect their holdings in an $11,000,000 bond issue.

He contended the bondholders' interests will be foreclosed if the realty company decide sto take over the hotel and charged that the management had defaulted in various rent payments in the past year as well as failing to pay interest on bonds which fell due Sept. 1.

The Waldorf-Astoria holds a lease from the realty company for 28 years and 11 months from Jan. 1, 1930.

Breslauer, holder of two bonds having an aggregate face value of $2,000, asked that a receiver be appointed for all the assets of the hostelry or for certain property put by to secure the first mortgage leasehold seven per cent sinking fund gold bonds. The motion will be argued next Monday.

Michigan Editors Cheer Up Hoover

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. (AP)—Confidence that Michigan voters will "overwhelmingly" endorse administration policies was the expressed view today of a group of the state's newspaper editors after a personal conference with President Hoover.

That statement was made after a discussion last night in the White House. It was issued on behalf of the visiting editors by George R. Averill, editor of the Birmingham (Mich.) Eccentric.

Besides the editors, those present at the conference included Secretary Chapin of the commerce department, Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan; Ferry K. Heath, assistant secretary of the treasury, and Theodore Joslin, presidential secretary in charge of press relations.

Mr. Hoover did most of the talking. Following the customary practices of his press conferences, the editors submitted several score questions in writing and the president ran through them, answering and interpreting.

Merritt Offers Alibi In Bank Robbery Trial

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 20. (UP)—Charles Merritt today offered his alibi which he hopes will clear him of the charge of participating in the $75,000 American First National bank robbery here three years ago.

His wife's sister, Mrs. Mildred Weedfall, testified that Merritt, his wife and their two children, arrived at her home in Dallas the day before the robbery and stayed until Sunday.

The defense sprung another surprise when Mrs. Hattie Yates, a reporter of Gov. W. H. Murray's "Blue Valley Farmer," whispered to Defense Attorney Tant Merritt was not one of the bandits.

She was to be called as a defense witness.

The state concluded its case at noon. A witness, Mrs. Ada Minter, had identified Merritt as one of the occupants of a house which had been named as the gang hideout.

Kreuger Paper Owners Must File Claim Soon

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. (AP)—Holders of debentures of the International Match corporation or other creditors of the bankrupt Kreuger holding company must file proof of claims before Oct. 19 to insure participation in dividends to which it is believed will be "considerable," Oscar W. Ehrhorn, referee in bankruptcy, announced today at a hearing.

The referee said a large number of holders of International Match bonds were unaware that they must file either proofs of claim with the referee or deposit their bonds with one of the protective bondholders committees if they wished to obtain protection.

Acre of Watermelons Nets Sunset Man $200

SUNSET, Texas, Sept. 20.—Willie Orrel, a farmer a few miles east of Sunset, made good with a one-acre crop of watermelons this year. He has already sold over $200 worth of melons from his one-acre patch and yet has more melons to sell. His melons are an extra large, round variety and are of a fine quality. The melons produced abundantly and sold readily on the market.

In addition to the melons, Mr. Orrel has made a good crop of farm, truck farm and garden products this year and has a good supply of canned products set away to eat during the winter months.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. (AP)—Cotton closed slightly higher today after an irregular session but there was no aggressive pressure. December closed at 6.83. The general market closed steady at net advances of 4 to 7 points.

While the weather reports showed general rains over the central belt ranging up to a maximum of a little over five inches at one station in the Vicksburg district, the storm seemed to have been less violent than apprehended in some quarters, and reports of another tropical disturbance approaching the Leeward islands did not appear to have much effect on the market.

There was considerable switching from October to late deliveries, presumably in preparation for possible notices next week.

Liverpool cables reported buying on the weather news and said there was an improved business in cotton goods from South America with more mills restarting. Exports today 36,685 making 889,772 so far this season. Port receipts 47,587. U. S. port stocks 3,435,134.

Futures closed steady 4-7 points higher. Spot quiet; middling 6.95.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20. (AP)—Cotton was rather narrow today and prices fluctuated unevenly, closing at net gains of 4 to 6 points.

The market opened very steady as Liverpool cables came in 9 to 10 points better than due. Manchester cabled there was an improved business with South America and more mills were restarting. First trades here showed gains of 13 to 15 points with December at 7.04.

This initial gain, due to cables and heavy rains in the central belt, attracted hedge selling which continued a good part of the morning and, before midsession, December had dropped to 6.98 and January to 6.98, or down 9 to 12 points from previous early highs but still 1 to 3 points above the previous close. Around midsession the market, based on the detailed weather reports showing much rain in the belt and on some price fixing, recovering 8 to 9 points of the previous loss.

The market was narrow all afternoon and moderate trade caused prices to gradually ease again until December traded down 17 to 19 points from the highs of the morning. There was a rally of 10 points on December right at the end on covering and on an advance in stocks. That month closed at 6.88 or 6 points net higher for the day.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 7 points down.

