School board trims three cents

By Becky Werhan

A three-cent cut in the school tax increase was decided on by the county school board Wednesday night — the result of a lengthy hearing marked by catcalls, applause and argument from a group of 80 taxpayers in attendance.

The cut in the 26 percent increase first proposed by the school board is the equivalent of $92,000 and brings the 1981-82 budget down to $8,927,519. The tax rate for 1981-82 was adjusted to $1.10.

The school board removed one new school bus from the budget; $28,000 was trimmed off of operating expenses and one cent of the increase, originally intended to offset a cafeteria deficit, was deleted in light of the planned increase in meal prices.

These three factors were the only concessions made by the board and were apparently not enough to satisfy the citizens' group. When the motion passed, approving the three-cent reduction, several citizens shouted out in protest, "Not enough!" and Ed Brennan, one of the group leaders, called out, "See you in court, gentlemen!"

Most of the protesting citizens had been in attendance at a meeting the night before, August 18, in the recreation hall of Timberlane on the Bay, Brennan's trailer park. The group had decided action was needed following the first increase hearing (held Monday, August 10) at which the board had approved the 26 percent raise.

Brennan explained after the hearing that the citizens' coalition is still in the planning stage, and dissatisfied with the three-cent cut, will definitely seek legal recourse regarding the board's decision.

The main thrust of the group's argument was summed up by Betty Adams, who told the board, "You understand, we would not have gone out and passed a bond issue raising 14 percent if we had known you were going to come back on us with another 12 percent."

After a brief round of applause, Mrs. Adams continued, "This is why the public is mad because, yes, we'll give you your 14 percent, because we need these things, but then you say we'll need more."

Adams told the board that she had been among a group of residents who, last fall, had "gone out and really hustled the bond issue," feeling the need for the improvements. She said that at that time, the board had assured those in favor of the issue that no additional increase would be tacked on to the 14 percent needed.

Many taxpayers at the meeting echoed Adams' sentiment. Most were not against the bond issue's 14 percent of the increase total, but felt that "fat" could be trimmed from the additional 12 percent.

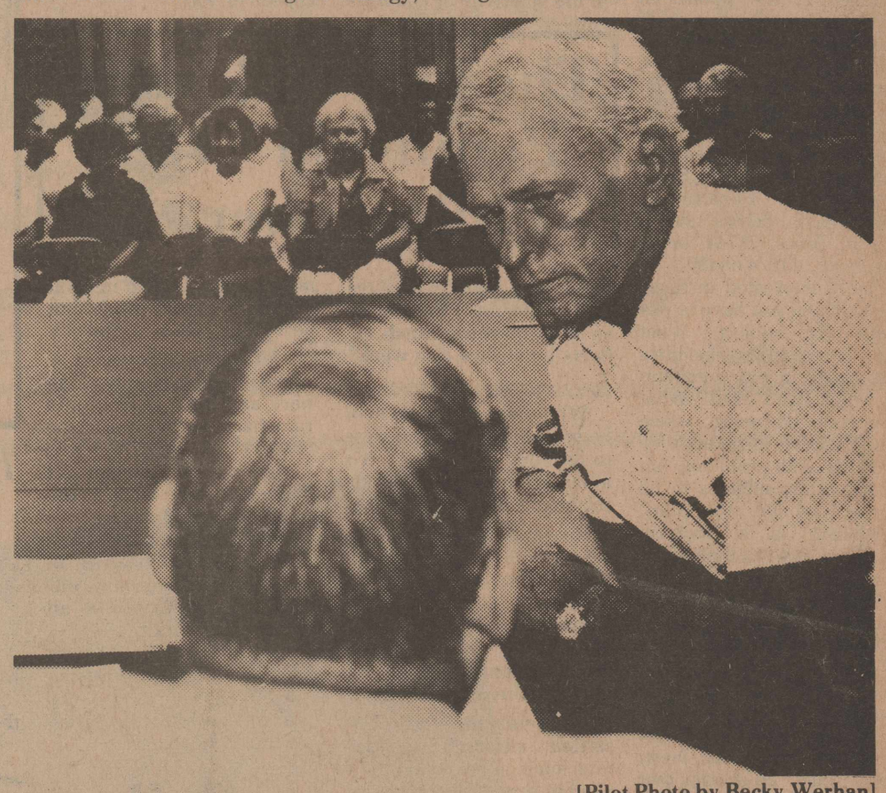

The group seemed to be in favor of the increase in teachers' salaries, as well, but challenged the board on other parts of the increased budget, including the district policy of busing within a two-mile limit, a practice not carried out in many area districts. Jean Metzner asked board president Ottie Mundine, "Couldn't we save something if we reduced those routes within the two-mile mark?"

Answering Metzner's question, Superintendent Joe Randow explained that while the district bore the cost of maintenance, 11 of the 12 buses already in the district were provided by the state.

Another prevailing concern brought up in the previous hearing was again put before the board when Margaret Dick asked, "What we want to know is, if you guys pull this one over on us, is the quality of education going to raise accordingly? We don't seem to be getting any answers on this."

Board member Jerry Brundrett attempted to answer Mrs. Dick's question. "Let's use an analogy," said Brundrett. "You go out and buy a gallon of milk and when the price of that gallon of milk rises during the year, do you expect it to taste better?" Brundrett was unable to finish his answer due to shouts from the crowd, including Mrs. Dick's "That's not a good analogy, Jerry!"

After other discussion with the group, Mundine, Randow and the board members began to review the budget. When asked when the decision of the increase had to be made, Mundine explained that the deadline was the following day, necessitating an immediate decision.

School budget for '81-'82 announced

An adjusted budget of $8,927,519.00 for 1981-82 was announced by the Aransas County School Board Wednesday, August 19. The 8 million-plus figure represents decrease of $92,000 from the budget originally proposed by the board with their request for a 26 percent school tax increase three weeks ago.

Due to community pressure during the hearing process necessary for passage of their increase, the board made a three cent cut in the raise. Accordingly adjusted was 1981-82's tax rate, which will now be $1.10.

The cut was made following a two-and-a-half hour hearing, the last step before the finalization of the increase proposal. Eighty taxpayers appeared at the second hearing and challenged the board to review the budget. Most of the visitors had also been present at the first meeting on Monday, August 10.

One new school bus was cut from the budget and $28,000 was trimmed from general operating expenses, resulting in two of the three cents. cut. The other one cent removed was an allowance for last year's cafeteria deficit. The board had voted in their last meeting to raise meal prices and in light of that action, the one cent was removed at Wednesday's hearing.

Total estimated revenue for the 1981-82 fiscal year according to the new budget, will be $6,143,054.

Estimated fund and loan balances for August 31, 1982, a year from now, include an estimated $318,140 for the general operating fund, $153,928 for the interest and bonded debt fund and $2,900.92 in the construction fund. The construction fund represents the bond issue money financing the school expansion program.

Current tax revenue for maintenance taxes totals to $2,665,889, added to $15,000 in the prior year's revenue and $4,000 in penalties, interest and other revenue, resulting in a total tax revenue for 1981-82 of $2,684,889.

Total debt service tax revenue for 1981-82 is estimated at $475,284. Current revenue is $472,084 with $2,500 in prior revenue plus $700 in penalties and interest.

