WATER SUPPLY WORRIES CITY DEP'T. HEADS

Ditch From Lake to Plant Is the Cause of Trouble

SUPPLY INADEQUATE

Repairs on Canal to Be Made in Effort to Bolster Supply

City officials are frankly worried over the water supply system of Wichita Falls.

They are not admitting it, nor is there any cause for alarm, but the constantly increasing rate at which water is being used and the antiquated method now employed in bringing water from Lake Wichita to the filter and pumping machines is giving water department officials, at least, sleepless nights and troublous days. It is simply a question of whether or not the demand can be met in the coming months when even more water will be consumed here each 24 hours than is being used now.

Fault in Ditch.

The fault of the whole thing lies in the old irrigation ditch stretching six miles between the water works and Lake Wichita, which is this city's supply reservoir. Up until the past few weeks it has been able with careful nursing to empty into the water works storage basins sufficient water to meet the city's needs. But with a constantly increasing domestic demand in town and an equally insistent call for water from farmers who depend on it for irrigation purposes, it is proving itself more inadequate each day.

A force of workmen will be started Thursday morning on building up the sides in order that a little more water can be carried. This task over a six-mile stretch is a slow and costly one, but it is realized now that something must be done before the summer is over and the city council thus far has been unable to see its way clear to spend the $60,000 or $65,000 necessary for construction of a flume.

Under the arrangements now in use, all water used in this city runs by gravity from the lake to the water plant through the old irrigation ditch. In the six-mile journey, it passes a large number of laterals leading off to irrigated farms and these, during the protracted dry spell, take a considerable amount from it. The city seeks to regulate this outlet after a fashion but it is forced to allow a reasonable withdrawal and this amounts to thousands of gallons a day.

That is one factor contributing to the shortage. Another is the fact that the canal itself is in poor condition, its sides and bottom leaky. No one knows how much water escapes in this manner every 24 hours.

Taking Big Chance.

Dr. A. H. Douglass, manager of the water department, admitted yesterday that "the city is taking a bix chance on the ditch," which he freely grants is about as ridiculous an affair as can be imagined for a modern and growing city to depend on for its all-important supply of fresh water. He declared that filtering and pumping facilities were sufficient to attend to the city's needs, and of course there is no question of a shortage of raw water.

Earlier in the year when the open ditch was under indictment from a health and sanitation standpoint figures were compiled showing that at an expense of some $60,000 or $65,000 a flume or pipe could be laid from the lake to the water plant and thus assure all the water wanted at any time. The city council, however, regarded this as too great a cost at the present time and declined to order it in.

Marshall Dry; T-P Will Haul Water

MARSHALL, Texas, July 1.—The Texas & Pacific railway company will haul water to Marshall, beginning next Tuesday, and will continue until they get some relief through rain from their large reservoirs. The company will install a large pump and take water from the Cypress bayou at Jefferson, hauling it here in tank cars. The company will run a train of twenty tank cars, making four trips daily between the two points, hauling 640,000 gallons each day.

COTTON EXPORTS INCREASING

Approximately 19,000 More Bales in June, 1925, Than June, 1924.

NEW ORLEANS, July 1.—Secretary Hester of the New Orleans cotton exchange today announced that United States cotton exports to foreign countries exclusive of Canada totaled 248,507 bales during June against 236,938 bales in June, 1924.

Great Britain received 40,370 bales against 43,217 a year ago, France 22,665 against 32,287 and Germany 52,875.

CAMP MABRY OPENS.

Over 700 Expected to Attend Encampment.

AUSTIN, July 1.—Division and brigade officers, Texas national guard and an instruction staff of 25 regular army men assembled at Camp Mabry Wednesday, and Thursday morning more than 700 of the 1,100 infantry and special unit troops of the 71st brigade will report for the 15-day annual encampment. Drills and instruction will start Friday.

GOODYEAR TIRES GO UP,

Third Boost in Price of Year Is Reached.

AKRON, Ohio, July 1.—The Goodyear Tire and Rubber company boosted tire prices for the third time this year when an increase of 10 per cent in tire prices and 15 per cent in inner tube prices went into effect today. The increase for smallest sized fires was somewhat less than 10 per cent.

A Matter of Health

DESPITE conflicting opinions on matters of public health in Wichita Falls, apparently all authorities concerned are of one mind on the assumption that there is no epidemic of typhoid fever now prevalent in this city. Shat there is a possibility of the present typhoid situation growing worse is, of course, only a matter of conjecture.

• • •

IT MUST be said for typhoid, however, that be it of high or low degree in its menace; it has started something which bids fair to culminate in improved sanitary conditions. Impaired health conditions in Wichita Falls should be the last function of a public official to be minimized in importance.

Thus, to those interested in the public health of the community it is refreshing to anticipate a conference called for Wednesday night at the chamber of commerce rooms between city officials, druggist and confectionaries and members of the chamber of commerce health committee to discuss health regulations in Wichita Falls and plan their improvement. Since the discussion of the typhoid situation began another refreshing incident has been the wholehearted co-operation of druggists, confectionaires and dairymen in their effort to aid health officials in correcting any discrepancies in the conduct of their own establishments which might tend to a lower standard of health here.

• • •

SO FAR as typhoid fever's prevalence in Wichita Falls is concerned, the city official at the head of the health department, J. H. Patton, has insisted in a recent interview that politics has considerable to do with it. Politics, of course, carries a varied assortment of germs.

• • •

FORTY-SIX physicians interviewed by The Record News Tuesday developed the fact that 39 cases of typhoid fever were now being treated in Wichita Falls and that five cases had recently been discharged as cured. Of the 46 physicians questioned, six reported that they did not treat typhoid. Seven of the more prominent physicians of the city could not be reached. One week ago The Record News asked the city health department for an estimate of the number of typhoid cases in Wichita Falls and was told the estimate would be about twenty.

• • •

MR. PATTON also stated in a recent interview that he did not think Wichita Falls had near as many cases of typhoid fever as other Texas cities. Newspapers in Beaumont, Austin and Waco reporting answers to a query sent them by The Record News last night by wire offer an interesting comparison.

Waco, it was stated, has "no typhoid here and none in May or June."

Austin reported "five cases typhoid reported in Austin."

Beaumont's reply was: "Beaumont has two case sof typhoid."

• • •

IN A statement made public Sunday morning, Mayor R. E. Shepherd declared: "Members of the city council will endorse any plan advocated by J. H. Patton, commissioner of parks and sanitation, for betterment of sanitary and health conditions in Wichita Falls. The council is wholeheartedly in favor of any plan that will promote more healthful conditions in the city."

OLD MISSIONS, DAMAGED, STILL DEFY SHOCKS

Santa Barbara Edifice Outlasts Modern Structures

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 1.—Spanish glories of early days in Santa Barbara immortalized the adobe houses of the old dons, today emerged from the ruins of last Monday's earthquake hardly dimmed by the violence of the tremblers which flung the more modern buildings to destruction in the streets.

Perhaps the earthquake's strength among the older structures was felt more keenly by the Santa Barbara mission. When the temblor struck, the mission's graceful towers which rose to a height of 60 feet, crumbled and crashed to the stone court below, carrying with them the silver-throated bells which have called the monks to prayer for more than a century.

Several old statues which had graced the facade for a hundred years were destroyed. The Franciscan padres despair of ever replacing them.

The misson was built in 1786 by Indian neophytes under the supervision of the Franciscan padres and the "queen of the missions" was destroyed by an earthquake in 1812 but before the dust had hardly settled the padres began reconstruction of the present structure.

Body Of Engineer Runs Total Quake Victims To Eleven

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 1.—The crushed body of S. Mostiero, engineer at the San Marcos building, was recovered from the ruins late today. The known death list is now 11.

MELLON EXPLAINS DELAY

Denies Break Has Come in Negotiations with Italy

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP)—Secretary Mellon in a formal statement late today, explained the sudden interruption yesterday in the negotiations for settlement of the Italian debt conforming to the understanding reached when they were begun and denied that an impasse had been reached.

The original understanding between the debt commission and the Italian ambassador before any discussion took place the statement said, "was that as soon as the preliminary conversations were held, Mr. Alberti (one of the Itzlian commissioners) would go to Italy to collect the necessary data to disclose Italy's ability to pay.

Mrs. Evelyn Lane Dies Wednesday

Mrs. Evelyn Lane, age 65, died at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of J. Steve Burks, four miles west of the city on the Iowa Park road.

Funeral services will be held at the residence Thursday afternoon, conducted by Rev. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church, with burial following in Riverside cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Will Kiel, Charles Lacy, Will Johnson, John Hirschi, R. McHam and O. J. Norwood.

OKLAHOMAN IS ELECTED.

ENID, Okla., July 1.—Henry Mueggenborg of Okarche, Okla., was elected president of the Southwest Wheat Growers association at the first meeting of the newly elected board here today. G. T. Brummitt of Claude, Texas, was chosen vice-president and Pete Stein of Cherokee, Okla., was named secretary. The organization is the grain marketing agency of the Oklahoma and Texas wheat growers' associations, the largest co-operative wheat marketing association in the United States.

250 MILLIONS IS SURPLUS OF U. S. TREASURY

Mellon's Report Reveals "Sufficient to Enforce Volstead Law"

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The story of the fiscal year 1925 was told by the treasury tonight in a review of its operations during the twelve months which ended yesterday, showing total ordinary receipts of $3,780,148,684.42 and total expenditures of $3,529,643,446.09, with the resulting surplus of $250,505,238.33.

The statement of the treasury's condition, issued late tonight carried an expression of Secretary Mellon's conclusion that, due to the processes of reorganization in the last two years, "it is believed that as a result of its experience and development, the treasury is today better organized and equipped to make the Volstead act effective." This part of the review declared that plans for reorganization of prohibition enforcement were rapidly approaching completion, and told of the work done in this connection in the coast guard, customs division and prohibition unit of the treasury.

The surplus for the year afforded treasury officials great satisfaction.

San Antonio Farmer Is Shot; Wife Held; Pleads Self-Defense

SAN ANTONIO, July 1.—S. B. Campbell, 40, farmer who resided 17 miles west of San Antonio, is dead and his wife, Emma Galm Campbell, 38, is charged in a complaint filed before Justice of the Peace Ben S. Fiske with his murder.

Campbell was shot with a 45 calibre pistol at his home on the Sam Galm farm near Helotes at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon and died within a few minutes.

Mrs. Campbell is said to have told officers she fired in self defense as her husband was going for a rifle after threatening to kill her. The couple had had previous trouble in a tent in the yard, she is said to have declared, in which Campbell is alleged to have struck his wife with a belt.

3 Women Drowned When Dam Breaks

COLUMBUS, Ga., July 1.—Three women were drowned here this afternoon when the dam of a lake in which they were bathing broke and swept them down a swollen stream.

The dead: Mrs. W. W. Rainey Sr., wife of the vice-president and general manager of the National Show Case company of this city; her daughter, Miss Delia Rainey, and Mrs. W. W. Rainey Jr.

COOLIDGE QUIET AGAIN.

President, Relieved by Father's Improvement, Back on Shore.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 1.—Relieved by the favorable turn in his father's condition, President Coolidge settled down again today to a vacation schedule. He spent most of the day quietly at White Court, resting from yesterday's fatiguing 200-mile motor trip from Plymouth. Late in the afternoon Governor Alvan T. Fuller of Massachusetts called to pay his respects. He had tea with the president and Mrs. Coolidge and Frank S. Stearns, their friend and neighbor.

Earlier in the day Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge inspected the seaside camp of the marines who are guarding the summer White House.

LIONS CONVENTION ENDS.

CEDAR POINT, Ohio, July 1.—The annual convention of the International Association of Lions Clubs, which comes to a close tomorrow with election of officers, adoption of resolutions and selection of a 1926 meeting place, was given over today to social affairs, culminating tonight in a "California night" celebration staged by the delegation from that far western stair

CHIEF CLERK OF RAILROAD BOARD HELD

Breckenridge Man Makes Bond on Charge Of Embezzlement

RESIGNATION REFUSED

Man Faces Three Charges As Result of Former Oil Connections

AUSTIN, July 1.—(AP)—Earl Callaway, 33, of Breckenridge, cousin to former Representative Oscar Callaway of Commanche, and who today was to take his post as chief clerk of the gas and oil division of the Texas railroad commission, is under bonds totaling $3,000 on indictment from Shackelford county charging embezzlement and forgery. There are two charges of embezzlement and one of forgery. They were brought by the grand jury at Albany Tusday, in connection with Callaway's connection two years ago with the Earl Callaway Petroleum company, Sheriff Biggs of Shackelford county reported.

$1,000 Bond.

The bonds are $1.000 for each count and the bondsmen are Senator Earle B. Mayfield, Sam Sparks, Austin banker; Judge H. E. Bell and Laten Stansbury of Austin; I. J. Killough, Eastland; Omar Burkett, Breckenridge, and R. C. Lomax, of Beaumont, all members of the oil and gas division of the railroad commission.

Approval of the bonds was made after a long distance telephone conversation with Judge Ely at Albany and after investigation by local authorities.

Callaway said that two weeks ago he filed a suit against the Callaway company for $100,000 as he had been unable to effect a settlement since he quit the company. He declared that he could clear himself if the case came to trial.

Well Recommended.

Clarence E. Gilmore, chairman of the railroad commission, said that Callaway came to him highly recommended and that he is qualified for the appointment as chief clerk.

Callaway was tax assessor two terms in Mitchell county and was deputy clerk for the criminal court of appeals at Fort Worth for some time.

During the war he was a lieutenant in the aviation corps and saw service in France. Since the war he has been in the oil business.

COMMISSION REFUSES CALLAWAY RESIGNATION.

AUSTIN, July 1.—Following Earl Callaway's appearance before the Texas railroad commissioners late today, H. E. Bell, chief supervisor of the oil and gas division, gave out a statement that the commission refused Callaway's resignation, which he offered.

Because of the good name that Mr. Callaway bears and because they now have no facts to justify them in condemning him, they have not accepted his resignation, but are withholding action until later when they will take such action as they believe the public good requires, the statement read.

FAVOR INTERNATIONAL MEET

Chinese Question Growing Serious, Belief of Officials.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP) Early convening of the international commission provided for by the Washington arms conference to study ways and means of supplanting extra territorial rights in China with a Chinese judicial system to which matters involving American nationals could be entrusted safely, would be regarded with favor by the Washington government, it was learned here today.

Wife Of Waurika Physician Is Dead

WAURIKA, July 1.—Mrs. D. B. Collins, wife of Dr. D. B. Collins, who is a prominent physician of Waurika and Jefferson county, passed away at the family home in Waurika Wednesday, July 1. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday morning at the First Baptist church, Rev. Thomas Doss, the pastor, officiating. Interment will be in the Waurika cemetery.

SYMINGTON LOSES APPEAL.

Denied Divorce From Wife on Charge of Misconduct.

NEW YORK, July 1.—A directed verdict in favor of Mrs. Ida May Symington was ordered today by Supreme Court Justice Ford in the divorce suit brought by Thomas H. Symington, wealthy manufacturer. The court ruled there was not adequate proof to sustain any of the allegations of infidelity.

My Symington announced he would appeal to the appellate court.

Justice Ford held that, except for the testimony of Talbot W. Chambers, one of the two men named as co-respondents, the husband had presented no evidence entitling him to a divorce.

"ANCHORS AWEIGH."

U. S. Ships Set Out for Australia From Honolulu.

HONLULU, July 1.—Hawaii today wished the United States fleet godspeed on its voyage to Australia.

The sortie began under the most auspicious conditions, even the elements seeming to smile as "anchors aweigh" sounded from ship to ship of the fleet.

By 10 o'clock this morning Admiral Robetr E. Coontz had "gatheerd his chickens together" outside Honolulu harbor. The signal for departure was given and the prows of the entire fleet turned southward.

Gates Ajar

AUSTIN, July 1.—Eighteen conditional pardons, one full pardon and one extension of furlough were granted today by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. The full pardon was granted H. H. Byrd, sent up from Jackson county for seven years on a charge of criminal assault, because he had served five years. J. L. Wilson of Dallas county was granted extension of furlough. One woman was freed.

Those granted conditional pardons follow:

Ed Shellgrove, Red River county, who had served three years of a five-year sentence for forgery.

Josh Robertson, Dallas, who had served half of a one-year sentence for a liquor law violation.

Andrew B. Behrens, San Saba county, convicted on a charge of assault with intent to murder, freed after serving portion of two-year sentence on recommendation of nine jurors in trial.

Will Williams, Rusk county, sentenced to life for murder freed after serving 19 years.

