Firemen Put Out Grass Fire

The fire department was called out to 1308 Eighth street Monday afternoon to a trash fire behind Wellington Farm Service. The fire caught from trash being burned in a barrel and got out of control to other trash behind the building.

Only minor damage was reported, with one broken window and some smoke damage.

Earl Harrison Postal Employee, Dies Friday

Earl Harrison, carrier on Route 5 out of the Wellington post office, died in St. Joseph's Hospital at 11 a.m. Friday, July 29. Mr. Harrison had suffered a series of heart attacks in recent weeks.

Mr. Harrison was carrier on this route 9 years, and a resident of the county 32 years, coming here from Whitesboro. He farmed in the Arlie and Quail communities before moving to the Midway community east of Wellington. The family home is on South Haskell street.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Baptist church.

The son of T. J. and Martha Barnes Harrison, he was born October 6, 1896. He was married to Miss Neva Walker on May 8, 1927, at Whitesboro, where they made their home until coming to this county.

T. Harrison of Chico, Calif.; four sisters, Mrs. Cap Davis of Wellington, Mrs. Beulah Harris of Dallas, and Mrs. Myrtle Cochran of Dallas; and five grandchildren.

Following the service here, his body was taken overland for burial services Sunday in Dexter cemetery near Whitesboro.

stations in a national network to measure radioactive fallout in farm lands and agricultural products in case of nuclear attack on the United States.

A general outline of the program has been made available to Fred Squires, work unit conservationist, and details will be announced later.

Forty-one SCS units in Texas were chosen for the work. In brief, the plan will operate in this manner:

The Wellington SCS will receive equipment for measuring the fallout and later at least four members of the staff will receive training in their operation.

SCS, in conformity with overall department of agriculture coordination, will put the plan in continued readiness for monitoring radioactive fallout measurements of agricultural lands and water, livestock and farm commodities stored or harvestable, or at bin sites.

This assignment includes the post attack utilization of radiological information and in cooperation with local civil defense authorities, with determining the circumstances under which land may be returned to production and the farm products safely used.

Drake Leaves Water Board Under Ruling

Clyde Drake has submitted his resignation as director of the Collingsworth County Water Control and Improvement Board, it was announced this week.

Drake is vice president of the board. His successor has not been named.

His letter of resignation was submitted to John Coleman, chairman of the water board. This action was necessary due to a recent ruling of the attorney general that a state employee cannot at the same time hold an office of public trust. Drake is resident highway engineer for the state highway department.

The ruling concerned an office holder in another section of the state, but applies to all such cases.

Ex-Students Reunion to Honor First Graduates

Bunting went up this week, decorating Wellington business firms for the annual Wellington Ex-Students reunion which will be held Friday and Saturday, August 5 and 6.

The reunion marks the golden anniversary of the class of 1910, the first graduating class that Wellington and Collingsworth county ever had.

Donald Curry, president of the association, this week announced final plans. He has been assisted in these arrangements by Mrs. Hubert Bowen, (Ineva Cudd) who is vice president and Miss Bessie Rainer, secretary, and by members of committees.

The featured speaker on the afternoon program, beginning at 2 p.m. is R. F. Curry, teacher and later superintendent of the Wellington schools from 1906 to 1918. He is the only former superintendent of city schools now living in the county.

Mr. Curry will give a short history of the schools and introduce those members of the first graduating class who are present.

Immediately after that, the Reunion Queen will be crowned. The entertainment part of the program will open with square dances by three groups, and close with musical numbers and pantomimes.

Supt. Bennett Goodloe will welcome the guests.

Members of the first graduating class are Harry Couch of Childress, Mrs. George Greenhaw of Memphis, the former LaNora Stall; Mrs. Minnie Wilse Hammons of Plainview; Mrs. Justin Stone of North Hollywood, California, the former Jan Isbell; and Irene Clark Preuett, whose last known address was Snyder.

Two members of the class have died, Miss Katherine Boverie and J. C. Penrod.

The remainder of the reunion program will follow the tradition set some years ago. Registration will begin about 6 p.m. Friday at Ellison Park and the watermelon feast will follow at 7.

Registration starts at the community building at 9 a.m. Saturday, and the morning will be given over to visiting and renewing friendships, Curry said.

The afternoon program will start at 2 p.m.

The Saturday evening event will be the barbecue, also at Ellison Park, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Closing out the big Golden Anniversary reunion will be the dance, with Peck Whites orchestra furnishing the music.

