Fresh Warfare Breaks Out As League Delays

Hope Of Peace For Manchuria Wanes As Battles Rage On Railway; Japanese Troops Rushed To Scene

League Is Shaken

Pessimism Lurks In Halls Of League Council As Support Of America Is Doubted; New Crisis Now Feared

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Oct. 21.—News of fresh fighting in Manchuria reached Tokyo tonight just as officials were expressing hope that settlement of the Sino-Japanese dispute was near.

Mukden dispatches said reinforcements had been rushed northward to Tiehling, 45 miles away, where a hard-fought battle between the Japanese garrison and 2,000 previously defeated Chinese soldiers had halted traffic on the South Manchuria railway line.

Five fundamental conditions for ending the Manchurian difficulty had been presented at Geneva to the council of the League of Nations, and although the Chinese press accorded the move a most frigid reception the optimistic attitude taken by the French foreign minister, Aristide Briand, a leader of the negotiations, had led to the hope that the five points would provide a satisfactory basis for direct parleys with China.

League Of Nations Falters In Efforts

GENEVA, Switzerland, Oct. 21 (AP)—Shaken by doubt of American support and confronted by Japan's stoutly maintained refusal to withdraw her Manchurian troops until her terms have been met, the council of the League of Nations faltered today in its efforts to establish peace between China and Japan.

Pessimism was so complete that a proposal to adjourn the council's session for three weeks, without concrete action to arrest the Manchurian conflict, was debated.

Observers feared that the crisis, now five weeks old, would continue unchecked. The fate of the February disarmament conference and the life of the league itself were declared to be hanging in the balance because of the turn of events in Manchuria.

Fight For Life Lost By Slayer

AUSTIN, Oct. 21. (AP)—The court of criminal appeals affirmed 29 verdicts, dismissed 13 appeals, acted on 19 motions and received submission of 31 cases at its meeting today.

The criminal appeals court disposed of two death cases which previously had been affirmed. It overruled a motion for rehearing of Alfred Jackson, negro, given the extreme penalty by a Bexar county jury for the murder of Eliza Penson, who was shot to death April 12, 1930, and denied Ira McKee, under death sentence for the murder of W. R. Billingsley in Dawson county, leave to file a second motion for rehearing. Billingsley was killed May 1, 1930, while trying to frustrate a filling station holdup.

HOUSTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—Don E. Govin, 22, former Beaumont bell boy, was given ten years in prison tonight by a jury which found him guilty of the murder of his former sweetheart, Mrs. Marie Hart, 28.

Woman Still At Liberty As Clues In Mysterious Slayings Are Assembled

Jealousy Is Rooted Into Investigation As Hundreds Of False Clues Are Reported

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—Jealousy rooted itself tonight in the two-state investigation of the murder of Mrs. Agnes Le Roi and Miss Hedvig Samuelson whose bodies were discovered jammed in two trunks here and caused authorities to search for Mrs. Minnie Ruth Judd, 26, physician's wife.

While scores of California and Arizona police ran down clues which flooded headquarters in the frantic hunt for Mrs. Judd, the best brains in detective forces sought to link the queer chain of circumstances leading up to the killings.

Many False Clues

Hundreds of false clues were telephoned by excited citizens, bus drivers, motorists, and restaurant owners as the search for the suspected trunk murderer assumed far flung proportions.

Throughout the investigation ran the theory of illicit intimaties. Authorities said this could have led to the double killings in which both women were slain in Phoenix and placed in trunks and sent as baggage to Los Angeles. All three women were employes of a Pheonix medical clinic.

The crimes were discovered by a railroad express agent who noticed blood seeping through cracks in the trunk and questioned Mrs. Judd and her brother, B. J. McKinnell, Los Angeles university, student, when they arrived to claim the baggage. The agent demanded the trunks be opened, but Mrs. Judd fled and disappeared from her brother's car on a downtown street.

Two Are Released

McKinnell and Dr. W. C. Judd, Phoenix physician and Mrs. Judd's husband, were arrested but were released when Judd proved an alibi and McKinnell disclaimed knowledge of the killings.

Phoenix authorities learned that at one time Dr. Judd was connected with a Bisbee mining company and during his tenure of service a woman, said to have been identified as Mrs. Judd, appeared in that city and made close inquiries concerning Judd's movements.

Another name entered the investigation as neighbors of Mrs. Judd in Phoenix identified an automobile belonging to J. J. Halloran, wealthy Phoenix lumberman, as having been seen in front of Mrs. Judd's residence several nights last week.

Diary Is Studied

Police declined to say whether they questioned Halloran.

A diary in possession of County Attorney L. J. Andrews of Phoenix, revealed what he said might be the basis for the theory of intiti-

Police And County Officials Attempt To Solve Mystery Of Canadian Shooting; Man Is Being Held

(By The Associated Press)

CANADIAN, Oct. 21. (AP)—Police and county authorities here today were attempting to solve a murder mystery that has puzzled the entire community.

Victor Smith, 42-year-old rancher, was the victim. He died late Tuesday night of gunshot wounds.

Robert Rogers, 35-year-old farm neighbor, is said to have admitted the shooting, but has refused to make a statement. He was arrested by Sheriff Walter Jones while enroute, Rogers said, to surrender.

Occurs Tuesday

The fatal shooting occurred at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning near the Smith ranch, 25 miles southeast of here in the Eller Flat community.

Meanwhile, Rogers remained unshaken in his silence. He has not told county or city officers of the shooting details, saying simply that he wanted to give himself up.

Jury Is Called

Sheriff Jones met him eight miles out of town yesterday.

The grand jury was called into special session at 10 a. m. today to pass upon the shooting.

Smith was shot in each arm and in the abdomen. He died in the Canadian hospital soon after the shooting.

Gas Ordinance Limiting Rate Up In Hearing

City Commission Today Plans To Take Up Proposed Move To Fix Rate At 55 Cents; Contest Expected

Hearing on a proposed ordinance, which would limit Lubbock's natural gas rate to 55 cents a thousand cubic feet, will be conducted this afternoon before the City commission. The hearing which will concur with the commission's regular semi-monthly session will start at 2 p. m.

Mayor J. J. Clements announced Wednesday afternoon the city was ready to submit its side of the gas rate controversy. Attorney C. C. Crenshaw, counsel for the West Texas Gas company here, said he would represent the gas company at the hearing and present the gas company's brief.

Action Is Deferred

A resolution was adopted October 8 by the City commission calling for the hearing. At that time a proposed ordinance, prepared by City Attorney E. L. Klett, was read, but action on the measure was deferred until after the public hearing.

The present gas rate is 7 1-2 cents for the first 6,000 cubic feet and 57 1-2 cents a thousand for more than 6,000 cubic fet and up to 50,000 cubic feet. The city's proposal would place the rate at 55 cents a thousand cubic feet, beginning with the first thousand. In the event the ordinance should be adopted, it would become effective November 1, city officials said.

Huge Business Proposals Are Believed Near

History's Biggest Proposition Of Business, Aimed At Restoration Of World, Will Be Discussed Friday

Laval Nears U. S.

French Premier Is Expected To Take Initiative And To Make First Overture Upon Conference Opening

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—History's biggest business proposition, aimed at the economic restoration of the world, will be discussed by President Hoover with Premier Laval of France without digression into the political by-ways of international alliance or treaties of security.

PIERRE LAVAL

War debt revision, an easing of military burdens, firmer international credits, a new marshalling of private resources,—all of these are subjects likely to have a part in the conversations beginning here Friday. But the door is not open to consideration of the long-discussed agreement for American aid to France in war.

Ship Nears U. S.

Several times France has proposed such a treaty. It was one of the rejected French suggestions at the London naval conference. As the French premier's ship neared New York today, it was preceded by unofficial reports that M. Laval would favor a political guarantee if he agreed to armament reductions.

So well-known is the American aversion, however, that officials here doubt that the subject ever will be mentioned.

President Hoover and his advisers also read news dispatches today indicating that the premier would oppose radical reductions of the war debt. The feeling here is that some revision necessary must come into the discussions. The line of reasoning is this:

Have Responsibility

Without a definite program before them, the two statesmen must start

Banks Aiding Cotton Plans

Texas Cotton Totalling Two Million Bales To Be Kept Off Market; Cooperation Of State Is Received

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, Oct. 21. — Plans for keeping 2,000,000 bales of Texas cotton off the market were in full swing tonight by bankers as formation of the organization received unanimous support from all sections of the state.

President J. W. Hoopes of the Texas Bankers' association indicated that telephone talks with bankers in the 69 major cotton raising counties had assured him of complete co-operation.

To Make Reports

Reports on the state wide total to be financed or refinanced by the bankers will be made before Sunday, to Nathan Adams, Dallas banker and leader in the southwide movement, or to James C. Stone, chairman of the federal farm board.

Texas bankers have assumed by far the most ambitious program of the cotton raising states, due to the fact that it produces much more than any other commonwealth.

Chairman Stone commended Texas bankers in a wire received here today.

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Oct. 21 (AP)—Motion pictures were displayed in a darkened federal court room today by the Kansas Light & Power company to refute the claim of Fred H. Butcher, Kansas City sales manager, for $100,000 damages for automobile accident injuries.

The pictures showed Butcher playing ball, painting a house and engaged in other work. Butcher had alleged in his petition that his neck and back had been injured permanently.

Increase Of $50,000,000 In Value Of Cotton Estimated By Officials

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21. — Statisticians estimated today that fifty million dollars had been added to the value of cotton in the last 10 days.

The upward trend dated from the Oct. 12 New Orleans conference at which southern bankers agreed to cooperate in holding 7,000,000 bales from the market until next July.

Today's increase of one dollar a bale made a total of $4.50 a bale since the conference.

On the basis of an estimated supply of 12,000,000 bales, statisticians placed the increased valuation of cotton at fifty million dollars in round figures.

Cotton men here figured that one half of the cotton supply was in the hands of the farmers and they would directly benefit on the basis of today's closing by $25,000,000.

'Humanity's Friend' Now Sleeps Beneath Shadows Of Oak In Simple Grave

Grief And Respect Of A Nation Revealed As Darkness Shrouds U. S. As Tribute

(By The Associated Press)

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 21.—Thomas A. Edison lay tonight in the darkness of a simple grave in the shadow of a great oak tree in Rosedale cemetery.

