A letter to our Congressman from JOE B. PHILLIPS

The Hon. George Mahon
Congressman
19th District
1211 New House Office Building
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Mr. Congressman:

Because of your busy schedule and the fact that you are unable to be in the district during much of the campaign, I am taking this opportunity of requesting your convictions upon some of the vital issues which concern the voters in our area.

I want to acquaint you with mine.

I believe that the power of God is paramount to the freedom of man, and that our founding fathers created a government to preserve the God-given rights of man.

Because I believe in these rights, I think that the children in our public schools must be allowed to pray, each according to the dictates of his own conscience.

I have the conviction that we should uphold the separation of church and state, not the separation of the state from God.

I believe that the words "Under God" should remain in the Pledge of Allegiance and the phrase "In God We Trust" on our coins.

It is my opinion that Chaplains should be sustained in the military service and in Congress.

The U. S. Government is confronted with one of the most critical periods of its history, as it faces Godless, atheistic communism. As God-fearing citizens of this nation, we must stand up and be counted in this time of crisis.

Very truly yours,
JOE PHILLIPS

CIVIC HOUSE

Hesperian Study Club Host Annual Luncheon

Hesperian Study Club host-destiny. What will we do with ed their annual President's It?" Luncheon Saturday at the Civic House.

Tables were decorated with white mums and miniature houses among the mums. Place cards were also miniature houses. This was to represent "The Medallion Home of Mitchell County" which is the President's project. Mrs. Watson said that this had been selected as the club's project for the year and we are enthused and excited about visiting these homes.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. F. N. Thomas, Miss Clydine Stiekney, and Mrs. Charles C. Thompson.

During the meeting, Mrs. C. C. Thompson was Master of Ceremonies and Mrs. Bennett Scott gave the invocation.

There for Mrs. J. A. Sadler, Sr., talk was, "Looking Backward." In her talk, Mrs. Sadler said, "Today I would like for us to think not of the past but of the future."

She also said that unhappiness can come from lamenting the past with all our mistakes and blunders. We should learn from the past, profit by our mistakes then forget it. Save the happy memories that linger with us.

Mrs. Sadler close her talk with, "This is our date with projects for the year. The General Federation of Women's Club will be celebrating the seventy-fifth anniversary of its founding in 1966. Seven-fifty years is a long time, but the passage of time can be measured by accomplishments as well as years.

Our chapter was granted "to bring into communication and to unite the Women's Clubs throughout the world for the purpose of mutual benefit, for the promotion of their common interests in educational, industrial, literary and scientific culture."

Mrs. Watson also said that since the Federation was organized we have responded to these challenges so as to win National acclaim.

Three guests attended the meeting which were Mrs. E. L. Henderson, Mrs. Bob Thompson, and Mrs. Harold Watson.

CONVERSATION CORNER

After you're born and before you are dead
You waste many and many a good day in bed—
With a cold in the head.

And sometimes you get suddenly blest
With four whole extra days of rest
And a cold in the chest.

If doctors could cure a "bad cold" they could all
Get rich, richer, richest every fall.

SMACK in the middle of that shorter-than-usual column last week we began feeling not long for this world. Know what? Next time you run out of blessings to count try this one on your vocal chords—'M' glad I do not have a cold. (Shake well and repeat every two hours.) It's enough to discourage a trusting soul who has great faith in scientific research and discoveries. How come nobody ever discovers a pill to get rid of a cold?

YOU CAN buy, we have it on good authority, a pill to cure the blues. A pill to curb the appetite. Pills for insomnia. Dyspepsia.

You can take a stay-awake pill. You can even allay the pains of gout with a pill . . . if you're that prosperous. Raise the blood pressure, lower the blood pressure, space your children, cure things like scarlet fever and prevent polio by magic formulas are all acceptable medical procedures now.

You can, on the other hand, buy everything in the drug store and not make a dent in any cold. Thirty-two capsules and 5,000 paper tissues later, you've still got a doozy.

THAT F.D. (Favorite Doctor) consulted, being a tactful man by nature, referred to this current affliction by saying "You have acute bronchitis."

Being a little feverish and a lot frivolous by nature we just gave him the ancient joke-book routine. You know— "Bet you say that to all your women patients."

