R. S. STERLING IN GOVERNOR'S RACE

State Road Bond Question Dominates W. T. C. C. Session

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

Talker does not know the original authority for the figures but a reader hands him a tabulation of comparative purchases made by men and women, which appears very plausible, Here is the report:

P.C. of Purch.

Type of Store—	Men	Women
Silks	2	98
Jewelry	10	90
Department store	18	82
Grocery store	19	81
Electric supplies	20	80
Drug store	22	78
Pianos	22	78
Men's Socks	25	75
Leather goods	33	67
Hardware	51	49
Men's neckwear	37	63
Automobiles	59	41

The merchant will find it interesting to check this report against the sales in his own store and the dual heads of families can find something in the report for argument.

If Wichita Falls cannot furnish a Democratic nomination for governor, it can furnish a candidate for the Republican nomination. John Pollard Gaines, well known in livestock circles, has filed his application for a place on the Republican primary ballot and, if nominated, hopes to gather enough Democratic votes to become a serious contender for election in November. Mr. Gaines is recommended by his friends as one having a lot of good horse sense, which is a very necessary qualification for the office he seeks.

Henry Ford tells the Associated Press that the way to end the depression is to increase wages and to apply factory methods to agriculture. Henry is for less talk and more action as a means of restoring industrial activity. This is no time for lowering wages, he says. Mr. Ford has a theory that it is better for business and the community to employ 100 men at $7 per day than it is to employ 200 at $3.50. He maintains that the greater purchasing power of the 100 will buy products that will go far toward helping keep the other 100 employed at wages that will give them buying power to help keep the original 100 employed.

This is Memorial day—a day when we honor the memory of the soldier dead by recalling their heroism and sacrifices and by strewing flowers over their graves. Memorial day had its origin in the South soon after the close of the civil war when southern women decorated the graves of Confederate dead with flowers. The practice quickly spread throughout the country and today is observed in every state in the union and the country's island and territorial possessions.

In later years it is becoming a more general practice to decorate the graves of all, whether soldiers or not and to make the day one of memorial to all.

On June 23 and 24, the state highway commission will let contracts for approximately $3,000,000 of highway improvements in 18 counties in Texas. Included in the lettings will be 20.8 miles of paving in Baylor county, 6.9 miles in Archer county and 5.5 miles in Young county.

Memorial day orators will tell us that the world war cost $48,000,000,000, yet it is estimated that preventable industrial accidents have cost more than $50,000,000,000 in the past 10 years. It has only been recently, says Inis Weed Jones in World's Work, that employers have realized how safety pays them in dollars and cents. The Buick Motor company, after five years of safety work, found that it had saved $300,000 and protected between 2,000 and 3,000 men. The Travelers Insurance company states that the indirect losses from accidents are four times as great as the direct losses. This is explained as follows: A man busy on a rush order is injured by a circular saw. The medical and insurance costs were $80—but, his lost time was $62.50; the lost time of employes who stopped work to help or through curiosity, cost $50. The lost time of the foreman and superintendent amounted to $47. In addition a pattern costing $86 was ruined. The value of the work and material for the customers order which was cancelled as a result of delay, was $44. Then, the injured man was taken back at full pay when the value of his work was worth but $10 a week, at a loss of $90. Thus, incidental costs came to $379.50. Fear of workers engaged in dangerous operations cuts production enormously. Mr. Kearns of the Simmons company says, "Our experience has been that whenever we made a job safe, we increased production from 15 to 150 per cent." Safety for workers pays. If those who are not moved by humanitarian motives realized how much profit were to be gained by it, we would not have 2,500,000 workers injured and 23,000 killed annually.

The Wichita county Democratic committee meets today to fill vacancies and to organize for the coming primaries and campaigns. Talker would remind the committee that the war is over, that is, the last war that almost disrupted the party. The committee and the party must prepare for a new fight, not within the party, but by an united party against the common enemy.

ROBBERS ESCAPE

LOS ANGELES, May 29. (US)—Police today reported no progress had been made in their search for the bandit who last night robbed three passengers on the Santa Fe's crack eastbound limited, The Chief, of $10,500 in jewelry and $575 cash.

Delegates Take Possession Of Abilene as Town Bands Parade

ABILENE, May 29. (AP)—Brought to their attention from several sources, the proposed state highway bond issue today held the interest of delegates to the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention.

Gov. Dan Moody in an address reaffirmed his endorsement of the principles which the bond issue assertedly would put into effect. W. B. Hamilton, president of the organization, urged all delegates to be ready to take a stand for or against the proposal.

A resolution reaffirming the West Texas body's previous approval of the proposition was passed by the work committee and will be presented to the convention. Sen. Oliver C. Cunningham of Abilene served notice he would oppose it.

Moody Wants Bonds

Governor Moody devoted practically all of his address today to the highway financing problem. He said that the user of the highway, rather than the nearby property owner, should pay for building state roads and mentioned the gasoline tax as an equitable way of

WICHITA BAND WINS

The Wichita Falls Playground band, under the direction of Paul Seeds, a part of this city's representation at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Abilene Thursday took first honors in the band contest in which several other two-year-old musical organizations from other West Texas cities were entered, according to word reaching here Thursday night.

The prize awarded in the contest was a silver loving cup, a permanent trophy. The judges of the contest awarded the junior band a score of 91.

Demo Attorneys Plan Conference on Appeal

DALLAS, May 29. (UP)—Attorneys who represented the Democratic state executive committee before a special state supreme court when Thomas B. Love, Dallas, was granted a mandamus writ compelling the committee to place his name on the primary ballot, will meet in Austin Saturday with Dave W. Wilcox, state Democratic chairman, to determine whether or not they will file for a rehearing. Love previously had been barred from the ballot because he supported Herbert Hoover in 1928.

POSTMASTERS ADJOURN

HOUSTON, May 29. (UP)—The annual three-day convention of the Texas Postmasters' association was ended late today with a boat ride down the Houston ship channel and inspection of an oil refinery.

Memorial Day Rites Scheduled

President to Speak at Gettysburg Field Ceremonies

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—From among the graves that dot the hillsides about one of the most sanguinary battlegrounds of the Civil war, President Hoover tomorrow will pay tribute to America's war dead.

Like many other Americans who will lay aside their duties to place wreaths upon the graves of soldier dead, the president will leave a locked desk at the White House to journey to Gettysburg National cemetery. He will speak there on a Memorial day program.

While the president is speaking of a battle in that conflict from which Memorial day takes its origin, the army sergeant who nine years ago selected the unknown soldier will decorate at Arlington cemetery the marble tomb in which the symbolic hero lies.

Sergeant Edward S. Younger of Chicago made the selection in a small temporary chapel at Chalons-sur-Marne, France. Standing before four coffins containing unidentified bodies, he dropped a bouquet of roses upon one.

Tomorrow he will see for the first time the place of honor in which the unknown rests and will drop upon the tomb a bouqet similar to the one he used in France. In the same ceremonies, veterans of two other conflicts, the Spanish and Civil wars, will participate.

The president will motor to Get-

GAINES SEEKS G. O. P. MANTLE

Wichitan Asks Nomination As Governor

Basing his platform on the needs of the farmers and stockmen and disregarding other issues as "trivial in comparison," John Pollard Gaines of Wichita Falls Thursday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination to the governorship of Texas. Mr. Gaines' application has been filed with the Republican committee.

In connection with the announcement, friends of the candidate pointed out he is of a family which has been closely connected with public life, his grandfather, John Pollard Gaines, having been at one time governor of Oregon and formerly a member of congress from Kentucky. Mr. Gaines himself has been a farmer and stock raiser all his life.

Gives Platform

Outlining the salient issues of his platform, Mr. Gaines Thursday said the state should organize a system through the legislature to secure

$250,000 Alienation Suit Throws Light on Murder Mystery

HOUSTON, May 29. (AP)—T. P. Lee, oil capitalist and member of the Republican state executive committee, appeared voluntarily today before the district attorney for questioning in connection with the investigation of the slaying of W. L. Edwards, Houston aviator. Mr. Lee, District Attorney OBrien Stevens said after the two hour conference, knew nothing of the killing.

Their discussion, Mr. Stevens added, centered around other matters, including a $250,000 alienation of affections suit which Edwards had lodged against Lee some months before his death.

Lawyers Go Along

The oil millionaire was accompanied to the criminal court building by two lawyers, George King and Wright Morrow. Mr. King appeared before the grand jury, which later adjourned for the week, at his own request. Mr. Morrow accompanied Mr. Lee in the conference with Stevens.

"We just came down here to give the district attorney any help we could in the matter," Morrow said when he left with his client. Lee made no statement.

"Mr. Lee appeared voluntarily as did his lawyers," Mr. Stevens said. "He answered all my questions fully. He had no knowledge of the killing, but gave me information about the litigation and other matters."

Solution of Dallas Death Mystery Seen

DALLAS, May 29. (AP)—Officers today expressed the belief that the mystery surrounding the slaying of Charles H. Brown, bus driver of Houston, here last Monday would be solved soon.

They were holding as a material witness a woman who identified from the rogues gallery record a man she said did the shooting. The officers, who refused to reveal further clues in the case, said they expected to make additional arrests soon.

The officers had been working on the theory that Brown was the victim of mistaken identity or the victim of a robber.

Actor Seeks Man Who Poisoned Valuable Dog

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., May 29. (AP)—Harold Lloyd, screen comedian, offered a reward of $500 today for information leading to the arrest of persons who allegedly poisoned his champion Great Dane dog. He reported that chemists found poison in the animal's stomach. The dog, valued by Lloyd at $3,500, died while on exhibition at a recent Los Angeles dog show.

Ford Says Aged Men Bear Load

Auto King Says Mature Minds Necessary to Industry

By DAVID J. WILKE

DETROIT, Mich., May 29. (AP)—Henry Ford believes more than ever that business and industry must depend upon the leadership of men of mature years. He told the Associated Press today he had found no occasion to change his previously expressed opinion that if all the men of 55 years and older were removed from industry "there would not be brains enough left to carry on."

"This is no reflection upon the youth of today," he said. "I think that while they are different, today's youngsters are a fine lot and they decidedly are not headed for perdition. Moreover, they have greater opportunities today than the youth of 40 and 50 years ago."

Mr. Ford was asked whether he always had conceded the wisdom of age.

"You didn't think that back in 1894 when you began tinkering with your horseless carriage, did you?"

"I always had older men for friends and I always went to them for advice. I could cite them one after another. Old men understood my idea better than young men did. With mature years I realized more and more the value of that advice.

"I realized that in my youth I hadn't waked up yet."

Youth and age need each other, Mr. Ford went on. "Youth must

GRAF ZEPPELIN REGAINS ROUTE

Dirigible Due in Havana Early Saturday

NEW YORK, May 29. (US)—By Friday morning the Graf Zeppelin will be well over the West Indies on its way to Havana, New York and Lakehurst.

Radio messages picked up from the giant ship by American radio stations tonight stated that Dr. Hugo Eckener expected to pass the Barbados islands by midnight and speed on to Havana, which city he hoped to sight by midday Friday.

After a day of silence the Graf finally got into communication with American radio stations at 7 o'clock Thursday night E. S. T. At that time the ship gave its position as 10.50 degrees north latitude, and 55.10 degrees west longitude.

This placed it at that time at a spot in the Atlantic approximately 350 miles north of Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, South America, 385 miles west of Trinidad and about 300 miles south of the Barbados, the tiny island group that starts the wide crescent of the West Indies on its swing northwestward to the top of Florida.

This position indicated that Dr. Hugo Eckener had gone too far out to sea to pick up the West Indies at Trinidad, which had been previously expected. From the Barbados to Havana is approximately 2,100 miles.

MAY SKIP HAVANA

HAVANA, May 29. (AP)—It was reported here tonight that Dr. Hugo Eckener had decided to head straight for New York and Lakehurst on his northward flight from Pernambuco, Brazil, and that the Graf Zeppelin would skip its scheduled stop at Havana. The messages were received by Louis Classing, general manager of the Hamburg-America line here.

Edgar E. Witt Enters Lieutenant Governor Race

DALLAS, May 29. (AP)—State Senator Edgar E. Witt of Waco today filed with Albert Sidney Johnson, secretary of the Democratic state executive committee, his application for a place on the primary ballot July 26 as a candidate for lieutenant governor. Witt has served longer in the present senate than any other member excepting one, having been elected from Waco in December, 1918, while still in the army, and has served continuously since. He was chairman of the senate committee on education for several terms.

Belgian Royal Car Injures Small Boy

BRUSSELS, May 29. (US)—The royal automobile carrying King Albert of Belgium today seriously injured a nine-year-old boy, Jean Van Verwield.

His majesty remained for half an hour at the boy's beside in a hospital, keeping a group of diplomats and generals waiting at the Brussels aviation field, where he was scheduled to appear.

Film Star Jailed For Driving While Drunk

LOS ANGELES, May 29. (AP)—Johnny Hines, film actor, was jailed here today charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated. His companion, Mrs. Pauline Holbrook, 24, was arrested, and jailed on a charge of intoxication. In municipal court later Hines was released on $100 bail until Saturday.

CITES STATE'S GAINS

Capitalist Says Texas Has Need of Man Abreast of Era of Change

HOUSTON, May 29. (AP)—R. S. Sterling of Houston, chairman of the Texas highway commission and prominent in the business and civic life of South Texas, today announced his candidacy for governor on the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Sterling stressed the need for an administration of state affairs in keeping with the changing economic conditions of Texas. He declared in favor of a continuation of the policies of the present highway commission, more liberal support of public schools and colleges, an adjustment of the state taxing system to lift the burden from people of limited means and strict enforcement of the prohibition act and state laws.

Text of Announcement

The text of Mr. Sterling's announcement follows:

"I have decided to enter the Democratic primaries as a candidate for governor. A careful study of the present situation has led me to believe that I can be useful to my state if called to the governorship, and in that belief I am announcing my candidacy.

"Economically, Texas is undergoing greater changes than any other state. Her towns are becoming cities, her industries growing in number and importance. Both in urban and rural districts, new and more complex conditions of life are coming into evidence. Texas needs an administration awake to the demands of an era of change and dedicated to efficiency in meeting

COMPLICATIONS SEEN

AUSTIN, May 29.—Political observers here tonight predicted serious complications in any plans Gov. Dan Moody might have for running for re-election, after R. S. Sterling had announced his candidacy for governor. Ross was in conference with the governor last week, reportedly to select a candidate whom the administration would support and it has been understood Mr. Sterling would run only in the event Governor Moody decided not to enter the race. Governor Moody was on a train tonight en route to Teague from Abilene, where he had attended the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention.

Bodies of Four Boys Found in Sewer Mud

BALTIMORE, May 29. (INS)—Bodies of three of four boys, missing since Saturday were found submerged in the mud of a sewer today.

Only one of the bodies has been identified by the parents, that of Wilbert Alban, 15. While the other two are believed to be John Kelly, 14, and Donald Moore, 12. The fourth boy is Francis Welden, 9.

Police believe they crawled through the sewer as a prank and were trapped.

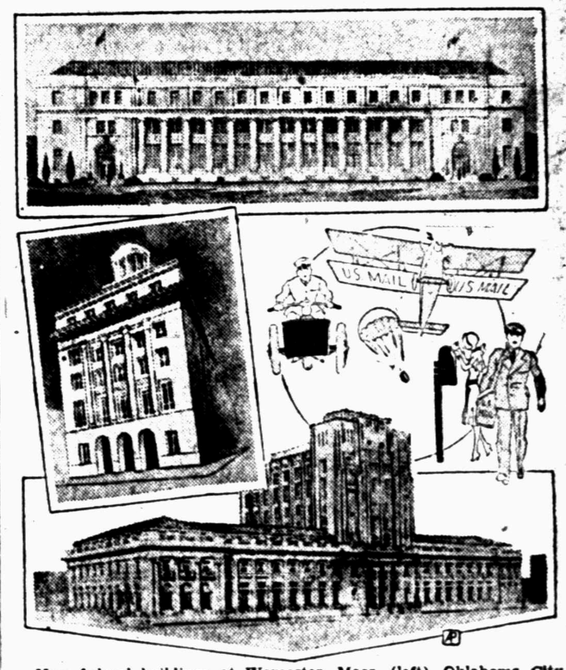

Wife Claims Hubby Tried To Toss Her From Plane

HAMMOND, Ind., May 29. (AP)—Charges that her husband attempted to throw her from an airplane after beating her while 3,000 feet in the air were contained in the complaint of a divorce suit filed here today by Mrs. Miriam Huntington against her husband, George.

Brownsville Population Increased to 22,050

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, May 29. (UP)—More than doubling its population in the last decade, the 1930 census count of Brownsville as announced today was 22,050. In 1920, the count was 10,259.

Wichita Federal Building May Show New Trend in Government Structures

United States Housing Projects Already Under Way Inaugurate New Simplicity in Designs

What will Wichita Falls' new federal courthouse and postoffice look like, when and if—?

The long sought building will be an addition to the city's public institutions to which every citizen can point with pride, judging from the government buildings already under construction in the United States.

Your Uncle Samuel is acquiring such a fine front that some of these days the folks will hardly know him.

Modern Appearance

Architects and artisans are modernizing his appearance by erecting new federal buildings the country over.

Generally, the new structures are of classic simplicity and the program seems to have sounded the knell of the ornate postoffice with its architectural gingerbread.

Launched in 1926, the government now is at the peak of the most intensive building program in the history of the country.

$500,000,000 Set Aside

Since that time, more than $500,000,000 has been authorized for new federal buildings within the District of Columbia and over the country. Outside of Washington, funds authorized for construction total $300,000,000. This figure includes the $750,000 allotment for Wichita Falls as well as funds for buildings in other Northwest Texas cities.

An estimated 25,000 men are employed on federal building projects. One hundred and twenty structures have been started or completed since the initial authorization four years ago.

Congress set aside $100,000,000 in 1926 and has made two more $100,000,000 grants since then for federal construction outside of the capital city. The sale of old buildings and sites will make another $48,000,000 available.

From 1913 to 1926 construction of new buildings to house expanding federal activities was at a standstill. Thus, a new era is being launched.

Chronic 'Joiner' Turns Down Income Tax Bid

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 29. (AP)—It doesn't pay a taxpayer to belong to too many lodges. That theory probably saved a Pushmataha county taxpayer some money.

Scott Stine, assistant state auditor, mailed a state income tax blank to the Pushmataha county resident, asking him to fill it out and return it.

The blank was sent back to the capitol, unsigned.

"I already belong to several lodges," wrote the prospective taxpayer, "and I do not care to join your income tax."

He won. Stine said there would be no reply from the auditor.

Cucumbers by Train Loads Enter Chicago

CHICAGO, May 29. (AP)—Solid train loads of cucumbers from the southwest are arriving in northern cities. The Missouri-Kansas-Texas lines report the handling of an average of a million cucumbers a day for several weeks past, mainly from South Texas.

DEMO LEADERS MEET TODAY

County Executive Committee to Fill Vacancies

Action on the nominations of Judge Edgar Scurry to fill the 21 vacancies in the Wichita county Democratic executive committee will be taken Friday at the first meeting of that body, to be held at 2 o'clock in the courthouse, when members of the committee will make initial preparations of the year for the approaching party primaries.

Judge Scurry, chairman of the committee, said Thursday he had made only 17 actual nominations to fill the vacancies but that he expected to complete the list of 21 in time for the meeting. In addition to the chairman, the committee has a membership of 45. The formal call for the meeting Friday was made to allow the membership to accept or reject Judge Scurry's nominations, and to lay plans for the start of real work in connection with the party's affairs. Other meetings will be held at comparatively frequent intervals to complete plans for the primaries.