Port receipts 47,587, for week 109,290, for season 955,570, last season 768,788. Exports 34,685; for week 77,886, for season 893,086, last season 511,101. Port stock 3,410,936. Last year 3,004,991. Our shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 105,736, last year 54,808. Spot sales at southern markets 42,169, last year 39,375.

Futures closed steady at net advances of 4 to 6 points.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20. (AP)—A higher opening in cotton today was not fully maintained, but final prices on the board of trade were steady, 7-12 points net higher.

The opening was 17-17 points higher on cables that were about 9 points better than due and reports of heavy rains in the central belt. The market held within a narrow range all morning with a tendency to sag in comparatively light business. Prices rallied in late trading in sympathy with higher securities. Heavy rains fell in the Mississippi valley and Alabama and lighter ones over North Georgia and South Carolina. Further rain is expected in Georgia and the Carolinas and unsettlement and part cloudy in the central area.

Earned $1.29 per share in first half of 1932 against $1.84 last year. Marketable securities carried at $27,000,000 had market value at end of 1931 of $15,000,000. Financial position strong. Stock is classed as a business man's type of investment. Current annual dividend rate $3.

T. H. P.—How are Tobacco Products of New Jersey debenture 6½s of 2022 rated? Any information you have on these bonds will be appreciated.

Answer—Tobacco Products of New Jersey 6½ per cent collateral trust debentures of 2022 were issued in connection with the reorganization of Tobacco Products of Virginia. They are a direct obligation of company and secured by a pledge of the lease agreement with American Tobacco company and by the assignment of the stock of subsidiaries owning the revisionary interest in the cigaret and tobacco brands covered by the lease, which has 81 years to run. Rental of $2,500,000 annually received under lease constitutes entire source of revenue, out of which is paid corporate expenses, and interest and amortization charges on the issue. It is estimated annual rental will be sufficient to cover interest requirements and amortize this issue by maturity in 2022. Should American Tobacco company purchase outright the leased brands, these debentures become due and payable. The debentures are issued in coupon form in denominations of $1,000 and $500, and are rated as a sound investment.

Stock Prices Shake Off Early Stagnancy And Close With Rally

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. (US)—Stock prices staged a brisk recovery toward the close of a session today which up to the last hour was virtually stagnant.

The immediate incentive for the spurt out of several days of dullness was not apparent from news developments, so that the logical explanation presumably rested in the improved technical position of the market itself.

Refusal of the general list to follow the recent decided weakness of the leading steel shares had indicated to competent observers that the greater part of the necessary liquidation had been completed.

Dullness in prices and volume was immensely heartening to the genuine bulls, as distinct from those who were over anxious to rush prices forward regardless of the inevitable consequences such as terminated the last upswing. In fact, an additional period of quietness would have been welcome to the more conservative.

That the market was able to move out of the range of dullness on the upside was convincing proof of the value of an extended period of quietness whenever price movement or volume is exaggerated.

More than anything else, the market was lacking constructive leadership. Steel common having discouraged bull speculation by its persistent price shrinkage, another issue had to be brought forward to steer speculative sentiment away from the depressing steel performance.

In this need, United Aircraft proved a ready instrument for the bull forces. The issue advanced more than four points net and the entire list followed its leadership. The United Aircraft group was helped immensely by news of a sizable order received from foreign nations.

With the encouragement obtained from United's action, Douglas Aircraft joined the advance and showed a net gain of more than two points. Douglas is the favored issue of a powerful speculative group which believes the aviation issues will be among the most sensational performers of the next bull swing. It was rumored that a highly advantageous offer will be made shortly to the Douglas stockholders to turn in their holdings for another issue.

Throughout the stock list, prices turned upward toward the close, with the result that final prices were the best of the day and in some instances canceled several days' reaction.

Steel preferred shared with United Aircraft credit for turning the list upward, the senior steel issue recovering almost four points for the day. Steel common naturally followed, and closed up 1%. The junior issue had accumulated an increased short interest during the last few days, in itself providing some measure of support for the stock.

There was a report that an aggressive speculative group had been in part responsible for Steel preferred's sharp reaction, but the story was without confirmation. Only a modest amount of short selling, in any event, could have taken place in the preferred.

A new speculative favorite was brought forward in Missouri-Kansas-Texas, which enjoyed a large turnover. Sponsors for the stock would win more support if the same road's bonds showed similar bull enthusiasm.

Delaware, Lackawana and Western continued its active fluctuations, winding up three points higher on the day. American Can jumped 2¾ points on dismissal of suits against the company. Montgomery-Ward was aggressively sponsored by a new pool recently formed in the stock.

