Recurring rains have stimulated speculation on farming prospects in this area and some rumors about a shortage of cottonseed have circulated.

Bentley Baize of Von Roeder Seed Farms, said there is a shortage of some long staple varieties that are grown in some areas, but there is an ample supply of seed in this area. Some farmers already are replanting acreage that washed out.

Word that enough cottoneed is available for a few more plantings is welcome news, but of course every replanting adds to the expense of the crop.

Some of Snyder's "old-time" Kiwanis Club members had quite a session Wedneday recalling some of the ups and downs of the local service club in its infancy. When the Kiwanis Club was organized here in 1949, the times were rather hectic. But within a year the new club was on firm footing.

The Kiwanis Club passed along to a community-wide organization one of its biggest projects in history in 1959 when the local Goodfellows organized. Probably a lot of local people do not know, or perhaps they have forgotten, that the Kiwanis Club carried on what is now the Goodfellows program for nearly a whole decade on its own. In those days, the club had frequent fund-raising projects to help finance its work to provide food, clothing, etc., for needy families at Christmas time.

Some of those charter members, as well as others who joined the club early in its life, are still around and they are still active.

In the early days, however, there usually was a big turnover in membership each year. Ford Kenner, a former president of the club, said that for the first few years it was not unusual for several "new" members to be transferred elsewhere within six months after they joined.

But those who attended the reunion luncheon Wednesday could recall many pleasant happenings during the "oil boom days." — WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

Today is Thursday, May 30, the 151st day of 1968. There are 215 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1431, Joan of Arc was burned at the stake in Rouen, France.

On this date— In 1492, Christopher Columbus sailed from Spain on his third voyage to the New World.

In 1539, the Spanish explorer, Hernando De Soto, landed in Florida.

In 1868 - 100 years ago - the first formal observance of Memorial Day took place.

In 1883, a report that the six-day-old Brooklyn Bridge was about to collapse caused panic. Six persons on the bridge were trampled to death.

In 1942, during World War II, more than 1,100 British bombers attacked Cologne, Germany.

In 1961, the Dominican dictator, Rafael Trujillo, was assassinated.

Ten years ago — Two unknown American servicemen - one from World War II and one from the Korean war - were taken to their final resting place in Arlington National Cemetery.

Five years ago — The death toll was officially estimated at 10,000 in a windstorm which hit East Pakistan.

One year ago — The government of Nigeria mobilized its army after the military leader of the nation's eastern region declared an independent new state, Biafra.

LONE MYSTERY MESSAGE

Hope Flares Briefly For Missing Scorpion

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Hope that flared with word Wednesday night of a radio message seemingly from the missing submarine Scorpion flickered with the dawn today when no repeat transmissions had been picked up.

Navy spokesmen said investigation results were reported negative about 12 hours after six destroyers were sent into the Atlantic to hunt the source of the message heard by a Navy patrol plane and six ships about 8:28 p.m. EDT Wednesday.

Navy officers acknowledged the possibility the lone message which identfied the sender with the secret code name for the Scorpion, might have been a hoax.

But a spokesman for the Atlantic Submarine Force said, "We still maintain the possibility that Scorpion will be found." That statement echoed words of Cmdr. T. L. Ingraham, force public affairs officer, who told a news conference earlier today: "The Navy still maintains hope."

The submarine and its 99 crewmen, missing since Monday, is the object of the greatest air-sea search ever mounted by the Navy—10,000 men, 55 ships and 30 planes.

The radio message was picked up when the patrol plane receiving it was 110 miles east of Norfolk. Search units were concentrated in an area stretching from 110 miles to more than 300 miles east of Norfolk. But no further radio transmissions were reported.

The sole message said: "Any station this network. This is (and then gave the code name for the Scorpion.)"

The Navy said the code name has been repeated numerous times in communications among the search force ships and planes.

Ingraham said the Navy did not definitely believe the message came from the Scorpion. He added it could have come from a shore radio.

The Pentagon previously cautioned against overoptimism that a dramatic development had occurred. Like Ingraham, the Pentagon said the message could have been a hoax.

One of the Navy craft picking up the message took a bearing of 75 degrees on the signal. But because no other ship could get a second bearing, there was no fix—or point of transmission — available.

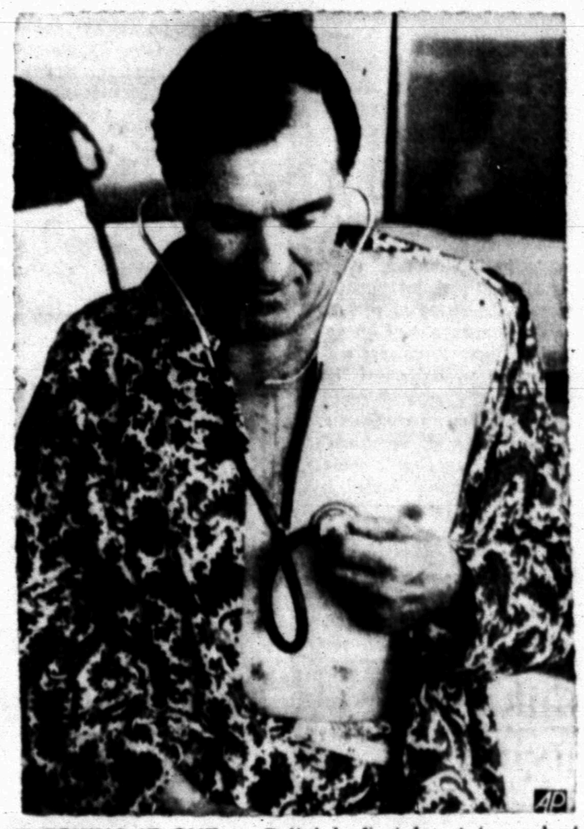

Ingraham said, "It is extremely doubtful that a transmission of this type could be originated by a sumarine that may be submerged or bottomed in that vicinity"—the general area where the signal was heard.

He said the Scorpion "certainly would know a search was in progress for her" and "she would be on the surface" transmitting.

Ingraham reported the ocean in the general area where the signal was heard is 12,000 feet deep. This is well beyond the continental shelf, which extends some 70 to 80 miles seaward.

However, officials have said the actual point of origin of the signal could have been a great distance from where the search craft were when they heard it.

The Navy has said it would be optimistic about rescuing the Scorpion's crew if the sub were found on the continental shelf, where depths reach about 650 feet.

DeGaulle To Step Down?

PARIS (AP — President Charles de Gaulle returned to the Elysee Palace today for a Cabinet meeting that may decide his own political future and that of the government in the midst of France's strangling wave of strikes and social upheaval.

De Gaulle presides over a meeting of the Council of Ministers this afternoon. A decision is expected to be taken at that time on whether the president should resign or stay at his post.