William White, Dallas county, sentenced to ten years for murder, released after serving eight years.

W. H. Hearn, Rusk county, sentenced to seven years for manslaughter, freed after serving nearly five years.

Chuffie Mack Rivas, McLennan county, freed after serving nearly all of eight-year sentence fot theft.

John Hollis, San Augustine county, freed after serving 17 of 25-year sentence for murder.

Leslie Bailey, Franklin county, freed after serving most of two-year sentence for transportation of liquor.

Senator Underwood Announces That He Will Retire Soon

BORMINGHAM, Ala., Jul y1.—(AP)—Senator Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama announced today that he would not be a candidate for reelection, in a letter to Victor H. Hanson, publisher of the Birmingham News. He said that at the end of his present term on March 4, 1927, he would retire from politics.

Senator Underwood's retirement leaves the field open for a number of contenders for his post. Former Governor Thomas E. Kilby of Anniston and Hugo Black, of Birmingham attorney, have already announced their candidacies. L. B. Musgrove of Jasper and Judge J. J. Mayfield of Montgomery, are regarded as almost certain candidates while John H. Bankhead of Jasper and Congressman W. B. Oliver of Tuscaloosa are mentioned in connection with the campaign.

ROBBED; THANKFUL

Thieves Take Money and Don't Attack Him as Others Did in Past.

FORT WORTH, July 1.—W. H. Dailey, operator of a grocery store at 100 Bowie street, was robbed today, but stil, he is thankful—because, this time, the robber, a negro, merely took Dailey's money and spared his body.

About a year ago Dailey was held up in his store and badly beaten with a revolver by two negroes, who were quickly captured by police and are now serving long prison sentences.

NEW YORK TO CHICAGO MAIL PLANES START

New Service Between Big Cities Is Now Under Way

OVER 774 MILE ROUTE

Giant Beacons Light Way Of Planes Between Fields

CHICAGO, July 1.—(AP)—Over night air mail service between the two largest cities in the country was started tonight when mail planes hopped off at dusk from New York and Chicago for the first regular night flights between these cities.

Flying over a beacon lighted course, the mail carriers of the air will pass somewhere over the slumbering country tonight and tomorrow morning, eight and one-quarter hours after hopping off, the eastbound planes are scheduled to land in New York and west bound carriers in Chicago.

774-Mile Course.

Over the 774-mile course the winged carriers of the night are following, there are 32 landing fields, with search lights of 5,000,000 candle power to guide them.

Intermittent flash lights and beacons to designate emergency landing fields and keep the air men on their course are also provided as well as the 150 giant lights.

The east bound planes tonight carried nearly a ton of bank clearings, love missives, jewelry, business correspondence, flowers and the contributions of faddists at the rate of ten cents an ounce.

Dawes Gives "Go."

Vice-President Charles G. Dawes gave the official "go" to the east bound planes in a radio address broadcast from local stations to Maywood field. The vice-president also had aboard one of the planes a box of flowers addressed to Colonel John Coolidge, the father of President Coolidge, who is ill at Plymouth, Vt. Another box of flowers was sent by radio station WHT to Grace George, the actress, in New York.

Mayor William E. Dever, Colonel Paul E. Henderson, assistant postmaster general, Postmaster Arthur E. Luder participated in the exercises at the launching of the east bound planes and a committee of women club members viewed the start from another airplane.

PLANE LEAVES NEW JERSEY AT DUSK ON TUESDAY

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., July 1.—At dusk tonight an airplane rose from Hadley field and started on the flight which will inaugurate daily overnight air mail service between New York and Chicago.

Through a schedule change, the first west bound plane left at 7:50 o'clock eastern standard time instead of at 9:30 as had been planned.

Ford Bids On 200 Shipping Board Vessels

Klan Barred By All Decrees In State Of Kansas

TOPEKA, Kansas, July 1.—The ku klux klan of Georgia was under a double embargo tonight, barred from the state of Kansas by ouster decree of the state supreme court and now denied admission as a lawful corporation by a state charter board.

In its decision last January the court held that the order must apply for a charter before it might operate in Kansas. From this ruling the klan took an appeal, pending now before the supreme court of the United States. But meanwhile it sought entrance through the remaining channel—the state charter board.

The board today put up the bars unanimously. The opinion held that the klan is not doing charitable or benevolent business; that its organization and influence engenders religious and racial strife and disrespect for the courts of justice and that it would be contrary to public policy to give it recognition.

SANITATION AT LAKE PLEASES CITY OFFICIALS

Patton, Jones and George Make Trip to Lake For Inspection

A report that sanitation conditions at Lake Kemp were in excellent condition was brought back to Wichita Falls Wednesday afternoon by J. H. Patton, health commissioner, who with Finance Commissioner Oral Jones and City Attorney W. E. George visited the lake on a tour of inspection.

Reports Unfounded

Reports that raw sewage were being emptied directly into the lake from Point Breeze hotel, a floating hostlery now in operation, were found to be without foundation, the officials said; and they paid particular tribute to those in charge of the place for the clean and sanitary manner in which it was being conducted.

"So far as we could learn, everything about the lake is in excellent condition and there is no cause for fear of water pollution from that source," Mr. Patton asserted last night. "We thoroughly inspected the hotel, found it conforming in all re-

Detroit Manufacturer Declares Bids For Ships Is In Mails

AMOUNT WITHHELD

Efforts to Learn its Size Meet With Failure In Detroit

DETROIT, Mich., July 16.—(AP) Henry Ford tonight told The Associated Press that he has entered a bid for the 200 ships of the shipping board fleet and that the bid is in the mails.

"There was no misunderstanding of dates on my part," Mr. Ford said, in denying that such was the cause for the failure of the board to receive a bid from him when they were opened two days ago.

"The bid was placed in the mail several days ago."

Withholds Size

Mr. Ford did not divulge the size of his bid nor its specifications and attempts to obtain the information from members of his engineering and technical staff met with failure. Only one firm submitted a bid to the shipping board for the entire fleet of 200 ships, the Boston Iron and Metal company bidding $1,870,000. Several other firms bid for portions of the standing that if their bid was accepted that they would be allowed fleet, some of them with the understo sell part of the ships which they could salvage.

One Bid $649,000

The Newport News Shipping Building, Drydock company bid $649,000 for the fleet of 110 ships now anchored in the James river, Virginia. The General Metal company bid approximately the same amount for 190 vessels. Other bids received were for varying numbers of the ships.

The bids will be analyzed by the directors of the shipping board before contracts are let for the dismantling and scrapping of the vessels.

Buildings On Rock Immune To Quake

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., July 1 (AP).—A survey of the ruins of Monday's earthquake in Santa Barbara, completed today by City Engineer George W. Morrison, indicates that buildings constructed on solid rock foundations fared better in the temblors than those built on "filled-in" and, the official declared.

Along Santa Barbara's waterfront region the land has been filled for years.

OLD things are best, I'm sure of that.
Have I not sung the ancient hat?
Old shoes are easier on the feet,
Old friends are always best to meet.
Youth laughs and dances, yes, and sings,
But older hearts must have old things.

Old things are best, if friends or shoes,
The best to own, the best to use.
New things would bend you to their will,
Old things have shared your good and ill,
And do the way that old things do,
And try to fit themselves to you.

And so an old man says to youth:
Yes, all you say is all the truth,
New times are here and later days,
And yet old men must go old ways;
So for, when a bended thing you take,
This thing you bend you often break.

Old things are best—when men are old,
And youth may laugh, and youth may scold,
But we shall wear the ancient hat,
The ancient shoes, and all of that,
Content to owe until life ends
A few old things, a few old friends.

Carter's Parkey Well Extends Mankins Pool

STAND WITH 1,000 FT. OF OIL IN HOLE

Is Estimated at Somewhere Around 200 Barrels a Day

SAND AT 1,714-15 FEET

Well Located in Northwest Corner of Section 11, SE of Phillips

Roy I. Carter's No. 1, Parkey, in the northeast corner of section 11, H&TCRRCO survey, abstract 205, a near half mile southeast of the Waite Phillips Wilson well south of Mankins, northwest Archer county, was standing with about 1,000 feet of oil in the hole late yesterday afternoon from a foot of sand at 1,714-15 feet. Bailing throughout the afternoon had failed to lower the fluid in the hole and the well was considered good for something around 200 barrels by those on the ground.

The rig will go one location west for No. 2 today and the well will go on the pump without drilling deeper or swabbing, the shallow streak of the oil sand usually found in this district making either of these operations dangerous. As is the well shows no water.

It either effects a definite extension to the area of nearly half a mile or opens a new and better pool itself.

Oil Gossip

Superior Oil Producing company and the Superior Oil Corporation have moved their offices from the seventh floor of the Staley building where they have been for the past year to room 13, Bradford building, at the corner to Sixth and Ohio streets, and will be at home there from now on.

Superior is represented in Wichita Falls by W. D. Rowland of the land department and C. G. Summers in the refining and crude buying end.

Atlantic, Zipperle

Atlantic-Jones failed to get an oil sand below 1,800 feet in their No. 5, Zipperle, a location north and east of the southwest corner of their forty acres in section 80, block 14, H&TC survey, east side of South Vernon, and were last reported drilling deeper toward the expected 2,300-foot horizon uncovered on the Continental lease.

New Olney Wildcat

Murchison and Fain Oil company are planning another near Olney townsite test for north Young county, this time to be drilled just southeast of the little city, somewhere in the north portion of the south half of block 230, TE&LCO survey, on the J. A. Hutchins land. The exact location has not been announced as yet.

M-F-Humble, Bloodworth

Murchison and Fain Oil company and the Humble Oil and Refining company bailed dry late Tuesday night in their No. 1, Bloodworth, in the center of the west line of the southwest quarter of block 157, TE&LCO survey, near the ball park at Olney, and were drilling deeper yesterday filling out a 1,200-foot contract.

The hole had sand at 1,003-1,100 feet and was shut down at that depth for several days, variously reported as dry, before casing was set to test.

Consolidated, Waggoner

Section 2, Block 4.

The Consolidated Oil company's No. 1, Waggoner, in the northeast corner of the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 2, block 4, H&TCRRCO. survey, southeastern Wilbarger county.

Section 4, Block 5.

The Consolidated Oil company and Staley and Wynne are drilling past a last reported depth of 1,060 feet and still going in the center of the south half of section 4 ,block 5, H&TCRRCO survey, southeastern Wilbarger county.

Block 27, Poutevent.

Consolidated Oil company and Staley and Wynne are drilling past a last reported depth of 2,100 feet in their No. 1 Waggoner, well located near the center of the east half of block 27, Poutevent survey, abstract 531, west of the Sigler pool.

Smackover's Producing Sands Are Classified, Nacatoch to Woodbine

Shreveport Geological Society Makes Report On Findings in Big Arkansas Pool.

A report of the Shreveport Geological society carries the following classification of the various producing horizons in the Smackover, Ark., area. The job of differentiating between the various sands was undertaken in order to alleviate confusion arising from such misnomers as the "2,200-foot stuff," the "2,300-foot pay" and such others.

The report as forwarded to the Record News by its Shreveport correspondent follows:

The Shreveport Geological society, complying with requests of members of the U. S. Geological society, Oklahoma geologists, trade publications and readers of oil and gas publications, through a committee of which Henry G. Schneider is chairman, has named the producing sands of the Smackover field as follows:

Nacatoch.

Nacatoch sand—This is the first sand, found at about 2,000 feet. It produces both oil and gas throughout the entire Smackover field. The largest production is in hte eastern part of the field.

Meakin.

Meakin sand—This sand has been known as the "2,200-foot sand" and also as the "Louann sand." The name Primm was applied to the upper part of this sand in the "Engineering Report on Smackover Oil and Gas Field" published in August, 1924, by the United States bureau of mines. The Meakin sand produced both oil and gas in the western part of the field and only gas in the eastern part, with the exception of five wells completed as small oil wells. The maximum production of these wells in the eastern port of the field, is 100 barrels.

Graves.

Graves sand—This is known as the "2,400-foot" sand. It produces salt water flows in the western part and oil in the eastern part of the field. The moximum production of the oil wells is 70,000 barrels.

Blossom.

Blossom sand—This is known as the "2,600-foot sand." It has small production scattered throughout the western part of the field, with maximum production of 100 barrels. One well drilled in the eastern part of the field was completed as an oil well with an initial production of 1,500 barrels. Three gas wells have been completed in this sand in the eastern part of the field.

Woodbine.

Woodbine sand—This sand is found from 2,750 to 2,900 feet. This lowest of Smackover sands has no production to date. It has not been tested in the eastern part of the field.

In order to avoid further confusion and to establish general usage by geologists, writers and readers, the Shreveport Geological society would appreciate the co-operation of all concerned by using the new names. Trade publications are asked to advisetheir correspondents of the new names and have them use them; oil and gas news writers are asked to use them in all references to Smackover operations and especially in their weekly reviews of drilling operations.

News Of The Fields

Atlantic, Sigler

Atlantic's Sigler-Waggoner No. 1, 400 feet north of the Sigler Oil company's old No. 3 Waggoner, was down 1,770 feet and drilling yesterday, section 51, block 2, H&TC survey, eastern Wilbarger county.

Holmes-Freeman-Merritt

Holmes-Freeman-Merritt were still shut down yesterday at 1,902 feet waiting for a water well in their No. 1, Richardson, in the southwest corner of the northwest quarter of section 39, block 15, H&TCRRCO. survey, north Wilbarger county.

M-F, Campbell

The Murchison and Fain Oil company is drilling at about 700 feet on its No. 7, Campbell, well located near the center of the north line of block 236, TE&LCO survey, north side of the Litchfield pool, north Young county.

Texhoma, Covert

Texhoma Oil and Refining company's No. 2, Covert, well located in the southeast quarter of section 7, block 16, H&TCRRCO. survey, north Wilbarger county, about six miles south of Odell, was reported down 1,240 feet and drilling yesterday.

Texhoma, Waggoner

Texhoma Oil and Refining company's No. 1, Waggoner, located in the northwest of the southeast of section 30, block 14, H&TCRRCO. survey, eastern Wilbarger county, was starting up yesterday at 1,540 feet after being shut down for several days.

Texhoma, Ferguson

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company was swabbing yesterday in its No. 5-L, Ferguson, in the west half of the southeast 40 of the southwest quarter of section 2, SPRRCO. survey, abstract 1189, Freeman-Hampton pool, northwest Archer county.

Nocona Land Sale

J. H. Cone sold E. L. Smith 20 acres offsetting the Newblock Oil company's new Nocona well to the south for a consideration of $15,000 cash yesterday. The sale is one of quite a few reported in north Montague county recently, that area getting a real play now.

M. L. V. Smith, Waggoner

M. L. V. Smith No. 1, Waggoner, well located in the northeast corner of secion 35, H&TCRRCO. survey, block 2, due east of the Sigler group, southern Wilbarger county, was drilling yesterday at a depth of 1,960 feet. This well is located between the Beatty well and the Sigler group in southern Wilbarger county.

Atlantic, Murray

The Atlantic Oil Producing company has made a location for a well in the southwest corner of its Murray lease, Hill and Roberts pool, southwest of Iowa Park to offset the new Fidelity well.

The Fidelity well is reported to have swabbed about 190 barrels in some 13 hours from sand at a depth of 1,760-68 feet. The well is their No. 9 on the recently acquired Peeler lease.

A. P. I. Shows Big Decrease in National Crude Production

NEW YORK, July 1.—(AP)—The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States decreased 23,600 barrels for the week ended June 27, totaling 2,173,850, the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute says today. The daily average prdouction of Smackover, Ark., heavy oil field decreased 21,500 barrels. The country's daily average production, excluding Smackover heavy decreased 2,100 barrels. Th daily average production east of California was 1,518,350 barrels, a decrease of 42,600. California production was 654,500, an increase of 19,000.

Oklahoma's daily average production was 447,900 barrels, a decrease of 3,800o Kansas 101,300, decrease of 2,450; north Texas 87,200, decrease of 1,700; east central Texas 110,000, decrease of 3,300; west central Texas 94,500, a decrease of 2,100; north Louisiana 51,100, a decrease of 150; Arkansas 279,100, decrease 23,150; gulf coast 103,450, a decrease of 900; southwest Texas 46,900, decrease 2,700; eastern, no change; Rocky Mountain 93,100, decrease 2,350.

Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports were 246,000 barrels compared with 218,557 for the previous week and 228,749 barrels for the four weeks ended June 27. Daily average receipts of California at Atlantic and gulf coast ports were 83,714, compared with 60,286 for the previous week, and 65,749 for the four weeks ending June 27.