Judge Scurry explained that 13 of the vacancies were made through the action of the committee almost two years ago in ousting those members who refused to pledge themselves to support the party nominees "from constable to president." The committee's right to take such action was sustained by the supreme court following contests in both district and civil appeals courts of the state.

Texas Republicans To Plan Year's Activities

DALLAS, May 29. (UP)—Plans for Republican activities throughout the year will be formulated here Saturday when G. O. P. party leaders, including members of the state committee and county and congressional chairmen, meet in executive session. The group probably will endorse a gubernatorial candidate at the meeting.

Pedestrians Horrified When Plunge From Building Kills St. Jo Doctor

DALLAS, May 29. (AP)—Dr. Clarence Moore, 50, of Saint Jo, a railroad staff physician, fell to his death today from a 15-story window of a downtown hotel. A verdict of "death by a suicidal fall" was returned at a coroner's inquest. Scores of persons on the streets at the noon hour witnessed the fall.

It was described by J. L. Downs, who had offices in a nearby building. Downs said he was gazing out of his window and saw a man open the screen of a window on the 15th floor of the hotel and climb out backward. He said the man clung to the ledge a moment or two and then fell.

Mrs. E. J. Day of Eastland, who occupied the hotel room below, was startled by a scream and turned in time to see the man hurtle past her window. He clutched at the walls as he fell, she said. Two men were in conversation a few feet from the spot where he struck the pavement.

At his home near Gainesville it was learned that Dr. Moore suffered a nervous breakdown several months ago, and that last Sunday his wife became alarmed at his absence, and a searching party found him apparently dazed.

Dr. Moore was born and reared in Sherman, son of the late Ed Moore, a dry goods merchant there, and grandson of Col. J. B. Shannon, a pioneer Grayson county farmer and stockman.

Charred Bodies of Three Men Found In Ruins After Blaze at Abilene

ABILENE, Texas, May 29. (AP)—Apparently overcome by smoke before they could escape, three men lost their lives in a rooming house fire here today, 11 other persons had narrow escapes.

The dead: Harvey Sprinkle, 21, of Melrose; Roy Thomas, 28, of Abilene, and Bernard Love, 19, of Melrole. Their bodies were found in a corner of a sleeping porch on the second floor.

Fire Marshall Ray Rowe said the fire started from an automatic water heater.

The rooming house, located in the business district where much gaiety was displayed in decorations for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was operated by Mrs. Maude Parker.

Mrs. Parker said she was awakened by smoke and immediately started to arouse her guests. Almost an invalid herself, she climbed the stairs and said everyone answered her calls before she left the house.

She was prostrated and had not been told of the deaths. She injured herself in trying to remove a trunk, and it was planned to remove her to a Temple sanitorium tomorrow. She came here from Brady six years ago and had operated the rooming house eight months.

Two of the dead, Sprinkle and Love, were students of a business college here and were to have been graduated next week. Thomas was an employe of a country club.

obtaining funds. He declared counties should be reimbursed for money they have bonded themselves to spend on state roads, and said a state bond proposal should stipulate a reimbursement of counties for money they have agreed to spend, and should provide for retirement of bonds through the gasoline tax.

President Hamilton, in his annual address, said the $28,000 deficit facing the chamber at the El Paso convention last fall had been wiped out and replaced by a $16,000 balance. He urged the West Texas chamber to request a law permitting oil operators in any pool to enter into an agreement concerning when they would drill and how far apart they would place their wells. Representatives of the Midland Chamber of Commerce have said they would oppose this resolution, contending that such a law would favor the major companies.

Hamilton Talks Oil

He pleaded for more industries for Texas and asked factories already in this state to use natural gas for fuel. Much natural gas, he said, "is going to waste or being dumped on northern and eastern markets at a ridiculously low figure."

Urging that West Texas natural gas be conserved until a fair price could be obtained for it, Hamilton said "our cheap fuel is going to the North and East to make the industrial centers there wealthier."

The visitors took complete possession of the city. While the delegates danced and made merry in ballrooms and other places bands played in hotel lobbies.

Seven winsome lassies from Sweetwater dressed in gypsy costumes went about the streets singing in an effort to gain favor for their city as the 1931 meeting place.

Parades Staged

An educational parade was held this afternoon. Gaily colored floats representing colleges, high schools, business colleges, beauty schools, the American Legion and the Women's Christian Temperature Union moved in a line down crowded streets. Several colleges had their bands in the line of march.

Portales, N. M., had a high school band in the parade and also in the contest for $2,500 in prizes which got under way today.

Other bands which played today in the preliminaries were from Snyder, Burkburnett, Paducah, Merkel, Wellington and Wichita Falls.

Speaking at a luncheon for chamber of commerce secretaries and their wives, Governor Moody declared for four state parks to be financed from automobile license revenues.

The commercial body today inserted into its by-laws a section providing that each town would be entitled to a delegate for each paid member except that no unit should have more than 300 delegates.

Ten district directors for the year ahead were named today at meetings of unit directors of their respective areas. The regional directors, with the president, two vice presidents and the immediate past president, form the executive committee, governing body of the West Texas chamber.

Re-elected: F. W. Kennerly, Quanah, district 3; John Perkins, Abilene, district 8; H. L. Birney, El Paso, district 7; Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth, district 4; Clifford B. Jones, Spur, district 2; and W. P. Hallmark, Dublin.

District chairman: Walter Yaggy, San Angelo, district 9; J. W. Crudington, Amarillo, district 1; R. L. Penick, Stamford, district 5, and W. K. Crawley, Lamesa, district 6.

Secretaries: Ed C. Burris, Graham, district 3; O. V. Vernon, Amarillo, district 1; W. C. Hickey, Ranger, district 5; A. F. Robinson, Alpine, district 8; Wayne A. Wilsongn, Lamesa, district 6; Victor L. Minter, Carlsbad, N. M., district 7; Maury Hopkins, Plainview, district 2; Carl Blasig, Brady, district 10, and Jack Hott, Fort Worth, district 4. The secretary for district 9 will be chosen tomorrow.

Wichita Falls to Honor Memory Of War Dead in Services Today

Final arrangements for a joint Memorial day program, sponsored by the American Legion, in which all war veterans will participate, have been completed, it was announced Friday. The service will be held at the Episcopal church, Tenth and Burnett streets, at 8 o'clock Friday evening.

The graves of all veterans, which total approximately 150, will be decorated Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Any person having relatives who died in any war is requested to get in touch with J. F. Friberg, post adjutant, telephone, 9059, advising him of the location of the grave as all graves of veterans in the local cemeteries will be marked.

The program at the church will be opened with a march by Mrs. Carrie E. Wilcox, organist after which a group composed of representative veterans will conduct the advance of colors and standards. Following "My Country 'Tis of Thee," Louis H. Gould, a Spanish American war veteran will give the preliminary address. Rev. W. D. Bratton, former army chaplain, will offer a prayer after which the choir will give Kipling's "Recessional." The memorial address will be given by Rabbi S. J. Schwab, legion chaplain and Mrs. Wilcox will play Chopin's "Funeral March." A few moments will be spent in silent devotion in memory of comrades, after which the national anthem will be given. The program will close with the benediction and recessional.

STERLING OUT FOR GOVERNOR

Highway Chairman Seeks Moody's Job

these demands. It will be my major purpose, if elected, to give the state such an administration.

Fitness Only Guide

"Only one thought should guide the citizens in choosing a governor, and that is, what candidate is best equipped to serve the interests of the public. I am willing to be judged by this standard.

"Among the proposals which I shall advocate are: To continue the policies of the present highway commission through the appointment of men especially equipped to carry out a road building program to the end that a hard surfaced road be extended to every town in Texas and a good road to every farm home. The betterment of all our public and eleemosynary institutions and especially our schools, colleges and universities. I shall give special study to an adjustment of the state taxing system and seek to work out in cooperation with the legislature the fairest adjustment that can be made to lift some of the tax burdens from those least able to bear it. Tax reform is necessary, in my belief, but it can and should be accomplished without seriously disturbing the business life of our state.

Penal Reform

"It is my purpose, if elected governor, to place the penal institutions of Texas on a sound basis and to modernize the penitentiary plant and bring the system up to date.

"I have always voted for and favored prohibition and I have been a total abstainer all my life. I am strongly committed to strict law enforcement and if I am elected I shall use all the power and influence of the office to enforce the laws of our state."

Scouts Arrive Today For Annual Field Meet

Approximately 500 out-of-town Boy Scouts, representing Archer, Clay, Jack, Throckmorton, Young and Wichita counties, are expected to arrive in Wichita Falls Friday evening to participate in the annual field day, which is being sponsored by the Boy Scout organization of Wichita Falls.

The meet will be held in Weeks park Friday evening and all day Saturday. The guests, accompanied by their scoutmasters, will make their own camps, cook their own meals and furnish their own bedding. Following the evening meal, each troop will give a stunt around a huge campfire when scoutmasters will act as judges. The group will rise at 7 o'clock Saturday morning and each individual will prepare his own breakfast after which the contests will begin. The events will end at about 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

THEATER ELECTION

Members of Wichita Falls Group to Meet Friday Night

Members of the Wichita Falls Little Theater have received notices of a meeting Friday night at the playhouse at 8 o'clock for the annual election of officers. Plans for the next season also will be discussed, according to the announcement of Emil Hermann, president. Entertainment and refreshments will be provided for the meeting, Mr. Hermann said, and members have been urged to bring interested guests to the conference.

COURT'S CIVIL DOCKET HEAVY

112 Suits and 62 Divorce Pleas Wait Action

An unusually large number of civil cases and small number of divorce cases are on the docket for the June term of the 78th district court, opening here Monday, according to the list of settings released Thursday by Mrs. A. B. Eichelberger, district clerk. There are usually about the same number of civil and divorce cases on the docket, but 112 civil and 62 divorce cases are set for the June term, Mrs. Eichelberger said. The number of each type usually is about 90.

Among the civil cases to come before Judge W. W. Cook is that of T. P. Duncan against John Alexander and others on a claim to $100,000 damages resulting from alleged fraudulent sale of stock in the Alliance Milling company of Denton.

Returns From Trip

Miss Lora Eichelberger, clerk in the office of the county clerk, returned Thursday after a visit of about two weeks with friends and relatives in Amarillo. She will return to her duties at the courthouse Monday.

BANKER'S RITES HELD THURSDAY

Tillman County Pioneer Dies at Frederick

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., May 29.—Funeral services for Arister Lair, 64, retired banker and a pioneer of Tillman county, were held from the First Presbyterian church at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Rev. G. A. Chatfield, Anadarko, former Frederick pastor, officiated. The body will be taken to Elk City, Kan., Friday. Services there will be held Sunday.

Mr. Lair has been a leading figure in the business and civic life of Tillman county since 1901 when he first moved to Frederick. At one time he headed three banks and was an officer in two others within the county. His activities have included an active interest in municipal affairs. For years he was a member of the Frederick city council.

Survivors include his widow, his father, J. L. Lair, of San Diego, Calif.; one brother, John Lair of California; and three sisters, Mrs. Mollie Watkins and Mrs. J. B. Beard Jr., both of Frederick, and Mrs. Mignonne Hancock, of Long Beach, Calif.

er Mr. Lee will go before the grand jury. He might."

Edwards was killed on the night of May 18. His body, bearing slugs from a shot gun fired at close range, was found underneath a crape myrtle bush in a quiet residential section.

Sometime before he had told a number of persons here that he thought "imported gunmen" were coming here to "get him."

Suspects Charged

John Belois and Sam Perretta, both fugitives, have been charged with the murder. Ivy T. Wharton, who told police that his cousin, E. T. (Curly) Wharton, had helped "frame" Edwards so that liquor charges would be filed against him, has been charged with violation of the liquor laws, as has Curly Wharton, who is at large. Others named in liquor complaints in connection with the investigation are C. H. Smith, Perkins Carriere and Emile and Clarence Orgeron, brothers.

Edwards was under a liquor charge at the time of his death. He had declared it a "frameup" and had preferred malicious prosecution charges.

Meanwhile Chief of Detectives W. J. Kessler of Houston was in Wichit, Kan., today on the trail of Belois, Perretta and Curly Wharton, believed to be using the name of William Johnson.

Theft Charge Follows Recovery Of $2,500 in Oil Field Equipment

A complaint charging theft of over $50 was filed here Thursday against L. B. Stevenson of Electra as the result of investigations Wednesday night by members of the sheriff's department which led to the recovery of oil field casing, tubing and rods of an estimated value of $2,500, according to the report of Sheriff W. G. Bralley, who had charge of the investigations.

The pipe recovered was said to be the property of W. M. Moore, Wichita Falls oil operator, and was reported stolen from a lease near Electra several days ago. Warren Belcher and Charlie Gant, deputies, investigated the case in Electra Wednesday night, returning here during the early morning hours Thursday to make their report. The complaint against Stevenson was filed shortly after his arrest in Electra. The casing was traced through a man said to have acted as agent in selling the stolen goods for more than $900.

FORD PRAISES MEN OF YEARS

Mature Minds Big Need of Industry Today

look to age for its education," he said, "and age educates youth because youth interests it."

Referring again to the need of mature minds in industry, Mr. Ford said:

"Young men from 30 years on are the best executives—I mean they are well fitted to carry out the plans of an organization but the best plans originate in older heads. The best part of the young executive's experience may be the way he is held back by the wiser plans of older heads. There can be an excess of action and an insufficiency of wisdom. Between them, youth and maturity provide both.

Asked whether 100 per cent education would not result in 100 per cent demand for "white collar jobs," with none desiring to do the less pleasant tasks, Mr. Ford said:

"It is a fortunate thing, perhaps, that we never can be 100 per cent educated—or anything else. Constantly changing conditions and the striving for better things answers that question.

"After all, quality is the objective in every line of endeavor. Mass production of quality products must be the objective if people are not to stand still. I said previously that when people become contented, there's trouble ahead. This is especially true if they become contented with the product of industry and the soil. Things always can be improved upon.

"It is because people never will become 100 per cent satisfied with everything they have that we never will reach the saturation point in anything we produce.

"Every farmer with an acre and every workman with a lot ought to plant everything they can and as much as they can this year. It is a big step back to employment."

War Veteran Dies After Long Fight for Health

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., May 29.—Funeral services were held Wednesday for Mack Wade at the Church of Christ at Brinkman. Mr. Wade died Monday at Roswell, N. M., where he had gone for the benefit of his health. He was an ex-service man, and had spent the past three years in government hospitals at Muskogee and at Legion, Texas.

Survivors include his wife and one son; his father, J. P. Wade, and one brother, John W. Wade, both of Brinkman, and a sister, Mrs. Susie Miles of Roswell.

for the farmers and ranchmen a fuller return for their products. If these producers were protected by a cooperative system backed by the state, he said, a fuller price could be secured for their products and they would not be forced to sell for less than the price they should receive, even at inopportune times when the market is low. His efforts toward this end were pledged in the event he is elected governor.

"After several decades of stormy agitation, the federal government has been forced to pass legislation which it deemed was most necessary to relieve the farmer and stockman. Congress has established a program and passed laws appropriating a stupendous sum, ostensibly to help the farmer market his produce at good prices, but I contend the greater part of their products were in the hands of speculators when the funds so provided were available, so that the farmers were still left to the mercy of these unfavorable conditions," he said.

The state, he said, should provide a fund to loan reliable and industrious farmers on long time notes at a low rate of interest such money as they require to help stock and equip their leased lands. This support will not necessarily cost the state one dollar to maintain its cooperative support, he added. He also urged creation of a state farm board with subordinate county boards to cooperate with and be responsible to the federal board, so that the funds provided by the government will not lie idle in the banks for lack of state cooperation.

Support of Oil Industry

Mr. Gaines also urged the fullest support of the legislature to the oil industry and combined action of the oil states in pressing upon congress the need of a proper tariff on crude oil and its products coming into this country. Other issues in his platform included the statement that the finances of the state should be placed on a thorough business basis and that prisoners of the state should be taught a trade or useful occupation. He suggested the appointment of a commission of education to determine the procedure of prison teaching and to act as an employment agency to find jobs for competent and trained prisoners on their discharge from the penitentiary.

RITES SAID FOR W. P. COLLIER

Former Merchant Dies Here At Age of 76

Funeral services for W. P. Collier, 76, retired grocery merchant who died at 2 o'clock Thursday morning at his home, 1206 Burnett street, were held Thursday afternoon from the home with Rev. Claude M. Simpson, pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist church, officiating. Burial was in Riverside cemetery, where the Masonic lodge No. 635 conducted the services. The Merkle Undertaking company was in charge of arrangements.

Active pallbearers included Walter Reid, George Kieth, Ralph Marcle, W. T. Harris, W. J. Nolan and W. K. Nile.

Mr. Collier's death broke a family circle of 10 children, some of which were older than himself. He is survived by his widow; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Wommack of McMinville, Tenn.; Mrs. Myra Smith, of Rule; Mrs. Sallie Hamilton of Honey Grove; and Mrs. R. E. Duncan of Temple; five brothers, T. T. Collier of Killeen, Texas; John, Jesse and Charles Collier of McMinville, Tenn.; and Frank Collier of Cookville, Tenn.; two nephews, H. J. and J. R. Collier of Wichita Falls and Mrs. John Cockrell of Killeen.

Mr. Collier had been a resident of Wichita Falls for 39 years prior to his death.

Sir Hubert Wilkins May Purchase Submarine

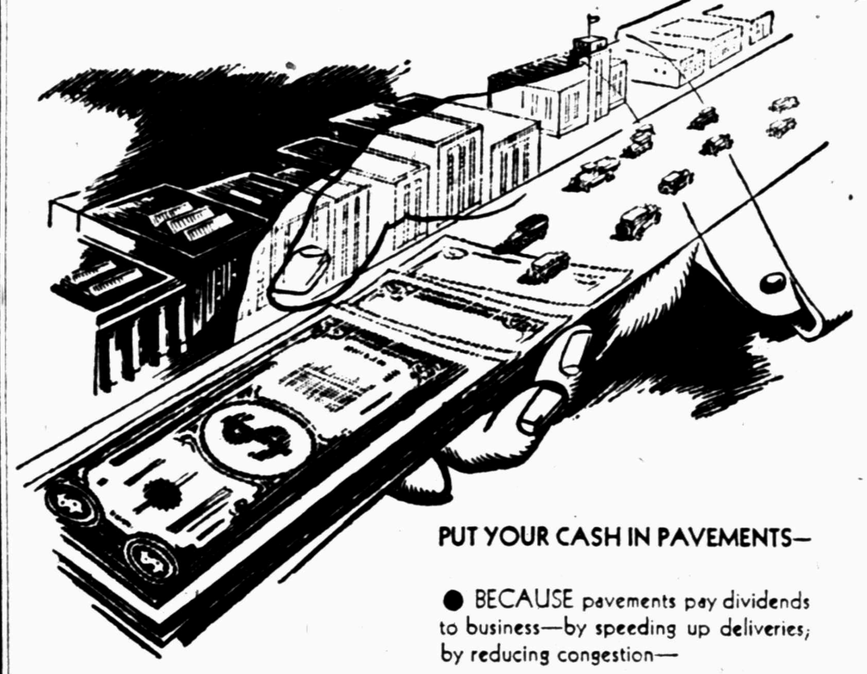

WASHINGTON, May 29. (UP)—Sir Hubert Wilkins, polar explorer, may get possession of the navy's decommissioned submarine O-12 after all. Assistant Secretary of the Navy Jahncke advised him today to submit his request to purchase the craft to the U. S. shipping board.