No estimate has been made so far of the crowd expected. "We expect a rush of reservations at the last minute," Curry said, as he urged every Wellington ex-student living in this area to attend, along with the large number that come from out of the county.

Approximately 2,000 names are on the mailing list of the ex-students association, although if both husband and wife are exes, only one name is included. This is the names of all former students whose present addresses are known, Curry said.

The bunting that decorates the fronts of most business houses is that bought by local merchants during a recent campaign. It is being used for the first time by the Ex-Students Association and when it is taken down at the end of the reunion, it will be turned over to the buyer.

Situation Worse

Handley Flies First UN Troops to Congo

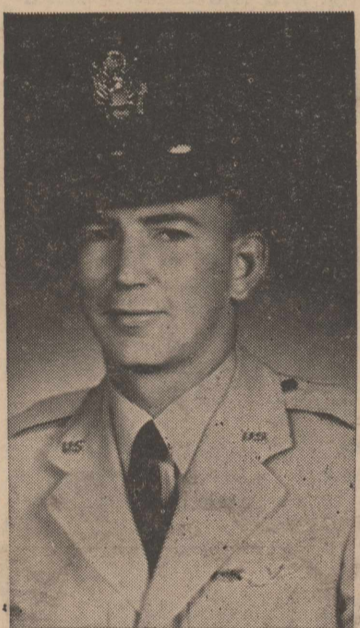

Lt. Phil Handley, air force pilot, flew the first plane load of Swedish troops into strife-torn Leopoldville in the new republic of Congo after UN forces were ordered there, a card this week revealed.

Lt. Handley is the son of City Manager Bura Handley. His card read:

Sorry for the delay in mail—but I have been hauling troops into this Congo affair for a week and a half. We are flying 12 to 18 hours a day. I have been all over the African continent.

We were the first plane to take those Swedish troops into Leopoldville from Cairo. Right now we are in Nairobi Airport getting fuel to return to Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, for troops which we are dropping off at Stanleyville.

This situation is bad, worse than you read in the papers. The end is not in sight yet, but am hoping to get back to Evernux, France, for a crew rest at the end of the week.

Representatives of the New Orleans office will conduct the meeting and people involved in the cotton price support program will have a good opportunity to obtain first hand information as well as getting problem questions answered.

The meeting is primarily for cotton buyers, ginners and bankers, but cotton growers are invited as well.

The Vernon Chamber of Commerce will serve a free lunch to out of town visitors.

Bridge Work Progressing

Engineer Reviews FM Road Work

Grading of the new farm to market highway is up north of Quail, and work started south of that town last week, Clyde Drake, resident engineer for the State Highway Department said in reviewing progress on the current road building program.

Pile driving on the bridge should be finished next week, he added.

Bob Baker Construction Co., of Brownwood holds the contract, and the cost is approximately $363,000.

Eight bents on the bridge over Salt Fork north of Quail have been completed and two slabs poured. When it is finished, there will be 28 slabs and 29 bents.

Work is a little ahead of schedule at this time but Drake said more workmen are needed. Approximately 25 men are now employed on the project and 8 or 10 additional common laborers could be used. If they are not added, the work will begin to slow down, Drake said.

Plaster work on the new office building for the Highway Department, at the southeast corner of the town section, will begin Monday, and the building will probably be completed about September 1, Drake said.

Barker Construction Company of Quanah has the contract.

In Chemical Research

Humble Oil Promotes Dr. H. A. Holcomb

Dr. H. A. Holcomb has been promoted to section head in Humble Oil & Refining Co.'s research and development division at Baytown. He heads the section that is engaged in chemicals development research.

Chemicals from petroleum (petrochemicals) manufactured at Humble's Baytown refinery include synthetic rubber, benzene, paraxylene, and now polypropylene. The world's largest polyolefin plant was opened there in May, with an initial capacity of 40 million pounds per year of polypropylene. This clear, heat-resisting plastic material, in only two years of commercial availability, has found many uses, such as molded products, film, fibre, and sheeting.

Dr. Holcomb holds the B.S. degree in chemical engineering from Texas Technological College and M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Texas. He was a laboratory instructor while studying for his doctorate, and then for twelve years before joining Humble in 1952 he was a Fellow and Senior Chemical Engineer with the University's Bureau of Industrial Chemistry.