No changes were reported in crude oil prices for the major districts. Pennsylvania crude, Bradford district, is quoted at $3.90 a barrel; all other grades being quoted at from $3.45 to $3.80. Mid-Continent oils are quoted at $1.35 to $2.35, according to gravity. Gulf coast crude, grade A, was quoted at $1.75; grade B, at $1.50. California prices range from $1.25 to $2.40, according to gravity.

PETROLIA GETS DEEP OIL WELL

The old Petrolia field in Clay county has been given another angle in the completion of the Lone Star Gas company's No. 24, Waggoner, in block 59, Bacon sub-division, about three and one-half miles southeas of the townsite, showing for about 50 barrels a day from sand at 1,865 to 1,875 feet.

When swabbing ended oil was standing about 1,200 feet in the hole; a control head was fastened, the rig moved off for No. 25, and standardizing commenced. The hole will not be drilled deeper. It is estimated by Lone Star officials as a good 50 barrel well.

Opening as it does a new deep send for Clay county its completion is regarded as rather important among operators here. It was started originally for the gas sand, was dry there, and deepened, the oil sand being picked up at 1,865 feet. It is in the midst of one of the oldest gas areas in the state, where much of the helium used by the government is produced. There is some shallow 900 foot production nearby.

BAR PRIMARY IS PROPOSED AT LAW MEET

Object Would Be to Let Lawyers Vote on Judicial Jobs

AUSTIN, July 1.—Formation of a Texas bar primary association, the purpose of which will be to give Texas lawyers the opportunity of expressing their preference on candidates for state judicial offices, was proposed to the Texas Bar association late today by a special committee headed by C. H. Jenkins, former head of the state codifying commission. After some discussion, the proposal was referred to the board of directors with final action set for Thursday.

A motion that the Texas Bar association go on record as favoring the entrance of the United States into a permanent court of international justice, and decision to continue the fight to have the legislature grant the supreme court exclusive power to make rules of practice and proceedure for the courts of Texas were other high points on the day's program.

Final action on the motion regarding the world court was deferred until Thursday. H. M. Garwood, prominent Houston attorney, introduced the motion regarding the entrance into the world court, following an address by Hampson Gary of Washington, D. C., on "The United States and International Arbitration."

"Lawyers don't exercise in the proper way the influence they possess. They are too prone to look only to their own selfish interests. Certainly lawyers are better equipped than any other one class to say who is the most fit to old the high offices in the judiciary of the state," declared Judge Jenkins in arguing for the organizing of the Texas bar primary association.

WANT KLAN HEAD TO RESIGN.

DENVER, Col., July 1.—The Denver Times today says that Dr. John Galen Locke, grand dragon of the Colorado Ku Klux Klan, has been asked to resign his position by representatives speaking for W. H. Evans, imperial wizard of the order.

At the same time, the paper said, seven prominent Denver men, including Mayor Benjamin F. Stapleton and United States Senator Rice Means, were placed under suspension.

MRS. WILHELMY SAVED BY FRIEND

Doctor Advised Operation Friend Said Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound First

St. Paul, Minn. — "I was all rundown from overwork and worry, had no appetite, could not sleep at night, and looked like a corpse. I have six children (five boys and one girl) and did not get any strength after my last baby was born. I was getting worse and thinner everyday. The doctor said I had to go to the hospital, but this I could not do on account of my family. So I went to a friend of mine and told her what the doctor had told me and she said, 'Now do as I tell you. Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as I have done. It helped me.' So I started taking the Vegetable Compound and I noticed after the first few bottles that I felt considerably better. After taking 9 or 10 bottles I got over my fainting spells. Everybody who sees me now notices the great improvement in my health. I am gaining in weight and strength and am feeling fine. Eat well and sleep good nights."—Mrs. MARY WILHELMY, 309 Duke Street, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Danger Signals Of Indigestion

The Disease That Strikes Like Lightning

Beware of indigestion—the disease that kills more people and kills them quicker than any other. This warning, by physicians is particularly applicable this season of the year, when your system "letdown" in tone and vigor on account of warm weather.

What are the warnings that nature gives you of the approach of indigestion? The medical books tells us: 1. Gas, which means that your food is fermenting instead of digesting. 2. A feeling of fullness or oppression in the region of the stomach after eating. This means that the gas has ballooned your stomach and is pressing up against your heart and lungs. 3. A dull lazy feeling, which means that you are not getting nourishment from what you are eating. 4. Restlessness, un-refreshing sleep, which means that the poisons of indigestion are disturbing your brain and nerves. 5. Some times, pain and fluttering around the heart, though this symptom may come later.

Don't take chances with indigestion—you are too apt to lose. If you have had any of the symptoms mentioned above, get your digestive organs to work at once with Ferraline. Nature's great stomach treatment that has given relief to thousands. Ferraline immediately aids and assists every one of your digestive organs, including your stomach, liver and bowels. Ferraline makes your digestion "perfect and complete." You feel its helpful effect from the very first dose. Get a bottle of Ferraline today at any drug store. Ferraline is so much superior to any other remedy for indigestion that the owners have instructed every druggist to refund the purchase price. One Dollar, if you do not get relief, so it costs you nothing if you are not delighted with results. Delay might be dangerous. Get Ferraline today from your druggist. News of the Fields

Waite Phillips, Morrison

Waite Phillips was drilling yesterday at a depth of 1,384 feet on his No. 1, Morrison, well located 450 feet east of the center of the west line of block 16, Crawford pasture sub-division, north of the Ieckert pool, seemingly too deep to do any good, southwest Archer county.

Munnich, Stewart

Bo Minnich has an oil sand and will set casing to test in his No. 1, Stewart, well located in the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of the David Dawson survey, abstract 76, due north of Farmer, northeast Young county. The sand was topped at 804 feet, the depth estimated as about five feet high.

Texhoma, Montague

Texhoma Oil and Refining company is waiting on cement to set in its No. 1, Lemons, in the northeast corner of its forty acres south of the Howard lease, north Nocona, Montague county. The well has set and cemented casing on sand at 719-29 feet, with the intention of making a gas well, the braden-heading the gas and drilling to an oil sand if such there be.

The No. 1, Rowland, in the northern part of the field is down 605 feet and drilling.

Consolidated, Philips

Fairchilds, Wichita.

Consolidated Oil company and Phillips Petroleum company are drilling past a last reported depth of 2,248 feet in hard lime in their No. 1, Fairchilds, in block 299 Waggoner colong sub-division ,near the Hirschi pool, north Wichita county.

Henderson, Cotton.

Consolidated Oil company and Phillips Petroleum company No. 1, Henderson, south of Temple, Cotton county Oklahoma, SW of the NE of 26-4s-10w, is reported down 2,240 feet and drilling.

Waite Phillips, Wolf

Waite Phillips has a well of some sort in his No. 3, Wolfe, south of the No. 1, BBB&CRRCO. survey, abstract 43, southwest Archer county. The well was being swabbed yesterday, sand at 1,377 1-2-S 1-2 feet, with everything showing for a nice producer. The well is south of the discovery well.

No 2, a location east of the discovery, was coring into sand at 1,371 1-2 feet, the core at that depth having shown broken sand and shale.

These two wells are the only drilling done on the Waite Phillips block recently opened by the Wolfe discovery well.

North Olney Pool

Humble, Mercer.

Humble's No. 2, Mercer, offsetting their big well of a week ago, S. Poitevant survey, section 1, abstract 220, in the new pool north of Olney, north Young county, has set and cemented casing on sand at 1,054 feet.

Texas Unity, Hausle.

The Texas Unity Oil company has about a 50-barrel well in its No. 2 Hausler, offsetting Humble's big well of last week to the north, S. Poitevant survey, abstract 226, section 1, north of Olney, north Young county. Sand was topped at about 1,070 feet.

M-F. Wilson.

Murchison and Fain Oil company's No. 3, Wilson, offsetting to the south the discovery well north of Olney, has set casing on a sand at a depth of 1,082 feet.

FARMERS NEAR FREDERICK IN NEED OF RAIN

Hope is Expressed in Tillman County For Showers

FREDERICK, Okla., July 1.—Hope was expressed Tuesday by many of the farmers in the western and southwestern part of Tillman county that the next few days will bring rain to the district. Although not suffering at the present time, it is said that crops are beginning to fall off a little and a few more days of hot weather will begin to tell heavily on plants.

The general condition of cotton at this time is favorable for another good year, but rain is needed to assure growth and production, farmers say.

Few grasshoppers are found in the western portion of the county and the pests are staying in the alfalfa fields or pastures. Cotton is not suffering from the pests, it is reported.

MARINES GET CAL'S DOG.

Mean Streak in Airedale Loses Him a Home.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass. July 1.—Paul Pry, President Coolidge's airedale dog, has developed a mean streak and Mr. Coolidge decided today he would make a better mascot for the marines than a pet at the summer White House. The airedale, which recently was muzzled, was driven by the President and Mrs. Coolidge to the marine camp near here and turned over to Lieutenant Edgar Allen Poe. They still have with them Rob Roy, white collie which has retained a more dignified manner than his former playmate.

Pullman Car Named for Porter Who Gave Life To Save His Passengers

CHICAGO, July 1.—For the first time in its history the Pullman company has named one of its cars after a porter. The porter was Oscar J. Daniel of Chicago, who lost his life in an effort to save the lives of passengers on his car when a train carrying German-American excursionists from Chicago to New York was wrecked near Rockport, N. J., on June 16. The sleeping car Sirocco will bear the name Daniels when it emerges from the repair shops.

At the time of the wreck Daniels was seated in the forward end of the first Pullman, which left the rails, halting near the locomotive from which dense clouds of steam poured into the sleeper through a door jarred open by the crash. Passengers screamed with fright and pain and Daniels, thrown to the floor, jumped to his feet and braved the steam to close the door. He succeeded, but fell mortally hurt. He still was alive when a rescuing party entered the car, but after being taken outside with other victims, he refused first aid, saying: "Attend to that little girl first," indicating a seven-year-old child nearby. The doctors obeyed and when they returned they found Daniels dead.

ROCKEFELLERS SPANKED.

Rule of Rod a Part of Family Life for Years.

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP).—Spanking has been an institution in the Rockefeller family for generations, the World says today in the course of a series of interviews with prominent men on their childhood discipline.

John D. Rockefeller, Sr., an old friend of the family relates, felt the paternal palm with considerable frequency. John D. Jr. not only fell heir to his father's training but received also the expert ministrations of his grandfather. Neither feels himself the worse for the experience, but neither attributes his success in life to the fact that he was spanked.

THE FIGHT FOR THE NORTHWEST

Socialist speakers at the dinner given in Minneapolis in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Eugene V. Debs' entrance into the labor movement, quite frankly avowed their belief that the death of Senator Robert M. LaFollette opened the arena in the northwest for a contest for political control. Prominent socialists advised the reorganization of the socialist party to take the place of the progressive party, now admittedly defunct. They would see their own group of unsound theories become the rival of the regular parties now that they realize that there is no hope for the union of a section of the republican organization with scattered radical elements.

The regular republicans are not less eager to seize the opportunity offered by the passing of LaFollette. They have been persistently trying to repair their losses in the northwest. Secretary of State Kellogg, although defeated in that sector for the United States senate, has become the embodiment of federal patronage to its people. His personal friend, Pierce Butler, has been made an associate justice of the supreme court, and a former law partner of this friend, William D. Mitchell, is solicitor general of the state department. That the Coolidge administration intends to continue handing out places to northwestern men is indicated by the rumor that Secretary Kellogg's former law partner, Albert E. Olds, is to be made assistant secretary of state.

While the administration is packing men around Kellogg to win the northwest through patronage and local pride, Secretary of Agriculture Jardine is touring that section to convince the farmers that they require no special assistance to get upon their feet but only the administration's mild brand of general helpfulness. Senator Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, is to make a visit to the northwest and persuade it that the east is its firm and steadfast friend despite some disagreements over the present tariff law. All these efforts are now to be given definite form and purpose by a direct drive to capture the northwest for the republican party.

The democrats alone appear to be doing nothing to profit by the passing of Senator LaFollette. But they can profit most by doing nothing at this time. The strongest element of the LaFollette following will not be gathered into either the republican or the socialist fold. It will find socialism too radical, republicanism too conservative to command its allegiance. It will be practically driven into the democratic party unless a premature democratic effort to capture it alarms the republicans out of their present devotion to ultra-conservatism.

INSURANCE FOR RAIL EMPLOYEES.

A world's record in life insurance underwriting, involving $150,000,000.00, has been signed by the president of the Louisville and Nashville railroad. This marvelous man took out insurance for every employe of the Louisville and Nashville and its two feeders. More than 60,000 men and women will be protected by the policies to the issue.

There will be no medical examination and the policy will be effected July 1 on acceptance of 75 per cent of the railroad workers. The amount of protection afforded each employe is based on monthly earnings of that employe. The lowest is placed at $1,000 and the highest at $3,000 with $1,000 additional in the event of death from accident. Each employe will pay a part of the premium cost while the railroad will bear the remaining expense and will take care of the accounting and clerical work. Benefits also will be given for the loss of limbs, eye sight and in cases of permanent disability.

W. L. Mapother, is the president of the Louisville and Nashville and the creator of this plan of insurance for the 60,000 employes of the company. His picture belongs in the public gallery. In the old days of railroading it was different. Then it was low wages, the strike, the boycott, the black list and immense financial loses to the railroads, the public and the rail workers. Now the engineer's brotherhood is the owner of banks and trust companies and coal mines; the firemen's brotherhood has its banks and trust companies and a railway president has broken the world's record in life insurance underwriting for the benefit of the wage workers who look to him as their chief executive.

This old world is growing better and better all the time and the new civilization is a vast improvement on the civilization that was shot to death on Flanders Field.

TWO OUTSTANDING DEMOCRATS

Senator Oscar W. Underwood and Carter Glass are two outstanding democrats of America. Senator Glass is for a radical cut in surtaxes and all other federal taxes. Senator Underwood urges a cut in surtaxes to 13 per cent and is opposed to all confiscatory rates.

He holds the maximum of 15 per cent, including normal will produce the needed revenue for the country. In a speech to his constituents in the city of Montgomery, the Alabama senator declared there is no justification for the present race.

Senator W. J. Harris of Georgia is not an outstanding democrat. He demands that all persons in the $5,000.00 a year class or below it, should be exempted from the payment of income taxes. As for the surtaves and inheritance tax rates Senator Harris would not disturb the schedules.

Senators Underwood and Glass are statesmen and economists. Senator Harris is a politician. Senator Harris is a politician. Office holding is his trad.

FATHERS DAY A LONG DAY.

It was Fathers Day on June 22. It was the longest day in the year and the all exchanges say that it was dedicated to the business of florifying dad. New York florists say that there was an extraordinary demand for red roses. A New York tobacco dealer says the ladies and the children purchased all the cigars on the bargain counter. Dad's day is the longest day every day. Now why should the red rose be the emblem of dad's day? Why not the shrinking violet.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE.

OPPOSITION AS A TONIC.

The employer who wants to be surrounded by "yes men" must depend entirely on himself for the prosperity of his business.

If he is shrewd and able he will get along, at least until he becomes so swollen with vanity, and fed by praise from his underlings that he becomes a mere blusterer.

If he is just an ordinary man he will go under, when he might, by listening to the opinions of others, have obtained real value from their services.

I recently saw in a periodical a paragraph quoted as original which ran as follows:

"We hardly find a person of good sense save those who agree with us."

It struck me that this was a particularly good way of stating the case of the man who likes to have his opinions echoed. It struck me also that I had seen the same thing before. I found it afterward in the works of LaRochefoucald, from whom the paragrapher had obviously borrowed it, without troubling to change the wordings.

But perhaps LaRochefoucald himself had borrowed the thought from his predecessors, who in turn had borrowed it from those who lived and thought and wrote before them.

For always in the world it has been a human habit to hate opposition and to welcome agreement.

And wherever this habit has obtained, men have suffered by it.

Nobody in the world can think clearly for any length of time without comparing his views and ideas wth others, and without debating them with others.

In the conflict of minds the real truth is likely to be reached.

There is no tonic like opposition.

One of the reasons that the Scot intellect is keen and quick is that nobody likes an argument as much as a Scotsman, and nobody is as eager to get into one.

The mind that holds an opinion can find better reasons and arguments for that opinoin by holding out for it against some one who holds a contrary opinion.

The great trial lawyer is never at his best until he has a man of equal ability on the other side of the case.

The great trial lawyer is never at his best until he has a man of equal ability on the other side of the case.

The healthy minded child fights and wrangles and and it receives it best in meeting opposition.

