BIG, AREN'T THEY?—Hull Belmore, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Belmore of Odessa, is astonished at the piece of hail he is holding and wonders if they can get any bigger. In the foreground is a collection of hail gathered by neighborhood children and a baseball for comparison. The largest hail reported at Odessa during the recent storm was 10 inches in circumference. The piece to the right of the baseball measures nine inches in circumference.

GOVERNMENT ECONOMY FAVORED

House Leader Will Oppose Tax Boost

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 11—Rep. Doughton (D-NC) head of the tax-writing House ways and means committee, said after a White House call today that he favors rigid government economies to avoid tax increases.

Doughton told reporters that President Truman had asked him to come to the White House for a general discussion of the tax situation and other matters. Doughton's committee has made no move yet to frame a tax bill in line with the President's January request for $4,000,000,000 in new taxes.

Adverse Business Effect

Doughton said he hopes it will "not be necessary" to impose new taxes because they "might affect business adversely."

In response to questions, he said he thought the President knew how he felt. But he did not say what Mr. Truman had told him.

Doughton made it clear that his committee will not make any decision on what to do about taxes until it complete consideration of proposed changes in the social security act. He indicated it would be at least a month before any tax discussion can be held.

Doughton's remarks were one more indication of apparently increasing sentiment in Congress that the government must cut down on spending, rather than increase taxes, in an effort to keep income and spending in balance.

Saving Being Sought

A sizeable "economy bloc" has taken shape in the Senate. It is trying now to force a five per cent saving in appropriations to run the Treasury and Postoffice departments in the year beginning July 1.

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's council of economic advisers, is reported to be advising economy and opposing a tax increase as large as the $4,000,000,000 Mr. Truman asks.

The President asked the additional taxes because, he said, it appeared present levies would not bring it enough money to cover all the government's proposed spending.

Former Party Member Airs Soviet Plans

25,000 Communists In America Slated To Back Russians

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 11 — A former Communist party member says Moscow has been planning for a war with the United States for 20 years.

And Paul Crouch, now a mechanical department employe of the Miami Daily News, says further that 25,000 Reds in the United States would help Russia with sabotage if war came.

Crouch spent 17 years in the party. His statement that the Kremlin has been planning for war for two decades appears in a series of newspaper articles on his inside activities in the party.

Slav Groups Probed

The articles have been added to the evidence the House un-American activities committee has been getting from Crouch.

While the House group collected information about Communist activities in general, a Senate judiciary subcommittee delved into alleged subversive activities among Slav elements in this country.

It called William H. Smyth, described by investigators as an American business man who spent many years in Yugoslavia, and Bogdan Raditsa, former Yugoslav information officer in this country who broke with Marshal Tito, to tell what they know about such activities.

The subcommittee is taking testimony on a bill by Senator McCarran (D-Nev) to tighten immigration restrictions and prevent an influx of foreign agents coming here under diplomatic immunity.

Woman Missing

Yesterday it heard a former Polish military attache here describe the Polish embassy as "the center of spying apparatus and subversive activities directed against the United States."

The House committee has not made public the testimony obtained from Crouch last week by its investigating staff.

One of his articles says that years ago in New York Mrs. Juliet Poyntz was killed by the Communists for squealing on them and her body thrown in the East river.

Once a leading Red, Mrs. Poyntz disappeared in 1937. She was declared legally dead in 1944. New BERLIN, May 11 — The last hours of the Berlin blockade ticked away tonight in a spirit of celebration and deliverance from events which brought the East and West almost to the brink of war.

The end of the 327-day siege of Berlin was set for 4:01 p. m. Lubbock time today, or 12:01 a. m. Thursday, Berlin time. Trains and trucks lined up near the border between the British and Russian zones of Germany. The dropping of roadblocks will start them along the 100 miles of Russian-controlled territory that makes an island of Germany's greatest city.

Trains Made Ready

Sixteen freight trains were ready, along with scores of trucks, automobiles and barges. The trains from the West carry coal and food —the things that the 2,000,000 western Berliners have gotten only through the might of the American-British airlift in the last 10 months.

At the same time the western powers will relax their counter blockade. Under that they kept goods from flowing into western Germany from the eastern (Russian-controlled) zone. But it is the Russians who take a diplomatic defeat out of the Berlin blockade; western leaders say the Russians, not reckoning with the airlift, thought they could squeeze the West out of Berlin.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, commented today:

Confidence Renewed

"The West's stand showed the determination of the free nations not to yield in the face of pressure. This undoubtedly resulted in renewed confidence of the people seeking a free way of life in Europe. The Soviet effort to dominate Berlin by oppression brought Communism to its lowest political strength in Germany in many years."

The American military government declared the Germans, tested by the blockade, had shown willingness to fight for their freedoms — for the first time since 1933.

It was like county fair day at Helmstedt, the British zone town which is the main gateway for transportation entering the Russian zone enroute to Berlin. Traffic jammed the ancient, winding streets. Five passenger cars arrived on the railroad from Frankfurt, to be attached to a British military

Texas Is Urged To Keep Rent Control

Air Force Says Decontrol Would Mean Hardship For Thousands Of Army Men

(By The United Press)

BARKSDALE FIELD, Shreveport, La., May 11—A high ranking officer of the Air Force Training Command has written to Gov. Beauford H. Jester of Texas, opposing statewide rent decontrols on grounds it would adversely affect military fliers.

Maj. Gen. Robert Burns, deputy commander of the training command, pointed out that 47,500 Air Force personnel were active in Texas now and many are on "permanent assignment."

His letter to Jester, written May 6 and made public only today, noted that limited incomes would force them, if rentals became too high, to separate from their families and "experience has shown" that re-enlistments rarely are obtained when the men are forced into such separations.

Here are some excerpts from the letter, released by Burns' office:

"Such action—rent decontrol—would most seriously affect the welfare of thousands of officers and airmen of the Air Training Command who are assigned to bases in Texas.

"As such hardships . . . would inevitably result in the impairment of our operations, I most respectfully . . . ask that our people be given full consideration in the deliberations of both yourself and members of the Texas legislature . . ."

It listed these Texas Air Force bases and populations:

Randolph AFB, San Antonio, 5,000.

Lackland AFB, San Antonio, 22,000.

Goodfellow AFB, San Angelo, 3,000.

Perrin AFB, Sherman-Denison,

Rankin Blasts Amendment By Texas Member

Disability, Need Are Requirements; Cost Cut Sharply

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 11. — A dissension-split House veterans committee today approved a modified pension bill adding about $10,000,000,000 to existing veterans benefits over the next 50 years.

The new bill in effect liberalizes and writes into law regulations of the Veterans administration already in force for disabled and needy veterans. It is a follow-up to a hundred-billion dollar measure which failed to pass.

The final committee product contained an amendment by Rep. Teague (D-Tex) barring pensions for veterans able to work more than half time.

Rankin Hits Amendment

The unemployability requirement was hotly opposed by Chairman Rankin (D-Miss). He voted against it in committee and threatened to carry his fight against his own committee's bill onto the floor of the House.

Emerging from the committee room, where members drew up a final draft behind closed doors, Rankin told reporters:

"The Teague amendment cuts out six-sevenths of the World War I veterans aged 65 or over. It is the forst blow they have received to date since the economy act of 1933."

The economy act reduced veterans pensions.

As the bill now stands, it establishes pension benefits totaling approximately a billion dollars a year through the year 2000.

Income Is Limitation

It provides, in general, monthly pensions of $72 for disabled and needy veterans aged 65 or over, and $60 for veterans under 65 demonstrating total disability and need.

Need is measured by a proposed income regulations of the VA and adding benefits of $100 a month for helpless veterans requiring aid and atendance, the bill adds some $10,000,000,000 to befenits already being paid under VA schedules, at the rate of some $200,000,000 a year.

Benefits Estimated

The VA estimated its present rate of benefits, now paid under its own discretionary regulations, would total about $37,000,000,000 if continued in force for the next 50 years.

The bill sets these regulations up as law, and adds the additional amounts for an over-all total estimated somewhere above $47,000,000,000).

Youth Held In Girl's Slaying

ROANOKE, Va., May 11. (AP)—Lee Scott, 16-year-old Eagle scout and church choir member, today faces a charge of murder in the church slaying of Dana Marie Weaver, 16-year-old schoolmate.

Detective Capt. Frank H. Webb announced simply that Scott had been charged in a warrant signed by Police Judge S. R. Price.

"That is all that I can give you at this time," Webb said last night. He added that the case was "one of the worst since I have been in the department."

Stained Clothing Found

Webb, however, did tell reporters that Scott had directed police to an alley where a coffee sack missing from the church was found. He said Scott also told them where they could find his clothing, which police later found darkly stained. They believed the stains are blood. A broken pop bottle was found in the coffeet sack. Police said the girl apparently had been clubbed to death with a bottle.

Dana Marie's body was found Monday morning by the janitor of Christ Episcopal church in the church kitchen. There were signs of a desperate struggle by the girl. Her fingernails were broken and two pop bottles, one of them smashed, were on the floor.

She had gone to the church Sunday evening to join a young people's group, unaware that the group was on a picnic. She frequently joined the group on Sunday nights although she was not a member of the church.

Face Was Scratched

Police yesterday received reports that Scott's face was scratched and they proceeded to take him quietly from class in Jefferson high school to police headquarters

Acheson Gives Parley Stand

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson indicated today that success of the coming Big-Four conference on Germany will hinge on how far the Russians will go along with plans already laid out by the western powers.

He told a news conference the United States intends to demand full guarantees of civil rights for the German people and will not accept any proposals which do not provide for such guarantees.

Whether solutions can be reached, Acheson declared, depends on whether the Russians will make or consider proposals that will not retard in any way the successful agreements already made by the western powers for fitting Germany into the family of free European nations.

Airlift Praised

In setting the limits of American maneuvers at Paris, Acheson went further than any top American official had gone to suggest publicly that if major compromises are to be made for agreement on Germany they will have to be made by Russia.

Acheson praised to the limit the accomplishments of the Berlin airlift pilots and credited their efforts with defeat of the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

But he declared that while everybody is delighted that the airlift brought an end to the blockade no one should regard this development alone as having solved the problems of Germany.

Actually, Acheson said, the end of the restrictions on Berlin merely restores the situation to what it was 10 months ago and makes renewed negotiations possible.

STORAGE SPACE IS BIG PROBLEM

Texas' Wheat Crop To Near '47 High

(By The Associated Press)

A near-record 1949 wheat crop appears assured for Texas. The problem is where to put it.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates the crop at 123,216,000 bushels—not far behind the record crop of 124,270,000 in 1947.

Some Texas experts think it will go even higher. Among them is G. E. Blewett, secretary of the Texas Grain and Feed Dealers association.

Blewett said in Fort Worth today that present favorable conditions make him believe the 1949 crop will exceed the bumper and record 1947 crops.

Base Is May 1 Conditions

The Department of Agriculture estimate is based on May 1 conditions. Since then there has been a good deal of welcome moisture in the Panhandle and Plains country. There also has been some damaging hail.

Blewett said the storage problem is causing a headache to the entire grain industry. Actually, he said, Texas has more storage space for grain than ever before. But much of that space already is occupied by tremendous carryover from past crops.

Recently the Santa Fe railroad warned that this stored grain—much of it destined for export—should be moved out quickly, to make way for the big 1949 crop. Federal government experts are working on the problem. The southwest shippers advisory board will meet in Dallas next Thursday and Friday to tackle the problem.

The Department of Agriculture forecast estimated Texas' per-acre yield this year at 17 bushels. This was considerably up from the 15.5 estimate for Oklahoma.

The big Texas crop will make up a large part of what the Agriculture department says will be

Auto Dispute Talks Pushed

DETROIT, May 11 (AP)—Ford and the CIO United Auto workers went back to work today on their stubborn speed-up dispute.

Without any outward signs that a settlement was near, the company and union resumed negotiations on the seventh day of a strike of 65,000 men.

Other thousands, both in Ford factories and supplying plants, are also idle.

Progress Unknown

The union charges Ford with a 10 per cent production rate increase at the Rouge assembly and Lincoln-Mercury plants. Ford says it has increased its manpower to compensate this. The union disagrees.

Yesterday's negotiations were adjourned without any announced progress.

For a time a picket line of about 75 men marched at the building where company and union officials were negotiating.

UAW President Walter Reuther said it was a demonstration "engineered by Communists."

Scene Is Quiet

The scene at the picketed Rouge and Lincoln-Mercury plants remained quiet.

In the meantime the city of Detroit took steps to meet any drain on its welfare funds from financially pressed strikers.

The city council approved the issuance of $2,000,000 in short term notes "to meet any possible contingency."

Doctor Again Loses Appeal

AUSTIN, May 11. (AP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals ruled again today that Dr. Lloyd I. Ross, San Antonio surgeon, must die in the electric chair for murder in the slaying of Mrs. Gertrude York.

The court on Nov. 3 had rejected Dr. Ross' appeal from the death sentence. Today's action was refusal of his motion for rehearing.

Daughter Escaped

Ross was found guilty of murder by a Fayette county jury in the rifle killing of Mrs. York, one of four members of a prominent San Antonio family slain on a Comal county country road May 25, 1947.

In the York automobile that Sunday morning en route to church were Willard York; his wife, Gerftrude; their son, John 9; their daughter, Ann, 13; and Mrs. Mary York, York's 67-year-old mother.

Only Ann escaped death in the shooting.

Millionaire Oilman Is Robbed At Tyler

TYLER, May 11. (UP)—A millionaire oilman was bound, gagged and robbed last night in a Tyler hotel room of nearly $600.

P. G. Lake, Tyler, oil operator who has extensive holdings in the East Texas field, told police he could not identify the middle-aged masked bandit.

In his haste to escape, the bandit dropped a loaded pistol and $101 on the floor.

Prominent Midland Man Death Victim

MIDLAND, May 11. (AP)—Elliott H. Barron, 58, former Midland county judge and long prominent in civic, business and ranching circles of West Texas, died in a Galvestion hospital today.

He had been a patient in the hospital for three weeks.

Barron was president of the Midland Livestock show and co-chairman of the highway commitee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce. He was a former president of the Midland-Ector-Andrews Livestock Protective association of the Midland Rotary club.

Man Falls To Death In Downtown Dallas

DALLAS, May 11. (UP)—A man tentatively identified as John Milton Clark, 55, fell to his death today, apparently from the 22nd floor of the skyscraper Magnolia building in the heart of the business district.

Homicide detectives said the victim was seen entering a men's room on the 22nd floor of the building at about 8:15 a. m.

The body was found about a half hour later, on a work bench in an alleyway beneath the Magnolia tower.

Coed Beauties Named At Texas University

AUSTIN, May 11 (AP)—Eight Blue Bonnet Belles of 1949 were named at the University of Texas Tuesday night.

Solon Reveals Farm Program

WASHINGTON, May 11. (AP)—A new farm program, under which farmers could buy government "price insurance" on major crops, was proposed today by Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the House committee on agriculture.

If approved by Congress, it would guarantee—beginning next year—100 per cent of parity price supports for farmers who bought the insurance and cooperated in production controls.

New Plan Prepared

(Parity is a price intended to set a fair relationship between what farmers produce and what they buy).

Cooley told a newsman he and Rep. Poage (D-Tex) are preparing the new plan as a substitute for both the administration's "production payment" farm program proposal and the "flexible price support" program enacted last year by Congress.

Details Are Given

Cooley's plan would work something like this:

1. Production of major crops would be controlled by the present acreage allotment of marketing quota laws, to keep farm supplies pegged to the demand.

2. Farmers would pay an insurance premium—the rate yet to be decided upon—for which the government would guarantee full parity price support on their crops. Farmers not paying for the insurance would get no support whatever.

3. If a crop brought a market price bove parity, the government would keep the premium money paid by the farmers.

Friends Of Tahoka Farmer On The Job

(Special To The Journal)

TAHOKA, May 11 — The spirit of good neighborliness reigned 12 miles west of here today when neighbors of John Jackson gathered to put in his crop.

Mr. Jackson, 60 years of age and ill, is unable to do his own planting, so his friends are doing it for him.

Twenty tractors are at work, with almost double that many neighbors. Mr. Jackson, who is a pioneer Lynn county resident, has been on the farm for the past six or eight years.

The entire neighborhood group brought food into the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Newt Barham and a community lunch was set up there. Mrs. Barham, who is Mr. Jackson's sister, said her brother farms about 500 acres.

New Drug That Can Conquer Virus Pneumonia Discovered

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, May 11—Medical science now has a drug that can conquer virus pneumonia and perhaps show the way for an attack on other virus diseases, such as the common cold.

The new drug found to be effective against virus pneumonia is aureomycin, a golden-colored substance that was discovered in the earth.

In a report today to the American Journal of Medicine, three physicians disclosed that aureomycin produced good results in 19 out of 20 cases of virus pneumonia. Penicillin and the sulfa drugs have failed to bring results in that type of pneumonia.

The group reporting the new tests was composed of Dr. Yale Kneeland, jr., Dr. Harvey M. Rose and Dr. Count Dillon Gibson, of the department of medicine in the college of physicians and surgeons at Columbia University.

Patients who received the new drug were in Presbyterian hospital and at other New York hospitals. The physi-

Berlin Blockade Resulted In Gains For West, General Says

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, May 11.— Tested by the Russians blockade of Berlin, Germans showed their willingness to fight for their freedoms, Gen. Lucius D. Clay said today.

The retiring American commander in Germany listed that as one of nine technical and political gains for the west in reviewing blockade developments on the eve of the lifting of transport restrictions.

Germans Take Stand

Clay said in an interview that he considered the following developments gains which probably would not have accrued to the west if the Soviet had not blockaded Berlin.

1. "The definite stand of the Germans for the first time since 1933 against efforts to interfere with their freedoms in Berlin was the most outstanding development. Its effort was felt throughout Germany.

2. "Another gain in a negative sense was that the Soviet effort to dominate Berlin by oppression brought Communism to its lowest political strength in Germany in many years.

Air Technique Advanced

3. "In a broader political significance, the west's stand showed the determination of the free nations not to yield in the face of pressure. This undoubtedly resulted in renewed confidence of the people seeking a free way of life everywhere in Europe.

4. "The airlift demonstrated that air transport can be run on schedule just as any form of transport. It has developed a technique comparable in its exactitude with the long-established railroad and steamship systems.

5. "It (the airlift) advanced by many years experimentation in various forms of equipment such as ground control landings, etc.

6. "It demonstrated the value of definite traffic patterns over an entire route instead of just at airports, to achieve maximum cargo use.

Personnel Trained

7. "Experience in these and other techniques will be of the greatest value in both civil and military operations in the future.

8. "The United States and Britain have developed from this experience staff officers who have the know-how to run vast air operations with confidence and skill that did not exist before.

9. "It demonstrated the air ability to support airborne armies on a scale not envisioned before and opened new eras for exploitation in this field."

Clay said last night the U. S. wants to see Germany united provided all sections have the same guarantees of freedom as are contained in the west German constitution adopted at Bonn last Sunday.

He spoke at a farewell ceremony in the German bizonal economic council at Frankfurt.

He told the Germans: To understand liberty, to have the will never to give it up and to use their liberty properly.

Chile may exempt the wine industry from the sales tax, to encourage production.

