(By The Associated Press)

HAVANA, Aug. 10. — President Gerardo Machado's supporting party today condemned mediation efforts by the United States and Cuba's political crisis appeared to be rushing to a climax.

Despite threats of grave trouble here, United States President Franklin D. Roosevelt was reported as confidently expecting a "New Deal" in Cuba. His attitude was interpreted to mean he anticipated President Machado's resignation.

Ferrara Serves Chief

Executive committee of the Liberal party, which is backing Machado, the Cuban political storm center, declared itself against "foreign intermeddling in Cuba" and that the party considered mediation at an end. Orestes Ferrara, Machado's right-hand man and secretary of state, drafted the motion.

Liberal party action widened the breach, its action coming shortly after U. S. Ambassador Sumner Welles had conferred with Ferrara. Backing the U. S. Ambassador in his demand for Machado's resignation were the Popular and Conservative parties.

Army Is On Guard

Recalled by President Machado when he declared a state of war in the island republic, the army remained on duty in Havana. Because of the wide-spread strike, particularly affecting transportation facilities, shortage of food was becoming acute.

President Machado, despite firm words from President Roosevelt that Cuba settle her troubles quickly, remained obdurate. In a formal statement to the Associated Press, the Cuban said he had not "changed his mind nor his purpose to lend every support to the constitutional reforms."

FDR Supports Welles

Mr. Welles told newspapermen his efforts in Cuba, now in progress for several weeks, had the complete support of President Roosevelt.

Texans Gather In Austin For Relief Confab

Melancholy Picture Drawn By Governor If Bond Issue Of 20 Million Dollars Fails; Vote Set On August 26

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 10.—Mayors, county commissioners and representative business men were arriving here tonight in answer to a gubernatorial proclamation requesting their attendance on a conference to discuss the proposed $20,000,000 relief bond issue. The meeting is scheduled for tomorrow.

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, in her call, painted a melancholy picture of conditions that will obtain in Texas in event this state does not do something to help itself toward succoring families dependent at this time on federal funds for subsistence.

May Lose Federal Aid

The federal government has given Texas notice that unless the citizens of this state show a disposition to spend some of their money in relief of unemployment, it cannot expect relief funds from national sources.

The governor, in her proclamation, said there were more than 1,000,000 persons in Texas in destitute circumstances and having to be fed at the expense of the government.

"Ma" Tells Sad Story

She said there were 200,000 aged men who are not able to work, 200,000 women not able to work and 600,000 children "of tender years" who are being fed by the government.

Voters will decide at a special election on August 26 whether the state relief bonds shall be authorized.

William Strauss of Houston, chairmen of a steering committee that is conducting a campaign for the bonds, has been designated temporary chairman of the conference. Former Governor James E. Ferguson, and Lawrence Westbrook, director of the Texas Rehabilitation and relief commission, were placed on the program for addresses to discuss the situation.

One Of Century's Smallest Grain Yields Is Forecast

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10. (AP)—One of the smallest crops of grain harvested in the United States in this century was forecast today by the Crop Reporting board of the Department of Agriculture, which attributed the condition to drought damage through the middlewest.

Its report, based on August 1 conditions, indicated the second smallest corn crop since 1901, the smallest wheat crop since 1893 and an oats crop of about one-half of that last year.

The board said the drought had affected a larger area than that in 1930, practically the whole of the United States being injured as of July 1.

Labor Section Of NRA Draws Lawyer's Fire

Constitutionality Questioned By Chicago Pepresentative Of Hosiery Concern; Claim Lodged Against Collective Bargaining At Hearing

Attorney Rebuked

Attack Branded 'Outrageous' By Johnson Labor Adviser; Oil And Other Codes Shape Up Near Completion

BY JAMES P. SELVAGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10. (AP)—The question of the constitutionality of the National Recovery Act was injected formally today for the first time into the campaign of Hugh S. Johnson to blanket the country with Blue Eagle insignas.

With every available official of the NRA concentrated upon the single objective of bringing hours and wages by September 1—the date now set tentatively for clamping on pressure—attorneys for hosiery manufacturers challenged the legality of the recovery act's labor provisions.

Chicagoan Raises Question

The question was raised by Davis R. Clark, a Chicago lawyer, while other hearings were proceeding on permanent codes for the bituminous coal, legitimate theater, underwear and knitting machinery industries.

Meanwhile, Johnson himself was in his office much of the day preparing an address for delivery in Baltimore tonight.

Speaking for the L. and A. Hosiery and other companies, Clark said the section of the law reserving to labor the right to organize and bargain collectively was contrary to constitutional rights under Supreme court decisions.

He contended that by agreeing to the code containing that provision the manufacturers would waive their constitutional rights.

Answer Comes Quickly

This statement itself was challenged sternly by Sidney Hillman, one of Johnson's labor advisers, who labeled the criticism "the most outrageous statement to be made by anyone at any of the hearings."

Among other developments of the day:

1. A revised draft of a code for the oil industry, now being prepared by the recovery administration, was understood in informed quarters to be nearing completion.

2. With a specific reservation against "unsatisfactory wage and rate schedules," Johnson approved a modified reemployment agreement for laundry owners.

Wage Scale Provided

It provided minimum wages ranging from 20 cents an hour in the south to 27 1-2 cents in the north and supplanted a previous agreement approved and then annulled by Johnson because it fixed a 14

Scattered Rains Fall Over Area

Scattered rains, benefiting late feed crops where they fell, were reported in several South Plains areas last night. A heavy shower swept across Lubbock at about 8:30 o'clock, but it was believed to be local.

The Ralls area had about a half an inch, extending to Cone and about as far in other directions. The fall was especially beneficial to feed, but cotton was not needing rain there, it was said.

Rainfall here sent the mercury down from a maximum of 104 at Municipal airport to 72 degrees at 9:15 o'clock. Rain at the flying field was light. Wind from north northeast reached a maximum velocity of 24 miles an hour. In town, rain fell for more than 30 minutes.

Rains fell principally east and northeast. Spur and Lorenzo, however, reported no rain. Crosbyton and Plainview had light showers. The fall was heavier at Floydada. At Petersburg the rain was light, but northwest of there heavy rains were reported.

Littlefield, Levelland and towns northwest and west remained dry. Ropesville and Meadow had very light showers. Only a sprinkle fell at Slaton.

CALLS REPEAL "COWARDLY"

HICO, Aug. 10. (AP) — Senator Morris Sheppard, speaking here today in his fifteenth address during a tour of the 31 Texas senatorial districts, described repeal sentiment as "a cowardly and humiliating retreat from one of the most beneficient measures ever devised for civilized people."

Texas Convicted Slayer, On Pen Furlough, Shot Down On Temple Street

Father Of Boy Slain In 1928 Metes Out Shotgun Justice

(By The Associated Press)

TEMPLE, Aug. 10. — H. D. (Hy) Thompson, out on a furlough from the Texas penitentiary, was shot down and instantly killed here today as he walked down First street by the Temple city park, across the street from the City hall.

Two charges from a shotgun were fired into Thompson's body from close range. They were fired through the rear window of a sedan which sped away and outdistanced officers. A man and woman were in the front seat.

Car Is Traced

Shortly afterward, officers traced the car license and arrested Will Fewell at his home ten miles south of Belton.

Fewell is the father of Carleton Fewell for whose murder at a Belton skating rink on May 16, 1928, Thompson was convicted in district court at Cameron and sentenced to 25 years in prison. Two previous trials in Bell county had resulted in a hung jury.

Fewell was questioned by county Attorney James Evetts but refused to make a statement. He was charged with murder in justice court at Belton in a complaint filed by Deputy Sheriff Nate Ensor. He waived examining trial and was released on $5,000 bond.

Son Shot In Back

Carleton Fewell was shot in the back and killed after an alleged attack upon a daughter of Thompson. Thompson was granted a furlough several months ago to attend the funeral of his daughter, Mabel, who was killed in an automobile accident at Waco. The furlough later was extended.

Thompson, friends said, had feared for his life. Three charges were fired at him, two entering his

Mrs. FDR Protector Of Women In NRA Drive

BY BESS FURMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10. (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is bent on informing herself on exactly what is happening with regard to equal minimum wage for women and men in NRA codes of competition.

The president's wife said at her press conference today she had invited Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, and secretary Frances Perkins to the White House to luncheon tomorrow with that subject in mind.

Several temporary codes now in operation, and some permanent ones being formulated, provide a lower minimum wage for women than for men.

Mrs. Roosevelt explained she had sent them to Johnson and Miss Perkins with her luncheon invitation.

Emphasizing that she had no part in the formulation of the NRA program, Mrs. Roosevelt added:

"But I do have a great interest in social conditions, and when I receive any protest on any subject, I turn it over to the people who are in a position to consider it.

"I have always believed in equal pay for equal work for men and women, and I hope that eventually it will be worked out satisfactorily."

She said, however, that she fully realized there might be "temporary and special things" which would justify a difference—for instance, a lower minimum for women might have to be a temporary expediment in some industries to keep from throwing them out of work.

Freight Rates On Cotton Are Being Studied

Fight Is Promised On Effort To Build Port Interests At Expense Of Interior; Rail Commission's Order Helps

Injury Is Feared

Carl Calloway, Compress Man With Large Holdings, Says Railroad Application, Sans Minimum Schedule, Wrong

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Aug. 10. — Representatives of southwestern carriers met here today at the Texas-Louisiana Tariff bureau to discuss readjustment of railroad rates on cotton moving from neighboring states to Texas and Louisiana ports.

The Texas Railroad commission recently granted lower rates on cotton from interior Texas points to Texas ports, including a 75,000-pound carload minimum schedule.

Aids Interior Compressing

Speakers at the meeting today pointed out that loading 75,000 pounds of cotton in an average railroad car is impossible unless the cotton is compressed and that with lower rates on the 75,000-pound minimum, the tendency would be toward compressing in the interior and shipping to the ports, rather than shipping flat cotton to ports and having it compressed there.

The possibility was discussed that a disparity might arise between intra-state Texas rates and those applicable to neighboring states, with resultant necessity of adjusting rates in those states.

Carl Callaway, representing the firm of Callaway and Reed, which has interior compresses in Tennessee, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, said the railroad application for lower rates, which did not include the 75,000-minimum schedule, would have a tendency to materially injure every phase of the cotton business in the interior and correspondingly benefit it at the ports.

Fight Is Promised

He said any attempt to change the state railroad commission's present schedule would be opposed vigorously. A hearing on the commission's order will be held at Austin August 29.

"The effect of the railroad commission's order is simply to give all sections and all businesses, wherever located, a break," he added.

The railroads have claimed that the move for lower rates made by them was done in order to meet truck competition and that application of the rates sought would have a tendency to equalize the

Texans Will Meet On Highway Plans

AUSTIN, Aug. 10 (AP)—Delegations from more than fifty counties have registered with the Texas Highway commission to present road problems at hearings Monday and Tuesday.

The commission has advertised for bids, receivable Wednesday, for construction estimated to cost $600,000.

County officials and chambers of commerce have been notified that no changes will be made in projects already approved for emergency construction and that it would be useless for them to attend the hearing if they are seeking revisions.

