ON McCARTHY-ARMY ROW

Eisenhower Personally Bars Testimony On Secret Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today personally barred government officials from telling Senate investigators about their private conversations on the McCarthy-Army row, or giving them confidential documents relating to it.

And Atty. Gen. Brownell, acting on the principle laid down by the President, ruled that no parts of a document produced by Sen. McCarthy, purporting to summarize a secret FBI paper on security risks at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., should be made public.

The President's order, in the form of a letter to the secretary of defense, and another letter from Brownell to Chairman Mundt (R-SD) were laid before the Senate Investigations subcommittee as it resumed its televised hearings on the continuing controversy between McCarthy and Pentagon officials.

The presidential order clamping secrecy on executive branch actions in the McCarthy-Army row brought a denunciation from Sen. McCarthy as a "cover up" today. He proposed suspending Senate hearings while the issue is threshed out.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo) objected to halting the hearings, even for the day.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee fell into argument over what course it would take.

In the upshot, the group recessed at 11:55 a.m. (EDT) to decide behind closed doors their course in view of what McCarthy denounced as the "Iron Curtain" imposed by the President. Public sessions were scheduled to be renewed at 3 p.m. EDT.

As he has before, Sen. McCarthy said he didn't think the committee is bound "by any letter from the attorney general."

He suggested the group go into closed session to read his version of the FBI memorandum.

Mundt said he regards Brownell's ruling as final.

"That settles it, so far as I am concerned," Mundt said.

McCarthy has said he would pay no attention to any Brownell ruling but would withhold the information only if FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said it was not in the national interest to make it public.

Eisenhower's general order—for which he cited precedents ranging from Presidents Washington to Truman—seemed to shut the door against effective inquiry by the senators into who said what to whom at a high-level administration conference at the Justice Department last January on the controversy.

Disclosure that there was such a conference had piqued curiosity among members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, the Democrats as to whether the Army's moves in its scrap with McCarthy were directed from the White House itself.

Army Counselor John Adams related last Wednesday that there was such a conference. He said Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams suggested at the meeting that John Adams compile a written record of the Army's difficulties with the McCarthy subcommittee over Pvt. G. David Schine.

But when asked on Friday for details of the January conference, Adams pleaded that his lips had been sealed by an order from "the Executive Department."

Adams said he got his orders orally from Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert Anderson but he understood Anderson was only transmitting them.

Some pretty well informed sources said Anderson actually originated it in the first place. But in any case, Eisenhower was standing firmly behind him.

The senators took the Eisenhower letter with complete calm.

Midland Man Named By VFW

Approximately 200 people from the area attended the District Convention of the Veterans for Foreign Wars which was held here over the weekend.

Cecil R. Shonyo, state service officer from Lubbock, was the principal speaker. He warned VFW members that the Veterans Administration office at Lubbock might be moved as was the Dallas office.

Such a move would cause difficulty in Texas as most VA business would have to be transacted in Denver or another central office, he said.

W. G. Ray of Midland was elected district commander of the VFW for the coming year. George Goddard of Odessa was elected senior vice commander, and Jack Shoemaker of Pecos became junior vice commander.

Dr. Houston Zinn of Big Spring was elected district surgeon, and U. G. Powell, also of Big Spring, was elected district chaplain.

Other officers elected included Leonard Miller of Midland, quartermaster; Bill Meyer of Kermit, judge advocate; and J. P. Simpson, of Odessa, three-year trustee. Election was held Sunday at 2 p.m.

API Meet Opens

DENVER (AP)—Between 500 and 1,000 petroleum marketers and executives from throughout the nation open a three-day mid-year meeting of the American Petroleum Institute's marketing division here today.

But when it was read into the record, Sen. Symington (D-Mo) served notice he would want to go into the issue further after he had had more time to study both the letter and Brownell's supporting memorandum.

Chairman Mundt (R-SD) noted the memorandum cited precedents going back to the Washington administration, and said the subcommittee would like to give it study. This course, Mundt said, would prevent any "snap judgment."

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) said he personally is in doubt how far the committee has the right to go in seeking information on what happened at an Executive Department meeting.

"It's like calling a Cabinet member and asking what went on at a Cabinet meeting," he said.

Sen. Dvorzhak (R-Idaho) said he thought the Jan. 21 conference presented only a side issue in any event and doubted it would be worthwhile going into the details.

Once the document-reading was out of the way at the opening of today's session, Chairman Mundt took up the cross examination of Army Counselor Adams by asking for a further report on consideration the Army gave to removing Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton as commander of Ft. Monmouth.

Adams gave this version: Secretary of the Army Stevens was considering removing Lawton because of some charges that Lawton had spoken improperly about suspected subversives at the fort coming from certain colleges. This was "not related" to the fact that Lawton had been friendly and cooperative with the McCarthy subcommittee investigation of alleged subversion at the fort.

Stevens asked Adams to explain this situation to McCarthy and get McCarthy's reaction. McCarthy at first indicated "he would understand" if Stevens found it necessary to take such action. Later, however, McCarthy requested that any such move be deferred until several weeks after the subcommittee had completed its Monmouth inquiry.

McCarthy wanted the delay to avoid any impression in newspapers that Lawton was being removed because of his cooperation with the senator. In the end, Stevens decided against relieving Lawton who still commands Ft. Monmouth.

East Texans Seek Killers

MANSFIELD, La. (AP)—Roadblocks were up in East Texas today as officers in four states sought two armed men who shot a deputy sheriff to death and wounded his partner.

A sheriff said the pair may have headed toward East Texas. Two state highway patrolmen reported they chased a car from Crow, Tex., to Mineola, Tex., last night but were unable to catch it.

The shooting of the two DeSoto Parish (county) deputy sheriffs occurred yesterday seven miles north of Mansfield near Grand Cane. The men, apparently thwarted in an attempt to break open a post office safe at Grand Cane, shot and killed Wilson Gamble, 65, and wounded Ralph Shelton, 36.

DeSoto deputy Roy D. Webb said his fellow officers, en route to Mansfield with a 16-year-old boy charged with drunken driving, had stopped to help the men pull their car out of a ditch.

The men, apparently thinking the deputies were investigating the attempted safe cracking, shot them down as the officers stepped out of their car, Webb said.

The two men then walked over to the officers' car and, ignoring the youth sitting on the back seat, drove the car into a ditch.

A passing motorist unknowingly aided the men's escape when he stopped and pulled their car out of the ditch with a chain attached to his car.

Aerial Monster Lands At Webb

Biggest Plane In Port History Lands At Webb

A veritable flying city spent Monday morning at Webb Air Force Base.

The monster aircraft, a Douglas C124C Globemaster capable of carrying 200 fully equipped troops, landed with a flight of Sabre jets returning to the West Coast area from "Operation Boxkite" maneuvers.

Largest aircraft ever to land in Big Spring, the C124 dwarfed other airplanes and buildings on the airport. For example, the vertical fin, measuring 48 feet 4 inches above the ground, rose higher than the roof on the main hangar building.

The Globemaster carried spare engines, jeeps, maintenance equipment, and 24 mechanics—as a sort of flying maintenance squadron for the sleek Sabre jets.

Pilots said the plane was really rather lightly loaded. It carried, besides the 24 passengers and crew of six, a mere 37,000 pounds of cargo. The huge ship's total weight as it stood at Webb tipped the scales at 190,000 pounds, or 90 tons.

Performance data on the Globemaster still is withheld from publication, but one fact is known already: The monster can develop more than 15,000 horsepower for takeoff. That's more than three normal diesel locomotives.

Aircraft commander on the big ship was Capt. Richard M. Kenny, who is native to the 14th Troop Carrier Squadron, 61st Group, at Larsen AFB, Wash. Capt. Kenny said that his huge bird and its crew were attached to the Sabre jet unit as maintenance support for the maneuvers.

Taxi?

In the air, the Globemaster is as graceful as an out-sized eagle. But for air-ground maneuvers, the crew needs surface transportation—because on the ground the huge metal bird is as awkward a carrier as a duck on dry land. Through the clam-shell nose-doors in the C124 at Webb this morning, the photographer caught the crew with the standard-sized jeep the plane carries along. Left to right are Capt. Richard M. Kenny, aircraft commander, 1st Lt. Robert J. Briscoe, co-pilot, and 2nd Lt. Ronald G. Castleberry, navigator. Diplomats Report Progress In Efforts For United Front

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomats reported today that American efforts to form a united front in Southeast Asia are rolling again after weeks of confusion and hesitation during which little progress was made.

Three lines of action are now considered probable:

1. French Premier Joseph Laniel in talks with U.S. Ambassador C. Douglas Dillon at Paris, is expected to present a concrete proposition for American intervention in Indochina.
2. Some kind of U.N. intervention in the situation has become much more likely than it was a week ago. There is thought here of getting the United Nations to send some kind of investigating group to Indochina.
3. Plans for military talks among the United States, Britain, France and other friendly nations interested in Southeast Asia are going forward again after having been sidetracked for a few days.

The Western Big Three and Australia and New Zealand, as well as Asian nations like Thailand and The Philippines, together with the Indochinese states, would be expected to take some part in these talks. They probably will be held in either Washington or London.

The French-American talks began in Paris Friday shortly after the Laniel government won its narrow parliamentary vote of confidence. They resulted from the French vote—which assured the Laniel regime would stay in office at least a while longer—and from Dulles telling the French his televised speech the previous Friday night represented American policy and was not just something put out for domestic consumption.

Dulles in his speech emphasized that the U.N. moral sanctions and collective action with which the United States moved into the Korean War were lacking for Indochina. He also stressed that the United States wanted independence for the Indochinese states. American officials feel that only if the native peoples are striving for their own independence against the Reds can they be expected to make a valiant fight.

The French understand that Eisenhower will not act without congressional approval or unless there is a fairly broad grouping of nations willing to intervene at the same time.

According to present official thinking here the group would not have to include Britain. Dulles believes however that in the long run the British will cooperate fully.

Britain's present policy is to take no action pending the outcome of efforts at Geneva to negotiate an Indochina settlement.

Ultimatum Given Reds On Injured

By LARRY ALLEN
HANOI, Indochina (AP)—The French announced today they would resume bombing of the Communist-led Vietminh's 70-mile "hospital corridor" unless the rebels agreed to repair the Dien Bien Phu airstrip so evacuation of French Union wounded can be speeded up.

