f C and Farmers ar Farm Leader Banquet Thurs.

pproximately 200 farmers and ness men heard Tyrus R. Timm ollege Station at the quarterly uet of the Wellington Cham- f Commerce last Thursday as iscussed the mutual interests armers and businessmen in an cultural community.

pointing out why business should take an active interest e welfare of the farmer and men, Mr. Timm said: "You a great deal about how well he farmer is today, and that ie; but it is my opinion that n't stand a depression as long e did after the first world " his is due to the commercial- on of the farming business. It s more cash to operate spec- ed farming, which is what the rity are doing now. They can uce more this way and it is as long as the price stays ove the cost of production but t also means that the farmer can get in trouble quicker. When he runs short he has to ask for credit and in turn the businessman serving him has to ask somebody else for credit."

Continuing his contrast of the difference in farming methods in the last 30 years he said: "After the first World War there was no use of insecticides or fertilizer. There was no one selling mixed feeds but the specializer farmer found that it was more profitable to have somebody mix it for them which provided additional business for the town.

"Electric lights are here to stay on the farm, just as is Butane and the modern farm machinery, all of which add to the business of the town; but there is no comparison in the cost of operation to the farmer. We must not make the mistake of fooling ourselves about the fine situation on the farm.

Mr. Timm urge the formation of an active committee of the Chamber of Commerce to assist the Youth Program Farm Bureau and that it be kept flexible in order to help in matters that needed the most attention.

As topics for potential study he listed the soil, insects and diseases,

Dukes, Mobeetie Battle for Second Place July 4th

There will be plenty of fireworks at Marian Airpark, Sunday afternoon, July 4th, when the Dukes of Wellington challenge the Mobeetie nine for second place position in the Red River Valley League in a game starting at 3 o'clock.

Mobeetie now leads the Dukes with a record of eight games won and two games lost as compared with the Dukes' seven won and three lost.

In recent games the Dukes have been playing inspired ball, and they will go into Sunday's game with a determination to revenge the first half league defeat that Mobeetie won on Wellington errors.

On the other hand, the Mobeetie nine isn't expected to give up their second place position without a fierce battle. The fans are eagerly anticipating this will be one of the outstanding games of the season.

Other standings in league play should not be greatly changed after Sunday's games. Paducah and Childress should have a scrappy time of it as the Cats strive to steal Paducah's sixth place position, but Mangum will be safe playing the tenth place Turkey nine and Memphis is expected to defeat fourth-place Kirkland without too much trouble.

League standings:

Team	W	L
Memphis	10	0
Mobeetie	8	2
Wellington	7	3
Kirkland	6	4
Mangum	6	4
Paducah	2	8
Childress	1	9
Turkey	0	10

WASHED-OUT DAM ON BUMPAS FARM

Rains of more than eight inches falling within four hours in the Seale community Sunday night, June 20, put more pressure in this dam on the Guy Bumpas farm than it could withstand. Originally, the earthen structure was straight across from the two high points at either side. The picture, taken below the dam, gives some idea of the land washed up by the force of the rushing water. The dam formerly backed up one of the best farm ponds in that section of the country. —Photo by Cooper Studio

Spray Entire City With DDT Fog This Week As Polio Preventative

The entire city of Wellington will be sprayed with a 5 per cent DDT fog this week as a polio preventative measure as well as to keep down other types of diseases, it was announced by city officials Tuesday morning.

This spraying is being done through the courtesy of the City of Pampa and in co-operation with the city officials here. All streets and alleys will be sprayed with the DDT fog, although the exact date that Ray Salmon of the Pampa City Health Department will bring the spraying machine here is not yet set.

All proprietors of business and professional establishments as well as home owners are requested to leave windows and doors open as the spray is harmless from all angles and if not allowed to penetrate into all buildings the purpose of the spray will be defeated.

Approximately four of five hours is expected to complete the job of spraying all streets and alleys in Wellington, giving complete coverage to the area within the city.

In explaining the spraying, Mr. Salmon said that the DDT and Le-

Identify Man Found Dead As Joe Abner, Transient

A man appearing to be about 76 years of age who was found dead under the M-K-T railroad water tower in Wellington Sunday afternoon, June 27, has been identified as Joe Abner, a transient, who spent the winter in Wichita Falls.

The body was found at 4:00 p.m. by Phillips Simmons, 11-year-old Wellington youth. He notified a cab company, who called in Elmer Jones, city marshall.

The identification was made Wednesday morning by Hammit Vance, sheriff of Wichita County, who called in an identification, Roy Reeves, deputy sheriff, said. The man is originally from Illinois and is of Irish descent, Mr. Vance told local officers. He left Wichita Falls last week for Grandfield, Okla., and went from there to Hollis. Mr. Vance checked his train connections to Hollis. It was known in Wichita that Joe Abner suffered from heart disease.

Mr. Jones said that the man had been in Wellington about a week. He was five feet, three inches in height and weighed approximately 120 pounds. He had grey hair and was slightly bald, had a moustace, blue eyes and dark complexion. There was a mole on his right shoulder blade. He had a collection of cooking utensils and a bed roll with him. There were no marks of violence.

Barjenbruch Opens Helpy Self Garage

Help-yourself mechanical service has been introduced for the first time here, with the removal of Doc Barjenbruch's Garage to a new location and the installation of considerable new equipment, the owner announced Monday, June 28.

The business is now located in the building formerly occupied by the D&M Farm Machinery and is operating as the Helpy Self Garage, Mr. Barjenbruch said.

In announcing his new plan, Mr. Barjenbruch explained that there are many mechanically minded men who would like to repair their own cars, trucks or tractors if they had the tools. One half of the building is now divided into stalls where any individual can do his own work for a small rental charge. Tools are available for personal use, and the advise of an expert mechanic

Lindsey Bantam Gets Gold Medal

A White Crested Black Polish bantam cockerel which he exhibited in the American Bantam Association National Meet at Boston, Mass., from January 20 to 24, brought V. H. Lindsey a gold medal Tuesday, June 29.

The awards came as a surprise to Mr. Lindsey, but it held a touch of irony. The little cockerel that won the medal died Saturday.

"I don't have any idea what was the matter with him unless he just got too hot," Mr. Lindsey commented. "I sure hated to lose the little fellow, for he was a good one."

Bantam raisers from over the entire United States had entries in the Boston Show, but Mr. Lindsey's bird was one out of only 17 that merited the gold medal.

Rates for Hauling Stock Set by RRC

Rates charged for hauling livestock, livestock feedstuffs and farm machinery have been set by the Railroad Commission, three Wellington haulers point out in an advertisement in this issue of The Wellington Leader. This announcement followed a recent ruling by the attorney general on the matter.

Co-operating in bringing this to the attention of the public through the advertisement are Cudd Brothers, Earl Epps and Denny Judd.

