DEATH STALKS WITH COLD WAVE

German Nazis Get Foothold Over Austria

Two New Cabinet Ministers Are Approved By Hitler; Independence Is Retained

BY ALVIN J. STEINKOPF
Associated Press Staff Writer

VIENNA, Feb. 16 — A government with nazi influence in a powerful role and two new cabinet ministers approved by Germany's Fuehrer Hitler was installed in Austria today, although the nazi party remained illegal within the nation.

The change grew from conferences between Austrian Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg and Hitler at the latter's Berchtesgaden retreat on Saturday.

Remains As Chancellor

Schuschnigg remains as chancellor, fighting as in the past four years for Austrian independence, as opposed to Anschluss, or closer union of the two German-speaking countries.

Independence was preserved in the dramatic turn-over, but at that cost to Schuschnigg of taking into his government Hitler's personal friend, Arthur Seysz-Inquart, as minister of interior with jurisdiction over police.

Two other ministers also are counted as sympathetic to Germany. They are Ludwig Ardamovitch, minister of justice, and Dr. Edmund Glaise-Horstenau, minister without portfolio. Galise-Horstenau was in the previous cabinet.

Cabinet Sworn In

After a day and night of conferences at the chancellery, Schuschnigg's cabinet was sworn in and at once delved into details of another understanding reached with Hitler at Berchtesgaden—amnesty for political prisoners.

Hundreds of nazis who were jailed in Austria's long efforts to suppress national socialism were to be released and placed on probation until Dec. 31, 1941.

First reactions to the sharp turn in Austrian policy varied from dismay among Jews to jubilation among nazis, who felt they would not be of an illegal party much longer.

Catholics were apprehensive. Among those concerned was President Wilhelm Miklas who accepted Schuschnigg's cabinet but who was said to share distrust of the agreement brought back from Germany.

There were reports that further

DENVER, Feb. 16.—Death-dealing cold gripped the Rockies, snow and sleet lay over much of the Great Plains area, and Oklahoma streams ran at flood stage today as a long-delayed blast of winter whipped southward out of western Canada.

Montana and Nebraska reported deaths by freezing, and icy highways were blamed for deaths in Colorado and Kansas. Two to six inches of snow covered Colorado and Wyoming.

The abrupt change of weather, reaching from the Mississippi river to Utah, followed by a day the cessation of California's 19-day siege of heavy rain. Four deaths, in Colorado, Montana, Kansas and Nebraska, were blamed on the cold.

Snow, and rain generally benefitted western wheat lands, but Colorado's southeastern dust bowl and Oklahoma's Panhandle received only light precipitation.

Chicago wheat prices dropped 3 3-8 cents a bushel yesterday on the strength of the reports of rain.

Some Oklahoma highways were flooded by creeks after rains that ranged up to a 5.34-inch fall at Pauls Valley.

Dirt and snow slides resulting from northern and central California's extended rains blocked highways at several points, but floodwaters were receding and levees were holding on the swollen rivers.

Drizzling rains and sleet made highways treacherous across Kansas and Missouri.

Snowplows were called into use last night in Utah for the first time this winter after heavy, wet snows there and in southern Idaho. Scattered snow and rains extended as far south as New Mexico. The far northwest remained clear.

Freezing Rain Or Snow Being Forecast In Northern Parts Of State; Warnings Issued

WEST TEXAS: Cloudy, freezing rain or snow in north, rain in southeast portion tonight and Thursday; colder in south and central portions tonight and in southeast portion Thursday.

EAST TEXAS: Rain in south and east, freezing rain in northwest portion, colder, cold wave in northwest and north-central portions with hard freeze tonight; Thursday rain in south, freezing rain in north portion, colder. Livestock warnings in north portion.

As reported at Municipal airport:
Temperature at noon, 34 degrees.
Dew point at noon, 34 degrees.
Minimum temperature, 32 degrees.
Precipitation since 6:30 a. m., trace.

Texas' predicted cold wave edged into the Panhandle area Tuesday night and today apparently was creeping slowly eastward and south.

Below freezing temperatures and sleet were reported this morning at Pampa, Borger and Amarillo. Other sections of the state, including the South Plains, reported fog and rain.

Dallas and vicinity expected a freezing rain tonight and Thursday. The U. S. Weather bureau predicted the freeze would not reach so far south as previously had been expected.

Borger reported 20 degrees at 8 o'clock this morning. Mist there was expected to turn to snow later today. Sleet fell last night.

Pampa thermometers fell from 40 to 17 degrees this morning. Amarillo pavements were becoming slippery with ice. Temperature was 18 degrees. Mist and light sleet were reported.

Lubbock's 42 degrees was believed due to presence of fog and warm air held in suspension. Colder weather for later in the afternoon was expected by government meteorologists.

The Wichita river was out of its banks at Wichita Falls, fed by more than five inches of rain on the watershed in two days. Tuesday's rainfall there set a 12-year record for a one-day fall, and rain continued today.

Vernon reported rain for the third successive day, but the cold wave had not set in. Precipitation totaled almost three inches.

Paris and Sherman had mild temperatures this morning on the heels of rain. Paris was fog-shrouded.

Austin reported muggy, warm weather with no rain, but expected cooler temperatures tonight.

Rain started falling at Corpus Christi, where the thermometer stood at 70 degrees.

McCraw Will Start Action Upon Leases

Suits To Cancel Nine Mineral Agreements Are To Be Filed After Request Of Governor

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 16—Attorney General William McCraw announced today suits to cancel nine mineral leases on submerged lands along the Texas coast would be filed immediately.

Cancellation recently was requested by Governor James V. Allred, who charged the state had received inadequate consideration for the

Figured In Testimony

The leases figured in testimony before a committee of the state legislature investigating leasing policies. W. H. McDonald, commissioner of the general land office.

At the time he announced the lease cancellation suits, McCraw also made public his department's position with reference to another important matter involving public lands.

He expressed bitter opposition to a resolution pending in congress now directing the attorney general of the United States to investigate and take steps to protect federal government's mineral rights to submerged lands along the coasts.

To Oppose Resolution

McCraw said he would personally oppose the resolution, which already has passed the national senate, at a hearing before the house judiciary committee February 23.

The leases which McCraw will seek to cancel are on tracts adjoining Jefferson county, as follows: Nos. 66, 68, 70, 71, 73, 74, 75, 76, and 77.

McCraw said suits to cancel the leases on tracts 68, 73 and 71, made to A. G. Myers of Longview, J. A. Gooch of Fort Worth and I. E. Harwell of Burkburnett, respectively, would be filed first and the others as quickly as possible afterward.

Requirements Not Met

Some of the leases, he said, carried drilling requirements which apparently had not been met, and on these leases failure to comply with the requirements would be alleged as grounds for cancellation.

On these and other leases, he stated, it would be contended that the land commissioner had no discretion to accept anything but the highest bids and this could be only the highest cash bid, royalty having no value because production had not been obtained. He said argument also would be made the bids were inadequate.

Officers To Be Elected March 18 As West Texas Museum Association Is Convened

Annual meeting of West Texas Museum association will be held here Friday, March 18, members of the executive board decided at their first 1938 assembly at the Museum building at Texas Technological college Tuesday night, according to information given this morning at the office of Dr. William Curry Holden, museum curator.

Two sessions will be held on the occasion of the annual gathering, the first at 4 p. m. at the museum and the second at a banquet at 7:30 p. m. Scene of the dinner was not set, although it will be either at the college or one of the downtown hotels.

To Elect Officers

Committees also were named at the executive board session to complete detail of arrangements for the annual meeting, at which new officers will be chosen.

Committee appointments, as announced by association President H. L. Allen were: Attendance and invitations—S. C. Arnett of Lubbock, J. Slaughter of Post and V. Z. Rodgers of Lamesa; reception, Dr. C. J. Wagner of Lubbock, chairman, who will be assisted by a numerous group of men and women; arrangements and program—Dr. Holden, A. B. Davis and Doyle Settle, legislative representative; auditing, R. C. Hopping, W. G. McMillan and Settle.

Appointment of the auditing committee was requested by Ray Hinchey, who is treasurer of the association.

National Authorities Expected

While the program is to be arranged, Dr. Holden said that invitations will be extended to nationally recognized authorities to speak.

Although plans were discussed by the board relative to efforts to complete the museum building this year, the executive group decided not to make any recommendations in that connection. Thus, it was explained, the executive board to be elected at the annual meeting will be left entirely free to formulate whatever plans it deems advisable.

Present at Tuesday night's meeting, which was postponed from Monday night, were President Allen, Secretary Davis, Vice President Rodgers, Treasurer Hinchey and Dr. Holden.

Maintaining the busiest pace of what thus far has been a record year, permits for $18,300 in new construction were authorized this morning by City Building Inspector Jim Reid.

Included among them was one for a two-story brick, tile and steel framework addition to the Dr. Pepper Bottling company building at 2413 Main street, to cost $7,300; and for a brick veneer duplex for Mrs. Allie M. Dyer at 2022 Seventeenth street, to cost $7,200. Jess Williams is contractor for both structures.

Totals Are Increased

Construction authorized today increased permit totals for the year to $219,829.25, and pushed the February total above the $100,000-mark to $101,774.90. It is the first time in at least eight years that the $100,000 total has been equalled for any February. Construction authorized this week aggregates $29,971.

Other permits issued since noon Tuesday included E. D. Smallin, owner, and M. G. Bowles, contractor, frame residence and garage at 1917 Twentieth street, $3,700; L. L. Clark, frame and stucco residence at 505 Avenue S, $900; J. H. Henderson, box residence at 710 Avenue A, $300; and Galbraith Steel company, owner, and C. B. Harris, frame addition to warehouse at 2318 Avenue G, $100.

Federal Plans To Open Jobs Are Drafted

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—President Roosevelt examined today the possibility of constructing a national system of super-highways to put men to work without creating further heavy relief expenditures.

The chief executive disclosed at his press conference yesterday that he wants to find out whether the roads, partly through toll charges, could pay for themselves.

Some Leaders Cheered

Members of congress who have been plugging for such superhighways for years were cheered by Mr. Roosevelt's attitude. From their mass of cost estimates and other figures they supplied this picture:

The roads, including parkway areas on each side of the traffic lanes, would be about 300 feet wide. Present proposals in congress call for three between the east and west coasts and six or seven running north and south. They would cost about $6,000,000,000 to $8,000,000,000, including rights of way.

Repayment Contemplated

They would be financed either by direct federal appropriations or by bonds issued by a new federal corporation. In either case, eventual repayment is contemplated.

Mr. Roosevelt expressed the belief that what has been called "excess condemnation" of rights-of-way might add to the income from tolls.

The bureau of public roads has given the super-highways some thought, but Thomas H. McDonald, bureau chief, said officials had not gone into details.

Crop Control Bill Broadest Plan To Aid The Farmer

BY OVID MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 — The new crop control program will constitute Uncle Sam's broadest attempt to help farmers solve their economic problems.

