TALENT COMMITTEE—One of the most difficult jobs in a stage production is getting the right talent and enough of it to put on such a show as will be seen Friday and Saturday nights in the High School auditorium, when "The Follies of 1963" will be presented. Some of the ladies not only recruited the large cast but are participating in it themselves. A great job has been done by the four ladies above. From left, Martha Hartley, Marianne Robertson, Helen Dillaha and Billie Brice.

If your kitchen counter space is limited and you like to bake, get in the habit of measuring and lifting dry ingredients in the first step in your baking task. You can get away the continuous looking for the dry ingredients and have free counter space for the rest of the procedure.

No Nagging Backache Means a Good Night's Sleep

Is Life Of Heiress Tough?

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — It's tough when you're the daughter of a millionaire these days.

That's the impression given by 19-year-old Mary Oppenheimer, daughter of South Africa's diamond and gold mining magnate.

While aspiring to become a writer, Mary is at the moment learning her father's business the hard way—she is spending several months in each department of the Johannesburg's headquarters of her father's multi-million dollar empire.

Working the regulation 9 to 5 shift, she is at present training in the accounts and bookkeeping department of one of Harry Oppenheimer's major mining companies.

As a trainee Mary earns $140 a month, learning the complicated routine of handling accounts worth many thousands of dollars.

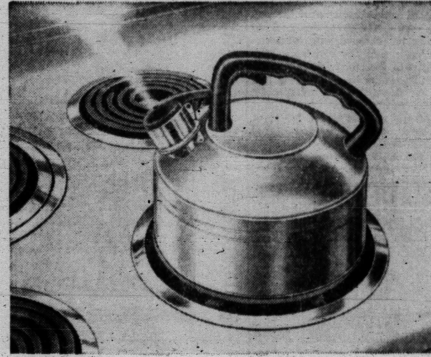

Mary, who recently returned from Paris where she studied French civilization, is still unattached and is considered South Africa's most eligible young woman.

Although her trainee program leaves little time for pleasure she manages a morning swim and a little riding before setting off for the office together with thousands of other weekly wage earners.

Women who cook electrically know...

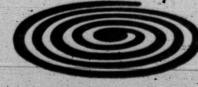

Electric cooking is FAST because it's flameless

Today's electric ranges start heating instantly, reach cooking heat in seconds. Flameless electric surface units put heat directly into the pans, not into the room, so practically all the heat goes into the food being cooked. That is why electric cooking is fast.

The flameless electric oven reaches baking or roasting temperature quickly. Since it is insulated all around, including the bottom, heat stays inside where it belongs. And because electric heat is instant, the broiler requires no preheating. This means your meals can be cooked in a minimum of time.

Electric cooking also is clean, cool, accurate and economical. Select your flameless electric range at your dealer's now and enjoy all these benefits. Electric cooking is one of the nicest things about living better...electrically!

Parkinson Inspires Robb To Develop A Law Of Her Own

BY INEZ ROBB

There isn't a legislator in the English-speaking world who gets tury is which change is the only constant.

Northmore Parkinson, the British writer and economist

To his first two laws "Work expands to fill the time available" and "Expenses rise to meet income," Parkinson has just added a third, equally profound. This time Parkinson has tackled language and such crooked, pinky circumlocutions as "cannine control officer" for dogcatcher, "utensil maintenance man" for dishwasher and "custodial manager" for janitor.

The printed word expands to fill the space available for it," Parkinson's Third Law, aimed at windy and ornate substitutes for plain, serviceable terms. "Martian" for underaker is my bet now, followed by "passed-on" or "passed over" for died.

I have no quarrel with Parkinson's Third Law, for it set me off on a train of thought that has resulted in a wholly new statute, to be known as Robb's Law, to wit: "Language expands to fill man's expanding horizon, that is, language expands to explain man's constantly changing and rapidly growing world in fact.

This is a corollary of Herold's Law, the 20th century language which has probably expanded at a rate unprecedented in history. This late 19th Century development expansion is the necessary chain reaction to a revolutionary century in which change is the only constant.

numerable new vocabularies have been added to the language by man's perfection of such 20th Century commonplaces as the automobile, radio, airplane, television, radar, electronic beams and automation. Even our immediate ancestors could scarcely have made sense of such commonplace expressions as "get a horse!" "We're not tuned to the same station." "The countdown started an hour ago." "She's revving up his motors" or "She's been in debt ever since she met him."

One of the most interesting and widely used new vocabularies was born simultaneously with the split atom less than a quarter of a century ago.

One of the most picturesque of the new vocabularies, a dialect familiar even to the kindergarten, was born 10 years ago with the space age. We now "blast off" instead of leaving or departing. The beakins and Jack Kerouac had scarcely laid claim to the term "mad" when it was perked out from under them by the interplanetary boys.

However, even the stunning technical advances of man have not expanded the language with the same rapidity and impact as the 20th century development.

Great Novel Faces Yet Another Delay

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The sad news for the literary world today is that there has been another delay in the creation of the great American novel.

The fact is—I've been interrupted again.

Some 30 years or so ago the nation came up against two dire lacks:

"What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar," said an all-but-forgotten U.S. vice president.

"What America needs is a great American novel to give it world cultural status," said "many intellectuals of that distant time.

Well, any young fellow in his right mind knew it was an economic impossibility ever to make a good five-cent cigar.

So the eager beavers of half a century ago assailed the next possibility—the writing of the great American novel.

Actually I didn't set out to achieve this goal until about 40 years ago, but I have been hot on the trail ever since.

My difficulty has been finding a place to write. I feel that to write the great American novel you need a room of your own.

Early in my married life I confessed to my wife that my great aim in life was to write the great American novel, and she went right out and bought me a $5 dictionary to help the work along.

Every half-hour or so for years after that she would inquire so solicitously, "How about that great American novel? When are you going to finish it?"

"Finish it, woman?" I always replied. "How can I ever begin it until I get a room of my own?"