It is also expected that Premier Georges Pompidou and his ministers will resign since they no longer can command a majority in the National Assembly.

The president returned to the Elysee Palace after a hurried and unexpected flying trip to his country home at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises in eastern France. He left abruptly Wednesday shortly after a scheduled Cabinet meeting had been cancelled without notice.

The council is expected to approve the broad lines of a speech Premier Georges Pompidou is to make to the National Assembly later in the day during a debate on the crisis.

Political circles carried reports that De Gaulle would speak to the nation, or issue a statement. The big question was: Would he step down from the presidency, ending his 10 years of steering the Fifth Republic?

One unanswered question about De Gaulle's hurried helicopter flight to his summer home was why it took five hours instead of the usual one hour.

Speculation was rife that the general stopped off to confer with someone. One unconfirmed report had him flying to Mulhouse near the Swiss border for an unknown reason.

Doubts have been growing as to whether the national referendum De Gaulle has set for June 16 could take place as scheduled, and calls for De Gaulle's ouster have become louder. On Wednesday an estimated 100,000 students and workers marched in an antigovernment parade called by the Communist-led Confederation of Labor, and they bellowed for the general to resign.

Most leftwing opposition leaders have already called for a change of government if not of regime.

Holiday Is Observed In Area Today

Business activity slowed, but did not come to a complete standstill in Snyder today as the community observed Memorial Day.

The main observance was at 10:30 a.m. at Hillside Memorial Gardens where Memorial services in honor of all the county's war dead were held. The service was arranged by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 8231.

The VFW also placed Memorial flags on the graves of all deceased veterans in all cemeteries of the county.

The Rev. Miller Robinson, pastor of Colonial Hill Baptist Church, was the speaker at the Memorial Day rites.

Many local business firms were closed for the holiday along with government agencies. However, some stores remained open and others planned to close at noon. Banks also were open.

Americans Honor War Dead Today

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Americans honored their war dead today, the 100th anniversary of Memorial Day, as President Johnson told the nation's armed forces "We yearn for an end to war, for a time when the guns will be silenced forever."

The sound of taps, the fragrance of flowers and the measured tread to martial music will accompany the speeches, readings and memorial observances in cities from coast to coast.

As the casualty lists continued to grow in Vietnam, many Americans gathered in sorrow before fresh graves to plant flags and flowers in the tradition that was begun on May 30, 1868.

Then it was Gen. John A. Logan, commander-in-chief of the in a memorial concert. who decreed that the day should be set aside "for the purpose of strewing flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of the country in the late rebellion."

And through periods of peace and a succession of wars the practice continued.

Defense Secretary Clark Clifford was to place the President's wreath on the Arlington National Cemetery tomb of three soldiers whose names are lost forever to history.

Built to house an unknown soldier of World War I in honor of all those whose remains could not be identified, the tomb has since been made the final resting place of two more unknown soldiers, from World War II and the Korean War.

Since their addition on Memorial Day 1958, the nation has lost one serviceman in Cuba, 27 in periodic skirmishes in Korea and more than 23,500 in Vietnam.

This afternoon the Washington National Symphony Orchestra will perform at the Lincoln Memorial, near the "shantytown" of the Poor People's Campaign, in a memorial concert.

Charged In Campus Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A freshman coed was charged with arson Wednesday in the fire at an Ohio State University dormitory which took the lives of two other young women.

Harriet Frances Leeb, 18, of South Euclid, Ohio, was charged in the May 22 blaze at Lincoln Tower and held at the Franklin County jail in lieu of $25,000 bond.

The chief of campus police, O. R. Starr, filed the charge. Miss Leeb lived on the 13th floor of the dorm.

The fire claimed its second victim Wednesday morning when Retta Foster, 22, of Colorado Springs, Colo., died in a hospital. Her roommate, Pamela Sue Patterson, 18, Ludlow Falls, Ohio, died in a few hours after the early morning fire that broke out in a lounge near their room on the 11th floor.

Vicious Winds Ht Fort Worth Area

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vicious winds assailed the Fort Worth area before dawn today, unroofing a suburban home, as a rash of tornado funnels and bristling thunderstomrs tapered off in a sweep across the northern third of Texas.

Scattered storm continued in early morning through a belt plagued by repeated twister sightings.

The roof was ripped off a home at Benbrook, on the southwest edge of Fort Worth, about 4:30 a.m. Stout winds raked Fort Worth's west side.

Two Fatalities In Louisville Disorder

By F. RICHARD CICCONE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Police rushed reinforcements into the West End riot area early today to disperse crowds that gathered after two Negro youths were shot to death.

The police and National Guardsmen continued on alert after the streets were cleared of the crowds which had begun forming shortly after midnight.

The fatalities Wednesday night were the first in the rioting which began Monday with a flurry of bottle tossing, burning and window smashing.

Police said one of the victims, Matthias Browder, 18, was killed by a liquor store guard who told them he fired into a group of youths breaking a storefront window.

James Groves, 14, was felled by a policeman who fired a shotgun blast in the direction of five persons from a clening shop which had been looted, the police said.

Police rushed reinforcements in the West End to disperse crowds which began to form shortly after word of the shootings spread.

Lt. Col. Bert Hawkins, assistant police chief, said the early part of the evening Wednesday was "very threatening," but the violence was not as serious as the previous nights.

The 2,000 National Guardsmen ordered to the city by Gov. Louie B. Nunn were used only occasionally Wednesday night as city officials tried to keep their part of a bargain with militant Negro youths.

IF FRENCH CRISIS CONTINUES

Peace Talks May Move From Paris

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

PARIS (AP) — The Vietnam peace talks which the French proudly welcomed less than a month ago may have to be shifted away from Paris in the next few weeks if France's domestic crisis continues.

Officially, the United States and North Vietnam have so far ignored the possible impact of the upheaval on their conference.

Ambassadors W. Averell Harriman and Xuan Thuy and their delegations have gone about their meetings without interruption or any serious inconvenience. They live and work in a world apart from the demonstrations of students and workers, the street battles in the Latin Quarter, and the political agonies of a society in rebellion.

U.S. spokesman William J. Jorden told reporters Wednesday that to date the crisis has had no effect on the work of the delegations. He declined further comment, saying the situation is France's own internal affair.

But no one is sure how long the isolation of the conference can continue. The negotiating teams are dependent on the French economy for food and services. So far as is known they rely primarily on French facilities for their communications. The French government furnishes police for their protection. Their shirts are washed and ironed in French laundries.

Perhaps the most serious problem for the Americans to date has been to arrange transportation in and out of the country. With Orly Airport closed by general strike, officials leaving or joining Harriman's group usually had to travel between Paris and Brussels by bus or car until two days ago when a military field near Paris was opened to commercial air traffic.

