Connally Asks Revision Of State College Board

To Regroup State System

By ERNEST STROMBERGER

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally, warning against destructive competition among state colleges, recommended today a tradition - shattering grouping of the 22 colleges under three boards.

The governing board revision, one of the promised surprises in Connally's legislative address, would regroup the colleges—now under 11 boards—into two university systems and a college system with a minimum of seven colleges each.

A new state college—the 23rd—is proposed for San Antonio.

Accompanying the politically explosive governing board revision proposal are several recommendations, including some made earlier:

1. Creation of a "strong coordinating board" for state colleges to assure the highest educational quality for state spending.

2. Raising teachers salaries "to a level about 10 per cent above the projected national average" if the new coordinating board is created to replace the State Commission on Higher Education.

3. Abolition of the state 5-cent ad valorem tax for college buildings, effective Dec. 31, 1967, and a prior allocation of $10 million yearly for five years beginning Sept. 1, 1965.

4. Submission of a constitutional amendment allowing the governor to appoint an out-of-state resident to each college governing board.

5. Full state financing of junior college teaching and program costs, and transfer of administrative responsibility from the state education agency to the proposed coordinating board.

6. Creation of a $50 million student loan fund.

Connally did not speak on proposals from many sources that college tuition be increased.

Connally's proposal to regroup college boards differs from a similar recommendation by the Legisative Budget Board staff, which based its four-system grouping on geographical location.

Connally proposes grouping the colleges by function under three systems: University of Texas, Texas State University, and State Senior College.

Commenting on the recommendation, Connally said "our vision has been blurred far too long by concepts which nourish regional provincialism and institutional rivalry."

The state's large size and diversity, he said, "must not be reflected in a fragmented, destructively competitive, narrowly provincial college and university system. Such a system, without question, hampers the drive toward excellence."

"To offer some hope for unity, some promise of order, some strides toward quality, and frankly, to provide a political, population, and economic base for the two systems that have the most immediate chance for excellence and to permit them to offer and develop the types of education essential to our changing environment, I propose the following systems:

"University of Texas System: University of Texas, Texas Western, Arlington State, North Texas State, Texas Woman's University, University of Houston, Texas Southern and medical and dental units.

"Texas state university system: Texas A&M, Texas Tech, Prairie View A&M, Tarleton State, Lamar State, A&I College, a new San Antonio institution concentrating in technical and scientific education, and agricultural and engineering services.

"State Senior College system: Midwestern, Pan American; East Texas State, Sam Houston State, Southwest Texas State, West Texas State, Stephen F. Austin State, Sul Ross State and Angelo State."

Scientists Set Site For Deep Hole

WASHINGTON (AP) — An ocean area near Hawaii has been tentatively selected as the site for the historic attempt to drill a six-mile deep hole into the earth through the ocean bottom, the National Science Foundation announced today.

Drilling is expected to begin in 1968 at the earliest, the foundation said.

But preliminary, shallower drilling with scientific import of its own is expected to begin early in 1967 at six other sites in the Pacific. Drilling of the major hole is expected to take up to three years.

It's all a part of a venture known as "Project Mohole" — an attempt to gain knowledge of the earth's origin, structure, minerals-making and earthquake-brewing. The operation is expected to cost $70 million in the first three years, including the cost of major equipment, and $8 million a year thereafter until the job is done.

Dr. Leland Haworth, foundation director, said the foundation's "initial" decision to select the Hawaiian site was made on the basis of scientific information presently available.

He said this decision could be changed "should new information indicate that some as yet unidentified site would better fulfill our scientific objectives." But other spokesmen for the foundation told a reporter it is highly unlikely a better spot will be uncovered before drilling begins.

The Hawaii site is about 100 miles north-northeast of Maui in the Hawaiian islands.

Khahn Back As Premier

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's generals returned Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh to power in a bloodless military coup today, and the Buddhist opposition to the civilian government began jubilant celebrations.

Khanh charged Premier Tran Van Huong's three-month-old government had failed to stabilize the chaotic situation in the nation's major cities. He said the chaos was impeding the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

The coup posed new problems for the United States, which had hoped civilian government could rally the populace behind the war effort.

The U.S. embassy said in a statement: "Until we can assess more clearly the nature and extent of the important events set in motion this morning, it would be premature for the U.S. mission to comment or render a judgment."

Reliable sources said Khanh and the military council he heads had planned the coup for Feb. 2 but decided to pull it off today because U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor was on a trip to Laos and Thailand.

Five leading Buddhist monks who had been making a "fast to the death" to bring down Premier Huong began eating late this afternoon.

An estimated 4,000 supporters flocked into the Buddhist headquarters, which previously had been barred to them by paratroopers, and dragged the beds on which the monks had been resting into the streets.

The Buddhist hierarchy broadcast an appeal "to all chapters throughout the country" to cease the antigovernment campaign.

Khanh called in Deputy U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson to tell him of the military takeover.

By the time Taylor returned to Saigon, Khanh had left the capital for his seaside headquarters at Vung Tau.

New Premier Takes Oath

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Finance Minister Amir Abass Hoveida took office today as premier following the death of Hassan Ali Mansour from an assassin's bullets. Hoveida pledged to advance the shah's reform program.

Hoveida made two changes in Mansour's Cabinet and presented the new government to the shah. He named Javad Mansour, brother of the dead premier, as minister of state; and Gen. Hassan Pakrevan as minister of information.

Hoveida, 50, kept the Finance Ministry under his own supervision.

Mansour, 41, was shot last Thursday as he prepared to enter Parliament with new agreements with major oil companies on offshore explorations. Police are holding a 20-year-old part-time student, Mohammed Bokharaei, as the gunman. They said Bokharaei and a small group of Moslem fanatics he headed plotted the assassination.

Solons Refuse To Aid Nasser Again

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has turned a deaf ear to pleas of administration spokesmen and voted to curb the sales of surplus farm products to Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Tuesday's action got the administration off to a shaky start with the new Congress, but President Johnson's legislative leaders didn't seem worried. The Senate could reverse the decision.

UAR President Gamal Abdel Nasser has told the United States in effect to take its aid and "go to hell." Nasser's outburst in a Port Said speech last month apparently was triggered by U.S. accusations that he is aiding Congolese rebels.

H. told a cheering throng "We do not accept any words against us and we will cut off the tongue of anyone who uses them. We do not need their money. Anyone who does not like our attitude can drink from the sea." In Egyptian slang, to "drink from the sea" is the equivalent of to "go to hell."

Despite the outburst, the United States announced five days later — Dec. 28 — that it was going through with plans to provide Nasser with 317 million worth of surplus wheat. Washington has been supplying Nasser with about $140 million in food yearly under a three-year agreement that expires next June 30.

Tuesday's 204-177 House vote followed a plea by the President's House leaders not to tie his hands in framing foreign policy. The majority consisted of 128 Republicans and 76 Democrats. On the losing side were 177 Democrats. Not recorded either way were 31 Democrats and 11 Republicans.

Because Democrats outnumber Republicans 294 to 141, administration leaders had expected no trouble winning approval of administration legislation or turning back Republican assaults.

Delays Arraignment Of Mississippians

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — Arraignment of 16 men on federal charges in the slaying of three civil rights workers was delayed today by arguments on defense motions.

The defense, which submitted 45 motions, contended the charges — conspiring to violate the trio's civil rights by murdering them — were based on illegally obtained evidence, and the FBI violated the constitutional rights of the 16 in arrest procedures.

Details Plan For Teachers' Raise

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally asked the Legislature today to enact a 10-year program for raising public school teacher salaries and to provide local districts with funds for "selective" increases as the district sees fit.

The governor's recommendation differed considerably from the Texas State Teachers Association demand for a $45 per month across-the-board salary boost this year.

Quoting principles stated by the TSTA itself, Connally said the immediate $45 increase in state-backed salaries under the minimum foundation school program would not be consistent with the association's stated objectives.

He noted that average teacher pay scales are above the state minimums because of local supplements in many districts.

The governor said:

"Even if local districts would at this time continue their present enrichment levels, the $45 in '65 proposal would not assure 'maximum salaries that will justify teachers in looking upon teaching as a 'career' nor give 'recognition for training and service.' On the other hand, it would provide proportionately larger increases for 'beginning teachers at the expense of teachers with long records of successful experience,' thus violating all three of the principles enunciated by the TSTA"...

Connally said his long-range program would "provide higher rewards for the experienced, better-trained teachers."

The governor's plan would raise the state-supported beginning salary for teachers with a bachelor's degree to $4,500 from the present $4,014, and for teachers with a master's degree to $4,806 from the present $4,239 now paid. Major increase would be in the maximum levels: From $5,094 to $6,390 for a teacher with a bachelor's degree and from $6,075 to $7,226 for the teacher with a master's degree.

In addition, Connally recommended that the state provide local districts with $50 per classroom teacher unit, to be matched by the districts "for additional selective salary increases for classroom teachers only to be distributed as the local district may determine." Such increases would be between $100 and $1,000 for a nine-month school term.

He also proposed that the present automatic yearly increase be raised from $108 to $126 for teaching experience after 1961.

Snyderite Appointed

Rep. Omar Burleson, Congressman for the 17th District of Texas, has announced appointment of Larry Kenneth Walton of Snyder to a slate of nominees for the U. S. Air Force Academy.

Walton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Walton, Rt. 2, Snyder. The nomination puts him on a slate with five others. All will be subject to further mental and medical tests by officials of the academy, who will select a principal and alternates in order of merit as determined by the tests.

US Could Still Force Showdown

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Prospects of a showdown over U.N. finances increased today following Adlai E. Stevenson's demand before the General Assembly that the Soviet Union and other debtors pay up or lose their assembly votes.

The U.S. chief delegate did not name the Soviet Union, France or other defaulting nations in his policy speech Tuesday. He did call for support of the American position that delinquents must be penalized under Article 19 of the U.N. Charter, which takes away the assembly vote of any nation two years in arrears.

Stevenson warned that the assembly is nearing a fork of the road and "may soon have to decide which branch of the road it will take."

Delegates said the U.S. stand appeared to make a confrontation with Moscow unavoidable unless the Soviets give ground or the assembly calls a recess.

The Soviet Union has said it will make a substantial contribution to the U.N. treasury, but only if the assembly sets aside the penalty clause. The United States insists on knowing in advance that the Russians will contribute enough to take them off the delinquent list.

Western diplomats question that another assembly recess will help break the deadlock that has defied the negotiating talents of Secretary-General U Thant. Assembly Prsident Alex Quaison-Sackey and the 59-nation Asian-African bloc.