Blue Eagle Will Rule All U. S. Contracts, FDR Says

HYDE PARK, N. Y. Aug. 10. (AP)—President Roosevelt tonight issued an executive order placing all government contracts under the terms of the National Recovery program for shorter working hours and higher wages.

By this move the president made certain that any of the supplies provided in the vast government's public works program must come from concerns which fly the Blue Eagle emblem.

More than $500,000,000 is spent by the government annually. Mr. Roosevelt has a $3,300,000,000 public works plan in operation. He is making sure that the government is fully enrolled behind the new industrial order.

Proposed Code For Hardware Men Discussed

Panhandle-Plains Men Gather For Conference; Hours And Competition Are Talked By 28 From 16 Cities

Twenty-eight hardware store representatives from 16 South Plains and Panhandle towns discussed a proposed code of fair practice for their industry at a meeting in Hotel Lubbock last night.

T. C. Lively, president of Panhandle Hardware and Implement Dealers association, of Pampa, and C. L. Thompson, secretary of the association, of Canyon, explained the temporary hardware code.

Cooperation Pledged

The hardware men proposed a 48-hour week for employes, instead of a 40-hour week, and a store week of 63 hours. Cooperation in the NRA program was pledged, and ways to eliminate unfair competition were discussed informally. Lively presided.

Representatives Listed

Representatives of hardware stores attending were B. L. Davis, O'Donnell; F. F. Rowland, Morton; Joe Schuler, Lorenzo; L. H. Smith, Littlefield; James L. Rucker, Dallas; N. R. Carter, R. C. Tech Postoffice Bids Will Be Opened Here August 14

Bids for a vacancy as clerk in the Texas Technological college branch postoffice are to be opened by L. C. Cole, postoffice inspector, on August 14 here, according to a notice signed by Cole and posted on the bulletin board in the local office.

Bids were opened in June for this contract and two bids were received. Mrs. Anna Vaughan, wife of Acting Postmaster John L. Vaughan, was announced as the low bidder, but apparently her bid has been set aside since new bids are called for. Blanks for making bids may be obtained from W. T. Gaston, Tech business manager, or from Inspector Cole.

New Sets Of Blue Eagles Are Received In Lubbock

A supply of 150 additional sets of National Recovery administration Blue Eagle placards was received yesterday by the postoffice. About 100 merchants had applied for the emblems after the supply was exhausted last week.

No additional names of members of NRA had been posted at the postoffice yesterday, probably due, it was said, to the rush at district headquarters at Houston. Other members' names are expected to be certified to postal authorities here this week-end.

Radio Station Also Approved To Aid Police

Short Wave Station Is To Be Constructed In Next 60 To 90 Days Under Supervision Of Municipal Employes

Permit Is Granted

Use Of Radio To Be Deterrent To Crime Here And In Near Counties, Is Belief; All Departments To Use It

THE 1933 tax rate again was fixed at 60 cents on the $100 valuation and construction of a short wave radio station was authorized by City commission meeting yesterday afternoon in City hall. The station will be used principally by the police department.

The rate set for this year includes a five-cent assessment per $100 for the Board of City Development.

Valuations Reduced

Valuations were reduced from $20,124,000, last year's figures, to approximately $19,300,000. All city funds will go into the interest and sinking fund to pay off bonded indebtedness. Based on the new valuation, the tax is expected to return $106,150 to the city and $9,600 to the BCD. Last year's total assessment for all purposes was $120,000.

Construction of the radio station will begin at once, under the direction of John Graham, municipal power plant superintendent. The federal radio commission already has granted a permit to the city electric department to construct the unit.

To Have Radio Car

All departments of the city, including Municipal air port, will use the radio station when practical, it was said. One police car at first will be equipped with receiving apparatus, and possibly other city-owned automobiles will carry sets later.

Decision to build the station under the city's supervision came after cost of erection by contract had been studied. Cost of materials has been estimated at $443. City commission members inspected a short wave station at Wichita Falls.

After the unit is complete it will be tested and the city then will apply for a federal radio commission permit to operate it, Mr. Graham said. He estimated it would be completed in 60 to 90 days.

Detailed Plans Submitted

Detailed plans for the station were submitted yesterday to City com-

Miners Seek $5 Wage Plus 30-Hour Week, Lewis Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—A $5 daily basic wage and a 30-hour work week for bituminous coal miners was demanded today by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

He presented this claim at a national Recovery Administration hearing on the soft coal operators' code of fair competition during which he contended his organization was the "only stabilizing force which the industry has ever had."

DEARNING ECONOMY

PRACTICING personal and public economies is one lesson the depression has taught women east, west, south and south.

Many women have learned to make their own garments and others have learned the art of buying a practical ready-made wardrobe that will wear well. In the matter of dresses there are women who would feel conspicuous if they were dressed in the mode of the moment. Their clothes must be neat, dignified and conservative but alter very little through the seasons. On the other hand there are women in public life, buyers, executives, teachers, who feel that they must pay more attention to fashions.

The budget has come into prominence within the last four years. Few people can juggle figures well enough to manage a scientific budget but many have learned the wisdom of setting aside a certain amount for actual living expenses and placing the rest of the salary check in reserve for a rainy day.

In matters of public economies attention has been turned to the health of the individual. High aims have included concentrating on the essentials of proper food, comfortable clothes and sanitary living quarters.

CONCERNING THE HAT

IF someone in commenting upon your new fall chapeaux suggests that you look like a Chinaman don't take offense. Take off your hat and look at it and see if he isn't right. China has influenced the hats for autumn. The headgear worn by Chinese coolies has been copied by American designers. The money bag hat is another novelty. The Dutch boy design is also receiving favor in milady's eyes. This has a bill that almost covers one eye, inclines sharply to the side and is a striking resemblance of the headgear of young Hollanders.

High hats, flat hats, crazy hats and classic—you pay your money and you take your pick. Square crowns, round crowns, little crowns, big crowns—you'll see them all in the stores this fall.

THESE SILENT PEOPLE

HAVE you ever tried to converse with a person who didn't talk much? Who answered your queries with a single "yes" or "no" or with utter silence? After you had exhausted the subject of the weather what was your next idea? Not long ago I talked at random for about five minutes to a silent brother of a friend. After hearing my own voice uttering banalities I became desperate. "Wouldn't you like to say something?" I suggested with hauteur. "Oh go right ahead", was the polite rejoinder. "It doesn't bother me". There ought to be a law!

THE TELESCOPE WORD

AND now comes the telescope word formed by stringing the first letters of syallables of words composing a familiar sentence. It has been used for years by certain oil companies but the day may come when it will be legitimate with newspaper desk men. For instance we could compress into the single word "PIJARC" the familiar political theme: "Prosperity Is Just Around the Corner." "Blonde Asks Heart Balm" could be dissolved into "Blackherd." We could even go beyond this. How would you like to receive a card from a friend reading "HAGTWYWH" instead of the age-old "Having a Good Time, Wish You Were Here?" Of course even the youngest know the meaning of "NIRA", and "FDR".

Agents Are To Hold Meetings

District And County Men Are To Direct Wheat Allotment In Texas; Discussions Set At Two Cities Soon

District and county agents of this section of the state are to meet in Plainview August 16 to 18 to study the government proposed wheat allotment program, according to an announcement received here from O. B. Martin, director of the extension service.

The extension service will be in the wheat campaign, as it was in the cotton, the agency being charged by the secretary of agriculture with the responsibility of making clear the provisions of the contract to every grower and of organizing the county and local committees who will swing the job.

Texas Allotment Made

Texas has been alloted 20,384,322 bushels of wheat to be raised in each of the years 1934, 1935 for domestic consumption. This figure represents 54 per cent of the state's five-year average production, taking the 1928-32 period as the basis of figuring.

Two meetings have been arranged for next week, at Mineral Wells Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and at Plainview Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Sterling Evans and John Edmonds, district agent leaders for this area, are expected to be present at the Plainview meeting. It is probable several men from College Station will also attend. Whether Director Martin will be present is not known.

Farmers' Government Cotton Money To Be Mailed To Them, Agent Says

Checks for farmers who sold a portion of their cotton crop to the government are to be sent direct to them from Washington, according to latest information received here.

No indication is given as to when checks are to be mailed. County Agent O. G. Tumlinson, along with other county agents, is sending in his proof of performance notices, correctly signed, as rapidly as possible. Six hunderd of these had been mailed to Washington up to yesterday morning. Several hundred others were mailed last night.

Each form was accompanied by a copy of the acceptance of contract sent each farmer and also an emergency order to plow up cotton.

Clerical Work Nears End

Several hundred more acceptances were received yesterday. Mr. Tumlinson believes that the end of the week will see th clerical work in connection with the campaign about over with.

Many farmers of the county are reported plowing under more than their contract calls for. Community committees have told County Agent Tumlinson that they found more men who exceeded their contracted acreage than they have men who did not plow under the required amount.

In only a few instances has there been any reported plowing under of the wrong cotton or of cotton not covered by the contract.

Nearly all of the inspection work by the committees has been finished. No case of a farmer's refusing to plow under his crop has been reported to the county committee or to Mr. Tumlinson.

Henhouse Mystery Solved By Farmer's Wife; Smart Thieves Use Anaesthetic

ROBERT LEE, Aug. 10. (AP)—Something new in chicken thievery has developed by fowl snatchers of this community. Several hundred chickens have been stolen from Coke county roosts and not a squawk was heard.

It took the keen sense of smell of a farm wife to discover the reason. The thieves had used a spray to put the chickens asleep before they were dropped into a waiting sack.

Residents Of Panhandle Envision A Great Park Of National Importance

AMARILLO, Aug. 10. (AP) — Residents of the Panhandle have begun to envision a park of national importance in the Palo Duro canyon as 600 members of President Roosevelt's civilian conservation corps continue their labors under the supervision of national park engineers.

Two recent proposals have been made which, if carried out, would give the park two features that would mark it as different from others in the nation. One would be the transfer of the Goodnight buffalo herd—called the biggest in the country—to the new park site, the other construction of a museum of natural history to house the fossilized remains of prehistoric life, in which the region abounds, as well as specimens of modern life.

It is likely that no definite movement to place the buffalo herd in the park will begin until the improvements have been completed. Local committees have recalled, however, that the state game, fish and oyster commission at one time proposed to buy the buffalo if the public would furnish a place to keep them. The 14,000-acre park site is considered ideal, and is only a few miles from the point where Colonel Charles C. Goodnight started the herd 55 years ago.

Tentative plans for the museum call for a building of the dugout type, which was the first to come into use on the plains. Specimens recovered by workmen in constructing highways into the canyon will be preserved for the museum. Potter county has agreed to give its zoo to the park, which probably would be located near the museum.

Dalhart Citizens Starting Move For Museum In Section

DALHART, Aug. 10. (AP)—Dalhart citizens have started a move for a museum here. All important fossilized and other archeological finds are now sent elsewhere. Finding of an Indian skeleton, powdered, near Romero, 30 miles west of here, and the skeleton of a hairy mammoth within a mile of the city limits has given the move impetus.

France Gets Seaplane Havens; Coral Isles In China Sea Can Shelter Craft

PARIS, Aug. 10.(AP)—France has added 247 acres to her colonial empire by taking possession of seven tiny coral islands in the China sea between French Indo-China and the Philippines.

