Giant Bombers Join Fight; Abbey Hill In South Warned

By JOSEPH DYNAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Feb. 14.—British Wellington night bombers capable of packing huge "blockbuster" missiles have joined American warplanes in a devastating 'round-the-clock assault against German forces threatening the Allied beachhead near Rome, it was disclosed today as ground fighting slackened in that area.

Stalled for two weeks by the Germans' use of the Abbey Monte Cassino over-looking the Cassino battle front, the Fifth Army notified the monks and any other Italians in refuge there yesterday to get out as "the time has come when we must train our guns on the monastery."

Leaflets fired on Abbey hill by Allied artillery carried the warning.

Lined With Snipers

The Germans have lined the slopes leading to the abbey with machinegun nests and snipers and have been reported using the monastery as an observation post and as a machine-gun stronghold.

Battle line reports said there was little activity in the Cassino area during the day because of a truce

TRUCE TO BURY DEAD

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Feb. 14 (AP)—While Allied warplanes blasted German forces about the Anzio beachhead south of Rome, American Fifth Army troops and Germans battling for Cassino observed a three-hour truce today to allow the Nazis to gather their dead.

It was the second truce requested by the Germans in three weeks.

A dispatch from the battlefield said that during the three hours the bodies of more than 300 dead Germans were removed from the area. Because terms of the truce prohibited the Germans from approaching American installations, Fifth Army soldiers collected 43 Nazi dead immediately before their positions and carried them to a point where the enemy could remove them.

requested by the Germans to bury their dead. In the town, the Germans still held firmly to the southern part.

With the return of fair flying weather after 36 hours of storm, the Allied air force smashed at the enemy in more than 800 sorties yesterday and last night, the two-engined Wellingtons concentrating on Nazi reinforcement columns and supply lines around Campoleone and Cecchina, near where the fighting of the past week was hottest.

Line Firmly Held

The Allied line defending the beachhead was firmly held and remained substantially unchanged over the weekend, a headquarters spokesman said. The ground was spongy from many inches of rain, impeding the use of armor by both sides.

Such ground fighting as was reported yesterday raged around the battered villages of Carroceto (Aprilia), 10 miles north of the Allied supply port of Anzio. British troops, aided by tanks, recap-

Nazis Frantic In Search For Men

By ROBERT RICHARDS
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 14.—European reports said today that Germany, casting about frantically for reinforcements to bolster its armies for an approaching three-front war, has called up men of 51 to 60, ordered private business and industry to release other thousands of workers and may be planning to evacuate Norway.

A note of urgency in the recruitment campaign was supported by a London Daily Telegraph dispatch asserting that Berlin again believed an Allied invasion of western Europe imminent, especially in view of the heavy daily aerial bombardment of the Pas de Calais area of the French coast.

Assigned For Action

Middle-aged men, both trained and untrained, now were being assigned to the German infantry and Panzer forces instead of coastal artillery, quartermaster's department and other rear services, as heretofore, another Zurich dispatch said.

Men taken from business and industry were being replaced in factories and offices by war invalids, Zurich said.

Norwegian underground sources in Sweden reported the Germans were planning to reduce the staff of the Reich commissariat in Norway by 30 to 40 per cent in possible preparation for withdrawal from that country.

Nazi Officials Leaving

Numerus German officials already have left Norway and supporters of puppet Premier Vidkun Quisling have taken over more and more of the Nazi administration, it was said. Numerous recent arrests were interpreted as a German attempt to paralyze the underground, at least during the possible evacuation.

The Stockholm Tidningen said German men from 51 to 60 years of age had been ordered to report to the police for registration for military service before Feb. 16. The classes include Adolf Hitler himself, 54.

Korsun Falls To Slashing Soviet

Annihilation Ring Steadily Contracts

By TOM YARBROUGH
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 14 — The Red Army today captured the Ukraine railway village of Korsun, the core of resistance for the remnants of ten trapped German divisions of perhaps 100,000 men who have fought with the ferocity of wounded beasts for 11 days.

In announcing the fall of Korsun—on the Ross river 25 miles south of the middle Dnieper—Moscow's bulletin said, however, that large German relief forces attacking outside the annihilation ring west of Korsun had succeeded in driving "a small wedge" into Soviet lines at the cost of heavy manpower and material losses.

On Northern Front

On the northern front Russian troops captured several more localities on a 70-mile front between Luga and Lake Peipus in their drive southward toward Pskov, less than 40 miles beyond Soviet spearheads.

Pskov is the communications key to the Baltic territories of southern Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, and also is the feeder point for an exposed Axis salient jutting 110 miles eastward from Pskov to Staraya Russa, on the south side of Lake Ilmen.

In the vicious Ukraine fighting the Russians gave no indication that German tank and infantry forces outside the Korsun annihilation ring would succeed in reaching their trapped companians. Moscow dispatches said instead that the capital expected to hear shortly another series of salvos from Moscow's victory guns signalling the final liquidation of the exhausted survivors of ten crack Axis divisions in the biggest single German disaster of its kind since Stalingrad.

Strip Being Narrowed

The Germans trapped in the Korsun sector, 80 miles southwest of Kiev, apparently now hold a strip of territory only four miles deep on either side of the Ross river between Korsun and Steblev, eight miles west of Korsun.

The exact position of the German relief Army attacking outside

Farm Cash Incomes Show Big Increase

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP) — The Agriculture department today estimated cash income from farm marketings for 1943 at $19,009,000,000, compared with $15,336,000,000 the previous year.

Livestock and livestock products contributed the major factor in the rise.

Hog sales made sharp advances over 1942 and there were marked increases in poultry and eggs, at higher average prices.

Oil-bearing crop income was 70 per cent higher. In the North Atlantic and South Central regions, this source of income soared to over three times the 1942 figure, while receipts from peanuts in Texas were six times as great as in 1942 and income from soy beans was twelve times as great.

Income from vegetables and truck crops from January to November 1943 increased in all regions.

Finn Cabinet Totters Over Soviet Peace

Strong Pressure Is Being Exerted

By ROBERT STURDEVANT

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 14. Finnish government leaders held long conferences throughout yesterday on the question of peace with Russia amid plain indications that the government might fall on the issue, delayed dispatches from Helsinki said today.

The dispatches, passed through Finnish censorship, said there was no official indication the govern-

RUSSIA'S PROPOSALS

LONDON, Tuesday, Feb. 15 (AP)—Russia has intimated willingness to adhere to the 1940 frontier established on the Karelian isthmus in any peace terms with Finland and to forego her lease of the Hangoe naval base on the Gulf of Finland, a qualified but unofficial London diplomatic source said today.

It was said, however, that Russia wishes cession by Finland of the Arctic port of Petsamo, and as a very minimum for peace would demand "elimination or liquidation" of seven German divisions now in Finland and the right to garrison with Russian troops any Finnish bases which the Soviets might need for operations against Germany in the Baltic.

ment had asked for Russia's terms, or even was ready to ask for terms.

But Finland's majority party, the Social Democratic party, was putting strong pressure on the government to act.

Fate Rests On Decision

"The situation as seen in Social Democratic circles was that for the present the only threat to the government rested with the decision whether to ask Moscow for peace conditions," the Helsinki dispatch said. "If no action is taken in this direction, it was said in responsible party circles, then the position of the Social Democratic party would become untenable and the government would be forced to resign."

Earlier, the Finnish capital was reported expecting concrete developments—perhaps an open bid by the government for Moscow's proposals — in the next day or two.

(A Reuters dispatch from Stockhold, said it was believed Finland's aging negotiator, Juhu Paasikivi, already had sent a Finnish peace plan to Moscow and was waiting in Stockholm for a reply.

Bond Campaign Closes Tonight

Today offers the final opportunity for a part in the Fourth War Loan drive. The campaign ends officially tonight.

Lubbock county is beyond its assigned quotas. Sales totaling $39,608, including $24,001 in Series "E" issues, repor, in Lubbock banks, First Federal Savings and Loan association and the local postoffice Monday added further to excesses over quotas.

No one knows what final official figures for Lubbock county finally will show. The official totals probably can't be announced for several weeks, until records are cleared through state bond drive headquarters.

Nearly Half Million Over

But, on the basis of figures supplied through official bond issuing agencies, the total of all bond sales in Lubbock county during the drive stands at $4,086,771.97, or an excess of 489,771.97 over the $3,597,000 quota.

The Series "E" record shows sales totaling $1,219,246.50, which leads the $1,195,000 quota by $24,246.50.

The final official figures doubtless will differ widely from those shown in the reports gathered here. But the expectation is that the final figures will be larger, not smaller, than those obtained from the available sources in the county.

Evidently Most Of Them Are Victims

U.S. Aides Rejected As 'Psychoneurotic'

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 — A House committee heard today that men in "high government places" are being rejected by the Army as "psychoneurotic."

This report by Fred G. Fraser, chairman of a District of Columbia selective service board, prompted Rep. Harness (R-Ind) to remark that "from a lot of things some of these bureaucrats have been doing down here, I don't doubt at all they belong in that class."

Fraser was one of several local draft board officials who protested to a military subcommittee against a blanket 60-day deferment for fathers in federal service. They contended it had resulted in drafting privately-employed fathers ahead of schedule.

Fraser said rejections in his board are running about one of every seven registrants and that he found it "difficult to understand how men can be employed in high government places" despite their classification as psychoneurotic. He added, however, that not all of the rejections were based on psychoneurosis.

Another district chairman, Leo A. Rover, said his board was ignoring the 60-day deferment order because it violated the law against blanket deferments. The deferments, expiring March 31, were ordered to give government agencies time to determine which of their employes should be listed as essential.