Stevenson told the assembly that Article 19 must be observed. To ignore the charter, he said, would be "a step in the dark down an unfamiliar path."

He declared that if members were allowed to decide individually what U.N. activities they considered legal and worthy of financial support, the United Nations would become an organization beset with uncertainties, delays, frustrations and failure.

The Soviet Union and France claim assessments they have refused to pay for peacekeeping operations are illegal because they were voted by the assembly instead of the Security Council.

A showdown is expected to come next Monday when Quaison-Sackey plans to call for election of committee chairmen and vice presidents so the assembly, which has been floundering aimlessly for more than eight weeks, can get down to business. A record vote would automatically bring up the question of applying Article 19.

Air Force Pilot Killed In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U. S. Air Force fighter pilot and his Vietnamese observer were killed today when their plane veered off a runway and turned over at Bien Hoa Airport 12 miles northeast of here.

The crash apparently was accidental and was not the result of enemy fire.

Registration Ends Today

By REX THOMAS

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — A special 12-day voter registration term ends today with many Negroes still waiting to take a literacy test and state troopers standing by to safeguard against violence.

Civil rights leaders planned to keep up the pressure on the Board of Registrars in an effort to get as many Negroes as possible added to the voter rolls in the final day.

The three-member board has been in session three days in each of the past four weeks. Next Monday it will return to the regular two-days-a-month schedule.

Only a few Negroes tried to register in the first two weeks of the special term. Since the massive civil rights campaign led by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. got under way nine days ago, prospective voters have marched to the courthouse by the hundreds.

Only about 40 Negroes — some of them standing in line for hours — have managed to take the lengthy literacy test. The board has not said whether any of them had been registered.

State troopers brought in Tuesday remained in Selma overnight but only on a standby basis. City and county officers policed the area around the courthouse Tuesday without calling on the troopers although the city had asked them to come in case they were needed.

Sheriff James G. Clark and his deputies arrested more than 200 Negroes last week when they refused to use the courthouse door designated by county authorities.

A federal court injunction issued last Saturday prohibited sheriff's officers from further interference. Since then the campaign has moved along with less difficulty.

However, U.S. marshals enforcing the court order have allowed no more than 100 applicants to wait in line at one time. The injunction by U.S. Dist. Judge Daniel H. Thomas specified that the number of places in line must be assigned to the first 100 arriving each day.

Seeks To Recover Historic Battle Flag

AUSTIN (AP)—Rep. W. H. Miller of Houston wants Texas to recover the battle flag captured by Mexican troops as the Alamo fell in 1836.

His resolution introduced Tuesday would authorize a seven-man committee to negotiate with the Mexican government for the banner's return.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We plan to be married in June, right after my finance finishes college. He is working to put himself through college, and even has had to help with a younger brother's education, so he hasn't enough money saved to pay for the honeymoon trip we've always hoped for. After we marry and he begins his career, it will be years before we will be able to have a trip like that. I am a practicing registered nurse and have money saved. Would it be all right if I paid for part of the honeymoon trip so we could go where we've always wanted to go? Or should we just go as far as his money can take us?

MONEY IN THE BANK

DEAR MONEY: If you want to follow conventional practice to a gnats' eyelash, the groom pays for the honeymoon, whether it's to Hawaii or Hoboken. But you've made a special case for yourselves, and admirably, too. So if it takes your "help" to swing the kind of honeymoon trip you've always both dreamed of, I say, help. And happy landings!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old (nearly 13) and I have normal looks for my age except maybe I am quite a bit more developed for a girl my age. It bothers me when people make cracks about it. A lot of boys seem to notice me, but not for the reasons I'd like to be noticed. I don't wear my clothes too tight or anything like that. I hear remarks made about me that make me feel like something "dirty." It confuses me to be told that I should be proud of my build because I guess in a way I am sort of ashamed of it. Do you think it is fair for my father to laugh when he sees me with my blouse tucked in my slacks and say, "Are you SURE you're only 12?"

CONFUSED AND DISGUSTED

DEAR CONFUSED: You should be proud of your "build" — and even prouder of your wholesome attitude. Just keep wearing your clothes tight enough to show you're a girl, and loose enough to show you're a lady. Don't pay any attention to the "cracks" people make. And your father ought to be ashamed of himself.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I just had to write you about my husband's overly critical attitude. If he isn't criticizing someone he knows, he's criticizing the performers on television. Our sons are teen-agers, and they have picked up their father's habit of criticizing everybody. The boys are aggressive, domineering, obnoxious and disrespectful, and have terrible tempers, just like their father. Please, Abby, won't you tell me how to handle the situation, as I don't know how much more of this I can take? Thank you.

BEAT

DEAR BEAT: From your description of the boy's father I wouldn't advise you to become too critical of HIM. You will have to try twice as hard to influence your sons for the better in order to offset the bad example set by their father.

US Soldier Apologizes Before Defecting To Reds

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The U.S. Army said today that Sgt. Charles R. Jenkins of Rich Square, N.C., left a note apologizing to his mother "for the trouble I will cause you" before he defected to Communist North Korea three weeks ago.

"I know what I'll have to do," said the note Jenkins left in his quarters. "I'm going to North Korea. Tell the family I love them very much. Love Charles."

Jenkins was leading a patrol early on the morning of Jan. 5 through a wooded area in the demilitarized zone dividing North and South Korea. He told his men to wait for him, then walked off in the dark. When he failed to return, a search was ordered, but Jenkins could not be located.

The Army confirmed his disappearance and told of the note after North Korea's Pyongyang radio reported the defection. The broadcast Tuesday said Jenkins defected because he was disgusted with conditions in South Korea and believed conditions in the Communist North were better.

Jenkins, 24, is the fourth American soldier to go over to the North Korea Communists since May 1963. He joined the Army in 1958 and was stationed in Korea in 1960-61. He arrived last November for a second tour.

His mother is Pattie Casper of Rich Square.

At Rich Square, Mrs. Casper, reported ill for the last three weeks, declined any comment about her son. A neighbor said Mrs. Casper had expressed the opinion her son had been captured.

Panel Oks Funds For Texas Roads

AUSTIN (AP)—Proposals to spend more than $5.5 million in state funds for road improvements in the Dallas-Fort Worth area were approved Tuesday by the Texas Highway Commission.

The commission also authorized an estimated $2.5 million project for four grade separations and approaches on Loop 289 in Lubbock. These are to be built at intersections with U.S. 82, FM 40, North College Avenue and South College Avenue.

State highway engineer D. C. Greer was directed to cooperate with Dallas County officials in obtaining right-of-way for a portion of U.S. 7 from interstate 35E to south of Wintergreen Road. The state would pay an estimated $2.5 million as its share of the cost.

The commission authorized Greer to arrange with local officials to provide for purchase of 5.9 miles of right-of-way on U.S. 67 south of Wintergreen Road to the Ellis County line.

Approval was given for purchase of right-of-way for future improvement of Loop 12 in Dallas County from Shady Grove Road to Illinois Avenue at an estimated state cost of $2 million.

The commission authorized three Fort Worth and Tarrant County projects expected to cost $973,000. These include resurfacing the main lanes on relocated U.S. 287 in Fort Worth from Mitchell Boulevard to Vaughn Boulevard, and completion of right-of-way buying for 3.2 miles of Spur 350 from proposed Texas 121 east to Texas 183 at Euless and for 2.2 miles of Texas 183 from Spur 350 at Euless to the Dallas County line.

Also approved were:

Preparation of plans for a $1.4 million widening of U.S. 82 in Crosby County.

Reconstruction of 7.7 miles of U.S. 69 in Angelina County from a mile southeast of Lufkin to Huntington at an estimated cost of $955,000.

Police Investigate Highway Mishap

Snyder city police investigated a one-car rollover at 6:24 p.m. Tuesday at the intersection of the Clairemont Road and the Highway 84 by-pass.

Officers said that a blowout of a tire on the 1961 Pontiac contributed to the mishap.

The driver, John H. Keenan of San Antonio was not injured. He was charged by city police with intoxication. Damage to the car was estimated at $800.

Texas Sets Spring Drills

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Texas, which has won 40 games, lost only three and tied one the last four seasons, begins its 20 days of spring football training March 3.

Under Southwest Conference regulations, the Longhorns have 36 days in which to complete the spring session.

Coach Darrell Royal announced the opening of spring training yesterday. The date of the squad's Orange-White spring game was not disclosed, but it probably will be in late March or early April.

Royal also said he has recommended football letters for 35 players. The list includes 16 seniors who helped Texas to 30 victories, two losses and one tie during their three-year varsity careers.

Texas finished last season with a 10-1 record, including the Orange Bowl upset of national champion Alabama. The Longhorns had an 11-0 mark in 1963, 9-1-1 in 1962 and 10-1 record in 1961.

Biting Cold Hits Areas To North

By The Associated Press

Extreme cold stung the Midwest today, adding more burdens to the thousands of families in northern Illinois driven from their homes by power failures.

The cold also swept into the Northeast, accompanied by strong winds.

Dust from the Southwest was blown by strong winds as far away as Pennsylvania in what the U.S. Weather Bureau called "an extremely unusual phenomenon."

The dust billowed over Tennessee, Ohio and Pennsylvania, apparently the remnants of a huge dust storm in Texas and Oklahoma Monday.

A heavy snow struck northern Illinois Tuesday, measuring eight inches in some areas, and hampered repair work on power lines felled by ice which had formed Saturday.

The temperature dipped near zero in the Chicago area.

Winds measured at 70 miles an hour moved across western New York, toppling trees, disrupting electrical service and causing minor damage.

Frigid air crossed the Canadian border into the north central states, sending temperatures well below zero.

In northern Illinois, 3,600 power-line repair workers-including some from Denver, Minneapolis, St. Louis, northern Ohio and Philadelphia — were hampered by Tuesday's heavy snow.

Many families without lights, heat and water rented hotel rooms and others stayed with friends. The American Red Cross, Salvation Army and Civil Defense set up public shelter and mobile units.

The Illinois Department of Health issued a power generator and 200 cots with blankets and sheets for an emergency community housing center.

Commonwealth Edison Co. officials have placed the damage to power equipment at $2 million.

Hundreds of schools remained closed because of no meat. More than 2,000 telephones were out of service. Streets were blocked off because of fallen trees, limbs and power lines.

Supersonic flights over the Chicago area were canceled again to avoid the possibility that sonic booms would disturb ice-heavy trees and sagging power lines.

Five store display windows were smashed by the strong winds in Buffalo, N. Y. Power was disrupted in northern Chautauqua County by downed lines.