Thuy and other members of the North Vietnamese delgation live outside Paris at Choisy-le-Roi. They moved from the Hotel Lutetia, about a mile from the Latin Quarter, two weeks ago. The move was understood to mean they were settling in for long negotiations here. It also took them far away from the turbulence of the university area.

Harriman and his team live in the Hotel Crillon on the Place de la Concorde across the Seine River from the Latin Quarter. Their offices are next door in the U.S. embassy. This district which also includes the Elysee Palace, President Charles de Gaulle's official residence, has been under massive police guard since the trouble started.

The Americans take their meals in the embassy cafeteria or the many restaurants for which Paris is famous. Having embassy cars available they are not seriously limited in their activities by the taxi, subway and bus strikes.

Two More Space Tests Scheduled

By PAUL RECER

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Astronaut James Irwin and test pilot Gerald Gibbons completed a second space chamber test of the U.S. moonship design Wednesday night. Officials rated it so successful they schduled two similar tests Friday and Saturday.

Irwin and Gibbons spent 12 hours and 29 minutes in a hard vacuum environment aboard a test model of the Apollo lunar nodule while it was punished in the tortures of simulated space.

The test was planned to verify the spacecraft's ability to withstand the temperature extremes of outer space.

Officials said, "It went very well."

Temperatures in the space chamber dropped to minus 150 degrees while electric elemnts placed against the skin of the test model raised the tempratures there to 150 degrees above zero.

The manned portion of the test was extended 29 minutes when engineers learned it was taking longer than expected for the chamber temperature to return to an even zero eading.

Maxine Faget, director of engineering and development at the Manned Spacecraft Center, said he was scheduling similar tests for Friday and Saturday. Originally these were scheduled in mid-June.

Faget said a backup crew will man the test model during one of the impending tests. Its members are Air Force Maj. Joseph Gagliano, a NASA engineer, and Glenn Kingsley, a Grumman Air craft pilot.

Bundled in white spacesuits which slowed their walk to a shuffle and peering through clear plastic helmets, Irwin and Gibbons entered the hard vacuum of the huge space simulation chamber about midmorning Wednesday.

Kept alive by oxygen fed into their suits through umbilical cords, they proceeded several feet to a short flight of stairs. One followed the other up these stairs and into the spaceship model.

Once aboard, they switched to the craft's environmental system just as they would have done in space.

During the test the crew operated switches and instruments simulating the firing of rockets and other maneuvers of an actual space flight. Engineers outside, meanwhile, controlled the chamber as it simulated space thermal and vacuum conditions.

A similar test of an Apollo command and service module model is scheduled early in June. In that test three crewmen will spend seven and one-half days in simulated space.

Officials said rescheduling of the lunar module tests will not affect the planned command module test.

$40,000 For Plane Like Snoop's

By RALPH DIGHTON
Associated Press Writer

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — Good grief, Snoopy! That Sopwith Camel is worth $40,000.

That's the price a real-life counterpart of the imaginary plane flown by cartoonist Charles Schulz's daydreaming canine character brought Wednesday at auction.

The World War I fighter drew the top bid at a sale of 30 antique planes which realized almost $300,000. Its original price was about $8,000.

Ten of the bids were in five figures, but by far the highest was that of J. W. Middendorf II, a pivate collector, of New York City. His telephoned-in-advance offer for the hump-backed little biplane, believed the last in repairable condition, beat out all competitors.

Three planes brought $20,000. A Maurice Farman MF11 two place pusher biplane, a Fokker DVII biplane, and a Curtiss Gulfhawk biplane once owned by the late stunt flyer Al Williams.

More than 500 persons—Air Force officers, aircraft and auto designers, flying enthusiasts and private collectors—attended the auction in the movieland museum of the air at Orange County airport.

The planes were part of a collection assembled by two movie stunt pilots, Frank Tallman and the late Paul Mantz. They were sold last year to two Nebraska firms, Rosen-Novak Auto Co. of Omaha and Morrison-Quirk Grain Co. of Hastings.

Banks Halt Buying Of French Franc

BASEL, Switzerland (AP) — The Swiss-based Bank for International Settlement announced today it has temporarily stopped buying French francs, suspending the operation designed to support the franc during the French crisis. A number of European banks also halted their purchase of francs.

Spokesman for the bank in Basel said the decision to stop buying francs conformed with a request by the Bank of France. No other explanation was offered but one top-level Swiss banking executive said developments indicated "far-reaching decisions in monetary policies is expectable in France."

The franc has been weakened by the French crisis and the Swiss bank, an international currency clearing house, bought francs for two days to prevent the rate from dropping below the price of 4.9740 to the dollar.

Foreigners and even the French were dumping francs out of fear it would decline further on international exchanges or that the franc would be devalued.

Ask Crawford To Resign Board Post

KOUNTZE, Tex. (AP) — Editor Archer Fullingim of the weekly Kountze News said Wednesday that he and other Hardin County residents are asking that O.R. Crawford resign as a member of the Texas Liquor Control Board.

Fullingim said a number of persons have signed a petition calling for Crawford to step down because he was host at a public beer party and fish fry in a dry county Sunday.

The gathering was arranged as a political rally for Lt. Gov. Preston Smith in his race for the Democratic nomination for governor, Fullingim said.

Crawford, at his office in Jasper, said he gave the party a nd about 400 persons attended. He declined further comment.

"It's just some more of the old LCB controversy," Crawford said. "I'd rather not say anything about it."

An aide of Smith in Austin said the lieutenant governor had no comment.

Fullingim said, "The rally was at Joes Lake in Tyler County, which is dry. They served beer and had some whiskey, too. Former Atty. Gen Waggoner Carr, named by Fullingim as among those present, said he introduced Smith at the gathering and "I didn't even know what county we were in."

Carr observed that he had read Fullingim's newspaper and described the editor as "an ardent supparter of Don Yarborough." Smith's opponent in the runoff primary to be held Saturday.

Acts Of Vandalian Reported Wednesday

Two cases of vandalism were reported to City Police yesterday.

F. A. Green, 1104 Twenty - sixth Street, said someone cut a 6 - inch section from his garden hose while it was laying in his front yard between 9:15 p.m. Tuesday and 5:45 a.m. Wednesday.

Someone cut the tires and spokes on the bicycle of Max Stephens, 204 Thirty - second Street, at East Elementary School between 1 p.m. Tuesday and noon Wednesday.

Building a permanent outdoor barbecue unit and recessing the fire pit in a ceramic tile counter can reduce the patio chef's irascibility by providing a set - things - down work surface that will not get 'under foot" as can happen with a portable barbecue unit when the patio floor itself is the only place to put things.

Caution In Home Repair Deals Urged

Sheriff Keith Collier today urged elderly residents to be cautious of dealing with anyone who represents himself to be a home repair man.