Explorers report they are of little value commercially but that they surround lagoons which would afford harbor facilities for seaplanes, submarines and small naval craft.

Isles Long Unclaimed

The islets, harboring thousands of birds and a handful of Chinese fishermen, are marked on the maps as Tempest Island, Itu Aba, Loaita, Thi Tu, Amboyne Key and Twin Isles.

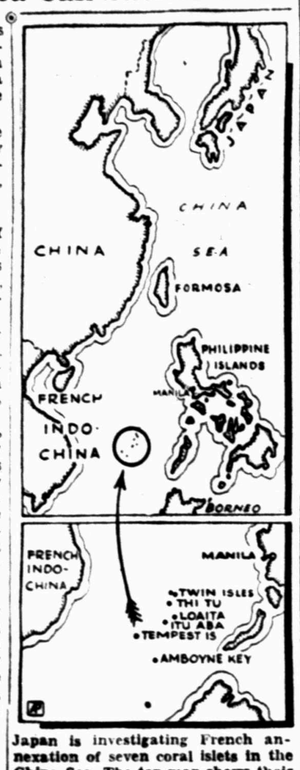

They had been unclaimed by other powers since their discovery in 1867, although Japanese had tried to exploit guano deposits on Itu Aba in 1925. The rench found traces of this old industry.

Formal proclamation of the islands as French territory was made by sailors from the naval dispatch boats "Astrolabe" and "Alerte." They hoisted the French flag on each sandy mound, presented arms while buglers blew "The Colors," and buried bottles containing the statement that henceforth the islands belonged to France.

Turtle Meat Bartered

Human beings were found on only four of the islands. On Tempest, Thi Tu and "the twins" Chinese from Hainan welcomed the sailors. They seemed to be living happily in the midst of banana and cocoanut trees, sweet potato fields and turtles, whose flesh they dried and sent to the mainland in exchange for rice.

The island, after their discovery by the hydrographic ship "Rifleman" in 1867, lay neglected for nearly 50 years. Marine maps marked the area as a "dangerous unexplored region" because ships had struck the coral reefs and sunk there in attempting to follow a direct line from Indo-China to New Zealand.

Japan is investigating French annexation of seven coral islets in the China Sea. The top map shows their location with reference to the Orient as a whole. The detail chart locates them with reference to French Indo-China, Borneo and the Philippines.

Issues Bitter Blast At Foes

San Francisco Lawyer, Known In Lubbock, Scores Permit Granting System; Suggests 'Double Dealers' Be Fired

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—In a final statement as director of the prohibition bureau, A. V. Dalrymple today charged some of his associates with "duplicity, double-crossing and double-dealing" and demanded that they be let out of government service.

He issued his blast to newspapermen just before departing from the office he had occupied more than four months. His position was terminated by President Roosevelt's executive order reorganizing certain government departments, including the prohibition bureau.

Denies Signing Telegram

Major Dalrymple, a San Francisco lawyer, asserted he knew nothing of telegrams which went out under his name notifying the 1,800 employes of the prohibition bureau that they would be severed automatically from the payroll at the close of business yesterday.

In a letter to Attorney-General Cummings he said the telegrams never had been discussed with him and added it was only one of a long list of "multifarious acts of disloyalty" while he was director.

Dalrymple said in a formal statement given newspapermen:

"It is duplicity, double-crossing and double dealing such as was indulged in in this matter that has been practiced on numerous occasions in this bureau by subordinates since I became the director.

Brewery Permits Panned

"I point especially to the manner in which permits were approved from this office to five racketeering breweries in New Jersey and Pennsylvania without the knowledge of the fact being brought to the attention of the director.

"In fact three of these permits were granted before I was ever sworn in as director, one was granted the second day after I was sworn in and the fifth was on the same day that my letter went out to the administrators throughout the country instructing them regarding the granting of permits.

"It is well known that one of the attorneys in this office, J.Bertram Wegman (since dismissed from the service) conversed with Commander John D. Pennington, the prohibition administrator at Philadelphia, and told him over the telephone to approve the permit.

Known In Lubbock

Major Dalrymple is known in Lubbock, his last visit here having been approximately eight years ago when he appeared in the city in a public address in opposition to the Ku Klux Klan.

He is a brother of John Dalrymple, Lubbock paving contractor and constructor, who is prominent in business circles.

The Lindberghs are making an aerial survey in Greenland and Iceland for Pan-American for the purpose of determining the practicability of a trans-Atlantic passenger service.

UPTURN IN ARKANSAS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 10 (AP)—The most hopeful attitude displayed since the state's revenues slumped three years ago was in evidence today as Governor Futrell's Bond Refunding committee continued its conferences with holders of highway and old road district bonds, looking toward a new refunding program that will be acceptable all around.

HUSBAND PLEASED AFTER WIFE LOST BULKY FAT

Reduced 21 Pounds—Skin Clearer and Feels Much Better

"I've lost exactly 21 lbs. with 3 jars of Kruschen and am so happy to get rid of that bulky fat. My husband is very pleased with me. My skin is clearer and I feel so much better since I'm not so heavy on my feet. Friends say I look much better." Mrs. Norma Spickler, Maugansville, Md.

To get rid of double chins, bulging hips, ugly rolls of fat on waist and upper arms SAFELY and without discomfort—at the same time build up glorious health and acquire a clear skin, bright eyes, energy and vivaciousness—to look younger and feel it—take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

One jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle at Mark Halsey Drug or any drugstore the world over. Make sure you get Kruschen because it's SAFE. Money back if not satisfied. adv.

Barnum Must Be Chuckling Over This; They're Still Being Born Every Minute!

DALLAS, Aug. 10 (AP)—Police here today were seeking three men who sold a citizen of Waco a one-third interest in the depot of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railway at Denison.

The man told officers that under the deal he made with the trio he was to receive one-third of all the money paid in at the depot for tickets sold to the World's Fair at Chicago. He said he paid the men $1,100.

PENALTY BILL IN ARGENTINA

Relieve Headache And Quiet Nerves In 3 Minute

When you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, you can get soothing relief in three minutes with "B. C." a reliable, pleasant-to-take remedy. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia; for reducing fever and quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. Scout Fair Trip Plans Being Set

Boy Scouts traveling on a special train scheduled to leave Dallas at 6 p. m., August 19, for Chicago's A Century of Pregress, will be placed under competent leadership at Dallas if not accompanied by leaders from their own localities, D. T. Jennings, South Plains Area council executive, has been informed.

Queries have reflected considerable interest in the train and one Lubbock scout has made a reservation, the executive said Thursday afternoon. The fare, all necessary expenses, from Lubbock to Chicago and return is $36.95, of which $14.85 is to be paid upon making a reservation. Railway fare, meals, lodging, admittance to the world's fair, to two of its principal exhibits, a sightseeing tour, and a boat trip are included. The train will return August 25.

Scouts going from Lubbock will leave here the morning of August 18 for Dallas.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co

Bonds Of Matrimony Near Breaking

WILLIAM POWELL AND CAROLE LOMBARD

RENO, Nev. Aug. 10. (AP)—The brief marriage of Carole Lombard, blonde film star, and William Powell, also of the movies, will end in the Nevada divorce courts tomorrow or Saturday.

The marriage of Powell and Miss Lombard on June 26, 1931, was a surprise to the Hollywood colony. Their separation several weeks ago created an even greater stir, and has been explained only by Miss Lombard's mother, Mrs. E. C. Peters of Los Angeles.

"They just decided all of a sudden that they couldn't agree," said Mrs. Peters.

Miss Lombard is Powell's second wife. His first was Jule M. Powell, also an actress.

Three Negroes Are Held In Jail In Texas Girl's Death

HOUSTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—A 25-year-old negro arrested here in connection with the death of Miss Elsie Jones, 21, who was found beaten to death on a farm near Brookshire late Tuesday, was returned to Hempstead for questioning late today.

The negro was arrested shortly after a description of the negro sought in connection with the case was broadcast. The suspect said he had been employed on farms near Brookshire but denied knowledge of the slaying.

Officers who arrived in Houston to return the negro said that although he was not the one they had been seeking, he would be returned for questioning. Two other negroes being held in La Grange will be questioned Friday, the officers said.

Fuss Follows Flier's Death

Captain Deeds To Be Laid To Rest But Not Argument Now Raging Between Two Women, Each Claiming Rights

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 10. — Legal action was threatened tonight as the climax of a public debate over the bier of a wartime aviator claimed in death by two disputing contenders to widowhood.

The body of Capt. Edward F. M. Deeds, former Royal Flying corps member who shot down eight enemy planes in combat, will be laid to rest here tomorrow—but not, apparently, the argument between Mrs. Betty Deeds and Mrs. Marie Hennessy Shirley Deeds, as to which was the flier's lawful wife.

Court Threat Given

The court action was hinted by Mrs. Marie Deeds, 23-year-old auburn haired movie actress, in refusing to display documentary proof of her marriage.

"My marriage documents? I've got them," she told a questioner, "but I'm not going to show them to a soul until my lawyer arrives from Los Angeles Saturday."

Meanwhile, without the aid of legal talent, Mrs. Betty Deeds, first wife of the soldier of fortune, and Mrs. Marie Deeds, who accompanied the body from China, have publicly and bitterly presented their claims.

Captain Deeds was killed in an airplane crash in the Orient.

Quarrel Is Resumed

The argument started when Mrs. Marie Deeds arrived a week ago at San Francisco with the body and was met by the other woman. It was resumed with vigor today when Mrs. Marie Deeds, escorting Deeds' casket, was met at the train by Mrs. Betty Deeds, who flew here yesterday from Los Angeles.

"He was my husband and you know it," asserted Mrs. Betty Deeds.

"You left him and he married me," retorted Mrs. Marie Deeds. "You want money, insurance, whatever was left."

"Why shouldn't I?? I was his wife seven years. You were with him in China four days," Mrs. Betty Deeds responded.

Oscar (Oscarina) Alligator Given Lubbock Zoo After Two Recipients Of Mystery Gift Read Emily Post

Safe under the sheltering wing of J. A. Dean, Lubbock zoomaster, Oscar—or, perhaps, we should say Oscarina—is the latest thing in wild beasts to be found in the city.

He—or, is it she?—is an alligator, probably about eight months old according to local alligator experts, and a foot long.

The little wiggler arrived yesterday from Jacksonville, Fla., in a nice box addressed to two Avalanche-Journal staff members, Miss Margaret Turner and Chas. A. Guy. Neither of the recipients of the gift have any idea of the identity of the donor although both agreed last night that it was not Santa Claus.

Anyway, Oscar (Oscarina) basked in the newspaper office throughout the day, enjoying repasts of flies fed him by admiring workers. And while that was going on his new owners pondered what one does with an alligator.

After nothing was found along that line in Emily Post's book and Mr. Guy recalled that his premises are chock full of children, the burning question of what to do with Oscar (Oscarina) was passed to Miss Turner.

"Let's present him to the zoo," Miss Turner suggested, and the presentation was made.

