School Administrators To Meet Here Saturday

Superintendents, principals and school supervisors from over the Panhandle are slated to convene here Saturday for a quarterly session of the Panhandle School Adminstrators Assn.

Huelyn Laycock, White Deer school superintendent and president of the adminstrators' group, estimates 125 school leaders will attend the one-day meeting during which improvement of school reading programs will be topic for discussion panels.

Opening panels are to get underway at 10 a.m. in Pampa High school auditorium led by Dr. Ruth Lowes, professor of education at West Texas Stae colleg and consultant in elementary education for Pampa schools.

A Pampa teacher, Mrs. McHenry Lane, is to lead discussion on one of the six phases of the better-reading panel. Mrs. Lane will discuss reading at the upper grade level.

Other discussions and their leaders are: reading at the primary level, Mrs. Walter Travis, Dumas; reading at the secondary school level, Miss Stacia Irene Crawford, Amarillo; how the administrator can help the teacher of reading, Neville Bremer, Amarillo; how the parent can aid the teacher, Mrs. Melva Fortenberry, Hereford; how the administrator can help the parent understand what the school is doing in the reading program which is led by Mrs. Roy Guthrie of Memphis.

Luncheon will be in the high school cafeteria.

During this portion of the meeting, Miss Marjorie Curtis, exchange teacher from England, will describe school systems of the two countries, pointing out the contrasts and similarities. She is now teaching in Amarillo.

Entertainment during the meeting is to be provided by the PHS A Cappella choir, directed by Kenneth Baumgardner, and the high school boys quartet.

Local Men Take Hwy. 60 Assn. Posts

Howard Buckingham and Red Wedgeworth, both of Pampa, yesterday were named officers in the newly formed Highway 60 Assn. during a meeting of the group in Amarillo.

Buckingham was elected president and Wedgeworth secretary-treasurer as representatives from 10 Panhandle cities met to complete organization of the group.

Fred W. Phelps, Clovis, was named first vice president and R. J. Bean of Miami second vice president. Three other Pampa men, attended Thursday's session with one named as a director. Elected to directorship was Frank Lard. The other two Pampans attending were Jack B. Vaughn and A. L. Mills.

According to Wedgeworth, the meeting was an effort on the part of the cities to promote plans for placing special interest on the highway. The aim of the association will be to advertise the transcontinental strip and to promote more traffic over it.

Up until this year, he said, Hwy. 60 boosters have not been in the position to do much on advertising the highway since there were several unpaved gaps.

With the completion of paving in Oklahoma last year, however, the association can now boast of a coast-to-coast paved highway and can seek more traffic along the route.

Wedgeworth said also that the national convention of the U. S. Hwy. 60 association will convene in Pampa some time in April. The exact date has not been set.

Another meeting of the Plains group is scheduled in Amarillo March 6, at which time a tentative set of constitution and by-laws will be presented by the newly elected officers.

The group will represent cities along the route from Clovis, N. M., to Higgins, Texas. All cities, except Bovina and Farwell, were present for the Thursday session in Amarillo.

Directors named were: Howard Lane, Panhandle; H. K. Kendrick, Finley, Texico; Warren Harring-Hobgood, Amarillo; Lard of Pampa; Cecil Massey, Canyon; Tom Finley, Texico; Marren Harrington, Canadian; Deward Roberson, Hereford; Russell Landers, Higgins; Alvin Williams, White Deer; Pete Murphy, Clovis, and Aubreu Brock, Bovina.

Wedgeworth Will Attend Meeting Of Chamber Managers

E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the local chamber of commerce, will represent Pampa at a meeting Saturday of the executive board and program committee of the Chamber of Commerce Managers Assn. of West Texas in Abilene.

Discussion will center about the program for the organization's work clinic to be held in Brownwood April 21-22.

Other representatives will include W. E. Cantrell, Dalhart, president of the association; A. C. Bishop, Sweetwater, vice president, Jim Roberts, Plainview, secretary; Jim Hestand, Dumas and L. G. Flesner, Borger, members of the program committee. Also attending will be Rex Jennings, manager of the Brownwood chamber and Joe Cooley, manager of the Abilene chamber.

One Sentenced In Burglary Trial

Archie Converse, Pampa, was given a three-year suspended sentence for burglary yesterday afternoon by Judge Lewis M. Goodrich in 31st District Court at Miami.

Converse pleaded guilty to participating in the July 13, 1951, burglary of the Miami Lumber Co. when several rifles were taken.

Converse was the fourth of a group to be sentenced in the Miami burglary. Two of them, Billy Max Frazier and Jack Gardner, are now serving three years in the penitentiary. A third, Red Zerger, was given a five-year parole to Sheriff Cy Carr of Miami.

The Pampa youth told the court he was the driver of the car the four used on the night of the burglary. He said he did not go into the lumber yard, but waited outside for the others.

England Hails Her New Queen

LONDON — (AP) — Britain today proclaimed 25-year-old Elizabeth II Queen of the Realm, the Territories and the Commonwealth. The young monarch in turn promised to be a true and faithful sovereign.

Trumpets pealed as a medieval-clad figure at 11 a.m. (5 a.m. CST) on the balcony of St. James' palace read the accession council's proclamation declaring a second young Bess "Queen of this realm and of her other realms and territories, head of the commonwealth, defender of the faith."

Packed thousands, somber in their mourning for the late King George VI, stood to attention as the Coldstream guards intoned the majestic national anthem — now "God Save the Queen."

Through London and the commonwealth batteries boomed royal salutes.

Britain, her colonies and the commonwealth were formally under the reign of a woman for the first time since Queen Victoria died 51 years ago.

Earlier, in a 20-minute ceremony inside the ancient palace, Elizabeth had appeared before her privy council of 300 high court and political leaders to promise that she would "always work, as my father did throughout his reign, to uphold constitutional government and to advance the happiness and prosperity of my peoples, spread as they are all the world over."

Later today the Queen and her husband, the Duke of Edinburg, planned to hurry to the bier of her dead father, King George VI, whose passing early Wednesday brought her back 4,000 miles from East Africa.

Dressed in the uniform of an admiral of the fleet, the body of the late King lay in an oak coffin at Sandringham House, the royal estate 130 miles away where he died. Mourning him there were his widow, the Queen mother Elizabeth, and his younger daughter, Princess Margaret.

Group Expected To Okay Stricter UMT

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senators said today they expect their Armed Services committee to approve a stricter universal military training bill than that voted out by the House committee.

Some Senate committeemen said privately they favor a UMT bill that will permit both training and active service by 18-year-olds.

A bill fashioned by the House group provides for six months of basic training but bars additional active service unless Congress passes new legislation or the trainees ask it.

Senator Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the committee, asked members of the National Security Resources Training commission, (NSRTC), who began testimony yesterday on legislation to put the compulsory training program into action, to return today (10:30 a.m. EST) for questioning.

"We hope to push this as fast as we can and complete testimony next week," Russell told a reporter.

BOTH BILLS

Under both the Senate and House bills either the President or the Congress could put the UMT training into operation.

There had been some doubt, both by military leaders and congressmen, that the present selective service draft of men for 24 months service could continue and a start be made on the UMT at the same time.

Both Chairman James Wadsworth and Lt. Gen. Raymond S. McClain, members of the NSRT commission which devised the detailed legislation and which would supervise the program, testified this could be done.

McClain said that as long as the draft does not take all men from 18 to 25 years, UMT could operate at age levels below the draft. He said most men inducted now are 20 or older and UMT could take youths down to 18. The present draft can take men at 18 1-2 but few that young have been inducted.

Senator Stennis (D-Miss) said opposition to UMT had developed more steam since Congress approved it in principle last year. That set up the special commission to recommend the detailed legislation now being considered.

"I'm supporting the legislation," Stennis said. "We can't wait until selective service (the draft) is over to start UMT."

Senator Saltonstall (R - Mass) said the House committee provision to delay active call of UMT men appears to nullify the overall intentions of building up the trained reserve of civilians.

He said he has other questions about changes made by the House committee in the vast program.

Laws Passed By Legislature Explained To Kiwanis By Cobb

Laws enacted by the current Texas legislature were explained to Kiwanians by Mauris Cobb, state representative from Amarillo, today during a weekly meeting of the club in the Methodist church.

The representative from the 123 district stated that 1364 bills were introduced during the last session of the legislature and that of these, 549 were enacted.

"Business is operated on a two-year basis," Cobb explained, "necessitating the planning of a long-range program, which is difficult to do."

In 1951 the legislature expanded the public school system, advanced the hospital program in the state and extended the highway program, along with other action. "If the following body of lawmakers follow the same procedure," he said, "there will be a $110,000,000 deficit."

Cobb said two ways to prevent the deficit are to cut appropriations or to raise the amount through taxes. "If appropriations can be cut to half a large portion of the remainder can be raised by taxes on natural gas, which fall mostly on concerns outside Texas where the gas is destined."

Other laws enacted for the welfare of Texans during the last session, Cobb said, included revision of election laws, and vehicle legislation designed to reduce accidents in the state. In addition, laws to prevent establishment of syndicates in Texas were passed, he added.

S/Sgt. Milton Webb, Amarillo Air Force base, provided several piano selections. Program was directed by Bob Curry and was introduced by Fred Thompson.

Bond Election Set

TYLER — (AP) — Tyler residents will vote Feb. 26 on a $195,000 road paving bond issue election. If the issue passes property owners will pay 90 percent of the cost of paving and the city 10 percent.

Magician To Appear Here March 17

Prince Zogi, a top-flight master mystic, will be brought to Pampa for a one night performance in the Junior High school auditorium at 8 p.m., Mar. 17, under the auspices of Pampa Lodge 1385, Loyal Order of Moose.

The magician, sent by the same booking agency that handled The Great Virgil last year for the Pampa Rotary club, is now on tour through the Southwest, and will be showing in the Panhandle during the first two weeks in March. His performances will be in Amarillo, Wellington, Shamrock, Clarendon, and Pampa under auspices of various civic clubs and the Moose organization.

Officers of the Pampa lodge last night completed arrangements with the magician's agent, W. A. Frank, of Hutchinson, Kans. Frank said this will be the third time for Prince Zogi to appear in Pampa.

Earl Miller, governor of the Pampa Moose, said tickets for the performance are being sent to the printer and will be given to lodge members and placed on sale at convenient places in the mid-city area, the places to be announced later.

API To End Drive With Dance Friday

Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute will climax its 1952 membership drive in the area Saturday with a dance at the Southern club.

The dance, held annually in conjunction with the drive, will begin at 9:30 p. m. and is to last until 1:30 a. m. Music will be provided by Phil Phillips and his orchestra.

Clayton Husted, chairman of the Panhandle chapter, said corsages will be given all the ladies attending the dance. Tickets still may be obtained from any member of the API advisory committee or by calling Luther Reynolds at the Stanolind office, 9013-F-2.

Present membership of the group is about 700.