Previously rates were set on Class A haulers, furniture haulers and oilfield haulers, but this is the first time fees charged by livestock transporters have been governed by the Railroad Commission. Some of the rates are higher, some lower, and some remain practically unchanged, the local truckers point out.

Norwood Rodeo July 5 to Draw Crowd From Wide Area

The rodeo will be the same, the fun will be the same, although the location is different. Last year it was the Fourth of July Rodeo and Picnic at Abra. This year it's at Samnorwood.

Due to Independence Day falling on Sunday this year, the Rodeo and picnic will be held Monday, July 5, and the new location will be the Samnorwood Rodeo Association grounds at Samnorwood.

While the full program has not been announced, the event will follow closely those of rodeos held at Abra for more than 15 years, and it has been described by the committee in charge as an "old country boys rodeo."

One of the features will be a candidate speaking. It was announced Tuesday that Byron Singleton, Amarillo attorney, will speak at 10 o'clock in the morning in behalf of the candidacy of Lyndon Johnson for United States Senator. Congressman Johnson is now touring the south plains area in his helicopter and will stop at various points. He wil arrive in this area later.

The traditional riding and roping events will be featured in the afternoon.

A basket dinner will be served at noon.

There will be no charge for attending the rodeo.

Members of the committee in charge of arrangements are Barney Walker, W. R. Breeding, Lloyd Bullock, John Oldham, Bill Knoll, Cecil Brown and Earl Brashear.

Final Rites Held For J. A. Mahan Thursday Afternoon

J. A. Mahan, 87, who knew and loved Collingsworth County for 60 years, was laid to rest Thursday afternoon, June 24. His death came quietly Wednesday morning, June 23, just before 1 o'clock at his home in Wellington.

His life here had spanned the entire time that Collingsworth County has been a settled area. He came two years before the county was organized, and when there was only one house in the Fresno community, where he chose a farm for the home of his family.

His death followed a period of ill health that had extended over several years. On June 10 he suffered a stroke, and from that time his condition continued to grow weaker.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist Church, of which he had been a staunch supporter for many years, with the Rev. Noel Bryant, pastor, in charge. Gathering to pay final tribute were the

Marian Airpark Swimming Pool Opens Saturday

The swimming pool at Marian Airpark will open Saturday, July 3, John Lee, recreation director for the city, said Wednesday shortly before The Leader went to press.

This is the climax to years of work on the part of many local citizens to secure a swimming pool for Wellington. It is likewise the completion of one of the major projects in the city's Post War Improvement program, built by city officials in spite of material shortages and the high cost of both material and labor.

People of the entire area are invited to attend the opening.

Swimming lessons for individuals will begin next week, Mr. Lee said.

Everyone coming to the pool to swim should bring his own bathing suit and towel, Mr. Lee said.

Officers of the American Legion for the coming year will be elected in a business meeting to be held Thursday evening, July 1, at the Legion Hall, beginning at 8:00 p.m.

Eli Wolf has served as commander during the last year, while Bobo Castlebery is vice-commander; Lowell Wells, finance chairman; and Dewey Ellis, adjutant.

All members are urged to be present, since this is considered one of the most important business meetings of the year.

LOCO STORM DAMAGE

These scenes were taken at Loco after twisting wind that lasted only a minute Monday night, June 21, wrecked two buildings and damaged others. At top is what remains of a Baptist Church, unused for several years. The top was set down by the floor and lumber from the walls scattered. Several seats at the extreme left were undamaged. A section from the school bus barn is seen in the lower picture. The building was lifted off the busses, which were unharmed. —Staff Photo by Porter

Amarillo Firm Submits Low Bid Of $102,776

Contract for construction of the Wellington to Rolla farm to market road was let Tuesday, June 22, to Bell, Braden, Barker & Gilven, Inc., of Amarillo, it was announced the following day by the State Highway Department at Austin.

The bid of the Amarillo construction firm was for $102,776.

This road has been designated as FM No. 338.

The contract calls for 7.8 miles of grading, drainage structures, flexible base and asphalt surface treatment from Wellington to Rolla.

Although no date has been announced for the beginning of work, Clyde Drake, resident engineer for the highway department, said that all preliminary details would probably be wound up in about 15 days and work would probably begin shortly thereafter.

This road is the second of four farm to market roads designated by the State Highway Department for Collingsworth County's Post War road project. The first of these was the farm to market road from Wellington to Dodson. The other two are north of Salt Fork River, one extending from Lutie to Samnorwood and Dozier, and the other from Lutie east to Needwood school.

The Wellington-Rolla road will be routed from Wellington west three miles, then southward to Buck Creek, continuing in a southward direction through the J. H. Loving and C. L. Harrison farms for about a mile until it reaches the present Rolla road, then westward into that community.

Barring unforeseen difficulties, it is expected that the road will be completed in time for farmers to use in hauling their crops over this fall.

The Collingsworth County road contract was but one of 43 contracts let by the state highway department on June 22, totaling $6,790,950.

Only one other road contract was let in this part of the state. This was in Randall County, on Highway 87, calling for 15.9 miles of widening roadway, structures, base and double asphalt surface treatment from Canyon to the Swisher County line. This also went to Bell, Braden, Barker and Gilven, who bid $210,687.

United Gas Ads Will Highlight Texas Resources

The industrial opportunities of West Texas and its rich resources will be spotlighted by United Gas through an advertisement to appear during July and August in four national publications.

With the goal of attracting new industries to already industrially progressive West Texas, the advertisement will invite inquiries to either the United Gas industrial department, or to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Abilene. It will supplement institutional advertising United Gas carries in local newspapers throughout the Texas counties it serves.

One of three advertisements featuring the industrial advantages of Texas, that on West Texas points out that the areas have these raw materials, virtually untouched by processors:

Two-sevenths of the nation's cotton, two-fifth's of its oil, 25 per cent of its wool, 85 per cent of its mohair, 65 per cent of its sorghum grains, 57,000,000 tons of potash, nearly half of Texas cattle, 92 per cent of Texas wheat. The area is described as in the 80 per cent "sunshine belt."

L. A. Wilke, service department manager of the West Texas Chamber, presided and W. O. Allen of Wichita Falls, district manager of United Gas Pipe Line Company, was chief speaker at a recent Fort Worth preview presentation of the ad.

Three Ways To Select A Bank

If you are about to select a bank, we have three suggestions to offer—choose any one or a combination of all three.

1. ASK OUR CUSTOMERS ABOUT US, how long we've served them, how well we've served them and how they like us as bankers and as people.

2 COME IN FOR A VISIT, talk to our employees and our officers, ask to be shown and told about the services we have to offer.

3 WALK IN AND OPEN AN ACCOUNT, then let the service you receive be the deciding factor.

On the above basis, or any basis you care to choose, we invite you to make our bank YOUR bank—we want you to feel welcome here.

Library Has Large Variety of Books for Summer Reading

What's on your summer reading list?