Until recent years his aid was largely advisory, having as its aim the production of better crops and livestock, inauguration of more economical farming methods and development of new uses and markets for farm products.

Given Broader Role

These functions made of Uncle Sam a combination teacher-scientist-economist.

The new legislation gives him a broader role — supervisor of the nation's agricultural activities.

Now the government, besides helping the farmer produce a better product at a lower cost, will try to help him obtain "fair" prices and income for his products — returns which administration leaders contend he failed to obtain in recent years.

Halt Ups And Downs

It will attempt to eliminate what officials declare to be the chief cause of his troubles, the ups and downs of prices which alternately follow short and bumper crops.

The legislation authorizes the government, with the approval of farmers, to regulate the flow of major farm products into market channels so that stable prices and adequate supplies will be maintained at all times.

Each farmer would be given a marketing share. If he exceeded this amount, he would be subject to stiff penalty taxes.

First To Set Penalties

Although it is not the first attempt by the government to prevent overproduction and consequent overmarketing, the new program is the first to set up penalties.

The present soil conservation act, which is the base of the new legislation, pays farmers who agree to reduce acreage on certain crops and to follow certain practices intended to conserve soil fertility. The plan has not met the problem of surpluses to the satisfaction of administration economists.

EDITOR'S NOTE

(Government aid to farmers has multiplied many times since free seeds first were distributed during Abraham Lincoln's administration. An extensive crop control program will be started as soon as President Roosevelt signs the bill. The following article compares it with previous farm measures).

Girls Facing Life Terms

(By The Associated Press)

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 16 — Two young women convicted of slaying a bus driver in a $2.10 holdup were sentenced today to spend the rest of their lives in prison.

Only a formality inasmuch as a jury of 12 married men last night returned a verdict of first degree murder with a recommendation for mercy—making life imprisonment mandatory—the sentencing took less than 10 minutes.

Heads Are Bowed

As Mrs. Ethel "Bunny" Sohl, 20, policeman's daughter, and Genevieve Owens, 18, stood with bowed heads, Judge Daniel J. Brennan repeated the jury's verdict. Then he added:

"Therefore the sentence of the court is that you be sentenced to hard labor in prison for your natural lives."

Both girls were pale and nervous.

Girl Defends Her Brother

(By The Associated Press)

LAS CRUCES, N. M., Feb. 16.—The sister of a man charged with train robbery and murder protested with tears in her eyes today that "I cannot feel my brother has disgraced us."

"I still feel Henry is at heart a good brother," said Miss Margaret Lorenz, who came here from Milwaukee, Wis., to attend the trial of Henry Lorenz, 22, and Harry Dwyer, 27.

Outside Home Influence

"I am sure Henry was led into this terrible affair because he was outside our home influence," she sobbed.

Lorenz and Dwyer will be tried here next week on charges arising out of their fantastic attempt to stage a "wild west" robbery of a Southern Pacific passenger train. W. L. Smith, El Paso, Tex., switchman, was killed in an ensuing melee.

Review To Be Given Ruling

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 16.—The supreme court agreed today to review a decision of the Beaumont civil appeals tribunal that twelfth graders in Port Arthur high school could not be barred from playing football.

The Beaumont court did not rule finally on the question until after the football season closed. The district 14 committee of the Interscholastic league, which adopted the resolution excluding twelfth graders, wants the opinion vacated, however, so the case can be argued "from scratch" again this year.

Because Case Is Moot

The supreme court said it was granting a review "because this case is moot." That led to the supposition it would not pass on the question of whether the district committee can continue to exclude twelfth graders from football competition.

Attorneys for the Interscholastic league and its district committee said "it is inevitable that this same law suit will appear before the courts again next fall during football season."

The trial court held against Port Arthur's contention it would play its twelfth graders but the appellate court reversed and remanded the case. As a consequence of the controversy, the district did not declare a football champion last fall.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 16 (AP)—Walter Hoppe, 24, and Almira Nemic, 23, told police a robber accosted them in front of her home. "This is a stickup," he declared.

Miss Nemic screamed and ran. "Now where did she go?" the gunman asked Hoppe.

"I don't know but I'll find out", Hoppe said — and dashed after her.

Kansas City Praises Action In Milligan's Confirmation

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 16. (AP)—Confirmation of Maurice M. Milligan, militant U. S. district attorney who has convicted 50 election officials on vote fraud charges, for a second term spurred coalition forces today in their drive to oust the Pendergast Democratic organization from the city hall.

U. S. senate confirmation yesterday of Milligan's reappointment by President Roosevelt was "the greatest thing that ever has happened for good government in Kansas City," exclaimed Col. Fred E. Whittin, mayoral candidate of an independent Democrats-Republicans coalition.

Man Observes 72nd Birthday Here And Declares That He Has Never Seen A "Talkie"

Thomas A. Brown, who claims he is the oldest man at Texas Technological college, observed his 72nd birthday Monday without ever having attended a "talkie".

He celebrated his birthday by performing his usual duties as carpenter. He has been employed at Tech since 1929. Buildings he had constructed before that time included 14 schools in seven years. Brown "can do more work now than the average man of 40", said J. H. Grimsley, superintendent of buildings and grounds at the college.

Prosecuting Witness Declines To Testify; Case Dismissed

When the complaining witness in an aggravated assault case against J. L. Jones, declined to testify in county court, the case was dismissed by Judge J. J. Dillard at the request of Hugh Anderson, assistant county attorney, this morning.

Bond in the aggravated assault case against S. W. Clark was ordered forfeited by Judge Dillard. An aggravated assault case against Samuel Smith was continued. Illness of Attorney Max Coleman resulted in a postponement of a theft case against Robert Johnson.

Judge Dillard dismissed the jury until 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

Plan For Federal Mediation Of Labor Disputes Favored

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Joseph P. Kennedy, chairman of the maritime commission, taking sharp issue with Secretary Perkins, urged a senate committee today to approve his proposal for government mediation of maritime labor disputes.

Kennedy appeared before the senate commerce committee which has heard Miss Perkins oppose Kennedy's proposal as "premature" because the industry was not "ripe."

City Once Famous For Dandies Longs For Return Of Old Days

(By The Associated Press)

MADRID, Feb. 16—Felt hats are appearing once again on Madrid's shell-battered boulevards, and occasionally even fur coats, spats and canes may be seen.

They are a far cry from the early days of the civil war when even a necktie was suspect and the beret was the only accepted headgear in a city once famous for its dandies.

Madrid never abandoned her famous capes, many of them green with age and cunningly slung over the shoulder to display the colored velvet lining as well as to muffle the wearer's mouth.

They mingle with the khakis, grays, greens and blues of official uniforms—like a part of the old days that won't give up.

Elderly gentlemen, with clipped white mustaches, severe expressions and old-fashioned but well-made clothes, are seen again on the streets.

They are still the exception in a crowd of persons who eat sunflower seeds until the shells car-

Astronomer Claims Sun Is Not To Be Sneezed At As A Star

(By The Associated Press)

PASADENA, Calif., Feb. 16—Dr. Adrian Van Maanen, who had a star named after him, produced figures today to show that the sometimes belittled sun is really a pretty fair star.

Taking an area of ten parsecs —195,600,000,000,000 miles to you —radius from the sun, Dr. Van Maanen, astronomer of the Carnegie institution's Mt. Wilson observatory, said he had listed and classified 160 stars. Of these only 20 were brighter than the sun.

Vega, the brightest of the lot, gives off 50 times as much light as the sun, but Wolf-359, the dimmest of the group and the faintest star known sheds only one fifty-thousandth as much.

Of course, if anybody wants to go out farther than ten parsecs, the astronomer said, there is Conapus, 80,000 times as brilliant as the sun. And really reaching out in space to other star systems, there are a couple of super novae, exploding

Florida Tourist Crop Larger But Less Cash Being Spent

(By The Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 16—Miami's current tourist crop is larger than last season's but is spending less money, a survey of usually accurate indicators disclosed today.

On the right side of the ledger were increases in utility connections and production, race track attendance and wagering, postal receipts and passenger traffic.

On the debit side were decreases in merchandise sales, building activity, postal and bank savings and real estate transfers.

Railroads reported better than average incoming passenger traffic while Eastern Air Line officials said extra planes were necessary on the New York and Chicago runs, estimated up 40 per cent.

Officials of the Retail Merchants association said business was "favorable" as compared with last season but definitely off in most lines. The number of real estate transfers recorded was off about 20 per cent.

Hero Gets Liberty From Jail Term

GOLDEN, Colo., Feb. 16 (AP)—Shy and gangling Bryant Untiedt, saluted by then President Herbert Hoover as a boy hero seven years ago, was grateful today to an 87-year-old Denver lawyer who paid $7 to free him from a jail term for a petty traffic violation.

But 19-year-old Bryan said he did not feel that what he had done in 1931 to help save the lives of 14 school children trapped with him in a blizzard-marooned school bus should excuse him from a penalty that "was just what was coming to me." Five children and the bus driver perished.

Reading in the papers that Bryan went to jail last Thursday because he could not pay a $3 fine for driving a truck without a $2 operator's license, A. L. Doud, called the "dean" of Denver's bar, said he found out $7 was needed to free him and then telegraphed the amount to the Jefferson county sheriff.

"I thought it was too bad that no fine a boy who would risk his life for others should be held for driving without a license when he didn't have money enough to get a license," Doud said.

Decrease In Employment Is Blamed For Sales Decline

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16 (AP)—For the second consecutive month, the National Retail Credit association today blamed "a general decrease in employment throughout the country" for a decline in collections and total sales in averaging reports from retail stores in 43 cities.

Credit sales, however, showed an increase of one-half of 1 per cent.

In comparison with the same month a year ago, January collections fell off 2.5 per cent and total sales 1.8 per cent, the association said. A total of 14,580 stores was represented in the monthly analysis.

Collections, credit and total sales continued to increase in Borger, Tex.

Chamberlain's Lotion is a fixture in offices everywhere. One reason for its popularity among all business girls is that after using it, papers never stick to the fingers. Chamberlain's, a clear, golden liquid, dries quickly. Above all, it is never sticky, greasy, gummy nor "messy." Because it satinizes, it helps keep dainty fingers lovely, skin smooth and attractive. At all toilet goods counters.

Giant Panda Is Grounded And Given Rest In Nice Bathtub

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 16 (AP)—Mei-Mei, the flying baby giant panda, was grounded in a bathtub here last night.

It was all right by sleepy Mei-Mei, who, with one thing and another, had had a busy day, and wanted nothing better than a good long bathtub snooze after the tubless quarters of a transport plane.

Another Case Of Jitters

But it was just another case of jitters for her owner and capturer, Mrs. William H. Harkness, jr., who has made America panda-conscious.

The airplane in which Mei-Mei and Mrs. Harkness were en route to Chicago's Brookfield zoo was forced back to Albuquerque last night by bad weather in the vicinity of Amarillo, Tex. Airline officials said Mei-Mei probably would have to take a train.