TAKING A WHACK — It may be in the interest of the Boy Scout drive, but it seems as if Leslie Hart, left, is taking a beating at the hands of Gene Fatheree, both team colonels in the recent campaign to raise funds for Scouts. Colonel of the winning team was required to cut the tail from the shirt of the loser, painful as it might be. Possibly it was Fatheree, however, who came out on the losing end because, although his team had more contributors, the sign he reads on the shirt Hart is wearing is: "This shirt was taken from the closet of Gene Fatheree." Response In One-Day Drive For Scout Fund Said 'Good'

Response in the one-day Boy Scout drive here yesterday was good, Paul Beisenherz, local Scout executive, said today.

He announced that half of the cards which were mailed locally requesting contributions to the drive were returned yesterday and that cards are still coming into the office today. Total contributions probably will not be known until tomorrow, Beisenherz said.

The annual drive, which took place during Boy Scout week, Feb. 6-12 lasted one day and was one of many activities scheduled by the Scouts, both locally and nationally, throughout the week.

Girl Scout Troop 14 will present a cake with 42 candles to Boy Scout Troop 14 today during ceremonies at 8 p.m. in the First Presbyterian church. Tomorrow marks the 42nd birthday of the organization of the Scouts in America.

Other activities planned tomorrow include live displays by Scouts in downtown Pampa. Cooking demonstrations and preparations for erecting camps will be included.

Pampan Posts $1000 Peace Bond

Peace bond for $1000 was posted by Virgil M. Larkin, Pampa, yesterday charged in county court with threatening to take a human life.

Charges resulted when Larkin allegedly threatened to kill Si Bewley, Lefors, yesterday, over a car accident. Bewley and Larkin were involved in an accident recently in which the latter's vehicle was damaged. Larkin allegedly was not satisfied with the settlement and reportedly threatened Bewley.

CIO To Tell Stand On President Later

DALLAS — (AP) — CIO Executive Vice President Allan S. Haywood says the union will take a position on presidential candidates later this year.

Last night he told a rally of CIO members from throughout the state that the CIO "will not go strictly down the party line" of the Democratic party.

Haywood said that in some places "we will support Republicans who stand for things to help the working man."

Grain Dealer Is Indicted

AMARILLO — (AP) — Herman Dawson, Fort Worth grain dealer, was indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury on 24 counts of converting government grain to his own use.

The indictment, the first criminal charge filed in the current probe into government grain shortages, estimated the value of the grain at $400,000.

Dawson was one of several Texas grain men recently named in grain shortage suits filed by the commodity grain corporation. Previous charges filed against warehousemen with shortages of grain have been civil complaints.

He is charged with converting to his own use grain from the company's elevators at St. Francis, near Amarillo, and grain stored in government buildings at Amarillo Air Force base.

The indictment was one of more than 30 returned by the grand jury.

Group To Discuss Plans For Annual Girl Scout Fair

Plans for the annual Girl Scout fair will be discussed during a meeting of the Scout planning board at 10 a. m. Feb. 16, in the Palm Room.

As yet no definite plans have been made for the fair which will be held March 8. Scout officials hope to obtain the field house in which to hold the event. Proceeds will be used for various troop activities including camping trips in the spring.

During the planning board meeting a girl from each troop and troop leader will be present. Program chairman is Mrs. Kathryn Steele.

Reds To Follow Allied Plan For POW Delivery

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — Allied spokesmen said today the Communists apparently plan to gear delivery of war prisoners to the Allied delivery rate.

The UN communique said there were indications that the Reds "will no longer adhere to their previous offer of completing the return of UNC prisoners within 30 days after the armistice."

Instead, the Communists said the two-month time limit included in their prisoner exchange proposal of last Sunday applies equally to both sides.

Last Monday Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said the Allies would need 30 days because the UN has 116,000 prisoners. UN spokesmen indicated the Allies subsequently cut 30 days off their figure and asked the Reds who have only 11,559 prisoners, to do the same.

Chinese Col. Tsai Chang-Wen replied, "we cannot agree to different time limits for each side."

Col. George W. Hickmen told newsmen, "they don't want to give all of their's back until we give them all of ours."

Armistice negotiators will hold a full dress session tomorrow to hear the Allies' answer to a Communist proposal for a high level conference to settle all Asian questions related to peace in Korea.

Some observers said they expect the UN reply to include a counterproposal.

The Reds' three-point plan was offered Wednesday as an outline of proposed recommendations to governments involved in the Korean war. It calls for a conference within three months after an armistice is signed to consider withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea, peaceful settlement of the Korean question and other questions relating to the Korean problem.

Washington sources said the United States is prepared to accept the first two points, but will balk at the third, which would include such subjects as the future of Formosa.

Political Activity Perks Up As More Candidates File

State and county political activity perked up a little yesterday afternoon as three candidates for office filed intentions with Democratic County Chairman Aaron Sturgeon.

E. C. Schaffer, at mid-afternoon, entered the Precinct 2 county commissioner race for the third time. Schaffer ran for the office in 1948 and 1950.

Schaffer came to Gray county in 1893 and started ranching in and around Precinct 3. He served two terms as county commissioner from that precinct in 1914. The 80-year old candidate lives at 908 S. Wells.

Schaffer faces County Commissioner Bill Graham for the Precinct 2 post. Graham has announced his candidacy, but has not filed with the Democratic County committee for a place on the ballot.

A few minutes before Schaffer filed, Sturgeon received a mailed application from Judge James G. Lumpkin, Amarillo, for a place on the primary ballot for reelection to his post as associate justice, Court of Civil Appeals, 7th Supreme Court Judicial District.

Earlier yesterday W. E. Green, McLean, filed with the Democratic committee as a candidate for justice of the peace, Precinct 5, in McLean. The spot is now being held by C. S. Rice, who has already announced, but has not filed.

You have called a man to become your minister; you have chosen him with calm deliberation... with great care. That means that you desire a spiritual church in the service and worship of God.

The minister is your prophet, even as he is also the prophet of the Most High. It follows that you have promised to harken to the message which that "preacher-prophet" is to bring. Else, why did you make him your minister? He expects, through prayer and meditation, to find the will of God for himself and for you and for our world. Listen then to what the divine purpose for you may be!

The preacher is the leader of his people, under the Spirit of God. How necessary that there shall be women and men to follow where he marks out the path of Christian living! That likely means regular attendance at the services of prayer in your church. It means also an eager listening to the Scriptural exposition, in which men find what God has for them to be and to do, as well as the blessed aid of His Spirit in all one's efforts.

The Church is a fellowship of women and men, inspired by the example and the teaching of the Master, united about the Spirit of the Lord Jesus Christ, and committed with Him to the coming of the Kingdom of God upon the earth. It takes us all together to create and to maintain such a healing and strengthening and comforting fellowship. You and I need the divine comradeship which the church affords. Let's do our part to make a good church in our community; God will do His part, we may be sure. As much so as does the Preacher, we have a ministry to carry out. "Take heed to the ministry which thou hast received in the Lord, that thou fulfill it..." Attend your church.

National Debt, Another War Are Texans' Biggest Worries

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Next to the ever-constant threat of World War III, the first worry of Texas members of Congress — and most other congressmen — is the enormous national debt.

The present ceiling on the public debt is 275 billion dollars. Although that's down 25 billion from the all-time high reached in World War II, it's six times as great as the 45 billion dollar ceiling in effect at the beginning of 1941.

Those Texans available for comment were unanimous in expressing hope that the ceiling won't be raised.

The one qualification which everyone states in expressing a determination to block a further boost in the national debt ceiling this year is action that may be necessary in the event of an all-out war.

Discussing the matter of raising the legal ceiling on the national debt, the lawmakers hasten to point out that it isn't a question on which you can say "yes" or "no" without taking into consideration the justification of any and all appropriations.

"Actually," commented Rep. John E. Lyle of Corpus Christi, "there's no such thing, practically speaking, as a ceiling on the national debt. The Congress fixes a limit beyond which the treasury can not go in issuing bonds. If Congress decides to appropriate beyond that limitation, it raises the ceiling."

The question of a debt ceiling has to be considered along with revenues. Without exception the Texas members questioned are against any new taxes this year. They note that the President's budget bureau requests amount to 85 billion dollars, while anticipated revenues for this year amount to about 71 billion. Fourteen billion dollar deficit financing should still leave the debt just within the 275 billion limitation.

"I think we can well live within the 70-odd billion dollar income," Lyle continued.

Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana, a member of the House-Senate Joint committee on the economic report and one of the authorities in Congress on monetary matters, also describes the national debt limitation "meaningless, to all intents and purposes."

"Congress puts the lid on," he explains, "and it can take it off."

The right approach is not to appropriate the money. If it does, it must be responsible for its actions and see that the treasury can act accordingly. Otherwise, it would be in the role of a man writing bad checks."

Elaborating on his own views and calling for a balanced budget, Patman said:

"I'm for achieving that end but trimming down the budget estimates. The military as well as the civilian agencies can get by on much less, without sacrificing national security."

Numerous members agreed with Patman and Lyle, that the armed services would have to share in any cuts if there was to be anything like a balanced budget. They point out that about 60 billion dollars of the budget's estimated 85 billion — for the year starting next July 1 — is for the armed forces. Nearly 87 percent of the total is for cost of past wars or arming against future wars. The cost of non-defense programs of government has decreased about 9 percent since fiscal 1950.

Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock and Colorado City, head of the House Armed Services Appropriations subcommittee, was cautious in predicting what final action his group will take in regard to trimming the budget's request for the military.

"We lopped about 1 1-2 billion off last year's requests," he says. "I can assure you we'll carefully check every item, and I hope we can effect even a greater savings this year.

Rep. Ken Regan of Midland makes no bones how he feels, but he isn't on the Appropriations committee and can only hope to translate words into action when the money measures go to the floor — often under rules which won't permit any changes; you have to take it or leave it.

"The military is wading in money right now," Regan declared.

"We have plenty of instances of waste and extravagance on their part. I think the over-all budget could be cut 50 percent and still be adequate."

Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa: "This deficit financing can lead to bankruptcy, socialism and loss of individual freedom. That's probably Russia's strategy, so let's don't fall for it.

"I agree that there's plenty of room for cutting the budget. The military is a good place to start; it's criminal the way they've been throwing money away."

Rep. Omar Burleson of Ansen: "The only way I'd agree to raising the debt ceiling would be if we became involved in an all-out war. I'm against new taxes and I think we can cut down the budget estimates plenty."

Rep. Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater:

"I hope we can bring about economies and savings so it won't be necessary to even think about raising the debt limitation."

Reps. W.R. Poage of Waco and Clark Fisher of San Angelo both agreed that they also are opposed to any new taxes and feel much can be cut from the President's budget request.

Rep. Lloyd Bentsen, Jr. of McAllen:

"I would look with considerable disfavor on raising the debt limitation. The only justification would be for urgent increases in national defense, which I hope we won't have to have."

Rep. Clark Thompson of Galveston:

"Unless the emergency conditions become substantially worse we should hold the debt ceiling where it is. I expect we can make some material savings in the budget requests for national defense without in anyway impairing our security."

