Clapper Insists: World Peace Cannot Rest On Big Four

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 — In his last broadcast, President Roosevelt emphasized how much he, Churchill, Stalin and Chiang Kai-Shek wanted to establish a peace that would last for many generations.

He said that at Cairo and Teheran they discussed big, broad objectives, rather than details. The four leaders, in the President's phrase, "got along fine."

CLAPPER

But to insure peace for generations to come is a task too big to rest on the accident of four powerful leaders who get along fine.

We have the fortunate accident that those four leaders are on hand. We hope Churchill will fully recover soon and be able to work for many years. Nobody knows whether Mr. Roosevelt will be in the combination after a year from now or whether some Republican of unknown convictions about foreign affairs might take over.

The peace of the world can not safely be left to the chance that the health and political fortunes of four leaders of the four big powers will continue on the plus side.

Who Will Handle Details

Mr. Roosevelt's address itself indicates that work must be done which requires something more substantial in the way of organization than the occasional meetings of four men.

Mr. Roosevelt says the four big powers must be united with and must co-opeate with all freedom-loving peoples, and that the rights of all nations large and small must be jealously respected and guarded. That can't be done by the big four meeting every once in a while.

Mr. Roosevelt says international force will be applied to keep international peace as long as may be necessary. Although the bulk of that force will come from the four big powers, it would be unhealthy indeed to leave the world simply at the mercy of occasional conferences of the big four military and political leaders. Other nations will not be content to have affairs controlled for long through such occasional meetings as those at Cairo and Teheran.

Mr. Roosevelt says the big four concerned themselves with broad objectives rather than details. Who will handle the details? Some machinery more dependable, than the occasional meetings of the Big Four will be required.

MR. ROOSEVELT has been President for nearly 12 years. He took over the Democratic party in 1932, when it was a wreck left over from the debacle of Al Smith's campaign. After 12 years it still is a wreck.

What other Democrat is there except Mr. Roosevelt? The party is Mr. Roosevelt and nothing else. He has not encouraged building of a party organization or the development of a new generation to carry on his work when he is obliged to give it up. When Roosevelt goes it will all go and the Republicans will take over with only a bankrupt opposition which they can safely ignore for a while

Creation Of Council Necessary

If there is to be any world security, it must rest on some arrangements that will outlive Mr. Roosevelt and the three other virtual dictators with whom he is momentarily in such successful partnership. A partnership is an insecure arrangement. We need a corporation that will live on regardless of the disappearance of one or more of the partners.

The domestic political failure of President Roosevelt to leave behind him a party and an organization and new leaders who can carry on for him suggests the danger on the world stage where he now moves.

We must not be left at the end of the war, dependent for future peace and security on a team of four tired old men which may be broken up at any moment by death or political defeat.

Need of creating a United Nations council is far more urgent than when some of us were calling for it against deaf ears a year or two ago.

Noted Woman Writer Said Critically Ill

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Dec. 31 (AP)—Ida M. Tarbell, dean of American women authors, was reported critically ill with pneumonia today at the Bridgeport hospital.

A hospital statement said the 86-year-old writer, whose books on Abraham Lincoln placed her in the forefront of American writers, was in 'poor condition and on the danger list."

TO HONOR PIONEER

HOUSTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—Charles Goodnight, pioneer guide, Indian fighter and founder of Goodnight ranch in West Texas, will be honored Tuesday when Houstin Shipbuilding corporation launches a Liberty type freighter bearing his name.

Big Fleet Keeps Up Terrific Pace

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Saturday, Jan. 1. — A great fleet of American heavy bombers with a strong fighter escort swept over France yesterday, bombing industrial targets in Paris and blasting a Nazi air base at Chateau Bernard used by German planes collaborating with U-boat attacks against Allied shipping, it was announced early today.

Two vital ball-bearing plants were struck in the Paris attack while some of the heavy bombers penetrated west-central France to reach Chateau Bernard.

The air operations for the day saw more than 1,000 Allied planes in the air over the continent bringing the total for a 48-hour period to 3,500. In addition to the announced operations, U. S. heavy bombers struck various enemy-occupied airbases in southern France, the number and names of which were not specified. No communique was issued.

Invasion Coast Pounded

Attacks also were made along the French invasion coast. The announcement said that U. S. Marauders in the last five raids of 1943 against this portion of France closest to England did not lose a single plane although the concentration against the Pas de Calais area alone totalled 1,100 sorties (individual plane flights).

The American heavy bombers striking at the Paris plants were escorted by American and Allied fighters which together shot down six German fighters with a loss of one of their own.

The Fortress formation was jumped by from 50 to 75 Nazi fighter planes on the way home and had a great running battle from the Brest peninsula to the middle of the English channel.

Kent County Man Aboard

Returning crewmen reported bullseye bomb hits on both the Paris targets and the airfields and said they saw columns of smoke surging up when they were as far away on the trip home as the French coast.

Sgt. H. D. Smith, Girard, Kent county, Texas, said his ship was already riddled by one charge of flak when another came through the side, exploded and showered fragments all over the interior, but did not scratch a single crewman.

In the great year-end aerial offensive the Allies sent an average of almost 100 planes an hour over German dominated Europe, or nearly two per minute.

New Year Slips In For Quiet Day Here

Lubbock greeted a new arrival last night, a chubby little fellow with a placard hanging from his neck reading "1944."

The familiar 12 o'clock oil mill whistle was longer and a little more jubilant, downtown motorists stayed on their horns and somewhere in an alley somebody made whacking sounds against a trash barrel.

"Everything quiet" was the report of officers. Two drunks were picked up by police and MP's contended with more than their usual number of inebriates.

Most business firms will be closed today. Banks, First Federal Savings and Loan association and all public offices will suspend operations. The general delivery window at the postoffice will be open from 11 a. m. until 1 p. m. and delivery of Christmas packages will continue.

Women's Footwear To Be Sold Sans Stamp

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. (AP) — Shoe dealers may sell part of their stocks of women's footwear ration-free, at $3 or less a pair, during the two-week period from Jan. 17 through Jan. 29, the Office of Price administration announced today.

The quantity of footwear released is 15 per cent of retailers' stocks of women's shoes listed in September inventory reports to OPA.