Edgar Puryear, chairman of a committee created to pass on applications for deferment of government workers, told the House group that a "point system" used to determine a man's qualification for deferment was intended only as a guide and emphasized that each case was handled on its own merits. Committee members had complained the "points system" gave heavy consideration to a registrant's age and the number of children, a consideration they said was not given to pre-war fathers in non-government service.

Adams Charges A&M Board Inclined To Commercialize College, Extension Service

By WILLIAM E. KEYS
Associated Press Staff Writer

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 14—An assertion that the board of directors of Texas A & M college is inclined to commercialize the institution was made today by George Adams, former acting director of the school's far-flung extension service.

Addressing two members of a Senate educational investigating committee Adams, who served for four months as acting director after the board dismissed H. H. Williamson as director, said he was relieved as acting director without prior notice and without consultation with board members adding:

"The principal difference is that my concept of the college and extension service was that it was an educational institution. The board is inclined to commercialize it."

Gave Wrong Answer

Adams said further that he had been asked by the board at one time whether he thought Williamson was an "inspirational leader."

He said he replied in the affirmative but "probably would have fared better if I had said otherwise."

Senators Penrose Metcalfe, committee chairman and Senator Wardlow Lane of Center sought to develop through questioning of extension service employes facts concerning administrative changes in the extension service which has agents in all counties of the state.

After Williamson was released as director, Adams was named acting director. Adams told committeemen he was removed last December and he was informed by acting President F. C. Bolton upon instruction of the board that he would have to resign or be fired.

No Reason For Dismissal

Were you given any reason for your dismissal, asked Metcalfe. "No. Neither was I questioned as to my conduct or the performance of my duties," Adams replied.

"Didn't you ever use any of these lobbyists tactics like telling members of the board they were good lawyers?" Lane wanted to know. "No," he answered.

Adams said that he was called into a board meeting after he was appointed acting director and among other questions was asked what he thought of Williamson as an inspirational director. He said the questions were asked principally by Neth L. Leachman of Dallas, a board member.

"Did you get the feeling from questions that the board was contemplating a change in the directorship?" asked Metcalfe.

"Yes, from questioning and from what had transpired before, I had the feeling the program had already been made."

Eudaly Not Approved

After Adams was released the board appointed E. R. Eudaly, a dairy specialist on the staff, as director and J. D. Prewit as vice-director. The federal extension service did not approve appointment of Eudaly, and Prewit is now vice-director and state agent but acting as director.

Eudaly, questioned briefly by committeemen, declared he had never received official notice of federal refusal to approve his appointment. He was not an applicant for the position and there was no dissension on the college's extension staff.

Stalin Doesn't Stall In Dealing With Generals

LONDON, Feb. 14. (U.P.)—One of Premier Josef Stalin's methods of handling his generals was described today by a neutral diplomat who said he heard the story from one of the guests at Stalin's birthday dinner for Prime Minister Winston Churchill at Tehran.

The dinner lasted six hours during which there were many toasts. Finally Marshal S. K. Timoshenko rose to speak.

He spoke in Russian and apparently became indiscreet. His colleagues, including Stalin, began to look grim.

The Russian premier rose quietly from his seat beside Churchill, walked around behind Timoshenko and quietly bopped the latter on the head with a bottle.

Timoshenko, somewhat dazed, sat down.

Stalin replaced the bottle, walked back to his seat, turned to Churchill and said:

"It always happens at every party. I hope you don't have to do that with Gen. Montgomery."

Bodies Of Missing Bomber Crew Found

FORT WORTH, Feb. 14. (AP)—The bodies of the five members of the crew of a B-24 bomber missing from Fort Worth Army Air field since Sunday morning, were found with the wreckage of the ship about 5:15 p. m., Monday 11 miles southeast of Big Spring, Col. Carlisle I. Ferris, field commander, announced Monday night.

The dead are:

Four second lieutenants: Thomas M. Cockrell, 24, pilot instructor, of San Antonio; George W. Knappen, 23, officer student, Washington, D. C.; Raymond E. Davis, 22, officer student, Springfield, Mo.; and Geo. Kern, officer student, Oskaloosa, Kas.; and S/Sgt. Sidney Arbeig, aerial gunner, of the Bronx, N. Y.

The four lieutenants were married, and their wives lived with them here.

The plane was found by a trapper in the hilly country near Big Spring. The trapper notified officials of the Big Spring Army Air field, who went to the scene.

International Crew Mans LST Supplying Anzio Boys

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

ABOARD AN LST LEAVING ANZIO BAY, Feb. 10. (Delayed)—You will have to look a long time to find a better example of Allied solidarity than this LST which has been supplying the Fifth Army beachhead forces.

It is American built, flies the Greek flag, is sailed by a Greek captain and crew, is kept in contact with the total Allied operations by a British naval liaison officer on board, and carries supply trucks driven by a company of all negro soldiers commanded by two white lieutenants from Rhode Island and California.

The second in command is a former electrical engineer from Athens who gave up a Columbia university scholarship to go to sea when the war broke out.

"After the European war is finished I'm going to join the American Navy and go and fight the Japanese," he says. "Then when that's over maybe I can still go to Columbia and learn more about my profession."

The ship's doctor, a former Athens physician, plans to live in America after the war. He was married in New York six months ago to a British WAAF whom he met while she was working at the British embassy in Washington. She is in England now.

Lie Is Given To Goebbel's Morale Plea

German Collapse Said Inevitable

By EDWIN SHANKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

STOCKHOLM — Ever since the beginning of mass air raids on Germany, Paul Joseph Goebbels has followed the line that each bomb only hardens German morale a little more—but all information available here gives him the lie.

This constant harping suggests a Nazi hope of trying to induce the Allies to ease the raids on the theory that they are having an adverse effect.

Some Bad Situations

But situations such as these are certainly not morale builders:

1. The serving of 760,000 soup kitchen meals daily after the heavy December raids on Berlin.

2. Thousands of buildings without roofs or windows to keep out the winter cold.

3. The scattering of families in order to escape the hell of the industrial cities, with an estimated 8,000,000 homeless.

None of these could possibly be construed as helping German home front morale in any way.

Collapse Inevitable

Rather, information from those who have traveled in Germany and from various other sources all leads to the conclusion that a German collapse is inevitable for two reasons:

1. German leaders in the long run will not be able to manage the problem of evacuation and provide for the increasing number of homeless.

2. Inability to transport foodstuffs.

Until the heavy bomber raids began it did not seem as though the German home front ever could crack. But the attacks struck at the achilles heel of every war-weary German — his home and his stomach.

The Germans are not starving, but what they eat doesn't leave them satisfied.

Foods Are Scarce

Within the last fortnight meat has become very difficult to obtain in northern Germany, and margarine and other butter substitutes also are scarce.

The difficulties of evacuating and disposing of the homeless and providing for essential workmen have been magnified.

There is at present no panic

Another County Wildcat Is Set

Smith Griggs Oil Co. of Fort Worth has filed application to drill No. 1 Frank Griggs as a 6,500-foot wildcat test in northwest Lubbock county six miles northwest of Shallowater.

Location is 660 feet out of the northwest corner of section 44, block P E and L RR survey. Drilling is scheduled to start immediately with rotary equipment.

12 Miles From Harless

This wildcat will be about 12 miles north and slightly east of Woodley Petroleum Co. No. 1 Harless, recently completed for a pumping potential of around 100 barrels per day to open the Smyer pool.

Stanolind Oil and Gas Co. No. 1 Tom Cobb, northwest Hockley county prospect, swabbed approximately 20 gallons of oil and five gallons of drilling water per hour during testing Sunday. Operations are now treating with 2,000 gallons of acid to try to increase production.

Humble Oil and Refining Co. No. 1 Fillingim, southwest Yoakum county prospector four miles north county prospector four miles northwest of the Wasson pool, recovered 45 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud on a 50-minute drillstem test on section at 5,133-42 feet. The crew is now drilling out a stuck packer rrubber left in the hole when the testing tool was pulled. This showing is not enough to make an oil well, but other oil bearing formation may be devolped.

Neville G. Penrose, Inc., Fort Worth, has contracted to drill, starting not later than June 1, 6,500-foot wildcat on J. M. Moore fee in northeast Terry county.

OPA To Change Rules On Price Of Mohair

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP) — Representative Fisher (D-Texas) said today that the Office of Price administration (OPA) had decided to revise its price ceiling regulations on mohair by establishing a dollar and cents schedule.

Existing regulations require growers to ask no more than the highest price they individually received between Oct. 1 and Dec. 15, 1941.

The OPA agreed upon his request, Fisher said, to withhold putting new regulations into effect until growers had had an opportunity to review tentative schedules and to offer recommendations.

Hearing with growers will be held in Texas within a week probably at Dallas or San Antonio, he added.

Deliberate Sabotage Used As Means Of Being 'Fired'

DALLAS, Feb. 14 (AP)—Deliberate sabotage and vandalism on the part of employes seeking to be discharged so they may obtain a certificate of availability necessary to take another job has become so serious in Dallas war and essential industry plants that the matter has been brought to the attention of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Orville W. Erringer, area director of the War Manpower commission, said today.

Erringer said he had on his desk reports on provoked discharges in 21 Dallas industrial plants, in which discharges had been forced by employes for deliberate bungling of jobs, damaging of irreplaceable machinery, threats to cause damage and deliberate and serious infractions of plants rules.

Erringer said he also was calling attention of the Dallas County Medical society to numerous certificates by certain doctors accompanying applications for certificates of availability certifying disabilities to support the applicant's claim of undue hardship in his employment.

"We have reason to believe," Erringer said, "that many of these medical statements have been issued by doctors who had not treated or seen the applicants before the time the statement was made."