Well, about 10 years ago we finally moved into an apartment large enough for me to have a room of my own. Then our daughter arrived.

The other day, after a decade of pacing back and forth and sharpening my pencils I sat down at my typewriter to write the opening sentence. My daughter opened the door of my sanctum sanctorum and said:

"Daddy, I'm a big girl now, and I have to have a room of my own."

I sighed, closed my typewriter, and moved out.

But, looking ahead, I estimate my daughter will be grown up and married in another dozen years, and then I can move back again into that room of my own.

After that, I figure the creation of the great American novel will be simply a matter of time.

There's no real problem to my thing—once you firmly make up your mind to do it. In this world there is no substitute for victory.

Young Man Killed By Bouncing Auto

DENISON, Tex. (AP)—A car hit a parked pickup truck, bounced and killed one of two young men on foot in South Denison today.

R. C. Jones, 23, of Sherman died soon after reaching a hospital.

His companion, Jimmy Nelson, 18, also of Sherman, was knocked down but escaped with bruises.

Police said the two were talking with Morris E. Frost, 42, in the pickup when they saw a car driven by L. J. Morris, 58, from near Denison approaching.

Morris' vehicle struck the Frost vehicle, ricocheted and felled Jones and Nelson as they sought to escape, officers reported.

Junior Editors Quiz on COUNTIES

QUESTION: Why is a state divided into counties?

ANSWER: In order to bring government and various services down to the local level where they can affect each citizen. Certain cities govern themselves. Some, like New York and San Francisco, are controlled by a combination of county and city governments, but generally the county governs a separate area. Each state decides how its county system works, and this is generally written into the state constitution.

Our illustration shows some of the important ways a county helps and protects its citizens. The county seat is usually an important town here. County affairs are handled by a board of county commissioners or supervisors. There are usually three or five of them (though sometimes as many as 30), who serve four years. They can impose taxes, appropriate and borrow money for county use. Frequently they have licensing and zoning powers. They appoint various county officers and employees. County officers elected by the people include the sheriff, treasurer, clerk, coroner, tax assessor, superintendent of schools, engineer and recorder of deeds. Other services are provided by the county agent, who advises farmers; the home agent, who helps solve home and family problems; and social welfare workers who aid the needy.

FOR YOU TO DO: Keep an eye open as you read your local newspaper for mention of your county government. See if you can find out different ways in which it works.

(Sharon Murray of Chillicothe, Mo., wins the weekly grand prize of a set of Britannica Junior Encyclopedias for this question. Mail copies are a reward to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper and you may win a set too, of the grand prize of $100.)

WHAT IS POOLING?

In spite of all the jokes about "oil-rich Texans," most Texans aren't rich. Relatively few of them have even one oil well.

All Texans have a stake in the oil business, however, because it makes jobs; puts money into circulation, and pays taxes.

Texas oil operators have to compete with those in other states and foreign countries. This competition is tough and growing tougher. Improvements in production methods for greater efficiency are necessary in Texas. It is a question as to whether Texans prefer to do this job themselves or let the federal government do it.

Many of the most responsible people in the oil industry believe the Texas Legislature can solve some of the most troublesome problems by passing House Bill 510, an oil and gas pooling bill. "Pooling" in oil field language simply means putting separately-owned pieces of acreage together, sharing costs of drilling a well, and splitting any income proportionately.

A fair pooling law would create drilling blocks of uniform and proper size (according to the spacing pattern of the field). It would help the industry to cut down on unnecessary development drilling and thus free capital for more "wildcat" drilling. It would provide a legal way for landowners to divide their minerals in proportion to their holdings.

An outcry has been raised against House Bill 510 by the professional "small-tract drillers," who for many years have enjoyed the legal sanction to produce oil and gas which rightfully belonged to someone else. Advocates of pooling do NOT think that property rights should be confused with the "right" to take another man's property—or that free enterprise should cover the FREE CONFISCATION of another's oil and gas.

Contrary to claims of persons who, for reasons of their own want to retain the outmoded methods of the past, House Bill 510 does NOT tie up large blocks of acreage with one well; it does not affect any wells already drilled or reservoirs already developed. It does not take away the landowner's bargaining power or change the terms of any lease except to the extent necessary to form a drilling block. House Bill 510 would merely give all landowners an opportunity to have their properties developed when some owners cannot be located or one owner seeks to obtain an unfair advantage. The rights of all would be EQUALLY protected.

Ask your Senator and Representative at Austin to support House Bill 510—so Texas, too, will have a reasonable and legal way to assure each landowner his FAIR SHARE.

SPORTLIGHT

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—If Ted Williams has changed, it isn't discernable to the naked eye or sensitive ear.

Now a special batting instructor to Red Sox players, Williams admitted he misses the thrills of his 20 turbulent years with the Red Sox.

Except for a slight paunchiness around the middle and some lines on his ruggedly handsome face, Williams at 44 looks about the same as he did when he retired as an active player at the end of the 1960 season.

Williams' true was discussed? "Absolutely," Ted replied. "In fact, the swap was agreed upon. I think it was in 1949. The Yankees were supposed to give DiMaggio and another player for me. They shook hands on it but the next day the deal was called off."

Attorney General Decides Butts Divulged Vital Info

By DON MCKEE ATLANTA (AP)—Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook has concluded a state investigation that Wallace Butts, who for 22 years coached football at the University of Georgia, divulged vital information to coach Paul Bryant of the University of Alabama prior to last fall's game between the two schools.

Cook said he found no evidence that any consideration passed to Butts either directly or indirectly because of the transmission of football information concerning the game.

Cook's findings, made public Tuesday by Gov. Carl E. Sanders, stirred sharp attacks from attorneys for Butts and Bryant. The lawyers said Cook's conclusions were unwarranted, inaccurate and in some instances untruthful.

The governor said there would be no further state action since no violation of any criminal statute was indicated and Butts is no longer associated with the university. Butts resigned as athletic director in February.