No pugilist can be developed without sparring partner, and no theologian or philosopher can ever be sure he is right till he has met others in debate on disputed points and held his own against them.

The healthy minded childr fights and wrangles and disputes with other children, and indulges with them in the give and take of life.

The spoiled child is indulged by parents or servants made to think that everything he does is right, and presently becomes peevish, flabby minded and generally intolerable.

An idea worth holding is an idea worth fighting for. But we never can tell whether it is worth holding till we have tried it out against opposition, and won.

There is nothing better for the mind than exercise, and no exercise more invigorating than in meeting opposition, and in struggling to overcome it—admitting defeat if it shall come.

HE SPEAKS IN DEEDS.

Flowers for the living. Why keep the blossoms for the coffin of the dead? P. P. Martines of Dallas is a very modest and unostentatious individual. He never lets his right hand know what his left hand is doing, or words to that effect. He was born in Spain, he is not a church man, he has been a resident of Dallas more than 40 years and he accumulated a fortune in the cigar manufacturing industry. He isn't a church man; he believes in a great master of the universe who doeth all things well.

P. P. Martines paid a visit the other day to the Dickson colored orphanage near Gilmer, Texas. He had donated to the orphanage an $8,000 hospital and seeing the necessity for the completion of a girl's dormitiy, he instructed Preacher Dickson, who is widely known throughout Texas, to proceed with the work, and he would finance it if he did not receive help from other sources.

This son of old Spain never seeks publicity. He never turns down an appeal for aid. For 40 years the inmates of the jails and poor farms of Dallas county have been the recipients of his bounty. He has sent many boys and girls to school, to institutions of higher learning and has been their advisor in later years.

He has a smile for all the down trodden or the unfortunate, a word of cheer and a helping hand for all. His picture never appears in the newspapers of the state. High sounding and well worded personal tributes to the man or his deeds of love and kindness never decorate the pages of the press. Not that the newspaper writers of the state or the publishers are unwilling to bestow a word of praise at all times, but largely because P. P. Martinez is as shy as a child almost a recluse, who spends his spare hours pouring over his books and informing his mind.

Yes, flowers for the living; the dead cannot inhale their perfume or appreciate their beauty. Why should it be brick bats for a man in his life time and choice exoties from hot house and garden when his eyes are closed in the sleep of death and coffined clay is the only evidence of his mortal remains.

HE CAME HERE A WOP.

Raffale Prisco came to America 25 years ago, a penniless immigrant. He landed in the city of New York and the street gamins called him a wop. He couldn't speak the language and he did not know the customs of the country. He sailed for Italy the other day to establish a branch bank in Naples, to pay his respects to Prime Minister Mussolini whom he has known for years and to erect a monument at his native village near Naples to Italian soldiers who died in the world war.

This young wop of 25 years ago is president of one of the largest state banks in the city of New York. When he landed there wasn't a soul on the warves to greet him. On his departure for Italy many of the foremost political leaders of Manhattan were on the docks to say farewell, and a truck load of flowers bore testimony to the fact that the big banker was a power in the political as well as the financial world of his adopted city.

This is the way the wheel goes around in America.

NEGROES IN MISSOURI.

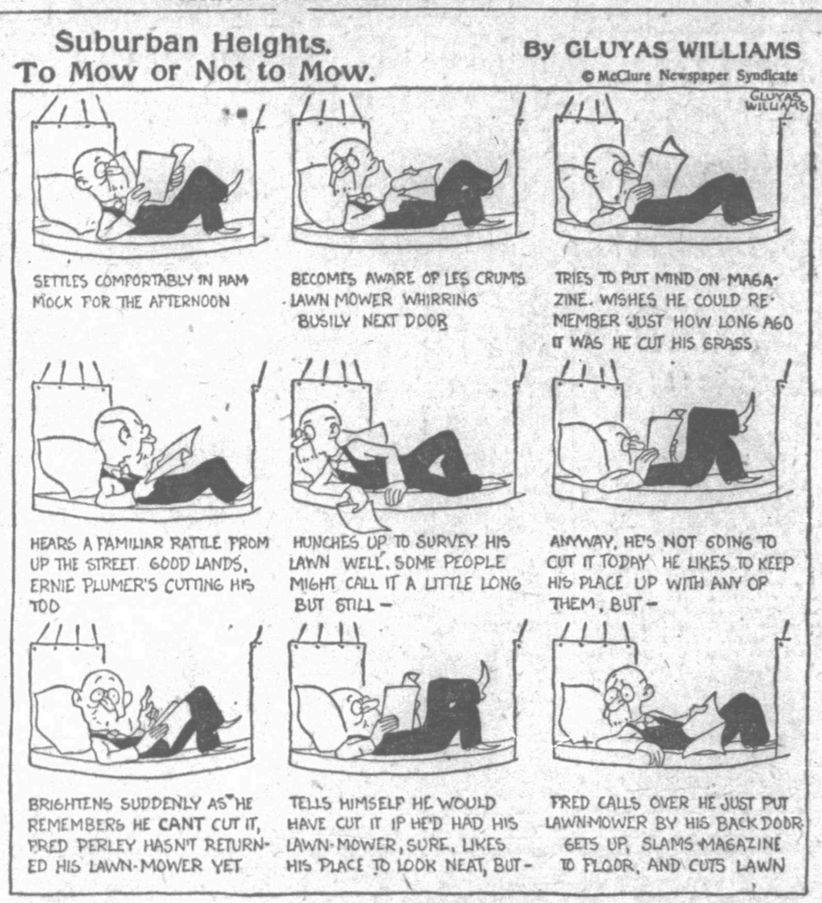

An interesting report has been issued by the Missouri Negro Industrial commission. According to it, in 1919 the negro population of Missouri was approximately 175,000. Migration of negroes from the southern states increased the negro population to approximately 250,000 in 1924.

This is one of the reasons why the democrats of Missouri have been losing ground. St. Louis and Kansas City have large negro colonies. When times are normal the negroes vote the straight republican ticket. Times are always normal, for negro voting purposes in the great cities of Missouri.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

Cancer

While today's planetary aspects are not favorable for active or forceful enterprise, they indicate that strong emotions will be stirred and good impulses generated, which will cause you a considerable amount of worry and anxiety if your actions—both those accomplished and those meditated—are not in consonance with the promptings of your better nature. If you have had in mind, some unworthy thought of "getting even" for the sake of some fancied wrong, or have in contemplation some plan or project that does not measure up to strict standards of what is fair and just, the influence of work will cause you to pause, and if you are wise, you will yield to the "still small voice" that will be heard today.

A child born today will, although apparently strong and healthy, require a great deal of watching, if serious sickness is to be avoided. Care must also be taken to avoid, as far as possible, the probabilty of accident, as the signs denote the presence of such a danger. In disposition, this child will leave much to be desired, as it will show a tendency to be overbearing. Its character, also, will have to be firmly moulded, in order that it may overcome an ever-present inclination to prevaricate and deceive. Forceful disciplinary measures will only accentrate those deplorable idiosyncracies. Love and affection will, accompanied by example, accomplish much more.

If today is your birthday, your mind is very active without necessarily being constructive. You are full of good ideas, but you seem unable to concentrate on one long enough to work it out to a logical conclusion. You are by no means imitative, and possess exceptional originality. Owing, however, to the unindexed condition of your mind, your valuable initiative is never given a fair chance. Your conscience—the sense of what is right or wrong—is very strongly developed, and you are upright and scrupulously honest, and never overstep the bounds, either in thought or action.

In your home life you are both affectionate and kind. Your friends are legion, and they, at all times, eagerly seek your companionship, as you are a "good mixer," and both genial and witty.

HOW IT STARTED

The Pneumatic Tube.

One of the invisible servants that expedites modern industrial and social intercourse is the pneumatic tube. Without it we could not possibly have the prompt and frequent delivery of mail that is one of the boasts of our larger cities. As a matter of fact, there was much agitation not long ago when the administration in a large eastern city proposed as a method of economy to abolish the pneumatic tubes which dispatched the mail to the various stations and to substitute delivery wagons. There was great opposition to the proposal as the efficiency of the service was regarded as depending on the pneumatic tube the sending of mail, dispatches and matic tubes.

The principle of the pneumatic tube parcels through tubes by means of air pressure, and perhaps its most extensive application can be found in the small pneumatic tubes used in stores for dispatching cash to and from a centrally located cashier's desk—something with which we are all familiar.

Pneumatic dispatch, as it was first called, had its origin as early as 1667 in a paper read by Denis Papin before the Royal Society of London. The first attempt to turn the idea to practical purposes was made only in 1810, when an Englishman named Medhurst drew plans for a pneumatic dispatch system. He was followed by other inventors, and in 1853 the first tubes was built in London by the Electric and international Telegraph company for the conveying of telegraph dispatches. This tube was 220 yards in length and was the first practical working pneumatic system put into operation. The designer was Josiah L. Clark and the system was subsequently improved upon by his successor, C. F. Varley. Further experiment followed and systems were soon established in Berlin and in Paris.

The first attempt at pneumatic dispatch in this country is credited to A. E. Beach, who in 1867 attracted attention with his experiments. It was in 1893 that the United States postoffice department installed pneumatic dispatch between the main postoffice and four substations in Philadelphia, and from that time on it came steadily into use in cities all other the country.

Millionaire Waiters Play Parts of Kings They Served In Past

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP).—Playing the part of the kings, presidents and millionaires whom they had served in past years, 25 old-time waiters of the "Millionaire Waiters' club" have climaxed their second annual outing with a $30-a-plate dinner.

Each started the day about noon yesterday with a perfumed bath. Each found a limousine with a chauffeur at the door and motored through Long Island visiting exclusive country clubs.

The dinner started with caviar, proceeded through eight courses and ended with $1 cigars. Lesser servitors bowed reverently. They had as guests the "mayors" of Delancy and Grand streets and 100 other prominent East Siders.

After dinner they exchanged reminiscences of serving the late Theodore Roosevelt, Oscar Straus, the late Jacob H. Schiff, J. P. Morgan and other notables.

LAND'S END

-By William Almon Wolff

CHAPTER XIX.
An Old Friend.

Pete found, then that that wedge didn't loosen the others enough to make them give, as he had hoped it would, and had to go to work on another.

"You don't have to stand up," he said to Elizabeth. "Sit down on that bench—you can throw the light over here all right. No use getting all tired out. We can't tell what's ahead of us."

It was trying, tiring work, and it took all his attention. He had to do his work in extremely close quarters, and he scraped all the skin from his knuckles long before he was in sight of the end. But:

"Got it, by Gad!" he cried at last.

As he cried out Elizabeth screamed, suddenly, and the flash went out. Pete spun around in the darkness. He heard a struggle; flung himself across the room toward Elizabeth, and was hurled back by a savage kick that landed on his chest and sent him staggering. He lost his balance and fell, but in a moment he was up—only to hear a door—the kitchen door, he was sure, slam. He reached it as it closed, overcame someone's attempt to hold it closed from the other side, and dashed into the kitchen, where a candle still burned, just in time to see a man's legs disappearing behind the door that led down to the cellar. He heard Elizabeth scream again. But by the time he reached the door it was not only shut but locked, and he heard a mocking laugh from below.

He didn't waste a second this time. A stout chair served him as a weapon, and at once he launched a furious assault on the door. A panel gave at last, and he was able to turn the key. He had another flashlight in his pocket, and he was on his way down the stairs, a beam of light preceding him, hardly more than a minute after the door had been locked. But the cellar was empty.

There was no sign, no trace, either of Elizabeth or the man or men who had seized her and carried her down. For a moment Pete stood staring, amazed, appalled. He wondered if he could have been mistaken, if they had taken Elizabeth some other way. But he had seen one man go down the stairs, he had just half run, half fallen down, and he had heard Elizabeth cry out.

Just for an instant Pete stood stock-still, dazed, wondering if he were mad, if this whole thing were not a nightmare. Then, with a cry he began his search. He tore at the wall in a dozen places; he was like some wild creature, trying to fight its way out of a cage. His hands were raw and bleeding when, at least, he stopped and stood still, panting. He fought for self-control.

Elizabeth and the men who snatched her away had been in the cellar. They had not left it by the only apparent means of doing so—the stairs that led up to the kichen and the door that he had smashed. But they were gone. A mouse couldn't have escaped his search. He had even opened the door of the furnace and flashed his light inside—to see a fire box swept and garnished, cleaned and painted since the last fire had been drawn, so that even the grate bars shone.

They were gone, and no trace of them remained—no clue to the secret door that there must be. Again he made his rounds of the walls, tapping m mm m m GMFW MFWYWYF everywhere in a search for some place where a hollow sound might betray a false wall. There was none. He went down on hands and knees and covered the floor in the same way. Once he heard a laugh—and was reminded of the ghostly and mysterious voice that had, that morning, given him a warning—a last warning.

He straightened up and stood, at last, as near to sheer panic as he had ever been in his life. He barred the supernatural; there was a door. But he couldn't find it; couldn't hope to find it if he had all night—all the time there was—to see it. And he had no time at all. The thought of Elizabeth a prisoner, in the power of the men who had carried her off, maddened him.

"Hello," he shouted. "Hello—hello—hello, I'll do what you tell me. I'll get out—I'll stay away—if you'll bring back that lady."

Again he heard the laugh, and then a voice—but not the same voice he had heard that morning. About this one there was a quality sinister, evil, to the last degree.

"Too late," it said. "You had your warning. Ashe. Don't worry about trying to help the lady. You'll need help yourself before you're five minutes older. Get out of that cellar, you fool, while you still can."

The sheer, vicious snap of that order sent him to the foot of the stairs; his action was purely reflex. Then he turned in a blind rage, gun in hand. A voice from above made him spin around again.

"Come up here, Ashe!" it cried. "Quick, now!"

He sent his flashlight up the stairs; saw a dim figure; fired. Even as his pistol roared out, reverbating in the confined space of the cellar, there was a rush of feet behind him in the cellar that had, a moment before, been, save for himself, as empty as the grave! He flung up his pistol hand, but before he could fire again something crashed on his head, and he went down like a log, unconscious.

When Pete began to struggle back to the possession of some scattered fragments of his wits, he was conscious, first, of a throbbing, blinding headache, and next of motion. He was bumping about; realized, a moment later, that he was in a car—and on its floor. He groaned, struggled to raise himself; succeeded, finally, in spite of the swaying of the machine, which was being driven at high speed along an extremely rough road. He saw at once that only one other man was in the car; wondered even in his pain and confusion; if he could overpower him. Then a jolt threw him against the door and he cried out. At once the car slowed; the driver turned to look at Pete.

"Hello! Comin' out of it, buddy? You'd ought to know better than hit that stuff! Bad enough to sell it—but drinkin' it yourself!"

Somewhere in the dim, distant caverns of Pete's memory that voice struck a familiar chord. It was an exquisite sort of agony to try to concentrate, or think, or do anything but sink again under the resurgent black waves that seemed determined to engulf him and drag him back into unconsciousness. But Pete made the effort.

"Bill!" he croaked. "Bill!"

The car was stopped with a jerk. The dome light flashed on.

"For the love of Mike—what goes on here?" said Bill, the demon taxi-driver. "The saints preserve us—Mr. Ashe! How come you're in with this gang?"

CHAPTER XX.
Back Again.

Pete's mind really wasn't working yet. It failed entirely to heed the damaging evidence against Bill, who ought to have been driving his taxi in New York and was, instead, aiding and abetting in the abduction of a man already half killed by his confederates. He only knew that in some previous incarnation he had trusted Bill, and leaned upon him, and found no reason to feel that his trust had been misplaced. Hence as well as he could, for the throbbing of his head and the pain that accompanied every movement and every word, he told Bill what had happened.

"I might have known!" said Bill. "They told me you'd passed out—see?—that you'd hit the hootch too hard—"

"The crooks!" cried Pete.

"Crooks is right—I'll tell the world!" said Bill. "Cheest—if a man's own house don't belong to him no more, what's comin' next, hey? Bootlegging's all right—I'm against prohibition myself—"

"Bootlegging!" cried Pete. The word was like a solvent; like the drop of liquid that, poured into a vessel full of a cloudy liquor clears it as if by magic. He understood it all—or, nearly all. "Bootleggers! Of course, and we never thought of it! What a pair of fools!"

"See here, boss," said Bill. "We want to get busy. I'm thinking—see! You're sure you hunted through that cellar good, ain't you?"

"I tell you I went over every inch of the walls and the floor!" Pete cried, with the futile anger of one in his state.