Yanks Occupy Rooke Island

Japs Offer No Opposition To Vitiaz Strait Landing

By ROBERT EUNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED SOUTHWEST PACIFIC HEADQUARTERS, Tuesday, Feb. 15. — Rooke island, which sits squarely in the center of Vitiaz Strait between New Guinea and New Britain, was occupied Saturday by American forces which met no opposition ,Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

On the same day, American Marines pushed alnog New Britain's north coast to occupy Gorissi village, east of Cape Mensing. This extended the territory covered by the Marines since their landing at Cape Gloucester Dec. 26, which was followed four days later by the capture of the airdrome. The Leathernecks are now 21 miles east of the airfield.

Apparently Abandoned

The Japanese apparently had abandoned Rooke island, since the American force has reported no contact with the enemy. The Japanese evidently considered their position on the island untenable after the Marines occupied the entire western end of New Britain. Long island, northwest of Rooke, also was occupied by the Americans the day the Marines invaded Cape Gloucester, further endangering the enemy's position on Rooke.

A headquarters spokesman said the position of Rooke island made it a valuable possession for the Allies, providing in conjunction with long island control of both Vitiaz and Dampier straits.

Rabaul Pounded Again

Solomons-based Allied aircraft continuing their hammering of Rabaul, the Japanese base in northeastern New Britain, pasted the Lakunai, Tobera and Vunakanau airdromes Sunday with 170 tons of bombs.

Allied fighters shot down seven enemy interceptors, and all the planes braved intense antiaircraft fire. The attackers lost three aircraft.

Other Allied bomber squadrons with fighter escort attacked the enemy base at Kavieng, northeastern New Ireland, smashing the airdrome with 147 tons of explosives. Two parked planes were destroyed and an ammunition dump and other installations set afire. The attackers met no interception.

The enemy's Momote airdrome in the Admiralty islands northwest of New Britain also was visited Sunday by Allied medium bombers which left 90 tons of bombs, causing much damage.

Wewak Also Lashed

Attack planes bombed and strafed Tadji airdrome and shipping at Wewak, the enemy shipping and troop base on the northeastern New Guinea coast, damaging the airfield runway and destroying seven planes on the ground and leaving a 3,000-ton cargo vessel in flames. There was no interception here.

More Marshall Atolls Blasted

Three-Day Lashing Is Given Eniwetok

By WILLIAM HIPPLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Feb. 14 — Fleet carrier-based torpedo planes, dive bombers and fighters smashed at Eniwetok atoll, 355 nautical miles northwest of Kwajalein for three consecutive days. They heavily bombed the airdrome and other ground installations, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

Carrier planes had free reign to blast this westernmost enemy Marshalls base on Feb. 10, 11 and 12, for there was no Japanese fighter opposition and no antiaircraft fire.

Jap Staging Point

Eniwetok has been used chiefly by the Japanese as a staging point to feed aircraft into the Marshalls from the Carolinas.

At the same time Adm. Nimitz announced that carrier planes also had attacked Ujae atoll before dawn on Feb. 12, damaging ground facilities.

This is the first announced attack on Ujae about 100 nautical miles west of Wwajalein.

Ujae is believed to have an airfield, but has been used as an anchorge and seaplane base.

While our land-based bombers and fighters also were hitting other enemy Marshall atolls, the Japanese retaliated with the first air attack on U. S. held Kwajalein atoll. Adm. Nimitz said a small force of enemy bombers raided Roi island the night of Feb. 1-12, causing "moderate" damage and casualties.

It seemed likely the raid on Roi originated from Kusate or Ponape, in the Carolines, as none of the enemy-held Marshall positions is believed to be able to put planes in the air following a long period of knockout blows by U. S. planes.

Seventh AAF Mitchells, Dauntless divebombers and Aircobras bombed and strafed three Japanese Marshalls atolls Feb. 12 but the locations were not specified.

Navy search planes also extended far to the west to attack Ujelang atoll, which is midway between Eniwetok and Ponape.

Congress To Keep Tab On Foreign Relief

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14. (AP) — A $1,350,000,000 authorization for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration was approved by the Senate foreign relations committee today—with a string attached to keep Congress in touch with its activities.

The committee approved 16 to 1 a House-passed resolution giving this government authority to spend that amount for relief work in countries liberated from the Axis.

But it put a June 30, 1946, limitation on the authorization, amending the House resolution which would have been good until two years after the war ends.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), author of the amendment, said it was intended to assure Congress full reports on the activities of the so-called Allies' community chest. By the amendment Congress would have an opportunity to review all activities before passing on a further authorization for funds.

Subsidy Bill Is Up To Conferees

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—With the possibility of a presidential veto in the offing, the House turned over to conferees today the job of polishing up legislation outlawing the administration's program of subsidy payments to hold down food prices for consumers.

Senate conferees have not as yet been named, but little delay is anticipated once the conference goes to work. Both Senate and House have voted to halt the subsidies, differing only in when it should be done. The House has voted for a ban effective Thursday while the Senate Bankhead bill outlaws them after June 30.

The real showdown will come on overriding an expected presidential veto. President Roosevelt last year vetoed a measure killing subsidies and most congressmen look for a repeat performance.

Life Of CCC At Stake

At stake in the controversy is the life of the Commodity Credit corporation, which has made the bulk of the subsidy payments and which will expire Thursday unless the legislation is approved. The subsidy repealers in both houses are hitched to a bill extending the CCC until June 30, 1945.

HAD COMPETITION

WE MENTIONED in Sunday's column that Lt. Richard H. Chamberlain, singing officer at Lubbock Army Air field, who has been generous at appearing with various civic and church groups, was guest baritone when the Denton A Capella choir sang with the Houston Symphony orchestra's Rachmaninoff Memorial concert last Monday night.

A music critic on the Houston Chronicle wrote that of the three soloists "Lt. Chamberlain gave the best vocal account of himself in the concluding Mournful Bells, movement of this exhaustively monumental work." (The number was Rachmaninoff's musical conception of Edgar Allan Poe's famous poem "The Bells ")

The North Texas State Teachers college student choir did not fare so well, according to the critic. Quoting:

Unfortunately, Mr. Hoffman, the conductor, turned the orchestra's brass section loose in this number, with disastrously blaring results, and the only sound louder than the horns was that from the lusty lungs of the choir. The young vocalists pitched into it like robust children told to open their mouths and "Let 'Er Go!"

Doing more laundering?
Here's way to whiten cottons and linens safely

1. INFERIOR BLEACHES sometimes do this to cottons and linens because their action is uncontrolled.

2. PLAIN WASHING means lots more rubbing to get things white. This also is very hard on fabrics.
3. WITH PUREX you can avoid both dangers. Used as directed, Purex whitens gently—with controlled action. Safer than inferior bleaches or extra rubbing. Linens last longer.

Negro Section Inquiry Is Set

A 72nd district grand jury impaneled Monday morning by Judge Dan Blair at opening of a new term of court was instructed specifically to investigate alleged illegal conditions in the Flats district of Lubbock.

A negro, John Fair of Lubbock, is a member of the grand jury.

Others, with Earl Davis of Acuff as foreman, are Paul Hardwick of Lubbock; L. L. Watson of Lubbock route 3; J. T. Pinkston and R. L. Wicker, both of Slaton; William Martin and R. O. Short, both of Lubbock route 5; Alton Hardy and J. T. Treadwell, both of Shallowater route 1; E. L. Sowder of Idalou and M. N. Thompson of Lubbock route 4.

Court Bailiffs Elected

M. L. Waldrop was elected door bailiff, by lot, and T. E. May and Deputies Sheriff Cap Moore and Raymond Land will be riding bailiffs.

Burton S. Burks, district attorney, referred to the grand jury three complaints for murder, three for forgery, four for desertion, two for burglary, one for theft over $50 and one for assault to rape.

Two of the killings were in the Flats.

Negroes had charged that a "murder syndicate" exists in the Flats, where anyone could "hire a gunman for $50 to bump somebody off." They said, in addition, that peace-abiding negroes were afraid to walk in the Flats district for fear of their lives.

Contempt Hearing Postponed

A contempt hearing naming Gus Walker, a negro, was postponed in 99th district court of Judge J. E. Vickers.

A civil jury panel will report this morning to Judge G. V. Pardue of county court.

Judge Blair said the week of Feb. 28 would be given to trial of felony indictments. First civil jury cases set were for the week of March 6.

Judge Blair next Monday goes to Levelland for one criminal and three civil jury cases.

Burma Banshees Guard Sky Ways Of Lofty Himalayas

By ALBERT RAVENHOLT
United Press War Writer

AT A U. S. ARMY AIR-BASE IN ASSAM, (Delayed)—The nose of each plane is painted a white skull, and they call themselves the Burma Banshees.

They're a tough outfit of American fighter pilots who patrol China's aerial highway above the spurs of the Himalaya mountains.

Within sight of the glistening snow-capped peaks over the "hump" their P-40s fly "interference" for the Air Transport command planes carrying ammunition and equipment to China's armies and the 14th U. S. Army Air force.

Three To Four Miles Up

They fly at altitudes of three to four miles as they guard the world's largest air-route.

"Below us to the south the jungles of Burma look like the green cover of a new billiard table," the pilots said. "We're too far up to see the smaller ridges and rivers. Some of us meet the sun coming up over China; others follow it home to Assam in India."

These Burma Banshees, whose primary job is guarding the airways over the jagged ridges of the south-east corner of Tibet, periodically swoop to strafe Jap airfields in northern Burma.

Sneak Down On Enemy

When time permits, they sneak in with explosives and plaster enemy artillery positions opposing the Chinese Army in the Hukawng valley and wing in low, spitting .50 calibre bullets on enemy truck convoys and horse and elephant trains moving to the battle areas.