Alligators live hundreds of years (so the same experts referred to above claim) and reach a length of 18 feet. Since there are few, if any, alligator haunts in these parts and the Flats are over-run with pickaninnies, the zoo is probably the place for Oscar (Oscarina) after all!

New Oil Code Is Near Completion

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10. (AP) — Completion of a revised trade practice plan for the oil industry was imminent today as recovery administration officials bent every effort to lay it before petroleum leaders early next week.

The code, which will be submitted as a successor to a tentative plan presented by Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, to the industry about two weeks ago, was understood authoritatively to be similar in many respects to the original draft.

CITY CUTS LIGHT RATES

HAMILTON, O. (AP)— Customers of the Hamilton city-owned light plant are becoming accustomed to regular reductions in their electric bills since the city adopted the city manager form of government in 1929. When a reduction of from 21 to 50 per cent went into effect in July this year it was the fifth cut in four years.

Hog Slaughter Plan Approved

Government Measure To Slay Five Million Swine Given Acceleration; Would Help Needy And Feed Shortage

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10. — Five million swine may be led to slaughter in the next few weeks to provide food for the hungry to assist hard-up corn belt farmers.

An emergency program for this action was proposed today to farm administrators by the National Corn and Hog committee of twenty-five and there were indications afterward it would be adopted with modifications.

Weight Limit 235 Pounds

Administrators took part in drafting the plan, which has been endorsed by spokesmen for farm organizations. It would be financed by processing tax on hogs weighing more than 235 pounds and be carried out between August 15 and October 1.

Under the proposal, it is intended that meat would be provided at low cost to the unemployed and destitute and aid given corn belt farmers, confronted by the greatest feed shortage in 50 years as a result of drouth.

President's OK Needed

Administrators intend to work out details within the next 10 days and to put the plan into operation without fundamental change providing President Roosevelt's approval is given.

It is estimated from $35,000,000 to $45,000,000 will be required to finance the program, which is to be followed this fall by the formulation of a long-range policy-applying the farm act to both corn and hog production.

More than 150,000 bearing apple trees were pulled up this year in the Wenatchee, Wash., fruit district to eliminate undesired varieties and thin orchards.

—lagging appetite

There is a reasonable way to correct this condition. Pause and reason. You know that body weakness is frequently the result of a weak blood "picture"—lowering of the red-blood-cells and their hemoglobin—that are so very necessary to strength and vitality.

Then why not try S.S.S.—the proven tonic for decades? Its value has been proved by extensive scientific research and by millions of happy users.

Take S.S.S. and note the way your strength and appetite are restored. Two convenient sizes at all drug stores—the larger size is more economical. Don't permit any one to "switch" you in your determination to restore your red-blood-cells and their hemoglobin content for regaining strength. © The S.S.S. Co.

From 'Way Down Austin Way

Capitol Chatter

By Charles E. Simons

Associated Press Staff Writer

Charles E. Simons

AUSTIN, Aug. 10. (AP)—So far as can be determined at Texas' political clearing house — the capitol — there is a lack of interest among Lone Star voters in the coming election on state and national prohibition questions.

Excepting a few active partisan leaders, there appears to be no excitement among the rank and file on either side of the fence. For the most part capitol prophets are divining other things than the outcome of the election.

Other Issues In Spotlight

Prohibition, mention of which once would have ignited a fiery argument, apparently has been blanketed by developments and issues in nation and state that touch the economic and social life of the people more intimately.

Ex-Governor James E. Ferguson, who occupied the spotlight at the anti-prohibition convention a while back and one of the leaders of the anti-prohibition cause, will make five speeches before the election, mostly about the proposal to issue $20,000,000 in bonds to match federal funds for relief work. Ferguson believes prohibition repeal is "in the bag" and will use "bread and butter" for his text rather than "light wines and beer."

Garner Is Silent

Vice-President John N. Garner, who took a stand in opposition to national prohibition before the Democratic National convention at Chicago and who was one of the congressional leaders for repeal, has maintained an almost complete silence on the subject, apparently preferring fishing and hunting to stumping the state for repeal votes.

The only person of prominence making a partisan appeal in the campaign at this time is United States Senator Morris Sheppard. The Eighteenth amendment is Sheppards "brain child." He was one of its co-authors and has been, perhaps its chief congressional champion.

Even the organizations set up to disseminate propaganda for and against national prohibition repeal have been unusually quiet about their activities. Maybe they are carrying on an undercover campaign, but nevertheless little is heard of it.

Some onlookers figure the clean sweep made by repeal in other states may have taken the edge off the campaign in Texas by making the anti-prohibitionists overconfident and the prohibitionists feel that their best strategy is to work quietly.

East Texas operators who over produced find themselves in a difficult situation as a result of the federal embargo on shipment of oil produced in violation of orders of the Texas Railroad commission.

Reports to the Railroad commission show there are approximately 1,000 loaded tank cars at concentration points and standing on sidings in the East Texas fields. But the cars have nowhere to go because the railroads have been forbidden to move the oil without a certificate from the Railroad commission.

Federal Bars Up

The oil cannot be moved in Interstate commerce because of federal prohibitions and it cannot be transported intrastate because of regulations of the state Railroad commission.

The tank cars are sitting on sidings waiting for the riddle to be solved.

Meanwhile, owners of the oil are in a serious condition. They can't require the railroads to transport the oil to either an interstate or intrastate destination and demurrage rapidly is consuming their investment. Demurrage is at the rate of two dollars a day for the first four days after the free period of 48 hours, and thereafter the charge jumps to five dollars a day.

Average 200 Barrels

Tank cars carry an average of 200 barrels of oil. On the basis of 50 cents a barrel as the value of the oil, it would require only a short time until the railroads in whose cars the oil is being held, could claim the oil for demurrage charges.

What the railroads could do with it presents still another problem, because it still would be illegally produced oil even though acquired by them in a legal way.

The only solution offered is for the railroads to claim the oil for demurrage and use it for fuel, transporting it to the point of utilization as company property.

Many Caught Flatfooted

Prior to the federal ban, railroads had been accepting oil for interstate shipment without certification by the Railroad commission. When the executive order was issued virtually without notice, it caught many operators flatfooted with considerable oil already in tank cars ready for shipment.

The order has been strictly observed by the railroads. On July 14, the day before the interstate shipment ban became effective, 167 cars of oil were moved from East Texas. The next day the movement had dropped to nine cars.

a complaint filed with U. S. Commissioner Victor H. Lindsey. Bond which had not been made late last night, was filed at $300. The woman was arrested about 4:20 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by police who said they found two and a half gallons of whisky and 24 bottles of beer in a model T Ford coupe she was driving.

'American Ambitions' In Japan Are Used In Political Murder Defense

TOKYO, Aug. 10 (AP)—Testimony that fears of "America's ambition" were the motive for the assassination of Premier Suyoshi Inukai and other terroristic acts was given today by Lieut. Horishi Yamagishi, leader of ten naval officers being tried in a naval court on charges of responsibility for those events.

The court heard testimony adduced to prove that Yamagishi was commander of the group of naval officers who entered Inukai's home, and that he gave the command "fire" when the shots which killed the premier were discharged.

The courtroom was ordered to be cleared after the lieutenant made his statement regarding fears of America and the proceedings, which are being held at the Yokosuka naval base were continued in secret.

Yamagishi told the tribunal he and his co-defendants feared that the United States would attempt what he described as further domination of Japan and the Orient at the time of the expected revision of the Washington and London naval accords in 1936.

The group of officers was determined to "attempt the reconstruction of the empire before that crisis arose," the leader testified.

Solving Puzzle Of Creation May Be Aided By Discovery Of Meteoric Dust Streams Traveling Through Outer Space

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 10 (AP) — Great streams of meteoric dust traveling more than 1,800 miles a minute have been discovered by the joint telescopic meteor survey of Harvard and Cornell universities.

Some of them appear to speed at full 140 miles a second. This is fast enough to circle the earth in about three and one-half minutes. Approaching to within about 70 miles of the earth's surface before burning up they promise to open a new chapter in understanding the mysteries of creation.

They almost certainly are slowly causing the earth to grow in size. H. H. Nininger of the Colorado Museum of Natural History estimates that in 60 million years the ordinary visible meteors burned to dust in the atmosphere would cover the earth with a blanket 19 feet thick. The far more numerous telescopic meteors are not included in this estimate.

Until two years ago, when the Cornell-Harvard studies began in Arizona, little was known about the streams. They cannot be seen with the unaided eye, but only with low-power telescopes.

Out Of The Unknown

They are no part of the solar system but come from unknown distances out in space. They average two or three to a cubic mile. On very clear nights those seen are about 10 times as numerous as the visible meteors.

Nearly 3,000 of them have been charted. Of these the velocities of 700 have been computed by Dr. Ernest Opik of Tarto observatory, Esthonia, at present foreign associate of Harvard college observatory.

The speediest show velocities more than twice the high speeds observed for the larger, visible meteors. A speed of more than 26 miles a second is taken to mean that a meteor is not traveling under the dominance of the sun's gravitation but is a visitor from outer regions of space.

Prof. S. L. Boothroyd, professor of astronomy at Cornell, says the observations to date show some indications that there are two or three main streams for the majority of telescopic meteors. A minority appear to have random directions.

One of the streams, Professor Boothroyd says, appears to lie in the same plane as the earth's orbit. The particles in this stream move away from the sun, as if the great star were repelling them. It is possible that the pressure of sunlight and other solar radiation drives these particles away from the sun with sufficient force to overcome the solar gravitational pull.

It is to such pressure of light, upon particles as minute as these little meteors, that the astronomers generally ascribe the habit of comets' tails of pointing always away from the sun.

May Be Parts Of Worlds

If these telescopic meteors are as small as the light pressure observations indicate, they come within the range of matter created out in the "cold" depths of space under the cosmic ray hypothesis of Dr. Robert A. Millikan.

Another theory to account for them holds that they may be fragments of worlds, perhaps like ours in distant parts of space — worlds smashed to powder by some cataclysm whose nature is not now even guessed.

Newly-discovered streams of meteoric dust coming from space outside the solar system are believed to build new earth crust continuously. The black spots on the map show verified falls of meteors in the United States. The photograph (bottom) of part of the moon's surface shows craters sometimes said to be holes from meteor impacts.

Leader Wants Better Setup

Speculators Draw Stiff Jolt From Administrator; Board Of Trade At Chicago Given Sharp Criticism

BY ROY F. HENDARICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10. (AP)—Dissatisfaction with the proposed code of competition presented by grain exchanges was voiced today by George N. Peek, chief farm administrator, who declared further steps were necessary "to clean house."

At the same time, he told newspapermen governing bodies of grain exchanges should exclude from their membership persons actively engaged "in trading and speculation." He described this as "an essential change."

Some exchanges, he said, now have conduct committees from which active traders and speculators have been excluded, but he added that the Chicago Board of Trade, the largest trading center in the country, is "not one of them."

Seeks Public Confidence

Peek added representatives of exchanges have shown a "disposition to cooperate in reforming exchange practices," and that he believes many changes are necessary in order to "justify public confidence in the exchanges as the principal market for the farmer's grain."

"Obviously we do not want to destroy the present marketing machinery unless something better is provided," Peek said, adding in answer to a question that he has no program to offer as a substitute for exchanges at this time.