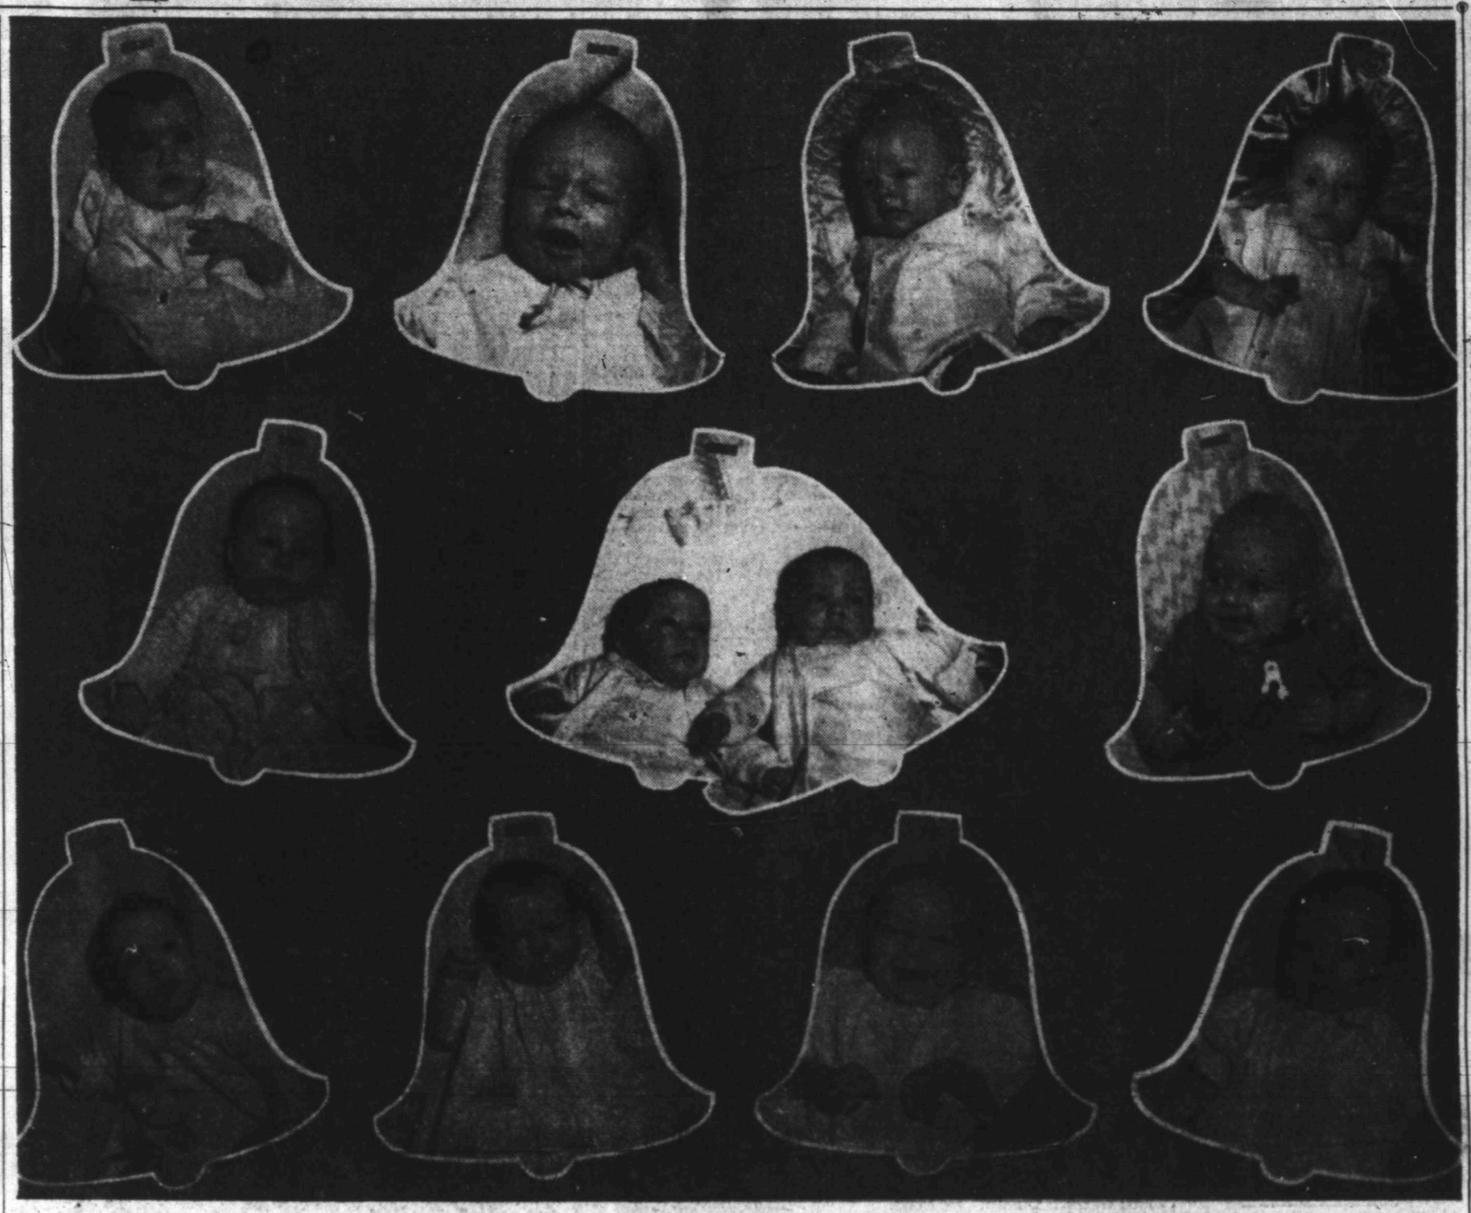

Members Of Midland Draft Board Resign

MIDLAND, Dec. 31. (AP)—Giving no public explanation and declining to comment, the Midland county draft board revealed yesterday it had resigned, effective 30 days from Dec. 17, when the resignation was mailed to state selective service director J. Watt Page.

Members W. L. Simmons, O. C. Harper and R. V. Lawrence did say no dissension existed on the board.

FORMER EDITOR DIES

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Dec. 31 (AP) Meton Smith Heiss, 54, managing editor of the Kiwanis International magazine for 19 years, died today. He resigned his editorial post Oct. 1 to become secretary of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce.

RING IN THE NEW! — These new Lubbock residents, representative of between 200 and 300 youngsters born during 1943 to Army parents temporarily sojourning here, look forward to their first birthdays. All of the new citizens above have fathers stationed at South Plains Army Air Field and are members of the unofficial military organization known as the "WETS." Beginning at the top, and reading left to right, they are: Dianne, born on last August 10 to Capt. and Mrs. Rowland O. Mosher, 2812 Twenty-eighth street, whose permanent home is in Stamford, New York; Richard Hunter Shoop, born Dec. 5 to Capt. and Mrs. Richard R. Shoop, 2819 Twenty-sixth street, permanent home Corry, Pa.; James T. Adams, jr., born Sept. 10 to Sgt. and Mrs. James T. Adams, permanent residents of 2212 Sixth street, Lubbock; Kathleen Kyle Pratt, born Oct. 7 to Lt. and Mrs. George W. Pratt, 2311 Thirty-second street, permanent home Redlands, Cal.; second row, Susan Isabelle Kline, born Oct. 2 to Capt. and Mrs. John W. Kline, 1911 Twentieth street, permanent home Zanesville, Ohio; Bruce John and Ronald Palmer Schurger, twins born Sept. 14 to Major and Mrs. David L. Nazis In Italy Hit From Rear

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Dec. 31. (AP)—Allied troops, attacking at the western extremity of the Italian battle line for the first time in over a month, jumped the estuary of the Garigliano river yesterday to strike behind German lines in the Minturno area, headquarters announced today.

(The swoop on German strongpoints north of the Garigliano estuary was "a most successful attack," and was carried out by strong British raiding forces early Thursday morning, said Haig Nicholson, a Reuters correspondent with the Fifth Army.)

German Broadcast

A broadcast German communique said a battalion of seaborne troops landed behind Nazi outposts southeast of Minturno, but was dislodged by a counterattack. The Nazi announcement did not say the expedition had been forced back into its boats, and there was no additional information here on the progress of the fight. Allied spokesmen described the operation as a large raid, perhaps indicating there was no intention of establishing a permanent beachhead.

(The Bari radio, controlled by the Italian government of Marshal Badoglio, reported that American troops had captured the demolished fortress-village of San Vittore, six miles from Cassino on the main inland highway to Rome.)

High Official Says Strike Threats Hike Nazi Morale, Add Many Months To War

By PAUL MILLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 — A personage high in the councils of the United States and United Nations tonight called the threats of railway and steel strikes a "great tragedy," asserting they provided fuel for the Axis propaganda mill and thus may have delayed revolts in Germany and occupied lands this winter — revolts which could spell swift collapse for the Nazis.

Three leaders of railroad labor immediately replied that if the railway labor dispute had any effect on the war, labor unions were not to blame. They said the administration was responsible for delay in settling the dispute.

Nazis Report Chaos

The high source, withholding use of his name, told reporters at a conference that German propagandists are telling subject peoples everywhere in Europe that chaos reigns in the United States; that the Army has been forced to take over the railroads.

As a result, it was added, the subjugated countries are reported hesitating again to start the wild resistance which was counted on as a major factor in the overthrow of German domination outside the Reich.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO United Steel Workers union, could not be reached for comment immediately, but a union executive said "this is a filthy propaganda story designed to arouse the people against labor unions."

Meantime, chiefs of the 15 non-operating railroad unions representing more than a million workers issued a statement guaranteeing their "level best" in helping the Army run the carriers, but declaring against any retreat in their wage fight.

The source who described asserted German propaganda based on the strike threats, said the effect of European peoples is such that a revolt there may be seriously delayed.

This means, it was said, that the war could be extended months longer and that the Allies still may have to fight through the summer at a cost of scores of thousands of casualties before Germany can be brought to her knees.

Takes Three Tangents

German propaganda has taken three lines in the satellite nations, it was said.

First, it was asserted, the German propaganda line was that Britain and the United States

Grim Adolf Has Little To Offer In New Year's Plea

LONDON, Dec. 31 (AP)—Adolf Hitler, in a grim New Year's message to the German people, today offered them only hope of dogged resistance for their very lives and, anticipating invasion from the west, boasted that 'wherever they land the Allies will receive an appropriate welcome."

In a long written message distributed by DNB to German newspapers and recorded from a Berlin broadcast by the Associated Press, Hitler again sounded the German propaganda note that "in this war there will be no victors and losers, but merely survivors and annihilated."

A separate New Year order of the day to the Army called 1943 "a second year of great crisis" initiated by the Russian winter offensive of 1941-42.

Even as the Russians, in one of their greatest victories of the war, were driving toward pre-war Poland's borders and drawing near Rumania's frontiers, Hitler said "a Napoleonic catastrophe seemed imminent for the German front, yet we were able to master the situation."

Germany, he said, was fighting with a "fanatical hatred," and inspired by "the old biblical saying: 'An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.'

For all the continent's ramparts he promised fortifications which wil "surprise the enemy" invaders.

To the home front he promised that "retaliation will come" for the Allied bombings.

He blamed setbacks on "Italian treason" and "the breach of faith of French admirals and generals which permitted Allied landings in North Africa," but he claimed that "the balancing of our forces are now achieved."

His dominant theme in the long message was that times are hard but worse is to come if Germany loses.

Hitler had a propaganda message for the British—that Britain has now lost the balance of power position and is at the mercy of her Allies, Russia and America.

Russians Widely Aclaim General Ike's Prediction

MOSCOW, Dec. 31 (AP)—United States General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who says the war is going to end in 1944, has suddenly become a popular hero in Russia.

Most Russians knew of him before, but his prediction that the war will be over quickly—spread far and wide by the press and radio—made a profound impression on the Soviet people.

One eight-year-old Russian boy said to an American newspaperman:

"The war is soon going to be over."

"What makes you think so?" he was asked.

"Why, you ought to know," was the reply. "Your big general said it would."

SHIP EVERY FIVE DAYS

HOUSTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—Liberty type cargo ships slid from Houston Shipbuilding corporation ways at an average rate of one every five days during 1943 for a total deadweight tonnage of more than 750,000, Arthur Stout, vice president and general manager announced today.

Conquered Air Strips Rebuilt

(By The Associated Press)

Twin airstrips seized from the Japanese by invading Marines at Cape Gloucester, New Britain, soon will become bases for the swelling aerial bombardment of the enemy throughout the Southwest Pacific.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's New Year's day communique reported all Japanese counter-attacks against the victorious Marines have been bloodily repulsed and the entire airdrome area is being steadily cleared of the beaten enemy.

Seabees In Action

Seabees, the wonder-working Navy construction specialists, already are speeding the repair of the strategic airdrome and Allied airmen expect to be winging off of the airstrips within the next few days for new strikes against the enemy in such comparatively untouched areas as the Bismark archipelago.

On New Guinea's Huon peninsula across from the New Britain invasion scene, Australian jungle fighters are steadily driving the Japanese northward up the coast, clearing the enemy from the peninsula.

In a flare-up of ground action on the Burma front, Allied troops guarding construction of a new supply road to China threw back a Japanese counterattack with heavy loss to the enemy.

In an air action that brought 1943 to a gratifying close for the RAF in that theater of operations, 13 Japanese planes were sent plunging into the Bay of Bengal.

Record Field Gathers For Leap Year Stakes Renewal

By RANDALL ABERNETHY
Avalanche Staff Writer

A RECORD field of 16 to 75-year-olds fidgeted at the starting gate last night as Father Time prepared to raise his scythe to signal the start of another running of the Leap Year stakes.

There was a dry track but the entry list was packed with would-be mudders.

Never before in the history of the event had the purse been so skimpy.

"I doubt if there's anything in this for us," said a handsome filly as she flexed her legs. "What's good is in the Army, what's left will never harm me, they're either too young or too old," she added, breaking into plaintive song.

Leap year, according to tradition, is the time for women to play wolf. They get to play it one year, then men get to play it three years. This seems a little unfair and it's surprising that women, what with their suffrage, haven't made an issue out of it.

