Another Blizzard Threatens Panhandle

Cold Moves In Over Plains

ANOTHER touch of winter gripped Lubbock and the South Plains Tuesday night with a cold mist and fog throwing a damp blanket over the area, heralding even colder weather for this immediate area and threat of another blizzard for the Panhandle, according to a late weather forecast last night.

Snow was reported falling late last night in parts of the Panhandle and U. S. Weatherman H. C. Winburn at Amarillo predicted temperatures of from 10 to 15 degrees above zero.

Livestock warnings were issued to Panhandle ranchers.

Mist, Fog Covers Area

The outlook for the South Plains was not quite so distasteful, according to officials at the Weather bureau station north of the city early today, but a low of 20 degrees was forecast along with freezing mist and possible snow. A maximum of no higher than 30 degrees was forecast.

The mist, which started in Lubbock and over scattered parts of the South Plains about 7 o'clock last night, was already freezing with a midnight reading of 30 degrees. It was expected to continue falling throughout the night and through the early part of today, possibly mixed in with intermittent snow throughout the day.

Highway conditions were expected to be hazardous if the freezing rain and mist continued to fall, it was pointed out.

Moving In From West

Whether blizzard conditions forecast for the Panhandle would move into the South Plains was doubtful here early today although strong northeasterly winds early today with blowing snow could cause considerable discomfort, the Weatherman said.

The Amarillo forecaster said that temperatures would not drop as low but that other conditions would be like the blizzard that swept the Panhandle in mid-February, the Associated Press reported. Winburn blamed a low pressure "cell" moving out of Arizona for what he predicted would be "a really nasty spell of weather."

Officials at the Weather bureau here said that the new front

TALK OF NEW WAR GROWS

Congress Seeks To Rush Final Action On Marshall Program

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Congress stamped "rush" on the Marshall plan today amid growing talk of a possible new war.

Extra sessions were lined up for the Senate to speed action on the $5,300,000,000 European recovery program.

And Chairman Eaton (R-NJ) said the House Foreign Affairs committee would begin writing its own bill after hearing Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault testify tomorrow on aid to China.

Eaton told reporters after a meeting of GOP committee members with House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) that the House group may reverse itself and consider the ERP bill by itself.

"The time element is of great importance," Eaton said. The committee has been planning to include ERP in the same bill with aid to China, Turkey and Greece.

Leaders of both Houses, conferring earlier in the day, failed to reach agreement on a joint timetable.

Secretary of State Marshall urged quick action in a personal appeal to Martin yesterday.

And today Senator Hill (D-Ala) saying the recovery program is "the best and most immediate chance we have" for peace, told the Senate:

"The world is being pushed toward war by a gigantic conspiracy— dictated from Soviet Russia—against order and security and freedom for mankind."

Secretary of Commerce Harriman told the Senate Finance committee, in a reference to European aid:

Clash Is Considered

"Time is running against us. Delay is causing serious repercussions."

Some members of the Senate Armed Forces committee said secretary of Defense Forrestal told them in a closed hearing yesterday that the possibility of some kind of armed clash with Russia must be considered.

Against this background, Senator Wherry of Nebraska informed the Senate that night sessions Thursday and Friday, and a Saturday session might be necessary to speed action on the recovery bill.

Wherry, acting Republican leader, has been critical of the measure. The Senate completed the seventh day of debate on it today.

Marshall Asks Speed

The House Foreign Affairs committee has not yet finished writing its bill. Members agreed last week to include the Chinese and Greek-Turkish aid programs in the same legislation.

Marshall, however, is pressing for action on the 16-nation European recovery program (ERP) first—by April 1, if it is at all possible, so that help definitely will have been promised to Europe before the April 18 elections in Italy.

Government officials aware of Marshall's views said today they are convinced Italian Communists will cut Italy off from American economic help if they win the elections.

Jester Rejects Newton Plea

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 9—Gov. Beauford H. Jester today refused a conditional pardon recommended by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles for Dr. W. R. Newton.

It was the third clemency refused for the Cameron physician, who began serving a two-year sentence last July 30 after conviction i. Swisher county for assault with intent to murder Dr. Roy Hunt of Littlefield.

Has Six Months Credit

Jester said the district attorney in the county of conviction declined approval of the clemency recommended unanimously by the board.

Credits on Dr. Newton's sentence include two months' comutation for blood donations and four months 26 days for good time, fixing tentative discharge date as next Sept. 6.

Dr. Newton sought clemency from his sentence in a long series of hearings before the pardons board before he began serving the sentence. That clemency was refused by the board. Last October Dr. Newton was refused a 30-day emergency parole by th. governor, requested for the purpose of performing an operation on a woman patient.

Others Also Rejected

The governor today also rejected four other recommendations of the board of pardons and paroles for clemencies. Local objections were noted in each case. Rejections were for the following:

George Rickley, sentenced to two years in 1947 from Wilbarger county for forgery.

R. E. Shiplain, sentenced to 18 years in 1933 from El Paso county for murder.

Willard M. Seals, sentenced to two years in 1946 from Wichita county for forgery.

A 15-day emergency parole was granted W. E. White, sentenced to three years in 1947 from Jefferson county for forgery.

Supporters Of MacArthur To Map Strategy

By JOHN B. OWEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 9—Elated backers of General Douglas MacArthur for President today slated a national strategy huddle a few hours after the general said he was willing to run.

About 20 MacArthur campaign leaders from 10 states will get together, probably next week in Milwaukee, to plan their boom. This was announced by Warren Wright, Chicago banker who is coordinator of MacArthur for America clubs.

Write-In Campaign Set

The date would be within three weeks of the general's first vote test April 6 in the Wisconsin Republican primary election.

In Ohio, MacArthur men announced a write-in campaign among Republican voters to get the name of the Tokyo Allied commander on the May 4 primary list.

MacArthur and President Truman, within hours of each other, announced last night they would accept nomination if offered.

The Truman camp was silent today. However, it long has been taken for granted that the President would run—and that his nomination at the national convention in Philadelphia in July is certain.

Test Is Welcomed

No Truman campaign plans have been made, his press secretary, Charles G. Ross, told reporters in answer to queries.

Senator McCarty (R-Wis), a Stassen backer, welcomed MacArthur's entry into the Wisconsin primary as a "fair test between him, Stassen, and Dewey. It might eliminate two of the three as a contender."

A southern Democratic leader cautioned against a party bolt over the civil rights issue.

Solon Warns Against Bolt

W. H. Talbot, Louisiana Democratic national committeeman, suggested that the Democratic convention either (A) Nominate Mr. Truman, a southerner for vice president, and write a state's rights plank into the party platform, or (B) Nominate somebody besides Mr. Truman.

Nation Eyes First Battle Of '48 Campaign

By JAMES F. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

CONCORD, N. H., March 9—Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York held a six-to-two lead tonight for New Hampshire's eight seats at the Republican national convention—on the basis of returns from more than a third of the state's precincts.

Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, was the only other outright contender in this first presidential primary of 1948.

One of his leading supporters, Republican National Committeeman Frank Sulloway, who ran as a Stassen delegate, said the New Yorker looked like a certain winner of five delegates.

Election Is GOP Show

Over the state, in 298 precincts—city, wards and individual towns—Republicans elected four delegates at large and each of the two congressional districts chose two others.

It was a Republican show, though Democrats also chose eight delegates to their national nominating convention. All Democratic candidates were pledged to President Truman.

In the contest to select four GOP delegates at large, returns from 108 precincts put Dewey's backers ahead in three races.

Dewey Men Leading

Dewey men were running one-two in the second congressional district and another was leading in the first district. A Stassen backer was ahead for the second seat in the first district.

Both Dewey and Stassen camps had conceded beforehand that an impressive victory today would give a psychological boost to their campaign. The effect on the next primary—Wisconsin's on April 6—figured especially in their calculations.

Bright sunny skies during the voting hours were counted on to bring out a 55,000 total. The tabulating was slowed in many communities, however, because it was the annual town meeting day, when local officers are selected in New Hampshire communities.

At midnight, the tabulating disclosed two Dewey candidates setting the pace for delegate-at-large. They were both veteran campaigners, former Governor Robert

Finns Name Delegation

(By The Associated Press)

HELSINKI, March 9.—President Juho Paasikivi appointed today a leftish-hued delegation for the talks in Moscow on a Russo-Finnish treaty of friendship and military aid.

The seven-man delegation will be headed by Premier Mauno Pekkala, who was given authority to "sign any documents possibly arising out of the negotiations."

Parliament will have to ratify any pact agreed upon in Moscow. A majority of parties in parliament oppose any military alliance with the Russians on the grounds it would put Finland in the Soviet eastern bloc. Three members of the delegation represent parties who are against a military pact.

Talks Begin Soon

The discussions are expected to begin in the Soviet capital on or about March 20—about three weeks after Prime Minister Stalin made the treaty proposal in a letter to Paasikivi. The latter agreed to the negotiations yesterday after lengthy consultations with parliamentary leaders.

Pekkala is a member of the Social Unity party, which has joined with the Communists in a Popular Front which controls 51 seats in parliament. Both parties favor signing a pact of friendship and mutual aid with Russia.

The deputy chairman of the delegation is Russian-speaking Foreign Minister Carl Enckell.

Delegates To Be Introduced

The three delegation members who represent parliamentary groups opposing a military alliance with Russia are Urho Kekkonen, Agrarian; Dr. J. Soederhjelm, Swedish People's party; Onni Peltonen, president of the Social Democrats parliamentary ment's foreign affairs committee group and chairman of parliaThe other two delegation members are Vice Foreign Minister Ceinhold Svento, Social Unity, and Minister of Interior Yrjoe Leino, a Communist. They were expected to support the pact.

Some Finnish Political sources said too much emphasis should not be placed on the leftish complexion of the delegation. They said Finland was still operating under democratic parliamentary procedure and the delegation must follow the directives it gets.

Scientists Plan Construction Of Huge New Atom Smashers

BERKELEY, Calif., March 9 (AP)—Scientists completed preliminary consultations today on the proposed construction of two mammoth atom smashers called bevatrons.

They would be constructed at the University of California and at the (Long Island, N. Y.) atomic laboratory. Each would be 25 times more powerful than the cyclotron, now the world's biggest atom smasher.

Dr. James B. Fisk, director of research for the Atomic Energy commission, Drs. P. M. Morse and Stanley Livingston of Brookhaven, and Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence of the University of California took part in the initial planning.

$800 Taken From Schools In Area

South Plains officers Tuesday night were continuing an investigation into the burglary of schools at Ropesville, Meadow and Wolfforth in which an estimated $800 in money, two $50 war bonds and non-negotiable insurance papers were reported stolen.

No definite clues had been reported in the case, officers said.

According to school officials, the burglars evidenced some knowledge of where the money was deposited, since they apparently went directly to certain filing cabinets. The money in each instance was receipts from school cafeterias.

Heaviest At Ropesville

Heaviest loss was reported at Ropesville, where approximately $400 was believed taken. Two hundred dollars in money was taken from Wolfforth, $200, the war bonds and athletic insurance from the Meadow school, it was announced.

Money in each place was taken after the offices of superintendents were ransacked.

The report at Wolfforth was made to Chief Dep. Sheriff Raymond Land and Dep. Sheriff Tom Cannon of Lubbock.

G. A. Deering, superintendent of Wolfforth schools, showed officials where a screen had been

Wholesale Prices Drop Second Day In Row

Commodities Slump Again Over Nation

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 9—Skidding commodity prices gave inflation a new long range wallop today.

Wholesale markets registered their second successive average daily decline. The retreat sent the average price of 35 major commodities to the lowest level in seven months.

The decline reversed a gradual recovery trend that started after the sharp commodity market slump of early February.

Price Index Declines

The Associated Press weighted wholesale price index of 35 commodities dropped nearly a point to 185.58. This compared with 188.56 a week ago, 188.64 a month ago and 181.54 a year ago. It was the lowest point since the index stood at 185.37 on Aug. 1. The previous 1948 low of 186.32 was set on Friday, Feb. 13. Prices in 1926 were 100.

The index covers foodstuffs and industrial raw materials.

Mixed prices prevailed on most major commodity markets after a sharp drop early in trading.

Many Prices Erratic

Wheat finished 1¼ higher to 2¼ cents lower on the Chicago Board of Trade. The May contract was $2.36¼-½. This was only 3½-4¼ cents above the grain cereal's 1948 low.

Corn was 1 cent higher to 2¼ lower, May $2.13-$2.13¼. Oats were ¼ lower to 1⅛ higher, May $1.19½-⅝. Soybeans plunged the daily 8 cents limit, March $3.50.

Grain prices were off sharply at the opening under the influence of government refusal to purchase any great amount of flour at prices offered by mills.

Cotton Also Higher

However, buying by mills sent cotton prices $2 to $3.15 a bale higher in New York.

New York stocks drifted lower, with declines outnumbering advances three to one.

Unfavorable news abroad and the political situation at home kept the markets nervous.

Hog prices held fairly steady at the level of Monday's sharp decline. Cattle prices were mixed while lambs were down to 25 to 50 cents a hundred pounds.

Best grade butter tumbled a cent down to 75½ cents a pound, a new 1948 low, on the New York wholesale market. Butter was unchanged at Chicago.

Wholesale meat prices were irregular at Chicago and New York.

Dun & Bradstreet reported there were 113 commercial and industrial failures in the week ended March 4. This was the second highest for any week since early 1943.

Jurors Return 16 Indictments

LEVELLAND, March 9 (Special)—A 72nd district court grand jury returned 16 bills of indictment here late today after a two-day session, District Attorney Lloyd Croslin announced tonight.

Two indictments were against Cosme E. Sanchez, 25, Mexican of Waco, one charging murder in connection with the slaying of Santos Puentes, jr., December 7, 1947, at Anton, and the other assault with intent to murder Santos Puentes, sr.

Assault Cases Probed

Two other indictments charging assault with intent to murder were issued, one against Tip Younger, 52, of Anton, in connection with the shotgun shooting of Della Younger, his former wife, Dec. 25, 1947. The other was issued against three Mexicans in the assault of a fourth Mexican at Anton January 31, 1948.

Other indictments included five for forgery, two for swindling by worthless check, two for theft by bailee, one for auto theft, and one for chicken stealing.

Forgery Is Charged

William D. Womack, 19, and James N. Lamb, 20, both of Levelland, were charged with forgery while acting together. Two Patroon, Shelby county, Texas, youth, Jesse Crawford, 18, and Cranford Talbert, 18, were also charged with forgery at Levelland. All four of the parties had been released on bond, the district attorney said.

The grand jury reported to Judge Dan Blair about 6 o'clock tonight. Boyd Rae was foreman.

HEAVY RAINS FALL

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 9 (AP)—Almost three inches of rain fell here last night and today, adding to floods caused by last Friday's record downpour. Hardest hit areas with water levels rising in most of them, were the lower sections of Metairie and Bridgedale and the areas behind Gretna and Algiers.

U. S. Claimed On 'Verge Of War'

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—The country "is on the verge of war," Senator Eastland (D-Miss) said today, yet Congress is "asked to drop important things" to take up civil rights legislation.

