West Germans Assured Berlin Policy Is Firm

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has assured West Germany that it is determined to maintain the right of civilian as well as military access to West Berlin against any new Soviet attempt to isolate the city.

U.S. policy on this point is understood to have been stated emphatically to West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder, who began strategy talks with Secretary of State Dean Rusk here Sunday.

Schroeder will be followed to Washington Nov. 7 by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer who wants to discuss the Berlin situation with President Kennedy in advance of a possible Kennedy meeting with Soviet Premier Khrushchev concerning Berlin.

Kennedy, Rusk and other Western leaders believe that Khrushchev is planning some new action which may precipitate a fresh Berlin crisis before the end of the year. American officials see a 50-50 chance that before taking any decisive step, however, the Soviet leader may come to the U.N. General Assembly meeting in New York and also confer with Kennedy in the hope of winning Western concessions on Berlin.

If the Russians do launch an intensified campaign against the Western position in Berlin, the point of attack may well be the surface and air lifeline across East Germany linking the city with West Germany. The U.S. policy decision on civilian right of access, therefore, is considered of vital importance, for it implies that this country and its allies have decided they will not tolerate Communist blockade measures.

Western diplomats say it is expected that the East Germans will shortly institute some regulation requiring regular diplomatic visas for civilians crossing East German territory to the Western sector of Berlin. This could be construed as a bid for a greater degree of Western recognition of East German authority over the supply line.

The United States, Britain and France maintain their position in Berlin and their access to the city as a right of occupation resulting from World War II.

In the past the right of access has sometimes been narrowly interpreted as meaning only the right to supply the military forces but not to secure and safeguard civilian traffic. Kennedy administration officials say that, whatever views may have been held in former years, such a narrow interpretation no longer makes sense and the occupation powers have the duty not only to protect West Berlin but to provide for the economic health of its 2¼-million people.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt reiterated Sunday Western determination to protect his city against Soviet pressures. "If the Soviets want their crisis they can have it," he said in a stern radio address.

Meanwhile, in a television interview in the United States (ABC-Issues and Answers), McGeorge Bundy, presidential assistant who specializes in national security affairs, endorsed a proposal for a permanent deputy foreign ministers conference on Berlin and German issues.

At the same time, Bundy approved a proposal by Brandt for a referendum to put West Berliners on record in favor of keeping Allied troops in the city, calling it "a very constructive step."

On the eastern side of the Iron Curtain the Soviet Communist Party asked the people of the world to insist that West Berlin be turned into a demilitarized free city and that a German peace treaty be signed. The suggestion was contained in the traditional list of slogans published in Moscow in connection with the anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution Nov. 7.

In East Berlin, the official Communist daily Neues Deutschland published another section of a speech three weeks ago by East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht. East Germany's task, he said is "achievement of a German peace treaty and on this basis the removal of NATO bases in West Berlin and the transformation of West Berlin into a free city."

Five Remain In Jail After Brussels Riot

By JOHN SWAELENS

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Police today freed 45 persons arrested after riotous clashes between thousands of Belgium's two rival peoples, the dutch-speaking Flemings and the French-speaking Walloons. Five remained in jail.

Three persons remained in hospitals after the Sunday clashes in which thousands of Flemish youth and farmers from northern Belgium staged a protest march in the capital and ran into a counter-demonstration by Walloons. The Flemings, who make up 60 per cent of the population, were protesting what they called subjugation by the Walloons.

Nineteen persons were injured and 50 arrested. Few of the injured were hospitalized.

Despite the showers of eggs, missiles and insults exchanged in the two-hour brawl, some Belgians did not lose their sense of humor over the outbreak.

Walloon students at Liege University sent a message to Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant. It said, "Flemish extremists invading capital. Send forces urgently. Article 22."

Article 22 of the U. N. charter says the General Assembly may set up such special organs and fact-finding bodies as are necessary to carry out its functions.

The race-and-language rivalry goes back 132 years to Belgian independence. Although the Flemings now have a majority in parliament, they claim discrimination continues, especially in Brussels.

Officials estimated 25,000 to 50,000 Flemings from northern Belgium invaded the capital to stage a protest march. Their sweep across the city had scarcely begun before they crashed into Walloon counterdemonstrators.

The crowds pelted each other with rotten eggs, tomatoes, insults and jeers. The injured were hurt by sticks, staves and thunderflashes, a kind of firecracker that can burn severely. Only two of the injured required hospitalization, however.

In the litter after the battle were the furry remains of baby chicks. Flemings had trampled the chicks as an insult to the Walloons, whose symbol is the rooster.

A thousand gendarmes were reinforced by riot squads armed with tear gas and water trucks, but had difficulty restoring order.

Most of the Flemish marchers were young boys and girls, many from farms. They carried yellow flags stamped with the black Flanders lion.

The Walloons countered by wearing yellow buttonhole emblems imprinted with red roosters. They carried posters in Flemish which said "Hands off Brussels. Return to your village."

E. Anter, president of the Flemish Action Committee for Brussels, said there are 800,000 Flemings who at present have no representation in parliament.

"We want Flemish schools for all Flemings," he said, "we also want absolute equal language facilities in Brussels—even in private shops," he added.

Leon Defosset, chairman of the Walloon Popular Movement, said the demonstration was "proof that Flemish extremists have aggressive imperialist plans against Brussels and the . . . Walloons cannot remain indifferent."

At the outset of Belgian independence, French was the official language, even for judges, army officers, officials and universities in Flemish-speaking areas.

Adlai Says Congo Situation Better

NEW YORK (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, has told President Kennedy that developments of the past few days "give us some hope of a solution of the problems in the Congo."

Stevenson said Sunday night, after an hour-long conference with the President in the latter's hotel suite here, that he also spoke with Kennedy about the Cuban problem.

Asked if his report on the Communist-dominated Fidel Castro government was as optimistic as the one he made on the Congo, the ambassador replied:

"On the whole, yes. I think we have a high degree of solidarity in the Western Hemisphere on the Cuban problem."

But he said he had not talked with Kennedy about attempts to negotiate the release of Cuban invasion captives because he, Stevenson, knew nothing about it.

Regarding the Congo, Stevenson indicated he expects acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to announce soon what has been done to bring secessionist Katanga Province back into line with the central Leopoldville government.

Earlier, Stevenson told reporters at Idlewild Airport, where he met the incoming President that he was "more hopeful than I have been in the past that we may come to some settlement in the Congo."

The situation remains unsettled and no one can determine what Katanga President Moise Tshombe may do, he said.

But Stevenson added: "I am hopeful that something constructive is coming out of present negotiations."

He said that as far as he is concerned there is no emergency regarding the Congo.

Stevenson said he had had rather lengthy conversations with Algeria's Premier Ahmed Ben Bella, but declined to say what the talks were about.

Ben Bella was scheduled to meet with Kennedy today in Washington.