Man Loses Money On Unknown Horse

PHILADELPHIA, May 11 (AP)—Just as a matter of curiosity, Bernard Goodis wishes he knew the name of the horse he lost $32 on—without making a bet.

Goodis lost his wallet containing $32 several days ago. The next day, he told police, he received the empty wallet and a note in the mail.

"Next time you lose your wallet," the note read, "make sure you have more money in it and have a better wallet or I will not return it again. I put your money on a horse and, if it pays off, I will return your $32."

Apparently the horse didn't win. Goodis hasn't gotten his money back yet.

Japanese Property Worth $23,000,000 Is Distributed To Nations As Reparations

TOKYO, May 11 (AP)—The Japanese reparations question still is one of the major problems which the Allied nations must settle, but more than $23,000,000 worth of machinery and equipment already has been distributed to China, the Netherlands, Philippines and the United Kingdom under the interim program.

That was revealed by Brig. Gen. Patrick H. Tansey, who handles the reparations program for Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Gen. Tansey said thus far almost 17,000 items of metal working machinery and equipment had been distributed as follows:

China	$13,529,199.25
Netherlands	3,013,900.25
Philippines	4,855,943.00
United Kingdom	2,480,089.75
	$23,879,132.25

"Reports from these nations indicate that the equipment already is contributing to the rehabilitation of their war-damaged economies," Gen. Tansey said.

Under the provisions of the interim directive issued by the U. S. government in April, 1947, the four nations, other than the U. S., which suffered most of the ravages of the Pacific War and made the greatest contributions to the defeat of Japan, were authorized to receive 30 per cent of the Japanese industrial assets determined to be war facilities or excess to the needs of the peace-time economy of Japan.

The four nations selected were China, the Netherlands for the Dutch East Indies, the Philippines, and the United Kingdom for Malaya and Burma.

By the terms of this directive China was to receive 15 per cent and the other nations were to get five per cent each.

Twenty arsenals have been made available to these nations," Gen. Tansey said, "and 50 per cent of their machinery and equipment has been allocated and removed from Japan. An additional 25 per cent has been claimed and will be removed shortly."

Gen. Tansey said that pending final settlement of the reparations program, work has gone ahead on completing the inventories and evaluations of a large portion of the 870 plants now held in custody by the Allies. These plants are estimated to have a value of $850,000,000.00.

Swans Herded Away From Poisoned Lake

COEUR D'ALENE, Ida., May 11 (AP)—A seaplane is being used to enforce a "no parking law" against whistling swans on lead-poisoned lakes in the Couer d'Alene valley.

Hundreds of the swans were killed last year when they stopped on the lead-polluted lakes on their way to Canada.

This year the game department seaplane is herding the birds past the deadly lakes to unpolluted waters farther north.

German Attorneys Have Job Troubles

HAMBURG, Germany, May 11 (AP)—Some of the German lawyers who tried members of organizations like the S. S. (Elite Guard) had difficulty finding jobs after their task was finished, British Military Government reported.

One prosecutor had to take a job as a manual worker.

His foreman was a former S. S. official whom he had prosecuted some time previously.

The foreman "did not waste the opportunity which so unexpectedly came his way," a British official report dryly said. "The prosecutor has subsequently been found more suitable work in a military government office."

Chinese Communists Making Shanghai Situation Critical

SHANGHAI, May 11 (AP) — Chinese Communists, apparently living off the land, bore down swiftly today on coastal Fukien province.

At the same time the Red noose around Shankhai was tightened.

The Nationalist garrison here officially admitted these Red gains.

Unofficial reports indicated Hankow, big Yangtze port in central China, may be doomed. A three pronged Communist attack on Hankow seemed to be gathering momentum.

The Shankhai garrison communique today gave this picture:

1. A Red force of 2,000 men has attacked Kinki in Kiangsi province less than 50 miles from the Fukien boundary. Fukien is opposite the island of Formosa.

Village Cut Off

2. The Communists were attacking Kashan, 50 miles southeast of Shankhai. Communications with that city were severed at dawn. This usually means capture.

3. Thirty miles northwest of Shanghai the village of Chenmo in the Kunshan area was under Communist attack.

The communique gave no indication of the size of the two moves around Shanghai. Most actions in that area have been small scale.

The weight of the Communist offensive has been into southeastern China through Kiangsi and Chekiang provinces. This irregular front extends from Hangchow on the east to Lake Poyang on the west.

(The force attacking Kinki is part of the westward prong aimed for Fukien through Kiangsi. Kinki is 250 air miles southeast of Hangchow and 80 miles southeast of Nanchang, Kiangsi provincial capital. It is only 25 miles northeast of Nancheng.

(The eastward prong was reported yesterday by the Communist radio to be near Kiangshan in Chekiang province. Kiangshan is only 35 miles from the northern boundary of Fukien).

The situation at Hankow was not altogether clear. Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi, Hankow commander, had flown there from Canton. The Newspaper Sin Wan Pao said that part of the Wuchang-Hankow garrison in central China had been evacuated.

There were unofficial reports that a local Hankow peace move was underway. The majority of the 200,000 National troops there are expected to retreat southward before any large scale fighting takes place.

Here in Asia's largest city the problems of the war were overshadowed for most people by local economic worries. A cup of coffee today cost half a million Chinese yuan.

Automobile owners were forced to pay special defense taxes amounting to $30 U. S.

Five more Shanghai "subversives" were scheduled to be executed late in the day.

Foreigners Escape Edict

Chinese groaning under their burdens were not as lucky as foreign vehicle owners. The Chinese had to give up enough of their machines to give the garrison 900 trucks and 300 jeeps. Foreigners managed to gain exemption from this edict.

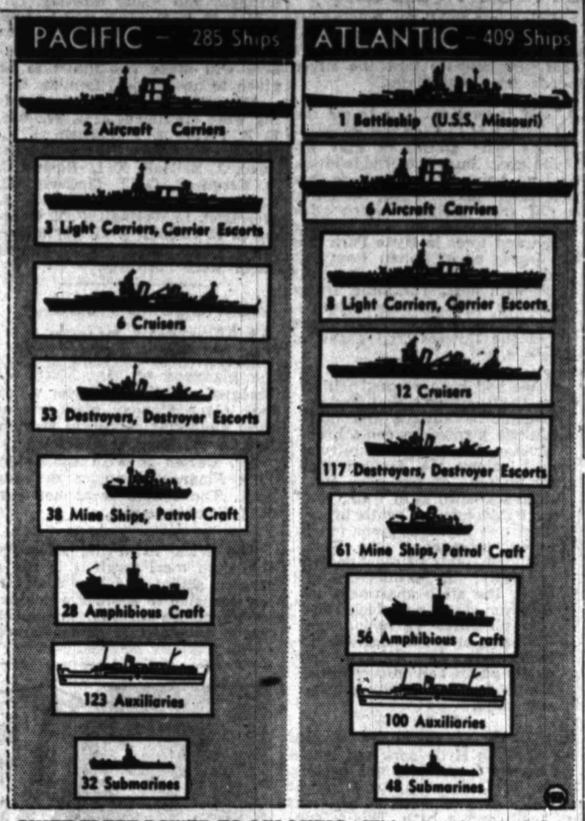

A new "soak the rich tax" was rumored about ready for collection. Municipal authorities were reported drafting a measure calling for the requisitioning of all public and private stocks of export goods. The goods would be sold to finance fuel for Shanghai.

Reports from cities occupied by the Reds during their drive south say the Reds are requisitioning rice all along the line. This would bear out reports the Reds, who now claim to be advancing at the rate of 26 miles a day, are living off the land.

These reports, published in Shanghai newspapers, said the occupied cities were orderly but that business and industries had not been revived to any great extent.

More bad news for the government appeared in the Shanghai newspaper Ta Kung Pao. It carried a dispatch from central Formosa, Chiang Kai-Shek's island bastion 100 miles off the Fukien coast, that the normally rich Taichung area was facing a drought. Water in the Sun-moon lake was reported falling rapidly.

Max Edward Trimborn, 45, who has competed for the last 10 years in the annual 54-mile Marathon race from Durban to Pietermaritzburg, South Africa, runs 15 miles every day to his work as a deep-sea diver.

SHIFT FLEET POWER TO ATLANTIC—With a great part of the U. S. fleet in "mothballs," the remainder of the Navy's 694 fighting ships will be distributed as shown here, according to the budget for fiscal 1950. Only one battleship, the USS Missouri, will remain in active service. It is significant that the Atlantic fleet will now outnumber the Pacific in all classes except auxiliary vessels.

Carter Gene White Of Garza County Winner Of 4-H Trip

COLLEGE STATION, May 11. (Spelcial)—Another Garza county 4-H boy, Carter Gene White of the Garnolia community, has been selected as a winner of one of the four coveted National 4-H Club Camp trips according to Floyd Lynch, state 4-H club leader of Texas A. and M. college.

Last fall Alvin Davis was named the National 4-H Leadership Award winner.

White, 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. White, a senior in Post High school and has started his tenth year of 4-H work. In 1948, White was awarded an Anderson-Clayton scholarship for $200 and in 1947 was a delegate to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. He has been president of his local 4-H club four times, president of the county organization three times, is a junior leader, and at this time is president of the district boys 4-H organization. He is active in school affairs and was recently named as the "school favorite." He has won district awards in rifle shooting and grass judging in addition to numerous county awards including leadership and the Gold Star.

Leaders Are Credited

White has completed demonstrations with swine, dairy cattle, beef calves, poultry, horses, cotton, grain sorghums and beef cattle. He has 70 ribbons to prove his ability as a showman. Much of his income has gone back into his demonstrations and for high school expenses. He believes in producing the best of everything.

White gives his local 4-H leaders, Geo. Sampson and Alvin Davis, along with his parents, credit for much of his success. His present County Agent is L. C. Herron and he pretty well sums up the reasons for Carter's success. Herron says, "Carter is outstanding not only in his 4-H work but in his school and community interests.

CARTER GENE WHITE

He goes out of his way to help younger 4-H members with their work and is never too busy to take on added responsibilities, he is a leader."

The trip to Washington, D. C., and National 4-H Camp will be made in June. The other delegates are: Marry Lee Schneider, Guadalupe county, Beverly Runnels, Brazoria county and Lue Ruth Stephens, Dallas county. The delegation will be accompanied by two extension service staff members from College Station. The four will represent the 110,000 4-H club members in Texas.

HST Stumps Iturbi With Chopin Sonata

WASHINGTON, May 11. (INS)—President Truman was reported last night to have Stumped an expert — none other than Jose Iturbi—with his piano playing at a party given by Attorney General Tom C. Clark.

Ray Henle, editor-in-chief of the Sunoco Three Star Extra radio show, reported that after the dinner Saturday night, Mr. Truman sat down at the piano and ran through a piece.

Then he looked up at the celebrated pianist and said:

Iturbi Can't Remember

"You know what that is, don't you?"

Iturbi responded: "Yes. I recognize the tune, but I don't know what it is."

Whereupon the president, who constantly surprises people by his extensive knowledge of music, told Iturbi:

"It's by Chopin—one of his few sonatas.

"It's sometimes called 'The Battle of Waterloo.'"

Iturbi conceded that in this instance, at least, it was his "Waterloo."

Diagnostic Critical Attitude Of Mind Falls Short On Helpful Understanding

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: In all humility and with the deepest interest in your work, I should like to offer the following thoughts:

We moderns deal too much in the diagnostic and critical attitude towards our fellows. It is not helpful, and actually it isn't meant to be. We adopt it not to help, but because it sounds smart and sophisticated and makes us feel complacently superior.

The critical attitude really reduces our ability to help, for it involves us in much contention and strife. I am not against a judicious rebuke or even firm denunciation when it is called for; but it is much easier to be righteously indignant than to be patient. It is fun to give advice, but hard to give it with love, with compassion and understanding—without which it is worthless.

SCIENTIFIC VIEW IS PARTLY BLIND

SCIENCE is working towards a well integrated mature human animal; but even if this should be attained by technical means, is still would not be anything final, for man is potentially more than that—as every man knows, try as he will to ignore or deny it.

The New Testament writers, while individually different in their speaking, understood far better than we the "ins and outs" of human consciousness. They saw a man whole and in all his relationships. Our scientific minds see man only in part.

Man has within himself the capacity of experiencing a quality of life called by Christ "eternal." The precise meaning I don't understand, but I believe it to be true. Christ was able to transform even the most ignorant into wise men; to make whole those who had been given up as beyond hope; and to make great saints of previously afflicted or destructive men.

COMPASSION IS KEY TO HELPING OTHERS

JESUS was the most scathing, the most penetrating and the most demanding critic; but at the same time He had power because all was held in great personal meekness and a great unselfish love. To the sick and confused His message was: "Neither do I condemn thee." Or, "Thy sins are forgiven thee; take up thy bed and go into thine house." He is still the Great Physician.

I don't suppose it is your role to teach religion; but I would suggest that you read a bit of the New Testament daily before you write your column. Through contact with Christ we are helped beyond our own power, and our partial efforts are completed and made effective.

Leave dragon-slaying to other writers and consider that you are coming to the lame, the halt and the blind, and many who are possessed with devils like the cripple at the pool of Bethesda—who had suffered much at the hands of physicians—many of your correspondents have no man to help them. With sincere good wishes. Signed. R. J.

HASTE, PRESSURE, BLIGHT AWARENESS

DEAR R. J.: The critical attitude, when empty of creative insight, is a hasty ill-considered offering. And if it is indeed more prevalent in our times than ever before, perhaps we should recognize it as a by-product of the driving pressure and cumulative fatigue that characterize our machine-age civilization, in which even "thinkers" are assigned to "produce" at assembly line speed.

Indispensable to any effort to approximate wholeness of understanding is leisure for contemplatives stillness of mind, so that truth may enter in and be preceived. Jesus demonstrated His awareness of this requirement by periodically withdrawing from the multitudes, and from His teaching, to revivify His inner contact with the "eternal,"—in circumstances that rested the fibers of His physical being. M. H.

Waiters Are Reluctant

Bill For Meal In England Resembles Market Report

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Margaret Turner, Woman's Editor of Lubbock Avalanche and Journal publications, writes today from London. Her European vacation will be concluded next week.)

LONDON.—After eating a tasteless dinner in a cold dining room, served by reluctant waiters, we have decided that if England is to put in a fair bid for her share of the 500,00 visitors expected abroad this summer, she must try to make the tourist possibilities more interesting and attractive.

Britain's food situation is indeed deplorable and is the topic for debates in Parliament and long editorials in the newspapers. Housewives are rationed to eight pennies worth of beef per week and only two pence of corned beef, just enough for one meal. One week they are allowed two ounces of butter and the next they may buy four ounces. Sugar's weekly ration is limited to one-half pound and most canned foods are on points. It's said that almost everyone eats out at least once a day; those who can afford it in the downtown eating places and the working class at canteens.

There is a five shilling "limit" on restaurant meals, which is rather ridiculous. This was imposed during the war when a demonstration was being made to show that rich and poor were eating alike. When you get your bill, however, so many charges have been added the paper looks like a market report. There is a house charge and a surcharge and a charge for coffee and as a result the bill is often nearer one pound than five "bob" a head.

This ration-bound, austere little island is looking ahead to the visits of Americans who may want night life and this week Home Secretary Eden announced that night clubs and "bottle parties" may remain open until 2:30 a.m. Travelers will not want to spend their holiday in Crippsian abstinence, it was pointed out.

Candy was removed from the ration list only a fortnight ago and a cartoon appearing in the Manchester Guardian shows a doctor pointing to a small boy holding his stomach and saying to the nurse: "Here's another one who wasn't told you have to take the silver paper from chocolates!"

NOW is an ideal time to see the beauty of London and its countryside. The glories of May include great bushes of rhodendron, azaleas, borders of forget-me-nots and thousands of tulips, the latter a gift from Holland which adds flaming touches to the rolling green and trees in Hyde Park and St. James park. Rotten Row, the bridal path in Hyde Park, is lined with horse chestnuts, lit by white or pink-streaked blooms. Early spring over here has made all of the flowers well ahead of schedule.

We had been warned while on the Continent that life in England is austere and dull but we wanted to come here because it was this country's past, where we derived the foundations of our own cultural framework, in which we were interested. A gentle brace of history has been given to us in our three days' stay. This included sights of old London generally; the architecture of Eton; the state apartment in Windsor castle and such routine pleasures as seeing the Changing of the Guard, which, incidentally, does not have the color, pomp and interest that featured the ceremony in prewar days.

SUNDAY afternoon we strolled through Hyde park and listened briefly to the soap box orators, most of whom appeared to be slightly daft, in need of new sets of teeth and a bath. This is supposed to be a highly democratic feature of British life but it did not appeal to our imaginations.

An afternoon in Westminster Abbey is a thrilling experience and we climaxed our visit by going to even song at St. Margaret's church, where we heard a rector exhort his congregation to a rededication of their lives to the church and its work. Sunday begins the Mission to London and the slogan for the Church of England is "Recovery Begins Within."

The right-handed steering wheels and driving on the left side of the highway are confusing and we asked our guide how Americans get along who come over and attempt to drive. They have a time all right, he agreed, but "they are so big they win generally!"

In returning to our hotel near Hyde Park and Marble Arch we saw a portion of the Army Day Victory parade, commemorating the surrender of the Germans four years ago. The procession of armored vehicles and 2500 troops had begun three hours earlier at Buckingham palace and six miles of main thoroughfare in the West End were closed to traffic during that time. The largest crowd we have ever seen was watching and cheering.

The British Industrial Exhibit has brought thousands of buyers to London from all over the world.

Blue Sox Defeat Hubs, 9-5

Amarillo Swamps Clovis, 16-5; Lamesa Trounces Pampa, 10-2

(By The Associated Press)

Abilene's Blue Sox moved within one game of the two deadlocked leaders in the West Texas-New Mexico baseball league last night.

Albuquerque and Borger were rained out and are scheduled to meet tonight to settle leadership of the league race, at least temporarily.

Abilene defeated Lubbock 9-5 for its 11th straight victory. The string equals Borger's win streak earlier in the season. Abilene has climbed from the cellar to third place. A win tonight would put the Sox in a tie with the loser of the Albuquerque-Borger game for second place in the standings.

At Clovis, the Amarillo Gold Sox handed Clovis' Pioneers their eighth straight loss 16-5. Darwin Dobbs held his former teammates to seven hit and struck out nine in taking the victory. He also hit a homer in the sevetnh with one on.

Loboes Curb Pampa

Lamesa's Lobo's clubbed Right-hander Merlin Hubbard for eight hits and six runs in the fifth inning to defeat the Pampa Oilers 10-2. They took four more runs off Dick Lockwood in the sixth. Manager Jay Haney, third sacker Ed Melillo and Walt Buckel each got three hits for Lamesa. First baseman Virgil Richardson of Pampa climbed out of a hitting slump with three hits. He had connected for only two hits in 43 trips to the plate.

The loss was Pampa's ninth in a row.

The same teams are scheduled tonight: Borger at Albuquerque, Amarillo at Clovis, Lamesa at Pampa and Abilene at Lubbock.

HENSIEK OR GRAFTON TO HURL FOR HUBS.

Manager Jackie Sullivan tonight will either fire Don Hensiek (1-1) or Bill Grafton (1-2) at the red hot and Blue Sox. Hensiek warmed up briefly during last night's fracas and if his sore arm has responded to treatment, he probably will be given the nod.

