

Rev. Davis Edens to Preach

Thanksgiving Service Slated Here Nov. 27

Union Thanksgiving services will be conducted under the sponsorship of the Collingsworth County Ministerial Alliance Wednesday evening, Nov. 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the Church of the Nazarene at Amarillo and Tenth Streets.

The Rev. Davis Edens, pastor of First Methodist Church, will preach the Thanksgiving sermon, and the Rev. Jack Durham, of the Church of the Nazarene will be the worship leader and music director.

Thanksgiving music from the organ will be presented by Miss Patsy Falk, and Dr. Glenn Hickey of First Baptist Church will read the responsive reading.

After a prayer by Min. Hiram Cassel of First Christian Church, the Rev. Kenneth Quaid of Faith Baptist Church will read the Thanksgiving scripture and the Rev. Charles Buford of Fundamental Baptist Church will give the offertory prayer.

The Kiwanis Club quartet will sing just before the sermon, and the benediction will be given by the Rev. Franklin A. Burns of the Assembly of God.

A benevolence offering will be taken at this service, Rev. Durham explained. This is taken each year at the Thanksgiving service and makes available a fund by which worthy transient needy can be helped. It is handled by the sheriff's office.

C. A. Kesler, Retired Farmer, Dies Saturday

C. A. Kesler, 81, closely identified with the progress of the Fresno area for nearly 60 years, died in St. Joseph's Hospital at 4:35 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 15. He was stricken ill and hospitalized the preceding day.

Mr. Kesler was a retired farmer and had lived in the county since 1905.

Throughout that period, he was active in community and church affairs. He was a school trustee at Pleasant Point for many years and served as superintendent of the Sunday School at Fresno Baptist Church 28 years. For a long period, he was road overseer, in that era when men of each community brought their teams and worked the roads themselves.

Clarence Kesler was born March 24, 1882, at Boonesville, Virginia, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kesler. His mother died when he was five years old, and he recalled that his father not only cared for the children but sheared the sheep, spun the wool and wove the cloth for their clothing.

In 1896 the family moved to Texas, settling at Paris, where Mr. Kesler remained until he came here. He first farmed in the Grassbur community and later at Fresno.

He was married to Miss Edna Forbis, member of one of the first families to settle here on June 5, 1910 at Fresno.

Mr. Kesler became a member of the Baptist church 54 years ago and he was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America.

Funeral services for Mr. Kesler were conducted at the First Baptist Church Sunday at 2:30 p.m. with Dr. Glenn Hickey officiating.

Cub Pack to Meet Monday

The Cub Scout Pack will meet Monday, Nov. 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the community building, Mrs. Harry McEwen announced.

All Cubs and their parents are urged to attend.

Boys of Den Two will present a skit under the direction of the den mothers, Mrs. Charles Jackson and Mrs. McEwen.

Den Three, directed by Mrs. Wayne Gray and Mrs. Leon Furgeson will serve refreshments.

Rules Given for Brucellosis Control Counties

With Collingsworth county due to be designated a modified certified county in the brucellosis control program, the Texas Animal Health Commission this week released the requirements governing cattle entering the modified certified counties.

This also applies to counties in the process of certification. "These regulations are very important to livestock owners in Collingsworth county as failure to comply with them could jeopardize the brucellosis status of the county," said R. G. Garrett, executive director of the Texas Animal Health Commission.

Here are the regulations: All cattle entering Modified Certified Counties or Counties in the process of certification must be tested and be negative to the brucellosis agglutination test within 30 days prior to entry and be retested negative in not less than 30 nor more than 90 days after entry except those cattle exempt below:

A. Steers, spayed heifers, calves under 8 months of age, and official brucellosis vaccinates under 30 months of age.

B. Cattle originating from Certified Brucellosis Free Herds when accompanied by an official health certificate indicating status of herd of origin.

C. Cattle, individually identified.

Young Farmers Hold Meeting on Cattle Diseases

Quail Young Farmers are sponsoring an open meeting Monday night, Nov. 25 with a program pertaining to cattle diseases, Frank Kennedy, vocational ag instructor, announced.

Dr. Charles E. Deyhle, Clarendon veterinarian, will be the speaker and will discuss brucellosis, leptospirosis, and other diseases.

The meeting will be at the vocational ag building and will begin at 7:30 p.m.

P. J. White, president of the Young Farmers, will preside.

Norwood PTA Sets Open House November 25

The Samnorwood PTA will hold open house in the foyer of the school gymnasium Monday, Nov. 25 at 7:00 p.m.

The business meeting will be followed by a school panel discussion. Narrators will be Ed Dwyer and Cecil Rankin, and students taking part will be Jimmy Marindale, Bill Wischkaemper, Nancy Hill and Joyce Alexander.

Mrs. Selba Rainey's seventh grade English class will present a skit.

Mrs. Sam Carter urges all parents and interested patrons to attend this meeting.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the program.

Norwood Grade School Elects Student Council

The Samnorwood elementary student council was organized in a meeting Friday, Nov. 15. This includes grades one through six, and members of the council are the president and secretary of each class.

These are first grade, Kim Stephens, president; second grade, Mike Oldham, president; and Johnny Morgan, secretary; third grade, Connie Knoll, president; and Dianna Cantrell, secretary.

Fourth grade, Stephen Rankin, president; and Rocky Deger, secretary; fifth grade, Larry Waters, president; and Mary Schaub, secretary; and sixth grade, Ray Dwyer, president and Charlotte Kincannon, secretary.

Kim Jones was elected a member at large and then was elected president of the student council.

Skyrockets Go Full Strength Into Bi-District Game Friday

The powerful Wellington Skyrockets, champions of District 2-A, are due to go full strength into their first bi-district championship game in 17 years Friday night, Nov. 22, and with a desire for victory to match their strength.

They will oppose the Stratford Elks of District 1-A, in the game played at Harvester Stadium, Pampa, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The winner of this bi-district game will play the winner of the 4-A Petersburg and 3-A Farwell game, to be played in Lubbock Friday night.

"If our boys want the ball game the worst, we'll win it, unless we have a whole bunch of bad breaks," Coach Don Beck declared this week. This is one of the few games this season when it appears at mid-week the team will be at full strength.

Coach Beck gave full-team praise to the Rockets: "I think our boys played an outstanding first half against Canadian, and then we called them off and tried to play some of the younger kids. I think we would have doubled the score if we had kept the first string in full time."

This is the first time Stratford has won a district championship, and those who have seen films of games the Elks have played believe they will be the toughest opponent the Rockets have met to date.

After losing their first game to Texoma, the Elks won their last nine games.

In analyzing the team, Coach Beck said the Elks have an outstanding backfield with good speed and they throw the ball well. An outstanding halfback is Gary Hudson, and in John Brannan, they have a fullback as good as the Rockets have met this year.

They have two quarterbacks, Charles Plunk and Jim Hudson, who throw the ball well and are capable runners.

Their best target is Duane Pittman, an end, who is 6-3. At the other end is Lynn Allen, another six footer, and an alternate end, Walter Leslie, who is of equal height.

"Stratford is not quite as heavy as we are, but much taller and that is a lot of advantage because they can reach so far. You can block a man and he can still reach over you and make a tackle," Beck said.

"They throw the ball probably better than any team we have faced yet. They are the type of football team that makes the big play when it really counts, like third and 9 and they come up with a first and 10."

"Their defense pursues real quickly, and they are probably one of the toughest defensive football teams we have faced yet. Tulsa probably is the

Christmas Lights Will Go On Here December 2

The Christmas lights will go on in Wellington Monday, Dec. 2, signaling the opening of the holiday season for the Wellington trade area, Denver Powell, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce decorating committee announced this week.

This will be followed by a visit from Santa Claus on Friday, Dec. 13 and announcement of the best decorated display window among Wellington businesses on Friday, Dec. 20.