"Sure—that's what I say, said Bill, soothingly. "Well—that's all for that, ain't it? We know there's a way into that cellar from outside. Ten to one its from the beach, ain't it? I mean—that's reasonable, ain't it, now? You couldn't find the way out of the cellar—all right, it's up to us to find the way in. They're holding the young lady, likely, to keep you from getting gay—see?"

"Here—what's this?" Pete had put his hand in a pocket; it came out with a sheet of paper. He swore, with fervor. "Another of their damned notes. Printed—like the others."

"Let's see," said Bill. And he spelled out the message: "You have had your lesson—or part of it. The girl is all right. She won't be hurt unless you make a fool of yourself again. Stay away. When we have finished what we're doing she will be turned loose. Give your keys to Morgan with a written order to act as your agent and try to sell the house for you."

"I'll see them damned—"

"Sure—sure! But we gotta handle them with kid gloves till we get the young lady away from them, boss—can't you see? They sorta got us in the hole right now, the way I see it. Listen boss! You let me run this for a while, see? Your headpiece ain't quite right yet—it's not a whole lot of use to you right now. And I know some of these birds pretty well. I know the way they work. We got lots of time yet, the way I hope it."

"Where are we—how far from the house?"

"Not so far. That's what I'm thinkin' about, though, right now. I don't want to turn the car around—they'll be keepin' some sort of watch, though they won't be expectin' you back. Gave me orders to take you to your place in Flatbush, no matter what you told me if you woke up. Said you'd be as looney as pie-eyed rabbit, likely—said it always got you that way, and they didn't want you around. That sounded good to me—good enough. None of my show, anyway. They hired one of the boss's cars, see, and he took me off my taxi and told me to drive. If I hadn't 'a' known your voice, you'd be headin' for dear old Brooklyn right now."

He started the engine.

"What I want to do," he said, "is run this boat off in the sand where no one's so likely to see her, and then for us to hit the road back a ways. But I'm wonderin' whether you can make it. Get out and see how it goes."

Obediently Pete stretched, and then, rather tentatively, got out of the car. His head swam; for a moment he thought he was going to faint. But the thought of Elizabeth helped; he hung on to the car for a moment, and then broke away and took a few steps.

"Not so good," said Bill. "No wonder—they must 'a' handed you a peach!"

"I can make it, though," Pete insisted. "You're right—it would'nt be safe to take the car. Come on!"

"Right—hold on a minute." Bill edged along the road; at a good-looking place he turned off sharply and with a great roar from the engine and with showers of sand kicking up under the wheels, sought a hiding-place among the dunes. Pete followed gingerly, and waited while Bill switched off the lights.

"She'll do," said Bill. "No one'll find her unless they fall over her. Come along, boss—I know how to fix you up. Right down to the beach."

He was carrying a collapsible water bucket he had taken from the car, and when they reached the beach he made Pete take off his coat, shirt and undershirt, and then soused him with cold salt water. Two minutes of that, followed by a brisk rub with a rug, also borrowed from the car, did wonders. The buzzing in Pete's head subsided; new strength seemed to run through him.

"They got my gun," he said. Then he gave a sudden shout. "No, by Jove—they left it!"

"Oh, they thought they'd put you out for keeps!" said Bill. "They knew me—see? But they didn't know it all, did they? Freeze to that cannon, boss—it may come in handy, at that."

Once they were on the beach, they stayed. Bill, for many reasons, was against the road. And, since the tide was low, they should, he thought, be able to get aroun' the head land that guarded the western end of the cove that was their destination.

Walking in sand isn't easy when you are in the best of condition and at the top of your form. For Bill it wasn't so bad, though, as he explained, walking wasn't his lay. But for Pete it was hard beyond words. The secret of getting along well in sand is to lift your feet high, and Pete's shoes were, it seemed, soled with leaden plates instead of leather. Yet, somhow, they covered ground. For a mile before they reached the headland Bill kept looking out to sea; he seemed both relieved and disappointed at his failure to see anything. While they walked he told Pete what his altogether minor part in the proceedings had been.

CHILDRESS C-C. TO ENTERTAIN RAIL OFFICIALS

Wichita Falls Men to Attend Big Dinner Frday

The Childress chamber of commerce will entertain 37 officials of the Fort Worth and Denver railway and Burlington system Friday night with a banquet. The meeting is a good will affair and representatives from towns along the proposed Fort Worth and Denver South Plains railway have been invited; also a delegation from the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce. It is reported more than 123 delegates will be present from Lubbock, Plainview, Dimmitt, Lockney, Petersburg, Silverton, Quitaque, Turkey and Gasoline, towns through which the new railroad will be constructed.

J. T. Harrell, president; J. C. Mytinger, chairman, of the committee to present Wichita Falls' brief before the hearing at Plainview; Hubert M. Harrison, general manager, and Fred L. Haskett, assistant manager, of the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce, will attend the banquet. Mr. Harrison will appear on the program. His subject is, "What We Think of the Denver Road and How the Proposed South Plains Extension Will Benefit Wichita Falls."

The Wichita Falls delegation will leave Friday afternoon and remain over night in Childress. Saturday the annual Denver road jubilee will be held in Childress, which is a big picnic for employes of the railroad. The railroad furnishes free transportation to all employes and their families from Fort Worth to Texline and on the Wichita Valley lines. Last year more than 1,500 railroad people attended the big celebration, including many from Wichita Falls.

In a telegram to the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce Jerry W. Debenport, secretary of the Childress chamber, wired that the citizens of Childress are highly pleased that Wichita Falls is to be represented at the dinner. Wichita Falls is held in high esteem by the citizenship of the Lower Panhandle and South Plains.

Oil Company Owes $8,000,000 But It Has Chance, Report

NEW YORK, July 1.—The Middle States Oil company and its 33 subsidiaries can be organized on a basis favorable to creditors and stockholders, in the opinion of the receivers, former Judge Julius M. Mayer and Joseph P. Tumulty, who submitted a preliminary report to Federal Judge Knox today. A plan to combine the companies into a few corporations is being considered, they said.

The receivers were appointed last summer and ancillary receiverships were instituted in Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas, Texas and Louisiana. The Middle States Oil company and the subsidiaries in which it owns from 21 to 100 per cent of the stock control 700 wells producing 4,400 barrels of oil daily. Claims against the group, exclusive of income tax claims, total more than $8,000,000.

BROWN TAKES STAND IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

Waurika Courtroom Not As Filled as When Sledge Was Tried

WAURIKA, Okla., July 1.—A small crowd when compared to those thronging the court room for the Harry Sledge case was on hand today at the trial of Bill Brown, under indictment for assault in connection with the attack last February on Ethel Sreywaus. Interest in the case seems to have waned considerably, probably because the present trial is largely a repetition of the case in which Harry Sledge was sentenced to 35 years imprisonment for attacking Miss Sreywaus.

Girl Called.

Billy Morrison, the girl with Ethel Sreywaus one night in February was cross examined at length today by the defense. Her testimony was at variance on several points with that she gave in the Sledge case. The defense found the weak places and played them up to the judge and jury, successfully breaking down Ler testimony in a number of instances, that were of advantage to their client.

She was followed on the witness stand by Drs. Don McGregory, Bartley, and D. Long, all of Duncan. After their statements, given in plain terse English, all three were excused with no cross examination. Ted Elliott was also called and his testimony was of special help in the case as he substantiated the statements of Billy Morrison that there was no plan made for the assault of Ethel Sreywaus, and that Brown could not have been a confederate in the proposition because it was not planned and premediated as the state has been charging.

Defendant on Stand.

Bill Brown took the stand in his defense as the last witness for the day. He made a better witness in his own case than he had made for Sledge, his testimony being deliberate and calm. Cross examined at the hands of County Attorney Long, sharp sarcastic and very much to the point, failed to shake him in his story.

Brown will introduce some character witnesses on his own behalf in the morning after which the case will go to the jury, after tthe final arguments of the lawyers.

FREDERICK SUPERINTENDENT TO ASSUME HIS OFFICE

FREDERICK, Okla., July 1.—E. H. Shelton, newly elected county superintendent of public instruction, will assume his office July 6. He succeeds C. R. Pulliam who was filling the unexpired term of Clay W. Kerr, former superintendent, who accepted a position with the Oklahoma state superintendent's office.

Oklahoma Bank Is Raided By Bandits

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 1.—Two masked men held up the First National bank of Boynton, 23 miles west of here, today, escaping with approximately $5,000 in currency.

Guy W. Bain, cashier, and Miss Eloise Cherry, stenographer, the only persons in the bank when the bandits entered, were locked in the vault. Bain managed to open the vault from the inside and spread the alarm.

The bandits escaped in a motor car headed toward Haskell on the country highway.

PLAN CHILDRESS TRADES DAY

CHILDRESS, July 1.—The merchants of Childress are planning trades day coommencing the latter part of the summer. These occasions always bring big crowds to town. A prize of $20 is being offered for the best name for the trades day.

Outlook For British Industry Continues Gloomy, Is Report

LONDON, July 1.—The gloomy outlook for British industry continues says the monthly summary of the American chamber of commerce in London.

The overseas trade for May dicinished, in comparison with a year ago, imports being 18,000,000 pounds and exports 5,000,000 pounds less. Wholesale prices fell sharply for the fifth months in succession, with the index number in May at 159.

The total number of unemployed is 1,280,700 against 1,247,300 on June 2, and 1,052,643 a year ago. Of this number more than 160,000 are miners. A special trades union congress meeting has been called for July 24 to consider this problem.

In the coal trade demand is slack and prices still are receding.

Deny Scope's Sister Position As Teacher

PADUCAH, Ky., July 1.—Miss V. Scopes, sister of John T. Scopes, who will be tired July 10 at Dayton, Tenn., for violating the Tennessee evolution law, has been denied a position in the Paducah schools because she declined to repudiate the theory of evolution as espoused by her brother.

Miss Scopes, who is now studying in the University of Kentucky at Lexington, filed application for a position as instructor in mathematics.

Zed A. Bennett, a member of the Paducah board of education, said today that L. J. Hanifan, superintendent of schools, acting under authority of the board had told Miss Scopes that her services would not be required because she was unwilling to say that she would not advocate the theory of evolution.

Tillman County Race Track Being Repaired

Olympic Beginning Today

The new Christie comedy "Stop Flirting" offers some of the biggest laughs of the year. Wanda Hawley and John T. Murray take the leading roles, with Jimmie Adams and Jack Duffy in the supporting roles.

"The Legend of Hollywood" Is One Of Best Films; At Palace Today

A combination of a great story, a cast of the finest character actors on the screen today, and a directorial genius, make "The Legend of Hollywood" a truly remarkable production and one that should prove an outstanding box office success.

"The Legend of Hollywood" is an intense visualization of life's darkest moments and the silvered lining of the psychological clouds that gleam forth when hope is revived.

Percy Marmont, who scored one of the greatest successes in recent years as the whimsical "Mark Sabre" in "If Winter Comes," is the star. ZaSu Pitts, the most unique personality on the screen today, plays the feminine lead, a characterization that gives her a wonderful opportunity to exploit her versatility, the role ranging from farce comedy to the deepest pathos.

"The Legend of Hollywood" is from the Photoplay Magazine story by Frank Condon, and tells fothe despairing struggles of a writer to gain recognition in the field of scenario writing. Disappointment follows disappointment until, on the brink of desperation, he gambles with death in a thrilling game of seven glasses, one of which contains poison.

As the glasses are emptied, one by one, the suspense is poignant and almost paralysing in intensity. The acting of Percy Marmont in this great scene, depicting mental torture and the slow breakdown of the man as the inevitable climax approaches, is one of the greatest histrionic triumphs ever recorded on the screen.

Renaud Hoffman, a newcomer to screenland and a young director who has been called a genius, is responsible for the production, which comes to the Palace theatre today.

Appendicitis Fatal To Man At Seymour

SEYMOUR, July 1.—Fearon Stafford, 23 years old and only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Stafford, prominent family of the Plainview community, died early Tuesday morning at the Memorial hospital following an operation for appendicitis performed a week ago. He had waited too long and was in a very serious condition when operated on, and little hope was held for his recovery. He was buried Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Henson cemetery with services conducted by Rev. J. H. Ewing. He is survived by his parents and four sisters, Mesdames Jno. Slagel and Floyd Compton of this county; Mesdames Verie Finney and A. J. Samhill of Lubbock, both of whom are here for the funeral.

TAMED BUFFALOES TO SHOW

Feature of Calgary Parade to Be Special Team.

CALGARY, Alta., July 1 (AP).—Two full-grown Alberta buffaloes hitched to a cart and driven are to be a feature of an historical pageant July 6 to mark the 50th anniversary of the founding of the city of Calgary.

When two cowboys first began breaking the bison to harness they were almost unapproachable, but were soon "gentle broken," following anyone who showed them a tin of oats.

Seymour High Given Two Affiliated Units

SEYMOUR, July 1.—Word just received here by Supt. J. F. Kemp of Seymour schools from the department of education at Austin that two additional units in affiliation one in English and one in mathematics have been given the high school here, making 22 1-2 credits and all that can be had until more buildings, teachers and equipment are provided. The credits are 4 in English, 4 in mathematics, 4 in history, 3 in Latin, 4 in science. 3 1-2 in home economics. Eight of these have been granted within the last three years, due in a great measure to the untiring efforts of our able superintendent, J. F. Kemp. Teachers elected for next year by the board of education are as follows: Superintendent, J. F. Kemp; principal of high school and history, Mrs. W. A. Baker; science, Mrs. J. F. Kemp; English, Miss Lottie Heyman; mathecatics, O. W. Stewart; home economics, Miss Orlan Smith; Latin, Miss Lucy Moore.

Grade school teachers: Miss Lavada Ratliff, principal; Misses Violet Heasley, Mary Bowman, Jo Lee Dickson, Willie Harris, Ola Claggett, Mesdames Tom Easter, J. Naugle, May Cooper, Seth Cockerell, S. W. Pistole.

Third Robbery Nets $49.64 To Thieves

FREDERICK, Okla., July 1.—Robbers entered the Farmers' cooperative filling station Sunday for the third time, securing $49.64 in cash. In searching for the money, boxes of articles were turned over and spilled. Close beside the money that the thieves took was cash totaling more more than $200. Checks were strewn about the floor. None of the accessories were taken or disturbed.

Ten-Gallon Still Is Held At Frederick

FREDERICK, Okla., July 1.—A 10-gallon capacity still was taken within the limits of the city of Frederick Tuesday and two men arrested in connection by Sheriff J. D. McCorcle. A negro's hands were covered with malt mix when the officers entered.

"STOP FLIRTING," TODAY

Olympic and Other Shows Offer Good Programs for Week-End

Happy hokum, jazzy joy, long laughs! That's what's waiting around the corner for the people of Wichita Falls today. "Stop Flirting," the great Christie laughing hit, takes its place at the Olympic theatre where it will remain until Sunday.

With John T. Murray, Wanda Hawley, Jimmie Adams, Jack Duffy, David James, Ethel Shannon and a host of other fun makers playing the leading roles under the direction of the great Scott Sidney who acknowledges "Charley's Aunt" as his latest masterpiece, it is small wonder this is a whirlwind farce that hits the public like a cyclone.

There isn't any melodrama nor are there any tense dramatic moments—there are just tons and tons of laughs—wholesome, spontaneous, innocent, merry laughs. For two years the story, as a musical comedy, kept the legitimate stage in a constant uproar but that isn't anything to what it is going to do to screen audiences. All we can say is, the Christies seem to have found the secret for turning out a one hundred per cent comedy with every production judging from this one and its side-splitting predecessors.

MORE CRADLES.

Order of Day in Stockholm Gives Way to ouths.

STOCKHOLM.—More room for cradles and fewer military barracks is the order of the day in Sweden. By its recent vote the national legislature has sustained the proposal of the social-democratic government to cut down the number of army corps from six to four and to reduce all army and navy expenditures accordingly.

All of the parties of the left, liberals, social-democrats and communists, supported this move in the teeth of determined opposition from the right wing conservatives. At the same time the officers' rooms in one of the former regimental barracks in Stockholm have already been reconstructed into emergency tenements for families unable to procure other housing, and the city itself runs a real estate bureau, where information may be had free of charge as to where vacant flats or houses may be found.

With an unprecedented building activity going on, the end of housing sortage is in sight. Within the limits of Stockholm itself close to 3,000 new apartments are under construction and in the suburbs entire communities are growing up.

COUNTY DEMONSTRATOR BUSY WITH FARM MEETINGS

FREDERICK, Okla., July 1.—Mrs. Eva M. Mosteller, county home demonstration agent, is kept busy attending meetings of farm women's clubs over the country. This week she will participate in five meetings.