George P. Burnett, an Atlanta insurance salesman, actually overheard a telephone conversation between Butts and Bryant. Burnett, who said he accidentally was cut into the call Sept. 13, said he was paid $5,000 by the Post for his story.

That, surprisingly, was the only first-place vote big Jack garnered. The voters went to Tony Lemay, who came into his own last fall and currently rates No. 4 on the PGA official money list for this year with almost $15,000 in winnings.

Palmer, who has been practicing here since last Thursday, had his most unsatisfactory round yet Tuesday, a four over par 37-26.

Burtons Agree To Legal Separation

NEW YORK (AP)—British actor Richard Burton—who has been playing Marc Antony to Elizabeth Taylor's Cleopatra on and off the screen—and his blonde wife, Sybil, have agreed to a legal separation.

The Burtons separation agreement was announced here Tuesday night by the couple's attorney, Anton Froesch, who said: "The Burtons have been considered for some time and other arrangements have been concluded."

Froesch of New York, accompanied Mrs. Burton when she flew from London Tuesday with her two children, Katherine and Jessica. The trip ostensibly was for an "Easter vacation" with her father-in-law, Philip Burton.

Burton, 37, stayed behind with Miss Taylor, 31.

The Welsh-born actor and the classic screen beauty have been in the headlines since they began filming "Cleopatra." They are currently working on a picture in London.

Burton and Miss Taylor have turned up at various times on the list of sex-a-go-go of the Italian coast, the Italian Riviera, Swiss resorts and Cairo. In each case, Mrs. Burton was left behind.

The handsome actor's wife—herself a beauty—flew back and forth between London and Rome as Burton was seen in public with the glamorous Miss Taylor on his arm. Early this year Mrs. Burton denied reports that she was giving her husband a divorce.

Miss Taylor is separated from her first husband, singer Eddie Fisher. She has three children—two boys by British actor Michael Wilding, her second husband, and a daughter by producer Mike Todd, her third. The raven-haired beauty was married first to hotelier Nicky Hilton.

Todd was 45 when he married the actress in a 1957 Acapulco, Mexico, ceremony. Eddie Fisher was best man, and his wife of the time, actress Debbie Reynolds, was an attendant.

The flamboyant Todd was killed in a 1958 plane crash. Six months later, Miss Taylor and Fisher began appearing together in public.

Miss Reynolds got her divorce and custody of a son and daughter by Fisher. The singer got a divorce from her second husband, John Warner, in 1958, after a California waiting law, and 3½ hours after that he married Miss Taylor.

The actress had embraced Judaism, and the ceremony on May 12, 1959, was performed by two rabbis.

Burton, one of 13 children of a Welsh miner, was trained in the best Shakespearean theaters of Britain and appeared in several films before starting in the hit Broadway musical "Camelot," in which he played King Arthur.

When first questioned about his relationship with Miss Taylor, Burton said: "I am married, and I hope to remain so forever."

About 1,900 years ago, the original Marc Antony became emperor of the queen of the Nile and remained with her. He never returned to his family in Rome.

Kremlin Policy Crisis Casts Shadow On Future Relations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The shadowy outlines of a policy crisis in the Kremlin have cast a deep uncertainty over the future development of Soviet relations with the United States and the outside world in general.

The best-informed U.S. officials discount reports abroad that Premier Khrushchev is in serious political trouble, faced with tough opposition inside the Soviet ruling group. So far as can be judged from here, he still is the dominant wielder of power in Moscow.

Yet the accumulation of troubles which the Soviet government is now beset, including the long and serious argument of the past few weeks over the Berlin question, is a condition for which Khrushchev as the leader of the government and the Communist party must take major responsibility. This could lead to personal difficulties for him.

In broad policy terms, authorities here see the present period in Moscow as one of great decision, and the question which concerns them is what the trend of Soviet policy will be when the time of debate over various possible courses of action comes to an end.

The brief period of seeking friendly relations with the United States, which began in the aftermath of the Cuban crisis—last fall when Khrushchev was playing out his chosen role of savior of the peace, has long since ended.

It has been succeeded in East-West relations by a period of stalemate with evidence of Soviet stalling on such issues as Berlin, Cuba and disarmament bloc.

Without the Communist bloc there is a kind of slow-motion sparring between Moscow and Peking, over proposals to restore some degree of unity, but with results which so far are unpredictable.

The chances as estimated here are that Khrushchev and Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung will soon open up negotiations through the level of emissaries. The prospects for their actually overcoming basic differences are not considered very great.

Two developments this week show a little more light on the complex of problems with which Khrushchev and others in the Kremlin are grappling. The first came in a remarkable dispatch from Moscow to the Communist newspaper L'Unita in Rome reporting economic failures in the Soviet Union and saying that Moscow is going through "a delicate political moment."

An Associated Press dispatch from the Soviet capital Tuesday said Western observers there have seen signs of strain among Russia's ruling clique in recent months but failed to see any imminent threat to Khrushchev's position.

A second development Tuesday was the discovery by the news agency Tass that Khrushchev has turned down an invitation to visit Peking for a conference on the split with Red China. Instead, he has invited Mao or a Chinese delegation at a lower level to visit Moscow.

Authorities here said it is noteworthy that the Soviet note to the Communist leadership in the Kremlin, showed no sign of yielding on any of the basic points at issue between the two big Red powers.

But Khrushchev's difficulties range far beyond his quarrel with the Red Chinese and his obvious efforts to reassert Soviet leadership throughout the Communist bloc. Probably the most serious problems he faces are those concerned with promoting agricultural production and stimulating industrial expansion. After 10 years of growth, Soviet industry has leveled off. The chronic farm crisis is probably as bad now as it was a decade ago when Khrushchev virtually took personal control of agricultural policy.

Oil Operator Says Business 'Worst-Run'

By CHARLES GREEN
SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A leading independent oil operator rates his business one of the worst-run in industries around.