Jahncke explained the navy can not sell its ships but if the board submits a request for the submarine it will be turned over to it without objections, and if there is a sale it will be consummated through the board.

Sir Hubert wants the submarine for under-water polar travel and plans to equip it with certain devices.

Swift-Moving Years Make Heavy Inroads

WASHINGTON, May 29. (UP)—The swift-moving years—killing with more dreadful certainty than all of the civil war battles—have thinned the ranks of blue-clad union veterans to a mere handful of 50,749, pensions bureau record disclosed today as the nation prepared to honor the heroes of 1861 to 1865.

Since last Memorial day, death has claimed 8,317 of the army of 2,000,000 "Unionists" who fought their way to Appomattox 66 years ago.

And the same 12 months, according to Oscar J. Randall, chief of the bureau's finance division, claimed the last survivor of the Mexican war. He was Owen Thomas Edgar, who died at the John Dixon home here last September.

If history repeats itself a quarter of a century will have passed before death overtakes the last civil war veteran, pension bureau officials forecast.

They believe the 20th century will be drawing to a close before the last widow of a union solider will have died.

For, strange though it may seem, nine widows of soldiers of the war of 1812 are still drawing government pensions, although the war ended over 114 years ago.

Of the union women who volunteered as nurses during the civil war, caring for wounded at hospitals, camp and battle front, the pension rolls show that only 30 are now alive. Monthly, each receives a $50 check from the government.

Only two union generals are still alive. They are Brig. Gen. J. Warren Kiefer, 39, of Springfield, Ohio, and Maj. Gen. Adelbert Ames, 94, of Lowell, Mass.

The bureau has never scanned its records to discover the oldest civil war survivor. A candidate is John L. Skinner, Fairmont, W. Va., now more than 102.

Chicagoans Find Hittites' Temple

GHIAVOURKALE, Turkey, May 29. (AP)—The University of Chicago Anatolian expedition has brought to light what is believed to have been an ancient temple of the stone worshipping Hittites, the race which peopled the desolate area 5,000 years ago.

The excavation, made at the suggestion of Ghazi Mustapha Kemal, constitutes one of the expedition's most important Hittite discoveries in its six years in Anatolia.

The Ghazi asked the expedition to try Ghiavourkale before beginning its regular work at Aleshar June 1. Hence the Chicagoans went to Khiavourkale May 23 and drew a test line east and west. By luck they bared a cyclopean wall and gate leading to what probably is a temple, as enormous reliefs of a Hittite king, priest and goddess were engraved on the exterior rock face.

Special to The Record News.

LUBBOCK, Texas, May 29.—Dr. I. E. Barr, supervisor of the 1930 census for this district, has just announced a total of 144,758, for the population of 14 counties immediately surrounding Lubbock.

The 14 counties composing the southern part of the South Plains of Texas have increased in population from 69,173 to 144,758 in the past 10 years. This increase totals 75,586 which is a 109 per cent gain.

Hockley county shows the greatest growth over the entire group of counties with an increase of over 67 times the population of 1920. The county had 137 people in 1920 and now has 9,297. Cochran county, just west of Hockley county, increased from 67 people in 1920 to 1,896 in 1930.

The number of farms in the counties shows a substantial gain also. This increase has been made possible by the settling of farm lands that were used for ranching purposes until the last several years. Only about one-third of the tillable land of this section is now in cultivation and the next 10 years is expected to witness an even greater increase in population and production than the last 10 years.

The counties under Dr. Barr's supervision together with the totals of 1930 follows: Borden, 1,505; Cochran, 1,963; Crosby, 10,435; Dawson, 13,558; Dickens, 8,680; Gaines, 2,900; Garza, 5,586; Haskell, 16,643; Hockley, 9,297; Kent, 3,851; Lubbock, 39,091; Lynn, 12,366; Scurry, 12,187; Stonewall, 6,667.

QUANAH SCHOOL CONTRACTS LET

Two New Buildings to Be Constructed

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, May 29.—Contracts totaling $90,000 have been let by the school board of Quanah independent school district for the construction of two school buildings. West & Sanders of Memphis were awarded the contract for the new Travis school, and Taylor Brothers of Wichita Falls were given the Reagan building contract.

The Broom Electric company of Amarillo received the wiring and heating contract, but all plumbing bids were turned down.

The buildings are to be erected on the site of the present buildings, which are now in process of being wrecked. Brick from the Travis building will be used to construct a modern school for negro children.

Work of construction will begin as soon as the sites are cleared. The buildings must be in readiness by the opening of next school term. Local labor will be used and the supply is ample for all requirements.

Jefferson Davis In Hall of Fame

WASHINGTON, May 29. (INS)—Jefferson Davis, president of the Southern Confederacy, and Senator James Z. George, have taken their places in the capitol's hall of fame as the two greatest sons of Mississippi.

Bronze statues of the two men, gift of the state, have been placed in an obscure corner of statuary hall awaiting plans for dedication exercises.

A Mississippi committee is expected here next week to confer with capitol authorities on plans for the usual dedication exercises, although there have been reports that such exercises may not be held. Several states have not held formal dedications.

Some years ago, it is said, protests were against placing the statue of the leader of the confederacy in the capitol.

Under the law, however, each state has the right to name the two native sons who shall be represented in the hall of fame, and any protests will be unavailing.

The two statues are by Augustus Lukeman.

ELECTRA C-C FIGHTS PESTS

Poison for Grasshoppers Offered Free

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, May 29.—The Electra Chamber of Commerce has several hundred pounds of white arsenic, which is suitable to kill the grasshoppers that are beginning to appear in this district, the organization will be glad to give this arsenic free to those who call for it.

The following formula is put out by County Agent G. C. McGown, to kill the pests: Twenty-five pounds of coarse bran, one pound white arsenic, one quart of molasses, and one ounce amyl acctate or six oranges or lemons ground fine.

Mix two gallons of water and one quart of molasses together. Mix white arsenic and bran together thoroughly, dry. Pour the sweetened water of the bran and arsenic and add the amyl acctate. The mixture should be placed around the field from eight to 10 feet from the ends and the sides. It is best to put it out late at night or before sunup, Mr. McGown said.

Don't Delay Accepting Local Druggist's Weight-Increasing Offer

It makes a mother's heart ache to see her puny, underweight child moping around with hollow-chested stoop and pipe-stem legs. Such cruel thinness is no longer necessary.

Thanks to a wonderful scientific discovery, Renfro Drug company is now guaranteeing McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets which will cover up your child's ribs, round out his chest, flesh out his cheeks, greatly increase his strength, vigor and endurance—just as they did for the New Jersey boy who recently gained 10 pounds in 21 days.

Your child will like these pleasant sugar-coated tablets, so full of pure cod liver oil's unequalled flesh-producing vitamins, because they have no fishy taste, and never upset the stomach.

Read this ironclad guarantee—McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets must give any underweight man, woman or child the desired increase in weight or money refunded. Just ask for McCoy's at any drug store—60 tablets 60 cents.—Adv.

ONE PRESCRIPTION MADE FAMILY DOCTOR FAMOUS

Seldom has any single act been of greater benefit to mankind than that of Dr. Caldwell in 1885, when he wrote the prescription which has carried his fame to the four corners of the earth.

Over and over, Dr. Caldwell wrote the prescription as he found men, women and children suffering from those common symptoms of constipation, such as coated tongue, bad breath, headaches, gas, nausea, biliousness, no energy, lack of appetite, and similar things.

Demand for this prescription grew so fast, because of the pleasant, quick way it relieved such symptoms of constipation, that by 1888 Dr. Caldwell was forced to have it put up ready for use. Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is always ready at any drug store.—Adv.

Mrs. Hubert Barr Hostess At Original Bridge Party

Society is rescued from social lethargy in late May days by the plans of hostesses who have a gift for arranging "something different." Mrs. Hubert Barr entertained Wednesday afternoon at her home on Wilson with a bridge party unique among such affairs when she honored Mrs. H. C. Bradford of Dallas, who is the house guest of Mrs. E. D. Malone, with a "Barnyard Bridge."

Baskets and bowls of brown-hearted golden flowers were used in decoration and every feature of the party stressed the rural motif. Tallies were small pigs and cows; score cards were dainty milkmaids and favors in the lovely refreshment plates were miniature hoes, rakes and other gardening implements. The pretty girls who served wore dainty pink sunbonnets and prizes were great hand-painted garden hats with bows of organdy in pastel shades and garden seissors and garden gloves that matched the tints of organdy.

The honoree was presented with a lovely suit of lounging pajamas and in the games, Mrs. Charles Watson won high prize and Mrs. Joe Marlow was fortunate in the cut.

A pretty refreshment plate was served to the honoree and to Mesdames L. V. Abernathy, Harry Brady, James P. Bowen, Dudley Foy, Eugene Graham, C. C. Glover, E. C. Jordan, Marvin Jordan, Renfro Lesley, E. D. Malone, Joe Marlow, Robert Trotter, J. L. Nelson, Charles E. Watson and Ray Wilhite.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

SOC—PEEPS AT PEOPLE .....

A story is told of a negro preacher in Mississippi who was called on to preach the funeral sermon over the body of a notorious crapshooter—a negro who died in a gambling game.

The parson's short talk concluded with the truthful but conciliating declaration, "We hope he is whah we're 'fraid he aint."

The story has brought smiles because of the manner in which the preacher's thought was expressed. Though he doubted the salvation of so notorious a sinner, he knew the man's relatives heard his talk. And his charity extended to the living.

No man or woman who is loved but has redeeming features. And if the world should take this into account, there would be more tolerance. The longer we live, the more intolerant we grow of intolerance.

Stories of the early days of New England when the "blue laws" were in effect—when men were put in stocks and women were dipped—are read with scorn for a day of such narrow views.

Yet men and women today sentence to the pillory one whose conduct they do not approve.

We talked Wednesday with a man whom Wichita Falls honors and loves. Wednesday was his 49th birthday. He is a happy man—one whose cup would run over if he could measure out content and happiness to all his world.

He is one of the far-seeing who has found life out. He knows it as a thing that suffers and loves and in his wisdom, he is content to help—never to condemn arbitrarily.

We could not help but wonder how much more he meant to the city than one of those crusaders who never hesitates to judge. His square, fair life is a sermon in itself.

For who are we to know the secrets of another's soul? Life does not always reveal the spirit.

Not one of us but has an opinion concerning right and wrong. Not one of us but criticises in our heart. But the most beautiful comment ever given is one that was written where the windblown sands soon covered it—"Let him that is without sin, cast the first stone."

Studio Party Given At Greathouse Conservatory

As part of the evening's entertainment at a studio party given for the younger students of the Greathouse Conservatory Wednesday evening, the following program was presented:

The Worm ..... Fox
The Pine ..... Woodman
Moo-oo ..... Mona Zucca
Durwood White
Rosa ..... Sawyer
My Old Rag Doll ..... Hodgkins
Little Miss Crocus ..... Hodgkins
Patricia Shipley
The Slumber Boat ..... Gaynor
The Wood Pigeon ..... Lehmann
Mornin' Miss Spring ..... Skinner
Mickey Ferguson
Billy Goat ..... Young
Little Yellow Duster ..... Davis
Ma Little Banjo ..... Rutherford
Billy Parmenter

The voices were sweet and musical at all times and the singing was effortless and smooth.

Durwood White, the youngest student enrolled in the school, had remarkable personality in his numbers and a nice sense of phrasing. All guests were delighted at his acting in his "Moo-oo."

Patricia Shipley showed excellent rhythm and adaptability to song routine as well as dramatic ability, especially in "Little Miss Crocus."

Micky Ferguson had a gracious personality and lovely poise. Her voice was clear and sweet, showing extraordinary interpretive ability and musicianship in "The Wood Pigeon."

The skill and acting of Billy Parmenter in "Ma Little Banjo" were most unusual and she showed unusual talent for a girl of her age, charming her audience with her pleasing manner.

Miss Thelma Adams, studio accompanist, was assisted by Juanita Ferguson, whose grace and poise in execution were remarkable for such a young accompanist.

Following the program, refreshments were served to 40 young people and a group of parents.

Women Jurors As Good as Men, Says Miss Dix

Dear Miss Dix—What is your opinion on having women on juries? My husband and I have great arguments on this subject. He says women are too easily swayed by jealousy and pity to be allowed on a jury. He thinks it a crime to allow a woman on a murder jury, while I think differently.

My husband also says women have not sense enough to handle money and never gives me any. I was self-supporting before we were married five years ago and I wish I was again. I think when men have such great opinions of themselves they should stay single, for it makes a home very unhappy for a wife to be made to feel that her husband considers her an ignoramus, fit for nothing but to cook and have children. — MARRIED WOMAN.

Answer—The universal testimony of the judges who have tried cases before mixed juries is that the women jurors are just as conscientious, just as intelligent, and that they are no more swayed by their emotions in bringing in a verdict than are the male jurors. So the wisdom of having women jurors is no longer a debatable question. It has been settled by actual experiment and proved a success. And that's that.

In strict justice every case involving both a man and woman should be tried by a jury of both sexes, because the law gives the accused individual a right to be tried by a jury of his peers and that would require both men and women to sit upon the case. For neither sex really understands the other sex. The cleverest man in the world doesn't know as much about women as the stupidest girl knows about them, nor can any woman enter into a man's mind and even guess what he would think or what he would do under certain circumstances, while any other man would know by instinct what impulses guided him.

Nor are women more emotional than men and more likely to let criminals go free. As a matter of record, men juries are sentimentally gone to seed, and all that any young and pretty woman has to do is to roll her eyes at them and weep without her nose getting red to have them return a verdict of not guilty, no matter how cold-blooded a murder she may have committed.

That women know that women jurors would deal with them harder than men jurors do is proved by the fact that lady murderers not only never ask to be tried by a jury of their peers, but they fight to keep every woman off the jury that is to try them. They know that no woman juror would be swayed by their looks, nor consider that their having blond hair with a lovely permanent wave in it and soulful blue eyes gave them the right to be bandits or shoplifters or to take human life.

Nor could a woman criminal float herself out of jail on her tears if a woman jury was sitting on her verdict, as she so often does with a man jury. Nor would a woman jury hand out thousands of dollars of heart balm to a woman who had carefully kept all of her love letters as evidence in a breach of promise suit.

Women are cold to each other's beauty, and wise to each other's tricks and manners, and they know their sex is not always so ignorant and innocent as it fools men into thinking it is.

And it is because women bring this intimate knowledge of their own sex to the juryroom that they are indispensable to the administration of justice.

As for your husband saying that women have not sense enough to handle money, that is merely his alibi for being a tightwad. You disproved that theory in your own case by supporting yourself before you were married. Perhaps there are not many women who are capable of being bank presidents and heads of investment companies and managing vast fortunes, but neither are there many men who are Napoleons of finance, and, in handling small sums and getting every cent out of a dollar, women far surpass men.

Women are closer buyers than men. They are keener bargain hunters and they keep a tighter grip on their pennies. No man can run a house on the amount that his wife does, as many a poor widower sadly realizes after the financial genius who ran his home has died. There are millions of just plain, ordinary, everyday women who perform miracles of economy every day that would entitle them to head a reparations committee.

But don't take your husband's strictures on women too seriously nor let them make you unhappy. It is only his poor, pitiful egotism that makes him vaunt himself at your expense. He doesn't think you as big a fool as he pretends to, or else he would not have selected you for the mother of his children. And don't argue with him about whether men are so much superior to women or not. The best way to prove that you are broader and more intelligent than he is to refuse to discuss any subject that will precipitate a family quarrel. —DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—My husband works overtime and makes about $20 a week with which he wants to buy a car. I have worked ever since I got married and saved every cent, but I want to furnish a home first and then think of a car. Which one of us is right?—JACK AND JILL.

Answer—I suppose the real, wise, practical thing would be to put your money in furniture instead of the car, because the furniture is something you really need, and which you would have for a long time, and which would require no upkeep, whereas the car would soon wear out and you would always have to be buying new tires and gasoline and paying out money for repairs.

But sometimes being prudent and practical and common-sensical isn't the truest wisdom. Sometimes it is good for a wife to be a brake on her husband, but very often it isn't. Sometimes it is even better economy to spend than to save.

That sounds contradictory, but so is married life, and for every rule of conduct there are a hundred exceptions. That is what makes it so hard for a wife to know what to do and how to really help her husband along.

Of course, every woman wants a home of her own and she wants to have it nicely furnished, but she has to remember that this doesn't seem as important to her husband as it does to her, and that he doesn't get the sacred joy out of lace curtains and rugs and draperies and linoleum on the kitchen floor that she does.

Also, that when she forces him to sacrifice the things he wants for them he resents it and it makes a little bitterness between them. Many a wife alienates her husband by putting her house before him. Many a woman drives her husband away from home by nagging him about tracking in mud or smoking in the living room.

So, considering all of these things if Jack's heart is set on a car so much that he is working overtime to get it, I'd let the furniture wait and buy the car. I'd make him feel that I was a pal who wanted him to have all the pleasure he could instead of being a killjoy.

You can always buy furniture, but there is no way you can get back the comradeship of your husband if you have once lost it. No wives lose out so quickly with their husbands as those who are always saying "don't."

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I have been married four years and have a beautiful boy of 2. My husband and I got along beautifully until the child was born, but ever since then I have found it impossible to make him happy. He hates the child and wants me to get rid of him by placing him in a home, but I refuse to do this. He will not let the child stay in the same room with him and gets angry if the baby sings or laughs or makes any noise. What in the world can I do?—UNHAPPY WIFE.

Answer—There is nothing that you can do except play for time. Evidently your husband is jealous of the baby, so do not devote all of your attention to the child and none to him. Go around with him as much as you can and try to make him realize that your love for the bay has not made you care less for him.

In time your husband will get over his unnatural attitude and he will become interested in the baby in spite of himself. Many men do not like little babies, but when the children begin to walk and be interesting they become devoted to them. —DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I was and perhaps still am under the impression that girls expect certain things from their boy friends—candy, flowers, theater tickets and other forms of entertainment—in fact, that most of them demanded these things and if they were not forthcoming the young man was speedily relegated to the background. Now I am very much in love with a girl who says she loves me. We both work. My salary is very small and it requires thought to make it go as far as I can stretch it.

My sweetheart doesn't mind spending her own money on good clothes and good times, but hesitates at allowing me to spend even the small amount I can afford to on her. In fact, she would like to go Dutch on treats and prefers that I spend my money on things I need instead of on her. Somehow I can't understand this. Does she really love me? What is the matter with her? Should I take other girls about and spend the money on them? I might add that some day we expect to get married, but I am puzzled about my girl's attitude. —ALL AT SEA.

Answer—You are not only "all at sea," son, you are absolutely sunk if you havent enough intelligence to perceive that you have had the luck to have a girl of rare unselfishness fall in love with you.

I think your letter is pitiful because it proves that your experience with girls has shown them to be so grasping and greedy that you expect nothing of a woman except what you buy. You expect to have to pay your way as you go and you have no conception of a girl whose love for you is not self-seeking.

You cannot understand a girl who loves you for yourself alone and who puts your good before her own pleasure, a girl who cannot bear to have you send her flowers when she knows that you have to skimp on your lunch money to do it, who cannot endure that you should take her to a night club to dance when it means that you must wear broken boots or do without the new suit you need.

When a girl values a man by what he spends on her it isn't love. It is graft. So thank heaven on your knees for having given you a sweetheart whose love hasn't a price tag on it. —DOROTHY DIX.