Cuban Raiders Questioned

By SATURNINO NORIEGA

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Six men the Coast Guard said sank an armed Cuban patrol boat and made off with two wounded militiamen were questioned today by federal agents at the immigration detention center in suburban Opa - Locka.

The men were taken from Cay Sal, a British isle in the Straits off Cuba, by a Coast Guard cutter Sunday night. They had sought refuge at Cay Sal after the raid.

Immigration officials said the six would not be available to newsmen for questioning "for the present." The Coast Guard cutter took the six to Key West Sunday night and they were transported this morning to Miami.

The two militiamen were flown from the tiny island off the southeast Florida coast to Miami by two men were swimming to shore when last seen, Suarez said.

The six walked off the Coast Guard boat at Key West, climbed into waiting automobiles, and were whisked off to immigration offices for preliminary questioning before being sent to Miami.

One had a bandage on his hand, but none of the disheveled group appeared to be seriously hurt.

Suarez' account of the incident conflicted with a Cuban government announcement that a pirate vessel had attacked a pleasure yacht, apparently killing two persons.

A Cuban exile, Antonio Bustillo, said the raid had been planned by 50 Cubans in Miami. Bustillo identified the raiders as Manolo Quiza, Manolo Casanova, Eddie Moore, Juan Espinola, Jorge Rodriguez and Roberto Parson.

Ahrens said the two told immigration officers they and two other military men were on patrol duty in an 18-foot boat Friday night, off Varadero Beach, east of Havana.

Cao and Suarez said a larger boat opened fire on them, sinking their vessel and wounding Cao in the groin and Suarez in the leg. The patrol boat sank, and men on the larger boat lifted the two militiamen from the water. The other were listed in fair condition at a hospital after surgery for bullet wounds.

District Immigration Director Edward Ahrens said one of the two, Sgt. Filiberto Suarez Lima, 40, asked for asylum in the United States. The other man was identified as Cpl. Miguel Cao Mendina, about 30.

Debates Are Due On Record Of Congress

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 87th Congress sputtered to adjournment over the weekend, signaling the beginning of a political tug of war over its record that will continue through the Nov. 6 general election.

During its longest session since 1951, Congress gave President Kennedy part of what he asked, considerably altered some of his requests, and completely blanked the administration on three major programs.

Congress supported the president on his foreign policy requests.

In addition it gave him substantially what he asked for in the Reciprocal Trade Expansion Act, aid for depressed areas, manpower retraining program, postal rate and federal employe pay increases and increased minimum wages.

His incentive tax exemption and strict farm production control programs were approved in part.

But Congress turned a deaf ear to administration requests for federal aid to schools and colleges, health insurance for the aged financed through higher social security taxes and establishment of a department of urban affairs.

The final week saw congress trying desperately to pass a comparatively few appropriation and authorization measures in the face of a revived prestige battle between the House and Senate.

Sunday, less than 24 hours after both houses adjourned, the Republican leaders issued a statement blasting the 87th as a congress which accomplished little and mismanaged much.

In the statement Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and his House counterpart, Charles Halleck of Indiana, placed much of the blame on Kennedy.

They said Kennedy saddled Congress with too many requests, most of which were aimed at "spending more money or concentrating more power in the federal government."

Whatever else may be said of the 87th, it was the third largest spender in congressional history with a total of $101.3 billion appropriated for current and future fiscal years. This was exceeded only by the wartime $147 billion of 1942 and $115 billion of 1943.

Still, this year's total was about $3.8 billion less than Kennedy had asked.

Kennedy's budget message last January forecast actual expenditures this fiscal year of $92.5 billion with a surplus of $500 million. Since then the Treasury has said a deficit is probable, possibly ranging between $4 to $6 billion.

The question of house-senate prestige was very much in evidence in the closing days.

Ruling Is Ordered In Wheat Protest

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court directed U.S. Dist. Judge Whitfield Davidson of Dallas today to rule on an Oklahoma farmer's protest against a civil penalty for asserted overplanting of wheat.

Evetts Haley Jr., of Sequoyah County, Okla., was assessed a $506 penalty for planting 43 acres of wheat when his quota under the Agricultural Adjustment Act was zero.

The case has been the subject of a three-year legal debate. In 1959 the Supreme Court told Davidson he was wrong in ruling against the penalty. Davidson said he thought the Supreme Court had been misled in the litigation and he again ruled in favor of Haley.

The Justice Department took the case to the Supreme Court again, contending that Judge Davidson had declared the marketing act unconstitutional as applied to Haley. Haley's wheat was fed to his livestock.

In reply to the Justice Department, Judge Davidson said his opinion had not held the act unconstitutional. The opinion referred to Haley's contention that the act was illegally administered in his case.

The Supreme Court, in an unsigned opinion, tried today to clear the whole thing up by asserting that the 1959 ruling held the act constitutional as applied to the complaint against Haley.

The high court said that Davidson's action "evidently rested on a misconception of the scope and effect" of the 1959 decree. It then directed that Judge Davidson's "error should be rectified without delay."

It told him to decide on Haley's defense alleging illegal administration of the act. It said that if his defense is found insufficient a final judgment in favor of the United States should be entered at once.

Puerto Rico Takes Pride In Its Ties With United States

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Bothered, badgered and battered by his Latin cousins, Uncle Sam has one big consolation: Somebody in Spanish-speaking America loves him.

Puerto Rico, tied to the mainland since 1898, wants to demonstrate to the world, and especially to Latin America, that its association with the United States is of its own free will, that there is no longer any tinge of colonialism involved.

This little island of 2.4 million people has left its brethren in Latin America far behind in standard of living, distribution of wealth and social and economic development. It no longer considers itself underdeveloped and indeed has its own program of technical aid for its Caribbean neighbors.

Puerto Ricans expect to vote next March on whether they want statehood, commonwealth status or complete independence. They can have their choice.

Almost nobody wants independence. Two years ago the Independentistas ran into disaster in an election, getting about 3 per cent of the total votes. One guess is that if they get that much in March they can consider themselves lucky.

Puerto Rico has come a tremendous distance since World War II. Its development spurred ahead when it was given the right to elect its own governor in 1948, and another push when the United States granted the island special commonwealth status in 1952. Its "Operation Bootstrap," a sort of do-it-yourself development with friendly mainland help, is regarded, in fact, as something of an economic miracle.

Since Puerto Rico already is a commonwealth, why a plebiscite?

Puerto Ricans want to nail down their relationship with the United States, to demonstrate it is their choice. The only real argument is about how close the ties shall be: The issue of statehood or commonwealth.

Commonwealth probably will win by a wide margin under the leadership of Gov. Luis Munoz Marin.

Gov. Munoz, architect of the economic development, says commonwealth status makes the island an "associated free state," subject voluntarily to U.S. federal laws, but with autonomous institutions with which the U.S. Congress cannot interfere.