A French high command broadcast to Communist Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap gave the rebel commander until midnight to accept the ultimatum. Otherwise, the French said, they would resume all-out air attacks on the rebels streaming eastward from the fallen fortress toward the vital Red River Delta.

Only 11 of the French casualties were evacuated from Dien Bien Phu before the French suspended their airlift by helicopter and single-engine planes Saturday and pressed for repair of the airstrip.

Little hope was held here that Giap would agree to the new French demand. Instead, French sources believed he would speed up the flow of troops and war material they say he is sending over the 70-mile stretch of highway to Son La. The French had stopped bombing La. The French had stopped bombing La. The French had stopped bombing La.

Reliable sources in Saigon said the French had demanded they be allowed to set up controls on the Dien Bien Phu-Son La highway to prevent movement of other than rebel wounded, but Giap refused.

The French had charged earlier that Giap had refused to release any Vietminh wounded along with the other French Union troops, though Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had agreed specifically to this in Geneva.

The French feared the Red rebel leaders were holding on to their countrymen in an effort to indoctrinate them with communism.

High Court Ruling, 9-0

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today ruled unanimously in the segregation case that the doctrine of separate but equal facilities has no place in public education.

Chief Justice Warren, reading the court's opinion, said that to separate children solely because of race, generates feelings in their hearts and minds which might never be undone.

Today's historic decision overturned the segregation doctrine established by the Supreme Court 57 years ago.

Warren said that because of the complex questions involved, the formulation of Supreme Court decrees backing up the ruling will be delayed.

But, he declared, "We have announced that segregation has no place in education."

Warren said that in order to have full assistance of all the parties concerned, the cases will be restored to the court's docket and that new arguments will be heard on two questions asked by the tribunal before it heard its second argument of the issues last December.

One of these questions involved the time issue, that is, when to order schools in states which now require segregation to admit Negro children along with white children.

The other question raised the issue of whether the court should appoint a special master to recommend specific terms for its decrees, or whether the cases should be sent back to lower federal courts to see that segregation practices are ended.

Chief Justice Warren read the court's opinion which declared: "We conclude that in the field of public education the doctrine of separate but equal (sic) has no place. Separate educational facilities are inherently unequal."

"Therefore, we hold that the plaintiffs (Negro parents) and other similarly situated for whom the action has been brought are, by reason of the segregation complained of, deprived of the equal protection of the laws guaranteed by the 14th Amendment."

"This discussion makes unnecessary any discussion whether such segregation also violates the equal process clause of the 14th Amendment."

The 14th Amendment was adopted after the Civil War, primarily for the benefit of slaves freed by President Lincoln. It says no state may deny any person due process and equal protection of the law, nor abridge their privileges or immunities.

The cases decided today—with the court's finding that segregation is unconstitutional—involved five states: South Carolina, Virginia, Kansas, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

But lawyers said a ruling against segregation would affect a total of 17 states which have laws requiring separation of the races in schools, plus three other states having laws which permit—but do not require—segregation.

The court was told the 17 states and the District of Columbia had 70 per cent of the nation's Negro population, or 10,322,495 Negroes out of a 13,042,093 total. States with permissive segregation had an additional one per cent.

States whose laws require segregation were listed for the court as Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia.

States with permissive segregation were listed as New Mexico, Wyoming and Kansas.

In an apparent effort to preclude any advance leak of today's historic ruling, the court took the action—unprecedented in recent years—of withholding printed copies.

What other adjustments would be necessary would depend upon the way enrollments shape, he said. However, he said that any definite course of action would await consideration by the board.

Several years ago Howard County Junior College took action which opened its doors to qualified students regardless of race, creed or color. Each year there have been a number of Negro students there, some attaining high scholastic records. They also have participated freely in other activities.

Decision Not Likely To Alter Building Plans

The U. S. Supreme Court Decision striking down segregation in public school systems likely will not alter building plans here.

Earlier the board of trustees had set June 3 as the day to receive bids on a new Lakeview School, now attended by Negro children. The building, however, is designed for easy conversion either as a high school or elementary plant.

Clyde Angel, president of the school board, was absent from the city and thus not available for comment. W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, said that he assumed the building project would go ahead as scheduled because a new plant is needed in that area of the city regardless.

Governor Says It Would Take Years To Comply

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers said today it would "take years to comply" with the U.S. Supreme Court's decision outlawing racial segregation in the public schools.

His comment followed that of State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar who said Texas would comply but that such compliance would require careful guidance to solve in days or weeks or months.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd said he could not comment until he had read the full opinion of the high court.

Texas in 1953 had 1,485,055 white and 223,414 Negro school children. That is about one out of seven.

The governor said he would ask the State Education Agency to "intensely" its study of the problems relating to ending segregation so that proper recommendations can be made to the next regular session of the legislature.

Shivers said the Supreme Court ruling on time and method of enforcement, still to be announced, are "all important."

"I hope that it can be worked out so as not to cause damage to the school children and that the children themselves will not be placed at a disadvantage," he said.

"Sometimes those who seek reforms go so far that the evils of the reform movement are more onerous than the evils they're trying to remedy," Shivers said.

He said the problems are "by no means insurmountable." But he said the problem is too tremendous to solve in days or weeks or months.

"Just saying 'we abolish segregation' doesn't cure," he said. "It doesn't accomplish anything. What is going to be done about enforcing it is the important thing."

"I don't think anyone can estimate the seriousness of this decision—what it will cost—what it will do to the curriculum."

The governor said whether it will take an amendment to the state Constitution to comply in Texas is a legal question for the Legislature or the attorney general to pass on.

Until the Supreme Court completes its decision as to how and when enforcement is to be accomplished, Shivers said, "I know of no way to speed it up."

Wounded Released By Reds Tell How Dien Bien Phu Bastion Fell

By LARRY ALLEN
HANOI, Indochina (U)—The valiant French Union defenders of Dien Bien Phu fought their Communist-led assailants furiously and without letup until all their ammunition was gone.

Then, as one by one their guns fell silent over the remnants of the fortress bunkers, they carried out Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries' last order—"Give up when you can no longer fight."

This account of the fortress' last hours on May 7 was given to newsmen last night by three badly wounded survivors of the epic siege, part of the contingent of 11 casualties released by the Vietminh rebels before the airlift evacuation was suspended Saturday.

At Hanoi's overcrowded Lanesan Military Hospital they said both Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, their heroic garrison commander, and the only woman in the fortress, air force nurse Genevieve de Galard Terraube of Paris, both were captives of the Vietminh.

Neither was wounded, the trio said. All three men lay badly wounded with some 1,400 others in the battered, shell-torn fortress' underground hospital while the human tidal waves of rebels swept over in the final engulfing blows.

His right leg badly shattered by Vietminh fire, Pfc. Marcel Champougny said he thought the last hours of fighting would never end. "It seemed like there were thousands of shells and machine-gun bullets hitting against the hospital bunker."

"Some of them buried some of the wounded alive as the Vietminh just fired over everything they had."

"From outside we could hear the wild screaming of the Vietminh and the answering cries of the French as everybody fought viciously, hand-to-hand."

"At times a soldier would tumble into the hospital bunker, badly wounded, and say he was out of ammunition."

That was the way every defender fought, said Champougny—until he no longer had anything to fight with.

"De Castries' last order to the men in his bunker," Champougny continued, "was 'Give up when you can no longer fight.' To do anything else would have been butchery."

The private said about 8 o'clock that Friday night the shooting suddenly died out on the battlefield and "then everyone knew the battle was over."

Miss de Galard, he continued, was still bravely ministering to the wounded in the hospital bunker as the rebels rushed in.

There was no attack made on the wounded men, he continued. Instead, the Vietminh announced all were captives of Ho Chi Minh, the rebels' Moscow-trained chief.

Their captors, said Champougny, were almost apologetic. One Vietminh officer declared in French: "Ho Chi Minh and we are fighting for our country. There are things worse than that, and we are no worse than others. You are now prisoners and will get the attention prisoners of war deserve."

Some of the rebel soldiers in their mud-caked uniforms were laughing hysterically, but none attempted to mistreat any of the French wounded.

Nor did Champougny, after he was carried out to the battlefield, see any rebels mistreat any of the unwounded—reportedly 8,000—they rounded up.

Champougny said Miss de Galard disappeared for awhile after the invaders entered the hospital section "but I saw her come back to help the wounded, and later she was taken away by the Vietminh."

"She looked as brave and unafraid and courageous as ever," Later, Champougny said, he was carried out of the bunker to the battlefield.

There "I saw Gen. de Castries in his mud-stained battledress, still wearing his red Spanish overseas cap, jauntily and calmly walk between two heavily armed Vietminh soldiers to a jeep."

"He climbed into the jeep—which the Vietminh had captured from the French—and was taken away."

Champougny said for three days after the fall of the fortress, the Vietminh had held the garrison's score or so of French army doctors captive, away from the wounded, but then permitted them to return and treat their men.

Meanwhile, Vietminh doctors had tried to ease the French. The rebels made tents for them out of captured parachutes, and the French air force began parachuting food and medical supplies to them.

Another of the men evacuated, Foreign Legionnaire Nicolas Neller, had lost his left leg in the explosion of a mortar shell.

He, too, told of seeing De Castries being taken to a jeep and driven away by the Vietminh.

Champougny, Neller and the third returnee, Sgt. Andre Prevost, said as far as they knew, the general had offered no resistance when the rebel soldiers charged into his headquarters bunker. They said they had heard that De Castries asked only that his wounded be treated well and the French prisoners in accordance with international law.

They said that in the short time they were held, their captors lost no time in starting "indoctrination" lectures and other attempts to show them the "glories of the Communist way of life."

All three men agreed they wanted only "to be able to fight again for France and the free world against the Reds."

Prevost had been in the thick of the battle as the eastern string of French defenses collapsed. He said the Vietminh at some points "threw more than 2,000 grenades to smash our lines." It was there

MAY FLY SOON

Supersonic Medium Bomber Is Designed

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (U)—A test model of a faster-than-sound bomber may be flying within the next year. High priority is known to have been given the project by the Air Force, which has watched with evident concern Soviet progress in both bomber and fighter-interceptor designs.

This interest sharpened with the display two weeks ago of a new heavy Russian bomber driven by jet engines of substantially greater power than any now in operational use by the U. S. Air Force.

The Air Force announced in December 1952 that it had asked Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp., builder of the B36 piston-jet-engine heavy bomber, to prepare detailed design studies for a "supersonic bomber."