Dr. Holcomb is a member of South Texas section, American Institute of Chemical Engineers executive committee, and is chairman of the membership committee; he has been chairman of the awards, the program, and the speakers committees.

Dr. and Mrs. Holcomb and their children, Henry and Kaylah live in Bayton at 405 N. Burnet Drive. The son of Mrs. Jennie Holcomb, Dr. Holcomb is a 1933 graduate of Wellington high school.

Farming Improvement

Each planting season we are reminded anew that one of the most spectacular improvements in agriculture in recent years has been the one least visible to the rest of us. Driving down the highway or visiting farmer friends, we see the big tractors at work. We observe the fine cattle grazing the winter and spring pastures. We take notice of the airplane dusting the crop. We watch the combine as it moves through the grain field. We inspect the pipeline milking system. But the improvement in seed, the basis of every crop, is invisible to us.

Seed selection is no longer the haphazard matter it once was, and comparatively little of the seed used nowadays by progressive farmers comes from the farmer's own barn or crib. The corn grower, for example, does not just plant corn. He plants hybrid seed of a special variety adapted to the soil and climate conditions of the part of the state in which he lives. The cotton grower does not just plant cotton. He plants certified seed of an approved variety. He wants to be sure of purity in the seed. He wants to know the germination rate. He wants the seed treated for prevention of diseases in case of bad weather after planting.

No crop years gets off to a good start without the use of good seed planted in a good seedbed at the depth, rate and spacing known to assure the best stand. All the many farmers who plant the best seed available do so because they know that the use of low-grade seed is a false economy and money saved that way will be lost many times over in the harvest season.

The small additional amount per acre necessary to secure the best seed for planting cotton, corn, rice, sweet potatoes, or any other crop, is an investment that will be repaid many folds at harvest time.

Let's Let Them Know

One of our troubles with government expense may be that too many taxpayers feel it is futile to write letters, or feel they don't know how to write them well enough. The man who will back a village trustee or a member of the Texas Board into a corner when he has a squawk about some aspect of local government, will never let out a peep about some action of state or federal government that seems to him outrageous. Not where it will do any good, that is. As a result, state and federal legislators often have little knowledge of what their constituents really want, and mistake the organized outcries of pressure groups for the voice of the people.

And that, somehow or other, practically always turns out to be expensive.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

Now that the Democratic delivery and the Republican coronation have been presented, we can settle back and re-enjoy the violence epics we saw on TV last winter.

My video sucker neighbor says it is thoughtful of the TV programmers to go easy on our blood pressure during the summer by giving us shows which we already know how they are going to come out.

But says on account of we knew the convention plots even before we saw the shows, if they repeat these they will be as tiresome as a re-re-run.

I see where Washington is getting ready to subdue the Cuban crisis with another dose of our regular cure-all prescription—elixir of money.

Seems the plan is to put a large poultice of same all over Latin America, so as to make Castro wish he had played it smarter so he could get his.

My jeerful neighbor says it looks like our Potomacians are due about a 90 per cent efficiency rating now that they have got to where they can just appropriate more money and wipe out any problem, except the national debt.

I see where Mr. Khrushchev don't want to hold any more pow-wows with the U.S. until we get us an administration which suits him.

One typewriter prophet says likely this would make for more harmony, and be even better if we put off any further meetings until Russia has got an administration that we like.

But my salty neighbor says it's mighty optimistic of Mr. K to think our next administration might please him, when most likely a lot of us won't even like it much ourselves.

I see where the Democratic platform carpenters used one plank which supports a citizen's right to vote even if he can't read and write.

My semi-illiterate neighbor says this seems fair enough, on account of there is no requirement that folks have to know their ABCs to qualify as taxpayers.

And he says, anyhow, the more voters we have who can't read, the easier it will be to sell these bureaucrats-dream platforms.

I see where Mr. Leonard Hall, who is one of our reigning Republicans, says if politics ever quit being fun, he would get out of same.

My disamused neighbor says he guesses it's natural for juvenile types, of whatever age, to want to have fun, but mostly they can be entertained cheaper with, say, postoffice or bingo, instead of politics.

On account of, while playing around with the country's future may be good for horse laughs to some, when a man is in the all-put-and-no-take taxpayer class, politics ain't funny.

I see where the men's clothing manufacturers are hoping to get their material costs down by selling us on the short sleeved coat.