Rep. Homer Thornberry:

"I certainly hope we can cut down the budget requests."

Rep. Paul Kilday of San Antonio:

"I think there's a lot of water in these budget requests that we can squeeze out. I'm not in favor of any new taxes."

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO — (AP) — A late rally, accompanied by the most active trading of the session, left all major grains with advances at the close on the board of trade.

Brokers through the closing advance stemmed mainly from short-covering, partly from floor traders who had sold earlier in the day. Final prices in wheat, corn and oats were just about the day's highs.

Until the last half hour, the market had sold under the previous close practically the entire session. March corn was an exception, showing strength from the start on export buying.

Wheat closed ¼-¾ higher, March $2.57¼-⅜, corn ⅝-1⅝ higher, March $1.83⅝-½, oats ⅛-¾ higher, March 84⅞-85, soybeans 1 cent lower to 1¼ higher, March $2.99-2.98¾.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK — (AP) — Cotton futures were lower Thursday in moderately active dealings. Rallying tendencies were discouraged by recurrent flurries of commission house and New Orleans selling, with prices swinging over a fairly wide range.

The market reflected confusion over the latest Korean developments and also the question of price support on the next cotton crop.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said yesterday that he opposed any increase in the cotton support level at this time. This appeared to touch off some additional selling in futures, but a good many traders were of the opinion that the lack of a higher price incentive would work against attainment of the Department of Agriculture's cotton goal of 28,000,000 acres for cotton this year.

Cotton futures worked irregularly higher in late dealings on trade buying and short covering.

Futures closed 50 cents a bale higher to 5 cents lower than the previous close.

Truman Statement May Mean He Will Not Be Demo Nominee

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman's announcement that he is going to let the political river take its course, with a little steering now and then, was interpreted in some administration circles today as indicating he does not plan to run again.

It has been learned authoritatively by this reporter that some of Truman's closest friends now do not believe he will seek renomination — barring unforeseen developments.

One of these friends, who cannot be named, told me that while the President apparently hasn't confided his decision to anyone, the inner circle of his associates looks for him to step aside at the proper time and name his choice for the nomination.

The President was depicted as realizing that some other northern Democratic candidate would be likely to command more support in the south than he could because of the antagonism over his civil rights program.

On the other hand, Truman apparently is fully cognizant of the widespread view among Democratic leaders that he is their best candidate — as of now.

As part of is program of letting the political river take its course, he seemingly is giving some other Democrats their chance to demonstrate what they can do. This may apply to Senator Kerr (D-Okla), in a limited way, and to Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois.

But there seems a strong determination within the close circle of Truman friends that the nominee won't be Senator Kefauver (S-Tenn) if they can help it. They feel Kefauver would not appeal to the south and would have only partial support from the party's self-styled "liberals."

Kefauver has challenged Truman in the March 11 New Hampshire primary. And it is there that the President told a news conference yesterday he will let the river take its course.

Texas Ike Backers In New York Today

NEW YORK — (AP) — A trainload of Texans boosting Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for President was scheduled to arrive today for the big Eisenhower rally tonight in Madison Square Garden.

The Texans will be taken from the Pennsylvania station in buses to the New York city hall for a reception.

At the rally tonight the Texans will parade, headed by the 30-piece Hardin - Simmons university cowboy band.

At a brief stop in St. Louis yesterday the Texans made their presence known in Union station by band music, rebel yells and ringing cow bells.

Chemist Will Speak In Phillips

Bates was graduated from Massachusetts State college in 1934 and received M. A. and PHD degrees from Duke university. He also attended Yale for two years.

Job Insurance Fraud In Texas Said At Minimum

Fraud detected in the unemployment insurance program is at a minimum, officials of the Texas Employment commission have announced.

In 1951, out of 10,000 individual claim records examined, indications of fraud were found in 854. A follow-up probe revealed irregularities in only 158. In 94 of the cases discrepancies were minor and claimants were required to refund amounts received in error.

Benefit payments for the remaining 64 were canceled. New cases uncovered by TEC and recommended for prosecution total, 39. Of prosecutions completed during the year, 18 resulted in conviction, one in acquittal and 22 in dismissals.

Harvesters Take Thriller From Amarillo Sandies, 47 — 44

Win Moves Pampa Into Tie For Lead

"The Sandies are capable of beating any team in the district," said Coach Clifton McNeely about the Amarillo High school basketball team earlier this week. And the Sandies nearly did just that to the Pampa Harvesters last night at the fieldhouse.

Coach T. G. Hull's hustling cagers proved that there are no "patsys" in District 1-AAAA as they trailed the Green and Gold the entire game until early in the fourth quarter. Then Jerry Manning hit a free throw to put the Sandies ahead, 40-39, after Johnny Jenkins had tied the game with 6:52 left to play.

Marvin Bond then tied the contest at the 4:40 mark but Manning, who should have been out of the game due to five personal fouls which were overlooked by the official scorer, put the Sandies back ahead, 44-43, with a sleeper shot with 1:45 left to play, play.

But Jimmy "Froggie" Dulaney drove down court, raced to the left side of the free throw circle, jumped into the air, and pumped a push shot through the net to put Pampa back ahead. Marvin Bond dumped another two-pointer through seconds later to ice the contest.

It was a brilliantly played game before 2,000 screaming partisan fans. It was a hard game on the Harvesters two days before playing Borger's Bulldogs for the district championship.

Duane Jeter was the boy who took the scoring honors for the night with 14. But the sensational thing about the 6-4 senior center's scoring was that he hit the first six shots he took in the first quarter to squirt the Pampans into a 15-13 first quarter lead. Jeter hit seven of 15 shots he took for the night.

In the second quarter the Green and Gold ran its lead to 23-17 but the Sandies' Bobby Hudson drove in for two points on a fast break just as the half ended, to give Pampa a four-point halftime margin.

In the third period the Harvesters once again appeared to finally be on their way, grabbing a seven-point margin midway through the quarter but the persistent Sandies kept pursuing and trailed 37-33 as the fourth period started.

BOYD HITTING

Tom Boyd opened the final quarter with a two-hand jump shot for the Sandies and then Jimmy Bond drove under to get the points back. Boyd fired another two-hander and Jenkins got his two points to tie the count 39-39 with 6:52 to lay. Manning put the Sandstorm ahead with a charity toss and a set shot and the Sandies started to stall with a three-point lead.

A pass slipped through Manning's hands and the Harvesters took over. Marvin Bond drove under for a layup shot and the lead was one point. Bond again drove for the basket and was fouled, getting two shots. He missed the first, but hit the second to tie the score at 42-all with 3:20 left to play. Then the lead see-sawed until Dulaney potted his two pointer.

The Harvesters stalled out the final minute and fifteen seconds.

According to the Pampa News scoring chart, the Harvesters fired from the field 43 times, hitting 20 for a percentage of almost 47. The Sandies hit 18 of 57 shots for a mark of almost 32 percent.

SCRAMBLE — Jimmy Bond (16) grapples with Jerry Manning, Sandie guard, for possession of the ball during last night's thriller at the fieldhouse. The Harvester victory put Pampa back into a tie with Borger for the district lead. No Midgets, Says Rogers

EL CENTRO, Calif. — (AP) — In case there is any doubt about it, this is to advise that there will be no midgets playing for the St. Louis Browns as long as Rogers Hornsby is the manager.

Hornsby made this clear yesterday to all — including seven midgets.

Hornsby and the seven little midgets met at the Brown's temporary training camp yesterday.

The wee peoples' spokesman, Billy Curtis, from Hollywood — where else? — made a brief speech. He said his people had a "soft spot" in their hearts since the Browns used a midget in a regular game last year as a pinch-hitter.

Serious - minded Rogers listened for a minute or so, but when the leader of the so-called Hollywood midgets baseball club said they had "come down to help the Browns," the Rajah could go along no further.

He pointed out that he was in the midst of a big league operation and, to put it politely, simply didn't have the time to fool around with the gag.

However, he did go along with the gag long enough to pose for pictures.

Then, according to Curtis, Hornsby concluded with the order, "get out."

The 1951 midget episode, you remember, was a huge joke perpetuated by Bill Veeck, showman president of the Browns.

Matches At Lefors Monday

LEFORS — (Special) — Next Monday evening at 7:45, the Lefors Pirate and Shamrock Irish mittmen will join forces in an attempt to down the Pampa Boys' Club boxers in a fist fest to be held in the Lefors gym.

The Pirates have plenty of excellent light-weight glovers, but virtually no heavy boys. Shamrock will supply these heavier sluggers to round out the night's card.

Some 12 to 15 bouts will be held with such fighters as Eddy Clemmons, regional Golden Gloves king, Carol Welch, Fred Blackwell, J. D. Redus, Jerry Herring, James Warner, Darwin Teeters, and Cecil Sanders defending Lefors; aided by Ronald Settle, Bobby Campbell, Edward Carver, Bill Pavlovsky, and Paul Copper from Shamrock.

One of the top bouts of the evening will be the Eddy Clemmons-Scotty Davey fight. Both boys are great competitors and will put up an outstanding battle.

Representatives of all eight member clubs of the West Texas-New Mexico Class C baseball league will gather in Lubbock tomorrow night to start a two-day session to complete final arrangements for the 1952 baseball season. The meeting will be held in the Hilton Hotel, starting at 8 o'clock.

Representing the Pampa Oilers at the meeting will be President R. D. Mills and Business Manager Ivy Griffin.

The final pre-season session is expected to bring about some changes in the league's rules as they now stand. Most important change will probably be in the changing of the veteran player limit from the total of five agreed to in the fall meeting to approximately eight. Most clubs have found themselves with an over-abundance of classmen and rather than lose money on turning them loose, would rather change the player limit to a higher number.

REVISIONS

League President Ray Winkler of Lubbock has also indicated that a complete revision of the league's constitution and by-laws may be worked on. "The by-laws and constitution led to several unpleasant incidents last year, incidents that never would have arisen if the by-laws and consitsuation had been in shape," Winkler said.

The meeting is also expected to result in some changes in the opening dates of the 1952 season. The schedule was agreed upon and adopted at the meeting at Columbus, O., in December, but several of the member clubs are unhappy over the opening tussles.

An announcement is also due from Paul Dean, owner of the Lubbock Hubbers, as to who his field manager will be in 1952. Don Moore, now the property of the Oilers, started as manager of the Hubbers last year, but was replaced in mid-season by Al Kubski.

Guerillas Host Bullpups Tonight

The Pampa Guerillas will play the Borger Bullpups at 7:30 tonight in the fieldhouse in a regular Amarillo Amateur Athletic Union league game. The two clubs were originally scheduled to meet tomorrow night at Amarillo, but due to the importance of the Pampa Harvester-Borger Bulldog game at Borger the date of the game was shifted.

A flip of the coin brought the game to the fieldhouse.

Coach Aubra Nooncaster's likely starting lineup for the game will see Doug Randolph at center, Ray Cooper and Gale Trollinger at forwards, Don Fagan and Charley McCray at the guards.