His burial marked the 52nd anniversary of his perfection of the incandescent lamp.

Last tribute over his body was paid as he lay in the drawing room of the spacious Victorian mansion in which he lived for many years.

Humanity's Friend

"—He is humanity's friend," was its end.

Surrounding him were the friends and flowers he loved.

Listening in a room upstairs to which the ceremony came by concealed amplifiers, were his wife; his children and his grandchildren; Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone; Mrs. Herbert Hoover, a very few close friends.

LUBBOCK JOINS IN

Joining a nation-wide tribute to the memory of Thomas Alva Edison, the entire City of Lubbock was enshrouded in darkness for one minute last night. Promptly at 9 o'clock, generators at both the municipal and Texas Utilities Co. plants here were stilled and the city was darkened—reminding Lubbock's citizens of what might have been had it not been for the great inventor and his work. Motorists driving in the downtown section caught the spirit of the occasion and many automobiles were turned into the curbs and the lights switched off, while the motors were kept running.

The grief and respect of the nation were left to be expressed in an organized plan sponsored by President Hoover for extinguishing for one minute at 9 p. m. (C. S. T.) the billions of incandescent electric light globes which light the nation's way because of Mr. Edison's genius.

Death Penalty Now Is Facing Wichita Negro

Jury Returns Verdict After A Deliberation Of 34 Minutes Wednesday; Attorneys Plan To Enter Appeal

(By The Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 21.—Richard Johnson, negro, was given the death penalty by a jury here this afternoon after 34 minutes deliberation for the murder of Ted Nodurft, Fort Worth, a few weeks ago.

Nodurft was slain while parked in an automobile with his fiance on the night of September 8. Johnson and Richard Brown were indicted for the slaying.

The 2 year old fiance of Nodurft was the major witness of the trial. She testified that two negroes shot Nodurft as he hurriedly attempted to drive away when they approached. She said the two men criminally assaulted her after the shooting. The witness identified Johnson as one of the men.

The Johnson death verdict was returned on the second ballot after the jury had been out only 34 minutes.

It decided against Johnson's plea that Richard Brown, 19-year old companion in the murder-assault charge, fired the fatal shot.

Attorneys for Johnson announced they would appeal.

The trial of Brown is called for Thursday morning. His attorney has announced he will seek a venue change.

Governmental Shakeup Hinges Upon Approval Of American Petroleum Institute At Its November Meeting

Story Is Denied

Curtis Brands Rumor As "Pure Nonsense" Stating That He Has No Idea Where Such A Report Originated

(By The Associated Press)

TULSA, Oct. 21. — The Tulsa World says that Vice President Charles Curtis will resign before Christmas to become supreme dictator of the oil business, just as Will Hays rules the movie industry, if the American Petroleum Institute approves the plan at its annual meeting next month.

The newspaper terms it "the most important story that ever has been announced about the oil industry —if true."

Officials Approve

President Hoover, the World says it has learned, has assured a congressman from Oklahoma that the plan has his approval. Water Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, also is understood by the World to have approved the plan.

As dictator for the industry Vice-President Curtis would have power to limit production, restrict importations, and regulate prices to consumers, the newspaper says.

The World says its information is to the effect that prices of crude oil will advance from their present 70-cent top to a top of $1.50 per barrel throughout the mid-continent area if the move goes through.

Precautions Taken

"Of course," says the paper, "every precaution is being taken to guard against leaks, but the report that Vice President Curtis will be named dictator comes to the World from such a reliable source that it leaves little grounds for doubt that the plan at least is being considered. About all that remains is for the details to be worked out."

How the plan will work out, the newspaper continues, is a matter of speculation, undoubtedly it has at least a sound beginning, and leaders of the oil industry have been working to bring about some such arrangement to stabilize the industry.

When told that reports from Washington quoted Vice President Curtis as terming the Tulsa reports "pure nonesense" N. G. Henthorne,

Strange Colony Of 87, Descendants Of White Man, Is Found On Island

(By The Associated Press)

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Oct. 21.—A strange colony of 87 persons all descendants of a white man, William Marsters, has been revealed by the chance visit of the American freighter, Golden Coast to Plamerston Island.

The Golden Coast, blown slightly off her course during a trip from the United States to Australia recently, passed close to the tiny coral atoll listed only on the larger charts of the South Pacific.

The skipper was surprised to see a small boat put off from the island.

The freighter stopped and lowered a gangway, up which clambered a withered but active old man attended by a number of half caste boys who called him "dad." He explained that nearly seventy years

First Of Series Of Affairs To Honor Delegates Given In Afternoon; Officers In Receiving Line

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Parsons, 2509 19th street, was the scene of a late afternoon tea Wednesday when members of the D. A. R. and the American Legion auxiliary entertained, honoring delegates to the State U. D. C. convention which is being held here this week. Approximately 150 guests called between five and six o'clock.

Mrs. Gus L. Ford greeted arrivals at the door and presented them to Miss Della Wilkinson, local president of the U. D. C. Others in the receiving line were Mrs. Whit Boyd, Houston, State president; Mrs. Parsons, Mrs. J. H. Dunavant, Dallas; Mrs. C. C. Cameron, Dallas; Mrs. John Wilcox, Houston; Mrs. E. B. Mathis, Texarkana; Mrs. A. L. Ridings, Sherman; Mrs. Robert F. Bacon, Austin; Mrs. W. W. Turner, Webster; Mrs. Oscar Barthold, Weatherford. These out-of-town women are active division officers in the Texas division of the chapter.

Other local women in the line were Mesdames A. H. Leidigh, W. M. Peticolas, jr., and O. V. Adams.

Four Present at Table

Guests were shown into the dining room where Mrs. W. H. Meador and Jerome Smith, Mrs. Clyde Elkins and Mrs. J. S. Johnson alternated at pouring tea. Others in the dining room were Mesdames M. N. Hale, W. L. Bradshaw, Hubert L. Allen, Clark Mullican, N. L. Peters, George Meiser.

A color scheme of pink and green was featured in appointments. A cloth of lace covered the table which was centered with a bowl of pink roses. Green tapers in silver holders lighted the table.

Others in the house party were Mesdames Joe Penney, Isabel Garrison, T. J. Southerland, D. K. Bondurant, William Dingus, W. C. Rylander, O. B. Hewett, R. V. Kimmel and Paul Jones.

During the hour, music was furnished by Harry LeMaire and his orchestra from Texas Technological college.

OES Members Hold Business Meeting

Members of the local Order of the Eastern Star met in business session Tuesday evening at the Masonic hall. Postponement was made of a memorial service, which had been planned, because of the small number present.

Mrs. A. D. Montgomery, worthy matron, presided for the meeting. Mrs. Montgomery is to leave this week-end for Houston to attend a meeting of the Grand Chapter of the O. E. S. in Texas.

No definite date has been announced for the memorial service.

There were 25 persons present at Tuesday's meeting.

mittee succeeded in having the desired bill passed.

Here is something else that people generally might like to ponder over about this women's convention. The morning program Wednesday was finished so promptly that reports originally scheduled for the afternoon were asked. This sent several officials back to the hotel to get their notes.

Haven't we heard remarks about the way a woman loves to talk and how hard it is to get things accomplished when a group of women gather? So far, the length of women's speeches has caused little discomfort at this meeting.

Today's Events

Plans for the coming month will be made when members of the First Presbyterian Intermediate council meet with Mrs. N. L. Peters, 2421 13th street, this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Delegates to the U. D. C. convention will be complimented with a tea from 5 until 6 o'clock in the afternoon in the home management house at Texas Technological college with the college as host. The delegates will dance in the evening at the Hilton hotel.

Latest Protection Provided Fans

The latest and smartest protection against the icy winds that sweep the football field are the heavy blanket-coats shown in the picture above. The heavy striped wool material is cut to slip over the head and wraps snugly around the arms and knees. It is much less cumbersome than the usual makeshift of steamer rugs and is favored by men as well as women fans.

New Conley Building Is To Be Completed By November 1

The new Conley building, at the corner of Texas Avenue and Broadway, will be completed by November 1, unless unexpected delays hinder the work, J. J. Clements, contractor, announced Wednesday.

Mr. Clements said painting, decorating and cleaning up the premises constituted the work yet to be done on the new two-story structure. Original plans to complete the upper story by October 10 were not carried out because of delays in the shipments of building materials, he said.

Cookery Class To Be Popular

Mothers And Housewives To Welcome Chance To Learn Scientific Methods From Expert In Field

Many mothers and housewives who have not had the opportunity of learning all they should know of cooking and home economics will welcome the chance offered in the annual free school of cookery sponsored by the Avalanche-Journal which opens at the Uptown Dance palace next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

To some house wives home economics were not offered in their days in the public schools. Today by reason of their household duties and responsibilities, they have not had the opportunitiy of learning what they should know about cookery and the economic way to purchase and prepare foodstuffs, both as a saving and as a benefit to the health of their families.

At the helm of the exposition will be the culinary expert, Miss Christeen Chitwood, whose past appearance in a similar capacity have been occasions for much rejoicing on the part of those fortunate enough to attend her lectures and witness her demonstrations.

Miss Chitwood is recognized the country over as a past mistress of the culinary arts and sciences. She will give daily demonstrations and lessons on various ways of preparing, cooking and preserving foods, both from an appetising and economical standpoint.

Lectures Not Dry

Miss Chitwood's knowledge of cookery and foods has been gained by labortary work and from practical experience in her own kitchen, but her lectures are not dry discussions of calories, carbohydrates and proteins, but abound in essential, practical ways to make food, cooked and served, according to her directions, tasty and appetizing. She is fully aware as to what a "well balanced ration" should be, but she also knows that food to be eaten with relish must be daintily prepared and served and appeal to the eye as well as to the palate.

To Help Brides

Miss Chitwood's work is original and her lectures will be found especially helpful to the young matrons and housewives just beginning to realize the struggle of properly caring for a growing family. Miss Chitwood seeks to encourage better health through better and properly prepared foods, and at a minimum of cost. Miss Chitwood will give suggestions as to the preparing of meals with less time and cost than it would be if they were procured away from the home, and at the same time, such meals as would be healthful and appetising.