At least one of Mei-Mei's co-passengers on the airplane trip from San Francisco was unimpressed by the honor of traveling with the second giant baby panda ever brought to captivity in these United States.

"It was bad enough being grounded by bad weather," snorted George Byrnes of Boston, "but coming after a day of having that panda climbing all over you, my, my—. Imagine being locked up in an airplane with a wild animal — not even on a leash!"

Dave O'Connor, publicity agent for the second panda expedition, said, "we saw right away that we would need some kind of a basket for Mei-Mei. We figured that a basket would take the place of a bathtub and soothe Mei-Mei's nerves. But we couldn't find a basket anywhere."

It seems Mei-Mei has become a confirmed bathtub sleeper ever since Mrs. Harkness took her out of the wilds of Szechuan province, China, where even pandas don't have many bathtubs.

Mrs. Harkness is taking Mei-Mei to Chicago to be a playmate for Su-Lin, the first baby giant panda.

Election On School Bonds Is Slated

LAMESA, Feb. 16 (Special) — March 3 has been set as date for an election to determine whether $83,000 in bonds will be issued to erect a new school building for Lamesa independent school district.

Crowded conditions in the schools particularly in the primary grades, is such that a new building is necessary. It is proposed to build a 12-room structure, with storage space and an auxiliary room. This will permit changes in rearrangements of rooms to handle the emergency.

The school board considered a petition signed by over 60 taxpayers, asking for the election.

Enrollment in the high school, also crowded, is 535, with 1,068 in the grades. Enrollment continues to increase every week since the mid-term enrollment, the present total of 1,603 is an all-time record.

Lubbock Being Publicized As The Cleanest City In Texas

National Cleanup, Paintup Campaign bureau of Washington, D. C., is publicizing Lubbock as the "cleanest city in Texas" to a mailing list of approximately 15,000, the chamber of commerce was advised here Tuesday.

The praise of Lubbock is contained in a communication from the bureau inviting various cities of the nation to participate in the cleanup, paintup campaign of 1938. It brings to attention that Lubbock recently, for the eighth consecutive year, was awarded the trophy for having made the outstanding cleanup record of any Texas city the previous 12 months. The communication bears the signature of R. W. Emerson, executive secretary of the bureau.

Accompanying the communication is a reproduction in its entirety of an editorial which appeared in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram after Lubbock had been announced as the 1937 trophy winner. Title of the editorial was, "The Cleanest City in Texas," and it related wholly to the record Lubbock had made.

Lights Are To Be Installed

Early installation of traffic lights on College avenue at Nineteenth street and at Broadway was in prospect today following agreement by the city commission at a special meeting Tuesday afternoon to maintain them if they are installed by the state highway department.

The meeting was called for the specific purpose of hearing recommendations regarding Lubbock traffic problems with a general safety committee and while no further final actions were taken, progress was made toward the disposition of several important matters.

Conferring with the commission regarding problems were Police Chief Don Reeder, Police Traffic Sergeant Lewis Kittrell, Capt. W. W. Legge of the state highway patrol, and O. B. Conley, president of Lubbock Safety council.

Boulevarding Is Suggested

Recommendations of the committee that several of the more heavily traveled streets be declared boulevard or "through" streets were referred by the commission to City Manager W. H. Rodgers, City Attorney Durwood Bradley, Reeder and Kittrell for their study and report at the semi-monthly meeting of the commission Feb. 24.

The city manager and city attorney likewise were authorized to order numerous illustrative sketches included in a booklet in which a city traffic ordinance is to be printed if they believe the additional cost of $72 is justified. Contract for prirting the ordinance was let to Varsity Book Store litho shop several days ago on a bid of $240. Both Rodgers and Bradley expressed the opinion that the sketches would enhance the value of the booklets, 20,000 of which are to be printed for general distribution.

Decision to maintain the traffic lights on College avenue was reached after officials agreed that something to curb speed on that thoroughfare is needed. The commission was informed that the highway department probably will install them.

Streets suggested for boulevarding were Broadway from the last traffic light to College avenue; Fifteenth and Nineteenth streets from Texas to College; Eighth, when paved, from Texas to College; College from Nineteenth to Eighth; and Avenue Q from Broadway to Nineteenth.

Other suggestions, to be subjects of later study, included one that traffic lights be erected on Avenue Q at Eighth, Main, Broadway, Fifteenth and Nineteenth; that all parking of automobiles be forbidden at the curbs nearest and completely surrounding school buildings; and that all trucks entering Lubbock from the west, northwest and southwest be routed on Eighth street when paving there is completed so that it will avoid traffic congestion in the business district.

Starts Crusade

Hollywood bound from her Great Falls, Mont., home, pretty, wholesome Jeanne Walters, 19, above, never reached her destination, she told police, but was sold into white slave traffic in San Francisco for $150. For several months she was moved from city to city under careful guard. Finally escaping, she told police her story. Sweeping investigation, vice raids and wholesale arrests in west coast cities followed her revelations.

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

Isolationists

SEATTLE — The Alpha Delta Phi fraternity brothers at the University of Washington are cold to the "open door policy." Anyway, they're cold.

Pranksters stole their front door. Now the wind whistles Through their house. And, to top it off, the cook served ice cream.

Dog Trot

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa — Dog catchers do have a heart —in this city at least.

Poundmaster Chris Christensen announced plans for a "dog catchers" ball, the proceeds to be used to buy license tags for dogs of indigent children.

Grim Reminder

CHICAGO—Officials of suburban Riverside adopted the novel idea of moving a wrecked automobile to the front lawn of the village hall in a campaign against traffic deaths.

A placard on the car reads: "The wreck is here, but he's gone." The wreckage is illuminated at night.

Low Birth Rate

COOKE CITY, Mont. — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wasson announce the birth of a daughter —the first child born in this mountain mining village in 31 years.

Political Pioneer

NEW YORK—James V. Mangano, who gets $15,000 a year as sheriff of Kings county (Brooklyn), thought New York City's governmental expenses too high.

His solution:

He and 32 members of his staff volunteered to save the city $13,000 annually by taking a voluntary 7 per cent pay cut.

The Other Cheek

DENVER — Mrs. Juliette Johannessen divorced V. R. Johannessen, but there were no hard feelings.

Johannessen was a witness when his former wife took out a marriage license with W. E. Baker. Then he gave the bride away.

Honesty

CHICAGO—When John Mollers, 17, found $1,100 worth of negotiable bonds in the street, he immediately thought of his Boy Scout oath: "To help other people at all times."

He returned them to Mrs. Gertrude Morrow, and refused a $10 reward.

Hearty Eater

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Cliff Thompson of Waupacw, Wis., came to dine with his fellow Lions clubbers, and the cooks worked overtime.

Cliff, 33, and a circus giant, is eight feet-seven, weighs 460 pounds. His idea of a good dinner was three pounds of steak, three large baked potatoes, three dishes of vegetables, a quart of milk, and one apple pie.

The largest flying boat was recently built by the Martin Co. for Soviet Russia. It weighs 63,000 pounds, has a wing spread of 157 feet, and cruising range of 4500 miles.

DOES TRAPEZE ACT

GREYBULL, Wyo. (AP) — John Krema says his automobile is like the man on the flying trapeze.

It recently floated through the air after skidding on a slippery highway, turned three somersaults, sailed over a wire fence several feet high and came to earth on the other side, right-side up.

Krema was unhurt, but a companion suffered injuries.

TEXAS BUILT

A Chinese Wall

P—10.

As an engineering feat and a monument to posterity, the Great Wall of China is one of the first seven wonders of the world. But its practical value proved to be of little worth.

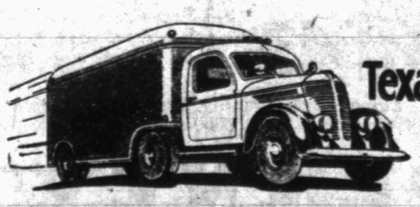

Similar to the Chinese Wall in its effect on Texas commerce is the Law placing a ridiculous 7,000 pound motor truck load limit. 44 States in the Union permit heavier loads. Neighboring Oklahoma allows a gross weight up to 50,000 pounds. Truck operators from Oklahoma, therefore, may haul one truck-load of cargo to the Texas border, where it must often be unloaded and transferred to from two to seven trucks for delivery in Texas. Thus transportation costs are higher and traffic congestion greater because of the greater number of trucks needed to carry the load.

Load limitation in Texas should be based on wheel or axle load, as it is in other states. The present restrictions of width and length are proper, but much heavier loads may be carried without danger to highway safety.

The figures prove that the hauling of such loads over Oklahoma highways is no threat to public safety. Oklahoma's safety program reduced the 1935 rate of 66 traffic deaths per month to only 29 deaths in 1936.

New Jersey permits gross weights up to 60,000 pounds, and the Governor of that State recently said, "During the past seven years fatalities among passenger car drivers have jumped 40 percent, while accidents among commercial vehicle drivers have been cut 26 percent, due to the greater degree of care exercised by the latter".

The public's safety is not impaired by the weight of trucks upon its roads. It is equally obvious that the ridiculous 7,000 pound load limit Law adds to congestion on the highways and, increasing traffic congestion, prevents the full flow of commerce through this State and eventually increases the cost of commodities to both producer and consumer. It should be repealed, lest it continue to have the same adverse effect on our economic development as did the Great Wall of China, on that land across the sea.

YOUR MILEAGE MERCHANT ADVISES

THUMB YOUR CRANK LIKE THIS [OR ELSE MAKE SURE YOU'LL NEVER NEED IT!]

Too bad, but cranking still makes thousands of martyrs every winter. Official figures prove that one insurance company alone pays doctor bills for more than 200 cranking victims every year.

Here is what you can do about it: If you must crank, always retard your spark (unless there is no spark lever). And then hold your crank as illustrated, with your thumb over on the same side as your fingers . . . never curled around opposite. This will help your hand to get out of danger if the engine "kicks back."

Or put your crank in your collection of antiques, and string along with all the users of Special Winter Blend Conoco Bronze gasoline. It's winter-blended to start so fast in the coldest weather known here, that it won't get your battery winded. Neither will it overwork the choke, so as to poison your oil and endanger your engine.

In all your glee over the disappearance of rotten starting, don't overlook the high mileage that comes right along with sure-firing Conoco Bronze. That's why the townsman who has Conoco for you certainly is YOUR MILEAGE MERCHANT. And his simple, helpful Complete Winter Care Card is FREE. Just ask him. Continental Oil Company.

Basketball With A Bang

By Collier Parris

FLIP A COIN, if you can't make up your mind, and you won't go wrong either way on tonight's shows.

There's wrestling at the auditorium and basketball at the Tech Gym, and either one is worth the price.

Otis Clingman and Dick Sampson, two Texas boys who made good in wrestling's big time, are the attractions at the Auditorium. It'll be good.

The Slaton Oilers and the Dallas Dr. Peppers will give you a basketball show worth seeing at the gymnasium.