Since then, it was learned today, substantial progress has been made toward production of a prototype B58 jet bomber.

The increasing speed of new fighter models, both Russian and American, is a factor in the urgent push for development of a supersonic bomber. The United States, and quite probably Russia, already has bombers in production that fly at the speed of sound (761 miles an hour at sea level, decreasing as altitude increases up to a certain point).

If interceptors are up to sonic or supersonic speed, then bombers must be as fast or faster if they are to be expected to reach their targets.

In addition to the matter of bomber vs. fighter capabilities, there is involved the American policy of deterrent power. If the United States continues to keep ahead of Russia in bomber quality and maintains supremacy in atomic weapons, Russia will continue to be discouraged from starting war. But if Russia takes the lead with faster and better bombers, which can elude U. S. interception, the deterrent factor is diminished or eliminated.

The B58 probably will be a medium bomber. Equipped for mid-air refueling, its range could be the same as that of a long distance, heavy bomber.

Can't Learn Early Enough About Bees

RICHMOND, Va. (U)—Roger Clark's mother told him about the bees yesterday. A little early, maybe—Roger's only 6—but just in the nick of time, at that.

Leaving home to go to Sunday school, Roger suddenly noted "a whole bunch of beetles" on the electric meter box on the front porch.

He rushed back in the kitchen for a fly swatter. Armed with not one, but two, such weapons he hustled back outside and opened fire with two swats—both, fortunately, misses—before Mama showed up and straightway whisked him out of range.

They weren't beetles—they were bees. A whole swarm of 'em.

Man Electrocuted For Penn Slaying

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (U)—Joseph Bibalo, a 23-year-old farm worker, was electrocuted early today for luring a sportsman to his death on the promise of showing him a good hunting spot.

The victim, 44-year-old Anthony Shema of Forest City, Pa., was found beaten, knifed and shot to death with his own rifle in a lonely wooded section of northeast Pennsylvania near the New York border on Dec. 10, 1951.

Bibalo's attorneys based their fight to save his life on the contention that he was not mentally responsible for the act. Police could find only one motive for the slaying: Bibalo, who didn't own a drivers license, wanted Shema's car.

Georgia Terror Ends In Arrest Of Ex-Convict Sought In Deaths

MOULTRIE, Ga. (AP)—Capture of a paroled Georgia convict wanted in connection with four brutal slayings ended three days of terror today and brought signs of relief to this south Georgia community. Tom Williams, a 45-year-old paroled murderer was taken on the edge of a swamp east of the city last night. L. W. E. McDuffie of the Georgia Bureau of Identification made the capture. He hustled Williams off to his automobile, locked him in the trunk and headed for an undisclosed jail. The hundreds of citizens who had joined in the manhunt were not told immediately about the capture but there was a feeling of great relief when the news became generally known.

Williams, a slightly built greying Negro, was found about 500 yards from the home where retired Prison Warden W. C. Rowland and his wife were killed Saturday night. Their throats were cut and both had been brutally slashed. Another double slaying the previous night had created tension in this community, an unknown attacker killed E. T. Norman and J. D. Croft at a drive-in grocery. Both men had their throats cut and Norman was shot between the eyes with a .22-caliber bullet. About $15 was missing from the cash register. Mrs. Rowland's screams brought Lucian Norman and John Bailey hurrying to her house Saturday night. Both men were attacked as they entered the residence. Norman was hospitalized with critical knife wounds. Bailey, who was not so badly slashed, identified Williams as the assailant. Mrs. Rowland died almost immediately from several cuts and stab wounds. Her husband was found about three hours later beneath some burlap bags in his tobacco barn. McDuffie said Williams readily confessed killing Rowland and his wife and slaying the two men who responded to her screams. For three days homes had been locked and lights kept burning all night after police warned citizens to avoid dark areas. McDuffie said he followed bloodhounds to the edge of the swamp area. There he spied Williams, who gave up without a struggle. He said he knew Williams from a previous prison sentence and the Negro recognized him as he approached. A .22-caliber rifle was found near Rowland's home where Williams had lived and worked since his parole five years ago.

Death Of California Boy Proves Puzzle

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Cartre Sorensen, 11, was a happy boy, his mother says, when he was named first-string second baseman with the Bankers team in the Santa Monica Little League. He had been issued his grey and blue uniform and was to make his debut yesterday in the season opener. But he wasn't on second base when the game began. His body had been found the night before hanging from a rafter in the garage at his home. Police said he apparently took his own life with a chain, padlocked around his neck. But his coach and his family said the boy had been in exuberant spirits, and they were at a loss to explain why he might want to die.

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Police found a Negro woman unconscious on the floor of her home and rushed her to a hospital. Around her neck was a voodoo bag. It contained a burnt silver coin, ashes and a dead frog. Doctors said she had suffered a heart attack.

Japanese Women Ask H-Bomb Tests Be Halted By U. S.

TOKYO (AP)—The Osaka City Enfranchised Women's League, in an appeal to American women as "the most civilized people in the world," today asked an end to hydrogen bomb tests. The letter, written on the league's sixth anniversary, was delivered to U.S. Ambassador John M. Allison. The league claims to have 3,000 members. The letter said: "The amazing results of the recent hydrogen bomb tests at Bikini have shown that the United States is the possessor of the most powerful weapon in the world and also the most excellent scientific power... On account of recent hydrogen bomb tests made by your country our people have become the victims of an advanced science, and damages both mental and bodily, and feared by us are very heavy."

Massachusetts Town Claims Heavy Damage In Dam Burst

By JAMES CALOGERO PEABODY, Mass. (AP)—This industrial city of 23,000 counted a loss of millions today as it cleared debris and fought a health menace in the wake of a flash flood caused by a dam burst.

Mayor Philip C. O'Donnell said the flood waters which raced into the heart of the city last night caused what may result in the "heaviest property damage of any nonfatal disaster" in the city's 300-year history.

As digging out operations got under way, state and local health officials joined to combat the health problem.

The city's nine schools, with 8,500 children, were ordered closed for the day. All restaurants and food stores were earmarked for close inspections. Citywide water tests were scheduled. Police equipped with loud-speaking systems cruised the streets warning residents to boil all water used for drinking or cooking.

The health menace was increased, officials said, by the mixture of chemicals from leather tanneries and other industrial plants with the flood waters. Hundreds of gallons of gasoline also flowed freely as some service stations pumps toppled.

The water surged downhill into the central business area of Peabody Square after two one-ton granite blocks of a dam gave way at a pond called The Flume about a mile away.

"It looked like the Mississippi River flowing in," witnesses on rooftops said.

Water up to six feet deep flooded scores of buildings, including 75 factories, all the city's main stores, City Hall, police and fire headquarters and the historic 150-year-old South Congregational Church. Mayor O'Donnell said some 1,000 leather workers face an indefinite layoff because of damage to tanneries.

Police from several communities, auxiliary police, firefighters, civil defense personnel and some 150 Coast Guardsmen joined in rescue and evaluation operations.

Some 50 families were evacuated from their homes by police and Coast Guardsmen using an amphibious "duck" and smaller craft. The only casualty reported was an elderly woman who twisted her ankle but at least two other persons were rescued from drowning in the rushing waters. Some 40,000 sightseers clogged roads leading to the city, one of the world's largest leather-manufacturing centers. The city is

Brightest Pupil Says It's Easy

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Take it from the "brightest high school senior" in the country, it isn't at all difficult to be smart.

Pretty Gwynneth Muriel Gibson, who won the title yesterday, said cramming isn't necessary, nor is it very enjoyable.

All you gotta do to be smart, she says, is:

1. Pay attention in class.
2. Do all homework regularly.

The 18-year-old Miss Gibson, a student at Louisville's Du Pont Manual High School, was handed the "brightest" label by the National Education Assn. It brought her a $500 scholarship.

She competed with 8,911 of the highest ranking students in the nation.

The soft-voiced, straight-A student could offer no explanation for her "competence in verbal facility and reasoning ability" measured in the test she took to win the honor.

Studying all the time isn't the answer. She finds time for a part-time job as long-distance telephone operator and the vice presidency of three campus organizations.

A good clue, though, is that both of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Winston G. Gibson, were valedictorians of their high school graduating classes in Vermont.

Also indicating that brains run in the family is the fact that Miss Gibson's sister Eva, 17, a junior at Manual, is, like Gwynneth, a member of the National Honor Society. Miss Gibson hasn't picked out the college she wants to attend but she knows what she wants to do when she gets out of college. She wants to be a high school mathematics teacher.

about 15 miles northeast of Boston. In all, some two square miles were inundated, but only about half the area was covered with water measurable in feet.

The dam gave way under pressure of water accumulated during two weeks of an almost steady rain in New England. The total rainfall in Boston for the month is 10.53 inches, far surpassing the Weather Bureau record of 6.31 inches in 1901.

The water began to recede about six hours after the dam burst, flowing to adjoining Salem, into the North River and out to Salem harbor.

Man Staggered To Bring Crash Aid

NEWHALL, Calif. (AP)—Unable to talk because of a broken jaw, a deputy sheriff hitchhiked here and scribbled a note saying he and two others had been injured in a plane crash.

A rescue party found the others still unconscious in the cabin of the damaged craft. All three were reported in serious condition from fractures, face cuts and shock.

After the crash Saturday, Roger Hughes, 36, of Hollister, Calif., staggered through the brush and flagged a truck driver, who brought him here. He wrote a note telling about his companions, Clinton Dassel, 36, and Julian Medina, 27. The rescue party had to use hacksaws to free them from the plane.

Search For Jap Ship Ends; Seven Rescued

MANILA (AP)—U.S. naval headquarters at Sangley Point today called off the search for the missing 6,312-ton Japanese merchant ship Tatsuwa Maru.

Planes from the carriers Boxer and the Philippine Sea searched 5,000 square miles west of Manila starting Thursday night after the Tatsuwa radioed that four holds were flooded.

U. S. Air Force planes from Clark Field, rescued seven survivors. The ship carried a crew of 50.

World's First!

Phillips 66 presents the first All-Weather Motor Oil which has proved it meets the most exacting standard ever established for automobile lubrication...

Mil-0-2104, Supplement 1 level.

The toughest standard ever set up for automobile lubrication is the Mil-0-2104 Supplement 1 test. New TROP-ARTIC is the first all-weather motor oil to meet the requirements of this test. It is an oil which will serve you winter and summer... an oil so good it can double the life of an automobile engine!