He wasn't particularly amused. But then, to tell the truth, neither were we.

IT IS extremely hard to be amused—even by your own delightful repartee—when you feel like you've just swum the British Channel in the dead of a wintry night.

Most depressing angle of all, though, is what we set out to say in the first place—how can we expect eventual relief from dread diseases or the solution for war on earth, bad will to men . . . when all the smart scientists put-together can't figure out how to lick the common cold?

Oh where, oh where is a brain desirous
Of conquering the lowly virus?
Why should humans feel so smug?
The winner, always, is the little cold bug.

Fire Takes 537 Texans Annually

Texas Safety Association today urged homeowners to observe National Fire Prevention Week, now in progress, by getting rid of fire traps around the house.

"Your life may depend on the way you keep house—inside and out," the Association emphasizes.

"Last year, 8,100 persons in the United States died as a result of fire. Of this number, 6,500 persons were killed as a result of fires in the home."

The Texas fire fatality toll was 537 persons—444 of these deaths were attributed to home fires. If a war took this many Texans, we would be greatly grieved, but, somehow this fire tragedy doesn't disturb us.

Further stressing the need for taking fire prevention measures in the home, is the fact there are about 600,000 residential fires each year in the nation. In addition to the loss of life and human suffering caused by such fires, they cost the nation about $400,000,000 a year.

The safety association suggested homeowners discard old newspapers, magazines, boxes, clothing and other useless items. Storing such things under stairways, in closets or garages creates fire hazards.

Daily household trash should be kept in covered metal cans away from heat, and it should be disposed of frequently.

"If there are some things you must keep, store them safely. Put dust mops and cleaning materials in a well-ventilated, fire-safe storage unit. Keep flammable liquids in approved safety containers, away from the reach of children and store points and oil cleaners in tightly capped metal cans, away from heat."

No Wonder We Watch Calories

"Only 19!" That's a slogan—and a provocative and memorable one for the first nationwide effort of our $70 billion dollar grocery industry to tell its 189 million customers how good it is—and how good the customers have to be!

From October 19 (natch) until the end of the month, the grocers of the nation—stores in big towns and small and at the crossroads—will be demonstrating an important aspect of American life, namely that "Food is a Bargain." (With out it, of course, nothing would be!)

With each farm worker growing nearly twice as much food today as he did only 15 years ago, and with the expansion and continuing modernization of the food and grocery industry aiding the development of an efficient and profitable marketing system, or the farmers, we have become the best-fed nation in the world. And we pay less for food—in percentage of income—than any others!

That's where that "Only 19" comes in. It represents, literally and statistically, the number of pennies the average American household spends out of each takehome dollar for its food. And, as recently as 1947-49 the housewife's food budget took 26 cents out of the after-tax dollar.

In England, today, 29 percent of in-

Musick reminded homeowners to use all flammable liquids outside or in well ventilated areas. Never smoke while using flammables and "remember, dry cleaning is extremely dangerous and not worth the risk you take."

"Cleaning up outside areas also is important. Be sure trash is kept picked up and disposed of frequently. Never allow it to accumulate around buildings. Trash around dry grass and close to buildings will tempt and spread fire," he said.

The Association adds that keeping heating and cooking equipment and electrical appliances in good working condition is a part of good housekeeping, and further protection against home fires.

And homeowners are advised to check portable heaters, furnaces and chimneys for fire safety. Keep portable heaters away from doors, stairs or other fire exits and keep clear of combustibles such as curtains, furniture and clothes.

Make sure electrical extensions cords have no exposed wires. Don't overload electrical wiring. Make sure it is adequate to handle all electrical appliances you use.

"Appliances such as an iron, toaster, heater, roaster or waffle iron, need considerable power—avoid using two at the same outlet at once or using inadequate extension cords."

The Association didn't forget to remind parents that children and matches are an especially dangerous combination, as are adults and smoking.

Make sure matches are kept out of the reach of children and that smokers in the home use large ashtrays for putting out lighted cigarettes and never smoke in bed.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

Top Finance Authority Scans State Tax Bill

BY VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

A top finance authority on state government is hopeful that the tax bill written by the 1965 Legislature will be smaller than many advance predictions have indicated.