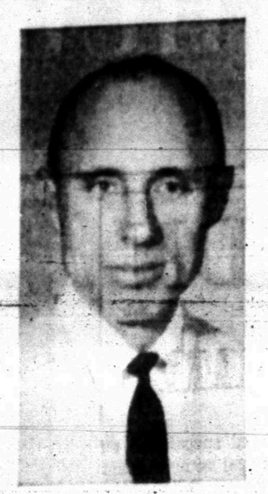

He said one man who obtained $408 in advance from an elderly woman for repairing her roof did not return to do the work.

"We're working with the Department of Public Safety on the case and may be able to identify the supect," he said.

Collier said that payment for this type of work should be withheld until the job is completed unless the person who is doing the work is known to be a representative of a reputable firm.

"Check with us or the police department and we'll check their background," he suggested.

Make A Great Hors d' Oeuvre!

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Here's one of the best "made" hors d'oeuvre we've ever tried.

It's an ingenious sponge roll (including only a few tablespoons of sugar), stuffed with deviled ham spiked with sweet pickle relish, frosted with pimiento cream cheese and garnished with parsley and toasted filbert.s

If you are a prepare-ahead cook when you're having a party, you can bake, fill, frost cover and chill the roll the day before serving. Then an hour before offering, you can add the garnish of parsley and nuts. Adding the nuts at the last minute allows them to stay crisp.

We tried serving this roll two ways. Half of it was used on a lunch menu along with a tossed green salad; this way we served slices of the roll on the salad plates with salad forks. The other half was used as an hors d'oeuvre at cocktail time; this waoy we served slices n bread-and-butter plates with cocktail forks — the sort designed for oysters or shrimp cocktail. Both times the roll made a great hit. We've tried several other recipes for a sponge-roll base for an hors d'oeuvre, but this is quite the best one we've come across.

Deviled Ham Sponge Roll

4 large eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon minced parsley
½ cup sifted regular flour
2 cans (each 4½ ounces) deviled ham
2 tablespoons slightly drained sweet pickle relish
Large pimiento - stuffed green olives
1 tub (4 ounces) whipped pimiento cream cheese, at room temperature
½ cup coarsely chopped parsley
½ cup coarsely chopped toasted filberts

Grease a jelly-roll pan (about 15 by 10 by 1 inch); line bottom with wax paper; grease paper.

In a large mixing bowl, with electric beater, beat the egg whites until foamy; add salt and sugar; beat until whites hold stiff straight peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn.

At once, without washing beaters, beat the egg yolks until they begin to thicken and are lemon color; fold into the beaten egg whites with the minced parsley; gradually fold in flour.

Turn into prepared pan, spreading evenly. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 8 to 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, in a small bowl, mix together the deviled ham and pickle relish.

With a small patula, loosen "cake" from sides of pan; turn out onto a clean tea towel; peel off wax paper. At once spread with deviled ham mixture. Place olives along 10-inch edge and roll up from 10-inch edge; cool. Cover with transparent plastic wrap; chill. Frost roll with pimiento cream cheese; cover again with plastic wrap and chill again.

One hour before serving, mix together the coarsely chopped parsley and the filberts and roll the frosted roll in the mixture, patting it in gently; let stand at room temperature this hour before serving.

Makes 8 servings.

Note: Here, once again, are directions for toasting filberts. Spread the shelled filberts in a single layer on a sheet of heavy foil with edges turned up about ½ inch, or spread in a jelly-roll pan, and bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until nuts are browned and have a rich toasted flavor — 5 to 15 minutes; shake pan a few times during toasting. While the nuts are still warm, rub them between your palms, to remove all the brown skins that will come off. The variation in baking time depends on the size of the nuts and how dry they are.

DIFFERENT HORS D'OEUVRE — A sponge roll filled with deviled ham, frosted with pimiento cream cheese and rolled in parsley and toasted filberts.

'Horns Dust Off PanAm

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas sends to the mound another one of its fireballing sophomores today in a bid to wrapup the Dist. 6 NCAA baseball playoff with Pan American.

A victory for the Longhorns, who dusted off Pan Am 3-0 Wednesday, would send them into the College World Series June 10-15 at Omaha, Neb.

Larry Hardy of Bellaire whifned 12 batters and allowed only two hits Wednesday—the beat performance ever by a Longhorn pitcher in playoff competition leading the College World Series.

Hardy retired the last 14 batters to face him after Alan Jones of Pan Am singled in the fifth inning.

Soph James Street toes the rubber today for Texas against Tony Barbosa in the second game of the best-of-three series.

Texas scored Wednesday on George Nauert's double and a single by Bob Snoddy. A single, a stolen base and a single by David Hall netted a second tally in the sixth. The third Longhorn run came in the ninth on an error by Jones.

WITH SMOKE BOMB

Fans Rig Car Of Tiger Ace?

ANAHEIM (AP)—Denny McLain is winning his war against American League hitters but taking a drubbing in his vendetta with the baseball fans of Detroit.

The Tigers' ace right-hander revealed for the first time here Wednesday night that his wife and infant daughter recently averted possible serious injury after someone in Detroit placed a bomb in the family car.

The incident occurred 10 days ago, only a few days after McLain publicly accused Detroit fans of booing the team to such an extent last season that it cost the Tigers the American League pennant. They finished one game behind champion Boston.

McLain say s his wife and daughter were driving from the Detroit stadium to their suburban home when they pulled off a highway to get gas.

"The attendant looked under the hood and discovered there was a smoke bomb wired to the ignition," McLain said here Wednesday night after he pitched a four-hitter and struck out 13 in a 3-0 victory over the California Angels.

"If the bomb had gone off when my wife was driving at high speed, she and the baby both could have been killed," he said.

"But the bomb wasn't wired properly. It was supposed to go off when she turned on the ignition.

"If anything had happened, I'd have spent the rest of my life finding out who was responsible."

McLain, 8-1, leads the American League in victories, hasgone the route in eight of his first 11 starts and has reduced his earned run average to a microscopic 1.92.

Ironically, his lone defeat came the first time he pitched at home after publicly blasting Detroit fans for booin the players. Baltimore pounded him en route to a 10-8 victory.

"I've been booed before, but never like that," he said, "and I guess it made me press too hard."

Softball Tilt Set

The Hamby Angels will tangle with the Snyder Flames at 8:30 p.m. Thursday (today) in a softball contest to be held in Winston Park.

Members of the public were urged to attend. Admission is free.

Live Blues Grab Tie

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Memphis came alive Wednesday night, winning only its second game in 11 outings, and pulled into a tie with Shreveport for the Texas League's Eastern Division lead.

The Blues downed the Braves 4-2 in a collision of the eastern powerhouses. In other games, Western Division leader Albuquerque stopped San Antonio 1-0, El Paso ripped Amarillo 9-5 and Arkansas nipped Dallas-Fort Worth 2-1.