Sentiment for statehood has grown over the years, however. Estadistas Republicans won only 83,000 votes in 1952, rose to 174,000 in 1956 and 25,2000 in 1960.

Gov. Munoz contends statehood would bring economic disaster. From the standpoint of per-capita income and distribution, Puerto Rico now is better off than any Latin American nation, but the energetic "64-year-old governor" says he wants the forward surge to continue.

West Coast Mops Up After Storms

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The West Coast from San Francisco to British Columbia mopped up today after hurricane winds and torential downpours left at least 47 dead and scores homeless in one of the vast area's worst storm of the century.

Damage amounted to uncounted millions in northern California and western Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. Not even a rough estimate of the total loss could be tabulated.

Parts of major cities and many small towns in the 75,000-square-mile storm area still were without telephone service. Emergency phone crews were flown into the area in chartered planes to patch the lines today.

The storm, whiplash tail of two dying Pacific typhoons, struck the coast Thursday night, battering Oregon the hardest. It lost its punch Sunday as it moved inland and ran up against the Rocky Mountains.

The job ahead: Caring for the homeless, more than 150 families in Oregon alone. Restoring broken gas lines, power lines and telephone service. Clearing sewers, streets and hghways of storm debris—tons of mud, windblown trees, shattered billboards and signposts. Shoring up sliding houses, shoveling silt out of others.

Oregon's Gov. Mark Hatfield estimated storm losses in his state at more than $150 million.

Property damage estimates for British Columbia ran as high as $1 million.

No tally had been made of the loss in Washington or California but it was expected to reach into the millions.

Classes today were called off at all public schools in Portland and the Oregon capital of Salem. Students at Pacific University in Forest Grove were given the day off to help disaster-ridden families.

Oakland, Calif., was cut off for hours Saturday by flood waters choking streets and highways into the city. Emergency crews had opened all thoroughfares today except a main access tunnel to the east. A mud slide had knocked out the tunnel's ventilating and signal systems and it may be closed until Wednesday.

Rivers running into the Pacific from all three states were near flood level today. It could be days before they return to normal as rains continued to feed them at their sources.

Sailors from the Alameda Naval Air Station near Oakland were credited with saving at least 15 homes in one city block by sandbagging operations which diverted earthslides and water.

Racial Issue Not Involved

FLORENCE, S. C. (AP)—Mayor David H. McCloud says in the quiet aftermath of a riot by 400 to 500 Negroes that no racial issue was involved.

Rock throwers prowled the streets of the Negro section Saturday night, breaking windows and overturning cars, after roughing up a Negro policeman who was arresting a Negro woman fighting in a night club.

No rioters were injured in the 90-minute disturbance. A 7-year-old girl was treated at home for shock after a car in which she was riding was hit by stones.

The mayor said in a statement Sunday that police, who estimated 400 to 500 persons were involved, had no great difficulty in controlling the mob. He said 400 to 500 is a normal number of persons to congregate in that area on a Saturday night.

"Race relations in Florence are excellent and we intend to keep them that way," he added.

Florence, in the tobacco and farming area of southeastern South Carolina, has 15,000 Negroes in its population of 35,000.

Conviction In Drug Price Fixing Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court affirmed today the coviction of the Utah Pharmaceutical Association on a charge of violating the Sherman Antitrust law by agreeing to maintain uniform retail prices for prescription drugs.

At the same time the high tribunal refused to review conviction of the Northern California Pharmaceutical Association on a similar charge. This lets the conviction stand unchanged.

The court's action in both cases was unanimous. The tribunal acted without giving any citation, disposing of the cases by brief orders.

The Utah association was convicted in federal court in Salt Lake City and an injunction was issued to bar it from continuing practices about which the Justice Department complained.

The Northern California Association was fined $40,000 in U.S. District Court in San Francisco. In addition, Donald K. Hedgpeth, a San Francisco pharmacist who served as chairman of the association's "suggested prescription pricing schedule committee," was fined $1,000.

The Utah association filed an appeal with the Supreme Court while the North California Association petitioned for review of its conviction. Both associations said their activities were local in character and contended they were not covered by the antitrust law. Hedgpeth joined in the California group's petition.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Daily News:

In every consumer market today there is found a tremendous variety of products from which to choose. They are all pretty good. The reason they are all good is that the bad ones are left on the shelves by the free choice of the consumers. The result is that they soon disappear from the market.

If the voters were given a choice between good and bad politicians, the bad ones would soon disappear from the ballot. Competition is good in politics, just as it is in everything else.

Dead Woman's Baby Has Chance To Live

BERLIN, N. H. (AP)—An 8-pound girl delivered by a surgeon half an hour after the death of her mother in an automobile accident is given a good chance to survive.

The child's father, Gerard C. Berthiaume, 29, said the baby will be named Cecile after her mother.

Dr Leandre Beaudoin delivered the baby at St. Louis Hospital Sunday morning. He said the infant was normal and apparently healthy.

Cecile Berthiaume, 28, died when her car struck a utility pole as she drove alone to Mass. She died of a fractured skull in an ambulance on the way to the hospital.

Circus Has Stars Of Circo Atayde

The Carson and Barnes 3 - Ring Wild Animal Circus has completed arrangements for a showing here Friday at the Rodeo grounds.

Among the many performers with the Carson and Barnes Circus this year are several of the stars of Circo Atayde in Mexico City. One of the greatest trapeze performers of all time, Franciso Padilla, is featured in his daring acrobatics aloft. Another featured performer is Miss Mimi, foremost exponent of the free falling heel catch on the trapeze. From El Salvador comes the Murello troupe in their thrilling flying trapeze act and from Nuevo Laredo is the Castillo troupe, acrobats and jugglers.

Carson and Barnes has also brought to the United States for their first continental tour, three of Mexico's funniest clowns; "Popcorn" Castillo, Roberto "Rubberlegs" Garcia and "Lazy Tito". They join Carson and Barnes corps of funny men to bring the best in comedy to circusgoers.

In addition to the big show performance, Carson and Barnes is carrying an old time Wild West Show headed by Col. Wm. F. "Buffalo Bill" Carson, and his congress of cowboys and cowgirls. And of course the Carson and Barnes elephant herd will be seen with their trunks full of new tricks as they thunder around the rings and track. Featured with the herd this year are Big Joske, the largest elephant in North America, and tiny Baby Wanda the little two year old elephant. Over in his private swimming pool "Little Oscar" the 4,500 pound hippopotamus greets his visitors with one of the greatest displays of dentistry ever seen, for when he opens his mouth it measures over three feet across.

Mrs. Roosevelt Feels 'Distinctively Better'

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was reported feeling distinctly better today at Center where she has been confined since Sept. 26 with a lung infection.

Her temperature, which had been running a little high over the weekend, has dropped, a hospital bulletin said.

Gamma Rays Are Stronger Than Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The intensity of potentially dangerous gamma rays in interplanetary space probably is as much as 10 times higher than had been anticipated, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today.