Breakdown of the district's $10,143,054 in revenue into local, state and federal sources gives the following figures: $3,336,073 for local sources; $2,578,879 from the state and $228,102 from federal sources.

Mixon earns Cancer Society Award

by Pat Blair

Joel Mixon first introduced an anti-smoking program into the Aransas County school curriculum on a regular basis in 1977-78.

Recently that program — part of a general educational program on cancer and how to prevent it — earned Mixon and the Aransas County unit of the American Cancer Society (of which Mixon is a member) the Society's coveted Lifeguard Award.

In a letter notifying Mixon of the award this summer, ACS officials observed that the Aransas County ACS unit, under Mixon's leadership, has provided educational programs for 50 percent of the youth and 10 percent of the adults in this community.

Most of Mixon's educational effort is aimed at students in the Aransas County Independent School District where he is employed as director of instruction. He provides assistance at the adult education level by making sure area clubs and organizations know how they can get the educational materials and speakers available from the ACS.

But his goal is primarily to educate the young people in the community, to make them aware of what cancer is, how they can be alert for it, how they can minimize their chances of getting it.

And the emphasis is heavily on the dangers of smoking.

The program isn't limited to that, Mixon added. Health and science courses are taught from kindergarten through high school and the ACS material is interwoven into the curriculum at the junior and senior high levels to teach students what cancer is and how they can be alert for it.

"It seems cancer is striking people at younger and younger ages," Mixon observed.

But he is mainly concerned, within the cancer education program, with smoking. An anti-smoking program is part of the curriculum from sixth grade on, and this year, Mixon is planning to add the program to the curriculum in the fourth and fifth grades.

"I think the younger we can hit them with it (the dangers of smoking)," Mixon said, "the better, because after they start smoking, the program doesn't have much effect.

"We try to use a common sense approach," he continued. "We emphasize the expense of tobacco as well as the long-term effects on health, such as the danger of lung cancer and emphysema. Hopefully," he said, "we reach a percentage of the students."

The program not only points out the hazards of smoking but of tobacco in general. For example, statistics from the ACS show that chewing tobacco increases the risk of cancer of the mouth.

Youngsters usually start experimenting with tobacco at the junior high level, Mixon said, "and by early high school, many have formed the habit."

He added that the school district tries to discourage the habit "at all grade levels" through such measures as banning smoking on campus.

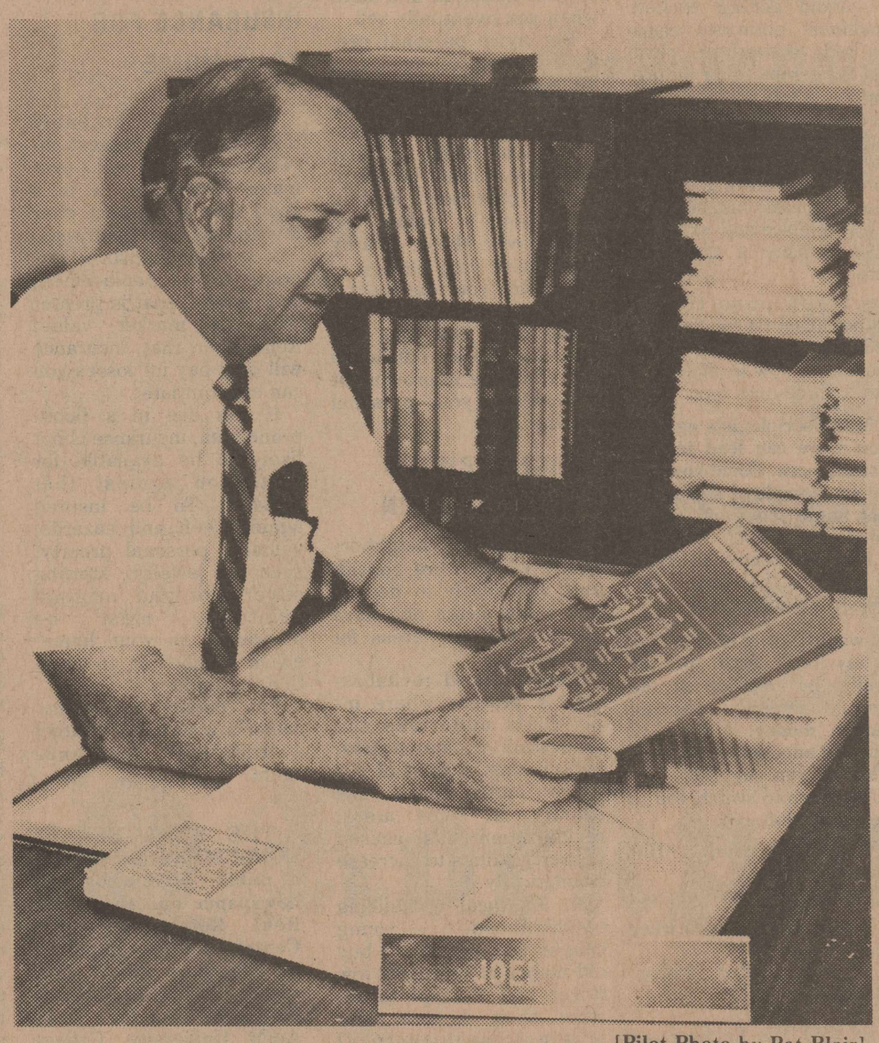

"Some schools provide areas on-campus where smoking is permitted," he said. "It's debatable whether it's right or wrong, but I, personally, don't think we should.

"We should not provide any area or situation in the school," he said, "to promote poor health habits."

Material for the cancer education phase of the health-science programs is provided by the American Cancer Society which makes films, pamphlets, brochures and "kits" available to the schools.

"The ACS has good material, plenty of it and they make it readily available," Mixon said, summing up with, "They do a very good job."

And the cancer education program, like the overall curriculum in the health and science courses, is used to "advise the students in general on good health habits, to develop these habits early and maintain them throughout their lives."

August 29 deadline for high school enrollment

New students who have not enrolled at Rockport-Fulton High School must do so before August 29, says C.R.Barre, RFHS principal.

Classes will begin at 8:15 a.m. Monday, August 31, and, Barre emphasized, students should be prepared to meet all of their classes on that day.

New students must bring their report cards, book card and health record showing proof of having immunization for tetanus, diphtheria and polio in the last 10 years, Barre added.

Students' schedules will be issued on Tuesday, he said. They may be picked up at his office.

Band schedule changed

Starting Monday, students in the Rockport-Fulton High School Band will rehearse from 7 until 9 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings, according to Band Director Roland Zapata.

The morning practice will be cancelled for the next week, he said, because the teachers will be at the high school in the mornings preparing for classes which begin August 31.

Zapata said any beginning band student who has not set an appointment for an instrument should contact him or Junior High Band Director Richard Blaylock as soon as possible.

Recreational planning

By Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend Council of Governments

Updating has begun on the Texas Outdoor Recreation Plan. Maria Araujo of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is coordinating the work in all of South Texas — 40 counties, including the 12 counties of the Coastal Bend.

One of the first things that is done in the planning process is to give any member of the public an opportunity to express opinions, desires, concerns about resources and facilities we have for outdoor recreation.