Whether it's light or heavy—for pure fun, to increase your knowledge or to get a better perspective of current affairs, summer readers are coming to depend more and more on their public libraries—in the case of people of this area, the Collingsworth County library.

Approximately 70 books have come into the library during the last few weeks, Miss Katherine Boverie, librarian, said. A few of these are best sellers but many others are replacements of books that have proved so popular that they are worn out.

To the delight of the youngsters, there has been a contribution that includes a number of children's books.

A recent order included replacements for the ever-popular Western section. No other books are checked out so often as the Westerns, Miss Boverie has remarked a number of times.

"Parris Mitchell of Kings Row," by Henry Bellaman, the sequel to best-selling "Kings Row," is now in the library. "Peony," another best seller, by Pearl Buck, is new, and a third of the country's most popular books at present is "Raintree County" by Ross Lockridge, which was received a short time ago.

Among the other new books are: "Mother Russia" and "The Cossacks" by Maurice Hindus; "The Tamarand Tree," Breslin; "Mary Donovan," Downes; "Guerilla Wife," Spencer; "The Bright Promise," Sherman; "Nothing So Strange," Hilton; "Starling of the White House;" "Before the Sun Goes Down," Howard; "Let's Start Over Again," Vash Young; "Webster's Biographical Dictionary;" "Reaching for the Stars," Waln; "Pilgrim's Inn," Goudge; "Young Man of Caracas," Ybarra; "Inside Latin America," Guenther; "The Strong Room," Wheelwright; "Miracle of the Bells," Janney, given by the Belles Lettres Club; "Getting Along with People," Wright; and "What Is Your Emotional Age," George Frederick.

Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Ledbetter are the parents of a daughter, Linda Sharon, born June 22 in St. Joseph's Hostal. She weighed 6 pounds 15 8½ ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgel Owens are the parents of a daughter, Jacqueline, born June 26 in St. Joseph's Hospital. She weighed 6 pounds 12 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Sublett are the parents of a son, John Wayne, born June 24 in Worley Hospital in Pampa. He weighed 6 pounds 3 ounces. The Subletts formerly lived at the Hess Ranch in the Northwest part of this county.

Cancer Deaths in Texas Increase 18 Percent in 5 Years

AUSTIN — An increase of more than 18 per cent in Texas cancer deaths during the five years between 1943 and 1947 has been announced by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Texas mortality tables compiled by the Texas State Department of Health show 1943 cancer deaths at 5,557, compared to 6,770 for 1947.

"The greater part of this tremendous increase in cancer deaths is attributable to needless delay in seeking treatment, once a person has reason to suspect he has a cancerous growth," Dr. Cox said. He added his belief that advertising of patent medicines and so-called cancer quacks puts dangerous and misleading information before the public, thereby adding to the cancer mortality rate. This is because people are lulled by such propaganda and do not receive proper diagnosis and treatment until too late.

Dr. Cox said that almost two-thirds of all cancer cases rely on surgery to remove the cancerous tissue, while the other third may respond to X-ray or radium treatment.

"These three methods are the only means by which the disease can be treated," he said. "Self-medications, serums, colored lights, pastes, and diets are absolutely useless."

The Health Officer pointed out that the greatest defense against cancer is an early diagnosis and competent treatment by a reputable physician. He urged especial attention to any unnatural bleeding from any body opening, lumps in the breast, and skin sores which fail to heal normally.

School Leadership On the Upgrade in Texas Institutions

AUSTIN — The quality of school leadership in Texas is definitely on the up-grade says Dr. C. C. Colvert, University of Texas education professor who is educational administration department chairman.

"School boards and the public are demanding more and more of their school leaders," said Dr. Colvert, "and the leaders are responding by devoting themselves again to advanced study and research—often at the specific request of school boards."

The upturn in demand for professional training for school principals and suuerintendents, is "putting universities and colleges on the spot," Dr. Colvert pointed out.

"These students are demanding that we enrich our offerings and re-direct them toward present-day needs," he said, "and we find that many colleges will have to develop new patterns of advanced study."

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The City will spray the town th 5 per cent DDT this week to l flies and mosquitoes and keep wn the danger of polio and other eases. Your co-operation is ked in two respects. The first is open the doors and windows of ur place of business when you e the spraying machine approach- g. This is exactly the opposite what you would instinctively do nen you see a large machine rowing spray approaching. To t full results the spray should ter the homes and the business uses. The solution being used is rmless to humans; but it will ll flies and mosquitoes. So keep ur windows open.

Another thing that could be done would be for every indi- vidual to get his alley clean. Tin cans with a little rainwater in them make ideal breeding places for mosquitoes. You will have to make your own arrangements for hauling off your own trash; but it should be done in the interest of your own health.

The swimming pool will open o Saturday at 1:00 p.m. Come on t and swim in real mineral wa- r in the largest pool in this part of the Panhandle. It does not look so pretty yet because there has been no opportunity for landscap- ing; planting grass, etc.; but I do believe that it is the best pool with- in a hundred miles of Wellington. The water is kept pure constantly by a circulating purifying system.

Swimming lessons under a qualified instructor will start at the pool next week. For infor- mation phone 219-M.

Wellington plays Mobeetie here Sunday afternoon. It should be one of the best games this season. The teams hold the number 2 and number 3 positions in the league. Frank Cocke was in town Monday moaning and groaning over the fact that his third baseman is out; but you can depend on Frank put- ting a good team on the field even if he has to play third base his- self.

It seems to me that this is more a calendar than a column.

But I must mention the Samnor- wood Rodeo. Barney Walker has been up in the air so high for the past few weeks that he forgot that they were even going to have a ro- deo this year and W. R. Breeding and I have had to take over the publicity. There will be a lot of entertainment for everybody who likes a rodeo.

Congratulations to the pro- gram committee of the Chamber of Commerce on bringing Tyrus Timm of College Station to Wel- lington. It was a most thought provoking speech. Read the ac- count of some of his remarks in another part of this paper.

Chub White says that he had just as soon read about the platy- pus as read about politics. O. K. Here is some information about that queer mammal that lives in Australia, taken from the maga- zine section of The Dallas News. It hatches its young instead of giv- ing birth to them. It sleeps all day and at night eats earthworms, crayfish, tadpoles, grubs and frogs. It has a beak like a duck's, silky brown fur like a muskrat's, a flat tail like a beaver's except that it's covered with hair and the male platypus has spurs on his hind legs like a rooster's. Only they're poisonous like a snake's fangs.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of thanking our friends and neighbors for the many kind deeds and beautiful floral offerings that came to us at the death of our husband and father, John H. Walker. We so sin- cerely appreciate all these many kindnesses that are a token of your friendship for him and for us.

Dr. Raymond Hander To Vaccinate Dogs Here Saturday

In view of the fact that the city council has announced it is enforc- ing the ordinance that all dogs al- lowed to run loose in town must be vaccinated for rabies at least once a year, Dr. Raymond Hander, own- er of the Childress Veterinary Hos- pital, has arranged to be at the City Hall in Wellington Saturday, July 3, to set up a temporary clinic to handle vaccination of dogs for rabies.