"I can't think of any other industry that violates so generally the principles of good business," Rexford Blazer of Ashland, Ky., said Tuesday.

Blazer, board chairman of the Ashland Oil & Refining Co., spoke at a session of the National Petroleum Refiners Association.

He said the industry uses cut-throat tactics, follows irresponsible policies and engages in predatory actions.

"We must learn to live with our problems, but far more important is the need to learn to live with one another," Blazer said.

He said gasoline price wars are the big villains of his industry.

"It just isn't easy to explain the gasoline price wars," Blazer said. "As has been pointed out by a large number of our industry spokesmen, the average consumer is prone to think that normal gasoline prices must be much too high. Otherwise, how can we afford such ridiculously low prices?"

Many people, he said, think the oil industry cannot afford to continue present policies.

A Chicago labor relations man declared in another speech that some kind of social innovation must be effected to at least cushion automation or this country may face the worst labor crisis in its history.

"Total government regulation of the bargaining process will be a certain and we will have lost a significant battle in the long struggle to demonstrate that individuals in a free society are capable of governing their own affairs," said Howell Turner, an executive of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

He said the public seems to be taking a dimmer view of labor than it has in many years.

Budget Request Is Turned Down

LITTLE COMPON, R.I. (AP)—Taxpayers turned down only one budget request at the town meeting Tuesday night—$50 for painting the American Legion hall.

They did so after hearing a member of the legion argue that the post had received enough help from the town over the years.

"It's about time," he said, "we should be painting our own hall."

Gentle Rains Reach Area Early Today

Gentle showers moved into the Snyder area early today, and forecasts indicated that more moisture may be expected tonight and possibly Friday.

An early shower brought an inch of moisture during the early morning hours in Snyder, and a steady drizzle followed for most of the morning.

Hottest rainfall in the immediate area was reported at Dunn. Mrs. L. H. Scott reported that she had measured half an inch by 10 a.m.

The Weather Bureau reported that patchy showers rained North, Central and East Texas during the night, while a torrential rain rained in the foot of a big Houston storm Wednesday night.

The moisture was set off by a weak cold front, which stalled by early Thursday along a line from Lufkin to Laredo.

Rainfall was generally light except for the downpour in North Houston, where there was no official measurement.

The quickly-accumulated water broke through the roof of Britts Department Store in Houston's new Northline Shopping City.

Water up to 3 inches deep covered much of the floor space. Two store employees—Max F. Blackburn, 23, and Fred Rozell, 20—suffered minor injuries.

The store had closed for the night and employees were preparing to leave.

"If it had happened on a Monday or Thursday night, when we stay open late, it would have been really bad," said many Kayser, 21, another worker in the Houston store.

During the night and early morning light showers fell around Fort Worth, McKinney, Paris, Kaufman, Mount Pleasant, Sulphur Springs, Temple, Tyler, Hamilton, Palestine, Lufkin, College Station, San Antonio and Junction.

There was fog early in the day at Beaumont, Houston and Galveston.

Breaker activity was expected to increase and spread northward behind the cold front Thursday night and Friday.

Top temperatures Wednesday afternoon varied from 62 degrees at Dalhart to 92 at Laredo.

Rail Strike Averted For At Least 60 Days

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The possibility of a nationwide railroad strike is off for at least 60 days with President Kennedy's assignment of a top level panel to help solve a long-work rules controversy.

The President created the emergency board in what has become known as "the great featherbed dispute" late Wednesday in an executive order under terms of the Railway Labor Act.

The proposal is to determine the feasibility of erecting a building center and fire police station in Snyder county, and the Office of Civil Defense would share the costs of the portion used as an EOC, while the city would be responsible for all costs involved in the additional construction for fire and police stations.

The feasibility study had been requested to determine whether such a facility would be practical here. If so, the project will cost an estimated $80,000 at the maximum. Civil Defense would pay half the cost of construction for the EOC portion with the city and county sharing the remainder.

Both the city and county had approved plans for the feasibility study several weeks ago and J. H. Hinton has been employed as architect to facilitate the study.

The City of Snyder, joined by Snyder County Commissioners. The two agencies are responsible for Civil Defense activities in the city and county.

The rebel fleet commander, Rear Adm. Claudio Vazquez, turned up at Government House this morning for his second meeting on a truce with loyalist military leaders.

The rebels were still in command—but apparently losing ground—at Argentina's largest port, Puerto Belgrano, 330 miles south of here.

Associated Press correspondent Robert Berzelio reported from Puerto Belgrano that navy and marine garrisons there were digging in and setting up fortifications against a possible move by loyalist forces on the base.

Berzelio said navy units put an aircraft positions at the base and that civilians were being ordered away. Marines established roadblocks, he reported.

Berzelio said, however, the rebels appeared glum. Vazquez ordered the rebel fleet that had been threatening an attack on Buenos Aires to steer for Bahía Blanca, he being quoted as saying that the aircraft carrier Independence with 23 fighter jets on board was in the vicinity of the base.

The Argentine news agency's press reported that the rebel Commandante Espora air base at Bahía Blanca was being abandoned by the rebels. The agency quoted a rebel spokesman as saying "it's all over."

The base at Mar del Plata was the navy's second most important installation, it is 220 miles southeast of the capital.

An eyewitness told The Associated Press by telephone that the rebel takeover of Mar del Plata was uneventful and "not a shot was fired." Navy units had evacuated the base.

A leftist-communist anti-Argentine newspaper, the "Prensa Libre," reported that the Argentine government had ordered the rebels to leave the base.

The rebels had gained the support of three small army units, but the Argentine government had ordered the rebels to leave the base.

Among the planes destroyed were a number of Panther jets bought from the United States to bolster the naval air force, the communist said.

The communist also claimed full control of Corchova, where army paratroopers had staged a spirited rally to the rebel cause.

The loyalist said they were pulling out of the area. The communist reported that they were pulling out of the area.