The classes and lectures will last about two hours each day. Ample opportunity will be given for asking questions and exchanging opinions on the subject discussed among those present. In fact, Miss Chitwood welcomes such questions and discussions as evidence of interest taken in lectures and demonstrations. This phase of the school is expected to bring out many good suggestions. All questions asked by those present will be answered by Miss Chitwood with the greatest of pleasure.

ROASTING CAN MAKE OR SPOIL THE FLAVOR OF COFFEE

Hills Bros.' Patented Process Removes Risk of Ruining Roast — Assures Matchless Flavor, Always

Roasting determines the flavor of coffee. Too much or too little can cause dissatisfaction. But there is a perfect degree of roast! Hills Bros. invented and patented a process that insures that degree for every pound. It is called Controlled Roasting.

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow . . . a little at a time . . . so a perfect, unvarying degree of roast is secured for Hills Bros. Coffee by Controlled Roasting — the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously . . . a little at a time. The rare blend passes through the roasters in a steady, unvarying stream. And instead of guessing — as is necessary with ordinary, bulk methods — Hills Bros. control the temperature of the roast automatically. Every berry is perfectly roasted. As a result, every pound has a matchless, unvarying flavor.

To keep this delicious coffee fresh, Hills Bros. pack it in vacuum cans. Air, which makes coffee go stale, is removed and kept out of the cans. Ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee can't go stale. Order some today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

Colorado Miners Arrive Here Today; Tech Steams Up

Westerners Add To Pampa Practice By Playing Odessa Here Saturday

Orediggers In Workout Today At Tech Field

Matadors Concentrate On First Interectional Game At Home With Ambitions To Break Into Win Column Again

Centering attentions toward the Colorado School of Mines and their own first intersectional football game at home, the Texas Tech Matadors went through another hard workout yesterday afternoon with the regulars and "shock troopers" running a few offensive plays while they scrapped reserves and freshmen on the defense. The reserves and freshmen have been taught the plays usually making up the Colorado Miners' offense.

The game will be played tomorrow night at the Texas Tech field, starting at 7:30 o'clock. Plans are being made to care for at least five thousand spectators, which will be the largest crowd yet to see a game here this season. Bleachers on the east side of the field will be in a shape of repair and seats to that section will be sold for fifty cents. All grandstand ducats are going for one dollar. Tickets are on sale at the Hilton Hotel drug store and at the Lubbock Hotel drug store.

Tech Slight Favorite

The Orediggers from Golden, Colorado, are expected to arrive today in time for a workout on Tech Field this afternoon. While the trip from near Denver and the fact that they have lost a conference game or two will make the Miners underdogs here tomorrow night, the Matadors are expected to have everything they can take care of in the way of an enemy team. They face one of the most popular clubs of the Rocky Mountain Conference in the first intersectional game played in Lubbock.

After losing to the Haskell Indians in Dallas last week, the Matadors have been given some tough work this week on the practice field. Coaches Cawthon and Smith have labored hard and long with their charges in the hopes of bringing back the winning spirit and reputation for which the Matadors seemed known in the three first games. Over-time practice has been in order nearly every day this week, with changes in the entire lineup having been made necessary as a result of the Haskell game.

Coaches Comment

As for the Orediggers from Colorado, Coach Cawthon had the following to say:

"The Miners from Golden, just 40 miles west of Denver, with picks and shovels in the forms of Schnarrs, the 200-pound fullback; Eddie Bond, 165-pound halfback; Art Austin, the "Texas flash" from Houston; Captain Michaelson, 200-pound left tackle, and with Coaches Allen and Wynne and their troop consisting of about 25 huskies from the mountains, will hit Tech Field with the hopes of beating us. They'll be hard to stop, and we're going to be set for them."

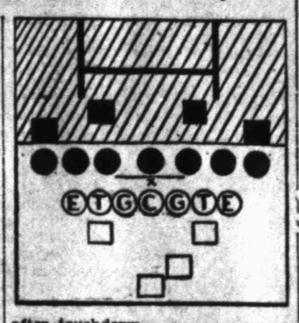

Owens On Casualty List

Line Coach Dutchey Smith announced yesterday that big Truett "Jucy" Owens, 200-pound tackle who has been lining up with regulars but whose showing against Haskell resulted in his shift to the "shock troops" will not be able to get in the game tomorrow night. A slight injury sustained in the Indian game became infected and has not healed sufficiently. Owens will be ready to go in the Baylor game a week from Saturday at Waco. "Brigham" Young, an alternate tackle, will start in Owen's place, with "Tubba" Baker, formerly classified as a guard, getting a chance at tackle on the regular team. Bennie McWilliams will start on the "shock troops" lineup at the other tackle.

Bob Muesel, former New York Yankee star, at his home in Pasadena, Cal., says he intends to stage a comeback in baseball in 1932.

Football A B C's

Successful Try for Point After Touchdown Often Is the Sole Margin of Victory

Whether you are for it or against it, the try for point after touchdown constitutes one of the most thrilling moments in a football game. Often victory or defeat hinges on the outcome of the play.

Only a few coaches actually spend time and effort in developing a means of gaining the extra point. Quite naturally, these coaches are the most successful in their field.

With every touchdown goes the privilege of trying for the additional point in a play from scrimmage on the two-yard line of the team scored upon. The most common and perhaps most successful method of chalking up the extra point is by a kick, either place or dropkick. The latter is made by dropping the ball to the ground and kicking it as it rises. A place kick is made by kicking the ball from the ground where it is set and held by a teammate of the kicker. In either case, the ball must be kicked over the crossbar and between the upright goal posts to be successful. The accompanying diagram shows the popular formations for and against kicking for the point after touchdown.

Any legal scrimmage play may be employed in the try for point after touchdown. It may be attempted by forward pass, end run or any kind of line play. To be successful, however, the ball must be advanced and downed on, above, or behind the opponents' goal line by a player legally in possession of the ball.

TOMORROW: Who can carry the ball?

Texas Longhorns Stop In Dallas To Workout Before Continuing Journey To Cambridge; Meet Harvard Saturday

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Oct. 21.—Stopping off here en route to Cambridge to play Harvard Saturday, Coach Clyde Littlefield of the University of Texas team indicated his players will fill the air with passes Saturday. The Longhorns are reputed to have a passing game designed especially for this occasion.

Every member of the squad, except Blanton, was in good condition today. Blanton is nursing an ankle injury but is expected to start against Harvard.

Leave For Indianapolis

The Longhorns, after a short workout here, embarked for Indianapolis, Ind., where they will hold a practice session Thursday afternoon. Following this, they go into Cambridge for a workout Friday afternoon in the Harvard Stadium. Approximately five hundred supporters will trail the Texans to Cambridge on special trains, the first due to leave here late this evening.

The Texans have worked long and hard on a defense for Barry Wood's passing, and at the same time, prepared an offense through the air they hope will conquer their eastern opponent.

In his starting lineup, Coach Littlefield will use only bonafide sons of Texas. All are strapping fellows who know how to block, tackle, plunge and pass. And in Blanton, Littlefield carries into Cambridge, a deadly place-kicker.

Victor Williams, U. S. Hope For Olympics, In Bad Shape

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 21. (AP) Suffering from peritonitis which followed the rupture of a gangrenous appendix, Victor Williams, one of the United States outstanding candidates for the 1932 Olympic games, was in a serious condition here today.

Williams, a student at the University of Southern California, won the I. C. A. A. A. championship in Philadelphia last May in 47.4 seconds for the quarter mile event, equaling Tod Meridith's world record established 16 years ago. Later he won the national intercollegiate meet at Chicago and then successfully defeated his A. A. U. title at Lincoln, Neb., last July.

A group of husky sophomores and 10 lettermen hold the hopes of the University of Miami for a strong football team this season.

Oklahoma Sooners In Last Of Three Trips At Kansas State

NORMAN, Oct. 21. (Special.) — The last of three consecutive road contests against powerful football teams will be played this week end by the Sooner eleven when it meets Kansas State at Manhattan, Kas. Saturday in its second and apparently most crucial remaining "Big Six" conference fray of the 1931 season.

In Oklahoma the big Manhattan team of Coach Alvin "Bo" McMillin, who incidently has lost all three of his football starts to Oklahoma, 21-35 in 1928, 13-14 in 1929 and 0-7, in 1930, will be meeting a conference foe on its own field for the first time this season and will no doubt be given a warm greeting by its constituents since its feat of conquering Missouri and Kansas at Columbia and Lawrance.

Kansas State Not Defeated

The Wildcats (in both name and deed so far this season) are all-victorious at this juncture of their schedule and the figures show all their victories were well-earned. They permitted the Pittsburg Teachers but two yards gained from scrimmage, outgained Missouri 243 yards to 56 and 13 first downs to 3, and Kansas 212 yards to 143 and 11 first downs to 5.

Houston Man Is Convicted And Given Prison Sentence

HOUSTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—George F. Conklin, 28, was convicted by a jury today of the murder of Adolph Kolesnikevic, 20, and was assessed a five year suspended sentence. Kolesnikevic was slain outside a dance hall last October.

The state offered Kolesnikevic's dying statement, in which the boy was quoted by the district attorney's investigator as saying he was shot even as he begged Conklin not to shoot.

The defense offered a hypothesis that the shooting was accidental and that Conklin pursued the youth under the impression he was a "hijacker."

In the last three years Purdue's football team has been outscored on touchdowns only once in 24 games.

Lefty House, veteran southpaw who hurled in the Western association for years, has been unconditionally released by Joplin.

Practice Game May Bring Out Full Strength

Odessa Reported To Have Big Team; Game To Be Played On Tech Field Saturday Afternoon, Starting At 3

The Lubbock High school Westerners will stop in the midst of a lengthy practice campaign designated to put them in position to meet the Pampa Harvesters on equal grounds long enough this weekend to take on an added trouble by meeting the Odessa High school eleven on the Tech Field Saturday afternoon.

Announcement of the Lubbock-Pampa game was made yesterday by M. H. Duncan, superintendent of Lubbock public schools. The game will start at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Although scheduled as a practice game, the contest Saturday will find one of the strong Class B units of the Permain basin on the local field in an effort to gain greater publicity by taking some of the starch out of the Westerners.