Manager Stubby Greer of Abilene had indicated that he will counter with Jerry Rodriguez (2-1), one of the classier hurlers on the Abilene staff.

McCallum, Davis Homer

Last night's game, for four innings, was tight, with Buddy McCallum slamming a two-run homer in the fourth to knot the count at 4-all. But John Myers couldn't hold the lead, the Sox getting to him in the fifth for two walks and three singles good for three runs. That gave the visitors a 7 to 4 and it was sufficient.

Nelson Davis hit a fourmaster in the eighth with the sacks empty to cut the margin to 7-5, but the Blue Sox picked up two more in the ninth to sew up the game.

Longhorns Defeat Christians, 11-6

(By The Associated Press)

The University of Texas Longhorns had a little wider margin over Texas A. and M. In the Southwest conference baseball race today.

The Steers yesterday beat Texas Christian university, 11-6, for their 42nd straight conference victory at Austin.

Sam Breadon Death Victim

ST. LOUIS, May 11. (AP)—Sam Breadon, the David Harum of the baseball world, is dead.

The 72-year-old former St. Louise Cardinal owner died of cancer at St. John's hospital last night. His wife and their daughter, Mrs. Robert E. Goss, were at his bedside.

BREADON

Funeral arrangements were announced immediately.

In 27 years as head of the Red Birds, including some lean ones in the old days, Beardon led the club to nine pennants and on six occasions went on to a world championship.

From a $200 initial investment in 1917, Breadon built up the club to a $3,000,000 organization—the amount he is reported to have received from Robert Hannegan and Fred Saigh in 1947. Saigh later bought out Hannegan.

Takes Over Club

Breadon became president of the Cardinals in 1920 after he had purchased a majority of the stock. He replaced Branch Rickey who had been president. Rickey held his other job of manager.

In 1925 Breadron brought Rickey into the frontoffice where the pair made the best office team the sport has seen.

Together they started the farm system under which minor league clubs were helped financially or bought outright. Through this system the Cardinals got the players who carried them into so many pennants and the money that put the club on a sound financial footing.

Levelland Jaycees Sell Fight Ducats

LEVELLAND, May 11. (Special)—Advance ticket sales for the Bill Henderson-Chino Alonzo fight began yesterday, and the Jaycees announced that ringside seats were selling at $4.80 each for the May 31 fight card.

The two fighters appeared on the same card recently in Lubbock, against different opponents however, and Alonzo took a decision from Sammie Galvan, a featherweight, while Henderson was losing to Jean Mougin, former French lightweight.

Gene James, Lubbock heavyweight, will be after his third professional victory against no defeats in his appearance on the program. His opponent has not been named, and other matches have not been made.

Bouts will be held at the rodeo arena. Reserved seats are on sale at $3.50, and general admission ducats may be secured for $1.50.

NEW SPONSOR NEEDED

HARLINGEN, May 11. (AP)—Plans are being laid to make the Rio Grande valley open golf tournament a valley-wide proposition. A new sponsor is needed since the Texas citrus and vegetable growers and shippers have withdrawn their support.

Amarillo Wins Crown

Westerners To Meet Sandies

The Westerners will be going through hard workouts the next few days in preparation for the District 1-AA playoff with Amarillo at a date to be set later.

Amarillo earned the right to meet Lubbock with a solid 14-2 victory over the Borger Bulldogs in a game played yesterday in Borger. Ten base hits, four-hits hurling by Sandie Walton Roberson, and six Bulldog miscues led to the Amarillo victory.

Rain Delays Play

Rain halted play in the top half of the district last week. A game between Borger and Pampa was not played and probably will not be, and the Amarillo-Borger tilt was rained out. Amarillo completed its schedule with five wins and one loss.

In winning the south half championship, Lubbock took six straight tilts, defeating Brownfield and Plainview three times each. Most of the victories were by comfortable margins, but in the last game with Plainview the local nine overcame a 7-6 Plainview lead to win 8-7 after errors nearly cost them the game.

Over the full season Lubbock won 15 games and lost only two. The two setbacks came on a road trip to Altus, Okla. last month.

District pitching honors were equally shared between the three Westerner hurlers. Bennie Day, Jimmy Hamilton, and Jimmy Richardson each recorded two wins against no losses. With hard work between now and the district playoff the hurlers should be in their best form of the season.

Coaches Pat Pattison and Fred Taylor witnessed the Amarillo-Borger game yesterday and had planned to set the date for the playoff with the Amarillo officials, but none showed up for the meeting at the game and the playoff date is still unsettled.

No Southern Revolt Against NCAA Seen

ATLANTA, May 11. (AP)—Heads of the Southern, Southeastern and Southwest conferences say no revolt against the National Collegiate Athletic association's sanity code is in the offing.

Two southern sports writers predicted in their columns yesterday that resentment against the code in the south might bring an open break with the NCAA this month. The writers were Johnny Bradberry of the Atlanta Constitution and William Keefe of the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

The code is a sore spot with many southern college officials, but presidents of three Dixie conferences said withdrawal from the NCAA is not the answer.

Trick Shots Amaze Lubbock Linksmen

Joe Kirkwood Exhibition Is Attended By 200 Golf Fans

If you want to amaze the little woman, practice until you can shoot golf the way Joe Kirkwood does and then you'll never be a wall flower.

That might be the philosophy of the average golfer who, after seeing Kirkwood in action at the Lubbock Country club, believes that it's as easy and simple as the famed trick shot artist says it is.

Gives Show Here

Kirkwood performed an almost unlimited number of tricks with his woods and irons yesterday before a crowd that numbered almost 200 persons. The tall, heavily set and suntanned golfer performed about everything possible with his clubs and had the gallery oh-ing and aw-ing throughout.

The more Kirkwood performed, the easier the more difficult tricks appeared. And he approached it so easily that it did seem almost as simple as falling off a roof.

He started with a few easy drives, illustrating how to get hooks and slices, how to drive into the wind, how to drive around obstacles and a general session on driving.

Then he launched into his trick work. First he drove golf balls off putty tees placed on his golf bag. He called James Cooke, Texas Tech student, out of the crowd and placed a golf ball on the toe of his shoe. He drove that, then repeated, but this time he hid one under Cooke's shoe. When he drove that, Cooke had had about enough.

Kirkwood drove a ball off a ball, then drove the middle of three balls teed up. He drove left-handed with a right-handed iron. He drove two balls at once and made them cross in the air. He played games with a negro caddy, first driving the bill almost straight up in the air for him to catch, then sending him down the fairway, where he drove low-arched balls at him.

He also used rubber-shafted clubs, over-sized woods and over-sized irons. He used clubs that wrapped around his neck. He used short shafted clubs and long shafted ones. And in each case, he drove accurately and straight.

Throughout his entire show, Kirkwood kept up a line of running comment that had the crowd in stitches. He also emphasized that you can't play good golf unless you're relaxed and illustrated various ways average people play golf.

It was very entertaining, even though it made the observer feel that he'd been missing the best in golf for years.

Big Spring Retains Lead In Loop Race

(By The Associated Press)

Big Spring kept its slender lead i nthe Longhorn league last night behind the two-hit pitching of Julio Valdes.

Valdes gave up both Odessa hits and runs in the seventh, but his mates had fashioned three tallies i nthe first two innings. And that was the final score, 3-2.

Vernon had an easy time beating San Angelo, 15-3.

Ballinger came fro mbehind with two runs in the ninth to edge Roswell, 7-6.

Midland took a wild, 16-12, victory from Sweetwater.

Senators Blank Indians, 1-0

Micky Haefner Hurls One-Hit Game Against Cleveland Club

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Veeck, dynamic head of the world champion Cleveland Indians, may have pulled "the boner of the year" when he preferred Early Wynn to Mickey Haefner in the Tribe's five-man winter deal with the Washington Senators.

Haefner didn't add to Veecks' joys yesterday when he pitched the Senators to a brilliant 1-0 shutout over the Indians in Cleveland. The little lefthander allowed only one hit—a first-inning single by Larry Doby—as the amazing Nats rang up their eighth consecutive victory and their third in a row over Cleveland.

Scared By Age

Haefner would be pitching for the Indians today had not Veeck been scared off by his advanced age of 36 and his unimpressive 1948 won and lost record of 5-13.

Doby was the only Cleveland batter to reach third. In addition to his single, he got on base in the ninth when he was hit by a pitched ball. Four others reached base, all on walks. Haefner did not strike out a batter.

The victory, coupled with Philadelphia's triumph over the Chicago White Sox, left the Senators and Athletics tied for fourth place in the American league race at an even .500 percentage.

Newhouser Knocked Out

Hal Newhouser, Detroit's Sterling southpaw, had a no-hitter until the fifth when the New York Yankees raked him for two runs and went on to knock him out of the box in the ninth inning to defeat the Tigers, 6-1. The victory increased the American league leaders' margin over the Tigers to four games.

Allie Reynolds went the route for the Yanks to register his third victory against one defeat. He received strong batting support from Tommy Henrich, who blasted a two-run triple, and Jackie Phillips, who hit a bases-loaded single. Johnny Groth of Detroit went hitless for his third straight game.

Yogi Berra, Yankee catcher, was hit on the head by a thrown ball during infield practice before the game. He was taken to a hospital where x-rays showed no fracture. He accompanied the team to Cleveland.

Browns Drop Sox

Gerry Priddy batted in both runs to lead the St. Louis Browns to a 2-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox. The victory snapped a 10-game losing streak for the Browns. Priddy doubled in Dick Kokos with St. Louis' first run in the third inning and broke up the game in the last of the ninth with a home run.

Charlie (Red) Embree permitted the Sox only four hits including a first inning home run by Ted Williams. Losing Pitcher Chuck Stobbs allowed only three hits, but all figured in the scoring.

The Athletics got only three hits but drew 11 bases on balls off loser Billy Pierce, Marino Pieretti, Bob Kuzsyva and Matt Surkont to defeat the White Sox 5-0 in a night game in Chicago. Joe Coleman pitched the shutout, doling out five hits for his second straight against three losses.

The entire National league card was wiped out by rain.

Dallas Eagles Blast Shreveport, 6 To 5

(By The United Press)

The northern division clubs of the Texas league all led off lengthy home stands with victories last night.

The high-flying Dallas Eagles blasted out a 6-to-5 decision against Shreveport before 9,576 of the faithful. Dallas scored all its runs in a sixth-inning outburst.

Catcher Roy Easterwood's triple scoring three runs was the biggest blow of the rally. It drove Garth Mann, the losing pitcher, to the showers and assured Tommy Finger of his fourth victory of the season.

The decision moved Dallas four-and-a-half games ahead of San Antonio, which lost to Oklahoma City 3 to 2, before a local season's record turnout of 6,744.

Bill Martin homered for San Antonio with none on. But Ray Murray of the Indians topped the feat by hitting a round-tripper with one on.

At Fort Worth, the Cats got off to a winning start in their home stand by defeating Beaumont, 7 to 1.

RICE BEATS BAYLOR

WACO, May 11. (AP)—Rice blanked Baylor, 6-0, in a Southwest conference tennis match yesterday.

Between The Lines by Joe Kelly

Golfing fans who missed Joe Kirkwood yesterday will have to suffer for that grievous oversight. They will have to listen, for days and maybe weeks to come, to the difficult shots that Joe made look easy yesterday. And make them look easy he did. We've seen his demonstration in movie shorts before, but this was our first opportunity to see them close up. We wouldn't have missed for anything and you'll regret not giving up an hour or two of your time. Kirkwood was one sports figure who was worth seeing.

Kirkwood performed so many difficult feats that it would be almost impossible to go into detail on them. He made driving look so simple that you felt ashamed that you couldn't do it just as easily. He hit golf balls from several different difficult lies and they all went the way you wish they would. He had trick clubs that performed at his touch and some that weren't meant to at all. But the finest thing he did, in our opinion, was his slow-motion mimicry of a perfect golf swing. It was perfect all the way, even to the golfer's rising on his toes to see where his ball went. Kirkwood was well worth watching and you could learn by just watching.

Possibly the last thrill in the world has been exhausted for John Steele, former county attorney. John has been trying at odd moments, for the past two years, to catch fish, but he never did. He managed to hook the wily denizens of the deep occasionally, but he never was able to get one in his hands. It became a personal matter, an affront upon his good nature. Last week he and his father-in-law, Roy Ely of Belin, N. M., went to San Marcial lake, 30 miles south of Socorro, N. M. John actually hooked—and landed—a three and a half pound bass. Minutes later, believe it or not, he dragged in a 12-pound channel cat. What's left in the world for him now?

As many of you probably know by now, there is an excellent article on Texas in the April issue of Sports Afield. Joe Small, a native Texan, has a spread of pages from page 48 through 60 and if you like your activity with rod and gun outdoors, you should get it. There are black and white pictures, along with some color shots that actually make you want to run right out and forget work). And along with it, Small has explanatory writing that is good reading. It's recommended reading.

We ran across a poem by Dick Keeiner, an NEA staff correspondent, that we pass on without comment. It's entitled "Unsung Heroes of Baseball," No. 1—The Official Scorer. "Look for a moment with pity on the plight of the scorer (official). In a major or minor league city, he's frequently known by initial. He'll call a clean hit a rank error, or an error a hit (vice versa). He may have to leave town in terror, or stay and be lynched (which is worser). He's a thief and a cad and a bounder. They hate him, ignore him and flout him. He's never been right on a grounder—but the game couldn't live, still, without him."

And speaking of baseball brings up the question of why? The Hubbers, looking less and less like a ball club destined to go anywhere, contrived to drop their fifth game in six starts last night. It wasn't difficult. A timely hit or two on various occasions would have offset those the Blue Sox were getting. The pitching still left a lot to be desired. The Hubbers are playing ball just like the nice guys that they are. On and off the field you won't meet a nicer bunch of players. We just wish they'd forget that they were nice and start being a little rowdy—on the diamond. If they'd get their fighting tempers up, they might get somewhere.

The Hubbers now have 39 doubles, six triples and 18 home runs in 19 games. In addition, they have had 125 singles for 126 runs. They have averaged 6.63 runs per game on 9.89 hits per game. Anyone who's been around knows that that isn't enough in this league. It isn't enough, that is, unless the pitching is a trifle more on the gilt-edged side. Other teams in the league are getting both hitting and pitching. Isn't it about time something was done here? No one wants to see 12 hits produce only five runs. No one wants to see three pitchers parade to the mound every night. If other clubs can secure pitching, why can't the Hubbers? Right now the Lubbock Baseball club is the $128 question, give or take a few cents.

THE ROUNDUP: Chick Trout, Raymond Marshall and Herb Scroeder played nine holes with Kirkwood yesterday. Ray ended up with a 36, Trout had a 37 and the two pros had 38s. . . . Looked familiar seeing Chris Haskins trudge to the mound in a relief role. Look for more of it, too. . . House of David's baseball team was here yesterday. . . . The Kansas City Monarchs will play the Amarillo Colts at Rosenthal Field next week. . . . The Texas Tech golf team watched Joe Kirkwood in action yesterday. They leave today for Albuquerque and the Border Conference competition. Hope they go inspired. . . . When the Texas freshmen beat the Rice frosh recently, two South Plains men were prominent. Carl "Red" Mayes of Pampa won two first places for the Longhorns and Bill Howton of Plainview won the same number for the Owls.

Kasaboski To Test Dusette

The main event at Sled Allen's wrestling arena tonight should be packed with excitement and hard, fast wrestling as Alex Kasaboski and George Dusette meet again.

Activities are scheduled to get underway at 8:30 with the preliminary bout between Jack Pappenheim and Arturo Ruiz, and Rod Fenton meets Balk Estes in the semi-final match immediately following.

Kasaboski and Dusette wrestled to a draw in their first meeting two weeks ago, and since that time there has been an argument between the two as to who is the better man.

Grudge Match

In the Australian tag team match last week Fenton and Kasaboski framed up on the strong man and gave Dusette a hard time in the ring. Afterward he told the two exactly what he thought of their tactics, and Kasaboski offered to meet him in the ring alone. So the match tonight should be a humdinger from start to finish.

Fenton will have a tough match with Estes in the semi-final event because the Oklahoman is a rough opponent in spite of his appearance. Somewhat of a ladies man, Estes returns to the local ring after an absence of several weeks and will be out to gain more wrestling prestige as well as acclaim from the fairer sex.

Ruiz In Pre-lim

The preliminary event matches a clean-cut, hustling wrestler—Pappenheim—against an unpredictable opponent—Ruiz. Ruiz has a violent temper and after a few slams and punches is liable to come up with some terrific action which should set the stage for the later bouts.

The main event will be two out of three falls with an hour time limit, and the semi-windup will be limited to 45 minutes. One fall or a 20 minutes limit will be on the first match.

Tickets are on sale at Wyllie's Drug store until 5 p. m. today.

300 Attend Second Baseball Session

More than 300 baseball-playing youngsters crowded onto the baseball diamond at Boys club yesterday as 91 new registrants raised the total attending the baseball school to 328 boys between the ages of 9-11.

As part of a youth program of the American Legion, Boys club, City Recreation, and various civic luncheon club, the baseball clinic is being conducted until Friday this week, having started Monday.

Joe Holmes, director of the school, has proposed the dividing of the group so that more boys will get to play baseball this summer, but the shortage of supervisors and playgrounds appear to make this move impossible.

100 Boys Participate

The way the program is set up at present, only slightly more than 100 boys at the most will be able to participate in the baseball program. There will be six teams selected at the end of the school, and boys not selected for a team will be dropped from the league.

Teams will be selected today or Thursday, and practice games will be played Thursday or Friday. Thus far the boys have been practicing throwing, batting, pitching, base-running, and fielding and many have shown real promise for their ages.

The large number of elementary students makes individual attention by the instructors and coaches impossible in a large number of cases, but John Wilson, director of Boys club, said yesterday that he thought the boys had benefitted by the training already received and that improvement in form had been noted in some.

Hubbers Are Helping

Helping with the school are H. D. Waller, Curtis Barrett, and members of the Hubber baseball team. Royce Mills was working with the boys Tuesday.

Also working are Glen White, Ted Cummings, Keith Anderson, Jim Sanders, Jerry Starkey, and Pat Clepper. These six will be the managers of the teams that are selected later this week.

Dividend Checks On Veterans' Insurance Delayed In Capital

DENVER, May 11 (INS) — Hopes of World War II veterans for a vacation financed by the government this summer were blasted today by Denver officials of the Veterans administration.

More than 15 million ex-servicemen and women had been looking forward to a share of a two billion dollar dividend jackpot collected by the government in national service life insurance since the fall of 1940.

VA officials said today that dividend payments will not begin this summer as had been expected. The first checks, one spokesman said, may not be mailed out until early in 1950.

Job Delayed Six Months

The Veterans administration began what was called "the world's biggest bookkeeping job" more than two years ago. It was decided that the NSLI reserve was sufficient, because of an overestimate of war casulaties, to permit dividend payments to every veteran who held a policy longer than 90 days.

The VA estimated that about two billion dollars would be distributed to 15 to 16 million veterans. Computation of some 20 million separate accounts, because of changes, cancellations and duplications of policies, would be necessary.

Denver officials said today that work in the 13 regional offices was completed last year and all data forwarded to the central office in Washington. There, the lack of office space, equipment and trained personnel was blamed for delaying the huge job at least six months longer than was expected.