EOC Feasibility Study Approved

The Office of Civil Defense in Washington has approved a feasibility study for an emergency operating center in Snyder, Rep. Omar Burleson announced today.

Rep. Burleson advised the Snyder Daily News that the approval had been granted for the project at a total estimated cost of $200,000, with Civil Defense share to be $140,000.

The proposal had been made by the City of Snyder, joined by Snyder County Commissioners. The two agencies are responsible for Civil Defense activities in the city and county.

The proposal is to determine the feasibility of erecting a building center and fire police station in Snyder county, and the Office of Civil Defense would share the costs of the portion used as an EOC, while the city would be responsible for all costs involved in the additional construction for fire and police stations.

Redistricting Bill Advances

By JERRY PILLARD
AUSTIN (AP)—The House took its first big step Wednesday toward tackling the politically touchy question of congressional redistricting.

Passed to engrossment and waiting a final vote was Rep. Rayford Price's measure to reshape Texas' congressional districts.

The Senate ran into filibusters. Andy Rogers of Childress took the floor to delay Gov. John Connally's proposal to combine the Game and Fish Commission with the State Parks Board.

He called the merger bill "political blackmail." As the Senate quit for the night, Rogers still had the floor and the right to keep talking.

Connally asked the merger of the agencies into a three-man commission as an economy move.

The House debated redistricting for more than four hours. It considered 21 amendments, of which 11 were adopted, and two complete substitutes which both voted down by wide margins.

The redistricting bill allows Dallas County a second congress member, keeps Harris County at two, and merges the district of the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn now served by Rep. Ray Roberts of McKinney with the district of veteran Rep. Wright Patman of Texas.

South Texas picks up the district lost by Northeast Texas. The new seat for Dallas is that of the new congressman seventh Texas after the 1960 census.

L. S. Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas now serves at large. He was elected in a statewide ballot after the 1961 legislature failed to redistrict.

The Senate voted to give Texas 10 seats.

Hope For More Withdrawals

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says 9,000 Soviet troops and technical experts have left Cuba since November—about 4,000 of them within the past six weeks.

Expressing hope of further withdrawals, Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday that a dent objectively was struck for a question about foreign President Dwight D. Eisenhower's record suggestion that Kennedy's record $68-billion budget could be cut by about $13 billion. Eisenhower was particularly critical of the costly space program.

Some Korean Advisers Fear U. S. To Cut Flow Of Aid

By CONRAD FINK
SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Some of Gen. Chung Hwe Park's advisers today were reported to be telling the Korean strong man that Washington may cut the flow of U.S. aid that keeps this war-torn economy afloat.

The only reaction to Kennedy's words came from a junta spokesman, Maj. Gen. Lee Hweak. He said he would welcome the Kennedy remarks as an "exceedingly natural statement."

Everybody In The Act Now

By JIM RECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—You can't tell the baseball spring training quotes without a translator.

Here are some of the standard quotes that happen every spring, along with an explanation of what they really mean.

"All I want is a chance to play every day."
"All these other teams I played for had some real good ball players, but this club is so bad even I can get a job. I hope."

"I'm throwing nice and loose again, and my shoulder (elbow, wrist, finger) doesn't bother me a bit."

"I can't throw hard enough to break a window, but I might fool enough batters to hang around for another year. I can't make a living doing anything else."

"I don't worry about my average, as long as the team wins."
"I switched from hitting right to left-handed, changed from a 35 to a 28-ounce bat and am standing two feet deeper in the batter's box. I'll be OK until they find out I can't hit anything."

"I never worry about my record in the spring. It's what happens when the season starts that counts."

"I don't get a couple of hits this pretty soon, I'll be back in Tulsa before the manager learns my name."

"Nobody ever gave me a real chance before."
"So I went 32 straight games without a base hit. I was just getting started when they benched me. And they used me in left and center field, when everybody knows I'm a natural right fielder."

"Every position on this team is wide open."
"One of these bums can play ball even a little bit. I may choose the line-up by throwing darts at the roster, blindfolded. What can I lose?"

And then there is New York Yankee Manager Ralph Houk, who says: "I expect to win the pennant."

SMU Golfers Suffer Defeat

DALLAS (AP)—Southern Methodist of the Southwest Conference could win only two golf matches Wednesday as a guest at East Texas State of the Lone Star Conference. East Texas triumphed 5-2.

Willie Gibbons beat Tommy Culp 1-up, Craig Metz defeated Tommie Abbott 7 and 5, David Cristol downed Larry Newell 6 and 5 and Tom Miller beat Bobbie Parks 1-up for East Texas singles triumph.

Rod Bliss won over Nickie Brice 1-up for the only SMU singles victory.

In doubles the teams split. Bliss and Culp beat Brice and Gibbons 3 and 2 while Cristol and Metz downed Abbott and Newell 6 and 8.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Alabama legislators' committee and the state attorney general have met with Sports Editor Ben Marshall of the Birmingham News in their probe of football rigging charges.

However, a statement issued by Rep. Alton Turner of Gretnah County, chairman of the special legislative investigating committee, gave no indication of the nature of Marshall's testimony.

The committee and Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers are investigating charges that former Georgia athletic director Wallace Butts gave Georgia secrets to Alabama Coach Paul Bear Bryant.

The Saturday Evening Post charged in an article that the information was passed before the 1962 Georgia-Alabama game which favored Alabama won 35-0.

Turner also said he had received a collect telegram from Furman Bisher, sports editor of the Atlanta Journal, and that he did not intend to pay the $10.40 due on it.

The chairman said he would leave it up to the legislature to decide whether the committee should pay for the telegram.

Bisher, in Augusta, Ga., for the Masters' Golf Tournament, said Turner had wired him and asked him to come to Alabama and testify.

The sports editor said Turner told him his expense to Montgomery would be paid, and "I naturally sent the answer out."

The Atlanta writer said he explained in the telegram that he could not go to Montgomery because of the Masters' golf tournament, but would be willing to talk to the committee anytime in Georgia.