Trip Overseas Is 1930 Project Of Texas Juniors

Miss Mary Tancred, president of the Junior Forum, has been appointed by Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, president of the first district T. F. W. C., to act as district chairman in the Texas Junior project for 1930. Sponsored by the Virginia Federation of Women's clubs, a modern pilgrimage has been planned which will include the Passion Play at Oberammergau, not to be seen for another decade.

Miss Mary Lou Estes of Commerce, general chairman, announces that any person recommended by the Juniors is eligible with them to make the pilgrimage planned. The Bremen, the fastest ship afloat, will sail at midnight, July 16, 1930, carrying a cargo of Juniors and friends from every state in the union.

The trip will last from July 17 to Aug. 31 and will include the Passion Play at Oberammergau and visits to eight countries, England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and France. The Shakespeare and the Black Forest country will be seen by motor; a steamer will take the parties up the Rhine and an Alpine tour will be made by motor. Tickets to the Passion Play are included in the price of $633 made for the 45-day trip.

Under the supervision of cultured and experienced educational and social directors, the party will enjoy an unrivaled program on board ship and all expenses are to be included in the price made except pasport or visa charges, fees on the steamers, transportation of extra luggage and personal expense, such as laundry, baths or drink or food not on the regular menu.

P.-T. A. Institute Suggests Work To Aid Associations

Mrs. Frank Creighton presided Thursday morning at the Parent-Teacher Institute being conducted at the Memorial auditorium and the program was opened with an inspirational talk by Mrs. W. D. Cline on "What We Need to Know About the High School." Mrs. Cline deplored the loss of the mother's interest in child welfare work between the grade school and high school ages, and urged vocational guidance and some form of sex education for high school pupils.

Mrs. Creighton talked briefly on "Creating Public Sentiment for Child Welfare," and Miss Mary Lindley of San Jacinto school gave a comprehensive address on "The Teacher's Viewpoint Regarding the P.-T. A.," explaining the seasoned teacher's methods of training individual children and solving the problems of difficult children and parents. The P.-T. A. was commended for making it possible in its work for parents and teachers to work together intelligently in the cause of child welfare.

The duties of treasurer and secretary were outlined by Mrs. C. P. Warman and C. P. Fore.

Mrs. H. R. Cloughley, president of Austin P.-T. A., advocated the need of a study club with a definite program and chosen leaders in each association. It was suggested that each P.-T. A. elect a study circle chairman to organize such circles.

Mrs. Creighton had charge of the lesson on health and gave instruction for P.-T. A. health chairmen and information about securing literature along this line. She suggested that individual mothers should study along physical and mental lines during the summer.

Friday's lesson will be led by Mrs. Creighton and will deal with parliamentary law. A general discussion of the week's programs will conclude the institute. All P.-T. A. officers are requested to attend the last session, as valuable instruction for conducting successful meetings in the coming season will be given. Visitors are welcome.

Those attending Thursday morning were Mesdames R. P. Willis, G. W. Holstead, R. D. Lewis, W. L. Garner, J. O. Hall, W. Wood, R. H. Thurston, T. C. Watkins, Miss Mary Lindley, Mesdames Tom O'Steen, C. P. Warman, Pickens Coleman, C. P. Fore, M. T. Clements, Miss Dora Cornitt, Mesdames Paul Barnett, W. D. Cline, Frak Creighton and H. R. Cloughley.

Club for Youthful Plane Builders Formed

Organization of a boys' airplane building club, known as the American Aces club, was announced Thursday by C. C. Bunnenberg, park superintendent.

The group will have classes in supervised airplane building and the winner in the contest will be awarded a trip to some city in Texas or Oklahoma by the S.A.F.E. airline. The winners in the monthly contests will be given a free ride by the Wichita Falls Flying club. The local champion will be given the title of "The Wichita Air Cadet."

The group will meet Monday at the auditorium when a number of new members will be welcomed into the club.

SICK HEADACHE WENT AWAY

Texas Lady Benefited by Taking Black-Draught for Constipation Troubles

Corsicana, Texas.—Mrs. E. G. Grimmett, of 1215 West Twelfth street, this city, writes:

"When a child, I suffered from constipation, and my mother gave me Thedford's Black-Draught. It always helped me. Since grown, I have continued to use Black-Draught, as I have never found anything else so good.

"I used to have sick headache so much, caused from biliousness and constipation, but I don't have it any more. I am thankful to say.

"I give it to my children in a tea for colds and biliousness, as I have always found it helpful.

"I believe Black-Draught helped my husband more than anything he ever took for stomach trouble. He would have attacks of indigestion and would often have to go to bed. Black-Draught would rid his system of the poison caused from this trouble. We think Black-Draught is a fine medicine."

Black-Draught is finely powdered, which enables the juices of the stomach to extract its medicinal properties in any easy, natural way.

MEMORIAL DAY RITES PLANNED

Hoover to Make Speech at Gettysburg

tysburg, stopping en route for lunch at the camp of Lawrence Richey, his secretary, at Catoctin Furnace, Maryland, 30 miles from Gettysburg.

Completing his speech upon the field where many presidents have preceded him since Abraham Lincoln dedicated the cemetery, the chief executive plans to drive nearly 200 miles farther to the estate of Jay Cooke, 3rd, near Williamsport.

If he continues on to the fishing and hunting camp of the Philadelphia financier, deep in the Allegheny mountains, the chief executive will spend Saturday fishing, and return to the White House by automobile Sunday.

Red River Inundation Threatens More Lives

SHREVEPORT, La., May 29. (UP)—Rising waters of the swollen Red river, which already have claimed six lives, inundated five communities and driven 6,000 persons from their homes, tonight threatened to wreak further devastation in Louisiana lowlands.

Six deaths already have been reported and authorities feared the toll wuold mount as sections, now isolated, were reached. Two persons, William Laffon and an unidentified white man, were drowned in Grant Parish; two small children were reported lost at Haynesville, and two negroes lost their lives near Minden.

Police Seek Identity Of Harlem River Victim

NEW YORK, May 29. (UP)—A murder mystery came out of the Harlem river today with the body of a well-dressed woman whose throat was bound with tightly twisted wire. Another series of loops of the wire, of eight woven strands, circled the right thigh. It is the police theory that the wires originally had been attached to weights affixed to hold the body under water. Estimates as to the time the body had been immersed varied from two to five months, making identification extremely difficult.

Recital Uncovers Young Artists In Eithel Allen Nelson Class

By W. L. UNDERWOOD

More than 400 persons who, with the usual few exceptions, gave obviously interested attention to almost a two-hour program given at the Junior college auditorium Thursday night by pupils of Eithel Allen Nelson, attested the growing conviction of Wichita Falls music lovers that recitals presented by Mr. Nelson will always prove highly entertaining despite the presentation of more than 20 numbers for the same instrument.

Inclusion of various young artists on Thursday night's program recalled to many of those in the audience recitals of 1929 and preceding years, the demonstrated popularity of which constitute a real and continuous compliment to Mr. Nelson's capacity as a teacher of violin. Sustained interest on the part of a large mixed audience in the presentation of two dozen violin numbers, many of them by juvenile players, requires something more than an exhibition of the rudiments of mere technique.

Seriousness of Effort

Pupils who were heard Thursday night reflected not only the enthusiasm and verve which characterizes Mr. Nelson's work both as solo violinist and orchestral director, but an apparent capacity for bringing to their recital performances the maximum degree of musicianship whch their training, talent and years make possible. There is seriousness of effort without loss of confidence, and genuine enthusiasm without neglect of details in drawing interpretative music from their instruments. If proper bowing, flexibility and grace in the right hand seem perhaps to be better developed generally in the class than the all-important detail of delicate, rapid, sensitive fingering with the left, that possible lack of perfectly balanced training goes far toward being offset by a thorough and business-like devotion to the art of musical expression through the violin.

Thursday night's recital could not but furnish encouragement to those who are seriously interested in the further development of music as a cultural influence in the city. No less than two score young musicians lifted themselves clearly above the plane of violin pupils in a vigorous—at times thrilling—rendition of Wagner's magnificent "Pilgrim's Chorus" from "Tannhauser." Voicing the flowing melodic movements with which the theme moves to a climax in excellent feeling and with fine restraint inducing the "religioso" of the prayer, the ensemble produced a surprising volume of brilliant tone in the closing movement, accomplishing also a very effective diminuendo to the last chord.

Prior to the ensemble's performance of the Wagner gem, two short selections were played by the Junior orchestra, which presented about 24 junior and intermediate pupils attired in the attractive red and white uniforms of King Louis XIV's "court fiddlers," featured first on the Symphony Orchestra's concert last November at the Memorial auditorium. The excellent tone of the entire recital was sounded in the first notes of the opening number, "Lovely Marianne," (Nelson) when diminutive Arthur Davis introduced the delicate theme with solo violin, carrying the melody with concise tones and effective rhythm through the first movement, and proving an able concert master throughout the remainder of the number. The second composition given by the group was "Une Parole d'Amour," by Savina.

Four Sections

Programmed in two parts, ensemble numbers comprising the first, and solo numbers the second part, the recital grouped more readily into four sections. Following the group performances, the more than 20 solo numbers were presented by classes of juniors, intermediates, and adults in the order named.

Conspicuous among the younger players were Bonnie Lincoln and W. K. White Jr., both "veterans" of the recital given by the Nelson studio a year ago. Young Mr. White did not achieve the brilliance which made his 1929 performance almost a miracle of youthful finish, but apparently this was due entirely to an ambitious choice of recital number this year. Memorization and technically commendable performance of Englemann's "Spanish Dance" was an accomplishment sufficient for many violinists of greater years than his. Little Miss Lincoln displayed an extremely graceful and relaxed wrist which availed a refreshing presentation of a minuet by Boccherini, marked by a stately and properly delicate rhythm. Less polished but nevertheless delightful were numbers by Dorothy Alice Wise, Jimmie Curtis, Selma Louise Voelcker, Dorothy Louise McPhail, Josephine Killough of Vernon and James Hull.

When 12-year-old Arthur Davis played his "Mazurka" by Mlynarski, even the back-row conversation suddenly ceased. Confirming the promise shown by a brilliant performance one year ago, when he was virtually hidden behind flower-laden vases which lined the stage, this amazing youngster revealed the unmistakable marks of a prodigy, at least in this section, with his playing Thursday night. Another whose vast improvement during the year was pleasantly exhibited in this recital was Peggy Williamson, who gave Kreisler's "Liebesleid" a commendable interpretation with tones which were easily and accurately produced. Nancy and John Haggard, with their mother at the piano, again contributed a delightful "family ensemble" in Nevin's "Rosary." Their string duet was feelingly intoned, and well balanced. Sweetness of tone was an outstanding feature of Jo Buchanan's rendition of the old but favored "Souvenir" by Drdla. Ferrel Brewer, Delores Bingham of Devol, and Roberta Lincoln added creditable performances to the intermediate group.

Adults Perform

Compositions which were happily chosen by each performer best to suit his individual temperament and style were given by adult pupils as the closing portion of the recital. Predominating elements are difficult of selection. Clear, incisive attack was unquestionably excellent in the work of Merrel Strong and William Luther Donnell. Flowing legato, rich in feeling, brilliant only in its deliberate restraint, certainly was best demonstrated by Mrs. J. E. Hall and Mathilde Donnell. To Homer Donohoo and Leroy Pendergraft credit must be given for more brilliant exhibitions of technique, Hubay's "Mazurka," played by the former, and the seventh concerto movement (de Beriot) given by Mr. Pendergraft, demanding constantly the execution of difficult toccatellae, rapid chromatics, and double-stop passages. Unusual reflection of moods brought two numbers across the footlights with unusual effect, however, to take exceptional command of the audience. These were Miss Donnell's interpretation of Wieniawski's "Romance," and Miss Strong's playing of "Gypsy Serenade," (Waldez-Kreisler). Miss Donnell imparted to the oft-heard Wieniawski number romantic depths of feeling seldom heard among amateur musicians. She was completely absorbed in the sentiment of the composition, and reflected that conception of it admirably in her playing. Only a slight tendency occasionally to carry a tone slightly above pitch detracted from a performance made brilliant by the feeling which was poured into its tones.

There was in Miss Strong's serenade a fine spirit of the wistful, mystic color which makes the term "gypsy" synonymous with adventure and romance. Deft bowing, clarity of tone, and effective change of tempo supported her feeling for the piece to contribute a highly pleasing number to the recital.

Marjetta Moody of Nocona, revealed more than adequate feeling for the impressive "Meditation" from "Thais" (Massenet), and played with commendable presence and pleasing technique. The fullest beauty of the piece was lacking only through a slight inaccuracy of pitch which appeared to be a matter of ear rather than fingering.

Accompanists were Mrs. R. A. Lincoln, Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey, Mrs. Lucile Brooks Huff, Mrs. A. M. Lewis, Mrs. H. H. Haggard, Miss Francis Wise, Miss Lois Baber, Miss Floosie Bowman, Vernon; Miss Mozell Saunders, and Miss Gwendolyn. The stage was richly decorated with a profusion of flowers arranged in large vases before the footlights of the stage.

Pity for Pup Costs Girl Jail Tenure

LOVELAND, Colo., May 29.—Miss Cleo Collier, 25, of Chicago, spent two days in jail because of a pup that she admitted today wasn't even hers.

Miss Collier was fined $5.75 on a charge of allowing her dog to run loose on the streets.

She went to jail because she could not pay the fine. After her release she admitted she couldn't bear to see the officers haul the pup away after they picked it up in front of her rooming house so she claimed it. She said she never had seen the dog before, but that she would send it immediately to a friend in the country to keep it away from the dog catcher.

VITALITY!

"SURE! I can finish that today"

A strong, healthy body and mind always respond to the occasion. Employers appreciate and recognize unfailing freshness—always ready—cheerfully ready to carry on—minus that "tired feeling."

DON'T let a weakened body hold you back. Prolonged, it may result in so-called premature old age. Today's happiness and friends may be gone tomorrow. Has it ever been made clear to you that a strong, healthy body depends upon the right number of rich, red-blood-cells?

Thousands of people have a low blood count—to this may be attributed skin troubles, "run-down" systems and even more serious ailments.

Healthy blood should contain about 5,000,000 red corpuscles to every cubic millimeter—those tiny workers which give blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. Rich, red blood is the body's protector against infection and disease. It is dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

If you tire easily—lack pep—if your skin is not clear—if your appetite is "gone"—you owe it to yourself and friends to try S.S.S.

When you get your red-blood-cells back up to normal, that sluggish, let-down feeling, lack of appetite, skin troubles disappear. You should get hungry again and sleep soundly; firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

S.S.S. helps Nature build rich, red blood. It improves the processes by which the body is nourished.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping people regain and retain their strength and charm. Thousand of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude. Many have found it beneficial to take a few bottles at least once a year to keep their blood in good condition.

S.S.S. is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and is easily assimilated. All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

England's Lindbergh
A Girl, but as Brave
Blaming a Dead Man
Sincere Tagore

By EMILE GAUVREAU

England has her own Lindbergh—not a man, but a slip of a girl, and as truly brave. Today, everybody who wants to keep up with the news knows that Amy Johnson, 23 years old, has completed her flight from England to Australia, a long and perilous journey. The king and prime minister have congratulated her. Proving that women are not surpassed in courage by men.

Rabindranath Tagore, Indian poet and mystic, knighted by the king, does not permit that honor to interfere with his own opinions. He sees the eventual triumph of the Nationalists in India and blames the machine age for the uprising. But the machine will conquer. The poet shouldn't expect human sympathy to win. That does not happen often today.

Benito Mussolini, who must keep his people entertained so that they will not tire of him, shouts again about the dangers ahead: "Raise your banners, raise your muskets and be prepared for the future." His thousands of hearers roar, "Down with France," undoubtedly what he wants them to say. Germany listened and responded to that sort of roaring from her war lords before the war, but regrets it today.

Reports from Germany will interest the League of Nations, which hopes to stop all the wars. The Germans are spending $125,000,000 a year to maintain their present army. The great army of the kaiser's day cost about $137,000,000 a year, not much more than what is expended today. Germany now is using $178,200,000 a year for her army and navy, the highest since the war. World court enthusiasts, trying to get us in and make us the tail to the league kite, will not like those figures.

Fifty thousand speakeasy proprietors in New York will undoubtedly agree enthusiastically with the federal prohibition agents who swoop down and raid little stores which sell malt and hops to home brewers. That move will drive the little brewing people back into the speakeasies, to drink something stronger and more vicious. All of this foolishness could be eliminated by modification, which is what the people want.

Ships crash at sea and an SOS flashed from the scene of disaster breaks in and stops the progress of Amos and Andy. Unfortunately, many people will worry more about that than what happened to the ship.

The samurai of Japan and the constitution group, headed by Premier Hamaguchi, which cordially dislike each other, have been waiting for some time for a bone of contention to be tossed between them. They've found it at last—the London naval treaty. Grown wise in the way of western progress and diplomacy, Japan has its statesmen who can recognize when their country gets a shabby deal at the hands of the Europeans. We might learn something from the wise Japanese.

Ford and the Demons

THE REALLY IMPORTANT NEWS of the day is not always the news that gets the big headlines in the newspapers. Often it is something that almost goes overlooked entirely.

A writer in the current issue of the Golden Book Magazine, for instance, discloses that more than a million copies of Henry Ford's autobiography have been sold in Russia recently. He adds this remarkable sentence:

"There were many instances where whole villages met to hear chapters of the book read aloud."

There is a singular appeal to that statement, somehow; and the state of mind that it reveals may in the end turn out to be one of the most important tendencies of the day in all of Europe. Whenever you ponder on the future, you might bear in mind that fact about Russia and Henry Ford's autobiography.

The Russian village is as unlike the American village as anything that can be imagined. A Russian moving picture director, coming to Hollywood to try his hand at movies in the American style, recently revealed that his movie company, going on location in a Russian village not long ago, nearly caused a wholesale panic simply because the cameramen all wore gloves. The superstitious villagers, he said, believed that the cameramen were demons from the underworld, and wore gloves to conceal the fact that they had hooks where their hands ought to be!

In that anecdote, then, you have an insight into the outlook of the Russian village. Remembering that, is it not striking, beyond words, to picture these same Russian villagers so ready to believe in hook-handed demons from the kingdom of darkness, sitting in circles to hear the local wise men read chapters of the life story of Henry Ford? Could the old and the new come into more amazing contrast?

It is no accident that the Russians have set up Ford as a major prophet. The whole nation is striving, with incredible pains and turmoil, to get into step with the modern era; why should not its ignorant villagers select as their idol the man whose career and achievements typify the modern era so perfectly?

These Russians have hit on a truth that we usually overlook. In the modern use of machinery—the kind of use exemplified by Ford, though he is not its only exponent by any means—there lie potentialities of simply enormous significance so far, it is nevertheless true that they have given humanity an incomparable weapon for its age-long fight against misery and want. For the first time in history it is possible for people to produce more than they need of everything.

That is the one great truth of the twentieth century. This Russian worship of Henry Ford is simply their way of recognizing it.

And the Alamo City Ran Third

YES, it was a beautiful race for the honor of first Texas cities in point of population between San Antonio and Dallas for many years. San Antonio is not the largest city in the state for the first time since the 1890 census. In that year Dallas led San Antonio by 394. In 1890, Dallas had a population of 38,067 and San Antonio 37,673.

San Antonio was settled in 1716. Dallas was settled in the 1840's.

This is the official figure for three Texas cities as announced by the census bureau in 1930: Houston, 290,811; Dallas, 260,397; San Antonio, 254,562. Houston was third city in 1920. Now it has a long lead over Dallas, which is second, and San Antonio, ranking third.