Racket Develops

The two billion dollars is not a bonus, it was pointed out, but represents money actually paid by policy holders. About six million veterans have retained their national service life insurance, the VA said, and a sufficient reserve will be retained to protect them against any eventuality.

The VA regional insurance office warned that a "racket" has developed on a fairly large scale as a result of the expected payments.

Unscrupulous individuals, a spokesman said, have been selling "dividend applications" to veterans with a promise of speeding up collections of the NSLI dividends.

The VA declared that in no circumstances will it be necessary for the veteran to pay anyone for the privilege of collecting the money due him. Application blanks, it was explained, will be provided free of charge when the job of computing payments has been completed.

Since the big accounting job has started, some checks have been mailed to policy holders, the Denver insurance office said, setting off rumors that dividend payments had started.

Officials said these checks were not dividends but were refunds for overpayments brought to light during the process of checking all policies.

$30 Million Project At Houston Reported

HOUSTON, May 11. (U.P.) — A $30,000,000 building program, reported to include a skyscraper office and terminal, was announced here today by the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad.

Tom C. Mabray, an executive vice president of Katy, said complete details of the plan would be made known shortly. He described it as "the greatest single industrial building project in the history of Houston."

Reports boomeranging in financial and building circles here said the terminal building would be situated at approximately the same location as the passenger depot now, below the Main street viaduct. Rumors had the structure ranging from 20 to 25 stories.

The over-all plan, Mabray stated, would include relocating the Katy yards so that warehouses and other buildings can be erected.

The Katy depot now used was built in 1914.

Vets Pension

in the bill was estimated to cut about $20,000,000,000 from the 50-year cost.

The bill tentatively approved in committee session yesterday contained no unemployability requirement. VA rules now include an unemployability clause.

The new version, which again carries the name of Chairman Rankin (D-Miss), was put together by the committee as a "reasonable" counter-proposal to the criticism which greeted the earlier bill: that it was much too expensive.

Support Expected

The committee agreed on its stripped-down version behind closed doors yesterday, and was prepared to report it favorably to the House at once.

While the bill falls far short of pension demands presented by some of the old line veterans organizations, committee members said privately they expected it to be well received both in Congress and among organized veterans.

The original bill would have paid a flat $90 a month to all World War I and II veterans at the age of 65 whether they needed it or not. It also provided further benefits for disabled vets. Some officials estimated its eventual cost at around $125,000,000,000.

A spokesman said that although plans are not yet definite, department officials hope to be able to take representative airlift crews on a "victory tour" of key cities in every section of the United States.

Officials said they believe it would be best to limit the tour to about a score of cities. Those under consideration include Houston.

Daily Market Report

Stock Market

MARKET POINTED FORWARD

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP) — A short but snappy increase in buying kept the stock market pointed forward today.

Closing prices showed gains of fractions to around a point. Most issues, though, finished a little under the highest quotations of the day.

Turnover was around 800,000 shares.

Motive power for the short-lived rally developed in the steel group. Up were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown Sheet, Jones & Laughlin, and Wheeling.

Also higher a good part of the day were Chrysler, Studebaker, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, American Cyanamid (at a 1949 high), Westernn Union, Consolidated Natural Gas, Dow Chemical, U. S. Gypsum, American Woolen, Great Northern preferred, and Standard Oil (NJ).

The non-ferrous metal group tried for higher price ground but couldn't make the grade. Anaconda and Kennecott Copper touched new lows for the year during the day and American Smelting was shaded off and on.

American Telephone lost around ½ point before leveling off at about the lowest price since 1943.

Pneumonia

cians said that the one patient who did not respond to the treatment ultimately recovered. They said, however, that there was no justification for drawing any conclusions in the case.

The first patient, a 47-year-old woman, was treated early last summer. She was in serious condition, the physicians reported, but her improvement was "striking" following administration of the drug. Similar results were obtained in 18 other patients. There were no unfavorable reactions.

Virus pneumonia, while not considered as serious as that caused by bacteria, is widespread. It's principal symptoms, doctors explain, are fever, chills, headaches and chest pains.

SENATE FOES MAY JOIN FORCES

New Move Hinted On Labor Proposal

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Senate Republican and Democratic foes of the Taft substitute for the administration's labor bill talked cautiously today of joining forces.

But the two groups faced this big obstacle: they are, in general, still far apart on what any new labor law should contain even if they agree they don't like Taft's ideas.

A hint of how the wind is blowing, however, came from Senator Douglas (D-Ill), a Senate labor committee member who voted in that group for the administration's Taft-Hartley repealer.

"If," said Douglas, "we can hold the southern moderates and also pull the small but gallant band of Republican liberals, we will get a pretty good labor bill."

House Sidetracks Bill

The administration bill would replace the Taft-Hartley law with a modified version of the old Wagner act.

The bill got sidetracked in the House last week when that branch of Congress came within an ace of passing the substitute Wood bill. The substitute finally was sent back to the House labor committee for further study. The committee plans to get to work on a compromise in a few days.

In the Senate, three Republicans—Senators Taft (Ohio), Smith (NJ) and Donnell (Mo)—have offered another substitute for the administratoin bill. It would make 28 changes in the T-H law and retain about 20 provisions.

Taft is trying to line up some Democratic co-sponsors for the substitute. Senator Ellender (D-La) has predicted that from 14 to 22 southern Democrats will vote for it.

Douglas' remark indicated that foes of the Taft substitute also are thinking of getting together. Those familiar with that thinking said privately they figure it would be necessary to pull at least eight "Republican liberals," to use Douglas' phrase. And when they talk of winning the support of "southern moderates," they reportedly have in mind such senators as Sparkman (D-Ala) and Long (D-La).

Accidental Shooting Is Blamed In Death

HOUSTON, May 11 (U.P.) — Accidental discharge of a foreign-made pistol was blamed today for the death late yesterday of a 21-year-old University of Houston student.

Clarence D. McDaniel of Silsbee, Tex., was found lying on his bed when Mrs. V. D. Simmons, his landlady, investigated a shot.

She told police McDaniel had spent the week-end at his home, and returned to Houston only yesterday.

Mrs. Simmons said he was standing near the bed when she entered the room. He stumbled to the floor, saying, "I have shot myself," the landlady recalled.

McDaniel was wounded once in the abdomen, and was dead on arrival at a hospital. Police found a German-made pistol in the room.

He was a student of welding at the university, and had a part-time job at a filling staton.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. McDaniel of Silsbee.

Rent Control

Sheppard AFB, Wichita Falls, 12,500.

"At all of these," the letter said, "there are numbers of trainees who are considered as transient population, but also at each there are hundreds of officers and men on permanent assignment who must secure rental houses in areas adjacent to the base.

"In addition, this headquarters has recently announced reactivation of two additional bases in Texas, Ellington AFB at Houston and Lubbock AFB at Lubbock.

"It is impossible for the Air Force to provide sufficient adequate housing for married personnel and their families at any of these bases. We depend, most precariously it is true, upon the availability of suitable housing in adjacent civilian communities.

"In view of the limited income of both officers and airmen it is obvious that nominal rentals must be available to them or they must separate themselves from their families . . .

"I realize that circumstances differ in each locality of concern to us. But if action could be taken to consider municipalities or districts—rather than statewide decontrol—each area might be considered on its merits and our people could state their case to those most directly concerned in each action. Such a program would be both fair and equitable. I most strongly recommend it for your consideration."

Wheat Crop

the nation's second largest crop in history. The national crop was estimated at 1,021,476,000 bushels, compared with the 1947 record of 1,136,186,000 bushels.

Harvest of the crop will begin in West Texas about May 20—little more than a week away.

And soon after it starts—according to one railroad executive—Texans may see a lot of wheat dumped on the ground, more than ever before.

"Pretty soon there won't be any place to put it," J. J. Mahoney of Chicago, general superintendent of transportation for the Santa Fe railroad, said in Fort Worth yesterday.

"So we'll have to clamp on an embargo and the wheat will have to come in on a priority system. The result will be there's going to be more wheat piled on the ground this year than in any previous years."

1948 Wheat Stored

Mahoney said one reason for the storage problem is that about 350,000,000 bushels of last year's wheat still are in storage.

"That wheat was supposed to have been turned over to the government (Commodity Credit corporation) on April 30," he said, "but it doesn't seem to be moving."

The Department of Agriculture's weekly crop report from its Austin office said wheat prospects in the Plains counties remain good despite recent torrential rains, hail and high winds in local areas. The report said the generous rains over the entire area aided prospects and that soil moisture is sufficient to carry the crop to maturity.

FORT WORTH, May 11. (U.P.)— Homer E. Stiffler, 23, was killed early today when his motorcycle collided with a truck at a Fort Worth intersection.

Stiffner, a Texas Electric Service Co., employe, suffered a fractured skull when his motorcycle collided with a cattle truck. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Stiffler, live in Eastland.

Confusion In World Results From Lack Of Supreme Nation, Speaker Tells Rotarians

"The principal reason there is so much confusion in the world today is the lack of a nation powerful enough to maintain order," Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president of Texas Tech, told the Rotary Club today.

"At the present time two nations are vying for that position, the United States and Russia," he said. "Because of this it becomes the responsibility of every American citizen to be 'world-minded'."

Dr. Jones pointed out that we often find ourselves so involved in the middle of the problems today that we cannot see them with the proper perspective. "It's like the old adage, 'you can't see the forrest for the trees'," he said.

World Without Order

As he continued Dr. Jones pointed out that throughout history only two great world powers have ever been true keepers of world order. They were Rome and England, he said.

"When Rome fell into decay and ceased to be a guiding force in the world we passed into an era which historians have labeled 'the dark ages.' From 500 B. C. until England defeated the Spanish Armada in 1588, the world was without order," Dr. Jones said.

"This order again ceased to exist at the start of World War II. That is the condition in which we find ourselves today," the speaker added.

"If we are to be the nation that will lead the way out we must establish and maintain high moral principles. We must turn from the demand for more material comforts; sacrifice a little and seek some of the spiritual benefits," Dr. Jones concluded.

Irving Jones Presides

Irving Jones presided over the meeting today and the speaker was presented by program chairman Charles A. Guy.

Visiting Rotarians included; Jim Smith, Midland; Walter Craig, Amarillo; Carl Cone, Dallas; Bob Lewis, Midland; Bill Deardorf, Plainview; L. A. Schmidt was given a small gift for having come from the greatest distance to maintain his attendance.

Pioneer Rancher Is Claimed By Death

MIDLAND, May 11. (AP) — J. P. (Pate) Collins, 80, pioneer Midland rancher, died at his home here last night following a lengthy illness.

He had resided here since 1898, engaging in ranching and the livestock commission business until his retirement last year. He was an early-day Midland county brand inspector.

Born in Tennessee, Collins moved to Fort Worth with his parents in 1875.

He saw the first train pull into Fort Worth.

Funeral services were to be held at 5 p. m. today.

Berlin Siege

train from Bielefeld. The train will move across the zonal border at 2:13 a. m. The American cars carried almost 100 news and radio correspondents, photographers and officials.

Trains Are Decorated

In the freight yards at Brunswick and Hannover, near Helmstedt, locomotives were garlanded with evergreen boughs and flags.

A threatened strike of German railway workers was averted. The workers' leaders said their demands that the wages of those who work in East Berlin but live in West Berlin be paid in West marks had been granted.

Dismantling of brick and metal barricades erected by the Communists started today. Squads of German women were doing most of the work.

The Soviet headquarters announced the long-severed electrical supply to West Berlin from Russian sector power plants would be resumed, and that the western areas then could have as much current as they need. That means an end of the street lighting blackout, and normal electrical supply for household use.

Making Fast Progress

Postoffices in both the western and Soviet zones of Germany said they were making fast progress with plans to restore service.

Soviet zone canal locks have been readied to handle barges from the west "without friction," an announcement said.

This is the 327th day of Russia's siege. It is the 320th day of the airlift that enabled the United States, Britain and France to cling tenaciously to their sectors of Berlin, which constituted an anti-Communist "island" 100 miles behind the Red army's lines.

But 2,000,000 West Berlin Germans hope, this is the last day that the food on their tables and the fire in their hearths will be mixed up in international power politics.

Trucks and buses are gassed up to move eastward.

Experts In Session

Army railway control experts of the four powers met yesterday at Helmstedt to settle details for the resumption of traffic. There was almost a carnival atmosphere in the medieval town as the army men, each group led by a colonel, got together.

West Berliners seem to find it difficult to realize that the hated blockade finally is ending. But they plan a big celebration. Schools will close to let the children celebrate, too.

Even after the blockade ends, however, the airlift will continue. Nearly 400 planes will haul in supplies to build a stockpile of more than 200,000 tons of food and fuel for West Berlin. The American and British commanders have said it will be kept intact until there is no doubt that the days of blockading at the Kremlin's orders have ended.

The airlift in 11 months has cost the lives of 51 airmen and about $200,000,000. On the other side of the ledger, western officials say it has cost the Russians a big loss of prestige, in addition to the economic disruption in their German zone caused by the Allied counter-blockade.

Berlin still will have two city governments, two police forces and fire departments, separate trade union federations, and separation of almost everything else—one for the western sectors and one for the Russian-controlled part.

FBI Checking Flogging Case

TRENTON, Ga., May 11. (AP)— The arrest of a sheriff, three deputies and another person in the flogging of seven negroes by men identified as Ku Klux Klansmen may be followed by federal grand jury action, a U. S. district attorney said.

The five men were indicted yesterday by the Dade county grand jury after the seven negroes came here to testify.

Ellis Mundy, U. S. attorney for North Georgia, said the investigation now under way by the FBI may result in federal action if civil rights have ben violated.

Sheriff J. W. Lynch and Deputies W. M. Hartline, N. Stokes McCaulley and John Bleckley were indicted on charges of assault and battery and failure to suppress mob violence. Robert Keener was indicted on an assault charge.

Klansmen Interfere

The sheriff said Klansmen took the negroes from his custody on the night of April 2 after he had arrested the men at a house where "wild parties" were reported. He said about 40 hooded and robed Ku Kluxers told him they were "taking over."

The negroes said they were loaded into a station wagon, driven to a wooded spot near Hooker, Ga., flogged, and told to "clear out."

Judge John H. Paschall called a special session of the grand jury to investigate the floggings.

Judge Paschall ordered the five men to make appearance bonds of $1,000 each. Each count against the men is a misdemeanor calling for a maximum sentence of six months in jail, 12 months in the public work house, a $1,000 fine, or all three. The trial date was not set.

University Leader Marries Secretary

CHICAGO, May 11 (AP)—Robert Maynard Hutchins, chancellor of the University of Chicago, went honeymooning today with his bride, formerly his secretary.

Hutchins, 50, and his bride, Mrs. Vesta Sutton Orlick, were married Tuesday in a surprise ceremony. They left immediately afterward for an unannounced destination in the south.

The candlelight ceremony was performed by Hutchins' father, Dr. William J. Hutchins, formerly president of Berea college in Kentucky. There were no attendants.

Both the bride and Hutchins have been divorced. Hutchins and the former Maude Phelps McVeigh were divorced last year after 27 years of marriage. They had two daughter. Mrs. Orlick was the wife of Raymond I. Orlick, and was divorced in 1943. She has one daughter.

Crouch did not testify about Mrs. Poyntz. The committee may seek more information from him about the case but when it will do so is indefinite.

It had subpoenaed him for hearings scheduled for May 24. Then it heard the Justice department wants him to appear before a New York grand jury investigating subversive activities. The grand jury undoubtedly would be given first claim on him.

Crouch's newspaper articles, which are being syndicated, say among other things that:

1. The Communists have people in key jobs with Pan-American airlines at Miami to provide liaison with party agents in Havana. Miami and Havana were centers from which the Reds planned to expand through Latin America, with particular designs on the Panama canal.

2. At one time the Communists got a man into the Army artillery corps in the Canal zone.

Protestant Leaders To Launch All-Denominational Newspaper

KANSAS CITY, May 11. (AP)—Protestantism prepared today to rally behind its first all-denominational newspaper for a united voice in a bid for worldwide spiritual leadership.

The groundwork for establishment of the newspaper has been spaded by 200 Protestant leaders here for that sole purpose.

They were told last night it was up to Protestantism to shoulder the responsibility of a worldwide spiritual revival.

Dr. Robert W. Searle of the Protestant Council of New York City added, however, that first Protestantism needed unity of voice and the best way to get it was through a newspaper controlled by all denominations.

Proposal Called Timely

"There is no more imperative need in American Protestantism," he said, "than the need for a national Protestant newspaper."

Gideon Seymour, executive editor of the Minneapolis Star-Tribune, agreed an all-denominational newspaper now was timely.

"This plan," he said, "is brought forward at a time when there is more talk than ever before of Protestant unity and in a new dark age in which we are groping for a basis of world order. The church faces its biggest task since the middle ages."

Christianity, Dr. Searle said, has the answer to world problems and "Protestantism must proclaim this Christian answer . . ."

"The voice of Rome has recently forbidden its clergy and laity to participate in "mixed" conferences where matters of faith are discussed," Dr. Searle said at one point in his talk.

Division Defended

"It is impossible to conceive how there could be a common effort for the rebuilding of society where those who stood shoulder to shoulder in the common task could not discuss the faith that inspired them."

He insisted Protestantism was best suited to carry on a spiritual revival since it does not "aspire to the identity of the church and state" and is "committed to freedom from dogmatic authority."

He defended division among Protestants, saying it was a by-product of freedom but he called for a united voice and recommended an all-denominational newspaper as the best way to accomplish it.

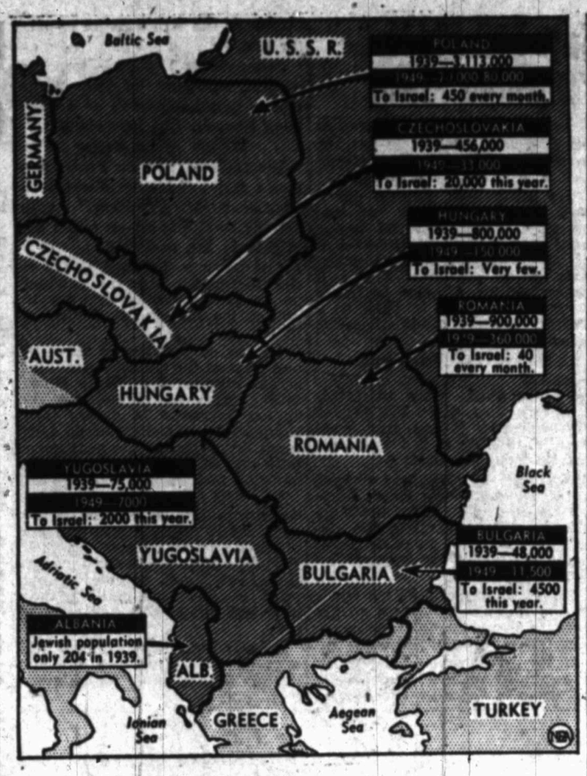

Steps were taken yesterday to buy a privately-owned Protestant newspaper. Under plans it would be converted into an all-denominational publication, the first of its kind in Protestantism.

A committee of the religious leaders met with the owners, Dr. and Mrs. Homer Gettle and Mr. and Mrs. David Hogg of Fort Wayne, Ind. Terms under which the newspaper would be bought were not disclosed.