Bisher authored an earlier Post article which was critical of Bryant's tactics. The Alabama coach has filed a $50,000 libel suit in connection with that article.

Bryant also has asked for a retraction of the article containing the charge of a bribe.

Butts has filed a $10 million libel suit in connection with the same article.

Hawks Down Two Games In Playoff

By The Associated Press
The St. Louis Hawks, down 2-0 in their best-of-7 Western Division final playoff, are hoping that a big, big advantage. But it just doesn't work that way.

The Hawks, after losing two straight to the Lakers at Los Angeles, open a two-game set at St. Louis tonight and are hoping that the home court theory holds.

In their last 13 home playoff games, however, the Hawks are just over the 500 mark, 7-6. And in the Eastern Division final, where Boston and Cincinnati are tied 2-2 in a best of seven, the home team hasn't won yet.

The Boston Celtics kept that mark intact Wednesday night, whipping the Royals 128-110 in Cincinnati and squaring the match at 2-2. The series resumes in Boston Saturday.

The Celtics ran in 10 straight in the closing moments of the first period, established a 34-5 lead and never headed again. Their margin was 70-55 at the half.

Bill Russell scored 26 points for Boston and grabbed 25 rebounds, while Bob Cousy and Sam Jones each had 20 points. Oscar Robertson led the losers with 25 points.

ANOTHER CASE OF A RECORD SURVIVAL

Rockefeller Has Poetic Drop On Political Field For 1964

BY INEZ ROBB
The Rockefeller - for President headquarters in Los Angeles, sponsored by Godwin J. Knight, former Governor of California, closed almost before the front door was open.

However, before the place was padlocked, at the request of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, an interior shot of the command post revealed a recent and most significant development in politics: That is the introduction of a political poet laureate at the precinct level.

Since the first ward was organized in Neolithic times, there has been a fixed assumption that poetry and politics, i. e., the poet and the politician, are antithetical. But, come to think of it, there has been a subtle meshing of the two in the past decade. Poetry has been getting more political and politics more poetic, or, at least, dreamy.

The glorious climax of this development was pictured in a placard or banner that decorated the short-lived Rockefeller - for - President headquarters in L. A. It bore a terse couplet that read:

Who else? But Nelson?
Here, in two lines and four words, is graphically expressed his ardent conviction that there is no choice for the Presidency in 1964 but Gov. Rockefeller. It is a succinct and powerful question, challenge, slogan and poetic triumph.

Whether the New York Governor is called "Nelson" by his intimates, deponent knoweth not. That is really of no importance, anyway. Certainly, "Who Else But Nelson?" will do a lot more for him in the long run than "Be Cocky with Rocky" of 'l Beller for Rockefeller."

Given the material at hand, the Governor's poet laureate has done extremely well by him.

Poetry - well, all right, rhymes - began to creep into the political picture about 10 years ago with the slogan, "I Like Ike". The Democrats, in that season of this discontent, were faced with an almost - insurmountable poetic problem. With grit and a rhyming dictionary, they solved it as best they could with "I'm Madly for Adlai" - which proves that even the most difficult name leads to poetic treatment.

In more recent politico - poetry history, who can forget "Let's Stick with Dick" - "All the Way with LBJ" and "Come Back with Jack."

It is now obvious that Gov. Rockefeller has the poetic drop on the Presidential field for 1964. It is something for the opposition within his own party to consider. Probably the poet laureate of Sen. Barry Goldwater, Gov. George Romney of Michigan, Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania and Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon are already on the alert.

There is a definite challenge in all these names, and I've been trying to meet it. Take the name Romney, for instance. The only half-way rhyme I have uncovered is "Hominy" and that obviously won't do. And unless he wants to appeal the hedonist vote, "Gorge with George" is not, too. "Keep Calm with Rom" lacks excitement. His own poet may come up with something better, but for action and promise the best I can do is "Elect Rom. He's a bomb!"

As for the Arizona Senator, perhaps "We Oughter Elect Goldwater" is the ticket. Or, "Be Wary with Barry" offers possibilities. Or even "Dare with Bar".

Admittedly, the name Scranton is a tough challenge to the poet. It rhymes, all right, with Canton and Danton. But the name of a Chinese city and a French revolutionary don't offer much political mileage in the U.S.A. It may have to boil down to "We Thrill to Bill" or, "Where There's a Will, Here's Bill."

Gov. Hatfield is another difficult test. Probably the solution is "I Bark for Mark" rather than "I Bark for Hat". Or how about "Let's Park with Mark".

There's a busy time ahead for the political poets. They can't rest while Gov. Rockefeller is ahead with that "Who Else But Nelson?"

And just to prove my interest is nonpartisan, perhaps the current occupant of the White House will be interested in 1964, in "Keep on the Tack with Jack" or, "My Pony Is Macaroni".

Junior Editors Quiz on STARS

QUESTION: How do scientists find out how far away the stars are?

ANSWER: Hold up your forefinger (1) about six inches from your face and look at it with one eye. Then close this and use the other eye. Your finger will seem to move back and forth, because each time you look at it from a different direction! This will help you to understand "triangulation" used in the measurement of the distance of objects. You could measure the distance between your eyes and put it down like the dotted line in (2). Observing the different positions of your finger with each eye, you could work out the angle from each and put it down (dotted lines). Your finger would be where these lines cross. You could draw a center line to this from between the two eye lines and find out how long it was by using the measurement between your eyes; this would tell what the distance is to your finger.

In (3) this principle is used to measure distance of moon from earth, and in (4) of stars close to earth. For more distant stars, astronomers use a system based on the variable stars seen in many parts of the universe. By studying the changes in brightness of these stars, it is possible to estimate how far away these stars are from the earth.

FOR YOU TO DO: Memorize these useful distances: earth to sun, close to 83 million miles; to nearest star, not counting sun, 4.27 light years. A light year is the distance light travels in a year, about six million million miles.