EASTMAN PAYS DIVIDEND.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 1.—The Eastman Kodak company today paid its employes and shareholders $6,195,196.36, the great bonus and stock dividend distribution in the history of the company.

Of this amount the largest share, $4,168,345.50, was paid to holders of common and preferred stock. Of the stockholders more than 8,600 are employes of the company.

Child-birth

HOW thousands of women, by the simple method of an eminent physician, have avoided unnecessary miseries through many months and up to the moment Baby has arrived, is fully explained in the remarkable book "Motherhood and the Baby." Tells also what to do before and after baby comes, probable date of birth, baby rules, etc., and about "Mother's Friend," used by three generations of mothers, and sold in all drug stores everywhere. "Mother's Friend" is applied externally, is safe, free from narcotics, permits easier natural readjustment of muscles and nerves during expectancy and childbirth. Start using it today. Mrs. B. B. Kerger, Slayton, Minn., says: "It pulled me through." Send for book today to Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. 76, Atlanta, Ga. "Mother's Friend" is sold at all drug stores.

Brakeman Is Caught Between 2 Box Cars

FREDERICK, Okla., July 1.—Richard J. Kenny, local Frisco brakeman, was seriously, although probably not faltally, hurt Tuesday morning when two cars on a siding in the yards rolled down a slight incline, catching his foot and crushing him between them. An examination revealed two broken ribs and severe hemorrhage from the lungs. All of the chest and back muscles on the right side of the trunk had been crushed and several ligaments torn, it is feared.

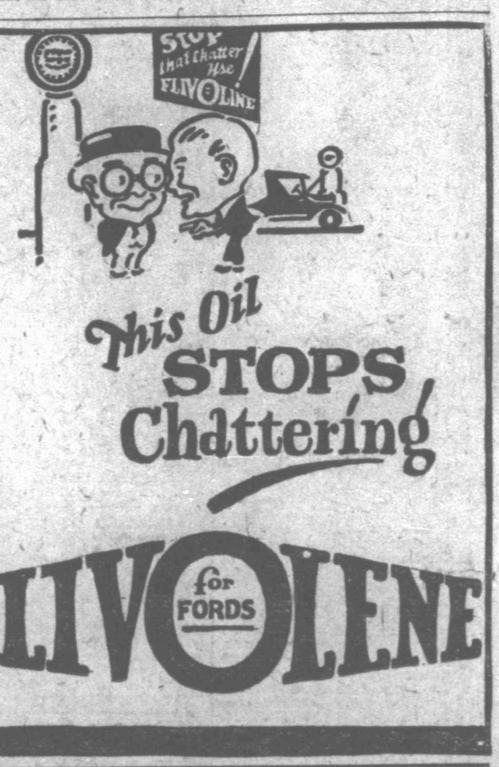

Eye witnesses of the accident say that Kenny had a narrow escape, believing that his head would have been caught but for a sudden drop which brought his chest in line with the couplers.

CHARTER IS REFUSED KLAN.

Kansas Board Decides Knights Not a Charitable Concern.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 1.—The Kansas charter board today refused a charter to the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, a Georgia corporation. Concurring in an opinion prepared by Attorney General C. B. Griffith the board declared that the plan was not doing charitable benevolent work as stated in its petition for admission to the state as a corporation.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE ONLY DRAWBACK

I can find but scant attraction
In the dramas that I see,
They have not sufficient action
Or heart interest for me,
All the heroines lack color,
They have neither zip nor go,
And the heroes all are duller
Than the people that I know.
I'm a regular first nighter
And I frequently avow,
That I'd make these dramas brighter—
If I just knew how.

Movies seem to me more dreary
Every time I witness one,
They are neither smart nor cheery
Yet so well they might be done!
Writers nowadays are slipping,
For a year I have not seen
Anything that's tense or gripping
On a moving picture screen.
As a cinema producer
I should like to make my bow,
And give better plays for you, sir—
But I don't know how.

Novels aren't as interesting.
As they were in days of old,
When the authors were not questing
For the stuff that could be sold.
Spending half an hour of reading,
I've discovered doesn't pay—
It's a wearisome proceeding
With the stuff we get today.
I would go to some lone hovel,
Bind a towel 'round my brow—
And reel off a first class novel,
If I just knew how.

JINX TUCKER

"We write a piece and yawn and then
We heave a heavy sigh,
The season's not half over, but
We're dry of alibi."

Tanner outfit wops wavering Wacoans, 13 to 3. It'll take an original alibi expert, which Jinx is, to excuse such proceeding.

SNO USE.

Needles and pins,
Needles and pins,
Now the big alibi
For Waco begins.

Peculiar how the Spudders, a six-position team, according to Jinx, takes the "first division" Cubs to such a lopsided cleaning.

Pingus has now manufactured 23 home runs.

GRANDSTAND MANAGING

The suggestion by us, if any, to Buddy Tanner would be to pitch Dick Morgan one day, Bob Osborn the next, and Suds Sutherland the next, and keep 'em rotating that way. These boys don't need any rest.

Carl Williams could be held in reserve as a potent pitching threat. A pinch-pitcher, so to speak, also pinch-hitted.

What did you say?
Well, so are you.

There were two Osborns unpopular in Waco yesterday: Bob Osborn and Ernie Osborn, the latter an umpire, and umpers are always zero in personage at Waco, especially Ernie.

NO YELLOW THERE.

Temple's Texas association team displayed great courage in ganging up and nearly beating an umpire to death yesterday in Austin. Some of these athletes have more grit than one would realize merely at first glance.

Padgett Mean Looking Gink.

Cowboy Padgett rolled into town yesterday. Trammel saw him, and for a moment you could have knocked the Duke over with a lead pencil. For Cowboy looks the part. He'll never take any beauty prizes. Ears cauliflowered beyond recognition, nose battered into various and assorted angles, eyebrows bunched up from hard knocks caught in ring battles of other days, the battle scarred veteran certainly presented a formidable picture.

Padgett, the willing rough and tumble mixer, picturesque as a fighter, one of the toughest in the game, in appearance does not belie his reputation an iota. He appears a bit larger than Duke, and, if facial expression means anything, a fiercer and more courageous fighter.

Comparison Unfavorable for Duke.

Stand the two up side by side, look 'em over from top to toe, cast your glims over each individual muscle, note the jauntiness or lack of jauntiness in carriage, the glint in the eye of each, and the expression on each leather beaten map, and you'd almost be forced to pick the Cowboy as a certain victor. All of which probably means nothing—judging two fighters by their looks.

THE OUTLOOK

Padgett is the more experienced of the two. He has fought better men than has Trammel, whipping some, losin to others, and has engaged in no less than three championship scraps. But Trammel still is really an unknown quantity. Duke is tough, too. And he carries just as much of a sock as does Padgett, maybe more. We repeat the statement made in this column several days ago: If Trammel steps in and battles in the same style and with the same determination displayed in his last several bouts here he will stand just as much chance of beating Padgett, possibly by a knockout, as 99 other fighters out of 100.

LEVINE AND RODRIGUEZ.

If Tabby Levine ever puts it over on Blas Rodriguez, the Mexican midget, he'll do it Friday night in the eight-round semi-final to the Padget Trammel go. For Tabby is in the best shape of his admittedly short fistic career. Rodrigues is the faster and cleverer miller of the two, also the lighter by at least eight pounds, an enormous advantage among the little fellows. Levine's greatest chance for success lies in just one style of fighting viz. if he will stay low, and bring 'em up as Blas comes in. If Levine stands up and attempts to box the Torreon mite, he'll probably be outspeeded, and he won't look so good in the clinches, but if, we reiterate, Tabby stays low and swings 'em into Blas' mid-section, his weight advantage abetted by Rodrigues' apparent inability (he fights with his gloves high and shoots 'em straight) to block body punches may give the Wichita Falls youngster a victory.

WHY PICK ON PAT?

"Even school girl flappers are still taught," says Houston scribe in frantic AP article, "how Mr. Henry pleaded for a straight season," eat, et cetera, so forth and so on, and otherwise, or words to that effect.

'Sall a cry against a split season in the Texas league this year.

Using Houston author's own smile, let us also twist the patriotic Patrick's eloquent utterance: Give us liberty at least temporarily from them CATS or it will be DEATH for the Texas league in both fan interest and financially speaking.

How Much is Nothing?

Some of the lads who are said to be on the know side of the league inner works declare that Fred Ankerman, Buff secretary, has suddenly become imbued with the riotous idea a split season will damage attendance at the Buff park, and for, that reason and that reason only and not through any altruistic interest in the league itself, is demanding in ever so dramatic tones for an uncut race.

Mr. Shade, who, by the way, has engaged in several tussles with Mr. Padgett, refuses to go to Californa to box Mickey Walker. Maybe he's heard there's nothing but sunshine in that state.

OSBORN GIVES UP BUT SEVEN SAFE SMACKS

Bodie and Query Hit For Circuit—Fitz Poles In Pinch

WACO, July 1.—Osborn today duplicated his performance of May 20 when he first met the Waco club and dazzled them. He held the Wacoans helpless in Katy park while the Spudders ran wild and scored 13 runs to Waco's 3. Rodriguez made his debut with Waco, and pitched as well as could be expected, loose playing behind him being costly. Benson, Michigan star, was put in by Pratt in the seventh, and in the eighth was hit all over the lot.

The Spudders scored two in the first inning. Distel beat out a roller down the third base line, and went all the way to third when the pitcher threw wildly to first. He scored on sacrifice fly to center by Callaghan. Bodie then hit a home run over the left field fence.

Just Too Good.

A single by Callaghan, a walk, and double to center by Fitzgerald scored another in the third for Wichita Falls. The North Texas outfit then stepped out and counted two more in the fourth. After Query struck out, Osborn singled. Distel then struck out. Callaghan walked. Bodie hit to third, filling the bases when Foss booted. Fitzgerald singled to right, scoring Osborn and Callaghan. Bodie went to third, but on an attempted double steal a few seconds later, was thrown out at the plate.

Waco broke into the scoring column for a pair in the fourth, also. Perrin singled. Wilson flied out. Perrin stole second. Foss beat out an infield hit, sending Perrin to third. Pratt singled to right, scoring Perrin and sending Foss to third. Foss scored after Fitzgerald caught a long fly to center by Galloway.

Five in Seventh.

The Spudders cut up something awful in the seventh, scoring five runs. An error sandwiched with a walk, singles by Fitzgerald, Golvin and Dorman, a wild pitch and home run by Query brought over the quintet.

The visitors counted three in the eighth. Singles by Bodie, Fitzgerald, Turgeon, long fly by Golvin, a stolen base by Turgeon, a walk, and singles by Query accounted for the tabulations.

Double by Galloway, a wild pitch, and long fly by Menze scored one for Waco in the ninth.

Texas League Moguls Call "Split" Meeting

DALLAS, July 1.—A split season in the Texas league was regarded as the probable outcome tomorrow of a special meeting of club representatives, announced here tdoay by J. Doak Roberts, president. The meeting was called at the request of six club owners he said. It was understood that each of the six favored a division of the season.

While Mr. Roberts declared the meeting had not been called for that purpose, it was "almost certain the question of a split season will be discussed."

None Other Than Cowboy Padgett Himself!

Behold, the first pictorial illustration of Cowboy Padgett ever presented in Wichita Falls. The picture, however, doesn't do him justice. Cowboy is far handsomer, and is lots meaner than he looks in the cut.

Padgett, one of the outstanding welterweight subjects of fistiana, is on hand ready to tangle with Duke Trammel, the Fort Worth socker, Friday night in the American Legion 10-round main event. He took a short workout Wednesday, and declared himself in good condition.

Padgett, by the way, ranks as the most famous ringster to ever sign up for a Wichita Falls engagement.

FLORAL HEIGHTS QUITS

Grace Methodists and Floral Heights Methodists were scheduled for a Sunday School League game Wednesday, but the Heights crew forfeited, if that's what you want to call it, for Floral doesn't intend to play any more ball this season, according to Manager Billingsley.

Clothiers Still Plugging

Ludlam & Riggs, once more a revamped aggregation, is billed today with Monroe's Travelers in Twilight league play. Dub Davis, manager, has quit the club, and Len Smith has again rushed to the helm.

Several new faces will be seen in the Clothiers' lineup, said Smith. the roster this afternoon is to be composed of Homer Doke, catcher; Henry Shaw, back at second base again; Clint Griffin, on the hill; Fats Mathis, first base; Floyd Randle, shortstop; Frank Shaw, third base; Ward, Brown, and Freddy Boone, outfielders. Smith may be called on ti pitch.

BANKERS ENTHUSIASTIC

Hugh Cotner's Security Nationals, all excited and pepped up over fighting through to a tie with American Refiners for the league leadership, are laying extensive plans for the copping of the pennant. The Bankers have a heavy following, and should they win, it will be a vary popular victory.

RILEY A MANAGER

Hail to the new skipper. Riley Rawls will assume the role of manager of the Travelers Insurance club in the City league. Riley faces trouble the first thing that comes into his work. Red Hicks, first string catcher, is sick and probably will be out of the lineup in the game today with Ludlam & Riggs. Riley is rated as one of the best centerfielders in the league and is a consistant hitter.

MORE ALL-STARS

Rabbit Gordon is the latest to pick what be figures is an all-star team of Twilight players. Rabbit claims the following would be a winner with plenty of practice:

Catcher, Dub Davis; first base, Kellogg; second base, Hershel Johnson; third base, T. V. "Monty" Montgomery; shortstop, Shadie Hale; leftfield, Johnnie McMahon; centerfield, Riley Rawls; rightfield, Bob Riley; utility, Hood Kinser; pitchers, Trout, Courtney and aHtton.

SUNDAY GAME OFF

There will be no Twilight league game Sunday afternoon. The game scheduled for that date, Texhoma and Ludlam & Riggs, has been postponed until a later date. Most of the players will leave for the Fourth of July and it was decided that they would postpone the issue. No date has as yet been set for the game.

Shadie Hale will leave on vacation sometime within the next few days and will likely be missing from the Texhoma lineup for some time and maybe for the rest of the season, which ends the last of this month.

Mac At Olney Friday

O'Dell McDuffy will pitch for Olney again Friday afternoon in a battle between Olney and Archer City. The Texhoma star has been in one game with the Olney club and stopped Loving's winning streak with a 4 to 3 victory.

Freddie Boone will boss the First Methodist nine Friday in the Baptist tilt. Freddie has been playing good ball all year for the Methodists and will take a fling at the managerial game in the absence of Skipper Gerard Boone.

Gerard Boone of the First Methodists, will spend the Fourth in Georgetown. He will be there on business and to visit friends.

Methodists Take on Jimmy

The First Methodists have announced the addition of Jimmy Parker, Sunday School league strikeout king, to their pitching staff. Jimmy should work mighty good with O'Dell McDuffy and Ralph Walker. Shep Cannon is out of town and Boonie is not banking overly much on the Stamford youngster. Should Shep return to the fold the Methodists will have as good a pitching staff as any in the league, if not better.

Queen Mary Sees Suzanne Clean Up Old Tennis Rival

WIMBLEDON, July 1.—(AP)—Mlle Suzanne Lenglen five-times winner of the women's singles championship in the play at Wimbledon, will have as an opponent in the final match this year the 19-year-old English girl, Joan Fry. This is a consequence of the matches in the semi-final round today.

Miss Fry was victorious over the former French champion, Mme Bilout, 6—2, 4—6, and 6—3.

Mlle Lenglen won her right to enter the final without any great effort, her old rival, Miss Kathleen McKane in love sets, 6—0, 6—0. In addition to having the honor of playing for the championship the young English girl incidentally won a further honor today when she selected to play on the English international team which will soon go to the United States.

The women's singles did not provide the only fast play today for John Hennessey of Indiana, smarting from his defeat yesterday inthe singles, with his partner, Ray Casey of California, took the third round in the doubles match from Crole Reese of England and Barclay, the Tasmanian. Baron de Morpurgo of Italy and Baron Bela Von Kehrling of Hungary, sprang a surprise by eliminating J. C. Anderson, Australia, and Randolph Lycett, England, in the fourth round.

The scores in these respective matches were 8—10, 6—3, 6—4, and 5—7, 6—4, 6—3, 6—3.

Queen Mary, who witnessed the Lenglen-McKane battle, remained until the end ofthe third set in the men's doubles in which the Americans played. Many times the queen applauded Casey's terrific service aces and Hennessey's fast drives.

Mlle Lenglen for the second time in the tournament was called to the royal box and chatted with Queen Mary for a few minutes.