Memphis was paced by Joe Moock's first home run of the season. Jim Bethke coasted to the victory.

Dick Armstrong, Albuquerque's fine pitcher, allowed San Antonio but six hits. Catcher Budd Hollowell stroked a long home run off Dick James in the sixth inning to provide the winning margin. The victory was the seventh of the season for Armstrong. James has yet to win in six decisions.

El Paso slapped Amarillo pitching for 11 hits. Gordon Avery and Bill Bethea hit back-to-back homers in the fourth inning and Jarvis Tatum slammed a three-run blast in the sixth.

Len Boyer was the hero for Arkansas, drilling a two-run homer to back Joe Hamende's tight pitching. Roric Harrison was the loser for the Spurs.

The same clubs play today at El Paso, Albuquerque, Arkansas and Memphis.

Strikes Stop Tennis Tourney

PARIS (AP) — Some 33 men and nine women were forced to default Wednesday when they were unable to reach the French Open Tennis Championships because of the nationwide work stoppage plaguing France.

In the matches that were played, the professionals received one scare after another but overcame their amateur opponents in each case.

Hogs Sign Punter

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks won a recruiting war with Colorado Wednesday and signed a punter from Ferrum, Va., Junior College.

Cary Stockdell, a 6-foot-5 220-pounder, was signed personally by coach Frank Broyles.

Stockdell averaged 48.8 yards per kick last season and once kicked the ball 80 yards in the air.

Stockdell had previously signed with Colorado.

Pleas No Contest

ATLANTA (AP)—Joe Torre, Atlanta Braves catcher, was fined $175 and given two suspended jail sentences Monday after he pleaded nolo contendere to charges of driving under the influence and speeding.

Nolo contendere means he pleaded on contest.

It was reported earlier that Torre had pleaded guilty.

Giants Sock Cards

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The original M&M boys, Mantle and Maris—still are around but the San Francisco Giants' act of Mays and Marichal is upstaging them in the initial league—and doing all right in the National League, too.

Wonderful Willie and Juanderful Juan combined their talents again Wednesday night and led the Giants to a 2-1 victory over the reeling St. Louis Cardinals.

The triumph gave the Giants a 1½-game lead over Atlanta, whose game against Houston was rained out in the third inning. The world champion Cardinals, now in fourth place, lost for the 11th time in their last 13 games and fell to within a half-game of the second division. Elsewhere in the NL, Chicago and Philadelphia split a twi-night doubleheader, the Cubs taking the opener 9-2 and the Phillies winning the nightcap 8-3. Cincinnati spotted Los Angeles a five-run lead, then rallied to edge the Dodgers 6-5. The New York Mets and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

In the American League, Chicago defeated Baltimore 3-1, Minnesota nipped Cleveland 1-0, Detroit beat California 3-0 and Oakland turned back Boston 7-4. The New York Yankees and Washington had the day off.

Marichal stopped the Cards on six hits to become the NL's first eight-game winner. Mays gave him all the runs he needed when he cracked his ninth homer of the season in the third inning after Ron Hunt singled.

The blast, 573rd of May's career, tied him for the league lead wtih teammates Willie McCovey and Jim Ray Hart and New York's Ron Swoboda. It was the only slip by loser Nelson Briles.

Chicago's Ken Holtzman, who has been having his troubles this season, had them for exactly one inning Wednesday night. He surrendered two hits and two runs in the first inning of the Cubs-Phils opener, then hurled hitless ball the rest of the way, retiring the last 17 batters in succession.

Five Philadelphia errors helped the Cubs to five unearned runs and made a losing pitcher out of Chris Short.

Memorial Day Is A Resurrection

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Memorial Day is a resurrection.

Millions of flowers, placed with loving hands, bloom upon a tidal wave of graves tenated by gathering millions of ours honored dead-those fallen in in war, those fallen in peace.

Housewives and warriors farmers and statesmen, orphans and overlords, girls and grandfathers—all sleep together in the tremendous democracy of death's common pasture.

The earth itself is but a vast tomb and the living are but temporary wayfarers upon its surface. But on Memorial Day they walk in spirit again, hand in hand, heart to heart, with those who lie unforgotten beneath the headstones. Memory welds anew a vanished unity.

The problem of loss and bereavement has stirred the sages of the ages, and these are a few of the thoughts they held:

"Grief is crowned with consolation."—Shakespeare.

"Thou shalt rest sweetly if thy heart reprehend thee not."—Thomas A Kempis.

"The Lord is night unto them that are of a broken heart."—Old Testament.

"How else but through a broken heart may Lord Christ enter in?"—Oscar Wilde.

"The soul is not where it lives but where it loves."—Thomas Fuller.

"Memory is the treasury of all things and their guardian."—Cicero.

"Memory is the one paradise out of which we cannot be driven."—Sacha Guitry.

"The things that were hardest to bear are sweetest to remember."—Seneca.

"How cruelly sweet are the echoes that start when memory plays an old tune on the heart."—Eliza Cook.

"A sorrow's crown of sorrows is remembering happier things."—Alfred Tennyson.

"Mankind are always happier for having been happy; so that if you make them happy now, you make them happy 20 years hence by the memory of it."—Sydney Smith.

"Fallen blossoms leave their perfume behind."—Japanese proverb.

"He lives twice, who is able to find delight in the life that is past."—Martial.

"It is wrong to sorrow without ceasing."—Homer.

"Grief is itself a medicine."—William Cowper.

"Sickness is the prison of the body, and sorrow is the prison of the soul."—Diogenes.

"Sorrows draw not the dead to life, but the living to death."—Sir Walter Raleigh.

"You cannot prevent the birds of sadness from flying over your head, but you can prevent them from nesting in your hair."—Chinese proverb.

"Earth has no sorrow that heaven cannot heal."—Thomas Moore.

"Dust thou are, to dust returnest, was not spoken of the soul."—H.W. Longfellow.

"Many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life..."—Daniel.

Candidates' Staff Vital In Political Effectiveness Test

By KEITH SHELTON
Denton Record Chronicle
Staff Writer
Written for Associated Press

A candidate is not just a candidate anymore.

Instead of being a man running for office with a secretary to chart his path around the state and an aide to carry his briefcase, he is the head of a team of experts.

A silent platoon does his research, writes or rewrites his speeches and raises his money.

Saturday's runoff candidates, Don Yarborough and Preston Smith, are pitting two of the more formidable staffs of recent years at one another in a test of political effectiveness.

Yarborough has assembled a staff in Austin which encompasses top-flight newsmen and is anchored by a former county judge.

Pat Conway is Yarborough's press and public relations chief. Charles Murphy, who recently returned from covering the Vietnam War, is in charge of television and radio. His wife is Mrs. Yarborough's sister.

Bill Hamilton; formerly a newsman in Buenos Aires, Austin and New York, is also working for Yarborough. He travels with the candidate much of the time.