The dictionary defines Leap Year this way: "A year of 366 days, when February has 29 days; every year divisible by 4, except those divisible by 100 but not 400." Other examples of crisp, clear definition may be found in any communication from your OPA office.

Many people explain the appellation by painting a sinister picture of a femme fatale lurking behind a harmless-looking bush, ready to leap at a passing unsuspecting male.

It is also a year in which many people, who were born on Feb. 29, have their first birthday in four years. Women born on this date possess a serene conscience. For instance, a woman 44 years old can tell friends she is 24 and still rest comfortably in the knowledge that she over-stated her age by 13 years.

Rail Center Is Engulfed

Many Dead Left In Nazi Flight

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Writer

LONDON, Saturday, Jan. 1 — The Russian First Ukrainian Army, racing toward Poland and Rumania today as the new year opened on one of the great Allied victories of the war, has captured the fortified rail and regional center of Zhitomir and plunged on far beyond through the rear guards of confused, disorganized Germans who were abandoning tanks, guns, supplies and dead in their rout.

Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's forces, which captured Zhitomir yesterday, were speeding west and southwest through a 200-mile breach in the Nazi eastwall, far beyond the territory lost to an abortive German counter offensive in November and December. After capturing 150 more communities yesterday, advance Soviet units were 35 miles from the pre-war Polish border and less than 90 miles from the pre-war Rumanian frontier.

Big Scale "Retreat"

"Our tank and motorized troops dealt the enemy considerable blows breaking through into his rear to intercept most important communication lines and smash German reserves which came up to the front lines," said the midnight Moscow bulletin recorded by the Soviet monitor.

Berlin reports to Swedish newspapers said there were many indications in German military circles that a new large scale retreat would be made on the eastern front in order to stabilize a defensive line.

In simultaneous offensives keeping the Nazi strength thinspread, Gen. Ivan S. Bagramian's Baltic Army smashed through on both sides of Vitebsk in northern White Russia, capturing 60 towns and cutting the Vitebsk-Orsha highway south of Vitebsk. Over 800 Germans were killed and 22 tanks destroyed, and 30 big guns captured despite five German counterattacks in this area. Another force was at least 11 miles west of Nevel in a renewed drive toward Latvia.

Dnieper Hold Deepened

Far to the south Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Third Ukrainian Army in the Dnieper bend extended and deepened its bridgehead across the Dnieper west of Zaporozhe, capturing five more towns on the road to Nikopol, center of Manganese ore production. Over 600 Germans were killed as the Russians hammered back counter-attacks and continued their push.

New details on the Russian drive that toppled Zhitomir were given by the Moscow bulletin. Although German lines had virtually disappeared under the Red Army wave, German garrisons in isolated towns were still hanging on, fighting for their lives.

Such a garrison held out in Zhitomir, important for its strategic position, and it fought bitterly to try to hold the Russians. But at the approaches to the city Soviet tank and infantry fighters, supported by powerful artillery, broke German counter-attacks and surged on to envelop the town.

"At the approaches to the town, and in its streets remained dozens of smashed German tanks, self-propelled guns and field guns, the bulletin said. "The enemy sustained tremendous losses in manpower in these engagements. Much war material was captured and many prisoners taken."

Far to the south of the great Russian offensive arc the Red Army smashed into the town of Pogrebischche, 19 miles east of Samgorodok, a 15 mile advance from previously reported positions. This town is a center of the Vinnitsa district and is 40 miles northeast of the rail town of Vinnitsa.

About 2,500 Germans were killed in this area and the victorious Russians captured 42 guns and 200 trucks as well as other supplies and "many prisoners."

At the northern extremity of the arc Emelyanovka, 21 miles southwest of Korosten, was captured as the Russians pounded down the railway toward Novograd Volinski, 35 miles southwest.

Another significant capture among the many scored during the

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

EDITOR'S NOTE: If you have a relative or friend in the service, you are welcome to clip this letter of Lubbock news which is a weekly feature.

DEAR _____:

Today is the first day of a new year. Happy New Year is the traditional greeting but the ones on the home front realize there may not be much happiness in the world during the coming year. We can only wish for you courage and wisdom to meet whatever you have to face in 1944 and the daily thought that we are backing you to the limit.

Our White Christmas arrived two days late, blanketing the countryside in drifts of terrific beauty and halting traffic for several hours. By the end of the week most of the snow had melted. Many Lubbockites enjoyed the sight from sick beds as the wave of influenza that has swept the state made itself felt in many homes. The only encouraging factor was that the epidemic was of a mild sort and patients were up and about within a day or so.

The annual district Golden Gloves boxing tournament, sponsored by the Avalanche-Journal and scheduled for Jan. 14, 15 and 17 at the Texas Tech gymnasium is beginning to take shape and the first entries have come in to tournament headquarters at Tech. Wiley McCarty, Littlefield, defending district bantamweight champion who went to semi-finals in the state championship tournament in Fort Worth last year before being beaten, has sent his entry papers.

Tech students returned to their classes Wednesday except those who live farther than 500 miles away, who were given two days of grace. They reported swell times at home but fussed about transportation difficulties which met with little sympathy from their hearers, because they had been cautioned about crowded train and bus conditions.

William Gargan, tough guy of gangster pictures, paid visits to LAAF and SPAAF hospital wards Tuesday and Wednesday. He had supper with the WAC detachment at both bases and promised to send the gals an autographed picture and the splashy-colored tie he was wearing when he visited SPAAF.

Post-war plans for Lubbock already are being outlined. Lubbock Rotarians at their Wednesday luncheon meeting heard City Manager Marlin R. Smith, S. C. McCarty, division highway engineer, and Wesley Read, chairman of the City Planning commission, talk on improvement plans for our city and the surrounding area when peace comes.

Smith briefly detailed plans for 100 blocks of street paving, extensions of storm and sanitary sewers, expansion of the water system, installation of extensive street lighting and additional fire department equipment and a new fire station.

McCarty told of plans for extension of three-lane highways out of Lubbock in nearly every direction.

Read said that members of the commission were planning ahead on the possibility that Lubbock would some day be a "very large city."

Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Overton have contributed a "minimum of $20,000" toward the construction of a Methodist Student center in Lubbock, to be built on two 100-foot lots located at 2316-18 Thirteenth street and construction is contemplated as soon as possible after the close of the war when materials are available. Dr. Overton, pioneer physician and resident of Lubbock for 42 years, long has contributed to the support of Methodists in Texas.

News of men in service you know concerns a visit of Lt. Douglas S. Adams who has completed more than 40 missions in North Africa and participated in three major campaigns and is at home on leave. He was a bombardier on a B-26 medium bomber.

Lt. Joe Bob Foster is spending a few days here before reporting to Salt Lake City after having won his wings as a bombardier from Big Spring. He is as dark and handsome as ever and still flashes that toothpaste ad smile.

It's Lt. Col. Harris McCauley now.

Major Elmer Tarbox is back in the states, spending several days at Dayton, Ohio and plans to come to Lubbock after visiting his parents in Higgins.

Lt. Col. Richard Kight, who recently completed a year's duty in India, has returned to the U. S. and is in San Francisco for the time being.

That's all this time and we want to repeat our New Year's wishes for you and the hope that before another year rolls around you will be home again.

Enochs of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Enochs and family and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shields and daughter, all of Amarillo and Mrs. O. T. Smith of Tyler. Ed Enochs is a brother and Mrs. Shields and Mrs. Smith are sisters of the Lubbock man.

The Nazis now have a female department of the Gestapo to watch German women. Its leader is known as "Frau Himmler."

Firemen Hold Annual New Year's Banquet

Members of the Lubbock fire department held their annual New Year's eve banquet Friday night in the recreation room of central fire station, with city officials, representative business and professional men, firemen from the two Army air fields here and former members of the department as their guests.

"It has been a very disastrous fire year in Lubbock," declared Fire Chief W. E. Twitty in a brief talk. "Our losses have been entirely too high."

Even so, he said, there are several cities in Texas of similar size which have suffered greater losses.

Among several pioneer Lubbock firemen who spoke was W. C. Bryan, who related that in the city's early days he hauled water hose to fires in a dray wagon.

Tahoka Gunner Earns DFC And Air Medal

DENVER, Dec. 31. (U.P.)—For extraordinary achievement as an aerial gunner in the south Pacific, Sgt. James K. Connolly of Tahoka, Texas, today possessed the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air medal.

Sergeant Connolly, now stationed at Buckley field, previously had been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action over New Guinea, and a presidential citation with two Oak Leaf clusters as a member of the famed 19th Bombardment group.

The two latest awards were presented Connolly at a formal review yesterday at Buckley field by Lt. Col. Earl W. Sweeney, commanding officer of the field.

Two Drown As Girl Tries Saving Sister

DALLAS, Dec. 31. (AP)—Two sisters, Martha Faye Womack and Jeanie Womack, were drowned here today when the younger of the girls fell into a creek and the older attempted to rescue her.

Two other children ran for aid. Police, who administered artificial respiration, estimated the bodies had been in the water 45 minutes when they were recovered.

The children were the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Womack of Dallas.

News Briefs

Condition of Mrs. Walter Y. Wells, 2408 Thirtieth street, who was taken to Lubbock General hospital early Friday afternoon followig a wreck at Twenty-sixth street and Avenue T, was reported "fair" by hospital attendants late Friday night. She suffered head injuries.

Gob Says No Atheists In Lifeboat, Either

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 31. (AP)—Signalman third class Kermit W. Mattson, USNR, who spent 17 freezing days in an open lifeboat on the North Atlantic, said he doesn't know much about foxholes but "you can take it from me, there are no atheists in a lifeboat, either."

The 20-year-old Clark, N. D., sailor related today how he had been without sleep for two nights and three days before his ship was torpedoed and split in half. Only two lifeboats were left undamaged by the explosion.

The next day Mattson and 10 others who had taken refuge aboard a life raft were put aboard a lifeboat from another torpedoed ship and the 17-day vigil began.

"After a couple of days in the boat," Mattson said, "we were all praying, when a fellow is really up against it he's not a bit ashamed of praying out loud."

The survivors were picked up by three American warships.

Mattson is now at the Naval armed guard center here awaiting assignment.

PARTIES DISSOLVED

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 31 (AP)—The government of Gen. Pedro Ramirez, which seized power last June 4 by a military coup d'etat, today decreed the dissolution of all political parties in Argentina.