Westerners Point To Pampa

Supported by a special train load of Lubbock fans and hundreds who shall make the trip by automobile, the Westerners will be in Pampa a week from Saturday knocking at the door of the powerful Pampa High school Harvesters, a team which threatens to go places in the state schoolboy race this season. Having knocked over the Amarillo Sandies last Saturday by a 13 to 6 count, the Harvesters have only to down Lubbock next week to virtually cinch the District 1 rag, considering Slaton and Plainview as more or less easy marks for the Mitchellmen.

The Harvesters are pointed for Lubbock; Lubbock is pointing for Pampa. Enough Lubbock fans believe in their club strongly enough to make the trek north to see the game, and Pampa believes in their Reapers to the point of offering every advantage to Lubbock except the final score. Word received here from Pampa yesterday, signed by a Pampa school official, declared that Lubbock would be "treated swell, met at the train, carried to the field in special busses and sent home with a licking."

The Westerners, realizing the power which they must display if they hope to smash Pampa's hopes, went through another tough workout yesterday and looked good. General opinion, however, is that they must look much better if they hold their own against the pennant-hungry Reapers next week.

Horned Frogs Off For Jaunt Today; Meet Simmons Next

FORT WORTH, Oct. 21. (AP)—First of travels that will keep them playing on foreign fields for two successive weeks will be taken by the Horned Frogs Thursday evening. At that time, Coaches Frances Schmidt and Bear Wolf will embark along with 28 players for Abilene, where on Friday night they engage in annual combat with Simmons. After the twilight affair, the Frogs return home to prepare for next week's Southwest Conference game with Arkansas at Fayetteville.

Coaches Schmidt and Wolf and the players leaving here Thursday will be joined by the rest of the squad Friday. Thursday's group is going to Abilene in advance of the others in order to take a workout Thursday night on the Cowboy's field under the lights.

CHANCE TO EVEN SCORE

An Illinois triumph over Michigan Oct. 24 would even the score between the Wolverines and Zuppke-coached Illini teams. Before Zup came to Illinois, Michigan won all five of the games played, but since that date Michigan has won six and Illinois five.

To Occupy Bench

TRUETT OWENS a TACKLE

Truett "Juicy" Owens, Dutchey Smith's 200-pound sophomore tackle from Sherman, will be on the sideline tomorrow night when the Tech Matadors meet the Colorado School of Mines here, it was announced yesterday. Owens sustained minor injuries in the Haskell game last week which have failed to heal sufficiently to warrant his playing under fire. The wounds came in contact with lime which marked the yard-lines on the field and increased the hurt. Several members of the Tech team and of the Haskell team were similarly agitated.

Basketball Loop Schedule May Be Settled Tonight

A meeting of all officials and managers and other representatives of teams in the South Plains Semi-Pro Basketball league will be held tonight at the chamber of commerce rooms in the City Hall, at which time a schedule will be presented for final acceptance or rejection.

The season is due to get under way Saturday night. Eight teams compose the league. Superintendent Martin of Meadow is president of the league.

Tech Picadors In Dallas For Contest Today

Del Morgan Takes Twenty-Two Freshmen To Dallas To Play Terrell Prep Return Game; Return Home Tomorrow

Coach Del Morgan and twenty-two of his Texas Picador gridsters departed yesterday by special bus for Dallas where this afternoon at 3 o'clock they meet the Terrell Prep school team on the North Dallas High school gridiron.

Smarting under the 14 to 0 defeat handed them last week in Amarillo by the Amarillo Junior college Badgers, the Picadors "slipped off" to Dallas without previous warning, hoping to stage a comeback without advance notice.

Reynolds Is Out

With his lineup crippled by the absence of Blackie Reynolds, halfback from Beaumont and Waco who sustained a broken arm last week at Amarillo, Coach Morgan will depend upon reserve strength in his starting lineup today. The team will return to Lubbock tomorrow.

Assistant Freshman Coach Weir Washam remained at home with the balance of the freshman gridsters, sending them in yesterday against the varsity Matadors as the latter prepares for their game tomorrow night with the Colorado School of Mines team.

BIG SPRING MAKES BID

ABILENE, Oct. 21. (AP)—All other high school teams that have yet laid claim to the 1931 scoring record must take a bow to Big Spring, district 4 entry. The Steers have tallied 262 points, and their own goal is yet to be crossed.

Johnny Branch, North Carolina quarterback, has successfully met scholastic requirements and will be eligible for play.

Edmund Burke's Long Run For "Ole Miss" Only A Gallant Gesture But Was Longest Sprint Of Grid Season

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The ball is in kick-off position on Alabama's 40-yard line in the big stadium at Tuscaloosa. spread out across the field defending their own goal are the players of the University of Mississippi. The stands are quiet.

The referee's whistle shrills. The Crimson Tide rolls forward and the ball goes whizzing far down the field. Dashing back nine yards behind his own goal line, Edmund Burke, Old Mississippi back, squeezes the ball to his chest and heads for the other goal line 109 yards away.

Ten, twenty, thirty yards he goes, 'Bama's players swarm in on him but he fights his way clear. White line after white line he passes until Alabama's goal line is crossed.

Tide Wins

The run proved to be only a gallant gesture in a losing cause as the Tide rolled over Ole Miss 55-6, but it gained Burke the honor of making the longest run of the year in a football game.

Burke's 109 yard run, however, is only one of ten made by college football players from the kickoff according to statistics gathered by Parke Davis, national football statistician of Easton, Pa.

Abraham Eliowitz, Michigan state's plunging fullback, ran only six yards less in registering a touchdown on Alma.

They're Not Common

Other long runs from the kickoff have been made by Deacle, substitute Washington and Jefferson back, who ran 97 yards to defeat Western Maryland 13-12 at Baltimore last Saturday, and by George Stuber who ran 96 yards for Missouri's only score in a losing 7-20 game with the Kansas Aggies. Six other runbacks of kickoffs for scores covered 75 yards or more.

The longest run from scrimmage for a touchdown was 97 yards by Donald Wreaton, of De Pauw against Cincinnati and it won the game as De Pauw kicked the goal for the extra point and a 7-6 victory.

Texas Aggies Prepare For Baylor By Scrimmaging On Pass Defense; Ags Ready

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 21. (AP) —The Texas Aggies engaged in a hard scrimmage with the freshman squad today in preparation for Saturday's Southwest Conference football game with Baylor.

The first year men tried out the Baylor offensive plays, passing defense was given particular attention.

Coach Bell announced that injuries probably would not keep any of his men out of the game.

Willis Nolan, center, whose knee was hurt in the Tulane game, has been recovering slowly, but will likely be ready for action Saturday.

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 21. (Special.)—The green and gold flag of the Baylor University Bears will fly from one of the principal flagstaffs of Kyle field stadium here for the first time in Southwest Conference history Saturday to announce the news that the Bears and the Texas Aggies have resumed athletic relations in a football way and are struggling for victory on the gridiron below. Although teams from the schools clashed many times before athletic relations were severed in 1926, Saturday's game will be the Bears' first invasion of College Station since the conference was organized.

The Aggies, resenting their defeat by Texas Christian University the past Saturday at Fort Worth, are expected to be "gunning" for a victory over the Bears in an effort to register their first Southwest Conference win since Thanksgiving Day of 1929 when they trounced the Texas University Longhorns 13 to 0 on Kyle Field.

Carr Kitchen Named Coach At T.M.C., Succeeding Parrish

TERRELL, Oct. 21. (AP) — Carr Kitchen has been appointed athletic coach at Texas Military College, replacing Lowell Parrish who resigned last week.

Kitchen, a graduate of Baylor university, formerly coached at Lorena and Mercedes high schools.

Demand has arisen for a low price gasoline, and Blue Conoco Gasoline has been developed to meet the ideas of those motor car owners who are willing to sacrifice high anti-knock value for a price advantage. Blue Conoco Gasoline is a straight run product, meeting all U. S. motor specifications.

However, we continue to recommend the purchase of Conoco Ethyl and Conoco Balanced Blend Gasoline, as the use of these higher grade gasolines, together with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil in the crankcase, will give the greatest motoring satisfaction in the long run.

Chest Drive Is Called Off

UNION of the Lubbock Community Chest not stage its annual financial drive but instead, let its individual agencies to stage drives of their own, is, as we see it, highly regrettable. It is that Lubbock has slipped back, for this year at least, to the habit of "passing the hat around the town upon several—if not numerous—occasions.

Of course, this is an unusual year and The Morning Avalanche is not thoroughly cognizant with the problems of the board of governors of the Community Chest. It may be that a Chest drive was doomed to failure because of existing conditions, but never-the-less we cannot help but feel that the Chest, as an institution, could have collected as much, if not more money in one drive than its agencies could in their own campaigns.

We are not at all favor doing away entirely with the character building organizations until that will-o'-the-wisp, "better times", returns. But we do believe that there is a time for those organizations to operate on a bare skeleton, with those individuals more closely connected and definitely benefitted by them bearing the brunt of the cost. We believe they would find a surprisingly sympathetic public had a campaign been staged as usual, upon a curtailed budget.

The Chest drive now, however, is definitely out of the picture, leaving the Boy scouts, the Campfire girls, the Salvation army and the Tech Y. M. and Y. W. A.'s very much shifting for themselves. It is hoped that they will be able to carry on, until the return of better days, when purse strings again become more easily loosed in response to needs.

ADDING TO THE RECORD

Some time ago The Morning Avalanche deliberately stuck its head into a lion's mouth by criticizing Dr. Clarence True Wilson, hero of the ultra-reform group as national secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals.

We disagreed with good Doctor Wilson we thought that disagreement would bring down a hail of brickbats upon our own heads. And it did.

Even though so, we considered that his attack upon the American legion should not be permitted to go unchallenged and that his cry of "I was misunderstood" and "it's the wet press" was old stuff.

Among the comments we received was one particularly acrimonious letter upholding Doctor Wilson and condemning this newspaper's stand. Just to keep the records straight, we have procured Doctor Wilson's statement, as reported by the newsmagazine Time, of Doctor Wilson:

"Drunken conventions are planned ahead of time as debauches in defiance of the laws the men as officers had taken an oath of allegiance to support. Any ex-soldier who will (disobey the law), and practically all of them did in Detroit, is a perjured traitor to the flag who ought not to represent the decency of the country under which he fought. . . . There was a conspicuous absence of the sober, well-behaved typical citizen. The other crowd is in power. That's why the streets were full of staggering drunks disgraced the unfortunate who yelled for beer."