Railroads Ask Hearing On River Project

DALLAS (AP) — Twenty Texas railroads seek a U.S. district court order for a public hearing on all financial obligations that would be involved in the proposed $911 million Trinity River project.

The mandamus suit was filed Wednesday against the U. S. Board of Engineers, Rivers and Harbors and its members, who recently approved the program. It calls for development of the Trinity to make it navigable for barge transportation.

Brig. Gen. C. H. Dunn, southwestern division chief of the Army Engineers and a member of the rivers and harbors board, declined comment.

Dunn said he had no information other than the suit had been filed and any comment would have to come from the chairman of the board in Washington.

"Not only the railroads but the taxpaying public is entitled to be completely informed concerning this costly project," Walter Caven, general counsel of the Texas Railroad Association, said after filing the petition.

"This is especially true of the $124,900,000 plus non-federal first costs, which are assumed to be local costs to residents of the Trinity River Valley. It is assumed this money is to be raised through bond issues or ad valorem taxes."

The petition said the railroads asked the board Oct. 22, 1962, to hold a public hearing as required under the Federal Administrative Procedure Act, but the request was denied by the board Dec. 23, 1962.

Caven charged that a single public hearing conducted in Fort Worth in December of 1961 was not held under the Federal Administrative Procedure Act. He said that at the meeting no apportionment by counties of the local share of the costs was specified and the recommendations of the district and division U. S. Engineers to the board ignored the subject.

Hearing Is Postponed

HENDERSON, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Judge A. Royce Stout of Waxahachie postponed indefinitely Thursday a hearing on Humble Oil & Refining Co.'s petition for a change of venue in its civil suit against Tyler oilman H. L. Long. The postponement was granted because Long is represented by Rep. Joe Cannon of Groesbeck, who is in Austin attending the legislature.

Judge Stout said a new hearing date probably would be set within 30 days after the legislature adjourns. Long is accused by Humble of taking oil from its leases in the New London field by slant hole drilling. In February a jury ruled in favor of Long, but Judge Stout set aside the verdict, terming it "a rank miscarriage of justice." Humble claims prejudice prevails in Rusk County.

Punishment Inequity Is Cited By Judge

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The way juries fix punishments for law violators is "like shooting craps," a judge on Kentucky's highest court says. "The idea of sentencing is to deter crime and it's not been working too well in this country," Judge John Palmore of the State Court of Appeals told the Kentucky Bar Association Wednesday. He said there was inequity of punishment by juries trying similar cases and also inequity from one judge to another. He suggested standardization of punishment.

Choir Accompanist Unable To Appear

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Sheriff William Cranfill thought it a good idea if prisoners at the Jefferson County Jail organized a choir.

The 34 inmates made their first public appearance Wednesday night before a church group. The sheriff apologized because they had to sing without a pianist. Their accompanist, he said, is a federal prisoner and could not be taken from jail for the concert.

Gentle Probe Report Sends Stock Market To New Gains

NEW YORK (AP)—The gentle tone of the Securities and Exchange Commission report Wednesday spurred the stock market to 1963 gains.

However, most Wall Streeters were cautious in their initial appraisal, saying they preferred a more careful study of the five-volume 700-page report which called for a half-dozen pieces of legislation to protect the public.

G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, said it will begin immediately a careful study of the recommendations. But he hinted that the exchange opposes any new regulatory legislation by Congress.

Said Funston: "The exchange is convinced based on its experience that vigorous self-regulation in combination with enforcement of existing securities laws is the key to maintaining a healthy, responsive, and efficient market place and to serving the public well."

Many other brokers and traders said they would have to study the lengthy document before commenting.

Through it pointed out what it called "grave abuses," the SEC report to Congress generally gave the securities business a good bill of health.

Stock prices rallied to the highest level in nearly a year. Turnover was 4.06 billion shares, the largest since Feb. 18, while volume was 4.47 billion.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.8 to a 4193 high of 261.1, with industrials up 3.2, rails up .6 and utilities up .6.

James E. Day, president of the Midwest Stock Exchange in Chicago, said:

"Although a preliminary review indicates a number of areas where proposed regulations, rules and formulas could very well be questioned, we would agree that all suggestions deserve full consideration."

Mr. and Mrs. Amanda Salinas, Lamesa Highway, are the parents of a 6 lb. 11 1/2 oz. baby boy born at 2:10 a.m. April 3 at Cogdell Hospital.

Miners In France To Resume Work

PARIS (AP)—France's coal mines are expected to reopen this weekend, following settlement of the month-long impasse—strikes that have President Charles de Gaulle's biggest home front setback since he returned to power in 1958.

The managers of the government-owned mines and the unions reached a compromise settlement Wednesday night. Quick ratification by leaders of the 170,000 miners in the coal basins was predicted.

Though the miners gave some ground in the settlement, De Gaulle's prestige had suffered. Early in the strike he ordered the men back to the pits under a requisition decree threatening them with dismissal, fines or jail. The miners defied the order. And other unions threatened a general strike, contending De Gaulle's decree abridged the right to strike.

The government did nothing to enforce the order.

The miners had demanded an 11 per cent wage increase, a six-hour week and a fourth week of vacation. The government offered a 5.7 per cent increase and a study of wage scales in September.