Dr. Hander said there has been quite a bit of rabies among dogs and coyotes in nearby communities, some of it north of Red River. Dog owners in rural communities as well as those in town should be concerned over the possibility of rabies, and have their animals vac- cinated, he pointed out.

The rabies vaccine is effective in dogs for approximately a year.

Cloise Roberts of Chicago, Ill., will arrive Sunday to join his wife and twin sons, Dean and Darryl, for a short vacation with his par- ents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Roberts. By BILL HUGHES

"I am afraid to fly. It is dangerous. If I am in an auto on the ground and the engine quits I can roll to a stop. In a plane it is too bad. You fall. Just read your newspaper everyday about airplanes crashing. A guy doesn't have a chance."

I will grant you, that if I did not know how to fly, if I did not understand the principles of how and why an airplane stays aloft, if I did not know the rules and regulations, the traffic laws of aviation, if I did not know something of the history of Commercial, Military, and Private flying, the usual newspaper story on aviation accidents might keep me out of the air too. I might be equally afraid along with a too large majority. I might be subject to the same unthinking, superstitious, unfounded fear that today is blocking the progress of private flying in particular.

I specifically singled out private flying first because as a civilian I am most directly concerned with it and secondly because I want to point out that there does exist important differences between commercial flying, military flying, and private flying even though basic fundamentals are the same. In reading news accounts of accidents, these differences are important in order to truly understand the nature of the accident, the how and why of it. The operations, hazards, and problems differ just as they differ in pleasure driving, cab driving, and racing automobiles.

Unfortunately airplane accident reporting by and large is far too often misleading. It is misleading because either the facts are not known or they are withheld, and invariably the general impression left is that the fault lies with the airplane and not the pilot. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred, in private flying the fault lies not with airplane. Ninety times out of a hundred the fault lies in disregard of his teaching, the law, and common sense on the part of the pilot. Nevertheless invariably the airplane and the progress of aviation is not only unjustly penalized but seriously set back.

Mechanical failures are seldom blamed for the multitudinous number of fatal accidents on the highways. In private flying they are even less often to blame; and yet, our press invariably continues to imply that the airplane is at fault. As on the highway so on the private skyway disregard of law by the human element is the major cause. Yet death by auto is dealt with differently than by plane as if there was a difference. Facts of fault on the part of people in auto accidents, the truth is written about, and accepted, and expected. Recklessness on the highways is prosecuted and publicly condemned. Facts of fault on the part of people in airplane accidents are withheld, while recklessness goes unprosecuted and the public condemnation falls upon the innocent flying machine, and the whole aviation industry. And why? So far as I can see it is ignorance of facts and for the benefit of the feelings of the bereaved with utter disregard for the welfare of not only hundreds of thousands who depend upon the industry for a living but millions who depend upon a civilization in which aviation plays a major roll in its progress and in its defense. The feelings of those bereaved by auto accidents are no different than those by plane accidents. We hope that by placing the blame where it belongs in auto accidents we can decrease the errors and lawlessness of the human element. Why should it not be so in aviation where today the errors and lawlessness of the human element are likewise the outstanding major cause of tragedy and death in private flying-

Certainly the general public has reason to be apprehensive about private flying because the facts surrounding airplane crashes are not reported and the greater number of stories with regard to them leave the impression that the cause lay with the flying machine rather than with man and a broken law. Add this to no flight experience, little if any familiarity with how and why an airplane flies, the flight rules and regulations, aviation's history, and it becomes obvious why you are afraid to fly. Fear has always been a hurdle to knowledge and progress, and in this case it is likewise a barrier to another retarding factor of private flying—the cost, which will only come down when the demand by your increased participation in flying creates a true basis for mass production.

Fear of flying and of an airplane is as unfounded and misguided as the fear in the dark ages caused people to burn women at the stake as witches.

The airplane is just as sound mechanically and structurally and just as safe operated within its limitation as any other machine.

Put the fault of crashes and death and the reason for your fear where it belongs. Any kind of machine is dangerous in the hands of careless, unthinking lawbreaking individuals. It matters not whether the weapon be a car, a plane, a train or a tractor.

It is the human being who exceeds not only the limitation of any machine but his own as well, it is the human being who violates common sense and the regulations who cause ninety per cent of the accidents on land, sea or in the air. It is not the airplane or flying that you should fear any more than a car or driving, but carelessness, recklessness, and willful violation of the law by people, be it driving or flying, be it in a car or an airplane. Be fair! Be fair to an industry important to you! Let us stop being ignorant unthinking witch burners. Put blame for death and accidents where it belongs—on human frailty. Airplanes are safe. Flying is sound. Flying is no harder than driving. Safety, driving or flying, depends upon the training and discipline of the individual. Who gets better training and grounding in discipline, the driver or the flyer?

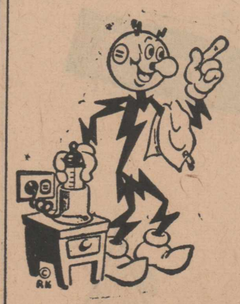
Declaration of Independence!



He's on his own. It's a wonderful feeling. He can go places now. And he'll keep on going places all his life —as long as he keeps his sense of independence.

That's America's richest resource — not forest, field or mine, but the spirit of her people. Ambition, energy, self-reliance are the reasons why individuals—and industries—grow great from small beginnings.

Take the electric industry—this company, for example. A few practical dreamers opened up an "electric frontier" when in 1915 they strung the first transmission power lines in West Texas. People of faith and vision risked their savings. Other folks combined skill and hard work to produce better and better service—at lower and lower costs—creating more and more jobs—and carrying the benefits of electric living to more and more West Texans.

That's the American way of progress Free enterprise, vision, and hard work. They are what built Americ and the American way of life, whi is the highest standard of living the world.

No nation has ever found a satis tory substitute for that combina No nation ever will.

itz Brings 'The aked City' to ocal Screen

Mark Hellinger's swan song, he Naked City" starring Barry zgerald, which opens a 2-day owing on the screen of the Ritz atre Wednesday and Thursday, y 7-8, according to announce- nts made by Manager Emmett ssmore, is a great and first ma- film work to hit with an au- ntic production background of w York City, its streets, people, ces and the contributing trivia t go into the makeup of the tropolis.

Films backgrounded in New rk have been made time without mber, but it took the late Hell- er to catch its many moods, its nging face, its racing pace and exciting dynamics as, perhaps, previous attraction had ever ceeded.

Hellinger is on the narrative ck himself, introducing the per- alities identified with the mak- of this story about the routine the Police Department's famed d effficient homicide section.

'The Naked City," Manager ssmore reports, "is for the gal- y of greats, for it tells a story terms of film that can take place among any number of terworks and yet remain a dis- tive achievement.