These expressions are being solicited now by Ms. Araujo, who can be reached by letter at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, Texas, 78744, or by telephone, 512/479-4901.

She is interested in hearing anything you have to say about the subject. What types of recreational facilities are needed in your community which don't exist? What resources do exist which could help to fill needs?

Issues and problems are among other subjects to be considered in the plan. Vandalism is a problem which many communities share. An exchange of ideas on ways to discourage vandalism could be valuable.

There may be some degree of control in the way that recreational equipment is designed and constructed, in a location that is almost continually in public view. There may be ways that young people, parents, and teachers can all be approached to engender feelings of responsibility and personal pride in community facilities.

Land may be acquired for recreational facilities in ways other than the totally conventional.

Some of the best recreational land is often in a flood plain. The owner of the land may not be able to build on it or use it in any way because it is in the flood plain. Contributing a portion of the land for a public purpose could provide a tax write-off that would be profitable.

You can better identify land with a recreational potential in your community than can any planner from the outside coming in and looking for it. There is interest not only in a large enough tract of land that might be used as a regional park or play area, but also in small tracts of land which could serve some particular purpose or some particular neighborhood.

No one needs formal qualifications to express opinions about the quality of life where he or she lives, ways in which this could be improved, ways in which it is being degraded.

A planner can produce a workable yet imaginative concept only if it has grown out of understanding of and information about the people who live in the community and activities they do or would enjoy.

When you are part of the planning process, the future of your community is more apt to take shapes that appeal to you.

The Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher

Editor's note: The Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher on his grassburr ranch reflects on strikes this week.

Dear editor:

While nobody has ever been able to get Congress to go out on strike, it's about the only organization tht hasn't given it a whirl.

Baseball players, movie actors, air traffic controllers, coal miners, TV writers, steel workers, school teachers, postal employees ... they've all struck at one time or another or threatened to.

Eventually the strikes are settled, although negotiators have never caught on to what time of day to do it.

They always try it in the morning or afternoon, when they ought to know the time to settle a strike is 4 a.m. when everybody is worn out, sleepy and eager to get it over with.

I got to thinking, there's one group, other than Congress, that has never struck. Newspaper columnists. And I think I know the reason why.

Sure, columnists are able to print a sign, ON STRIKE, and nail it to a stick and most of them are able to walk up and down.

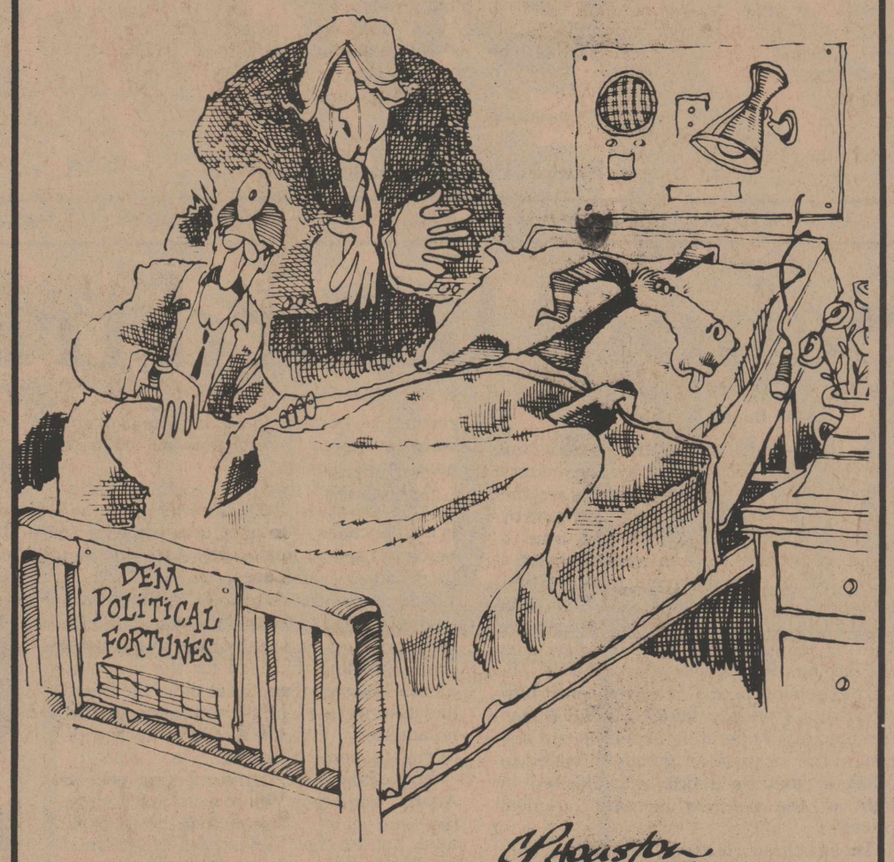

Take me for example, I could hoist a sign and march up and down in front of my 9 to 12 office out here, but where's the TV camera crew interested in televising one man walking back and forth in front of a ramshackle office out in the country?

And unless you can get on television, what's the fun of striking?

If we could get television cameramen themselves to strike, no telling how unruffled things would be all around the world.

And if we could get Congress to go out on strike ...

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

The real estate consumer

How much house can you afford?

Do you know how much house you can afford?

At one time, lenders based the amount of money you could borrow on rules-of-thumb, such as twice your annual income. Today most applications are considered on a case-by-case basis.

Depending on your other indebtedness, the amount of your down payment and your credit record, you might qualify for a larger mortgage than someone making more money.

When budgeting for your monthly mortgage payment, keep in mind that most lenders will require you to pay taxes and insurance in addition to payments for interest and principal.

If you obtain a fixed-rate mortgage, the payment for principal and interest remains constant throughout the term of the loan, but increases in taxes and insurance still may raise your monthly payments. Be sure your budget is flexible enough to allow for these increases.

A local real estate professional can help you determine how much home you can afford.

HOME IMPROVEMENT

Before you begin a home remodeling project, you may wish to consider several items, such as resale value.

Some improvements will repay a good part of their cost at resale, while others may actually limit the home's appeal and selling price. Adding another bedroom or bath to a small home may increase its value enough to recover the costs of materials and labor when you eventually sell.

But more personal preference projects, such as a lily pond or fountain in the backyard, may reduce the number of potential buyers.

You also might consider the value of other homes in your neighborhood. Raising your home's value too much over those nearby may lessen your chance of recovering your expenses.

The final decision depends upon how long you intend to live in your house and what the improvement is worth to your personal satisfaction.

NEIGHBORHOOD REVITALIZATION

Many urban neighborhoods which were considered hopelessly in decline just a few years ago have become hot new areas for investment.

Neighborhood revitalization, a process where individuals undertake the renovation of older homes, is occurring in most of the larger cities across the country. In some areas, revitalization has caused property values to increase dramatically.

In a typical revitalizing neighborhood, young couples and individuals buy old homes at relatively low prices and attempt to restore their historic and original architectural qualities.

Renovators often form associations to help upgrade the entire neighborhood. Given the high cost of new construction, many feel the renovation movement will continue for some time.

TRYING TO OUTGUESS INTEREST RATES

If you have been waiting to see when interest rates will bottom out before buying real estate, you know how difficult it can be.