SAVES 36 to 67% in writing pay rolls

FOR EMPLOYERS OF FROM 20 TO 3000 PEOPLE, Shaw-Walker research has developed a device that saves 36% to 67% in the making of today's complicated pay roll records.

Tremendous savings are effected because the new device produces all pay roll records in a single operation.

Rewriting figures is entirely eliminated. No chance for errors. No need for reconciling several groups of figures.

Come in and let us show you this "miracle-like" Shaw-Walker device in operation or phone for a demonstration.

Happy New Year

This is the day for remembering, and for hope. We are starting out on a brand new year, and, as is the Jo Ann Shop's custom, we want to make a wish for our thousands of loyal customers and friends.

We wish—above all—for a speedy and victorious ending of war among the nations of the earth. We wish for you—one and all—an abundance of happiness and health and good cheer throughout the coming 12 months. We wish for you a fulfillment of your every desire a year that remain forever impressed upon your minds and hearts as the BEST year of them all!

And, selfishly, we wish for ourselves that everyone of you, who has by your patronage made this year just ended the greatest in Jo Ann history, will become even more loyal and ardent Jo Ann customers in the year that lies ahead. While we will welcome new friends, happy will be our lot if we can but retain our old ones. It has been our greatest pleasure to serve you in 1943—our GREATEST!

Our one New Year's resolution — to offer to our patrons an even greater selection of nationally advertised merchandise; even better service than in 1943; and the same friendly Jo Ann atmosphere that has made it your favorite shopping center in this entire area!

Happy New Year, Everyone!

Three Heavy Body Blows Dealt Nazis During Week

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press War Analyst

Allied might has dealt Germany three body blows in the closing week of 1943, a fitting curtain-raiser of 1944, the year set for her utter defeat.

Foremost is the smashing Russian drive west of Kiev, coupled with mounting offensives in White Russia and the Dnieper bend, either or both of which may develop with equal power.

Face Stunning Defeat

In the Kiev sector, the situation has got out of German control and the enemy faces the possibility of his worst military defeat of the war, there and on the entire southern front down to the Black Sea. Elsewhere the Germans have lost the initiative and military men see little prospect that they can regain it, except perhaps locally and to a limited extent.

In the west, too, the German number is on the board. In the wake of a devastating aerial assault on the already partly-ruined German capital, Allied bombers smashed by day and night at the channel coast of France and struck in great force into industrial southwestern Germany.

The bombardment of the channel coast was on a heavier scale than even the massed assault of a week ago, when it was assumed that the attack might have been aimed at enemy emplacements for a "secret weapon" such as a super rocket gun.

Systematic Destruction

That still may have been partly the purpose, since Allied military men do not consider it impossible that the Germans have developed a new weapon, or greatly improved the effectiveness of existing rocket projectiles. It is believed more likely, however, that the Alies have begun the systematic reduction of Germany's formidable coastal defenses in preparation for the coming invasion, if not within weeks, at least within the next three months.

The third blow at Germany was naval, consisting of the sinking of the battleship Scharnhorst in the Arctic and at least three destroyers in the Bay of Biscay. British military observers regard these sinkings as of extreme importance, quite beyond the material loss. It will have a most disheartening effect, they believe, not only on Germany's civilian morale but on her military leaders.

WHEAT PRICES RISE

CHICAGO, Dec. 31 (AP)— All wheat contracts advanced to new seasonal highs on the board of trade today on buying which grain men said came from milling concerns which must fill large government orders for flour over the next few weeks. Trade sources attributed the heavy flour orders to the forthcoming invasion of Europe.

Volunteer Red Cross Workers Are Praised

In a dinner meeting in the ballroom of Hilton hotel Thursday night Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist church, commended volunteer workers of Lubbock county's Red Cross on their tireless efforts in the past year.

W. C. O'Mara, acting chairman, presided at the chapter meeting which was attended by about 60 persons. Music was furnished during the meal by the Chapel Chimes Trio, Mesdames G. N. Atkinson, Rex Webster and Miss Betty Floyd, accompanied by Mrs. C. E. Hereford.

Special tribute was paid to Mrs. J. S. Johnson, honorary vice chairman, for her long tenure of service for the Red Cross.

Chairman Introduced

Volunteer chairmen who were introduced and made brief reports on their activities were: Mrs. Hub Jones, volunteer service; Mrs. Gordon Parkhill, staff assistance; Mrs. C. P. Carlock, production; Mrs. W. F. Eisenberg, canteen; Mrs. D. K. Bondurant, motor corps; Mrs. C. C. Caldwell, home service; Mrs. J. Ray Dickey, claims; Mrs. Paul Hardwick, disabled veterans; Mrs. A. D. Repp, home nursing; Miss Kathleen Ingram, accident prevention; Mrs J. H. Stiles, Junior Red Cross; W. A. Hood, first aid; and Mrs. Bryan Edwards, camp and hospital council.

Mrs. Teressa B. Gegg, chapter secretary, gave a report on finances. Field representatives Charles Squyres of Lubbock Army Air field and W. J. Rother of South Plains Army Air field were introduced.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. McKee of Slaton were present and Mrs. McKee, home service chairman at Slaton, reported briefly on activities there.

Losses Serious For Drug Tito's Forces

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 31 (AP)—The Partisan forces of Marshal Josip Broz (Drug Tito) have suffered irreparable losses in recent weeks of heavy fighting and 14,000 guerrillas are cut off in the Dinara Alps of northwestern Yugoslavia, an official statement from the Royal Yugoslav government in exile said today.

"They are deprived of all possible support from the outside and are at present engaged in desperate fighting with their backs to the Dinara Alps," the statement said.

WAR VETERAN DIES

TERRELL, Dec. 31 (AP)—Crabb Milton Griffith, 66, veteran of the Spanish-American war, died here today. Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

Three Levelland Negroes Charge

District Attorney Burton S. Burks said Friday, a day after he had investigated the cases there, that three Levelland negroes were held in lieu of $17,000 bail by Hockley County Sheriff Ed Hofacket as outgrowth of charges one of them seriously shot a white man and all of them robbed three other whites the night of Dec. 24 in Levelland.

C. W. Ware is charged with assault to murder John McCormick, who is in a Levelland hospital for treatment of a gunshot wound. A bullet from a .32 caliber pistol went almost through his chest after entering just above the heart.

Charged With Robbery

Ware, Bennie King and James "Sonny" Wheeler are charged with having robbed Pat, Albert and "Fat" Medford, all of the Claudene community, of $2.

"There comes a white man; better shoot him before he shoots you," one of the blacks was quoted as having said to Ware as McCormick was seen approaching.

Burks said he was informed the shooting began immediately after the statement.

Bond of $5,000 each was set by W. R. Baker, justice of peace, in connection with the robbery charges, $2,000 in the assault complaint.

The Hockley county grand jury will be recalled Jan. 10, the district attorney said, at which time the complaints will be referred to it.

Seven Men Sentenced On Extortion Charge

NEW YORK, Dec. 31. (AP) — Seven men, six described as remnants of the Al Capone mob, were sentenced to long prison terms today on conviction on charges of conspiracy to extort in an attempted million-dollar shakedown of motion picture magnates.

Federal Judge John Bright imposed ten-year imprisonment sentences on the six who were said by the government to be former Capone henchmen. The seventh, Louis Kaufman, Newark, N. J., labor leader, drew a seven-year sentence. All were convicted under an indictment charging the conspiracy to extort.

In addition, each of the defendants was fined $10,000.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Sheppard Field Cage Vets Rally To Beat Red Raiders

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 31 (AP)—The experienced Sheppard Field Officers pulled away from Texas Tech's youthful Red Raiders tonight in the second half, gaining a 10-point victory 47-37.

Sheppard Field started its second string and the tournament-weary but eager West Texans jumped ahead. They remained in front for 12 minutes, only to see the lead switch by one point soon after the Officers regulars entered the game. The score stood 14 to 13 in favor of the Officers at the half.

Near the middle of the second period, Sheppard Field had gone ahead, 36 to 26. Then the West Texans moved within three points of the Officers, 34 to 37, only to drop 10 behind as a result of a rally by the Officers in the closing three minutes.

Forward Mortenson continued his steady scoring for the season, dropping in 14 points to share the night's top tallying with 16-year-old Don Grove, Tech center. Center Skrodski made 10 points for the victors.

Coach Polk Robison's youthful Red Raiders were tournament weary, and it was experience that they gave way to—but not without a battle that won them the respect of the military fandom that turned out to pack the Sheppard Field post gymnasium for the game. Tech was especially praised for their clean play in the game.

The Red Raiders refused to be whipped until the final gun erased all hopes, and twice they rallied [illegible] the veteran giants of the [illegible] technical school.

While it was 16-year-old Grove that carried the brunt of the attack, Nolan Weeks and Dale Cooper came in for their share of the glory, Weeks getting nine points and Cooper eight.

Arriving from the "bow and arrow country" after a tough week of fast basketball with some of the best teams in the Southwest, the Red Raiders were glad to start the last leg of the journey that will lead to the home fireside in Lubbock—leaving Wichita Falls right after the game last night.

Two All-State Stars Name College Choice

(By The Associated Press)

Only two members of this year's Associated Press All-State football team have selected colleges — Bobby Layne, Highland Park's great back, going to Texas, and Alan Sparkman, giant Jefferson (San Antonio) tackle, choosing Texas A. and M.

One selection—George Walmsley, Goose Creek back—is undecided, seven expect to enter the service and the other one has another year in high school if he wants it.

Here is the team, picked by Harold V. Ratliff, Associated Press sports editor, through the assistance of coaches, scouts and sports writers from every section of the state:

Ends—Richard Rowan, Breckenridge, and Charles Sheets, North Side (Fort Worth).

Tackles — Sparkman and Bill Cook, Austin (Houston).

Guards—Jesse Bolles, Lufkin, and Pete Odoms, McAllen.

Center—Joe Williams, San Angelo.

Backs — Layne, Walmsley, Charles Boyles of Pampa and Charles Easter of Waco.

Rowan has another year if he chooses to take it. Sheets expects to be in the Army by next fall.