Compared to ordinary motor oils, new TROP-ARTIC reduces ring wear 40% or more. It cuts oil consumption 15% to 45%. It keeps pistons and bearings cleaner... longer-lasting. It saves you money by increasing gasoline mileage. This has been demonstrated in tests representing more than 150,000 miles of driving.

TROP-ARTIC is truly an all-weather oil... S.A.E. 10W through S.A.E. 30. Therefore it flows instantly for easy starting at sub-zero temperatures, and yet it retains the film strength necessary to prevent engine wear under high temperature driving conditions. It isn't just heavy duty. It's double duty.

Any car, in any climate, at any time of the year will perform better with Phillips 66 TROP-ARTIC. It is a worthy companion product to Phillips 66 FLITE-FUEL, the new high performance gasoline recently introduced by Phillips. This year of all years it pays to have your car serviced at the station where you see the Phillips 66 Shield.

Brisk Business In City Court

Grover Cunningham Jr., who is acting city judge this week, found business booming when he walked into the courtroom this morning. Trials had been slated concerning charges of disturbance, affray, prostitution, traffic violations, drunkenness, and gambling.

Police arrested three Latin-American women in a Northwest Big Spring establishment about 9:30 p.m. Saturday on charges of prostitution. A man was arrested at the same place on charges of gambling.

Four To Face Felony Charges

Felony charges have been filed in Justice Court here against four persons.

Santos Mendosa, charged with assault with intent to murder, waived examining trial and has been released on $1,000 bail. He is accused of firing a gun at an automobile occupied by Jose Porras in Coahoma Saturday night.

Charges of burglary have been filed against James Monroe Matlock. Forgery charges were filed against Don Beene and Clarence O. Myers.

Matlock is in custody at Abilene, sheriff's officers said. He is to be brought to Big Spring Tuesday by Deputy Miller Harris who has gone to Corsicana for two other prisoners, Delbert F. Jones and Troy Joe Anderson, who are charged with auto theft.

Beene is being held in jail at Colorado City and will be brought to Big Spring today or Tuesday. Myers is in custody here.

Complain against Beene alleges he gave a forged check for $41 to Jack Bennett. Myers is charged with passing a $6.75 forged instrument to Annie Mae Payne.

Matlock is charged with the burglary of the Weber Root Beer Stand on East Highway 90 in Big Spring.

Marines Re-Open 2-Year Enlistments

The Marine Corps has re-opened its two year enlistments to both married and single men, according to T-Sgt. Wes Ward, in charge of Marine recruiting for this area.

Ward will be in Big Spring Tuesday afternoon at room 17, Post Office Building.

Ward said the two-year enlistment period is on a limited quota and that he could take only a limited number of men for two years of duty. However there is no limit on the number of single men that can enlist for three years.

All men that enlist in Big Spring are sent by bus to San Antonio. Upon passing the mental and physical tests they are flown to San Diego, Calif., for 19 weeks of basic training. Upon completion they are given a leave before being assigned to Marine aviation, sea duty or with a ground unit.

Sgt. Ward's office is open at the Post Office in San Angelo every day and in Big Spring each Tuesday afternoon.

Mexico Cuts Export Tax Rate On Shrimp

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico has cut the export tax on shrimp by almost 50 per cent, the Fishing Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday. Equipment For Rescue Work Is Assured Firemen

Emergency rescue equipment for the Big Spring Fire Department was assured this morning as county commissioners voted to share cost of the material with the city.

Fire Chief H. V. Crocker estimated $850 will be required to purchase a boat, outboard motor, trailer, life jackets and other accessories.

The commissioners court said the county will pay half the expense, up to $425.

Crocker requested the water rescue equipment last week, following the drowning of a man at the old T&P Lake. The fire chief said it more than an hour was spent in attempting to borrow equipment after the drowning was reported.

City commissioners approved purchase of the boat and equipment provided the county would agree to share the expense.

The fire chief said the equipment will be maintained at the main fire station and that it will be available for use in connection with rescue work anywhere in the area.

GOVERNOR

Orderly compliance with the high court's ruling will require the advice of the legislature "to point the steps we would have to take," Dr. Edgar said.

He said he would have to consult with the attorney general and that Texas' compliance with the ruling would necessarily come "under statutory leadership."

He noted that the Texas plan of separate educational facilities for whites and Negroes is controlled by constitutional provisions.

The Texas Council of Churches, with headquarters here, released a series of statements from churchmen commenting on the opinion.

The court's decision "offers to the churches of the nation a distinctive opportunity to give positive expression" to the Christian ideal of the "brotherhood of man," said Methodist Bishop William C. Martin of the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

"The Supreme Court has spoken and the American people will conduct themselves accordingly—and in keeping with the respect for justice, fair play and legal processes upon which the American government is founded," said Methodist Bishop A. Frank Smith of the Houston-San Antonio area. The Gimler-Alkin public school laws under which Texas operates provide specifically for separate facilities for whites and Negroes.

New Device Makes Pictures Sharper

By FRANK O'BRIEN WASHINGTON (AP)—Scientists at the National Bureau of Standards, the government's central laboratory, have come up with something millions of camera fans whose enthusiasm outruns their skill may come to love — a device for making good pictures out of bad ones.

But it may be so much in demand for a number of other things — ranging from identification of bombing targets to catching crooks and diagnosis of disease — that camera fans might not get any comfort from it for some time.

The bureau described the process in its technical news bulletin for May as "electro-optical image processing."

A scientist at the bureau described the process like this: "You take a photo of your latest family gathering (or of an enemy industrial site you want to bomb) that is dim and fuzzy. You take the negative and set up in the view of an electronic scanning tube, much like the picture tube of a home TV set. This tube examines the negative much more sensitively than is possible for the human eye. It discerns differences of light and shade that the eye cannot make out.

Thus, it sharpens up the picture, making lines and sharp light and shadow areas out of what the eye could see only as fuzzy, undefined areas.

It passes the sharpened image through an electric circuit to another electronic tube, where the picture shows up on the face of the tube, like a picture on your TV set.

Then you can take a new photo of the sharpened image as it appears on the face of the viewing tube, and, presto, you have made a good picture out of a bad one.

By a change in the circuit and scanning, the device will convert a photograph into a line drawing. Bureau scientists estimated that the experimental set they built has about $10,000 worth of equipment in it, and that it might be produced commercially for half to a third of that amount. So the prospects are that it would not be too expensive for camera shops to install and use to make all their patrons sharp photographers.

The idea was advanced to the bureau, its bulletin said, by Dr. L. S. G. Kovasznay of Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore, Md., and he helped in the two-year development. The Navy Air Force and Atomic Energy Commission sponsored the research.

Improvement Of Mail Boxes Urged In Special Drive

Rural Mail Box Improvement Week starts today and Postmaster Elmer Boatler urges the improvement of boxes and standards on all routes served by the Big Spring Post Office.

Protection of mail from the weather as well as making boxes more readily accessible to the carrier are objectives of the improvement campaign.

"Boxes not properly erected and not in good serviceable condition expose their contents to damage and retard delivery of the mail," the postmaster pointed out.

He urged that all box owners place their name and box number on the boxes. The postmaster also suggested that boxes and supports be kept painted and neat appearing.

Where several boxes are situated at one point, they should be grouped closely to facilitate mail delivery. Supports or standards should be about three and a half or four feet in height.

The posts or other supports should be kept in a vertical position and not leaning forward or backward, Boatler advised.

Nine Civil Cases Are Dismissed Today

Nine civil cases were dismissed in 11th District Court this morning as Judge Charlie Sullivan called the docket for a week of non-jury trials.

Several cases were continued and none were set as no attorneys announced ready for trial.

Charge Is Filed

Charges of unlawfully carrying arms have been filed in County Court against E. V. Hickey. He was arrested Saturday by police at a downtown hotel and was fined in City Court on a charge of disturbance.

RACE CASE

"We must consider public education in the light of its full development and its place in American life throughout the nation.

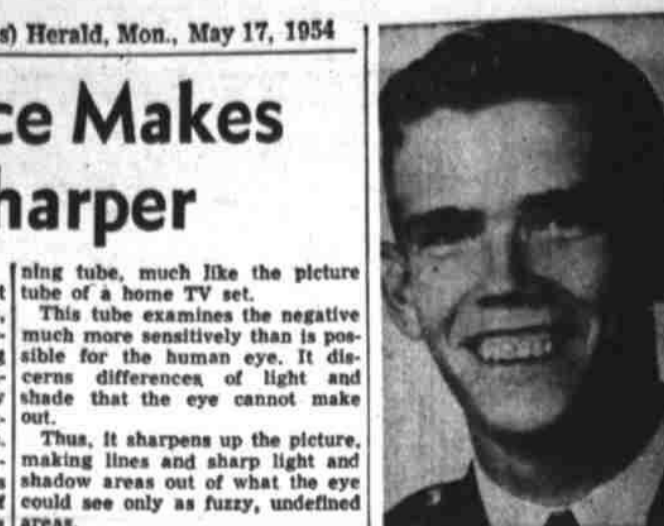

"Only in this way can it be determined if segregation in public schools deprives these plaintiffs (Negroes) of the equal protection of the laws.

"Today, education is perhaps the most important function of state and local governments. Compulsory school attendance laws and the great expenditures for education both demonstrate our recognition of the importance of education to our democratic society."

From Snuff To Planes-In Six Inches

By ANNE LEFEVER
Now, I have heard everything! The other day in the very early hours, there was a radio advertisement for snuff—named after one of the most fragrant of flowers. And with a singing commercial at that!

I read about a button recently that pushes itself to close windows when it rains—What I'd rather have is a button that will reset the same way to sand, and another one that would clean house after the sandstorm stopped.

Never thought I'd get to the point of mowing weeds! But I guess the old saying could be changed to "if you can't beat 'em, mow 'em down." We were just about neck and neck in their growing and me pulling them up, when the first rain came. That did it! Now, I'm being underhanded and mowing instead of pulling.

I have turned my floor furnace off and on four times this spring! I think I'll leave it on now until the Fourth of July and just let the air-conditioner run all the time. (Note to the gas and electric companies—I'm just teasing, so don't get too hopeful.)

No wonder the American people are suffering more and more from nervous tension! The other day on a radio giveaway program, the announcer had the audience ready three times to hear the contest tune, and each time, he interrupted to add some more on to the commercial.