Ice falling from antennas atop the 102 - story Empire State building in New York City forced the closing of 34th street.

The Texas dust blew into the Pittsburgh vicinity, mixing with rain for a muddy downpour.

A thunderstorm drenched the Cleveland area, accompanied by winds measured at 52 miles per hour. The rain also carried some of the Texas dust. More than 2,000 homes were without electricity at one time.

Tennessee got enough Texas dust to turn the sky orange in some areas.

Seek Books For Prison

The Knights of Columbus Council 4414 of Snyder has joined nearly 200 other state councils in collecting reading materials for state prison inmates.

The reading material (preferably hard back books) will be delivered to the Rev. Richard Houlihan, state prison chaplain. Rev. Houlihan is in charge of one of the state's 13 units, and he has described present sources as totally inadequate, stating that good reading matter is urgently needed.

Anyone with books no longer needed may put them to good use by delivering them to a city Dempster Dumpmaster receptacle stationed at Thirty-seventh Street and the Big Spring Highway. Or, members of the Knights of Columbus will pick up books if they are called.

Freeman To Continue At Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Orville Freeman will continue as secretary of agriculture for the "foreseeable future."

A course high in the Johnson administration emphasized this Tuesday in discussing future farm policies. There had been reports in recent weeks that Freeman might take another government post.

Freeman has made it clear to the White House, and to farm leaders, that he would take the initiative and resign if he became convinced he could no longer contribute to a solution of agricultural problems.

The Johnson budget report to Congress said one million farmers out of the present 3.4 million is about all that will be needed, the report said, to produce all the farm products that can be sold at home and abroad.

The informant said the administration has no intention to force anyone to leave the land. He said it wants to help create off-farm job opportunities for the low income producer who would like to quit farming.

This source emphasized that the administration believes commodity stabilization programs, including price supports and some payments to farmers, will be needed for some time to ensure adequate farm income.

Texas Senators Seek To Erect Monument

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both senators from Texas have proposed establishment of the Alibates Flint Quarries National Monument near Amarillo.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough introduced the bill Tuesday for himself and for Sen. John Tower. It is identical to one introduced in the last Congress by Rep. Walter Rogers, D-Tex.

The bill is intended to assure recognition and preservation of historic Indian flint quarries.

Stock Show Is Scheduled At Fluvanna

FLUVANNA — The Fluvanna Chapter of Future Farmers of America is preparing for its annual livestock show to be held Saturday, Jan. 30. The show will be held at the Fluvanna High School Gymnasium.

The Fluvanna Young Farmers chapter will sponsor the show in which all Fluvanna FFA and 4-H Club members will participate.

There will be two classes each of barrows, fine wool lambs, cross bred lambs, and one class of steers. Ribbons, banners and trophies will be awarded in each division.

Jim Laurie, vocational agriculture teacher at Roby, will judge the show. The judging will begin at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, with steers scheduled to go into the arena first. Barrows and lambs will be judged after lunch.

Beer Sale Cases Heard

Fifteen cases of illegal sale of beer in a dry area were filed and heard yesterday in county court. Also heard was one case of illegal possession of beer for resale.

All of the sale cases were filed by an agent of the liquor control board. The possession case was filed by the sheriff's department.

The nine persons agains whom the cases were filed all pleaded not guilty to the charges, and bond in each case was set at $500.

Charged with possession and on three counts of sale was Guadalupe Martinez. Two cases of illegal sale each were filed against Earnest James, Luther Tucker, Ruby Taylor and James Taylor, Jr.

One case each of illegal sale was filed against Gussie Barnes, Roger Lee Huntsman, Eddie Reed, and Leon Pena Mireles of Hermleigh.

Johnson Awaits Decisive Checkup

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson awaited a new medical checkup today before deciding whether to fly to London for Sir Winston Churchill's funeral.

Johnson, smiling and winking, walked out of the Naval Medical Center in suburban Bethesda, Md., Tuesday after a 3½-day stay with a heavy cold and sore throat.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Johnson also had been hospitalized since last Saturday with a cold.

Press secretary George E. Reedy said the President was "in very good shape" but that a final decision on whether he would fly to England was being postponed.

Dr. W. J. Gould, New York throat specialist, was flying to Washington today to join Johnson's personal physician, Rear Adm. George G. Burkley, in giving the chief executive a thorough post-hospital examination. Gould had flown to the President's bedside early Saturday morning but returned to New York Tuesday.

The delay in a decision was creating problems on both sides of the Atlantic. The British lacked definite word on whether they would have to provide for a distinguished U.S. guest at the funeral on Saturday and American officials were unable to nail down solid arrangements for the presidential trip — an undertaking that involves hundreds of individuals in and out of the White House.

Johnson wore a hat and heavy winter overcoat when he emerged from the hospital. Asked how he felt, he smiled and winked.

Some reporters thought his face had thinned a bit during his stay at Bethesda.

Reedy said the President still had a very slight cough but that his lungs were quite clear and his temperature normal.

Johnson did not plunge into a regular working routine once back at the White House. He stayed in the family living quarters and made no official appointments.

Doctors still were giving him antibiotics, cough medicine and a decongestant. They said this was not to be taken as a sign that the President's recovery was less than satisfactory. Rather, they reported, they had embarked on a fixed course of treatment the morning he entered the hospital and intended to complete the round of medication regardless of how quickly Johnson fought off his ailment.

Reedy, in response to a question, said Johnson had left the hospital with the full consent of his doctors. Originally, they had said they wanted him to remain there about five days.

Needs His Own Private Patrolman

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — State patrolman Bobby Miller answered a 6:45 p.m. call Tuesday and found a small sports car overturned beside a rural road.

The driver, Don Henry Brown, 21, of the Whitehouse community, told Miller another car had pulled into his path from one side, he swerved to miss it and his vehicle upset. Miller drove him home.

At 7:50 p.m. the officer received another call. This time he found a compact automobile upside down in another rural road. Beside it stood Brown, who said the car was his sister's and it flipped as he avoided a car halted in the middle of the roadway.

Miller took Brown, unhurt in either accident, home a second time.

B&PW State Meet Report Heard

Mrs. Travis Rhoades, Director for District Seven, Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women Club, attended the State Board meeting in Fort Worth last week end.

Festivities began at 9:00 a.m. Saturday with registration and coffee in the Longhorn Room at the Texas Hotel. Fifty - one members registered.

At 12:30 a luncheon was held honoring the State President, Modell Scrugg of Houston. At 3:00 p.m. reports from the fifteen districts throughout the states were given with Carol Haberman, of Houston as chairman. The presidents and membership were commended, by Mrs. Rhoades, for outstanding work done within District Seven. The District is composed of 27 counties with a membership of 527.

At 5:00 p.m. the Board was privileged to hear Attorney Hermine Tobolowsky of Dallas give a resume on "Where We are and What We Hope to Accomplish in Legislation." This included the Bill on Legal Equal Rights, The Homestead Amendment and Teachers Pay raise. On equal rights Mrs. Tobolowsky stated, "The United States as a signatory of the United Nations Charter, has confirmed its faith in equal rights of men and women. Never - the - less, we with-hold from the women of the United States a constitutional guarantee of equal treatment under the law and thus lag behind such countries as Burma, Egypt, Greece, Pakistan, and West Germany. She was assisted in the presentation by Juanita Camfield, of San Angelo, State Legislative Steering Committee Chairman.

A letter of appreciation was sent to President Johnson commending him for appointing women to key government positions. Each Board Member signed the letter. President Johnson has elevated more women to important positions the short time he has been president than any other Chief Executive during his tenure of office. A letter was also forwarded to Governor Connally asking him to do likewise.

At the general session held at 8 p.m. plans were made for the state Convention tc be held in Houston June 9-11, the National Convention to be held in Washington D. C. July 26-31, and the International Congress to be held following the National Convention, in Washington D. C. President Johnson will speak to the International Congress, and the Texas delegation will visit the White House at an invitation of the President and Mrs. Johnson.

GOOD ENOUGH FOR COMPANY—Green peas cooked with celery and embellished with toasted slivered almonds and seasoned sour cream.

Sour Cream Has Many Uses

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

ONE FOOD, perhaps more than an other in recent years, has captured the fancy of cooks. Sour cream: Once sold chiefly in large cities and certain regional markets, nowadays it's here, there and everywhere.

Sour cream is particularly popular for use in appetizers, main dishes, salad dressings and desserts. Let's call the roll.

For appetizers, sour cream is delicious combined with various varieties of cheese to use as spreads and dips.

When it comes to main dishes, two stand out: Beef Stroganoff and Chicken Paprika. For the first, thin strips of tender beef are skillet - cooked with onion and mushrooms; sour cream makes the sauce. For the second, cut up chicken, onion and paprika are often braised and sour cream finishes off the sauce.

Most popular of sour cream salad dressings is that made with blue cheese. For this the sour cream is often mixed with mayonnaise; then part of the cheese is beaten into the combination, and the rest is added in small distinguishable pieces.

Desserts? Sour cream may be used as a topping for cakes and puddings. But probably its greatest dessert - time use is with fruit. One combination that has become a favorite of sophisticated cooks is made with seedless green grapes, brown sugar and sour cream — mixed together or layered and thoroughly chilled.

How about vegetables? Here's where cooks can really improvise. If you want to start off with an exact recipe, we suggest the one that follows. It's an interesting combination of green peas and celery that are given a sprinkling of almonds and a topping of seasoned sour cream. Definitely a company dish! When we came on this recipe and tried it out on our family, they were for it.

Company Green Peas

¼ cup water
1 package 10 ounces) frozen green peas
2 cups very thinly sliced celery, cut diagonally crosswise
½ cup commercial sour cream
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon crushed dried rosemary
Dash of garlic salt
½ cup slivered toasted blanched almonds

In a saucepan, bring the water to a boil; add the peas and celery. Cover and boil gently just until peas are tender and celery tender - crisp — about 5 minutes. If necessary, drain off liquid. In a small bowl, stir together the sour cream, salt, rosemary and garlic salt. Turn the hot drained peas and celery into a serving bowl and sprinkle with the almonds; top with sour cream, or pass it separately. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

Note: Nse above method for peas that are frozen so they are "pourable". If peas are in a solid block, allow them to defrost enough to separate.

Cleaner Dishes

If you own an automatic dishwasher, turn the dial on your water heater up to "hot" before putting a load of dishes through the machine. This will help make your dishes "hospital clean." Afterwards, though, remember to turn the dial back to "normal" to keep your fuel bill low and avoid unnecessary wear on your heater.