Decoration plans were announced late last week following a meeting by the Christmas Decorations committee, which besides Powell includes Ted Brock, Quinton Brewer, Jake Leach, Mrs. John Coleman, Mrs. James Sullivan and Mrs. E. H. Harwell.

The overall decoration plan will follow closely that of last year, Powell explained.

New, however, is the contest to choose the best decorated business window, in keeping with the holiday season. This may be accomplished either through merchandising, use of Christmas scenes, or in any other appropriate manner.

First prize will be $15; second $7.50.

The Chamber of Commerce is asking Wellington clubs and other organizations to decorate the vacant buildings around the square and immediately adjacent.

This may be done in any manner the sponsoring organization sees fit, and these windows also will be eligible to be judged for the prizes.

Santa Claus

Santa Claus' arrival for his traditional visit is timed for 3 p.m. Friday, Dec. 13, on the west side of the square.

The wraps are still on all other plans for his visit, but they will be revealed in plenty of time for every boy and girl in the Wellington trade area to participate in his visit, said Powell.

The decorations committee is also asking for volunteer clubs or organizations to decorate the cedar trees on the courthouse lawn.

But whatever decorations Wellington may put up this year, they will center around the Christmas star on top of the courthouse which has made this town distinctive at Christmas for a quarter of a century.

Modern Method

Workshop for Math Teachers Nov. 26

An arithmetic workshop for teachers in the elementary grades will be held here Tuesday, Nov. 26 to take up "Modern Arithmetic Through Discovery."

The workshop will be in the elementary school building, beginning at 9:30 a.m. and continuing through the day.

This is the "modern math" now taught in a few schools and due to come into statewide adoption with the beginning of next year, J. D. Wilson, county school supervisor, said.

Here to conduct the workshop will be Mrs. Sarah Smith of San Antonio and Dr. Donald McDonald of Abilene, both consultants with Silver-Burdette, Dallas textbook publishers.

The two will give demonstrations on how to teach modern math and provide a substantial background for teaching of elementary arithmetic, Mr. Wilson explained.

"I think the new method of teaching math will improve arithmetic in elementary schools from the standpoint of the children's understanding arithmetic better. I believe this approach will raise the school

Cotton Quality Slightly Off From Last Week

According to K. E. Voelkel of the Agricultural Marketing Service's cotton classing office in Memphis, the quality of cotton as regards to micronaire readings and staple length was slightly off that classed the previous week.

For the week ending Friday, Nov. 15, 14,000 samples were classed, bringing the season's total to over 56,000. As of the same date last season 54,500 samples had been classed.

Thirty-three per cent of the cotton classed was White, with 17 per cent Middling. Sixty-seven per cent fell in the colored grades, with 44 per cent Middling Light Spotted.

Samples reduced in grade because of Bark amounted to nearly 2 per cent and over 1 per cent was below normal in preparation.

The staple length ranged from 13/16 to 1-3/32 inches, with 74 per cent stapling 15/16 inch, the predominant staple length. Other lengths were: 29/32 and shorter, 10 per cent; 31/32 inch, 13 per cent; and 1 inch and longer, 3 per cent.

Micronaire readings were slightly lower than the previous week, with 3.4 and lower amounting to 6 per cent, compared with 3 per cent last week; 72 per cent of the readings were 4.0 and 4.9.

The fiber strength tests continued to be good, however, more cotton is falling to the Fair category. Over 50 per cent tested Strong and Very Strong and 34 per cent was average, while 14 per cent was Fair.

The local market was a little more active this week, with more cotton selling than the previous week.

Average prices paid farmers for the main qualities moving into trade channels were: Middling 15/16—39.90; Strict Low Middling 15/16—29.75; Middling Light Spotted 15/16—29.80 and Strict Low Middling Light Spotted—28.90. Barkly cotton was selling for even to 20 points over the CCC loan rates. These prices were based on uncompressed, mixed lots in ware houses.

Cottonseed prices at gin points were $53 and $55 per ton. Hand labor was receiving $1.75 and $2.00 cwt for pulling cotton delivered to the gin.

Skyrockets Take Undisputed District Title Friday Night

By JACK FORD

Showing the rest of the district that they were true champions, the Wellington Skyrockets became the new District 2-A champions, downing the Canadian Wildcats 42-29 before an estimated 1200 fans at Canadian Friday, Nov. 15.

The Rockets were in complete control of the game most of the night. The Wildcats never made any serious threats until late in the third period, when they capitalized on an intercepted pass, a bad pass from center, and a recovery of an on-side kickoff, and started on a late game scoring spree.

All the Rockets stood out in this game. There were the usual number of standout plays in the game. Glen Thomas and his bull-like running tearing up the defensive Wildcat team.

Danny Martin going 65 yards on a fine run for a TD only to have it called back because of a penalty. A pass caught in the high wind chased by Freddie Bobo, who made a great fingertip catch. And one of the greatest defensive plays this writer ever witnessed in high school football, when Wayne Barton threw a screen pass that was tipped by a Canadian player, intercepted by another Wildcat and Wayne found himself the only Rocket defender and four Wildcat players in blocking position. Wayne stopped, played off the blockers, and then made the tackle on the ball carrying Wildcat, to save a sure Wildcat touchdown at this point of the game.

And who will forget the great defensive and offensive plays of Tim Bailey, Bryan Hatch, Chester McLain, Joe Henard, Joe Rudy, Billy Clubb, Ronnie Nix, Ray Floyd, Jennings Wells, Johnny Maxwell, Freddie Bobo, Gary Bergvall, Olan Moore, Gary White, Bobby Hudson, Danny Martin, Wayne Barton, Glen Thomas, and "old reliable" Kenneth Patterson kept the Wildcats' fast backs off stride nearly all night, while the Rockets were scoring touchdowns from all quarters of the field.

The first half statistics will show how rough the Rockets were on defense. The Wildcats had just one first down and a total of 63 yards gained, but the Wildcats lost 23 yards the first half.

In the first quarter the Rockets started right in to show the Wildcats it was Rocket night in Canadian. The Rockets, after fumbling away their first chance, partially blocked a Wildcat punt and it was the Rockets' ball on the Wildcat 48 yard line. Patterson, Moore, Hudson and a Wayne Barton pass to Patterson, moved the ball to the Wildcat 1 and Hudson ran it over for the Rockets' first of many touchdowns. The extra point try failed.

The rest of the quarter was one of looking or making breaks. Martin intercepted a Wildcat pass, and the Rockets pushed to the Wildcat 6, where they fumbled the ball and the Wildcats recovered. First quarter, Rockets 6, Wildcats 0.

The second quarter was the Rockets' big quarter. They began the quarter in possession of the ball on their own 36, and White, Martin and Thomas, on rushes, moved to the Wildcat 3, and from this point Thomas went into the end zone. The extra point try failed.

Again the Wildcats couldn't move the ball and were forced to kick. The wind caught the ball and it ended up on the Wildcat 23. Two plays later Hudson scored again. Thomas scored the 2 extra points.

Once again the Wildcats couldn't move and were forced to kick. The Rockets took over on the 50. White, Hudson and Thomas moved the ball to the Wildcat 1, and Thomas carried it over. The extra point try failed.

The Rockets kicked off and on the first play from scrimmage the Wildcats fumbled, and the Rockets recovered on the Wildcat 35. A well executed screen pass Barton to Thomas was good for another Rocket touchdown. Moore scored the 2 extra points. Half time score Rockets 34, Wildcats 0.

The third quarter started out just like the second. After an exchange of fumbles the Rockets had possession on the Wildcat 15. White and Patterson moved the ball to the Wildcat 7, and from this point Thomas scored. Hudson ran the 2 extra points. This ended Rocket scoring for the night.