San Antonio has called for a recount, or rather a rechecking. In addition to all this, the callers say that population of three suburbs would place the population of the Alamo city slightly more than 3,000 greater than the Dallas count. Figures given of the suburbs follow: [illegible]o Heights, 3,853; South San Antonio, 2,663; State Hospital, 2,536.

Yes, but Dallas has suburbs, independent municipalities, not included in the official count. Highland Park and University City, on the fringe of Dallas, have a combined population of something like 11,000. If suburbs are to be counted, then Dallas should be given credit for the population of Highland Park and University City with their own municipal governments.

Rechecking is strictly legitimate. If errors were made, they should be rectified. Regardless of all this, an official count returned by the census bureau in the city of Washington will be the official rating of all American cities and towns and states until another count shall be taken in the year 1940.

The Voters Did Well

THE PENNSYLVANIA primary seems to have turned out quite as well as could have been expected. The ineffable Grundy has been roundly defeated, and will have to go back to his old profession of lobbying; and while the victory of Davis means a triumph for Boss Vare, Vare's jubilation is decidedly dimmed by the victory of Gifford Pinchot in the gubernatorial race. Pinchot is a genuine liberal and belongs to no machine; his victory is a real step forward for Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania's voters were not given much of a choice in this primary, but they seem to have done just about as well with what was given them as anyone could ask. The state that gave Grundy to the United States senate is now withdrawing him, and few tears will be shed anywhere.

Mexico City in the Million Class

MEXICO CITY proper has a population of 968,443, and the federal district population was given at 1,112,000. This count was taken in a single day, and it is announced that women far outnumber the men, there being 535,000 women and 433,000 men within the city proper. President Rubio is not a noise maker. He is not a spotlight seeker. He is an intense worker, and Americans who have visited Mexico in the spring months of this year predict that under his wise guidance, stability of government and prosperity and peace will be the achievements of his reign.

Balm

I've saved the letters that you wrote to me,
I've saved the thoughts of fresh, enchanted bliss;
I never thought such happiness could be,
For life to me was ever hit and miss.

The days were magic interludes of dreams,
The nights were all too short, but heaven sent;
Love came on wings of burnished gold, it seems,
Paused for a while, then all too swiftly went.

Now it is done—new lures have called to you
And life takes on its sombre, gray routine;
There's nothing really left for me to do
But bind my wounds, and vanish from the scene.

You've taken hope and trust from me—that's true,
But you can't take those nights along with you!

—KID KAZANOVA.

Gag

George White was reminiscing again the other eve'g. He recalled the days when he ham'd it in small-time vaudeville. White and his partner were unknown to a certain theatrical manager, who asked them to explain the type of act they did. "Never mind," said White, "you just watch us. We're a wow!"

The manager went out front to catch their act, which flopped all over the place, the egg-layers exiting without a single "hand."

The manager hastened back stage to their undressing room. "Say!" he exploded, "I've heard of a wow before, but this is the first time it's been thoroughly explained to me!"

Things That Knock Me Cold

According to the current Photoplay, John Farrow has a great definition of a cad. "A cad," says Mr. Farrow, "is a man who would hit a woman with his hat on."

Which was just as great when Fred ("Little Show") Allen told it on the pavement in front of the Palace on Aug. 8, 1922.

A Wisey

"Where are those old-fashionde musical shows," asks Benny Holzman, "in which the thigh was the limit?"

Imagine!

Marc Lachman reminds us that the actors who triumphed during the "silent" film era still defeat those who replaced them when the "talkie" vogue began. So, when Eddie Foy Jr., who just signed with the "talkies," passed the Palace stage entrance yesterday, "Rin-Tin-Tin" (who is playing there) snapped at him.

Who, Me???

"See, here," see-heres "A Mother," "sometime ago you wrote in your 'Things You Didn't Know Till Now' that if a girl holds in her breath she will make her face blush. Since then my little daughter has almost fainted 20 times and went into convulsions trying to get a pretty blush. You should be hanged!"

Heheheh

The other night an elderly woman came backstage to see Bert Lahr, the star of "Flying High."

"You must help me out," she said. "I've got a son who doesn't want to work. He only wants to do like you do."

S'Help Me, It's True!

A well-known song-writer, who has been common-lawing it with his "heart" for five years, was composing a new melody the other week-end in their apartment. She is a very nervous girl and she scolded him for playing too loud. "Listen, kid," he snapped, "this is my living. If you don't like it, you can leave!" The wounded woman left in a huff.

Two nights ago she paused in front of the Capitol theater near 51st St., where a man backed out of a cab, and helped his charming lady companion to the pavement. The infuriated song-writer's pash banged the fellow over the head with her umbrella, and then punched him silly until he turned around.

"Oh, my God!" she exclaimed, "I'm so sorry. I thought you were my sweetheart!"

"That's all right, honey," he countered. "I thought you were my wife!"

Ballywhoopee

Several columns ago it was chronicled here that "Gina Malo," who was being imported from Paris to replace Lily Damita in "Sons o' Guns," was a local Colleen, but the newspapers were not interested.

"Gina Malo," a beautiful gal, and talented, finally arrived yesterday and the rags still insist that she is a foreign "find." The N. Y. Sun, frinstance, reported: "Among the passengers was Gina Malo, 18-year-old star of The Theater Chatelet of Paris, who came to this country to join a show."

Well, if we have to draw pictures for the sceptics, Gina Malo is Janet Flynn, one of the former Albertina Rasch toe-and-heelers, and she has been "Scandal-ized" by George White.

And she isn't 18.

The Greensboro, N. C., Daily News on May 18 contained this advertisement: "Wanted—A position by a young man, 25 years old, two years college education and two years manager of a soda shop. Can use crepe paper effectively. Box F, Mebane, N. C."

Why Columnists Gray Young

"And," says M. Glebowitz, in the Jewish Daily Forward, "Broadwayites fear him as they would a conflagration, and hate him as they do death . . . He does not bother to throw in a word here and there to say that a certain personage presented a well-known actress with an expensive automobile. He merely tells that he sold the automobile to her at a sacrifice. It is not difficult, however, to understand Winchell's meaning."

Apparently, Mr. Glebowitz cannot read our "English" as well as he can read the language he writes. The line in question was printed here in this manner: "Larry Fay has sold his $38,000 car, which once belonged to the Belgian king, to Texas Guinan for $2,000."

What we meant to say, Mr. Glebowitz, if we didn't make it clear, was that Larry Fay has sold his $38,000 car, which once belonged to the Belgian king, to Texas Guinan for $2,000.

"SHEILA"

Love and Mystery
Humor and Tragedy
A Story of Wichita Falls
By GORDON TURNER

Mazie, do you read The Record News?" Sheridan asked.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Mazie Brown is confidential secretary of Frank Sheridan, wealthy young lawyer, whose hobby is the solving of crime mysteries. The manuscript of this story was found in her apartment following her sudden death. The story opens with Joseph Hedley, assistant prosecuting attorney of Wichita county, receiving a telephone call from his fiancee, Sheila Wilber, informing him that a safe in the laboratory of her Speedway avenue home has been burglarized. She requests him to come there at once as her father, William Oliver Wilber, wishes to consult him about the robbery. On his way, Hedley passes the scene of an auto accident and recognizes Andrew Masters, Sheila's cousin, as the driver of the wrecked car. Masters' face is scratched, but otherwise he is uninjured. He accompanies Hedley to the Wilber home. Wilber tells Hedley a tin cashbox containing a diary of his wife, now dead, has been stolen. The diary tells a secret of Sheila's birth. "Sheila is not my daughter, and never was adopted," Wilber confesses. To recover the diary, Hedley suggests they obtain Sheridan's services. Wilber agrees. Sheila receives a visit from Edna Rogers, her chum. She tells Edna of the laboratory safe robbery.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER III

On the morning following his visit to the Wilber home and his investigation of the safe robbery, Frank Sheridan was pacing back and forth in the private office of his suite in the Waggoner building. He finally seated himself at his desk and called to his secretary in the adjoining room:

"Maizie, let's whet our wits."

I picked up my shorthand book, not that I needed it, but from force of habit. When Mr. Sheridan talks that way I know there is to be no dictation.

Note by Maizie Brown to her correspondence school instructor: There! The cat's out of the bag! I've done the unpardonable thing, according to all the rules in "Short Story and Novel Writing in 20 Lessons." In the second lesson, page 5, it says:

"Hold to one method of developing your story. The story may be told either in the first or third person; the latter is preferable. Under no circumstances should the beginner mix the two. There are exceptions to this rule, but the technique is involved; and development of the plot will be difficult for one who has not had long practice in writing. When the first person method is used, a character in the story does the telling."

Hang the rules! I'm not a character in this story. And it is not fiction; it is the plain, unvarnished truth. Oh, yes, Mr. Correspondence school instructor, it is in fiction form, but that is only for practice in story writing. This story never will be published, so that doesn't matter.

I'm going to tell this story in my own way and it certainly sounds coldblooded and unnatural to write about Maizie Brown in the third person and back again without confusing the reader? (See more of second lesson, page 5). That's easy Mr. Instructor: There "ain't going to be no reader," except you, and you can pass up all the first person stuff and grade me only on the third person sections.

And when you've read the story, burn it. I do not want Mr. Sheridan to be embarrassed by any abuse of his confidence.

Now, Mr. Instructor, just so you can get the connection, I'm going to tell you how I gathered the material for this story through my employment by Mr. Sheridan.

All of it comes from him, though he doesn't know it is being put to this use. He talks over with me all of his "cases," as he calls them; he says it clarifies his mind and enables him to align his deductions in logical sequence. He likes to poke fun at me, and sometimes it is hard to tell whether he is in earnest or just joshing. For instance one day he said:

"Maizie, speaking in the language of the new psychology, you have 'inhibitions;' you have repressed desires and ambitions. If you ever permit yourself to give them free expression, the Lord help us all!"

Humph! I wonder if he has an inkling that I want to be a story writer, a novelist?

"Despite your cultivation of an acidulous temperament," he went on, "you are as romantic as a giggling schoolgirl. You scoff at man and all of his works, but in the back of your mind you dream of Cinderellas, Prince Charmings and heroes and heroines who live happily ever afterward. And in all of these dreams you see yourself as Cinderella awaiting coming of the prince. Dr. Freud would delight to put you under his psychological microscope; he would pronounce you a perfect specimen of a female suffering of sex repression."

The nerve of him! To talk like that to me, a woman 10 years older than he is, even if I am his confidential secretary! But he does it in such a joking, light-hearted, kindly way that a person just can't hold resentment.

He likes to ruffle my temper and then dash out of the office before the storm breaks. Later in the day I'm sure to find a peace offering on my desk, a box of chocolates or tickets to the best show in town.

But don't get the impression that he spends all of his time manufacturing secretarial brain-storms. He has plenty of other things to do and so have I. Managing his property is no snap. I take all of the detail off his hands, giving him time to devote to his crime-study hobby. Isn't it nice to have money enough to do the work that interests you most? If I only could devote all of my time to story-writing . . .

You ought to see that man at work on one of his "mysteries!" His face fairly glows as his mind jumps from fact to conclusion. He has one peculiarity—he thinks audibly. I mean, he seems to think more clearly if he discusses a problem with another person. That's how I get on the inside of all the exciting investigations he is making continually.

He does it all for fun, too, and he never lets on to the outside world that he is interested in such matters. I'll bet there are not a dozen persons in Wichita Falls who know anything of his . . . well, I'd call it mania.

Sometimes, at his direction, I take notes as he goes along, but not often. "What's the use," he will say. "I'm not preparing a legal brief. This is only recreation. Anyway, it's all up here," tapping his forehead.

But I've got a private shorthand book in the bottom drawer of my desk and after we have had one of our talks I slip back into my own office and write down from memory all that has been said. If that book could talk what a lot of reputations in Wichita Falls, it would shatter!"

Of course, Mr. Sheridan does not know of this secret record; he would be furious. It is from the notes in this book that I have compiled this story.

You can readily see, then, Mr. Instructor, why I am compelled to lapse into the first person now and then, despite all of your story-writing rules.

I have to give credit to Mr. Sheridan even for the third person chapters, narrations of events at which neither he nor I was present. He likes to let his imagination ramble, taking incidents here and there and building them into a vivid, coherent whole. He is not satisfied until the whole story is complete to the last

Have we had the pleasure of serving you through our Washington Information Bureau? Can't we be of some help to you in your problems? Our business is to furnish you with authoritative information, and we invite you to ask us any question of fact in which you are interested. Send your inquiry to the Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Enclose two cents in coin or stamps for return postage.

Q.—What is the record size for a dahlia?—B. T. B.

A.—It is said that the largest dahlia yet recorded is a Fort Monmouth, 15½ inches across. At the last Englewood, N. J., show, three Fort Monmouth blooms came in first, second and third for size. The first, mentioned above; the second, 15 inches; and the third, 14½ inches.

Q.—What is the difference between Memorial day and Decoration day?—R. O. W.

A.—The terms are used interchangeably. They refer to the same day.

Q.—What happened to the test rocket which Dr. Goddard shot into the air?—J. T.

A.—A working model—a projectile nine feet long and two and one-half feet in diameter, sheathed in aluminum—flashed up the 60-foot shaft skyward with incredible speed. The performance convinced the scientists who witnessed it that a larger mechanism might successfully explore the unknown air regions above the earth. In this test a camera, a barometer and the mechanism came down to earth by parachute uninjured.

Q.—Can you tell me anything about the author of the French play "Topaze" that is now being produced in New York City?—R. F. W.

A.—"Topaze" is the work of Marcel Pagnol, one of the younger French dramatists and the most successful. He is a native of Marseilles and was a teacher in the public schools until he achieved a modest success with a war play a few years ago. "Topaze" was his first big success and it is said that his royalties from it have already amounted to over 16,000,000 francs, or approximately $650,000. Seventy-four companies are now producing it in various parts of the world. M. Pagnol is about 30 years old and is unmarried. He speaks and writes English, but his plays are all written in French and he does not translate them himself.

Q.—Can water buffalo survive entirely on land?—B. B.

A.—Although it is true that the water buffalo is very fond of water and remains near it as much as possible, it can live quite easily without being in water. It must have water to drink like all other animals, but lying in water is a matter of comfort and not of sustaining life.

Q.—What is meant by sea level datum?—A. C. L.

A.—It is the mean low-water mark of all tides, assumed as a basis of reckoning but not admitting a rigorous scientific determination.

Q.—Do people who are uneducated and do not use their eyes for reading and close application, have better eyesight?—D. S.

A.—When savages or other illiterates are observed, it is found that they have the same eye trouble found among people who use their eyes for study and close work.

Q.—What causes paralysis which has followed the drinking of Jamaica ginger?—F. D.

A.—So far, the poison agent has not been discovered.

Q.—Is the Duke of Wellington in the British cabinet?—C. S.

A.—The Duke of Wellington, who is Arthur Charles Wellesley, born 1849, has a seat in the British house of lords. He is not in the cabinet. He is what is known as an Irish peer.

Q.—What salary does the chaplain of the senate receive? The chaplain of the house of representatives?—M. H.

A.—Each receives $1,680 per annum.

Q.—When was Christianity introduced into Norway?—T. M. L.

A.—This summer the 900th anniversary of its introduction will be celebrated at Trondhjem.

Q.—Can a bill which has been partially destroyed be redeemed?—M. B. B.

A.—In order to redeem currency which has been burned it is necessary that three-fifths of the bill be sent to the redemption division of the treasury department, Washington, D. C.

Q.—In what parts of the United States is internship required of doctors?—S. M.

A.—The American Medical association says that a hospital internship is an essential qualification for a license in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Alaska, Rhode Island, North Dakota, Washington, Michigan, Illinois, Delaware, South Dakota, Utah, Wisconsin, and the District of Columbia.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on Housecleaning Made Easier

Almost every housekeeper has a more or less fixed routine of work, which might be called her plan. Oftentimes, with this plan as a basis, the housecleaning can be so organized that the housekeeper can save herself much time and many steps. In these days when competent household labor is at a high premium, it is wiser economy than ever to "make the head save the heels."

How this can be done is told in great detail in the booklet, "Making Housecleaning Easier," now available to readers of The Record News. Fill out and send in this coupon today, enclosing 10 cents in coin or stamps to cover postage and handling.

DRY LAW ISSUE IS POSTPONED

Senate Showdown Awaits More Opportune Time

WASHINGTON, May 29. (AP)—Although prohibition discussions continue unabated in congressional circles, there is now but little prospect for a definite senate battle on this issue at the present session.

This was the general opinion on Capitol hill today following the announcement of Senator Blaine, independent Republican, Wisconsin, that he would not urge the consideration of his resolution for the repeal of the 18th amendment until there is an opportunity for hearings.

When the measure was introduced several months ago, dry leaders expressed a willingness to permit it to come to a vote. It was expected this would bring the first direct showdown on the prohibition issue in several years.

Blaine said he would have no time for hearings before adjournment because of other pressing duties.

The senate lobby committee is preparing to bring its investigation of organizations prominently identified with the wet-dry issue to an early conclusion. Bishop James Cannon, of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, and the head of its temperance board, will be examined next Tuesday, and at the end of his testimony, Chairman Caraway plans to adjourn the hearings.

The committee has investigated the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, the Anti-Saloon league, and the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church and has received a statement of contributions and expenditures from the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

Both wets and drys in the senate are attentively watching nationwide polls on prohibition and other indications of public sentiment. Two prominent drys, Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, and Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, announced this week that if prohibition referenda are conducted in their states they will abide by the results.

Each asserted his own views had not changed and that he was not advocating referenda be held. Jones' announcement came after the Washington state Republican convention had adopted a wet platform.

Spaghetti Banquet at Al Capone's Home Causes Miami Social Stir

MIAMI, Fla., May 29.—(INS)—Thursday bridge parties in Miami today were agog with conversation pertaining to the elaborate spaghetti banquet tendered more than a score of Miami business men and their wives last night by Alphonse Capone, Chicago gangster and much perturbed vacationist.

The dinner held at Capone's vast Palm Island estate, was interspersed with a musicale and dance music.

The identity of those attending the fete was carefully guarded, and only the information that they were "citizens and business men of Miami" was given out.

Many of those attending the fete put in their appearance at a late hour, and Capone expressed regret that they did not arrive in time for the banquet.

Among those who were reported to have attended the banquet were Vincent Giblin and J. F. Gordon, Capone's lawyers.

Southwestern Oklahoma Secures Carlsbad Cavern Road Designation

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 29. (UP)—Complete designation of two federal highways through Southern and Eastern Oklahoma has been voted by the executive committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials at Washington, Chairman Lew Wents of the Oklahoma state highway commission, advised Ed McDonald, commission secretary, today.

One route will enter the state from Arkansas after passing through Hot Springs and Mena. It will pass through Heavener, Wilburton, McAlester, Holdenville, Wewoka, Shawnee and Oklahoma City over state highway No. 3.

The second designation traverses southwestern Oklahoma. It is known as the Carlsbad Cavern route and will enter the state west from Texas through Hollis following state highway No. 7 through Alaus, Snyder, Lawton, Anadarko, Chickasha and Oklahoma City.

Wentz informed McDonald that he had a plan practically completed that would carry this road East, absorbing most of the present 266 route, then to Muskogee and Westville, continuing through to Northern Arkansas to Pocohontas.

The highway commission chairman said he was working on a connection from that point over a bridge at Cairo and connecting with U. S. highway 68 in Kentucky.

If this can be accomplished, the Wentz' telegram said, it would mean that U. S. highway No. 68 would extend from El Paso through Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas into northern Kentucky. He then will try to extend the road further east or northeast.