This, Eastland told the Senate Judiciary committee, is a "terrible condition." The committee is considering a federal anti-lynching bill such as President Truman has urged as a part of a civil rights program.

Truman Urged To Quit

Without naming Mr. Truman, the Mississippian said the country needs as a president "a man who can unite this country against a common foe"—namely, Russia.

"What the people of this country want more than anything else is a man . . . who will not sacrifice the good of the country for the sage of personal gain from organized pressure groups," Eastland said.

In the House, Rep. Williams (D-Miss.) suggested that Mr. Truman "quit now while he is still just 20,000,000 votes behind."

Eastland, bitter critic of the Truman civil rights stand, spoke out in offering four amendments to the anti-lynching bill.

He proposed that picket line violence be included in the list of "mob" actions the bill would make a federal offense.

He moved to make a city or

PLANE LANDS SAFELY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9 (AP)—A United Airlines Douglas DC-4, its nose wheel jammed into retracted position, made a safe landing with its crew of three men at San Francisco airport late today. No passengers were aboard. There were no injuries and the plane suffered only negligible damage to the propeller tips, the airline said.

Inefficiency In Tax Collecting Charged

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—Political patronage has produced inefficiency and laxity in the nation's tax collecting system, the House Appropriations conmittee charged today.

It called attention to one case in which, it said, no action was taken to prosecute an unnamed individual who owed $804,000 in taxes and penalties.

Two employes of the Newark, N. J., Internal Revenue office, it said, "flushed several bundles of income tax records down a drain."

Hitting hard at the way the Internal Revenue bureau is run, it said too many "unsatisfactory" employes are retained in office. Collection costs per $100 of revenue increased from 32 cents in 1944 to 43 cents in 1946, it declared.

"The most serious defect in the organization and operations of the bureau is the fact that the men who are charged with the actual collection of the revenue, the collectors, are political appointees," the committee said.

Britain Told Nation To Face 'Grim' Days

LONDON, March 9 (AP) — Sir Stafford Cripps, boss of Britain's economics, laid before his country today the "excessively grim" possibility of hunger and unemployment unless United States aid is approved by Congress.

The chancellor of the exchequer said emergency schemes for slashing food and other purchases are already being considered if Marshall Plan aid fails to arrive. Plans are also being made for making the most of the money if it becomes vailable.

Cripps did not go into detail about the plans but said "preparations are being made for either eventuality." He added "it must be understood that if there is no certainty of aid by the middle of this year, the resulting inevitable cuts in imports would affect raw materials as well as food, and so cause serious unemployment."

Cripps said imports from the western hemisphere will be cut further.

"If we are forced, in absence of external aid, to balance our overseas payments before our reserves are exhausted, we shall be obliged to make such drastic cuts in our dollar and gold purchases as will bring wholesale unemployment, distress and protest of a decent standard of living for our people," Cripps said.

U. S. SAID TRAINING STATE SELECTIVE SERVICE GROUPS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9 (AP)—The United States is training state selective service officers to put a manpower procurement program into effect if necessary for any emergency, Gen. Lewis B. Hershey said today.

Trainees are being instructed "how to do it quicker if we have an atomic war." Other subjects include what to do at National Guard summer camps and at weekly drills.

The wartime draft director said instruction is given on how to set up state procurement plans no matter whether the nation adopts universal military training or mobilizing.

Supreme Court Ruling To Be Accepted By Education Group

CHICAGO, March 9 (AP) — A spokesman for the International Council of Religious education said tonight that yesterday's Supreme Court decision which banned the use of public school property for religious instruction "must be respected."

Dr. Roy G. Ross, general secretary of the council, said the decision will mean the discontinuance of use of public school buildings for religious classes in 1,200 communities with schools advised by the council.

The council is the official agency of 40 protestant denominations and 669 councils of churches.

U. S., Russia Clash Heatedly In New Dispute Over Partition

(By The Associated Press)

LAKE SUCCESS, March 9.—The United States and Russia clashed heatedly today in a new battle of words over Palestine.

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate to the United Nations, took the unusual step of answering directly a remark from a Soviet source. This source had said the United States apparently wants to reopen the Palestine issue in the UN. The Russian refused to be quoted by name on what he told newsmen early in the day.

"I regret that the Soviet spokesman has sought to pre-judge the issues before the process of consultation had got underway," Austin said in a formal statement read to newsmen by a member of the U. S. delegation tonight.

Austin made his comment after informed sources disclosed that the United States is making strong efforts to persuade Arab officials here and abroad to consult with the United Nations on the Palestine problem.

On another Palestine diplomatic front here, the chief delegates of four big powers fired questions at Sir Alexander Cadogan, British

Lubbock Symphony Scores With Program Of Modern Selections

By MARGARET TURNER
Avalanche Staff Writer

WITH Philip Williams of Dallas, violinist, as guest artist and William A. Harrod ruling the podium, Lubbock Symphony orchestra played a well-balanced and inspiring concert Tuesday night at Senior High school auditorium before the smallest audience to attend during the current series.

Inclement weather and conflicting engagements contributed to the cut in attendance but the orchestra has never played better, even if Director Harrod did deem it necessary to explain the reason for the major part of the program being in the modern field, rather than the classical. The musicians had only four rehearsals since the Alec Templeton concert and in so short a time would have been unable to master the work of the masters to suit the director, without being pushed to the point of exhaustion.

Shortly after intermission Conductor Harrod explained their position and said he hoped no one thought the orchestra was gradually reverting to popular music to such an extent that there would be dancing in the aisles.

The orchestra provided fine

200 Dead, Many Injured In Blast

TSINGTAO, North China, March 9 (AP)—The explosion of a three-story Chinese ammunition storehouse today killed at least 200 persons and injured hundreds of others. Some estimates of the injured ranged up to 1,000.

The warehouse, located a half-mile from U. S. Navy ships tied up at docks, knocked down more than 100 Chinese dwellings and damaged 400 others. No Americans were reported killed or injured by the late-forenoon blast, but 10 suffered minor hurts in first aid work. No U. S. property was hit.

Cause of the explosion was unknown. There were wild rumors of Communist sabotage, but no confirmation of any responsible source.

Military men said eight truckloads of ammunition had only recently arrived and was destined eventually for transfer to government troops.

Last Rites Are Set Today For Cal Merchant, Panhandle Pioneer

AMARILLO, March 9 (AP)—Funeral services will be held at Clarendon at 2 p. m. tomorrow for Cal Merchant, 82, who came to the Texas Panhandle in 1887.

Merchant, a native of Pilot Point, Tex., died yesterday at his Clarendon home.

For 14 years he was manager of the Turkey Track ranch. He came to the Texas Panhandle with a string of cattle which he pushed north of the Canadian river for the winter.

Soviets To Be Asked To Explain Shooting Of Soldier In Vienna

VIENNA, March 9. (U.P.)— The Russian command in Austria will be asked at Thursday's meeting of the Allied Control council to explain the shooting of Pfc. Grunden, 18, Portland, Ore., American military authorities said today.

Grunden was shot in the back by a Russian guard after he had been knocked down for refusing to obey a order to get off the sidewalk while strolling with two other American soldiers and three Austrian girls.

Was Shot In Back

The bullet fired at Grunden hit him in the back, passed through his body and smashed his elbow. At first it was thought the arm would have to be amputated, but doctors said there now appears no need for that although he may be sent back to the United States for specialized treatment.

"Improvement in the patient is so gratifying that the need for amputation appears unlikely," said Capt. Joseph C. Neel, Fort Worth, Tex., in a special hospital surgical service bulletin.

Army authorities said Lt. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes, American commander in Austria, still was considering a formal protest to the Russians.

Col. Bernard Hurless, U. S. provost marshal, said an official inquiry was being rushed to completion so it would be ready for the four-power meeting on Thursday.

No Changes Planned

Hurless said no change in military police arrangements was contemplated.

There is no way to prevent such incidents, he said, "except to keep American soldiers off the streets, and we are not prepared to do that."

Hurless said the Soviet Tass agency description of the shooting was a "typical propaganda job."

The Tass account said:

"Three drunken American soldiers attacked a guard . . .When the sergeant in charge of the guards rushed to the scene, the Americans attempted to mistreat him. The guard opened fire in self-defense and injured one of the rowdies."

"Self defense is a funny phrase to use for a man who shoots another lying on the ground on one knee," Hurless said.

Tass also reported that "Soviet authorities approached American authorities with a categorical demand to arrange for a thorough investigation and punish the guilty personnel severely."

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up nonorganic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and vigor. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Printers Resign From Union In Protest Against Policy

WAUKEGAN, Ill., March 9 (AP) —Thirteen of 20 printers employed by the Waukegan News-Sun, a daily newspaper, resigned today from the AFL-International Typographical union in protest against the ITU's employer relations policy.

In a letter to R. A. Hawks, president of the ITU's Waukegan Typographical union, local 294, the resigning members said "we object to the policy of the officers of the International Typographical union in their refusal to obey the laws of our nation."

The resignations followed notice by the ITU executive council of a special four and one half per cent strike assessment of union members' wages to support printers on strike against newspapers in Chicago and some other cities.

Bible Courses Taught In City Within Law

Bible courses taught in Lubbock Senior and Junior High schools are offered from the standpoint of literary and historical value in keeping with Texas state law, thus conforming to the United States Supreme court decision that religious sects may not use America s public schools to teach their beliefs, Supt. R. W. Matthews said Tuesday.

Texas state law also specifies that a member of a board of trustees of a public school cannot question a prospective teacher regarding denomination.

Eight Supreme court justices agreed that religious sects may not use America's public schools to teach their beliefs, the Associated Press reported from Washington, D. C. In voicing their decision, they disagreed among themselves as to exactly how much ground their ruling will cover.

UNFAIR TO BUFFALOES

RAWLINS, Wyo. (U.P.)—Rawlins has decided against repeat performance of its 1947 "Bow and Arrow Buffalo Hunt." The event was the target of criticism from humane groups and newspaper stories called it a "St. Valentine's Day Massacre." Three bull buffalo were killed.

French Fear Communist Threat To Political Future Of Nation

BY GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—Even before the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia, French public opinion was uneasy and apprehensive over the danger of Communists in France.

A poll by the French Institute of Public Opinion, one of the 12 affiliates in the Gallup Poll international organization, sounded French opinion as to the relative danger to France of the Communists, the De Gaullists and the new "third force." The third force (troisieme forme) is an informal coalition of Socialists, members of the M.R.P. party and other moderates formed in January to combat both the Communists on the Left and the De Gaullists on the Right.

The vote in the poll, which was taken in February just before the Czech crisis, follows:

"In your opinion which is the greatest political danger to France at the present time—the Communists, Gaullists or the third force?"

Communists	56%
De Gaulle	19
Both	2
Third force	3
No opinion	20

In the wake of Czechoslovakia some American political observers have put both France and Italy down as possible next victims of Communist expansion.

In France one of the chief obstacles to the spread of Communism is the women. Of all the political parties in France, the Communists have by far the fewest proportion of women in their ranks.

Russia Claimed Aggressive

The other major parties have approximately 50 per cent women, 50 per cent men. But fewer than one-third of the Communists in France are women. Women are apparently the bulwark of French conservatism, judging by those facts.

The political make-up of the French parties by sex is shown in recent surveys by the French Institute. In the M.R.P. party 52 per cent of the members are women, 48 per cent men. In the Gaullist party the division is 50-50 as between men and women. The Socialists ranks comprise 58 per cent of men and 42 per cent women. The total electorate shows a preponderance of women—55 per cent women, 45 per cent men.

But in the Communist Party the ratio is heavily in favor of men. Sixty-eight per cent of the Communists are men, only 32 per cent women. Women clearly seem less attracted than men by the doctrines and techniques of Moscow.

Would Russia start a war to get something she wanted, or would she fight only in self-defense? That question was put to the voters of France in early February—and seven other nations in one of the Gallup Poll's regular monthly international surveys.

The French result was:

Russia would fight war of aggression	51%
Would fight in defense only	22
No opinion	27

In other countries in this international poll—Italy, Holland, Canada, the United States, Sweden, Norway and Brazil—also showed a high vote to the effect that Russia would start an aggressive war.

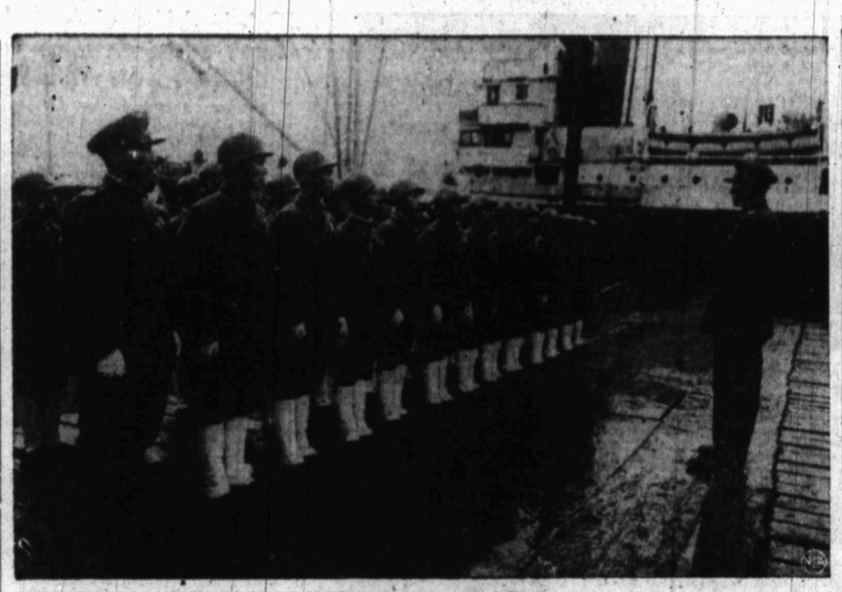

By contrast, the same countries were overwhelmingly of the opinion that the United States would not fight a war to get something she wanted but would take up arms only in defense.

1929 TEXAS?

Rainfall Over State During Past Month Is Above Normal

AUSTIN, March 9 (U.P.)—Rainfall during February was generally above normal over Texas, some areas receiving three times the normal fall, the State Board of Water Engineers reported today.

In an overall survey of conditions, the report said a peak discharge exceeding 40,000 cubic feet per second was recorded at the stream gaging station on the Trinity river at Dallas. This peak, the report said, was the largest since March, 1945. However, it was more than five feet below the April, 1942, mark and 12 feet below the 1908 record.

Three reservoirs on the upper Trinity—Eagle Mountain, Bridgeport and Lake Dallas—contained nearly 600,000 acre-feet of water at the end of the month, representing a gain of some 170,000 acre feet during February.

The North Bosque river, near Clifton, marked up its largest mean flow—659 second-feet—the largest February flow since 1941, and the fourth highest since the gage was established in 1923. The flow on Feb. 25 was 14,200 second-feet, the highest known February flow for any one day.

Possum Kingdom reservoir on the Brazos river lost a small amount of water during the month and contained slightly less than 470,000 acre-feet Feb. 29 compared to 483,000 acre-feet on Feb. 1.

Marshall ford reservoir on the Colorado river gained a slight amount of storage but Buchanan reservoir lost storage, the total loss being about 3 per cent. Back of these two dams is stored more water than passed the river gage Austin in 1947. Each reservoir contains more than half a million acre-feet of water.