With most of the Rocket reserves playing, the Wildcats intercepted a Rocket pass and ran to the Rocket 7, and four plays later the Wildcats scored and kicked the extra point. Third quarter score Rockets 42, Wildcats 7.

Volunteer of Year Named by Cancer Society

HOUSTON.—Mrs. Gene Sanders of Dumas was named Volunteer of the Year recently for the Texas Division of the American Cancer Society at the annual meeting of the division.

The award is made by the society's board of directors to the volunteer who most typifies the spirit and interest of the volunteers who make up the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Sanders was born and reared in Dumas. She has been married 28 years and has nine children, seven in school, and one grandchild, all living at home. Her household chores entail preparing meals for 36 people daily and laundering and ironing 50 white shirts a week. As well, she is circulation manager for her husband's newspaper; supervising 32 paper boys who deliver their paper to 5,500 homes twice a week. She also assists in the publication of the paper.

As a sideline she manages a 16-bed hotel.

Mrs. Sanders accepted the Cancer Crusade chairmanship in April 1963 of the newly formed Moore county unit. Within three weeks she organized a campaign which raised over 300 per cent of the amount raised in 1962.

Mrs. Sanders was instrumental in establishing a loan closet for cancer patients and developing a publicity program which brought the services of the unit to the people of her county.

Quail to Play Kelton

The Quail Quails and Bobwhites will meet the teams of Kelton on the Quail court Friday night, Nov. 22.

The teams are also scheduled to play the Wellington Rockets and Rockettes Tuesday Nov. 26 at Quail; however, if the Wellington football team wins the bi-district game against Stratford, the basketball games will be cancelled.

Region IX Concert December 6-7

21 Band Members to Regional Auditions

Twenty-one members of the Wellington high school band will participate in auditions for the all-regional band Saturday, Nov. 21, James Larson, band director said this week.

The auditions will be held at the new Caprock high school in Amarillo.

Those winning places in the Region IX band will play in its concert and participate in other activities at Perryton on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 6 and 7. Auditions for the all-state band will be held at the same time for those students who sit high enough in the regional band.

Wellington had only seven members to audition last year and four won places in the all-region band. Charles Black and Dan Warrick will try again this year, while the other two graduated — Bill Tyler and Charles Mitchell.

Larson named these as the group to audition in Amarillo Saturday: Janyth Estes, Dan Warrick, Charles Black, Jan Orr, Dwight Bowen,

Graham Bowen, Ann Orr, Bryan Harris, Jackie Barton, Norman Black, John Barjenbruch, Anna Kay Kelso, Rei Schneider, Regina Ferguson, Sammie Thompson, Carol Blain, Cleland Stallings, David Groves, Raymond Horton Jr., Sharon Daves and Tommy Thomas.

Booker T. Washington, the negro educator, was entertained at a luncheon in the White House by President Theodore Roosevelt Oct. 18, 1901.

POLITICAL MORALITY

It is just possible that the year 1963 will go down in history as the year of awakening, with regard to political morality.

Irresponsibility and even mischief in public life are not unrelated to laxity of moral standards generally, but it does seem that American citizens have too long tolerated standards in national political life that are not justifiable. This is not to say that all public servants fail all the time to devote themselves to the common weal, nor that any is always faithless to this trust.

Nevertheless, if we voting, tax-paying American citizens would watch more vigorously the credentials, records and performances of office-seekers, we should have a better nation.

But the trouble is that we get the kind of government we deserve, and it is mostly the fault of the electorate that all is not well.

Recently Edward P. Neilan, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the U.S., gave official Washington the jitters by exploring these problems in a speech to the National Press Club. The jolt brought attacks and protests on the floors of both houses of Congress.

Fancy Spoils System

The theme of Mr. Neilan's remarks was that the spirit of "getting more from Washington" is making the nation's congressmen into "bagmen" for their constituencies, a practice as immoral as the spy-and-sex scandals of Britain.

He decried massive vote-buying or election bribery that runs into billions of dollars, all of it done openly and even engaged in eagerly by the American people.

Responsibility for the bulk of this spending—or bribing—power rests with the party in power, for it holds the purse strings on billions of vote getting projects; accelerated public works, urban and rural-area redevelopment, defense-space contracts.

Mr. Neilan continued:

"Who is so naive as to believe that they will not use them or that our whole electorate is incorruptible? The spoils system is not new in

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER
Thursday, November 21, 1963

American political life, but it is more sophisticated, more sinister than ever before, and never have we seen such widespread public acceptance of political bribery."

Mr. Neilan was specific. He cited the Area Redevelopment Administration, as one example, which actually has done nothing, nor can it do anything, to change the basic conditions that make depressed areas.

Beginning with 103 areas as officially depressed, he said this "sophisticated spoils system" now includes 1,000 eligible areas and the list is growing.

He recommended a return to local self-help and a dependence upon local leadership and local responsibility, an old but workable approach.

He asked: "Where does this vote buying, labeled assistance, stop? Is the Federal Government to pour out tax money and borrowed funds endlessly, to bail out every community, every industry, every individual company that finds itself in trouble? Or is it the proper role of the Federal Government to curtail this spending in order to create the sound foundation for sustained economic growth which will enable the whole American community to prosper?"

What result? Taking it with poor grace, the New Frontier was outraged. Secretary of Commerce Hodges called the speech a "dis-service," "derogatory," and not proper.

Rep. Wright Patman of Texas claimed to be "shocked" by this man "of such vast ignorance and unlimited ill will."

He suggested Neilan be deported to some Fascist country, since "obviously he hates the American people and he hates America."

Senate Majority Leader Mansfield bitterly attacked poor Neilan, labeling his speech "propaganda of the far right." And so on.

But Mr. Neilan, newly come to Washington and quite shocked himself by its cynicism, fired another volley in a letter to Senator Mansfield:

"By what dispensation from the moral order does Washington abide, that a man is held up to scorn for upholding a simple virtue; for declaring it is dishonest to take something from others and put it to purely selfish use?"

Following his address, Mr. Neilan told the Senator that people from all parts of the country who seem to know what is going on and seem not to appreciate it have begged him to "keep it up."

He proposes to do so. Hooray for Edward Neilan!

Thanksgiving

We express our appreciation to our many customers

We pause at this traditional Thanksgiving time to express heartfelt gratitude for the rich blessings that are ours. It is with joy, yet humbleness, that we watch the produce of our rich soil and our labor as it is harvested. In this alone, let us think how much we have to be thankful for.

Your generous patronage has been ours through the years, and no gin could ask for finer support than you have given.

Then, too, there is the priceless tradition of Thanksgiving Day, and the inheritance of Courage, Faith and Power that is ours.

Along with Thanksgiving, we observe National Farm-City Week, which reminds that the power which comes from the soil, combined with the power of our industry, has made America great in material strength. Let us be thankful for this as one of our blessings.

Norwood Takes Duo, Then Splits With Ron

The Samnorwood Eagles and Eaglettes won a double header from Reed, then split a pair of games with Ron to wrap up last week's basketball action in Oklahoma.

In the thriller of the year, the Eagles lost to Ron in a 3-minute overtime period Friday night, Nov. 15 by a 43-41 score.

Opposing Coach Loyd Stephens' Eagles on the court was the team he coached last year, when he was a member of the Ron faculty.

Norwood-Reed

Norwood Eaglettes took the victory over Reed 69 to 54. High scorer was Kay Purkey with 32 points, while Jo Nell Breeding made 26 and Suzie Bentley 8.

Patty Burnham was top scorer for Reed with 31 points, while Janie Rogers accounted for the remaining 23.

Score by quarters:
Norwood 14 33 50 69
Reed 12 25 43 54

Starting for the Eaglettes were Jo Nell Breeding, Kay Purkey and Suzy Bentley, forwards, and Joyce Alexander, Eunice Stice and Judy Martindale, guards.