"This would change the Carlsbad Cavern road from a local road from El Paso to Oklahoma City into one of the most important highways from El Paso to the eastern part of the United States, connecting with the Canadian border or the Atlantic coast.

U. S. highway No. 60 was completely designated across the northwestern part of the state this week as requested by Wentz. It enters the state at Wyandotte from Missouri and passes through Vinita, Nowata, Bartlesville, Pawhuska, Ponca City, Pond Creek, Enid, Fairview, Seiling and Arnett and enters Texas at Higgins.

At Enid the new No. 60 absorbs the present 164 to Amarillo. In the future, Wentz said, he hoped to work out an extension to the Pacific coast for this highway which now begins on the Atlantic coast.

Frederick Legion To Honor Comrades

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., May 29.—Continuing a custom which was established when the local American Legion post was organized more than 10 years ago, Memorial day services will again be held this year. Graves of the dead comrades on the Frederick cemetery will be decorated. Members of John S. Kerr post will meet at the Legion hut on South Main street at 9:45 a. m. Friday, according to Fred G. McNeely, commander. From there they will march to the city auditorium where a program will be given.

Following the program the Frederick cemetery will be visited and an impressive military ceremony rendered at the grave of some comrade. Markers and small flags have been placed at the graves of all comrades. Each Memorial day a different grave is selected over which volleys are fired and taps sounded.

In the afternoon the Hollister cemetery will be visited and similar services held. The cemeteries at Davidson and Tipton were visited at previous Memorial days.

Chinese Resort To Aerial Warfare

SHANGHAI, May 29. (AP)—The first aerial battle in Chinese warfare occurred today west of Kweiteh in Honan province said a dispatch from Nationalist military headquarters in Nanking. Two Nationalist airplanes equipped with machine guns engaged a northern rebel airplane similarly equipped. The rebel flier was pursued and shot down near the Yellow river.

Developments of the struggle of the opposing forces of the Nationalists and Northerners in Northern Honan are obscured by lack of details and by contradictory claims of the combatants.

Iowa Park Churches Hold Bible School

Special to The Record News

IOWA PARK, Texas, May 29.—Miss Elizabeth Hornsburger of Dallas, director of religious education for Dallas Presbytery, assisted by Mrs. Geo. A. Weems, is conducting a two-weeks' vacational school at the First Christian church in Iowa Park. The First Presbyterian and Christian churches are uniting in this work.

To date, the enrollment is 52 children, and 18 teachers and helpers. Bible stories, Bible memory work, singing, recreational and handwork, made up the program. It is planned that each child shall make some gift for another, thereby instilling the idea of giving, as well as training the pupils in handiwork.

There will be a closing program, to which the public is invited, at the Christian church Friday evening, June 6.

Capitalist Named In $500,000 Balm Suit

WHEELING, W. Va., May 29.—(INS)—Suit for $500,000 alleging alienation of affections was on file in circuit court here today against Edward S. Romine, Wheeling capitalist, by Herman L. Arbenz, former United States government engineer.

Arbenz, a former city engineer, recently was granted a divorce in Ohio county circuit court from Mrs. Emma Row Arbenz. The divorce suit named Romine as co-respondent.

Romine is a wealthy oil operator and formerly held large parcels of West Virginia coal producing lands.

DOPE AND BOOZE RINGS PROBED

Federal Authorities Southwest Busy

KANSAS CITY, May 29. (UP)—Activities of alleged narcotic and liquor rings were being investigated throughout the Southwest today by federal and state authorities.

Of primary interest was the federal grand jury investigation under way in Topeka of sales of poisoned jamaica ginger which allegedly caused thousands of cases of paralysis in Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas. Indications were that conspiracy charges would be filed involving persons and firms in many southwestern cities, as well as New York and Boston. Shipments of alleged poisoned "jake" were being traced by the federal authorities.

At Springfield, Mo., federal narcotic agents were probing an alleged dope ring, said to extend over all of Southern Missouri and Arkansas. Six persons were arrested yesterday and a quantity of morphine was seized.

A federal grand jury at Muskogee, Okla., brought indictments naming two Holdenville druggists and four others on charges of selling substandard jamaica ginger. The jury continued its investigation today.

In South Central Kansas 10 farmers stood to lose their property because of alleged violation of the liquor laws, revealed in a series of raids in Sedgwick and Reno counties recently. The farms were to be sold to pay the revenue fines and costs of trial.

detail. Then his interest in that investigation vanishes and he is off on another trail.

That's that. Now back to the morning following the Wilber safe robbery, when Mr. Sheridan called me into his office.

"Maizie, do you read the Record News?" he asked, and continued before I could answer. "Of course you do. All women read the advice to the lovelorn on the Woman's page, the serial, story of gallant men and maidens fair, and follow the adventures of the Comic page characters. I confess I do myself so you needn't bristle."

I hadn't been "bristling." I sat up straight and pulled down my skirt, because at that minute I had discovered a "run" in the knee of my stockings and hurried to hide it. That's one time his deductions were wrong.

"Now what are you laughing at from behind those owlish goggles?" he asked suspiciously. I did not enlighten him.

"Everybody reads the news and feature pages of their favorite newspaper," he went on, "but do you read the classified advertising section, the want-ad pages?")

"I haven't lost or found anything. I don't need any second-hand furniture and I don't want to rent a flat, but I could make use of a good used car," I replied. My hint was ignored.

"Prosiac Maizie," he exclaimed, "and all along I've been imaging that romance lurked behind that frosty front! Romance, Maizie, romance! The want-ad pages are filled with it. There is a little life story in almost any want-ad your eye picks out if you only know how to read it there.

"Here, take one at random." His hand went out to a copy of The Record News lying open at the classified advertising section. His finger jabbed at one of the items in the "Automobiles for Sale" column and he read:

CHEVROLET ROADSTER, 1928 — 1,700 miles; good tires. Fox Chevrolet company, 604 Scott avenue.

"Maybe that car was owned by a young man in love. Think of yourself, Maizie, snuggled down beside him on the soft cushions, driving on and on through the moonlight of a dreamy summer night, a gentle breeze singing in the roadside trees. Your arm is about his shoulders and he recklessly takes his eyes from the road to gaze deep into your own. You bend nearer—"

"Stop it!" I cried. "You know I never do anything of the sort. Me petting! Like a vulgar young flapper! You have no right ....."

"Tut, tut!" he interrupted. "You do the flapper an injustice. There is romance in her soul as well as yours. Remember, to, it was your young man in the car, not any young man." His eyes twinkled. "Perhaps I was too personal, but I was carried away by the beautiful picture that was parading through my mind."

I kicked myself mentally for falling into his trap. I set my teeth and remained silent, but he was through with teasing.

"I'm serious about these want-ad dramas," he continued. "Listen to this and visualize the domestic tragedy it suggests. From the column headed 'Notices':

ON AND AFTER this date I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by anyone other than myself.

"A story of love grown cold, violent quarrels, recriminations, separation, perhaps a divorce—a blasted romance! Why, Maizie, a novel could be written around that notice!"

He picked up a piece of paper from his desk.

"Here is one I've written myself," he said, handing it to me. "I wish you would typewrite it neatly, then take it around to The Record News and order it inserted in the 'Lost and Found' classification for a week. Have them insert the proper private box number in the space left vacant. When you return I'll tell you all about it."

My eyes strayed to the paper and I read:

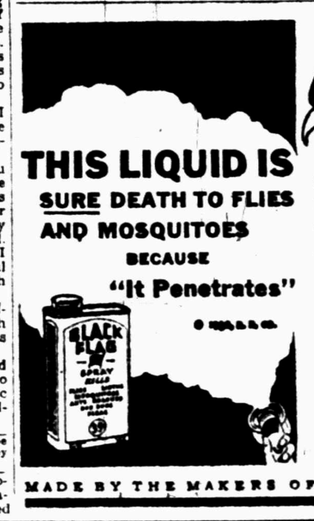

$500 REWARD

A cash reward of $500 is offered for the return of cash box containing red leather-bound memorandum book taken from safe in residence on ——. No questions asked and no prosecution is guaranteed. Address ——, care Record News.

Health and Diet Advice

Show a Good Face

You have no doubt noticed how much you are influenced by other peoples faces. You like some people the first time you see them, but you have a hard time in learning to like others, even though you know they are good people.

Did you ever stop to think that your face influences other people in just the same manner that you are affected by other faces? You may be the best-hearted person alive, but if your face has a forbidding appearance you will have difficulty in making friends. A frank, open countenance is one of the best recommendations one can have.

The fact may be likened to a bulletin board which all the world may see, for it registers and expresses our sorrows or joys, hopes and dispairs, pain or happiness, health or sickness, honesty or dishonesty, faith or distrust.

Some people try to conceal their real emotions so as to appear honest when they are dishonest, or trustful when they are distrustful. All of these efforts to make the face appear what it is not, leads to a strain on the facial muscles which sooner or later makes an indelible impression that cannot be readily corrected.

We instinctively distrust those whose facial expressions do not appear natural, whether they appear over-desirous of pleasing, or whether they do not display the normal emotions. How much better it is to allow your face to express itself naturally. You do not then have to be constantly on guard. However, in order for you to do this you should train yourself to have the right kind of emotions at all times.

Most people regard the face as being an index to character, and there is no doubt that it is to some extent, although perhaps not as much as most people think. Nevertheless, the fact that people do think it is an index to character should be a sufficient reason for us to present a good face to the world.

You would not want the front yard of your home to be littered up with tin cans and broken boxes and old bottles, and it is certainly of more aesthetic importance that your face be attractive and that it be tidied and kept clear of the mean, destructive emotions. Your face should reflect honesty, sincerity and friendliness. This is evidenced by frank, open eyes and the lips together with the corners upward. You can do your own face-lifting if you will only learn to control your emotions and make your face reflect good, kind, honest, happy thoughts.

There is no need to go about with scowling eyebrows and a drooping mouth. It is not as important to learn to smile when you are with others, as it is to build a habit of cultivating a good facial expression whether you are alone or in company. In other words, learn to advertise your good qualities, and it is amazing how much your own mind is influenced by whether you smile or frown.

Even though you were born with a face that is neither beautiful nor handsome, you can do much to overcome the indications of weakness or ugliness by letting your face reflect signs of friendliness, character and stability. Cultivate the highest ideals and determine to make the best of yourself by combining the right kind of physical development and mental control.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Infection of Glands

Question—Mrs. L. F. writes: "Please tell me what causes rawness of the skin under the breast. I perspire a lot there and it has an odor of pus. I do not wear anything tight or heavy. I am short and stout. No matter what I do, this area stings and remains raw, and the more I perspire the worse it is."

Answer: You no doubt have some infection of the sweat glands under the breast. You should be very careful to cleanse this frequently with hot water and a mild soap, drying carefully and using some kind of an astringent or preparation containing alcohol. After this dust with talcum powder. I believe it would also be a good plan for you to use my cleansing diet course, as it would reduce your tendency to excessive perspiration, and would tend to bring your weight to normal.

Currants and Gooseberries

Question—K. D. writes: "Please give me some information in regard to the gooseberry and red currant. I am seeking data on these fruits, and especially how they rate from a health standpoint. Do they contain citric acid. I feel sure the red currant has a lot of iron; am I right? I have not been able to find out about these things from the department of agriculture nor from the government. I would be glad for any information."

Answer—The food value of red currants consists principally of fruit sugar and allied carbohydrates of which they contain about 11.5 per cent. It is a fruit very rich in potassium, and contains fair amounts of sulphur and phosphorous, but not much iron. Gooseberries do not contain as much carbohydrate, having only about 8.4 per cent, and they are not quite so rich as the red currants in potassium, but contain more calcium, sodium, magnesium, phosphorus and iron. Both of these fruits contain principally malic acid, plus vitamin C.

STEENGRAFE'S FIRST 1930 SHUTOUT SUBDUES STEERS, 11 TO 0

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Uncle Billy Disch has started sending his annual quota of baseball players to the big leagues. Wednesday, it was Frank "Pinky" Higgins, star shotstop of the 1930 Southwest conference champions, who signed the dotted line put in front of him by a business representative of the world champion Philadelphia Athletics. And yesterday it was Johnny Railton, the ace of Billy Disch's mound staff for the last three years, who signed with Bob Shawkey's New York Yankees. Neither of the announcements caused any great surprise. It was a cinch that the two would go somewhere in baseball if they chose the profession.

Now that we have Prof. "Lefty" Browning, a mathematics shark, on our pitching staff, we may expect to see a little more geometry in use down at the lot. Let's see, geometary deals with curves, doesn't it? Come to our aid, professor.

It won't be long until you won't recognize the Weeks park golf course. Improvements are going on daily. New greens are being prepared, and steel bridges are to replace the shaky wooden structures that span the creeks and water hazards. While the work is progressing on the new greens, playing is a little difficult for those accustomed to the course, because the substitute greens are located awkwardly, or so it seems to the player used to the course.

This, however, will not last long, according to Phil Hessler, the course professional.

From Dallas Thursday came the report it was rumored the Wichita Falls club was negotiating for the return of Red Bennett and Ted Gullic. Indeed, so Dallas finally woke up. The Spudders have been negotiating for the return of these two players for over two months, and the negotiations have about reached the stage where the Spudders have quit trying. It doesn't appear likely that either one of the two will be brought back here. Gullic is playing good ball for the Browns, and so long as he does this it is a cinch they will not part with him. And the Spudders were a lot more anxious to get Gullic back than Bennett.

Furthermore, it's beginning to look like we don't need any more gardeners, what with Kloza stepping out of it and hitting the ball, and Bettencourt and Fleetfoot Fitz patrolling the other corners and working just as effectively at bat. In fact, latest reports had it that Bennett was not living up to his old habits in Milwaukee.

And then they wonder why people go to baseball games!

First all was quiet, with a great religion withstanding the bickerings of the theologians and ruling the western hemisphere supreme. Then came the scientific investigators and said it wasn't so. Then the modernists strode the fence and tried to reconcile science and religion. And as a climax, comes Herr Prof. Dr. Einstein and scoffs at the efforts at reconciliation, saying they are not necessary because the religious instinct made the scientific spirit possible.

Now where are we at, I ask you? Ain't it about time to chuck it all overboard, buy a nickel cigar and go watch Lightnin' Levey cover shortstop, third base, second base and first?

MILT DRIVES IN TWO RUNS

Veteran Allows Atzmen Only Four Hits

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Maul 'Em Milt Steengrafe clicked in perfect tune with a Spudder machine that sparkled in every department Thursday, and registered his first shutout of the season against the Atzmen of Dallas. The score was 11 to 0. Steengrafe pitched perfect ball, allowing his foes only four hits. In addition his hitting was timely, and his Texas leaguer behind first in the second inning scored Euller and Bradbury to account for two of his team's runs.

Levey, Euller Star

The game was a one-sided hitting match, with the Spudders driving Grady Adkins from the box in the fifth after belaboring him for eight runs and nine hits, and pounding Holmes, Adkins' successor, for five hits and the remaining runs. To even matters, the Spudder defensive was perhaps in the best shape thus far, with Euller and Levey registering perfect throws to first from positions that made the feat seem impossible. The two dashing infielders got five assists each, and nearly every one of them came from sensational plays.

Eggert, Steer third sacker, did exactly half of the hitting for Dallas, connecting for two hits in four times up, while Blackerby and Holmes managed the other two hits off Steengrafe.

The first inning went scoreless, but in the second the Spudders made the scoreboard keepers get busy. Burns grouded out, second to first, to open it. Bettencourt then singled to right. Bradbury singled through short, and Bettencourt took third. Euller singled to center, scoring Bettencourt and advancing Bradbury to third, and took second on the throw in. Then Steengrafe came forth with his single, scoring the two runners. Levey grounded out, pitcher to first, and Steengrafe took second. Storti grounded out, second to first, to close the inning.

To start the next frame, Fitzgerald flied out to Blackerby. Kloza strolled. Burns doubled to center, scoring Kloza. Bettencourt was hit by a pitched ball and took first. Bradbury flied out to center. Euller singled to center, scoring Burns and advancing Bettencourt to third. Steengrafe forced Euller, second to short, closing the inning.

The Biggest Inning

The fifth was the biggest inning, the Spuders collecting four tallies in that frame. Kloza opened it with a single to center. Burns flied out to right. Bettencourt hit to the infield and when Morse at second muffed it he was safe at first, Kloza taking second. Bradbury doubled to center, scoring Kloza and Bettencourt. Jake Atz then jerked Adkins and sent in Holmes, who was greeted by Euller's double to center which scored Bradbury. Steengrafe grounded out, short to first, Euller taking third. Eggert at third booted Levey's grounder, and Euller scored. Storti flied out to center and the inning was over.

The last two came in the eighth. Levey opened it with a base hit down the third base line, and continued to second when J. Moore fumbled the ball in left field. Storti grounded out, third to first. Fitzgerald doubled to center, scoring Levey. Kloza singled to left, scoring Fitzgerald, and took second on the throw in. Burns struck out, and Bettencourt flied out to right to end period.

Two Great Plays

A sensational double play, the second put over during the fray by the Spuders, closed the game in the ninth. Eggert opened the inning with a single down the third base line. Willingham struck out. Brown then smote to Euller, whose throw to Storti caught Eggert at second, and Storti bore down on a throw to Burns which disposed of Brown at first. In the other double play, in the sixth inning, Levey handled Morse's infield clout at second, disposing of Holmes, who was on first, and then threw to Burns to finish Morse.

The teams meet today in the last game of the series.

The score:

Wedding Bells to Chime for Spudder

Irving Burns to Wed Boston Miss Sunday

The chime of gentle wedding bells soon will be wafted o'er the town in honor of one of our Spudders and his bride, it was learned Thursday with the announcement of the approaching marriage of Irving J. Burns, star first baseman of the Spudder machine, and Miss Margaret Gutro, of Boston Mass.

Tentative plans call for the wedding to take place Sunday at the Church of the Sacred Heart, following the double-header which the Spudders will play that day with the Fort Worth Panthers. Father Patrick O'Beirne will read the ceremony. Notification of the intention of the couple to wed was filed Thursday with Miss Elibeth Hall, county clerk.

Miss Gutro arrived in the city from Boston Wednesday.

The wedding will mark the culmination of a three-year romance, Burns and Miss Gutro having become acquainted in Boston just after he moved to that city from Somerville, Mass., his home. Miss Gutro is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gutro, of Boston.

Burns is one of the most popular members of the Spudder squad, and is a member of the crack infield aggregation familiarly referred to as the Tulsa quartet, Burns, Walter Euller, third baseman, James Levey, shortstop, and Lin Storti, second baseman, having been purchased by the Spudder powers from the Tulsa Oilers at the close of last season after the four had turned out stellar performances on Western league diamonds and made reputations for themselves as real stars of the game.

It was announced Thursday night that Mr. Burns and the future Mrs. Burns will be guests at an entertainment at the home of William E. Huff, president of the Wichita Falls baseball club, Saturday evening at which time the players and all club officials will pay their respects to the couple.

RACERS FACE FLAG TODAY

Drivers to Brave Death in Indianapolis Classic

INDIANAPOLIS, May 29. (AP)—Men who dare death that may come with the snapping of a cotter pin again draw attention of the world's sportsmen and sports women to the 500-mile automobile race at Indianapolis.

As reckless a band of drivers as ever donned helmets and goggles will start in the 18th renewal of the international classic over the weather beaten, bumpy brick course at 10 o'clock (central standard time), tomorrow morning.

Thirty-eight drivers—the largest field since the first 500-mile race in 1911—will face the starter, thinking not of the tragedies of other races, but of the $115,000 prize money and the fame which go to the winner.