When rates are falling, there's a temptation to wait for a further decline before buying. But then rates can turn up sharply and the opportunity slip away.

On the other hand, if you buy and afterwards interest rates drop even further, it may be to your advantage to refinance. Should you decide to refinance, there are three variables you should watch.

First, there are transaction costs. Second is the differential of interest rates. And third is the survival term of the new loan.

Here's a tip to help you decide if you should refinance. For each one percent of the mortgage balance paid as transactions costs, interest rates must be reduced by at least one-eighth of one percent, and the new loan must survive at least 12 years.

INSURANCE FOR YOUR HOME

Your home probably represents the biggest investment you will ever make. Therefore, it is a good idea to protect your investment with insurance.

It is best to insure your home to its replacement cost, even if that is greater than its market value. Remember that insurance will only pay for losses you can substantiate.

If you live in a flood-prone area, insurance is not likely to be available for protection against that disaster. To be insured against theft and hazards, valuable personal proerty, such as jewelry, sterling silverware and original paintings, must be scheduled on your homeowner's policy at an additional premium.

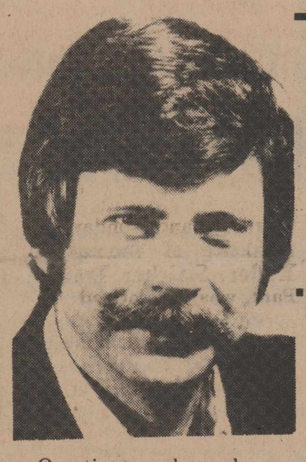

For details on homeowner's insurance, contact a reputable insurance agent.

The Lewis Grizzard Column

By Lewis Grizzard

Summer: when it's hot as ----

Questions you have always wanted to ask about summer heat waves:

Why does it get so dadburn hot in the summertime?

During this period, the horses and chariot that pull the sun around the universe bring it much closer to the earth.

How close?

From the first of June until the end of August, the sun hovers directly over a place called Macon, Georgia, which then becomes the hottest place on earth.

How hot does it get in a place called Macon, Georgia?

—It gets so hot you have to keep charcoal briquets in the refrigerator or they'll light up right in the sack.

—It gets so hot the farmers have to fan their watermelons so they won't boil over.

—It gets so hot you have to keep your toes in a bucket of cold water or your corns will pop.

—It gets so hot nobody ever mentions the humidity.

What are some hints for staying cool during a heat wave?

—Avoid excessive exercise. If your job calls for heavy outdoor activity, such as playing major league baseball, vote to go on strike.

—Drink plenty of liquids. A man in Stump, Texas, tells of beating last year's heat wave by drinking a case of beer every day and then sleeping naked in a tree every night.

This year, he is sleeping at the county work farm and correctional institute. It's against the law in Texas to climb a tree drunk.

—Avoid getting excited. Emotional outbursts cause the body to overheat, which is a dangerous thing to have happen when the temperature is already very hot. If something happens to you, like your wife leaves, don't jump up and down and make a lot of noises. Just sit down in a cool place and write the bus company a thank-you note.

—Wear loose-fitting clothes. Your fat cousin could be in big trouble here unless she knows how to fit herself into a three-man tent.

Many sociologists agree a heat wave can lead to civil disturbances. Could you give me an example of a situation that might touch off, say, a summertime riot?

Fourteen people all trying to get into the same "Mr. Froggy" wading pool.

I would like to have a pool in my back yard for my family, but my job at the factory doesn't provide enough money. I have 12 kids and another on the way. What do you suggest?

Ask them to switch you to the night shift.

Who first said, "Hot enough for you?"

The devil.

Where was the devil when he first said that?

A place called Macon, Georgia.

Dear Editors,

This morning, at Rockport Art Supply, I was deluged with questions concerning your feature, "Greg Day, winning an honorable mention in the Defenders of Wildlife annual Christmas Card contest."

The photo and presentation of Greg was super! He is a delightful little boy and he came through just as he is — a lovely, talented child!

Within the hour a "Mr. Frieble" enquired for me. He is seeking relatives of that name said to reside in South Texas.

Unfortunately, I had to disappoint him as I am Helen Friemel, Tints & Tones, Studio-Gallery, 607 W. Ave. C., Box 727, Port Aransas, Tx. 78373. I paint in oil and pastel, I show, instruct and accept commissions. As far as I know, I am the only instructor in art in Rockport, Aransas Pass and Port Aransas who accepts children as students, outside of the school system.

As a "Defenders of Wildlife" member, I had supplied Greg with entry information and I shall forward the "Pilot" clipping to "Defenders of Wildlife, 1244 Nineteenth St., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Please, may I request a correction of my name and if possible some identification, to correct this garbled identity. I am in business and this is important. I would like to place an ad in conjunction with any such correction, or, as a matter of fact, in any case. Rockport Art Supply ran an ad with my name prior to June 5th when my 1981 workshop began.

When I worked for a Class A Weekly, years ago, in Canada, one's wrists could be chopped for such inaccuracies. Fortunately (?) times have changed!

Sincerely,
Helen B. Friemel

P.S. I have recently received a request from "Defenders of Wildlife" for any clippings re the government's attempt to give away part of the Aransas Wildlife Refuge to the State. I have not followed the "Pilot" in this respect and would appreciate your guidance.

Dear Editor:

On August 15, as we were headed home on Highway 35, we passed the scene of a horrible and tragic accident. This was the third accident in less than three weeks which resulted in fatalities. We don't know what caused these accidents, but it occurred to us that excessive speed on Highway 35 south of Rockport could be a contributing factor. We have lived in Palm Harbor for over a year, and during that time have rarely seen any police patrolling the highway, or setting speed traps, and people DO speed on that stretch of road. Numerous times as we have slowed and signalled to make our turn into Palm Harbor, we have been nearly rear-ended by someone going well over the speed limit who waits until the last minute to slow down and go around us.

Frankly, we are very nervous driving on the county stretch of Highway 35, particularly in view of these recent accidents. We are of the impression that enforcing the speed limit could help the situation. Something certainly needs to be done to cut down on these accidents.

Sincerely,
Mr. & Mrs. Robert Le Pree

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

Representative Eldon Rudd (Ariz.) "...When I was a Boy Scout, the small troop I was in used to scrape together enough money, either by donation or fundraising events, and plan for a modest little camping outing that we took every month or so. This activity was part of what it meant to be a Boy Scout.

"Recently, I was shocked to learn of a tax-supported Boy Scout program set up by the Cook County Juvenile Court System in Illinois, which places repeat juvenile offenders in two specially crafted troops, all expenses paid. I was told that all of the juveniles in this program have been involved in serious or violent crimes with court referrals, and that 40 percent of those chosen do not even complete the program.

"These special Scouts are run by paid, full-time scoutmasters who make court appearances for the Scouts, take extravagant outings three weekends out of every four during the summer to places like Michigan, Wisconsin, West Point and New Mexico.

"A large part of the funding from this program is subgranted down to the Boy Scouts from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (L.E.A.A.) which contributes about $1,600 per participant, in addition to other State and local sources.