When I am an old, old lady and B47s are as common as automobiles are now, it will be fun to tell how I climbed two ladders and spent part of a morning on top of the Herald Building, watching for a flight of them to come over.

Pakistan Police Jail 100 After Bloody Rioting

DACCA, East Pakistan (U)—Police have jailed about 100 persons—some of whom they called enemy agents and saboteurs—in the wake of bloody rioting Saturday among workers at the Adamjee jute mills in Narayanganj. Others were hunted today.

Possibly 300 persons were killed and 300 injured in the riot, reported to involve hostile factions of local Bengali workers and non-Bengali workers from West Pakistan. Usually reliable sources said Communist agitators had fanned minor disputes into violence.

Officials said university students posing as mill workers were among the jailed suspects. A large number of other suspects were reported to have gone underground.

Troops patrolled the mill area, south of Dacca. Newsmen last night saw some huts still burning. Although more than 200 bodies have been reported recovered, other floated in mill ponds or lay partly hidden in rice fields.

In Karachi, Justice Minister A. K. Brohi told Parliament the national government took a serious view of the rioting, but law and order was the responsibility of the East Pakistan provincial government. The dominant Moslem League lost control of the province in the March elections to a five-party united front including Communists.

Reports from the area said police had recovered 214 bodies, including those of women and children. A search still is going on along river banks and in ponds near the center of fighting.

The injured in hospitals numbered 263, it was reported. In Karachi, Prime Minister Mohammed Ali held an emergency Cabinet meeting last night and later sent State Defense Minister Sardar Amir Azam Khan to Dacca to confer with East Pakistani officials.

East Pakistan is isolated from the Western part of the country by over 1,000 miles of Indian territory.

A group of influential politicians in Karachi, including leading members of Parliament, demanded in a press statement that Ali's government take strong action against Reds in Pakistan.

Karachi's English language newspaper Dawn reported that Communists "have been pouring into East Pakistan without much difficulty" since the state's united front government came to power in March. The coalition, which defeated the Moslem League slate backed by the Karachi governments, has Communist backing.

Five Die In Illinois Auto-Train Crash

TRENTON, Ill. (U)—A car carrying six young people home from a dance smashed into a fast Baltimore and Ohio passenger train yesterday, killing five of the occupants and critically injuring the other.

Dead were Raymond L. King, 22; Marlin J. Goff, 19; Horace H. Hooks, 19; and Kenneth Ray Stewart, 18, all of Edwardsville, Ill., and Eleanor Clark, 16, St. Jacob, Ill.

The only other occupant of the car, Donna Reed, 18, Highland, Ill., was in a critical condition.

Sheriff Henry Klutho said witnesses in another car told him they had stopped for the railroad crossing as the train, bound from St. Louis to New York, approached.

They said the victims' car, traveling at high speed, swerved around their automobile and crashed into the path of the train.

Auto Seat, Bedspring Give Man Bad Burns

LOS ANGELES (U)—An automobile seat and a bedspring resulted in serious burns for Doc Jefferson Jr., 42.

Police said Jefferson discovered the back seat of his car smoldering, dragged it from the auto onto the front porch of his house and tossed a bucket of water on it. Then he went to bed.

Several hours later the blaze flared up and caught the house on fire. Jefferson awakened and discovered his mattress burning. As he tried to stamp out the flames, his foot caught in the bed-spring. Firemen found him unconscious.

Bargain Night Set Here This Evening

The year's first Bargain Night will be held at Steer Park tonight, when the resident Broncos tangle with the San Angelo Colts. Game time, the reader will note, is 8:15 p.m.

MENDOZA GETS WIN

Broncs Decision San Angelo, 5-2

For the first time in nearly two weeks, the Big Spring Broncos have put together two victories in a row and today the provincials are looking cautiously at fourth place in the Longhorn League standings.

The Steeds made it two straight Sunday by romping on the San Angelo Colts, 5-2, in an engagement played here.

Al Mendoza and Frank Maren combined to hurl the Big Springers to victory, with the former registering his second win of the campaign over the down-trodden Colts. He fired brilliantly in the eighth frame and Maren came on to shut the door in the face of the Colts.

Big Spring struck for two runs in the first inning and the other three in the fourth.

Successive hits by Gil Silva, Tony Martinez and Richard Bravo scored one run for the Cayuses in the "hello" frame, after which Bob Martin skied to left to plate Martinez.

In the fourth, Huck Doe opened for the Broncos with a single and scooted to third on a two-baser by Luis Caballero.

Mendoza helped his own cause with a run-scoring single. Another tally came home when Don Shoblom bobbled a throw at first base and Bravo sent a towering fly to left to plate Mendoza.

Mendoza hurled shutout ball until the seventh, when a walk to Curt Borrett, a single by Saldana and a double by Bob Gonzales produced a run. Mendoza got out of that jam by retiring John Tayoan on a ground ball.

In the eighth, however, the Colts threatened to break through. Boots Dworacyck got free transportation and went all the way to third on Mendoza's bad throw to first. Paul Ortosky walked and Hillis Layne scored Dworacyck with an infield out. When Mendoza passed Shoblom, Maren hurried to the rescue.

He forced Jim Morgan to hit into a force-out and Curt Borrett ended the inning by flying to center.

The Joliet, Ill., right-hander allowed no runners to reach first in the ninth.

Bertie Baez, recently in from Roswell, made an suspicious de-

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Present officers of the Big Spring Quarterback Club will continue in office another three months. Efforts have been made three times in the past six weeks to hold an election of officers for the new school term, which begins Sept. 1, but the necessary voting strength was never present at any of the called meetings.

Plans now are to stage the election on Aug. 11, at which time attention of the membership will be turning back to football.

The booster organization did fine work last football season, principally because it had, in Omar Jones and Mrs. Frank Martin, live-wire leaders who believed that anything worth doing is worth doing well.

If the club gets the same type of aggressive leadership next fall, it can but succeed.

Gunder Haegg is remembered as the Swedish runner who held the mile record until Roger Barnister happened along the other day and negotiated the eight furlongs in two seconds faster time.

Fewer still, perhaps, know that the positions at the end of the race might have been reversed, save for a freak and almost unbelievable misfortune.

Wedding from the blank cartridge fired by the starter got lodged in Arne's spikes and slowed him down, just a little, possibly just enough to let Haegg win.

Don Petschow, the former San Angeloan, didn't stick long with the Corpus Christi Clippers. He's now with Bryan.

No one can accuse the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce of not trying.

Officers in the service club wrote Fiem Hall, a spokesman for the State Golden Gloves body, suggesting that Big Spring be awarded the right to stage a tournament next winter.

Hall wrote back, turning down the application. He said he thought the talent was too thin here.

The raw material is here, for Hall's information. It would be the job of a wide-awake organization like the JayCees to bring it out. At least, they should be given the chance.

A number of colleges passed up the chance to enroll Mill Campbell, the New Jersey Negro youth who finished second to Bob Mathias in the 1952 Olympic decathlon.

GLORIA EZELL
Golf Tiflist

MIDLAND (SC) — Gloria Strom Ezell won her second women's golf title of the year when she defeated Sybil Flourney of Midland, two up, in the finals of the Midland Women's Golf Tournament here Sunday.

Now a resident of Midland, Gloria formerly lived in Big Spring. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Strom of Big Spring.

Gloria ended the match with a birdie on the 15th green. Mrs. Ezell led most of the way but Mrs. Flourney staged a rally on the second nine and they were all even on the 14th.

Mrs. Ezell took a par on the 16th to go one up again. She had to make a remarkable recovery on 17 to retain her lead. On that hole, both finalists took bogie five.

Gloria led by two up at nine. For the 18 holes, Mrs. Ezell carded a four-over-par 80. Mrs. Flourney registered an 82.

PALESTINE, Tex. — Leroy Roquemore, twice a runner-up, yesterday won the 15th Meadowbrook Golf Tournament, beating Bob Bell of Palestine 1 up in 13 holes.

Tigers Open League Play By Beating Odessa Twice

ODESSA, (SC) — The Big Spring Tigers made an impressive debut in Lone Star League play here Sunday, defeating the Odessa representatives in both ends of a double-header, 15-13, and 9-1.

Only the first game counted in circuit standings, however. Manager Ynez Ynez booked the second contest in order to give all his players a chance to see action.

The Bengals weathered some rough going in the last three innings of the first game to win. They scored nine runs in the first two stanzas of the initial contest.

Steve Gallages went all the way on the mound for Big Spring in the opener. He gave up only five hits but was wild.

Jack Rogers hurled the second game for Big Spring, yielding but one hit. That was a second inning single by Mito Munoz, who went on to score.

Don Larsen, young Baltimore right-hander, snapped a six-game New York Yankee winning streak with a three-hitter, 6-2, in the second game after Alvin Reynolds shut out Dave Kistler, 2-0, allowing only three hits in the first game.

Brooklyn edged within six points of the leading Phillies by dividing two with Cincinnati. Gil Hodges' homer with the bases loaded off Fern Welmeyer gave Preacher Roe his first victory, 4-2, but Bud Podbielan beat Rudy Meyer for a 7-3 Cincinnati edge in the second.

Johnny Antonelli faced his old Milwaukee mates for the first time since he was traded in the Bobby Thomson deal and whipped the Braves, 9-2, as the New York Giants bounced back from an opening-game 3-2 defeat in 10 innings. Joe Adcock drove home all Milwaukee runs in the opener, winning the game with a single following Ed Mathews' triple off reliever Marv Grissom in the 10th. Willie Mays knocked in four with a homer and double to back up Antonelli.

Poor old Ted Williams. With a steel pin in his left shoulder and sharp pain torturing his body every time he swings hard, the lanky Boston Red Sox slugger is hitting only .727 after one full day's work.

Wait till he gets his strength back. "I've had better days," he said yesterday. Williams after smacking eight hits in nine times at bat in a double-header at Detroit—a performance that may well be the big story of 1954. "It hurts like hell every time I swing."

Although he got in a ball game at Baltimore Saturday as a pinch hitter and finished out in left field, going hitless in two trips, this was his first real test.

It was a halmy Sunday afternoon at Briggs Stadium when Williams started for the first time this season, almost 11 weeks since he broke his collarbone on the first day of spring training at Sarasota, Fla.