Hurricanes, Wrecks Set For Real Scrap

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 31 (AP) — Tulsa's Golden Hurricane and the Ramblin' Wreck of Georgia Tech will start the tenth annual Sugar Bowl football classic here tomorrow afternoon "without an alibi."

A capacity crowd of 73,000, including around 20,000 service men and women "guests," is expected to pack the stadium for the kick-off at 2:50 (cwt) o'clock.

Rival coaches Bill Alexander of Tech and Henry Frnka of Tulsa said their teams were in "good physical condition for the game."

"We're in good shape and expect a tough game," said Alexander. "We have no injuries to speak of, and as far as I'm concerned it will be a matter of the best team winning in the Sugar Bowl."

Frnka expressed "respect for Georgia Tech" and said that he wouldn't have an alibi if his team lost.

"We are at full strength and ready," Frnka said. "I haven't talked to anyone who thought Tulsa would win. Coach Alexander has himself a fine football team, and that's no secret, mister."

The game shapes up as a free scoring affair featuring a fancy forward passing duel between Eddie Prokop of the Wreckers and Tulsa's little Clyde LeForce. New Orleans bettors have made Tech an 8-to-5 favorite to trim the Oklahomans. The weather forecast for tomorrow was "partly cloudy and warmer."

Conditions Perfect For Sun Bowl Battle

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 31 (AP) — A promise of a fast turf, sunshine and moderate temperatures came today as made-to-order playing conditions for the vaunted ground game of the favored Southwestern of Texas Pirates and the aerial offensive of New Mexico university's Lobos when they meet in the ninth annual Sun Bowl football contest, New Year's day.

Coach Willis Barnes of the Lobos did not try to conceal his elation but he was cautious when it came to predictions.

"If mental attitude will win," he said, "we'll get no worse than a tie. My boys are ready. You are going to see as scrappy a team as ever played in the Sun Bowl."

Coach R. M. Medley of the Pirates was busy preparing his squad for a workout after their arrival here from Georgetown, Tex.

Norton Moans Loss Of Star

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 31 (AP)—It'll take more than New Year's Eve celebration to lift the spirits of Homor Norton.

"I put all my eggs in one basket—and the basket busted," said the Texas Aggies' football coach unhappily today. "When Marion Flanagan's knee started swelling after practice yesterday, I had to start planning from scratch again."

But make no mistake—the Texas Aggies will be in there pitching tomorrow in the 10th edition of Miami's Orange Bowl extravaganza. No one in the Aggie camp, and least of all the grey-thatched Norton, is conceding Louisiana state a yard of turf or a single point.

Re-injury of Flanagan's knee—originally hurt in the Texas game—indicated a toss-up, however.

Slender Red Burditt, 157-pound substitute wingback described by Norton as "strictly a spot player" was called up to take Flanagan's place.

"Where it'll really hurt is having to rely on a green kid for signals," said Norton. "Flanagan did our quarterbacking all season."

Louisiana State, meanwhile, continued to put its blue chips on red-headed Steve Van Buren.

Tarbox Shines Again As U. S. Army Airman

Five years ago today, Elmer Tarbox was playing football in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas with the Texas Tech Red Raiders. At that tmie he was being acclaimed as All-America, and surely one of the all time greats of Texas Tech.

Today, he is Major Elmer Tarbox, and at the Air Service Command base hospital at Patterson Field, Ohio, where he is being treated for wounds and tropical ailments contracted from 21 months of living "under pressure" in the China-Burma-India theater against the Japs.

Since that day five years ago when Tarbox scored the two Texas Tech touchdowns against the Galloping Gaels of St. Mary's, Tarbox has won the Silver Star, Purple Heart and Air Medal. Added to these feats is his record of 28 missions against the Japanese, an aggregate of 105 hours of combat flying and the first designing and installation of the "wobble gun" in the tail of a B-25 bomber.

It was on his 28th mission that Tarbox was shot through both legs by a Jap bullet and when his bomber, "Jap's Nightmare" was brought in safely it contained 89 bullet holes. For four and a half months, Tarbox stayed in a New Delhi hospital before being returned to the United States.

Tarbox was also a basketball and track star at Texas Tech. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Tarbox who now reside in Higgins, Texas.

Cook will enlist in the Marines next month. Bolles is awaiting a call to the Air Corps. Williams expects to enter the Army but wants to go to the University of Texas after the war. Odoms will enlist as an aviation cadet. Boyles expects a call to the armed services soon. Easter will enlist in the Navy upon graduation in June.

Walmsley will go to a pre-med school and leans toward Texas A. and M. where his brother graduated, but he also likes Texas and may go to an Eastern school.

Ramblers Cocky, Longhorns Determined At Cotton Bowl

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Dec. 31 (AP)—Cocky Randolph Field disputes mighty Texas tomorrow in the eighth annual Cotton Bowl game, laughing lustily at betting odds that make the Longhorns two-to-one favorites over the gridiron battlers of the Air Corps.

Despite the fact that Ralph Ellsworth, Texas' great running back, probably won't start the game, and the Longhorns are down to rock-bottom in tackle reserves, the Orange and White still was a seven-point choice as the teams moved into Dallas.

While Ellsworth has been pronounced physically fit to play, he will be handicapped by inactivity in a week's illness. Reserve tackle Ken Merritt didn't even make the trip in the face of seige of influenza. On the other hand, Randolph Field, only service team playing in a bowl game, was in top trim and boisterously confident of knocking off the Southwest Conference champions.

The game tomorrow—which director James H. Stewart expects to draw a crowd of 35,000 — matches the nation's No. 1 passing attack, engineered by All-America Glenn Dobbs, against the best defense against passes in the country.

Ideal weather was in prospect for the big battle with a large segment of the military due to be in the stands.

Victory Bowl Teams Set For First Game

ODESSA, Tex., Dec. 31 (AP)—The Fort Bliss Ack-Acks and Camp Barkeley Tankers went through work-outs on Fly field today as they closed training for their Victory Bowl battle on New Year's.

Coach Gus Steiner of Barkeley and Coach Nig McCarver of Fort Bliss pronounced their charges ready and eager for the tilt which is scheduled to attract a sell-out crowd of 10,000.

A military parade will be held just before game time with high-ranking Army officers selecting the most beautiful from seven girls to preside as queen.

The kickoff is set for 2:30 p. m.

Huskies, Trojans In Top Shape For Battle

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 31 (AP) Washington and Southern California were physically fit tonight and ready for their New Year's Rose Bowl battle that is to settle the Pacific Coast Conference football championship.

Still 2½-to-1 favorites, the heavy Huskies nevertheless will be clawing for their first victory in Pasadena. Two Rose Bowl defeats and a tie comprise the Washington record since it made its debut here in 1924. The Trojans, conversely, have won six times in as many appearances since 1923.

The two schools last met in 1942 in Seattle and fought to a scoreless tie. The Trojans, despite the loss of four stars to the armed forces, are a better club than the 1942 edition.

Washington was improved, too, and it has lost three men to the service, two of them standouts—Pete Susick at full and Jay Stoves at half.

Washington was the general choice for tomorrow for two very good reasons: it beat March Field, 27 to 7, and March Field gave Southern California its worst whipping in history, 35 to 0; Southern California, although unbeaten in college competition, is an erratic fumbler, and won some of its games in spite of loose ball handling.

West Favored Over East In Shrine Tilt

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31 (AP) Football players of the East and West, ranging from college freshmen to men in the armed forces, will clash here tomorrow in the 19th annual All Star charity game. The Western team, manned by older and more experienced payers, will line up as the favorite.

High Scoring Teams Feature Of Oil Bowl

HOUSTON, Dec. 31 (AP) —The mighty offensive machines of Arkansas A. and M. and Southwestern Louisiana Institute — their lineups studded with former Southwest Conference grid greats —collide here tomorrow in the first Oil Bowl game.

Thirteen of the 22 starters played at Southern Methodist, Rice or Arkansas university before assignment to Marine training units at the LaFayette, La., and Monticello, Ark., schools.

SLI relies on speed and passing with Alvin Dark, All-American of Louisiana State university, as the No. 1 runner and passer. A. and M. specializes in a power attack featuring Charlie Steed, bone-crushing fullback from Arkansas Tech.

The teams ignore all normal defensive tactics in their desire to score. SLI has tallied 148 points in five games for an average of 29.6. A. and M. has counted 185 in seven games for an average of 26.5.

It will be the second meeting of the teams. Their first game at Memphis ended in a 20-20 deadlock.

Alfalfa leaves contain twice as much protein, calcium, and phosphorus as the stems of the plant.

Mrs. John Lee Smith Bags 17 Point Deer

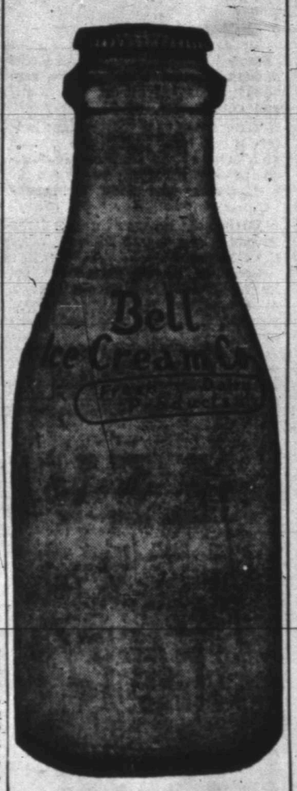

AUSTIN, Dec. 31 (AP) — Mrs. John Lee Smith, wife of the lieutenant governer, returned today from a South Texas hunt with the biggest deer bagged by a member of a state official's family this year.

The buck had 17 points.

The lieutenant-governor did not make the hunt.

"John Lee shoot a deer?" laughed Mrs Smith.

"Why, I've seen him feeding mice that I had caught in a trap."

The Right Of Criticism

FROM numerous sources—chiefly from among the politically "ins" and from administration drum beaters—have come coy hints lately which suggest their idea of an appropriate New Year's resolution for everyone.

It is their clear notion that it would be just ducky—as it would be for them—for everyone to resolve solemnly not to criticise anyone or anything during 1944. This would include the political "ins" who recommend a "political holiday" as the cure-all for the ills of disunity. No one would suggest, of course, that, in their advocacy of short, quiet and "dignified" political campaigns, the "ins" are swayed by thoughts of what might happen to them if approaching election contests are as rough and tumble as they are likely to be.