The agency based its new estimate on analysis of data from instruments aboard the Ranger III lunar spacecraft launched last Jan. 26.

NASA said the gamma ray measurements were scientifically important but of no significance for current manned spacecraft, and there is no indication of a need for greater radiation protection aboard U.S. spacecraft.

Later this week, possibly Tuesday, Ranger V will be lsunched in an attempt to take television pictures of the moon and land an instrument package on the moon's surface.

Ranger IV, launched April 23, hit the moon after a 64-hour flight. Ranger III, designed to land an instrument capsule on the moon and to take television pictures of the approach to the moon missed its lunar target and went into orbit around the sun instead.

Gamma rays, a form of electromagnetic radiation, are similar to X-rays but of shorter wave length. They are emitted by certain radioactive elements. They also are produced artificially in nuclear reactors and atomic explosions.

Revival Audience Has Cold Feet

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Part of the audience attending a church revival at the municipal auditorium Sunday night had cold feet —but it was no reflection on the sermon.

The temperature on the floor of the auditorium had been lowered from 72 degrees to 42 degrees in preparation for an ice rink.

Church May Dispense With Pledges

By JOHN GALE

ROME (AP) — Reliable sources say the Roman Catholic Church ecumenical council, Vatican II, may dispense with the pledges it demands of non-Catholics who marry Catholics.

The sources said there also is talk of the Church giving status and recognition for the first time to other denominations and ending the traditionally aloof attitude of the Church of Rome.

Protestant groups have been working quietly for a revision of the Catholic attitude on both these points, regarded as wounding by other Christian churches.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Michael Ramsey, last week referred to the conditions imposed for mixed marriages as "very painful" to practicing Anglicans.

The archbishop said he was thinking of the Catholic invitation to the non-Catholic husband or wife to abandon his faith and the insistence that children of mixed marriages must be brought up as Catholics.

Informed sources said the council also will review the system of allowing only a shortened service for mixed marriages. These sources said use of the full Roman Catholic liturgy may be authorized.

To many observers here, the most fascinating aspect of the council is the change it represents in the Catholic attitude to the other Christian churches. Exchanges between Pope John XXIII and other Christian leaders have rarely been more cordial.

The Russian Orthodox Church has two observers here for the first formal contacts between the churches for nearly 10 centuries.

Another 16 churches or religious bodies are represented in talks with the Vatican Secretariat for Church Unity, official contact on a scale that has never been attempted previously.

There are 333 places in the United States with 50,000 or more inhabitants, according to the 1960 census.

TO WED—Mr. and Mrs. Carrol A. Taylor of Lamesa, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Zee Lyn, to Thomas Michael Jenkins. The bride-elect is a graduate of Lamesa High School and attended McMurry College. The prospective bridegroom, also a graduate of Lamesa High School, is a student at Texas Tech. The wedding is set for Nov. 22 in the First Presbyterian Church of Lamesa. Miss Taylor is the grandaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Taylor of Snyder.

HOT ITEM

Unless you're cooking at temperatures higher than 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit, you can place hot pots and sizzling pans directly onto ceramic tile countertops in your kitchen. That's because real tile is baked at that temperature during manufacture so it is completely immune to heat. In addition, grease and smudges will wipe right off with a cloth dampened by dish wash detergent.

Akin To Cleanliness

Cleanliness is quite naturally the first aim of hygiene in the modern home. Ceramic tile, universally accepted and admired for its use in the bathroom and kitchen, could easily be called the "partner to cleanliness." And this is one of the important reasons why real tile has gained wide favor as a surfacing material for walls and floors in all parts of the home. Another reason is that American produced ceramic tile now comes in more than 250 colors.

When Did This Start?

Have you ever wished that someone would invent a beautiful and durable floor that wouldn't need constant waxing and care? Well, material for such a floor was invented — about 7,000 years ago. It is ceramic tile, one of the world's oldest building materials, which still is widely used today for the very reasons that made it popular in the days the Pyramids were built.

Famous Chefs Prove Food Is Still A Bargain

Does the American homemaker still get a bargain for her food dollars? Yes, say four famous New York chefs, and recently proved it in a unique experiment.

Participating in the test were Secondo Sanchioli of Sardi's Restaurant, Albert Stockli of the Four Seasons Anthony Pagean, Executive Chef of Camillo's Restaurant and George Waldner, Chef le Cuisine of Chef Magazine, all of New York City.

The test was carried out in be half of an article, "Why Our Food is A Bargain." In the article the author states that the American homemaker spends an average of $25 weekly to feed her family.

To prove that it is possible to feed an average family of four on $25 per week, each chef prepared a week's menus for a family consisting of father, mother and two children aged seven and nine. Assuming that the family had some everyday staples such as floud and sugar on hand, the chefs prepared their shopping lists. All shopped in the same suburban supermarket and with only $25 to spend on his list, every chef kept within his budget.

Does this kind of careful shopping take a lot of time? No...after a preliminary trip through the stare, the average time taken by the chefs to purchase a week's supplies was 27 minutes, not counting the check-out. As proof that budget dishes can be exciting and appealing, Chef Albert Stockli offers this recipe for easy-to-fix Lamb Ragout with Vegetables.

Hoffa Could Be Man To Put Fidel Castro In His Place

BY INEZ ROBB

The international situation is fraught, all right, which no one will deny. And while this pillar offers no final solutions, it would like to offer a thought for the day.

It is just possible that the Cuban situation, which troubles Americans so deeply, is on the point of solution if the U. S. Government and lofty-minded civilians can be restrained from doleful clucking and head-shaking for an interim.

It all boils down to the fact that the leaders of the International Longshoremen's Association, bypassing the State Department, have declared war on Cuba. While Uncle Sam continues to try to formulate a program that will prevent the ships of so-called friendly nations from carrying Communist war material to Cuba, the longshoremen have already taken effective action.

As a starter, longshoremen in Jersey City, a muscular neighborhood to reckon with, refused to load the Greek-flag freighter President Hoffman (a former American Liberty ship) when she steamed into port after delivering a cargo of Communist supplies to Cuba. Consequently, the ship sailed without a load of scrap iron she was supposed to carry to Italy.

It is the plan of the officers of the ILA, whose membership is regarded as overwhelmingly anti-Communist, to ask its rank and file, none of whom have ever been momentarily confused with cookie pushers, to endorse and continue the forthright policy of the Jersey bouncers.

Such action would, of course, implement the shipping policy the government is trying to devise and would relieve it of the "embarrassment" of even putting into effect a program of its own. Washington would thus avoid treading on the toes of our allies. It could let George, i.e., the ILA, a proven toe-treader of awesome talents, do the job.

Granted that this is an unorthodox solution, nonetheless all the orthodoxy the government has brought so far to bear on the Cuban situation has solved nothing. Why not try a new wrinkle? We have nothing to lose.