Doing research is Ron Weddington, a law student from Abilene who was himself a candidate for state representatve in the first primary. He is considered the staff expert on insurance and consumer questions.

In charge of the itinerary is Chuck Caldwell, who has worked on campaigns for both Don Yarborough and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., since 1964.

Organization is in the hands of Tom Bones of Corpus Christi, who has woked in past Ralph Yarborough campaigns, and Bob Hall, a Houston attorney who has been a political organizer since 1952.

Phil Hardberger, an Odessa lawyer, coordinates the Austin office.

The man who runs the show is a former Bexar County judge from San Antonio, Charles Grace.

Finances are in the hands of Bernard Rappaport of Waco and Ceekmore Fath, a veteran of many wars from Austin and a former leader of the old Democrats of Texas (DOT).

Smith has a smalier staff. Among those traveling with him is his son, Mickey Smith of Austin.

Jerry Conn, a former newsman who worked for Waggoner Carr in his race with Republican Sen. John Tower, is the publicist.

Geoge Phoenix, a former Dallas radio-television man, heads that division.

Archie Anderson, an attorney who has worked with the Texas Real Estate Association, does research, although the lines of responsibility are not so definitely drawn on Smith's team.

Ron Reed, who has worked for the County Judges and Commissioners Association, is another of Smith's staff members.

The team is headed by Harold Dudley, a public relations and organization man who has been in Austin 3½ years and has handled past Smith campaigns.

All of which costs money. Smith has repoted spending $162,380 thus far in the runoff campaign. Yarborough's financial report for the runoff has not been received. But he had spent $162,854 as of May 15.

Of course, there are further reports to be made and the first reports may or may not reflect the final spending figures.

Aside from their personal staffs, the two candidates are being aided by other goups. The AFL-CIO is helping Yarborough through its Committee on Political Education. Smith is being aided by various business groups.

Junior Editors Quiz on NUMBERS

QUESTION: How can you make heads from numbers?

• • • •

ANSWER: For all those of us who have trouble getting numbers out of our heads, here's a switch. This correspondent wants to know how to get heads from numbers. One of our artists knows all about it. She had once given chalk talks to entertain audiences and this was one of the stunts she used. She would ask some one to give her a number and then draw it in a large size on the black board or demonstration paper. It would suggest some part of a face or perhaps some kind of expression. The audience would be amazed to see how fast she could whip out an amusing character from the lifeless-looking number. She had, she said, memorized a number of different heads for each number and she has drawn one group she used to use in our illustration. Why not practice this group of characters, get some of your friends together, ask for a number, and see if you can startle them? It's a good idea to practice up a bit before you try the trick out on an actual audience.

ATLANTA GAS BLAST

Nine Perish In Tragic Fire

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A flaming gas explosion wrecked a suburban day nursery Wednesday, killing nine persons, seven of them children, 16 months to 14 years old. Three other children were injured.

Two women employes of the nursery in suburban Hapeville perished while trying to save the young children in their care.

"When you're crawling around and you hear babies pleading, and you can't find them—it hurts," said L. F. Redwine, who works nearby and plunged into the shattered building to help rescue the children.

Fire Chief J. P. Nunn said the explosion occurred after the operator of a bulldozer struck a gas line in front of the building. The escaping gas filled the basement of the nursery and was apparently ignited by a water heater flame or other spark, Nunn said.

Nunn was at his home in the same block as the nursery when he heard the explosion.

"The flames came right away, mostly in the center of the building. It's the worst thing I've seen in 20 years," Nunn said.

Police said the nursery manager, Mrs. J. M. Gardner, 50, of Hapeville, died in the flaming building after going back inside to try to evacuate the children.

Also killed was Mildred Reeves, about 30, of Atlanta, a nursery employe.

The immediate efforts of nursery employes and nearby workers kept the death list from rising higher, witnesses said.

The children were taking their daily nap when the gas line was broken, a nursery employe, Mrs. Willie Lee Reeds, said. Employes started taking one group of children to an adjoining house, then the explosion came.

Police said about 45 children and adults were in the one-story wooden frame building when the explosion came at 2 p.m.

Frantic parents rushed to the scene as soon as they heard news of the explosion. Most were young, apparently working people.

About 300 people lined the street by the smoking ruins, as firemen and police sifted through the wreckage for five hours searching for bodies.

For more than an hour, a driving rain made the search more difficult.

A dozen or so persons, mostly children, were treated at hospitals and three were admitted.

Police said the bulldozer operator 41-year-old William Spearman of Forest Park, tried desperately to find a gas shutoff after his machine broke the gas line.

An observer said Spearman was digging frantically in the dirt with his bare hands seeking a cutoff when the explosion came.

Nixon Due In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Pesidential hopeful Richard M. Nixon stops in Dallas today as part of a six-state campaign tour.

He is scheduled to speak for about 45 minutes following a downtown hotel dinner at $150 a plate.

The former vice president will arrive at Love Field between 1:15 and 1:30 p.m. and will hold a press conference at the Statler Hilton at 3:30 p.m. A press conference and reception for Mrs. Nixon is scheduled at 3:34 p.m. The dinner at the Grand Ballroom in the Statler begins at 8 p.m. and Nixon will speak at about 9:20 p.m.

Nixon is the first major party presidential candidate to make a speech in Dallas this year. He stopped last January in the city for a free coffee and doughnuts rally for about 3,500 Republicans.

The only other presidential candidate to spend time in the state so far is former Alabama Gov. George Wallace. The American Independent Party presidential candidate made an Aprl 25-27 swing through Texas in a successful effort to get his name placed on the Texas presidential ballot.

Iranian Student At Texas U Finds Best Of All Worlds

Editor's Note: To lonely people everywhere, Rostam Kavoussi should be a revelation. Here he tells how he came out of his shell and capped his education with a fabulous election.

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN AP)— Rostam Kavoussi of Iran was more or less a typical foreign student: He spoke poor English, had few American friends and walked because he could not drive.

His life was a monotonous mixture of studying and sleeping.

Despite his dark good looks —his resemblance to the movie star Omar Sharif is obvious— he never dated.

He was lonely.

But it wasn't until he went home to Yazd, Iran, for a visit that he realized what he was missing. His friends asked him about Texas and Texans. "I just didn't know much," he recalled.

Now, Kavoussi, 24, seems to have the best of all possible worlds: He speaks English confidently with an accent that lends charm, he wears fashionable clothes, lives in a comfortable apartment, drives a new car and dates attractive girls.

His grades, always nearly perfect, have not been hurt.

Kavoussi—most people call him "Tom"—capped a fabulous college career in March by being elected students president of the 30,000-student University of Texas at Austin—the first foreign student in the school's 85-year history to win that office.

He beat his opponent, a Texan, by 4,618 votes to 3,377.