My sartorial neighbor says this creation ought to be chic as all get-out with natural tatter-lace sport shirt sleeves peeking out just above a bar-collared elbow.

Says, too, this new style will solve one of mankind's most ancient problems, viz., how to keep the sleeve out of the gravy.

To Vocational Teachers Meet

Mrs. Monty Mitchell and Mrs. Dee Coleman, homemaking teachers in Quail and Wellington, are attending an In-service Course for vocational teachers of Texas at Houston this week. Also attending is Mrs. Fred Bourland of Quail, who teaches at Clarendon.

The first sessions were held Monday and the convention is due to end Friday.

Mrs. Mitchell, who is a member of the advisory council, representing Area I, presided at sessions for teachers of that area Tuesday night, and will preside at another on Friday morning.

Teachers attending this meeting learn of advances in the homemaking field and methods of presenting these to their students.

RUBBER CARS

Some of the late model automobiles contain more than 100 parts made of Butyl rub, a synthetic product which won widespread acceptance in the manufacture of inner tubes because of its ability to hold air 16 times better than natural rubber.

Collingsworth soil is going Ivy League. Bonnie Willis mailed one-half cup of dirt to Mrs. Belma Meeker, supervisor of elementary grades for Highland Park Schools, Dallas, who is on a science scholarship in Rutgers University at New Brunswick, N.J. She wrote Bonnie for this dirt for a friend from Minnesota, also at Rutgers, who will use it in some experiments. The soil from this area is so different from that anywhere else in the United States, the Minnesotan wanted it, he explained to Bonnie's friend.

Ermer Lineberger, who lives a mile north and one west of Lutie, reported that he got 2.4 inches of rain in two hours recently. At the same time, there was just enough rain to lay the dust at Lutie. He recalled a similar occurrence a few years ago, while a revival was under way at Lutie. One night he put $5 in the collection plate and that same night got a 2-inch rain. His non-contributing neighbors wanted to know how come. "I guess if I'd put $10 in the collection, I'd have been washed out," he remarked.

The vocalist at the wedding of Roberta Posey and Delbert Long was his brother, Wayne, who is singing this summer in the famous summer opera at Santa Fe. After the wedding Saturday night, he had to fly back, to sing Sunday as a member of the chorus at a concert in St. Francis Cathedral. This is the only Catholic church in the United States in which permission has been given for secular concerts, I've been told.

Interesting, too, was one of the bridesmaids, Jeanette Singer, the gay, dark-haired girl from San Francisco. Born in Germany, she grew up in Bangkok, Thailand, where she and Roberta became friends. Another of the attendants was the friend with which Roberta toured Europe a few years ago.

Judge Raymond Horton reported recently that on a Sunday, he saw five Collingsworth county cars as he drove by one boat dock. Now when we get our own lake . . .

As the Scouts going to the Jamboree left Pampa at 5 a.m. Zella and Bill Hatch drove son Bryan up and spent the night. In the hotel lobby they saw three Japanese Boy Scouts and their leader. According to the advance listing, Ronny Hurst and Ike Gilbreth were in the same patrol with two of the group, and Mark Fires with the other two.

Army Reservists in Training at Fort Chaffee

FORT CHAFFEE, Ark.—Receiving refresher training from the 95th Division at Fort Chaffee this summer are three men from Wellington.

The three citizen-soldiers are among 2,200 Army Reservists called to active duty for two weeks in a "practice" mobilization to test the ability of the nation's reserve forces to process, equip, and train large numbers of soldiers in a short period of time.

Price Campbell Honorary Head of WTU Board

ABILENE.—Price Campbell today was named honorary chairman of the West Texas Utilities Company board of directors, stepping down from the active chairmanship he has held since 1955.

Cal Young, WTU president, said there are no immediate plans to name an active chairman to replace Campbell.

Campbell began his 45 years of service in the electric industry when he was employed at Marshall, Texas, by the American Public Service Company, predecessor of the West Texas Utilities Company.

He came to Abilene in 1920 as an engineer for the companies that were to become the West Texas Utilities. In 1930, Campbell was named president of the company and held that position until 1955, when he reached the mandatory retirement age of 65 and was named chairman of the board.

His election as honorary chairman on July 29, came as a result of his attaining the mandatory retirement age for the board chairman. As honorary chairman, Campbell will be relieved of his administrative duties but will continue as an active director of the company and will maintain an office in the First National-Ely building in Abilene.