Even so, the suggestion that most of us could do less "griping" about inconsequentials doubtless is appropriate on this New Year's day. Certainly, there is a great deal of criticising. Undoubtedly some of it is unjust. Doubtless much of its is conceived in utter selfishness. Doubtless victory would be hastened if more of us would concentrate more on the contributions we might make to the winning of the war and devote less time to finding fault.

Yet this does not imply any obligation upon any patriotic citizen to remain silent when abuses, injustices and incompetencies become apparent. It does not mean that everyone should accept, supinely and without question or comment, the dictates of bureaucratic agencies which seem to have the notion that it is unpatriotic to criticise them even when they make mistakes. Their idea of unity would be an unquestioning obedience when they command.

Thus, most of us might well resolve to avoid the criticisms that stem from trivialities and personal inconveniences. But this sort of a resolution will not carry with it the obligation to pretend a conviction that Washington can do no wrong. On the contrary, the cause of victory will be served if public opinion continues to stand alert and ready to apply the lash which seeks to rid the war effort of incompetents and of those who abuse powers and responsibilities entrusted to them.

Possibly the best resolution along this line would be a solemn determination to make a better use of the right to criticise than many of us have been doing. It might be better for all of us if we would make a pointed effort to avoid using destructively this first weapon of democracy. But let no one persuade you that an appearance of harmony requires silence when mistakes and abuses demand that Americans speak out. Yours is the right of free speech. Continue to use it—but try to use it with justice and judgment.

Marshal Smuts' Suggestion

FIELD MARSHAL JAN SMUTS, the able and venerated premier of South Africa, dealt with a touchy subject the other day when he urged an immediate temporary framework of an international organization to enforce post-war peace and security.

Most people have been forced to the realization that there can be neither peace nor security in the future world unless criminal nations can be restrained by law-abiding nations in much the same manner that criminal individuals are restrained by law-abiding individuals now. Force must be used upon those nations which will not behave themselves voluntarily.

Still, an organization like that visioned by Marshal Smuts is beset with unimaginable difficulties. One difficulty that can be imagined is that people of the United States are likely to be extremely reluctant to pledge themselves to the preservation of the British empire in the enlarged form it is sure to take after victory. Yet the aged marshal visualizes a world alliance which would, among other things, guarantee to protect such powers as the British empire from all aggressions—which might be construed to mean cooperation in suppressing rebellions among peoples who might like to be free of the British yoke.

The British, of course, would like nothing better than an international guarantee of their empire's post-war territorial status quo. As owners of approximately one-fourth of the world's real estate, they are pretty well satisfied. But whether Americans can or will endorse any such pledge remains to be seen and, to say the least, appears extremely doubtful.

YOU may have observed that fact-finding commissions never listen to political speeches.

A Princeton professor says life will continue in its present state for another billion years. O, Death, where is thy sting?

A number of clean minds are that way because they are sterile.

The One Minute Sermon

But if any man be ignorant, let him be ignorant.

Wherefore, brethren, covert to prophesy, and forbid not to speak with tongues.

Let all things be done decently and in order.—I Corinthians 14; 38 through 40.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

INDIA NEW YEAR 155,521,972,849,014

The Hindo calendar is of an amazing antiquity. Its starting point is the divine beginning of Brahma, the first one of the Holy Triad (Brahma, Vishnu and Siva). Its unit is the Kalpa, equivalent to one day of Brahma's life (4,320,000,000 years). Brahma's allotted span of life is 100 years of 365 Kalpas each. The present epoch is the Kali Yuga and this is the Hindoo New Year 155,521,972,849,014.

Glider Girl

BY OREN ARNOLD

(Copyright, 1943, NEA Service, Inc.)

GORGEOUS LORAINE

CHAPTER XXV

The newspaper reporter was probing Pat for all the sidelights of the sky train trip. "Starting from Phoenix at 4 p. m., and heading out over Superstition Mountain. Is that right?"

"Yes," Pat said. The first glider leaves the train at Globe, Arizona, 100 miles away."

"But you do fly right over Superstition?"

"Sure. It's on the direct route."

"Aren't you afraid?"

"Goodness no! Sailplanes fly best over mountains, because of the thermals or up-currents common there."

"But Miss Stuart, I meant the—the history of deaths in Superstition," the reported smiled. "The lost gold mine up there has lured more than 20 people to mysterious deaths. A lot of storms originate up there, too."

"Sorry," she smiled back. "Can't work up any fear." Pat had to keep alert in order to remember she was Miss Stuart, in the public's mind.

"Okay, then. Eastern Girl Defies Superstition Jinx. I can write a few cracks about that."

"Surely. Have your fun. But please print this, too: this is a genuine test flight, or demonstration. To prove the feasibility of glider trains. Jimmy will—I mean, Captain Carr will pilot the towing airplane and he'll lead the train from city to city over the southwest, mostly over Arizona. It's an ideal place because the test will be severe."

"How so?"

"It covers such varied country, Captain Carr says. Flat arid land, with only cactus growing. Some more actually below sea level. Then rolling sand dunes. Next, low foothills. Then ranges of mountains made of red and purple rocks—not that the colors matter, I guess, but I saw them coming here from New York. And finally, over giant forests and mountain ranges that extend up to 12,000 feet altitude. You see? Every possible kind of air current ought to be encountered. More than any average trip to the eastern states would offer." Pat had penciled the route for him on a map.

"But Miss Stuart, there aren't half a dozen landing fields on that whole route! I'll bet on that."

She laughed gently. "Sailplanes don't need 'em."

"No?"

"No, really. That's one good thing about soaring and gliding."

"How do you mean?"

"I mean that a sailplane can land on a very small area. Pancake down on a school yard or city lot if need be. Not like a power plane."

"That's great business, Miss Stuart."

"Surely. That's why Globe, Arizona, was chosen for one stop, Jimmy says. It's a town in a gulch or canyon. Hardly any flat ground And the first plane to leave the sky train will be over Globe."

"And have to take its chances."

"Right."

"And Miss Stuart, you're the only girl to be on the train?"

"Yes," She smiled again. "I—I'm afraid the men pilots kind of resent me."

"Gosh, I wouldn't!" said the reporter, in frank admiration. Interviewing pretty "Loraine Stuart," whom they thought Pat to be, had been the reporters' main pleasure in covering this soaring carnival, anyway.

Morning papers of course had already carried Pat's picture and write-up as being the girl of the train. It added zest to the news stories thus to have a romance.

Handsome Captain Carr piloting the tow plane. His delicious looking little finance hooked on somewhere behind. In truth, America had pretty well fallen in love with Pat's pictures since she started that adventurous junket from New York. What persistently nagged at her was the fact of her post, her masquerade. Its being necessary made it no less distasteful.

The real Loraine Stuart may or may not have seen the morning papers, however. She wouldn't have cared; she felt that she had matters absolutely under control once more. Jim Carr had made love to her right in the presence of that little snip! Jim had allowed her to announce their wedding plans, for tomorrow noon. So, of course she, the real Loraine, could "take over" now, about as she pleased.

Loraine gave that pleasure some thought. Jimmy had to leave her right after lunch, of course, as both he and Pat Friday were swamped with last-minute preparations for the sky train. But Loraine sat in a luxurious swing on the cafe terrace and sipped drinks and enjoyed smoking. She could look out over the great flying field. Tomorrow noon, she thought again, they would be married.

At 2 o'clock she took a taxi back to her hotel, re-dressed herself rather gorgeously in flying togs, including a cute new helmet she had purchased. It was more ornamental than useful. It did just the right things to Loraine's blond curls. The whole outfit, in fact, was sporty, smart; it gave her lovey figure full emphasis, so that when she came back to Sky Harbor people inevitably turned to admire.

That was at a quarter of four—no being late for Loraine this time! There was a feel of excitement, a tension in the very air. Thousands of spectators had gathered. Radio men were putting the show on national chains. Newsreel men were scurrying here and there. Loraine's entry was quiet, unassuming, but definite. She bluffed past the guard lines and started directly toward the group nearest the train of sailplanes. Ed Bryan, one of the pilots, stood there with the other pilots. So did Pat Friday, Jimmy Carr, a dozen or so officials, committeemen, reporters and such As Loraine approached, she heard Pat Friday speak rather vehemently.

"All right, what if I am a 'mere' woman?" Pat was demanding of the men pilots. "Women are as good as men. But if you insist on my taking the tail-end plane, I will."

"Now, please," some man said. "We just don't want anything to happen to you, is all. You take the tenth plane so you can cut loose first and face less danger, see?"

Pat didn't smile, but she woudn't argue any more. She ddin't want to make a scene. Then she turned and saw Loraine Stuart approaching.

"Jimmy!" she breathed. "Ed! Look!"

A reporter discovered gorgeous Loraine at tht moment, too. He sang out, "Gosh, is this lady one of your pilots, too, Captain Carr?"

Loraine herself answered, a bit disdainfully. "Do I look as if I were dressed for a dance?"

Irving Berlin Given Medal By Magazine

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 31 (AP)—Song Writer Irving Berlin, the American Hebrew magazine announced today, has been named recipient of its 1943 medal for the promotion of better understanding between Christian and Jew in America.

The medal was awarded last year to Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican presidential candidate, and in 1941 to Secretary of State Hull.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

TODAY is Christmas. I had intended to wish you all a Merry Christmas, but I am afraid that Christmas this year won't have much merriment in store for most of us.

A happy Christmas, a Christmas full of hope, a cheerful Christmas, yes.

But merriment is not quite appropriate when young boys who have had so few Merry Christmases of their own have died for you and me, when others having their Christmas on hospital cots or knee-deep in muddy fox-holes.

Christmas has long ceased to be just a religious holiday belonging to one creed and one race.

It has become the fruition of a year of labor and life, the harvest, so to speak, of 12 preceding months of sowing and cultivating.

This year we have grown a different crop from other years.

We have grown bombs and bullets, ships and planes so that one of these days in the not too distant future we may reap victory and peace.

But we have grown more than arms and ammunition.

We have grown character and patriotism. We have grown in our understanding of life and in our concept of values.

We have pulled out the weeds of selfishness and waste, of bigotry and bias. We have learned to rely on each other rather than ourselves alone, we have gained a new sense of duty and sacrifice.