'In production, there is every in- ation of splendid cooperation, a carefully planned sense, and unwittingly by the populace. The camera, candidly, has captured the bare face of the city so thoroughly that it is hardly aware of whether a film company was shooting or it was the real thing."

The story opens with a camera airborne; it concludes in the gutter—and in the few days it takes to tell the story the city is covered from the Battery to the Bronx, from Long Island to the Statue of Liberty.

In the darkness before dawn, as the camera surveys the city, there is a murder. In the early morning hours the body is discovered. In no time flat the police are on the case, painstakingly, and Lieutenant Muldoon, who is Fitzgerald, is assigned.

Never in such thorough and detailed manner has the workings of the municipal gendarmerie been shown.

With Fitzgerald in the star seat, and he does finely, the story is not without humorous aspects. The script is glib, taut, and has the right feeling all the way.

Hellinger, before his untimely death, has described this as just one story about a city of 8,000,000 people.

"It goes on all the time," he says, and, of course, it does.

The difference is that it has not been told as this attraction succeeds in doing.

"The Naked City" can be rated as excellent cinema fare, the local show manager concluded.

Church of Christ Plans Meeting for July 15 to 25

A gospel meeting will open at the Church of Christ in Wellington Thursday night, July 15, and continue through Sunday night, July 25, it was announced Monday by Minister Vaughn Shofner and V. P. Robertson, who are arranging plans for that event.

Min. Perry B. Cotham of Paris will be in charge of the preaching. He is minister of the church there, but prior to going to that city, he completed a successful ministry in Oklahoma. During the summer months, he devotes much of his time to conducting gospel meetings throughout the southwest. He is widely known throughout the church and is recognized as a minister of sincerity and ability.

Services will be held twice daily, at 11:00 a.m. and 8:15 p.m.

A cordial invitation is extended the public to attend these services and give their support to the meeting.

Mahan was born at Chatham, pril 24, 1861. His father died soner during the Civil War. e age of 12 he came to Texas his family, settling at Fort th, which he remembered as ng not as large as Wellington . He grew up there, remaining until he was 24 years old.

On September 3, 1885, he was married to Miss Maria Forbis at Caddo, in the Indian Territory.

In 1888, the couple came to Collingsworth County from Johnson County.

In talking with The Leader some years ago, Mr. Mahan told of many remembrances of those early years. He recalled that the trip took about 10 or 12 days by covered wagon. There was another three-day trip to Mobeetie to file on his land, which cost him $1.00 per acre. This land today is some of the richest in the county. Their first home here was a 14 x 18 foot dugout, where they lived for 14 years.

Oftentimes there was preaching in their home. At other times they went miles to church, to Arlie or to Wellington, coming home late at night in their wagon.

"Sometimes so many people would go home with us from church they all couldn't get in the house," he recalled.

At their farm, too, was the only well of water in the community, and people came from miles to get their drinking water. Once Indians came, and while they frightened the family, they were only hunting water.

A trip to Childress in those days took three days.

Mr. Mahan helped with the organization of the church and served as a trustee for many years. He road overseer a year. A mem- of the Methodist Church for a century, Mr. Mahan was a ward and a trustee of the church ng most of his active life after ng here.

e once summed up the whole n for his coming here: "We to get a home."

rviving Mr. Mahan are his e of Wellington; four children, Mrs. C. W. Poling of Hollis, Okla.; Mrs. A. L. Harper of Edinburg; J. W. Mahan of Long Beach, Calif.; and Wade Mahan of Munday. Other survivors are eleven grandchildren, five great grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Bill Thomas Cook of Bedford, Va.; a half sister, Mrs. V. L. Gilbow of Henrietta, and a half brother, Jim Cook of Fort Worth.

One son, Jim Mahan of Childress, died in 1946.

Rain Covers County Sunday

Sixty-six hundredths of an inch of rain fell in Wellington Sunday night, June 27, and about the same amount fell throughout the southern part of the county, reports indicate.

North of Salt Fork River, however, the fall was again much heavier. Approximately two inches was reported at Lutie and in the Dozier area and north toward the county line a number of farmers said they received at least three inches of rain.

is available if needed. At the same time, the customer has accessible services such as welding, spray painting, battery charging, reboring and a number of others that he might not wish to do himself.

Each individual renting space is responsible for the tools used.

The other half of the building is devoted to a garage of the conventional type, where experienced mechanics will work just as they have in the past. Washing and greasing are also featured.

Mr. Barjenbruch was reared near Wellington, and has made this his home except for the time he served in the armed forces. Upon his release from service, he established his garage here, adding to the equipment and personnel from time to time.

Spray City -

thane preparation forms a fine mist under 2000 degrees of heat and terrific air pressure, becoming a dry fog as it leaves the huge atomizer.

The spray makes a spectacular fog as it rolls in the air and on occasion has been mistaken for smoke. The preparation is absolutely harmless to warm blooded animals, vegetation and even clothes hanging outside are perfectly safe.

Launched as a new idea in a few places last year, the movement has gained momentum, particularly in view of optimistic insect control reports from places where the plan has been tried.

This year's effort is an enthusiastic aftermath of last year's intensive clean-up practiced in many towns where DDT spray was used effectively in combating insects. During last year's epidemic of infantile paralysis in some parts of the state not one polio case was reported within city limits of towns sprayed.

The equipment to be used in Wellington is owned by the City of Pampa and as a friendly gesture toward smaller towns in the Pampa trade area the Pampa City Commissioners are sending the equipment here this week, in cooperation with the City of Wellington at a minimum cost.

This is a public service offered by the City officials of Wellington to the business and residential areas, without cost, and all citizens are urged to follow the instructions to the letter, to insure that their stores and homes are efficiently treated and out of consideration for our fellow-citizens who will not receive the full benefit if all doors and windows are not left open.

Identify Man -

Some of his belongings were wrapped in an old Wichita Falls Record News and others in an old copy of The Hollis Weekly News. The man is said to have told people who fed him that he was 76 years old.

His description was broadcast from area radio stations and the story carried in daily newspapers. This brought about an unusual incident when a young Amarillo man, believing the dead man to be his father, had police of that city get in touch with local officers. The description of the man found here fitted exactly that of William Spangler, whose home is near McLean, even to a scar on his lip underneath the surface, the son, Ralph Spangler said.

The Amarilloan, who said he had not heard from his father in some time, left for Wellington immediately, but stopped in McLean, where he found his father alive and well.

No relatives of the dead man have been located, and no burial arrangements have been made, according to attendants at the Kelso Funeral Home where the body is being held.

Annette Hays, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hays was a patient in St. Joseph Hospital the latter part of last week. She received a head injury when she pulled a flower box from its stand.

Three Dates Listed Important for Veterans to Watch

All veterans are warned to watch the following deadlines for veteran benefits for the remainder of 1948.