Widely known for his work in the development of West Texas, Campbell has been interested in numerous civic and area development programs.

Among other activities, he is a director of Texas A&M College, board member of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the United Fund of Abilene, and a trustee of the Abilene YWCA.

Three Wellington Artists to Exhibit in Dallas Fiesta of Art

Plans are all but completed for the 1960 Fiesta of Art, the sidewalk art show that, for five years, has heralded the fall season in Dallas. Although the three-day event will take place, as in previous years, in the charming atmosphere of Highland Park Shopping Village, the dates set are September 14, 15 and 16, which is considerably earlier than ever before. The hours of 7:00 to 10:30 each night remain the same as previously.

The emphasis this year will be on animation, and the directors of the Fiesta are arranging for artists to be at work in as many media as possible and a broad scope of subjects for the entertainment and education of the more than 20,000 expected to attend.

Of special interest to those in the Wellington area is the fact that the following local artists will have booths at the 1960 Fiesta: Lucille Gilmore, Mrs. G. E. Van Pelt, Peggy Scott.

Already booth sales for the 1960 Fiesta are so far ahead of the total for the previous years that a sellout is virtually assured, promising far and away the largest, most colorful Fiesta yet.

What Is a Reception Without Cool Punch?

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

For weddings, receptions and showers, this garden tea punch is a thirst quencher de luxe at a very low cost. The ice ring that floats in the bowl is made of equal parts of water and orange juice. Orange sherbet, topped with candied or maraschino cherries, fills the center of the ice ring giving it an added party flair.

Garden Tea Punch (Makes about 50 servings)

One quart boiling water, ¾ cup loose tea, 2 cups corn syrup, 3 quarts cold water, 1 dozen lemons (juice only), 1½ cups orange juice, 1 quart pineapple juice, 1 cup liqueur, if desired, 6 12-ounce bottles gingerale, 2½ quarts orange ice, maraschino cherries.

Bring water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat. Immediately add all the tea. Brew, uncovered 4 minutes. Stir and strain in a container. Immediately add syrup and stir to blend. Cool at room temperature. Add water, fruit juices and cintrou, if desired. Blend.

When ready to serve, pour into punch bowl over ice circle. Add gingerale. Arrange orange ice in center of ice circle. Add maraschino cherries. Serve in punch cups.

For a champagne wedding punch you will find this recipe very satisfactory:

Veterans Can Get Loans on Damaged Homes

World War II and Korean conflict veterans in Collingsworth, Childress and Hall counties whose homes have been damaged by heavy rain, hail, flood or tornadoes beginning about June 5, may get assistance through the Veterans Administration Loan Guaranty program, Robert W. Sisson, manager of the VA regional office in Lubbock said recently. Also included in the list of affected areas are the towns of Memphis and Clarendon.

The President has declared these major disaster areas, Sisson said.

The administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency has informed VA that, as a result of the President's action, the Federal National Mortgage Association will make special credit aid available to veterans whose homes were lost or damaged.

Veterans who have all or part of their loan guaranty benefits available can take advantage of this special credit aid by applying to their lenders for GI loans, Sisson said.

FNMA, a government secondary mortgage market, is authorized to purchase and make contracts to purchase VA guaranteed disaster mortgages made by private lenders as a result of disaster. It may be possible in some cases for World War II and Korean conflict veterans whose GI homes have been destroyed or so severely damaged as to make restoration impractical to have their loan guaranty rights restored if VA does not suffer any loss on the original loan.

Sisson said that VA urges veterans with GI loans on homes affected by severe weather to get in touch with their lenders to work out plans if

Guard Against Heat Stroke

Slow down a bit on these hot summer days. Overexposure to the sun, prolonged heat or hard physical labor in a hot or stuffy place can bring heat exhaustion quickly.

In heatstroke, body temperature rises, skin becomes hot and dry, face reddens and headache develops. Heat exhaustion works just the reverse. The patient's body becomes cool, perhaps clammy, with sweat. The best treatment for both conditions is preventative.

National Safety Council recommends the following precautions:

Increase salt intake to offset excessive loss of salt in the body through perspiration. Salt intake can be increased by adding more salt to food, by drinking salted water, or by taking salt tablets.

Avoid overexertion and overexposure to direct sun rays or extreme indoor temperatures and high humidity.

Wear a hat while out-of-doors; wear light, porous clothing.