Wizards Tickets Now On Sale

The Whiskered Wizards, ballhandling phenomena of the hardwood, will perform for the Pampa cage fans next Monday night in the fieldhouse when they play the Noblitt - Coffey Chiefs.

The Wizards met a team of Panhandle coaches Wednesday night at McLean, and edged the star-studded crew, 79-69. J. W. Malone, who will perform for the Chiefs Monday night, hit 29 points for the coaches in that game.

The Wizards are the only team to have beaten the Chiefs in two years, edging them by seven points here last season.

Tickets for the game may be obtained at Malone and Keel, Noblitt - Coffey, Leders, Richard, and Clydes. Student tickets are on sale at the National Farm Loan Assn., office, 115 W. Francis. The game is being sponsored by the Pampa Kiwanis Club to benefit the summer softball program.

WHOOPS — Jerry Manning, Amarillo guard, sees the ball slip out of his grasp during last night's action at the fieldhouse. A pair of Harvesters stand by ready to recover if possible. They are Duane Jeter, left, and Marvin Bond. Tom Boyd, huge Amarillo center, stands behind Bond. The Harvesters went on to take a thrilling 47-44 win. (News photo by Ken Hardin)

Morris Carona, Galveston and Beaumont, and Tom Adams, Lubbock and Abilene, lead the list with five Texas Golden Gloves championships each.

Tulsa Upsets Okla. Aggies; Bonnies Whip Kentucky State

NEW YORK — (AP) — From all indications the Oklahoma Aggies are out of the running for the NCAA basketball title this year.

The team that was runnerup to Kansas State in the western NCAA finals last year received probably a fatal blow to its 1952 hopes last night in losing to Tulsa, 46-33. It was the first Tulsa victory over the Aggies in 11 years.

It was also the Aggies' 2nd defeat in Missouri Conference competition and gave St. Louis, unbeaten in league play, an apparent stranglehold on the league crown. The Missouri Conference winner automatically qualifies for the western NCAA eliminations.

Meantime, unbeaten St. Bonaventure continued serenely on its way to its much - heralded Monday's meeting with Duquesne by whipping Murray State of Kentucky, 74-63. The Dukes and the Bonnies are the only major undefeated teams in the nation.

Dick Groat helped Duke come from behind in the last quarter to beat William and Mary, 68-62, in the Southern Conference. Groat scored 11 of his 24 points in the rally that erased a nine-point Duke deficit.

Marquette and Holy Cross also came through with impressive victories. Marquette, behind 37-31 at the half, rallied to upset Notre Dame, 57-50.

Holy Cross spurted in the last quarter to beat Columbia, 85-80, in overtime.

DePaul made it seven straight by nipping Manhattan 66-65, in half of a Madison Square doubleheader. In the other game NYU crushed Syracuse, 95-78 after trailing 12-6 early in the fray.

In other games Utah State beat New Mexico, 62-58; West Texas nipped Arizona, 59-57; Furman took South Carolina, 59-56; Western Kentucky downed Tampa, 79-70 and Wichita edged Creighton, 63-62.

1-A Has Busy Schedule Tonight

District 1-A has a busy basketball schedule on tap tonight when the Wheeler Mustangs journey to Canadian to play the Wildcats, the White Deer Bucks hit the road to play at Lefors, and the Panhandle Panthers go to Clarendon to face the Bronchos.

In a non-conference game the Phillips Blackhawks of District 1-AA meet the McLean Tigers at McLean.

Johnny Palmer Tops Field As El Paso Tourney Resumes

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

EL PASO — (AP) — Johnny Palmer, the Badin, N. C., tournament veteran, for whom the cash register hasn't been ringing much lately, set out at the head of the field in the $10,000 El Paso Open's second 18-hole round today.

Palmer led with a seven-under-par 64 but his position was a trifle shaky even for the first round — which wasn't finished for nine players last night.

Among them was Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., who had a four-under-par when he was forced to quit on the thirteenth green because it was too dark. He winds up the first round the first thing today.

Another unfinished player was Hank Mercer, Detroit, who was even par through 13. The others had high scores.

Par was bettered 34 times by the field which started as 141 players but had a half - dozen withdrawals.

Breathing on Palmer's neck was Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., who did a 65. Middlecoff missed only one green and his putting was something to behold. He sank two 20-footers and one 15-footer.

In third place, a stroke behind Middlecoff, was Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y., while Fred Hawkins of El Paso and that muscular man from Toledo, O., amateur Frank Stranahan, tied for fourth place with 67.

The reason all players couldn't finish was that frozen greens yesterday morning caused an hour's wait.

After today's round the field will be cut to the 60 low professionals and ties plus the 10 low amateurs. They will play the final 36 holes Saturday and Sunday.

Eugene Cooper of Pampa has won two Texas Golden Gloves championships. He was the welterweight champ in 1948 and the middleweight titlist in 1951.

Hassett's Shot Ends Great Irish Comeback

By ELMER RIPLEY
Army Coach

WEST POINT, N. Y. — (NEA) — Billy Hassett's sensational shot for Notre Dame against touted DePaul at South Bend during the 1945-46 campaign perhaps will always stand out in my mind as the most exciting.

I was coaching the Irish that season, and Hassett, one of my more consistent players, was having a rare bad night. He had missed about 15 shots from the outside.

At halftime, DePaul was out in front by 17 points. I gave the kids a rousing pep talk, and they came out and immediately set about shaving the lead until we trailed by a single point with only seconds to play.

A jump ball between the great George Mikan and Vince Boryla set the stage for Hassett's unbelievable basket. Mikan got the tap, but Ray Corley stole the ball. Mikan stood between Corley and the basket.

Corley's alternative was a quick pass to Hassett standing just over the center line.

Billy grabbed the pass and, without even setting, arched the ball two-handed from the center of the floor. I didn't think the ball ever would come down, but when it did the swishing sound it made dropping through the net was the sweetest music this side of heaven.

The game was over. We had won, 48-42.

The demonstration which followed by the partisan crowd was the greatest I have ever seen in a basketball arena.

Billy Hassett had certainly chosen the right moment to find his eye.

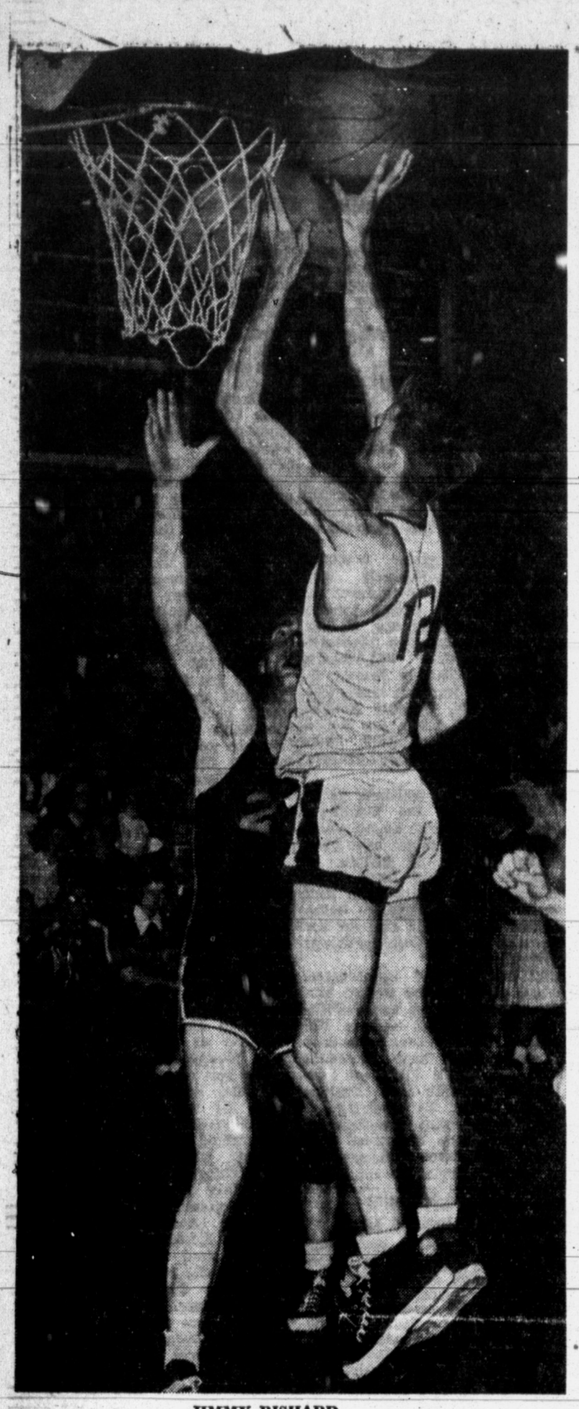
District Championship Expected To Be Settled At Borger Tomorrow Night



JIMMY BISHARD

Harvesters Seek Revenge For Beatings Last Few Years

Tomorrow night is the night as far as the Pampa Harvesters are concerned. After squeaking past the Amarillo Sandies last night, 47-44, the Harvesters' hopes of the district championship, with one of Coach Clifton McNeely's finest teams since coming to Pampa, rests on tomorrow night's game at Borger.

The battle is already a sell-out, all tickets for the game being gone Tuesday.

The Harvesters have had considerable trouble with the Bulldogs the past few years, the Bulldogs keeping the Pampans from winning the district crown the past two years. And on the other hand, using the Harvesters as a stepping - stone to gain the crown.

LIKE HOME COURT

The Bulldogs haven't been beaten on their home court since the Vernon Lions swept two straight wins over the Pack in the bi-district playoffs in 1950. They have had several close squeaks of late, however.

The Bulldogs boast one of the finest high-school teams to come out of the Panhandle in recent years. Most fans consider it superior to last years' Maroon and White club that went to third place in the state tournament. Sparking the club are two tall boys, brilliant 6-4 Mack "Snake" Carter and 6-6 1-2 Jimmy Bishard. Carter is the district's leading scorer with 213 points in the first nine games. He hit 27 points Tuesday night against Amarillo to surpass the scoring mark set by Keith Lane last year when the much - travelled center hit 440 points in 24 games. Carter has now connected for 461 in 23 contests.

Bishard is tall, rangy and a good rebound man. Offensively he hasn't contributed materially to the Pack's attack. The other leading scorer on the club is sharp-shooting James Morgan, who pecks away with a great push shot from far out on the side.

MILLER TWINS

Running the controls of the club from the front line are a pair of brothers, twins, Oth and Dee Miller. Both are fine ball-handlers and can add some scoring power, though not too much.

The Bulldogs have won 21 and lost one thus far, losing only to Abilene, 58-55. The Harvesters have a 19-1 record, losing only to the Borgans, 48-42, at Pampa three weeks ago. Both have two more conference games to play after this weekend, going to Lubbock and Odessa next week.

Both clubs were pre - season choices to battle down to the wire for the championship, and the early prognosticators were pretty good pickers.

The game will be played in the Frank Phillips College gymnasium. It will be broadcast by radio station KPDN, starting at 7:45.