July 31—Last day for reinstating lapsed National Service Life Insurance without a physical examination;

August 31—Final day for making application for terminal leave pay; There may be some veterans who have not applied for this benefit and parents of veterans who died after being discharged;

December 31—Final date on which survivors of deceased veterans may claim refund of any overpayment of income tax of deceased veterans.

Veterans should inquire at the County Service Office about these and other benefits, to which they may be entitled.

Freddy Wayne Thurman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Thurman, was a recent tonsilectomy patient in St. Joseph Hospital.

Joan Carole Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olan Alexander, is a medical patient in St. Joseph Hospital.

Hopper Poison Shipment Here

A load of 1,600 pounds of grasshopper poison and 8,000 pounds of bran to mix with it arrived in Wellington late Monday evening, June 28, the first the county has been able to get since the supply was exhausted early last week.

County Agent J. W. Thomas said this amount would mix an approximately 64,000 pounds of poison bait and that it would probably last about three days.

He again stressed the necessity of fighting the grasshoppers, in pastures as well as in fields.

Reports have come in, he said, of hoppers having eaten practically all the grass off pastures.

Rain during the last week, however, would stop the eating in the fields somewhat, he said, since they would bring out new grass in the pastures, thereby keeping them out of the fields for a while.

SCOTT TRUCK & TRACTOR CO.

Your International Harvester Dealer Wellington, Texas

Howdy, folks.

It has been my contention, through all of the 15 years that I've been an International Harvester dealer, that one of the most important selling points about this line of farm machinery is the accessibility of service and parts.

There are lots of good tractors. None of them—not even Farmall—will run very many months without needing some service and some parts. Smart farmers just don't buy tractors or other equipment without first looking into the service and parts angle, and on this point, Farmall and International Harvester farm machinery is well out in the front.

This last has been a busy week—with every tractor in the community having a job to do. Farmall owners, needing anything from a 2 cent bolt to a crankshaft or cylinder block to keep their machines on the job came here and found what they needed—T. A. Hamilton, John Jones, Elliott Wynn, Earl Alexander, Sam Lemley, Osa Black, A. V. Lowrie, Ira Page, A. L. Duncan, J. W. Stanton, S. C. Cleveland, Frank Coleman Jr., Robert Barjenbruch, Oran Starkey, Raymond Ammons, Grover Pettitt, P. C. Cummings, B. M. Shields, Three Cookes Cattle Co., L. C. Burnam, S. W. Elbert, Jake Tarter, L. H. Wolf, Obie White, Curtis Brewer, C. E. Strong, C. E. Roberts, S. H. Thompson, W. O. Vaughan, H. C. Dickey, Lewis Morris, Hayden Williams, V. B. Allred, Dick Lindley, A. L. Simpson, W. S. White, J. A. Scott, Willie West, G. M. Tucker, J. F. Bishop, Porter Brothers.

E. L. Hively was in here the last of the week and bought a peg-tooth harrow with a steel folding drawbar. J. R. Lowery bought a 3-section harrow with drawbar earlier in the week.

Herbert Knoll, Goat Hopper, Ed Blaine, Sam Berryman, and several others come in after mower and rake parts during the week.

USE IH SERVICE PARTS

A large and complete stock of International Harvester Service parts is your insurance — if you're a Farmall owner — of minimum delays during busy seasons.

Fred Patterson called us to come out and tune-up his F20 Farmall in the field; Fred Yarbrough brought his H Farmall to our shop for repairs; Roy Thomason brought his Model M for a valve job; Sam Berryman had his Model H in for a minor job; Jack Phipps drove a Model M here for checking over; Dudley Phipps, Holton Auto Store, R. E. Feemster, John Robert Henard had trucks in the shop during the week. V. J. Simpson brought in his F14 Farmall, and John Wolf brought in a tractor. W. W. Oldham brought in the head off his Model H for valve re-seating.

Wind and rain—too much of the former everywhere—too much of the latter in spots, not enough in others—has brought on a lot of re-planting. In the store after planter parts last week—and very unhappy if they hadn't found them here—were S. D. Winegeart, John Jones, Fred Bourland, George Howard, Austin White, V. K. Surplus Potatoes Available Here For Stock Feed

The Production and Marketing Administration is expecting to have to buy a considerable quantity of potatoes in the West Texas area under the government price support program beginning around July 1. The major portion of these potatoes are expected to go into livestock feed outlets. For this reason the State Office has requested the county AAA office to compile a list of prospective purchasers and the estimated quantity desired.

Anyone interested in buying potatoes for livestock feed should place their orders immediately. The cost for potatoes in bulk will be one (1) cent per hundred-weight, f.o.b. the point of purchase, and for sacked potatoes the price will be ten (10) cents per hundred-weight, f.o.b. point of purchase.

Experiments relative to the use of potatoes for feed by dairymen and livestock producers have proven to very satisfactory in different areas of the state.

Fred Price Dies As Station Is Held Up in Fresno, California

A former county resident, Fred Price, 62, of Fresno, Calif., was shot and killed June 13 when the service station which he operated was held up by three youths.

According to information received by his brother, B. S. Price of Shamrock, Mr. Price was shot when he tried to attract the attention of a passerby while the trio was in the act of robbing his station. The three were arrested about an hour after the shooting when they stopped at a nearby town, and are being held on murder charge. One of the youths is reported to have confessed that he fired the fatal shot. Two of the boys were from Texas, the third from California.

Mr. Price and his family came to this county about 1927 and farmed in the Needwood community for a number of years. He was

Mortgage Trend Upward for Farm Property

STILLWATER, Okla. — A reversal of the downward trend in farm-mortgage indebtedness the second since 1923, was reported in the June issue of Current Farm Economics, publication of the Oklahoma A. and M. College Agricultural Experiment station. For the nation, the Farm-mortgage debt on January 1, 1948, was estimated by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. D. A., to be 4,882 million dollars or an increase of about 104 million dollars (2.2 percent) over last year at the same time.

In Oklahoma the mortgage-debt was up to $112,963,000 or 3.3 percent above a year ago. The increase in debt during 1946 and 1947 is the first major reversal of the downward trend in farm-mortgage indebtedness in 25 years.

Nearly the entire increase in the farm mortgage debt during 1947 occurred in the holdings of private lenders, such as life insurance companies, commercial banks, and others, the publication shows. The Federal land bank and the Federal farm mortgage corporation mortgage holdings decreased about 128 million dollars during the year.

In 1940 the Federal land bank and the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation held about 41 percent of the total outstanding amount held by the principal mortgage lenders. In that year, commercial banks and individuals held about the same proportion of the debt.

On January 1, 1948, the land bank and Federal Mortgage Corporation held only about 20 percent of the outstanding mortgage debt, while commercial banks and individuals together held about 56 percent of the outstaning debt.

"The great increase in the proportion of mortgage money provided by commercial banks and private lenders is attributed to (1) the necessity which banks and individuals have of putting to work the increased liquid assets in their possession, and (2) their more flexible lending policy in the way of shorter term loans, willingness to lend greater amounts, and heavy repayment schedules for the first few years of the loan," the publication pointed out.