Guadalupe river at New Braunfels had a monthly flow of 109 cubic feet per second, the lowest February flow since 1940 and about half of the median flow for the month.

The Delaware river in West Texas, a tributary of the Pecos river, had the lowest February flow since 1941 when an equal amount of water passed the gage. However, the Neches river at Evadale in East Texas had an average flow of 15,000 second-feet, or 140 per cent of median flow.

Red Bluff reservoir on the Pecos river contained 31,000 acre-feet of water at the end of February, which was a gain of 4,000 acre-feet during the month. However, this amount of stored water was less than previous storage during February since the initial filling of the reservoir in 1937.

Two Eastland Men Indicted By Grand Jury At San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, March 9 (AP)—Seven true bills against Paul Dean and Houston Hubert Barker of Eastland, were included in the 41 indictments returned by the federal grand jury here yesterday.

The two brothers, who are under $20,000 bonds, were indicted four times on charges of transporting guns across the state line after they had been convicted of other alleged crimes.

Two indictments charge them with transporting stolen automobiles across the state line and one true bill alleged they had fled from Texas to Mississippi to escape prosecution for the offense of burglary in Leakey.

Crude Oil Production Drops In Texas, U.S. Trend Breaks

TULSA, Okla., March 9 (AP)—A month-long climb in the nation's crude oil production came to a halt during the week ended March 6. The daily average output dropped 47,005 barrels from the previous week's figure, the Oil & Gas Journal reported today.

Total daily average production for the week was 5,379,620 barrels.

Texas was responsible for most of the decline, its output dropping 32,150 barrels to a daily average of 2,400,675 barrels.

Other declines included: Mississippi, down 5,565 barrels to 113,910. Louisiana recorded a gain of 900 barrels or less.

17-Year-Old Oklahoma Girl Profits From Farm Projects

MOORELAND, Okla., March 9. (AP)—Here's one young lady who won't need an assist from leap year.

She's a pert little 17-year-old blonde named Ellabelle Swigart, and she lives on a farm up near Oklahoma's Panhandle. She only gets to town for livestock shows, and she is visiting one at Oklahoma City today.

But she doesn't need any sympathy from her city sisters.

In the past seven years, she has—won seven championships with sheep or steers, won state blue ribbons for fancy dressmaking; won state blue ribbons for cooking; and . . . she sold all those animals for $12,700.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis
Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.
Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.
No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Woman Gives Birth To Child In California Bus Station

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 9 (AP)—Police were informed that a woman gave birth to a baby in a bus depot here, wrapped it in a coat and continued her journey without interruption.

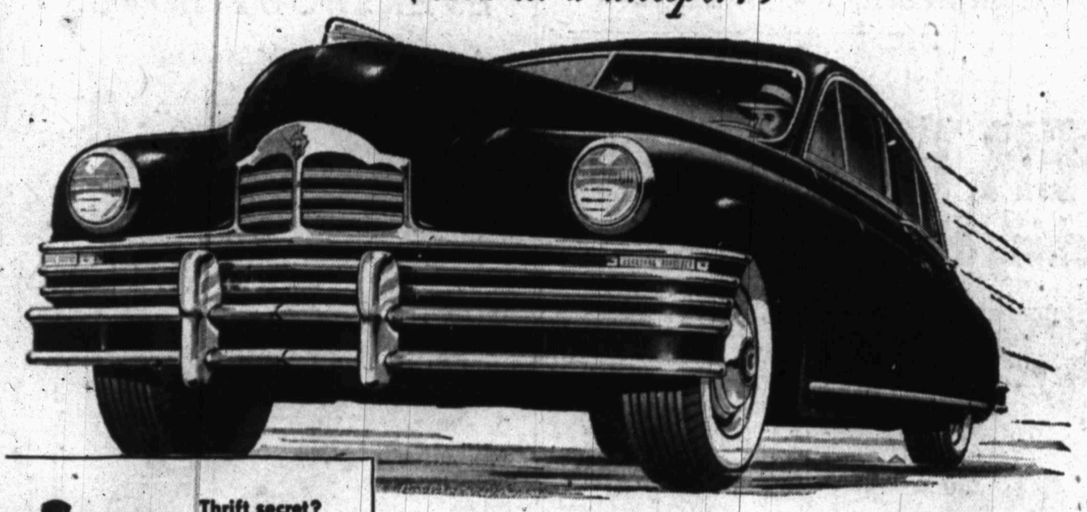

Miss Thelma Harrison, a waitress, said she walked in on the birth scene in the depot rest room. She added that the mother, who appeared to be about 40, was assisted by other Spanish-speaking women.

They apparently all left on a bus for Tijuana, Mex., the baby wailing lustily.

Miss Joyce Chausse Marries Mr. Patton

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Chausse of 2310 Tenth are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Joyce, and Hansel H. Pattn, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Patton of Petersburg which took place in Borger recently.

The bride wore a blue two piece suit with black accessories and a white orchid corsage. She is a graduate of Ropesville High school and attended Texas Technological college and is employed by Lubbock National bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Patton are at home in Lubbock where the bridegroom is in the car business with his father. He is a graduate of Anton High school.

A miscellaneous shower given for Mrs. Patton last week was held in the home of Mrs. C. R. DeArmond. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. S. H. Brooks and Miss Maxine Pearson.

Mrs. J. C. Martin directed games.

Area 2 Homemakers Elect Officers

Frances Holloway of Spur was elected president of Future Homemakers of America, Area 2, at a meeting held in Hamlin Saturday. Other new officers are Nancy Burkhart of Archer City, vice-president; Mary Louise Wood of Friendship school, recording secretary; Lavon Stewart of Hamlin, corresponding secretary; Ann Richardson of Snyder, treasurer; Joyce Thompson of Anson, parliamentarian; Marguerite Hammett of Munday, historian; Marilyn Moore of Roosevelt school, reporter; and Gayla Jean Harrington of Anton, song leader.

Approximately 300 Future Homemakers and their teacher sponsors attended the meeting. Representatives were from Anson, Anton, Archer City, Aspermont, Burkburnett, Cooper, Frenship, Groham, Hamlin, Haskell, Rotan, Holliday, Lamesa, Levelland, Megargel, Morton, Munday, O'Donnell, Olney, Plains, Ralls, Roby, Rochester, Rotan, Rule, Ropesville, Seminole, Snyder, Spur, Tahoka, Wilmert, Whiteface, Wilson and Roosevelt.

R. Huchingson, superintendent of the Hamlin Public schools, welcomed the group. Included on the program were talks by Miss Esther Sorensen of Lubbock, Area 2 supervisor, Peggy Ann, retiring president, and Jackie Hart, retiring vice-president.

An installation of officers was conducted.

Music Convention Opens In Houston

HOUSTON, March 9 (AP)—The Texas Creative Arts festival begins here tomorrow in conjunction with the annual convention of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs.

Tomorrow's festival program includes presentation of excerpts from the original opera, "Stranger From Manzano," by Julia Smith of Denton and New York City.

The excerpts will be presented by soloists from chorus from the music department of Beaumont High school under the direction of Mrs. John W. Howell, sister of the composer.

Participating on a dinner program tomorrow night will be the Saigore college chorus, Anna Margaret Jackson, pianist, Henderson, and Mrs. John L. Sullivan, vocalist, Nacogdoches.

Mrs. Paul Moss, Odessa, second vice president, will preside at the opening business sessions of the federation convention.

Women's Clubs Meet Tuesday Afternoon For Book Reviews, Programs And Parties

Book reviews, talks by members and guests and parties were held by women's clubs of Lubbock Tuesday afternoon.

Guests of Athenaeum club at a Tuesday afternoon meeting held in the home of Mrs. T. A. Rogers, 3015 Twenty-fifth, were members of Slide Home Demonstration club and other women invited by each club member. The Slide club has been adopted as the sister organization of the Athenaeum club for the year.

Mrs. C. A. Bickley introduced John Lee Smith, former lieutenant governor of Texas, who traced the history of Texas from the time it was a part of the Republic of Mexico to the present time. Mr. Smith stated that "The geography of Texas reveals and imprint of the Mexican and Spanish history and architecture." He said also that Mexico wants our friendship and that children should be impressed with the idea that Mexicans are fit and worthy neighbors.

During a business session, Mrs. C. C. Coffee was chosen to represent the club as a model at the style show to be sponsored by City Federation of Women's clubs March 25.

Mrs. B. E. Needles presided at the refreshment table which was decorated in a scheme of pink and green, club colors.

TECH PROFESSOR IS SPEAKER

Suggestions for pruning and fertilizing were given by Dr. W. W. Yocum, professor of plant industry at Texas Technological college, when he spoke for Junior Twentieth Century club Tuesday afternoon at St. John's Methodist church. He told the group, also, that the Fall is the time to transplant and to set out shrubs.

A brief business session was conducted.

Hostesses at a tea hour which followed the program were Mesdames Charles A. Guy, William Evans, George Gray and Frank Ford.

LITERATURE TRENDS ARE DISCUSSED

For Twentieth Century club at First Presbyterian Fellowship hall, Mrs. Allan Carter discussed the trends of modern American literature, tracing the influences which brought about Romanticism, Realism and the present day Naturalism in literature and poetry. She closed her talk by reading Robert Lowell's Pulitzer prize winning poem.

Mrs. Carter was introduced by Mrs. M. C. Butler. Mrs. Leroy Patton presided and Mrs. Howard Hampton was program chairman.

Others attending were Mesdames J. C. Allensworth, A. G. Barsh, J. Ben Cole, jr., H. F. Godeke, James H. Goodman, J. H. Hankins, J. R. Jameson, J. I. Kilpatrick, John W. Lynch, Lee C. O'Neil, Roy Riddel and W. O. Stevens.

GUEST DOCTOR SPEAKS FOR CLUB

A guest, Dr. Joe Webb of Plainview, discussed "Vision" for Progressive Child Study club. He was introduced by Dr. C. M. Neel of Lubbock.

Hostesses at the meeting which was held at Talley Tea room were Mrs. E. C. Hattan and Mrs. Richard Walter.

Twenty-five members were present.

TEXAN'S BOOK IS REVIEWED

The book, "The Ring and The Cross," by a Texas author, Robert Rylee, was reviewed by Mrs. R. S. Williams at a meeting of Sorosis club held in the home of Mrs. T. C. Root, 2629 Twenty-second. Thirteen members and one guest, Mrs. Walter Chalk, attended.

Mrs. J. D. Peters presided at a business session, during which Mrs. Williams and Miss Mae Murfee were named delegates to the District Spring meeting of Texas Federation of Women's clubs.

The club will be represented in the March 25 style show of City Federation of Women's clubs by Mrs. R. T. Campbell.

PLAINS' HISTORY TOLD FOR GROUP

A paper, "Yesterday and Today on the Texas Plains," was presented by Mrs. Charles C. Watson, jr., when Clement-Sorosis Study club met with Mrs. J. D. Sanders, 2828 Twenty-fifth. Her material was taken from Dr. W. C. Holden's book, "Rollie Burns," and she spoke especially of the growth of Lubbock.

Meeting with Mrs. W. B. Rushing, 3214 Twentieth, Tuesday afternoon were members of Lubbock Woman's Forum. Appearing on program was Mrs. A. E. Dietering who reviewed "The Years of the Locust" by Loula Grace Erdman.

Mrs. Garland Newsom presided for business and a tea hour was held.

Hostesses with Mrs. Rushing were Mesdames Ray Livesay, Durward Mahon, Douglas Parker and W. A. Pettey.

The Woman's Angle

FUNNY HATS

THE original hats pictured on today's page are proof again that the feminine mind works in a mysterious way when it applies itself to design. And we imagine when these teen-agers grow up if there is still such a thing as a breakfast show that features zany hats, they will be on the front row with a outlandish skypiece.

At the recent races at Hialeah park in Miami, Fla., one of the sights that was said to have attracted almost as much attention as the horses was a hat worn by one Mrs. Elmer Dale Shaffer. It was a wide-brimmed affair made to represent a race course, with a green "hedge" around the crown, a starting gate on one side, little fur and feather horses galloping around the brim and even a red odds board in the "infield."

ABSENTIA MENTIS

PERHAPS it's a sign of the tightening times, but people seem to be going through an epidemic of forgetting bundles when they leave buses, cars and airplanes. According to a release from an airline company, an average of two pairs of false teeth and 60 pairs of eyeglasses are left on its planes every month. A recent passenger left a straitjacket and another asked for the search of a stuffed cat he left behind when he deplaned.

Although hundreds of books are forgotten each year, no mean in the reading habits of passengers can be determined. Copies now on the lost and found shelves range from a calf-bound copy of Virgil's "Aenead" to an entire box of comic books.

Ninety per cent of all articles left on planes are returned to the owner within a week and those not immediately claimed are held in the airline's general headquarters.

Original Hats Are Modeled By Y-Teens

In an original Easter bonnet modeling contest held by Y-Teens club of Senior High school Tuesday afternoon in the school auditorium, Elizabeth Mitchell was chosen first place winner. Second and third place went to Mona Powell and Pat Bolinger, respectively. Other models, Joy Oglesby, Billie Bourland and Joy Davis received honorable mention.

Charlene Laws, chairman of the club's program committee, was in charge of the meeting and served as narrator. Background music was furnished by Shelley Furr. Judges for the occasion were J. H. Penn, high school music teacher, Miss Dorothy Lomax and two club sponsors, Miss Glenys Honey and Miss Edith Caveness. Twenty girls modeled their hats.

Following the selection of Misses Mitchell and Powell as first and second place winners, they described their hats and told how they were made. Chloe T. Dawson, club president, presided for business preceding the show. Miss Mary McElyea is sponsor of the program committee which planned the program.

Wheat Agreement Seeks To Make Prices And Supply More Stable

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 9 — "Give us one-dollar wheat and we'll be happy."

That was the cry of American wheat farmers in the thirties—a decade in which the price reached $1 a bushel in only one year. It sank as low as 38 cents in 1932. The depression, shrunken foreign markets and surpluses were largely to blame.

Many farmers wonder if the prices of the thirties will return.

The government says they need not.

It says the international wheat agreement signed by 36 nations here last Saturday would guarantee growers more than $1 for a five-year period. The agreement could be extended indefinitely. But it first must be approved by Congress and the governments of the other 35 countries.

Importing Nations Protected

The agreement is filled with many provisions. But it has a simple purpose: To stabilize prices and supplies of the bread grain for the benefit of farmers and consumers alike.

It would put a ceiling of $2 on most of the wheat moving in world markets. That ceiling is designed to protect importing countries from excessive prices.

It also would put price floors under such wheat to protect growers in this and other exporting countries. The floor would be $1.50 a bushel on wheat from the 1948 crop, $1.40 on the 1949 crop, $1.30 on the 1950 crop, $1.20 on the 1951 and $1.10 on the 1952 harvest.

There is a tendency among some farm leaders to oppose the agreement. They cite the fact that wheat is bringing more than $2 now and may continue to do so for another crop year.

Would the agreement mean farmers would get less than otherwise would be the case?

The government's answer is "no." It says the agreement would not interfere with prices in the domestic market.