The New York Times has already decried the action of the ILA as a usurpation of power in the field of foreign policy. But since unions have proved that they have the power to affect large segments of domestic policy, why not let them have a fling at foreign affairs? Why, at this stage in the Cuban situation, be choosey about Machiavellis?

Furthermore, I would like to suggest that James Hoffa be drafted and put in charge of the whole ILA program vis-a-vis Cuba. Of course, I realize that Hoffa is not associated with the Longshoremen and that its leadership might resent the interference of the Teamster boss.

But patriotism should prevail. Hoffa, as this country and the Justice Department knows, is a six-minute egg. He is a constant irriant to the U.S. body politic. The blood pressure of most of his fellow citizens does an imitation of Old Faithful at the mere mention of his name.

But no corner has ever been tight enough to contain him. He is the Houdini of due process, whose thumb hasn't parted company with his nose in a decade.

Hoffa, with the tough thugs and ex-cons he apparently favors as cohorts, is the ideal choice to lead a crusade against Castro's Cuba. There is no sweeter thought than that of Hoffa and Castro locked in negotiations. How richly they deserve each other! And in any betting on the outcome, my money is on Hoffa.

Yes, let the International Longshoremen's Association, with Hoffa as an added starter, deal with Cuba. Such an imaginative approach might lead to Hoffa-Khrushchev negotiations and BAM! There would go the Communist ball game! There is only one drawback. That would leave the U.S. Government face to face with Hoffa...

Junior Editors Quiz on— EGYPTIANS

QUESTION: Why did Egyptians paint people side view?

ANSWER: One explanation is suggested in our picture. Remember that Egyptian art goes very far back—into the prehistoric period. These first ancient artists were probably trying to draw people to look as much like people as they could. Our picture suggests how an attempt to do this might lead to the Egyptian style of drawing figures. Once started, this style lasted for 3000 years. Why was this? Why didn't Egyptian art become more realistic, freer, more graceful, as Greek art did? Historians say that the central Egyptian idea was that of life after death. Their art was mostly one of monuments and tombs, intended to last forever, or to picture attendants and objects which would serve a dead person in the after life. The style of drawing which had been started fitted this idea; figures flattened against a wall of stone looked as if they would last as long as the wall would. There is still another point to consider. Egyptian art, in spite of it's lack of movement, is very beautiful in its own way. The Egyptians no doubt took pride in this beauty.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Draw two profiles, with noses, lips and chins as in our picture. In one, put in an Egyptian eye as if seen from in front. Then look at a real person's profile and see how entirely different the real eye looks from the Egyptian one. Draw this real eye in profile too. 10-15

Texas, Arkansas To Meet Saturday

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Southwest Conference's big game of the year—Texas vs. Arkansas — comes up for the fourth straight time Saturday night at Austin.

For three campaigns now this battle has been the most decisive of the season. It led to a triple tie for the championship in 1959, it led to an Arkansas championship in 1960 and it led to a tie between Texas and Arkansas for the title last year.

Now Texas and Arkansas come up to the big one with unbeaten, untied records through four games and each rated among the top 10 of the nation. No wonder then that the game has been sold out for weeks and extra seats are being put in to handle a throng of 65,000.

Arkansas will be trying for the championship or a share of it for the fourth season in a row. Texas will be after the same thing, only covering three of the four seasons.

Arkansas took over the conference lead last Saturday when it beat off surging Baylor for a 28-21 triumph. Texas won its third intersectional test with a 9-6 victory over Oklahoma, having to rely on defense and kicking to do it.

Arkansas has a 2-0 conference record while Texas and Texas A&M are 1-0 and tied for second. Rice and Southern Methodist haven't yet played a conference game but they'll do so when they meet each other at Dallas Saturday.

Texas Christian, which walloped Texas Tech 38-13 last week, is 1-1 while Baylor is 0-1 and Texas Tech is 0-3.

It's all-out conference play this week with Texas A&M and Texas Christian tangling at College Station and Baylor and Texas Tech jousting at Waco.

The conference's intersectional record went heavily into the red with games last week. While Texas managed to beat Oklahoma, Texas A&M took a 42-6 drubbing from Florida and Rice was battered 31-12 by Oregon.

Tors Take Initial Tumble; C-City Drouth Is Broken

With but one exception, District 8-AAA elevens will be taking a rest and licking their wounds this Friday before leaping into conference action October 26.

As it stands now, each of the district members have tasted defeat except defending champ Lake View. The Chiefs close out non-district play this Friday when they travel to Breckenridge in what could prove to be one of their most serious tests of the year.

In games to date, the Tribe has upended Mason 18-0, Brady 25-22, Odessa Ector 18-0, and San Antonio Edgewood 42-18.

Action of the past Friday involving 8-AAA family members saw them winning two while dropping three. Lamesa got its comeuppance at the hands of Hereford in the week's shocker, falling 27-14. The sun came out for the Colorado City Wolves, however, who on the same night pelleted Anson 18-0 for their initial win of the campaign following four losses.

Here's how it stacks up at present:

Team, Record	Pts.Opp
Lake View (4-0)	98 40
Lamesa (4-1)	90 60
Brownfield (3-0)	99 44
Snyder (2-2)	34 44
Sweetwater (1-3-1)	40 92
Colorado City (1-4)	46 107

Friday's results: Hereford 27, Lamesa 14; Brownfield 26, Levelland 6; Stamford 10, Snyder 7; Graham 26, Sweetwater 8; Colorado City 18, Anson 0.

Ford, Pierce Battle Today

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The oft-delayed sixth game of the World Series between New York and San Francisco "positively" was to be played at noon today with the Yankees' Whitey Ford facing the Giants' Billy Pierce.

The weatherman promised good weather.

The veteran left-hander had been primed since last Friday but the worst October storm to lash the Bay area in 58 years forced Commissioner Ford Frick to postpone the game Sunday for the third straight day. The sky was sunny, but the playing field still was soggy.

A sellout crowd of some 44,000 was expected to attend what may be the World Series finale. The Yankees, leading in games, three to two needed one more triumph to post their 20th championship since they won their first in 1923.

Both pitchers were well rested, Pierce, who has never lost in Candlestick Park, winning all 12 decisions, had not pitched since he was beaten in the third series game, at Yankee Stadium, last Sunday.

Ford, winner of five straight series games, including a 2-0 triumph here in the opener, last appeared on the mound a week ago when the Giants evened the series at two-all with a 7-3 victory. Ford left after six innings with the score tied at 2-2 and was not charged with the loss.

Manager Ralph Houk of the Yankees went with the same lineup he employed in all but the second game, when first baseman Bill Skowron and catcher Ellie Howard were sidelined because of injuries. Manager Alvin Dark made one change, switching from Tom Haller to Ed Bailey behind the plate. Each is a left-handed batter.