"The heavy repayment schedules early in the life of the loan—sometimes on a monthly basis—probably places these greater loans on a fairly safe basis so far as the lender is concerned. So far as the borrower is concerned, his debt may in some cases, be higher than prudence would permit."

OFF TO A HEAD START

Little Grain Bugs Do Big Damage

COLLEGE STATION — The insects in the farm grain bin may be small but the amount of damage they do is tremendous, according to the USDA Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine. The place to start in getting rid of these insects is right in the grain bin.

By doing a good job of bin cleaning and afterward spraying with 5 percent DDT before the newly harvested grain has been put in, you can kill out the hold-over infestation, and give the new grain a chance to escape damage.

C. A. King, associate extension entomologist of Texas A. & M. College, says that these tiny insects get one out of every eight bushels of farm stored grain in Texas. Further north, it's not that bad. Missouri loses one in ten, and the national average is one in twenty. So, you can see Texas is at the top of the "high loss" list.

Entomologists point out that grain losses can be lowered greatly by harvesting grain as soon as it is dry enough for safe storage and by storing it in weather-tight bins that have been made insect-free by a thorough cleaning and spraying. After the grain is stored, check it now and then to see if the bugs are getting into. If they are, fumigate with a mixture of ethylene dichloride and carbon tetrachloride at the rate of 6 gallons per 1000 bushels.

Stored grain insects get 300 million bushels of the nation's total production every year, worth over $600 million at today's prices. Since Texas insects get one in every eight bushels, this state can go a long way in cutting down that 300 million bushel grain loss, says King.

How Does Your Garden Grow?

COLLEGE STATION — Texas gardens are paying off. Even with drouth in some areas, heavy rainfall in others and even hail in a few places, Texas gardens are making money. When the grocery store sells tomatoes at two-bits a pound, says J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist of Texas A. & M. College, those free ones out of the home garden sure do taste good.

All the rest of those fresh vegetables taste good too . . . the free sweet corn, new Irish potatoes, squash, lettuce, green beans, mustard and cucumbers. If you get most of the meal from your own garden, it really makes a big difference in the grocery bill.

If you are in one of the dry areas and the soil doesn't have much moisture, then a little water wouldn't hurt the tomatoes—especially if the plants appear wilted during the day. And watering the tomatoes will prevent blossom end rot of the fruit, too. For the best quality, pick the tomatoes just as they begin to turn pink on the vine. Then spread them out in the shade a few days until they get that deep red color. At this stage they are at their best.

The early plantings of mustard, radish and lettuce have gone to seed by this time. Bright yellow flowers mark the rows of the careless gardener. Don't leave these old vegetables standing in your garden. They are carriers of disease, thieves of soil moisture, and hiding places for insects. When a garden vegetable is through producing, plow it up and leave the soil fallow.

If you keep the old vegetables plowed out, the garden soil is always ready to be planted again when favorable conditions permit, says Rosborough.

mmon Diseases ong Hogs May Prevented

LLWATER, Okla. — Twen- e percent more hogs could be eted by Oklahoma raisers by ving modern disease preven- measures, states A. A. Heide- t, swine specialist at Okla- A. and M. College.

ousands of pigs are still-born year because of swine bru- is. Chilling, anemia, naval in- ns and scours kill added mil- in the United States. These can be prevented with proper gement, nutrition and vacci- n.

llbirths: Plenty of green al- hay or pasture and a min containing iodine for sows g pregnancy.

emia: Supply pigs with a e of clean sod or use an and copper solution.

lling: Provide a simple pig er.

vel Ill: Plant navel cord p of newborn pig with iodine. urs. Avoid overfeeding sows; pens clean, dry and sanitary. rsipelas: On infected prem- ave pigs vaccinated soon af- irth.

olera: Keep brood sows im- ed against cholera and have accinated near weaning time. rms: Farrow pigs in clean . Move sows and litters to clean gr nd.

rm pigs and sows twice a year w a mixture of 1 percent sodium f ride in a dry feed.

Mange and Lice: Use a lime sulfur solution, sulfuerized hog oil, or a Benzene Hexachloride solution.

Enteritis: Eliminate old hog lots. Feed balancd rations.

Lockjaw: Keep pigs away from mud holes after castration. Use a clean, disinfected knife.

Following these practical suggestions should help the hog raiser market more hogs at profit, the swine specialist concludes.

Still Time to Put Out Cuttings

COLLEGE STATION — If you have been slow about putting out cuttings of your favorite shrubs, take heart. You still have time to grow some of the plants. Cuttings of most of the plants can be grown at this time, but you will need to give them plenty of water and some shade, says Sadie Hatfield, extension landscape gardening specialist of Texas A. & M. College.

Shrubs and trees are not the only things that can be grown from cuttings. Some of the ordinary plants such as pinks, carnations, tomatoes, and many others can be grown from cuttings, too.

During the early part of the growing season plants may root within a few hours after being placed in the warm, moist soil.

Wood the size of a new pencil is about right, although larger or smaller pieces may be used. Select young cut stems of shrubs and trees, but they should be old enough to be hard. Take off all the leaves except the top two of each cutting. If many of the leaves are left on, the cutting may die, and if no leaves are left on, rooting may be slow. Plant three-fourths or more of the cutting underground. Keep the cuttings moist, well-drained and in half shade. Some people plant their cuttings on the north side of the house.

For plants that are liable to wilt, some people turn fruit jars over their cuttings and put a light shade over the jar. The jar becomes a small greenhouse for each cutting.

Now is a very good time to think of rooting some of your favorite shrubs and trees for your friends, says Miss Hatfield. They will make nice gifts for next Christmas. The plants may be grown in pots, tin cans or in the open ground.

As a Texas plainsman, the only value we can see in mountain-climbing is to get a better view of the great plains below.

It is easy to meet expenses nowadays. You run into them everywhere.

YOU CAN'T GET THAT HOT, SAYS THE LAW

Officer Patrick Ryan, of Kenton County, Ky., says it's really hot, but Sonny Brown is going a little too far. So indoors for some pants he goes.

Eggs Affected By Environment

COLLEGE STATION — The quality of eggs is affected by their environment. In the case of eggs, that "environment" means the way eggs are handled from the time they are laid until the housewife serves them at the table.

Heat, says F. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist of Texas A. & M. College, is the greatest enemy of high quality in eggs. Eggs should be gathered several times a day and the animal heat reduced as soon as possible. All eggs should be held below 68 degrees F.; higher temperatures break down the egg rapidly.

As a matter of fact, says Beanblossom, quality may be lower in eggs after three days of improper handling than in eggs which have been properly stored for as long as six months.

Quality egg rules for the flock owner include: Keep hens in the laying house until late afternoon on rainy days; put ample clean nesting material in the nests; remove broody hens from nests; remove male birds from the flock; cover dropping pit with wire; gather eggs three to five times a day; cool eggs promptly after gathering and store them in a cool place.