"These LEAA Federal grants alone have added up to $110,628 for the first year of the experimental program in 1979, $82,971 in 1980, and $58,337 for this year — all for two Boy Scout troops with a total of 50 members.

"This program totally distorts what it means to be a Boy Scout — that is, which stresses the principles of honesty, hard work, and thriftiness, among other attributes.

"I do not think we should be using Federal tax dollars for questionable programs like this, especially when there is need for help in more essential services to the public.

"You can be sure I have written to LEAA for an explanation."

The Boy Scout movement was never meant to serve as a rehabilitation haven for juvenile law breakers. The subsidized program is however an endorsement of everything the Boy Scout movement stands for.

The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration was formed to aid local law enforcement agencies with training and provide needed enforcement equipment. Regardless of its merit, subsidized Boy Scout programs is another example of a Federal program that leaks tax dollars for purposes for which it was never intended.

EMS response time 'exceptional'

The six-minute response time of the EMS to last Tuesday's accident at the county airport was "exceptional," according to chief paramedic Bill Aston.

The accident happened shortly before 9 a.m. at the new Baker Marine facility and the three men injured were all in Corpus Christi's Memorial Medical Center within 40 minutes.

Steve Cole of Ingleside, the most seriously injured of the three men, was taken by a PHI Inc. helicopter to Enterprise Medical Center and after stabilization, was flown to Memorial. The flight from Enterprise to Memorial took only nine minutes.

The other two injured workers, Richard Strohm of Rockport and Bob Cooper of Ingleside, were at Memorial after a 32-minute ambulance trip, Aston said.

Reports on Corpus Christi television Channel Six gave the paramedic's response time as 20 minutes, causing several concerned citizens to call the paramedics, according to Aston.

"We're very sensitive to response time," said Aston. "Our time Monday was exceptional. Very few other services could beat that time."

Neal Osborne, area manager for PHI Inc. Helicopters and present at the accident scene Tuesday, said of the EMS performance, "They were there within five minutes, on the outside, at least. Very good work."

The accident occurred when the brace structure for a Baker's new airplane hangar buckled and collapsed. Cole was standing underneath the frame at the time and Strohm and Cooper were on a thirty-foot-high scaffolding.

At press time, all three injured men were still in Memorial. Cole remains in critical condition, having sustained serious head injuries.

Blair's Corner

School days, school days.....

By Pat Blair

September is just around the corner and everyone knows what that means — We only have six more months of summer...

School starts August 31. That's a week from Monday for those who are keeping count, and undoubtedly a lot of people are: youngsters who are tired of the beaches and sand they were looking forward to all last spring, who can hardly wait to get back to classes.

And mothers who feel the same way. . .

That's one of the funny things about summer vacation, at least one of the things I remember about it. Along about April or May, my friends and I would start counting the months, then the weeks, then the days... until school was out for another year.

Then along about the end of July, early August, we'd be wanting to know, "When does school start again?"

There was always something exciting about that first day of school: new classroom, new teacher (teachers, as you got older and started going to different classes for different subjects). Sometimes the excitement could sustain you for that whole first week...

Autumn was (still is?) the best time of the school year. You had so much to look forward to: pep rallies, football games — and so many holidays! Or at least it seemed that way. After all, you were hardly in school anytime it seemed (well, a couple of months) and there was Thanksgiving. And then Christmas.

After New Year's though, school became something of a drag. From January through May, all those months stretched ahead and only one holiday — Easter — to break the monotony and somehow that didn't break it enough.

So there you were back in April again counting the months, the weeks, the days...

Until it all started over again, buying books, buying paper, buying clothes, the first day of class...

Add to the "How's That?" Department:

Christi Vaughn was over at Roaten's the other day getting a prescription filled. While checking out with her medication, she was invited to register for the pharmacy's current giveaway.

Christi signed up, then asked, "What's it for?"

Roaten's owner and pharmacist Richard Beck, elsewhere in the store, happened to overhear the question (but apparently thought Christi was talking about the medication) and replied, "for nausea."

Christi's response: "I already have that. I don't want to register for it!"

Segler returns as assistant

R.D. [Dave] Segler, left, joins Rockport-Fulton High School Principal Chester Barre in looking over plans in the remodeled office at the high school. Segler is the new assistant principal at RFHS, returning to the Aransas County school district after 10 years with Laredo Junior College. Before leaving for Laredo, Segler spent 20 years with the Aransas County school system. The principal's office is not the only area at the high school getting a "new look", but Barre emphasized that the school will be ready for the opening day of classes on August 31. Redistricting bill goes to Senate

AUSTIN — The Texas Senate's proposal for redistricting for its own members went to Governor Bill Clements this week after getting 21-6 approval from senators Tuesday.

The plan as proposed will carry no changes for Aransas County residents who will remain in the 17th Senatorial District represented by James E. "Buster" Brown.

If the plan is approved by the Governor, it will go to the five-member Sate Legislature Redistricting Board headed by Lt. Governor Bill Hobby.

A spokesman in Brown's Austin office indicated the proposal may run into trouble before the board, saying he understood Hobby "isn't too happy with the Senate plan."

He added if anyone challenges the proposal, it will be thrown into the courts.

In addition to Aransas County, Brown's 17th District, under the Senate proposal, would include Brazoria, Refugio and Calhoun counties, portions of Harris, Matagorda and Fort Bend and "a small portion of Galveston County," the spokesman said.

Mixed drink tax adds $5,900 to county coffers

AUSTIN — Sales of mixed drinks during April-June, 1981, returned almost $5,900 in tax revenue into Aransas County, according to State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

The revenues, a total of $5,893.76, represent 15 percent of total tax revenues of $39,291.72 collected by the State of Texas for the three-month period.

The 15 percent is returned to the local government agencies under the state law that legalized mixed drink sales.

Largest tax revenues were collected by the city of Fulton, a total of $15,919.24 in taxes for the period. The city's share of the taxes came to $2,387.89.

Rockport received $1,112.48 out of a total $7,416.55 in mixed drink revenues and the portion of Aransas Pass in Aransas County received $1,134.63 out of a total $7,564.18.

The remainder of Aransas Pass, in San Patricio County, received $1,371.43 out of total revenues of $9,142.89. Also in San Patricio County, Ingleside received $658.40 in rebate on $4,389.33 in taxes and Portland received $153.92 from total revenues of $1,026.11.

In all, some $2,787.94 was returned to San Patricio County out of a total $18,586.27.

In Refugio County, tax revenues of $547.03 netted an $82.05 rebate, with the city of Refugio receiving $33.60 rebate on tax collections of $224.03.

Bullock said overall mixed drink tax collections are up from the same period last year, totalling $30.3 million from 214 counties and 380 cities in the state. Taxes collected statewide through June this year represent more than a half-billion dollars in mixed-drink sales statewide.

The Alcoholic Beverage Commission collects the total 10 percent gross receipts tax on mixed drink sales and rebates the cities' and counties' 15 percent share of that amount each quarter.

The cities and counties received a total $8.8 million-plus in tax revenues for the April-June period with the balance, $21.5 million, going into the state's General Revenue Fund.

The Weekly Headline

Grandpa fumed when I took this picture. It won't look natural," he said. "My desk is never clean."