Independent basketball has never "caught on" here, due to interference by college and high school teams, lack of a place to play and absence of a hot local team.

Only two of the Slaton Oilers come from Slaton, but that town is getting its name in all the papers for having sponsorship of the Oiler club.

They're a bunch of rambunctious, hell-roaring lads who like to play basketball and who CAN play basketball. If they have an off night at the basket, which all teams have, they make up for it vocally. They are credited with "talking" themselves into several important victories.

Well, they ought to be pretty good. They've been playing it long enough. Four of the players are ex-Texas Tech captains. Two were captains, if we remember correctly, Gerdin-Simmons, and another was a star, and maybe a captain, at North Texas Teachers.

Last year the Oilers swept everything in sight on the Plains and invaded Dallas to compete in the Southwestern AAU tournament. A lot of good teams were there, including the Southwest conference champions, the SMU Mustangs. The Oilers beat 'em all, and came away with the championship. They went to Denver for the national AAU tourney, and won two games handily before losing to the Denver Safeways, the team which won the national title.

The Dallas Dr. Peppers were in the tournament at Dallas last year, and felt the Oilers' sting. They're coming here tonight to play a sort of preview to the Southwestern tournament, scheduled to start March 7. The Oilers will be back to defend their title.

Local fans well remember the hoydenish Texas Tech teams of a few seasons back, days of Big Crews, Wilson Gilmore, Hugh Snodgrass, etc. These three, along with the elected captain for this year, Paul Morris, now through with his college eligibility and coaching the Tech freshmen, are with the Oilers. They're clever ball handlers, good shooters. Jimmy Neely, of old Simmons fame, now coach at Slaton, and a later Cowboy favorite, Gene McCollum, add height and ability to the club, and there's the hustling Otis Cannon of Slaton, slight but fast and rugged.

They have a lot of fun playing ball, and they play it as naturally and calmly as you brush your teeth.

The lads went over in a big way at Dallas last year, their colorful action and talk making them favorites with the fans and scribes. The ballyhoo fires have started burning for the 1938 tournament, and they're talking about the Oilers.

One Dallas scribe, Bill McClanahan of the Journal, in a column-length story about the Oilers the other day, referring to the Oilers as "those mad, merry clowns of the court . . . the buffoons of basketball," goes on to say: ". . . They are so good they can afford to clown and still win games.

"For instance, once last year Snodgrass, most comical and, incidentally the best ball handler on the team, gained possession of the ball on an out of bounds play. He came down the court, dribbling slowly. An opposing player, attempting to guard him, tried to slap the ball out of his hands.

"'Oh,' gasped Mr. Snodgrass in surprise. 'So you want the ball? Well, here, take it; I'm kinda tired of playing with it anyway. There's your goal, now let's see you try to hit it.'

"And he deliberately handed the ball to his surprised foe. Needles to say, the opposing player was so confused at having his enemy present him with the ball he not only missed the goal but the whole backboard as well."

When it comes to "ribbing" the opposition, few surpass old Will Gilmore, the now assistant coach at Wink. Snodgrass is close behind him in that department and you can well imagine what goes on when they meet a team of prima donnas.

Gilmore came over the other day to play in the Southland tournament with the Oilers, which they won going away, incidentally, and to have his picture made with the team. He'll be here to play with 'em again tonight, and for another game or two before going to Dallas. Although he hasn't been doing much active playing this season, Gilmore still handles the ball like it was made for him, and the short workout we saw at the Tech gym following the picture posing was a show by itself.

SWELL PARTY THE Tech athletic department tossed last night—and a swell crowd to see it.

Bet you never heard of so many football awards being given to one team. Varsity and freshman footballers of Tech for 1937 drew down a total of 117 trophies, individual awards for outstanding performances, faithfulness and ardor.

Mighty fine of the athletic council, we thought, to give the boys fine wrist watches for going to the Sun Bowl game and playing there, even though they lost the contest. And a fine gesture on the part of coaches and close friends in giving the boys gold football trophies. All these, in addition to the regular letter sweaters, jackets and blankets, made it a big evening for the gridders — and they deserved every bit of it.

The fans hereabouts won't soon forget the 1937 Tech team. Months before it started playing ball, folks thought it would be a whiz on wheels. Then, one by one, star players began to depart, until nearly a dozen of the best ones, the ones counted upon to deliver, had faded from the fold for one reason and another.

As the season started, then, the Raiders made a poor impression in their first game, winning it all right, but just barely. The impression persisted after the Techs lost the next three games, albeit playing great ball.

Then, like a truly inspired gang of troupers, the Raiders started clicking, and didn't stop all season. Considering the start, the talent and the finish, it was a great year.

Prominently missing from last night's party was a man who would have enjoyed it most of all—President Bradford Knapp. Too late to read to the large crowd, Coach Cawthon received a wire from the president. It said: "Regret I am unable to be there tonight because of engagement. Congratulations for a great season."

Dr. Knapp had a speaking engagement at Memphis. Otherwise, he would have been a front row, ringside fan, and one of the most enthusiastic at last night's party.

Tech's Annual Fun Night Is Held Tuesday

Upon the broad, Yiddish shoulders of Frank "Goo-Goo" Guzick, of Sherman, Texas, falls the job of captaining the 1938 Red Raiders of Texas Tech, and his first lieutenant, the line captain, will be big A. B. "Red" Murphy of Beaumont.

Thus were they introduced when they came up with other varsity and freshman footballers last night at Tech's annual "fun night" show to receive letters and other awards. A total of 117 individual trophies were distributed among the Tech gridders of 1937.

Comedy and specialty acts and features, including the screening of an 800-foot motion picture reel showing the New York Giants and the Chicago Bears of the National Professional league in action, and special music by Hi Pockets Overton's string band, preceded the awarding of gridiron trophies.

Best Team, Coach Says

Eighty-six of the individual awards passed out last night went to members of the 1937 Red Raider varsity squad which, in the opinion of Head Coach Pete Cawthon, who introduced the players and presented the trophies, turned in the best record ever made by a Tech team, considering the schedule and the available talent, the natural ability of players and the scarcity of reserves.

Trophies included regular letter sweaters, jackets and blankets, gold footballs and gold wrist watches.

The lettermen of the 1937 squad are 26 in number. The list includes 18 earning varsity letters for the first time, three for the second year and five for the third year. The list includes Student Manager Harris Cheek and Head Yell Leader James Forbis.

Thirty-One Watches Given

The gold wrist watches came as Sun Bowl trophies to the Border conference champions who played University of West Virginia on New Year's Day at El Paso. Thirty-one watches were awarded, including four to W. L. Stangel, chairman of the athletic council; Bo Williams, graduate manager; Lewis Spear, team trainer, and Cheek, student manager.

Gold footballs, gifts of the coaches and close friends, went to the 27 letter men.

Thirty-one numeral sweaters were awarded members of the Tech freshman football squad and six players who were not eligible last season but who are expected to be eligible for varsity duty next fall. Freshman Coach Berl Huffman presented the frosh trophies.

Lettermen Are Listed

And here are the Tech lettermen:

Louis Grows Lazy And Is Easier To Hit

Champ Not Taking Fight With Mann In Serious Way

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 6—Joe Louis, the heavyweight champion, looks lazier and easier to hit than a bear filled with honey as he nears the end of his training for next Wednesday night's title defense against Natie Mann, the chubby New Englander, at Madison Square Garden.

Joe obviously isn't taking the 15-round encounter too seriously. He has been working only every other day and all his sparring partners still are sound of wind and limb, which is unusual around a Louis camp. He will put on the big gloves only twice more, tomorrow and Saturday, before climbing through the ropes.

Mann Is Confident

All of which is somewhat mystifying, because Mann doesn't look like a soft touch and his record reads well. He's an earnest young man with rugged qualities, and he has been belting the living daylights out of some top-notch sparring mates. He honestly thinks he's going to lift the crown.

Still, when we watched Louis fumble around yesterday and get nailed with several smoking rights by a Canadian named Jack Tebo, the man on the right said: "Don't go wrong on this one. Louis will stop Mann inside four." It's all very strange, and you try being a boxing expert some time.

Where's The Explanation?

Louis must be a lot more dangerous than he looks right now, or even than he looked against Tommy Farr last summer. His explanation of that one is, of course, that he caved in two knuckles on his right hand in an early round. But that doesn't explain his getting punched around by a couple of $20-a-day clay pigeons, like he was yesterday.

For all his painful experiences with Max Schmeling and Farr, the 23-year-old champion still lays himself wide open when he misses a left hook. Tebo really shook him with a couple of right crosses, the kind that Mann is drilling on. Old Jack Blackburn, Joe's manager, looked unhappy, but Joe seemed unworried. Some one told him Mann never had fought more than 10 rounds before.

"That so?" said the big negro. "Well, I'll help him keep his record clean."

Louis Grows Up

Which indicates the extent to which Louis has grown up, even if he hadn't let his new whiskers grow wild for the last couple of weeks to prove it. He can wise-crack pretty well now and his face has somehow lost that bland, innocent look. It's harder, more confident, the face of a fighting man.

Joe never has seen Mann fight. All he knows about Nate is that he gave Bob Pastor a good licking, along with some other good young heavyweights, and that the New Haven boy has a reputation for forcing a fight.

"That's good. I hope he does that," said Joe. "You know, I'm glad to fight him now, because I guess he is about next to Smellin' in a way. He's whipped the young ones and if it wasn't for Smellin' he would have a good challenge."

Ann Hathaway, Shakespeare's wife, survived him by seven years.

Thomson Top Money Winner For Golf Stars Of Winter Season

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16 (AP)—Six California golf events netted $2,505 for Jimmy Thomson of Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, Pa., top money-winner of the winter tournament swing. Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., followed with $2,498, and Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., made $2,028.

Rainy weather encountered at the Oakland, Sacramento and San Francisco tournaments kept scores high and pulled down the average set in previous tourneys at Los Angeles, Del Mar and Pasadena.

58 Share In Cash

Of the 58 pros sharing in the purse total of $26,500, eight gained more than half the money involved.

Hines was fourth highest money-winner with $1,745. Harry Cooper of Chicopee, Mass., won $1,478; Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., $1,323; Jim Demaret of Houston, Tex., victor in last week-end's San Francisco match play open, $1,250; and Lawson Little of San Francisco, former amateur champion, collected $1,040.

Pros And Amateurs To Take Part In New Orleans Open

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 16 (AP)—The vanguard of some 200 crack professional and amateur golfers who will match shots for the $5,000 prize money and trophies in the inaugural Crescent City Open tournament Friday, Saturday and Sunday, tuned up their games today.

Assured that the 72-hole grind would attract one of the fastest fields of the winter tournament campaign, the early arrivals took advantage of ideal weather to familiarize themselves with the 6,577-yard layout.

Smith On Hand

Horton Smith, Chicago pro who generally figures in the big cut of most tournaments, sped southward after failing to qualify for the match play in the San Francisco tourney last week and was among those who attempted today to adjust their stroking to the open, flat course and the rather fast, smooth greens.

