Bishop to Dedicate New Parish School

The most Reverend M. S. Garriga, DD. LL.D., Bishop of the Diocese of Corpus Christi, will dedicate the new Sacred Heart school in Rockport Thursday afternoon, at 5:00 o'clock.

Bishop Garriga will be accompanied to the dedication by Catholic clergy from throughout the Diocese, and by members of the Schoenstatt Sisters of Mary, who provide teachers for the school under the leadership of the Very Reverend Gerald J. O'Doherty pastor of Sacred Heart Church here.

Among other guests at the dedication will be Vicar General of the Diocese, Msgr. William H. Oberste, of Refugio; Msgr. Albert Schmidt, pastor of the Corpus Christi Cathedral; and Abbott Alfred Hoenig, of the Corpus Christi Benedictine Monastery.

Immediately after the dedication there will be a Mass of Thanksgiving celebrated by Monsignor O'Doherty. Music during the Mass will be furnished by the Sacred Heart School Choir.

Following celebration of the Mass, there will be an open house at the school, at which members of the Sacred Heart Mothers' Club will act as hostesses. To this everyone is invited, and refreshments will be served to the guests.

The dedication marks the climax of almost four years of unremitting effort on the part of Msgr. O'Doherty and his congregation to replace the old frame school that had been in use for many years, and which, long ago, grown too small.

Architects for the school were Wade, Gibson and Martin, of Corpus Christi; contractors on the $80,000 job were the Picton Lumber Company and Seth H. Steele, of Rockport.

Construction was started in August, 1961, on the L-shaped building, which is 168 feet on the longest side and 81 feet on the shortest.

The building contains four classrooms, approximately 24x40 feet each, a small office, a library, and the necessary storage space and sanitary facilities.

It is built on a concrete slab foundation, with steel structural members. Curtain and interior walls are of the concrete block, brick and plaster, while windows and doors are of aluminum and glass.

Trash Must Comply With Ordinance To Be Hauled Away

City officials, swamped by the tremendous amounts of tree limbs and other trash resulting from pruning shrubbery after the freeze, say that it is no longer possible to cope with this unless citizens comply with the trash ordinance.

This ordinance specifically states that all trash of this sort must be cut in lengths of four feet or less, and bundled for easy hauling. "Unless this is done," Mayor Johnson said today, "it will not be possible for us to haul it away."

Our truck and men are getting further and further behind. We could use three or four trucks and three or four times the men we have, and still not be able to catch up for another six weeks.

"We regret it, but unless trash is cut and bundled, city crews will no longer pick it up. We have tried to cope with the situation, even though citizens have not been complying with the ordinance. But we are completely unable to do so with the present set up."

"With loose trash, of the sort that you see in front of nearly every home in Rockport, it takes too long to load it, and you can't haul enough to make any impression on the pile at all. Please tell everyone that they must cut and bundle their trash, if they want city crews to haul it. If they do not, citizens will have to make their own arrangements to get the trash hauled away. City crews will not do it."

Fulton School Hosts Visitors

The George Ware Fulton Elementary School played host to a fairly large group of visitors participating in the opening of Public School Week. A short program was given by the students of Miss Jean Venable. The 4th grade played the tonettes; Safety Songs were played by Clifford Green, Paula Thomas, Eileen Casterline, Mary Louise Smith, Ruford Huff, and Debra Atkins.

Twinkle Little Star, played by Robbie Segler, Sherry Sanders, Sylvia Rains, Kelli Rhodes, Georgene McCandless, the leader, was Gary Dawson. The fifth and sixth grades choir sang Orchestra Song, Village Bells, Annie Annie, Spring Is Here, and the Zulu Warrior. The visitors inspected the class rooms, met old friends and were served punch and cakes by the Fulton Parent Teacher Association.

SUPREME COURT SAYS TAXPAYERS HERE ARE WRONG

Aransas County acted properly in hiring Thomas Y. Pickett and Co. to conduct a property valuation survey for tax purposes, the 4th Court of Civil Appeals ruled Wednesday.

The court upheld a district court decision denying an injunction request filed by E. T. White and more than 100 other taxpayers.

The taxpayer group contended that the county lacked statutory authority to enter into the $10,775 contract, that other county officials usurped the powers of the county tax assessor-collector, that they erred in omitting the state comptroller from the action, that the cost of the survey was not in the county budget and that the contract committed the county to a debt which was illegal.

The appeals court overruled each of the claims.