Dark reiterated that Jack Sanford, his right-handed ace,would pitch the seventh game, if one was needed. Houk said he was still undecided between Ralph Terry and Bill Stafford. Terry outpitched Sanford in the fifth game, and Stafford beat Pierce in the third. Sanford won the second from Terry.

Prison Rodeo Well-Attended

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—The second performance of the Texas Prison Rodeo drew 22,000 Sunday despite rain that marred the last half of the show.

Anita Bryant, recording artist, and Ann Marston, a champion archer, furnished special entertainment for the prison inmates. Willie Mays, major league baseball player, will be the special guest next Sunday.

In the rodeo competition, Jim Evans, serving 20 years; O'Nes Browning, in for 99 years, and Pete Jackson, 35 years, won the mad scramble, saddle bronc and bull riding respectively.

The team of Willie Craig, serving 35 years; Charlie Arthur, 12 years, and Browning won the wild horse race event.

Polo Game Cancelled

Due to the critical illness of one of its team members, Lubbock was unable to appear here yesterday for its scheduled polo game with Snyder.

No makeup date for the contest has been arrived at as yet.

SWC Cagers Begin Work

By The Associated Press

Basketball practice starts in the Southwest Conference Monday with a month and a half's work ahead before the first games.

Texas will have the most experience, with seven lettermen and some very bright sophomore prospects.

However, Southern Methodist may wind up as the favorite although it lost star Jan Lodermilk. There are four lettermen on the hilltop along with three top prospects from the freshmen.

The concensus is that five teams should be considered for the title — Southern Methodist, Texas, Rice, Arkansas and Texas A&M.

Arkansas looms powerful with its tallest and best shooting team yet built around Tommy Boyer, the national collegiate free throw record-holder of last season.

Rice gears its team around Kendall Rhine, 6-10 center, and expects to be in the thick of the fight all the way.

Texas A&M is packed with experience and has one of the potential stars of the league in Bennie Lennox.

Texas Tech, which won the championship outright in 1961 and tied Southern Methodist for it last season, doesn't expect to be a strong contender this time. There are six lettermen at Tech but Del Ray Mounts and Harold Hudgens, heart of those title teams, both have departed via graduation.

SNYDER'S LARRY McNAIR is one of the outstanding freshmen members of the Hardin-Simmons University football team this season. The 6-2, 213-pound tackle has seen action in all of the Cowboys' varsity games this year and was one of the stars in the H-SU B team's 28-13 win over West Texas State's B team. He blocked a kick, picked it up and ran for a touchdown as well as adding four extra point kicks. He is expected to see action in Abilene Saturday night when the Cowboys play Trinity University.

Pedro On Bench; Buffs Win Anyway

CANYON, Tex. (AP) — When West Texas State beat a team like Arizona State University with the fellow who's called the finest runner in Texas football history sitting on the bench, it convinced the fans and even the coaches that the school has a top football team.

Pete Pedro, the star from Lynn, Mass., who leads the nation's colleges in rushing, wasn't used a down Saturday night as West Texas won its fifth straight with a 15-14 decision over hitherto unbeaten Arizona State.

Pedro suffered a strained leg muscle the previous week and coach Joe Kerbel wasn't going to take a chance on him.

But West Texas won and showed it is not a one-man team, but that it is an outstanding team that's likely to go through the season undefeated.

Jerry Logan is gaining about as much fame as Pedro, since he leads the nation in scoring with 81 points and has booted 25 extra points out of 27, 20 of them in a row. And there are others almost like him on a well-balanced team.

Not that Pedro doesn't make it stronger, since he can break open any game at most any time.

Blair Cherry, former coach of University of Texas, watched the Texas-Oklahoma game at Dallas Saturday and observed:

"There's not a man on the field today who can carry Pete's shirt."

Hustle appears to be the secret of the team's success, along with some top-notch football players that make the hustle pay off. It has averaged 40.8 points per game in beating Trinity (Tex.), Texas Tech, Texas Western, Arlington State and Arizona State.

Ahead are New Mexico State, which West Texas plays here next Saturday, Arizona, Bowling Green, North Texas State and Hardin-Simmons.

Pedro is due to be back in shape for the game with New Mexico State, when he will duel Preacher Pilot, another noted runner. West Texas probably could do pretty well without him, although it certainly doesn't want to.

'Skins Salvage Tie; Packers In Triumph

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Green Bay Packers ably demonstrated they can get the job done even without the services of Paul Hornung, but it's doubtful the Washington Redskins would still be riding high were it not for their clutch combo of Norm Snead and Bobby Mitchell.

Hornung, the National Football League's scoring leader and an all-around star for the defending champion Packers, was forced to sit out the second half of the Packers' 46-21 victory over the Minnesota Vikings Sunday, but Snead and Mitchell were all present and accounted for in St. Louis.

The two live-wires of the still-unbeaten 'Skins provided the clutch plays that helped Washington gain a 17-17 tie with the St. Louis Cardinals and keep first place in the Easter; Conference. Snead's 36-yard pass to Mitchell set up Bobby Khayat's 23-yard field goal with only 13 seconds to play.

The tie enabled the amazing 'Skins to run their record to three victories and two ties. The Pittsburgh Steelers upset New York 20-17 and tied the Giants for second place, each with a 2-2 record.

With its easy victory over the winless Vikings, Green Bay stayed ahead of the Detroit Lions, who took a 13-10 decision over Los Angeles. Green Bay is 5-0, Detroit 4-1.

In other Sunday action, Baltimore surprised the Cleveland Browns 36-14 as Johnny Unitas threw three touchdown passes; the San Francisco 49ers won their third straight, beating Chicago 34-27; and the Dallas Cowboys showed some of their new offensive power in beating Philadelphia 41-19.

In the American Football League Houston quarterback George Blanda threw six touchdown passes as the Oilers routed New York 56-17 and the Denver Broncos defeated winless Oakland 33-6 in the only Sunday games.

Hornung suffered a twisted right knee after scoring Green Bay's first TD against the Vikings Sunday. But he was hardly missed as quarterback Bart Starr took over the controls and tossed touchdown passes of 15 and 65 yards to Max McGee and another of 18 yards to Boyd Dowler.

Crimson Tide At Low Ebb In Slipping Past Cougars

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is Alabama, the proud defending national college football champion, headed for a downfall?

For two weeks in a row the Crimson Tide, now boasting a record of 15 consecutive victories, has had to struggle to overcome its opposition. Last Saturday, Alabama staggered past Houston, 14-9. The week before, Bear Bryant's outfit scored an unimpressive 17-7 decision over Vanderbilt —a team that has managed to score just 13 points in losing all four of its games.

Worse yet, by comparison, Mississippi, Alabama's No. 1 rival for the tough Southeastern Conference title, clobbered Houston, 40-7, just nine days ago. Alabama and Mississippi don't meet during the regular season.