Now, that is what Doctor Wilson said, according to accounts at the time and we fail to see where he left "the impression much of an opportunity to make him misunderstood."

Doctor Wilson has a perfect right to disagree with the American legion in its recommendation that a referendum be called upon prohibition. But even if he is quoted as using are entirely uncalled for, especially in application to men who went out and fought to keep the world safe for Doctor Wilson and the rest of us.

We continue to disagree with Doctor Wilson's methods in disagreeing with the legion's action.

Practical Health Problems

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

One of the most important factors in the spread of diphtheria is the presence of what are known as diphtheria carriers. These unfortunate individuals—persons after having the disease and sometimes even having manifested the symptoms, but in association with a patient—get the germs in their throats and thereafter act as sources for infection of the germs to persons who have not recovered and who come down with the disease. Whenever the incidence of diphtheria tends to increase public health officers are likely to suspect the presence of diphtheria carriers.

Dr. James Grant, an English health officer, found the incidence of diphtheria in his community increased as part of his investigation to examine the throat of every child who had been in contact with the disease. As a result, nine children were found to be suffering from diphtheria at the time of the examination.

Of all of the children examined, 53 were found to be carriers of diphtheria germs. Some of them were found to be carrying diphtheria germs in their throats and others in the nose, and a few in both the nose and throat. The children who were carriers were excluded from school and examined regularly and they were found to be free of the germs. In this way the epidemic was brought under control quickly. The children who were carrying the germs were looked on as a menace to their companions.

The treatment of carriers while not very severe is rather laborious and difficult task. It has been found that infected tonsils are particularly prone to be the place in which the diphtheria organisms are found.

The removal of the tonsils is done in such cases, frequently brings about a cure. In other cases it becomes necessary day after day to swab the throat with mild tincture of iodine and to clean the throat with hydrogen peroxide to remove the crusts and thereafter to use a mild mercurous ointment. It is found that children who carried the diphtheria germs in their noses frequently had discharge from the nose and not infrequently enlarged glands in the neck.

Persistent daily treatment usually brought about a negative culture of the diphtheria organism in from three weeks, although there were cases in which children continued to have diphtheria organisms in the throat for several months.

The use of antitoxin to overcome this type of infection rather than infection, is not established as a proper method, because the antitoxin is opposed to the poisons produced by the diphtheria organism rather than being opposed to the organism itself, and also because the organisms grow on the surface of the tissue where they are not in immediate contact with the blood.

Plenty Of Fight Seen

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

Library of Congress

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—No matter which party elects the speaker, the next house of representatives will be a vastly more interesting body than that branch of congress has been in many a long year.

There is no reason why it may not rival the senate.

An opportunity once more will be afforded to representatives of real ability to make national reputations for themselves.

The one-sidedness of its membership has robbed proceedings in the popular congressional chamber of practically all their "pep" for a long time past.

The Republicans had a clear advantage of nearly 100 at the last session. In the Seventieth congress they had 35, which, although not so overwhelming, was just as effective. In the Sixty-ninth the G. O. P. margin was 61.

THERE can be no hot fighting in a legislative assembly where the weaker group is so hopelessly outnumbered.

The minority cannot even howl.

If the majority permitted their opponents to express themselves, the latter could cause considerable delay. Consequently the majority restricts debate by stringent rules. It does not absolutely gag the opposition, but the limitation of speeches to five minutes each has been common enough. In many instances only a few have been allowed to talk at all.

THE SENATE traditionally has stood pat for the right of unlimited discussion—by all its members, of everything.

In actual practice, when in a desperate hurry, it does occasionally adopt a mild form of cloture on some particular proposition, but it does so unwillingly and infrequently.

But there are only 96 senators to 435 representatives.

The argument for a policy of oratorical suppression in the lower house, regardless of the other's freer system, is that 435 lawmakers never would succeed in transacting any business whatever, were they permitted to wrangle "ad lib."

HOWEVER sound this contention may be, the fact remains that the application of it has resulted in the almost total obliteration of personalities in the house of representatives.

Time was when an able man in the lower congressional chamber stood out as prominently as in the senate—Benjamin F. Butler, James G. Blaine and William McKinley, for example.

In recent years the speakership, the majority and minority leadership and the chairmanships of the most important committees alone have carried much prestige with them, the average mere representative being scarcely known except among politicians, outside his own congressional district.

TO AN ADMINISTRATION which has an adequate lineup of its own partisans in congress it is a highly satisfactory situation, as it makes the lower house a mere rubber stamp to record its wishes and stifles adverse criticism of its policies.

It is satisfactory also to the house leaders, to whom it guarantees a plentitude of power.

And perhaps it suits the public.

It emphatically does not suit such politically disgruntled representatives as want to kick up a fuss, or those who are ambitious to win names for themselves. Their difficulty is that their type lacks the numerical strength (most representatives being contented to play along with the bosses, in return for the local patronage and gravy that their constituents insist on, thus getting themselves regularly re-elected) to start an effective insurrection in the ranks of a majority of 90 to 100.

FOR THESE FOLK a balance like next winter's (when it is quite among the possibilities that the Republicans will cast 217 votes to the Democrats' 217, with the lone Farmer-Laborite, Representative Paul J. Kvale, breaking the tie) is ideal.

The rules, of course, will be amended.

Talk, if anything, will be freer than at the senate's end of the Capitol building. A flop of one ballot will be sufficient to unseat the speaker and change all the committee chairmanships.

Will there be warfare?

Why, the senate will be lucky if it can keep its visitors' gallery filled, against the representatives' competition, by advertising for spectators.

GUESSING IS PASSE

They were a lot of fun when we were youngsters, those guessing games. Guess who this is! Guess the number of beans in the pot! Guess how long the pendulum will swing! Sometimes we came pretty close to the answer. Sometimes we were a long way off. Whichever we were, we all had a good time, and the worst guesser got as much of the evening's refreshments as the best.

How far away those guessing games seem now, and how they have lost their appeal. Perhaps, it is because we learned, as we grew older, that to know is better than to guess.

Guess which is the best brand of groceries! Guess which is best drug on the pharmacist's shelf! Guess which is the safest airplane! No, guessing for these things isn't so much fun. We want to be certain. And that is one of the reasons the world has turned to newspaper advertising.

Advertising takes the guesswork out of buying. It tells the customer what is best and what is cheapest and what will last longest. Newspaper advertising presents a concise, interesting and accurate story about articles people need. Reading the newspaper ads eliminates guessing.

NEA ACTION

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN — Author of "MAD MARRIAGE"

©1931 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Pretty NORMA KENT, 20-year-old secretary, marries MARK TRAVERS, son of F. M. TRAVERS, millionaire real estate dealer, in spite of the father's threats to disinherit Mark.

The story opens in Marlboro, middle western metropolis. Mark sells his expensive roadster to get money for the honeymoon and he and Norma go to fashionable Blue Springs. After two weeks their money is gone, partly due to Mark's gambling. With $500, borrowed, the couple return to Marlboro. Mark sets out on a round of pleasure seeking instead of seeking work. When their funds dwindle again he and Norma move to a cheap apartment.

Mark gets one job and loses it. Then he becomes a floorwalker in Blossomdale's department store. In spite of poverty the young couple are happy. After a few weeks Mark's father sends for him, offers to take him back into his business organization if Mark will prove he can make good. His first task involves a business trip to France. Norma is to remain at home. She begs him not to go but in spite of her protest Mark departs.

Norma, treated rudely at her father-in-law's home, slips away leaving no trace of her whereabouts. She takes a room in a cheap lodging house. CHRIS SAUNDERS, her former roommate, helps Norma find a job as secretary for FREDERICK STUART, literary agent. The days drag slowly for Norma.

Detectives whom Travers has employed find Norma's name and photograph in police files.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIV

There were three men around the desk, F. M. Travers was hunched forward, arms folded and resting on them. His face was ruddy, his chin set and determined.

They were in Travers' office. The man at his right would have been recognized in any legal gathering in the city — Kelsey McCormick, chief counsel for several important corporations, including the Travers real estate organization. Facing both of the others was Stanley Cromwell.

Several sheets of paper were spread before them. Travers glanced at the sheets then shrugged distastefully. The picture of Norma Travers came to view and he reached forward and turned it face down.

"It's—it's more than I expected!" he said thickly.

Neither of the others spoke. Travers turned to Cromwell.

"There's no doubt about the authenticity of this thing?" he demanded.

"Oh, absolutely none! That's a copy from the files at headquarters. Picture. Fingerprints. Everything. You can see for yourself it's the same girl. Three years ago, under the name of Norma Kent, she was sent to Mount Florence Home. Served her two months and was released. There's nothing against her but this one charge—and conviction."

Kelsey McCormick put in, "It's enough to give your son a divorce, F. M. No doubt about it. As good in a French court as it would be here."

Travers eyes glinted. "That's it!" he exclaimed. "Divorce! By God, the young whipper-snapper will believe me now! He can't deny what's before his eyes. Oh, but it's dirty business. Vice charge. Why didn't I guess? Why didn't I have him locked up in a mad house?"

The other men watching him grew uncomfortable. Cromwell said, "If you want anything further you might get in touch with Hollis Stone. Understand he's a relative of yours. Stone was the girl's lawyer."

"Her lawyer? She's not entitled—oh, I see! You mean about this thing here. Hollis Stone, eh?"

He pressed an electric button while he was speaking and a dark-haired young woman appeared in the door.

"See if you can get Hollis Stone for me," Travers instructed her. "Rush the call. It's important." As he turned from giving these instructions he said to McCormick, "You've got to plan this thing. There's got to be no slip-up! By God, when I think of it—!"

McCormick began speaking. His voice was lower pitched, controlled. Stanley Cromwell leaned back in his chair, his eyes closely fixed on the lawyer's.

They were still together an hour later when there was a knock on the door and Travers' secretary reappeared. "Mr. Stone is here," she announced.

"Tell him to come in."

Almost immediately a slim, well-dressed man appeared in the doorway. He glanced at the group about the desk, pulled the door shut behind him and came forward.

"How do you do," Stone said shortly. "How're you?" This last, with a nod implying more personal interest, was addressed to Travers. "Understand there's something you want to see me about?"

"How are you, Hollis?" Travers said. "Glad you could get here. Have this chair over here." He waved toward a fourth seat a little distant from the others.