Reed starters were Janie Rogers, Frances Holt and Patty Burnham, forwards, and Sue Granville, Sue Selfridge and Shirley Owens, guards.

Reed led during much of the first half of the boys' game, then shortly before the half Norwood pulled ahead and spent the remainder of the game widening the gap.

Billy Wischkaemper was high scorer with 19 points; Loyd Stice made 12 and almost every member of the team made one or more of the remaining points.

Thompson was high for Reed with 21. The score by quarters:

Rites Sunday at Assembly of God Unite Miss Atkinson, Benny McDanel

The Assembly of God in Wellington was the setting for the wedding of Miss Barbara LaTawn Atkinson and James Benny McDanel at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, Nov. 17. The Rev. Frank Burns, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Atkinson of Las Vegas, Nevada and Cecil Atkinson of Wellington. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Atkinson, with whom she made her home.

Mr. and Mrs. James McDanel are the parents of the bridegroom.

The couple spoke their vows before an arch covered with lemon leaves, and with baskets of white gladioli and candelabras at each side.

Wedding music was presented by Miss Patsy Falk, pianist, and Miss Ruby Patterson, vocalist.

The bride's father gave her in marriage.

She wore a formal gown made with a fitted bodice of chantilly lace, enhanced by a scalloped sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves. Iridescent sequins and tiny bridal pearls trimmed the neckline. The bouffant skirt had fullness at the back, with fairy tale lace tiers in front. Scallops edged the hemline. Her tulle veil was edged with lace and attached to a crown of sequins and pearls. The bride's bouquet was of white carnations on a Bible.

Miss Clarice Wheeler was the maid of honor and Miss Mary Katherine Conner and Miss Janice Jesse were the bridesmaids. Their dresses were designed with low round necklines, short sleeves and full street-length dresses. The maid of honor wore pink organza and the other turquoise. Their halo hats had short veils and their matching bouquets were of carnations on white hearts.

Johnny Linville of Clarendon was the best man, and Randy Wooldridge and Billy Wilkerson were groomsmen.

Junior attendants were Linda Coffee, flower girl, and Ricky Helms, ring bearer.

Following the wedding, the bride's grandparents were hosts at the reception in the community building.

The bride's table was laid with a turquoise cloth and appointments were crystal and milk glass. Miss Janice Pitts and Miss Janice Jesse served the guests.

As the couple left on a short

Rites Thursday for Taylor Baby

Graveside rites were held at the West Wellington Cemetery Thursday, Nov. 14 at 10 a.m. for Roger Dale Taylor, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Taylor.

The child was stillborn at St. Joseph's Hospital Wednesday at 2:30 p.m.

The Rev. Kenneth Quaid officiated at the service and burial was under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Surviving are the parents and eight brothers and sisters: Glenna, Vicky Kay, Lea Ann, Charles Ray, Toni Gayle, Ranie, Janie, and Carl Ellis. Also surviving are the grandparents, Mrs. Inos Taylor of Wellington and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ross of Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kersten returned home last Wednesday from Amarillo where Mr. Kersten had undergone eye surgery earlier.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Regier were in Buffalo, Okla., during the week end to be with her mother, who is under treatment in a hospital.

Friends Invited to Open House Sun. Honoring Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Anglin

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Anglin will be honored on their golden wedding anniversary when their sons and daughters are hosts at an open house Sunday, Nov. 24.

The event will be held in the community building from two to five o'clock and all friends are invited to call.

The six children who will honor their parents Sunday are Mrs. C. A. Winton and Mrs. Lonnie Needham of Wellington, Mrs. Dewey Vandivere of Borger, Hershel Anglin of Burkburnett, Everett Anglin of Clarendon and Henry Anglin of Las Vegas.

Mr. and Mrs. Anglin have lived here since 1925, coming from Oklahoma.

Information on Death of Pioneer Here Is Sought

An Austin woman is seeking information concerning her grandfather, who died near Wellington in 1894.

In a letter to The Wellington Leader, Mrs. Mildred Williams Philibert said she is seeking proof of the date and place of the death of Nathaniel W. Williams.

He was buried at Memphis. Mrs. Philibert said she has written the county clerks at both Wellington and Memphis and neither office has death records extending back that far. She wants to use the information in a family history.

Anyone with information about Mr. Williams may write to Mrs. Philibert at 1505 Westover Road, Austin.

Young Homemaker Officers

Young Homemakers Chapter, Part of State Organization, Formed Here

Organization of a Young Homemakers Chapter in Wellington was completed Tuesday, November 12 to give a group of young married women the opportunity to continue their education in homemaking.

Mrs. Doug Barker was elected president, Mrs. Carroll Daves vice president, and Mrs. Weldon McGraw secretary-treasurer.

Organization was directed by Mrs. David Brumley of Hereford, Area I president of the Young Homemakers of Texas. A former Quail resident, she will be remembered here as Connie Tom Robinson.

Mrs. Dee Coleman, homemaking instructor, is the local sponsor.

The Young Homemakers of Texas is a state-wide organization, under the supervision of the home and family life education department of the Texas Education Agency.

It enables young married women to continue their education in home economics. Many of the members were members of the Future Homemakers of America while in high school, but this is not necessary for membership in the adult group.

The Young Homemakers program is under the direct sponsorship of the Area I Homemaking Supervisor, who is Mrs. Ina Dora Haile of Plainview.

Mrs. Brumley, the Area I president, moved here while she was still a school-girl and was graduated from Hereford high school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robinson of Hereford and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Robinson of Quail.

She studied interior decoration two years at Texas Tech, then married a Tech graduate, now engaged in farming, ranching and dairying at Hereford.

They have two daughters, Margaret, three, and Barbara, two.

They are members of the Methodist Church and she is a Sunday school teacher. Mrs. Brumley is also active in home demonstration club work.

Membership in the Wellington Young Homemakers chapter is still open. Meetings are once a month at present, and the next meeting will be Saturday, Dec. 4 at 3 p.m. in the homemaking department of the high school.

Mrs. H. Manuel Entertains Club

Mrs. Haskell Manuel was hostess to the Lillie Home Demonstration Club Thursday, Nov. 7 for regular meeting.

Mrs. A. M. Saunders, president, conducted the business meeting. Roll call was answered with something each member was thankful for.

Plans were made for Thanksgiving and Christmas parties.

Mrs. Zook Thomas gave a demonstration on making

Members attending were Mmes. Ted Wheeler, Dudley Phipps, Ralph Tension, Elmer Haralson, Thomas, and Saunders, and little Miss Pam Marsh and the hostess, Mrs. Manuel.

Education in Texas and Scotland Compared for 1924 Study Club

On Nov. 14, Mrs. James Sullivan was hostess to members of the 1924 Study Club in her new home.

"Feminine Focus . . . on Education" was the program key in observance of American Education Week.

"Education" by William Allen White was recited by Mrs. R. R. Crawley.

Roll call included new methods of education, a way to improve the Texas system, correspondence courses, and what about scholarships.

Education chairman, Miss Sara E. Jones, introduced the panel discussion, "Educational Methods: American vs. European." Moderator was Mrs. J. B. King; panelists were Mrs. Jack Moreman and Mrs. Verrell Leeper. From experience each of these participants was qualified to execute her designated role.

Mrs. King is past president of the Elementary PTA and is currently president of the local Camp Fire Girls Council. In discussing American methods, Mrs. Moreman, who has taught school in Texas, told of some of her unusual teaching "situations." At one school most of her students had traveled extensively.

It was there too that she had the privilege of taking part in an experimental method for teaching spelling: this was a portion of research of someone's doctorate thesis. Mrs. Moreman mentioned the extreme "A or F" test method which demands perfection of the student.

A need for more attention in the special education field was emphasized—including teachers not only for the mentally retarded but for the gifted children and those who speak only a foreign language.