Alabama, No. 1 in the current Associated Press weekly poll, meets Tennessee this week. The Vols have lost all three games and on the record should present no problem.

Mississippi, No. 5 in the country, had an open date last Saturday and this week meets Tulane. Louisiana State, No. 6, and another threat for the SEC crown, knocked Miami from the unbeaten ranks 17-8, and next plays Kentucky. It's just possible that the LSU-Ole Miss game on Nov. 3 could settle the league race.

Meanwhile, the run for the Eastern championship has been thrown into a state of merry confusion with Army's 9-6 victory over Penn State, ranked No. 3 in the nation.

Before the game, the Nittany Lions had a big jump in the run for the Eastern title on the strength of their impressive victories over Navy, Air Force Academy and Rice.

Army plays Virginia Tech this week in a breather, while Penn State runs up against tough Syracuse in an attempt to regain some of its lost prestige.

But perhaps the most surprising team in the country is Miami of Ohio, which does most of its business in the Mid-American Conference. The Redskins defeated ninth-ranked Purdue, one of the toughies from the Big Ten, 10-7, last Saturday.

Next Miami goes back into its own backyard and plays Ohio U., while shocked Purdue takes on Michigan.

Second-ranked Texas, the favorite for the Southwest Conference championship, also could be in for trouble. The Longhorns did nothing to up their prestige in a narrow 9-6 victory over Oklahoma that ran their record to 4-0. Now they run into a hornet's nest in Arkansas this week. The free-wheeling Razorbacks also are 4-0, and have scored 146 points along the way. They are ranked No. 8 and polished off Baylor 28-21 Saturday.

Ohio State, which toppled all the way from first to tenth in the poll last week after being beaten by UCLA, took its wrath out on Illinois with a 51-15 pasting. The Buckeyes play Northwestern, which could be a problem this week. Northwestern's high scoring Wildcats won their third straight, toppling Minnesota 34-22.

On the West Coast, Southern California, favorite for the Big Six title, took the day off. The Trojans are No. 4. Seventh-ranked Washington barely edged Oregon State, 14-13.

West Virginia became another giant-killer by downing Pitt, 18-8. Georgia Tech, driving to regain a national ranking, shut out Tennessee, 17-0; Duke throttled California, 21-7; and Texas Christian remained in the Southwest Conference race with a 35-13 triumph over Texas Tech.

Tech-Baylor Tilt To Be Aired Locally

Radio KSNY of Snyder will broadcast the Baylor-Texas Tech conference contest of Saturday night, which will originate in Waco.

Also scheduled for Saturday is the regional telecast of the SMU-Rice battle, which will begin at 1:30 p.m. (CST). Area stations carrying that telecast are KPAR-TV, Sweetwater-Abilene; KDUB-TV, Lubbock; KCTV, San Angelo; and KOSA-TV, Odessa.

Watch the birdie.

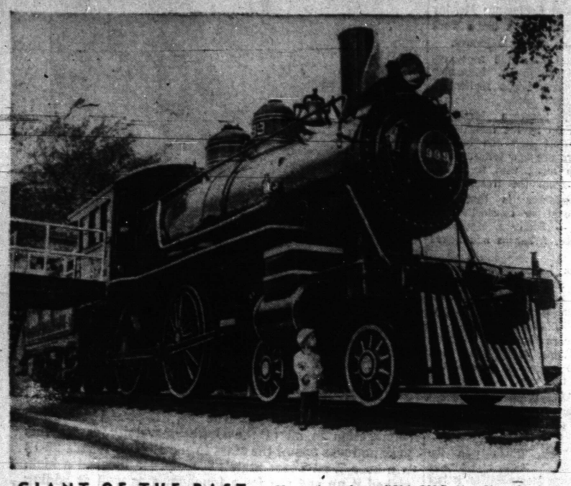

Notice he stops whistling when you turn off the flame? You've turned off the heat — immediately. We bring this up because some ranges keep putting out heat, heat and more heat long after they're "turned off." But not GAS.

This means cooler cooking. So does the smokeless broiling feature of GAS ranges. (In case you didn't know it, the broiler doors usually stay open on non-gas ranges. They have no blue flame to eat up the smoke, so it just pours it into your kitchen.)

Conclusion: you'll be happier, cook luckier with the clean, cool, modern convenience of a new GAS range. And as luck will have it, they're on sale. So buy now and save!

ODD ROOST — Tourists gather around an Italian jet fighter in a strange setting — the area next to Venice's famed St. Mark's Square. It publicized an air show.

LEADER — Muhammad Zafrulla Khan of Pakistan is the new president of the U.N. General Assembly. The 69-year-old diplomat is a veteran of the old League of Nations.

TANDEM FOR FOUR — Togetherness saves money for Fred Flansburg and his family as they pedal with groceries on their way home in Long Beach, Calif. He felt family car was too expensive so he sold it and bought the bicycle built for four.

FIXED FOCUS — Jimmy, the Philadelphia Zoo's hippopotamus, rests chin on a rail and stares at camera man. Zoo officials say Jimmy is not the friendly type.

CAPITAL SHOWING — Uruguayan sculptor Alfredo Halegua explains one of his works, a Jacqueline Kennedy head, to visitor in Washington. His sculptures, wood and bronze, are being exhibited in the Organization of American States' headquarters.

SNYDER BUSINESS NEWS

CONCENTRATING full time on watch repairing is Barber Martin, former owner of Martin's Jewelry. Martin has moved his repair department to 2206½ Thirty-second Street. Without the distractions of a jewelry store, he is able to offer exceptionally fast repair service on balky timepieces.

Barber Martin Offers Area Fine Watch Repair Service

Barber Martin has been providing Snyder and the surrounding area with fine watchmaking services for almost 20 years.

Until recently Martin combined the watch business with a jewelry store, but now is devoting his full time to watchmaking. He has transferred watch repair department from the store to a separate building at 2206½ Thirty-second Street near his home.

There will be found a well-equipped jeweler's workshop which features the latest machines for the most modern watch repair in this area. For the cleaning of watches. Martin uses an Ultrasonic type machine. For setting watches before return to the customer, he uses the electronic Watchmaster automatic timer.

The Watchmaster actually checks the heart of the watch by calculating the tick of the watch and recording it on a chart just as a doctor uses a cardiograph to check the beat of a patient's heart.

Martin said he would gladly show a person the "pattern" his watch would make on the chart. "Accurate adjustment of any watch can be made in just a few minutes by using the instrument, and if anything is wrong with the watch the Watchmaster will reveal it and help the jeweler locate and quickly correct the trouble" he said.

Also in the shop is to be found a large electric Hermes engraver.

Martin also keeps a large stock of repair parts on hand at all times. "Replacement kits" of factory recommended parts for Bulova and for Elgin watches are maintained. Replacement parts are not limited to those brands, however. Parts for many different watches are kept, although calls for them may be on a very occasional basis.