Eat nutritious food, but avoid over-eating. Drink water often through the day, one glass at a time. Avoid ice water and alcohol.

When heat stroke or heat exhaustion occurs, get a doctor at once and apply first aid treatment.

necessary for extending or amortizing loan payments. VA will cooperate fully.

Lenders holding GI loans also may grant supplemental GI loans to veterans for the restoration of the homes or for property damage. GI loans made solely for the replacement or reconstruction of residential property that has been destroyed or substantially damaged will not be subject to credit controls.

Further information concerning these credit aids to veterans who were affected by the severe weather, may be obtained by writing or visiting the nearest VA office.

Nine Scouts Attend National Jamboree in Colorado Springs

Nine Scouts from Collingsworth county had a wonderful experience as they joined 56,000 other Scouts from all over the free world in the National Jamboree held in Colorado Springs July 22 through July 28.

Those who went from Collingsworth were: Bryan Hatch, Chester McLain, Bill Spillman, Mike Fires, Ronnie Hurst, and Tim Bailey of Wellington, and Ike Gilbreth of Quail and Pete Smith of Samnorwood.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fires and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Spillman also visited the Jamboree. The Jamboree city, the fourth largest in Colorado for a week, consisted of 1,326 troop sites divided into 39 sections and was located on a plain at the foot of the Rockies with snow-capped Pikes Peak reaching into the sky only a short distance away.

The grand opening of the Jamboree was held Friday night as 56,000 Scouts marched into the arena to stirring music to be treated to a show of Indian dancing, horsemanship, a huge pageant of the founding of America and a brilliant flash of fireworks against the sky.

The boys reported that the food was plentiful and excellent. For the closing supper on Thursday 2,200 steers were needed to feed the scouts and for the Sunday supper of fried chicken, 54,600 chicken legs and an equal number of chicks were used. The boys cooked their own food over charcoal.

Over 100 chaplains were on hand to counsel with the scouts and to conduct religious services for the boys of their faith, including Protestant, Catholic, Jewish, Buddhist and others. Over 200 doctors manned the four hospitals and a minimum of 2,000 acres of land was required to provide homesites and operational grounds for the scouts.

Activities of the Collingsworth Scouts consisted in taking part in patrols, obstacle courses, rifle range and archery, as well as attending the big events in the arena.

The busy week was climaxed with a jubilee birthday party Thursday night and the boys returned to Wellington Friday.

Work Begins on Livestock Barn for Fair

Construction began Monday, August 1, on the livestock barn for the county fair, according to N. M. Higdon, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, which is building the barn.

Ben Hurst and Cameron Beam are in charge.

Future Farmers of the county are doing much of the actual construction, under the direction of the three teachers, Danny Garcia of Wellington, Frank Kennedy of Quail, and John Dwyer of Samnorwood.

The barn is of sheet iron construction and is located on lots immediately north of the old Leggett Machine Shop, now used by the county for road equipment.

It is planned that the work will be finished in two weeks, and the building will be used for the first time during the county fair September 2 and 3.

The 50th Anniversary
for both of us

City State Bank, now 50 years old, congratulates that first graduating class, and all that have followed

Just 50 years ago, the Wellington High School class of 1910 stepped across the stage of their small auditorium and received their diplomas, the first time this had occurred in the whole 20 years history of Collingsworth county.

There were dreams in their eyes, and the sturdy, practical ambition in their hearts that belongs to the children of pioneers.

That same year, City State Bank was organized. The men who put their money into the enterprise had dreams, too, of a county rich in agricultural growth, a leader among counties. They were practical business men, with knowledge of banking and the community they were to serve. Because of this, we have grown.

This year, City State Bank congratulates the five that remain of that first graduating class, and the members of all graduating classes that follow. We sincerely hope you will be at the reunion August 5 and 6, and that we can renew our friendship with you.

Annual Farm Bureau Queen Contest to be September 10

The annual Farm Bureau Queen contest will be held Saturday, September 10, when the county's loveliest girls will compete for the privilege of following the footsteps of two who have advanced to state competition.

The contest will be held at 7:30 p.m., Dee Burba, Farm Bureau manager, announced.

"All of our girls are good looking, and the judges will have a hard time deciding which is the prettiest," Burba declared.

Last year's county Queen, Kaye Peoples, won the district contest and was runner up in the state Farm Bureau Queen contest.