Dr. J. W. Montgomery of New York, secretary of the committee in charge of planning for the newspaper, estimated the project would cost $2,000,000.

The newspaper, now known as the Protestant Voice, would be moved from Fort Wayne to New York with the all-denominational control to begin about the first of the year.

A board of directors is to be named today by the Protestant leaders here for the three day conference. The directors will manage a non-profit organization to be set up to run the newspaper.

JEWS 'VANISH' IN EASTERN EUROPE—Hitler's gas chambers and the post-war exodus to Israel have stripped eastern Europe of most of its estimated 5,000,000 pre-war Jewish population. By the end of this year less than 600,000 will remain in the "Iron curtain" countries. This map gives the country-by-country figures with emigration-to-Israel quotas.

Parsley was to act as master of ceremonies for the show.

Sporadic strikes continue in France.

Snyder Strike Prospect Good

Prospects of another Canyon-Pennsylvanian strike in the Snyder area have been developed at Hiawatha Oil & Gas company No. 1 L. M. Wilson, southwest Scurry county wildcat, between the Canyon production of the Diamond M and Sharon Ridge-Canyon fields.

The prospector cut a core from 6,750 feet to 6.761½ feet, recovering seven and one-half feet of lime with good fluorescence and odor and six inches of black shale.

A drillstem test then was taken to the bottom of the core hole with packer at 6,746 feet and with the tool open one hour and 20 minutes. A good blow of air reached the top immediately, followed by gas in five minutes.

No Water

Recovery was 180 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud and 6,200 feet of clean oil. There was no water.

On last report, operator was reaming to bottom, preparing to run a Schlumberger survey and set pipe for production tests.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 183, block 97, H&TC survey, about 12 miles southwest of Snyder.

Pacific Western Oil Corporation was conditioning mud preparatory to drillstem testing in the Devonian with its No. 1 Oil Development, wildcat between the Seminole and Russell fields in northwest Gaines county.

Total depth was 11,535 feet. A drillstem test was attempted on that bottom, but packer slipped and stuck. Packer has been recovered and re-set.

Oil, Gas Signs Found

Location is 600 fet from south and east lines of section 315 block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Slight signs of oil and gas were developed at The Ohio Oil Company No. 1 Emery, northwest Kent county wildcat, 15 miles southwest of Spur, and 1,980 feet from north and 819 feet from east lines of section 39, block 2, H&GN survey.

The shows came in a one-hour drillstem test of a lime formation at 6,170-80 feet. There was a strong blow of air at the surface for 27 minutes, and a light surge of air for the next 15 minutes, and it then died.

Recovery was 210 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud. No signs of water were reported. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was zero. Shutin botton hole pressure, after 15 minutes was 2,525 pounds. The venture is to make more hole.

Horizon Penetrated

It is understood that horizon now being penetrated is likely in the Pennsylvanian.

A spread to the San Andres-Permian production of the West Seminole field in west-central Gaines county has been developed at Cities Service Oil company No. 1 Northrup, 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 35, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

A drillstem test in the San Andres at 5,042-5,140 feet made gas in five minutes and flowed oil to tanks for two hours. First hour was gauged for 33 barrels of oil and second hour for 35 barrels.

Operator has set packer at 5,101 feet and was drillstem testing again on same total depth. The well was flowing to pits on last report. It is due to set pipe and complete.

The Atlantic Refining company has plugged and abandoned its No. 1-D-11 University, outpost to the Martin field of southwest Andrews county, on a total depth of 9,110 feet. No shows sufficient for commercial production were encountered.

The dry hole is in section 2, block 11, University survey.

White House Organist Says FDR Did Not Care Too Much For His "Favorite" Song

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 11. (U.P.)—The late FDR went through the last years of his life with his hands cupped over his ears—listening to a tune he didn't particularly like. "Home On The Range."

I got the story from Johnny Salb, handsome, gray-haired organist for radio station WTOP. Johnny knew Mr. Roosevelt well and spent many hours entertaining him.

"The first time I went to see him," Johnny said, "I was with Eddie Peabody, the famous banjo player and a great friend of the late chief. We sat down and started to whack out a few licks of 'Home On The Range'."

FDR yelled "Stop it," and told the music-makers how the legend sprouted and grew.

Stuck With Song

At a press conference once, somebody asked the president if he didn't think the tune was a pretty fancy one. He admitted that it was. The next day somebody wrote a column in the papers saying it was his favorite. He was stuck with it.

"Actually," said Johnny, "FDR's favorite—the one he asked me to play most often was 'Yellow Rose of Texas.' Eddie and I played it that first day. After Eddie left, the president asked me if I would stick around for a few minutes.

"He said: 'You fellows did a good job on that; only you had the right words but the wrong tune.' The president hummed it for me and I drote it down on the back of an envelope. I had it transcribed on a piece of music paper and gave it to FDR as a present. He asked me to autograph it for him."

Played For Presidents

Johnny, by the way, doubtless has entertained more presidents than any man alive. He started with Woodrow Wilson, who could be lulled to sleep as the muted organ gave out the classics.

Warren G. Harding was more of a sport than a music lover, Johnny said, and often asked the musician to cool his heels in the lobby while he tried to draw to an inside straight with some of his cronies upstairs.

Calvin Coolidge liked his music on the quiet sire "almost to the point of complete quiet, although Mrs. Coolidge seemed to enjoy it."

If Herbert Hoover liked music he kept still about it, according to the organist, "because I was never invited to the White House to play for him."

Johnny hasn't played for the present occupant of the White House, who happens to be a musician himself. But he's about to.

Begins Radio Series

His radio station on Friday begins a series of transcriptions called "Dear Mr. President," with Johnny sounding off an organ obligato in the background.

The show is designed to fill in the chief on the little things which go on in the capital that maybe he was too busy to pay any attention to.

I heard a preview of the first one. Part of the record records the actual sounds of a White House falling down. The engineers at the station borrowed a gadget from Navy which magnifies sound 1,000 times. They tacked the instrument onto one of the walls of the old mansion and turned it up.

The first sound I heard sounded something like a boulder falling on a kettle drum. I was told one of the workmen dropped a match. People walking around—magnified 1,000 times, sounded like a pack of dinosaurs pulling their hing legs out of a couple acres of mud.

Johnny hopes the president will appreciate his efforts and ask him over to the big house for an evening.

Frank Hague, Long-Time Boss Of Jersey City, Is Defeated

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 11 (AP)—Frank Hague no longer is "the law" in Jersey City.

One of the last of the big city political bosses, Hague lost control of the city commission yesterday as fusion forces smashed to victory in the municipal election.

The fusionists were led by John V. Kenny, onetime trusted Hague lieutenant, who was ousted as a ward leader by the Democratic chieftain last year.

Kenny had termed the election "a rebellion against the most corrupt political machine in the history of the United States."

The stunning victory set off a series of wild celebrations and dancing in the streets throughout this city of 301,000 persons.

The 73-year-old Hague was not a candidate. His handpicked ticket was headed by his nephew, Frank Hague Eggers, whom Hague named mayor two years ago when he stepped out of the office.

It was a bitter defeat for the iron-fisted Hague whose reign spanned 32 turbulent years. He served as mayor for 30 of these years.

Never had Hague, who at one time was a city hall custodian, tasted defeat in a city election.

To his followers he was a benevolent leader but to his foes he was Frank "I Am The Law" Hague.

The appelation stemmed from a remark he made in 1937 in connection with a juvenile delinquency case.

Gained Political Power

During his tenure as leader he kept Jersey City and surrounding Hudson county under his political thumb, always coming through with staggering Democratic majorities from the area in city, state and national elections.

It was this faculty which led to Hague's taking command of the state Democratic organization and gaining an important place in the nation's political scene.

He has been vice chairman of the national Democratic committee for many years, an adviser to presidents and a power in the party's national conventions.

The import of the defeat on the political future of the taciturn Hague was not immediately apparent. Political leaders, however, agreed that his prestige had suffered a resounding blow.

Terms Four Years

Kenny's "freedom for all" slate swept all five places on the city commission, now held by the Hague regular Democratic forces.

The commissioners will take office next Tuesday when they will name one of the group—undoubtedly the 56-year-old Kenny—as mayor. They will serve for the next four years.

A record high vote of 143,541 ballots were cast in the election, almost 90 per cent of the eligible voters. The previous high was slightly over 138,000 in last year's presidential election.

Complete unofficial returns gave Kenny, a wealthy contractor, the top vote of 81,295. The lowest man on his ticket was James J. Murray, sr., who received 73,577. Eggers ran second on his ticket and seventh in the balloting, polling 59,052.

Two other tickets and an independent were snowed under.

The Hague forces threw in the sponge a little more than an hour after the polls closed. Hague remained in seclusion. He issued no statements.

Kenny thanked his constituents and announced immediately that as soon as he took office he would have auditors examine all city books and records.

Both Hague and Kenny are products of Jersey City's rough and ready "horseshoe section." Ironically, Kenny's father, a former saloon keeper, introduced Hague into politics shortly after the turn of the century.

Building Of Theater At Wayland Approved

PLAINVIEW, May 11 (Special) Construction of a $25,000 Little Theater as a memorial to Prof. and Mrs. B. H. Warren was approved by the ex-students of Wayland college in their annual banquet here, it was announced Tuesday.

It will comprise the last unit to be finished in the newly renovated basement of the administration building. A unanimous vote followed presentation of the project by President J. W. Marshall and Rev. Clifford Potts of Matador, outgoing president of the Ex-Students association.

Mrs. Warren made the main address at the banquet, speaking on "Forty Years of Progress."

Elected to serve during the next twelve months as officers of the Ex-Students association are the following: Irvin Buchanan of Perryton as president, George Stokes of Plainview, vice president, Sudie Kornegay of Plainview, secretary-treasurer, and J. P. Woodward of The Plainview Herald, editor of the Ex-Students News.

President Marshall estimated the cost would be about $15,000 to finish construction of the former swimming pool to convert it into a Little Theater and about $10,000 to furnish it completely with seats, velvet curtains, and the like.

To seat about 200, it will be used for morning watch services, drama presentations, band and orchestra practice, and for audio-visual studies.

BOND ISSUE APPROVED

TEMPLE, May 11 (AP)—Approval for a $1,000,000 bond issue to buy right-of-way for super highway 81, through Bell county, was voted, 2,359 to 853, here yesterday.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins Inaugurated Fifth President Of Tech

Impressive Ceremony Is Held Last Night In Jones Stadium

Dr. Dossie Marion Wiggins last night was inaugurated as the fifth president of Texas Technological college in one of the most impressive ceremonies in the history of the college. The program was conducted in Jones stadium.

An audience of approximately 1,000 persons, in addition to representatives from 114 institutions and professional societies, and Tech faculty members and special guests, witnessed the installation of Dr. Wiggins as Tech president by Charles C. Thompson, chairman of the board of directors of Texas Technological college.

Progress of College Cited

Dr. Clifford B. Jones, Tech president emeritus, who presided at the ceremonies last night, introduced Thompson, pointing out years of service on the board of directors.

Thompson called attention to the progress and growth of Tech under the four preceding presidents, Dr Paul W. Horn, Dr. Bradford Knapp, Dr. Clifford B. Jones, and Dr. W. M. Whyburn. Speaking for the board of directors, Thompson said, "I officially inaugurate you as president of Texas Technological college."

In his inaugural address which followed, Dr. Wiggins asserted that "the economic transition now underway in the Southwestern part of the United States is well accelerated in West Texas and in the great Panhandle of this largest of states," and that "it closely follows that these powerful influences must, of necessity, reflect themselves upon the people who live in the Southwest.

Emphasis On Education

"The native sons and daughters of the Southwest are faced with difficulty in clearly understanding the forces which are in operation among them," he said, with the result that "greater emphasis must be placed upon the education of both youth and adults in order to better understand the nature and the operation of modern social institutions, as well as to become acquainted with the forces which have contributed to bringing such institutions into existence."

He pointed out that in a statement of aims and purposes of the college, the college catalogue reads as follows:

"Texas Technological college was established by the State of Texas to make available to young men and women of the state instruction and training at the college level in scientific and technological fields, as well as the arts and sciences. It recognizes the task of training men and women to integrate their knowledge in terms of participation in community and world affairs. The ultimate aim of the college, therefore, is the development of human beings to the fullness of their capacities. By means of instruction, research, and the original investigation the college endeavors to place the resources of higher education of the state at the disposal of its citizens."

Dr. Wiggins stressed that "we are a gregarious people; transitional forces are changing the population of this section from a rural to an urban society. Our villages of a decade ago are rapidly becoming prosperous little cities."

He pointed out with such change and growth "we are faced with great problems in human relations. It is necessary that we understand the laws by which we live and which hold society together, but it is also imperative that we have a sympathetic and appreciative attitude toward such laws and toward the social institutions which have made our laws necessary.

"The under pinnings of specialized higher education must be carefully studied and evaluated in a searching manner," Dr. Wiggins declared. Large demands in terms of time are made for essential experiences in technological learnings, and there is apparently small opportunity for lessening these demands. The college is faced with the necessity of thoughtfully re-evaluating its entire program for the conservation of emphasis and of time.

Urges Broad Study

"It is therefore imperative that the same careful study be given to the objectives of the social sciences and the humanities as has been given to the outcomes of technological phases.

"If the sciences and technology shall steadily move forward in their contributions to our society they must be supported by the inviolability of individual rights, individual freedom, and the sanctity of the individual.

"Otherwise, freedom in our research laboratories may be replaced by dictatorial restraint," he declared.

Florida Educator Speaks

Doak S. Campbell, president of Florida State university, was guest speaker at the inaugural ceremonies. He was introduced by Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president of Texas Technological college.

Dr. Campbell reviewed briefly the development of public education in this country from its earliest inception, and stressed that "if the development is to continue, even at a much slower rate in the future, it will call for some fundamental changes and improvements in the curriculum as well as in the organization and

Street Naming Plan Delayed; Further Study Will Be Made

Only 38 of Greater Lubbock's estimated 75,000 residents appeared at a public hearing before the city commission Tuesday afternoon on a proposal to systematize the naming of city streets.

Of those appearing, only 11 spoke out in opposition to any phase of a numerical-alphabetical naming plan recommended by the City Planning commission. The only caustic criticism was voiced by Elmer East, for many years the city's paid legal bond adviser, who termed the recommended plan a "conglomerated hodge-podge." Only one other alternative plan was suggested.

It apparently was the unanimous consensus of those present that a more systematic street naming plan has become an urgent need. Commendations of the plan proposal were for more numerous than criticisms.

Further Study Suggested

The upshot of the meeting was the city commission's decision to refer a report of the hearing proceedings to the planning commission. Accompanying it will be the suggestion that a citizen's committee be named to make a further study of the proposal. Suggested for membership on the committee are representatives of public utilities the city, taxicab companies, the fire department, ambulance operators, business men generally and perhaps others.

The city commission first discussed the naming of such a committee itself. But agreement became unanimous that, since members and special committees of the planning commission have devoted months of study to the recommendations submitted, this group should decide whether another committee might be useful and, if so, appoint the membership.

The plan recommended by the planning commission would not affect the names of the great majority of streets at all. Numeral streets (First, Second, Third, etc.) and alphabetical avenues (Avenues A, B, C, etc.) would remain as they are. The present numbers of residence and business addresses would not be affected any where in the city.

But the names of several short streets between numeral streets would be given "½" designations. For example, Edna street which lies between short portions of First and Second, would be renamed "1½" street. Avenues west of College, now named for residents, would be named in alphabetical order for cities east of the Mississippi river. Streets north of First would be named, also alphabetically, for colleges. Those east of Avenue A would be named alphabetically for trees.

Most of the objections to any part of the plan, as voiced at the hearing, were to the proposal to designated "½" streets. Petitions were submitted, signed by many residents on Sanders street, which would become "2½" street, and on Arnett, which would become "24½ street," urging that the present names of those thoroughfares be retained. Mrs. S. H. Elliott, 2328 Sanders, was spokesman for a delegation of residents on that street.

"The people there like the name as it is and they don't like the idea of a new designation as unusual as "2½" street, she said.

The suggestion that the thoroughfare be designated "2-A street," she said, did not sound "quite as bad," as "2½."

"But I like 'Sanders street' best," she added.

It appeared for a time that some protests would result from the suggestion that the same letter of the alphabet would be used twice in areas for which name changes have been recommended. (East of Avenue A, for example, the proposal is to name East Avenue A "Ash" and East Avenue B "Aspen.")

Use Of Letters Explained

This recommendation, as explained by City Public Works Director R. L. Oldham, resulted from the fact that in all parts of the city, blocks in some areas are longer then in others. With

Favorites At School Named

Kara Sam Dunn and Charles Galey were announced as All Westerner girl and All Westerner boy of Lubbock High school for the 1948-49 school year and received honors in full page pictures in "The Westerner," the school's yearbook which was issued Tuesday.

Identity of the winners, along with other class favorites was kept secret until the book was issued to students.

Kara Sam, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Sam Dunn of the Levelland road, scored a "triple slam" in yearbook and school honors.

Win Top Honors

Miss Dunn in addition to being chosen All Westerner girl was named Senior Girl favorite and recently was crowned as the Lubbock High Round-Up favorite, the latter an annual western days event at the school. Yearbook officials said they believed this was the first time one person had been honored by all three titles.

Galey, in addition to winning All Westerner honors, is an outstanding basketball and baseball player. He also was named Round-Up favorite and ruled with Miss Dunn over the Round-Up events. Galey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Galey of 1517 Twenty-fourth.

Dedicated To Teacher

The Westerner yearbook this year was edited by Mary Ruth Sims, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Sims of 1921-A Sixteenth. The book contains 258 pages, more than ever before, according to Miss Sims. Last year there were 240 pages.

This year's "Westerner" is dedicated to Mrs. W. L. Bradshaw of 2514 Twentieth, who for many years has been an applied science teacher at the high school. Mrs. Bradshaw has long been popular among students. The dedication to Mrs. Bradshaw reads, "In deep appreciation for her sincere efforts in helping students build worthwhile lives and because she believes the first duty of a teacher is to teach students how to live rather than how to make a living, we the staff of the 1949 Westerner dedicate this yearbook to Mrs. W. L. Bradshaw."

There were 1,092 annuals ordered. The theme of the book is building and the first four pages are covered with reproductions of the blueprints which have been used in the extensive building program at the high school.

Building Theme Of Book

The theme of this year's annual is expressed by the words on the first page which reads, "We are building new additions—a cafeteria, gymnasium, more classrooms—but more important we

THE QUESTION

What tradition do you consider to be outstanding on Texas Tech campus? Why?

THE ANSWERS

PAUL NETTLES, 2402 Thirteenth, sophomore from Meadow: "I think the All Western days, because that is a true West Texas tradition. I think all traditions held here at the college should be carried out. Everybody should take part because if they don't college tradition is just not what it ought to be."

PATSY BATES, Women's Dormitory No. 4, freshman from Midland: "Howdy day is the most important one, I think, because it helps the new students get acquainted with the others and they don't feel so strange on the campus."

KENNETH HILL, Veterans Village, sophomore from Brownfield: "All Western days, I'd say. I think that's outstanding because it takes in the entire campus. Nearly everybody observes it. You see very few who don't have on western regalia those days."