The government would buy wheat for export at the market price, whatever that might be. Then it either would sell at abroad for $2, or it would pay exporters a subsidy covering the difference between the market price and the export price. In either case the government would take a loss.

The agreement would not interfere with a government pledge to support grower prices at 90 per cent of parity.

(Parity is a price formula—which tries to be fair to both farmers and consumers—designed to give farmers the same purchasing power they had at some previous favorable period, usually 1909 to 1914.)

The present support price is about $1.85. For the 1948 crop it may be close to $2.

Subsidy Saving Possible

But the 90 per cent support price pledge for wheat will expire June 30, 1949, unless extended by Congress. If not extended, it will be replaced by one authorizing lower support levels.

What if domestic prices tend to drop below $1, how would the agreement work? It would help hold the domestic market above $1 because foreign buyers would be committed to pay not less than $1.10 during the life of the agreement.

The agreement might save future export subsidies by the government. In the past, the government has paid these subsidies to exporters to help them sell American grain at world prices which were lower than support levels in this country.

But what would happen if American prices jumped way above $2, say to $3.50 or $4? The government then undoubtedly would take advantage of a provision in the agreement to cut its exports below a basic annual quota of 185,000,000 bushels. The chances are such high prices would reflect a critical shortage in this country.

Contracting Of Workers In Mexico To Start After May 1

MEXICO CITY, March 9. (U.P.)—The Mexican government today announced contracting of braceros for work on U. S. farms will begin sometime after May 1.

The recently-signed U. S.-Mexican migrant workers agreement enters into effect march 21, the government said, at which time those Mexican workers now in the U. S. will be rehired.

As yet, the number of braceros to be hired has not been determined, it was said. But if additional contingents are needed they will be hired after May 1.

The government said that bracero employment offices will be open in "the interior of the republic," in rural areas wherein a surplus of labor exists.

The government disclosed that unemployed in the federal district, that is, this capital and environs, will be allowed to enroll as braceros if they can show that no work exists for them within Mexico and if they are physically qualified.

As a general rule, however, applications will be taken only from those residing in the interior, it was said.

Navy And Marine Corp Swimmers Push Through Ice In Maneuvers

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 9 (AP)—Navy and Marine corps swimmers for the first time have brushed against Arctic ice in underwater scouting.

This was disclosed today by Vice Arm. George D. Murray, first task fleet commander, in an interview on Alaska exercises.

The rubber-suited swimmers pushed through slush six inches thick and rubbed against four-inch ice in carrying out their missions.

They remained in water down to an estimated four degrees below freezing for periods of more than an hour. They came out then because their beachhead explorations were completed—not because they were exhausted.

Not even during the war did swimmers operate so far north. Attu and Kiska in the Aleutians were retaken without their pre-invasion survey and demolition work.

They hit the water from submarines off Kodiak island in February. They wore long underwear under their rubber suits. Their faces were smeared with petroleum jelly.

Lieutenant Sears reported they demonstrated they could carry out their tasks right up to the Arctic ice pack.

The slush and ice were encountered as they reached the beaches—which they were theoretically preparing for an invasion.

Mental Hygiene Experts Will Meet At El Paso This Week

AUSTIN, March 9 (U.P.)—Mental hygiene experts from over the nation will open the Southwest's first interstate and international meeting on the subject at El Paso March 11-12.

The meeting will be held in connection with the 15th annual conference of the Texas Society for Mental Hygiene.

Dr. Robert L. Sutherland, director of the Hogg foundation for mental hygiene at the University of Texas, said a "full-scale assault" will be made on mental problems.

Among speakers scheduled for the meeting are Dr. Samuel Ramirez Moreno, chief of neuropsychiatry for the Republic of Mexico; Dr. Robert Hewitt, former medical officer in the U. S. Public Health service and clinical director of hospitals at Lexington, Ky., and Fort Worth; Dr. L. D. Haskew, education dean at the University of Texas; Commander Daniel Blain, senior surgeon of the U. S. Public Health service, Dr. Don P. Morris, Dallas, and W. W. Finley, Dallas.

Dr. Ozro T. Woods of Dallas, president of Texas Society for Mental Hygiene, will preside at the sessions.

Texas Oil Man Says Foreign Aid Wasted, Warns Of Depression

HOUSTON, March 9 (U.P.)—Russia would have kept her troops within her own borders if the United States had spent $15,000,000,000 in foreign aid on warplanes and atomic bombs, mulit-millionaire oilman Hugh Roy Cullen said today.

Cullen's statement was revealed in a telegram he sent in reply to a letter from Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Warning that a depression was on the horizon, Cullen said "our country is in no position to give or loan money to foreign countries."

New Dealism Hit

"We will be fortunate to be able to retire our bonds in an orderly way and build an armed force sufficient to keep Russia off our backs," the telegram read.

The fabulously wealthy Texas philanthropist said Russia would not have sent troops into neighboring countries "if the $15,000,000,000 that this country gave away to foreign countries the past two years had been used in building planes and atomic bombs."

He said information from New York caused him to believe that "we are facing a depression." A bitter foe of the new deal, Cullen told Taft "it is time our Congress should pinch itself and wake up and get from under the spell of new dealism."

Man Arrested At Denison In Liquor Stamp Counterfeiting

DENISON, March 9 (AP)—Roger T. Glance, charged with possession of a die or engraving used and designed for counterfeiting Texas state liquor stamps was arrested here today, Sheriff Fred Prestage announced.

The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Raymond Smith. Glance was taken to the county jail at Sherman.

T. L. Ferguson, Denison printer, was arrested last Thursday night and charged with possession of counterfeit state liquor stamps and possession of die and plate for use in counterfeiting liquor stamps. He was released on bond.

Charges against Ferguson and Glance were filed by Hal Rawlins of Denison, assistant county attorney.

TCU Professor Dies At Home

FORT WORTH, March 9 (U.P.)—J. Willard Ridings, journalism director at Texas Christian university and one of the best-known journalism professors in the Southwest, died at his home early today. He was 53.

Ridings was stricken after returning from a symphony concert last night. Death was laid to a cerebral hemorrhage.

Organized Journalism Group

He had been with the TCU journalism department since 1927, and was a graduate of the University of Missouri at Columbia, Mo.

He received early training in journalism around the office of the Farmer's Advocate at Hamilton, Mo., which was published by his older brother. He was a native of Neelyville, Mo.

Ridings worked his way through the university by operating a linotype and playing piano in a school orchestra.

During his career at TCU, he helped organize the Southwest Journalism congress, which first met in Fort Worth 20 years ago. He had planned to take his senior journalism class to Mineral Wells today to publish the Mineral Wells Index, a custom for many years.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Mae Sayers Ridings; a daughter, Mrs. Ray Burns, a teacher in Fort Worth; a son, Paul O. Ridings, in the advertising business in Chicago, and a brother, Hugh Ridings of Fort Worth.

Solon Says Nation Needs Cow To Give Skim-Milk Only

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—What this country needs is a cow that will give skim-milk only.

You think that's udder nonsense?

So does Rep. MacKinnon (R-Minn). He told the House so in prose and poetry. He said it was just another brain-storm of the "Broadway farmers"—those city slickers who think buttermilk comes from a cow fed on sour apples.

A skim-milk cow!

Why, said MacKinnon, that's just the kind of critter there would have to be if the oleo crowd had their way. They say the cost of living would go down if Congress took the tax off butter-colored margarine.

"Udder nonsense," chortled MacKinnon. He explained it this way:

Suppose housewives buy more oleo and less butter. That means they'll pay less for the stuff they spread on bread. But it also means there'll be less demand for butter fat.

"The cow, being a dumb creature, would not realize that her butterfat labors were superfluous and would go right on producing it," MacKinnon said, and:

Poetry Is Offered

"Since the farmer would lose the market for his butterfat he would be forced, in order to make both ends meet, to add the loss on his butterfat to the price of his milk."

Unless, of course, he had some of "those skim-milk cows with the new look whose whereabouts are known only to the boys on the great white way."

Then MacKinnon churned up some rhymes for the House:

"The skim-milk cow and the oleo cat
"Got along fine without butter fat.
"The reason they did was plain to be seen—
"The skim-milk cow didn't give cream.
"She didn't give cream so there was no butter.
"The oleo cat really liked that udder.
"The trouble is—you should know by now—
"There ain't no such thing as a skim-milk cow."

Probation Of Prison Sentence For Draft Law Violation Is Refused

DALLAS, March 9 (AP)—Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson today refused to probate a sentence of a year and a day in prison given John Beach Brockett of Abilene for failure to register for the draft.

Judge Davidson assessed the sentence and a $500 fine several days ago when Brockett pleaded guilty, saying he feared he would be killed if taken into the Army.

Tractor Maintenance School Set At Tech

A two-day tractor maintenance school for 4-H club leaders and county agents from 21 counties of the South Plains area will be held at the Farm Shop at Texas Technological college, starting at 10 o'clock this morning.

Members of the Texas Extension service who will conduct the school are Willie L. Ulich, agricultural engineer; W. N. Williamson, district agent; and D. W. Sherrell, Lubbock county agent.

Other Schools Set

The purpose of the school, Ulich stated, is to educate county 4-H club leaders and county agents in methods of taking better care of farm tractors, with the hope that they will pass that information on to 4-H club members in the various counties. The school is not a repair course, he emphasized.

A. R. Johnson, a representative of Standard Oil and Gas company which is sponsoring the school, and C. N. Hinkle, also of the Standard company, will be in charge of classroom work. Representatives from various implement companies of the 21 counties will assist in the laboratory work. Tractors will be furnished by local implement dealers.

The school is one of five to be held in Texas during the next three weeks, others to be conducted at Stephenville, Sherman, Wharton and Alice.

In similar schools to be held in individual counties, one outstanding 4-H club member will be awarded a medal and given the opportunity to compete in a state tractor maintenance school. The state winner will be awarded an all-expense trip to the National 4-H club congress held in Chicago each year, Ulich stated.

MacArthur Would Have To Leave Army If Nominated

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—Should Gen. Douglas MacArthur win the Republican presidential nomination he would have to retire from the Army to campaign.

This is provided in a joint Army-Navy agreement announced March 10, 1944, and still in effect.

It says that a member of the armed forces, while on active duty, may accept a nomination for public office, provided it is tendered "without direct or indirect activity or solicitation on his part."

Tech Judgers Third In Oklahoma Show

The Texas Technological college junior livestock judging team was ranked second in the judging of sheep and horses and finished third in a field of 12 teams at the Oklahoma Fat Stock Show in Oklahoma City Monday, according to information received at Texas Tech Tuesday.

Clinton Ritter, of Lawn, placed third in the judging of sheep and fifth in cattle and Robert Cox, of Lubbock, placed fifth in the judging of horses.

Team scores for the first four places are as follows: Oklahoma A&M, 4,594; Texas A&M, 4,531; Texas Tech, 4,508; and Kansas, 4,506.

Members of the Texas Tech team other than those mentioned above include Jack Burkhalter, Seymour; W. D. Hancock, Jayton; Ed McLeroy, Brownfield; and Robert Mims, San Angelo. The team is coached by R. C. Mowery, head of the animal husbandry department, who accompanied it to Oklahoma City.

The big event of the year for West Texas tennis fans is scheduled Sunday at Fort Worth when Bobby Riggs, the professional net champion of the world, and big Jack Kramer, top amateur of 1947 now turned pro, clash in another match of their coast-to-coast tour. Several other Texas cities will be visited during the tour, but the Fort Worth match will be the most convenient for most South Plains enthusiasts to attend. A few groups plan to see the pair play at Austin Friday night, but reports indicate that ducats to the card there are extremely scarce.

RIGGS

Bobby Riggs is one of the most colorful netters in the game at the present time, as well as one of the top technicians. Bobby has gained a reputation for talking loudly and at the wrong time, but his most ardent critics can't overlook the fact that he has won the pro crown over the top talent available—including the famed Don Budge—with surprising ease. Bobby, as an amateur, never agreed with the tennis authorities in his home state of California on matters of policy, expense accounts or tournament procedure. After he gained the pro championship he irked sports writers and opponents with his complete self-confidence and often-quoted statements of, "I can beat anyone, anytime, anyplace," and, "I'm the best player in the world."

Kramer, on the other hand, has always been a quiet fellow who let his play on the court speak for itself. Just before he turned pro there was a brief flurry of words between the two netters, but there is every reason to believe that the exchanges were the standard procedure of smart press agents to arouse interest in the scheduled tour. Kramer was rated as the top amateur player in the world in 1946 and 1947, when he sparked the United States' victorious Davis Cup team, and is considered fully capable of winning the pro title from the cocky Riggs. Kramer is well ahead of Riggs at this stage of their tour, which is no surprise to tennis experts who have long admired Big Jake's smashing style of play.

This is the season when basketball mentors are busy cleaning up the loose ends, storing equipment and making plans for next year, but their most important duty—in the eyes of the players—is the naming of the letter-winners. Coach Rusty Smith of the Seagraves High school has nominated eight men from the '47-48 squad for letter awards, including Leon Allen, Smith Bennett, Ray Cook, Bill Bonham, Jack Hale, Bill Hearne, Kenneth Jackson, and Frank Claborn.

South Plains grid fans who saw the Southern Methodist university intra-squad game at Dallas last Saturday agree that the Ponies will have probably the strongest backfield ever seen in the Southwest conference for the 1948 title chase. The Mustangs' sophomore star, Kyle Rote, scored two touchdowns and an extra point in the tussle and looked extremely capable in all departments. With brilliant triple-threaters like Rote and All-America Doak Walker, elusive wingback Paul Page and ace passer Gil Johnson in the backfield next fall, who is going to stop them? As if that quartet isn't bad enough for S.U.M. foes, there are some stellar "second-stringers" like Dick McKissack, Gene Roberts and Frank Payne available.

Thirty-Three Schools Entered In Annual Bluebonnet Relays

BROWNWOOD, March 9 (AP)—The Bluebonnet relays will be held here March 27 after a lapse of six years.

Thirty-three high schools have filed entries with John A. Houston, Brownwood High school athletic director who will be director-general of the meet.

Although the deadline entry date had been set for March 20, Director Houston said entries had poured in faster than anticipated and it might be necessary to call a halt to further entries before that time.

Intra-Squad Go Slated Sunday

DALLAS, March 9 (Special)—Eager Lubbock Hubber baseball players trotted onto the grass in Rebel Park here today for the opening of Spring baseball training, which got underway after a day's delay caused by cold weather and wet grounds.

Rebel Manager Jimmy Adair, who is directing the training camp activities of the parent Rebels and farm teams from Lubbock, Odessa and Austin, concentrated today on conditioning exercises. He said that two more days of such drills faced the Hubbers before any batting practice.

Light Drills Stressed

The pitchers, with 18-year old Billy George "Cotton" Russell of Fort Worth and the Hubbers among them, will not be allowed to throw before Friday, Adair said that the hurlers would not be in shape before that time.

Today's two-hour drill comprised intense calithenics for the entire squad numbering 72 men. Following the limbering up exercises, the squads were sent on several laps around the field and then broke up into fast pepper games. Pitchers were held down to accuracy work, throwing lightly to catchers with an eye toward sharp aim.