Galahad Put On The Brink

THE BRINKMANSHIP OF GALAHAD THREEPWOOD. By P. G. Wodehouse.

The Wodehouse novels (of which this is the 69th) are characterized by a high Q. N. quotient — Quaint Nonsense, that is.

They also are populated by people who talk and act like the stage Englishman of 40 or 50 years ago.

But undoubtedly they have their perennial appeal, just as Gilbert and Sullivan operettas still are running in this era of tone rows.

This story is in the Blandings Castle genre, a scene presided over by Lord Emsworth, pig fancier de luxe, whose mental equipment is about the equivalent, electrically speaking, of a 7½ - watt bulb.

It is his brother Galahad who provides the catalytic changes of plot, if you can call it a plot. Galahad is the one whose friends tell him his glib patter qualifies him for the job of con man, a remark which Galahad takes as a mild compliment.

He has set himself the task of patching up a romance between his impecunious friend Sam Bagshott and Sandy Callender, the American girl who is Lord Emsworth's secretary. Sam and Sandy had fallen out over Sam's participation in a lottery over which member of the club would be the next to be wed.

That brings in the romance between the wealthy Tipton Plimsoll and Veronica, the beautiful but stupid niece of Lord Emsworth.

There are the usual bits about an intercepted letter, the machinations of Beach the butler, the misunderstandings and misapprehensions which Galahad has to iron out in his unimitable way.

As with most of Wodehouse's fancies, this one is quite utterly, utterly.

Hermleigh Spanish Club Meeting Held

The Hermleigh Spanish Club, La Luz, met Friday.

The program consisted of the pledge of allegiance to the flag, led by Carolyn Chitsey, The Lord's Prayer, led by Junior Costillo, and songs led by David Creswell, Paul Kimzey, Cheryl Foster and Diane Hess. Curtis Brown gave a report on last year's convention at Austin.

The club voted to have a bake sale at the drug store in Hermleigh to raise funds for this years convention. Ten students will attend this years meeting.

Officers present were Kathryn Helm, president; Paul Kimzey, vice president; Cheryl Corley, secretary; Carolyn Chitsey, treasurer; and Nancy Campbell, program chairman.

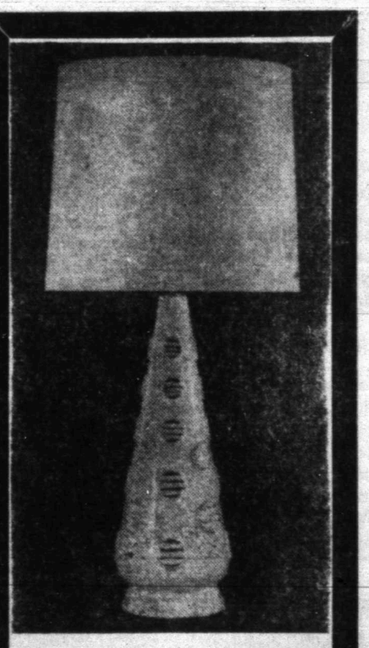

Resolution

Here's a good resolution for 1965: "Be an administrator, instead of a drone in your kitchen." Margaret Spader, home service consultant, says this means you'll have to plan your meals at least a week in advance, thus eliminating "hurry-up" shopping trips and preparations. Be sure to read recipes and directions carefully. Assemble food ingredients, sauces, spices and cooking utensils in an orderly manner before you start mixing or cooking, and make full use of the autommatic controls on your gas range.

Johnson Must Soon Face Big Test In Foreign Field

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — By a freak of history a president of the United States for more than a year has been able to concentrate almost entirely on home problems because foreign ones weren't boiling.

Thanks to this, President Johnson, little disturbed from outside, was able to establish his administration, and after the presidential election, to prepare the budget and programs now going to Congress in a steady flow.

But time is running out for him in the foreign field.

The comparative tranquility he enjoyed can't last and, although he has proved himself a master politician at home, he still has to prove himself in the foreign field where he is least experienced.

He has left foreign problems so much in the background all this time by saying so little about them that they seemed minor. Just recently he skipped over them lightly in his inaugural and State of the Union speeches.

Yet, they haven't been minor even when they seemed dormant and Viet Nam, certainly, has been a steady problem, getting worse, and is now reaching a crisis. Today's Saigon Coup raises new problems.

How did it happen, then, that under Johnson domestic affairs dominated American thinking almost completely?

Johnson, if only through his natural way of doing things, has directed public interest along the path he wanted by the twin policies of negation and affirmation.

(It's the way he tries to get things done at home: by playing up needs and playing down conflicts.)

Throughout his administration he has wished to focus attention on a grand scheme of American development — he calls it the Great Society — and has spent his time urging unity for prosperity and against poverty.

That's the affirmative method.

It's constructive, creative, and can expect popular support, which he always seeks, for hardly anyone can oppose a greater prosperity in which everyone is intended to share.

Foreign problems, except for direct or immediate threat to the United States, always seem a little remote. Johnson has made them seem more remote, and perhaps less important, by saying little about them.

That's the method of negation. And the best example of it in operation is Viet Nam where the American-backed war against communism has been disintegrating.

Johnson hasn't said much publicly about Viet Nam. The problem there would be far higher in the American consciousness now if he had emphasized the crisis by pronouncements or warnings or by stating American policy there unmistakable terms.

As it is, even with disaster just around the corner unless there is a sudden turn in policy or events, that vital little country in Southeast Asia seems more a mish-mash than a crisis.

It is getting so out of hand, and this country has such a stake in it, that Johnson cannot delay much longer in getting involved in it up to his neck. Whether he does it publicly or quietly is up to him.

How he does it should reveal much of the way he will handle foreign policy for the rest of his presidency, or the way he'd like to handle it. He can get tough, quietly or publicly, or he can be wishy-washy.

This will be his first big test in foreign affairs.

Junior Editors Quiz on BLUSHING

QUESTION: What makes people blush?

• • •

ANSWER: Our bodies have wonderful built-in mechanisms which help us to meet sudden emergencies, often without our knowing that they are acting. In a sudden dangerous situation, for example, a material called epinephrine is suddenly pumped into our blood stream. This gives us extra strength either to meet the emergency or run rapidly away from it. Janis, in our picture, is not in a dangerous situation, yet she does feel embarrassed. She had started to answer the teacher's question boldly, but as she went on, found that she just didn't have the facts. Our blood circulates in the skin through minute tubes called capillaries, and there are little nerves which can pull these wider apart to let more blood through or pull them together, giving less blood. This is a case where Janis needs all the stimulation the blood can give her. The little capillaries widen and the blood pours through her cheeks, causing them to look red. She's blushing. But in spite of this gallant effort by her bloodstream, poor Janis just hasn't got the answer. She's going to have to sit down and let Harry on her left take up where she left off. 1/27

Some Banks Just Can't Be Human!

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — The bank and I play a little game. They try to catch me in a mistake and I try to catch them in one.

So far the bank has won every time.

It doesn't seem quite fair, though. There are so many of them and only one of me. They have all those adding machines and computers. I have only 10 fingers and — in an emergency — an equal number of toes.

The contest can't stay this one-sided forever. Any month now they'll forget to subtract 10 cents for a check, or ignore the service charge, or even make 6 from 13 come out 8 like I do.

I'm not exactly the one that aptitude tests would pick to balance a checkbook. But my husband's talent along those lines is even less awe-inspiring than mine. So I became the family accountant.

In the beginning I had a fighting chance. We have the type of account whereby you pay 10 cents for each check used. At the time I embarked on my banking career the customer purchased a book of 20 checks in advance for $2. They were mine, outright. All I had to do was concentrate on subtracting the amount of the check from the previous balance, adding the sum of a deposit now and then.

The bank decided it was making things too easy for me and tried to liven up the game. They started giving out the checks free. The 10 cents was charged after the check cleared. I had to dig out the old family abacus to come to terms with that system but I finally mastered it.

Whereupon the gleeful bankers devised a new scheme. The statement showed that the face value of cleared checks had been subtracted. But for some reason the dime charges weren't taken off until the next month. That did it! From then on their figures and mine disagreed violently — always in multiples of 10.

Apparently they had a few other outraged patrons who didn't have master's degrees in higher mathematics. Just as I was about to hide my money under the mattress a new ukase came through. The 10-cent charge henceforth would come off along with the check. I was back in the game.

Mediations Set In Dockworkers' Strike

GALVESTON (AP) — Federal mediator David Stowe arranged to meet with longshoremen today as negotiations to end a Maine-to-Texas dock strike continued.

Stowe planned to discuss seniority and hiring procedures with a subcommittee of the International Longshoremen's Association.

He said he hoped to meet later with both shippers' and longshoremen's representatives.

Any treasure recovered from sunken ships in Florida waters is divided between the discoverer and the state, with the state receiving 25 per cent. The treasure hunter leases water areas from the state on an exclusive hunting privilege basis.

Lamesa Tips Bengals For 2nd Place Tie

There was a chill in Tiger Gym last night, and nothing the Tigers and the largest crowd of the season could do was enough to warm things up so far as the locals were concerned.

When the buzzer put an end to it, Lamesa had won itself a District 3-AAA basketball game, 65-57, and moved into a tie for second place with the Tigers.

The Tornadoes sounded the alarm early in the game, leaping out to an 8-5 lead in the opening moments, but the Tigers immediately battled back and moved ahead, 15-10. However, by the end of the first period, the Tornadoes had knotted the score at 17-17.

From there on the Lamesa quintet held the upper hand, although the Bengals made another strong bid early in the fourth stanza. Lamesa led by 51-41 at the end of three quarters of play. Snyder opened the fourth by scoring 7 points in a row to move up to 48-51, but things got out of hand again in a hurry.

The Tigers were out - shot and out-rebounded as Pat Wiggins hit for 19 points and Valton Franklin and Steve Robertson connected for 17 each.

Leslie Brown got 21 points for the Tigers, but the locals had only one other man in double figures — Leslie Anderson with 12, and 8 of his production came on free throws.

The Tigers hit only 10 of 30 shots from the field in the first half, for 33 per cent, and were able to connect 9 times in 23 attempts for 38 per cent in the second half. The Tornadoes were accurate on 14 of 24 shots for 56 per cent in the first half, and 10 of 23 for 44 per cent in the second half.