Mrs. Leeper, a former member of this club, is a native of Scotland. Her first-hand knowledge gave a personal touch to the European method.

Mrs. Leeper stated that a child may start to school in Scotland when he is five years old and must attend school for ten years, which is our twelve year equivalent.

In some cases the child may begin going to school earlier and may do so at any time during the year, which is a disadvantage to the teacher. There is little homework as most of the lessons are done through question and answer periods during the classroom day. In Scotland, teachers sign no contract and may stay at a school so long as they wish.

When the woman teacher marries, she usually resigns to give full time to her new home. There is no PTA and parents are welcome at school only at the end of the school year or when disciplinary methods demand their presence.

Government supported, the school provides all but pens or pencils for the pupils. Work is the routine of the school day; students are worked to full capacity. It is thought that this strenuous schedule helps prepare them for the vicissitudes of adult life.

The high school seniors have no caps, gowns, parties as we do in America. A thirty minute religious assembly is required each morning in each school in Scotland.

In summary, it was noted that the 18-year-old European is tired of learning and higher education, while his American equivalent, the 22-year-old college graduate, is more relaxed, full of vitality and eager to go into the business world.

"Perhaps there is no perfect solution as each system has its advantages."

Climaxing this American Education Week program was the presentation of Mrs. Bernice Welch as the 1924 Study Club's candidate for Teacher of the Year. In her tribute to Mrs. Welch, the club president said, "Today we are giving tribute to one of our fellow federated club women whom we feel is one fine example of the dedicated teachers in our Wellington Independent School District."

A gold GFWC charm with enameled shield was given Mrs. Welch, who humbly accepted this honor "on behalf of all the teachers we have in our school system."

During the business meeting the members agreed to participate in the B&PW Club's "Hootenanny" for the Garden Club's cemetery improvement project.

Further business included the club's own community spotlight project. A "Festive Calendar Tea" to benefit this fund is planned for the afternoon of Dec. 1 at the community building. Open to the public, this unusual event will launch the yuletide holiday season. A steering committee of Mrs. B. M. Sims, Mrs. A. L. Elliott, Mrs. Chester Fires, and Mrs. R. R. Crawley was designated.

Farm-City chairman, Mrs. Edward Bawcom, sent a reminder to the members that a public affairs coffee honoring Collingsworth county business men is scheduled for January. Speaker for this farm-city observance is to be Tom Martin, KFDD editorial director.

In attendance were Mmes. Leeper, Mack Bush, Crawley, Elliott, Fires, L. E. Gribble, King, Moreman, Sims, Sullivan, Don Van Pelt, Edward Welch, the club president said, and Hattie D. Wells.

Shower Honors Miss Sherman, Who Is a Mid-Winter Bride-to-be

A bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Sandy Parsons Jr., on Tuesday evening, November 19, honored Miss Donna Sherman, who will be married to William Scurry of Dallas on January 2.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Parsons were Mrs. James Doneghy, Mrs. Deskins Wells, Mrs. Jones Singley and Mrs. J. W. Wells.

Mrs. Parsons received the guests and presented them to Miss Sherman and her mother, Mrs. John Sherman.

Arrangements of chrysanthemums were used in the entertaining rooms. A large bouquet of bronze-red mums and nandina leaves was used on the mantel, and a dainty arrangement of white baby mums were on the registration table where Mrs. Doug Barker was at the guest book.

Mrs. Doneghy and Mrs. Singley displayed the gifts.

The serving table was laid with a white linen cloth with hand-drawn design. An arrange of white pom-pom and daisy-type chrysanthemums in a footed silver bowl formed the centerpiece. Silver appointments were used.

Mrs. Farris Wood was at the coffee service and Mrs. Carl Daves served the individual cakes. Mrs. Deskins Wells and Mrs. J. W. Wells assisted.

Guests called between the hours of seven and nine o'clock.

Good Neighbor Club Holds Annual Thanksgiving Supper for Families

The Good Neighbor Club held its annual Thanksgiving supper at the community building Friday, Nov. 15. The tables were decorated in the Thanksgiving theme. After enjoying a delicious meal, the Rev. Nathan Bussey, a fourth year seminary student, sang for the group and brought a most timely devotion on Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Doshia Dix read the history of the club, from its inception in 1949 in the Houselog community until the present time.

A business meeting was then conducted by Willie Smith, president of the Houselog Community Center, to approve the sale of the Houselog school house and the land on which it is located. Approval was granted by all land owners present. A discussion followed regarding disbursement of the money realized from the sale. It was agreed to give the money to the Good Neighbor Club, which has several members who own property in the Houselog community.

Those enjoying this annual event were Mrs. Doshia Dix, Mrs. Nell Cook, Mrs. Paul Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt James, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clubb, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. Coy Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bawcom, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Karnes, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wilbur and Chuck, Barbara, and Paul, Ed Smith, and guests: the Rev. Nathan Bussey of Fort Worth, Mrs. T. O. Burch of Altus, Bill Towns of Lubbock, P. E. Bawcom of Lodi, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Kiker, Mr. and Mrs. Ired Thomas and Joy Hudspeth, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thompson.

Mrs. Gardner HD Club Hostess

The Wellington Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. J. G. Gardner Tuesday, Nov. 12.

Mrs. N. E. Masten, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Cecil Masten gave a report on the national convention held in Little Rock, Ark., in October. At the convention the name of the National Home Demonstration Council was changed to National Extension Homemakers Council.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. W. A. Morrow, J. M. Fulcher, Winnie Harrison, W. D. Durey, N. E. Masten, Cecil Masten and the hostess, Mrs. Gardner.

At Thanksgiving 1963 . . .
We Pause and Say
"Thank You!"

At this harvest season, we join our many customers in thanksgiving for the crops our fields have yielded . . . for the harvest of grain that is so much a symbol of the Thanksgiving Season, which through the years has been one part of this area's sturdy agricultural base.

At this season, too, we say "Thank You" to our customers. By their patronage during the many years we have been in business, they have enabled us to share in the wealth of Collingsworth.

Final Rites Wednesday for Mrs. G.C. Wright

Mrs. G. C. Wright, who has lived here for 33 years, died Monday, Nov. 18 at 5:30 p.m. after a long illness. The family home was at 804 Dalhart Street.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. at Trinity Methodist Church, with the Rev. R. H. Knight, pastor, and the Rev. J. W. Read of Bula, a former pastor, officiating. Burial was in the West Wellington Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Palbearers were Billy Waters, Melvin Kiker, Richard Peters, Wayne Cummings, Woodrow Wilson and Carl Wischkaemper.

Mrs. Wright before her marriage was Jessie Mary Harper and was born July 6, 1878 in Cartersville, Ga. She came here in 1930 from Mangum, and lived in the Salt Fork and Lillie areas before moving to Wellington some years ago.

She had been a member of the Methodist Church for 73 years.

She was married to G. W. Isbell in 1916 and he died in 1924. On January 1, 1930 she was married to G. C. Wright, who preceded her in death on Jan. 28, 1951.

Surviving Mrs. Wright are ten step-children: Mrs. Juanita Bratcher of Wellington; Mrs. O. F. Keesling of Mangum; Mrs. Bill Clifton of Seminole; Mrs. Frank Gillespie of Dallas; Mrs. U. S. Bolton of Wellington; W. J. Isbell of Wichita, Kansas; R. H. Isbell of Wellington; George Isbell of DeRidder, La.; Ted Isbell of Oildale, Calif.; and C. A. Wright of Wellington.

Other survivors are a sister and brother: Mrs. A. J. Barrie of Marietta, Ga., and Rhoderick Harper of Clermont, Fla. 12 grandchildren, 11 great grandchildren and three great great grandchildren.