For business firms: Handle eggs carefully; store eggs in good cases with clean flats and fillers; keep eggs at proper refrigeration and away from strong odors.

For the housewife: Keep eggs in clean containers, under refrigeration in the hot summer months and away from other foods which have strong odors.

If brevity is the soul of wit and stylists continue the trend in bathing suits, there will be a lot of laughter at the beach this summer.

Apparently honesty isn't the best foreign policy.

Six Area Students In Hardin-Simmons

ABILENE — Six persons from Wellington and vicinity are among the 1,105 students enrolled for the first term of the 1948 summer session at Hardin-Simmons University, Alton B. Lee, registrar, has disclosed.

They are Marle Saunders, Louie Beam, Eugene McBride, Roland Z. Jenkins, and Dorothy Harbin of Wellington and Mrs. Guy Killian of Dodson.

The 1,105 students comprise the largest summer enrollment in the history of Hardin-Simmons, Lee said, surpassing last summr's previous all-time record summer enrollment by 136 resident students.

The current term will close July 10 with a second six weeks session scheduled to begin on July 12. A three weeks class will be held from August 20 through September 9.

Courses are being offered this summer at Hardin-Simmons in art, Bible, biology, business administration, chemistry, economics, education, English, French, government, history, journalism, mathematics, music, physics, physical education, sociology, Spanish, and speech.

A majority of the heads of departments are in residence for the summer, making it possible for the various departments of the University to offer the most complete summer curriculum yet extended.

Approximately 150 of the 1105 students are doing graduate work while many are public school teachers finishing out their degrees. More than 200 are new students at Hardin-Simmons.

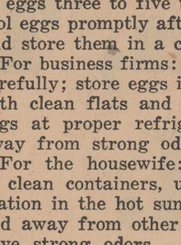
From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh



Pampered Farmers

If the folks in our town were less tolerant, they'd be really burned up over that nationally circulated article on "pampered farmers," describing them as living off the fat of the land.

From where I sit the farmer is anything but "pampered." If he's better off today than twenty years ago it's because he's worked hard to improve the quality and quantity of his production.

Take Bert Childers, for example. Bert is up at four in the morning, to get the milking finished—and ploughing or harvesting, depending on the season, until sundown. In the evening he finally relaxes with the missus over a moderate glass of beer.

And the farmer today's not only temperate in his habits, like Bert's evening glass of beer ... but tolerant in his opinions. So he'll probably say of that article, "somebody got the facts wrong," and just let it go at that.

Texas Poll Shows Strength of Three Senate Candidates

AMARILLO — The heliocoptering, hot weather drive by 39-year-old Congressman Lyndon B. Johnson for ballots in his United States Senate race is paying off with ever-increasing support for the young veteran of 11 years in Congress.

The reliable Texas poll, of which Joe Belden is director, reports that during the past month Congressman Johnson has won sharply increased support throughout the state to pull considerably nearer Ex-Governor Coke Stevenson who, at 60, is leading the narrowing field.

The Poll, in release to daily newspapers on June 20, said:

"During the past month Rep. Lyndon Johnson of Austin and George Peddy of Houston have made significant gains in their race for U. S. Senate against former Governor Coke Stevenson.

"Stevenson is still in first place, but Johnson is giving him close competition.

"In its first statewide survey since the ballot closed The Texas Poll finds as of mid-June this is the standing of the candidates among voters with opinions:

"Stevenson ..... 46.6 percent
"Johnson ..... 36.8 percent
"Peddy ..... 12.0 percent

"The results published above are based on a cross section of 1,000 interviews," The Poll report stated. "Long experience in sampling and probability indicate that these results reflect opinion (as of mid-June) within a range of error of 4 percentage points."

LETTERS From The PEOPLE

Lemore, Calif.
Route 1, Box 27
June 22, 1948

Dear Mr. Wells:

Enclosed please find three dollars for my renewal of my home town newspaper, The Wellington Leader. When I receive my paper it's like getting a letter from all my friends there in Wellington.

We left Wellington almost twelve years ago and it is something wonderful now to read about the young people, who were really young then, getting married, graduating and going out to meet the future.

Thank you very much for sending me this reminder so that I will not miss any issues of The Wellington Leader. Thank you again.

Sincerely,
(Miss) Jennie Lucas

P.S. There are four different families that read my paper.

Editorial

Much is being said about the US Senate race in Texas. There seems little doubt that Coke R. Stevenson, who served the state for five years as governor, is the leading candidate. He doubtless will lead the ticket in the first primary. Lyndon Johnson, young congressman from Austin, apparently is in second place, with George Peddy of Houston a close third. It may be that Stevenson won't muster enough votes to win without a run-off in the July 24 primary.

Texas can make no mistake by selecting Stevenson for this important job. In his public service as legislator, speaker of the Texas House, lieutenant-governor and as governor, he has proved beyond question his ability, solidness, honesty and fairness.

If there was ever a time when this country needs men of sober judgment it is now. In all of his public life ,Stevenson has stuck close to the constitutions of the United States and of Texas. There are few men who know more about the US Constitution than Coke Stevenson, and he believes in it without reserve.

To be sure, Stevenson can't be expected to devote time to grabbing money and projects for communities and individuals. A senator is supposed to represent all of Texas and not just a few communities or individuals who might be helpful in any campaign for reelection. Texans can't expect a living from Washington. Should all seven million Texans go to Washington demanding special favors several score senators could not pull the strings for them.

The job of US senator is much greater than that of chore boy. Stevenson is not apt to devote his time to running errands, since he is the sort of public servant—on the basis of his record who wants to represent one person as well as another.

Stevenson served as governor in hectic times. But despite this fact, he made the state one of its greatest governors and come out of office probably the most popular of all former governors.

Stevenson's honesty and fairness cannot be questioned. His experience and his knowledge of public needs are the best available in Texas.

This country needs cool wisdom. Perhaps it needs a little calculating.

Coke Stevenson has come up through the Texas House, the lieutenant-governor's office and the executive department of the state without becoming obligated to a single person in Texas. This means his has served everyone instead of dishing out personal favors, which usually carry obligations.

All over Texas, people by the thousands are saying: "You can depend on Coke. He is a man of his word." Can much greater things be said of a man, especially one with long public service?

The people of the Panhandle-Plains country have been great supporters of Coke Stevenson in the past, and he has not let them down in a single instance. He has not let any Texas people down.

Texas needs Coke in the senate.

The United States needs Coke in the senate—Amarillo Daily News.

Notice!

All Dogs Must Be Vaccinated For Rabies

Due to the fact that there have been cases of rabies reported in nearby cities, the ordinance requiring all dogs to be vaccinated once a year will be rigidly enforced.

All dogs that do not have a tag showing that they have been vaccinated during the past year will be killed if allowed to run loose on the streets of Wellington.