Reapers Sneak Past Canyon Five; Hold Second Place

The Junior High school Reapers squeaked past the Canyon Junior high cagers yesterday afternoon, 25-20, in a Panhandle Junior High School Athletic League game played at the junior high gym. The victory enabled the Reapers to hold onto second place in the race, behind the Phillips JH cagers.

The Reapers could never gain a secure lead on the visitors. The score at the end of the first period was 11-6 Reapers. Canyon was held scoreless the second quarter, but the Reapers could only count one point themselves a free throw by E. J. McIlvain with 30 seconds left in the half.

The visitors came to life in the third period, Burrow hitting four long, left - handed push shots to pull the score to 19-15 as the fourth quarter got underway.

McIlvain led the scoring for the Reapers with 10 points, while Burrow tied that total for the visitors.

The Reapers rest until Monday when they journey to Horace Mann.

In other games yesterday Borger defeated Price College, 46-30, Horace Mann edged Elizabeth Nixson, 29-27, and Phillips ran over Sam Houston, 58-26.

Refugee Athletes' Plight Due Discussion At Olympics

By TED SMITS

OSLO — (AP) — Avery Brundage revealed today he will bring before the International Olympic Committee the plight of hundreds of refugee athletes from iron curtain countries.

"We certainly can't help them to compete in the winter games here and I doubt if we can do anything for them even in the summer games at Helsinki but the situation is a 'tragic one," said Brundage, a Chicago hotel man who is vice president of the IOC.

The winter games open here Feb. 14. The Olympic executive committee will meet in Oslo Monday and the full committee on the following two days.

"Many fine athletes of Olympic caliber are banned from the games because they are refugees," said Brundage. "Under our rules if an athlete once competed for a certain country he never can compete for another even if he fled his homeland."

REFUGEE STARS

Obviously no country will appoint a refugee to its Olympic team so this class of athlete is shut out from world competition. The Olympic committee of Eastern European refugees has applied as an organization for recognition of such athletes.

Among the better known athletes who are refugees are, Jaroslav Drobny, Czechoslovakian tennis star and hockey player; Aja Vrzanova, Czech skater. Sander Szegedy, Hungarian swimmer; Cornzl Pajor, Hungarian speed skater; and Imre Rajczy and Imre Erdelyi, Hungarian Olympic fencing champions.

"If any athlete never competed in the games and if he takes out new citizenship papers he can compete," said Brundage, "but many might object doing that."

The death of King George VI probably will bring a change in the opening ceremonies next Thursday.

Crown Prince Olav likely will pronounce the words that will start the competion. King Haakon is scheduled to do so but he is expected to attend funeral services in London.

With 1,187 competitors entered from 30 countries, already 500 have arrived here and more are coming daily.

There will be huge crowds for all events — possibly 150,000 for the climatic ski jump, on the final Sunday at Holmenkollen Hill. Olympic officials don't expect more than 10,000 foreigners and most of them will be Swedes.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Giants are going to have enough trouble signing Sal Maglie without having third parties inject themselves into the debate, but this is fair warning to the National League champions that they may expect to find the Buffalo righthander even a little tougher the next time they see him.

Sal was down last week for his first talk with Vice President Chub Feeney and was reported scarcely to have bothered to take off his coat. The "Barber" is known to have set $40,000 as his rock-bottom figure for the coming term. His bosses regard $32,500 as a more than reasonable reward for Sal's great 23-6 performance last season.

This would seem, indeed, to represent a nice boost from the $18,00 paid the former Mexican Leaguer in '51, but Maglie doesn't look at it that way. He's 35 and he can't definitely count on more than another year or two of top efficiency. He wants the big money right now, and he doesn't intend to report to the Phoenix training camp until, and unless, he gets same.

An important item in all such salary debates nowadays, incidentally, is the rule which forbids a club to cut a player's pay more than 25 percent. Say the Giants, in a burst of generosity and because they couldn't get out of it, broke down and gave Sal the 40 grand. All right, they would obligate themselves to pay him at least $30,000 in 1953 or turn him loose, no matter how he fares in the coming season. It wouldn't be surprising if certain players are suffering from this rule.

However, what brought on the original observation that Maglie may become even more obdurate is a set of statistics in the March number of Baseball Digest magazine. These figures, prepared by someone with time to burn, show that Sal was, if possible, more brilliant than he, himself, had realized.

The Giants' great curver gave up only 254 hits in 1106 opponents' times at bat for a collective batting average against him of .2297. This was tops in the National League and a noble supplement to Sal's earned - run mark of 2.93, which also was best among pitchers working anything like the number of innings he did — 298.

Don Newcombe of the Dodgers was second in the batting-average-against department with a mark of .2304, very close to Maglie's, but he was well down the earned-run list at 3.28. In other words, the big fellow must have been considerably less solvent than Sal when men were on the bases.

In case some find the Digest figures interesting, here are the other National League leaders in order: Blackwell, Cincinnati, .233; Queen, Pittsburgh, .233; Roberts, Philadelphia, 237; Branca, Brooklyn, .237; Spahn, Boston, .238; Sahsen, New York, .239; Bickford, Boston, .240; Wehmeier, Cincinnati, .241.

The surprise package in that deal is Mel Queen of the Pirates. Though tied for third with Ewell Blackwell, his won and lost record was an unsightly 7-9. Somewhere along the line Mel came unstuck — or perhaps it was his support.

We can't think what it proves, but four American League flingers held opposing batsmen to skimpier averages than Maglie did. We hesitate to suggest that the junior circuit simply is shorter on skilled clubbers.

Allie Reynolds of the Yanks led his group with an amazing average of .213. It may be recalled that the chief pitched two games in which nobody got no hits. That helped.

He was followed by Wynn, Cleveland, .225; McDermott, Boston, .226; Porterfield, Washington, .228; Kinder, Boston, .230; Byrne, St. Louis, .232; Rogovin, Chicago, .235; Lopan, New York, .239; Brissie, Cleveland, .239, and Trout, Detroit, .240.

The Yale basketball roster lists 20 men representing 11 different states in the country.

Majors Turning To Night Action

NEW YORK — (AP) — Year by year the major leagues are moving closer to converting baseball to strictly an after-dark, Sunday and holiday sport.

Release of the official playing schedules of the American and National Leagues show that a record number of night games will be played in the majors this season.

With the St. Louis Cardinals leading the way, the majors will play 438 of their 1,132 games under the arch-lights, just under 39 percent. Allowing 26 percent for the 12 Sunday and three holiday dates, that leaves only 35 percent for the weekday games.

The National League has scheduled 222 arc light contests to 216 for the American. The National's previous high was 209 last year while the American staged 204 evening tilts in 1950.

There will be no special openers this year, marking the first time in years that Washington will not have a preview in the American League. Tuesday, April 15, will be the opening day for both leagues. The campaign will close on Sunday, Sept. 28.

NCAA Bringing Some Results

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK — (AP) — The new National Collegiate AA principle which requires athletes to "make satisfactory progress toward a degree" seems to be showing results although it has been in effect less than a month.

During the past week, as results of mid-year examinations have been coming in, at least 25 varsity athletes at major colleges and universities have been dropped from school or declared ineligible for athletics because of scholastic deficiencies. The list probably is incomplete as these are only the ones whose names were mentioned in wire stories.

Such procedure is normal at this time when examination grades are posted and the new semester begins. But the attendanct publicity isn't normal. In the past years the colleges were inclined to adopt a hush-hush attitude when an athlete failed in his studies. Only about a year ago it took several days for sports writers to confirm that Vic Janowicz, Ohio State's all-America football star, had flunked out. They had to locate Vic and persuade him to pay a campus parking fine so he could get his grades.

This year, possibly because of the NCAA academic principle or because the college presidents have demanded that athletes should also be students, the institutions are rushing into print with the news when a star football or basketball player becomes ineligible.

Carve Out The Fat

President Harry S. Truman handed his 1952-53 budget to Congress and allowed that his Administration couldn't possibly get along with less than $85,400,000,000 of spending money for the year. This is the highest budget in U. S. history with the exception of the two hottest years of our last global conflict.

Our President, despite solemn warning that his deficit spending was pushing the national debt alarmingly close to the legal limit of 275 billions, thereby practically guaranteeing added inflation, opined that he just couldn't help that.

Uncle Sam will simply have to run into the red another 14 billions or so to insure the success of this upcoming Fair Deal year. Unless Harry suggested a bit wistfully to the election-bothered solons, they would like to sit right down and write themselves some new taxes.

Most of the coming year's spending, the President says will be devoted to the cost of running our current cold and any future hot wars. There's little indication that Congress will dispute that general statement, though snarls are being heard that some branches of our military establishment are nibbling too high up on the hog and could achieve, the same results at less pain to the U. S. taxpayer.

But even in these rugged times, Harry insists on a continuance and even expansion of pet Fair Deal projects which have precious little to do with our national security. Such stubborn adherence to Roosevelt-Truman tax-spend policies actually alarmed Democratic House leader John W. McCormack to the point where he was "frank in stating that I doubt if a majority of the members of Congress will vote for more taxes."

Even more coldly, Rep. Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.) snorted that "in spite of Mr. Truman's request we are not going to have additional taxes in this session of Congress."

Among other things, Mr. T. demanded more cash to provide bigger staffs for his Office of Price Stabilization, and wage and salary stabilization boards. He noted without a smile that honest, efficient tax collection would require another 7,000 employes to be added to the Internal Revenue Bureau's payroll within the next five months.

Congress also was told that Harry's friends out on the farms must have their morale raised considerably this coming election year: $240,000,000 for price supports, etc., as compared with only $70,000,000 gravy currently.

And postal rates should be hiked again. And "foreign aid" giveaways, both military and economic, must be continued at full throttle, though the President reframed from spelling out which of our overseas pals will get what military or civilian goodies.

Mr. Truman also is convinced that our Voice of America radio, etc., program, which he termed his "campaign of truth," should be handed $170,000,000 — $47,000,000 more than a dubious Congress gave it last year. We do get some embarrassing reports from overseas on that one.

Congress, we feel, should look into such stuff most carefully before appropriating a dime.

Harry's budget should be probed, item by item, and the Fair Deal fat and blubber meticulously carved out. It'll be a hard job, but these are hard times, men.

The American Way

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE
BY GEORGE PECK

Much has been written and said in recent years about Private Enterprise. Its friends and proponents have eulogized it in words of warm and unprecedented achievements of this nation during the first century and a half of its history.

The foes of Private Enterprise have vilified it in caustic and scathing language, blaming it for all the nation's ills, and demanding that this system be displayed by one or other of the economies which time and time again have been tried and found wanting.

Despite the fact that in two world wars America electrified the world with its production for war, the planned economists persist in venting their spleen against Private Enterprise, the spark plug of our American Capitalistic System, responsible for those miracles of production. It is strange that there are still some among us who are so blind as not to see what is so plainly visible.

The common sense of the American people, which at times has seemed to go temporarily into hiding, but which when the chips were down always has manifested itself, will dictate the retention of Private Enterprise. It is the nation's one great hope in the gigantic struggle to save us and the rest of the free world from godless, tyrannical communism.