HELEN BRADFORD, Idalou, senior: "I think Howdy day is most important. Everybody speaks to everybody else. You're supposed to speak to everyone, whether you know them or not. After that, it's easy to speak to someone you've spoken to once. It makes campus life more friendly."

GEORGE MORRIS, 2009 Sixteenth, junior whose home is in Lubbock: "It seems to me Homecoming would be the most important, because it gives former students a chance to come back to Tech. The students enjoy it and the exes enjoy it, too."

FREDA WALKER, 1411 Ave. N, senior from Meadow: "I think Arbor day is about the best tradition there is. We dismiss classes and clean up the campus that day. It makes the students take more pride in keeping the campus clean."

Fourth Suicide In Family Is Reported

ST. LOUIS, May. 11 (U.P.) - Charles E. Lemp, 77, was the fourth member of the famous Lemp brewing family to die by suicide, authorities said today.

Lemp was found dead yesterday in a bedroom of the ancient family mansion on St. Louis' south side. The neighborhood once was a fashionable residential area but has become an industrial district in recent years.

A .38 caliber revolver lay on Lemp's chest. He had shot himself in the head. A note read: "In case I am found dead, blame no one but me."

Lemp's father, William J. Lemp, sr., shot himself to death at the home in 1904. Another son, William J. Lemp, jr., shot himself fatally in the same house in 1922. A daughter later committed suicide at her home in west St. Louis.

The family established the brewery in 1840 and the business grew to national stature by the turn of the century. The firm never recovered from the impact of prohibition, however.

Training future mothers and fighting illiteracy among women will be the future program of the All-India Women's Conference, said Mrs. Urmila Mehta, its president, at Gwalior.

ATOM MATERIAL FOUND BY WOMAN

Burros To Move Uranium Ore Discovered In Steep Canyon

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., May 11. (AP)—A vital component of man's most modern tool, atomic energy, will be moved from a northern Arizona canyon by pack burro.

The sure-footed donkey is the only answer to nature's challenge at House Rock valley.

There, in a steep, narrow box canyon, 130 miles north of here, lie 200 tons of uranium-rich petrified logs.

Trucks, even the usually - dependable jeep, couldn't operate in this no-motor's land. So, Maggie and Riley Baker, discoverers of the rick stake, have hired 15 burros and five Navajo Indians to move the precious ore.

Operation Starts Soon

The burro train operation will start in 10 days. The animals will haul the ore over a treacherous mile and a half trail to highway 89. Trucks will take it from there to the atomic energy commission's processing plant at Montecello, Utah.

Actually, there is no official estimate on the amount of uranium-bearing ore in the small box canyon. On the surface, the yellow-streaked petrified logs are estimated to weigh 200 tons. Below the ground may be more.

The atomic energy commission wants all the sand surrounding the area sacked and sent to Montecello for processing.

Maggie Baker hopefully figures the petrofied logs may go to a depth of from 40 to 70 feet. She and her husband have staked out four claims, Canyon Cliff Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4. Number One is the only claim on which uranium has been found. Alone, No. 1 is expected to yield more than $40,000.

"All An Accident"

Quite happy over her good fortune, Mrs. Baker calls it all an accident.

"It was just an accident that these trees washed into this small box canyon and couldn't wash out again. Because the trees were stuck here, the uranium couldn't wash out," she explains.

She stumbled onto the flank petrified logs while looking for specimens to polish and sell to tourists. The discovery was kept secret for a month while the Arizona department of mineral resources tested the samples.

Maggie and her husband will chip in with the Indians to move out the ore.

Not Poor

They are not poor, she said, "We have always made a comfortable living."

"When some men came here and started talking about bulldozers and other big equipment, I told them we didn't have the money for that. We don't, but that doesn't make us poor," Mrs. Baker declared.

The mother of four children, including a six-year-old adopted daughter, plans to help underprivileged children with some of the money she expects to get from her strike.

1681 Church Termed Oldest In Bay State

HINGHAM, Mass., May 11 (UP)—This South Shore town boasts the oldest church in Massachusetts.

The Old Ship Church (Unitarian) on Main Street has been in constant use since it was built by ship's carpenters in 1681.

Architects say it is the only 17th century church now standing in the state. It is of severe design. The roof is built like a truncated pyramid, topped by a belfry and a "lookout" that gives the building its name.

Beauty Contests Are Hit By Church Paper

MUNICH, May 11 (AP)—The influential "Wuerzberger Bistumblatt" of Wuerzburg, weekly periodical for the Catholic diocese of Wuerzburg, has attacked Bavarian beauty contests.

The "Bistumblatt," with a circulation of 75,000, was bitterly critical of the selection of a beauty queen, and printed one article under the sub-heading "Meat Inspection."

"A 'social' mantle is draped over the half-naked queens," said the newspaper, commenting on a beauty contest. "This is publicity for Bavaria's tourist traffic. In plain words that means over there in Bavaria, in the mountains or in Munich there are more such beauties, which are to be had for every Ami(slang expression for American.)"

The "Bistumblatt" declared that a beauty contest was ordered by military government in one area but that the German local government refused to conduct it. Also given a lambasting was a reported plan to import comic books into Germany. The "Bistumblatt" listed as evidences of declining morality in Germany high divorce and venereal disease rates. "We do not want to investigate how far chocolate, cigarettes and jeep rides were the cause, nor why girls of that type seem to hang around towns like Kitzingen, where a lot of Americans were stationed," one article said.

Inspection Of ROTC Units At Tech Set

A formal inspection of ROTC units at Texas Technological college will be conducted Thursday by Col. Albert A. Horner, deputy exeeutive of the Texas Military district.

Col. Horner will be assisted by four Army officers and an Air Force officer in the inspection.

Purpose of the formal inspection is to examine the general proficiency of the Tech units. Records of all quizzes and examinations conducted during the academic year will be appraised. Cadets will be interviewed during the inspection to ascertain the extent of the subject matter retained in military courses. Also, inspecting officers will note their impressions of the cadet's intelligence, alertness and attitude.

Col. Horner, head of the inspecting delegation, is a 1925 graduate of the U. S. Military academy at West Point. During World War II, he saw extensive service in the Asiatic-Pacific theater, and was awarded the Legion of Merit by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters for exceptionally meritorious services in the Pacific.

New Drugs Used In Plague Treatments

BANGKOK, May 11 (AP) — Siamese medical officials have been trying the new antibiotic streptomycin as a treatment for plague in parts of the Kingdom.

Nine deaths in six provinces in a period of ten days had been recorded.

Dr. Sawat Daengsvang of the Public Health Department said streptomycin was being used in combatting septocemic plague. However, he added, most of the cases recorded were of the bubonic type and sulfadiazine treatment seemed preferable.

Americans Assailed In New Soviet Film

BERLIN, May 11 (AP)—The Russians, who complained bitterly in their controlled press when that antiquated Hollywood satire on Communism, "Ninotchka," was shown to guffawing German audiences, now figure on giving the Americans a real propaganda hotfoot in celluloid.

They are going to show German audiences in Berlin and Soviet eastern Germany what they call "a great Soviet film dealing with the most real and burning problems of our day."

It is entitled "Meeting on the Elbe," with music by Shostakovitch, and featuring the famed Soviet actress Lyubov Orlova. It has been a big hit in Moscow.

The film pictures the Russians as defenders of European culture against "barbarians" from across the Atlantic. It shows an American general in Germany importing cigarets by the half-dozen truck loads for black marketing.

Also it shows a Russian occupation administrator defeating the Americans at all points. It carries the line that if it weren't for the evil American leaders the "common people" of both countries could get along very well.

TEXAS LADY LOSES 47 POUNDS

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger. Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here is proof

Here is what Mrs. H. P. Bishop, Route 2, Stamford, Texas, wrote us:

"I am very glad to endorse Barcentrate, so please accept my sincere thanks and appreciation for the great benefit I derived from its use. I not only lost weight, but also looked and felt better in every way.

"I had to have a very serious operation and was told that I must lose a lot of weight before the operation could be performed. I went on a diet and tried very hard to reduce, but wasn't losing much weight until I heard of Barcentrate. I began taking it and could soon tell the difference in the way I felt and the weight I was losing. I weighed 200 pounds when I started and I lost a total of 47 pounds and was able to undergo my operation. I can truthfully recommend it to others, since it did so much for me."

At all druggists

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Britain's Hong Kong Seen As Possible Cause Of Third War

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

Britain's crown colony of Hong Kong of the southeast coast of China is only a pinpoint on the map of Asia, but it could become a mighty cause of strife between England and the Chinese Communists if the Reds conquer the country.

The reason is that this famous island through endless centuries belonged to China until John Bull acquired it after winning the "opium wer" between Britain and China in 1839-41. Indications are that the Chinese Communists intend to reclaim Hong Kong and neighboring territory on the mainland—a total of more than 390 square miles.

The London Daily Mail sums up "the danger confronting Britain in China" like this:

"The siege in the west is over, bar the shouting, but how soon will the siege in the east begin?

"Hong Kong may become another Berlin."

The mail is doubtful if enough is being done to protect Hong Kong against possible aggression and action, saying:

"Hong Kong after all is a vital link in the American Pacific frontier, stretching from Japan to the Philippines. The Russians may have lost one round in the west, but they hope to recover this lost ground through their allies in the east. If we realize in time that Hong Kong is the new political symbol of our resolve to resist Red pressure, Russia may lose here as well."

The British government already has taken steps to meet contingencies. Defense Minister Alexander told the House of Commons a few days ago that Britain was sending substantial land, sea and air reinforcements to Hong Kong. This was during a debate on the Communist shelling last month of four British ships along the Yangtze river at a cost of 42 British lives. Alexander added:

"While we have scrupulously endeavored to avoid being involved in war on the Chinese mainland, we are no less resolute in our attitude as regards territory for which we hold a direct responsibility."

Hong Kong, with its fine harbor, is one of the great centers of international trade. The colony consists of three parts.

There is the island of Hong Kong which has an area of 32 square miles and contains the capital city of Victoria. Then there is the neighboring peninsula of Kowloon, a little more than three square miles in size, which was ceded to Britain in 1860 after the Anglo-French war against China.

And there are the so-called New Territories, containing 359 square miles, which China leased to England for 99 years in 1898.

Thus the territory actually belonging to Britain consists of the island of Hong Kong and the Kowliin peninsula. Since the New Territories are leased they presumably will revert to China in 1997 (under normal circumstances) unless the lease is renewed.

Well, now, could Britain defend this possession if the Chinese Communists should make an attack on it in force?

That certainly raises a great big question. Hong Kong is highly vulnerable to attack from the mainland because its huge populatio of something like 1,600,000 is largely dependent on the hinterland for food supplies. It would be difficult to feed a besieged Hong Kong by sea and the operation could only be carried out under coyer of big scale naval and air operations.

In short, it strikes us that defense of Hong Hong against an all out Communist attack would involve a major war. That likely would mean another world war. A decision along those lines may be what Britain will be up against.

Americans held about $171 billion dollars worth of life insurance at the end of 1946.

Judy Garland Still Suspended At MGM

HOLLYWOOD, May 11 (AP) — Judy Garland remains suspended today by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, for failing to report for work on one of her most important pictures, "Annie Get Your Gun."

A studio spokesman said the actress reported two hours late for work Tuesday and did not reappear on the set after lunch. Then she was suspended and her salary stopped.

Studio officials said they didn't know what happened, but declared they have no plans for replacing her in the cast.

They said Miss Garland has worked hard on the picture and has been rehearsing since January. Recently, Busby Berkeley was withdrawn as director after a difference of opinion with the actress over how the picture should be filmed. He was replaced by Charles Walters.

Support Sought In Divorce Agreement

SANTA MONICA, Calif., May 11 (AP)—Actress Joanne Dru's request for court approval of a support agreement under which crooner Dick Haymes would pay $800 monthly will be heard tomorrow.

Mrs. Haymes has a divorce suit pending in Los Angeles. But friends say she may establish residence for a six-week Nevada divorce.

The support agreement would be for their three children and payments would increase if Haymes' earnings went up, with $14,000 the maximum yearly payment.

Haymes' name has been linked with that of Nora Eddington Flynn, estranged wife of actor Errol Flynn. Mrs Flynn said recently she and Haymes planned to marry as soon as possible.

Vandenberg Joins Connally In Urging Ambassadors To Spain

WASHINGTON, May 11. (AP)—Senator Vandenburg (R-Mich) joined Senator Connally (D-Tex) in urging today that the United States help clear the way to exchange ambassadors with Spain.

Vandenberg thus added his weight to Senate pressure building up on the State department for this country to join in a move to have the United Nations soften its 1946 rulings which ban member countries from full diplomatic relations with Spain.

Observing that he had opposed the American position of agreeing to the 1946 action, Vandenberg told a reporter:

"In the first place this action was totally inconclusive. secondly, our designation of an ambassador is in no sense approval of the government to which he is accredited."

Spain Wants Cotton

At the same time, Senator Brewster (R-Me) revealed the cold economic facts of life that are partly responsible for the sudden demands of senators in both parties for recognition of the Franco government.

Brewster told a reporter he is informed that if full relations can be reestablished, Spain may be in the market for 300,000 bales of American cotton and 30,000,000 bushels of American wheat.

"I am told that such a sale might go a long way toward solving what threatens to be a large crop surplus in this country," the Maine senator said.

Conally told the Senate Tuesday that he favors sending an ambassador to Madrid, where this country now maintains only an charge d'affairs with somewhat limited authority.

Connally noted that Texas cotton shippers are shut off from Spain's market.

'Moscow' Inspired

Brewster said that Great Britain and France had influenced the American decision not to vote when the question of recognizing Spain came before the United Nations recently. The Maine senator said Britain had sold Spain $400,000,000 worth of goods and France $100,000,000 worth in the last year.

Later in the debat, Brewster charged that "Moscow" had inspired opposition to any change in the U. N. bars against Spain.

"Why must we be guided by an inspiration from Moscow?" he demanded.

Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn) of the appropriations committee asked State department witnesses to tell Secretary of State Acheson that Senators Wherry, (R-Neb), McCarran (D-Nev) and Bridges (R-NH) want to talk to him in an open meeting soon about Spain.

Spain Gets Loan

The department recently cleared Spain for a loan from the export-import bank. Acheson said at the time that there was no political objection to the Franco government's getting a loan but mentioned that its credit might not be too stout.

McCarran told the Senate Spain is just about as good a credit risk as Great Britain.

Much of the ill-feeling toward Spain has been attributed to the fact that the Franco government rose to power with the help of fascist Italy and Nazi Germany.

Tech Inaugural

administration of higher education in this country.

First, he pointed out that "democratization of higher education, in so far as its student body is concerned, is an accomplished feat." He said that selection of a student body upon the basis of superior intellectual ability and general fitness for scholarly pursuits is not the general practice. Instead, graduates from secondary schools enter institutions of higher learning because they believe it desirable and profitable for them to attend college. Their abilities, aptitudes, and purposes differ widely.

Sees Need For Changes

"In my opinion, this condition calls for much more than temporary remedial measures, Dr. Campbell said. "It requires a re-examination of the entire scope and purposes of higher education with a consequent re-shaping of much of curriculum."

He pointed out a Roman phrase, "suum cuique," which, translated, means "to each one his own," and said, "American democracy, if it means anything recognizes the individual as the beginning and the end of our government and our society.

"To provide for his needs, to develop his capacities, to make of him a competent individual; this lies at the very core of our society. To each one his own' is a major obligation of higher education in this generation. We have professed this as our cardinal philosophy throughout the years. We must now objectify it in our treatment of the multitudes who look to us for guidance and education.

Tech Band Plays

"Whatever else may lie upon the horizon which we view today from this threshold, certain we are that the greatest challenge to administrators, scholars, and pupils alike lies in the direction of the cherished contribution from the Romans: 'to each one his own'," Dr. Campbell said.

The inaugural ceremonies were opened with the presentation of parts of "Petite Suite of Concert" (Coleridge-Taylor) by the Texas Technological college concert band, under direction of Prof. D. O. Wiley. The band also played the processional and recessional marches.

The invocation was offered by Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of First Baptist church, and benediction was given by Rev. Travis A. White, pastor of First Christian church.

Dean James G. Allen, chairman of the inaugural committee, made a short address of welcome to guests at the ceremony.

Bones Of Old Shark Found In Maryland

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 11 (U.P.)—Bones, believed to be those of the grand-daddy of all sharks, were uncovered near here by workmen excavating for a new road.

The bones, approximately 75 feet long, were found at a depth of 25 feet. Workmen said the teeth in the jawbone were bigger than a man's hand.

Dr. D. H. Dunkle, associate curator of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, expressed the opinion that the find was a Cartherodon, a shark which thrived about 60,000,000 years ago.

Poland expects to produce 2,000 tractors this year and buy 3,200 abroad.

Street Naming

specific reference to East Lubbock, he continued, "Ash" would designate a short street, "Aspen" a long one, Birch (for East Ave. C) a short one, Beech (for East Ave. D) a long one, etc.

The same condition in West Lubbock makes advisable the use of two cities beginning with each letter of the alpnabet and, in North Lubbock two each for colleges and universities.

The street numbers would tell those searching for them the approximate vicinity of any address they happened to be seeking. If they went to the proper numbered block of any "A" street or avenue, or those of any other letter of the alphabet, they could not be more than one block from the place they wanted.

Example Cited

As one contrast with a system of such simplicity the present Arnett street was cited as an example. The street actually lies between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth in Southwest Lubbock. Yet most people unacquainted with the city—and some of long-time residence—often head for the Arnett-Benson addition in extreme Northwest Lubbock when they seek an address on Arnett street. The inclination was explained as natural to associate the name of the street with that of the addition.

The most elaborate of the alternative naming plans was explained in lengthy detail by G. H. Nelson, attorney, and had the endorsement of East, County Judge Walter Davies and A. B. Ohlenbusch, an oil man.

It would involve changes in the names of every street and every address in Lubbock. It would give Lubbock the only street naming system of that particular kind in the world.

New Plan Presented

As outlined by Nelson, Avenue Q and Broadway would become the key thoroughfares in the system. Streets running east and west would be designated as "streets." Those running north and south would become avenues.

Broadway would become "300th" street and Avenue Q "300th avenue," under this scheme. The first street north of Broadway (now Main) would become 299th street, the next street 298th, etc. The first street south would become 301st, the next 302nd, etc. Avenues would follow the same system. The first east of Q would become 299th avenue, the second 298th, and so on. The first west of Q would become 301st avenue, the next 302nd. etc.

In further elaboration of the plan, East suggested that individual addresses be designated by a number separated from the street name by a dash. Thus, the address of first place west of Q on Broadway would be "301-1." That would be all. Correspondence to anyone at that place would be addressed, "301-1, Lubbock, Texas."

Expense Feared

Others present at the meeting began picking flaws in the plan immediately.

C. I. Wall, vice president in charge of operations of West Texas Gas co., said the changes in records of his company necessitated by such a system would cost "several thousand dollars at the least."

Officials computed that the aggregate cost to all business in Lubbock would total, "several hundred thousand dollars, and possibly several million."

In addition, it was pointed out many extreme inconveniences would be inevitable. Change-overs might mean weeks, even months of delay in getting statements to patrons of many businesses, including the utilities. Gas company users might find themselves confronted with a bill for three or four months service all in one lump.