Youth Recreation Sponsors To Build Patio For Summer

The Youth Recreation Sponsors met Monday night, and Disc Jockey Bobby Brock of Corpus Christi, was hired for all dances at the youth building, including those of the junior high group.

The Junior High Dance scheduled for Friday, March 9, will be cancelled because of the circus that will be in town.

C. C. Crabb and Charles Vermilion are heading a committee to build a patio on the south side of the Youth Building, where summer dances will be held. The slab will be 25x60 feet, and will be reached through the Youth Building.

Construction will start soon, and the group hopes to have it ready for the summer dances.

The chaperone situation has been smooth in its operation, but the sponsors would like for the parents to check their chaperone list to be sure some are always on hand.

BILL PATMAN UNOPPOSED
FOR 18TH DIST. SENATE SEAT

Senator William N. (Bill) Patman today thanked the people of the 18th State Senatorial District for making him their unopposed candidate for election to a second term.

Although the Legislature meets in formal session only four or five months every two years, members have between session duties. Senator Patman is a member of the Senate Cost of Government Study Committee and is preparing recommendations to improve efficiency of the state government and to give taxpayers more and better services without a tax increase.

The 18th Senatorial District is composed of Aransas, Bee, Calhoun, Goliad, Jackson, Karnes, Live Oak, McMullen, Refugio, San Patricio, and Victoria Counties.

Senator Patman was first elected in 1960 and took office January 10, 1961. He served on the following Senatorial Committees: Legislative; Congressional and Judicial Districts (Vice-Chairman); Agriculture and Livestock; Education; Game and Fish; Jurisprudence; Oil and Gas; Transportation; and Water and Conservation.

During the regular and special sessions of the 57th Legislature, he was instrumental in passing laws imposing stricter regulations on the entry into Texas of diseased stocker and range cattle; stiffer penalties for narcotics violations; broadening of county powers to obtain fire-fighting equipment for rural areas; releasing business, farmers, and ranchers from burdensome compliance with unnecessary regulations; protection of game and fish resources; water and soil conservation; and the establishment and maintenance of juvenile boards.

In addition, he was the author of a resolution directing the study by the Texas Highway Department, Game and Fish Commission, and State Parks Board of the conversion of old Copano Causeway into a public fishing pier after the completion of the new causeway. He was also author of a bill to make the old Lavaca Bay causeway a fishing pier.

Mrs. Walter Cassel was in Beaumont last week. While there she visited with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bearden.

Mrs. Mary Shaver, of Brownwood, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cassel and Mr. G. L. Cassel.

oil in the area have been great assets, and that the people involved in all these have been good citizens, with some exceptional leaders.

Complimenting the Commissioners' Court, he said: "Under the leadership of Judge Wendell, you have had progressive county government, cooperative government, and at the same time sane and conservative leadership. The recent appointment of an Aransas County Planning and Development Board is a unique and significant development."

Lockwood emphasized the county's need for fresh water.

"This area, simply must take early steps to assure itself of a firm and coordinated water supply," he said. "It must provide for adequate sewage collection, treatment and disposition; for drainage; to protect presently developed areas and to reclaim other areas."

"This nine-member board of area leaders," he continued, "under the leadership of Mr. James Sorenson is most likely to be successful. That the board, contains two women makes sense. Inadequate cooperation or outright conflict between city and county governments have crippled progress in many areas. Apparently you have risen above that here, for I note that Mayor Johnson of Rockport is one of the members of this County Planning and Development Board."

Lockwood said that for a long time this county has been a shining example of good planning and construction of navigation and waterway improvements.

"You know, I am sure," he said, "that some of your neighboring communities are downright envious of your high quality, smart-looking waterfront. Such progress in a community of this size can only come from a navigation board backed by enlightened citizens who are able to see beyond the ends of their respective noses."

But this community's greatest need, Lockwood emphasized again and again, is an assured and ample supply of fresh water.

"Water always has been, and in the future more than ever will be, essential to community growth as to human existence. For Aransas County, this means water for domestic, commercial, and other municipal uses, for irrigation and for industrial development, including tourist promotion.

"Certainly," Lockwood said, "the very future of the county is dependent upon an adequate water supply—and you must act quickly and decisively to assure yourselves of this supply. For the opportunities are diminishing rapidly."