Makes Suggestions

He outlined four suggestions he has made to exchange representatives which he said should be the basis for additions to the exchange code:

"1. That they do a thorough job of cleaning up their own organization and practices so that they might stand up in the light of public opinion.

"2. That the personnel of their business conduct committees should not be made up of active traders or speculators, but that they should be so selected as to warrant public confidence.

"3. That special people should be employed for the particular purpose of policing trades.

"4. That exchanges cooperate fully with the grain futures administration in Washington and through the local representatives of that administration in the cities where they are stationed."

Amarillo Artist Digs Up Old Coins; He Remembers Poker Games On Blankets

AMARILLO, Aug. 10 —Five silver dollars, badly tarnished after being buried for several years, were found by Ben Carlton Mead, Amarillo artist, while digging a sewer ditch at his new home at the head of Palo Duro canyon.

Several small coins also were found, no two in the same place. All the coins were more than 30 years old. Mead, who has illustrated several of Frank Dobie's stories of buried treasure and has made a study of Southwest lore, scouted the treasure theory, but recalled the custom of old-time cowboys of playing poker on a saddle blanket. He said the money might have been lost during a fight.

NEWS! EXTRA ANTI-KNOCK VALUE is now added to every gallon of Phillips 66

No increase in price!

Phillips 66 is "Running Away" with the Business in 17 States

Before you buy your next tankful of gasoline, think of what the following figures tell you about the quality and value of Phillips 66:

In 1928 we started with 2 service stations. Today we have 10,654. In 5 years, sales of Phillips 66 have sky-rocketed from nothing to four hundred and fifty million gallons a year!

Experienced oil men marvel at this spectacular growth, unparalleled in the industry. But they know why Phillips is "running away with the business" in the 17 states in which it is for sale.

They know that Phillips 66 was introduced at a time when most motorists thought all gasolines were alike—except high test gas, which sold for 3¢ extra per gallon.

To offer sensational and self-demonstrating value, Phillips decided to sell this premium quality without a premium price. We were in a unique position to do this, because Phillips was and is the world's largest producer of natural high gravity gasoline.

In addition, we put another extra value into our gas. We pioneered CONTROLLED VOLATILITY which scientifically pre-suits every gallon of gas you buy to your weather, at the time you buy it. And month by month, we publish our actual gravity (high test) in plain figures.

For example, Phillips 66 gravity this month ranges from 62.1° to 67.9°.

Now, higher anti-knock is added to this high test by a special process hitherto available only in gasolines sold at a premium price.

See if you don't feel the difference Phillips 66 makes in your motor. Its high test and higher anti-knock will add power, pep, and miles. Will give flashier get-away and greater flexibility.

Get acquainted with the economy and finer performance of this greater gasoline by Phill-ing up with Phillips at any Orange and Black 66 shield. That's where high test costs nothing extra. That's where you also get Phillips 66 Motor Oil—a greater value than ever, now that its price has just been reduced 16⅔%.

Third Coaching School Ends Today; Dates For 1934 School Announced

Kerr To Write Finis To Tech Mentor School

Fourth Annual School To Be Held July 31-August 13 in 1934, Cawthon Announces At Session Yesterday

Finis will be written to another Texas Tech coaching school today when Andrew Kerr, IV, popular head of Colgate University's football department, brings his series of fascinating interpretations of the Warner of "double wingback" system to a close.

Pete Cawthon, head coach at Texas Tech and foremost promoter of the school, announced yesterday that dates for the fourth annual Texas Tech coaching school will be July 31 to August 13, corresponding with this year's dates.

Invitation Is Expressed

Invitation to all coaches attending the 1933 school to return next year is expressed by Cawthon, who believes next year's school will attract many more coaches than the present. Personnel of the staff of instructors for the 1934 school will be announced early next year, Cawthon said, upon the conclusion of the 1933 football season. Names of popular coaches will be submitted by mail to prospective students who will make the definite decision by popular vote regarding instructors for the next school.

Kerr, who has delighted and benefitted approximately 200 coaches from 20 states since he took charge Monday morning, will follow Ed Gallagher of Oklahoma A. and M. and Craig Ruby of the University of Illinois on the final day's program.

Coaching school activity has been doubled during the last two days in order to wind the affairs up today.

Many of the visiting coaches took their departure yesterday, although the bulk of the original enrollment of approximately 250 mentors will remain through the final session today.

Instructors Are Praised

On every hand there is outspoken approval of the work done by the visiting mentors during the last two weeks. Full of pep and carrying on in his usual fiery and loquacious manner, the diminutive coach of Colgates undefeated and unscored-against Maroons of 1932 was praised highly by exponents of other systems as well as by followers and teachers of the Warner system.

It was said of Craig Ruby, young basketball coach at Illinois, by a coaching school veteran who has seen and heard nearly all of the recognized authorities on baseball that he, Ruby, although he might not be the most successful coach in the country so far as winning championships was concerned, knew and could teach more basketball fundamentals in a day than other ranking mentors could put out in a week. His classes have been well attended this week, and there has been much praise regarding his work.

E. C. Gallagher, director of athletics and wrestling coach at Oklahoma A. and M. college, also was praised for his lectures on physical education and his demonstrations in wrestling. With him are four Oklahoma Intercollegiate conference wrestlers who assist him in his demonstrations.

Although the ring classes naturally do not attract as many coaches as do the football and basketball lessons, Gallagher and C. M. Woodbury, boxing coach at New Mexico Military institute, have been closely followed in their work this week. Woodbury brought to a close his lectures and demonstrations on boxing yesterday morning.

A stag banquet for visiting coaches and civic leaders of Lubbock was staged at Hotel Lubbock last night. The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce provided the dinner.

A farewell dance is scheduled for tonight at Hotel Hilton.

Exporters Defeat O. C. Tribe Twice

BEAUMONT, Aug. 10. Schulz let the Redskins down with three blows in the opener, Willingham's homer giving the visitors their lone run. Lefty Chamberlain, Lefty King and Matuzak divided the mound work for the Redskins in the nightcap, Chamberlain being charged with the loss.

McKee Team Wins Over Feds, 9 To 2

Except for an error in the ninth that let in a couple of scores, the A. W. McKee team of the American softball league might have scored a shutout victory over the Federal Employees. As it was, the game ended, 9 to 2, favoring the McKee company.

Four double plays were executed by the hustling Wholesalers in their game yesterday. Pitcher Cooper was stingy with hits and was backed by a stout infield.

A scheduled National league game between City Hall and West Texas Gas company was not reported.

Mangin And Wood Leaders In Eastern Court Championship

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 10. (AP)—Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., and Sidney B. Wood, jr., New York, led the way into the semi-final brackets in the men's singles of the eastern grass court championships today, eliminating Jack Tidball, National intercollegiate titlist and John Van Ryn, Davis Cup player, respectively.

Mangin, the Newark bulldog, seventh in the national ranking, went three sets in disposing of Tidball, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, while Wood, ranked fourth eliminated Van Ryn 6-3, 6-3.

The women's doubles quarter-finals were completed, the favorites advancing, although one seeded team was eliminated.

Van Wie Leads Way Into Semi-Finals Of Western

CHICAGO, Aug. 10. (AP)—Firing off a round of crackling sub-par golf, Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, the national champion, led the way into the semi-finals of the Women's Western title tournament today at the Oak Park Country club.

Getting better with each round, Miss Van Wie hit the peak in defeating Jane Armstrong, a young Chicagoan, 3 and 2. Going out she had a 36, three under women's par, and equal to even figures for men, nullifying some excellent shooting by Miss Armstrong.

Elizabeth Abbott of Los Angeles came from behind to eliminate Mrs. Melvin Jones of Chicago, the 1921 tournament winner, one up.

Teaches Boxing

New Mexico Military Institute is popular all over the Southwest as a school that harbors good collegiate boxers. That's one reason why Captain C. M. Woodbury, above, was selected to teach boxing at the Texas Tech coaching school, which ends today. Woodbury coaches the N.M.M.I. boxers, and has turned out some high class pugilists. He's no stranger here, having accompanied the Cadets to Lubbock last winter when Texas Tech athletes met them in boxing and wrestling contests.

A nine-foot board mence is being built around one of Northwestern university's football practice fields to make secret practice really secret next fall.

Washington had to come from behind as a bit of wobbly fielding in the fourth and a freak triple by Marty McManus gave the Sox a 3-0 start.

One-Day Tourney Draws Men Of 19 Counties

The third annual South Plains Invitation golf tournament, to be held August 20 at the Meadowbrook club, is expected to draw nearly all of the leading strokers of 19 South Plains counties, Bill McMillan, tournament manager, said yesterday.

Valuable prizes will be offered to winners and runners up in each flight.

Players are to shoot an 18-hole qualifying round on Sunday morning. The resultant scores will determine into which flight entries will fall for the final 18 holes of the afternoon. Based on medal play, the winners in each flight will be determined by the total 36-hole score.

The tournament is the third of its kind held at Meadowbrook. Edgar Doherty, Lubbock High school graduate, member of the Country Club team, is defending champion.

There will be no tournament entry fee, McMillan explained. The fifty-cent green fee will cover all charges.

GOLF — By ART KRENZ

Stars vary in grip and stance, but there are certain fundamentals they all follow closely.

Here is the first of six essentials of the golf stroke that must be followed—and if diligently practiced and closely observed, surely will help your game.

Fundamental No. 1 deals with the start of the backswing. In starting the club back, the first movement never should be made by the wrists alone, nor should the club be lifted by the right hand. Instead the swing should start with a push from the left side through the extended left arm, involving a direct turn of the hips and shoulders.

If this is done correctly, the clubhead will be the last thing to move, and will be dragged away from the ball, lagging behind the hands—then carried straight back, low and close to the ground.

This motion will encourage a free hip turn and fundamental No. 2, which is the correct pivot.

Double-header baseball games draw because they are novelties and would lose their attraction if they were made daily occurrences, in the opinion of General Manager Billy Evans of the Cleveland Indians.

BLUE MOUNDS CLUB, Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 10.—Recovering the price approach shots that made history in his National open playoff against Bobby Jones back in 1928, Johnny Farrell of New York knocked Olin Dutra off his professional golf championship throne today.

Farrell repulsed a stubborn comeback by the big champion from Los Angeles, calmly negotiated a partial stymie on the final green, and marched into the quarter finals of the title fight with a one-up victory.

Big Shots Survive

Joining the former National open titleholder in the quarterfinals as contender after contender shattered par over the short Blue Mound Country club layout were Jimmy Hines, co-medalist from the Timber Point club, New York; Tom Creavy of Albany, N. Y., the 1931 champion; Willie Goggin, star of the darkhorse contingent from Salada Beach, Calif.; Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., and Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del., American Ryder Cup stars; the veteran John Golden, Noroton, Conn., and Gene Sarazen, who turned back a serious challenge by "Light Horse" Harry Cooper to win easily, 4 and 3.

Looking more like the Farrell of 1928 as he forged ahead to tomorrow's battle with Golden, Johnny was forced to fight a great battle before he sent Dutra out of the tournament. Five down after 28 holes, Dutra tossed all caution to the winds, slashed out prodigious tee shots and reckless approaches that found their mark to win four of the next five holes with a dazzling come-back, shaving Johnny's lead to one hole.