VA Forms Out About Nov. 1

Veterans and dependents of deceased veterans receiving pension payments, as well as dependent parents receiving DIC payments, will receive their annual income questionnaires with instructions along with their November checks on or about Nov. 30, according to Riley Dunson, Veterans Service Officer.

"It is most important that all items on the income questionnaire be checked which are applicable to the individual payee," Dunson said. "It is also very important that all blanks on the questionnaire be filled out."

If a signature is shown by an "X" mark, it must be witnessed by two individuals who certify on a separate piece of paper the following statement: "I certify that the information on the enclosed card is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief." The witnesses must also give their addresses.

Those wishing further information may contact Mr. Dunson at his office in room 9, second floor of the courthouse.

Different Stripe

New Yorkers are fighting among themselves, as they sometimes do. The issue this time is the color of the stripe down the center of Fifth Avenue.

This stripe traditionally has been painted green to honor the Irish on St. Patrick's Day. Lately other national groups have been demanding equal rights of a different stripe. The Germans want a blue stripe, the Italians want it painted purple and the Spanish would prefer red and yellow.

When Traffic Commissioner Henry Barnes decided to draw the line on the practice, he touched off a formidable fracas. In the midst of the furor, a lady named Charlotte Clynes sent in a suggestion to the New York Herald Tribune: If the Irish, Germans, Italians and Spaniards must have a Technicolor traffic stripe, she said, why not paint it red, white and blue, the colors of the country that gave them all a chance.

History is filled with the abysmal failures of dictators who resorted to the overthrow of law as a cure-all for social ills. That's not for us. The law, in America, not only must remain supreme; it must be kept abreast of the ever-changing times lest democracy be outdistanced by less responsible systems.—Carlsbad, N. M. Current-Argus.

TAX-CREDIT PLAN URGED FOR PARENTS OF STUDENTS

A tax credit plan for parents with dependents in college would solve many pressing problems of higher education and avoid the controversy of federal aid to education, Senator John Tower said recently.

Senator Tower has joined with Senator Barry Goldwater and others on S. 2270, which will be offered as an amendment to the Internal Revenue Code during Finance Committee hearings on the Administration's proposed tax cut bill. Some 120 members of Congress have introduced various versions of a tax credit plan for higher education.

In a weekly report to constituents in Texas, Tower said "As a college teacher in our state, at Midwestern University, I was closely exposed to the worries of many families about the expenses of education. I can certainly say that this is a number one problem right now with youngsters in high school.

"If this proposal is incorporated in the next tax cut bill, you will be able to figure up your income tax, and then subtract your costs for college tuition and fees—up to a limit of $420—and to subtract also your educational contributions up to $100," Senator Tower said.

Incentive Plan

I Saw ... by Virginia Robey

→ Like other things that are out of season this fall, the young apple tree in the back yard of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Saled has had some blooms. They also have date trees that just before the frost still had fruit.

→ County Attorney R. L. Templeton on Veterans' Day was wearing the uniform he wore in the Royal Canadian Air Force during World War II. Twenty-two years after his leaving service, the uniform is still a perfect fit. "I can't remember what we used to call these, but it was something derogatory," he mused. "I know—it was Monkey Suits!"

→ Man's best friend is also a regular subject at the sessions of the Texas League of Municipalities, says City Council Member Ethel Coleman. At each meeting there is discussion of how to deal with dogs, a problem every town seems to have.

→ Quail eighth grade does not have a girl, so the boys had to borrow a candidate for Grade School Queen. She was seventh grader Pamela Langley. The six boys who form the eighth grade class are Jarrell Fielding, Carey Don Neeley, Darrell Colson, J. R. Downs, Bert Huff and Gary Mitchell.

→ Probably the proudest grandfather at the Quail coronation and pie supper was Jim Langley. Four of his Granddaughters were candidates for queen, and one, Paula Langley, won the honor as 7th grade candidate. The other three were First Grader Sharon, fourth grader Susan, and Pamela, mentioned above.

→ John and Eugena Sherman, their daughter, Dona, and Edyth Jackson attended the exhibit of original paintings owned by Mr. and Mrs. Don Harrington held in their home in Amarillo. Among them were works of some of the world's renowned artists. But one thing that appealed most to the local group was a bronze sculpture of the Harrington grandchildren, who are also the grandchildren of Senator and Mrs. Barry Goldwater.

→ Recuperating at home now is Mrs. Bill Neeley of Samnorwood, who was bitten on the leg by an insect of some sort that made her very ill and a specialist had to be called in to perform surgery. She didn't see what bit or stung her, according to friends, but she did see some scorpions running around in the garage where she was working. At any rate, it was a close call.

→ If you read the classified ad in last week's paper saying the Rev. Jack Durham had a shotgun and hunting boots for sale do not be misled. He is not giving up his favorite sport. He has new equipment for the opening of the quail season.

→ An item that came across this desk says the Lonnie Needhams who live northwest of the old Cross Roads school are the owners of twin calves, born Oct. 30. One is a red bull with a white face and the other is a black heifer with a white face. The cow was a Holstein and the bull a Hereford. Twin calves are rare enough to be newsworthy.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hartman and children last week were their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hull and Shirley of Littlefield; and two aunts, Mrs. Slim Yearly of Floydada and Mrs. Bill Dunlop of Snyder. The latter also visited her sister, Miss Katherine Turner.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where the people of Texas voted down a proposition to cut the price of their voting privilege from $1.75 down to a discount rate of 25¢.

Seems that many old experienced official and voluntary people-counselors were shocked by this development, and are trying to guess why a bargain deal like that got turned down.

But my shockproof neighbor says this is no sign that democracy is slipping. He says folks just vote contrary now and then to find out if they are still running the country.

I see where a Mr. Otepka, after 27 years in Washington, got fired for "conduct unbecoming an officer of the Department of State." He got caught telling the truth.

In fact, the man committed this act of non-perjury right in front of a big Senate committee. But likely even the Senators are glad to see him purged from the System.

On account of it's easy enough to tell what the approximate facts are in a case, as long as the people reporting same are consistent, but it's confusing if they get to mixing up their plays, and running in the truth once in a while.

I see where it is reported that communities which are nearby to military bases may get declared "off limits" to military people if said communities don't have the races homogenized enough.

My strategical neighbor says this is a sharp move that will induce people to get in line, and if the people-culturists haven't already thought of it, he suggests another beneficial use of the "off limits" technique.

Says Washington could federalize the voters, and then declare all polling places off limits to Republicans.

I see where Illinois legislators passed a law that school kids had to recite the Pledge of Allegiance every day, but their Governor vetoed it, on the grounds that patriotism hadn't ought to be compulsory.

Could be the Governor feels like upcoming voters will be more contented if they don't get exposed to any patriotism at all.

On account of a citizen who hasn't been infected with a mess of patriotic scruples can just take whatever his party nominates and vote for it with a clear conscience.

SPACE AGE HOSPITAL

Public inspection of Scott & White Memorial Hospital's new $9.2 million building at Temple will be held Dec. 6 following 9:30 a.m. dedication ceremonies. Visitors will be shown through the Diagnostic Center (three-story portion at left) and unique cloverleaf towers of hospital at right where nursing stations in center of each octagon are within six steps of every patient's door. In the same building visitors will be shown in Olin Culberson

Research Center, educational facilities of the School of Nursing, and the University of Texas Post-Graduate School of Medicine, Temple Division, as well as laboratories, meditation room, laundry, equipment rooms, library, etc. The non-profit institution, now in its 67th year, will have its own version of "Operation Big Lift" on Dec. 15 when patients are moved from present quarters into the new building in a careful armada of ambulances.

I see where scientists have delved expensively into the matter and put out the dope that pipe smokers are healthier than cigarette smokers.

My briar-burner neighbor says this is easy to explain, being due to when you have got a pipe in your mouth, nobody can tell what you are saying.