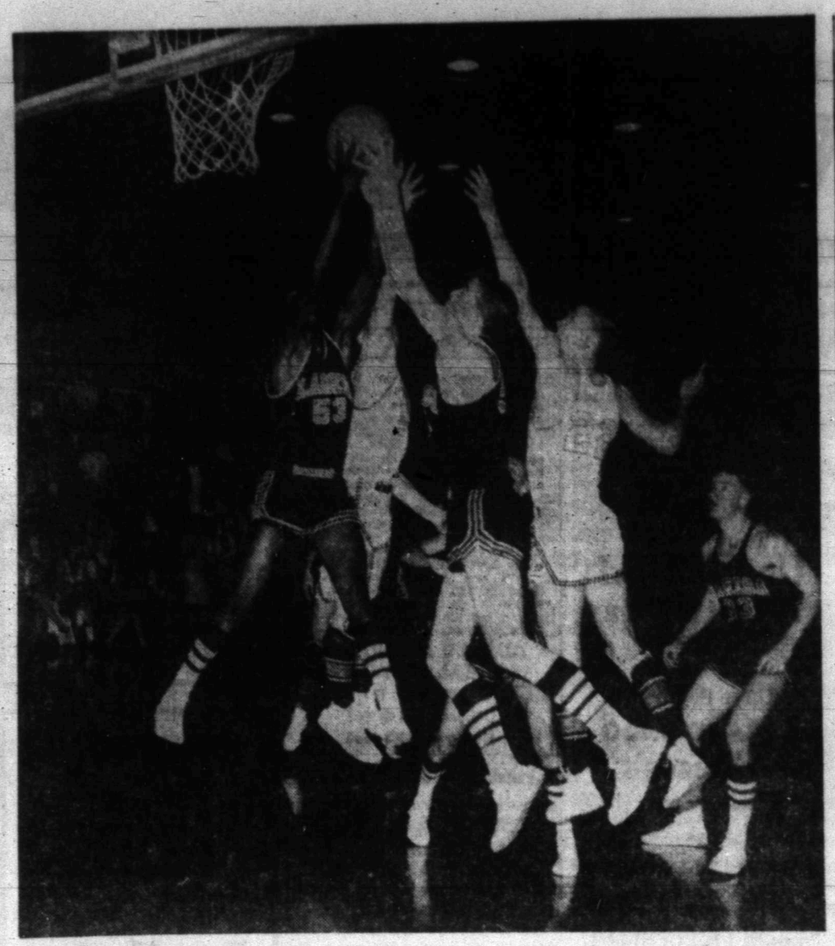

Lamesa's height advantage paid off on the boards as the Tornadoes pulled down 34 rebounds, compared to 29 for the Tigers. Brown was Snyder's leading rebounder with 8.

As a result of last night's action, the Tigers and Tornadoes are both two games back of the leading Levelland Lobos in the District 3-AAA race. Levelland walloped Brownfield, 73-50, last night. In the other district game Sweetwater defeated Lake View, 72-52.

Lamesa's B team made it an all-victorious occasion for the visitors last night by defeating the Snyder B team, 41-33, in the preliminary game. Only two men scored in double figures, with Lamesa B's Jimmy Williams accounting for 17 points, and Snyder B's Rob Golden hitting for 10. Snyder B led by 22-20 at half-time, but scored only four points in the third period when Lamesa B moved out front by 34-26.

Tech Takes Lead In League Race

By The Associated Press

Texas Tech sits atop the Southwest Conference basketball standings today after a big victory over Southern Methodist.

The Red Raiders roared like a West Texas sand storm in a 107-89 triumph over SMU Tuesday night in Lubbock as a partisan crowd screamed deliriously.

A total of 9,625 persons jammed the Tech coliseum and 1,200 more watched the game via closed circuit television in an adjoining auditorium.

The triumph left Tech with a 3-0 conference won-lost record and dropped SMU into second place at 2-1.

Baylor, Arkansas and Texas A&M are bunched in a tie for third with 2-2 marks, while Texas Christian, Texas and Rice bring up the rear. All were idle Tuesday night.

Tech never trailed, leading 59-47 at halftime and building up a 28-point margin once in the second period.

The 107 points was just three short of the conference record of 110 amassed by Arkansas against TCU in 1955.

Credit for the Tech victory goes to a blistering shooting attack. The Raiders hit 71 per cent of their shots from the floor and wound up with 61 per cent for the game. SMU shot 40 per cent over all.

Big boy for the Raiders was Dub Malaise who poured in 30 points, one more than teammate Norman Reuther's 29. The Mustangs' Jim Smith had 15.

Arkansas is the next conference team in action. The Razorbacks play Mississippi State in Jackson, Miss., Thursday night, then fly to Atlanta, Ga., for a Friday night meeting with Georgia Tech.

In the next round of conference games, Tech meets TCU at Fort Worth Saturday afternoon, the Mustangs face Texas in Dallas that night.

Three non-conference games are on tap in Houston this weekend. The University of Houston hosts Baylor Thursday and then Texas A&M Saturday. Rice entertains Trinity Saturday.

Marichal May Be Franks' Problem

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

To be frank, Herman Franks, new manager of San Francisco's baseball Giants, hasn't much to worry about yet.

Then....maybe, there is some cause for concern.

The distress signal eminates from Santo Domingo where Juan Marichal, the Giants' ace pitcher, has developed groin trouble and a troublesome boil under his right arm.

What's more he was ineffective professionally Tuesday while working in the Dominican championships. The big right-hander was tagged for seven runs and eight hits in less than five innings.

Marichal's team, the Escogidos, lost 8-6 to Aguilas Cibaenas. Willie Smith, Los Angeles Angels' outfielder, homered for the winners while Morrie Stephens, a lefty owned by Philadelphia, was credited with the victory.

Marichal won 21 games for San Francisco last season despite a back ailment that sidelined him for a month in late summer.

He has yet to sign his 1965 contract. However, two batterymates, catchers Tom Haller and Del Crandall, came to terms Tuesday. Haller hit .258 with 16 homers last year, while the 35-year-old Crandall batted .231 in 69 games.

The rival Los Angeles Dodgers also received three signed contracts. They were from shortstop Maury Wills, pitcher Joe Moeller and catcher Hector Valle.

Among others who signed were second-baseman Don Buford and pitcher Tom John of the Chicago White Sox, pitcher Al Worthington of the Minnesota Twins, pitchers Pete Lovrich and Ron Tompkins and second-baseman Tony Larussa of Kansas City, and pitchers Bob Lee and Don Lee of the Angels.

Fluvanna's Buffs Sail By Loraine

LORAINE — The Fluvanna Buffaloes maintained their pace at the top of District 86-B here Tuesday night by downing Loraine 44-33.

A girls game which had been scheduled for Tuesday night was postponed due to the illness of several members of the Fluvanna girls team.

The Buffaloes weathered out a cold first half and then came from behind to win. Loraine led by 20-19 at half-time.

Bobby Hall paced the Buff attack with 18 points, while Richard Contreras also was in double figures with 11.

FLUVANNA — Richard Contreras 5-1-11; Bobby Hall 9-0-18; Joe Beaver 3-0-6; Henry Contreras 0-1-1; Denny Belew 3-2-8; Totals 20-4-44.

LORAINE — Hamilton 3-2-8; Preston 1-2-4; Galvan 1-1-3; Phillips 3-3-9; Britten 4-0-8; Brahme 0-1-1; Totals 12-9-33.

Lincoln High Girls Assured Tie For Title

SLATON — Lincoln High School's girls basketballers assured themselves at least a tie for the district title by downing Slaton girls, 54-11, last night, but the Lincoln boys team saw its title hopes fade as Slaton boys copped a 46-43 decision. Slaton boys also won the B game, 32-29.

Lincoln's front court trio of girls played only the first half, but Pearlie Scott scored 19, Mary Goosby 14 and Emma Garrett 10. Evelyn Braziel scored 3, Yvonne Sanders, Vera Newsom, Johnnie Goosby and Roann Cobb 2 each. Evelyn Braziel got 11 rebounds. Doris Hall paced Slaton girls with 6 points.

Although they lost, Lincoln's boys A team has second place clinched in the district race. The Trojans fell behind by 28-14 in the first half and never could overtake Slaton. Vernon Clay scored 20 points before fouling out early in the fourth. M. C. Powell got 8 points, Paul Barnes 7, Billy McClain 4, Brady Cobb 3 and Vernon James 1. Paul Barnes pulled in 9 rebounds.

Richard Washington was top scorer for Slaton with 16 points.

In the B game Billy McClain scored 12 points, Sylvester McKnight 6, Calvin Barnes 4, Leon Riggins, Herman Malone and Don Williams 2 each and Hayward Clay 1. Billy McClain got 10 rebounds. Paul Hall topped Slaton B scorers with 15 points.

The Trojans meet league - leading Floydada in Snyder on Friday night.

Mathews Is Now Called Untradeable

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A couple of months ago Milwaukee third-baseman Eddie Mathews and many baseball observers felt he was on the trading block. Now the Braves list him as one of their "untradeables."

"We have no intention of trading him," Manager Bobby Bragan said Tuesday. "He's far too valuable."

Mathews, a 33-year-old slugger who ranks ninth in baseball's all-time home-run derby with 445 distant clouts, batted only .233 last season. His 23 homers equaled his personal low and he drove in 74 runs.

"Ed appears to be in excellent shape," Bragan said after seeing Mathews at a baseball writers' dinner Sunday. "I look for him to stage a great comeback. I'll say this — he's the best .233 hitter I ever saw."

Mathews' troubles actually began in 1962 when he popped a right shoulder muscle while fouling off a pitch. He was bothered by the shoulder and an assortment of other ailments for periods last season and was platooned on occasions. He finally regained his regular job in August.

"Eddie played the best third base of anybody in the National League in the last two months of the 1964 season," Bragan said. "He made great plays both to his left and right. And his arm was real accurate. It had that old zing. He played his best third base since I've been here.

"There's no trace of that old shoulder injury he suffered in 1962 and must have handicapped him the following season and a good share of 1964. The shoulder is as good as new now and he's our third basemen, period."

Full House Looms For Monday Fight

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The first big fight in town since Cassius Clay and Doug Jones sold out Madison Square Garden in 1963 has the Broadway crowd talking about Floyd Patterson and George Chuvalo.

Chances are the former heavyweight champion and the 27-year-old Canadian will pack the Garden Monday night but this is very hush, hush. Garden brass is afraid any talk of a sellout will scare away a few dollars. There will be closed-circuit television, but none in New York.

Patterson, a man with enough money to last him a lifetime, burns with an ambition to shut Cassius Clay's mouth and beat Sonny Liston. Although both jobs are formidable, Floyd at 30 persists in thinking he can accomplish both missions and then retire to an upstate farm. He regards Chuvalo as another step up the ladder, the toughest on this comeback.