Johnny stopped the spirited rally on the 34th green by sinking a five foot putt for a birdie two, only to have the champion win the next to retain a fighting chance.

The finishing hole, surrounded by a gallery of several thousand excited spectators, was a dramatic climax for golf. Recovering beautifully from the rough, Dutra arched his second shot 15 feet from the pin, inside of Farrell's. Farrell putted safely to within five feet of the cup and Dutra, giving his putter a kiss to add a touch of comedy to the final act, putted.

His ball rimmed the cup twice and landed in front of Farrell's ball. It would have been a dead stymie except for a slightly undulation on the putting surface, and Johnny dropped his final putt to win.

Farrell was one over par for the 36 holes, shooting a 68 in the morning and 73 in the afternoon.

Cooper gave Sarazen a battle for 13 holes, after which Gene applied the pressure. He shot three birdies and two pars on the finishing holes of the morning round and went to lunch with a four up advantage that he protected all the rest of the way. He meets Dudley tomorrow in the feature match of the lower and harden bracket.

Espinosa Is Beaten

Googin was the heaviest scorer of the round. Five under par for 29 holes, he routed Al Espinosa of Akron, O., a 1928 finalist, by the most decisive margin of the round, 9 and 7.

Creavy survived by leading Frank Walsh of Chicago, last year's finalist, all the way and winning 2 and 1.

Paul Runyan, one down at noon, came from behind to eliminate Johnny Revolta, Menominee, Mich., youth, 2 and 1.

Dudley's victim was Clarence Clark of Bloomfield, N. J., conqueror of Horton Smith yesterday. Even better after the morning round, Dudley started putting beautifully and came home in front 3 and 1.

In another hard match which saw the lead alternating frequently, Golden defeated Bobby Cruickshank of Richmond, Va.

Hines meets Creavy and Googin tackles Runyan tomorrow in the upper bracket.

Congressman Urges Officials To Support Bond Issue And President's Recovery Plan In Final Session

(By The Associated Press)

MIDLAND, Aug. 10 (AP)—Congressman R. E. Thomason appealed for support of a $20,000,000 relief bond issue in Texas to be submitted August 26 in a statewide election, in an address today before the final session of the West Texas Sheriffs' association convention.

The convention selected El Paso as its next meeting place. Officers will be elected next February.

Praises President

Thomason, introduced by Paul T. Vickers of Midland, appealed for support of the National Recovery administration, asserting President Roosevelt was "one of the greatest men of all time in America."

The program included a round-table discussion of means for closer affiliation of the district association and a proposed state peace officers' association.

Sheriff Audey Francis of Midland was host to the sheriffs at a barbecue and the visitors were guests of John M. Gist at a melon feast.

Hey Nonny-Nonny And A Hotcha-Cha Rules Dinner For Coaches; Hilarity Takes Place Of Reason On Program

Coaches and a few Lubbock residents were entertained with a hilarious banquet program last night at Hotel Lubbock. Most of the 125 guests are attending Texas Tech's annual coaching school.

Dr. I. E. Barr, chamber of commerce president and the toastmaster, was one of two men scheduled on the program who had a chance to speak.

Dickson Is "Mayor"

Mayor J. J. Clements was introduced to give the welcome address. Before the mayor was on his feet, the coaches were being welcomed by B. C. Dickinson. Frank Root of Manhattan, Kans., responded to the welcome.

Pete Cawthon of Tech was introduced as the next speaker, but his address was given by Lil Dimmitt of Beaumont who presided during most of the program. Persons introduced for speeches, with the names of coaches who represented them, were: Dutchy Smith, represented by P. E. Shotwell of Breckenridge; Del Morgan, by Les Cranfill of Abilene; Ed Gallagher, by Buddy Savage of Beaumont; Craig Ruby, by Red Willis of Marshall; Andy Kerr, by Matty Bell of College Station.

Chamber of commerce was host at the banquet, an annual affair in connection with the coaching school. Following the banquet Craig Ruby addressed coaches on basketball.

May Name Dallas-Wichita Falls Road For Boswell

DALLAS, Aug. 10 (AP) — Homer D. Wade, former vice president and general manager of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, in a letter to J. W. Slaughter, member of the chamber's highway committee, today suggested that the northwest highway from Dallas to Wichita Falls be named for the late John Boswell, at the time of his death manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce.

"The road is a monument to the energy and intelligence of John Boswell," Wade said, referring to work done by Boswell in obtaining right-of-way for the highway and otherwise aiding in advancing the project.

She mixes 1 1-3 cups of flour with 2 tablespoons of salt, adds 1-2 cup warm water, 1 tablespoon kerosene, 2 tablespoons vinegar and 2 tablespoons ammonia and cooks in a double boiler, stirring until smooth. It is then kneaded until elastic.

Life—Real And Earnest

YEARS ago a great poet wrote "Life is real, Life is earnest"—and he wrote the truth of his own day.

But his words would be doubly true were he living today, for never has life been more real or more earnest. Never, not even in war-torn strife, have men seen a more momentous time.

In Lubbock and throughout this territory we have only had a slight indication of the great wave of depression which has swept the world. Our conception of its is not clear; in fact, probably the best insights we have had into today's life in the raw have come to us through the printed page and through the few motion pictures which have dealt faithfully with conditions.

But we realize, in a dim sort of way, that a broad and bloodless revolution has been taking place—and is still taking place all over this land of ours.

Great experiments are taking place, experiments which touch the lives of every one of our 125 millions of people and which will touch the peoples of every nation in the world. Life, basic life, is slowly changing under deft manipulations of a governmental administration not afraid to do and dare.

As David Lloyd George so recently said, England (as well as the rest of the civilized world) is gazing spellbound at the United States; listening to the roar of tremendous events surging across the calendar.

There is a roar as of deep thunder, echoing across land and sea today, telling civilization that America has pronounced a new declaration of freedom, has thrown off the political shackles of 1800, under the compulsion of industrial evolution.

Life is real today, all right.

And grimly earnest as a great nation forges ahead.

COPPER'S USE GROWS

What can be done under the pressure of urgency finds current illustration in the copper industry.

For several years, this metal has been in light demand. With other industries in which it is used restricting operations, it became a drag on the market. Leaders in the industry recognized that to increase its uses would mean more profitable markets. Laboratory investigations and experiments were begun. As a result of these copper's usefulness has been multiplied many times.

The chief thing leading to this was development of a process of electro-deposition of copper on a lead-faced cylinder. By the use of this process it now is possible to obtain sheet copper 30 inches wide in rolls of indefinite length and uniform thickness.

Among the new uses thus given copper is that of a roofing material. The latter is made by binding the copper sheet to heavy cotton fabric that has been impregnated with asphalt. It is said to have five times the strength of ordinary roofing and it can be easily laid.

Until the new process was developed it was impossible to obtain sheet copper of a greater width than six inches, which greatly limited its uses. Among the new uses to which it already is being put is that of greeting cards, indestructible covers for books and recorder paper that is not affected by humidity or atmospheric changes. Development of other uses is predicted. Architects already are experimenting with copper sheet as a modernistic wall paper.

Other industries may find in the case of copper a lesson which they may be able to apply to themselves. The chemical laboratory may show them the way to enlarged profits.

The reason the postoffice department's deficit is not larger is because of the number of slow pays who must be dunned and dunned and dunned.

This age, for some reason, seems to be more interested in the cave man than in the man of the future.

The news comes from London that Sir Harry Lauder is contemplating a farewell tour of America.

"Winter is the shortest season, consisting of only 89 days and a half an hour." But then, as Dora points out, the nights are longer.

It is strange the Pullman people put up year after year with huge losses of linen, rather than put in embroidered guest towels.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Deliver me in thy righteousness, and cause me to escape: Incline Thine ear unto me, and save me.

Be Thou my strong habitation, where unto I may continually resort: Thou hast given commandment to save me; for Thou art my rock and my fortress.—LXXI: 1-2-3.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

ADMINISTRATION weather forecasters are getting their storm coats out against the first week in October.

That is when the American Legion holds its annual convention—this year in Chicago, seat of A Century of Progress.

Backstage mutterings have given the Roosevelt wire-pullers a distinct idea the New Deal Special is apt to run into the first log on its tracks at this junction.

Those surrounding the President have known for some time that the Republicans were going to make an issue—if possible—out of the administration's Economy Act which cut the living daylights out of payments to war veterans.

The wall is covered with handwriting that would direct one to the Legion convention to see the start of the show. An issue of national proportions for next year's Congressional elections is the ultimate goal.

STYMIE: It would be foolish to think the White House is going to be caught napping. Well-directed from administration quarters for several days is intended to stymie any soldier uprising.

There is considerable reason to believe President Roosevelt might undertake a personal appearance before the American Legion if the situation doesn't cool off.

He has a good excuse. He's been promising to attend the World's Fair ever since it opened.

When Herbert Hoover was President and the Legion was meeting in Detroit the Republicans were trying to block the bonus. Mr. Hoover rushed out to the Michigan city and made himself a 45-minute stay and a 15-minute speech. He partly succeeded but didn't get such a good reception.

Party leaders feel that F.D.R. is in a far better strategic position to battle the vets face to face on the proposition of their allowances for war injuries, real or fancied.

Today the country at large is standing behind the Executive Mansion because it's afraid to stand anywhere else.

PROGRAM: Legionnaires in a position to know say privately that the rank and file will try to stir up a showdown at Chicago. They want two things:

1. Immediate repeal of the Economy Act which cut some $300,000,000 from their annual payments.

2. Amendment of the Legion's constitution so as to permit the organization to participate openly and actively in national politics with a view to "electing friends and defeating enemies."

Leaders admit the prospect of a close fight on the first proposal at least.

POLITICS: As matters are shaping up it looks like a Democratic-Republican fight for selection of a new National Commander.

Col. Louis Johnson, present Legion head and an active West Virginia Democrat, is being accused by many members of unduly playing the administration's game at their expense. It is reported the so-called liberals are looking for a Republican as their candidate in October. The idea is he can't be smothered by the Roosevelt forces. They count on a lot of Democratic support within the Legion because they feel personal indignation will blanket national political ties.

Legion dopesters had expected the retiring commander would support Col. Monroe Johnson, of S. C. The latter recently has been placed in an important regional post with the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, however. This may bear on his availability.

In any event the fight will be paradoxical. Democrats and Republicans will be fighting for principles they used to oppose.

NOTES: Recent reinstatement of Louis R. Glavis, chief of the Interior Department's Division of Investigation, to fill civil service status recalls the first time the late Speaker Joe Cannon suffered a setback in his iron-handed rule of the House. . . . Glavis was ousted in the Ballinger-Pinchot row during the Taft administration over Alaskan coal land grabs. . . . A Congressional investigation was ordered but when Cannon undertook to name the House members of the Committee, George W. Norris (now Senator) led a fight that forced the House itself to name them. . . . When a friend asked a Congressional secretary why he didn't sleep in his air-cooled office in the new Senate Office Building during the hot spell, he replied, "It can't be done. They shut the system off nights to prevent it."