Others who got in tune-up rounds included Jimmy Watkins of Dallas, Philip Friel of Woburn, Mass., Jack Orlick of Detroit, Jess Suttle of Tulsa, Winnie Cole of Monroe, La., Frank Cook and Ned White of Shreveport, Jack Harvey of Linfield Center, Mass., and Freddie Haas, jr., New Orleans amateur, and Sammy Byrd, former big league baseball star.

Winter tournament winners due in today included Sammy Snead, Johnny Revolta, Leonard Dodson, Harry Cooper, Jimmie Demaret and Jimmy Thomson.

Clingman And Sampson Are To Entertain Rassle Fans Here In Main Struggle Tonight

Otis Clingman, the Amarillo ace, returns to the Auditorium tonight to take on a prize package of wrestling dynamite and fury from Denton, Dick Sampson, in the main struggle of Promoter Sled Allen's weekly show.

The card is further embellished by the appearance of a newcomer, Don Williams of San Diego, Calif., meeting Sailor Moran of Arkansas in the semi-final, and the return after a long absence of Gorilla Pogi of the Argentine who will contest Art Belcher of Amarillo in the curtain raiser.

After making his mark on supporting cards, to the more or less complete satisfaction of the paying patrons, Dick Sampson steps into the main event spotlight tonight, against one of the best in the country—Otis Clingman. The latter needs no introduction here, or anywhere that middleweight or light heavyweight wrestling is practiced.

Sampson, a professional football player with Boston, a former North Texas State Teachers college athletic star, came in suddenly a few weeks ago to play a substitute role when the scheduled grappler failed to show up. He made an immediate hit with his own peculiar style of grappling, his boring in and his calmness and fearlessness, his new tricks and his panther-like stalk of his enemy. He is powerfully built, and likes to wrestle clean. But he can handle the rough fellows, too.

Clingman also is a "wrestler," and lays off the rough stuff until provoked. They may provoke each other tonight, or it may be a straight match. No matter which, it should be worth the money.

There's variety on the card, the villains showing in the supporting events. Gorilla Pogi, who featured the very first professional show under Sled Allen's promotion here nearly five years ago, comes back after a long absence to "start all over" on the preliminary. A colorful figure, Pogi is favored to take the Amarilloan tonight.

Sailor Moran, the roughster from Arkansas, has a match, from all indications, in the newcomer from California, Don Williams. The latter has made his strike in middleweight wrestling, and is here to carry on in California style.

Whizzer White Refuses To Be Rushed Into Decision On His Plans To Enter Pro Football

BOULDER, Colo., Feb. 16 (AP)—On to Oxford and more education, then probably a career at law, still comprise a greater lure to Whizzer White, All-American gridder, than a $15,000 offer for a year of professional football.

The Colorado university quarterback, whose elusive feet and ramrod stiff-arm made him the nation's leading scorer last fall, disclosed last night his conditional rejection of an offer from Art Rooney, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates of the national professional football league.

Will Not Be Pushed

Rooney, who drew White in the annual draft of the pro league, wanted an answer by Feb. 18, but White said he wrote him that if he had to decide by that date he would cling to his original determination to use his Rhodes scholarship.

"I wrote him, though, asking if he still would be interested if I should change my mind next summer," the student-gridder said.

White said he had not given thought to whether he would be ineligible for further intercollegiate competition if he accepted the $15,000 contract now. He's a stellar basketball guard and also a baseball player.

The 20-year-old straight "A" student who came out of the small Colorado town of Wellington, wrestled for more than a month with the enticement dangled before him by the Pirate president.

Cardinals To Prove Tough

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., Feb. 16 (AP)—Manager Frankie Frisch predicted today that his St. Louis Cardinals would be in the thick of the National league pennant race this year.

Here for a brief vacation before the opening next week of the Cards' training school, Frisch named Chicago, New York and Pittsburgh as the teams he feared.

Frisch indicated he was expecting help from Dizzy Dean, who won only 11 games in 1937.

Had Plenty Of Rest

"Dean has had plenty of rest and he should return to form," the manager declared. "I hope he does, anyway."

As for Joe Medwick, who led the National league in batting last season, Frisch said:

" Joe will have banner seasons for the next 15 years. Both he and Dizzy are young and have plenty of futures before them."

It is too early, the "Fordham Flash" said, to contemplate the Cards' lineup. He added, however, he knew of no newcomer who had prospects of displacing any of the St. Louis regulars.

High Scoring Outfit Will Tackle Tech

One of the highest scoring basketball clubs of the nation invades the Texas Tech gymnasium tomorrow night to open a two-game Border conference series with the Texas Tech Red Raiders. The visitors come from Las Cruces, N. M., and are known as the New Mexico Aggies.

One of the few undefeated quintets in the nation, the Farmers have averaged 59.9 points per game in conference and extra-curricula activities this year. There is little difference in size of the towering visitors, the shortest measuring nearly as many feet as the tallest.

Olympic Cager On Team

Both games will start at 8 o'clock. Friday's melee will be sandwiched between district high school tournament games.

Feature of the New Mexico quintet is one of few Olympic performers to be seen in Lubbock. Kiko Martinez, member of the Mexico Olympic squad in 1936, was chosen on the second all-world cage team as a forward.

Martinez is one of the leading scorers of the team that includes several adept basket hitters.

Farmers Head Chase

Jackson, Finley and Wood are all crowded near the top in Border conference scoring. With that quartet, either Coffman or Simms probably will start games against the Red Raiders.

The Aggies are undisputed leaders of the conference.

Chief Tech hope to offset the fine scoring machine of the Farmers is Frank "Butch" Sachse, who will be playing his first home game of the varsity. The Quitaque ace set scoring records afire on the recent jaunt through New Mexico and Arizona.

Even In Loop Play

The "white hope" of the Raider five crammed in a total of 156 points during the road trip of nine games.

Texas Tech is all even in ten Border conference tilts, having split a pair here with New Mexico university before taking to the road. The team has shown bursts of class at times, and is capable of extending the better teams when things click as Coach Berl Huffman would have them.

High School Boys Guests

Starting the season poorly, the Raiders settled down to some good dribbling, but lost the services of Capt. Paul Morris, who completed his eligibility at the end of last semester. The team had been built around the little guard, only returning regular from the 1937 quintet, and his loss was a serious blow.

Members of contesting teams in the district tournament will be guests of the Raiders Friday night when presented at the door by their coaches.

Two Girls Are Being Reborn Through The Slow Processes Of Science At College

EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 16. (AP)—Two girls, isolated since birth from all normal experiences except pain, are being reborn through the slow processes of science at Northwestern university.

Professor Robert H. Gault, psychologist, reported today both girls had made definite progress toward normal existence despite their original lack of sight, hearing, speech and ability to walk.

One is Joan Higgins, six years old, who has had 18 months' training. A helpless lump of humanity, she was described once by Dr. Gault as "separated by millions of evolutionary years from normal persons."

Attains Vocabulary

But with the aid of the phonotactor and the more recently developed multitactor—devices by which sound is transmitted through the sense of touch—Joan has attained a vocabulary of about 40 words and is able to express herself in a limited manner.

The other girl, eight years old, identified only as coming from an impoverished Ohio family, has been under Dr. Gault's care but eight weeks.

Efforts have been concentrated on teaching her to walk. The psychologist said she already was able to walk unaided across a room.

The almost complete breakdown in the practice of motorists giving hand signals to indicate stopping and turning is responsible for a great number of accidents, according to the A. A. A.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blocks up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

THE Texas of 1820 to 1840 must not have had any chambers of commerce and even might have been almost devoid of civic pride. At least that is indicated by Naylor's Epic-Century magazine, which says letters of pioneer Texas women to their friends or relatives elsewhere did not indicate a glowing love for their new home.

For instance, one pioneer lady wrote to her old home:

"Texas is a heaven for men and dogs, but hell for women and oxen!"

* * *

Another penned the following:

"We live in a little cabin of two rooms in a sparsely settled neighborhood. I scarcely ever see a lady and have not made a visit since last spring, nor been to church for a long time.

"We have preaching once a month, but it is too far off for me to attend. This is a great deprivation of church and social privileges. For how does a soul starve to hear the Word preached! And how can we live without sympathy?

* * *

ANOTHER got a letter from home telling how others there had received word from her husband describing Texas in glowing terms. She waxed indignant as she wrote:

"I expect he sets Texas up pretty steep. There has not been one drop of rain in five weeks. The crops look like fire had run through them. Our spring went dry this year by the middle of May and that would make me sick of Texas, if nothing else. To lug water half a mile is what I do not fancy much. There is not anything here to make me like it, nor will I stay here if I can get away. I would rather be there (at home) in the poorhouse, than stay here!"

We who live in Texas now probably couldn't have blamed the early day women if we had been there with them. But it has worked into a pretty good place to live now, hasn't it?

* * *

The good lady was astonished at finding a small boy puffing a cigaret.

"Little man," she admonished, "don't you know if you do that you'll never become President?"

"That's all right, lady," he replied. "I'm a Republican!"

"Baby, dumpling, that's not nice. Won't you please come and say hello to auntie?"

"I won't! I won't! I hate choo!"

"Please, snookums, for momie's sake, won't you be good?"

"I hate choo! I hate choo! I hate choo!"

"Listen, you little plug-ugly! You go down and be nice to your aunt, or I'll knock your teeth down your throat!"

"All right, mother dear. I'll be happy to!"

YESTERDAY, The Plainsman quoted Russian Ambassador Alexander Antonvich Troyanovsky as saying the world today is faced by a greater war threat than it was at any time preceding the World war.

Today we offer additional testimony, not because we have any hopes that it will do anything to stave off conflict, but because Lubbock and South Plains people, far removed from places where war plans are made, should know what the general thought is in other parts of the country and the world.

* * *

One of our Washington correspondents reports as follows:

"Discounting all the propaganda aimed at pushing the big navy bill through Congress, the fact remains that nearly all highly placed men in Washington—legislative, executive and judicial—feel that war is approaching. They differ as to their estimates of the time and circumstances of the calamity, but not as to its inevitability.

"Pacifists whose hearts and souls are bent upon preventing war are beginning to share the conviction that war cannot be averted.

"What is most dreaded by those whose duties keep them on the edge nearest the firing line is that some 'incident' may occur that will set the war fire ablaze."

* * *

HE goes on to report many conversations with naval, military and diplomatic experts in which the same note—that of belief of approaching war—is struck. He says that all with whom he has conferred agree that world conditions are moving toward a tremendous outburst.

"A large proportion of well-posted observers," he goes on, "believe that Japan is actually maneuvering for war with western countries (Great Britain especially), after having made sure that Germany and Italy will co-operate with Japanese strategy—not by fighting, but by obstruction of all kinds.

"According to these observers, Japan is one of the few nations with a long-range program actually unfolding. The program requires ousting of western influence and power in China, including the collection and apportionment of Chinese revenues. This must be accomplished soon, if Japan is to gobble this revenue and assert authority over Chinese commerce.