Which is a highly healthy situation, especially when talking politics to large type people, and also, when folks can't understand what a man is mumbling around a pipe stem, it helps to preserve any little reputation he might have for being smart.

I see where a thrifty page boy, working his way up in the U.S. Senate family, has saved up $3.5 million out of his wages, and evil-thinkers claim something crooked has been going on.

Of course, this is just the standard type of mistrust that people have of anybody who is getting ahead, but the Senate is going to investigate itself anyhow, to make sure it is pure.

My introspectable neighbor says maybe this self-investigation idea will get to be popular in government, so that when the Internal Revenue gets suspicious of a taxpayer, they will just send him a do-it-yourself tax audit kit.

and rich harvest

At this Thanksgiving, we express heartfelt gratitude to our many customers of the Wellington trade area. Your long and continued friendship and patronage has helped us build a banking house that is one of the strongest in this area.

And we join each of you as we give thanks for our rich harvest, for the vision of future in our country, for the freedom in our nation that enables us to enjoy this richness.

As we also observe Farm-City week, we would remind you of the mutual dependence of agriculture and industry, of the wide prairies that produce food and fiber and the towering cities that process it.

National Farm-City Week Nov. 22-28

COLLEGE STATION.—Accomplishments of farmers and agribusiness groups will be related to city dwellers as a part of the observance in Texas and other states of National Farm-City Week, Nov. 22-28. Activities designed to give rural and urban residents a better understanding of their respective roles in today's complicated and competitive world will be included in the observances, reports the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Nationally, Kiwanis International is coordinating agency for the Farm-City Week observance. Dolph Briscoe, Jr. of Uvalde and Calvin Pigg of Renner have been named co-chairmen for Texas. They are encouraging widespread participation in activities which will encourage better understanding and neighborliness between urban and rural citizens.

Officials of the Extension Service point out that county Extension agents, 4-H Club members and leaders and county program building committees are putting the final touches on plans to participate in community and county activities. They will also cooperate with other groups and organizations, such as civic clubs, chambers of commerce, women's clubs, farm organizations, commodity groups and others.

The Extension officials and co-chairmen point out that agriculture in Texas, as well as the nation, is a dynamic industry. Last year in Texas the total value of agricultural products amounted to more than either the total manufacturing payroll, the total construction awards or the total retail trade payroll.

Texas annually produces crops valued at about one and a third billion dollars and livestock and livestock products with a value of more than one billion dollars. The total of all agricultural sales plus the value of products used at home brings the figure to $2,447,000,000. Only oil produces a larger annual dollar, they say, and agriculture is the oil industry's largest customer.

New Chemical Technique on Pink Bollworm

COLLEGE STATION.—The oriental fruit fly has been eradicated on the Pacific Island of Rota through a new insect control method — destruction of the males — developed by entomologists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Agricultural Research Service. The new technique offers possibilities for use among the stronger known sex attractants, including those for the melon fly, pink bollworm, American cockroach, peach tree borer, lesser peach tree borer, and others.

The entomologists used a strong attractant to lure the male flies to an insecticide that killed them, and thus destroyed the species on the island.

The importance of the highly successful demonstration extends far beyond the shores of the small island. The test, conducted in cooperation with the U.S. Navy and the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, demonstrates a highly effective means of combating the oriental fruit fly long considered by California fruit growers as one of the greatest potential threats to their industry.

The male destroying technique is one of several developed by ARS scientists during a decade of intensified research to find insect-control methods that can be used to control a particular pest without harming beneficial insects and organisms.

The new technique also avoids other problems inherent in many insecticides, including the hazard of their use and their residues to man, domestic animals and wildlife.

The success of the demonstration opens up highly promising opportunities for its use against a wide range of other insects. It is a new concept of insect eradication that takes advantage of the fact that males of many insect species respond to attractants given off by females or to other compounds that attract males only.

The attractant methyl eugenol, a synthesized chemical with an irresistible attraction for the oriental fruit fly, was used. It was mixed with the insecticide naled which kills the flies after they ingest only a small amount of it.

Texas has four state forests.

THANKSGIVING DAY

As Thanksgiving day approaches we are reminded of the bountiful harvest that has come to the people of this area at a time when there are meager crops and even famine in many parts of the world.

We have been greatly blessed by Providence and we should be truly grateful for all of the good things that have been bestowed upon us.

We give thanks for our American way of life that has made possible the greatest productivity per individual that any nation has ever known in the recorded time of man.

We are grateful for the privilege of living in this community with its strong, clean, industrious people and of having the opportunity to serve you.

So to all of you we extend best wishes for a Happy Thanksgiving from all of us at The First State Bank.

Quails Win Two; Bob Whites Split

The Quail Quails and Bobwhites won both games against the Lakeview girls and boys at Quail Tuesday night, Nov. 12. The Bobwhites won the opener 43-42 while the Quails score was 58-38. In the games played at Mobeetie Friday night, Nov. 15, the girls lost 59-64, and the boys won 110 to 69.

Bobwhites vs. Lakeview

The Quail girls took an early lead and were leading by 7 points at the half. Then the tide turned as the Lakeview girls started hitting and gained a 4-point advantage going into the final period. The last quarter was nip and tuck as the lead changed hands several times, but the Bobwhites were ahead by one point when the final buzzer sounded. High scorer for Quail was Sue Saunders with 25 points, while Payne from Lakeview had 27.

Quails vs. Lakeview

Twenty boys saw action as the Quails took an easy victory from the outmanned team from Lakeview. Ten Quails hit the scoring column and Dale Morris was high for Quail with 12 points. Sanders was high for Lakeview with 12.

Bobwhites vs. Mobeetie

The Bobwhites had trouble getting started and fell behind by 11 points in the first quarter. However they managed to tie the game briefly in the third period at 34-all but the girls were in foul trouble by then, with three guards fouling off early in the fourth period. Again the free shots made the difference as the Bobwhites made 7 for 23 and the Mobeetie girls made 16 for 39. Sue Saunders again was high pointer for Quail with 39 points, while Mary Gudgel made 54 for Mobeetie.

Quails vs. Mobeetie

The Quails took an early lead and maintained it throughout the game against the larger but slower Mobeetie boys. Ten boys saw action for Quail as four hit double figures in the scoring column. Dale Morris had one of his finest nights as he made 46 points to lead the scoring. Robert Russell had 20, Joe Harris 18, and Bruce Ward 13. Corcoran had 37 points to lead the Mobeetie team.

SALT FORK SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Modification of tillage methods and cropping systems is being recommended on many farms to reduce wind erosion hazards and to conserve water, according to Bob Crawford, Soil Conservation Service work unit conservationist.

Stubble mulching and other tillage methods that leave crop residues on or near the ground surface should be used on cultivated land. Crop residue on the ground surface helps to protect the soil from wind erosion and will also improve soil structure, which allows water to soak into the soil more readily.

On some places winter cover crops are needed. On cottonfields that are subject to erosion, sorghums and other wind-resistant crops will also help prevent wind erosion, especially if high stubble is left on the ground during the winter and early spring. Most large fields that are likely to blow need strips of sorghums or other wind resistant crops also.

Dwain Bartee, area conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service, paid his annual visit to Salt Fork SCD supervisors in a recent meeting. He reviewed accomplishments of the district and showed slides taken on some of the recent projects. Also in this meeting, the district supervisors set up the district's entries in the Fort Worth Press awards program and discussed the revised district program and work plan.

Completion of Soil Survey Due in 1964

Work on the standard soil survey carried out through the Soil Conservation Service is due for completion in January 1964. Bob Crawford, SCS work unit conservationist said this week.

Only 16,000 acres in the entire county remains to be surveyed, against the 559,360 acres completed.