From time to time rewards have been offered for the best definition of Free or Private Enterprise. There have been numerous contests in which prizes have been offered for the best essays setting forth just what Private Enterprise is, what makes it "tick" and what it has done for America. The scribes and poets of the nation bent their pens to the task and many beautiful compositions expounding the virtues of Private Enterprise have been written and publicized.

But the clearest description to come to this writer's attention is a little poem which appeared on the front page of the September 1944 issue of the ARKANSAS BANKER, the official organ of the Arkansas Bankers Association. Beg pardon, did I say little? Well, it may be little as far as length goes, but it bulks large in beauty, rhythm and inspiration. Who is the author of this glorious poem, I am unable to tell you. Apparently, he or she, with becoming modesty, prefers to be unnamed, for inquiry to the Arkansas Bankers Association failed to elicit a reply as to the identity of the poet who has made this magnificent contribution.

I cannot tell you the author's name, but I can pass on the poem, and here it is:

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

The power to choose the work we do,
To grow and have the larger view,
To know and feel that we are free,
To stand erect, not bow the knee
To be no chattel of the State,
To be the master of our fate,
To dare, to risk, to lose, to win,
To make our own career begin.
To serve the world in our own way,
To gain in wisdom, day by day.
With hope and zest to climb, to rise;
That is PRIVATE ENTERPRISE.

This columnist would be the last to claim that Private Enterprise is a perfect system, but it's the best yet devised to serve mankind. Over the years we've made improvements in it—in the future further refining adjustments will be made—to make the best even better.

Bid For A Smile

For a number of years, Fannie had been a cook for the Walker family. She had been a good cook and a faithful servant; so, when, during the week, she shyly announced that she had planned to marry on the following Saturday night and asked for leave of absence on Sunday and Monday for a honeymoon trip, her request was readily granted.

Just before the customary rising hour on Sunday morning, Mrs. Walker, who had resigned herself to two days of domestic duties, was roused by the rattling of pots and pans in the kitchen.

She hurried downstairs and, much to her surprise, found Fannie going on with the usual preparation for her day's work.

Mrs. Walker— Why, Fannie! I thought you were to be married last night.

Fannie—Yassum, I was.

Mrs. Walker—And I thought you were going on your honeymoon today and tomorrow.

Fannie—Yassum, I was. But, Miss Mary, do you know what that fool man what I married done? He bought two tickets to Bummingham; and as I had already been to Bummingham twice, I just sent my sister!

A seven-year-old boy received a watch for his birthday. The face was marked with Roman numerals. When asked by his teacher if he could tell what time it was on his watch he remarked: "Not yet; my Dad hasn't had time to teach me Italian yet."

A little beggar of twelve years accosted a lady:

Little Beggar—Charity, if you please, kind lady. I have a wife and three children to support.

Woman—But you're not old enough to be married, my child.

Little Beggar—No, but my brother is. It's his wife and three children I have to support.

A man who had a habit of making himself generally obnoxious was told by another member of his club: "I'll give you $25 if you will present your resignation to this organization."

The one thus assailed was insulted, naturally. He went to the president of the club and said so. He squealed on the fellow who had made the suggestion. "Why, let that worry you. It is nothing to get excited about—I'll give you fifty!"

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN M. D.

The question of what shots or injections to give in order to try to increase resistance to colds is often difficult to answer.

Q—My two little boys are subject to sore throat and one of them had pneumonia last winter. Do you think giving cold shots would benefit them?

Mrs. C. J.

A—I think not. Several years ago, a great many people were given cold shots in order to try to build up their resistance, but the scientific evidence of the giving of injections for this purpose has gradually become less and less common. Apparently there is equally poor evidence that injections as at present available are valuable in preventing sore throats or pneumonia.

* * *

Q—Could you suggest what may be causing a cracking sound in my knees when I move? When I move my head the same sound occurs at the back of my neck.

C. A. Mc

A—One possibility is a slight degeneration of the joints in which the bone has formed spurs which rub when the points are moved. Another possibility is that the cracking sounds are merely caused by snapping of the ligaments when they move across the points. The latter is of no significance since many people have snapping joints, and this is not a sign of any disease.

* * *

Q—Two years ago a lady was run over by a delivery truck and the dual back wheels, equipped with chains, crushed both her legs. Recently I was told that she was still in bed at home and the casts had to be changed because of maggots. It seems inconceivable that in this day of modern medical wonders, anyone should have to lie around for two years and rot. What about this?

E. N. L.

A—It is uncertain from this letter whether the maggots were purposely or accidently present with this unfortunate lady. Maggots are still used sometimes as treatment where dead bone is present since they will eat dead tissue but not live tissue. In spite of the way this story sounds it is possible that this sad accident victim is getting satisfactory treatment.

* * *

O—Is the more than twice daily use of talcum powder in a small bathroom wherein the powder is also inhaled while being dusted harmful?

A. B.

A—I have never heard of harm from this source.

* * *

Q—What do you think of the modern parents who take infants by the feet at the age of four or five months and hold them upside down just to give them exercise?

Mrs, E. S.

A—This is certainly not a universal custom of modern parents I think it is a cruel and perhaps dangerous procedure.

* * *

Q—What is the reason for an air injection when taking an X-ray of the knee?

E. M.

A—It is made so that the knee joint can be seen better in the X-ray film.

DISAPPEARANCE OF RISK CAPITAL
Christian Economics

"Capital—what is known as risk capital—in need of which we desperately stand, will be attracted only to a free capital market and to enterprises with freedom to administer their affairs as their own skilled direction and management think wisest. London was once the great capital market of the world, by that function attracting to Britain not only capital as such, but users of various services such as banking, insurance, chartering and the like. It is not so now. It has been bereft of confidence—the greatest of all invisible assets."

"The bungling bulk buying of bureaucrats, the petti-fogging restraints and restrictions imposed on industry by petty-minded politicians who have never made or traded in their lives, the pandering to thriftlessness and laziness by demagogues anxious to catch and keep votes—it is these which will make a return to national solvency impossible."

PENALTIES FOR PATIENTS
"Truth," London, Eng.

Among the proposals put forward at the conference of the British Medical Association in London, called to discuss possible amendments of the National Health Service, the most revolutionary, surely, is that which demands that the regulations be extended to provide disciplinary arrangements for patients. That it is a very real sort of discipline which is sought became clear when the chairman of the Amending Acts Committee told the conference:

We have not come with a definite list of scheduled fines and imprisonment. That will come when the Minister accepts and we get down to a working party on the subject.

The old-fashioned physician was often an autocrat; but he relied on his own personality to impose his will on his patients and he would have been among the first to protest in horror at the idea that patients should go to prison if they crossed him. The National Health Service, however, has destroyed the old relation between doctor and patient, which was the pride of the British medical profession, and the doctors are not to blame for the results which follow. It was pointed out with reason at the conference that sanctions are already employed against doctors, and it is only just that patients also should be liable who are guilty of egregious misbehaviour—those, for instance, whose irresponsible demands usurp attention which the doctor owes to others, or those who use veiled threats to induce the doctor to give them something to which they are not entitled. It is clear that the sort of patient for whom discipline is intended deserves no sympathy. Nevertheless, one cannot but regret the invasion of the consulting room by the police court atmosphere.

LOOKING SIDEWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

I don't know how a man can drive automobiles for 25 years without an accident and then have one while standing still. But it happened to me and all I want to know, now that the glass, the tin and the coarse words have settled down, is how I can be sued for obeying the law?

I'm threatened with a suit for negligence and it is no pleasure to read in newspapers which concern themselves with such things that, thanks to court congestion, it may be four years before I can get in front of a judge. Also, I'm learning a few bewildering truths about automobile insurance.

The way it was, we were starting out for Washington, D. C., and now that the New Jersey Turnpike is open from Newark to the Delaware Memorial Bridge a drive to Washington is a joy and not a wrench. We had driven from Long Island to New York without mishap, had come down the West Side Highway with ease and turned off into Canal Street for the trip through the Holland Tunnel. There was a line of cars waiting ahead for the lefthand turn into the tunnel. We stopped the car in line, with four feet between our front and the next car's rear. The hand brake was on, the car was out of gear. We all relaxed and lit cigarettes. The sun was breaking through rain clouds. It was a beautiful forenoon.

And then the bomb exploded. A heavy sedan, driven by a young soldier in a hurry to get back to Camp Dix, rammed into the rear of our halted car. It struck so hard it knocked our car into the tailgate of the station wagon, chewed up a fender and pushed the wagon so hard into the car ahead that the front grille of the wagon collapsed in pieces.

My bride collected some bruises on her left arm, which she threw up in front of her face when she was headed for the dashboard. Otherwise no one was hurt. The young soldier was concerned about it, told me he was sorry but his brakes simply didn't hold. His father, who was with him, admitted the same. We exchanged addresses and he gave me the address of his insurance agency. They would he said, see my car and settle for the damages. He was, again, sorry about the brakes.

Through counsel, I notified the New York State vehicular department, describing the accident, its time and place. Through counsel, I notified the soldier's insurance people to come and look at the car so I could have it fixed.

That was three weeks ago. I customarily read auto insurance ads. I like the way they breathe good will, quick service and immediate attention. I'd like to have a little of that. I haven't seen any evidence of either good will, quick service or immediate attention. The latter is not completely true. I have had immediate attention from a lawyer hired by the soldier's father. This lawyer says that unless I come to see him at once I am going to be sued for negligence.

Not to be blunt about it: I have no intention of going to see him. I think it will be amusing to be sued for negligence. It will be a good test of the vehicular laws and the general state of justice. How a man sitting still in a properly halted automobile can be sued for negligence is a judicial puzzle beyond my solving. The line was halted by a traffic officer. He halted it to wait for the tunnel to clear. Any car halted in that line was obeying a traffic order. Any car hitting any other car in a legally halted line is a car apparently carelessly operated. If eleven other cars, including mine, can halt in a line without ramming each other surely it is not too much to ask of the twelfth car.

Meanwhile, if there is anything I dislike it is a battered automobile. Will the soldier's insurance company please live up to its ads and come to see me or what? I'd like to have them see the damage before I have it fixed.

The naval base at Norfolk, Va., now the world's largest, was commissioned Oct. 10, 1917.

Fair Enough.....

Office Of Public Affairs Is A Bureaucratic Powerhouse

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

BAD GODESBERG — Shepard Stone, an assistant Sunday editor of the New York Times, on leave as director of public affairs of the high commission for the government of Germany, did not have eight German civilians to do his bidding as household servants free of cost to him during his residence in Frankfurt. He was entitled to eight but he had only six.

Now that he has moved into the compound in Bad Godesberg where the Americans have Jim-Crowed themselves away from the Germans in apartments built by the State Department at the expense of the American taxpayers, Stone has only three servants. He pays them out of his own salary from the government, which is less than he drew from the Times but how much less he will not say. His rent in the compound, or the American ghetto as the Germans call these quarantines, is free.