"I decided," he said in an interview, "to face the light," to try his hand at politics, at meeting people, at Texas life in general.

His goals are high. He wants to learn two more languages, to get a doctor's degree in computer-engineering by 1970 and to teach in Iran.

Eventually, he hopes to start an international university in Iran—"It's like a dream."

But his most immediate challenge is at the University of Texas.

As president he goes on the payroll at $175 a month and will be raised to $300 when the regular nine-month school year begins in September.

First, he would like to set up an international house with a foreign student and an American in each room. Kavoussi's roommate is Mike Bonine of Abilene, Tex., a graduate student.

Also, he wants to establish a graduate house, with graduate students from different studies sharing the knowledge.

Although he said the university's most critical need "is a real means of communication," his most ambitious project appears to be his proposal to place a faculty member and students on the Board of Regents, which sets school policy. The regents, generally businessmen and lawyers, have always been appointed by the governor.

"Campus radicals," he said, "exaggerate problems. They have only one solution to everything, and I have more. We need to compromise. They forget what a university is, and what it takes to run a university. I'm for students having a voice in education, but that doesn't mean we have to eliminate the other people."

In his inaugural address May 8, Kavoussi said, "I hope to be able to prove that student power is not necessarily a destructive power."

Ironically, Kavoussi, probably the best-known and most successful foreign student to attend the university, was turned down when he first applied. His English was not good enough.

He was enrolled at Baylor University, Waco, Tex., and went to the University of California at Berkeley.

After a summer term at Berkeley, "I decided it was too big, and I missed the friendliness of Texas, so I returned to Baylor. After a semester I re-applied to UT and was accepted."

An incident at Baylor illustrates his frustration in the early days. He was interested in a Baylor coed and was sitting next to her at the student union. He wanted to say something but was afraid to try his English. Finally, she asked if he was nervous. He nodded "yes," but it wasn't until he got home and looked up "nervous" in the dictionary that he knew he had answered correctly.

A summer course at Texas Christian University, some private tutoring at Baylor and a special English course at the University of Texas helped solve the language difficulties.

"The main problem was language," he said. "Once I had that, I could make friends, get around and do things. Everything worked out beautifully."

He taught himself to drive, using a car his brother had left at Baylor, early in the morning when the streets at Austin were empty.

He and four others started the Iranian Students Organization, and Kavoussi was chosen president. Next he was elected president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the International Club and graduate assemblyman to the Student Congress.

His grades ranked him No. 1 in mechanical engineering and No. 3 in the entire College of Engineering.

Friars, a swank, status student club, picked him as a member.

He thought about the student presidency — traditionally a jumping off place for Texas' big-time politicians — but was discouraged by "quite a few persons." Some close friends, however, took a poll and "were amazed that it didn't make any difference" that he was from a foreign country.

Even the Representative Party, made up of usually conservative fraternity and sorority members, supported him.

In the campaign, "I ignored that I was a foreign student and concentrated on the idea that I was interested in the university and wanted to see improvements."

Persian proverbs, learned at his mother's knee, proved a built-in advantage for Kavoussi. He often anwered campaign questions with the proverbs and found they were popular retorts.

The campaign cost $1,000. He won in a runoff.

The American Friends of the Mideast, in Washington, named him that area's outstanding foreign student and gave him a $500 award.

The Imperial Court of Iran commended him for his grades and student leadership.

He's settled down to a 70 to 80-hour week, which includes research in his special field of "quantitative decision making" and will qualify him to work with building under-developed countries.

Kavoussi thought once of staying in America, but says now he is going back to Iran. "I will miss a lot of excitement if I don't."

LBJ Addresses TCU Graduates

By TOM JOHNSON

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — President Lyndon Johnson heaped praise on the Texas congressional delegation Wednesday night for their effort in "leavening old problems and building new hope."

The President, on his first visit to Fort Worth since the day President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, spent a whirlwind three hours in the city, a visit marked by no signs, placards or display of protest or demonstration.

His principal appearance was at Texas Christian University where he received an honorary doctor's degree and was hailed as a man "historians will pronounce as the steadiest of giants in the most fearsome of times."

Between his landing at Carswell Air Force Base here and the degree ceremony, Johnson shared a platform at the Roundup Inn with six House members from Texas and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex.

The Roundup Inn affair was in honor of Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., of Fort Worth.

Mr. Johnson jokingly referred to his announced retirement from public life and came up with:

"I'd rather be (W)right than President." An overflow crowd of about 1,600 laughed heartily.

Also on hand were Reps. Henry B. Gonzalez, Earle Cabell, Abraham Kazen, Graham Purcell, Olin Teague, all Texas Democrats. Other notables present included Amon Carter Jr., publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and J. Lee Johnson III, a Fort Worth civic leader.

In his brief speech at the Wright party, the President said he hoped "my degree will come in handy when I resume my teaching career." Johnson plans to teach at the University of Texas when he quits office.

Looking around the platform and again drawing laughter, Johnson said, "It'll be mighty good to have some friends up in Washington."

Wright gave the President a pair of cuff links bearing the seal of the Cty of Fort Worth as the reception ended.

Johnson received a 30-second standing ovation both when he entered and left the TCU commencement exercises. Highlight of his TCU speech was a call to lower the voting age to 18 years.

A throng estimated by officials at 2,000 persons was on hand in bright sunshine when the presidential jet, Air Force One, touched down here at Carswell Air Force Base at 6:26 p.m. CDT.

Although the flight from Washington was a bit late, the President took time to shake hands for a few minutes with well-wishers.

A smaller crowd, numbering in the hundreds, had gathered at the air base to watch the president depart. He waved cheerily at the crowd as he drove up to enter his Jetstar for the trip to LBJ Ranch.

Drop In American Casualties

SAIGON (AP) — The number of American servicemen killed in Vietnam went down last week, although more were wounded than in the previous two heavy-loss weeks, the U.S. Command announced today.

It said that 426 Americans were killed in the week ending Saturday and 2,687 were wounded. Of the wounded, 1,419 required hospitalization and the other 1,268 were treated and returned to action. The two previous weeks of intense fighting near Saigon and along the demilitarized zone resulted in record numbers of Americans slain in weekly counts—562 killed in the week ending May 11 and 549 the following week.

The wounded for those two weeks, however, were 2,225 and 2,282.

South Vietnamese Army headquarters also announced that casualties among government troops were down despite the continuing fight around Saigon. It listed 340 killed, 1,151 wounded and 24 missing last week compared to 475 killed, 1,476 wounded and 71 missing the preceding week.

The allied command announced that 2,550 enemy soldiers were killed last week—less then half the number slain the week before. The U.S.-Vietnamese command said 5,348 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers were killed in the week ending May 18, updating that figure from the 4,765 reported last Thursday.