Practice Slated Today

The second day of baseball training will begin Wednesday at 11 a. m. and will be another light series of drills. Adair hopes to minimize muscular soreness through a gradual process of training.

If the weather remains favorable and players get enough work in the meantime, Adair may order a short intra-squad game Sunday.

Former Hubbers Visitors Here

Bill Serena and Clem Cola, members of the 1947 pennant-winning Lubbock Hubbers of the West Texas-New Mexico Baseball league, stopped in the Hub City for a brief visit yesterday afternoon.

The two players, ordered to report to the Dallas Rebels of the Texas League for Spring training, stopped here to see Crs. Sam Rosenthal. Serena, who played shortstop for the Hubbers and set a new league home run record last year, will be made into an outfielder by the Rebels. Cola, a catcher, is a likely candidate to do receiving chores for the Rebels.

The popular ex-Hubbers left Alameda, Calif., Friday morning at 6 in Serena's 1936 Ford, broke a block 120 miles from home and limped the remaining 1400 miles to Lubbock with a patched up block. They left here at 4:20 to continue their journey to Dallas, where they will report to Manager Jimmy Adair today.

Scout Denies He Tried To Sign OU Football Players

BROOKLYN, N. Y., March 9 (AP)—Charges that they tampered with three University of Oklahoma football players have brought a stout denial from the Brooklyn Dodgers of the All-America conference.

Last week Coach Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma protested to AAC Commissioner Jonas Ingram that a Dodger scout had visited the Norman campus and attempted to sign three players.

However, Steve Hokuf, Dodger end coach and scout, named the players, adding that his visit was legitimate.

Hokuf denied he was attempting to encourage players to sign a professional contract before the end of their college eligibility.

Lee Christian In Cycle Race

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 9 (Special)—Lee Christian of 1713 13th street, Lubbock, Tex., is one of 13 entries from Texas in the American Motorcycle Association's national championship expert races here Saturday and Sunday.

Christian, a mechanic for the Lubbock Motorcycle company, will be entered in the expert race division and will drive his cycle over the new four-mile beach and road course.

35 States Represented

Thirty-five states, the District of Columbia and Canada are represented in the entry list submitted so far, with every rider aiming for a lion's share of the $7,500 purse. The motorcycle race is considered the "Kentucky Derby" of motorcycle racing.

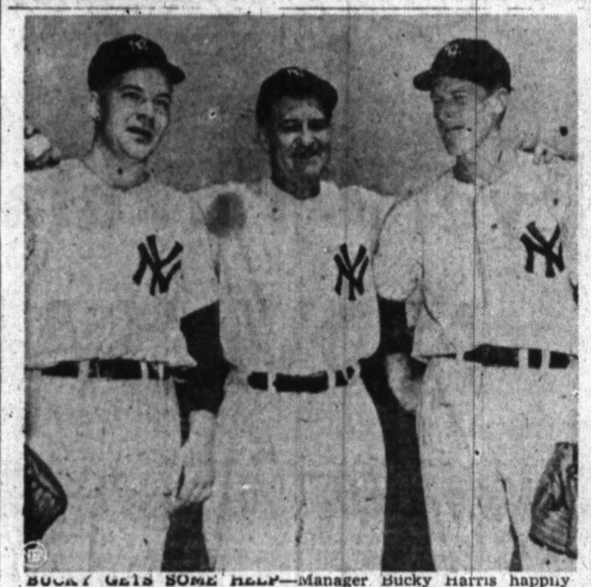

Among the various types of motorcycles to be used in the competition will be 64 British made machines, 92 Indians, 164 Harley Davidsons and one German made BMW (Bavarian Motor Works).

Director Bill France, after glancing at the entires in the race, declared: "There's no doubt in my mind that the record of 86 miles per hour will be broken and a new speed record of well over 90 miles per hour will be achieved."

Christian has entered the expert race, which will be over the 200-mile course, the toughest race of them all. He will have as opponents such outstanding men as Forrester Wilkinson of Compton, Md., J. B. Jones of Anderson, Md., and Ted Boy of Baltimore, Md.

Other Texans Entered

Other Texans in the 200-mile event are Bill Anderson, W. J. Landry, Morris Legg and Eugene Warnell of Houston; Les Myers and Glen Patton of Wichita Falls; Muriel Pitcox and Francis Wood of San Antonio; Claud Dawson and Bill Meador of Waco; Alpheus Town of Tyler; and Cowboy Ranstead of Corpus Christi.

Broncs Favored In Track Meet

Flu Dims Hopes Of Westerner Victory

Some of the top track squads of West Texas are scheduled to compete in the first annual Abilene Invitational meet Saturday, officials reported Tuesday night, with Breckenridge and Lubbock heading the incomplete list of entries.

Strong Odessa, certain to be the meet favorite, is expected to file an entry blank before the deadline and teams from San Angelo and Big Spring are assured. Numerous Class A and B schools have reported that they will compete in the contest.

Squad Shows Progress

Preliminaries will get underway about 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning, with finals starting at 1:30.

Illness hampered the Lubbock Westerner cinder squad in workouts Tuesday afternoon, with sprinters Don Decker and Malcolm Young out of uniform as a result of colds and influenza. Several other members of the squads are doubtful starters Saturday, including strong contenders in field events.

Coach Marlin Hayhurst said last night that the squad was making satisfactory progress, however, and that he believed the squad would be able to make a strong race against the Odessa and Breckenridge teams for championship honors.

Relay Team Promising

Three Westerner sprinters, Charley Williams, Earl Hutcherson and Decker, and ace quarter-miler Jim Johnson will spark the Lubbock entry. Charles Curry, Norman Dean and Dick Schmidt are rated as three of the best weight contestants in West Texas, and Bob Schmidt is expected to pick up some points in the high hurdles. The crack mile relay quartet could top the field in that event.

If Odessa enters the meet as planned, Byron (Santone) Townsend and Gerald Campbell will be the point-making specialists of the Bronco squad. Townsend is a fast dash entry and a brilliant high-jumper, as well as a better than average discus threat and low hurdler. Campbell has placed in the state meet in the low hurdles for two consecutive years and is a capable dash contestant.

Canada's three leading industries are agriculture, mining and forestry.

Bob Marquis Joins Texas Loop Club

Bob Marquis, former Texas Tech student, has come to terms with the Beaumont club of the Texas league and will leave tonight for the Beaumont training camp at Cuero, it was learned Tuesday.

Marquis, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Marquis, 2210 29th street, led the Lone Star league in stolen bases and runs scored in his first season of professional baseball last year.

As outfielder for Lufkin last season, Marquis hit .346 and stole 57 bases. Previously, he had returned two unsigned contracts to the Beaumont club. There were indications Tuesday that the 22-year-old ball player might be given a tryout this season at an infield position, possibly first base.

Marquis played with the Sundown semipro nine in 1946. After leaving Texas Tech he attended the University of Texas. He was not a candidate for the baseball team at either school.

Texans Lead Golf Parade

Lone Star State Linksmen Are Among Top Tournament Winners

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

There has been some talk that the Texans are fading in the golfing world, that the time is going when players from the Lone Star State will hog the limelight.

There doesn't seem to be any noticeable slacking off in Texas winnings.

Texans Are Leading

At this time two Texans are leading in the battle for the Vardon trophy. They are Lloyd Mangrum and Ben Hogan. Bobby Locke, the Britisher, is the actual leader but since he is not an American citizen he is not eligible. Jimmy Demaret, a Texan, is second but he is also not eligible. He disqualified himself by picking up during the New Orleans open. In sixth place is Dick Metz, another Texan.

In money-winning, Texans again hog the limelight. Mangrum is tops by a large margin. Demaret is third and Hogan fourth.

Henry Ranson broke into the headlines the other day by taking $1,500 first money in the Palm Beach, Fla., tournament. Henry, a Texan, had another type of publicity three weeks ago when he figured in a fist fight with Norman Von Nida, the Australian pro, at Harlingen. It brought him headlines and a two-weeks suspension from the golf tour. Ransom got more publicity at Harlingen than he did at Palm Beach but it cost him a lot more.

Demaret Leads Ryder Cup

Demaret, the Houston songbird, leads the field for the Ryder cup with 126 points. Two other Texans also rate with the top seven. They are Hogan and Mangrum.

The North Carolina boys better start making their move if they aim to overshadow the Texans.

Cerdan Is Rated Slight Favorite Over Roach

Mat Program To Feature 'Gator

Lubbock residents apparently 1, have an abiding curiosity in what an alligator-wrestling team looks like; and 2, have no fear of the alligator escaping from the ring, for ringside seats at Sled Allen's wrestling arena virtually have been sold out already for tonight's grapple card.

Allen said last night that it was hard to remember when so many persons had requested tickets and blamed the whole thing on Rodney the Eighth. Rodney is the not-so-tame alligator that Tuffy Truesdell of St. Louis, Mo., will wrestle tonight.

Getz Is Unhappy

The alligator-Truesdell match will highlight the weekly Wednesday night card at Allen's arena. The demonstration, if such it can be called, will follow a regular program of three matches.

The main event will bring together two men who have been evenly matched in the past and who have been crowd pleasers, with Al Getz of Pittsburgh, Pa., meeting Ace Freeman of New York City. The match is slated to be a best two out of three falls affair, with a one-hour time limit attached.

Getz has been unhappy for the past few weeks, having lost his Southwestern Junior heavyweight wrestling crown in Amarillo recently. But if he tries any rough stuff with Freeman, the Pittsburgh bad man will find he has run into someone with as much wrestling ability and as much ability to dish it out.

Funk Meets O'Dowdy

In the semi-final, Dory Funk of Hammond, Ind., will attempt to pin rowdy-dowdy Pat O'Dowdy. This match between two capable, experienced grunt and groan artists, should be one of the best crowd pleasers of the evening.

The preliminary go will bring together rough Karl Gray and cagy Gorilla Poggi, who knows his way around the ring with his eyes closed.

Tickets will be on sale from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. at Wylie's Drug store, with no advance in prices.

Winner Of Friday's Match In Garden Would Be In Line For Title Chance

NEW YORK, March 9 (Special)—It will be "Youth vs. Age" once again Friday night when the biggest middleweight boxing match of the year comes off at Madison Square Garden, and this one already has the boys along Beak boulevard guessing.

Marcel Cerdan, European 160-pound champion, will represent Old Father Time when he goes against LaVern Roach, the Texan who will bear the banners of the rising generation. All points considered, this bout shapes up as one of the most interesting of the year. In addition to the aforementioned "age angle," it looks like a fistic "natural" in that it matches Cerdan's experience and power against Roach's speed and cunning.

Frenchman Is Aggressive

Off past performances, the 32-year-old Frenchman will likely go into the ring at the "House that Tex built" as the favorite Friday night. After first gaining international recognition by cleaning up in several Inter-Allied boxing meets in Algiers and Italy following the recent war, he picked up quite an American following in an auspicious debut here in which he whipped Georgie Abrams.

In other American starts, Cerdan quickly disposed of Harold Green, and won a narrow decision over tough Anton Raadik. More recently, he twice defended his European title with quick knockout triumphs over the champions of Poland and Italy, both bouts being staged in Paris.

Constantly aggressive, Cerdan hits hard and often. He goes out to kayo his opponent—and usually succeeds. Against Raadik in Chicago, however, the Frenchman apparently "ran out of gas" in the tenth round, when Raadik decked him three times and had him on the verge of a KO as the fight ended. Only a distinct edge in the early rounds gained the decision for Cerdan.

Roach Managers Confident

It was that closing rush by Raadik that has helped boost hopes high in the Roach camp. The youngster from Plainview, Texas, is conceded to be one of the best-conditioned boxers in the business, and his handlers are confident that his stamina, speed and counter-punching will be too much for the European champ — even though Roach was listed six pegs below Cerdan (who was fourth) in the most recent Ring magazine ratings in the middleweight class.

Roach, an orthodox fighter who packs a solid punch in both hands, has rocketed to the top via 19 successive victories. He moved into boxing's big time on January 16 with a convincing 10-round verdict over flashy Tony Janiro of Youngstown, Ohio, at the Garden.

In his last bout, on February 19 at Miami Beach, Fla., the 22-year-old Texan scored a TKO over Al Thornton in seven rounds.

$100,000 Gate Possible

Because both Cerdan and Roach have been extremely popular with metropolitan fight fans, a gate approximating $100,000 would be none too surprising for Friday night's contest. According to the terms of a contract signed some time ago, the Frenchman will receive a 30 per cent cut, with Roach pulling down 25 per cent of the total for his efforts.

While no definite commitments have been made, there is already talk that the winner will be given a top-flight outdoor fight in one of the New York ball parks later this summer — perhaps with Champion Rocky Graziano, providing Graziano's suspension by the New York Boxing commission has been lifted by that date.

Roach Fight Trip Ticket For Sale

An opportunity for someone in Lubbock to visit New York for the Marcel Cerdan-LaVern Roach fight was offered last night by C. T. Childress, 1822 Avenue E.

Mr. Childress has a ticket on the chartered plane from Plainview, but will not be able to use it. If there is anyone in this city desiring to see Roach fight Friday night in Madison Square Garden, they may buy the ticket from Mr. Childress.

His telephone number is 6016.

Wesleyan Loses NAIB Opener; AAU Cage Meet Opens Tonight

Rally Gives 46-45 Game To Gonzaga

KANSAS CITY, March 9 (AP)—Gonzaga university put on a stirring finish tonight to take a 46-45 victory over Texas Wesleyan in a first round game of the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball tournament.

The Spokane collegians won on Jack Curran's free throw in the last 50 seconds. They had trailed through the first 36 minutes before they drew up to a 42-42 tie. A long side shot by Pat Sweeney put Gonzaga ahead and Curran added a free throw to make the score 45-42. Then "Easy" Parham tucked in a long shot for the Texans and Doug Higgins added a free throw to bring the Fort Worht team up to the 45 mark and set the stage for Curran's winning toss.

Training Camp Notes

(By The Associated Press)

The Chicago Cubs, who finished next to last in the National league home run debry in 1947, are leading the major leagues in this specialty in the grape fruit league.

In three games, all against the Chicago White Sox, the Cubs have slapped six homers. Rookies Clarence Maddern and Earl York socked two apiece and recruits Rube Walker and Henry Schinz the others.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 9. (AP)—The Washington Senators have a rookie second base candidate who was a manager last year.

He's Calvin Collidge Ermer, who was named boss of the Class B Charlotte club—a Washington farm team—in the middle of the 1947 season. Ermer, who was 21 at the time, batted .297, socked eight triples and seven home runs, and led the Tri-State league in doubles with 27.

PASADENA, Calif., March 9. (AP)—Manager Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox says he doesn't give a hoot that the Chicago Cubs have beaten the Pale Hose three games in a row. "Just so long as we can get in shape and get a good look at some of these kids in camp I don't care.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 9. (AP)—Emil (Dutch) Leonard, the Philadelphia Phillies' veteran knuckle ball expert, will pitch the opening game of the National league season against the Boston Braves at Philadelphia April 20, Manager Ben Chapman announced today.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla, March 9. (AP)—Only Pitcher Charley Wensloff remains on the New York Yankees' holdout list.