"It's tough," say the pilots who fly an average of 80 combat hours a month.

Though the Japs have been reluctant to tangle with the transport planes since the Banshees went on patrol, the enemy has made attempts.

For the transport pilots, life up there in the empty clouds becomes dull and, like a motorist who drives on the wrong side of the road, occassionally one becomes a little daring and slips down to see what the Japs are up to farther down in Burma.

Due For Dressing Down

The Banshees wing in close then, like a speed cop and jot down the number of the errant transport pilot, and when he gets back to base like as not his commanding officer gives him a dressing down.

Col. Ivan W. McElroy, 30, Austin, Tex., commands the fighters and leads them himself whenever he has the opportunity.

"Officers who don't take the same chance as their men don't last long around here," he observes.

Paasiviki, ostensibly in Stockholm only to transact private business, was under close scrutiny in view of the fact that it was he who paved the way and negotiated the 1940 peace.

The Svenska Morgonbladet pointed out that he could combine personal business with a mission for his country, and said, "it is absolutely clear that something has happened in Finland in the last couple of weeks.

Moscow Report Denied

While an air raid alarm sounded in Helsinki yesterday afternoon—but without planes being sighted—a Finnish foreign office spokesman denied a report attributed to Moscow which said Sir Henrik Ramsay, Scottish-descended foreign minister, had departed for Germany to confer with Joachim von Ribbentrop. Ramsay was still in Helsinki, it was said.

It was acknowledged officially in Helsinki that Eljas Erkko, former Finnish foreign minister, had spoken with the government's consent Saturday when he broadcast from Stockholm that Finland was making every effort to find a road to peace. But it was emphasized that Erkko spoke as a private individual.

One Injured In Nine Collisions

Nine collisions occurred Sunday and Monday, police said last night.

One person received slight injuries in the mishaps, four of them involving taxicabs, officers stated.

The injured man was Goryis Sterling of 1710 Avenue C, who reportedly was taken to Lubbock General hospital Sunday night for treatment of head injuries.

The mishap was at Sixteenth street and Texas avenue. A City cab driven by C. P. Sims, 43, of 1712 Avenue X and a truck by Charles Goodwin, 42, of 172 East Broadway in Fort Worth ran together.

Police said two taxicab drivers were arrested over the weekend for violation of the liquor curfew law and that each paid a $15 fine. Another cab driver, 22, was held for investigation into his draft status.

Monday cars driven by J. W. Rust, 49, of 1710 Twenty-seventh street, and James Mike Cunningham, 31, of 711 Avenue M, came together at Broadway and Avenue F. In another mishap yesterday, a car being backed out of a parking place in 1100-block Avenue G by Miss Ina Faye Mainor, 22, of 2310 Nineteenth street, was in collision with a vehicle driven by J. M. Walker, 60, of 607 Sixteenth street.

Frank Maddox, 1645 Main street, said someone took a briefcase from an office in the First National bank building. He said "F. M. Maddox" was imprinted on a side in gold. Elton Ellison of Ralls reported theft of spectacles from his parked car.

tured an important railway bridge west of the town, but the Nazis again fought their way into the buildings of a factory a half-mile east of Carraceto. These buildings now have changed hands four times in fierce fighting.

2,000 Prinseoners Taken

An official announcement said American and British troops had captured well over 2,000 German prisoners in the beachhead fighting since the landings on Jan. 22. The crack 715th German Infantrry division, which was rushed from France to join the attack, was reported to have suffered such heavy casualties that its thrusts had greatly diminished in power.

(Swedish press dispatches from Berlin said Allied forces on the beachhead possessed a big advantage in armor and artillery and predicted they would open a heavy offensive to relieve their position shortly. The British were admitted to have regained the initiative near Carroceto.)

Another Hospital Bombed

An official announcement said the Germans again bombed an Allied field hospital within the beachhead Saturday night and caused casualties. This was the third hospital in the area to be bombed or shelled by the enemy. All were plainly marked with Red Cross insignia.

Enemy air activity over the beachhead diminished greatly. Only about 30 German planes were sighted yesterday, of which four were shot down. Two Allied craft were missing.

(The German-controlled Vichy radio reported that an Allied convoy consisting of six troop transports, 60 cargo ships and four tankers strongly escorted by warships had entered the Mediterranean from the west. Such a force might have been speeding to reinforce the beachhead.)

the Soviet encirclement ring was not disclosed. The broadcast-communique recorded by the Soviet monitor said the slight wedge in Russian lines occurred northwest of Zvenigorodka, which is 25 miles southwest of Korsun.

Besides capturing Korsun, the bulletin said the Russians took Samorodnya, five miles northwest of Korsun; Listvena, three miles south of Korsun, and Petrushki and Turkentst, five and six miles, respectively, southwest of Korsun. Any Germans surviving the battle of Korsun apparently fled westward along the Ross river toward Steblev.

Bob McEachern Hunted In Area

Peace officers drew a tight ring around the Sweetwater area Monday night in hopes of trapping slippery Robert McEachern, escaped Texas convict who is believed to have gone to Sweetwater after holding up a filling station here early Saturday morning.

State rangers, state highway patrolmen and Sweetwater policemen began the search when an automobile, stolen from Plainview and driven by a man who staged the robbery of T. B. Taylor, night attendant at the East Broadway Service station of Joe Lowrimore.

New Police Methods

Taylor identified McEachern as the man who took between $40 and $50 from him at the point of a shotgun. The identification was made from a motion picture strip of McEachern taken when McEachern was taken to the penitentiary from Hockley county, where he had stolen an automobile.

Lubbock officers were impressed with the efficiency of the motion picture identification method. Taylor, who was not "too positive," officers said, in his dentification earlier of a "still" photo of the convict, said after a few seconds of the film—"That's the man, I'm positive."

The films were rushed here by the Department of Public Safety and were shown by Capt. N. R. Smith of the highway patrol.

Lauded By Reeder

"Motion pictures offer a great advancement in the identification of criminals," said Police Chief Don Reeder. "They reveal the subject from all angles, show his mannerisms and the changes in his expression."

Reeder indicated that the comparatively new method might be adopted by the local department when equipment for such protography and projection is more easily available. In that event he said, possibly only the "regular thugs" would be filmed. "Shooting" all offenders might be too expensive, he ventured.

News Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Cathey of 2427 Nineteenth street left Monday afternoon for Dora, N. M., after learning that his uncle, W. F. Cathey, 84, formerly of Lynn county, was critically ill. A retired rancher, W. F. Cathey was one of the organizers of Lynn county, his friends said.

Despite a handicap of several years in age, a Panhandle, Texas, youth has run away from home for Lubbock, where his mother said he would try to enlist in the Navy. She said he was only 14 but "big for his age."

Lubbock's police department Monday night began to think that its services were well advertised. However, they twice had to decline, politely, requests for their help. "It's a little outside our jurisdiction," it was explained. First a worried woman telephoned the information from Levelland that her daughter and another girl had been forced into a car at Levelland by a couple of drunks. Police obliged by promising that they would keep a sharp look-out in case they should come to Lubbock. A few minutes later a girl friend of the "abducted" girls called and demanded that police be sent at once to the Hockley county seat to "do something." Local police hoped everything would turn out okay.

David W. Kennedy, past commander of Ruthven Commandery No. 2 of Houston, made an annual visitation to Lubbock Commandery No. 60, Knights Templar, as representative of Wm. D. Miller, right emminent grand commander of Texas, Monday night in the Masonic hall, third floor of the Citizens National bank building. Dinner was served at 7 o'clock and ceremonies attended by approximately 60 members and visitors followed.

Charley Lawrence Thomas, seaman second class, of Seagraves was listed as being held a prisoner of war in an official Navy department announcement Monday.

Man, Wife Die In Truck Fire

Body of W. G. (Bill) Wray, employe of a Lubbock transit company who with his wife burned to death Sunday morning in a flaming gasoline truck near Amarillo, is to be sent to Cordell, Okla., for burial, according to Weldon Carlton, of 1311 Twenty-eighth street, owner of the burned truck.

Arrangement of services for Mrs. Wray was pending word from her sister, Mrs. Grace Hartsell of Detroit, Mich., Carlton said. Mrs. Wray's body is at an Amarillo funeral home.

Officers said they were told that the truck occupied by the Wrays ran into the rear end of another gasoline truck during a fog Sunday morning and that the Wray truck burst into flames when it was hit from the rear by a sedan.

Davis Lee Perdue, 2010 Avenue J, Lubbock, employee of L. P. & G. Transport, North College, Lubbock, driver of the other truck, escaped injury. Gordon Sharp of Amarillo, driver of the sedan, was injured, but not seriously.

The accident occurred 14 miles northeast of Amarillo.

Wray, 24, was employed by the Mistletoe Transit company, 910 Avenue J, which had leased the truck from Carleton. The bodies were identified Sunday by Carlton.

Wray had been employed here about a month, coming to Lubbock from Amarillo, where he had worked briefly after moving there from Edgewood, N. M.

Mrs. Wray, it was reported, is survived by a daughter by a previous marriage.

Wray is survived by his mother, Mrs. G. D. Wray, Cordell, Okla.; three sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Wiswell of Amarillo, Mrs. Mattie Clewer, Carter, Okla., and Miss Mildred Wray, address unknown; one brother, Curtis Wray, address unknown.

Campfire Ceremony Closes Scout Week

Closing Lubbock observance of national Boy Scout week was a campfire program presented on the vacant property at 2101 Broadway last night which was attended by about 250 Scouts and adults, according to G. M. Unger, council executive.

Frank Runkles, scoutmaster of troop 8, sponsored by the American Legion, was in charge of ceremonies. Dressed in full Indian regalia, the Scouts performed the opening ceremonies after the lighting of the camp fire with flint and steel by Fred McDonald, Eagle Scout. Other numbers included group singing and the telling of a story by Unger.