It's clean now. The umbrella stand is empty, the hat rack is bare. His old Web press has been retired. But Grandpa's presence lingers on.

For over fifty years he printed the Mayfield Progress, reporting the news with integrity. There were times when he was threatened, cajoled by attempted bribery, menaced by pressure groups, but he stayed true to principle. He was a giant in our town.

What made Grandpa strong in the face of danger — incorrupt when confronted by unscrupulous forces?

His church was the center and circumference of his being. Its truths and its goodness sustained him. It was all that he needed — he remained steadfast and sure.

Your church is eager to help you meet the pressures of your day. Its resources are unlimited and eternal. Go to your church or synagogue and take your family with you.

COMMUNITY GOSSIP

"She's afraid to go out.
She's afraid of the knock on her door.
There's always a shadow of doubt.
She can never be sure.
Maybe a friend of a friend of a friend.
Seems like even her old friends might be talking her down.
She gets the house and the garden.
He gets the boys in the band.
Some of them his friends.
Some of them her friends.
Some of them understand."
—James Taylor/HER TOWN TOO, from the album "Dad Loves His Work", CBS

These lyrics speak directly to community reaction about divorce. We live in a world made chaotic in large part because of the erosion of once sacred traditions. Separation and divorce do more than break up two persons who once thought themselves to be very close and in love. The foundations of society shake a little with each new divorce.

You would think with divorce so common now-a-days that society would become more tolerant. However, each divorce brings repercussions, sometimes more traumatic than the break-up itself. And it is in such a society that our youth seek references for their "file-of-life" issues.

James Taylor's "Her Town Too" can be the beginning for youth and adults to deal with their own deepseated feelings about marriage and divorce. What did that couple do vocationally? What was their social life like? What happened that eventually sent them in their opposite directions? Did either of them have someone else? Did that couple, now separate individuals, ever find happiness?

A good story always has a conclusion. James Taylor winds up his ballad with a bit of philosophy: "You'll never know until it all falls down if somebody still loves you."

Personally, I like what Paul wrote in Second Corinthians 1:3-4: "Thank God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, that he is our Father and the source of all mercy and comfort. For he gives us comfort in our trials so that we in turn may be able to give the same sort of strong sympathy to others in theirs."

Nursing Home News

By Maxine Mayer

The Aransas Pass Nursing and Convalescent Center had a nice week of social activities, visiting volunteers and many friends and relatives out to visit with our residents.

Early Tuesday morning, Marvine Wix, her mother and daughter were over to mend our residents' clothing. This is a service which the First Presbyterian Church of Rockport has been doing for our home for some time and it is greatly appreciated.

Tuesday afternoon, the "Caring Ones" were out to play games with our residents, which is always enjoyed by many.

Wednesday morning, Delma Rodgers was out to do her weekly visiting one-to-one.

Laura Gunn, another volunteer, was out to give pleasure to many residents also.

Friday morning, our paint class was led by Mary Gunn, Frankie Edwards and her granddaughter, Lea.

A big "thanks" goes to Mr. and Mrs. George Hosek for the delicious pineapple upside down cake which Pearl made and brought to the employees who take care of their many friends now at our home.

[Most Often-Asked Questions On Nutrition]
By Jean Glowka

Q. What is a good nutritional program for someone who has arthritis to follow?

A. There are a great number of theories on the treatment of arthritis within the nutritional field. However, the most impressive seems to be Adelle Davis' work over a period of many years with persons who had all forms of arthritis. She reports astounding results having been achieved with the following nutritional program: Small, frequent meals high in good-quality protein (such as is found in brewer's yeast, eggs, milk, etc.), essential fatty acids (obtained from one to two tablespoons of vegetable oil daily), vitamin C (500 to 1,000 mgs. six times daily), two tablets of balanced B vitamins with each meal, 300 to 600 units of vitamin E daily, 25,000 units of vitamin A and 2,500 of vitamin D daily (the latter two being obtained from fish-liver oil).

One man, who had such severe arthritis in his feet and knees that every step meant excruciating pain, adhered to this regime for only one month and had not a sign of arthritis remaining and none ever recurred. Davis cautions that some very severe cases may require longer to show such improvement and that a good nutritional regime MUST be followed religiously day after day.

Q. Is there a vitamin that is good for the mausea of pregenancy?

A. Vitamin B-6 (50 to 100 mg. daily) has been used very successfully in stopping the nausea and vomiting of pregnancy — AND of car, sea, air and radiation sickness.

Until next week, Folks, stay happy and healthy! It's a beautiful world!

Steel shot zone affects southeast teal hunters

AUSTIN — Waterfowl hunters are reminded by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department they will be required to use nontoxic (steel) shot during the September 12-20 teal duck season in all or portions of six Southeast Texas counites.

Nontoxic steel shot also will be required for all waterfowl hunting within the zone for the regular 9181-82 duck and goose hunting season starting in November.

The zone is bounded by the Texas-Louisiana state line from Sabine Pass to Orange, then west along Interstate Highway 10 to Houston, south on State Highway 35 to the Brazos River, and south along the east bank of the Brazos to its mouth. The zone extends into the Gulf of Mexico to the three marine league limit from the mouth of the Brazos to the Louisiana state boundary line at Sabine Pass.

The steel shot requirement will apply to all gauges of shotguns used in the zone.

The department is establishing nontoxic shot zones in an effort to reduce waterfowl losses from lead ingestion.

Shooting hours for the special early teal season are one half-hour before sunrise to sunset. The daily bag limit is four teal in the aggretate, possession limit is eight.

Chris Enger won first place in Fleet A with Nathan Taggart winning first in Fleet B.

Thad Barnes was second in Fleet B followed by Jeff Shaw in third place in Fleet B.

The RCS will hold another board boat regatta Saturday, August 29, in Aransas Bay near the Key Allegro bridge. The public is invited to race in the regatta or come watch.

Record shrimp catch drops prices

AUSTIN — Retail shrimp prices already are dropping as a result of the best shrimping season in years on the Texas Gulf Coast.

National Marine Fisheries Service officials estimated eight million pounds of shrimp were landed the first week after the Gulf shrimping season reopened July 16, and a harvest of 30 million pounds is possible in the first month of shrimping.

Officials believe the outstanding harvest should provide not only a break for the consumer but also pump new life into an industry which has been staggered by low catches and skyrocketing operational expenses in recent years.

Spot checks of shrimp prices at dockside and fish markets revealed significant reductions in prices, according to Tom Heffernan, a coastal fisheries regional director for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Heffernan said favorable environmental conditions were the major reasons for the resurgence of shrimp in the Gulf, but he also credited the closure of both state and federal waters in the Gulf from May 22 - July 15 for the good harvest.

"This year was the first time that waters in the federal Fisheries Conservation Zone (from nine nautical miles out to 200 nautical miles) were closed concurrently with closure of state waters (out to nine nautical miles). This afforded protection for the undersized shrimp migrating from the bays to the Gulf, and allowed the shrimp to grow to a larger size. This has benefited the fishery through both the amount and size of the shrimp being harvested," Heffernan said.