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

IF you look at the published figures you might get the impression that the New York banks are taking a beating on deposits. The last three weeks alone show a decline of about $167,000,000.

But things are not always what they seem. The banks have no particular cause to worry. They are just gracefully deflating their gorgeous June 30th statements.

The padding of deposits before statement days is an old banking custom, where competition is keen. This June it was carried further than usual. One large New York bank was especially anxious to make a strong showing and made elaborate preparations. The other banks got wind of it and said they'd be darned if that institution was going to get ahead of them. So they went and did likewise. It was all good clean fun and not a soul was hurt.

The way it works is this: A bank goes to its biggest customers and asks them if they would accept a nice fat loan of perhaps a few millions for fifteen or thirty or sixty days. It is understood that the customer is not to use the money but simply to leave it on deposit. The customers are usually willing to play. They know they might want the bank to do them a favor some day.

There's nothing nefarious about the practice. The best banks do it. The funny thing is that the weekly Clearing House reports show plainly that average deposits are way below those published in statements. But the statements are broadcast and the reports are never seen outside New York. So the country rates the banks on their statements.

REFUNDING: A few fortunate corporations have found a way out of the refunding maze. Banks are willing to make loans against almost any collateral which can be rediscounted at the Federal Reserve. Certain types of inventory loans come in this category. Therefore it is possible for some companies to raise money against inventories and use this and other cash to pay off maturing obligations. Some banks expect to make a profitable sideline out of this kind of business which involves good profits and no risks.

Of course it may take fancy bookkeeping to bring about the desired result. But it can be done. In fact it has been done in one important case already.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ELINOR STAFFORD, 20, falls in love with 35-year-old BARRETT COLVIN who has made a name for himself as an archeologist. He is about to ask her to marry him when her jealous, scheming mother, LIDA STAFFORD, interferes and succeeds in breaking up the romance.

When Elinor's aunt, wealthy MISS ELLA SEXTON, dies she leaves her entire fortune to Barrett. Then drunken VANCE CARTER shoots BENTWELL STAFFORD, Elinor's father. Barrett, who does not want the Sexton fortune, tells Elinor that if she will marry him and live as a guest in his home for a year he will give the entire sum to her to divide among the relatives. Knowing the money may save her father's life, Elinor agrees.

The marriage takes place next day. Barrett finds himself more in love with Elinor than ever. Then one day he sees her with BOB TELFARE and his suspicions that she is a heartless flirt are renewed.

The doctor orders a change of climate for Elinor's father and she goes to Aiken with him.

Years before Barrett shielded his half-sister, MARCIA, when a youthful romance ended disastrously. Marcia had a son whom Barrett adopted. Barrett has promised Marcia never to tell anyone the truth about the boy.

Lida Stafford asks Barrett for $30,000 and he refuses. Angry, she sets detectives on his trail. They follow Barrett when he goes to see his ward, GERALD MOORE.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIV

Barrett, riding homeward after his visit with Gerald, decided that he would run down to Aiken without forewarning Elinor of his coming. It was a small form of spying, he knew. He quieted his conscience by telling himself that he might thus discover the extent of her failure to keep their agreement and to deal with the situation before any gossip had begun to be whispered. He did not want her a subject for gossip. It would destroy her last chance to amount to anything.

Yes, he would go down without telling her that he was coming. And he would then learn the truth. He had forgotten how, months before, he had warned Miss Ella Sexton that one finds what one is looking for.

Nearing the suburbs of New York he decided to make the trip by airplane. The need to be there was urgent. It was partly his ardent wish to see Elinor and save her from the danger into which her undisciplined feet might lead her and partly his flaming, jealous determination to put Bob Telfare in his place.

He would show young Telfare where he belonged. He would show him that Barrett Colvin's wife was not to be involved in cheap flirtations. Where had she been those long afternoons spent with Bob Telfare in New York? He told himself he must not think of that now. If he did he would go mad.

So he came to the conclusion that the sooner he reached Aiken the better. He would say, "Elinor, I am much older than you are. I have decided that for the rest of the year while our marriage endures you are not to see Bob Telfare."

As coolly and as kindly as he could he would say it. She was young. She had had little chance, Suddenly he heard Elinor's low voice saying, "Check!" and saw her impish smile as she looked across the chess men at him. Again he was aching for her.

Higgins packed his clothes that night and made a reservation for the air trip. The plane was to leave at 10 next morning. He would arrive at Aiken between five and six in the afternoon. Barrett spent a busy evening. There were several matters to which he must attend before his start. It was just possible that he might linger at Aiken. It all depended. The house had been lonely and quiet and he had, he thought with contrition now, been rather hard on Elinor. After all, she was little more than a child.

He would reason with her quietly and gently, make himself understood and then insist on her obedience. After that he would say, "We must be friends. These past weeks have been hell!"

What would he not give to hide his eyes against her throat after that! But that, of course, was impossible. She didn't care. It was easy enough to see that! It was altogether too easy to see it! He had been mad to think as he had, even for a short space, that she cared or could care for him.

Elinor, at that very moment, stood on a terrace bathed in moonlight and thought of Barrett with a tightening of her heart. She knew that she would love him always. No matter what he thought of her, what she did or how he scorned her. A line some modern poet had written sang in her heart. "Life's a quest and love's a quarrel." If that were true Barrett perhaps, in a tempered way, loved her.

But she would not allow herself to dream thus. Again and again she had had such dreams, only to bruise herself against the unyielding wall of his will. She turned toward the house. The moonlight had suddenly become unbearably beautiful and a taunt.

When Barrett appeared in Aiken late the next day he found just what he had expected to find. Bob Telfare sat on the terrace with Elinor, waiting for her to pour his tea. Barrett saw them as the rickety automobile he had hired at the station chugged and struggled up the hill. Bentwell Stafford was nearby in a wheel chair. He made a convenient blind, Barrett thought bitterly. A young man could appear to ask about the father and linger to make love to the daughter.

Bentwell Stafford turned a thin, pale face toward the rising, winding drive. "There's someone coming," he announced. He had always spoken slowly and weakness intensified the old habit.

"I wonder who it can be?" Elinor put in, not caring much. She was strangely at peace. A bitter, sleepless night had been followed by an unusually pleasant day. Bob had seemed the understanding friend instead of looking at her, as he sometimes did, in a way that made her more miserable. Above all things Elinor did not want to hurt Bob as she herself had been hurt, knowing how painful heartache can be. She had been happier too because her father seemed a little better that day.

"Two lumps, isn't it, Bob?" Elinor asked.

"Yes, two."

Bentwell Stafford looked at the young man with pitying eyes. Bentwell understood. Bob reached quickly for a cigaret. He was smoking too much these days, he realized.

The motor was pulsing before the house. Soon the maid would step from one of the French windows that opened on the terrace, bringing a card tray. Then Elinor would disappear. Bentwell wasn't strong enough to see many visitors.

"Your tea, Bobby."

"Thank you."

But the maid did not step from the long window. Instead Barrett Colvin rounded the corner of the house and moved swiftly toward the group. He called out with mock heartiness, "Well, this is fine!"

Elinor rose, flushing. "Barrett!" she cried under her breath.

Bob's heart broke anew as he saw Barrett hold Elinor close and kiss her, saw her clinging to him while tears brimmed in her eyes. Barrett did not see those tears. He had turned swiftly, blinded by the emotion of the moment, to Bentwell Stafford.

"It's good to see you out!" Barrett murmured, his hand in Bentwell's.

"And it's good to be out."

"Bob—" Barrett said next. Short that greeting and short the hand clasp.

"My Lord!" Bob reflected hotly. "Does he thing I'm cutting in? Does he think I could—with Elinor?"

"Any tea for me?" Barrett asked as he dropped to a solid garden chair near the small table.

"Plenty! Its so good to see you!" she answered. She was sitting in a wicker chair with a spreading peacock back. It framed her and made her seem delicately small. The gold of her autumn brown hair was accented by a jaunty sport frock of gold colored linen. With her abbreviated skirt and flat heeled shoes she looked no older than 16.

"Barrett," she murmured, "this is the pleasantest surprise!"

He said, "I hope so." W thought was, "You beautiful liar!"

"I had no idea you were ing—"

"I know you hadn't." She di catch the implication but Bob fare did and his level-looking grew morose. If Colvin th Elinor was that sort of a chea decided, Colvin was a rotter an good enough for her.

He studied Barrett with an sorption that turned him mar less. Barrett felt the appraisal grew tense, then hot with the of anger he had known as a young boy.

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

BY JOHN L. COOLEY

Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 10. (AP)—Marching forward with serene confidence at the opening, the stock market tripped over a somewhat unfavorable steel tonnage report, issued at noon, and promptly changed its course of action.

Early advances of 1 to around 3 points were replaced, at the close, by losses ranging from fractions to 2 or more points. Grains traced a similar pattern, but held some of their initial gains until the close. Cotton was lower. Foreign exchanges moved within a narrow groove.

Trading Tapers Off

Trading, which was rather buoyant in the forepart of the day, tapered off later, although transfers amounting to 2,836,595 shares were some 300,000 above yesterday's volume. The Associated Press-Standard Statistics composite covering 90 selected stocks declined 1.5 points.

Stocks seemed to be in a hyper-sensitive mood, responding quickly to news and rumors of news. The report of the U. S. Steel corporation, showing a decline of 86,546 tons in unfilled orders for July, was generally construed as a mildly adverse development inasmuch as the drop was larger than most experts expected. A slump in July steel orders, however, is not regarded as anything unusual. Also pressing shipments, rather than falling business, may have caused the tonnage recession.

Selling Orders Pile Up

In any event, coincident with publication of the steel figures, the market lost some of its enthusiasm and selling orders piled up faster than they could be absorbed.

Development in governmental circles led to the belief in many banking quarters that the administration was not contemplating any inflationary steps now, but rather studying the possibilities of a huge refunding operation in the fall which would involve conversion of either a large volume of short-term indebtedness or the 6,000,000,000 fourth Liberty loan.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 10. (AP)—Cotton was fairly active today and prices fluctuated nervously showing rather an easier trend. The close was barely steady and 13 to 17 points net lower.

The market opened easier mainly owing to lower Liverpool cables than due.

The market improved most of the morning in sympathy with firmer grain and on continued fair buying orders and by the time the demand was supplied October had dvanced to 9.97 and December to 10.18 or 17 points up from the early lows and 8 points above the previous close.

Prices Ease Off

Near mid-session prices eased again on favorable crop accounts from the interior and some easiness in stocks and in the afternoon the market reacted to 9.79 for October and 9.91 for December or 27 points down from the highs of the morning and 22 points below the previous close. There was a rally of 11 points in the late trading on covering but about half of this recovery was lost at the end which was barely steady. October closed at 9.75 and December at 9.96 both 17 points net lower.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 8 penny points down.

Port receipts 10,555, for week 59,092, for season 104,350, last season 91,822. Exports 16,637, for week 58,118, for season 180,613, last season 145,103. Port stock 2,982,572, last year 3,348,361. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 84,731, last year 80,017. Spot sales at southern markets 15,335, last year 8,760.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 10. (AP)—Cotton lost about $1 a bale today under a renewal of realizing or liquidation and scattered selling.