Those who watched him clutch his shoulder in agony that March day in Florida wondered if he ever would play again. Those who saw him hit two homers, a double and five singles and drive in seven runs at Detroit wondered how he did it. Especially when he sat in the clubhouse after the game and told how the small steel pin bothered him.

Fans who always have been critical of Williams were quick to point out that the Red Sox still lost both games, 7-6 and 9-8, in 14 innings. But they really couldn't blame Ted this time for the Boston pitchers gave up 27 hits.

In other games, Cleveland seized the American League lead by 10 percentage points over Chicago by knocking off Philadelphia twice, 12-7 and 6-4, with Mike Garcia allowing only one hit in the second

Steve Gallages went all the way on the mound for Big Spring in the opener. He gave up only five hits but was wild.

Jack Rogers hurled the second game for Big Spring, yielding but one hit. That was a second inning single by Mito Munoz, who went on to score.

Point Of Law Is A Fine One, But It's A Point Of Law Nevertheless

The way of the transgressor is hard, but those charged with enforcement of the law don't occupy a bed of roses either. It seems that in Fort Worth some prosecutors, according to the Star-Telegram, have been bluffing their way through conviction of motorists accused of driving while their licenses are suspended. It worked all right until a couple of attorneys won the quashing of complaints against their clients on a technicality, to wit: the complaints failed to allege the clients ever were issued valid driving licenses. It goes back to a decision of the Court of Criminal Appeals, which held that in such cases it must be proved a license was issued, then suspended and that the motorist was driving while it was suspended. Only effective way of proving that a license had been issued would be to bring in a representative from the State Department of Public Safety, with the necessary records to substantiate the claim that a license had indeed been issued to the defendant at bar. The SDPS is not even about to take on a chore like that; it would use up a lot of manpower. One Fort Worth judge thinks he sees a possible short cut. He would permit court attaches to testify from memory in cases where licenses were first suspended and confiscated in his court. However, that would be subject to appellate court review, in light of that court's previous action. You would think, offhand, that man had to hold a valid license before it could be confiscated and suspended, and this would be prima facie proof that he indeed held a valid license in the first place, therefore could be prosecuted for driving while suspended. But that isn't the way the appellate court sees it at all—at least under the existing law. As Fort Worth prosecutors rather superfluously pointed out, if persons are to be convicted for driving while their license is suspended, the law will have to be loosened up to some extent.

Key Natural Resource Could Be Dedicated To Exclusion Of Texas

C. C. Small, formerly of Amarillo and a promoter of oil and gas conservation while in the Legislature, has viewed with alarm the rapidly accelerating pace at which natural gas is being siphoned out of Texas to other states. Mr. Small has told an AP writer that Texas cities may find themselves cut off from natural gas supplies while users in New York, California, and even Canada are still consuming Texas gas 12 years from now. This was a slight revision upward from an estimate he furnished a legislative committee during the recent special session, when he put the limit at ten years. This situation results from two things: The rapid increase of pipeline facilities for carrying Texas gas to the far corners of the nation; and the fact that the pipeline companies, to insure a steady production for their lines, "tie up" known reserves—that is, have them dedicated to export purposes only. As Mr. Small seems to see it, as more and more Texas fields for Texas' own use play out, the time will come when there will be no more Texas gas for Texas people, while the exporters continue to pump it into other states from their dedicated fields. Not only will Texas industry and domestic consumers suffer when that time comes. The thousands of people employed in producing and distributing gas to Texas consumers will be fresh out of jobs. There is even a more immediate threat than this—the probability that the Federal Power Commission will move in and take charge of gas prices in Texas and other producing states to protect consumers in non-producing states. By failing to deal with this, the Texas Legislature has left the door wide open to federal invasion and control.

Washington Calling—Marquis Childs Once Again Reds Come Forward With All, Or Nothing, Demand

GENEVA — The Communists have once more put forward an all-or-nothing demand. The proposals by the Viet Minh delegation for ending the Indochinese War would leave the independent governments of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia almost wholly at the mercy of the Communist forces, both the regular battalions and the infiltrators, so widely dispersed through most of Viet Nam. The pattern is identical with the Molotov security pact for Western Europe and the North Korean proposals for "unification" of Korea. All "foreign troops" are to withdraw, meaning, of course, French troops. Red China, next door to Indochina, would backstop the Communist take-over. Once French forces had been evacuated, in the same way Russia, on the doorstep of Western Europe, would, under the Molotov security pact put forward at Berlin, facilitate the march of communism after American troops had been withdrawn. It is hard to believe that the Communists intend these proposals to be taken seriously even in an opening, or bargaining, phase. As propaganda they will have a special appeal in many parts of the world, including perhaps even in France where there is a deep weariness with the eight-year-old war and an upsurge of emotionalism stirred by the fall of Dien Bien Phu. France must find a scapegoat, and little Bidault, who has put forward proposals for firm armistice zones, may be the victim along with other members of the Laniel cabinet responsible for the conduct of the war. The French must quickly find help in order to maintain the precarious hold they still have. General Navarre in Indochina has now said publicly what French cabinet ministers had begun to say privately a month ago—that the war must be internationalized since it is evident that the peace could not be internationalized. This seems to pass the decision at least momentarily back to America and specifically to the highest level in Washington. Little hope remained here that a peace

"Nope—We're Putting On McCarthy And Cohn Instead"

The World Today — James Marlow

Chief Question In McCarthy-Army Row Is Whether Eisenhower Had Hands In

WASHINGTON (AP)—The No. 1 question now in the Senate hearing on the McCarthy-Army row is whether President Eisenhower had a direct part in calling Sen. McCarthy's hand. It's a question the administration may never permit to be answered, on the ground that a Senate committee has no right prying into what goes on in the inner councils of the White House. It was Army Counsel John G. Adams who last week opened a brand new trail which leads right into the White House and stops just short of Eisenhower's door. Adams didn't pursue it across the threshold. If it was Eisenhower who pulled the trigger, it would explain a couple of things about Secretary of the Army Stevens, who took on McCarthy in a public showdown: 1. Through all the questioning and needling by McCarthy at the hearings, Stevens remained mild. That may be his natural state. But he hardly acted like a man who thought his public career might be decided by the outcome of the hearings. If he knew Eisenhower was behind him, he had nothing to fear. 2. Some of the Republicans, led by Sen. Dirksen of Illinois and with the agreement of McCarthy, sought to bring a quick end to the public view of the hearings which can't hurt the Republican party. But Stevens said they should go on to the bitter end. Stevens, a Republican himself, must have been under pressure to go along with Dirksen. But if the White House wanted this to be a real showdown with McCarthy, he could calmly insist on going on. Counsel John Adams said that when McCarthy pushed the Army he sat down and talked it over last January with three men who are among Eisenhower's closest advisers and who, perhaps more than any others, steered him in the 1952 campaign. These were Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's assistant and his right hand in the White House; Atty. Gen. Brownell; and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., American ambassador to the United Nations. John Adams said he told them two things: 1. McCarthy, in his search for Communists in the Army, said he wanted members of the Army's loyalty review board to answer questions. John Adams said he was advised at this meeting to refuse to let McCarthy quiz the board members. 2. That McCarthy and his staff had pressured the Army for special favors for Pvt. G. David Schine, and that McCarthy's chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn, threatened vengeance on the Army if Schine didn't get preference. John Adams said Sherman Adams told him to write down the times and places. It was such a chronology, later made public, which was the basis of Army charges against McCarthy and Cohn which, when McCarthy denied them and cried blackmail, Eisenhower's three advisers that brought on the Senate investigation. Eisenhower and McCarthy have

Old Family Doctor One Of U. S. Vanishing Types

NEW YORK (AP)—When a friend of ours takes her children to her small home town in Pennsylvania for a vacation, one of the biggest treats she can give them is a visit to one of America's vanishing types—the old family doctor. This man is like the doctor everyone born early enough in the century remembers: The doctor who bounced you on his lap, found frogs in your aching stomach, knew not only your first and last names, but your nickname, too. His name is Albert L. Grounds. At 70 he is starting his 40th year in Roaring Spring, 15 miles south of Altoona. In that time he has delivered "somewhere between three and four thousand" babies—more than enough to repopulate the entire town of 2,800 people. "When I gave out diplomas to a high school class 15 years ago," he called, "I found I had brought 26 of the 30 graduates into the world." The whole town knows and loves Dr. Grounds. His graying red hair and twinkling eyes are familiar everywhere. He sees 50 to 60 patients every day except Sunday, still does up to 32 major operations a month in a practice that ranges, as does any country doctor's, from measles to madness. "But he still finds time to serve on the school board and as an official in the local bank. He has missed only two meetings of the Rotary Club in 25 years. Both times he went hunting. Dr. Grounds spent his first year in practice as a young railroad city in Umbria today, soaked their largely by illiterate immigrants. He delivered 150 babies. During one such case the husband, slightly the worse for liquor, stood over him with a shotgun shouting, "you government aid to the blind. They can kill baby, but if you kill wife, I shoot you!" During four years in another May 8.