This work was started in Salt Fork Soil Conservation District in 1958, when SCD supervisors, headed by John Robert Henard, agreed to make a detailed standard survey covering the whole county.

The cost of the survey is paid for by the federal government and upon completion it becomes a part of the national cooperative soil survey.

As far back as 1963, aerial photographs were furnished the Soil Conservation Service and are used to improve the assistance offered the land owners who are co-operators in SCD.

The soil surveys are recorded on these aerial photographs and show approximately four sections to each picture, Crawford explained.

Work on the soil survey includes naming the texture of the surface soils, determining the per cent of slope, the extent of erosion and other factors such as depth of soil, permeability and color.

This information is assembled in book form for future reference. The collection of facts concerning land features, and characteristics that are of interest to engineers and others will be done in conjunction with the surveying of the soil.

"County landowners through the county are contacted as their land comes up to be surveyed," Crawford said.

These surveys are made by

Today, because of aggressive leadership, this Texas Panhandle town boasts an active new textile plant making sheets for national distribution. What is more important, the plant's parent company is the world's largest manufacturer of textiles using all known fibers.

This new industry is the Hall Plant of Postex Cotton Mills, a unit of Burlington Industries, Inc. It is designed to have in excess of 100 employees, mostly women, and is an important addition to the economy of this 3500 population community. It is another reason we say big things are happening in General Telephone towns.

It's Good Business

No business man or woman in any town should allow a newspaper to go to press without his or her name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean that you should have a whole, half, or even a quarter page advertisement in each issue of the paper but your name and address should be mentioned even if you do not use more than a two line space.

A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town . . . it is the best possible town advertiser. The man or woman who does not advertise does an injustice to himself or herself and definitely to the town.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

As Thanksgiving Day approaches I continue to be filled with awe at the productivity of this great land in which we live. The efficiency of our factories is legendary, but the aspect of our economy that continues to amaze the Communist world is the fruitfulness of our agriculture and the capability, expertness and just plain knack of those who till the soil and tend the stock. We produce more than we can eat and wear and more than we can sell in startling contrast to the regimented countries where they cannot or at least do not grow enough food to feed their own people. The results speak stronger than words in behalf of a comparative free economy operating in a capitalistic society.

Instead of apologizing for the word capitalist we should be proud of this synonym for resources and give thanks for it.

The effluence of the American agriculturist creates problems that are not easy to solve; but we should be grateful that these are problems of abundance and not of scarcity. In one sense the outpourings from the farms, ranches, gardens and orchards of the United States have subsidized the American consumer. If it were not for the surpluses in this country, food and clothing would cost the consumer billions more in dollars or weeks more in work each year.

Cotton is not the only crop that is plentiful this year. The quail population is larger than usual, but there is so much cover hunters are finding it difficult to bag many birds out of a covey. If you are a hunter, observe the rights of the landowner. You need written permission to hunt on any land that is not your own.

Wellington has won its first district championship in football in 17 years and next Friday will travel to Pampa to meet Stratford in the bi-district game. It will be a battle of champions for the possibility of co-champion meeting co-champion was eliminated by the games last week. Jones Singley remarked the other day on the excellent attendance of the Wellington fans at the out of town games. "With the exception of the Tulia game," he said, "there have been more Wellington people at the out of town games than local fans." He is correct, of course, for the Rockets have been given wonderful support by their followers and the same will be true next Friday.

Some of the local Democratic "sports" who like to put their money where their mouth is, have been asking what I know about Stratford. I am sorry, but all I know is what I read in The Leader. Personally I never waver on any of our local school games whether it be football, basketball or what. I am not as opinionated on the practice as say a preacher or a teacher might be. I simply consider it to be in very poor taste.

My young friends, Dan Hendard Jr. and Ted Gentry, who attend some kind of an institution on the Brazos have sent me a picture of a giant owl and a longhorn steer on the A&M campus. I drew them a cartoon showing "the old sarge" with his pants and shirt torn to bits being thrown through the air by an outraged steer and the sarge was well on his way to the trash heap where a lean hog, a pony, a horned frog and a sickly bear rested in the rubble. The old sarge still held a dead owl by the neck and was saying: "Easy Bevo, I didn't know you liked owl meat too."

Early Wednesday morning was a time to make you glad to be alive. The fog was so dense it dripped from the trees with the sound of large raindrops falling and the lights of the city reminded of boyhood dreams of what London would look like on a foggy morning. Imagination is not always reality. Actually a foggy morning in the Panhandle is an exhilarating sensation; but a foggy morning in London anytime after September is bitter, drab and depressing.

My son should be given credit for getting this column in the paper this week. It took him 15 minutes to get me out of bed and 10 more of loud expostulations to get me dressed.

Mrs. Pearl Kiehbauch of Clute, Texas writes: "I once said, if I had to choose between Bread and The Leader, I would choose The Leader. It has just about got to that place now, but keep The Leader coming."

International Work of Rotary Described

Addressing the local Rotary Club Tuesday, J. M. (Jimmy) Willson, Jr. Rotary governor of this area, linked Wellington Rotarians with more than a half million other business and professional men who belong to Rotary clubs in communities around the world. "Rotary clubs are functioning in more than 11,500 communities in 129 countries," he said, "and despite the diversity of their languages, customs, and political and religious beliefs, they are working toward such mutually desired goals as community betterment, the promotion of high standards in business, and the advancement of world understanding."

Mr. Willson, a building supply merchant in Floydada was in Wellington making his official visit to the local Rotary Club, one of the 45 in his district.

Referring to the program of Carl P. Miller, president of Rotary International for 1963-64, Willson said, "This district has been 'matched' with district 135 located in Sweden as a means of furthering better understanding and friendlier relations between Rotarians of the two countries. All Rotary districts have been similarly matched. Our contacts with our 'sister' districts are taking shape in a manner which will promote understanding on a person to person—club to club and district to district basis."

In the field of youth, Willson spoke of the new club for boys that is now a part of the Rotary program. Called Interact, it is for boys in the upper three years of high school.

SHARON BAUMGARDNER WINS TEXAS 4-H FOODS AWARD

Sharon Baumgardner, 18-year-old student at Plainview high school, is the 1963 winner of the Texas 4-H Foods-Nutrition Award. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Joe Baumgardner and frequently visits at Baumgardner farm.

As state winner, Miss Baumgardner will be attending the 42nd National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago on Dec. 1-5 as a guest of General Foods Corporation, sponsor of the nationwide Foods-Nutrition program. Joining her will be winners from the 49 other states and Puerto Rico. While in Chicago, six of the group will be named national winners and be awarded $500 college scholarships by General Foods.

Miss Baumgardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Baumgardner, has been active in 4-H work for eight years as a member of the Halfway Community Club; her mother is a Club leader. During all of this time, Miss Baumgardner participated in the 4-H Foods-Nutrition Program, preparing a total of 1,360 dishes and 286 meals. College, she says, is very definitely in her future. Now in its third year, the Foods-Nutrition Program is the largest single program in the nationwide 4-H movement. Approximately 800,000 4-H members participated this year. Its purpose is to focus the attention of youngsters on the importance of nutrition in their lives and the lives of their families, present and future.

Younger 4-H members in the program complete simple projects such as listing their favorite foods, and foods they do not like or haven't tasted. Advanced members study nutrition, plan balanced family meals and entire menus, shop for the food, cook it, then serve it on a properly set table. Many also enter prize recipes and demonstrate modern food methods recommended by the 4-H Cooperative Extension Service.

During their five days at the Congress in Chicago, the 51 Foods-Nutrition state winners will be feted; addressed by leaders in government, education and business; entertained; interviewed by the press; and will meet approximately 1,700 other 4-H winners from all parts of America.

Mr. and Mrs. Monty Davis and Robert Fulton of Fort Worth were week end visitors in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Fulton. The men came for the opening of the quail season.