Her cousin, Fayteen Peoples, won the state event a few years ago. Both girls are now married.

Burba announced the contest rules, in order that girls eligible may make plans to enter.

"This contest is to give recognition to the farm and ranch girls of Texas. It is an honest-to-goodness Queen contest. The girls are to be judged on grace, poise, charm, vivaciousness and all the other qualities that go to make up winsome Texas future homemakers," Burba said.

The three main points on which the girls will be judged are appearance, poise and personality.

Each contestant will be required to speak approximately one minute on some subject pertaining to Farm Bureau.

To be eligible, a girl must be single, at least 16 and not more than 22 years of age, and the daughter or sister of a Farm Bureau member actively engaged in agricultural production.

The county winner will participate in the district contest, and the winner of the latter will receive an expense paid trip to the state convention. The state Farm Bureau Queen accompanied by her mother or sponsor will be allowed $500 to attend the American Farm Bureau Federation Convention in Denver in December 1960.

Girls wishing additional information may contact the Farm Bureau office.

Stake First Part of New Golf Course

Plans for Marian Airpark Golf Course have been drawn according to recommendations by the National Golf Association and stakes for the first part of the course were driven last week by Jack Sanford, president, and the Rev. Frank Weir, director.

Three holes will be constructed now. Bill Tarter will haul dirt and club members will be organized into work parties to do the actual work. This will begin in mid-August, Sanford said, after most members have returned from vacations.

The former CAP building has been secured as a club house and was repainted. Furniture will be secured.

Sorghum alum on that part of Marian Airpark to be used as the course will be cut one more time and then mulched. Grass will be seeded in the mulch, according to Sanford.

County Agent Bob Lynch, now at Texas A&M, is contacting grass specialists on the best grass to be planted on the course. Tiffany grass will be planted on the putting green.

The town will have a 9-hole course, with good grass fairways at the end of two years, if plans are developed. Marian Golf Club is open to any person interested, Sanford reminded.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hunter are their son and daughter, Clifton Earl Hunter of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Keith Cunningham and daughters, Melanie Starr and Becky, of Port Lavaca. Cunningham will join his family here later this month.

Brother of Mrs. Martin Dies

A 46-year-old San Antonio crop dusting pilot, Ralph R. Boone, died early Monday, August 1, when his light plane crashed and burned near Acala, about 50 miles southeast of El Paso.

POINT OF VIEW—Workmen make repairs, not on the Egyptian pyramids, but on the tomb of Caius Epulo, in Rome.

NEWS LETTER from Congressman WALTER ROGERS

How Do We Get There?

For a number of years virtually all of our "best minds" have been telling us how vital are the good wishes of our uncommitted and neutralist neighbors in Asia and Africa. We have also been reading that either a thoroughly unpleasant fate or a diabolical trap awaits us in Cuba. And in the backwash of the summit flop and fiasco in Japan, the arguments over "personal diplomacy" and "U.S. prestige abroad" have become particularly intense.

All this discussion is, of course, justified. It IS important. But I often wonder if perhaps we are tragically overestimating this importance, or at least looking at it in the wrong light.

First of all, we wonder incessantly about how "complex" the world is today. And indeed it is complex. But while this should spark our imaginations, it often serves merely as an excuse to further inaction. Another of our favorites is the well-worn complaint about how crucial the decisions are today. We seldom remember that man's decisions have always been "crucial" just as the times have always been "modern" and the armaments dangerous. Again, this should step up our efforts and our tolerance, not paralyze our will.

Curley Top Ruins Tomatoes

COLLEGE STATION.—Curly top disease of tomatoes is primarily a problem in irrigated areas of West and South Texas. In northwest Texas up to 33 per cent damage is not uncommon in some fields. The virus disease starts appearing in South Texas during April and May. It may be expected in northern areas of the state during June, July, and August.

Affected leaves first turn grayish green. Soon leaves become crisp, brittle and roll upward. Leaves turn light green to yellow with purple veins in the lower sides. Plants stop growing, fail to ripen fruit and die within a few weeks.

The virus disease is carried by the very small beetle leafhopper. The insects feed on wild host plants and then spread the disease virus by feeding on tomato plants.

Beans, beets, cantaloupe, pepper, squash and watermelons are also susceptible.

The disease is controlled in commercial fields by preventing its spread. Control the beetle leafhoppers by regular spraying or dusting with insecticides. Control on young plants is usually most important.