Blind Will Continue Their March On Rome

ORVIETO, Italy, (AP)—A ragged column of blind people shuffled down the road from this hilltop city in Umbria today, soaked their 250-mile march to Rome. The 70 men and women, led on their sightless way by sympathizers, are campaigning for more government aid to the blind. They are called the "march of misery," as they call it, from Florence

Millions Of Pamphlets Printed In U. S. Government's Own Shop

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note. When he was off and running in the presidential derby a couple of years ago, Dwight D. Eisenhower — in a speaking engagement at Waco—made political hay of the fact that the government went to great trouble and no little expense in a prepared pamphlet to explain the art of dish-washing. The booklet is but a mere drop in a Niagara of printing matter erupting from the 200 presses of the Government Printing Office regularly. In 1952, it cost the taxpayers of the nation something like $98 million to produce thousands upon thousands of the pamphlets, which cover everything from methods for preparing smoked eel canapes to an expose of centipedes and millipedes, from the control of chiggers to preventing mildew, from recognizing poison ivy to picking a goose. Some of the booklets are distributed free to the people but nominal charges are made for others. If you're interested in the domestic manufacture of ice cream and sherbet, you might write the Department of Agriculture for such information. If you're concerned about the well-being of sparrows, then the pamphlet "Home for Birds"—published by the GPO—is the thing for you. Some of the information rolling off the busy presses of the Government Printing Office is considered useless but most of it finds a market. The USDA has had published an article entitled "Stain Removal from Fabrics" which might not be of use to anyone save those who don't always hit their mouths with what they're eating—and no one bats 1,000 in that league. What's the "best seller" on the GPO's list? It's entitled "Infant Care," and it leads by several lengths. Since it was first printed in 1914, more than 28,000,000 copies have gone out to the public. The GPO is staffed by 500 persons, most of whom have college degrees of some kind. —TOMMY HART

These Days—George Sokolsky

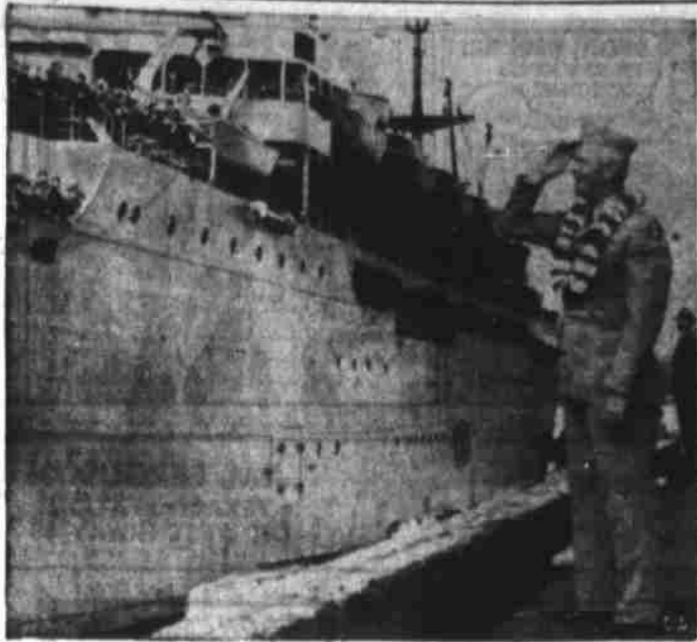

Present Lack Of Balance In Our Government Cause Of Confusion

Few Americans actually know how their government operates, what makes the wheels go round, the deals, the make-shifts, the doublecrosses, the play on small matters. Most Americans cannot believe that the great of the world are ever like themselves. It is like a Russian story about the peasant and czar. The peasant was walking in the woods when he came upon a man who was performing a simple natural act. The peasant gazed upon the figure, who was a stranger in those parts, and he recognized the little father, the Czar of all the Russias. Shocked that so great a being would be reduced to so natural an act, he crossed himself in astonishment and running through the woods, he shouted: "There is no God! There is no Czar!" until the neighbors seized the hysterical creature and bound him. From this standpoint, the television view of the McCarthy-Stevens hearing is of great value. What is self-evident is that while everybody is telling a part of the truth, each person's memory is extraordinarily selective. Also it is clear that when persons sit under the television camera, unwittingly they become actors who attitudinize and try to modulate their voices and to pose as characters in a play. The same men in their own offices are very different, even kindly and friendly. Senator Potter is so right when he referred to a competition with Milton Berle, which, of course, these men cannot do because Uncle Miltie knows his business. The advantage to the people is that, for the first time, they actually see these men in action and no matter how wonderful each one thinks he is, the screen shows tired, weary, bored men. Ours is a government of compromises. When one branch of government exerts too great a power over the other, the balance of authority is upset and a quarrel ensues. The trend toward executive government naturally raises the hackles of Congress; when the Congress or any of its committees invades the authorities of the executive, the pressure is resisted. If political leadership is wise and experienced, the balance of power is maintained, each branch of government remaining within its proper margins. That balance does not exist at the present time, and therefore there is confusion. For instance, Messrs. Stevens and Adams objected to the extent of interference in their domain of Senator McCarthy and his staff. The reported intervention of Sherman Adams, the Presidential Chief-of-Staff, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., our rep-William Rogers, Deputy Attorney General, is surprising. It is unusual for such officials to engage in this type of operation and to my certain knowledge their intervention was unknown to Senator McCarthy prior to Mr. Adams' testimony before the Committee last Wednesday. If it is true that the President refused to intervene in this situation one way or another, he was more correct in his conduct than his appointees because under our system, each House of Congress should manage its own affairs and is not subject to any control by the executive branch of government. On the other hand, Congress has the right to investigate any agency of government, if for no other reason than that it must have adequate data as to the needs and conduct of the agency in order to appropriate funds. The present hearing discloses to the public this interrelationship among the branches of government, each jealous of its own domain. It also displays the activities of the staffs of each branch to find or to fail to find an adequate basis for cooperative activity. If all the extraneous matter, the lunches, dinners, telephone calls, ice cream and the eternal walla-walla, is cut away, the Army civilians and the staff of the McCarthy Committee functioned about as well as could be in the circumstances of one being investigated and the other an investigator up to February 24. On that date, a special issue of authority arose and they quarreled. Had no demand for the Loyalty Board's presence before the Committee been made in order to determine who passed favorably on Communists, the likelihood is that the kind of cooperation that existed prior to that date would have been continued, with occasional flare-ups of temper and considerable good humor. But then there would have been no television show.

Fish-Bowl Space Helmet Is Now Old Stuff To The Real Experts

SAN ANTONIO — When I am home again, I am going to sell my space suit and fish-bowl helmet. A considerable number of young Americans in the U. S. Air Force is already flying through space with the greatest of ease, and they need such helmets like a hole in the head. And by the time commercial aviation is flying us civilians through space in another decade or so, we probably shall be flying in sealed cabins in which an artificially created atmosphere equivalent to sea level prevails. In which case, the regulation Mother Hubbard will suffice. I gathered all this information and much more conversation with one of the most fascinating men I have ever met, Dr. Hubertus Strughold, who heads the Department of Space Medicine of the School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Field Air Force Base. Dr. Strughold, a German scientist, was brought here by the Air Force seven years ago to create the department of space medicine, in which he was already an authority. It is the only school of his kind in the United States and one of the few in the world. The doctor is certain the Russians have one, preparing even as we, for the age of space flight. The doctor, one of the few men who really knows how high is up, says this space age is already upon us. What few of us adults realize, this expert points out, is that anyone who flies at 50,000 feet or better is flying in the equivalent of space, although true space to the purist in such matters is some 300 to 500 miles above the earth's surface. "When a man is flying at 50,000 feet or above," the doctor said, "he might just as well be on the moon, as far as the physical process of breathing is concerned. At that height what oxygen there is in the air cannot enter the lungs." At 63,000 a man would really stay in his own juices, Dr. Strughold continued. The barometric pressure is so low that all body fluids boil. For this reason, at-

Former Dillinger Gang Member Is Shot In Ambush

BEDFORD, Ind. (U) — Clyde Alfred Steinberger, who state police said was a member of the notorious Dillinger gang, was shot to death Sunday trying to escape a police ambush in a Leesville, Ind., general store.

The 36-year-old Steinberger, whose 30-year police record was studded with safecrackings, burglaries and armed robberies, was fatally torn by a shotgun blast in the darkened store 14 miles east of here.

State police were uncertain on Steinberger's exact connection with the Dillinger gang, but Capt. John Barton said, "I brought Steinle back from Chicago in 1935 when he was wanted for armed robbery at Richmond, Ind. At that time the papers all said he was the last member of the John Dillinger gang captured."

Dillinger was the leader of a gang of desperadoes which staged a series of bank robberies, holdups and killings through the Midwest in the late 1930s and early 1930s. FBI agents shot him to death in July 1934 as he emerged from a Chicago movie theater.

State police had lain in wait inside the store for nearly a week after Wayne Armstrong, the owner, had reported becoming suspicious of two men who came in to buy a flashlight. He identified Steinberger from state police pictures.

The second man, identified as Loyis Reece Smith, 47, Indianapolis, was knocked unconscious after falling against a store counter when police opened fire.

The state police said the two had broken in a front door. When ordered to surrender, officers reported, both tried to escape. Police took Smith to Bedford for questioning.

Brownell Daughter Injures Shoulder

PHOENIX, Ariz. (U) — Ann Brownell, daughter of U.S. Atty. Gen. and Mrs. Herbert Brownell Jr., suffered a dislocated shoulder yesterday when a calf with a rope around its neck tripped her and threw her to the ground.

She was brought to a hospital here for emergency treatment and rest.

Miss Brownell, 15, is a student at the Quarter Circle V Bar Ranch, a co-educational prep school near Mayer, about 73 miles north of here.

She was watching other students try their skill at calf roping when the animal ran too close to her.

Her parents were notified in Washington, D.C., that her condition was satisfactory and that she probably would be allowed to return to the school later today.

Candidate To Really Need New Platform

COLUMBIA, S.C. (U) — If State Rep. George Davis tells voters he's got a new re-election platform, they can be sure it's true. The legislator's campaigning platform — not the political one — was flattened by a truck that went out of control and turned over on top of Davis' campaign platform car.

The car was a trademark of the attorney. Plastered with campaign signs, it bore a water barrel filled with ice water and mounted on the rear bumper.

Davis hasn't said what his new platform will be, but the last one was 20 years old.

get the impression he might be somewhat more interested in retiring there than he is in a second White House term.

It's nothing more than an impression and you could be dead wrong.

The President himself never has given any public inkling as to whether he will seek re-election in 1956. Several of his close associates say they don't know, and they speculate that he probably hasn't made up his mind.

They say the world situation and the political circumstances at the time undoubtedly will influence his decision. That and the fact he would be just a couple months short of 70 years old at the end of a second term.

But when you see him these days at his 128-acre farm on the historic Civil War battlefield at Gettysburg, Pa., you can't help but feel that is where he would like to be to stay, just as soon as possible.

The spacious new home the President and Mrs. Eisenhower are having built there has a lot to do with the impression you get.

They visited it over the weekend and spent more than an hour proudly showing it off to the President's youngest brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, and his wife.

The place in the rolling Pennsylvania hills will be ready for occupancy by fall. It will be the first home of their own they have had since their marriage nearly 40 years ago.

"Let's go look at my joint," said the President enthusiastically as he led his brother into the now roughed-out room which eventually will be his den and office.

And Mrs. Eisenhower remarked with a laugh to her sister-in-law as they wandered through the six bedrooms on the second floor: "Did you ever know a woman who had enough space?"

Building a new home and furnishing it excites any man and his wife.

But in this case you seem to detect some unusual eagerness after a life crisscrossed as full of tremendous responsibility and strain as Eisenhower's has been for more than the last decade.