Featured ceremony was the impressive rededication to the scout oath which was supposedly simultaneous throughout the United States.

Camp fire ceremonies closed with the Omaha Tribal prayer led by the group in Indian regalia. Encamped on the ground during Boy Scout week was troop 5, of which W. A. (Mose) Hood is scoutmaster.

among the Germans as a result of the Allied raids—only a general resignation, a feeling that the war will be a long one and that in the end there is no hope of victory.

That undoubtedly is the reason for Goebbels' "have faith" slogan for home consumption.

"Today's conduct of the war demands conscious faith and confidence," said the newspaper Deutsche Allegmeine Beitung. "confidence that in the end quality indeed means more than quantity, and faith that in the end fate must be on the side of the people who without help from abroad could rise again to a first class power from the depths of 1918.

"In the fifth year of war, faith and confidence are achievements of psychic reserve rather than reason — after a year without great special (war) communiques, after a year of noticeable losses and in view of the perpetual demands on body and soul . . ."

There in a nutshell is what the Nazis are relying on as the Allies gird to strike from all sides.

Lts. Thursten Swanson, of East Providence and Warren Youngdahl, of San Francisco, are the two truck company commanders aboard.

The truckers are constantly subjected to shellfire and bombing while in port and en route between the ship and the ammunition dumps.

"These negro boys make up a pretty damn fine outfit," the 30-year-old Swanson said. "They are specially picked for this job and they have been working all hours of the day and night in the hottest spot on the beachhead—the dock area."

Members of this negro outfit, all veterans of this type of work, have been overseas about a year and took part in the long supply hauls back and forth across North Africa during the campaign there.

New College Tests Due On March 15

Pamphlets containing full information about the third Army-Navy college qualifying test March 15 may be obtained from any high school principal or superintendent, preparatory school or college dean or the Dallas Office of Naval Officer Procurement, the Navy announced Monday.

The test is designed to measure the aptitude and general knowledge of prospective students for the Army Specialized Training Program and the Navy's V-12 college program. It is the means of obtaining qualified officer material, specialists and technicians for the services. The test will be given at 9 a. m. on March 15 at high schools, preparatory schools and colleges throughout the country.

Those Who Can Qualify

Male students who have reached their 17th, but not their 22nd birthdays, by next July 1, and who have graduated, or will have graduated from secondary schools by that date, are eligible to take the test. Those who failed to qualify previously, the announcement said, are eligible to try again if they are not members of any branch of armed service.

Students 17, 18 and 19 years old, who express a preference for the Navy and qualify on the test will become eligible for selection for the Navy V-12 program. If accepted, they will attend selected colleges in uniform under military discipline. They will receive the pay for their lowest enlisted grade for a varying number of 16 week terms, depending on the type of course. The Navy will pay all expenses and in addition, will accord consideration to personal preferences for colleges and courses.

Seventeen-year olds who designate Army preference, and who qualify in the test, will be eligible for military scholarships in the Army Specialized Training Reserve program. Those accepted will receive training at selected colleges and will be on inactive duty until the end of the term in which they reach their eighteenth birthday. At that time they will be placed on active duty and sent to an Army installation for basic military training, after which they will be placed in the Army Specialized Training Program if selected and still qualified.

Applicants 18, 19, 20 and 21 years old, who designate Army preference, and who qualify in the test will be considered for the ASTP after their induction.

The Navy does not accept applicants over 19 years old. Consequently 20 and 21 year olds expressing a preference for the Navy presumably would be automatically rejected by both services, since neither branch will consider applicants who have designated a preference for the other.

Methodists Meeting Financial Askings

The Christmas offerings from the Lubbock district toward upkeep of the Methodist home in Waco totaled $11,769, it was reported by Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, district superintendent of the Methodist churches, who has just completed his first round of quarterly conferences in which he visited 40 churches.

Methodist churches in Slaton, New Home, Wilson and Levelland have paid full proportions toward the benevolences quota. Other churches in the district have paid substantial amounts. Dr. Lipscomb said it appeared the district would pay $18,855 benevolences quota assigned, as other churches had accepted full amounts proportioned to them.

South Plains ministers attending Ministers' Week at Southern Methodist university at Dallas were: W. E. Peterson of Levelland; E. D. Landreth of Lamesa; H. I. Robinson of Lubbock; A. H. Carleton of Lubbock; Hubert Bratcher of Ralls and Dr. Lipscomb of Lubbock.

Dr. Lipscomb opened his second round of conferences at O'Donnell Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Other conferences during the day were at Sparenberg, Lamesa and Tahoka.

Lubbock Cagers Win Two Games At Cooper

COOPER, Feb. 14. — The Lubbock Cowhands and Coach Barrett's Black team from Lubbock Junior High school invaded the local gym tonight and carried off both halves of a twin bill with the Cooper Pirates and juniors.

The Cowhands romped off with a 34 to 21 victory over the Pirates while the Cowboys set a torrid pace to win 30 to 10 over the local Junior team.

The scoring in the feature game was well divided between stars of the two teams with R. Watson of Cooper and Turner of Lubbock tied for top honors with eight points each. Gerald Davis of the Cowhands was close on their heels with seven points to nose out Henderson of Cooper for second honors by one point. Crawford and Bledsoe of the Cowhands trailed with five points each.

Rampy set the pace for the Cowhands in the curtain raiser, dropping 12 points through the meshes for a long lead in the scoring department. His team mates, Dick Schmidt and Sam Davis were his closest rivals, each with four points.

Powers was high for Cooper with three points while four other boys divided the other seven points.

The Cowhands, and Coach Wimberley's Whites from the Junior High, will invade Slaton Tuesday night for a double bill with the Slaton A team and Juniors.

WATCH THE REFEREE

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14 (AP) Darby Casper, former boxer who was never kayoed in 250 bouts, says it was just 31 years ago last night that he phrased one of the ring's classic repartees.

Midway through his first match, he says, his manager told him "You're doin' great Darby; he ain't laid a glove on you," and Casper, groggy, muttered through swollen, bleeding lips: "Well, look, then—for cripe's sake, watch that referee, will you? Somebody's hittin' me out there!"

Second Game Here On Friday Night

Coach Dixie White sent his Lubbock Westerners through a final workout Monday afternoon, and pronounced the boys as ready to go tonight when they invade the home floor of the Amarillo Golden Sandies for the opening game of the 1-AA playoff.

Both teams will be shooting for that elusive jinx number — the 13th win of the season for both teams. Both have won 12 games this season, and both came through the conference play in both halves of the district without a blemish on their record. Both have lost two games to strong army foes. But, the Sandies have been beaten twice by high school teams and the Westerners are undefeated against high school foes.

Sandies Hold Bombers

But those two Sandies losses have been close. One by two points and one by a single point. On top of that, the Sandies held the Amarillo Army Air Field Bombers to a 34 to 31 margin, and they are the same team that beat Texas Tech's Red Raiders and boast of one of the greatest collections of cage stars from high rated universities of any team in the nation.

A break down of the records indicate that the Westerners have a bit the edge on the offense, but the Sandies have the better defense. It looms from this distance like a battle between the powerful offense of the Westerners, against the great defense of the Sandies.

The Sandies are reported not to look so smooth on the floor, but they have managed to get the ball through the hoop enough to win all but four games this season.

The two teams have never met on common ground, and any comparison of the two teams is impossible.

Have Three Lettermen

The Sandies lost two early season stars, Kenneth Kelly and Buddy Ratcliff, by midterm graduation, but still boast of a team of three lettermen from last season's playoff in which the Sandies beat the Westerners for the 1-AA title. Amarillo later defeated Vernon and went on to Austin for the state meet where they were beaten by the Austin Maroons.

The Westerners have been idle since last Wednesday, while the Sandies took a warmup Saturday night by treking over to Tucumcari, New Mexico, and hanging a 47 to 33 defeat on that club.

The two teams will return to Lubbock Friday night to resume the series on the home floor of the Westerners. If a third game is needed, it will be played Saturday night with the site of this game undecided.

Golden Glove Takes On National Aspect

FORT WORTH, Feb. 14 (AP) — Thirty-one states, the District of Columbia and the Republic of Mexico will be represented in the eighth annual Texas Golden Gloves tournament which starts here Wednesday night.

Most of the out-of-state fighters are servicemen, who will be representing various Army and Navy camps. New York leads the list, with nine representatives.

Four fighters are from Mexico, and won their titles at El Paso.

Pfc. Leo Quade, representing Camp Barkley from Abilene district, is the Washington, D. C., representative. He is a flyweight.

JOCKEY STILL SERIOUS

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 14 (AP) — The condition of George Fields, veteran U. S. jockey injured in a fall yesterday at the Mexico City racetrack, is still serious, hospital attendants reported tonight.

Fields suffered a skull fracture. His home is in Los Angeles.

"Hats off to Studebaker

for cars that stand up in wartime"

SAYS W. M. Byrd, engineer on a U. S. Navy job at Bay City, Michigan: "My hat's off to Studebaker. You're certainly right when you say the Studebaker Champion is engineered to save an owner money and built to withstand hard punishment.

"I know. I've owned three Champions. The one I'm now driving, a 1941 model, has 31,000 miles on it and it's tires look good for 30,000 miles more.

"My two previous Champions gave me remarkable mileage over rugged West Virginia mountain roads and performed marvelously.

"On the three Champions, my total maintenance bills, outside of proper servicing, did not exceed $40."