Tragedy Chance Cited

Ray Farmer and Clifton Conaughter, taxicab company operators, declared also that the suggested street-avenue naming system would lead inevitably to a great deal of confusion, probably to much cost, and possibly to tragedy.

"People often give wrong addresses now when they call for cabs," Farmer commented. Many undoubtedly would get their streets and avenues mixed up if this plan (that outlined by Nelson) was adopted. A cab driver answering a call often would find himself several miles from the place wanting him.

"Mistakes like that might not be serious as long as only taxicabs were involved, although they would be costly. But they might be very serious for someone turning in a fire alarm or needing an ambulance."

Most of those attending the hearing gave assurance that they were satisfied to leave the whole matter in the city commission's hands.

Among numerous suggestions made to the commission was one by Mrs. E. E. Melton, 1908 Avenue Q, that the name of that street be changed to "Grand avenue."

The entire commission membership was present, including Mayor W. H. Rodger and Commissioners C. B. Price, John Spikes, E. K. Hufstedler, jr. and Clarence Whiteside. J. D. Hassell represented the planning commission. Also present were City Manager Steve Matthews and City Attorney Vaughn Wilson.

Denmark, rapidly mechanizing its farms, had 7,034 tractors at latest reports.

Chinese Reds Aid In Collection Of Books

LOS ANGELES, May 11 (U.P.)—The Communists in China are helping a University of California professor here fill the university library with hard-to-get oriental book treasures.

Dr. Richard Rudolph, doing research in China, has been kept constantly on the move by the Communist advance. But the advance also loosened up the book market. Private collections, including many rare editions, were obtained readily as owners sought to keep them out of red hands and at the same time insure preservation.

Dixiecrats To Ask Tax Funds

JACKSON, Miss., May 11 (AP)—States' Righters will seek a constitutional amendment against nationalization of labor, business, industry and the professions.

Approximately 325 delegates from 12 states, in session here yesterday, endorsed an amendment which would give the states a claim to certain federal taxes. Taxes mentioned were income, profit, gift, estate and inheritance.

Excepted from the states' claims would be funds needed to finance national security and veterans and dependents benefit programs.

Implied Powers Opposed

The amendment would shut off all federal power and control over education, elections, civil rights, race relations, wages, hours, working conditions, transfer or property, police power, suffrage and zoning.

It would prohibit granting of implied constitutional powers to Congress, and deficit financing. Under the States' Righters proposal, federal grants in aid would be administered exclusively by the states and any provision reserving power and authority to the states now in the constitution would be liberally construed.

States represented at the meeting were Arkansas, Alabama, Florida, South Carolina, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Texas, Virginia, Maryland and Nebraska.

The organization, which dropped the name "Democrat" from its title, is called the National States' Rights committee. The group, originally formed here a year ago, spearheaded a southern revolt against President Truman's civil rights program and the southern bolt from the Democratic convention in Philadelphia last June.

Probe Of War Trials Sought

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) today demanded a Senate probe of all Army war crimes trials in Europe.

As a Senate armed services subcommittee continued its investigation of the Malmedy massacre trials, McCarthy reported getting a "flood of letters and telegrams making very serious charges far beyond the Malmedy cases."

He asked the committee to call in top State department and Army officials for testimony at a closed-door session. He added that unless they promise "corrective action" he will ask public hearings—"even if they do irreparable damage to our policies and certain individuals."

More Witnesses Slated

Senator Baldwin (R-Conn), chairman of the Malmedy investigating group, told a reporter he will present any charges or evidence McCarthy has to the full committee "for decision and instructions."

McCarthy said he has been swamped with letters and telegrams from persons who took part in the war crimes cases both as defense attorneys and prosecutors.

A score or more witnesses still are waiting to testify on the investigation into charges that Army personnel were brutal in their treatment of Germans tried for the wartime massacre of 512 American prisoners of war and Belgian civilians.

Yesterday the group heard from Lt. Col. John S. Dwinell, one of the Army officers named to defend the 73 Germans finally tried for the massacre. Dwinell was personal defense counsel for the commander of the accused Germans, Col. Joachim Peiper.

He said that, with Army permission, he has continued as defense lawyer for the Germans because he wants the American form of justice to be handed out in all occupied areas.

"I don't want to apologize to any German lawyers for our procedures," he said, adding that he had felt it necessary to do so in the Malmedy cases.

Public Idea Of Leader Claimed Distorted

Biography Says John Lewis Really Modest And Kind Man

By ARTHUR EDSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 11—John L. Lewis' official biography came out today. It speaks highly of him.

It says that—regardless of the popular impression—Lewis really is a modest, affable, big-hearted man who likes to play with children.

The five-and-half page biographical sketch was prepared by Allied Syndicates, Inc., a company hired by Lewis' union, the United Mine workers, to help it with its press relations.

The sketch begins:

"John L. Lewis, undoubtedly the world's foremost labor executive, was born in Lucas, Iowa, on Lincoln's birthday, February 12, 1880."

Not Gruff Sourpuss

The last page is devoted to Lewis the man:

"In private life, Mr. Lewis is by no means the 'gruff sourpuss' that many cartoonists and writers have endeavored to depict.

"He is one of the most affable, big-hearted men on the American scene.

"He possesses an old-fashioned courtliness that is too often lacking in other great leaders."

The sketch says that Lewis probably is the most photographed man in the U. S. except for the President.

John was the oldest of six sons of Tom Lewis, an active union man.

In his early days John was a good ball player, liked amateur theatricals, read everything from the Bible to Shakespeare, the sketch says.

Wife Given Credit

Lewis credits his wife, a former schoolteacher who died in 1942, with much of his success.

"Mrs. Lewis was a constant intellectual spur for her husband, and she helped him polish up the dramatic rhetorical style which has so often aided Lewis in his battles with both mine operators and government bureaucrats."

Somewhere along the line Lewis picked up a hobby that may be useful when he starts figuring what to do during contract disputes:

"A keen student of Napoleon and military strategy in general, Lewis was once found down on the floor of a conference room with the late General Hugh Johnson.

"The mutual friend who saw them reported that the two men were heatedly discussing how this flank and that battalion should have been moved in the battle of Gettysburg."

Lubbock Family Has Prized Possessions In Chinchillas

BY BILL CLARK
Journal Staff Writer

The Johnie Turpens of 1519 Thirty-second have two new additions to the family, and most interesting newcomers they are.

They are two chinchillas, among the world's most prized fur-bearing animals. Speaking figuratively, the Turpens are all wrapped up in chinchillas.

The new additions will soon be having little additions of their own, and the Turpens hope they will be well on the way to having a chinchilla farm in a neat masonry building behind their home.

These are costly little animals and not to be confused with Chinchilla rabbits, from which imitation chinchilla coats are made.

Many Pelts Required

The unbelievably fine fur which these rodents wear is highly sought after for its beauty and lightness. A square yard of chinchilla fur weighs virtually the same as a square yard of silk.

A full-length fur coat would require 350 pelts and might cost $30,000 or more. A jacket of 100 pelts averages $10,000.

Although the chinchilla is a native of the Andes mountains in South America, it was imported to this country about 1920 and growers in the United States and Canada have been successful in raising them commercially.

The Turpens, who first moved here in 1928 and then went to the West Coast to work in a Portland, Ore., shipyard from 1941 to 1947, became fascinated by the chinchilla industry during their residence in the West.

Climate Here Ideal

When they returned to Lubbock they made plans for chinchilla raising here which they are just now carrying out. The first two animals arrived by air express from the West Coast this week and eight others are to arrive later.

Mr. and Mrs. Turpen are going to represent a large distributor of chinchillas, Allied Distributors, Inc., and they plan to sell the animals commercially also.

"The climate here is ideal for raising chinchillas, and the food bill is $2.50 per year," Turpen said.

The first investment is the rub—it costs from $800 to $2,500 to buy a pair of animals. But the first litter of two will give the raiser a mighty good chance to get his money back.

"They are clean and no trouble at all," Turpen comments.

The little pearl-gray animals appear to be intelligent, with big bright eyes and a long tail. They are very active and race about their individual cages when they are not hiding in a "doghouse."

They live and bear for as long as 12 years, but the average life is about seven years.

Mrs. Turpen takes womanly interest in them as she proudly strokes the delicate fur. "There are 80 hairs to each tuft of fur," she explains.

Chinchilla furs, she says, are widely used to decorate satin gowns. The color changes somewhat as the tufts are stroked in different directions. Chinchilla fur moves in any direction — you can't stroke it "the wrong way." It is almost never dyed since its natural color is so beautiful.

Born With Eyes Open

Furriers estimate they will purchase from eight to fifteen million pelts a year when they become available. At present it is estimated there are only 50,000 animals in the United States and Canada, the two largest commercial chinchilla producing countries in the world.

"We tattoo each animal on the ear for identification," Mrs. Turpen says. "The adult animals weigh 22 ounces, the female is somewhat larger than the male, and the new babies, which are born fully furred and with eyes open, only weigh an ounce and a half to two ounces at birth. They nurse 45 to 60 days."

The animals can't stand temperatures above 89 or 90 degrees, so their cages should be air conditioned.

As for diet, it goes something like this. They drink water out of a glass tube, eat four raisins a week, a slice of apple or two a week, a little greenery such as alfalfa, and "chinchilla chips," a special cereal made of wheat, oats and corn and fortified with vitamins. All that costs about $2.50 a year, per animal.

Strangely enough, the Turpens haven't chosen pet names for their animals.

"We just call them M-39 and M-22, their birth registration numbers," she said.

And does she plan to have a genuine chinchilla coat one of these days?

"No, I just want to raise them for other people," she smiles.

MEET MR. AND MRS. CHINCHILLA— The fetching little animals in the pictures above are genuine chinchillas—price, $800 to $2,500 per pair. Mr. and Mrs. Johnie Turpen of 1519 Thirty-second will grow them and also sell them. In the top picture Mrs. Turpen watches the antics of the two, which will soon be joined by eight others to be shipped by air express from Portland, Ore. In the lower picture Mr. and Mrs. Turpen laugh as the active, intelligent little rodents prove to be a hard package to hold still. (Staff Photos.)

Farmer To Die For Slaying Young Boy

WAYNESBORO, Ga., May 11. (AP)—A tenant farmer was sentenced to death for killing a three-year-old boy in a fit of anger.

W. R. Hobbs was sentenced to die in the electric chair July 8 for the murder of William Anderson last winter. The jury was out less than half a hour.

Hobbs was arrested after a carpenter—called to the Anderson home to build a casket—noticed large whelps on the child's body and notified the sheriff.

Police said Hobbs later confessed he had kicked, beaten and finally bitten the youngster to death in a fit of anger.

Barkley Tosses Civil Rights Battle Into The People's Lap

PHILADELPHIA, May 11 (AP) — Vice President Alben W. Barkley tossed the fight for civil rights into the laps of the American people today.

"We cannot legislate civil liberties," Barkley declared.

And, he told 700 people at a $100-a-plate Brotherhood day dinner Tuesday night, it is up to the American people to "lead the peoples of the world in the battle for equality and tolerance."

He said a "certain foreign country" is directing the counter-attack on freedom and civil liberties by abolishing freedom of speech and worship.

How can we as a nation, Barkley asked, fight for equality for the peoples of other nations of the world if we don't have that equality at home?

Need Moral Educaton

"No nation is completely democratic," he said, "if it takes men from their homes to fight for freedom abroad and then, when they return, doesn't grant them the right to participate in their own government."

But laws, Barkley said, cannot guarantee "voice and choice" in government.

"We can only punish offenders," he asserted. "We cannot force people to accept civil liberties. We need moral education.

"The people must be taught that any man, regardless of race, religion or color, has the same voice and the same choice in his government."

Speaking at the 21st birthday of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Barkley noted that "it is strange that this organization grew out of a bitter, intolerant presidential campaign."

Refers To 1928 Race

He was referring to the 1928 campaign between Herbert Hoover and the late Al Smith, a Catholic.

"Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, a great humanitarian and himself a defeated candidate for President, was appalled by the religious intolerance and bitterness injected into that campaign.

"And so he decided to do something about it, recognizing the utter inconsistency with our democratic government of the bigotry involved in that campaign."

Barkley said the national conference grew out of discussions among Hughes, Dr. S. Parks Cadman and Newton Baker.

"Most religious differences are man-made," Barkley said. "And it's up to man to prove that regardless of any religious, racial or color differences, he can cooperate with his fellow-man in the principles of tolerance and equality."

LENSMAN GETS THE HEAVE—There's no war in the Holy Land to stand in a correspondent's way any more, but troubles still remain, as this picture proves. NEA-Acme staff correspondent E. F. Ilani is unceremoniously ejected from a parade ground in Jesusalem by a stocky Israeli MP, as he attempts to photograph the Israeli army commander-in-chief during a formal review.

Water Well Tests Urged By Officials

Owners of private water wells in Lubbock should have tests made without delay to ascertain whether their supplies have become contaminated, according to a statement Tuesday by Gerald E. Jarvis, director of the city-county public health and welfare programs.

The tests will be made in the city-county laboratory without charge, he added. The laboratory is in the City hall.

Instructions can be obtained there, he said, as to methods to be followed in obtaining samples for tests.

The service, he emphasized, is available for wells from which water supplies for human consumption are obtained. Irrigation wells are not included in the offer.

The risk involved in not making tests is serious, Jarvis said. Large quantities of water from the recent heavy rains undoubtedly have drained into many wells. Some unquestionably have become contaminated, he believes.

He sees in them a possible means of spreading many types of contagious and infectious diseases—typhoid, diphtheria, polio and others.

In such wells, he said, the water should be treated as a safeguard against epidemics which could spread over the entire city. In most cases, treatment will involve nothing more difficult or expensive than chlorination. Treating methods will be explained when advisable, Jarvis said.

"This is a matter which should be attended to without delay," he declared. "Neglect might endanger the entire community."

The testing service, he added, is available to suburban areas as well as those inside the city limits.

Fishermen Keep Gin, Throw Octopus Back

Two fishermen at Pittwater, near Sydney, hauled in a line and found an octopus on the end.

The octopus was cuddling a full bottle of gin.

The fishermen threw the octopus back in the water.

Woman Laughs Bandit Shoots

DES MOINES, May 11. (INS) —A lone bandit, described as "good looking and neat appearing," Tuesday shot a 21-year-old girl employed in a finance company office.

Virginia Yeo, clerk at the Aetna Finance Co., in Des Moines was hospitalized with a .38 caliber bullet wound in her thigh. Her condition was described as "good."

Miss Leo was wounded, according to Aetna assistant manager Don Croskey, when she began to laugh, apparently thinking the holdup attempt was a joke.

The bandit had begun processing a loan application when he suddenly pulled a gun.

The would-be holdup man dashed for a stairway from the second- floor office after the shooting, losing hit hat and leaving without obtaining any cash.

Been There Twice Before

Employees said the man had been in the office twice previously on the pretext of wanting a loan. He had used the name of "Thomas" and said he had only been in Des Moines one day.

Police sought to link the attempted holdup to a similar robbery in Iowa City Monday.

The police report said the descriptions of the lone bandits in each case were quite similar.

The Iowa City bandit escaped with $798.02 from the Household Finance Co. office after forcing manager Robert W. Lund to tie and gag a woman employe and a male customer.

Lund was then told to face the wall and the bandit slugged him with a revolver butt.

Squirrel's Nest Is Said Cause Of Death

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill., May 11 (AP)—A coroner's jury found that George Gordon Schanck, 77, died because a squirrel built a nest in the chimney.

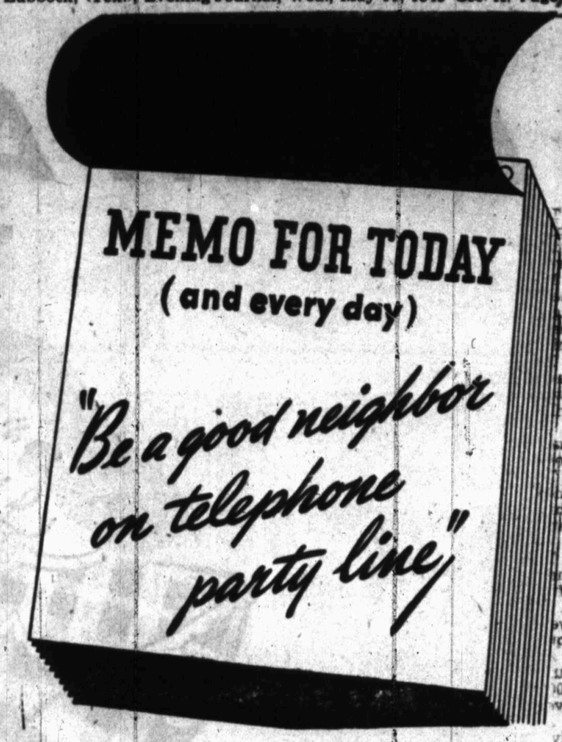

Schanck built a fire in the stove. The next morning he was found dead.

The pipe from the stove passed through Schanck's room. The squirrel's nest blocked the chimney and caused poisonous fumes to leak into the room, the jury decided.

Swoon-Crooner, Wife Slightly Out Of Tune

LOS ANGELES, May 11. (AP)—Frankie Laine, 33, who swoons boby-soxers with his crooning, can't harmonize with his wife.

He sued her Tuesday in superior court for divorce, charging cruelty. Laine, whose real name is Frank Paul Lo Vecchio, said his wife, Nellina Gidlund Lo Vecchio, 24, has already entered into a property settlement. Laine's counsel said she will receive "reasonable maintenance" out of the singer's $5,000 weekly income.

That Girl on Broadway says if it's true, as historians claim, that civilization was started 70 centuries ago, it's time it was getting started!

The U. S. Treasury says all citizens should watch out for counterfeit money.

Most of us have all our time taken up looking out for the real stuff!

WITHIN the next few days, a sharp-eyed, poker-faced man with four stars on the shoulder-straps of his battle jacket will walk up the ramp of an Air Force plane at Frankfurt-Main airport. Minutes later he will take off for his native shores—perhaps to remain for the balance of his life.

The man is Gen. Lucius D. Clay, chief of the American occupation in Germany and Austria since shortly after shooting's end in the European phase of World War II. The job he leaves has been one of the most difficult ever filled by any man, anywhere.

Olive complexioned and on the slight side, Lucius Clay is no showman. He looks more like the executive vice-president of a great engineering firm than like a military governor.

But calm, dispassionate Lucius Clay was a natural for the hard job handed him and for the turbulent time during which he has held it.

It is doubtful if any other man in our military could have done as well as General Clay has done these more than three years in Europe.

Certainly, none could have done it better.

Lucius Clay went to Germany to direct order out of chaos. That he has done, to an amazing extent.

The country he found in economic, governmental, social and cultural ruin now is firmly planted on the road back.

Clay didn't do the job by himself. But he led in the job. And his leadership was exerted despite almost superhuman obstacles — some of which deliberately were thrown in his way.

It has been a popular pastime in this country to compare the occupation records of General Clay and his counterpart in Japan, Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Nothing could be a greater waste of time. Their tasks and their problems have been as different as day and night.

The superb showman, MacArthur, has been in magnificent isolation in Tokyo—far removed in miles and interest from Washington. The didactic Clay has been constantly under the guns of Washington, the State department, politics as played to soothe racial groups—as well as in forced communion with the British, French and Russians.