McGraw Regains First By Nipping Phillies in Pair

PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—(AP)—The New York Giants regained first place in the National league today by taking both games of a double header from the Phillies, 6 to 4 and 16 to 7. In the second game the Giants hammered four pitchers for 20 hits, including six home runs. Hack Wilson slammed two homers in the third inning when New York scored nine runs. Irish Meusel hit a homer in the first game and two more in the sequel. Young and Snyder made one each. Score:

BUSH LEAGUE TEAM MUSSES UP ON UMPIRE

Temple Players Almost Put Ump Stewart Out Of Commission

AUSTIN, July 1.—Umpire Jack Stewart of the Texas association was badly cut and bruised about his head and neck today as a result of a massed assault by Temple players, following his forfeiture of the game to Austin, 9 to 0, in the sixth inning.

Several stitches were necessary on a scalp wound, inflicted by the iron bars of a catcher's mask, wielded by the Temple catcher.

Catcher Henderson refused to leave the diamond after being ordered out of the park in the sixth inning by Stewart, who then forfeited the game.

Three Temple players, outfielder Miller, catcher Henderson and shortstop Pipkin paid fines of $14.80 at the police court immediately after being arrested at the ball grounds.

In the third innings of the game Manager Mitchell and shortstop Bush of Temple were ordered out of the park by Stewart for protesting a decision at first base.

At the time of the forfeiture the score was tied at 3-all.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. O'Pry leave Friday for an extended visit in Oklahoma and before returning they will visit Mrs. O'Pry's mother in Shawnee, Okla.

PRESBYTERIAN LADIES ENTERTAIN.

The ladies' auxiliary of the Presbyterian church entertained their husbands and friends with a picnic at the Lions' club park, Monday evening about 8:30. The evening was spent in games and contests and ice cream and cake was served to about thirty members and guests. They reported a splendid time.

This was the closing meeting of the auxiliary until they reorganize in September. They always disband during the summer months.

CHURCH AUXILIARY.

The Christian church auxilary met Monday afternoon at 3 at the home of Mrs. Grace Jennings at 200 West Ida, on the South Side. They voted to have a cold drink stand at the W. T. Waggoner race tracks, July 3, 4 and 5.

The retiring president, Mrs. L. E. Sheldon, thanked the members for their co-operation and kindness during her past year as their leader.

Mrs. Jennings served punch during the evening; those guests present were: Misses Vyneta Little, Nola Ratcliff, J. M. Ashley, J. M. Knight, L. E. Sheldon, W. D. Robinson, John Houser, L. C. Johns, B. L. Dovell, A. T. McDonald, G. L. Gabblin, H. R. Hannah, J. R. Stalcup and Grace Jennings.

The next meeting will be at the Christian church Monday afternoon, with Mrs. J. R. Stalcup leader.

Bears Overtake Five-Tally Lead To Beat Atzmen

SAN ANTONIO, July 1.—Overtaking a five-run lead, the Bears started scoring in the fourth inning and did not quit until the ninth when they scored the run needed to beat the Panthers, 6 to 5, in the opening game of the series Wednesday. The Panthers got all of their runs in the first four innings off Heitzman, whom they tapped for seven hits, the first four of which were three-baggers. Buck Winters and Hap Collard held the Panthers the rest of the route. It was Meyers' drive to left after Rosenthal singled and advanced on Nason's sacrifice that scored the winning run with Meyers having three balls and two strikes when he landed on the ball.

Greb Odds-On Favorite to Beat Walker In 15-Round Tiff Tonight

WILLS DOPED TO GET BEST OF WEINERT

Slattery Slated to Shade Shade, Say Some "Sages"

NEW YORK, July 1.—(AP)—Harry Greb of Pittsburgh, world's middleweight champion, will risk his crown against Mickey Walker of Elizabeth, N. J., world's welterweight champion, and Harry Wills, negro heavyweight, will trade punches with Charlie Weinert of Newark, N. J., in the two 15-round headline matches at the Italian hospital fund bouts at the Polo grounds Thursday night.

This stellar top line program will be augmented by a six-round semi-final between Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, N. Y., and Dave Shade of California and a four-round preliminary between Joe Lynch of New York, former world's bantamweight champion and Jack Sharkey of New York.

Promoters of the matches said today that the advance seat sale already had exceeded the $300,000 mark. If a capacity crowd attends the matches, 80,000 will be in the enclosure.

Which Is Main Event?

Four-hundred policemen have been detailed to the fight area between 150th and 159th streets to keep the throngs moving. The promoters are perurbed over the question of naming an official main bout. Wills and Weinert both have served notice that they expect to be tossed into the ring for the final attraction, while Walker and Greb have scoffed at the idea of turning their world's title match into a semi-wind up affair. So this matter has been passed on to the state athletic commission, all four principals having agreed to abide by its decision, which will be given tomorrow afternoon. While the Greb and Walker match will be a legitimate world's championship match, Wills contends that his position in the heavyweight circle, owing to his proximity to the title, entitles him to a preferred position on the card. However, boxing followers near to the athletic commission are of the opinion that the officials will rule the title match the final exhibition.

Wills a Favorite.

Wills will be a popular favorite to defeat Weinert and some even venture an opinion that the negro will stop the Newark man. Weinert's fine showing against Firpo and Wills' disappointing exhibition against the same man, however, has caused some speculaton in the circle of those who profess to know and an upset in this match would not be entirely unexpected.

Greb will be an odds-on favorite to retain his world's middleweight crown against the attack of his youthful challenger, Walker, guardian of the world's 147-pound crown. Walker has everything to gain and nothing to lose in this match, but he feels that he will be handicapped to some extent by the absence of Jack Kearns, his manager, from his corner.

Walker has seen Greb fight at various times and he broadcasts from his Jersey City quarters that he has perfected a defense for the Pittsburgher's windmill attack that will prove an innovation in boxing circles. A knockout is not anticipated in this match.

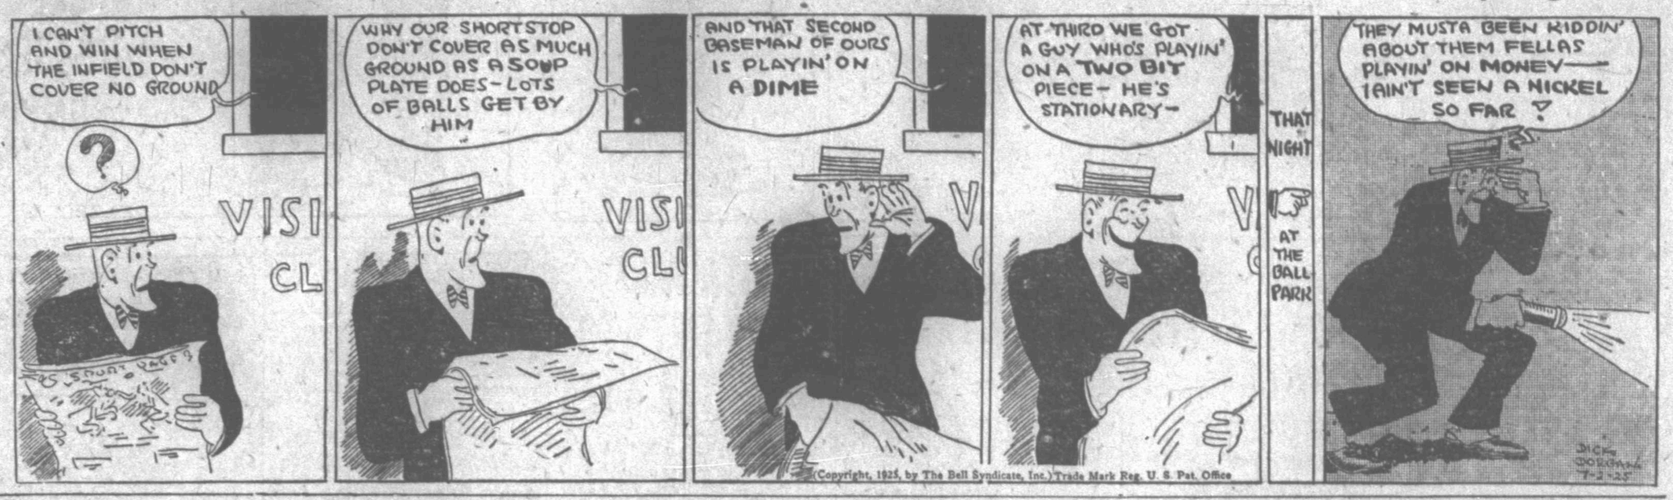

The Slattery-Shade affair is one of the outstanding matches despite its subordination to the headliners. Slatery meets in Dave Shade one of the toughest of the western contingent of boxers a welerweight who has chased Mickey Walker, from state to state in quest of a title match. The Buffalo lad however, will be a slight favorite to outpoint his coast rival.

Kirkwood Slides Under Wire In Glen Eagles Play

GLEN EAGLES, Scotland, July 1.—(AP)—Joe Kirkwood, one of the three Americans who competed in the British open golf championship at Prestwick last week, is among the 32 professionals who qualified for the thousand guineas tournament beginning here tomorrow.

Two golfers from the Channel shared the distinction of making the lowest score for 18 holes in the two qualifying rounds. Yesterday Aubrey Boomer of the Island of Jersey, and professional of the St. Cloud Country club, near Paris, shot a 69 and today, a native Frenchman, Jean Gassin of the Chantilly club made the same score.

In these two scores British golfers see the possibility of strong competition in the game which the British taught the French just as they did lawn tennis only to have their pupils become dominant in that sport in Europe.

Leading the field in the qualifying round for the annual Glen Eagles tournament was Abe Mitchell with 140. He scored 70 in each of his rounds and in both of them was 35 to the turn and a similar number of strokes on the homeward journey.

Observers say this is the best performance of any major tournament in their recollection on this side of the Atlantic since John Ball won the open championship in 1890 at Prestwick with two rounds of 82, taking 41 to the turn and 41 to come home on.

The championship then was decided over 36 holes instead of 72 as now.

Mitchell putted only 64 times during the rounds. He never needed three putts to get the ball into the hole and he sunk his first putt only twice. Down the fairways his play was just as consistent as on the greens.

Kirkwood barely got under the qualifying wire after his poor start of yesterday he had to do 73 today and he did it, getting a total of 163. Those who had 164 had to play off their tie to see who would fill the few remaining places among the 32 elect.

Buffs Would Not Divide Season

HOUSTON, July 1.—Houston club owners do not know what course their colleagues of other cities will take if a proposal is made to split the Texas league season July 4th. But they will take theirs in an undivided portion. Even the school girl flappers are still taught how Mr. Henry pleaded for liberty or death with no stop-over privileges. Today Houston is pleading for a straight season just as it was written in the winter schedule.

Without striking an oratorical pose or first oiling his vocal tubes with ice water Secretary Fred Ankeman today summed up Houston's stand on the split-season issue tersely and succinctly by saying: "We unequivocally oppose such a project. We will say with our vote if President Doak Roberts is asked to secure a mail ballot."

Speaking both for himself and for President H. L. Robertson of the Buffs, Secretary Ankeman went a bit farther by declaring Houston would never again favor a split no matter how badly the Buffs might be faring on the battlefields.

Continuing Secretary Ankeman said: "At the next schedule meeting we will endeavor to persuade all the club owners to commit themselves against a mid-season split. If they place themselves on record in the winter they will not be able to backslide after two and a half months of campaigning have gone by. The trouble in the past has been that no such an understanding was ever reached when the schedules were adopted."

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, July 1.—(AP)—The cotton market today was again extremely quiet with little disposition to trade on either side. What price there was, was downward some selling having been induced by reports of more liberal rains in the belt including some showers in the drouth section of Texas. At the lowest, however, prices were only 21 to 22 points under yesterday's close and final results showed net losses of 17 to 20 points.

At the start Liverpool cables were decidedly better than due but the market here opened six to eight points down and gradually eased off until October traded at 23.37 and December at 23.50 at the end of the first hour, or 17 to 19 points net lower. Decided dullness followed fluctuations which were restricted to a few points until late i nthe last hour when some fresh selling carried prices to the day's lows with October at 23.34 and December at 23.45, or 22 points under the previous close. The close was only a point or two above the lows.

Exports today 7,678 bales.

SANITATION

spects to our sanitary code and the operators anxious to do all in their power to prevent pollution of the lake from their hotel."

Rumors were circulated at the city council Monday night that the lake was a probable source of infection now and that some steps should be taken to insure safeguarding of the water there. Mr. Patton, Mr. Jones and Mr. George immediately laid plans for a first hand investigation and carried these out yesterday.

One Thing Yet

Mr. Patton said one thing had been found which must be remedied and that he intended to take the matter up at once with W. T. Waggoner, owner of the land around Lake Kemp. Mr. Waggoner has just built a new house not far from the shores, he said, and intended housing a number of workmen on the ground in it. This, Mr. Patton said, presented a possible source of infection from open toilets, but he anticipated no difficulty in arriving at an amicable agreement with Mr. Waggoner over it.

New Freight Rate For Smackover Oil

SHREVEPORT, La., July 1.—Freight rates on oil from the South Arkansas fields was definitely established at 16 cents at a hearing before the southwestern freight bureau in St. Louis this week, a compromise between the 14 cents asked by the independent operators and buyers and 17 1-2 cents asked by the carriers.

Not satisfied, the next move of the independents will be an application to the interstate commerce commission for a restraining order against the carriers putting the new rate into effect, basing their claims on the assertion that the new rate is prohibitive.

Men Arrested With Still Make Bonds

FREDERICK, Okla., July 1.—Charley Crane, R. H. Selsor and J. F. Handley, all of Grandfield, arrested Saturday in a raid on a still, have been released under bonds of $5,500 each, after entering their pleas of not guilty to charges. Four charges have been filed against the group in county court including possession of a still, possession of intoxicating liquor, possession of mash for distilling liquor and the manufacture of liquor.

KING TO HONOR AMUNDSEN.

OSLO, July 1 (AP).—Captain Roald Amundsen will dine at the royal palace Sunday as the honor guest of the king and queen of Norway. The highest state officials will attend.

The members of the Amundsen-Ellsworth north Polar expedition are returning from Spitzbergen on a steamer due here Sunday. They will be met by government and city officials.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, July 1.—(AP)—Stock prices gave an impressive demonstration of strength today wit hthe demand spread over a wide variety of issues. More than two dozen individual shares were lifted to new peak prices for the year on net gains ranging from one to 7¼ points.

With a huge potential demand arising from record breaking July divident and interest payments, with freight traffic being maintained at close to record levels and a large quota of favorable trade news, pool operators found plenty of ammunition in their campaign for higher prices.

Rubbers continued to reap the benefit of higher tire prices, U. S. Rubber common advancing more than three points to a new 1925 high at 56⅝, and was followed into new high ground by United States Rubber first preferred, Goodyear preferred, Fiske and Lee.

Weakness of French and Italian exchange the former sinking to a new low level for the year and the latter touching the lowest price ever recorded in this market apparently was disregarded as a stock market factor. Little stress also was placed on the call money rate which held steady at five per cent.

Standard industrials were mixed. U. S. Steel, common closed ¼ lower at 115½, after fluctuating within a range of less than one point. American Can showed a net loss of 1½ at 197 after selling as high as 199. Baldwin was pushed up 2½ points to 117½. A slightly smaller gain was recorded by American Locomotive.

Sensational advances took place in some of the high prices specialties. International Shoe was bid up 14 points to a record top at 165. After the market closed, the stock was quoted at 170 and 195 asked.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Reactionary tendencies predominated in tthe foreign exchange market. Demand sterling eased slightly around $4.85½. French francs touched a new low at 4.45¼ cents. Italian lire was hammered down to around 3 1-3 cents, a new low Recession of one to five points also took place in the other European rates.

Estimated Number of Narcotic Tax Money Still Out

AUSTIN, July 1.—Last minute applications for federal licenses to handle narcotics swamped clerks in the office of the collector of internal revenue so that a definite number of delinquent physicians and druggists could not be ascertained Wednesday. A rough estimate made by John M. Raulston, in charge of narcotic tax collections for J. W. Bass, collector of internal revenue, placed the delinquencies at approximately 1,000.

WACO ELECTRICIANS STRIKE

Interior Decorators Demand 50 Cent Increase.

WACO, July 1.—Demanding a 50 cent increase in their present wage of $8.50 a day, a score of interior electrical workers in Waco, headed by Frank Glabb, president of the local, went on strike this morning. They left six contractors with a large amount of interior wiring to be done, but Claude Doyle, speaking for the contractors, said tonight that the employes intended to hold out and do the work themselves.