Jimmy August, a veteran trainer of fighters, thinks Floyd has too much for Chuvalo. As August worked the corner opposite the Canadian in both a winning and losing cause, he may be considered somewhat of an authority on Chuvalo lore.

"I worked with Pat McMurtry when he beat Chuvalo," said August. "McMurtry jabbed and jabbed and won every round until the end. Then Chuvalo hurt him with a left hook. But he was so far ahead, he couldn't lose."

It will be interesting to see whether Patterson confines himself to jabbing and boxing. Sonny Liston knocked him out in one round in their first fight.

Ira, Hobbs Split Pair

IRA — The Ira girls decisioned Hobbs girls, 60-31, while the Hobbs boys took a 51-46 victory over the Ira boys, in District 86-B basketball action here Tuesday night.

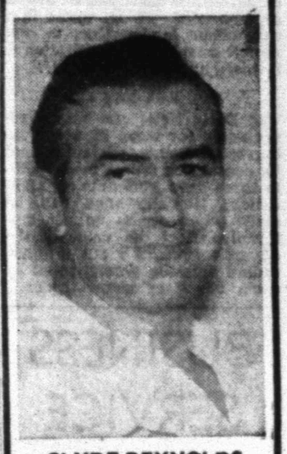

Pat Jones and Janice Bishop led Ira girls to victory, scoring 22 points each. Jan Williams had 10 points, Pam Sallee 4 and Linda Wiggins 2.

For Hobbs girls, Jenny Medrano scored 14 points, Karen Martin 7, Nelva Pearce 6 and Shirley Sellers and Berta Martinez 2 each.

Donald Hull scored 22 points to pace the Hobbs boys in scoring. Tommy Lay had 12 points, George Martinez 10 and Randy Williams 7 for the Panthers.

For Ira boys, Jack Payne scored 10 points, Melvin Crawford 9, Larry Holladay and Larry Wiggins 8 each, Bill Alexander 6 and Johnny Lindsey 2.

Elgin, West Hit 83 For Los Angeles

By The Associated Press

The New York Knickerbockers have parted company with Jerry West and Elgin Baylor for three weeks. If the Knicks had their way the separation would be permanent.

West and Baylor combined for 83 Los Angeles points Tuesday night as the Lakers whipped the Knicks 111-99 in the nightcap of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at New York. It was the Knicks' third straight loss — all to the Western Division leaders.

Texans Edge Lamesa 9th

Lamar's 9th Grade basketballers suddenly turned red hot in the third period to come from behind Tuesday afternoon and defeat the Lamesa 9th grade team, 61-56, in the Lamar Gym.

The Texans experienced a miserable first half, falling behind by 13-16 at the end of the first period and dropping further back to 23-33 at the half-time intermission. However, in the third period, the Lamar quintet scored 21 points while limiting Lamesa to 9. That gave the Texans a 44-42 advantage going into the final stanza and they were never behind again.

Tommy Bullard and Frank Grimmett scored 22 points each to lead the Lamar attack. Dwaine Boydstun had 9, O. L. Cooper 6 and Drake Snyder 2. Fees and Burton had 14 points each to pace Lamesa 9th.

The game was originally scheduled for Monday night but was switched to Tuesday afternoon because of Monday's sandstorm.

Giants Snare Koy From Oiler-Land

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas halfback Ernie Koy Jr., star of the recent Orange Bowl game, has been signed by the New York Giants of the National Football League right under the noses of the rival American Football League Houston Oilers.

No one is more pleased about the transaction than Frank (Pop) Ivy, former Oiler head coach and now Southwest scout for the Giants.

"Pop handled it," said Wellington T. Mara, Giant vice president, Tuesday. "I came down to be blamed if we lost Ernie."

Terms of the one-year contract were not announced, but guesses went as high as $35,000.

Koy said the terms of the offers by the two teams were similar.

"If he got a one-year contract from them, then I don't think the offers were similar," said an Oiler spokesman, implying the Houston proposal was for several years.

Ivy was assigned four players in the Southwest and signed or received committments from every one — Koy, North Texas State back Carl Lockhart, Oklahoma tackle Glen Condgren and Texas linebacker Olen Underwood.

Koy was asked why he chose a club which drafted him in 11th preference to one that took him in the third round.

"I can answer that," interrupted Ivy.

"Nobody in the NFL drafted him high because of Houston's reputation for spending money for players. A lot of teams are reluctant to take on the chore of competing with the Oilers for a Texas boy."

"Maybe Houston's reputation is beginning to slip," he said.

"The NFL is established and the Giants have been playing a long time," said Koy, explaining his decision. "Dad played baseball in New York and I've always had an inkling to get back there."

Spartans Give Michigan A Reason To Fear Purdue

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Michigan Fears Purdue might be an apt headline in college basketball today.

The second-ranked Wolverines meet the unranked Boilermakers on Saturday. And off their close call against Michigan State Tuesday night, the Wolverines may be pardoned if they are apprehensive over their invasion of similarly unranked Purdue.

Michigan had to come from 10 points down to beat Michigan State 103-98 in overtime at East Lansing. It took a 40-point performance by Cazzie Russell to keep the Wolverines unbeaten in Big Ten play at 4-0 and 12-2 over-all.

The fourth-rankd Providence Friars, the only other team in the Associated Press top ten to see action, crushed Rhode Island 73-56 for their 13th straight victory and maintained their position as the nation's only unbeaten major team.

Texas Tech defeated Southern Methodist 107-89 in their battle for first place in the Southwest Conference. In other games, West Virginia edged Pitt 76-75, Boston Univ. nipped Dartmouth 67-65, St. Bonaventure whipped Fairfield 88-68, LaSalle humbled Lafayette 91-73 and Furman took South Carolina 81-66.

Michigan State, paced by Bill Curtis' 36 points, led Michigan 43-33 at halftime, fell 12 points behind at 70-58 then rallied to tie the regulation game at 88-88 on John Schick's basket with 1 seconds left.

The Spartans twice tied the score in the extra period, but never caught up after George Pomey's jump shot put the Ann Arbor lads ahead for good.

Providence fell behind 9-2 at the start, but soon stormed into the lead over Rhode Island and wasn't threatened thereafter. Jim Walker's floor play Sparked the Friars to their home-court victory. He handed out 13 assists to back up Dexter Westbrook's top scoring with 20 points and Mike Riordan's guarding of Rhode Island's star, Dennis McGovern, who scored 12 points.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — We have been getting letters from some pretty irate psychiatrists who accuse us of running down an honored profession and some of them added several other remarks we better not repeat.

So we talked things over with an old colleague, Dr. Speedy Gonzalez. He is a part-time banana split mechanic in a soda fountain here and at nights he solves personal problems for psychiatrists who come to him seeking advice.

Dr. Speedy suggested we take a different approach to the subject and build a heroic image of the couch specialist for the public. Don't make them appear wealthy and confused about which Cadillac to drive to work. So in the spirit of advancement of science, let us turn to a handsome young fellow named Dr. Phearless.

Of course he is a psychiatrist but the type the public wants and certainly needs.

He has a classic profile, wavy hair, smokes a pipe and drives a 1932 Hudson equipped with an inexpensive second-hand short-wave radio. (This is so you can see he doesn't even charge fees half the time and when he does charge, it is something like 75 cents or whatever he needs for a few beans and tortillas.)

So he is driving along when suddenly the radio blares, "Calling Dr. Phearless, calling Dr. Phearless — come in please."

And he picks up the microphone and says in soothing tones, "This is Dr. Phearless, Ophelia. How can I serve the public?"

Then Ophelia (his nurse) comes back with, "There's a lady on the ledge of an eight story building at the corner of Reforma and Insurgentes Avenues. About to jump, please rush."

The doctor turns on an old siren that doesn't work, which makes no difference the way he drives, and in a few seconds he sees this nice looking girl standing right on the top ledge of the building.

He stops his car, picks up his little medical bag in one hand and holds his stethoscope in the other and looks up and calls, "Hello there. What are you doing?"

The lady on the ledge glares at him and shouts, "I'm gonna jump and kill myself, you hear!!?"

Dr. Phearless winces slightly and replies, "Not too well after that screech but my hearing should be normal again in a moment."

Then he lights his pipe and puffs throughtfully and calls up, "Tell me dear, why do you want to kill yourself?"

The lady says, "Because. Anyhow, what do you care?"

So, Dr. Phearless looks pleasantly at her through a smoke ring and says, "Oh, I was just thinking what a shame nobody will see your beautiful hair in the moonlight any more." At which the lady fluffs her hair a bit and looks at her nails. And Dr. Phearless puts on some more charm and says; "Also you might ruin that expensive looking dress which does so much for your figure."

So the lady smooths her skirt and says, "I guess I could jump some other day. Are you perchance married?"

The doctor smiles and says, "No, I'm afraid I'm a bachelor." (At the same time sizing up her as probably a 50 cent client, but he could get by on a light snack.)

Immediately the lady calls, "I have problems, doctor. Wait right there and we can have a little talk." But as she turns to climb in the window she slips and falls eight floors.

The doctor rushes over looking for a piece big enough to check her pulse since he finds only the heel of one shoe, he gets in his car and says, "Well, there goes lunch."

Anyhow, it probably worked out for the best because the Hudson is out of gas and he couldn't have even invited the lady for a ride, which would have put him in a terrible spot after saving her life.

Rusk County Voters Defeat Bond Issue

HENDERSON (AP) — Rusk County residents voted down $665,000 in public improvement bonds Tuesday.

The defeated proposals were intended to finance purchase of right-of-way for building and improving roads and bridges, renovating the 36-year-old county courthouse and adding mental and juvenile wards to the county jail.

Each issue was rejected by margins of about 4 to 3. Around 4,000 cast ballots.

Throngs File By Churchill's Coffin

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Headed by Prime Minister Harold Wilson, a host of mourners began filing today past the flag-draped coffin of Sir Winston Churchill.

The body of Britain's 90-year-old man of the century lay in state amid the cold, hushed grandeur of ancient Westminster Hall, the first commoner to lie in state there in this century.

Wilson, his wife and members of Parliament were the first of many thousands who during the next three days will pass through the hall in tribute to one of England's greatest sons.

Outside the hall a steadily growing throng waited to pay their tribute.

Churchill's body lay in a closed coffin on a high black-draped catafalque a few steps from the House of Commons which was his historic stage. The coffin will lie there until the state funeral in St. Paul's Cathedral Saturday.

Against the backdrop of great Gothic windows, the catafalque held the eye like a magnet.

Towering over the closed coffin was a golden cross, sparkling in the light of six candles in as many giant candlesticks, one at each corner of the catafalque, one at the head, the six at the foot.