Whenever he visits the farm there is a lively glint in his eye and he talks about such things as the sturdy oak beams salvaged from the original 170-year-old structure for the ceiling of his den.

And about the cross breeding of cattle he is planning when he acquires a herd of his own.

There is plenty of room to smack a golf ball across the fields. There is a place, too, for another of the President's favorite hobbies — fishing. A private pond has been built across the road from the house.

And another thing: there will be a studio on the attic third floor of the new home. Nothing has been said officially about that as a place for the President to haul out his oil paints and easel, but there is speculation that is what he has in mind.

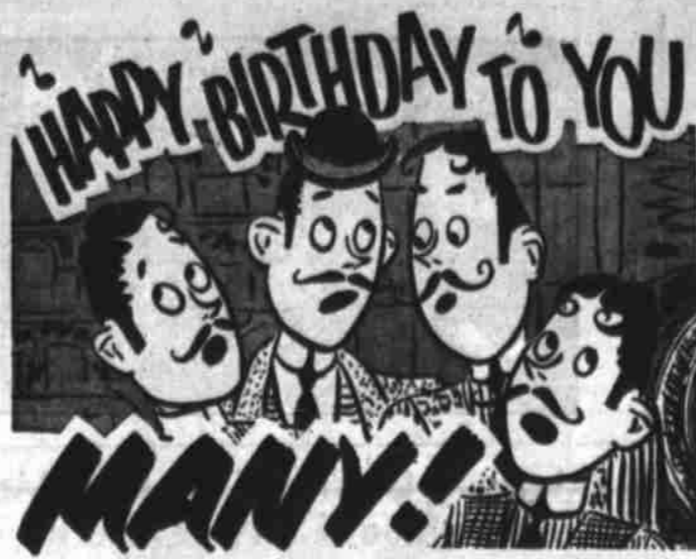

Yes, the impression you get watching the President at the farm could be dead wrong so far as a second term is concerned.

Trade Shown Up With Red China

WASHINGTON (U) — Federal statistics show that trade between the free world and Red China increased during 1953 while commerce with the Communist bloc as a whole declined.

Harold E. Stassen, director of the Foreign Operations Administration reported to Congress last night that the value of commerce exchanged between the West and Communist China increased from $34 million dollars in 1952 to 705 million last year.

He said trade with the Soviet bloc in Europe dropped from about $2,400,000,000 to about $2,200,000,000.

Leader Of Philippine Huks Gives Himself Up; Rebellion May End

By DON HUTH
MANILA (AP)—The surrender of Luis Taruc, colorful leader of the Communist-directed Huk rebels, was hailed today as a major step in President Ramon Magsaysay's campaign against the Huks.

Army combat teams surged through the jungles of southern Luzon seeking the remnants of Taruc's elite guard while Carlos P. Romulo, a top presidential aide, hailed the surrender as the end of the rebellion.

Chief target now is Jesus Lava, whom the army considers the top Communist in the Philippines. Taruc, 40, who repeatedly has slipped through army traps in the past six years, surrendered to a Manila Times reporter, Benico Aquino, who carried a letter from Magsaysay. The meeting on a dusty road north of here climaxed months of negotiations.

Terms of the surrender were not disclosed.

"Taruc had no alternative but to surrender," Magsaysay commented. "He was cornered by the armed forces."

Unless granted amnesty, Taruc faces trial on charges ranging from murder to sedition. The surrender was a major step in Magsaysay's efforts to bring about a peaceful settlement of the Huk uprising. Although a bitter foe of the rebels as a field commander, as defense chief and as president, Magsaysay long has advocated resettling the rebels on newly developed land.

At Kansas City, Romulo, Magsaysay's personal envoy, said: "There now will be peace and order throughout the Philippines."

Luis Taruc is the man who had the following. With his surrender, the rebellion is ended.

Taruc was taken to army headquarters at Camp Murray on the outskirts of Manila. He was photographed and given a physical examination. A doctor described him as "healthier than the average man."

Taruc later was taken to the residence of Maj. Gen. Jesus Vargas, army chief of staff, and introduced to Mrs. Vargas. Said Taruc: "I am here because of your children and my children. I want them to spend the future in peace. It is doubtful if we could have peace in a hundred years if I did not give up."

Taruc, known as the Swamp Fox, surrendered to Aquino on the busy Quezon highway which skirts the Candaba swamps—a rebel lair. The morning sun outlined the figure of the long-sought rebel, standing alone at the roadside.

"I pulled off the road and he met me with a big smile," Aquino said. "I said, 'Luis Taruc, do you unconditionally accept President Magsaysay's terms?'"

"I accept," Taruc answered, and his grip on my hand tightened. But a staccato burst from an army machine gun in a clump of bushes 500 feet away brought weeping villagers swarming from their nearby huts. They hid Taruc until the firing stopped.

Aquino said the Huk leader soon reappeared and the pair raced in the newsmen's car to waiting security guards farther down the road. They then drove to Camp Murray.

Aquino quoted Taruc as saying he and Lava had a "falling out."

The reporter said he carefully avoided the word "surrender" while he was a go-between for Magsaysay. Aquino said Taruc had agreed to accept the authority of the government.

Graduation Day No Time Of Joy In Soviet Union

NEW YORK (AP)—Graduation day approaches in Russia as in America, but in the Soviet Union this occasion is often one of weeping.

In Moscow, mothers and fathers of university graduates hope to prevent their sons and daughters from being sent to Siberia.

Each year as they complete their courses and become specialists thousands of young men and women get put on trains to take up work—maybe forever—in the less habitable regions of the nation. Their parents don't know when they'll see them again.

A recent issue of Pravda throws light on the attempts Soviet parents make to keep their offspring from this involuntary exile.

Pravda told about a letter sent by a scientific research worker in the Moscow planetarium to a highly placed friend in the Moscow prosecuting attorney's office. The scientist, Konstantin Shistovskiy, asked Peter Petrov, his friend, to try to fix it up so that Shistovskiy's daughter Marina, about to finish the course at the Moscow Juridical Institute, could get work permitting her to stay in Moscow.

In this particular case, Pravda reported, the person asked refused the assistance.

But, ten graduates last year, the paper said, had succeeded in staying in Moscow against the rules.

The government considers that graduates who have benefited during their education from state scholarships (this means the overwhelming majority of students in higher educational institutions) lack the right to decide themselves where they will work. This is a matter solely for the state to decide.

Lane To Quit GOP Position

DALLAS (AP)—Alvin Lane is quitting as state Republican chairman because his law partner is running for Congress as a Democrat.

Lane says he wants it clear he is not mixed up in any "undercover" deals.

Lane announced yesterday he would resign June 14 at a meeting of the GOP state executive committee.

At the same time, Lane came out politically against his law partner, Wallace Savage, and said he is stepping out because he doesn't want anyone to think there is an undercover deal in the Dallas County congressional race.

Savage, former state Democratic chairman, is seeking the Democratic nomination for Congressman to succeed J. Frank Wilson, who is giving up his seat. Savage resigned as state Democratic head to make the race.

Lane's statement came after he conferred with Republican national committeeman Jack Porter of Houston, who flew here to talk with Lane.

Turtle Brings End To Boy's Collection

BALTIMORE (AP)—A small land turtle bit 13-year-old Frank W. Anders on the nose yesterday and wouldn't let go.

The turtle, one of 14 collected by Frank and his friends, finally surrendered when Frank's mother stuck a fork into a leg-hole in the turtle's shell.

Frank's mother, Mrs. Yvonne Ford, said last night the boys "no longer own 14 turtles."

Experts taking and testing samples of soil.

Years ago I read the statement that soil would fail to produce crops without the work of earthworms, or angleworms. That statement is too broad. However much clay soil may need earthworms, the case is different for sandy soil. Many stretches of sandy soil produce crops with little, or no, help from these worms.

From personal observations, I can state that various sandy sections in southeastern parts of Florida produce good crops despite the fact that few earthworms exist in the soil. A gardener in such a section may fail to see an earthworm for months, or even years. When heavy rain falls on sandy soil, the water seeps down in a hurry. In an area with clay soil,

DATE DATA

Right Approach For A Last-Minute Call

By BEVERLY BRANDOW

Are "last minute" dates ever wise? Sue Jenkins has been dreaming of attending the prom for a full two months. Tomorrow night it takes place, but still no boy has asked to take her. A week ago, she gave up trying to get the boy next door to fill in and stopped heckling cousin Harold about the matter.

Now, just twenty-four hours prior to the big event, Darrell Wilson calls. "If you don't have a date for the prom, will you go with me?" he asks.

Those are beautiful, beautiful words. What a tragedy they came so late. What answer would you give in Sue's place?

Poor Sue is torn between her desire to attend the prom and have fun with all her friends, and the fear that if she does she will go down in Darrell's eyes and gain a reputation for being the "bottom of the barrel" kind of date who can be dated up at zero hour.

Weighing the situation swiftly, Sue, in a desperate effort to find a way to "have her cake and eat it too" does what most girls would do. She lights upon what seems like a solution, and goes!

So overwhelmed is she by the sudden turn of events that she asks, "Are you sure you really want to take me?" This attitude only serves to convince the boy that she must be an honest to good-the same rain would produce a great deal of mud.

The earth has three main kinds of soil. These are clay, sand and loam. Some places have pure sand or poor clay, but usually the soil is mixed. Sandy soil has some clay in it, and clay soil has some sand.

Loam is excellent soil. It contains an even mixture of clay and sand, along with silt.

Soil comes from rock which has been broken up by water, wind and changes of temperature. In addition it is enriched by plants and animals.

When wild plants die, they fall to the ground and waste away. They are broken up by various forms of life, including moles. Most of the material in dead plants will find its way into the soil, in due course.

Earthworms "eat dirt," or at least swallow it. From the soil they take what they can digest. Winding through the ground, they crawl to the surface from time to time. Besides spreading the soil, the worms make holes, and this is of special importance in dense soil. The holes promote the passage of air to roots of plants.

Sandy soil has less need of earthworms. Both air and water pass

Ambassador Allen Urges Aid To India

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ambassador George V. Allen last night urged Congress to appropriate 194½ million dollars to help India in what he portrayed as a contest with Red China for the admiration of other Asiatic nations.

In a radio speech, Allen said the future of Asia may depend on whether India or Communist China can provide its people with the greatest benefits in the shortest time.