When Stone was seated the older man turned toward McCormick. "Tell him what it's about, will you?" he said.

Kelsey McCormick cleared his throat. "You know, Mr. Stone," he began, "that Mark Travers a few months ago contracted a rather—er—unfortunate marriage. It was after a quarrel with his father... headstrong, impulsive thing to do. They soon spent their money and Mark went to work in a department store. Several weeks ago his father offered to take him back in his own business if Mark would show he could make good. He went to Paris on a mission that is—er—likely to demand his presence for some time. Mr. and Mrs. Travers took the girl

Pampa Superintendent Promises Hot Reception For Lubbock Delegation

Attaches at the Santa Fe division freight and passenger office last night reported that 125 or more reservations had been made for tickets on the Pampa special train, to be run for the Harvester-Westerner football game at Pampa October 31.

Seventy-five more reservations are needed to assure the running of the train, it was said. It is hoped to have the required 200 by Friday or Saturday.

Other tickets probably were sold Wednesday at outlying boards from which reports had not been received Monday, it was said.

Santa Fe officials said six or seven coaches would be included in the train to assure adequate facilities for as many as 500 passengers if that many desired to make the trip. The price of the roundtrip ticket is $3.50.

In a communication to M. H. Duncan, Lubbock school superintendent, assurance of a proper reception at Pampa was made by B. F. Fisher, superintendent of Pampa schools.

"We will meet you at the train, march from the depot to the school, where all Lubbock fans will be picked up in school busses and courtesy cars and delivered to the football field. Then we will beat your ears down, carry you back to the train and send you home weeping," Pampa superintendent said.

Dalrymple To Be Honored Tuesday

A dinner honoring John Dalrymple of Lubbock, who Tuesday attained the highest rank in Masonry—the 33rd degree—will be given at the Hilton hotel next Tuesday at 7 p. m. by the South Plains Scottish Rite club, Dr. Millard F. Swart, president, announced Wednesday.

Dalrymple, a construction company president, was the second Lubbock Mason and the only one now living to attain the 33rd degree. Charles F. O'Neall, who died nearly two years ago, was elected to the 33rd degree, which is honorary.

A Mason can climb to the 32nd degree by performing required tasks and undergoing progressive initiations. The 33d degree, and the intervening K. C. C. H. degree, are "purely honorary," Doctor Swart said, and a small minority of Masons is elected to one or both for their work in Masonic circles.

A report of election of Dalrymple and eight other Texans by the supreme council of Scottish Rite Free Masonry of southern jurisdiction at Washington, D. C., was reported Tuesday night. Sam C. Cochran of Dallas was elected lieutenant grand commander of the council.

Texans lifted to the 33d degree were:

Nathan Adams and William Beall Carrell, Dallas; Robert Thomas Arthur, Denison; Ralph Haywood Cameron, San Antonio; John Dalrymple, Lubbock; William Eifler, San Antonio; William Madden Fly, John W. Lockhart, Galveston, and Wallace Chaunchey Regan, Houston.

Serious Damage Is Feared Following Tuesday Rains

Agriculturalists here Wednesday expressed the opinion that serious damage was done Tuesday and Tuesday night to open cotton by rainfall measuring 2.89 inches at the Lubbock experiment station.

Both Don L. Jones, superintendent of the experiment station, and D. F. Eaton, county agricultural agent, said that open cotton probably had been beaten off the stalks by the driving rain. The rain will lower the grade of cotton, Mr. Jones said.

Rainfall was general over the Panhandle and South Plains, according to reports received here. Traffic on the highways in this section was slowed down by muddy roads early Wednesday, but before the end of the day buses were traveling on schedule.

Insurance Agents To Meet In City

A member of the Texas board of insurance commissioners at Austin will outline interpretation and enforcement of a new licensing law for fire insurance agents at a district meeting of the Texas Association of Insurance Agents here Friday.

The meeting will begin at 10 a. m. at the Lubbock hotel and adjourn there at 4 p. m. D. F. Foreman, secretary of the state association, of Fort Worth, and D. A. Clark, vice president of this district, No. 12, will attend.

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce is assisting in preliminary arrangements. The assembly is for local agents only, whether or not they are affiliated with the state association, Clark said.

Agents selling fire insurance on property must have that as their principal occupation, the law which will be discussed here requires, It became effective in August.

Continuous Bad Weather Is Delaying Crop Harvesting

LITTLEFIELD, October 21.—Very heavy rains fell in this section of the state yesterday. It was accompanied in a very few spots by some light hail. It is estimated that there were 50,000 bales ready to pick and there are many pickers here ready to go to work. In most places light showers fell Monday night and Tuesday morning so that the cotton stuck to the boll and there was not a great deal of it washed out. This section has the best crops in its history but harvesting is being retarded by continuous bad weather.

El Paso newspapers are promoting a "Use-more-cotton" campaign, and College of Mines athletes will wear cotton uniforms this season.

Dickens Case Has Interest

Petition Asking Governor For Release Of Dickens Man Is Forwarded; Was Not Admitted To Penitentiary

HOUSTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—A petition asking Governor Ross S. Sterling to pardon Claude Ellard, the man the state prison would not admit although his liquor sentence had been affirmed, was on the way to the governor today.

The petition was signed by criminal District Judge Whit Boyd, District Attorney O'Brien Stevens and three of his assistants.

Ellard was convicted in August, 1929, at Dickens, east of Lubbock, and sentenced to serve one year. The case was appealed.

In April, 1930, the case was affirmed. He hastened to Huntsville but no warrant had been forwarded from Dickens and he was turned away. He returned to Dickens but the sheriff there also was without papers authorizing his arrest. So Ellard continued about his business, reporting every week to the sheriff for more than three months.

He got word of a job in Houston and the sheriff advised Ellard to come here, telling him he would notify him when the warrant for his arrest was issued.

The mandate of the appeals court, affirming Ellard's conviction, had been issued on May 2, 1930. On August 3 of this year, the warrant for his arrest was issued by the Dickens county clerk.

More than a year had elapsed and under the statutes a sentence begins on the date the case is affirmed. In Ellard's case, he had sought entry to the penitentiary, had been refused, and his whereabouts had been known to the proper officer—the sheriff.

When the warrant came here from Dickens Ellard was arrested. Then it developed that before his arrest he had gone to Huntsville and demanded a discharge.

Officials of the prison were puzzled, for the records failed to show the man who sought a discharge had ever been admitted to the walls.

Now, Governor Sterling has been called upon to cut the gordian knot. "The gracious and proper thing to do", Assistant District Attorney George Cavanagh wrote the executive, "would be to grant Ellard a full pardon."

Escaped Convict Planning Return

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 21. (AP)—Abe Powers, who escaped from the Fulton county, Ga., jail in 1926, prepared today to return and finish a one-year sentence for swindling. Under the name of R. A. Allen he had become a successful salesman here.

Arrested in connection with domestic difficulties, Powers was identified by police officers from a photograph. He admitted his identity.

Powers said he was sentenced for aiding to defraud a Georgia banker of $98,000. His share, he said was $17,000, which he used for a European tour, being arrested and convicted after returning to the United States. He said he was a member of the Denver group of confidence men which was broken up by J. Frank Norfleet.

to their own home but she ran away.

"Through the efforts of Mr. Cromwell's agency" (a wave toward Cromwell here) "she was soon located. A little further investigation by Mr. Cromwell's part uncovered the fact that this girl, Norma Kent Travers — Norma Travers as she is known now—three years ago was arrested and convicted on a vice charge and that you were her lawyer. We have here the police report—"

Hollis Stone was on his feet. "But she was innocent!" he exclaimed. "Look here, I don't know what you're driving at but that girl was innocent!"

"Innocent?" Travers exploded. "Why was she convicted then? Why did she serve two months at Mount Florence home?"

Stone leaned forward. "The whole thing was a frame-up," he insisted. "Every scrap of evidence they had against her. Why she was 17 years old! She'd only been in town three weeks! One of those ghouls of stool-pigeons took her to an East side place she thought was a restaurant. The girl hadn't any idea she was getting into—"

F. M. Travers had arisen. "Look here, Stone," he said coldly. "It seems to me the time for you to have tried this case was three years ago. If it was framed, if the evidence was full of holes, why wasn't she released?"

"Because you know as well as I do that the municipal judgeships are rotten! Because she happened to employ me as her lawyer instead of one of those greasy court hangers-on who split fees!"

Travers' face was livid. Before he could speak Kelsey McCormick had raised a hand. "Gentlemen! Gentlemen!" he said. "This is no place for accusations against the municipal judiciary. We called you here, Mr. Stone, to make certain a few particulars in the case. It is laudable for you to defend your client but surely such an outburst is unwarranted! As a lawyer in good standing—"

Stone interrupted him. "I am not that," he said. "I gave up my practice six months ago and for exactly the reasons I've stated. Because I know Marlboro's courts are rotten with bribery. Because Norma Kent's case is only one of a dozen others I could name. You may be an officer of the Bar Association, McCormick, but if you don't know these things as well as I do you've been going around with you eyes shut!"

There was a hush. McCormick said in his most judicial tone, "If you know all this why don't you make your charges in the proper way?"

Stone smiled contemptuously "Because I realize how much good it would do. Cromwell here can tell you how much is common gossip—"

"There is nothing to be gained," Travers interrupted, "from any more talk of this sort. I am sorry to have troubled you, Hollis. Don't let us take more of your time."

The younger man stood his ground. "Shouldn't have lost my temper," he admitted. "It's because I know this girl you're talking about and because I know she got a raw deal that I said what I did. She's —she's a fine girl!"

"Oh? I suppose you know exactly what she's been doing ever since she left Mount Florence?"

"No, as a matter of fact I don't. I only saw her a couple times before her trial—and two months ago with Mark at Blue Springs. If there were ever two youngsters genuinely in love I'd say it was that pair!"

Travers nodded. He appeared to have complete control of himself again. "Thank you, Hollis," he said. "Thank you for coming over. Drop in at the house and see us some time soon."

It was dismissal unmistakably. Stone nodded a curt, "Good afternoon," and turned toward the door. As it closed behind him Travers arose.

"Well," he said with a sigh, "that seems to be all for this afternoon. You'll let me know, will you, McCormick, how soon you can start for Paris? Make it day after tomorrow if you possibly can."