Discussing the magnitude of the question, he went on to say: "Lagging water development is generally a serious deterrent to efforts to attract industry," and pointed out that there was water in the area that could supply Aransas County for many years. But, he stated:

"The biggest problem of the state, and particularly in potentially water deficient areas such as this one, is to get the people to recognize the future need and to start far enough ahead so that the development work can be done by the time the water is required. For the development of a water supply, experience has shown that many years must be consumed in planning, financing, and construction."

These things often take from five to ten years, the speaker said. "A preliminary plan is needed first in order to obtain the necessary governmental permits and to overcome other legal hurdles. Then design and construction plans must be developed and the money obtained. Finally, it takes two years or more to build a dam, and another two years or more to fill the reservoir."

Thus from 10 to 20 years may elapse between recognition of the need for a water supply and the time the water is there to use.

"Complacency about present conditions and failure to act in time may be the biggest obstacles standing in the way of obtaining the needed water."

Lockwood outlined future potential water supplies, and warned that the cost of water would be increased many times if it has to be brought from far away. And, he said,

"If the need becomes acute enough, some supplies may be obtained by desalting water from the ocean. But even if the cost is drastically reduced from its present range, this water will still cost from five to ten times as much as treated water from a river. It appears certain that almost any source of fresh water, even though quite distant, could be more economically developed."

Discussing use of these possible sources, including the smaller watersheds in this area not now in use, but which could be made to furnish appreciable quantities of fresh water, Lockwood continued:

"My reason for dwelling on this is that none of these potential sources can be developed without years of planning and preparation. Unless communities such as yours take bold and decisive steps now to meet this desperate water need of tomorrow, you are heading for serious trouble. The inevitable result is stagnation or costly crash programs under chaotic conditions, or some of both."

"You have almost parallel problems confronting you in respect to other essential elements of community development; sanitary systems, drainage, waterways development, schools, libraries and cultural institutions."

"You must continue to close the ranks against enemies of civic progress. Whenever things come too easy, we get fat and soft, you have every right to be proud of your accomplishments, but your job is just beginning. The task of building upon the foundations you have laid can be accomplished—and I believe can only be accomplished—through the efforts of your County Commissioners' Court; your Navigation District; your County Advisory Board; and the one organization which represents the entire business and professional community, your Chamber of Commerce."

"Your Chamber of Commerce is the only civic organization that is operating on a community wide basis. It is organized to afford the support of all elements of business, professional and cultural life. There is a task for every individual in the community. And since one man, or small group of men, cannot possibly perform all the tasks which must be accomplished, the community's man-power is assigned to committees."

"Every business man and every professional man in the community has the responsibility, I think of seeing that the Chamber of Commerce is undergirded adequately with money and manpower. "What Rockport and Aransas County needs now is more people who understand the advantages the area has, and the forces that are operating for a potentially great future. These people need to see a vision of Aransas County as it can be."

Lockwood acknowledged the forward looking steps that had been made, and outlined some others:

"Your County-wide advisory group can join forces with your Chamber of Commerce and other organizations and authorities and provide the essential information for the people."

"Since the inadequacy of your water supply may some day soon constitute a serious threat to the health, safety and welfare of every member of your community, you should be searching now for an assured, ample future water supply. This task can be accomplished by the proposed Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District you plan to organize. "Certainly you need to support your Navigation District and its leaders with its long range plans in developing your waterfront facilities; for your future is still linked to the fishing and tourist industry, and to waterways improvements."

"You need to broaden the support of your Chamber of Commerce and thus widen its effectiveness. "You need to support good schools and insist on good government."

"Each of you must do everything in your power to assist those who are working on an area-wide community plan of development to guide your future growth, your Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District, which is proposing, in addition to adequate water supplies, better drainage, better sanitary conditions, better waterfront and navigation facilities, and all such improvements designed to prevent later deterioration which can come to any community from lack of a long range plan."

"It is nearly always money, that thwarts a needed public improvement programs. Our antiquated and outmoded system of taxation, by imposing a ridiculously disproportionate burden of taxes on real estate, has about killed the goose that laid the golden egg. Many real property owners are in open rebellion. They are so prejudiced now that they blindly oppose bond issues for public improvements whether they are good or not."

"This is tragic! And these people need to be reoriented. For bond issues for sound improvement programs are taxpayer investments, not taxpayer expenses. Without them communities decay; assessable values decline and taxes rise, remain secure and tax income is created."

"I have tried to suggest some of the things which I believe the people of Rockport and Aransas County had better get done as quickly as possible, in order to keep moving."