Railroad stocks confirmed speculative opinions by showing the best relative advance of the three major groups. With politics virtually eliminated from their nearby prospects, by reason of the safe and sane policy adopted by both major political parties, the rails are left entirely to the dictates of actualities, and of speculation.

The rails as a group have displayed rather impressive resistance to selling for several days, notwithstanding the setback of Monday, and continuance of such firmness would undoubtedly stimulate the entire list. Especially so since the technical position of the market had been greatly improved by the recent forced or voluntary liquidation and by the price deflation which coincided with the selling. Trading today totaled only 1,300,000 shares.

Stroud To Offer Big-Time Rodeo For Jubilee Crowd, Says Burnett

Wichita Falls will have a real rodeo at the 50th anniversary jubilee and homecoming next week in the opinion of Tom L. Burnett, chairman of the jubilee rodeo committee and noted ranchman and capitalist of Iowa Park. The rodeo will be under the direction of Leonard Stroud, nationally famous rodeo promoter and performer, and is predicted to be the largest for this season in the Southwest.

"Stroud is a good rodeo performer," Mr. Burnett said, "and he knows how to put on a good show. The Wichita Falls jubilee rodeo will be all that Leonard Stroud says it will."

Stroud was a performed in Burnett's first rodeo in Wichita Falls in 1917, and is referred to by Mr. Burnett as "a good boy and a mighty fine showman."

Rodeo Chairman

Tom Burnett assured 50th anniversary association officials Tuesday that Leonard Stroud's five-performance rodeo that will be a golden jubilee feature next week is the best western sports entertainment that can be secured. He pointed out that the scores of arena artists entering the events, establishes the show as a major rodeo of the nation.

Pioneer of Section

Mr. Burnett is one of the outstanding pioneers of this section. Born in Denton county, on the old original 6666 ranch, in 1871, he made his first trip from Fort Worth to Wichita Falls about 1880. "It took me four days to make that trip on horseback," he said, "because there were no bridges and very poor roads up here." Wichita Falls then included one general store and two houses, all of logs, and Mr. Burnett's father hauled lumber from the Tatum Lumber company at Fort Worth to build the first wood house in this territory. Groceries were also hauled by wagon from Fort Worth and Mr. Burnett estimated that it took approximately one month to make the round trip.

He came to this section to settle in 1890 and lived with his father on the 6666 ranch northwest of Iowa Park.

Since 1900 he has been active in rodeo work and has promoted several shows in Fort Worth and Dallas in addition to his numerous exhibitions at Wichita Falls.

$4,000 in Prizes Posted

The five-performance show at the jubilee celebration promises to be an old-fashioned real wild west rodeo, with bulldogging, roping, bronc riding and all the thrills that ever graced a cowboy show. Approximately 200 men and women, supplying their own stock, are expected to enter, competing for more than $4,000 in cash prizes.

Promoter Stroud and Mrs. Mayme Stroud will offer exhibitions in trick riding and trick roping at each performance.

BILLBOARD DRIVE OPENS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden.—Stockholm will soon start a drive to eliminate billboards and other forms of advertising along roads, Axel Dahlberg, real estate department head, has announced. At special points there will be bulletin boards for the addresses of garages.

Iowa Park Will Join Police Radio Network

Iowa Park is the latest community to join the police network of station KFZI, shortwave broadcasting station operated by the Wichita Falls police department.

The Iowa Park city council has voted to install a short wave receiving set in that city. The Burkburnett police department and the county sheriff's office had previously become part of the network.

JURY ACQUITS L. MONTGOMERY

Case Against Hight Reduced To Misdemeanor

Trials of two defendants indicted by the July grand jury on felony charges were completed before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court Tuesday, with one prompt acquittal and a reduction of the charge from felony to misdemeanor in the other case when given to the jury.

Louis Montgomery, placed on trial Monday afternoon on a charge of robbery, was acquitted Monday afternoon after the jury had deliberated only long enough to write its verdict. The youth was accused of being one of two men who allegedly hijacked a young couple near the Seymour road on the night of June 3 and ran away also with the victims' car.

Positive identification of the defendant was lacking in the state's case. The defense sought Tuesday to establish an alibi. The defendant's mother testified that he left Wichita Falls on the evening of June 3 en route to Longview, and other witnesses testified that Montgomery was in Longview on June 4.

Testimony given in the case of H. A. (Blondy) Hight, charged with theft over $50, was completed late Tuesday afternoon, with the court reducing the charge to a misdemeanor. Defense attorneys had centered their efforts on showing that the Ford automobile, one linen suit, one woolen suit, and a flashlight allegedly stolen did not represent a valuation of $50. Assistant District Attorney George W. Anderson asked the court to reduce the charge to a misdemeanor (theft under $50). In dismissing the jury for the night, Judge Martin stated that the change in the charge would be covered in the court's charge to be heard Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Anderson stated that the following cases probably will be called for trial Wednesday: Louis Aguirre, burglary; J. B. (Dink) Moore, theft over $50; and May Curtis, negro, assault to murder.