The U.S. Command, tabulating U.S. and enemy casualties grom Jan. 1, 1961, trough May 25, 1968, gave these figures:

American losses—23,926 killed; 146,363 wounded, of whom 77,001 were hospitalized, and 1,215 missing, captured or interned.

Enemy killed—353,207.

New Device A Big Help To Firemen

The Snyder Fire Department has a new piece of equipment that will be a big help in fighting big fires.

The device, called an in-line hose controller, looks like a piece of metal with two metal stands or supporting rods. It is fitted onto a 2½ - inch hose about six feet from the nozzle.

"With this new equipment, two firemen can handle the big hose without any difficulty," declared Fire Chief Alfred Kohl. He said that, without the device, it takes four to six men to hold the hose steady when directing a full stream of water at a fire.

Kohl said the in - line hose controller is "home-made." It was built by Fred Williams, a volunteer fireman, at a fraction of the cost of one sent from the factory.

We're planning to have another one made and also a fire wall nozzle," Kohl pointed out.

He said the nozzle is a special one that throws out a screen of water to create a wall between buildings.

"It will prevent fire from spreading from one building to another without anyone having to be there to risk his life," the chief observed.

Although he will be eligible for parole at any tme, Harris appeared shocked by the sentence Wednesday. He was freed on his own recognizance pending appeal.

Harris, who refused induction Jan. 17 at the Oakland Induction Center, was not allowed to raise a constitutional defense in the three-day trial.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

• • •

Q — I have an extension until the middle of June to file my return as the result of illness. Is it true I'll have to pay interest on my taxes when I do file?

A — Yes, interest at the rate of six percent a year must be added to taxes that are not paid in full by the filing deadline. This interest must be paid even though a taxpayers has received an extension of time to file his return.

Q — I made a mistake on my return which led me to overstate my income by several hundred dollars. Can I file for a refund on this even though I have not received the refund I requested on my original return?

A — Yes, you can correct this filing error now even though the refund on your original return has not arrived. Obtain a copy of Form 1040 - X from your local IRS office and follow the instructions on this form for correcting your mistake. You will receive a separate refund for the difference between your original refund claim and the corrected claim.

Q — Are school prizes and honors taxable? I just won a science award.

A — Whether the prize is taxable or not depends on the circumstances under which it was won. If you had to perform a specific act to win the prize, such as write an essay or develop an experiment, the prize would be taxable. 401 Computer Makes Music

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Look out, Lawrence Welk, here comes Midwestern University's IBM 401 computer.

Jack Frost, in charge of the computers at MU, feeds 50 perforated cards into a card reader and—before you can say, "ah-one, ah-two"—the computer strums out "Anchors Away."

What's happening, Frost explains, is that the paper is vibrating as small hammers hit letters in the printer. The paper acts something like a banjo head or tissue around a comb. And when certain groups of letters, numbers and characters are programmed, the result is gobbledygook on the print-out sheet but the machine plays "Anchors Away."

The computer will play other songs, too, Frost says, such as "She'll Be Coming Around The Mountain."

Funds For Red Coast

BEAUMONT (AP)—The Red Coat volunteer organization of Schlesinger Geriatric Center has received $2,000 from the Junior League of Beaumont to launch and promote the Red Coats. Volunteers will work with the trustees at the home to inspire, assist, and work with the patients, residents and employes.

Permian Railroad Permit Affirmed

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — An Interstate Commerce Commission order permitting construction of an 80-mile strip of track by the Permian Basin Railroad Co. has been affirmed by a three-judge federal court.

The opinion, delivered Wednesday, permits the railroad to construct the new line between Odessa and Seagaves.

The lawsuit contesting legality of the ICC order was brought against the railroad, the commission and the federal government by the Texas — Pacific Railway Co. and the Santa Fe Railroad. Both those lines also opposed the new railroad in ICC hearings.

The T&P's complaint said the Permian Basin firm would not attract sufficient traffic to stay in business and claimed it was "doomed for bankruptcy."

The court found, however, that the Permian Basin line can expect to make a profit, but said profit was a secondary concern.

"The ultimate question is public convenience and necessity," said the court. It found a "great need" for the new line and said it poses "a minimal threat of hardship to the other carriers."

The Permian Basin line will connect to T&P tracks in Odessa and to Santa Fe lines near Seagraves.

When the ICC granted the Permian Basin's certificate, it overruled one of its heaing examiners, who said the new line could not attract sufficient business.

U. S. Circuit Judge Irving Goldberg of Dallas and U. S. Dist Judges Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas and Leo Brewster of Fort Worth decided the case.

The court had earlier issued a restraining order which forbade the Permian Basin company from starting track-laying.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My younger sister is being married soon, and she wants to have fruitcake for her wedding cake because it can be made earlier and will keep better.

Others we've asked say that the traditional wedding cake should be white.

Sis says that Luci Johnson had fruitcake at her wedding, so there can't be anything wrong with it. Who is right?

SIS

DEAR SIS: Having recently researched the history of wedding cakes for a "kooky wedding" article I wrote for the June issue of Ladies' Home Journal, if you'll excuse the plug, I can tell you that there is no such thing as a "traditional" wedding cake. Your sister many properly have anything she wants.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a very nice fellow from Italy. We have been dating for four years now. He came to this country when he was only 16 years old. He is now 28. He makes good money and he speaks very good English.

He never mentioned the possibility of his going back to Italy to live until a few months ago. I always thought he liked it here so much. Now he tells me he would like to live in Italy.

Do you think I should give up my family and my country for this man?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: If you have to ask, the answer is no.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: After 10 years of childless marriage, my husband and I adopted a beautiful baby girl. We were — and still are — on cloud nine. She was a gift from heaven because a year later we were blessed with our own little son! And the following year, another son. We should be happier than ever, but here's the problem:

My husband's father, who was against our adopting the little girl in the first place, goes out of his way to hurt the child. He favors the boys with gifts and treats, and leaves the little girl standing without — hurt and pleading for recognition. Behind our backs he refers to the girl as "that illegitimate b— John took to raise." She is a sweet and adorable child, and much prettier than his own "blue blood" granddaughters.

We don't want to cause trouble so we make excuses for Grandpa's slights, but how can I stand by with my blood boiling and say nothing? When we leave his home I promise I'll never take the children there again, but I always weaken and do, hoping he'll behave better. What can be done?

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: If you subject your daughter to Grandpapa's cruel treatment you are guilty as Grandpa. Let him know that you will tolerate no more of his unfair and unfeeling conduct. Deny him the privilege of seeing all your children until he agrees to mend his ways. He may never agree, which will be his loss.

• • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WASTED THREE YEARS IN MIAMI:" If a man is admittedly a "playboy" who doesn't want to settle down with one woman — that's HIS business. But he shouldn't do business with a 22-year-old girl who has marriage in mind.

• • •

Everybody has a problem. Waat's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