First sacker George McQuinn came to terms yesterday.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, D. R., March 9. (AP)—Various minor ailments are disrupting the activities of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Pitcher Ralph Branca has a pulled muscle in his left thigh and won't work for a few days. Hurler Red Barney has a touch of grippe. Outfielder Duke Snider has an intestinal disturbance while flychaser Al Ginofriddo is recovering from being beaned.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 9. (AP)—Ed Stevens is off to a good start in his bid for a berth with the Pittsburgh Pirates. The first sacker, obtained from Brooklyn, hit a homer and two singles in four trips to the plate as the Pirates beat Hollywood, 7-4, yesterday.

Lubbock Boxing Show April 1-5

Lubbock's Junior Chamber of Commerce Invitational boxing tournament will be conducted April 1-5 at Sled Allen's wrestling arena, meet officials announced here Tuesday night, with awards slated for every fighter who competes.

All winners in the open division will receive a silver and maroon jacket, according to plans completed by directors, and the runner-up in each open weight class will be awarded a trophy. High school division winners will get trophies and the second place boxers will receive a golden glove. All fighters who enter the tourney will be awarded a silver glove, officials emphasized.

LaVern Roach Invited

O. J. (Bo) Sexton has been invited to referee the bouts and there is a possibility that LaVern Roach, young Plainview middleweight contender, will serve as guest referee for some of the fights.

Proceeds of the tournament will be donated to civic projects, Jaycee officials reported.

Arrangements have been completed for tourney entries to train at Sled Allen's arena every weekday except Wednesday at no charge.

Tri-City Gun Shoot Slated Here Sunday

Lubbock Gun club will be host to Clovis, Roswell and Brownfield shooters Sunday, Manager Si Gooden announced Tuesday night, in the first of a series of shoots to be registered with the A.T.A.

Prize winners of the shoot last weekend were reported, with Tom French, Clyde Tatum and Gooden leading events. Results reported included:

16-yard single targets (trap) — Tom French, 48 x 50; C. D. Blair, 44 x 50; Si Gooden, 43 x 50; Joe D. Slaughter, 43 x 50; Bud Brady, 40 x 50; R. J. Cramer, 38 x 50; E. T. Daniels, 36 x 50; Wayne French, 34 x 50; and W. C. Boyd, 37 x 50.

Doubles at the trap—Si Gooden, 42 x 50; Joe D. Slaughter, 37 x 50; Clyde Tatum, 31 x 50; R. J. Cramer, 30 x 50; Dr. Mansell, 29 x 50; Bud Brady, 29 x 50; E. T. Daniels, 26 x 50; Clyde Tatum, 32 x 50; and W. C. Boyd, 33 x 50.

Oklahoma Foes To Face Texas Fives

AMARILLO, March 9 (AP)—The Southwest Regional Basketball tournament, featuring 10 Texas and Oklahoma quintets, opens here tomorrow night.

The Panhandle-Plains representatives, Wayland college of Plainview, and Amarillo college, will open the event against a pair of Oklahoma foes.

Wayland, winner of the West and Central zones of the Texas Junior College Athletic conference, clashes with Sayre Junior college.

Amarillo college's Badgers, who reached the semifinals in the state invitation tournament last week at College Station, will go against Oklahoma Military academy of Claremore, long-time power in Oklahoma junior college athletic competition.

The two tussels touch off a 14-game elimination series which will include both afternoon and night sessions through Saturday. The winner and runnerup qualifies for the National Junior College Athletic association championships to be held at Springfield, Mo., March 23-27.

Tri-State Golf Meet Slated July 19-21

AMARILLO, March 9 (AP)—The 1948 Tri-State senior golf champion will be decided July 19-21 in the association's annual tournament at the Amarillo Country club

The tournament, in which only golfers who reached or passed the 50-year mark may compete, drew a record field of 154 entries last year.

Among eighteen new directors added by the association were:

U. N. Olver, Amarillo; E. O. (Erb) Jordan, Amarillo; H. C. Pestor, Amarillo; Dick Coon, Amarillo; Dr. R. P. Parcells, Amarillo; Charles Thut, Pampa; J. O. Dudley, Floydada; and Elmer Winn, Plainview.

WINNING FORM—Bob Schmidt, veteran Lubbock Westerner trackman, is shown above as he cleared the last hurdle in the 120-yard high hurdle event of the annual South Plains Invitational meet at Chapman field last weekend. Schmidt, not pressed for the lead, breezed to first place in 16.9 seconds. He will be the Westerners' chief hope in the hurdle events at the Abilene meet Saturday. (Avalanche Staff Photo.)

Middlecoff And Ferrier Win In Miami Tourney

MIAMI, Fla., March 9 (AP)—Jim Ferrier and Cary Middlecoff won the $10,000 Miami International Four-Ball Golf oturnament today one up in 36 holes after nearly tossing it away.

They defeated Ellsworth Vines and Ed Furgol with a par four on the 385-yard 36th hole in the finals.

Victory Worth $1,250

The victory was worth $1,250 each to the winners and $750 to each of the runners-up.

Ferrier, PGA champion from San Francisco, elected to go for a birdie on the 35th hole but his 18-foot putt was three feet short of the cup and he missed it to go one over. Middlecoff, of Memphis, Tenn., on whom Ferrier was depending for a par, missed a three-foot putt and Vines sank his for a par four to even the match.

On the 36th, Ferrier was 25 feet from the cup in two, dropped his approach shot within 18 inches of the cup and sank it for a par four. Vines missed a six foot putt and Furgol a five-footer to go one over.

The Ferrier-Middlecoff combination had held a one up elad from the 29th hole when the 24-year-old Middlecoff sank a 25-foot putt for a birdie two.

Anton Downs Lubbock Quintet, 51-41, In Legion Tournament

ANTON, March 9 (Special)—Anton's Legion quintet edged by Ray's Grocery of Lubbock, 51-41, here tonight to gain the championship of the Anton Independent cage tournament.

The Anton five led all the way in the extremely rough game, although the Lubbock cagers nearly deadlocked the count in the third period.

Spade copped third place in the tourney by defeating Muleshoe, 43-38, in the first tussle of the double bill.

Tyler Junior College Star Joins Pro Football Squad

TYLER, March 9 (AP)—Bill Johnson, named on a junior college all-America football team in 1947, said today he has signed a contract with the San Francisco 49'ers.

Johnson, 21, played center for Tyler Junior college, winner of the Southwestern Junior College conference championship.

He has one more year of eligibility at Tyler, but he said he decided to take an "attractive offer" from the All-American Conference club.

Jester To Attend Capital Meeting

AUSTIN, March 9 (AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester had "no comment" on national politics today as he prepared for a weekend in Washington with rebelling southern governors.

Jester told a press conference he plans to leave by plane early Friday morning from Dallas for Washington where he is to attend a civil rights committee meeting Friday afternoon.

The five-member committee then plans to draft its final recommendation on the federal administration's civil rights program for presentation the next day to the southern governors' conference. (On the committee are Governors Jester, Thurmond (S. C.), Tuck (Va.), Cherry (N. C.) and Laney (Ark).

No Comment On Race

Queried on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's willingness to accept the Republican nomination for president, the governor replied: "No comment."

Asked about Pres. Truman's announcement that he would seek nomination for re-election, the governor replied: "No comment."

Asked if he thought the southern governors' civil rights committee would recommend President Truman's nomination, Jester said: "I'm not so sure about that."

Evans' Plans Ignored

The governor was also noncommittal on two home-front matters. He had no comment on Rep. Roger Q. Evans' announcement that he was considering running for governor. He had no statement on the opposition of the executive board of the Texas Federation of Labor to the proposed industrial plan for the Texas prison system.

As to criticism by Rep. Charles Murphy of Houston, charging that the Texas State university for Negroes at Houston is the number one target for Communists, the governor commented:

"It is an internal problem, purely a matter for the board of regents to look into. I intend to refer the letter (which Murphy said he had written the governor) to the chairman and ask the board for a report."

Lubbock Symphony

background for Violinist Williams in the second and third movements of Wieniakski's "Concerto No. 2 in D Minor," and he played with eloquent feeling and brought out dramatic values in this number and in his violin group played following intermission with Aaron Leifer at the piano. The accompanist played with crisply authoritative style and suave efficiency.

Violinist's Work Praised

Williams, who is head of the violin department at Southern Methodist university and who resumed his career after pursuing a course laid out by Uncle Sam for four years, is a top ranking musician. He gave a freshness in his interpretation of "The Flight of the Bumble Bee," Timsky-Korsakoff that has been the butt of Jack Benny's jokes for too long; lent magic to the fragile "Beau Soir" by Debussy-Heifetz and received such a spontaneous ovation for Bennett's "Jamaican Rhumba" that he repeated it, since he seemed to enjoy playing the light and fast composition as much as his audience enjoyed hearing it. The ever loved "Caprice Viennois" was played with perfect fidelity to composer Fritz Kreisler and his concluding number was Figaro from "The Barber of Seville," which he explained in order for his listeners to watch for the various takeoffs on the opera participants.

The ever loved "Ave Maria" (Schubert) was given as an encore and Williams took several bows, acknowledging the presence of the orchestra seated behind him.

Audience Applauds Program

Judging from the applause that greeted the orchestral numbers, the audience felt that the program was well presented in satisfying proportions. The stringed section was lifted into inspired heights in the moving "Children's Prayer" from Humperdinck's "Haensel and Gretel" and Tschaikowsky's "Humoresque" and Boccherini's "Minuet" were played in appealing fashion.

Three familiar selecttions greeted the audience following intermission: "March Militaire" (Schubert), "Come Back to Sorrento," an Italian folk song that embraced an appealing trumpet solo played by Ted Crager, with the melody echoed by the entreating violins and "Jealousy," a tango by Gade that may have inspired a tap or two of feet throughout the hall.

Concluding selection was a selection from the prize-winning musical comedy of the current Broadway theater, "Finian's Rainbow," with the musicians winding through the appealing melodies, best known of which is "How Are Things in Glocca Morra."

Fifth and final concert of the 1947-48 session will be given April 20, with Frances DeMond, mezzo-soprano, as guest star.

SERVICES NOT SET

ABERNATHY, March 9 (Special)—Funeral services for L. W. Wilson, 79, who died here Monday of a heart attack, had not been set tonight. The body is at Sanders Funeral home in Lubbock. Burial will be in Abernathy cemetery.

Schools To Close For Teachers' Meeting

Most Lubbock county public school students, both in city and rural schools, will be dismissed from classes Friday afternoon to allow teachers to attend sessions of the West Texas Teachers association that afternoon at Senior High school, it has been announced.

Classes at Dunbar school, whose teachers have a separate teachers association, will continue in session until regular dismissal time.

Some rural schools in the county may be dismissed for the entire day, it was announced, since teachers may have considerable distance to travel to reach Lubbock in time for the opening session of the association meeting at 1:30 p. m.

Teachers and school administrators from 27 counties in West Texas will attend the meeting. Some will come from as far away as Big Spring, Odessa and Midland.

Home Decoration Discussed At Girls Auxiliary Meeting

The Intermediate Girls Auxiliary of Parkdale Baptist church held its regular Tuesday night meeting last night in the home of Mrs. Pearl Anderson, 713 Ave. C, Mrs. C. M. Rapheal, sponsor, announced.

Theme of the program was "In My Home," with several girls giving talks on the decorating theme and home atmosphere in their respective homes.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to those present at the meeting. Attending, besides Mrs. Rapheal and Mrs. Anderson, were Dimple Ford, Betty Jane Voegeli, Fredda Anderson, Betty Jane Foster, La Rue Paul, Joy Manly and Patsy Jones.

Dewey Leads

O. Blood with 5,857 votes and Governor Charles M. Dale with 5,637.

Another Dewey man—state committee vice chairman Robert Upton—was third with 4,890.

Three Stassen men were bunched closely for the fourth seat: Former Congressman Foster Stearns with 4,070; Sulloway with 3, 912; and former national committeeman Robert Burroughs with 3,903.

Two Back Eisenhower

In the first district, a Stassen supporter was running second. If he held that pace, he would take one of the two district places.

Contrasting campaign methods were employed by the two rivals. Stassen made two tours through the state, the second only last week. Dewey relied largely on a veteran organization.

In spite of public claims of victory before the voting started, Stassen's backers privately agreed they would consider his showing impressive if he landed three delegates.

An effort to enter the name of General Dwight D. Eisenhower officially as a Republican presidential candidate was stamped out well ahead of primary day by a letter from the General disclaiming any desire to run.

Nevertheless two men pledged to him ran as candidates for delegate at large and another favorable to him in one of the districts. None of the three was among the early leaders in the tabulating.

slit over a window of his office.

At Ropesville, E. W. Boedeker, principal, said he had placed $194.45 in receipts in a filing cabinet, but said the return of the school's superintendent from Dallas would disclose definitely whether other funds had been deposited. Officials were inclined to believe, they said, that the loss would total $400.

At Meadow, the loss was reported by F. A. Wilson.

Officials were inclined to believe the same persons burglarized all places.

Stolen Cars Recovered

Two automobiles reported stolen in Lubbock have been recovered.

A 1947 Plymouth, owned by Harry Bryant of 2404 Twenty-first street, was found in the 2500 block of Twenty-seventh late Tuesday. The other, which belonged to Mrs. G. R. Saverance, of 2510 Twenty-fifth street, was recovered on Twenty-second street, police said. The speedometer showed that it had been driven six miles.

Other cases of theft were being investigated by police, and a fine had been assessed in another case of theft.

Menoras Flores, 28, a Mexican was charged with theft under $5, after some steel dyes were reported taken from H. V. Bigham & Sons Mfg. company, 343 Ave. H. The dyes were found in the possession of a junk dealer, and Flores was later identified as the person who had sold them to the dealer, according to police. Flores pleaded guilty to the charge, and was fined $25, records showed.

Theft of a red and white Rollfast bicycle from the K. Carter school, Sixth and Ave. Q, was reported yesterday by Mrs. Gerald Lokey, of 812 Ave. B.

Charles Morris, of 2219 Ave. H, told police that a white stove valued at $30 and weighing 300 pounds had been taken from the front of his store.

It is said that hot water baths are effective in relieving the pain of a black widow spider bite.

News Briefs

Lubbock Boys' club will have a full-length motion picture program tonight, starting at 7 o'clock, in the club building, 2323 Ave. K, Assistant Director Vernon L. Jackson has announced. The main feature will be "In Old Montana," starring Fred Scott. Second chapter of the current serial, "The Cultching Hand," will be shown, and a comedy, "Old Dog Tray," is included, Jackson said.

Six candidates were awarded the rank of page at a regular meeting of the Knights of Pythias last night in the Knights of Pythias hall, 1107 Ave. K. J. B. Patterson, chancellor commander, presided at the meeting, and Ralph Thompson was in charge of degree work.

Twenty-five nurses of the Lubbock Memorial Hospital Alumni association met last night in the hospital classroom, Miss Vada Page, secretary-treasurer of the association, announced. Following a buffet supper, plans were discussed for the association's homecoming celebration on May 29. Two visitors were present at the meeting.