Martin expressed his gratitude to those who had patronized the store when it was on the square, and extended an invitation to old customers as well as new, to visit him in his new location.

As a matter of fact, anyone who is interested in prompt, careful, accurate, watch repairing is invited to drop by.

President Eamon de Valera of Ireland, just turned 80, told reporters who visited him in Dublin that he drinks a bottle of stout every day with his lunch and said if he had his life to live over again he'd be a teacher. "It is splendid to get to know things yourself and then teach them to other people," he said.

Dirk Stikker, NATO secretary-general, is making a normal recovery from an operation he underwent Oct. 8, the State Department says. It has been disclosed that the operation at Walter Reed Army Medical Cener at Washington included removal of a malignancy located in the large intestine.

Jean Wallace, an American actress, is abed in Belgrade, Yugloslavia, with an injured back. She was practicing this weekend for a riding part in the film "Lancelot and Guinevere" when her horse refused a jump. She fell and suffered a fractured sacrum which a spokesman said will keep her bedridden for the next few weeks.

Frank Deckert of San Jose, Calif., turned 101 Sunday and he credited "my good wife and a can of beer" as the reasons he's lived so long. To prove it, he toasted the milestone—with a can of beer.

Gemini Trip On Manual Control

By BOB M. GASSAWAY

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Manual control will be used more extensively in the Gemini space flight series because Project Mercury has shown pilots can function in space.

The Manned Spacecraft Center here disclosed in a fact sheet that the two-Gemini crewmen will be in almost full control from take-off to landing, with only slight assistance from earth or automatic devices.

The Gemini mission is expected to close the gap between the present Project Mercury project and the Apollo program, which is designed to put two men on the moon.

"Very few of the Gemini systems will be entirely automatic," the report said. "There will be more dependence upon man than in the Mercury flights."

The Mercury system depends heavily on ground computers.

"We have been trying to get back to pilot control, but didn't know how much a man could do in space. Mercury has answered their questions," a spokesman for the center said.

In the Mercury shots, the pilots took control of the ship for short periods. But, with the exception of a few minutes during the six-orbit mission of Walter M. Schirra Jr., on Oct. 3, the ground stations have retained the ability to intercede.

The Gemini crew also will be able to change orbits slightly. This is another first.

The pilot and co-pilot will be helped by a 65-pound electronic computer in planning the orbit changes and reentry paths. The fact sheet said the computer will be aided by radar in making the rendezvous in space with an Agena-D vehicle, giving the crewmen practice in space rendezvous techniques.

A rendezvous will be part of the Apollo project, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials have said. The Gemini mission will allow the study of techniques to be used.

The sheet says Gemini crewmen, wearing pressure suits, are expected to leave the spacecraft in orbit and perform tasks outside the cabin.

In the Mercury series, the ground control center has had the capability of aborting or ending the mission during and just after launch if necessary. This function will now be turned over to the crew.

The fact sheet said either of the two men will be able to fire ejection seats similar to the type used in airplanes. A parachute would then lower the men to the ground. The same technique will also be usable for landing on the ground. Mercury landings all have been in the ocean.

The men will use a paraglider wing to ease the descent and slow the craft to about 45 miles per hour to land on three skids.

Manned Gemini flights are expected in late 1963 or early 1964.

8 Refugees Savor Taste Of Freedom

BERLIN (AP) — Eight East German refugees savored their first full day of freedom in West Berlin today because two friends returned for them after making their own escape three weeks ago.

One of the four women in the group collapsed with emotion when she reached the West Sunday and was reunited with her parents. The woman had spent six months in jail for an earlier unsuccessful attempt to flee.

Names of the refugees were withheld to prevent reprisals against relatives and friends in East Germany.

The refugees told this story:

Two men, who escaped three weeks ago, decided after long discussions in a refugee center that they would try to return for their friends.

They swam a stretch of water on the border Saturday, cut through barbed wire on the east bank and went to the home of a friend. There they met three men friends, two girls and two married couples. All said they were willing to make the escape attempt.

One of the two leaders warned: "Whoever loses his nerve, screams or anything, we'll knock him unconscious and drag him with us. There's only one thing for us—to get through."

Under cover of darkness, the party made its way to the border, intending to take the route to the hole in the wire previously cut by the two men.

One of the leaders went ahead to spy out the terrain.

He found East German guards searching the area. They had discovered the hole in the wire and repaired it.

The second guide, alarmed by the delay, moved forward and hearing voices, thought his friend had been captured.

He crawled back to the others and told what happened. One of the single men in the party became alarmed and withdrew from the escape attempt.

But the first guide had not been caught. After the guard patrol moved away, he found another escape route, located the others in the party, and led them to the spot.

The group managed to escape being seen in the "death strip," a 30-yard-wide cleared area along the border where guards shoot at anything moving. Then they cut their way through three rows of barbed wire and swam to safety.

Nuclear Test Is Postponed

HONOLULU (AP) — Unfavorable weather at Johnston Island forced a 24-hour postponement of the United States' high-altitude nuclear test Sunday night.

The delay was announced by Joint Task Force 8 three hours before the test shot was to be detonated. It was the first delay in this nation's efforts to resume testing since a suspension last July.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Honolulu said heavy cloud layers carried rain squalls over the tiny atoll, 750 miles southwest of Hawaii.

The nuclear shot, equivalent in power to less than one million tons of TNT, was rescheduled tonight for between 9:30 p.m. HST (2:30 a.m. EST Tuesday) and 2:30 a.m. Tuesday (7:30 a.m. EST).

The device, fired to an altitude between 30 and 40 miles, will be carried aloft by a Thor missile.

The only successful attempt, on July 9, lighted much of the Pacific and painted the sky with a rainbow of color.

Woman To See Her Son In Russia

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A 74-year-old Little Rock woman left by plane for Russia Sunday to visit a son she hasn't seen in more than 50 years.

Mrs. Frank Lukly said she came to the United States in 1912 to marry Frank Lukly and left her 10-year-old son by a former marriage with her father.

Mrs. Lukly lost contact with her family in the Russian revolution and World War I.

She said she learned more than a year ago through a friend's relatives that her son, Brosi Belman, was a civil engineer at Odessa on the Black Sea.

Operation Saves Man

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A young intern performed emergency surgery on the floor of a Minneapolis restaurant to save the life of a man who was choking on a piece of meat.

Joseph Pruchnieki, 52, was dining in a restaurant Saturday night when a piece of steak lodged in his throat and he was unable to breathe.

Dr. Daniel R. Baker, 26, in his fourth month of internship at General Hospital, answered the emergency call and found Pruchnieki unconscious.

With Pruchnieki lying on the floor between two tables, Dr. Baker made an incision in the man's throat, made an incision in the windpipe, inserted a tube and blew air through the tube until Pruchnieki started to breathe on his own.

Taken to the hospital, Pruchnieki regained consciousness in about 12 hours.