The bumper crop surprised shrimpers to such a degree that many of them had difficulty gearing up for the heavy harvest, running short on ice, equipment and manpower. "During the first week of the season, catches averaged about 1,650 pounds per night and ranged as high as 3,500 pounds per night," Heffernan said. "The average per-night catch rate for the entire Gulf normally is in the 200- to 400-pound range."

Word of the outstanding catches has caused an influx of shrimp boats from other Gulf states, Heffernan said, and he added that better than average catches also are being reported by Louisiana officials.

HB1000 will affect sport fishing

AUSTIN — House Bill 1000 recently passed by the 67th Texas Legislature is known mainly for its constraints on commercial fishing for redfish and speckled trout, but it includes features which will affect sport fishermen as well, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The bill, which goes into effect September 1, will prohibit the taking for sale of redfish (red drum) and speckled trout (spotted seatrout) in Texas waters.

Sport fishermen should be aware that House Bill 1000 also specifies that after September 1 it will be illegal to possess any finfish taken from coastal waters with the head and tail removed, unless the fish has been finally processed and delivered to its final destination or to a certified fish dealer for processing.

William C. Walker, supervisor for coastal law enforcement, stressed that this requirement applies to all finfish — not just redfish and trout. "The only exceptions are broadbill swordfish, all shark species and king mackerel," Walker said.

Fish caught from inland waters, however, will not be subject to this regulation, Walker said.

The bag and possession limits for redfish will be the same as in the past, at 10 and 20 respectively. However, effective September 1, no redfish shorter than 16 inches or longer than 30 inches may be retained.

State nontoxic shot zone studied

AUSTIN — Waterfowl hunters will have a chance to comment on a proposed expansion of nontoxic (steel) shot zones in Texas for the 1982-83 hunting seasons.

The nontoxic shot zone for the upcoming waterfowl seasons is an area of Southeast Texas generally south and east of Interstate Highway 10 and State Highway 35 to the Brazos River. The proposed expansion for 1982-83 would include that area from Beaumont to Houston between Highway 10 and U.S. Highway 90, plus all of Calhoun, Aransas, Refugio, San Patricio and Nueces Counties in the mid-coast area.

Comments on the proposal for 1982-83 may be submitted by contacting William C. Brownlee, Migratory Game Bird Director, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, TX 78744, telephone (512) 479-4800, ext. 2700.

Area Fishin' Report

Key Allegro — Lots of speckled trout being caught in the bays and some good kingfish catches off shore. Two small boys were trolling in an outboard for king and came up with a 49-pound sailfish. Frozen bait and ribbon fish are plentiful. 729-2761.

Kleines Rattlesnake Point — A few gafftop and some trout are being caught. The tides are low and fishing will pick up when the water comes back in the bay. There is plenty of fresh dead and frozen bait. 729-2892.

Copano Causeway — Fishing was very good at the pier earlier in the week but the rains changed that. The waters are very calm and it is cool but not a lot of fish being taken. Some trout are being landed and a few very small gafftops. Lots of fishermen are trying their luck at night. Plenty of dead bait. 729-8633.

St. Charles Bay — Not many reds being caught but the trout are almost jumping in the boats. Everyone is getting the limit. Plenty of dead bait. 729-2053.

Fulton Beach Marina — Fishing isn't very good during the day but lots of trout being taken at night off the seawall. Completely out of bait. 729-8609.

Fulton Harbor Bait — Fishing is a little slow, some trout being caught on the seawall. No live bait late in the week but there will be plenty of live bait over the weekend. 729-8532.

Beach Road Bait House — Fishing has been super with lots of big trout and big flounder being caught. Live bait was a little scarce at the end of the week but will be available over the weekend. 729-8614.

Sandollar — Still catching lots of 10- and 11-inch trout but nothing large enough to keep. Two good size trout and a couple of nice flounder were caught along with six to eight sheepshead. No live bait but plenty of dead bait. They are trying to get some live bait for the weekend but say that things don't look good. 729-8562.

Sea Gun — Lots of people fishing, some speckled trout being taken on dead bait, artificial bait and what live bait there is. Boat going out three times a day trying to get live bait but it is scarce. 792-2341.

Palm Harbor Marina — A few trout and a few reds but not much else. No live bait but plenty of dead bait and lots of artificial lures. 729-8540.

The schedule of solunar periods for the following week as printed below has been taken from the original Knight Solunar Tables. Plan your day so that you will be fishing good territory, hunting good cover during these times if you wish to find the best sport that each has to offer. The tables are not a guarantee that you will catch fish or see game during the period, however.

The major periods begin at the time shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The minor periods are somewhat shorter in duration.

Entries being sought for World Championship Gumbo Cook-Off

Gumbo chefs from Hill Country to Cajun Country and points beyond are invited to put their roux to the test against the best in the upcoming World Championship Gumbo Cook-off in Rockport in October.

A highlight of Rockport's annual SeaFair, the Seventh Annual Cook-off is set for the weekend of October 10-11 this year.

Trophies will be awarded each day for first, second and third place, in addition to special awards for showmanship, and the first-place gumbos from each day will be pitted against each other for the grand prize on October 11.

Bill Mayhood, chairman of this year's event, anticipates entries "from all over" for the upcoming cook-off. The cook-off has proved one of the most popular and enduring of the annual SeaFair events, enjoyed by participants and spectators alike.

"Qualified and impartial gourmets with years of experience in gumbo tasting and judging" will judge the event, Mayhood said. Judging will be at 3 p.m. on both days.

Entry fee for the cook-off is $15 for one space under a tent or $30 for two spaces, and all entries must be received by Mayhood by September 15 in order to qualify.

The chef and his (or her) team must furnish their own cooking equipment which must be either gasoline or butane powered. No electric cookers will be allowed, Mayhood emphasized.

He added that electricity will be available for "showmanship props" such as musical instruments, signs and bottle warmers.

Cooks may prepare their roux in advance — but only the roux. Only seafood gumbo may be cooked and at least one gallon must be prepared.

Chefs may sell their gumbo when it's ready, but they are asked to save at least one quart for the judges.

Entries must be mailed to Rockport SeaFair, P.O. Box 1055, Rockport, TX 78382.

Officials seal park purchase

AUSTIN — Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials recently completed the largest single purchase for a state park site by obtaining the deed to 4,709 acres on the north shoreline of Lake Houston in Harris and Montgomery Counties.

The total cost of the tract was a record $13.6 million, paid with funds from the state's penny-per-pack cigarette tax. The cigarette tax monies go into the Local Parks, Recreation and Open Space Fund created by the Texas Legislature to acquire parklands serving urban areas.

The land, which is located only about 30 miles north of downtown Houston, includes approximately nine miles of water frontage on Lake Houston, the east fork of the San Jacinto River and Caney and Peach Creeks.

The tract was purchased from Champion Realty Corp., which had owned it for more than 30 years. Parks officials said the wooded tract should offer outstanding recreational opportunities for Houston area residents when developed and opened to the public in three to four years.

The new site, along with the Hale Ranch State Park site now under development southwest of the city, will eventually provide Houston area residents almost 10,000 acres of new parklands within 30 miles of downtown.

Gar possess some redeeming qualities

AUSTIN — Have you ever been fishing on a hot summer day when it seems the only fish within miles are schools of pesky gar slapping and rolling on the surface?