The apartment is completely furnished by the State Department. The going reasonable wage of a German cook is $60 a month. Housemaids get $40. Janitor service and the mowing of the lawns are included under the free rent. In midtown New York such an apartment would cost from $300 to $500 a month.

Stone places a high valuation on the services which he has given to the United States and "democracy" during four war years in the Psychological Warfare Service and ensuing years as a member of the civil administration of the conquered land. He had gone to college in Germany before the war and he does not underestimate his power as an agent of "democracy" or his ability to reveal to the German people and others within his bureaucratic authority the culture of the United States.

The Nazis and, before them, the imperial government of Germany, each formulated the official culture of the nation and offered it for export. In some cases, they forced it on the peoples of other nations. Not only these cultures but the proposition that they were superior to the standards of other nations, fended other people, including ours. We said the Germans were arrogant and smug, ridiculed their culture by emphasizing their worst faults and, in both cases, wound up at war with them.

Stone's Office of Public Affairs is the powerhouse of the American bureaucracy in Germany. He now has 400 employes in his network, which includes 15 regional offices and 38 libraries in ed "The Month," a newspaper called The Neue Zeitung and the radio station in Berlin called Rias. He readily admits that this radio station of his is a powerful weapon against Communism behind the Iron Curtain. He says the Russians and the prisoner peoples beyond the pale hang on his bureau's words. He knows this because refugees who escape across the line tell him so. He has no doubt of the sincerity of these people. Communist plants sent across the demarcation to deceive us with wiles and deceptions never fool Stone.

He is the authority over the editors of the magazine, the paper and the radio station and the importance of his machine will increase proportionately while the other agencies diminish through "separations" in this campaign year. There is a promise that HICOG will be transformed into an embassy, but that change would not necessarily supplant the carpetbag machine, because nowadays our embassies are great colonies of typical Washington, New Deal bureaucrats. Most of them are accumulating "leave," most of them are drawing bonus money to pay their rent in foreign lands on a false assumption that living quarters cost more in Paris, London and Frankfurt than equal quarters would cost in New York. Many are running up pension rights, too, on contributions from the taxpayers to match their own. They will never have to settle for the paltry, problematical doles of the old-age pension feature of social security. They don't have to contribute to that and when they get through they get their pensions regardless, whereas a social security client is not allowed to collect what he has paid for unless he abandons paid employment.

Our embassy in Paris recently had 4000 head attached to various payrolls of several bureaus, most of them engaged in sluicing American money over Europe. Glenn Wolfe, the director of the office of administration of HICOG recently announced a plan to create American ghettos under State Department auspices in many other capitals. The State Department, with its "cultural" activities as an example of the new business which it has taken on with no particular mandate from the people of the United States, has developed a subsidiary Colonial Department. By such filtration by white men we eventually absorbed some of the best Indian lands in Oklahoma. Hitler might have had this precedent in mind in some of his forays to liberate persecuted Germans. We might liberate France the same way.

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER

Pauline Crooks Bowie is an outstanding sucess as a career woman and a homemaker. She has used each step of her business life as a background for the next job. Today she stands tops, in my opinion, in national public relations work, which she does for a famous industrial company.

Pauline is a friendly understanding person, talented and gay, yet dead serious about her work and her home. She is typically American born in Iowa, and, after Drake University and the University of Iowa, she got her first job during the depression, doing art work for an advertising agency. From there to managing a beuaty salon.

She enjoys the distinction of having created, at Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., the first department of personal grooming at college level. She also lectured and toured the country during that period and, inevitably she landed in New York! She says, "There I married a man whom I had known for 13 years and started a new career in the East."

She doesn't think too much of her talent for drawing delightful sketches, but I do. She sketches at home, knits, cooks, sews, and her clothes are stunning! She says that she loves doing anything that has to do with using her hands. She says, "It's natural, I think because my mother made all of my clothes from the time I was born until I finished college. My mother taught me to find amusement in constructive work. Before I was seven years old I could knit, paint and bake cakes for the family."

Like so many well-known women, she has a great love for animals. Her two dachhunds, Pappy and George, are her pride and joy. You'll find her walking her dogs and enjoying the walk long before her business day begins.

Pauline says, "My work day begins by my doing a few household chores, then at the office at 8:30. After 5:30 shopping for groceries, cooking dinner, entertaining occasionally. A carerist's life but I would not live any other way!"

HST's Weakness As Leader Disturbs Many Key Democrats

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — An anti-Truman development which disturbs many key Democrats on Capitol Hill is the responsiveness Congress and the American public have shown to great figures of a dominant character and picturesque personality.

In their opinion, it reflects a want and a hunger for leadership which the present administration has not given in the domestic or foreign field.

Any applause meter would show that the individuals who aroused the most enthusiasm in their appearances before joint sessions of Congress are, in this order, General Douglas MacArthur, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Ranking along with them would be General Dwight D. Eisenhower, when he held a symposium on military problems in the Congressional Library several years ago.

By contrast, the welcome given the President of the United States on his recent appearances in the House chamber have been formally friendly, in tribute to his office. But they have not been cordial or enthusiastic. And most of the handclapping came from the Democratic side of the aisle, with few southern members participating.

OVATIONS — The spontaneous ovations given to the ousted Korean commander, to the Britisher, to Senator Taft and to the grinning, likable Eisenhower does not mean that their listeners agreed with their ideas on controversial domestic and foreign questions. Quite the contrary.

There were many members of both parties who disagreed with General MacArthur's theories on how the war should be conducted in the Far East. They sympathized with the Truman - Acheson - Marshall - Bradley contention that his all - out aggressive strategy might transform a localized conflict into a global war.

But at least MacArthur had a policy and a plan. He showed courage, daring and imagination. He did not resort to vague double-talk. He did not permit petty ballot-box necessities and considerations to weaselize his words.

LEADER — Prime Minister Churchill encountered an unexpectedly warm greeting from the joint Congressional session. The members on the floor and the visitors in the galleries stood up to honor, not the man now heading a nation dependent on United States resources for survival, but the heroic figure who declared that his people would repel a Hitler invasion with beer bottles, if necessary.

There are few who agreed with Churchill that the United States should pick up more of the international burdens which London can no longer bear, including the defense of the Suez Canal. There were many who resented his refusal to participate in the Eisenhower Army or in the Schuman plan for the industrial integration of Europe.

There were good-natured guffaws when he remarked semi-jocularly that he was not asking for "gold, but for steel, not favors but equipment." There was the suspicion, voiced more audibly than ever before, that he was again "pulling our leg."

Nevertheless, he won their hearts, if not their minds, because he had been and still is a leader of men and peoples. Even though his vigor and eloquence had diminished, he is still the most heroic and attractive figure on the world stage.

FORTHRIGHTNESS — Senator Taft would win no popularity contests, whether they are held at Washington or at Atlantic City. Until recently, when he became a presidential candidate, he seems to have labored earnestly to make himself disliked on Capitol Hill and elsewhere.

But he did not become famous as "Mister Republican" by refusing to take a stand on great domestic and foreign problems, or by figuring out first which reaction would attract the most votes. Although frequently wrong, stubborn and too headstrong for his own good, he knew what he believed and he has not been afraid to take the unpopular side in a legislative controversy.

This is no paean for "Bob" Taft. It is simply a recording of how Congress and even larger audiences react to his forthrightness.

It is also an attempt to explain why so many Democrats, speaking privately, think that Harry S. Truman would be an exceptionally weak candidate.

OFFENSIVE — Capitol Hill antagonism toward the Truman administration may be measured by the unprecedented number of investigations which House and Senate have authorized in a Presidential election year. As of today, a Democratic Congress has given the green light to almost a score of inquiries of executive agencies at a preliminary cost of $1,000,000 or more.

This offensive against the White House is especially significant, politically, because every anti-Truman move had to obtain approval of a majority of committees controlled by Democrats. Nor are all these investigating groups dominated by southern members openly hostile to the President. In several instances the final decision rested with chairmen from the West and the North.

In other words, Congress has escaped completely from presidential control, even though Mr. Truman keeps secret his 1952 plans in order to retain some slight influence at the eastern end of Pennsylvania Ave.

POOR LITTLE RICH JOE
"TRUTH" LONDON, ENG.

Although neither Mr. Stalin nor Mr. Vishinsky is likely to lie awake at night trying to resolve the problem, the Soviet Union has landed itself in something of a quandary. It has submitted to the United Nations Economic and Social Council a report which claims that the first postwar five-year plan ending in 1950, had increased Russia's income by 64 per cent, over the 1940 figures. Of this increase, the share of the lucky Russian peoples was 74 per cent, the remainder going to Government and cooperative institutions. It is thus clear, if these percentages are accurate, that the Soviet Union is flourishing.

The difficulty, however, arises when the Soviet Union is asked to pay its share of the United Nations' budget. Then, without any shamefacedness, it pleads that it is too poor to shoulder its obligations. Such a situation has arisen this year, with the Soviet government claiming that, thanks to the great leader and teacher Stalin, it is immensely prosperous, and, at the same time, that— presumably through no fault of the great leader and teacher— it is too poverty stricken to contemplate meeting its liabilities. Moscow provides the answer to those who say it is impossible to have anything both ways at once. What do the other nations think of having to pay a disproportionate share of the cost of maintaining an international loudspeaker for the benefit of the Soviet Union?

THE TAX PAYER CAN'T WIN
Christian Economics

On account of the Korean war, the government made a profit of about $75,000,000 on approximately 3,800,000 bales of cotton upon which loans were made at an average of 30.74 cents per pound. Had the government taken a loss on this cotton, the taxpayers would have footed the bill. But since a profit was made, the amount thereof was distributed to the farmers supplying the cotton for the loan program.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The belief that evil can be real, when God is all-power, fills all space and constitutes all, is refuted in the Lesson - Sermon entitled "Spirit" to be read at all Christian Science services on Sunday, February 10. This Golden Text is included: "Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God: thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness" (Psalms 143:10).

The Psalmist was aware of God's ever - presence and expressed it in this way: "Whither shall I go from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence? If I ascend up into heaven, thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there. If I take the wings of the morning and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea; even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me" (139:7-10).

Mary Baker Eddy defines "Spirit" in these words: "Divine substance; Mind; divine Principle; all that is good; God; that only which is perfect, everlasting, omnipresent, omnipotent, infinite" (Science and Health with key to the Scriptures, pg. 594).

Council Of Clubs To Aid In Annual Red Cross Drive

Plans for the Council of Club's participation in the American Red Cross drive were completed at a meeting of the council Thursday in the City Club room. Mrs. J. G. Morrison, president, presided at the session.

The council is undertaking the residental campaign, which begins the first week in March, and each members plans to volunteer participation in the drive in her section of the city, Mrs. Morrison explained.

During the business sesion the local Letter Carriers Auxiliary was voted to membership in the council. Mrs. Gladys Howard's resignation as parliamentarian of the council was accepted, and plans made for filling that vacancy at the next meeting.

Gertie's labor - saving devices are working her to death.