Officials of the sheriff's department said that two more men, who were held in connection with a hit-run accident near the city March 2, had been released on bond yesterday. They were Herman McCarty, 26, of Shallowater, whose bond was set at $1,000 in Lubbock county in connection with the accident, and $500 bond in connection with a misdemeanor theft charge in Lynn county, and J. B. Fulcher, 24, of Sudan, who posted a $2,000 bond in Lubbock county. Fulcher had been charged with failure to stop and render aid, a felony. LeRoy Ostrander, 24, of 116 Ave. T, had also been released on $1,000 bond in Lubbock county, and $500 bond in Lynn county. All three of the men paid fines of $100 each and costs on a charge of appearing in a public place while intoxicated, records showed.

Jack Godfrey, of 114 Hub Homes, was given emergency treatment at Lubbock Memorial hospital, where he was taken in a Rix ambulance after suffering a heart attack about 11 o'clock. He later was dismissed from the hospital and returned to his home.

Condition of Mrs. Freelan W. Groce, of 1210 Ave. R, was reported "very satisfactory" last night, after she had undergone major surgery at St. Mary's hospital early yesterday afternoon.

Police held two men last night for investigation after ownership of a 1935 Ford sedan could not be established. The men were approached when officials observed the car without tail lights in the 2200 block of Broadway. The driver did not have an operators license or title papers to the auto.

Chas. A. Guy, editor of The Avalanche-Journal publications, discussed conditions in the U. S. and British Occupied zones of Germany, Vienna and Trieste Tuesday night at a community-wide gathering in the Lockney City auditorium.

Mr. Guy recently made a tour of the European occupied area in which U. S. and British forces are stationed. Sidney Reeves, superintendent of Lockney schools, introduced the speaker. The Lockney High school band presented several numbers during the program which was sponsored by the Lockney P-TA. Approximately 200 persons attended the discussion.

county liable for deaths at the hands of gangsters or racketeers as well as for deaths in a lynching as the bill now would do.

He would penalize peace officers who do not use "diligent efforts" to solve felonies. The bill does this in lynching cases.

He proposed that communities be liable for damages up to $10,000 for injuries or deaths in race riots. The bill would apply such a provision in lynchings.

Nationwide Strike Vote Set Among Sinclair Oil Workers

FORT WORTH, March 9 (AP)—A nationwide strike vote among 10,000 employes of the Sinclair Refining company was ordered today by O. A. Knight, president of the Oil Workers International union.

The order went out to local unions throughout the United States as a result of a breakdown in negotiations on a new contract last week in New York City.

Knight also wrote a letter to company officials, advising that the present working agreement will be terminated on July 1.

The call for a strike vote among Sinclair employes was the first definite move of the OWIU to enforce its demand made Feb. 9 for a general wage increase of 30 cents an hour to oil workers.

The wage policy committee of the OWIU made its 30-cent increase demand on Feb. 9 at the end of a meeting at the international headquarters in Fort Worth.

Before the cold front hit the city, the winds began a gradual shift from the southeast to the northeast late in the afternoon. This was followed by fog about 5:30 p. m.

Rest Of State Cooler

Low for the day Tuesday was 27, coldest reading in the state. The high was recorded at 1:30 o'clock when the mercury hit 49. Thereafter, the temperatures began a slow drop, hitting the fastest skid between 4:30 and 6:30 p. m.

Fog and mist shrouded a wide section of the South Plains with the area from Lockney to Plainview blanketed and lighter conditions from Plainview to Lubbock. Similar conditions prevailed over the rest of the area.

Elsewhere in the state, Texans could expect cloudy and slightly cooler weather today, the Associated Press reported from Dallas.

Occasional rain was predicted for the south and west portions of East Texas today and in the southeast portions tomorrow.

Pampa, in the Panhandle, recorded the lowest maximum temperature today, 30 degrees. Presidio in far southwest Texas was high with 81.

NEW BLAST OF WINTER SWEEPS MIDWEST SECTION

CHICAGO, March 9. (AP)— The door of North America's ice box swung open today and much of the Midwest shivered in the frigid draft.

A northwest "steer" in the upper air currents brought a blast of winter levels in the north sections of the Midwest.

Bemidji, Minn., had the nation's coldest reading of 32 below zero. Grand Forks, N. D., had -26. Temperatures were below zero above a line from northeastern Wisconsin across northern Iowa to central Wyoming.

Continued cold was forecast for much of the Midwest. Forecasters said the cold air flowing into the Midwest normally hovers above the northern ice and snow fields at this time of the year. The normal air flow into the Midwest in March is from the West.

The severe cold enveloped the upper Mississippi valley, the northern Plains states and the northern Rocky mountains. Temperatures also dipped below zero in northern New England.

Rain fell in a narrow band from South Texas to South Carolina.

Activation Of Reserve Very Heavy Bomb Group Is Planned

FORT WORTH, March 9 (AP)—Word was received here from Washington today that authorization has been given for the activation of an Air Force reserve very heavy bombardment group at Carswell Air Force base.

The unit, the 446th bomb group, is commanded by Col. Jack B. Jaynes of Fort Worth. He has been awaiting word of the group's activation since last July, but the congressional economy program resulted in no such action being taken by Air Force headquarters.

Group headquarters will be located at Carswell Air Force base here, as will two B-29 squadrons, the 704th and 705th. Two other B-29s squadrons, the 706th at El Paso and the 707th at Lubbock also are components.

A pursuit outfit, the 56th night fighter squadron, will be based at Waco and will be equipped with P-82 double Mustangs.

Lt. Col. S. C. Matula of Fort Worth will command the 704th squadron, Maj. Jack Murphy of Fort Worth the 705th, Lt. Col. Robert De Bord of El Paso the 706th, Lt. Col. R. C. Johnston of Lubbock the 707th and Maj. Clinton Breeding of Waco the 56th.

Two U. S. Officials And Wives Released From Russian Zone

NUERNBERG, Germany, March 9 (AP)—Two American officials and their wives, held for 27 hours by Russian troops in the Soviet occupation zone of Germany, returned safely today to Nuernberg.

The officials are Howard H. Russell of Baltimore, Md., chief of the administrative division of the U. S. war crimes prosecution staff, and Virgil Van Street, of Cantonsville, Md., a member of the I. G. Farben prosecution staff.

Both said that at no time were they mistreated by the Russians. The language barrier presented their only problem, they added. The two couples visited the Leipzig fair last week. American authorities began inquiries when they failed to return at the expected time.

HST TO RECEIVE DEGREE

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—President Truman today accepted an invitation to visit William and Mary college, Williamsburg, Va., and receive an honorary degree April 2.

BIRTH ANNOUNCED

Mrs. A. G. Swanson, 3304 Twenty-first, received word Tuesday of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burton Crossin of Dallas. Mrs. Crossin, the former Gloria Sciance of Lubbock, is Mrs. Swanson's daughter.

State GOP Group Fights Unit Rule

DALLAS, March 9 (AP)—George C. Hopkins of Dallas, state Republican chairman, said today that Dewey and Stassen forces "will firmly oppose the unit rule" for the Texas delegation to the Republican national convention.

A unit rule forces a national convention delegation to cast its entire vote for a single candidate.

Hopkins is leader of the Dewey campaign in Texas. He said in response to a query that there had been "preliminary discussion between Dewey promoters and Stassen promoters in Texas for the purpose of considering the protection of their mutual rights and intrests in our state convention at Corpus Christi May 25."

Conference Reported

"These discussions have been prompted by reports that all Dewey and Stassen delegates will be steam-rollered at Corpus Christi. There is a deep feeling of resentment," Hopkins said.

He would not be more specific about the discussions.

(The Dallas News says that Dewey and Stassen supporters fear that those who want Senator Robert A. Taft for Republican presidential nominee may control the state convention.

(It says a conference already has been held between Hopkins and Jack Slemp of Amarillo, Stassen leader.

Director Appointed

(The paper says that the Dewey and Stassen forces believe that Republican national committeeman, R. B. Creager of Brownsville, will plug for the unit rule. Creager is a Taft supporter.)

Hopkins said that Hobart K. McDowell of San Angelo had accepted appointment as director of organization for the Texas Dewey-for-president club.

McDowell is a member of the GOP state committee, and is former director of organization for the party in Texas. He expects to come to Dallas soon to take charge of the Dewey drive.

civil rights stand, which threatens to rip the party in two, should be settled within the party, Talbot said. He counseled that a bolt would help the Republicans and Henry Wallace.

Talbot said he would regret abandoning Mr. Truman, but "I don't see how he can or will back down on civil rights."

Stassen said in a statement at Minneapolis that he commends MacArthur "for his forthright statement on his position." He said he has a high regard for the general.

Return To U. S. Talked

The exuberance among MacArthur forces produced immediate talk of bringing him back from Tokyo. Wright said "it might be well to bring him back."

Another MacArthur man, Rep Miller (R-Neb), said he knew for sure that MacArthur would return if Congress asks him to testify about Japan. He did not say where he got his information.

Wright told reporters that the 68-year-old five star general already has about 50 delegates for the Republican nomination. He said he will receive some domestic support, indicating it would come from the South.

In Boston, Joseph B. Ely, twice a Democratic governor of Massachusetts, issued a statement praising MacArthur as a true American—vigorous, forthright and persuasive." He previously had proposed the general for President.

A Republican senator, Capehart of Indiana, told a reporter MacArthur's candidacy will "prove most interesting to the American people." He lauded MacArthur as a general and administrator.

U. S. Cautious In Discussing South American Oil Supplies

WASHINGTON, March 9. (AP)—Rep. Short (R-Mo) said today the State department is backing down on a promise to push oil exploration in South America.

He told a reporter the department has decided not to insist on a discussion of oil supply problems at the Inter-American economic conference in Bogota, Colombia, late this month.

Short is chairman of a House armed services subcommittee studying world oil supplies. He said he had asked that hemispheric self-sufficiency in oil be a major topic at the conference.

Jury Finds Former Soldier Guilty Of Taking Atom Photos

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 9 (AP)—A U. S. district court jury tonight found Ernest L. Paporello guilty on two counts of stealing six secret photographs from the atomic energy project at Los Alamos, N. M.

The two charges accuse the former Army photographer of taking the pictures and removing them from the government reservation.

The jury deliberated less than two hours.

Judge Bower Broadus will sentence Paporello Thursday. The 29-year-old defendant formerly lived in Union City, N. J.

The judge immediately began trial of another former army photographer, George W. Thompson, charged with stealing secret photos from Los Alamos and the special weapons project at Sandia base near Albuquerque. Thompson, formerly of Greenwood, Mo., has been living at Espanola, N. M.

Thomas Questioned In Death Of Fort Worth Man And Released

Jim Thomas, 53-year-old ex-convict, was questioned two hours Monday and released in connection with the slaying of Lon Holley, Fort Worth cafe and liquor store owner.

Holley was found shot to death Sunday. His body was in the front seat of his automobile, parked in the driveway of a partially built house near Lake Worth.

District Attorney Al Clyde stated that "Holley knew too much. Someone was afraid he would talk when he came to trial." Holley was to have gone on trial Thursday in connection with a series of robberies.

Surrenders Voluntarily

Thomas, who has stood trial three times in connection with the Littlefield slaying of Dr. Roy Hunt and his wife two years ago, surrendered to detectives after his attorney told police where he might be found. He was sentenced twice to the electric chair and once to life imprisonment for the Hunt murders, but in all three cases a higher court reversed the decisions.

"I surrendered because I heard police wanted to question me," Thomas told newspaper reporters. "I want to remove any suspicions concerning me—I have to live here."

He said that he had not seen Holley "in months, and I barely knew him at that."

Cases Not Linked

During the questioning at police headquarters, where he was brought shortly after another man was released after supplying an alibi, Thomas said he was en route to another city with his son at the time Holley was reported killed.

Police were said to have learned that Holley had valuable information on the recent $16,000 bank robbery at Rosebud, Tex., and he was said to have given some information to prosecutors in the Littlefield slaying of Dr. Hunt and his wife.

Contacted by the Avalanche Journal last night, District Attorney Harold La Font of Plainview, who prosecuted the Hunt murder trials, said that he knew of no information given by Holley recently in connection with the murders. He said that some information possibly may have been given to officers previously, but that he knew of none personally. The Hunt murders are still under investigation, he stated.

SCOUT OFFICIAL RESIGNS—Resignation of O. K. Reynolds, above, of Plainview, field scout executive of the South Plains area, to accept a similar position with the Sam Houston council at Houston was announced Tuesday by W. R. Postma, executive of the council. Reynolds has served the area comprising Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Hale, Floyd and Crosby counties of the South Plains council the past six years. He has been active in the Church of Christ, Lions club and Junior Chamber of Commerce. He and his family will leave shortly for Conroe, where they will make their home.

Brief Bits Of Local News

The National Rehabilitation conference being sponsored in Washington, D. C., by the American Legion is being attended by George Berry, of Lubbock, commander of the Texas department of the American Legion, who left Monday by airplane. The conference will continue through Friday.

Tickets to "Alice in Wonderland," musical production to be offered Thursday afternoon and night in Senior High school auditorium, are on sale in advance in principal's offices in the public schools and also will be on sale at the box office at the high school before the performances, which will open at 4 p. m. and 8 p. m. Prices are 60 cents for children, and school pupils and $1.20 for adults, including tax. The play performances will be presented by Penthouse Productions of New York, under auspices of the Lubbock Association for Childhood Education. Different characters in "Alice in Wonderland" will appear on the stage. Roles of animals will be taken by dwarfs.

James Thomas Herod, 10-year-old son of Mrs. Stella M. Herod, 2817 North Second, was admitted to Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children in Dallas for treatment on Monday, March 1. The Scottish Rite Hospital, which is supported by individual contributions, offers the best possible medical care and attention free to Texas crippled children who are accepted for treatment.

Lubbock men enlisting in the Navy the last week in February and first week in March through Lubbock Navy Recruiting office were Leroy Gerald Smith, jr., of 2305 Ninth, who was enlisted Feb. 25; Melburn Clay Havenhill, 2608 Washington, Feb. 26; James David Welch, 2304 Sixth, and Jerry Allen Coker, 2208 Sixth, who were enlisted March 3. All will take recruit training at San Diego, Calif. Upon completion, the three will enter a Navy trade school under the Navy's high school program. Havenhill will enter electronic technician materiel school and Welch and Coker will enter radar school. Those schools will last up to 42 weeks. Anyone with a high school education and no prior service may enlist in the Navy and choose his school before enlisting if he wishes. Further information may be obtained at the Navy recruiting station, room 206 postoffice building.

A county court jury of which L. D. Morgan was foreman returned a verdict of innocent Tuesday afternoon in the case of J. W. Graves, 37, who had been charged Jan. 24 with drunk driving. The jury deliberated approximately 15 minutes. Graves was represented by the law firm of Burks and McNeil.

The Central Baptist church, 1311 Eighteenth street, will conduct a singspiration service for the youth of the church at 8 o'clock tonight, Rev. Jeff D. Welch, pastor, has announced. The service will also be the beginning of the youth choir rehearsals for an Easter program. The rehearsals are to be held each Wednesday night until Easter.