Numerous elements have been injected into tomorrow's race which, in the opinion of officials, will make it the most thrilling and interesting in years.

The riding mechanic, who made drama in the early races and then was discarded, will be back, cramped into a narrow niche beside the driver in whose hands rests his safety. His share of the winnings, incidentally, will be between 5 and 10 per cent, but of that he cares little. He puts himself in the place of a student driver, who some day will be tooling his own mount.

Stock and near-stock cars will be back, their return to the hazardous sport being made possible by raising the piston displacement on motors from 91½ to a maximum of 330 cubic inches.

Super-chargers — those delicate but powerful "blowers" which give the cars speed in the sharp turns—have been outlawed, and the boys who set the pace will have to tramp hard on the accelerators and take a chance on the outcome.

Southwesterners Beat McClurkans, 4 to 3

Scoring a run an inning off Thomas, McClurkans pitcher, the Southwestern Glass and Paint company, won a tight game by the score of 4 to 3 on Harrison field Thursday afternoon. The clothiers tied the score in the fourth inning but two walks and singles by Hayes and Barrett supplied the winning punch. Score:

WALKER LOSES IN LAST MATCH

Loser in Finals Had Held Title Twice

By AL PARKER
Staff Correspondent

QUANAH, Texas, May 29.—Frank W. Foxhall of Memphis today became the second player to win the Green Belt Golf association championship twice, and to accomplish that feat he defeated, 4 up and 2 to play, the only other man who has won the crown twice. The loser was L. S. (City) Walker of Quanah, who held the title in 1926 and 1927.

Tournament Praised

The championship final this afternoon brought to a close the fifth annual Green Belt championship tournament on the course of the Quanah Country club, and the meet was being praised by the departing visitors today as undoubtedly the greatest in the history of the organization. Not only did it attract a record field of entries, 146 to be exact, but it produced the finest golf yet played in the tourney. Foxhall, the even tempered left-hander who bagged his second successive championship today, jumped into the lead at the fifth hole of the morning and never relinquished it. He finished the morning round five up, won the first hole of the afternoon to become six up and managed to fight off the great uphill battle of a fighting opponent, who to all intents and purposes was whipped at the close of the morning round, but refused to stay whipped. To Walker, by virtue of his great uphill battle, is due almost as much acclaim as the repeating champion. On two different occasions during the afternoon, Walker reduced Foxhall's lead to two up, the first time as early as the 28th hole, but just as he seemed on the verge of overhauling the leader, his game slipped and Foxhall came through in the pinch.

Never before has a Green Belt final been played under such adverse weather conditions. A light rain that fell throughout most of the morning 18, increased to a drenching downpour during the last half of the afternoon round. At the finish players and gallery, many of whom stayed with the match until the end, were sopping wet and the last half dozen holes found the greens flooded. Under these conditions the medal score that in spots might seem mediocre was all that could be expected.

Morning Games Best

The golf of the day was played on the very first nine holes. After the first had been halved in par figures, Walker won the second with a birdie four to hold the lead for the only time in the entire match, and even then it was brief, for Foxhall got it back at the third and went one up with a birdie on the fifth. The sixth was halved in birdies four and the seventh in par threes. Foxhall's par on the eighth and his birdie two on the short ninth ended the first nine with the Memphisian three up and with a medal score of 34, two under par.

The 10th was halved in regulation fours, but Walker won the 11th when he retrieved two bad shots with a fine approach and a 10-foot putt while Foxhall was in trouble and needed five. On the next two it was Walker who experienced the difficulties, and his opponent won two in a row in par to stretch his advantage to four up. Both needed one over par on the 14th, but Walker sent his tee shot to five feet of the pin on the short 15th and won with a two. At No. 16 Walker missed a five-foot putt and Foxhall won with a par four.

No. 17, a tough four, was played magnificiently by both, each reaching the edge of the green in two and both going down in two putts. Another missed putt from about five feet away cost Walker another hole at the 18th, as Foxhall got down in four, and at the half-way mark, the home player was five down.

Walker Slices

It looked like the thing was just about all over at the first hole of the afternoon when Walker sliced out of bounds and Foxhall sank a nice putt for a birdie three to win the hole. Incidentally, the penalty stroke cost Walker the hole, for he sank a lengthy putt for a four. No. 20 was halved with beautifully played birdie fours. Here Walker started his comeback that almost made an entirely different story of the titular final. Foxhall momentarily lost control of his irons and Kolker took advantage of the lapses to win three straight holes, two in par figures and one a birdie. The next two were halved in pars to leave Foxhall three up. On the 26th Walker failed to go down with a four-foot putt and Foxhall became four up. Walker quickly won it back on the short 27th. Each dropped his iron within five feet of the pin, but Walker sank his while Foxhall failed, bringing the count again to three for Foxhall at the turn.

Foxhall pulled his second into the rough on the 28th, failed to get out and Walker won with a par four. One of the most important shots of the afternoon zoomed from Foxhall's club on his second at No. 29. He laid the ball 12 inches from the pin from 150 yards out and his birdie three was sufficient to bring about a recovery when things were beginning to look decidedly "Walkerish." Walker refused to yield, even after that blow, and dropped a long putt to halve the 13th in par fours. Walker played the 579 giant in a methodical five to win the 31st, while Foxhall drove into a deep canyon and had little chance to recuperate. The driving rain and a strong head wind did not prevent two great drives at the next tee, but neither was too good from there to the cup and it was halved in fives.

All seemed well for Walker at the one-shot 33rd. He was over the green just a few feet, while Foxhall was past and bothered by an overhanging mesquite. He rolled under the tree, dead to the pin and Walker's chip stopped in the wet sand far short and he missed the putt to dormie the match.

Walker Misses Putt

Both were well up the fairway on the 34th, but Walker again was short while his opponent was dead to the pin and the battle was over when Walker missed his putt.

LAVENDER WINS GOLF TITLE

Abilene Expert Champion Of West Texas

BROWNWOOD, Texas, May 29. (AP)—Taking the 36-hole final match on the 30th green, Dennis Lavender of Abilene, 1928 West Texas golf champion and 1929 state amateur king, won the 1930 West Texas championship today by defeating J. Dixon White of Dublin.

Lavender got away to a big lead on the morning round, when he shot near perfect golf, going five up on the first 18 holes. At the start of the second round he added the first two holes to his lead, the Dublin youth going out of bounds on the first hole and conceding the second hole after getting into trouble.

White rallied to take the third hole in the afternoon round with a birdie four but Lavender again went seven up by taking the fifth. They see-sawed on the seventh and eighth and halved the ninth, leaving White still seven down.

White took the 10th, halved the 11th, and the match ended on the 12th when White's putt for a possible par four stayed up. Lavender shot par golf going out and was only one over perfect figures when the match ended.

Their cards for the afternoon round:

Out:
Lavender	435 344 435—35
White	645 354 345—39
In:
Lavender	544
White	445

S. E. Morris of Brownwood won the second flight championship, defeating Normal Locks of Brownwood, 2 and 1. Ellis Cowden of Midland took the third flight title, defeating Walter Watson of Brownwood, 3 and 2. Lloyd French of Brownwood defeated Burt King of Stamford for the fourth flight title, 5 and 4.

Herman Bats Way To Top of League

(By The Associated Press)

Babe Herman batted his way back to the Big Six and National league leadership as he led the Robins to a victory over the Giants by getting two home runs and a single in four times at bat. The spurt gave the Brooklyn Babe an average of .414. Sam Rice hit safely twice in five attempts and dropped to .410. The other National league members were idle while Al Simmons and Babe Ruth each dropped a point in the averages, getting one hit in three trips to the plate.

Robins Share First Place With Cardinals

BROOKLYN, May 29. (AP)—The Brooklyn Robins regained their tie with the St. Louis Cardinals for first place in the National league today by defeating the closest rivals, the New York Giants, 4 to 1. The Cardinals were among the six idle clubs in the circuit.

Babe Herman hit two home runs and batted in three of the Robin runs. Score:

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 29. (AP)—Some selling on relatively easy Liverpool cables was absorbed on moderate early declines in cotton here today and prices later rallied on reports of showers in the Southwest. After selling off to 14.78 at the start new October contracts rallied to 14.92 and closed at 14.90, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 4 to 10 points.

Reports of showers in Texas and Oklahoma with uncertainty as to weather developments over the three-day adjournment appeared to bring in considerable covering later. July was rather slow to follow the advance but firmed up to 16.20 in the late trading, on buying which was supposed to be against sales of spot cotton or covering, while the old December contract advanced to 15.26 making net gains of about 10 to 12 points on the more active positions. Closing prices were a few points off from the best under realizing.

The detailed weather reports showed no heavy rains in Texas and Oklahoma but there were showers at quite a number of points which, coming so soon after recent excessive precipitation, seemed to make some impression on sentiment. The forecast for unsettled or showery conditions over the belt also came in for comment, and it was pointed out that with the New York market closed until next Monday morning, Liverpool would be free to act on any weather news on Friday or Saturday. Liverpool cables said that trade calling had absorbed American selling in that market but that Manchester was depressed with cloth and yarn sales unimportant. Exports today were 3,000 bales making 6,454,451 so far this season. Port receipts 3,298. U. S. port stocks 1,726,819.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 29. (AP)—Cotton was very quiet today, the impending double holiday in New York causing a general indisposition to trade except in covering or evening up of commitments. The rains in the West and the forecast for more general rains led to some buying of new crop months and October was relatively firmer than July, showing a gain over the previous close of 10 points whereas July gained only 5 points. A private estimate made the decrease in acreage 3.3 per cent. The general market closed steady at net advances of 6 to 7 points. July closed at 15.85, October at 14.88 and December at 14.96, or 6 to 7 points net higher for the day.

Stocks Give Fresh Show of Strength In Face of Pre-Holiday Pressure

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 29. (US)—Stocks today gave another impressive exhibition of fundamental strength, closing the short week without yielding to the usual pre-holiday selling pressure. Leadership again was furnished by the highest-grade stocks, particularly those sponsored by the First National bank, which gave rise to reports that these interests were actively sponsoring their favorite issues. The Utility stocks maintained the broadest interest, the Electric Bond and Share stocks being in particular demand as merger stories were revived. Railroad shares continued dull and somewhat easier in price. Professional activity in greater in extent was encouraged by the market's action and some revival of public interest, although very slight, was reported by some commission houses. The market generally, however, continued highly selective affair, and more or less professional. Profit-taking inspired chiefly by the holiday was easily absorbed and many stocks advanced to new highs on the present upward movement.

Radio dominated interest as the persistent buying to which this column has directed attention continued on large scale. Buying has been based chiefly on the belief that the governmental suit against the proposed Radio-General Electric-Westinghouse deal will not succeed. It would not surprise those who have been buying radio stock to find the suit allowed to expire without any great action on the part of the government. Montgomery Ward was another well-bought stock. This issue seemingly has been bought by strong interests of late. With the new management in control, the bankers sponsoring the company are anticipating material improvement in operating efficiency, and profits. The company is now in the readjustment stage but the buying is reported to be of highest grade.

American and Foreign Power continued in demand inspired by its annual report for 1929, which showed $4 a share earnings. Air reduction was a feature of strength, running up over 6 points to a new high for the year. The strength was due chiefly to short covering, although reports were broadcast of improved earnings. April net was lower per share than in 1929, while May will have to compete with an exceptionally profitable month last year. International Telephone and Telegraph responded to recent accumulation. Westinghouse Electric continued in demand by strong interests who have selected this stock as a natural leader of any sustained upward movement in the general market. General Electric failed to participate equally with Westinghouse. Bullard added to its previous gain on buying attributed to optimism over prospects for the company's metal-finishing process. Worthington Pump advanced into record high territory in expectation of announcement of an important new contract.

Continued weakness in the Rail stocks is a reflection not only of the disappointing earnings statements now being published but also the result of considerable switching. Heavy selling of M-K-T was due to desire of certain large holders to switch into an active industrial stock. The persistent weakness in the railroad section has encouraged many holders to switch into the industrial and utility stocks. Investment buying is the only support the railroads now receive, this group being virtually ignored by the more speculative element. Public utilities enjoy popularity because of general recognition that enormous deals are still to be consummated in this industry. Electric Power and Light continued in demand, while new buying was reported in American Water Works and North American.

Transactions continued on a scale equal to the previous days of the week. Money was freely offered at 3 per cent and the failure of the banks to reduce their rate exerted no influence on prices. Maintenance of the local federal reserve rate was expected and the increase in loans of $8,000,000 represented no material change. Bill discountings of the system showed some increase. Wheat prices were lower, while other grains held firm. Foreign exchanges closed irregular, sterling and lire yielding while francs and other European rates were slightly higher.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, May 29. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Fairly liberal receipts preceding the holiday had a somewhat depressing influence on the cattle trade at some points around the 11-market circuit. Chicago reported weak to 25c lower prices on the better grades of heavy steers but otherwise the market on killing classes was not quotable any more than steady to weak. At Kansas City two loads of good to choice 1,292-pound steers brought $12.75. Choice 846-pound yearling heifers in Kansas City realized $11.50. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 24,000 as compared with 21,997 last Thursday. A year ago was a holiday.

Hog trade was uneven with most centers steady to slightly higher on early rounds but closing values at some markets on weight averages 240 pounds down were 10 to 15c lower. The day's extreme top of $10.50 was paid at Chicago. Total offerings were around 88,880, an increase of 13,500 over a week ago.

Fat lambs were steady to unevenly higher with springers generally taking a 25c advance. Mature classes of sheep were unchanged. Choice native springers scored $13.65, while Californias and Arizonas at Kansas City and St. Joseph realized $12.25. Choice 80-pound fed clippers at Chicago sold up to $10.75. The supply approximated 24,300, a decrease of 21,000 from last Thursday.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, May 29. (AP)—(USDA)—Fort Worth packers were not obliged to purchase cattle for immediate slaughter today, as packing house killing gangs will be idle tomorrow and demand proved dull and narrow for practically all classes. Slaughter yearlings settled by declines of about 25c and the market for slaughter steers, butcher cows and low cutters ruled barely steady. Several loads of medium grade slaughter steers sold for $9.00@9.75 and some package lots of good fed steers sold up to $10.50. Well finished yearlings in carlots brought $11.00 to $11.40 and off quality sorts of butcher heifers were scattered around $7.00@8.50.

A few good fat cows hanged up to $7.50 and above and low cutters were listed from $3.50@4.00.

Truck hogs scored advances of 15 to 25c while prices for rail hogs remained steady. Good light weight rail hogs topped at $9.90 and best stouck hogs brought $9.50.

Weak to lower prices brought most of the spring lambs but steady values were maintained in fed wethers and feeder lambs. Good spring lambs were reported from $8.00@9.00 and 2-year-old shorn fed wethers sold at $6.50. Some aged fed wethers landed at $5.50 and shorn feeder lambs moved out at $5.50@6.50.

Hogs—Receipts 600; rail hogs steady; top $9.90; good light rail hogs $9.85@9.90; truck hogs 15 to 25c higher, top $9.50; better 170 to 240 pound truck hogs $9.25@9.40.

Cattle—Receipts 3,400; dull; narrow demand for most classes with yearlings 25c lower and steers barely steady; slaughter steers $8.50@9.75; well finished yearlings $11.25@11.40, few cows up to $7.50 and above; butcher cows around $6.00; slaughter calves slow and lower; good medium weight calves $9.50.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 29. (AP)—Cattle—Receipts, 600; calves, 300; fed yearlings, $11.50 top for day; fed Texas cows, $7.25; bulk butcher cows, $6.75@7.50; medium to good bulls, $5.50@6.25; good to choice veals, $8.00@9.00.

Hogs—Receipts, 1,200; market steady; top, $9.95; bulk, $9.40@9.80.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, May 29. (AP)—Pre-holiday dullness pervaded the cash grain market today. Corn, oats and sorghums fairly easy to sell but other grains very slow. Mills are holding off from wheat. Nominal bids Thursday ranging from $1.15 to $1.16, basis ordinary No. 1 hard delivered Texas common points.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 94½@95½c; No. 2 white 98½@99½c; No. 2 yellow 98@99c.

Oats—No. 2 red 55@56c.

Barley—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds $2.04@2.06; No. 2 kaffir $1.72@1.75.

Dealers also quoted as follows, basis delivery Texas group one points: No. 2 mixed corn 91½@92½c; No. 2 white 97@98c; No. 2 yellow 96@97c; No. 3 white oats 51½@52c; to which add 1c for delivery Texas group three points.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 29. (AP)—End of the month deliveries of wheat on a big scale proved to be a decided handicap today for friends of higher prices. The market at times made strong rallies on account of bullish crop reports both domestic and foreign, but the gains failed to hold well. Today's deliveries on Chicago May wheat contracts aggregated 1,627,000 bushels, with further large deliveries looked for Saturday.

Closing quotations on wheat were irregular, ranging from ⅝c a bushel setback to ⅛c gain, compared with yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅛c off to ⅛c up. Oats unchanged to ⅜c higher, and provisions unchanged to 20c decline.

Despite the size of today's deliveries on May wheat contracts here and notwithstanding more or less uncertainty about the final result of May dealings, the disturbing character of much of the crop news current served to keep the market two-sided.

Lowest prices of the day here were reached toward the finish as well as during the early dealings, with transient upturns as an interlude.

Giving considerable momentum at times to wheat price rallies were reports that domestic wheat prospects west and southwest are becoming worse as harvest time draws near. Complaints that wheat shows a thin stand were especially mentioned as applying to sections all the way from Nebraska to Texas inclusive. Besides root rot was reported as widely prevalent in Oklahoma and Texas.

In the corn market, irregularity resulted from liquidating sales on the part of holders of May contracts and from frost predictions for tonight over part of the corn belt. Oats were unsettled by the action of other grain, but kept within a narrow range of prices.

Provisions reflected downturns in the value of hogs.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, July $1.06½@1.06⅝, $1.09½@10.9¼; Sept. $1.09⅛@1.06⅛, $1.09⅛@1.09⅛; Sept. $1.09⅛@$1.15⅛@1.16⅛. Corn, July 79⅜c, 81⅜c, Sept. 81⅞@81c, 82⅞@82⅞c, Dec. 75⅝c, 77⅛c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, May 29. (US)—Wheat traders were content to even up today and then withdraw to the sidelines. Action Saturday is expected to be governed by the trend of foreign markets tomorrow and to some extent by the remaining May liquidation. There was somewhat less apprehension over the latter today when deferred futures displayed independent strength and the May was supported on the break by houses which act for government agencies.

Broomhall estimates the remaining exportable surplus of wheat in the Argentine at 67,347 bushels. This, with the exports so far, makes a total of 120,000,000 bushels for the year, or nearly fifty million bushels more than estimated based on the official crop estimate.

There were no shipments of wheat reported from Russia the past week, but that country cleared 581,000 bushels of barley and 1,105,000 bushels of rye.

Nine boats cleared from Fort William and Port Arthur Tuesday with 2,258,000 bushels of grain, of which 2,000,000 bushels was wheat. This is the heaviest shipping day since the opening of navigation.

Broomhall says that the demand for hard winters continues slow, but that there has been a fair business in Manitobas.

Markets Close For Week-End

NEW YORK, May 29. (INS)—The New York stock exchange and the majority of the security and commodity exchanges throughout the country will be closed tomorrow and Saturday as the result of the Memorial day holiday.

The New York curb exchange, Chicago stock exchange, Cleveland stock exchange and Philadelphia stock exchange likewise will close.

Among the commodity exchanges to close will be the cotton, cocoa and rubber markets.