Not one of us who is worthy to be an American will fail to be a better human being for the experience of this catastrophe.

WE MAY thank God on our bended knees that He has spared us the horrors of invasion, that He has left our homes unmarred and our bodies whole.

We may thank Him that He has given us sons and husbands and brothers and friends who have gone willingly overseas to be the bulwark of our own safety and salvation.

No, it may not be a Merry Christmas this year.

But it will truly be the Holiest Christmas we have ever known.

Let it be the dawn of a new life to us, a life of devotion, of tolerance, of duty, of understanding and peace.

That is my Christmas wish to you.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has chosen an entirely new set of managers to be ready for the fourth term drama should he decide that it is propitious for him to make another attempt. He will rely on more solid and practical scene shifters than those who road-showed with him in the original but now stranded New Deal cast.

Just as he has turned his back on the crusade he started for internal social and economic reforms, preferring to be known as the "Win the War" President, so he intends to repudiate the band which has been associated in the public mind with his domestic experiments.

Amateurs who will be discarded or muffled include Harry Hopkins, David K. Niles of the Boston Ford Hall Forum and radical soapboxes, Vice President Henry A. Wallace, Justice Felix Frankfurter and Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes. These individuals represent the remnants of the clique which exercised the greatest influence on FDR during his formative years in the White House.

AMBITIONS: These political unknowns spearheaded the New Deal through three successful campaigns. They believe in taxing and spending, with greater emphasis on the spending. Their theories can now be abandoned because war expenditures of 100 billion dollars a year make them look like pikers.

Furthermore, not a single man among them is a regular; they are not dues-paying brothers in the partisan lodge. They are anathemas to James A. Farley as they are to Senators Harry Byrd of Virginia or Tom Connally of Texas. They are men without a party.

It took FDR a long time to realize—or sense—that they were a drag on him. His tardiness in seeing them as the liabilities they are was due to the fact that their liberal ideas had enabled him to win the presidential election three times.

Now he believes that they have outlived their usefulness as vote-getters. Having junked his original domestic program, he will push them aside in the same way that he once brushed off such figures as Al Smith, John Nance Garner, Hugh Johnson, Jim Farley, Sumner Welles, "Big Bill" Knudsen, Ray Moley and many others who seemed to challenge or hinder his plans and ambitions.

BOSS: The new batch of fourth term manipulators has nothing in common with the old faction. There is hardly a New Dealer, brain truster or do-gooder among the bunch. They are, for the most part, hardheaded and substantial citizens.

They include Leo T. Crowley, banker and public utility magnate, and head of the Foreign Economic administration office; Jonathan Daniels, a North Carolinian and son of the famous Josephus, Raleigh publisher and former Secretary of the Navy; Ambros O'Connell, the able and effective vice chairman of the Democratic National committee; and Chairman Frank C. Walker. Organization men, and personable, they are not likely to repeat mistakes made by the Hopkins-Niles-Frankfurter group.

The labor bloc will be wooed by Sidney Hillman as chairman of the CIO's Committee for Political Action. He commands a tremendous potential vote if he can swing it. But since he is hated by William Green of the AFL and by John L. Lewis of the UMW he will do his stuff in the background. He will have no official connection with the White House coterie, at least not in the early stages of the campaign.

The rural sector has been assigned to James G. Patton, head of the radical Farmers' Union. Big boss in this field, however, will be Claude A. Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture. A real dirt farmer and not a star-gazer like his predecessor, the vice president, this hog-raising Hoosier has more agricultural followers than the VP ever had.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

TO find your bearings regarding the war, think of it—the way the generals do—in these simple terms: 1943 was the year of preparation; 1944 will be the year of decisive action, affecting every family far more deeply than anything that has happened since Pearl Harbor.

The last 12 months were marked by the unfurling of many Army-Navy "E" pennants. The automotive industry increased the value of its output 100 per cent above the figure for its total civilian products in 1941, the peacetime peak.

Similar proud records were attained in agriculture, aircraft, railroads and steel. Unfortunately, as production leveled off, the erroneous conclusion arose that reconversion from swords to plowshares must be just around the corner and that it was safe to indulge in partisan knifing, labor grabs and business as usual.

What actually lies ahead?

A brief review of the military situation—as outlined by top flight officers— gives a background on which to project the future. We passed through two periods: In the first, our efforts were devoted to "plugging the line"; in the second, to capturing the enemy's outer bases.

LEAP: Our initial objective was to keep our Allies on their feet until we arrived on the battlefield.

We purposely robbed our cantonments of self-propelled guns, trucks and planes to stop the gap for the British in Africa and the Russians in the Caucasus and on the steppes. We stripped our own Army because we knew our factory workers would deliver the goods on time.

Every German or Jap who was hit by a bullet made in Detroit and fired by an Anzac, Cossack or Tommie was one less Axis soldier left to shoot at an American boy. "Munitions in the form of lend-lease," declares Lt. Gen. McNarney, "Were truly our first offensive weapons."

Our second step was to fight for toeholds.

From fields wrested from the Nips, General MacArthur is driving towards Rabaul. From the runways of Foggia, General Clark's planes are striking at the Balkans and the Reich, not only rubbing out military targets from Rumania to the Spanish border but also pinning down Reichswehr defensive units.

In the process of gaining supremacy in the Mediterranean, we have had several dress rehearsals of amphibious expeditions—shakedowns for raw recruits and green commanders which will prove to be valuable experiences when two million men leap into the surf off France or Holland.

FORTS: The curtain is being raised on the year of decisive action. We hold the initiative.

Successes of the past twelvemonth have opened several alternative routes to Germany. We can make feints, and in case the campaign in France becomes stalled we can take one of the detours—as the Allies did at Salonika in 1918 and thereby shortened the war.

Let no one be deceived about the toughness of the job ahead. It will be a Tarawa magnified 100 times.

We often overlook that the Russians have been "landed" on their "beachhead" since June 1941. Their push through the flat country from the Volga to the Dnieper represents the achievement of four million hard-boiled veterans—aided by lend-lease supplies and by ordnance from their own arsenals—battling without intermission for long months and suffering several hundred thousand casualties. Yet they are still many miles from Berlin.

We must cross an ocean, a channel, a mine field, a fortified shore, a swamp, a series of rivers and mountains, and a system of forts extending from the Bay of Biscay to the Rhine which engineers have been strengthening for three years.

"EVERY person should make a definite effort to live to be 100," declares a physician. This advice doesn't interest us. Too many people have died trying to do this.

On Being A REAL PERSON

BY DR. HARRY EMERSON FOSDICK

Love Of Danger One Of Strongest Motives In Man

WHILE much of our fear is imaginary and ridiculous, the fear we find ourselves, and the situation so hazardous that no one can doubt its peril. In that case we are commonly defeated by the fallacy that dangerous situations are necessarily undesirable; whereas the fact is that even a fearful danger if it be frankly and openly faced can provide one of the most stimulating experiences in life.

At first sight our predicament may be terrifying and our initial response consternation. Moreover, there may be ample justification for dismay. Life can be cruel and terrible, and anyone who expects to escape that fact is asking for a life at sea without storms. Emerson even said that "He has not learned the lesson of life who does not every day surmount a fear." One major secret of doing that is to feel the stimulus of hazardous occasions rather than the dread.

Love of danger is one of the strongest motives in man. When life does not by itself present men with enough hazard, they go out looking for it. They seek it even in their sports. Mankind from its earliest beginnings was nurtured on danger and is unhappy without it.

Only so can such enterprises be explained as trying to climb Mount Everest or to reach the Poles. Graham Wallas, thinking of the major explorers of the race, finds in the love of danger one of their strongest motives: "Perhaps, indeed, it is this desire for Fear rather than the impulse of Curiosity which has been the most important single cause of those dangerous journeys."

We have not dealt adequately wth the problem of eliminating war until in addition to all the social factors we take into account the strong support war has in man's psychology. War's terrors are hideous, but at the same time its dangers are attractive.

General Robert E. Lee said in the midst of one of his bloodiest battles. "It is well that war is so terrible—we should grow too fond of it!" The persistent need of a "moral equivalent of war" springs from the fact that enterprises attractively dangerous, like war but minus war's insane destructiveness, are a sine qua non of healthy human life.

MANY find this in risky researches and explorations, in missionary adventures, in thinking daring thoughts, in pioneering new and unaccepted fields, in championing unpopular causes, or in compelling themselves habitually in daily life to do things they are afraid of. Thus a character n a modern novel says: "If I knew anything, any least little thing, I war afraid of I'd go right off and do it—do it good and hard."

When life faces us with danger, therefore, let us make the most of it! If we get out of it only or mainly fearfulness and anxiety, that is our doing. Stimulus also is waiting there to be appropriated if we will.

To stand up to a hazardous situation, to refuse suppression and subterfuge in dealing with it, to face it objectively as a seaman does a tempest, to tune in not so much on its terror as on its challenge, to let it call out in us not our fearfulness but our love of battle, is a healthy, inspiring experience.

So Voltaire said: "This world is warfare; I love to carry it on, it puts life into me." And so one humble woman, coming out from a second painful operation on her eyes under local anaesthesia only, knowing that she would never see again, called her two sons to her and said: "Now I'll show you how to take trouble. How you take it is the only thng about it that's important."

TUESDAY: Guilty fears.

So They Say---

WITHOUT American production the United Nations could never have won the war.—Josef Stalin.

THE thing the boys can't understand are these strikes. How in the world can people strike in a situation such as we have today? —Rev. Dr. William B. Pugh, Army-Navy chaplain, commission chairman.

WE must not allow ourselves the luxury of believing that the war is already won. The tough part of the war lies ahead.—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York.

THE American Federation of Labor will oppose with all its power any attempt to enslave the workers of Germany or any other country when victory is won.—William Green.

ALTHOUGH extremely busy, Berliners nevertheless always find time to stand gaping when an occasion arises. The blowing up of bombed houses is attracting crowds because the sight of bursting walls is always worth seeing. —German broadcast.

STOCKS TURN IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, Dec. 31 (AP) — The stock market turned a bit irregular today, as it closed the books on 1943, but there was little real bearishness in evidence as statisticians added up the 12 months' results—and found they were the best in five years.