Water District Sued For $50,000

Suit for $50,000 for alleged permanent disability resulting from injuries was filed in district court here Tuesday by W. M. Levell against the Wichita County Water Improvement district No. 1, and others.

The plaintiff, a man of 29 years, cites in his petition that on Aug. 10 he was in the employment of the defendant company, and was engaged in transporting heavy pieces of stone across an irrigation canal to repair a wash in the bank. The wheelbarrow which he allegedly was operating was wheeled across the ditch on a plank. While the plaintiff stood between the handles of the wheelbarrow unloading its cargo, a fellow workman standing at the front of the vehicle lifted a heavy stone from one side of the load. The wheelbarrow, unbalanced, fell to the bottom of the ditch, according to the petition. Tripped by handles between which he stood, the plaintiff claims to have been thrown into the ditch while holding a heavy rock in his arms.

Charging total and permanent disability because of injuries to his back, the plaintiff asks $50,000 and costs of the suit. The action was filed by E. W. Napier, local attorney.

Store Gives Boys Chance To View World Series

Wichita Falls boys between the ages of 10 and 16 years will have the opportunity of competing in a nation-wide contest for selection of three youths to view one of the 1932 world series baseball game as guests of the W. T. Grant company, which operates one of their 424 stores in this city.

The contest is offered in cooperation with the manufacturers of Babe Ruth sweat shirts and entry blanks for writing 20 words about the shirts are obtainable at the store here. Two winners will be selected in Wichita Falls Saturday night of this week and the two youths will receive a baseball autographed by Babe Ruth or an autographed picture of the famous star.

National wipners will be selected in New York Monday and they will be guests at a game either in Chicago or New York with all expenses paid.

TWO-HEADED SNAKE CAUGHT

FORT WORTH.—Buck Wolfe pulled in his minnow net and saw snakes, one with two heads. Fangs darted from two mouths and four eyes glared. Wolfe took the freak water moccasin home, and put it in a fruit jar of alcohol in order that the skeptic might believe.

C-C Leaders Seek Lower County Tax

Further discussion of the Wichita county budget for 1933 with a view to effecting further reductions in the county tax levy for the coming year is scheduled for 2 p. m. Wednesday when the commissioners court will convene to hear representatives of the local chambers of commerce in a plea for a 50-cent rate.

Declaring that the 20 per cent cut voted by the commissioners Monday in reducing the 1933 rate from 75 to 60 cents, was insufficient, members of the chamber of commerce tax committees sent Edgar Mann, chairman, and J. L. Jackson Jr. before the court Tuesday afternoon. The result was an agreement to hold another hearing Wednesday afternoon, although some members of the court expressed their conviction that the 1933 levy already is as low as safety permits.

The commissioners spent most of Tuesday in completing their work as an equalization board, and adjourned finally for the year.

K. M. A. SEEKS 500 PICKERS

Labor Bureau Asked to Aid In Securing Workers

At least 500 cotton pickers are needed now in the Kemp City community, according to information given the federal employment bureau here Tuesday by F. D. Johnson, manager of the Kemp City gin.

Houses and tents will be furnished pickers going to work in the Kemp City neighborhood. Applicants for such employment should go to the gin, from which point Mr. Johnson said he would direct them promptly to farms on which they may begin picking.

Word received from the chamber of commerce at Vernon Tuesday indicated that sufficient pickers for that section already were on hand. Continued inpouring of applicants for work in the cotton fields there will result in a troublesome surplus, it was said.

SCHOOL PUPILS GIVEN HOLIDAY

Students to Attend Fiesta Events Tuesday

The public schools and Junior college of Wichita Falls will celebrate Wichita Falls' birthday party next Tuesday during the golden jubilee with a holiday, Supt. H. D. Fillers said Tuesday. Plans for the celebration were outlined to high school and college students Tuesday morning by Walter D. Cline, jubilee president, at an assembly address at the college auditorium.

All pupils who attend school on Monday will be counted as in classes on Tuesday due to the educational nature of the historical exhibition in charge of Lester Jones and A. W. (Jake) Avis, and the parade and political address, Mr. Fillers said. Through this arrangement the schools will not be required to hold an extra Saturday session to make up the lost time. Parents are urged to cooperate with the schools by keeping the children in classe son Monday and Wednesday.

Parade Committee to Complete Work Soon

Wichita Falls merchants, clubs or other organizations who have made temporary plans for participating in the golden jubilee civic parade next Tuesday are urged to complete definite arrangements at once. Chairman Kindel Paulk of the parade committee announced Tuesday that plans for the line of mareh, number of bands needed and organization of divisions is being delayed.

Fifty decorated automobiles and trucks have been definitely pledged for the event and 30 additional entries are expected.