Playoff Starts For 2-AA Crown

WICHITA FALLS, Feb. 14 (Special)—The Childress Bobcats and the Graham Steers will clash Tuesday night in Graham in the opening game of the 2-AA basketball playoff. The winner will meet the winner of the Lubbock-Amarillo playoff in bi-district play to determine which of the four teams will represent Northwest Texas in the state tournament in Austin March 2, 3 and 4.

The two teams will return to Childress Thursday night for the second game of the playoff with the third game, if needed, carded for Friday night in Childress. It will be a best two out of three playoff.

The Bobcats romped through the west half of the district race with an unbeaten record, but the east half race proved to be a battle to the finish, and Graham was not declared a winner until after games of last Friday night.

District 3-AA Race Presents Busy Week

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 14 — The 3-AA basketball race was thrown into wild confusion Friday night when the San Angelo Bobcats nudged out the Sweetwater Mustangs, 27 to 26, at Sweetwater to throw the east half race into a three-way tie between these two teams and Abilene's Eagles.

V. Z. Rogers, Lamesa, chairman of the district, was called upon to unwind the puzzle and the coin tossing luck of the San Angelo club was carried over from the state championship grid season, and the club drew a bye in the east half playoff.

Rogers then flipped the coin to send Sweetwater to Abilene tonight in the opening playoff game. He flipped again, and the winner of this game was sent to San Angelo to battle the Bobcats on Tuesday night for the district's east half championship.

The winner of this tangle is then faced with a three game series with Midland, winners of the west half, for the full District 3-AA championship. Midland won the west half by nosing out the Lamesa Golden Tornados.

The district title must be decided by Saturday night, which means a busy week for the east half winner.

Revolta Noses Out Nelson, McSpaden, Wins Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 14 (AP) — Imperturbable Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., laid down a three-under-par 68 when the chips were on the line today to gallop in with the Texas Open championship and the $1,000 in war bonds that went with it.

The finish was one of the most dramatic in the 22-year history of the tournament—Revolta closing out with a fine 273 for the 72 holes but with Byron Nelson just one strike behind coming to the eighteenth green.

Nelson, the former National Open champion from Toledo, Ohio, had staged one of the finest comebacks in tournament history to enter the last round today with a 206 to Revolta's 205.

On No. 18 Nelson needed a birdie to tie for the lead. He drove within 25 feet of the cup and took a lot of time getting ready to shoot for the pin, then as the huge gallery roared, Nelson's shot went straight for the hole but stopped a foot and a half away—and that was the championship for Revolta.

Tie For Second

Playing in the threesome with Nelson was Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Philadelphia, the first day leader and the fellow who has been winning most of the tournaments along the winter trail. McSpaden came into No. 18 six under par and on that hole he sank a 20-foot putt for a birdie that gave him a total of 274 and a tie with Nelson for second place.

Melvin (Chick) Harbert of the Lincoln, Neb., Army Air Forces Training Command, whipped in with a four-under-par for a total of 278 to grab fourth place honors. While Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., finished with a 69 and a total of 280 for the fifth spot.

Revolta registered birdies on six and nine with six-foot putts and he put down an eight-footer on 14 for another. All of his other holes were pars. On No. 16 his tee shot hit a tree but he used his driver to slice 180 yards out of the woods to get a par on the hole.

On No. 18 Revolta was trying for a birdie so he would be sure to win the title. He had heard Nelson was coming in also three under par. Revolta landed twelve feet from the pin on No. 18 green, rubbed his putter on his caddies' head for luck, then two-putted for a par.

Nelson's shooting was sensational on the first nine, where he gained his three-under-par margin. He sank a three-footer for a birdie on No. 2, missed a three-footer for a birdie by inches on No. 6, rammed in a 12-footer for a birdie on No. 8 and chipped five feet from the cup on No. 9 but missed his eagle when the ball bounced off the rim.

Putting, the thing that had brought Nelson from a four-over-par 75 in the opening round to par-shattering second and third rounds, proved his nemisis today. He missed a six-footer by inches on No. 11 and also dropped other short ones during the final nine holes.

McSpaden holed an 18-footer for a birdie on No. 2 and sank another 18-foot putt for an eagle on three. He took a bogey on six when he two-putted but rammed in a 20-footer for a birdie on No. 7. He three-putted 8 and 9 but still got a par on the latter, and registered another birdie with a two-footer on No. 12. He birdied 16 with a six-foot putt and sank long ones to birdie 17 and 18.

Pairings Named For 4-A Cage Tournament

DENVER CITY, Feb. 14. (Special) — The Denver City High school basketball team roared into the final playoff tournament in the District 4-A race here tonight by beating the Tahoka club, 39 to 16, for second place honors in the south half.

The District tournament will be held Friday and Saturday at Tahoka with O'Donnell, number one team in the south half, playing Levelland, number one team in the north half, in the opening game at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Denver City, the south half runnerup, and Sudan, north half runnerup, will meet in the second game Friday afternoon.

Winners will play winners and losers against losers in Friday night's twin bill at 8:30 in the double elimination play. There will be one game Saturday afternoon and the final game Saturday night at 8:30.

Cotton Neely and Johnny Simms have been named as officials for the district tournament games.

Red Raiders To Play LAAF Five

The Texas Tech Red Raiders will be hosts to the Lubbock Army Air Field Fliers tonight in a Lubbock Basketball League battle at the Tech gym that promises plenty of fireworks. The opening tipoff is due at 8 o'clock.

The Red Raiders nosed out the Army five in a game at the LAAF gym in the only other meeting of the season between the two clubs, and are anxious to make it two in a row over the soldiers.

The Red Raiders have been showing great improvement over the season, and usually make it interesting for any kind of a foe.

Coach Polk Robison indicated Monday night that he expected to start Nolan Weeks and Hubert Bechtol at forwards, Don Grove at center, Delbert Cooper and Tex Wallis at guards against the soldier five tonight. The LAAF starters are expected to find Compton and Roose at forwards, Prior at center, Volz and McDonald at guards.

The inability to hit the free shots Saturday night was the downfall of the Red Raiders in the game with the Tech Engineers, and the collegians trailed all the way, but were never far in the rear. Much work has been put in on this department of the game over the weekend and the team hopes to be at top form for tonight's battle.

Leo Jackson and Johnny Simms from Tahoka have been named as referees for the game tonight.

The Red Raiders have two more tough games on the schedule for this week, going to South Plains Army Air Field Thursday night to battle the point-a-minute Winged Commandos in another League game.

Saturday night, the Red Raiders close the Lubbock Basketball League race with another chance at the Tech Engineers, and a chance to avenge the loss of last Saturday.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

The People And The Law

ONE circumstance attending the Charles Chaplin case should—and doubtless does — arouse resentment of all fair-minded Americans who cling to the idea that all people should be alike in the eyes of the law.

This circumstance is not concerned at all with the question of the innocence or guilt of the comedian on the morals charge brought against him by federal grand jury indictment. Presumably, his innocence or guilt will be determined in good time, through prescribed legal processes. In the eyes of the law—if not in the eyes of the public—he must be presumed innocent until his guilt is established beyond a reasonable doubt.

The circumstance we have in mind was linked with incidents which followed the indictment. Presumably, the proper officers sought to reach Chaplin after the grand jury had acted. But they didn't find Chaplin. They found his lawyer—probably a very highly paid one with an imposing reputation. The lawyer told the officers that "Mr. Chaplin would surrender to the U. S. marshal" having jurisdiction in the case four days later. Meanwhile, "Mr. Chaplin was in seclusion." He could not be bothered, personally. In effect, the Chaplin "mouthpiece" said to the federal officers—who accepted the statement and went on their way: "Come around again next Monday, boys. By then perhaps the Great Man will be able to give you a little time."

Can anyone ponder such flaunting of the spirit of law without thinking of what would have happened if the indictment had been returned against plain, unknown Joe Doaks? Suppose Joe had told the officers, through his lawyer, to come back next Monday?" What if Joe had relayed word that he was "in seclusion and couldn't be disturbed?"

What would have happened? Anyone can answer that. Doors wouldn't have been thick enough to protect Joe in his "seclusion." Poor old Joe probably would be so far back in some jail right now that it would take a telescope to find him.

But what of Chaplin? Here was a man who has been notorious for having affairs with girls and younger women repeatedly through a long public career. His potentialities for harm to impressionable and "moviestruck" girls were almost without limit. If he has been guilty of only a few of the philanderings that have been linked with his name, he is an undesirable citizen.

At that very moment of his lawyer's statement, Chaplin was under the direct accusation of having connived in attempts to corrupt the law, its agents and the courts.

So what happened? He wanted seclusion, and he got it. He didn't want to be disturbed, so he wasn't disturbed. "Mister" Chaplin was given plenty of opportunity to try to arrange bail—or, for that matter, to have attempted flight, if he had chosen.

Fortunately, none of this means that Chaplin will escape the penalty for laws he may have violated. These incidents were concerned merely with the start, not the finish, of the case against him. But it still is indefensible that agents of the law accorded very special considerations to Charlie Chaplin, the millionaire movie star, which unimportant Joe Doaks could never receive.

Let's Keep 'Em "The Last!"

WHILE Stockholm reports remain unconfirmed that the Nazis are removing members of the Hohenzollern family from positions of public responsibility, they could be true and they suggest interesting and disturbing possibilities.

As will be recalled, the Hohenzollerns ruled Germanic states for some seven or eight centuries until Kaiser Wilhelm II took flight to Holland in the closing days of World War I. Rumor has it that the Nazis fear an attempt to restore members of the family to a ruling position in Germany.

However, it is incredible that the Allies ever would tolerate a Germany ruled by a Hohenzollern. As a dynasty, it was militarism personified. It rose to power through force of arms. It waged war ruthlessly and almost continuously. If fell because Kaiser Bill sought to do in 1914 what Adolf Hitler tried to do in 1939—to make himself and the German people the masters of an enslaved world. There can be no reason to believe that the Hohenzollerns, the most Prussian of all the Prussians, have learned or changed.