Their heads bowed, four motionless officers of Churchill's beloved Royal Navy and marines stood at the four corners of the catafalque.

Four London police constables — two men and two women — also stood silently near the catafalque, between it and the people as they shuffled past.

Overlooking the scene, high against the west wall, was a lone naval officer.

Every 20 minutes the guard of honor changed. Army officers and officers of the Royal Air Force replaced the officers from the navy and marines.

A gigantic Union Jack covered the closed coffin. Atop it was a black silk cushion. Upon the cushion rested Sir Winston's insignia as a Knight of the Garter — the collar, the star and the garter.

Before the catafalque, the prime minister and Mrs. Wilson stopped, turned and bowed.

Then they turned and walked slowly through the hall and out into New Palace Yard.

It was a cold gray morning. A northeast wind whipped in from the nearby River Thames and the distant bleak North Sea, threatening snow.

Among the first to pay tribute was Field Marshal Earl Alexander of Tunis, one of the wartime prime minister's greatest commanders.

After the members of Parliament came members of the royal household and the diplomatic corps.

Behind them a huge crowd edged forward — people from all over Britain, the Commonwealth and foreign lands.

When the great oaken doors swung open to the public, the line stretched for three-quarters of a mile and police said more than 5,000 were waiting.

Although it was a school day, many children of school age were in the crowd.

The public shuffled through the hall in two lines on either side of the catafalque.

Many halted before the bier, turned, bowed, turned again and moved on.

A few women wept silently.

Soybean Deal Made With Reds

By RICHARD F. WHALEN
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Just one year after its controversial wheat sale to the Soviet Union, Continental Grain Co. has swung a soybean deal with the Russians.

The $11-million deal — the first big sale of soybeans to the Soviet Union — sent soybean futures prices to seasonal highs on the Chicago Board of Trade Tuesday.

Grain trade sources in New York expressed mild surprise that the Commerce Department granted an export license for the sale, since soybeans are not a surplus product. Wheat was.

"The question is: 'Will the government grant more licenses if the Russians want more soybeans?'" said one grain company executive.

Some economists anticipate an even bigger demand for the versatile soybean — used in making products from bread and drugs to fertilizers and insect sprays.

At current prices, Continental's sale would represent about 41 million bushels. This season's crop is estimated at about 700 million bushels, with exports estimated to reach 205 million.

Since the soybean price is well above the government subsidy price, the government is not in a position to stipulate the shipping arrangements.

The big wheat deal, concluded with the Soviet Union in October 1963, set off a controversy in the shipping industry, which wanted the wheat to be carried by U.S. flag ships.

Longshoremen at one point refused to load the wheat on foreign ships.

Republicans said the Democratic administration should have obtained some concessions from the Russians in return for the wheat.

The controversy created snags in the negotiations. Then Continental signed the first contract, for $78.5 million, in early January 1964.

Continental said its soybean deal was for 90,000 tons, shipments would begin shortly and payment would be in cash.

Grain trade sources said shipment would probably be made from the Gulf Coast ports.

Solons Unanimously Congratulate LBJ

AUSTIN (AP)—The 149 Democrats and one Republican in the Texas House adopted a resolution Tuesday congratulating President Johnson on his inauguration.

It noted, erroneously, that Johnson was the "first native-born Texan to be elected to the presidency of the American people." Former President Dwight Eisenhower was born at Denison, Tex., but considered himself a Kansan.

The resolution was sent to the Senate for concurrence.

Amorous Bighorns Bring Rancher Woes

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) — The wild and the woolly are going to part company in the Slim Buttes area of northwestern South Dakota.

It's the amorous inclinations of some bighorn sheep that caused the problem.

It started in 1960 when South Dakota's Game, Fish & Parks Department traded 16 wild turkeys for a dozen bighorn sheep from Alberta, Canada.

The sheep were taken to the Slim Buttes, and almost everybody thought that is where they would live happily ever after.

But some rams became infatuated with domestic sheep owned by Harding County ranchers.

The offspring were like the bighorn species in one respect — frisky and agile — but they didn't have a wool coat; it was more like hair.

Recently, one of the rams became so engrossed with a rancher's domestic flock that the rancher was able to herd him — along with his own — into a barn.

The rancher didn't turn him loose. Instead, Chief Game Warden Virgil Johnson and two men had to journey to Harding County and plead for the miscreant's release.

Then they took the Beau Brummel of the bighorns to Custer State Park in the southern Black Hills.

The commission has authorized Park Supt. Les Price to go into the Slim Buttes, round up the rest of the species and also take them to the park.

Arrested For Threats

DALLAS (AP)— Arrest of a Wichita Falls man accused of telephone calls threatening the life of his former wife and her employer was authorized Tuesday by U.S. Dist. Judge Sarah Hughes.

She issued a bench warrant for Robert E. Lewis, 34, an oil field worker, at the request of Assistant U.S. Atty. Tim Timmins.

The government charges that Lewis threatened to kill his ex-wife in a telephone call last May 24 and William Duncan, vice president of an oil and gas company, in another call the next day.

Timmins said Lewis also is accused of threats against both while telephoning a Wichita Falls acquaintance Dec. 1. Lewis had posted $1,500 bond after being arrested July 6 at Lafayette, La.

ORDER OF THE COMMISSIONERS COURT OF SCURRY COUNTY, TEXAS, APPROVING THE TREASURER'S REPORT FOR THE FOURTH CALENDAR QUARTER, OCTOBER 1, 1964, THROUGH DECEMBER 31, 1964

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS MAY COME, BE IT KNOWN THAT:

THE COMMISSIONERS COURT OF SCURRY COUNTY, TEXAS, did duly convene in regular Session at its meeting place in the Courthouse in the City of Snyder at 10:00 o'clock A.M. on Monday, January 11, 1965 and the entire membership of said Court, viz., Sterling Taylor, County Judge, presiding, and W. M. Dabbs, W. P. Herring, Thayne Mebane, and Bill Hairston, Commissioners for Precincts 1, 2, 3, and 4, respectively, being present, the matter of the comparison and examination of the Quarterly Report of AGNES BROWN, Treasurer for Scurry County, for the period October 1 through December 31, 1964, came to the attention of said Court and the said Court compared and examined the same and inspected and counted all the actual cash, certificates of time and demand deposits, and other assets in the hands of the Treasurer belonging to the County at and as the time of such report: NOW, THEREFORE, the Commissioners Court finds that the Treasurer at and as of the time of her said report did not have actually in her hands any money or other assets of Scurry County but the same were all on deposit in the Snyder National Bank of Snyder, Texas, the official County depository, except the following, viz., $121,000.00 of authorized negotiable securities of political subdivisions; and that from the commencement of business at 8:00 o'clock A.M. on October 1, 1964, until close of business at 5:00 P.M., December 31, 1964, the beginning and ending balances for each fund of the Treasurer of Scurry County, Texas, for such quarterly period are fully and accurately reflected by the following tabulation attached hereto, incorporated herein by reference, and made a part hereof for all purposes:

Missile-Gap Talk Prompted Buildup Of 800 ICBMs

By EVERETT S. ALLEN
New Bedford (Mass.)
Standard-Times

WASHINGTON (AP) — At the moment, the United States has more than 800 fully armed ICBMs deployed on launchers, 600 of them Minutemen, almost all in "hardened" — underground, concrete — silos dispersed over a total area of more than 100,000 square miles, from New York State to California.

An accounting of how and why this technological miracle came about is the story of the nonexistent "missile gap."

As World War II neared an end, the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States acquired all of the German technical data and military devices they could. The Russians did particularly well, their army overrunning most of Germany's rocket production and assembly facilities.

The director of Germany's Pennemunde rocket center, Maj. Gen. Walter Dornberger, and Dr. Wernher von Braun, who worked on Germany's V2 missile program, surrendered to U.S. forces rather than be taken by Soviet troops. The Dornberger- Von Braun team of 130 scientists and engineers, together with valuable documents, parts and scientific reports, arrived in the United States in the summer of 1945. But now the war was over and the United States did not feel the need, or the desire, to establish a single high-priority missile program at that time.

However, Allen Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, recalled that "by 1952-53, the missile situation in the Soviet Union became one of our major intelligence targets. Every effort was made to interview returning Germans the Russians had been able to hire because the former were starving."

Dr. Jerome Wiesner, former science adviser to President John F. Kennedy, was "first conscious" of the missile in the summer of 1952. He recalled, "I heard a briefing by an Air Force officer, in which he described something that resembled the Empire State Building and estimated it would take the Soviets until 1965 to develop it, so that we need not be concerned for a long time."

This was a widely held view. There was considerable doubt about being able to miniaturize the nuclear weapon so it could be placed within the nose of a missile-type vehicle. We learned to our sorrow, that the Russians didn't wait to perfect miniaturization. In the 1950s, missile discussion in the United States split into what Dulles called "a dichotomy of skeptics and believers."

Among the latter were Dr. John von Neumann of the Princeton University Institute for Advanced Studies and Travor Gardner, who early in 1953 was appointed special assistant secretary for research and development for the Air Force. Gardner immediately addressed priority efforts to the missile.

It was Gardner who established the Strategic Missiles Evaluation Committee which came to be known as the "Teapot Committee." Von Neumann was chairman, and Dr. Wiesner, one of its 11 members. This group spent a year in studies, listening to military leaders, scientists, and intelligence information, and by the winter of 1953, emerged fully convinced that we could build an ICBM in four to six years, and that the Russians had a several-year lead on us, as well as a program exclusive of that assisted by German workers.

With the Rand Corp. — a nonprofit research and development group established by General H.H. (Hap) Arnold of the Air Force in 1946 —the Teapot Committee believed the nation was in grave danger and called for an aggressive missile effort that President Dwight D. Eisenhower "backed to the hilt," in the words of one member.

Laboratory experiments had convinced the Von Neumann committee that the next U.S. nuclear test series, in the summer of 1953 would produce, and it did, a lot lighter bomb; if so, the payload, instead of being 10,000 to 12,000 pounds, need be only 3,000 to 4,000. This would negate the Air Force argument that a missile would be too heavy and hard to build because it would have to contain a huge nuclear-fission bomb.

Recalled Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, Ret., former Army missile chief:

"By 1956, it was recommended to us that we go for an IRBM — medium-range missile — because we thought they had ICBMs — long-range missiles — and this was the best thing we could do in a hurry."

At this point, in July 1956, the U2, an American aircraft that can take 4,000 pictures of a strip 125 miles wide and 2,174 miles long from a height of 60,000 to 70,000 feet, began to overfly the Soviet Union. The Air Force had developed something better than radar screens in Turkey.