* * *

Extending his remarks, our correspondent points out the growth of an American desire for preparedness as uneasiness over war possibilities increases.

He calls attention to the President's hints of undertaking the construction of a canal across Nicaragua, similar to the Panama canal, even though such a project would probably take 15 years to complete. He also points out that battleships now about to be authorized would be ready in from five to seven years and that two of them, already under construction, will be complete in about three years.

The entire naval increase planned, he says, would not be complete in less than 10 years. During that time Pearl Harbor, in Hawaii, will be widened and better fortified; air depots are to be established in Alaska; the Panama canal will be defended even more strongly; and possibly the Nicaragua canal will be well under construction. The navy will have been provided with 3,000 airplanes of various types and the supply maintained at that figure.

* * *

CLOSING his remarks, our correspondent tells of taunting a naval authority with the charge that the war scare is deliberately agitated for the purpose of pushing through big army and navy appropriations. This naval authority replied:

"Foreign conditions are not the result of propaganda. The American plans are not the result of ambitious schemes for naval expansion in order to benefit naval officers. Two dangerous wars are in progress. Like fires, they are eating their way toward each other. One nation after another is becoming involved. Common sense warns the United States to look after its defenses. This is analogous to organizing a fire department—not to start fires, but to put them out."

It isn't a very pretty picture, is it?

CAST OF CHARACTERS

CONSTANCE CORBY — heroine; richest girl in the world.

BRET HARDESTY—hero; bridge builder.

RODNEY BRANDON — Connie's fiance.

KATIE BLYN — Connie's "double."

* * *

Yesterday: Bret wants to rededicate their marriage to usefulness; Connie puts him off—or so she thought, but she was to be mistaken.

CHAPTER XIX

The anniversary dinner was held in the brown-stone mansion on Fifth Avenue. It was a landmark pointed out to all sight-seers visiting New York. It was more like an institution than a home and when Connie was not there it was empty—except for the many servants.

Upon seeing it first Bret had remarked that it was very grand. That had become a set phrase with him. But it never was said with enthusiasm, certainly never with anything approaching awe.

Tonight, seated at one end of the long lace-covered table, lighted with tall candles, decked with a profusion of flowers and glistening glass and shining silver, Bret thought again that this scene was very grand. The women were all beautiful in their low-necked evening gowns, representing the latest fancy of the Parisian dressmakers; the men all handsome in their dark coats, white fronts and ties. Everyone seemed exceedingly gay. There was a great deal of chatter and laughing, most of it inconsequential. The noisier such a party became, the more successful it was apparently. Tonight the noise hurt Bret's head. Or maybe it was because he had had a few too many Scotch and sodas before dinner with the gentlemen.

He had not meant to have too many. He did not approve of the amount of Scotch and soda, and other beverages, his wife's guests consumed. But he had been so bored. And so hurt, because of that brief scene upstairs in Connie's boudoir.

Connie easily was the loveliest woman present. She had made quite a success, not only with her parties, but as a social leader in her smart crowd, now that she was a young matron. She seemed to enjoy this success, if one could judge from her bright eyes, her flushed cheeks, the way she took the center of the stage.

* * *

Rodney Brandon sat at her right. It was Rodney from whom Connie had run away to become Katie Blyn. But he had forgiven her for that. He had explained that the papers had discovered that that girl was not Connie. He had granted them an interview, only because he had hoped the story might bring her back to him. She had explained that she had had to run away, though she had been sorry to have hurt him so.

Rodney and Bret liked each other as well as could be expected. They could not have been more exact opposites. Often Connie was struck by the contrast between them, Rodney so fair, so polished, so perfect; Bret, dark and serious and natural. She wished that they would become real friends, her husband and her old sweetheart. She was happy tonight, having them both, one by her side, the other at the far end of the table, both, somehow, complimenting her and belonging to her.

For Rodney had told her, too, that he still cared for her; that he always would care.

"You may have jilted me, practically at the altar, my dear," he had said, his eyes mocking, yet with his slow smile; "you may have married someone else, but I still remain your patient, humble henchman, as always."

Connie had told him not to be ridiculous. Yet, she felt that that was as it should be. It was perfectly natural that Rodney should remain her admirer. The women in her world had admirers, as a matter of course. It would be rather dull to have no man interested in you and paying you compliments, except your husband. Besides, Bret was not good at compliments. Lately he did not attempt even to make them. Though she noticed, glancing down the long table to make sure that everything was going all right, that her husband appeared to be paying some attention to Vercnica Whitney, who sat on his right.

Veronica, in fact, caught her hostess's glance and waved a gay salute. "Your husband is the most amusing man I've ever met!" she called. "He's simply divine, really!"

Every man was "divine" in Veronica's estimation. She was fluffy and provocative and appealing. She had the latter down to a science that was nothing short of an art. Veronica had had three husbands. Heaven alone knew how many admirers.

Connie laughed and waved back. She wondered however, at her friend's first choice of adjectives. No one could call poor darling Bret amusing, though he was such a lamb. Except, when he tried to become difficult, as he had for those few minutes before they had come down tonight.

* * *

Of course they would not "settle down" to the business of serious living tomorrow. Ar any other day. Why should they? Why need living be serious? she had just begun really to have fun, since she had married Bret. She did not mean that he should go back to some sort of poky old work that would take him away from her for hours each day and bring him home tired and cross each night. She wanted him with her, for a companion, a lover and a husband.

She did not stop to think that in trying to possess all of him, she might lose him entirely.

She did not mind if he amused himself some with Veronica. She could easily see why Veronica's kittenish helplessness would appeal to Bret. Hadn't he been attracted to her at first, when he had thought she was Katie Blyn, because he had thought her helpless, a maiden in distress? Bret's chivalry was old-fashioned, but it was delightful.

The dinner was practically over. A great deal of champagne had been drunk, with many toasts to the occasion, and for the continued marital bliss of the host and hostess. Now it was time for the ladies to retire to the drawing room for coffee, leaving the gentlemen for one last drink and smoke.

Connie rose to give the signal—she liked keeping such age-old customs, they lent a certain dignity, inspite of the modern note that her parties achieved as well.

Someone had just asked Bret a question, one of the men, but Veronica Whitney repeated it again, in her high, shrill voice that carried too well.

"Yes, Bret darling, do tell us, what do you do? We know there's some talk . . . Connie spoke of your going into the stock market or politics—but didn't you use to build houses, or something quaint? What do you do, Bret?"

* * *

Connie was the only one who recognized that little thin line settling around her husband's mouth, the only one who saw the storm gathering in his dark eyes.

"What do I do?" Bret asked. He, too, stood up, pushing back his chair with a grating sound; he made a bow to the whole company, for it seemed that all noises and laughter and chatter suddenly had ceased. "Why, didn't you know?" he addressed Veronica, but first his eyes had flashed one look down the long gleaming table to meet those of his wife. "I'm a gigolo, my dear Mrs. Whitney—ladies and gentlemen. I don't do anything. I don't suppose I ever shall. I live, very neatly and comfortably, thank you, on my wife's seventy-odd millions. And this anniversary that you all are celebrating so merrily is a toast—and a jest—to just that."

There was a stunned silence for a long tense moment.

Then Bret bowed again, murmured something about begging his wife's pardon, and his guests, before he turned and walked out of the room.

Connie stared after him; it was as though she could not move, or speak, or think. For Bret to behave in such a manner, to throw such an insult into her face, to jeer at their anniversary party.

"He didn't know what he was doing," Rodney said, low, at her side. The babble and laughter had been taken up again, as though nothing had shattered it. "Probably had a few too many drinks, upset about something. Don't blame him too much, Connie dear."

She let her old friend take her arm to start the movement into the other room. She managed to hold her head high, with pride and defiance in that manner that was especially her own. But in her heart she felt that what Bret had done was inexcusable. Things could never be quite the same between them again.

WE MIGHT LEARN SOMETHING

Deplorable, of course, that our Mexican neighbors should take the law into their own hands as was the case following the atrocity at Tijuana, but perhaps they have adopted an effective method of discouraging repetitions by their people of that type of horrifying crime. If so, they can teach their more enlightened neighbor to their north a few lessons.

It isn't the first time the Mexicans have adopted means peculiarly their own of coping with criminal horrors. There was the tale a few years ago, for example, of an outlaw responsible for numerous outrages. Efforts to capture him failed. Then—or so the story goes—the indignant citizens rounded up his loved ones and broadcast the word that something bad might happen to them unless he surrendered. The story continues that he surrendered, but does not tell what happened to him. Likely it was nothing pleasant.

This does not suggest that whatever may have occurred at Tijuana is any worse than some of the violences to which our own nation has been witness. It merely states that they are less to be condemned than we who are a little further from the primitive than the Mexican people taken as a whole. It likewise voices a curiosity as to whether most of even the most law abiding American might not be envious of the ability to shed readily their veneer of civilization when dealing with certain types of crime and certain classes of criminals.

A Thought . .

For he shall deliver the needy when he crieth; the poor also, and him that hath no helper. He shall spare the poor and needy, and shall save the souls of the needy.—Psalms 72:12, 13.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 16. — They play sweet and they play hot, but the specialty of the Schnicklefritzes is corny music, and they sure can riff it.

The Schnicklefritzes are six young men from the farmlands of Minnesota but they also are one of the best-known novelty bands in the United States because of their phonograph records and their meanderings around the middle west. Some of the critics in slick-paper magazines already have commented on them respectfully, so any day now you can expect to hear "corn" hailed as an art-form, alayzed and interpreted by highbrows, and played by Stokowski.

If this happens, the Schnicklefritzes will have anticipated the vogue because they already have a song that goes, "Mister Swing has had his day; old man Corn is here to stay."

"Corn" is hick music. In dance band circles it is anything old-fashioned. If you could make an arrangement combining the rhythm and execution of "Turkey in the Straw" and "Ja-Da," you'd have corn.

* * *

Credit Mr. Vallee

The boys are out here to appear in "Gold Diggers in Paris" along with the Warner Brothers' stock company and Rudy Vallee. Mr. Vallee, with his Stein Song and that Weenie - weenie - weenie (or whatever it is) ditty, knows a thing or two about corn himself.

Anyway he is credited with getting the Schnicklefritzes their first chance in Hollywood, and it was he who introduced them at the studio when they arrived there the other day. In one of his characteristic oratorical flights-to - nowhere, Mr. Vallee said:

"Having heard of the band I looked them up when I got to St. Paul because I knew that these boys really had something and my curiosity was piqued no end when I got there and found that tickets had to be reserved a week in advance, but I looked up their manager and . . ."

After 10 minutes, Vallee sat down and the Schnicklefritzes played. They were worth waiting for. The sextet owns and uses 63 instruments including all the usual ones and some slide whistles and jugs, and the "contraption." The latter is a washboard mounted on an easel fringed by nine bulb-operated horns, various bells (household and barnyard), a frying pan and a ratchet. The horns are tuned. The contraption is a two-man instrument, and the corn fairly pops out of it when it's attacked by Freddie Fisher, leader and organizer of the band, and Stanley Fritts, who is the baritone, also trombone, ocarina, jew's-harp and jug man.