Most histories, as now written, refer to Wilhelm II as the "last of Hohenzollerns." The future peace and security of the world demand that this portion of history be allowed to stand unchanged.

Any regimen prescribed to achieve longevity will produce results if it is followed long enough.

One Minute Sermon

For all manner of trespass, whether it be for ox, for ass, for sheep, for raiment, or for any manner of lost thing, which another challengeth to be his, the cause of both parties shall come before the judges; and whom the judges shall condemn, he shall pay double unto his neighbor.—Exodus 22; 9.

Major Homeward appeared at a meeting of the directors of the Blessed to Give Brotherhood. Ernest Wheyfish recognized him as royalty, but it was Dr. Planish who thought of whispering, "Pretty dull. Let's sneak out and have a quick one."

They drank till 7. Dr. Planish privily telephoned to Peony, and brought a friendly Major home to dinner.

Now Peony was plump but biological. She had never stepped off Main Street, but her eyes could seduce even a traffic policeman, and to the Major she said, "This is so nice!" as competently as a woman press agent or an actress in her dressing room. By 10 o'clock the Major and the Doctor and Peony were such a trio of buddies that they telephoned, long distance, to George Riot, and insisted on his flying down and joining them. (He didn't.) Before the Major was got into a complete state of liquid happiness, however, Dr. Planish had planted the seed of a Message:

"I know Colonel Marduc is a figurehead on a lot of organizations, but he never really has any thing to do with 'em—lets 'em use his name and sends 'em a small check, but he never knows what they're up to. Well, if he really wants to be President of the United States—"

"He doesn't—he doesn't at all. I don't know how that rumor started," stated the Colonel's very own son-in-law.

"Well then, Secretary of State or Ambassador to England."

"Maybe he might consider those."

"He doesn't realize how an uplift organization that he really worked closely with could hook his name up with all these idealistic movements that get the votes. If he'd pay some attention, and maybe some cash, to a crack executive—"

"No, no, no! Thanks, Peony—that's plenty—whoa—that's better," observed the Major. "No, I'm afraid the Colonel wouldn't be interested in your Blessed to Give bunch. He thinks that having me there on the board as his stooge is enough."

"That? Oh, that damn racket! Of course not. I mean a more general idealistic association, more spiels about freedom and democracy. I'd like to talk to him, some time."

The Doctor did not belabor his message further, and not till after more drinks did he probe the Major about the Colonel's mysterious relationship to Governor Thomas Blizzard.

Tom Blizzard was one of the 20 men who, in 1937, had a chance to be Democratic nominee for President in 1944, possibly even in 1940.

It was commonly reported that Governor Blizzard and Colonel Marduc had a political understanding, but which was to support which was not explained, nor, tonight, did Major Homeward explain it. Perhaps, concluded the Doctor, he didn't know.

They sat about the green-topped kitchen table, drinking highballs. Carrie Planish, returning from some unexplained engagement, looked into the kitchen and sniffily withdrew.

Peony darted after her, with "Come in and meet Major Homeward. Such a fine man, and important socially."

"He looks to me like an old silly," murmured Carrie.

"Old? He's not as old as your father!"

"Well?"

"He's one of the very cleverest and most influential men in the whole world of welfare promotion!"

"Honestly, Mother, I'm sorry, but I don't think I like influential people or welfare or promotion. I like sleeping better. Good night."

Peony stood bitterly in the hall She wasn't like that when she was 16! Why, she'd have been all eager and flattered if her mother had invited her in to help impress an important guest! But Carrie—

Peony summed it all up, "I just can't make out these jazz babies!" and she hastily rolled back into the kitchen and had a highball.

A week later, Dr. Planish was invited to accompany Major Homeward on a pilgrimage to the office of Colonel Marduc.

The throne-room at Marduc, Syco & Sagg's was the masterpiece of Bobbysmith, who advertised himself as "the Gertrude Stein of Interior Designing." It was as plain and dignified as Rockefeller Center, but a little smaller.

The conversation between the Colonel and Dr. Planish fell into that atmosphere of an Oriental court which always clung about the Marducs. The Doctor salaamed and said that he was honored; he said that of course the Colonel would never stoop to any political job, but if he desired to, he could be President of the United States by 10 tomorrow morning.

He said that he himself was the humblest creature under Allah's beneficient sun, that he loved his present (well-paid) job, and was aboundingly loyal to Wheyfish Pasha, but if Colonel Marduc decided to start a real organization, one that would take the weak little ideology of Democracy by the hand and guide it tenderly, then he hoped he might be around to give advice. He said that such an organization might, incidentally, get its founder known around as the chief subsidizer of all Justice and Freedom.

And he said that now, as never before, was the time, with the war going on between Japan and China and with Hitler smirking at Czechoslovakia.

"Not going to be any European war!" snarled the Colonel.

"But it's possible."

"If there were, America would never get into it. We'll be so well prepared that we won't have to."

"But even in the matter of preparedness, we ought to have an association that would be the first big one that was keyed to war psychology," argued the Doctor. "If we started out now, and had speakers and hand-outs every week interpreting the news, then we'd get to be considered the final authority, no matter which way the war-cat jumped—win, lose, draw or stay out."

"Who do you think of as associated with us?"

"I wouldn't expect to decide which of the Big Names we'd get. My job is to know the technique of putting over an organization—for anything, or against anything—provided it's on the right side, I mean."

"And which do you regard as the right side?"

"I think that in any controversy, your side would probably be the right side, Colonel."

So he got the laugh that promised him spiritual victory and five thousand a year in salary.

"Are you doing anything for dinner next Thursday—you and your wife? Drop up to my place—8 o'clock, black tie." The Colonel said it casually enough, but to Dr. Planish it was the visitation of the Magi.

FORMER RANGER DIES

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 14. (AP)—Funeral services for Thomas Alexander Simms, 83, a native of Crockett and who was a member of the Texas Rangers at Uvalde from 1881 to 1883 and U. S. deputy marshal through several administrations, were held at Wheelock today. He died at his home here Saturday night.

The famed "seven cities of Cibola" in Arizona actually were only six in number.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

A FRIEND of mine has just told me about the most glorious ten hours of his life, which he spent last night.

He is a little pale this morning and there are bags under his eyes. But his eyes were glowing and, although he had only two hours sleep, there was pep and pride in his voice.

This fellow has a very big job, which has taken him all over the world. Only a few weeks ago, he returned from a 20,000-mile trip through South America.

He has seen the Taj Mahal in India; he has met kings and dictators; he has lived a rich and full life.

His experiences have made him somewhat blase, and he isn't easily moved to sentimental bathos.

He is a rough-and-ready, two-fisted Irishman—hardened by the knock and kicks and punches of the journey to success.

But when he talked to me about his glorious ten hours, he acted like a young girl who has just had her first proposal.

Let me tell you in his own words:

"Yesterday afternoon, I had a telephone call from my boy, who joined the Army 11 months ago and whom we haven't seen since then.

"He said he had a 12 hours' furlough and that immediately after his return to camp e'd be shipped overseas.

"He'd be in town in an hour; would my wife and I meet him? Would we! Indeed we would.

"I got my wife to come over and we collected his five best friends.

"We met him and took them all to dinner. Then to a show. Then we made the rounds of the night clubs and we all danced until four in the morning. Then we had to take the kid back to the bus for camp.

WHAT a time! We had our boy back again—for just a brief spell, maybe for the last time, but he was ours, all ours, for 10 glorious hours!

"We talked and we laughed. We talked of the time I took him fishing and hunting. We laughed at his little escapades and the scolding we had to give him for things that now seemed so unimportant.

"And when he left, we all laughed again and waved and wished him Godspeed and good luck.

"When the bus pulled out of the station, my wife cried, and, by golly, I cried.

"No, no matter what happens, we had those 10 hours with our boy, 10 hours that nobody and nothing can take away from us!"

Now, do you know what we are fighting for?

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

QUIET negotiations for a reunion of the American Federation of Labor and the United Mine Workers are proceeding in Washington hotel rooms only a few blocks from the silent White House. The principals maintain the utmost secrecy lest political outsiders again interfere with their efforts. But preliminary progress has been reported to the respective headquarters on settlement of the basic problem — jurisdictional squabbles.

An entirely new spirit motivates the deliberators on both sides. In other years they were only halfhearted in their attempts to get together. Now they are grimly and selfishly serious.

John L. Lewis yearns to bring his 500,000 miners back to the fold. Indeed, he was deeply disappointed when his rivals Miami convention did not accept his olive branch without delay. He is inspired by a fierce desire to defeat a fourth-term try and he believes he can do so most effectively through a joint movement. He will make many concessions to accomplish his immediate and ulterior aims.

GAINS: With only a few exceptions, William Green's peace emissaries want a rapprochement. Chief holdout is Dan Tobin, head of the Teamsters' union and chairman of the Labor bureau of the Democratic National committee.

In the past the AFL representatives went to these powwows as presidential favorites, while Lewis was an outlaw. To have bowed to him would have incurred FDR's displeasure.

Since the 1943 pourparlers, however, John L. has won increases for his men, smashed the Little Steel formula and brought about a general increase in the wage scale level. The President, in the opinion of Green's followers, has poorly repaid their support with his demand for a National Service act; they feel that they owe him nothing.

The chill shadow of possible postwar unemployment also colors these discussions. Several hundred thousand workers have been laid off already, and many more are slated for temporary or permanent dismissal.

Wiser leaders fear that if they continue to hitch their wagon to a partisan kite instead of mobilizing all their strength for united economic action, they may lose the gains they have achieved in the last decade.