Employes of Washington Hotel Serve Guests With Drinks—Guests Are Cops

WASHINGTON July 1.—When four employes of Washington's newest hotel the Mayflower, served up a banquet recently for a party of 17 and provided appetizers of an alleged pro-Volstead nature, they were unaware that they were catering to 17 prohibition and department of justice agents. They became aware of it yesterday, however, when they were brought before United Stats Commissioner Turnage and charged with violation of the prohibition laws.

The four, Jules Venice, maitre d'hotel; Rinardo Blazi, assistant chef; John Mendas, bell boy, and Ralph E. Jones, waiter, were released in bonds ranging from $1,000 to $5,000. Mendas described by Commissioner Turnage as a "tool" is said to have confessed his part in the affair.

The banquet was arranged, it was declared, when a prohibition agent, registered at the hotel as an "iron and steel man" from San Francisco, asked Venice if he could provide good liquor for his banquet guests. Information fued by the agents said Venice agreed to "fix that all right." More than five bottles of whisky and 24 cocktails were served to the agents, they asserted.

The banquet went off merrily and after his "guests" had gone the "iron and steel man" retired to his room with a companion agent. Later, they said, they asked Venice for another bottle of whisky. Mendas was charged with having delivered the bottle and collecting $11 for it. Mendas was discharged by the hotel management soon after but it has not been indicated whether the alleged liquor deal was responsible.

Henry L. Merry, president of the Mayflower hotel, in a statement professed ignorance of the affair, but he believed it would have a "very beneficial moral effect, not only on our own employees but on those of all other hotels throughout the country."

Employees of the Mayflower, he said, were given to understand that violation of the prohibition law would result in dismissal.

HENRIETTA

MRS. J. N. HUNT HOSTESS

Mrs. J. N. Hunt entertained Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Dalla Burgoon, who is leaving soon for Wichita Falls to reside. Her guests included the members of the Women's Missionary union and choir of the First Baptist church of which the honoree is a member. The parsonage was beautifully decorated, roses, ferns and summer blossoms being used profusely. As the guests arrived refreshing punch was served, after which a program was rendered as follows:

Vocal solo—Miss Jimmay Norman.

Convention At Fort Worth Wants More Liberal Retirement Awards.

FORT WORTH, July 1.—Plans for securing more liberal retirement provisions for postal civil service employes will be the chief concern of the joint convention of the state federation of postoffice clerks and the state association of letter carriers, which will open here Friday morning. Arrangemnts for the two-day meeting are complete, it was announced today by T. J. Page, president of the clerks' organization and D. O. Cooper, head of the letter carriers. Both presidents are employed at local postoffice.

July 8, 9 and 10 Are Dates Set For Big Girls' Encampment

Plans are being shaped up for the annual girls' club encampment, to be held this year three-quarters of a mile southwest of Iowa Park for three days July 8, 9 and 10. Announcement of plans for the camp were made yesterday by Miss Ethel Louise Webb, county home demonstration agent, who will act as supervisor.

Transportation to the grounds will be furnished by the chambers of commerce of Wichita Falls, Electra and Iowa Park. Trucks will be provided to take the campers from those three communities to the camp site.

Chaperones for the camp will be Misses Stringer, Morgan, Cowart and Robinson of Wichita Falls; Misses Harris, Wallace and Haynes of Electra, and Miss Webb of this city.

An entertainment by Boy Scouts and Camp Fire girls will be provided the first night of the camp, Wednesday, while a free picture show will be given the second evening.

The camp is held every year, at which time opportunity is given for an application of the theories of work learned during the year's study in the various home demonstration clubs.

$80,000 LOSS FROM FIRE.

Houston Cooperage Company Loses Heavily in Night Blaze.

HOUSTON, July 1.—The plant of the Houston Cooperage and Tub Company was destroyed by fire here shortly after 7 o'clock tonight, causing a loss of nearly $80,000. WICHITA WILL SEND FIFTY TO ELECTRA MEET

Many From Here Will Leave For District C. of C. Meet Today

Two big busses leaving the Kemp hotel at 9 o'clock this morning will convey the 50 or more Wichita Falls delegates to the district convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce at Electra. An effort is being madet to make the delegation from this city thte biggest to attend the meeting. Fifty prominent business men of this city have already pledged themselves as delegates from here and it is thought that the last minute men will considerably swell this total.

The meeting at Electra today promises to be one of the most important over West Texas. Over 350 representatives from over the western part of the state will be in attendance. Bowie has already announced that she will send a band and efforts were made Wednesday evening to bring the band from that city.

Over twenty cities will be represented, according to Walter Cline, vice president of the association, who will preside. Delegations are expected from Vernon, Iowa Park, Henrietta, Bowie, Burkburnett, Graham, Nocona, Eliasville, Electra, Wichita Falls, Decatur, Alvord, Bellevue, Bomarton and Holliday.

Homer D. Wade, assistant manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce announced Wednesday evening that he had secured over 200 memberships from this city in his drive for 100. He was confident that Wichita Falls would pass her quota.

Lions and Optimists Plan Checker Meet

The Lions and Optimists have formally declared war.

The rivalry between the two clubs came to a head at a joint luncheon of the two bodies yesterday noon at the Kemp, when Solon Featherstone, vice-president of the Optimists, hrew down the gauntlet to the carniverous tribe and administered the proverbial slap in the face.

As a result the two clubs will meet within the next two weeks in the first of a series of checker contests, that ultimately will settle the outstanding question of which club is the best. Committees were appointed to make out schedules and final announcements will be made at the next luncheons of the clubs.

Miss Katherine Kilander, associate member of the Optimists, played two piano solos, and Glenn Law, newest member of the Lions club, sang three solos. Both offerings were well received by the clubs.

S. A. L. Morgan and Judge B. D. Sartin spoke on why they would rather be members of the Lions and Optimist clubs respectively.

Announcement was made that the club will be the guests of Dr. R. H. Graham next Wednesday noon at his chicken ranch near Call field. All members will meet at the Kemp hotel where cars will be provided for those without conveyance.

Evolution Dispute Crops Out Before Baptist Session

SEATTLE, Wash., July 1.—(AP) Despite pleas for peace within the church by all the speakers on the preliminary program yesterday, the issue of fundamentalism versus modernism was tonight squarely before the 2,000 delegates to the 19th annual meeting of the northern Baptist church convention.

Dr. W. B. Hinson, Portland, raised the issue today with presentation of a resolution that all missionaires whose beliefs do not accord with early Bautist canon, be recalled from the field.

A few hisses greeted modernistts who rose to speak on the subject but they agreed with fundamentalist speakers that the best course was to print the resolution and let the delegates read it beefore attempted action.

M'FALL SHOWS NEW WATERCAR OF DODGE CO.

Powerful Boat For Lake Travel One of Best In Its Line

A boat that has all the beauty in lines and motor one could wish, with a guaranteed speed of 20 statute miles per hour, a length of 22 feet 2 inches and a width of 5 feet 6 inches at its widest part, is seen in the new Dodge watercar, now on exhibit at the McFall Brothers garage.

Proved a Success.

Theb oat is one of then ewest products of what was formerly a branch of the Dodge company, now known as the Dodge Boat Works of Detroit. It has proved successful in both salt and fresh water and in big lakes where the wind makes the water too rough for the ordinary row boat or power boat, the higher launchlike boat has proved its superiority.

It has a draught of 19 inches and a total displacement of 2,500 pounds. The workmanship is of the best quality, according to Mr. McFall, and the boat is substantially constructed, insuring long wear. The outside finish is a dark varnish, waterproof, that has been carefully put on, tripling the beauty of the launch.

The steering device is made of a rudder worked by a Dodge steering wheel, connected direct to the rudder. The motor is what was formerly the Dodge four-cylinder auto motor. The 30-horsepower engine contains a special lubricating device that will insure long life for the boat. A 30-gallon fuel tank will easy all the gas needed for the average trip.

For Five Passengers.

The lighting apparatus is connected to the engine and furnishes electric power for several strong lights. A big wind shield is built onto the front and protects the occupants from the flying spray. The boat is a five-passenger one and contains auto seats for that number with the front seat split so as to allow more room.

The boat on display at the Dodge agency here is the first of the kind received in Wichita Falls. The boats, however, will be regularly handled in the future by McFall Brothers.

Former Resident Of City Has Gained A Name As Broadcaster

Mrs. W. C. Edwards and small daughter of Beaumont and formerly a resident of Wichita Falls is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Florence Enloe of Iowa Park.

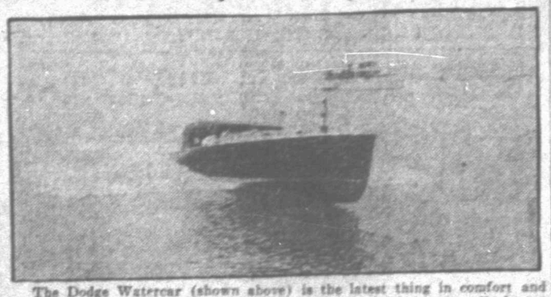

Mrs. Edwards is known in Wichita Falls not only by her friends here, but by a number of radio fans who have tuned in on station KFIM, of Beaumont and heard her direct the children's hour each Tuesday and Friday evenings. Through her work over the broadcastting route Mrs. Edwards has gained national recognition as one of the best in her type of work, and also through her ability to wofk with chilren.

In Beaumont Mrs. Edwards is a leader in all civic affairs, teaches expression and singing, works in the church and school and in addition handles her radio work.

Mrs. Edwards lived in Wichita Falls until 1920, her husband being connected first with Mr. Priddy and later with the Mr. Greenwood. He is now connected with an oil firm in Beaumont.

Mrs. Edwards states that she is taking her vacation and passed through Wichita Falls overland on her way to California. Earthquakes however, have caused a temporary change in plans. She will be back at her broadcasting post in Beaumont by September 1.

Beauty and Speed

The Dodge Watercar (shown above) is the latest thing in comfort and safety for riding on lakes and rivers. The latest model is now on display at the McFall Brother's garage.

Work To Start On Installing A Huge City Water Pump

Work will start within the next day or two on installing a new 10,000,000 gallon pump at the city water pumping station. The big machine, which has been ordered for some time, arrived yesterday and pipe fittings are now being arranged to receive it. Two pumps of 2,000,000 gallons capacity each will be removed to make room for the new machine.

With installation of this pump complete, the city wil lhave a pumping capacity of 25,000,000 gallons from two 10,000,000 and one 5,000,000 gallon machine.

Baby Found In Hotel Is Given Home Here

A newborn baby found in one of the rooms of a big hotel here Tuesday evening found a new home in rapid order yesterday.

Miss Katherine Henricle was called to the hotel at 6 o'clock Tuesday to take in charge the unclothed infant found in one of the rooms. Earlier in the day the head of the child welfare league had been asked to find a baby boy for a family. No boy being handy, Miss Henricle told the family to keep the girl until she could find a boy.

Now the new parents state they prefer to keep the girl, and the infant waif was taken down town yesterday and completely outfitted.

No clues have been found that might aid in the discovery of the child's mother. Hotel authorities state that the woman was a well dressed person but could give no further information.

2nd Reading Hour To Be This Morning

The second reading hour for the children's reading class of the Kemp public library will be held at the library this morning at 10 o'clock, according to Miss Lucia Powell, librarian.

Mrs. Charles Reed will conduct the hour and will tell several stories, including "Peter Pan." All children are invited to attend the story hour, and enroll in the reading classes.

The reading classes were organized last month and all the children were divided into different classes at that time. Each was given a list of 25 books to read. If the child reads 12 of the boks he will receive an award and a diploma in case hereads the entire list.

TYSON DEFENDS WATER AS FREE FROM TYPHOID

Local Physician Says Lack Of Sanitation in Town Main Menace

"Water is not the carrier of the typhoid cases now known in this city," says Dr. W. S. Tyson. "It is unsanitation, namely the open toilets that are even in the city limits, and flies. Out of the city the spread is very apt to become serious unless the Sanitary Commission attends to the conditions there immediately. While within the city limits, open toilets known to be unsanitary can be pointed out.

No Epidemic Here.

Dr. Tyson further states that, as a suggestion that was proven of great value during the war, innoculation of every person should be administered. Firm in the statement that there is not an epidemic of typhoid in this city, he, however, believes that the safety of each person's health should be attended to in case that contact with "carriers" and through flies might spread the disease.

The most dangerous location of conditions that might cause the spread of the disease is upon the river banks where Dr. Tyson discovered a tent with two small children ill with typhoid fever. An open toilet below the tent attracted his attention to the fact that millions of flies were swarming about it and that the entire family made use of it. In the tent food was laid out upon the table without further means of caring for it. The family ate their meals with flies swarming about. Three weeks later the father was taken ill with typhoid and it is thoroughly believed by Dr. Tyson that the flies were the carriers.

Germs in Milk.

Milk, he also stated, to some extent contained a few germs, but that the quantity was not serious.

The remedy for the number of cases now known, and for the prevention of further spread was therefore affirmed by Dr. Tyson to be more care and protection along the river banks and in the open toilets, so that the spread of the disease by flies might be entirly stopped.

$100 FIRE LOSS IN OHIO.

Match Thrown in Waste Basket Causes Shining Parlor Damage.

Fire caused from a lighted match thrown in a waste basket caused loss of about $100 at 8 o'clock Wednesday night in the Royal Shining parlor, 604 Ohio avenue. Firemen found a brisk blaze burning when they arrived in response to an alarm and were given a merry fight for a few minutes.

Part of the loss was from smoke and water.

Carl M. Pool, One Of South's Largest Manufacturers, Here

Carl M. Pool, manager of the Pool Manufacturing Company at Sherman, was a Wichita Falls visitor Wednesday night. Mr. Pool is on the program at the district meeting of the West Texas chamber of commerce to be held in Electra, Thursday and Friday. He will make an address upon factories, management, financing and location Thursday morning.

The Pool Company is one of the largest garment manufacturers in the south and during the past 10 years has made a wonderful growth. Mr. Pool is considered one of the outstanding factory engineers, not only in the south, but America. His talks are interesting and practical.

Mr. Pool will accompany the Wichita Falls delegates to the meeting, who will leave from the Kemp Hotel this morning in three large motor busses promptly at 9 o'clock. The Wichita Falls chamber of commerce has secured pledges from more than fifty business men to attend the meeting and invitations are extended all to attend.

SEEKS SENATORSHIP.

ANTI-TYPHOID MEETING WILL BE HELD HERE

Public Health Meeting To Take up Means of Preventatives

Members of the public health committee of the chamber of commerce, druggists and confectioners, Commissioner J. H. Patton and other city officials and all persons interested in the public health of the community will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the chamber of commerce rooms for a discussion of further preventative measures for typhoid fever and communicable disease. Dr. A. F. Leach, chairman of the chamber of commerce committee, asks that all persons with the welfare of public health at heart be present for the session.

The primary purpose of the session is to reach some agreement between the confectioners and druggists as to the cleansing of glasses used in serving drinks to the public. A lack of proper cleansing constitutes a serious menace, officials have declared. The druggists and confectioners have indicated a willingness to do anything within reason and it is believed some agreement will be reached tonight.

Oldsmobiles In Big Parade Through City

Fifty-two Oldsmotiles, lead by the Cannonball Baker car, the "Olde" that went from New York to Los Angeles in high gear, paraded through the downtown streets yesterday afternoon. A special orchestra furnished music and the traffic signal lights were shut off to allow the procession unimpeded progress.

The place of honor in the leading car was accorded to Mayor R. E. Shepherd and Scott C. Thomas, an official of the Oldsmobile company with headquarters at Dallas.

The now famous car has been driven a total of 122,000 miles. It came here from Dallas via Abilene and other West Texas points. It left for Houston yesterday afternoon.

Words That Really Mean Something In This Bank

It is easy to use such words as cooperation, service, vision, and the like, in advertising a bank.

To give life and meaning and substance to such words isn't so easy.

This bank uses these terms because it knows them, because it is able to make them mean something.

for Steady Nerves!

Riding a girder is not a job for a nervous man.

BUT no one is nervous by choice. There is a way that you may so strengthen your body that the nervous system will be cushioned on sound muscles and flesh. But this condition will not come about unless you have rich red-blood-cells. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in all the world to each of us. More red-blood-cells! That's what you need when your nerves give way and you cannot control yourself.

S.S.S. will prove to you its "Why" and "How" reason. Since 1826 S.S.S. has helped thousands. Because S.S.S. does build blood power, it builds you up when you are run-down, clears the system of blood impurities; routs so-called skin disorders—and stops rheumatism, too.

This is why S.S.S. is accepted as the greatest of all blood purifiers, blood builders and system strengtheners. Start taking S.S.S. today. Its medicinal ingredients are purely vegetable. Your nerves will become stronger, you will have more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.