"I'll telephone," the lawyer promised.

That night Travers said to his wife, "Well, my dear, the news is too good to keep. McCormick's sailing for Paris Friday. He says the case is perfect."

"You mean—a divorce? But what if Mark refuses?"

Travers pursed his lips. "It's an unpleasant story," he said. "I don't think you'd care to hear it. Mark nor any other man would want such a wife when he knows the truth. Besides McCormick is clever. I've worked with him a long while and he never fails."

"Divorce seems so wretched!" Mrs. Travers protested. "I hate to think about it."

"You needn't. No one in Marlboro needs to know a thing about it until the matter's settled. That's the beauty of handling the whole thing abroad. When Mark hears what McCormick has to tell him, when he learns how the girl ran away he'll be reasonable."

"I do hope so! But suppose she's been writing to him?"

Travers' smile was unpleasant. "Of course she has," he said. "However—that little matter has also been attended to. Jules has been mailing the letters back to me. Three arrived the other day. No—Mark hasn't been receiving any word from her."

Mrs. Travers clasped her hands together. "We can only pray that our dear boy will be in God's care!" she said devoutly. "To think that this should happen to me—a Randolph."

There were 28 crosses on Norma's calendar. It was not the calendar adorned with the head of the flirtatious young woman in red. This was a new one, quite fresh, and the month, was not December but January.

A new calendar. A new year. And 28 crosses to show that Mark Travers had been gone nearly eight weeks.

Norma was alone in her bedroom. She did not look well. There were dark shadows under the girl's eyes and her face was colorless. She sat on the side of the bed, one foot tucked under her, mending a runner in a beige stocking. She went about the task fumblingly, as though she could not see the stitches.

There was a rap at the door but the girl did not move. The rap came a second time, louder.

"Who is it please?"

"It's Mrs. Bixby, Miss Travers. Can I come in?"

Norma went to the door listlessly, drew it back, "Come in," she said to the landlady, "What is it you want?"

The woman thrust a letter forward. "For you," she said, smiling. "Special delivery! I thought I'd better bring it up to you. My— that's the first letter you've had since you came here, isn't it? It must be important!"

"For me?" Norma was studying the address on the envelope. It was her name all right. Mailed here in Marlboro. Three little wrinkles creased the girl's brown.

"Aren't you going to open it?" Obviously the landlady was waiting to share the news.

Norma turned and tossed the letter on the bed. "Oh, yes," she said. "I'll open it up, Mrs. Bixby!"

"Well—good night." The landlady disappeared, disappointment written sharply across her face.

Norma sat down then and picked up the letter. She held it for several moments. Slowly she tore the end from the envelope and drew out the folded sheet.

Strong was indicted by the grand jury here today on a charge of murder for the slaying of his wife, Mrs. Katherine Wiseman Strong, 38, who died last Sunday of gunshot wounds. Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21. (AP)—Cotton developed rather a firm tone in today's trading and although prices fluctuated, the general trend was towards higher levels. The close showed gains of 18 to 21 points, above $1 a bale. Prospects for rains in the belt and the growing belief that the action of southern bankers in endorsing the holding movement and pledging support insured it's success, were leading factors in the advance.

Liverpool is due 8 penny points up on New Orleans tomorrow.

Liverpool cables came in 4 penny points better than due today and private cables said that although there was trade calling the market met hedge selling. Manchester cabled that yarn sales have exceeded production. First trades here showed gains of 3 to 4 points.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (AP) — A slight early decline was followed by rallies in cotton today on covering or rebuying by recent sellers.

December contracts after selling off to 6.53 early, advanced to 6.80 and closed at 6.76, with the general market closing steady at net gains of 15 to 18 points.

The opening was steady 4 points higher to 5 points lower, with near months relatively firm on trade buying against sales of later deliveries and reports of a continued firm spot basis in the south.

Numerous other letters from Dr. Judd to Mrs. Judd referred to her attempt to "exert a little self control." In an unexplained statement Judd took the "blame for the entire situation during the past year or more." He also referred to a mild narcotic which Mrs. Judd apparently had been taking and said "it will knock your nervous system to a fare-you-well if you don't cut it out."

Rail Shares Tumble After Denial Of Rate Increase; Other Stocks Go Up

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (AP) — Although action of railroad securities today could only be construed as an expression of disappointment over the freight rate decision, other sections of the financial markets appeared more confident.

All stocks were off in the early dealings when rail shares tumbled 2 to 8 points, but utilities rallied vigorously in the afternoon and industrials reduced or eliminated their losses. Except for the rails, which closed some 2 to 5 off, final prices represented largely fractional changes in leading issues. The turnover was 2,348,640 shares.

Foreign bonds turned strong with the Germans prominent. Liberties were off but treasuries firmed. High grade domesties, other than rails, loomed better, and the decline in carrier obligations was not unanimous. Wheat, corn and cotton rallied.

previously his father had gone to the island. That all the present inhabitants were descendants of this original settler.

He said that all loved their island home with its flowers, abundance of tropical fruit and other foods. The boys dived for pearls to pass away the time. He pulled out a frayed piece of cotton cloth containing a handful of gems which he traded for a pile of old clothes. The wireless operator took the shirt off his back in payment for a pearl as big as a pea.

Most of the islanders have attractive olive skins and fair hair. The Golden Coast, which stopped for six hours, was the first ship they had seen in five years.

Curtis Declares Report Is False

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP) — "Pure nonsense" was the way Vice-President Curtis tonight described reports he intended to resign to go into the oil business.

"I have no idea where that report originated," Curtis said. "There is absolutely no foundation to it."

There has been some wonder in Washington as to whether the vice president would seek re-election next year or withdraw to run for his old senate seat from Kansas. Periodic reports that he would resign to accept a position outside of public life had not been received with especial credence.

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 21. (AP)—Cattle trade around the eleven market circuit was steady to 25 higher on better fed steers and yearlings while less desirable natives and westerns carried a weak to 25 lower tone. Several river markets reported numerous loads of short fed steers and yearlings unsold at a late hour. Chicago scored up to 11.00 for 1211 lb. steers. Other markets tabulated high selling prices of fed natives at 10.25@10.50. Most short fed westerns were of quality to sell at 8.25@8.00. She stock was generally weak to 25 lower with better fed heifers at 7.50@8.00. Stockers and feeders held steady with replacement steers at 4.00@6.00 and a few yearlings stockers at 6.25. Aggregate receipts totaled 45,300 against 36,017 last Wednesday.

Hog trade was unevenly steady to 25 lower with best medium and strong weight butchers in Chicago up to 5.45. Arrivals of 83,600 were around 13,000 greater than a week ago.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Oct. 21. (AP) — Hogs 700; market to small killers 10-15c lower; packer market steady; bulk better 175-240 lb. rail and truck hogs 5.55@5.65; odd head up to 5.75; packing sows mostly 4.50 or steady.

Cattle 1,200, including 800 calves; most classes slaughter cattle very low, around 25c lower. Practically no slaughter steers moving; bulls and better grades fat yearlings scarce; butcher cows around 2.75@3.00; low cutter range 1.75@2.25; butcher heifers around 3.00@4.25; stock calves about steady from 4.50@5.00; good mixed sexes at latter prices; slaughter calves slow to around 25c lower, heavies to packers 4.50 down.

Thomas Edison

phonograph he created.

The Rev. Dr. Stephen J. Herben, former pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Orange, read the 23rd Psalm, "The Lord Is My Shepherd—."

Tribute Is Read

Dr. Lewis Perry of Phillips Exeter academy, read the tribute, written by Arthur J. Palmer, old Edison associate.

"He has led no armies into battle," Palmer had written. "He has conquered no countries. He has enslaved no peoples. Yet, he wields a power the magnitude of which no warrior ever dreamed.

"He commands a devotion more sweeping in scope, more worldwide than any other living man—a devotion rooted deep in human gratitude, and untinged by bias of race, color, religion or politics.

"This democratic, kindly, modest being has bestowed upon the human race blessing instead of bondage, service instead of serfdom, construction instead of conquest.

Borne To Cemetery

"And of this man, this super-being, who defies classification, what more can be said; what greater tribute paid than this—he is humanity's friend."

The body was borne to the cemetery. There awaited a freshly dug grave. Not far from it, shaded by the same oak tree, was the grave of John F. Ott, veteran Edison employe. He fell dead Monday from the shock of hearing that his master had passed.

The cortege left the home after Dr. Herben visibly shaken by emotion, announced in a trembling voice that burial would follow at the convenience of the family. He, too, was an old friend of the inventor and once served as his secretary.

Mrs. Edison Pale

Mrs. Edison was pale but composed as she entered a carriage behind the hearse. With her were her son Charles, Mrs. Madeline Sloane and William Edison.

The second car carried other members of the family, the third Mrs. Hoover and her official party and the fourth Mr. Ford and Mr. Firestone. For them it was a last caravan with their old friend, for with him they had made many auto jaunts over the country and they called them "caravans."

The cortege wound past the Edison laboratory and library, where the body had lain in state from Monday until this morning and had been viewed by tens of thousands.

The cemetery was reached late and evening shadows enwrapped the mourners as they got out of their cars.

The body descended into the grave at 10 minutes to 6 o'clock.

NEWS BRIEFS

Lubbock officers had obtained no clue late Wednesday of the man whom J. A. Blackwell, Lubbock tire dealer, said robbed him of $240 Tuesday in a daring daylight robbery here. Blackwell said the bandit robbed him after soliciting a ride forcing the motorist to drive into the country.

J. T. Bishop, rather than W. T. Bishop as was erroneously reported in a Littlefield dispatch to the Morning Avalanche Tuesday, was the victim of death by his own hand, it was learned Wednesday. J. T. Bishop was the father of W. T. Bishop and was making his home with his son when the elder Bishop took his life in the Fieldton community northeast of Littlefield.

Police reported Wednesday that an automobile belonging to A. S. Eads of Lubbock, which was stolen Tuesday night had been recovered. The right front wheel and tire had been stolen from the machine. Theft of a purse containing a woman's wrist watch, 50 cents, a meal ticket from an automobile here was reported to police Tuesday night.

County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson Wednesday night addressed members of the Texas Technological college Pre-Law club at the organization's weekly meeting. The club is composed of 50 members and is headed by Mendall Hughett.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Oct. 21. (AP) — Cash grain demand was steady today.