From these flights in the words of Dulles, "We gained, rather quickly, extraordinary results from photographing their major base and the complex around it. After that, we were able to watch its development with reasonable accuracy. Other Air Force detection methods also were also developed, permitting more accurate monitoring on test firings."

The Gaither committee, established by Eisenhower, was trying to decide when the Russians might be likely to have a large number of missiles. One former member commented to me, "The consensus was 1960, for an operational missile force. We thought it would take us two years longer, so we were at a serious disadvantage."

In the summer of 1957, a high-ranking Air Force general commented to Wiesner in the presence of a large group, "You're exaggerating this missile business. There will be no operational missile in my lifetime."

On Aug. 26, 1957, a few days after the general — who is still on active duty — made his prediction, the Soviet news agency Tass announced launching of a long-range ballistic missile.

U.S. intelligence replied, in the words of Dulles, by "sounding the alarm."

The Russians fired three more satellites between Oct. 4, 1957, and May 11, 1958, the last being Sputnik III, weighing 2,926 pounds, contrasted with three of our shots that had payloads of only 31, 28 and 3.25 pounds.

A rocket vehicle capable of launching a heavy satellite is not precisely the same thing as having an ICBM, but military authorities conceded that when the Russians had solved problems of guidance, re-entry and production, they could reach anywhere in the United States with an ICBM launched from the Soviet Union.

It was accepted in the United States that nothing could stop the Russians from achieving an intercontinental missile with a 5,000-mile range.

Dr. von Braun was convinced that if we had kept up a stepped-up Pennemunde operation we could have had an ICBM by 1950. Obviously, if we could have had one that early, the Soviets certainly could have one eight years later. Our national composure was not helped by a NATO intelligence study that stated the Soviets had ICBMs with nuclear warheads "in operational quantities." The report said Red missile forces numbered 200,000 men at approximately 100 bases.

Principally, because of lack of information and because we thought missiles were easier to make than we now know they are, we accepted the grim picture of a massive, hard-driving Russian program far ahead of ours.

Police Crack Theft Ring

MARLIN (AP) — Police say they have broken up a Central Texas burglary ring with the arrest of two men and a woman.

Held here Tuesday night on charges of burglary were Harold Merrifield, 30, and James Tubbs, 26, of Temple and Kathleen Hooker, 40, of Waco.

The woman is accused of driving a getaway car for burglaries at Marlin and Temple.

Merrifield and Tubbs are charged with seven safe burglaries in Temple between Nov. 11 and Jan. 14 and another at Rosebud Jan. 24.

Officers said the trio signed a statement admitting that Tubbs and Merrifield also burglarized four safes in Waco, one at Andrews, one at Brownwood and one at Abilene, and entered a grocery-hardware store at Malakoff on two occasions.

Couple Has Third Set Of Twins

CENTREVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Tullock of Millstadt, Ill., are the parents of twins for the third straight time.

This makes 10 children for the Tullocks. A fourth set of twins died shortly after birth.

"I've got a station wagon," says Tullock, 29, a welder for an ornamental iron company in St. Louis. "Now I'm thinking about a bus."

"Where am I going to put them?" asks Elsie Tullock, 27.

The latest set of twins — a 4-pound, 14-ounce boy and a 5-pound 1-ounce girl—were born 11 minutes apart Monday night in Centreville Township Hospital.

"I felt a great sense of relief after the twins came," says Tullock. "I thought there might have been more."

He said there had been no indication that twins would be born in any of the previous double births — "So after that, we expected anything."

The Tullocks live in a four-room duplex apartment. Before the birth of the latest twins, not yet named, they spent about $65 a week for food.

The other Tullock children are twins, Timothy and Teresa, 18 months; Ronald and Renee, 3; Carolyn, 5; Patricia, 7; Sharon, 8 and Nina Maria, 10.

Tullock, sandy-haired, 6-feet-1, 165 pounds, makes $110 a week to support his family. His wife doesn't work.

Survives Jump Without Full Chute

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Gordon Lowe, 25, a sports parachutist who has made 17 jumps, credits a soggy pasture for keeping him from "getting busted up real good."

He fell 3,600 feet Sunday suspended from a parachute that had opened only one-third. Lowe, landing on his back, made an eight-inch dent in the muddy ground.

"All I remember is the shock of hitting," he said. "It took a few seconds to realize I could move."

Dr. C. B. Anagnostis of La Marque, president of the Galveston Skydivers, ran to Lowe, checked and found no bones broken — only severe bruises. Lowe walked to a friend's car and rode to a hospital. He hoped to be dismissed today and to get back to parachuting in a few weeks.

Scottish Stars Due Here Monday

A galaxy of Scottish stars presents a stunning kaleidoscope of the music and dance of that colorful and romantic country in the production of CALEDONIA to appear here on Monday, Feb. 1 at 8 p.m. under the auspices of Scurry Concert Association. These celebrated Singers and Dancers of Scotland are currently on their third coast-to-coast North American tour, following the temendous success of their debut tour here three seasons ago.

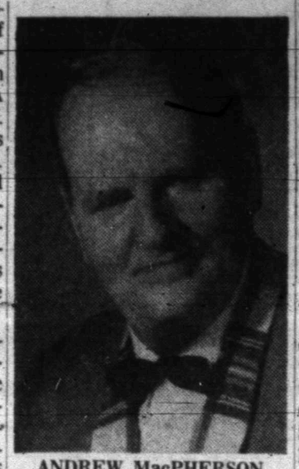

Heading the roster of outstanding artists is Andrew MacPherson, founder and artistic director of CALEDONIA! Handsome and commanding in appearance, he was born in Newmilns, Ayrshire, in the heart of the Robert Burns country, and grew up steeped in the traditional songs and dances of his land. He showed great musical aptitude from a very early age. When barely out of his teens, he was already serving as organist and choirmaster of the local church. His career took a major turn when he received a scholarship to the Royal Scottish Academy of Music, in Glasgow, where he studied singing under the great Handelian bass, Francis J. Harford.

Upon the completion of his studies, MacPherson was invited to London to sing operatic roles. He soon excelled in the Italian repertoire and appeared under such eminent conductors as Sir Thomas Beecham, Herman Scherchen, Sir Eugene Goossens, and the late Issay Dobrowen.

His great love, however, remained with the music of Scotland and its related folk arts. With the creation of CALEDONIA!, the Singers and Dancers of Scotland, one of his dearest ambitions was realized. With taste and imagination, he selected authentic materials from an extensive repertoire and fashioned them into a varied and fast moving production that presents a panorama of his native land.

The featured soprano soloist of CALEDONIA! is Hilda Stewart. A native of Glasgow, she studied voice at the Royal Scottish Academy of Music and soon afterwards was launched on a successful career as opera singer, recitalist, and exponent of the folk music of Scotland.

Heading the dance wing of CALEDONIA! is Billy Forsyth. He placed first in the 1963 World Championship Competition held in Scotland last August. Billy scored resoundingly with American audiences last season. He is "a most remarkable little bundle of thistledown," reported one critic (Sacramento, Calif., Bee). "He bounces and twirls, leaps with a grace any ballet dancer would envy, and his precise and flashing footwork is a marvel to behold."

The bagpipe airs, alternately nostalgic and pulse-quickening, are played by one of Scotland's foremost pipers.

Texas Woman Is Honored

SEGUIN (AP) — A dinner attended by state bigwigs, past and present, Friday night will honor Mrs. Hilda Weinert on the campus of Texas Lutheran College.

Mrs. Weinert, often a Democratic national committeewoman and a political leader for three decades, has served on the Texas Lutheran board for 27 years, 12 as chairman.

About 500 persons are expected.

Heading the list of dignitaries are former Govs. Price Daniel and Allan Shivers.

State Sens. Franklin Spears of San Antonio and Walter Richter of Gaonzales, also are expected, as well as State Agriculture Commissioner John White and Secretary of State Crawford Martin.

Mrs. Weinert stepped down in 1964 after 16 years as national Democratic committeeman.

During various political campaigns she had joined in state trips with former Presidents Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Truman and the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

Mrs. Weinert was honored two years ago by Texas Lutheran College when she resigned from the board of regents.

MAY RETURN

Barry Studying Lure Of Politics

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater is seriously considering a return to active politics by bidding for either a Senate or House seat.

Goldwater, the defeated GOP presidential nominee, has told friends he would like to go back to the Senate if the opportunity presents itself. He is less enthusiastic about seeking a House seat but has not rejected the idea.

The one thing he has been emphatic about, in private conversations, is that he doesn't want another presidential nomination even if unforeseen — and he thinks highly unlikely — circumstances should offer him a new opportunity in that field.

Since his defeat last November, Goldwater has been showered with advice ranging from appeals for him to start a third party to counsel that he move out of Arizona to establish a political base in a state that packs a substantially larger electoral college wallop.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon was reported to have suggested that Goldwater consider moving either to California or to New York to try his political luck in House or Senate races in one of those states.

Goldwater intends neither to encourage any third-party movement nor to desert Arizona.

The difficulty in Arizona is that there is no political opening at the moment for a man who enjoyed 12 years in the Senate and would like to return to his associations there.

His friend Paul Fannin, the GOP former governor, was elected to a six-year term last fall to fill the seat Goldwater vacated. The term of 86-year-old Democratic Sen. Carl Hayden doesn't expire until 1969.

The Arizona Legislature is grappling with the problem of realigning the state's three congressional districts to meet the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote dictum.

If the 1st District now represented by GOP Rep. John J. Rhodes — which encompases Phoenix and Maricopa County — should be sliced up in the process, Goldwater conceivably could be interested in bidding for a House seat.

'65 Corvair by Chevrolet

(discover the difference)

More room for getting in
More power for getting away

Corvair for '65 is wider across the shoulders. And the increased entrance height makes it all easier to get at.

So ease yourself into the cockpit of a new Corsa. Scan the instrument cluster —tachometer, trip odometer, pressure and temperature gauges. Watch what happens when you hook it all up to a standard 140-hp Turbo-Air Six.

For more powerful fun, order the 180-hp version. Turbo-Chaaarged!

Put that on top of Corvair's improved 4-wheel independent suspension and a wider front and rear wheel tread and you'll enjoy the kind of ride some sport cars charge you up to $6,000 more to get.

Come on in and test drive a '65 Corvair. We bet you'll begin to think that the car you're now driving will never give you any satisfaction again.

But you'll be wrong. You'll be more than satisfied with the liberal trade-in allowance we'll give you for it.