Jim McGrew, research director for Texas Research League, said $35,000,000 a year in new revenue ought to cover the bulk of Gov. John Connally's higher education program, teacher pay raises and about 40 per cent of the budget increases sought by state agencies.

McGrew, who addressed Austin's chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, made these "guessimates":

About $625,000,000 will be available for general revenue spending next biennium, including an $83,000,000 surplus at the end of the present fiscal period. That's $153,700,000 above the present level.

With no new taxes at all, the Legislature could provide up to $120,000,000 in additional general revenue spending for higher education and maybe $45,000,000 more for state departments and agencies.

An added $60,000,000 plus in revenue (per biennium) would finance the state's $74,000,000 share of a $45.4-month pay raise for public school teachers as well.

Texas' Commission on Higher Education recommended $89,000,000 more for higher education from general revenue. Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School recommended an increase of $165,000,000. But it suggested doubling tuition which would reduce the general revenue hike to $120,000,000. State Hospital and Special Schools, the judiciary and other state agencies have put in for $112,000,000 more than the current budget.

Asked where additional money likely would come from, both McGrew and his boss, League Director Alvin A. Burger, noted that restoration of the $2.75 corporation franchise tax rate, removal of exemptions in the present sales tax or raising of the rate would be big revenue producers. They made no recommendation.

JOBS FILLED—Larry Temple, 28, formerly of Plainview, was named by Governor Connally as his executive assistant to succeed Howard Rose, who returned to law practice in Midland.

Connally appointed Edward H. Harter, publisher of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times, to succeed Vann Kennedy, Corpus Christi radio executive, who resigned from the Texas State Historical Survey Committee.

WATER PROJECTS—Representatives of eight East Texas soil conservation districts have been conferring with Texas Water Commission staffers about a proposal for a Southeast Texas Resources Conservation and Development Project.

They are mapping a plan for coordination of all existing water projects in their jurisdictions, as well as others being projected, so that recreational, flood control, drainage, levee soil conservation units will be utilized to the fullest.

Counties involved are Newton, Tyler, Hardin, Polk, Jasper, Jefferson, Orange, Chambers and parts of Liberty and San Jacinto counties.

It is expected that the districts will go next to the Board. They hope to present a plan to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which if approved would designate an agency to do actual designing. Designated agency probably would be the Soil Conservation Service.

Assistance plan, called the Resources, Conservation and Development Act, was passed in 1962. But it just now is getting underway.

Act provides that the U. S. Department of Agriculture pay for the planning and participating in recreational and other facilities on a local sharing basis.

COKE COUNTY DAM HEARING SET—On October 19 Texas Water Commission will hear arguments on application of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, Big Spring, to relocate a dam in Coke County. Arguments are set for the same day on whether to delay consideration of the application.

District wants to increase reservoir capacity of the project to 488,760-acre feet. Lower Colorado River Authority has objected to the amendment application.

Commissioner set October 26 for hearing the application of Houston Lighting and Power Company to take 3,000,000-acre feet of water a year from Dickinson Bay for industrial purposes.

GREEN BELT DAM CHANGED—Texas Water Commission approved the request of Green Belt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority to move its proposed dam and reservoir site from the Salt Fork of the Red River upstream to a point about five miles from Childress.

Engineer S. W. Freese said the relocation was necessary because clay materials the bottom of the Salt Fork location weren't strong enough to bear the proposed dam.

State Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress says that any site is alright with his constituents, just so long as they get water soon. Rogers said, "People in Childress have started hauling bath water, because if they use local water they smell worse after a bath than before."

SHORT SKORTS—Governor Connally said reports that organized racial demonstrations may be staged in San Antonio during the Southern Governor's conference, October 10-13, are "mere rumors," but added, "What can you do about it if it happens?"

A large snarl of red tape stands between colleges and a junior college in Texas and estimated $11,600,000 federal grants for construction, but Dr. L. E. Harrell of the Texas Commission on Higher Education said they may know some.

West-Tex Talk

A Look At West Texas Through Editorial Page Excerpts From Its Leading Weekly & Semi-Weekly Newspapers.