December contracts after selling up from 10.04@10.22 broke to 9.85 and closed at 9.97, with the general markets closing barely steady at net declines of 18 to 22 points.

After opening 8 to 14 points lower the market recovered on trade and scattered buying reaching levels 2 to 5 points net higher.

Demand Tapers Off

Demand from spot houses which had been a sustaining factor yesterday and early today tapered off on the advance, and prices eased off during the afternoon, with the pressure becoming a little more active in the late trading. During the final hour the market was influenced adversely by reactions in grains and stocks. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the lowest of the day on most positions.

Traders took a generally favorable view of the weather and crop news.

Liverpool cables reported a quiet market there with prices reacting from an early advance under hedging and some Bombay selling.

Exports today 21,007 bales, making 166,207 so far this season. Port receipts 10,541. U. S. port stocks 2,978,770.

NRA VIOLATIONS CHARGED

DALLAS, Aug. 10 (AP)—Will Ward, assistant United States attorney, came here from Fort Worth today to take charge of complaints arising from asserted violations of NRA code agreements and said a campaign to enforce the codes and prosecute violators would be mapped out as soon as Clyde Eastus, United States attorney returns from Washington.

Aggregate receipts at eight markets for the week totaled around 126,800 against 147,147 last week and 136,228 the same fourday period a year ago.

Hog trade was fairly active at prices unevenly steady to 15 higher, strong weight butchers failing to show any appreciable advance. The day's extreme top of 4.75 was paid at Chicago.

Fat lambs were generally 1 to 25 higher, Chicago, however, reported late trade slow with buying interests resisting the attempts to boost prices. Choice native lambs in Chicago sold up to 6.60 and at Kansas City choice Oregon lambs reached 6.60. Some strength developed on yearlings and sheep held fully steady.

Grains

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 10. (AP)—Advancing for the third day in succession, wheat today went to almost 8 cents above Tuesday's bottom figures. Profit-takings on the bulge, however, wiped out at the last most of today's gain.

Much of the buying of all cereals today was based on reports that the Washington administration desired to see prices restored to the level which prevailed in 1924-26, and it was especially noted that the average 1926 price the farmer received for wheat was $1.34 a bushel, corn 76 cents and oats 40 1-2 cents. Leading traders said the national code tentatively agreed to for governing future dealings on grain exchanges was exceedingly broad and liberal, and would encourage belief in a free, open, competitive market.

Wheat Closes Unsettled

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 3-8 higher, corn unchanged to 1-2 up, oats 1-8 to 1-2 advanced, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 17 cents.

Contributing some momentum to late setbacks of wheat prices was belief expressed in various quarters that the United States government crop report due after the close would be less bullish as to wheat than regarding feed grains. On the other hand, general trade expectations were that the government reports would approximate the unofficial reports issued here last week. Statements that Germany had offered wheat for shipment to New York at 73 1-2 cents a bushel, buyer to pay the import duty, attracted little attention as the price would be well above what wheat from Chicago could be laid down at New York.

Corn and oats swayed with wheat. Rural offerings of corn to arrive were larger.

Provisions averaged higher with hog values and with grains.

FT. WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Aug. 10. (AP)—Fair demand continued today for the light grain offerings at Fort Worth. Estimated receipts included wheat 28 cars; corn 1, and sorghums 5.

Benefit Seen Here

Interior compresses, located in this section, are expected to benefit from the emergency ruling of Texas Railroad commission granting a 75,000-pound carload minimum scale.

The lower cotton rates to gulf ports, authorized by the Interstate Commerce commission were effective Monday on the Fort Worth & Denver from interior points. The Denver has been long contending for reduced rates combatted here.

mission. The transmitter will be at 423 Avenue J, near the power plant. Two microphones are planned, one in the police station and one at the transmitter.

The station here not only will aid Lubbock police in catching criminals but also is expected to benefit South Plains officers if they install short wave receiving sets.

Under the present system, a patrolling police car at night is summoned to police station by a light system. From a control in the office a light on Hotel Lubbock is turned on. Officers in the car go to the nearest telephone to report. The patrol car frequently is far from a telephone when the light goes on and time—a very important element in catching a law-breaker—is lost.

NRA Hearing Marked By Argument On Constitutionality Of Labor Section

cents an hour minimum for women in the south.

3. Modified wage and hour agreements for the confectionery manufacturing and grain terminal warehouse industries, permitting complying members to obtain the Blue Eagle, were promulgated.

4. A report from the deputy administrator upon the lumber codes, hearings on which were held several weeks ago, was almost ready for submission to Johnson, who will send it to President Roosevelt if he approves.

Copper Code Up

5. Formulation of a copper code was under discussion between spokesmen for the industry and administration officials.

6. The administration reiterated in response to a query that all public utilities, except those publicly owned, come within the scope of the NRA.

Pushing the move to get additional temporary agreements into effect, officials said that upon the physical capacity of the NRA depended largely the date upon which the country could be saturated with Blue Eagles.

Analysation Essential

All of the agreements, it was pointed out, are prepared by skilled hands and before even temporary approval of wages and hours can be given they must be carefully analyzed despite the desire for speed.

Donald R. Richberg, general counsel of the administration, estimated that this phase of the recovery campaign could be completed before September 1 and then activity would be centered upon the permanent codes reaching not only wages and hours but fair practices.

Johnson approved modified reemployment agreements for the restaurant and label manufacturing industries, permitting employers who comply with the wage and hour provisions fixed to receive the blue eagle.

Tips Are Excluded

The scale for restaurant employes placed them under a flat minimum wage, exclusive of the tips they receive.

The agreement provides a maximum work week of 54 hours for male employes and 48 for female, with wages ranging from 28 cents an hour in cities above 500,000 down to 23 cents an hour in towns of less than 2,500. In addition, a differential of two cents per hour was fixed for Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia.

Under the agreement, the maximum hour provisions will not supersede lower maximums prescribed in some state laws, and it was provided further that no work week "shall be longer than the shortest week in the same job of July 15, 1929."

The agreement requires that "no minimum hourly rate shall be less than of July 15, 1929."

$3 Deduction For Meals

Restaurant owners would be permitted to deduct not more than $3 a week from wages for meals to employes and be required to pay time and one-third for evertime.

Johnson Urges Consumer Support Of NRA Drive

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP) — An appeal to the nation to "buy now" in stores toward which the NRA's Blue Eagle beckons was made tonight by Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator.

In a vigorous address punctuated with arresting phrases, the aggressive economic chieftain struck out at the "Doubting Thomases" and the "witch-doctors of the let-things-alone school of economic tonight."

He called directly upon the consumers to start at once patronizing those firms which are fulfilling the program of raising wages and spreading employment to increase purchasing power and denied that the plan which he is directing evisions a "boycott".

TEAKETTLE IS IMPLEMENT

NEWMAN, Ill., (AP) — The "old kitchen kettle" has become a farm implement of no little utility this summer as midwestern farmers use it for spreading lines of creosote and other oils as barriers for the dreaded chinch bugs.

One-fourth of the population of England lives in the London area.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 59

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

All the following day Jane thought fast and furiously. She had felt the purpose for which Tarzan had asked a few words with her. She knew she must be prepared to give him her answer. What was it to be? Did she love him. . . . She did not know now.

She realized the spell that had been upon her in the depths of the far-off jungle. Here there was no spell of enchantment. Nor did this immaculate young Frenchman appeal to the primal woman in her as had the stalwart forest-god. Why, he had not even a name!

She thought of Clayton. Here was a man of social position, culture, and wealth. She knew his was the sort of love a civilized woman should crave. Clayton sought her in the garden. "Won't you say Yes, Jane?" he pleaded. "I will devote my life to making you happy.' What could she say?

That evening Tarzan caught Jane alone. For the first time, she realized the depths of his love. "You do not love me then?" Tarzan asked quickly. She was miserably silent. . . . "You will be happier without me," came her faint reply. "Civilization will bore you. Soon you will long for freedom."

"I'd rather see you happy than be happy myself. I know now you couldn't be happy with — an Ape." Bitterness tinged his voice. "Don't say that!" she cried. "You don't understand. . . . Forgive me, for I may never see you again." . . . Tarzan heard his name called. Unmindful, he felt something pressed into his hand.

Proposed New Cotton Freight Rates Are Further Explained

Compression Costs Not To Be Included, Advice Sent Out From Austin Says; Cost Of Compression Is Given

Proposed new cotton rates from interior points to Gulf ports, as inaugurated by the Denver and Southern Pacific lines, do not include compression costs, according to a statement from the Railroad Commission of Texas to the Lubbock Morning Avalanche Thursday. Request had been made by a number of cotton men to find out if the present compression plan would be used.

"New rate does not include compression," said the message from Austin. "New Lubbock rates are: 61 cents for 25,000 pounds; 58 cents for 50,000 pounds, and 52 cents for 75,000 pounds."

Explanation Made

Rates that have heretofore been in effect are 72 cents per hundred pounds, including a compression charge, regardless of the number of bales shipped. "In other words," E. A. Patterson, broker, pointed out, "if a man had two more bales over a carload of say, 100 bales, he could ship them for the same price as he did the 100 bales. This rate applied to from one bale to a thousand."

Compression rates in this section are 13 cents per 100 pounds, or 65 cents a bale. This is the high density compression rate, the standard compression rate being under that figure. All compresses on the South Plains now have high density presses.

Railroads charge the shipper 72 cents per hundred pounds for cotton and then paid for the compressing, cotton men said.

The new rates, according to brokers, will benefit the shippers of large amounts of cotton, 100 bales and more, at a time. Announced rates are for a minimum of 25,000, 50,000 and 75,000 pounds to a car and do not include smaller amounts.

In order to take advantage of these rates, it was pointed out, the minimum car load of cotton must be shipped in one car. Brokers and farmers who ship less than the minimum do not get the advantage of the rate.

Santa Fe Watching Other Lines Now Experimenting With Rail Equipment

Paraphrasing a poular automobile slogan, "When better trains are being operated, they will be carrying a Santa Fe trail sign," W. J. Black, general traffic manager of that railroad, has issued a statement on the company's attitude on the streamlined passenger train.

"When there is anything proven better in the way of cars or locomotion, steam, gas, electric or whatnot, the Santa Fe railway will be out in front in its adoption," Black's statement said. "We can now operate at 75 miles an hour. We have air-conditioned dining cars and when funds permit, the Santa Fe will air-condition all its limited trains.

Line's Features Stressed

"We use oil as a fuel over a greater part of our system. We are practically double tracked between Chicago and Los Angeles and the Santa Fe is under one management all the way. In other words, when you leave Chicago on the Santa Fe you arrive in Los Angeles on the Santa Fe.

"A number of experiments in power and equipment are being made, here and there, throughout the country. We are watching the situation closely, awaiting results; and once convinced that they are improvements on what we are now using, the Santa Fe will step out in front as it always has. The daily operation of The Chief proves our judgment was right as to operation of a daily, extra-fare train to California. We are always looking forward. We know what is back of us.

"When better trains are operated, they will carry a Santa Fe trail sign."

The raining of fish, occasionally reported in different parts of the world, is the result of small fish being sucked up from the water by waterspouts and carried a distance before falling back to earth.