Basis delivered Texas group three: oats, No. 2 red 23 1-2@24 1-2c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 21. (AP) —Broadening of North American wheat exports demand, together with rallying power shown by the stock market, led to lively late upturns in grain values today. It was estimated that 1,000,000 bushels of United States hard winter wheat had been purchased today for overseas. A shortage of 100,000,000 bushels in 1931 northern hemisphere wheat production as compared with 1930, exclusive of Russia and China, was indicated by official reports, with the Russian crop also smaller despite increased acreage.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1-2 to 3-4 cent up, corn unchanged to 3-8 higher, oats unchanged to 1-4 advance, and provisions varying from five cents setback to a rise of 17 cents.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21 (AP).—Leatrice Joy, (above) motion picture actress and first wife of John Gilbert, another screen star, told newspaper men here today she would be married, possibly at Del Monte tomorrow, to William Spencer Hook, Los Angeles business man. Aged Man Returns To Lubbock; Has Total Of 143 Direct Descendants

S. H. Barker, 83, who returned to Lubbock recently from California, is the father of 13 children and has a total of 143 descendants. In addition to his 13 children he had 66 grandchildren, 61 great-grand children and three great-great grand children.

Barker, a native of Mississippi who came to Hunt City, Texas, with his father in 1856, is staying at the home of his youngest child, J. H. Barker, 47, here. Four other sons, C. N., W. R., A. B., and G. H. Barker, live in or near Lubbock. Their father was 83 years old last June 18.

The least number of children had by any one of his 10 living children was three and the most was 12. Number of youngsters by Barker's grandchildren ranged from two to 12.

"My father was a staunch Democrat," Barker recalls.

"He enlisted in the Confederate army, at the age of 52, in 1861 and served two years. He was captured and was paroled. My two brothers volunteered. The oldest never did return. I married in 1868."

Governor Murray To Write On Action Of Oil Members

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 21. (AP) Governor Murray described today as "a bunch of high bums" members of the Midcontinent Oil and Gas association who expressed opposition at Tulsa to his initiative legislative reforms.

Murray said he would discuss their action, taken yesterday, in next week's issue of the Blue Valley Farmer, his weekly newspaper.

The Oklahoma-Kansas division of the oil and gas association voted unanimously to take "all feasible steps" to defeat Murray's tax revision proposals.

Two-Months Controversy In Chicago Brought To An End

CHICAGO, Oct. 21. (AP)—Chicago's two-months controversy between union motion picture operators and the owners of 104 independently owned theaters has been halted after intervention of Mayor Anton J. Cermak to stop recurrent bombings, sluggings, and threats.

Under an agreement reached, 27 smaller theaters will operate with only one union projectionist, assisted by the owner or manager, in the booth. Union demands that two operators at salaries ranging from $80 to $150 a week be employed in each theater had been one of the most difficult points in the dispute.

By following a plan tentatively adopted, each town in the area may decide for itself whether or not it desires to participate in the regional organization, it was said.

Huge Business

with a recognition that France and the United States, now in possession of most of the world's supply of gold have a special joint responsibility for stabilizing conditions and opening new avenues toward world recovery.

Just as M. Laval took the initiative in coming to American shores, the hope is that he will speak first and present whatever economic proposals he may have in mind. It seems inevitable that whoever speaks first, however, the primary question must be: "What are the causes of world dislocation, and what are the barriers to international cooperation for betterment?"

Presumably Mr. Hoover and M. Laval will reach by quick stages the question whether the time has not come for a revision of war debts. As to the extent of such a revision the United States has no definite proposition.

Armaments Important

The question of armament reduction is very much in mind here. At a time when governments are trying to woo back prosperity by budgetary reductions and consequent lightening of the tax government, an annual outlay of nearly $5,000,000,000 goes to military expenditure. It has been computed by American experts that more than one-fourth of the revenues of the French government go to the army and navy.

Whatever Mr. Hoover says to M. Laval on that subject—and it may be assmued safely that he will speak with the full frankness permitted between the heads of two friendly governments,—will be directed ultimately toward a scaling down of the French program at the disarmament conference to be held next February. In her preliminary statement respecting that conference, France has indicated a future expenditure that startled some of her neighbors.

is to make the address. A memorial hour will be held at 11 o'clock this morning with Mrs. Forrest Farley of Austin presiding. An address, "Our Heritage," scheduled originally for Tuesday evening, is to be given by George Dupree, local attorney. There will be luncheon at noon for the visitors. Mr. Jones and Dr. Paul W. Horn are scheduled for brief talks at that time.

Gathering to observe "President's Evening," delegates and visitors heard Mrs. Boyd's annual address at the program Wednesday evening.

Musicians Discussed

The convention is to continue through Friday at the American Legion hall. Teas and luncheons will mark each day and offer a respite to the visitors from the business session.

Museums that are maintained by the United Daughters of the Confederacy in Austin and in Richmond, Va., were discussed through reports heard at the Wednesday session. There was an appeal for the members to send quilt scraps to women who live in the Confederate Woman's home and the Texas Confederate home in Austin. It was announced that there are places for more wives or widows of veterans in the Texas Confederate home and U. D. C. members were urged to keep in touch with these women in various Texas localities and help those who need to go to take up residence in the home. Another appeal was sounded by the committee that marks the graves of Confederate veterans, asking chapter members to locate these and see that they are marked.

Observing President's evening, a program was given Wednesday evening in the Legion hall for the delegates and visitors and Mrs. Boyd gave a complete report of her year's activities and the accomplishments of her state officials.

M. H. Duncan, superintendent of city schools, made a short inspirational address and admonished his hearers to watch the courses of study that are placed in the public schools.

Several musical numbers were given. The High School Glee club, directed by Mrs. W. P. Clement, sang "Bonnie Blue Flags;" Mrs. Richard L. Douglas sang a solo; Miss Beulah Dunn played a violin selection; Mrs. Cecil Dunavant Everett of Dallas sang and a chorus of six women sang. The personnel of this latter group was Mesdames Douglas, T. J. Beck, L. J. Von Tungeln, H. E. Blocker, G. N. Atkinson and Miss Nell Parmley.

Mrs. J. H. Dunavant of Dallas, first vice-president, presided at the evening session.

Dallas Woman Fatally Shot

Son Is Being Detained After Shooting; Argument Is Told By Neighbors; Son Ran From House After Shot

DALLAS, Oct. 21. (AP)—Mrs. Irene E. Deavenport, 27, was shot in the head with a pistol and critically wounded at her home here today. Physicians said her injury probably would be fatal.

Mrs. M. A. Schmitz, mother of the wounded woman, was in the house at the time. She told police Mrs. Deavenport and her son, Ford A. Schmitz, an automobile salesman, had been arguing before the shooting.

Schmitz went to police headquarters and was detained for questioning.

Officers were advised by Miss A. Shapard, a resident of the neighborhood, that immediately after the shot was fired, Schmitz ran out of the house, climbed into his automobile and drove away. Miss Shapard heard a scream just after the shot.

Miss Shapard ran into the house and found Mrs. Schmitz bending over the wounded woman. She said Mrs. Schmitz told her Schmitz and Mrs. Deavenport had been quarreling about his drinking.

Similar meetings will be held next week by Lions clubs throughout the world and the week has been designed as "Old Monarchs" week.

Ben Condray was the principal speaker at Tuesday's luncheon. He appealed for a greater membership and cited lower salaries, depressed business and geenrally unsettled conditions as factors in the prevailing low in service club membership totals. The program was conducted by J. O. Kuykendall. Miss Cecile Everett of Dallas presented vocal solos. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Moore of Lubbock gave vocal and piano selections. Judge Pitts presided.

Modern World's Idea Of A Chariot May Now Be Proved

NAPLES, Italy, (AP)—The modern world's idea of ancient Rome's chariot now may be checked against a real one which archeologists describe as the, first complete "Ben Hur sulky" of the imperial era ever retrieved from Roman ruins. It was unearthed recently at Pompeii.

It is excellently preserved and will round out notions of the chariot heretofore formed from written descriptions or fresco decorations. The specimen is to be placed in the national museum.

There is Nothing to Fear in Coffee ... If You Drink the RIGHT KIND

This Rare Central American Coffee Is Not Only Harmless—But Actually Beneficial, Say 2,571 Doctors*

DOES the second cup of coffee prick your conscience? If it does, here is welcome news from 2,571 doctors. For coffee, they say, is not only good, but good for you—if you drink the right kind.

There is only one thing to fear in coffee. The so-called ills of coffee such as indigestion, nervousness and headache they now tell us actually come from the rank, obnoxious oils that are found in cheap and doubtful coffee. But the world's finest coffee, the coffee with the finest flavor and the greatest invigoration, is free from these. Any normal person can drink all he wants within reason. And that is why thousands are changing to Folger's.

From Central America

Folger's is not just another brand of coffee. It is a different kind of coffee. There are thousands of brands of coffee in the market, but they most all come from practically the same place and are about the same grade. Folger's is made from Central American coffee—high-grown, which, experts and doctors agree, is free from the so-called coffee ills. And Folger's is packed in key-opening vacuum tins. Any can you buy is always fresh. As fresh as it was 30 minutes after it left the roaster.

Endorsed by Doctors

Only recently we received reports from 2,571 doctors* who, after testing samples of Folger's Coffee, confirm what we say above.

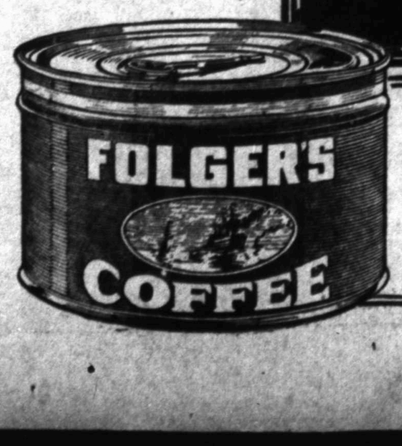

Try Folger's for a week. Note its finer flavor. Note its wonderful invigoration. Note its after effects. If you do this, we'll wager you'll never go back to ordinary and doubtful coffees.

*Signed statements to this effect, from 2,571 physicians who have actually tested Folger's Coffee, are on file in our offices.