Each man has done exceedingly well in his own job. It is likely that neither would have done as well in the other's, for which he was less tempermentally fitted.

FROM the personality standpoint, the two American occupation commanders are as far apart as the poles; as far apart as their headquarters; as different as their jobs.

General Clay is unassuming, almost sphinx-like. He and MacArthur were Army engineers before reaching the general staff, but while MacArthur has made a complete shift to the executive field, Clay remains the engineer in all his thinking. He is inexorably exacting. He respects details and gives endless personal attention to them.

Unlike most military men of high station, he avoids the spotlight, hates pomp. Lesser lights were trumpeted into Berlin and Frankfurt by large motorcycle escorts with sirens screaming. That happened only once to Lucius Clay. He stopped it, then and there.

—Also unlike most men would have been in his position, General Clay had a very real interest in the people he governed—the former enemies completely under his authority. He was big enough—he understood the background of his job enough—to put down petty hates and dislikes and do his dead level best to start rebuilding all that which he and other American soldiers, of necessity, had been forced to tear down.

Although General Clay is not an easy man to get close to, and despite his reputation for demanding hard work and efficiency all about him, he is no part of a martinet.

In the Winter of 1947, we stood in a conference room in Berlin talking with General Clay's next in command, Lt. Gen. Clarence Huebner. Clay, who had been away from Huebner for several days, walked up.

"Hiyah, Lucius," said the redhaired Huebner, extending his hand.

"Hello, Clarence," said Clay, shaking hands, "how's the boy?"

That sort of thing is natural enough among old Army friends of approximate rank—in private.

But no martinet would be greeted that way, by even a three-star subordinate, with a dozen newspapermen standing by.

IN FRANKFURT, at the swank guest house maintained by our government for official visitors, we happened to have attached to our room a maid whose lot it was to serve General Clay when he was in that city. She knew the general well.

What sort of man was he?

The maid, Johanna, said he was very kind; very considerate; uncomplaining; never brusque, or given to either discourtesy, or unreasonable demand.

Almost fiercely, Johanna said, "Gen-er-al Clay, he tries to help Germany. He works so hard, he is always tired. I am much proud that in this place I am always his servant and that of Mrs. Clay. They are good people."

It may be true that no man is a hero to his valet. But Lucius Clay, definitely, was a hero to his maid.

In Germany, we sat in two long sessions with the military governor.

The first, in Berlin, came immediately upon our arrival overseas.

Fourteen newspapermen there were of us, and there were no holds barred. We were there at the invitation of the then Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royall and the then Chief of Staff, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower. Our job was to study the occupation, then report on it later, to Clay's bosses.

The questions flew thick and fast. Clay met the bombardment like an expert tennis player fending off clusters of drives. He never fumbled, never faltered. He had all the answers—pat, and to the point. Only twice did he answer "off the record," and then only because security, plainly, was involved.

He knew his far-flung, complicated job like a farmer knows his barn. He could play it by ear—and he did.

NEARLY two months later, there was another two-hour session—this time with General Clay asking the questions in Frankfurt. He had flown over from the Foreign Ministers conference in London, in soupy fog. He wanted to know what we thought was wrong in the occupation.

His questions were searching. His reactions to our answers, some of which were critical—were understanding, sometimes in complete agreement.

After the session, he climbed back into his plane and went back to London in weather that no commercial airline in the U. S. would fly.

Lucius Clay has made some mistakes in Germany. Some have been of his own architecture; others had their foundation in the errors of others.

But, over-all, his service to his country and to the cause of peace has been magnificent and invaluable.

It is regrettable that it is the sort of service not immediately apparent to everyone and, therefore, the sort for which General Clay will never get full credit, save from the histo[illegible]

BY DREW PEARSON: CREWMEN ON BERLIN AIRLIFT EARN WELL-DESERVED VACATION

New Boys' School Will Honor Chief G-Man Hoover

WASHINGTON. — Today the Berlin airlift is suspended and the pilots and ground crews who performed the greatest air feat in history at long last get a rest.

PEARSON

What they and the nation may not know, however, is that the Berlin airlift has done more to increase American prestige in Europe than anything else.

Even behind the iron curtain, the facts of the Berlin airlift are known. The Russians couldn't keep the news out. The feeding of a city of 2,000,000 people by air, day in and day out, was too staggering a story to suppress. It was a great human story, spread not by newspapers, but by word of mouth.

The Soviet government not only couldn't suppress it, but was worried about it.

So the pilots and ground crewmen, as they ease up on their labors today, may never really know how much they have done for their country.

J. Edgar Hoover School

During the 25 long years he has been director of the FBI, J. Edgar Hoover has received all kinds of tempting financial offers.

Various corporations have invited him to leave the government and join them. Movie companies have asked him to serve as their crime-story adviser. Big detective agencies sought his services. But Hoover has said no.

When you compare this with the general field of ex-government officials, Hoover's sacrifice looms much bigger than the public realizes. Most top government officials serve a few years, then go out and make big money in private industry. In Washington and New York, the woods are full of lawyers who once worked for the government and now lobby against the government.

But Hoover was satisfied to work for years on less than $10,000; only recently got a salary increase to $14,000. He is truly devoted to public service.

Therefore, it was appropriate that yesterday—the 25th anniversary of Hoover's directorship of the FBI—a bipartisan group of senators and representatives introduced a bill establishing a model school for rejected boys outside Washington in honor of Hoover. For work among boys has been one of his greatest contributions.

ALREADY, a group of private citizens have secured a 530-acre farm near the upper Potomac in Maryland as a gift to the J. Edgar Hoover foundation. They also plan to raise money privately to help build and finance the school.

The bill, introduced in Congress by Senators Thomas of Utah, Morse of Oregon and Ives of New York and Congressmen Walter of Pennsylvania and Case of New Jersey, provides that the government will match private contributions, and that the school will be governed by a board composed of an equal number of government officials and private citizens. This would give the school some of the freedom of enterprise which the government itself lacks.

Hoover, himself, would be the guiding genius behind the school. And, though his days of retirement are still some time off, the day might come when, instead of taking a tempting offer from private business, he could devote his talents to the thing he enjoys most—improving the youth of the nation.

And in view of Hoover's long service at a modest government salary, nobody in Congress is going to object to putting up part of the money for a boys' school dedicated to him.

Underneath His Bellow

Bellowing Bill Langer, the unruly senator from North Dakota, likes to size up a man before voting to confirm him for office That's why he blocked the confirmation of Adm. Paul Mather to succeed Jess Larson as war assets administrator.

Finally Larson called the senator and asked what he had against Admiral Mather.

"I just want to look him in the eye," roared Langer.

Larson hurried Mather over to Capitol Hill for Langer's inspection. The big, friendly senator threw an arm around the admiral and said: "You look like a two-fisted guy. We'll confirm you this afternoon."

SECRETARY Acheson has decided to visit Germany while in Paris for the four-power conference. In fact, Acheson already has a speech ready for his brief case, with the idea that he would go to either Stuttgart or Frankfort as did Secretary Byrnes in 1946.

The purpose of the speech would be to assure Germans that the United States has no intention of turning them over to the Communists, even if we do reach an agreement with Russia.

Should the Paris conference end in failure, Acheson's speech would be doubly important because he could then assure the Germans in person that the United States wants them to go ahead full speed with plans for a separate western German state.

Note—Acheson may run into some competition from Vishinsky who is bound to make a similar speech in eastern Germany.

Judge (?) Frank Lausche

The big question mark in Ohio politics is versatile Democratic Governor Frank Lausche. The politicians are trying to guess whether he will run against Senator Taft in 1950 or become a Democratic candidate for president or vice president in 1952. A key to the puzzle may be a statement Lausche made at an off-the-record dinner some time ago. "I have a great nostalgia," he declared, "for the judicial bench."

"Shall We Lift The Mental Blockade, Too?"

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"HAS anybody found a better name than 'housewife' to describe those women who head the complicated business of running a home, being a good wife and raising good citizens?" asks the New York World-Telegram of its women readers.

The woman's page of that newspaper goes on to explain that it receives frequent letters from women who say they hate to be called "housewives" — especially on questionnaires.

MILLETT

Through the years I've had a number of women ask me the same thing. But I can't quite understand the feeling. It seems to me any woman ought to write the word "housewife" after her name with distinct pride and satisfacton.

Query any group of young girls on what their main ambition in life is and you'll find the majority confess they want to be married.

Talk to any group of ambitious young career girls and you'll find that most of them would rather get a good husband than a fancy office with their name on the door.

Most unmarried women apparently want to get married either soon, or later.

Why then, once they have achieved their big ambition in life, should women be ashamed to list their occupation as housewife?

Frankly, I don't get it.

AMBITION FULFILLED

WHEN a woman puts housewife after her name she is telling the world she achieved her major ambition in life. She has a husband. She has a home. She wears the most respected title a woman can wear—the title of "Mrs."

Why should that be degrading? Why should a woman be ashamed of the word housewife? Well, let's break the word down into its two parts. There's the word "house" and the word "wife." It isn't likely any woman feels a sense of inferiority in admitting she is a wife. That's still a pretty cherished word in our language.

So the part of the word that causes mental anguish must be the word "house."

Admittedly, women aren't too fond of staying in their houses these days. "It's so good to get away from home" has become a standard feminie cliche.

So, if the word "housewife" bothers women so much, why don't they list their occupation as just plain "wife?"

That ought not to give them claustrophobia.

"The spirit of unrest throughout the world is caused by sun-spots," says an astronomer. We'd rather blame it on the government officials and politicians. We can't get any fun out of cussing sunspots.

Today's Thought

To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace.—George Washington.

Music is the food of love, says an authority. But some of it is enough to give one indigestion.

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Bobby-Sox Idols Show Trend To Middle Age, Sparse Hair

NEW YORK, May 11—For the past 20 years or so I have kept a chart on what kind of male frontispiece makes the female heart go si-boom-bah—very possibly hoping that someday there would be a vogue in mildly fat boys with fleeing hairlines.

RUARK

At the moment a 50-year plus opera singer named Ezio Pinza is the hottest thing since the Kinsey report. Mr. Pinza is teetering on the edge of grand-parenthood, and the part he plays in the musical, "South Pacific," is that of an upper-middle-aged man. But they faint for Mr. Pinza now as they used to swoon for Valentino. Mr. Pinza, aided by grandfather Carl Brisson, has made youth impractical and unfashionable to the practicing Don Juan. The old joints may creak on the balcony lattice-work, but as soon as gramps get his breath—oh, boy!

We have come a long way since the immortal Valentino, who let us in for a decade of slick-haired Latin lovers as the beau ideal of the palpitating matrons. Rudy's bear-greased, sideburned magnetism lasted so long that George Raft fashioned a fair career of walking in the master's fading footsteps.

Cagney Unusual Case

There was an interim period between the devilish Latin and the ugly brute, as later typified by the flange-eared Mr. Gable, and the dame-beating Cagney. This was filled more or less neutrally and certainly hygiencly by Mr. Rudy Vallee.

Nobody has ever qiute figured out what Rudy had that made the dames go voom-voom. In the old days he presented the personality of a dehydrated carp. He had the voice, if voice it was, of a saddened sheep come down with adenoids. He wasn't much to look at. But he stacked 'em in the aisles, and babes from Cincinnati to Siberia hated their husbands every time "Vagabond Lover" was played.

Mr. Gable, ears and all, then swaggered onto the scene, and for awhile anybody who wasn't six foot two, unshaven, gruff and rought stood no chance for public feminine adoration. Mr. Cagney was the exception which held the rule upright. He was an ex-chorus boy and pretty small, but he looked so mean and talked so tough and pushed girls' faces so deep into grapefruit that you forgave him his size and his past. The ladies yearned to be mussed up by Mr. Cagney almost as much as they craved a tousseling by Mr. Gable.

WE HAD a queer recession, then, doubtless induced by war and the fact that most of the able-bodied he-men went off to fight the battles of Piccadilly and King's Cross. This bred the Sinatra, or fragile trend in popular lovers. To qualify in this league you had to appear to be wistful, wispy, and maybe even a touch tuberculous, in order to fetch out the mother-feeling in the damsel. Actually it was only a wartime substitute, a throwback to the weedy Wallace Reid.

From the Sinatra stage, we progressed to a healthy postwar appreciation for the beautiful humble puppy, which included Van Johnson and Sonny Tufts. The boys had to be big, but hey had to be handsome, too, and above all they had to be pasteurized in appearance. But the international bobby-soxer sickened quickly of this diet. It was much too bland.

Like "Evil" Look

Abandoning the 4-H club hero, they latched onto the man who intimated a subtle evil, the satyr-faced Robert Mitchum became their fleshly god, and his popularity was heightened when they rode him off on a marijuana rap. They took a poll on Mitchum once and the concensus was they loved him because he looked so unsavory.

And now it seems we are trading in grandfathers, mellowed men who still use their own hair and teeth, but who have passed the boyish 40's and who don't mind admitting it. I think this is a very hopeful sign for the aging non-descripts. The day yet may come when the girlish wolf-calls are roused by fat fellows with bald skulls, store teeth, and legal wives. Matter of fact, that golden age may be just over the horizon. I seem to recall that Roberto Rossellini has less hair and more paunch thin I, and if he's good enough for Bergman, there's still hope for me.

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

Today's Journal Editorial

A GOOD START

Most persons in position to observe closely are pretty well agreed that the first year of civil service for the Lubbock Fire and Police departments has been highly satisfactory.

No one claims the system has worked perfectly. No one expected it would. But a more careful selection of personnel through civil service has obtained men better qualified for the duties of firemen and policemen. The security given such employment by affording protections from political influences undoubtedly has obtained men who, without civil service, would have shunned such jobs.

The one year of experience with the plan in the two departments justifies the City commission in its consideration of the extension of civil service to the employes of all municipal departments. The indications are that this will be done without avoidable delays

MEN READ CAREFULLY
I want to talk to ten men who are really ambitious in securing a position that will give them steady employment the year around. In other words there are no layins off periods Consistent income is the income that really counts.

It doesn't matter what your past employment has been; we teach you our work. It will be necessary that you be willing to get along on $75 or $85 per week for the first four to six weeks while learning our work.

If you are mechanically inclined or can handle men in a supervisory capacity, or your present income is not satisfactory, answer this new. You must be able to give the name of three persons who will vouch for your honesty and interity.

We prefer men who are married or who have some sense of responsibility and have a car.

We will present our plan only if wife accompanies you. Her happiness is contingent upon your success, and we feel that she should know completely from the first, what you will be offered.

Therefore if you are honest and of good character, a willing worker and neat in appearance, apply Hotel Hilton, Thursday evening 8:00 P. M. Ask for Mr. Carpenter.

This applies to men living in Lubbock and surrounding towns.

MEN READ CAREFULLY

I want to talk to ten men who are really ambitious in securing a position that will give them steady employment the year around. In other words there are no laying off periods. Consistent income is the income that really counts.

It doesn't matter what your past employment has been; we teach you our work. It will be necessary that you be willing to get along on $75 or $85 per week for the first four to six weeks while learning our work.

If you are mechanically inclined or can handle men in a supervisory capacity, or your present income is not satisfactory, answer this now. You must be able to give the name of three persons who will vouch for your honesty and integrity.

We prefer men who are married or, who have some sense of responsibility and have a car.

We will present our plan only if wife accompanies you. Her happiness is contingent upon your success, and we feel that she should know completely from the first, what you will be offered.

Therefore if you are honest and of good character, a willing worker and neat in appearance, apply Hotel Hilton, Thursday evening 8:00 P. M. Ask for Mr. Carpenter.

This applies to men living in Lubbock and surrounding towns.

Big Wheat Surplus Indicated For U.S.

WASHINGTON, May 11 (U.P.)—A wheat "surplus" of more than 150,000,000 bushels appeared today to be in prospect for this summer.

Judging by the Agriculture department's latest production forecast, officials said there may be that big a margin between this year's total production and the amount consumed or exported before the 1950 crop is harvested.

New Record High

The department yesterday forecast a harvest of 1,021,000,000 bushels of winter wheat. Barring an unexpected setback in spring-sown production, that would pile the nation's wheat stocks to a new record high this summer.

The so-called surplus would be added to the estimated carry-over of 300,000,000 bushels of 1948-crop wheat. That would boost total reserves to 470,000,000 bushels going into the 1950 harvest.

If production prospects are borne out, officials said, it probably will mean the return of pre-war government controls on 1950 wheat production.

Farm law requires that when surpluses reach a certain point farmers must accept, and abide by, government acreage allotments and marketing quotas in order to qualify for full price support benefits.

Under existing law, only two developments—a drop in current production prospects or a boost in anticipated exports — could save the nation's 2,000,000 wheat farmers from these controls in 1950, officials said. Unofficial calculations indicate it would take a combined shift of about 45,000,000 bushels in these figures to do the trick.

Here's the outlook for the marketing year starting July 1:

Production—1,321,000,000 bushels, based on the winter crop forecast and assuming the spring crop will equal last year's.

Demand—Top agriculture and economic cooperation administration officials figure exports will run about 450,000,000 bushels, a drop of only 50,000,000 bushels from current record high levels. That would leave a surplus of 170,000,000 bushels since domestic consumption is not expected to exceed 700,000,000 bushels, at most.

Interviews Set For Texas Tech Aggies

Marshall Howard, district superintendent of the Soil Conservation service, will talk with agricultural students at Texas Tech Thursday about jobs with the Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Jean Jenkins, head of the Tech Placement service, said students who were interested in soil conservation should file their names with Dean W. L. Stangel, head of the division of agriculture.

Some 20,000 people tried to hitch-hike from Fish Hoek to Wyneberg, South Africa, on a recent busy Saturday morning, when an explosion dislocated suburban train service.

Reds Taught 'Blood Must Flow In Streets,' Says FBI Worker

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—Picked trainees at a Communist school were taught that America, like Russia, would have to go through a blood-bath before the party achieved its goal, a party undercover workers for the FBI has testified.

William Cummings, of Toledo, Ohio, said at the Communist conspiracy trial Tuesday that the doctrine of bloodshed was preached at a secret Red school in Chicago in December, 1945. Eleven defendants are on trial in federal court on charges of conspiring to advocate forcible overthrow of the government.

He testified that the chief instructor, George Siskind, told students that before labor wins peace with capitalism, American streets "would run red with blood," as streets did in the Russian revolution of 1917.

Free On $1,000 Bail

(Siskind, who lives in the bronx, was arrested last September on a charge of being a revolutionary alien, and is free in $1,000 bail awaiting a deportation hearing. He entered this country from Russia in 1912.)

Cummings, a negro who joined the Communists six years ago to work for the FBI, quoted Siskind as saying that "85 per cent of the national wealth is owned by approximately 60 families."

"He said that the working class must be taught to hate the capatilistic class," Cummings testified, "and that there can be no compromise of any kind."

The witness also quoted Siskind as saying that the "leaders in the Chinese Red army are being taught in Russia at the present time and are being given leadership by Russian military heads."

Author Is Trampled In Cattle Stampede

GALLUP, N. M., May 11 (AP)—Author-historian J. Evetts Haley, 43, was badly trampled in a cattle stampede yesterday.

He received emergency treatment for a lacerated face and planned to go to San Antonio for plastic surgery.

Haley, biographer of southwestern personalities, owns several ranches in West Texas and New Mexico.