New Terms Launched By Three Councilmen

Three city councilmen were sworn in for new terms immediately following the city election last night. The council, after canvassing the returns from the election and administering the oath to the newly elected members, then went through a modest business agenda. There were no contested races on the election ballot, and only 83 votes were cast. Bobbie McCormick received 72 votes for Place 3 councilman, M. L. Brown 40 votes for Place 3 councilman and Marshall Edwin 28 votes for Place 3 councilman. A sprinkling of write-in votes were tabulated. Receiving one vote each for council posts were Rex Fields, R. H. Melton, Jack Craft, B. H. Emerson, Martin Brooks, Worth Sawyer and J. R. Huckabee. In the business session, the council renewed contracts of Arthur Blomhard, city attorney; Dave Adams, corporation court judge, and Edgar Taylor, special collector of delinquent taxes. Councilman D. D. Shepley was elected to serve as mixer, problem for the coming year. An ordinance was passed on first reading to close an alley in Block 31, Gross Subdivision of Scarborough Addition. This action has been requested by Frank Stephenson. After considerable discussion, the council voted to remove the traffic signal at Twenty-fifth Street and Avenue J. Three persons, Arthur Duff, W. R. Brown and Ed Thompson, appeared before the council and argued that the traffic signal be retained. The council noted that traffic surveys at the intersection showed over 5,000 vehicles on Twenty-fifth Street and only about 200 on Avenue J during an eight-hour period. Also, it was noted that police records showed 12 traffic accidents at the Twenty-fifth and Avenue J intersection during the past two years. With 10 at their account for 12 vehicles hitting others that had been stopped by the traffic signal. Bids were opened on proposals to purchase some surplus equipment advertised for sale by the city, and bids on two items were accepted. The City of Laneshire bid of $23 for a 1944 model bulldozer power shovel was accepted, and Dwayne Camp, bid of $27 for a self-propelled mower was accepted. All bids on a cement mixer and on a garden tractor with blade and mower were rejected. A resolution was passed requesting the Texas Highway Department to widen U. S. 100 from Avenue Z to El Paso Avenue, and the city manager was authorized to seek bids on a new billing machine for the city utility office.

Soviet Lunik 4 Speeds On Course

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviets said today Lunik 4 hurtled 124,215 miles in the first 24 hours of its flight toward the moon and is speeding along on course. A broadcast communication credited this progress report to the lunar research vehicle reported fired from an orbiting multi-stage rocket Tuesday on its 238,450-mile journey. With speed slackening some what after the initial boost, it was expected to take 30 days from launch time to reach the area of the moon. It is expected to remain a Soviet secret. The instrument-laden, 3,126-pound Lunik 4 could give the Russians a lead over the United States in the race to land a man on the moon. The American program, stung by three spectacular failures last year, is far behind schedule, but officials in Washington said there is no need for Americans to panic. Scientists speculated that Lunik 4 is intended either to land an unmanned observation station on the moon or orbit the moon and take detailed photographs and to gather other data. Such preliminaries are indispensable to landing a man, and a "wide range of studies must be carried out before man flies there," wrote astrophysicist Yuri Linsky in Pravda today. However, the Soviet government gave an "up" on Lunik's mission. Chief studies of statements by Soviet scientists who should know turned up few clues. Nikolai Barabansky of the Khrushchev Institute of Space Sciences said in an article he wrote for the Soviet news agency Tass.

U. S. Flatly Rejects Soviet Charges On Raids By Cubans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States flatly rejected today Soviet charges that this country was responsible for two Cuban refugee raids on Soviet ships in the area of Cuba. The note delivered in Moscow, the United States also sharply reprimanded the Soviet government for its opposition to Soviet military involvement in Cuba. By its rejection, the United States also turned down, in effect, a Soviet dem. of. in notes late last month that it was demanding that the United States stop its operations in Cuba. The U. S. note told the Soviets:

Redistricting Bill Gets Consideration In House

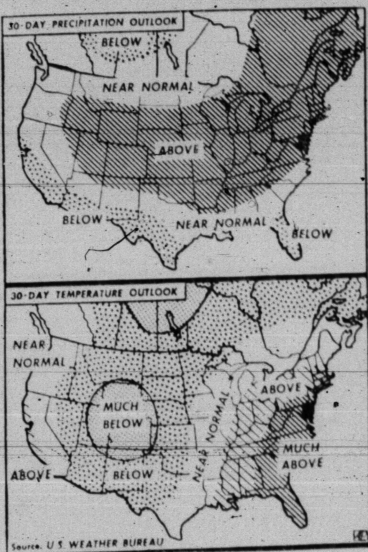

Sullivan Is Named To C-C Board

Guy Sullivan was appointed last night to serve as a director of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce. The appointment was made by R. C. Patton, chamber president, at the regular board meeting. Sullivan will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Tom Sinclair. During the business session the board heard a report from Harold Lack on work toward developing "third level" air service to Snyder. The chamber is now working directly with a company to offer the service, with the first step being to undertake a survey of business and individuals to determine who would be interested in contracting from the service. Minimum contracts would represent "the equivalent" of live round trips to Dallas per year. Plans now being considered for use are Cessna 200s with a possibility that the new tandem engine Cessna Skymaster would be used. Proposed service would be direct to Dallas with emphasis on computer use. Badger Robertson, chairman of the junior college study committee, lists six things which he said an individual may do for the college program:

- 1. Come to the public meeting April 9 in the high school auditorium. If unable to attend obtain accurate information on the proposal.
- 2. If you are for the junior college, properly sign petitions.
- 3. Help the committee get as many people as possible to appear before the state board in Austin when petitions are presented.
- 4. If and when the state board conducts a hearing, be present.
- 5. Be present in Austin when action is taken on results of the hearing.
- 6. Vote for the college if the election is authorized.

Necessary, Says Price

AUSTIN (AP)—The House today gave consideration to a congressional redistricting bill, but the sponsor said it is necessary to head off federal intervention. Rep. Raymond Price of Frankston, the sponsor, said in Texas we have one of the largest and the smallest congressional districts in the United States, side by side. "This bill is an important piece of legislation. Those 61 districts leave us wide open to the federal courts, coming in and taking over redistricting the state," he said. "Earlier the House passed to the governor a measure to raise automobile speed limits to 70 miles per hour and limit the use of 24 flags."

Senate Defeats Lower Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today defeated a $100 million amendment to the 1963-64 fiscal year budget. The amendment, proposed by Sen. John Stennis, would have provided that any arrangements for the purchase of surplus commodities be subject to the approval of the Senate. The amendment was defeated by a vote of 54-46.