WHAT IS THE future of politics in the United States? Most observers agree that 1964 is a crucial year, a crossroads. The consensus of opinion among political observers regardless of party, is that the Republican party will be defeated in November. The only question is: by how much?

A disastrous defeat could wipe out the Republican party, some say. A defeat no greater than a 55-45 would perhaps set the party back 20 years.

In any event, many see a realignment of the parties after November. Some conservative Democrats may follow Strom Thurmond into the Republican party. Many moderates and liberals of the Republican party may join the Democrats.

Republican liberals and moderates, some of whom are giving lip service to Goldwater, view the Goldwaterdynasty as a blueprint for disaster. Most of them expect Goldwater to lose by a big vote—and some secretly hope he does.

Some Republicans are less pessimistic. Many are of the opinion that the Goldwater-Miller ticket will be so badly trounced that revolution within the party will restore moderates and moderation automatically.

A question mark is the popular vote in the Deep South. While some of their outspoken leaders may follow Thurmond into the GOP, the masses may be more concerned with the problems of making a living than with the color of the student sitting next to Johnny in school. Economically speaking, most of the South knows which side of its bread is buttered. The more literate can read the effect of Republicanism on their economy. They want no more of the pre-Roosevelt era.

TULIA HERALD

FOR TEXAS HUNTERS

Late Moisture To Boost Game Crop

Some hunters may be looking for higher ground camp sites because of recent flash floods, but the effort will be justified since the drought smothering moisture has readied big game generally for an excellent harvest.

E. A. Walker, assistant director for wildlife for the Parks and Wildlife Department, said deer is most areas will be in top condition and that turkeys, at least in the vast Hill Country, will be in better numbers than last year.

Walker said there are some scattered exceptions to the favorable harvest outlook, dating back to the searing drought which hit deep South Texas turkey ranges and which compounded the caterpillar blight in places where acorns bulwark the mast food crop.

The wildlife authority said the new moisture will create a late grass and weed growth to supplement the mast crop and likewise will provide quick germination of oat fields sown as an aid to both deer and turkey.

"We already had an abundant deer population," said Walker, "and it was just a matter in some areas whether the herds would survive the dry spell. Now we have good moisture practically everywhere. It will be a photo finish for some deer in the more acute areas to fill out by the time the main tier harvest opens in mid-November. But generally the game will be in excellent condition."

Walker said some large South Texas areas were flooded by the downpours but the quail losses "apparently" are negligible.

The only deterrent now to fairly perfect range condition is the late season rain.

ditions," he said, "would be a premature freeze. Still, with the oat crops booming and available varieties of frost resistant natural growth, the impact would not be calamitous."

The last month of the North Zone mourning dove season may mark the peak of migration of these birds through the State and shooting may pick up, according to A. J. Springs, wildlife coordinator for the Parks and Wildlife Department.

He said a build up of birds already has been reported by hunters even in the South Zone.

The Northern Zone dove hunt which opened September 1 ends October 30. The South Zone which opened September 26 continued through November 24 except in counties which had a whitening season. In these counties the season in the South Zone closes November 20.

Wildlife, notably quail and possibly pheasant, will benefit if Panhandle farmers heed the recommendations of the High Plains Research Foundation and avoid turning under grain sorghum stubble immediately following harvest.

Recent agricultural research, according to the Parks and Wildlife Department, has shown that such plowing practices provide grain-sized midge populations with a warm protective layer of earth from which they emerge each spring to wreak havoc in grain fields.

The tiny midge, which destroys four to seven million dollars worth of grain sorghum yearly cannot survive in a dry field.

HEALTH & SAFETY TIPS

Careful Attention Needed For Acne

(Editor's Note: The following article was prepared especially for The Colorado City Record by The American Medical Association.)

Something can be done about acne.

The pimples, blemishes, blackheads and boils that make life miserable for so many teenagers often can be eliminated or considerably reduced by careful attention.

Waiting to "outgrow" your acne can be a serious mistake, says a pamphlet of the American Medical Association.

Acne isn't a serious disease, in that it's not a threat to life and limb, but it can be seriously disfiguring at the time of life when young people are most sensitive about their appearance. Severe acne can lead to permanent scarring.