AGREEMENT: Lewis's spokesmen reflect his willingness to dicker in discussing one of the main stumbling blocks of the two groups—future unionization of the vast chemical industry. In the postbellum era this enterprise will furnish the most fertile source of new members, and also if jurisdictional disputes.

The AFL never made a move to organize these workers until John L. broke away in 1935 and founded the CIO. If he wished to be stubborn, he could claim the right to corral millions of employes who now belong to independent unions or to none.

Industrial chemistry, as described by his professorial and legal researchers, touches almost every form of manufacture. Here is only a partial list of the products it affects: Metals, steels and alloys, oils, gaseous fuels, dyes, perfumes, medicines, plastics, foods, alcohol, sugar, glass, porcelain, leather, paper. There is hardly a process in which skilled and unskilled personnel would not be controled by him if he insisted on such a liberal interpretation.

It was for the purpose of capturing the people in this growing field that he set up District 50. That unit, headed by Brother Dennie Lewis, was designed to found an empire bounded only by the elements. The Welshman may still use these facts in argument, but only for bargaining purposes. He has already instructed Dennie to call off his walking delegates pending conclusion of the current conferences.

He will settle on an agreement by which he bosses only those chemical plants deriving their main ingredients from coal and its major by-products.

So, if the present negotiations fail to arrange a wedding, the most unhappy man in the U. S. will be John L. Lewis. If they do succeed, FDR may have cause for sorrow.

ACROBATICS: The Supreme court's recent gymnastics have not surprised or dismayed the man who recreated that tribunal, Franklin Roosevelt. The jurists he named — seven of the nine—are pursuing his basic philosophy in revising legal processes while they run.

In accordance with his views, they are discarding historic precedents and rewriting the whole body of law piece by piece. They are interpreting the Constitution and the statutes in the light of their social and economic predilections.

What they decide today they may reverse tomorrow, provided that they confront a fresh set of facts. They believe that they cannot stand still in the present age of transition, even though keeping abreast of the times sometimes makes them appear to be afflicted with legal St. Vitus's dance.

Although they have also indulged in somersaulting, the two pre-Roosevelt members—Chief Justice Harlan Stone and Justice Owen Roberts—are pained by their colleagues' pirouettings. But there is nothing they can do to restrain such individualists as Felix Frankfurter, Hugo Black, Frank Murphy, Wiley Rutledge and Bab Jackson.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THE Germans have devised new tactics in their frantic attempts to prevent Anglo-American flyers from destroying the industrial nerve center of their nation.

Two years ago, according to top-ranking aviators, the Nazis established a belt of searchlights stretching from a point south of the Denmark border to Berlin. But RAF bombers were not scared off, even when silhouetted by this illumination.

The enemy next set up a series of radar detectors; it was called the Kammhuber line after its originator, Gen. Flieger Kammhuber. From stations 20 miles apart directions were flashed to the defending forces. When this system failed in its purpose, it was supplemented by packs of fighters who were assigned to the Allied route; their orders were to break up as many groups as possible.

FLAK: Various tricks are used to repulse our daylight sorties. One stunt is to hurl such a heavy concentration of antiaircraft fire before our squadrons that they detour to avoid the barrage.

As they veer off, another set of batteries rains bullets to compel them to wing aside again. If they continue to dodge the shelling our navigators discover before long that they are headed back to the British Isles.

The alternative is to plunge directly into an inferno, where sunlight is obscured as if by a dense fog. Disabled craft must leave formation. The Luftwaffe attempts to destroy the stragglers.

In the early days a mission was looked upon as a "great adventure." But once an American crew has been in the thick of battle, the edge wears off, the glamor vanishes and only a sense of duty remains.

Reconnaissance often forewarns of enemy flak and our fleets can thus avoid such traps. But ground guns are mobile; they may not appear where indicated but open fire from an entirely different point of the compass.

FROZEN: The Reich employs only one-quarter of its total antiaircraft on the Russian front; the bulk of the remainder is scattered from the Channel to Berlin. Many 88-mm. cannons, used as anti-tank weapons in Italy and the Ukraine, have also been shifted to the factory-target sectors.

Frequently an onslaught by the USAAF or RAF is cancelled by reason of murk. Although it may be clear over the runways when they start out, a mist settles before the birdmen can reach their home bases. Even after escaping death from explosives, our flyers sometimes suffer from frostbite and frozen limbs; the temperature is often 46 degrees below zero in winter high altitudes.

Our boys pay a heavy price in knocking out Boche cities.

On Being A REAL PERSON

BY DR. HARRY EMERSON FOSDICK

Faith Is Not Something We GET, But Something We HAVE

EVEN a little introspection reveals that if a strong, one-directional drive takes possession of our lives, it is associated with faith in something or someone. Faith is an inner act of confidence and self-committal that naturally draws one together around its object. If "Mr. Facing-both-ways" ever becomes Mr. Facing-one-way, faith in some person, cause, idea, or possibility, believed in as worth while and surrendered to as worth serving, has inevitably played a part in bringing the blurred life to focus.

Unfocused people, however, who want this experience, are commonly baffled in attaining it. Surely, a man cannot honestly and intelligently will to have faith. How, they ask, does one get faith if one does not have it?

It is of first-rate importance, therefore, to see that faith is not something we get, but something we have. It is inherent in our psychological constitution just as truly as affection is, and sure to be used one way or another. Far from lacking faith, man has a surplus of it, associated with more curious and diverse objects than tongue can tell—faith in dictatorship, or democracy, in astrology or rabbits' feet, in endless policies concerning war and peace, in one economic nostrum or another, in our own possibilities or in the power of our circumstances to crush them, in unselfishness or self-indulgence as the way to happiness, in God or in materialism. Faith is a drug on the market. "The capacity of modern man to believe," said Mussolini, "is unbelievable." That we have more faith than we know what to do with is shown by the way we give it to every odd and end that comes along. A man can no more run away from his faith-faculty than he can run away from his own legs; they are what he does his running-away with. If a man says he will have no faith, then the policy of no-faith is what he has faith in.

WHEN, therefore, an exhorter urges us to have faith, he mistakes the state of the case. We have faith already; we never have existed an hour without exercising it. Just as we have a love-life, we have a faith-faculty; our need is to learn how to handle it. Of all mad faiths the maddest is the faith that we can get rid of faith.

To be sure, a man may lose faith in his wife, in the possibility of achieving peaceful world organization, in any specific religious doctrine, or in God, but a man thus surrendering faith has not ceased to exercise his faith-faculty. Our trick of words—"belief" vs. "unbelief"—obscures this significant matter. No man can really become an unbeliever; he is psychologically shut up to the necessity of believing—in God, or else in the impossibility of deciding. One way or another, in every realm, man is inherently a believer in something or other, positive or negative, good, bad or indifferent.

This psychological capacity illused tears life to shreds, while well-used it brings, as the New Testament says, the "victory that overcometh the world." When positive faiths die out, their place is always taken by negative faiths—in our impossibilities rather than our possibilities, in ideas that make us victims rather than masters of life, and in total philosophies that plunge us into Rabelais' dying mood, "Draw the curtain; the farce is played." Many try to dodge this fundamental fact, but do not succeed.

County Hikes Salary Of Assistant Agent

Miss Helen Edwards, an assistant county agent, will receive $15 more a month contributed to her state-county salary, county commissioners court having voted Monday to pay her $50 a month, rather than the $35 the county has been paying. That would make her monthly salary $150.

The court ok'd the appointment of George S. Bond as assistant county attorney for one week, Feb. 7 to Feb. 12, when County Attorney Syrian E. Marbut, who is allowed by law to keep an assistant during the complete term of his office, had to be in Austin to argue a juvenile law "test case" before the Texas Supreme court.

Otherwise, the court approved the bond of Mrs. Royal Furgeson, district clerk, and renewed a contract with Otis Elevator company for maintaining the two elevators in the county jail and one in the courthouse.

All commissioners were present: Barrett Penney, Ben Mansker, T. L. Holt and Newton Stokes. County Judge G. V. Pardue presided and Louie F. Moore, chief deputy county clerk, acted as secretary.

Reds Threaten Closing Of Pskov Gateway On Nazis

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The Pskov gate on the Russian-Estonian border through which Nazi forces broke more than two years ago to lay siege to Leningrad bids fair to reverse its war role and slam shut behind the largest segment of the German Army in the east yet caught in a Russian trap.

SIMPSON

That main transportation hub between Russia and the Baltic states is the sole supply or escape route still open to all Nazi troops holding the Lovat front from Staraya Russa southeastward to Novosokolniki, a stretch of 150 miles or so.

Critical Center For Nazis

Half a dozen railroads spoke out east and west of the Pskov hub, just south of the Peipus Lake chain to make it the most important and critical transportation center in Russia still in German hands. And the cutting edge of a fast-paced drive by the Russian Leningrad Army down the Narva-Pskov rail and highway system east of Lake Peipus is less than 40 miles away.

Just how many Nazi divisions are in the vast and dangerous Lovat bulge is not indicated. There has been no military activity on the Lovat front for months although a powerful Russian Army is known to have been deployed there biding its time.

Battered Forces Hold Area

The Germans still hold the lower rim of Lake Ilmen through Shimsk junction and a curving irregular front from there to south of Russian-captured Polna. That front obviously is manned, however, by battered remnants of German armies routed from Leningrad and the Volkhov and Luga river fronts.

It seems clear that the Russian Leningrad and Volkhov armies now have linked arms south of the Luga river and the town of that name for a converging drive on Pskov.

Its fall before the Nazi garrison on the Lovat flank from Staraya Russa south to Novosokolniki can make its escape would mean possible Russian entrapment of hundreds of thousands of German troops.