The securities market of the New York produce exchange will be closed on Saturday, but the grain and all other markets of the produce exchange will remain open.

Other exchanges remaining open Saturday are the Chicago and Winnipeg grain boards and the Liverpool and New Orleans cotton exchanges.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW

NEW YORK, May 29. (AP)—Dun's review this week will say:

With the added restraints of holiday interruption and of unseasonable weather over a considerable area, repression of business activities has continued the rule. Another month is ending much as it began, with few changes of special significance, and more than the usual repetition is necessary in reviewing the general situation. The state of inertia and of indecision, although less pronounced in some instances, extends to many branches of enterprise, while financial movements reflect similar characteristics. The securities markets are favored by conspicuous monetary ease, but are more sensitive now to trade trends, there being an increasing disposition to take cognizance of actual existing conditions. Appraisals made on the basis of future prospects bear a confident tone and the latent economic reserve power is considered reassuring, but the absence of a board and decisive revival is the controlling factor at present. Cautious policies are being closely adhered to in most quarters, with a strong disinclination to operate beyond immediate or early needs, and the lack of vigorous demands serves to accentuate the recession in commodity prices.

Weekly bank clearings $7,599,961,000, a decrease of 22.5 per cent from a year ago.

After "JUNIOR" Finished College . . .

It had seemed pretty hopeless to his father when at the end of six months he had been altogether "out of luck" as far as finding a job went.

It seemed as though the "positions" that the boy wanted didn't need him, while the plain "jobs" that were offered didn't exactly appeal.

Then one day they "got down to brass tacks" together. It was decided to describe Junior's capabilities in the "Situations Wanted" column of the Daily Times-Record News Classified Section. He promised to take a job at once if it was offered as a result.

The very next day came two telephone calls asking for interviews. It appeared that the firms concerned had been seeking just that type of young fellow who would work upwards in their organization.

—And other inquiries came later from out-of-town readers.

"Who said a college education is sometimes more of a hindrance than a help in business?" asked Junior.

"And who insisted that there were no good jobs to be found just now?" replied his father, with a satisfied chuckle.

Tom Slick to Drill Four New Oil Tests

Special to The Record News

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 29.—The Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company drilled in Wednesday two more wells in the Oklahoma City field.

Its No. 7 Nettie Emerson, in the southeast of the southwest of the southwest of 30-11-2w, in the southeast part of the field, came in while bailing at 6514 feet, and flowed 1076 barrels of oil in 14 hours and 10 minutes.

Its No. 11 Trosper and others, in the southwest of the northwest of the southwest of 11-11-3w, in the center of the pool, produced 2693 barrels of oil in 14 hours and 35 minutes. It was drilled to 6434 feet.

Tom Slick Oil company was given permits to drill four wells in the U-7 zone and locations were being made. Slick also made locations for No. 3 Foote, in the northeast of the southeast of the northwest of 2-11-3w; for No. 1 Key, in the northwest of the southeast of the northwest of 2-11-3w; for No. 1 Miller, in the southwest of the southeast of the northwest of 2-11-3w, and for No. 1 Moore, in the southwest of the northeast of the northwest of 2-11-3w, all located in the northern part of the pool.

Shell Petroleum corporation encountered increased production at No. 7 Petty, in the southeast of the northwest of the northeast of 30-11-2w, in the southeast part of the field, when drilled to 6540 feet. The bit was lost in the hole and fishing is in progress. The well flowed 653 barrels of oil the last 24 hours while it had been making about 125 barrels of oil daily.

The 51 wells open Wednesday produced 97,617 barrels of oil. There are now 250 producing wells in the field.

Pandem Oil company No. 1 St. Joseph orghanage, in the northeast of the southwest of the southeast of 17-12-4w, in the Bethany area, northwest of Oklahoma City, is drilling at 6071 feet in lime.

Prairie Oil and Gas company and Tom Slick No. 1 Dills, in the center of the southeast of the northwest of 17-13-3w, north of the city, is running the nine-inch casing to 5657 feet.

George Warr and others No. 1 Castle, in the southwest of the northwest of 20-11-3w, west of the pool, will start drilling out the cement Thursday. It was drilled to 5370 feet.

Mangum Club Honors Mothers at Banquet

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., May 29.—Members of the Business and Professional Women's club entertained their mothers with a banquet Wednesday evening at the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Ruth Gilley gave a toast to "Our Mothers," and Mrs. J. H. Hamilton responded with a toast to "Our Daughters." Appropriate vocal numbers were given by Miss Dora Dean Reed and Mrs. Fred Miller, with two readings by Miss Louise Bingham. A still-life picture of Whistler's "Mother" was posed by Mrs. J. A. Powers.

The club won a beautiful plaque at the recent state convention in Shawnee for having the greatest number of emblem pins.

Senate Hearings End On London Naval Pact

WASHINGTON, May 29. (UP)—Open senate hearings on the London naval treaty were completed today when the naval committee concluded its examination of naval officers. The foreign relations committee completed its investigation yesterday.

The treaty is to be considered by the senate in a special session, under present plans.

TOWNSITE COMPLETION.

T. F. Hunter and associates No. B-1, Bloodworth, located in section 157, T. E. & L. survey, in the Olney pool north Young county, is flowing at the rate of 30 barrels per hour from the sand topped at 1046 and drilled to 1086 feet.

LINCOLN AND OTHERS.

Jess Lincoln and others No. 1 D. W. Fisk located 150 feet south and west of the northeast corner of west half of section 85, Harris subdivision in Archer county, is drilling at 625 feet.

BATEMAN & DINGEE TEST.

Bateman & Dingee No. 1 J. H. Turbeville located in the northeast corner of section 36, John W. Harris sub-division of Club ranch in Archer county, is rigged up and will spud in Saturday.

BAKER AND OTHERS TEST.

James B. Baker Jr., and others No. 1 J. H. Turbeville located 150 feet west and 1170 feet south of the northeast corner of section 21, Harris sub-division, a wildcat in Archer county, is drilling deeper into a sand at 1400 to 1402 feet that is showing the earmarks of a small producer.

TOWNSITE LEMON.

Charles Featherstone has abandoned as a dry hole his No. 1 Groves in block 5, townsite of Olney in north Young county, after failure to locate the trend of the petroleum under his lease. The total depth before it clabbered was 1134 feet.

NORTHEAST MONTAGUE.

Bridwell Oil company No. 1 Crownover located in the northwest corner of the Crownover 202-acre tract in the Finiss Robertson survey, northeast Montague county, failed to gush over after drilling to a depth of 2121 feet and the rig was skidded from over a dry hole.

UNITED-PETROLEUM PROD.

United Producers and Petroleum Producers have spudded in on their No. 1 A. J. Dennis wildcat located in the southwest corner of the J. Stump survey, abstract 965, one mile west of the Bulcher pool in northwest Cooke county.

Dixie Absorbs McMan Concern

TULSA, Okla., May 29. (UP)—Fifteen years of struggle in Oklahoma oil activities were climaxed today for E. B. McFarin when the McMan Oil company which he built from nothing to a huge concern was merged with the Dixie company, subsidiary of Standard Oil.

McFarin planned tonight to return to the practice of law, which he left in 1915 to "buck" the oil game in the newly discovered Cushing field.

The merger was said to entail a consideration of approximately $20,000,000 although no official announcement of the amount had been made. The consolidation was made on the basis of an exchange of stock. All the officials of the McMan company resigned, and the Dixie company took over active management of the concern.

OIL MEN CALL DALLAS PARLEY

Independents to Confer With Carriers

DALLAS, May 29. (AP)—A conference here next Wednesday between committees of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association and the Independent Producers association, together with representatives of of pipe lines to the various fields, was decided upon at a meeting here today of the mid-continent pro-ration committee.

It was planned to draft a memorial to the Texas Railroad commission offering assistance in enforcement of the new pipe line law at the meeting next week. The new law was adopted by the last legislature.

Today's conference, attended by Tom E. Cranfill, president of the Independent Producers association, was devoted mostly to discussion and reports on the new pipe line law, designed to secure equitable and efficient distribution through the pipe line outlets of the various oil fields.

Our courteous ad taker will receive your Classified Ad and help you to word it, then our collector will call the next day. These accounts are "accommodation accounts" for the convenience of our patrons in transacting business over the telephone.

Classified Ad patrons desiring to have ads charged must have a telephone listed in their own name. No book record is made by the publishers on account of the great number of transactions, hence the necessity of collecting promptly.

Correction of errors in Classified Ads must be made before the second insertion. No allowance will be made for more than one incorrect insertion.

Cancellations and adjustments regarding errors should be telephoned to the Classified Ad department between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Ads accepted for afternoon paper up until 11 a. m. same day.

Morning paper up to 6 p. m. for the following morning.

Sunday paper up to 7 o'clock Saturday night.

Same copy in both papers.

THE CLASSIFIED DEPARTMENT IS OPEN ON SUNDAYS from 4 to 6 p. m. and telephone orders for classified ads to be inserted or to be discontinued will be accepted.

Exceptions: Want ads will be accepted over the telephone for all excepting the following classifications: Situations Wanted and Wanted to Rent. Ads for these classifications are cash with the order and will not be accepted over the telephone.

The Times reserves the right to classify all Classified Ads under the appropriate headlines and to revise or to withhold from publication any ads deemed objectionable.

GORE SPEAKS HERE TONIGHT

Home Industries Also Plan Musical Program

Preparations were completed Thursday afternoon by representatives of the Home Owned Industries association for the mass meeting to be held at the Municipal auditorium Friday night at 8 o'clock, when Thomas P. Gore of Lawton, Okla., will deliver an address.

According to plans made Thursday, a representative of the local association will go to Lawton Friday morning and will bring Mr. and Mrs. Gore to Wichita Falls early in the afternoon. Aside from his prominence as a United States senator from Oklahoma for 14 years, ending in 1921, and a Democratic leader during the past 30 years, Mr. Gore enjoys an enviable reputation as an entertaining speaker with a decided vein of humor in his deliveries.

The visiting speaker will be introduced by Fred Weeks, it was said. His address will be preceded by a brief orchestral concert, vocal numbers by Miss Harriett Bradley, mezzo-soprano, and by Claude Young, W. P. Lacy, Erwin F. Bohnfalk and Leo M. Underwood, according to the plans announced Thursday. As in former meetings sponsored by the Home Owned Industries association, invitations have been extended to citizens of all surrounding communities, and a large assembly is expected to greet the blind orator from the neighboring state.

Junior C.-C. to Stage Outdoor Frolic June 27

All members of the Junior championship on June 27 will engage in an outdoor frolic in which social, athletic and musical proclivities of the group will be given play, according to plans announced Thursday.

Detailed plans for the outing are to be made by the social meetings committee, it was announced.

Henry Penix was elected alternate director to succeed Cecil Putty, who recently moved from this city, and Roy J. Daniel was named delegate to the Fort Sill horse show which opened Thursday to run three days. Wilburn Page, secretary, will attend the state convention of chamber of commerce secretaries to be held at Plainview on June 5, 6 and 7, it was announced.

MAJESTIC: Billy Dove and Edmund Lowe in "The Painted Angel." Fannie Hurst's hokumized picture of Texas Guinan used to present Billie's loveliness. "Wanderlust," novelty. Charlie Chase comedy. Sound news. Last show "Close Harmony," with Nancy Carroll, Buddy Rogers, Harry Green and Jack Oakie. Complimentary addition.

STRAND: "True to the Navy," Clara Bow, Frederic March and Harry Green. "Bonfire Matinee" complimentary to all red-headed women, 1-5 p. m. Comedy shorts. Sound news.

STATE: "Men Without Women." "Journey's End" idea carried into a sunken submarine and frosted with a happy ending. Pat Rooney in "Sweethearts." Sound news.

GEM: Jack Hoxie in "Devil Dog Lawson." Also chapter 11 of "A Final Reckoning." Fable comedy.

Age-old fascination of the human mind and imagination with tragedies which occur unseen beneath "the waves of the mighty deep" account for the unusual appeal which "Men Without Women" (State) will have for many, many customers of all ages during Friday and Saturday. Humanity has become accustomed to tragedy; but tragedies which come under its close, intimate observation are so often gruesome that most people, while drawn irresistibly to see the human-fly who has just smashed from the eighth story to the pavement, turn quickly away in efforts to clear their minds of its horrors.

Deep-sea tragedies suffer a distinct classification. Men who go down with their ships, particularly the crew of a submarine, catch the sympathy and stimulate the unwilling fancy of the race of men more than the victims of any other death-dealing circumstances. Perhaps because a group of 20 or more men, imprisoned in a steel tank 20 fathoms under the sea, appear to be more completely deprived of any means whatsoever for helping themselves. Sinking of the Japanese Susebo, the S-51, the British H-1, the Italian Sebastiano Veniero, the S-4, and many others in recent years, each carrying dozens of service men to death, probably have stirred public interest and sympathy more deeply than any other item of news in that period.

"Men Without Women" uses a few brief introductory sequences to introduce the romantic element which is treated lightly enough to avoid interference with the main purpose of the picture. For the rest, it concerns itself solely with the crew of "S-13" rammed by a liner and dropped to a 90-foot depth. It strives without undue posturizing to portray the manner in which men die as the oxygen fails and the stench of death fills their prison. Since Stuart Irwin is in the crew, there necessarily are moments of subtle humor. As indicated by its title, the picture finds the doomed gobs returning invariably to discussion of their women as the perspiration rolls and their knees slump beneath them. Assistance of the navy obviously was given in making the picture; it tops anything done heretofore on this strangely fascinating theme.

Friday's outstanding events on Scott avenue, theatrically speaking: The "bonfire matinee" at the Strand from 1 to 5 o'clock, when all girls and women whose hair affects that burnished bronze hue made famous by Clara Bow will be guests of the management at Clara's "True to the Navy." At the Majestic, the customary Friday night "bonus" added to the second show as a house compliment. This week its "Close Harmony," with Nancy Carroll, Buddy Rogers, Skeets Gallagher, Jack Oakie and Harry Green. Those who remain for the double-header get home by midnight.

Named in honor of General Monckton, the New Brunswick city council has voted that it will not recognize the prevalent lazy spelling of Manchton, but must be addressed and respected as Monckton.

TWO ACCEPT PRISON TERMS

Hedgcoth Withdraws Plea For New Trial

Formal sentences of two years each in the penitentiary were pronounced Thursday morning by Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court on Ed Hedgcoth, 23, of Quanah, convicted Wednesday of the murder of R. D. Burnett, and on Barkley Thomas, negro, convicted last week for the burglary of a negro barber shop here.

Hedgcoth's motion for a new trial was withdrawn Thursday morning after the convicted man had talked with his father and three brothers, who remained with him through the trial. His decision was to accept the two-year sentence imposed by a jury in the 89th district court early Wednesday night. The case began last Monday. Hedgcoth asked that sentence be passed at once so that he might receive credit for as much time served as possible. Burnett was stabbed to death as the aftermath of a quarrel with the convicted man at a dance at a home near Iowa Park the night of last April 16.

Barkley Thomas, negro, was convicted by a jury in the 89th district court last week and also sentenced to two years in the penitentiary on a charge of burglary. He was alleged to have taken $8 from a negro barber shop on the day of the opening game of the baseball season here. He was later arrested in Fort Worth and transferred to officers here.

Past Presidents Give Rotary Club Talks

Past presidents' revue was the order of the day at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club held at the Kemp hotel Thursday noon, with Walter K. Campbell in charge of the program.

Seven men who have served as head of the club in recent years were presented in short talks following a short singsong led by Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, the immediate past-president. Others who were heard were George D. Keith, Tom B. Smock, Dr. Q. B. Lee, Albert E. Myles, Luther Hoffman, and John Kilgore.

Man Injured When Auto Jack Skids

John Collins, an employe of the Humble Oil company, is in the Hargrave-Walker hospital suffering from serious contusions and lacerations of the jaw as a result of accident about 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Holliday when an automobile jack flew up and caught him squarely under the jaw, according to the report of hospital attendants. The injured man was brought here immediately after the accident. He was reported not critically injured but was suffering intense pain Thursday night.

The Reader's Opinion

The columns of The Record News are open to its readers for the discussion of questions of current interest or import. Letters should be not more than 500 words in length, preferably shorter, and should be signed with the name and address of the writer. Initials, or pen-name, will be substituted upon request. Letters must be free of personal abuse or libel, and the editor reserves the right to reject parts or all of letters.

THE BLIND SENATO'S WIFE

Editor, The Record News—We doubt if there has ever been a case on record in the United States where the faithfulness of a great man's wife has had so much to do with his success as that of Senator Gore, even when black mailers tried to ruin the senator there was his little bright-eyed wife who sat daily by his side all through a rigorous trial and her friends all give her the credit for defeating the enemy and for her husband's even greater victory the next election.

Gore stands almost alone with a 14 years' record in the U. S. senate and coming out about as poor a man as when he went in, and his old time friends agree that Mrs. Gore who always stayed so faithfully by his side had the keenest instinct and always guided her blind husband in matters concerning his consistency.

As chairman of the agricultural committee, Gore displayed wonderful ability at holding his own with the eastern senators, when it came to questions concerning the stock men and farmers of the West, and Mrs. Gore whose early life was spent on an obscure farm and ranch always had a heart for the agriculturist and doubtless prompted the senator to action in their behalf.

Senator Gore and his wife have been for the "under-dog" throughout all the years of their activity, and we find him now pouring his life into a fight to assist his old time merchant friends.

Chest to Employ Collector To Seek Payment of Past Due Pledges

Empowering the finance committee to employ an agent to collect pledges that were due March 1, members of the board of directors of the Community Chest Thursday made plans to wipe out a deficit of $1,700 which the organization now faces. The meeting of the directors was held at the City National bank Thursday morning.

Mrs. G. R. Ellis, president of the Federated Missionary society stated in her report on the day nursery that the institution could not function on the 20 per cent cut voted recently by the board. A similar statement was made in the report of the colored day nursery given by W. E. Wilson. The board voted to take the matter under advisement and make definite arrangements within the near future.

Mrs. T. H. Lawson announced that the Camp Fire Girls camp will be held at Lake Worth this summer and reported that the organization was functioning under the recent cut in allowance it received recently. Mrs. Harley Snyder, secretary of the Children's Aid society, gave a report of her work in the organization since she has been in office in which she reported only 10 children at the boarding homes. A leave of absence was granted Miss Myrle Neely, secretary of the chest, to attend the National Conference of Social Work at Boston, Mass., June 6 to 14 after which she will take her vacation.

Those present invluded H. A. Gray, J. W. Akin, J. P. Marrs, W. E. Wilson, Gaines B. Hall, W. E. George, J. L. Jackson, Jr., J. H. Terrell, Mesdames W. W. Cook, C. W. Snider, B. L. Fain, T. H. Lawson, G. R. Ellis, Harley Snyder and O. T. Kimbrough.

Health Officer to Give Talk Over KGKO Today

New Traffic Bulletin Issued C.-C. Members

Members of the manufacturers and jobbers division of the chamber of commerce will receive the weekly bulletin of the traffic department Friday morning, in which it is formally announced that night trains on the Wichita Valley railroad, between this city and Abilene, will be replaced by day trains at an early date, probably June 1.

The bulletin also records that Wichita Falls' representatives at the quarterly meeting of the Southwest Shippers Advisory board meeting in Enid, Okla., last week invited that body to meet in this city in May, 1931. The Oklahoma meeting was attended by about 800 men, it was said.

Information that the hearing on the Tarry Motor Freight lines' application for permanent certificate will be held in Wichita Falls at a later date instead of in Fort Worth on June 3 as formerly announced also is given in the bulletin.