Omnibus Corp. got up a point to a new year's peak. Modest improvement was retained by American Telephone, Woolworth, Oliver Farm, Sperry, American Can, Schenley, Anaconda and Chesapeake and Ohio. American Distilling "Plain" ended down ½ and "Stampeded" up ¼. Losers of as much as a point or so included Bethlehem, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Texas Co., Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Hercules Motors, Goodrich and Johns-Manville.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .1 of a point at 49.6, and for the entire year showed a net gain of 8 points. The composite stood at 41.6 at the close of Dec. 31, 1942. It touched its highest mark for the current year at 53.3 on July 14 and a low of 41.7 on Jan. 1. Over the 12 months' stretch the industrial average was up 9.5 points, the rails 4.9 and the utilities, 8.3.

On the offside in an uneven curb were American Cynanamid "B," E. W. Bliss, and Cities Service. Plus signs were held by Aluminum of America, Brown-Forman Distillers and Cuban Atlantic Sugar.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Dec. 31 (AP)—Cotton futures closed from 35 to 60 cents a bale lower today.

Reports of substantial Russian war gains contributed to the unsettling effect and encouraged some selling, trade circles report.

Support came from mill price fixing, but such trade buying was considerably lighter than on Thursday.

German Booster

would split—hence that the overrun countries would have everything to gain by holding on for that eventuality.

When it became obvious that such a severance would never develop, the propaganda line shifted to the theme that Russia would desert her Allies.

Marshal Stalin's appearance at Tehran and his participation in that conference dissipated that idea, and hope was growing—indeed, one source asserted that the hope amounted to confident expectation — that an uprising against the German gestapo and German-dominated governments in the Balkans could come in February.

Now Strike Confusion

Then, this source said, the railway strike threatened, leading to the Army's being ordered to take over the railroads, and providing the third propaganda line.

It was added:

The mere statement in those Balkan countries that "the Army has had to take over the American railroads and the steel workers may strike" served to raise new doubts of early Allied victory and strengthen the arguments of all holding such conviction that if they hung on with the Germans a little longer chaos in the United States would make it possible for them to get more liberal treatment at the peace table.

The question of whether the strategic situation had been so presented to railway and steel union leaders prior to the current developments in their fields, brought the reply that it was not clear that such a point had been made.

Main Problem Now

The principal emphasis seems to have been placed on the plea that the railroads must be kept running to avoid retarding the movement of war-vital materiel.

That isn't the problem, it was asserted — the railroads will be kept running all right.

The problem is how to counteract the propaganda line that chaos is at hand in the United States and get the United States to realize that delay in the explosion which our propaganda is trying to promote abroad means delay in final victory and the loss of uncounted American lives that the early realization of that explosion could save.

Ten More Negroes Are Arrested Here

Lubbock police Friday night continued to "crack down' on loitering negroes at honky-tonks in the negro district of the city.

Nine men and one woman had been picked up by 10 o'clock for questioning.

"Negroes who cannot prove to us that they have jobs will be booked for vagrancy or health inspection," said night Chief of Police S. O. Boyd.

Twelve negro women arrested in the negro section Thursday night are to be "run through a venereal clinic," Don Reeder, police chief, indicated Friday.

One official related that one recent night five negro women who were taken into custody at one honky-tonk were found to have a venereal disease.

Whitaker Funeral Set Here This Afternoon

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Tabernacle Baptist church with Ben Johnson, pastor, officiating, for Mrs. Hugh W. Whitaker, 20, who was killed instantly Thursday night when the car in which she, her husband and their three children were riding rammed the rear end of a loaded grain truck near the Cotton club on Slaton highway. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery with Rix Funeral home directing.

Condition of Whitaker, 25, civilian worker at South Plains Army Air field, and Ronald Whitaker, seven months old son, was reported as being "unchanged" by attendants at Lubbock General hospital Friday night.

Japs Paying Dearly For China Conquest

CHUNGKING, Dec. 31 (AP) — During 1943 Japanese troops lost 180,000 men killed or wounded in the fighting in China and many of Japan's crack Army units have been decimated, Gen. Hoying Chin, Chinese minister of war, said today.

He declared that Japan had maintained 39 divisions in Chinese war areas, including the borders of Burma, Thailand and Indo-China, and that the enemy was becoming impoverished from the effort.

Reds Plunge On

day was Ahamraevka, 13 miles west of below Tserkov, a rail town south of Kiev toward which one Russian column was looping back.

Nazi Field Marshal Gen. Fritz von Mannstein struck back with counterattacks with the remnants of his Army of 300,000 in a desperate effort to reform his lines and restore order but he could not stop the Russians.

The Germans made no effort to hide the gravity of their plight.

"In view of the great numerical superiority of the Soviet forces," frankly admitted the Nazi radio commentator Col. Ernest von Hammer, "German troops were compelled to restrict their activities to a mobile warfare in which difficult and dangerous situations repeatedly occurred.

Revised Budget Given Approval

It was announced Friday afternoon that Lubbock county in 1943 operated under approximately $72,800 less than approved budget expenditures had called for. A revised budget for the year was approved by Lubbock county commissioners court.

The estimated budget, as approved earlier for the year, was $390,015.72, said J. Y. Boyd, county auditor, who submitted to the court this morning the actual expenditures.

Revision Is Required

Revision of the budget is required for purpose of putting the county's books in shape before the beginning of the new year. It is made necessary because, at the beginning of the year, it cannot be foreseen what funds at the end of the year will have balances, what ones will overdraw.

Boyd's figures show that only one-half the total monetary transfers to the city-county charity fund in 1943 had been made, as compared with those of the year before, mirroring the increase in employment. It also showed the general fund and road and bridge funds of the four commissioners precincts had saved money because practically no new equipment could be bought in a year where such things as typewriters, adding machines and road machinery were "frozen."

The budget had anticipated the continued freeze, but had fashioned its figures to be prepared for "keeping the county's various departments at a peak of efficiency in case the freeze orders should have been revoked."

All commissioners were present.

IT IS TRUE ECONOMY to get value whatever amount is spent.

Public Welcome At Communion Service

In observance of the New Year annual communion will be held in the First Presbyterian church at 10 o'clock this morning with an invitation extended to the entire community to participate, according to Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor.

Usual business will be at an almost complete standstill today Banks, First Federal Savings and Loan association, all official offices and practically all business establishments, including most of the food stores, will be closed throughout the day.

will close at the usual times this afternoon or tonight.

At the postoffice, the general delivery window will be open from 11 a. m. until 1 p. m. and the delivery of Christmas packages will continue. Postmaster Amos Howard reported that large numbers of packages still are arriving. One complete carload came in Thursday, mostly from southern points. If you still are looking for Christmas packages, probabilities are they still are on the way, the postmaster said.

Near-perfect weather is in prospect for the holiday. The temperature is likely to go slightly below freezing in Lubbock tonight, but "fair and warmer" is the forecast for Saturday.

They are Barrett Penney, Ben Mansker, T. L. Holt and Newton Stokes. County Judge G. V. Pardue presided.

Dickey Named Head Of Optimist Club

In an annual election of officers at the American Business club Friday noon in Hilton hotel, J. Ray Dickey, automobile dealer who served as president of the ABC a decade ago, again was elected to head that group in 1944.

Dr. William M. Cauley was named first vice president; Troy Dale, second vice president; W. D. McCarty, secretary-treasurer, and Morris Cox, Paul Willis, J. A. Fortenberry and Bert Pinson to the board of governers. Dickey was elected president over Jimmy Wilson. Lt. Douglas Adams, club member who recently returned from North Africa, answered questions regarding his experiences in Tunisia, the islands campaign and Italy. He is a bombardier on a medium bomber, a Martin Marauder.

VETERAN TO RETIRE

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 31 (AP) One of the oldest noncommissioned officers in the Army, M.-Sgt. Solomon Schneider, 66, of San Diego, Calif., returns to civilian life today with 27 years' Army service represented in the "hash marks' on his sleeve.

Arrant Funeral Plans Here Not Complete

Funerl arrangements for Mrs. Mary Arrant, 69, who was found dead Friday morning on the bedroom floor of her residence at 106 Temple avenue, had not been completed last night pending arrival of relatives from California.

The body was found by workmen who had been employed by Mrs. Arrant's son, Walker Arrant, of Shallowater, to redecorate the house. Walter Davies, justice of the peace and coroner, said following an inquest that he would probably return a verdict of death from natural causes.

Mrs. Arrant had been living with the Shallowater son about a year before returning recently to her home here. Justice Davies said it was indicated that she had gotten out of bed during the night, and suffered a heart attack.

Survivors include: Two other sons, Lloyd of Ropes and Arvel of Meadow; and three daughters, Mrs. Eula Wynn of Shallowater, Mrs. Myrle Guthrie of Pettit, and Mrs. Athlene Shelton of Lubbock.

WEDDING TRIP FUTILE

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 31 (AP)—Joanne Ryan came west from Parkland, Pa., to marry Aviation Cadet George H. Fischer, Jr., 22, of Morrisville, Pa. But before he could get sufficient leave from his training duties, Luke Field reported him missing on a routine flight. He disappeared Dec. 20.

Russians Celebrate Gay New Year's Eve

MOSCOW, Dec. 31 (AP)— The people of the Soviet union celebrated tonight their greatest, happiest New Year's eve in the history of the war.

News is pouring in from the front on how Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's first Ukrainian army has defeated German troops under the German Army's current great failure, Field Marshal Gen. Fritz von Mannstein.

Already there is talk of what troops will be first to reach the borders. Everywhere there is hope that the war soon will be over. The press, radio and the people are confident that the Soviet union's allies, the United States and Great Britain, will begin a western invasion in 1944 and that there is a chance of the war being concluded.

There is hardly a family in Moscow tonight that does not have a New Year's tree or at least a bottle of Vodka.

Churches held services and crowds began gathering for these early in the day.

HAPPY NEW YEAR TO YOU!

Old father time has sycle sharp
To do some extra trimming
Nineteen forty three he parked
To make a new beginning

"It's been easy all these years
To make the calendar new
In forty four I'll blot out fears
And win this war for you"

"I'm going in that harvest field
Where axes are so thick
That every time this sythe I yield
You'll see my army trick."

"Forty four will make me young
And while I'm new and stout
I'm sure the battle will be won
Before FORTY FOUR is out."