First Record Sold 50,000

Fisher is a little guy who wrestles with saxophones and clarinet, and who does many of the visual special-effects such as donning a smoking stovepipe hat and imitating a train. Back in Winona, Minn., in 1935, he got the Schnicklefritzes together and for a year they barnstormed through several states.

One night a phonograph record salesman named Elvin Christman heard them and persuaded his company to make a recording. This was done reluctantly after the musicians paid their own fares to Chicago. The first record sold above 50,000.

Next the boys went to a beer garden in St. Paul. Refused a salary of $300 a week, they finally settled with the management for 20 per cent of the first $2000 receipts each month and 40 per cent above that. Quicker than you could say Schicklefritz, they were pocketing $2000 a week as their share. Christman became their manager.

So They Got Married

Coming to Hollywood is quite a thrill for the corn merchants, and Ken Trisko, the drummer, and Nels Laakso, cornetist, celebrated by getting married and making the trip a honeymoon. These two, and Paul Cooper, pianist and arranger, used to work on farms.

The Class In Foreign Affairs

America's "Foreign Policy" Is Explained By Dutcher; Public Opinion Is Balance Wheel

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 — Any understanding of American foreign policy and naval expansion proposals requires knowledge of certain facts which Roosevelt, Secretary Hull and Admiral Leahy aren't talking about.

So much depends on the result of the administration's effort to "educate" the American people out of a pacifistic, isolationist antipathy toward any monkeying in Asiatic or European affairs that this educational effort temporarily may be considered as the chief item of such foreign policy as we have.

The campaign has been going on for months through solemn official warnings of peril, persistent semi-official assurances that the Far Eastern situation is "tense," maximum ballyhoo for the Panay and lesser incidents, playing up of all naval movements and many other gestures designed for the effect of swaying public opinion.

* * *

Power Politics

A navy is the most powerful arm of diplomacy and the American navy now is being used as exactly that. The State department feels its duty is to play the old game of power politics. This means bluffing Japan and other aggressively militaristic nations—or, as diplomats put it, "using the prestige and influence of the United States to stop international brigandage and prevent war."

Rodney Dutcher

Also involved is a strong desire to "salvage" the British Empire, backed by the moral and emotional bitterness of Roosevelt and Hull against "bandit" dictatorships and their fear of a distant day when Japan, Germany and Italy might rule the international roost and become a positive menace to the United States.

Congress, presumably a focal point of American public opinion, doesn't know how our foreign policy would shape up if Roosevelt and Hull were given a free hand — and fears the worst.

* * *

Just A Game

Available signs indicate that Roosevelt and Hull, once released from the public opinion hobble, would become very noisy and yell louder than ever at the dictatorships, probably with naval flourishes. Whether this would have the desired effect of making Hitler, Mussolini and the Mikado behave themselves or whether it would be more likely to get the country into war is a matter of speculation.

Roosevelt doesn't think the country will get into war. But he isn't sure. As long as Congress and public opinion insist on a mere continental defense policy, he knows that Ambassadors Saito, Suvich a Dieckhoff will be cabling Tok Rome and Berlin that this gover ment's position is nothing to wo about.

The program for an $800,000,0 naval expansion policy — an annu 20 per cent increase in expend ture—is part of the power polit game. It doesn't mean any n battleships within three or four years, so it hardly can be designed to meet any possible immediate crisis. The existing navy is more than adequate for protection of the Alaska-Hawaii-Panama Canal defense triangle and the Pacific coast. The navy isn't strong enough now to make a stand anywhere west of Hawaii, and even the proposed increase wouldn't come anywhere near being enough to take any aggressive action in that direction.

"Mr. Smith" In London

Naturally, Admiral Leahy was somewhat handicapped by these points in his testimony before a congressional committee. But there is reason to believe that the most significant although not generally noted Leahy contribution was the admiral's assertion that the country's Pacific naval line of defense now stretches out to Samoa, 2600 miles beyond Hawaii.

This seems to make sense only if you tie it up with Roosevelt's secret pet idea of a joint British-American long distance blockade of Japan. No agreement or understanding with England has been put on paper, but the Navy has worked out a plan — just to be kept handy for an emergency, mind you — by which the United States would put 15 capital ships and their auxiliaries on the Alaska-Hawaii-Samoa line to link up with six British capital ships between Singapore and Borneo. Despite official denials that there is any plan to use the American fleet in conjunction with other forces, Capt. Royal E. Ingersoll, chief of the Navy war plans division, is understood to have discussed the blockade idea in London, where he was known as "Mr. Smith."

• • •

Trouble Soon?

The British anticipate possible trouble with Mussolini within three months. They want to know, first, whether Germany can be bought off or held off in that event, and, second, whether the United States can be depended on to take a strong stand in the Far East. If the second question is to be answered negatively they will make the best bargain they can with Japan.

But if nothing serious happens in Europe within six or eight months, Washington has been given to understand England may be able to join this country in a hard-boiled attitude toward a Japan weakened by her Chinese efforts. Meanwhile the world's capitals are closely watching debate in Congress on the Navy and foreign affairs.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 16 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady here today at net advances of 2 to 5 points. March traded at 8.94, May 9.00, July 9.08, Oct. 9.15, Dec. 9.20 and Jan. 9.22.

In the first half hour prices gained a few additional points. Liverpool cables were stronger than due but advices from there said European developments were restricting influences.

Sales of grey cotton goods were estimated at more than ten million yards yesterday but buyers were concerned over large stocks held by mills.

The domestic cotton goods market was active and prices were stronger.

Realizing and hedging caused prices to drop a few points and near mid-session the market was net 1 point down to 1 point up.

March traded at 8.93, May 9.00, July 9.06, Dec. 9.19 and Jan. 9.22.

Most of the demand came from the trade and commission houses but recent buyers disappointed over failure of the market to respond more favorably to passage of the farm bill, showed a tendency to liquidate.

The turnover yesterday was 45,350 bales and open commitments 441,450 bales, a decrease of 6,400 bales from the previous day.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Cotton futures opened 3 lower to 3 higher. March contract was down under liquidation and later months steady on trade and commission house buying. March 8.80; May 8.88; July 8.93; Oct. 9.06; Dec. 9.08; Jan. 9.10.

Sentiment was divided, with the reported administration desire for higher commodity prices and the similar intent of the farm bill counterbalancing the uncertain action of south farmers in face of prices approximating the cotton loan basis.

May moved between 8.88 and 8.91 during the first half hour. Shortly after that times prices were 1 point net lower to 4 higher.

Prices slipped off a few points later in the morning under liquidation through commission houses, but southern selling was light. The demand on the decline was restricted principally to locals who had sold earlier. Worth street reported continued inquiry this morning.

May at midday was selling at 8.87 and the list was 2 points net lower to 3 higher.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—The stock market slowed almost to a halt today after slipping a few cogs in the forenoon.

Around the fourth hour leading shares were up a little from the day's lows but losses predominated. Rallying tendencies were limited as traders stayed out of the market to look for more clearcut guides to action.

Boardroom talk harped on the "inflation" theme in the effort of traders to fathom the significance of the latest Washington news, notably President Roosevelt's contention commodity prices were too low. However, the slimness of the trading indicated few were willing to take the inflationary gossip seriously enough at the moment to undertake aggressive bull positions in stocks.

Wheat found a firmer footing after yesterday's sharp crack.

While losses were pared, the downside was represented by such shares as General Motors, Bethlehem Steel, Allis Chalmers, Johns Manville, Union Pacific, Du Pont, Chrysler, International Harvester, Westinghouse, New York Central and Douglas Aircraft.

Texas Weather

said he had compiled the following information on rainfall through this morning: Happy, Plainview, Abernathy, Ropesville, Tahoka, Slaton, Southland, Post, and Justiceburg, fourth inch; Tulia shower; Floydada to Lockney, sprinkle; Kress, Lehman, Shallowater to Clovis, Lorenzo, mist; Dermott, inch; Wilson, Meadow, Slaton to Brownfield, Hale Center, eighth; Crosbyton, third.

Denver dispatchers said Dimmitt received a quarter, Hart a half, Lockney, Sterley, Silverton, Quitaque, and Turkey mist; conditions at Petersburg were described as cloudy.

The barometer at Municipal airport at 6:30 o'clock this morning was "leveling out," standing at 29.91. Temperature was 42 degrees, dew point 42 degrees. A northeast wind was blowing 18 miles an hour. The sky was overcast, ten-tenths cloudy; visibility was three-fourths mile at 9:30 o'clock. Ceiling was 500 feet. A light mist was observed all morning.

Precipitation there was only .02 inch during the night.

A Lockheed 12 was able to fly to Lubbock late Tuesday despite a ceiling of only 400 feet. The pilot, Jack Schweizer, and co-pilot, Henry Taylor, missed the field, but banked about and came in under the mist to land without much trouble, said Field Manager Clent Breedlove. They had flown above the fog almost all the way here from Abilene. This morning they were grounded, waiting better flying conditions before taking off for Albuquerque.

Social Security Official Is To Be In City This Week

Lang Holt, assistant manager for Amarillo district field office of the social security board, will spend Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Lubbock conferring with those affected by the social security act, according to a letter received at the chamber of commerce this morning from Dewey Read, manager.

He will make headquarters at the chamber of commerce and will remain there from 8:30 a. m. until noon Thursday ready to assist those who may call upon him. The remainder of his stay will be spent in calling upon those known to be affected by the act, according to the schedule.

Navy Imposes Strict Secrecy In The Building Of Warships To Halt 13-Year-Old Policy

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The United States navy, abandoning a 13-year old policy, transferred to its "secret" file all information on how work is progressing on warship construction.

Officially, the navy referred to the order merely as "in the interest of public welfare."

Two Possible Reasons

Speculation dealt with two possible reasons: That the navy wanted to give no foreign power any more information than necessary, and that there may have been some construction delays which officials think could best be overcome in privacy.

Yesterday's construction report withheld percentage figures and announcement of any delays. A month ago the report had indicated construction of 15 destroyers and two aircraft carriers would be delayed.

The navy currently is building 63 warships and two auxiliaries. A comparison of reports indicated five, including the light cruiser Brooklyn, were completed during the last month.

Protect Both Coasts

President Roosevelt contributed to the discussion of naval strength yesterday, commenting at his press conference that expert opinion advises possession of a navy able to protect both Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Mr. Roosevelt said experts contended there always was a possibility that the navy might be called on to defend both coasts at the same time.

He did not say he advocated construction of such a fleet, which would go far beyond any pending recommendation.

Oil Probe In Texas Staged

TULSA, Feb. 16. (AP)—The Tulsa World in a special dispatch from its Washington correspondent says a preliminary investigation of crude petroleum prices in the East Texas field has been started by the department of justice and there is a possibility of a more extended inquiry.