At times like these, the angler usually decides it's time to pack up his gear and head for the nearest air conditioner.

However, if catching fish for the sheer sport of it is in your blood, the lowly gar is willing to give you a thrill. There are several ways to hook the toothy gar, and once on the line gar jump and cavort like misplaced tarpon.

One of the simplest and most popular methods for catching a gar is with a large safety pin style spinnerbait which has no hook, but rather a skirt of tough nylon fiber.

When the gar strikes the minnow, the steel leader forms a noose which tightens around the fish's long, narrow snout.

There are several misconceptions among the fishing public about gar, according to fisheries biologists of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. One is that they are harmful to game populations. While they may not always be beneficial, they usually have little effect on bass and other sport fish.

Gar feed on small forage fish species such as shad and minnows, and they usually keep to more open-water areas. While they may consume some young game fish, the take is probably insignificant in most waters.

Another perhaps little-known fact is that gar are quite edible. However, it takes some know-how to extract the boneless "back strap" from the fish's upper back. Although most consider gar scavengers, their diet of small fish gives them good flavor if caught from water of reasonably good quality.

When a gar strikes the skirt, the fish's tiny teeth tangle with the nylon and the fight is on.

There are other ways to rig gar-catching tackle. Some fishermen use a minnow hooked in the traditional manner, but with a steel header formed into a loop around the baited hook.

Redfish stocking success

AUSTIN — The saltwater redfish stocked in Lake Victor Braunig near San Antonio six weeks ago apparently are healthy and growing rapidly.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologist Jimmy Dean of San Antonio said two coves on the east arm of the lake were treated with the chemical rotenone last week to check on the status of the introduced redfish.

"We collected 40 small redfish, and they had grown from one to one and a quarter inches long to between four and five inches," Dean said. "They looked extremely healthy."

Dean said the fingerling reds apparently dispersed after release, since the two coves studied were in the opposite end of the lake from the release sites.

The redfish were hatched and reared at the department's marine research facility at Palacious. During May the fish were stocked in Braunig, Long, Kemp, Mountain Creek, Tradinghouse, Lake Creek and Colorado City Reservoirs. St. Charles Bay near Rockport also received an additional experimental stocking.

Freshwater stockings of redfish are aimed at providing an additional sport fish for the angler and controlling populations of rough and forage fish such as shad and tilapia.

Pet Talks

By Dr. Hap Lutz

Questions and answers

Dr. Lutz is a former instructor of diseases of dogs and cats in the college of Veterinary Medicine at Texas A&M University.

Dear Dr. Lutz,

I have a nine month old male Beagle. I keep him in a fenced-in area. I am having a problem with his barking. My neighbors are complaining. How can I break him of this bad habit?—A Threatened Dog Owner

Dear TDO,

I am a firm believer that children, dogs and cats should behave. A dog that barks continually has bad manners and is a nuisance.

Dogs can be conditioned not to bark. The following methods are effective. If your dog barks, shout a firm and angry "No" and "Quiet". Let him know by the tone of your voice that you mean business. Everytime he barks, continue with these commands, day and night for a week.

As long as he is not obeying your command, refuse him any affection.

At the end of a week, if this has not been successful, take the second step. Use a water pistol (the kind we played with as children). Fill the pistol with cold water.

When your dog barks, squirt him in the face and continue your commands of "No" and "Quiet." Continue this procedure for the second week. Show him no affection — after all, he is misbehaving.

At any stage in these suggested procedures, if he stops barking, praise him and reward him. Dogs like praise more than anything else.

However, there will be an occasional dog (no more than 1 percent) that is "headstrong", and you must go the third procedure. If he starts barking give your command of "No" and "Quiet" and with the palm of your hand give him a thumb under his lower jaw.

The thumb should be of sufficient force to close his mouth but not to hurt him.

This shock is very effective. It won't take long with this last step for your dog to get the message.

The above procedures are advocated by three renowned canine veterinary psychologists that specialize in one field of our profession — Canine Psychology.

Outdoors
Best choice

by Mrs. Richard Alden Knight

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Breakfast one morning proved that inadvertently I had, for once, bought the right thing.

My compansion has had a long association with Smith & Wesson, the copyright owners of the name of Mace, which, over the years, has practically become a generic term, although I am sure they'd rather it hadn't.

Last winter on a trip I found myself in a situation where I was definitely more comfortable with a small, portable means of self defense, or at least a deterrent.

I had bought a Smith & Wesson Mark VI out of the choice available in the market because, frankly, it was the most portable (it fits easily in a shirt pocket on a clip).

It is operated simply by a flip of the fingernail and pressure of the thumb (no turning of anything to get it going) and, for the future, has a scale on the side label so that, by floating it in a glass of water, I can tell the percentage of formulation remaining. (While I always assume a gun is loaded, I like to KNOW it is!)

Talking with Bill, I discovered that I really had bought the best, not only from my own personal convenience viewpoint, but from the technical standpoint as well. The Mark VI is loaded with 9 percent phenylchloromethylketone, a more highly refined form of chloracetophenone, the CN of tear gas.

While there are other chemical products on the market for such uses, CN is the only one which VAPORIZES, the vapors getting to the target's eyes within a second. The other products do not act so quickly — they take as much as 25-30 seconds to take effect and must be shot directly into the eyes.

While one who is defending the self should not, at the moment, worry about the aftereffects to the target, it is perhaps reassuring in this day of sue-happy people that the Alameda County (California) survey of some 30,000 uses of CN over the years has shown no permanent damage after use ... and it can be flushed off, rather than regenerating as does the other chemical produce when combined with water.

Currently six states prohibit or restrict the sale of the self-protection devices. In New York they are prohibited; in California a permit for their purchase and use can be obtained after taking a two-hour course.

While I got mine easily through the good offices of a lsw enforcement officer, I'm sure that there are lots of people who will be glad to know that Smith & Wesson is seriously considering entering the civilian market as well as the law enforcement field where they have sold CN units in various forms for 16 years of Mace.

New relief for motion sickness

It looks like a circular adhesive bandage — but when placed properly behind the ear, it can prevent motion sickness for up to three days.

It's a substance called scopolamine, it's a prescription medication and, says Dr. Curtis Kovacs, "It's incredible! It really works."

Scopolamine has proved in the past to be a "super anti-nausea agent," Dr. Kovacs said, but it has several undesirable side effects such as drowsiness, dry mouth and blurred vision. In high doses it can result in mental confusion and hallucinations.

However, when the substance is administered transdermally (through the skin), the drug is diffused gradually into the bloodstream which eliminates the worst side effects.

Dr. Kovacs added he has tried the drug himself and experienced no side effects.

"Two-thirds of the people who use it will experience some dryness of the mouth," he said.

The transdermal form of the drug was studied by the Navy in tests that compared it with another well-known motion sickness medicine both in the laboratory and at sea. The test concluded that scopolamine was the more effective against motion sickness.

Marketed under the tradename Transderm-V, scopolamine has been available in Florida for about a year.

The drug should not be used by women who are pregnant, nursing or planning to become pregnant, or by those who have glaucoma, obstructions of the stomach or intestine, have trouble urinating or any bladder obstruction or who have any skin allergy or skin reaction to a drug — particularly scopolamine — chemical or food.