Acne is caused by poor adjustment of the skin to the secretions of maturing glands. The imbalance in hormone secretions will correct itself in time usually around the age of 18 or 19. There is no two things to remember in dealing with acne:

There is no one-shot cure, no magic pill. Control is a continuing process of simple skin-care which you must follow faithfully to have a good complexion.

Second, acne is not a disease of dirt, even though you are told to wash thoroughly and frequently. The washing is to remove oils and to clear the plugged oil glands, keeping blackheads at a minimum. The blackness of the blackhead is not dirt, but is due to a chemical change in the secretions from the oil glands.

Wash the face two or more times daily with soap and hot water. Wash thoroughly, but gently enough to avoid irritating the skin. Frequent shampooing of the hair also is in order.

INSTALLATION DINNER

Self Culture Club Meet at Mrs. Reed's

The Self Culture Club met in the home of Mrs. R. M. Reed for their annual President and Installation Dinner Friday with Mrs. A. H. Jackson and Mrs. L. B. Elliott as co-hostesses.

vive winter in maize fields if stubble is left standing exposing the insects to cold, dry Panhandle weather.

The Department pointed out that thanks to sound research, grain stubble left standing all winter will accomplish two purposes: control the destructive midge and help provide winter food and cover for wildlife.

* ACNE —

Acne is not primarily a dietary disease. Following the strictest diet will not, by itself, clear your skin. However, some individuals seem to be made worse by very small amounts of certain foods, particularly chocolate, and these persons obviously should avoid such offending foods entirely.

Medical care for acne is best sought early before permanent damage is done. Each physician will have his own particular rules, methods and medications, and the treatment prescribed will vary from patient to patient. Do not assume that the medicines and methods prescribed for a friend will be the best, or even proper, treatment for you.

Your doctor probably will warn against picking, scratching, popping and squeezing of pimples, since this may result in scars. Ask him whether you should open pustules or extract blackheads yourself. If he recommends this, he will show you how to do it without damage.

In some patients other treatments, such as antibiotics or other drugs, ultraviolet light or x-ray therapy, may be selected by your physician. Your physician will determine your specific needs.

A salad supper was served to eighteen members. Each table had a centerpiece of carnation. Invocation was given by Mrs. C. P. Gary.

Mrs. R. M. Reed was installation officer for the service. For her Scripture, Mrs. Reed used Luke 10:38-42. She said that each club member needed to be a combination of Mary and Martha to both study and work for the good of the club and its purpose.

The theme for the installation was, "The Carnation and Its Petals". The Carnation is the club flower. Mrs. Reed also said that it takes many petals to make a carnation and many carnations to make a bouquet.

Each petal and each carnation has a purpose but when put together they become a bouquet with a distinct purpose. This is the same with a group of officers, each with her duty to perform and when put together they become as one. They are working toward one goal. That is why I chose to install our officers with the theme carnations said Mrs. Reed.

As each officer was installed she was given a corsage symbolizing the office she held and her duties.

Each member was given a carnation to put in the bouquet. Mrs. Reed gave the prayer for the club and its year's work which closed the installation service.

it's really off!

ELECTRIC—Even though you've turned the control to "off", hangover heat lingers in the coils—can result in overcooking, boil-overs, hot tempers.

GAS—Turn the flame off, and the heat's off... immediately! No mess, no hangover heat... one reason, maybe, that 99% of the nation's top chefs cook with gas.

Roy Mize Is Member Of USAF

Airman third class Roy Dean Mize, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Mize of China Grove is a member of the 329th Fighter Interceptor Squadron at George Air Force Base, California.

Mrs. Mize said that the Headquarters United States Air Force announced this week that Air Defense Commands 329th Fighter Interceptor Squadron has won the coveted Hughes Trophy for 1964.

The F-106 unit was selected by the USAF for outstanding achievements in airborne intercept operations, from Air Defense Squadrons throughout the world.

The 329th earned its selection by compiling maximum operational readiness for overall efficiency in spite of numerous obstacles in the form of exercises, equipment modifications, and test participation. The 329th competed with fighter interceptor units from ADC's five air divisions: Alaskan Air Command, United States Air Forces Europe, and Pacific Air Forces.

Basis for selection included aircraft operational readiness, weapons, reliability, intercept capability, and flying safety.