"Agents of the department in the Dallas regional office have been instructed to make the preliminary investigation and report to Washington," the newspaper continues.

"The exact nature of the investigation was not disclosed but it is understood to have been prompted by protests filed by independent oil refiners in that area.

Forced Out Of Business

"The refiners have complained that since the Madison trial ended in convictions for major companies and their officials, the price of crude had been kept up and no gasoline purchased from the independents by the major marketing companies. The combination is forcing many of the independents, particularly in East Texas, out of business, they contend.

"While the anti-trust division of the department has directed the present probe in East Texas, no attorneys for the division have been sent there. Whether special attorneys will be put upon the investigation will depend upon the reports received at Washington from Dallas, it was indicated."

"Iowa Plan" Of Teaching Is Being Tried At Texas Tech

The "Iowa Plan" of teaching elementary courses in foreign language is being tried in the beginner's class in German at Texas Technological college this semester, Dr. C. B. Qualia, head professor of languages, has reported. The new method provides for rapid reading of language without stress on grammatical form and syntax. If the system works successfully in the German class, it will be tried in Spanish and French classes.

Starting with readers written in the simplest grammatical forms the students read books as rapidly as possible unhampered by study of grammatical forms. No grammar is taught until students reach difficulties in the language which require that knowledge for an understanding of the reading. Advocates of the plan maintain that it holds the student's interest through subject matter until he becomes interested in the grammar. Several books are used per semester with only vocabulary and idiomatic expressions as reference.

Hockley County Well

SHOWN above is the Richardson Slaughter well in Southwestern Hockley county about 14 miles southwest of Levelland making a natural head of oil at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The heads lasted from 7 to 10 minutes. Depth was 4,944 feet. The well is 200 yards west of Sundown and a two and a quarter miles extension north of the discovery well in the Slaughter pool. Oilmen here Tuesday night said they expected the well to be one of the best in the field.

Ex-Convict Is Being Sought

(By The Associated Press)

BEAUMONT, Feb. 16.—Police here today blamed an ex-convict in the abduction and robbery last night of W. C. Nelson and his wife of Houston.

Nelson told police their lives were threatened several times. He said he and his wife were sitting at a soft drink stand in Houston last night when the man entered their automobile and ordered Nelson to drive toward Beaumont.

Valuables Are Taken

The forced ride ended six miles east of Beaumont when the uninvited guest ordered Nelson and his wife from the automobile and left them standing on the highway. The bandit took $16 in cash, two watches and two diamond rings.

The two victims identified a police picture of the ex-convict as the abductor. The man was recently paroled from the state penitentiary.

Instructed Verdict Closes Cafe Here

Texas Liquor Control board won an instructed verdict in 72nd district court late this morning when Judge Daniel A. Blair ordered a cafe of L. L. (Red) Ford, a mile north of town on the Plainview highway, closed for a year. It can only be opened within that time if a $3,000 bond as surety that liquor will not be sold is posted.

Instruction to render the verdict for the board was made when Ford failed to introduce witnesses to refute testimony of five witnesses for the board. The board asked an injunction to close the place.

Burton S. Burks, district attorney and Robert J. Allen, county attorney, represented the board. Burks placed H. T. Nelson, Mack Wilson, Y. L. Culp, John T. Miller and C. C. Cox on the stand. Nelson testified to purchasing liquor at the place.

When Ford failed to present witnesses Burks asked for an instructed verdict. The jury was out only long enough to select a foreman.

Judge Blair dismissed the jury until 1:15 o'clock in the afternoon when a similar injunction action against Willie Fentroy, Slaton negro, is to be heard.

German Nazis

German demands would include changes in the Austrian constitution and control of the official press bureau. It was reported a German sympathizer soon would be named to the latter job.

Officials admitted that a national defense council with supreme control of armed forces was to be created. There was likelihood that Seysz-Inquart would be a member of the council.

It was explained at the chancellery that concessions to the nazis had been made with corresponding gains for Austria. Hitler himself, it was understood, had promised that any illegal nazi activity in Austria would be without support from Germany, thus settling one of Austria's gravest internal problems.

The retiring German ambassador, Franz Von Papen, was largely instrumental in bringing about the Berchtesgaden treaty and he expressed his happiness thus: "A new spring is coming for Austria."

Rebels Annex More Ground

HENDAYE, France, At The Spanish Frontier, Feb. 16. (AP)—Cavalry raids gained fresh territory for the Spanish insurgents today in the Serena sector 150 miles southwest of Madrid while forces operating north of Teruel were mopping up captured Alfambra valley territory.

Government counter-attacks designed to regain lost ground in both fighting zones were repelled, insurgent dispatches from Salamanca said.

Flurries Of Activity

There were flurries of activity on the Madrid front, where the government reported stopping an insurgent sortie at Cuesta De La Reina, northwest of the city, with machine-gun fire.

Government batteries laid down heavy fire on insurgent lines in the Jarama sector, near Madrid.

Insurgent communiques said cavalry cleaning up newly-conquered territory in the Argente sector north of Teruel found 200 government troops hiding in the woods who surrendered without a fight.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's cavalry engaged in widespread raids through the Serena valley, seizing new territory.

Drive Is Delayed

Severely cold weather tended to slow down the conflict in the Alfambra river sector, where the insurgents advanced about 14 miles recently in a powerful offensive and are consolidating their gains now.

(In Paris, the French cabinet unanimously approved a plan today to humanize war.

(Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos, who submitted the plan, said negotiations were under way with other powers to stop the bombing of civil populations in Spain and create a permanent world pact to prohibit nations "from resorting to barbarous methods which war itself cannot justify."

(He said Great Britain had agreed to associate herself fully with French efforts to obtain such an agreement.)

Credits Given Texas Cities

AUSTIN, Feb. 16. (AP)—More fire record credits and penalties—with most of them on the credit side—were announced for Texas cities today.

Fire Insurance Commissioner Marvin Hall, who explained the charges and discounts were determined by each city's fire loss record for the past five years, said additional ratings would be announced on a day-to-day basis.

They are one factor in determining the final rate paid for fire insurance in each community.

The 1938 ratings, effective March 1, compared with 1937 ratings in parenthesis, included:

25 per cent credit-Cameron (25); Coleman, (25).

20 per cent credit-Edinburg, (20).

15 per cent credit-Claude (15); Cross Plains (10); Floydada, (10); Canyon, (15); Crosbyton, (15); Decatur, (10); Fort Stockton, (15).

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—Reports circulated in congress today that the administration was considering establishment of a federal transportation board which would have broad powers over all forms of transportation.

Egg Cracking Being Staged At Lamesa

LAMESA, Feb. 16 (Special)—Egg-cracking has been started at Kraft-Phenix cheese plant here for Henningsen Bros. of New York City. The plant, in operation since 1932, employes 32 women and girls and 12 men.

Capacity of the plant is placed at between 900 and 1,000 cases of eggs daily. Each case has 30 dozen.

Two Types Used

Two types of drying are used, the spray and the pan. In the former eggs after being broken are sprayed down a huge inverted cone about 25 feet high. The pay type calls for eggs to be placed in open pans that are exposed to heat. Yolks and whites are separated.

Eggs come from farmers' flocks and from the surplus of stores, jobbers and produce houses.

W. F. Hessler is manager of the plant this year. The company is the largest egg drying concern in the country. It operates plants in Denison and Fort Worth, as well as Lamesa.

Have Various Uses

Dried eggs are used in various commercial lines. Yolks are mainly used in the manufacture of ice cream, pies and pastries, candy and egg noodles. Whites are used for making candy, in textile printing such as rayon and silk and for other commercial uses.

Hessler hopes to operate the plant well up into the summer. The demand for dried eggs is constantly increasing. Up to a few years ago the chief source of supply was in China. War has changed that source.

The company ships in car load lots. Dried eggs are more easily handled than in the natural state and can be held for an indefinite period before use, without deterioration, it is explained.

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

Elliott Death Is Unsolved

LITTLEFIELD, Feb. 16, (Special)—Death from "an unknown cause" will be entered as a verdict of M. W. Brewer, justice of peace, to close investigation into the Alvin Elliott death Jan. 30.

No poison was found in the viscera of Elliott, 30, whose body was found on a bed in a Littlefield tourist camp cabin, a state toxicologist at Austin reported.

A Levelland girl was found sleeping on the floor beside the bed, but authorities have been convinced she knew nothing that would help solve Elliott's death.

Got Cabin Saturday

Owner of the tourist camp said the couple had rented the cabin late on the Saturday night preceding the man's death.

In the couple's car had been found a six ounce bottle labeled "solution of arsenic" and from which approximately two ounces were missing, a bottle of antiseptic, and a three-fourths full pint bottle labeled whisky, Brewer said. No bottles were found in the cabin.

Two Persons Killed In Marital Tangle

MARINETTE, Wis., Feb. 16 (AP)—Henry Von Nobel, self-styled German count, killed his wealthy third wife and himself Tuesday Undersheriff Edward O'Hearn reported, to end marital trouble that had taken them into divorce court.

Mrs. Laona Wolf, 46, sister of Mrs. Von Nobel, was wounded in the cheek by a pistol bullet apparently intended for Janet Kaiser, Mrs. Von Nobel's 20-year-old daughter. Miss Kaiser and her brother, Frederick, 14, escaped unhurt.

The shooting took place in the lobby of the hotel Marinette 20 minutes before the Von Nobels were to appear at a circuit court hearing in the wife's divorce suit. She had charged cruelty and manipulation of her funds.

Von Nobel was arrested last Saturday on a cruelty to animals charge. Von Nobel was awaiting trial.

Dairy Department Officials To Attend Santone Programs

Programs will be attended by K. M. Renner, head of the dairy manufacturing department of Texas Technological college, and L. G. Harmon, instructor in that department, in San Antonio the first part of next week.

Renner will speak on "Simplified Solids Test for Ice Cream Mix, Condensed Milk and Evaporated Milk," will report on research of the last year of interest to ice cream manufacturers and milk dealers, and will take part in a discussion. The simplified test was originated by Renner.

He has called a meeting for Wednesday in San Antonio of the agricultural livestock committee of the Texas State Manufacturers association.

Renner and Harmon will spend Sunday in Falfurrias studying the sweet cream butter industry at Falfurrias creamery.

Questionnaire On Safety Is Being Answered In Schools

To assist in gathering material for the 1940 yearbook of the National Education association Superintendent W. B. Irvin of Lubbock schools is answering a questionnaire on safety education, the general topic of the yearbook.

According to Henry H. Hill, chairman of the yearbook commission, 15,000 children under the age of 15 were killed in 1937 and thousands of others temporarily or permanently injured. So the national association is asking schools where particularly effective safety instruction is being carried on to tell them the work they are doing and the type of assistance which would be most useful for the yearbook to provide.

Mr. Irvin will give general information on safety education, an appraisal of non school activities, and special information on the subject.