There's that big, beautiful home freezer that was going to make housekeeping so easy. To be sure, it's a joy when drop-in guests stay on past the dinner hour. But it is harder to keep filled with food than a family is.

Gertie is always having to bake for the freezer, prepare vegetables for the freezer, and market for the freezer. Whenever it is less than bulging husband George says accusingly, "Say, aren't you letting supplies in the freezer get awfully low?"

And that wonderful automatic washer that was going to make Monday such a breeze. It did, all right. But because it is so easy to wash now, Gertie finds herself washing every day. She feels downright guilty letting dirty clothese pile up with that autocatic washer on hand. And somehow the family doesn't seem to try to "save on the laundry" now that the washing part of it is "automatic."

As for the electric dishwasher that was to make washing dishes three times a day a real snap. It does that. But recently, after working a day to prepare a buffet supper for 20 guests, Gertie was a bit startled to hear her husband say with pride: "It's no trouble at all to have a big crowd in to eat — since I got Gertie that electric dishwasher."

Of course, it isn't really the fault of the labor - saving devices that they're working Gertie to death. It's just that we women seem to have a weakness for letting our labor - saving gadgets prod us into taking on extra jobs.

Last time I bumped into Gertie she was all excited over having a new electric sewing machine, bought for the sole purpose of lightening the job of patching, mending, and making over the family's clothes.

But now it seems Gertie is taking sewing lessons so that she can start making her own clothes.

The average American eats about 148 pounds of red meat a year.

Jaycee-Ettes Learn Bridge Fundamentals At Meeting Here

Mrs. C. H. Wood taught Jaycee-Ette members the fundamentals of bridge at a meeting this week in the City Club room.

The Valentine motif was carried out in table decorations.

During the short business meeting, directed by Mrs. Jack Vaughn, a letter from the American Red Cross was read concerning the drive to begin next month.

Among the guests were Mmes. Paul West, Tooley Cone, Floyd Watson, Elsie Gillan, Norma McMullen, and Mrs. Wood.

The following members were present: Mmes. Nelson Sanders, Jim Arndt, Ivan Noblitt, Roy Taylor, Art Aftergut, Creel Grady, Jr., Jack Nimmo, Bill Stockstill, Elmer Francis, and Mrs. Vaughn.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mmes. Bud Johnson, Bob Quick, Frank Fata and Vernon Groves.

The next meeting will be a luncheon February 20.

Central Baptist WMU Has Royal Service Luncheon Here

WMU circles of the Central Baptist church met at the church for the Royal Service program this week. The program was presented by the Vada Waldron circle.

Some 40 women attended the luncheon served at noon, and five visitors were present.

The average Englishmen is rationed to only about 50 pounds of meat a year.

Bishop Paul Martin To Speak At First Methodist Church

Bishop Paul E. Martin, bishop of the Arkansas area, will speak in a series of meetings beginning here Sunday at the First Methodist church.

The Pampa Junior High school ninth grade chorus, directed by Miss Carolyn Boyle, will sing at the Friday night service, the last of the meetings.

Even If You've A Cold — Keep Lovely

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

These are the days of the running nose and the hacking cough. The condition, commonly known as a cold, may be caused by the changeable weather, lack of sleep, unwise eating habits—or a combination of all three.

If you are one of the unlucky sufferers, take heart. In a week or two, you'll be as good as new. While you are waiting for the cold to run its course, however, don't allow yourself to look like you feel.

Protect your nose from rough redness by applying a rich lubricating cream to the entire area every night. During this period wear a make-up base that will soothe as well as protect your skin.

Choose a lipstick with an oil base, too. The main thing for you to concentrate on is lubrication. Attempt to keep every part of your skin from drying.

Naturally, you won't want to risk washing your hair, but to keep up appearances, you can always use a dry shampoo. It might also help, when you are brushing, to run strips of cotton between the brush bristles. Any loose particles of dust or dirt will adhere to the cotton, and make it simpler for you to keep your hair clean.

Although you may have lost your sense of smell, perfume will definitely lift your morale, and prove to your friends and acquaintances that you haven't lost your spirit.

Tutt also reminded manufacturers that, in general, applications should be filed with the NPA office which granted the manufacturer's second quarter allotment. The Dallas office is located at Room 1114, 1114 Commerce.

LET'S GO SHOPPING

One of these days I must go shopping. I am completely out of self-respect. I want to exchange the self-righteousness I picked up the other day for some humility which they say is less expensive and wears longer. I want to look at some tolerance which is being used for wraps this season. Someone showed me some pretty samples of peace. We are a little low on that and one can never have too much of it. And by the way, I must try to match some patience that my neighbor wears. It is very becoming to her and I think it might look well on me. I might try on that little garment of long-suffering they are displaying. I never thought I wanted to wear it, but I feel myself coming to it. Also I must not forget to have my sense of appreciation mended and look around for some inexpensive everyday goodness. It is surprising how quickly one's stock of goodness is depleted.

Haskell Political Job Pays Off Better Than Governor's

OBRIEN, Tex. — (AP) — There's a precinct political job here in the corner of Haskell County which pays off better than being governor.

The net take has been running around $20,000 a year. The work is done in the four months of the cotton ginning season.

The job is that of public weigher.

Cotton is about all he weighs, but that's plenty. First, he gets 60 cents per bale for handling and weighing. Second, he gets to pick up the loose cotton. And that's adding up to more than 100 bales even in this poor cotton year.

The job is good enough to draw five candidates by the middle of January. Another half-dozen are on the verge of announcing.

The present weigher, Ayres A. Cox, 39, has another season to go on his second two-year term. He isn't expected to make the race again although he hasn't ruled himself out.

But, five fellows have made up their minds for sure. Three of them are kin to Cox: Sam Johnston, his nephew; Billy Gene Johnston and C. B. Banner, his son-in-law. Also in the running are S. J. Reeves, Jr., and R. H. Duncan.

Poll tax payments are booming in the O'Brien precinct. There are about 250 potential voters in the precinct. To complicate matters, there are a lot of kinfilk in O'Brien. About 70 of them are in the Johnston family and its relatives.

And a big question is: Who will get the 40 or 45 Latin-American votes?

The cotton setup at O'Brien makes the public weigher's job unusually profitable. The village is home for the big Northern Star Seed Farms. Three gins, among the most modern and busiest anywhere, always take the lead in ginning reports in this part of the state. Totals run up to 20,000 bales in a good year.

This drouthy year the gins will process about 14,500 bales. Nearby Rochester, with four gins, won't reach half that mark.

The public weighter's business has fallen off to a dribble in most West Texas towns because gins and compresses have started doing their own weighing and sampling.

But, in O'Brien, the gins are all owned by a farmers cooperative and they have kept the weighing duties in the hands of an elected official.

Not only does O'Brien gin a lot of cotton — it's good cotton, too. It runs an inch staple or better, thanks largely to the big experimental farms.

Work doesn't last more than about four months, but there's plenty of work then, Cox says. It takes up to 11 employes and many 18-hour days to handle the $2 million worth of cotton in the usual crop.

The loose cotton, which makes the job so profitable, is loosened in the process of taking samples which are sent to government graders. When the tightly-packed bale is cut, cotton blossoms out. Railroads and insurance companies frown on these free fluffs of cotton because they invite fire. So, the cottonyard worker pulls them loose, smoothing the side of the bale.

That cotton goes to the weigher.

The O'Brien gins bale the local weigher's cotton for him, throwing in the bagging and ties for free. Cox said his patched-up bales have brought him from 23 to 35 cents a pound this year.

The only "overhead" for the weigher is the cottonyard help he hires, and the cost of being bonded as a weigher and sampler.

The campaign costs also are not high. Cox figures it will cost a man about $50 to make the race.

Oklahomans Named At Convention Will Control GOP Fight

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — The four delegates who are elected Monday at the Oklahoma State Republican convention at Oklahoma City will hold the balance of power in the fight between Gen. Eisenhower and Sen. Taft.

Joe McGraw conceded defeat for the Eisenhower forces at Saturday's Ponca City convention—the state's final district meeting. McGraw is the first district's Eisenhower chairman.

"But," he said, "we fully expect to come out of the state convention Monday. . .with a majority of the state's 16 delegates to the national convention at Chicago."

The Ohio senator's old guard machine showed its knockout punch at a district convention at Bartlesville. It took command of the meeting from the outset and elected two delegates pledged to support Taft at the national convention.

So this will be the box score before the state convention opens Monday: Eisenhower, four delegates, one probable; Taft, five delegates; one for Gen. Douglas MacArthur and one uncommitted.

Holdup Men Beware; No Place For Crooks

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Stowers Cafe is no place for crooks.

In 1933, proprietor Joe Stowers, 59, chased three robbers with his revolver. In 1943 he shot and killed a holdup man.

Last September his wife, Loretta, 43, fired four shots at two bandits, and recently she sent 16 shots from two automatics after two other hoodlums.

"Not a cent ever has been stolen from the cafe," says Mrs. Stowers: "We're very cool-headed."

Butter Prices Up, Eggs Lower

By The Associated Press

Retail butter prices were higher in most stores this week. Eggs were a few cents cheaper, and there were only scattered changes in meats and poultry.

Rains in some important winter vegetable growing areas of the south, particularly Florida, slowed shipments of several tender vegetables and prices climbed slightly in distant markets. Food shoppers were likely to find snap beans, celery, cucumbers and peppers up the most compared with last week-end.

Butter rose one to five cents a pound on improved demand. Dealers said the butter market was unusually sensitive to even slight swings in the demand level because both the production rate and storage stocks were abnormally low. If consumer price resistance undermines demand this week-end, prices might well turn downward again early next week, they said.

Eggs were off as much as six cents a dozen in some places early this week, bringing prices to the lowest general levels since mid-1950. But by mid-week wholesale quotations had begun to rally. Retail prices were expected to average only 2 or 3 cents below last week-end's levels by tomorrow and Saturday.

Fems Are Against 'Selfish Male Sex'

SINGAPORE — (AP) — Women of various Singapore communities are organizing the Singapore Women's Council dedicated to carry on the good fight against the "selfish male sex" and achieve the rights of women.

Mrs. Shirin Fozdar, who is the guiding light in the movement, issued the following call to the female fold: "We aim to fight for the emancipation of women in Singapore. It is high time that selfish men who treat their womenfolk as inferiors are made to change their attitude."

Here are some of the goals: "Equal rights for women in marriage, inheritance and professions. Provisions for scholarships for higher studies for working girls. Look into any difficulties concerning conditions of work for women such as trouble with employers, accommodations."

Three New Cases Of Anthrax Told

AMARILLO — (AP) — At least three new cases of anthrax have been reported in the Panhandle recently.

Source of the disease, state livestock commissioner officials say, has not been located. Anthrax is a malignant illness which affects cattle and sometimes humans.

Director of the commission, D. A. Davidson, Fort Worth, told Amarillo health officials his department is starting a control program in the Panhandle.

The cases reported were at Happy, Claude and Perryton. The towns are south, north and east of Amarillo, respectively.