Judgment in damages, for 401 weeks at the rate of 60 per cent of his weekly earnings last year, was asked in a suit of Frank Mims against Associated Employers Lloyds, filed Tuesday in the 72nd district court of Judge Dan Blair. Mims, declaring he was injured Sept. 9 when in scope of employment as a compress company worker, also asked that a Feb. 12 award of the state Industrial Accident board be set aside. The suit was filed by the firm of Dillard, Cooke and Dillard.

The Home Decorators class met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Addis Charless, 2431 Twentieth, with Peggy Fisher instructing on the topic of "Window Treatment in the Home." The next meeting, scheduled for March 15 in annex G on Tech campus, will feature discussion of "Textile Designing" by Miss Martha Lively and Miss Dorothy Nelson.

Ku Klux Klan Claims Membership Increase Because Of Dispute Raging On Civil Rights

ATLANTA, March 9 (AP)—The Ku Klux Klan claims an increase in membership due to the civil rights issue raging in and out of Congress and through the South.

The hooded and robed order has stepped up its activities. A new pamphlet says it is ready for a period of "constructive planning and activity."

Spokesmen deny any Klan connection with some activities charged against the group. But they advertised widely in advance a recent parade in Swainsboro, Ga., and another in Wrightsville, Ga., on the eve of a county primary election.

In both instances crosses were burned on the courthouse lawns after from 200 to 300 hooded and robed Klansmen paraded around the square. Leaders said the KKK had gathered to rededicate itself to maintenance of southern traditions, including segregation of races.

At Wrightsville, Dr. Samuel Green, Atlanta physician and grand dragon of the Georgia Klan, told the crowd "we want to see the negro treated fairly. But whenever the negro takes his place at the side of white men through the force of federal bayonets, blood will flow in the streets of the South."

There have been other cross burnings and public Klan assemblies, but Green disclaims Klan connection with the suspension of a high school athletic coach at Lakeview, Ga. Walter Bowland, the coach, said the Klan warned him to get out of town, after a fight with a former student.

On politics, the pamphlet says the difference between the national parties now is "tweedledum and tweedledee. . . . As the matter now stands we must cast our ballots for the right as it is most nearly represented and championed by men, regardless of party.

The pamphlet lists Klan ideals as: A white man's organization: an American, Protestant, gentile organization.

It says the order stands for development of the "highest standards" of citizenship; "rightful" use of the ballot, enforcement of law by regularly constituted authorities and teaching citizens that their first allegiance is to the United States."

On racial ideals, it states founders of the republic "never intended that it should fall into the hands of an inferior race."

Chinese Finds Bank Account Deflated--He Lands In Jail

VICTORIA, B. C., March 9 (AP)—Lee You Wah's grandiose idea of wealth led him today to oriental contemplation of the pitfalls of banking.

He was in jail.

Police Chief John Blackstock said the 50-year-old Chinese greenhouse operator scrawled and $8,000,000 credit into his bank book and attempted to cash a $1,000 check yesterday.

He is in jail on a charge of intent to cause grevious bodily harm, following a shooting affray in the main branch of the Royal Bank of Canada here. Bank teller Arthur P. Newell was wounded.

Police said the Chinese fired one shot from a .22 caliber rifle. Then he was overpowered.

Lee's deposit in the bank actually totals $2.15.

The police chief said the Chinese would be given a mental examination.

FIRE CAUSES HEAVY DAMAGE

WINTERS, March 9 (AP)—Fire destroyed one of the buildings of the C. L. Green grain mill today with damage estimated by Green at $50,000 to $75,000. Three trucks were driven from the flaming structure by employes. A strong northeast wind was credited with saving the main mill building and the grain elevator. The cause of the fire was not determined.

The Washington Monument was started in 1833 but not opened to the public until 1885.

House Group Levels Guns At Bureau Of Internal Revenue

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—The internal revenue bureau came under sharp fire of the House Appropriations committee today. The committee said the political patronage system of picking federal tax collectors should be abolished.

The recomendation was made in a bill providing funds for the treasury and postoffice departments for the year starting July 1.

But the committe made only a 1.7 percent cut in the $2,017,626,200 President Truman had asked for the two departments. It proposed a total of $1,981,722,350.

Of this, the treasury would receive $290,453,100, or a 5.6 percent cut, and the postoffice $1,691,269,250, or a 1.1 percent reduction.

The committee leveled most of its fire at the internal revenue bureau. It made public its own investigators' reports complaining of inefficiency and citing a case where no action was taken to prosecute an individual alleged to owe $804,000 in taxes and penalties. The person was not named.

Example Of Thrift Sent From Scotland

SPOKANE, March 9 (AP)—County Treasurer Joe A. Stewart found an example of thrift in his mail today. It came from Scotland.

It was a check for $2.29 written on the royal Bank of Scotland by A. M. Coyle of Duncraggan, Newport fife, who owns a vacant lot in Spokane.

The check arrived in time to save Coyle a seven-cent rebate on his property taxes.

Harrison County Women Score Church Group's Stand On Rights

MARSHALL, March 9 (AP)—A meeting of 400 Harrison county women last night passed a resolution condemning action March 3 at Dallas of the Texas Council of Church Women in endorsing President Truman's civil rights program.

Miss Laura Powell, Marshall club woman, was elected chairman, and Mrs. Georgie Starr Hart member of the State Democratic executive committee, presented the resolution by which the women did "condemn and deplore" the Dallas action because, "to do so definitely places the church in politics."

The resolution further called on Texas women "to band together unitedly against the pernicious idea of using the church in politics."

Union Workers Return To Work On Oklahoma Dam After Dispute

MUSKOGEE, Okla., March 9 (U.P.)—Work was resumed today on the $32,000,000 Fort Gibson dam, despite a strike of operating engineers whose union president had been fired and charged with hitting a superintendent with a wrench.

Forty engineers, who operate cranes and other heavy equipment, walked off the job yesterday when they learned the head of their AFL union, E. L. "Pete" Cook, had been fired for allegedly striking David Bremberg, steel superintendent, Sunday morning.

All work was stopped at the first outbreak of the strike, but today more than 300 members of other unions returned to their jobs, under instructions from their organizations.

CENSUS IS TAKEN

PHARR, March 9 (AP)—The city commissioners announced today completion of an official census showing 9,340 residents, including 7,768 Latin-American and 1,572 Anglo-Americans. The count represents a net gain of 4,000 since 1940.

Connally Urges State Ownership Of Land

Lubbock, Texas, Wednesday, March 10, 1948

Wheeler Scores New Legislation

WASHINGTON, March 9. (AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tex) today urged passage of legislation to give the states ownership of the oil-rich tidelands.

Connally told the joint Senate-House Judiciary subcommittee considering the bill that the Supreme court's decision last year that California does not own the lands off its coast is not final.

He said he does not consider it improper for Congress to act because the Supreme court has had "one guess" on the proposition.

Wheeler Against Bill

Connally asserted the Supreme court did not specifically state that the federal government owns the California tidelands, but ruled that the United States has "paramount rights" in the three-mile costal belt.

The Texas senator said Congress has already acted to confirm state ownership of Texas costal lands. The joint resolution by which Congress admitted Texas to the union specifically states that Texas remains the owner of all its public lands, he argued.

Earlier, former Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.) opposed the pending bill. He said the "big oil companies" will gain from its enactment, and also from the enactment of the bill proposed by the Interior and Justice departments to provide for federal leasing on tideland oil properties.

Charges Discrimination

Oil companies stand to gain, he said, no matter whether Congress passes a bill giving the states ownership of an administration bill providing for federal leasing of the land.

Wheeler testified at the start of the 14th day of a hearing before a Senate-House judiciary subcommittee on a bill backed by most states to surrender federal ownership of all submerged lands within state boundries.

"The government bill is just as favorable to the oil companies as this bill," Wheeler said. "The government bill is entirely in favor of the big oil companies as against the little fellows who got out prospecting for oil."

Wheeler, now a Washington attorney, has filed a suit in federal district court here in behalf of several applicants for federal leases. He contends in the suit that the mineral leasing act of 1920 is applicable to the tidelands.

He contended the supreme court's decision last year in the California case did not constitute a threat to state ownership of inland submerged lands.

Speaking of the inland state attorneys general, he said "their objective is to procure nullification of the tidelands decision by legislation quitclaiming the marginal sea to California."

Girl Claimed By Gas Poisoning

MULESHOE, March 9 (Special)—Funeral services for Ida Mae Rogers, 16-year-old Portales, N.M., girl whose body was discovered late Monday in a bedroom filled with carbon monoxide gas from a burning stove, four miles northeast of Muleshoe, will be held at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Longs, south and east of Portales.

Mary Grubbs, 16, also of Portales, who was found in the same carbon monoxide filled room, remained in critical condition in Green hospital here. Hospital authorities stated that she was still unconscious tonight, her body in a rigid condition, and that she had contracted pneumonia of both right and left lungs.

Were Visiting In Home

The two were discovered late Monday afternoon in bed at the Joe Ferris home, by Ferris and a brother-in-law, a Mr. Weeks.

Time of Miss Rogers' death was not known definitely, since the girls had gone to bed early Sunday, officials said.

Dep. Sheriff Joe D. Vaughn of Muleshoe, as well as parents of the girls, said the girls came here Friday to visit with Mrs. Ferris, who before her recent marriage lived at Portales and was a close friend of the two girls.

Decided To Wait

Mr. and Mrs. Ferris and Weeks were not at home. They had gone to Hot Springs, N. M.

The girls went in and decided to wait for the Ferrises. On Saturday night, accompanied by two Muleshoe youths, they went to a dance and returned to the residence about 2:30 a. m. Sunday.

They cooked breakfast, ate and went to bed.

They did not turn out a butane stove in their bedroom.

When the Ferrises and Weeks returned and discovered them, the room was "like an oven," Vaughn said.

The girls were taken to the hospital about 6:30 p. m Monday. Their parents came to Muleshoe soon after notification.

Miss Rogers is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Rogers of Portales; a brother and five sisters. Mary Grubbs is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Grubbs, also of Portales.

Capt. Larsen Asks Action On Problem

Need For Hospital Facilities Is Cited

Delivering a fiery talk at the Lubbock Lions club luncheon at Hilton hotel Tuesday noon, Capt. Vincel Larsen, Salvation Army commander in Lubbock, said Lubbock's No. 1 problem is hospital and medical care for indigent people and "unless tax-exempt hospitals posing as charity institutions accept the responsibility of providing for these cases, the people should go to the ballot box and vote bonds for a city-county hospital."

"These institutions must either be forced to accept the responsibility of charity cases or be relieved of their taxation exemption and made to compete with the other hospital on a open business-like basis," Capt. Larsen declared.

Throughout his talk, which he prefaced with the statement that "Lubbock has grown tremendously in the past 10 years without increasing its hospital facilities," Capt. Larsen cited what he said were insurance company figures on the cost of hospitalization in Lubbock.

"Hospital No. 1, (West Texas), which pays approximately $10,000 in taxes to the city and county annually, is listed in the insurance records as having a cost of $14.05 per patient," Larsen said. "Hospital No. 2 (Lubbock Memorial), which is tax-exempt, is listed with a $16.56 cost. "And when I talked to the business manager this hospital, he claimed they lost 29 cents per day on each case.

"Hospital No. 3, (St. Mary's), which is also tax-free, is listed with a cost of $18.37," Larsen said.

He said the state average for insurance hospitalization costs was $14.30 per patient.

Larsen charged, too, that his efforts to get charity cases into tax-exempt hospitals frequently ran into statements that there was no room available. He cited several individual cases which he said came out of his own personal experiences.

He also rapped some collection methods which he said "the hospitals practice in trying to keep people in the hospitals until their bills are paid."

These tax-exempt institutions have the nerve to say to me, "Well, why don't you get the county to pay the bill?" Capt. Larsen continued. "Let me say right here, gentlemen, and I have no fight to pick with the county or city officials; that they're not going to do anything until they are forced to . . . not until the people of Lubbock by their votes order them to do something about the situation."

"But I believe that instead of building a city-county hospital, it would be better for the city and county to pay for use of the facilities we now have . . . We could save more money in view of all the problems connected with a

Horticultural Group Holds Meeting Here

Explanation of a lawn fertilizing project and a demonstration of soil testing procedures highlighted a monthly meeting of the Lubbock Horticultural club held in the agriculture building at Texas Technological college Monday night.

Three vocational agriculture students, under direction of N. J. Robnett of Lubbock High school, presented an explanation of the lawn fertilizing project which they are carrying on as a part of their training in vocational agriculture. Following their talk, Robnett addressed the club members briefly on the project.

The second phase of the program consisted of a demonstration of soil testing procedures and an explanation of the limitations of those procedures, by Dr. A. W. Young, head of the plant industry department at the college.

The horticultural club was organized in September for the purpose of providing an opportunity for men of Lubbock interested in the growing of trees, plants and shrubs to meet and discuss mutual problems and exchange information, Dr. Yocum, professor of plant industry at Texas Tech and president of the organization, said.

Approximately 30 members were present at the meeting. At the April meeting hydroponics, the soilless growth of plants will be discussed, Dr. Yocum stated.

Agronomy Farm Planned At Tech

Leveling of 160 acres out of native sod on the Texas Technological farm was begun Tuesday for the purpose of establishing an agronomy farm for the study of a series of long-range crop rotations and soil treatments, according to Dr. A. W. Young, head of the plant industry department at the college.

Plans call for the development of two irrigated rotations and a plot of 40 acres to be terraced for the carrying out of a dry land rotation, Dr. Young said.

To Include Alfalfa

The first irrigated area will include alfalfa and extend over a period of 12 years with the rotation of crops in the following order: Alfalfa, cotton, grain sorghums, small grain, then back to alfalfa.

The second irrigated area will be used for the rotation of cotton, grain sorghums, small grain, a clover crop, then back to cotton and will extend over a four year period.

The dry land plot will be used to rotate cotton, grain sorghums, small grains and fallowed land.

Intensive Study Planned

The 40 acres will be divided into five plots of eight acres each with the crop on each being different and managed in such a way that each lot will grow the same crop and lie fallow for two years in succession. On the dry farm an effort will be made to determine the chemical changes in fertility on each lot during the rotation and this information will be used for experimentation and class work.

"We will fertilize the irrigated areas but not the dry land farm due to the fact that since water limits the growth of plants, no advantage could be gained from fertilizing dry land," Dr. Young said.

The type of irrigation system to be used has not been decided upon pending receipt of further information on the various systems, the professor stated.

Vets To Get 'Pay Boost'

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 9 — The government pay envelope is going to be thicker come May 1 for many veterans going to school under the G.I. Bill of Rights, but there's a big "if."

They'll be thicker if the veteran is a full-time student—that is, if he's attending classes 25 hours a week by the clock, or taking 15 semester hours, as many colleges figure it.

Those taking less classroom instruction will have to get along with the same monthly check they're getting at present.

Part-Time Students

They're part-time students, in the eyes of Uncle Sam, and the theory is that they can earn money for themselves on the side.

Full-time students, on the other hand, are supposed to have their hands full just going to school. And so:

A man with no dependents will get $75 a month instead of the present $65.

A man with one dependent will get $105 a month and a man with more than one dependent will get $120 a month.

The present payment is $90 a month for a man with one or more dependents.

Take Effect April 1

Congress okayed these increases to take effect April 1 but the actual checks won't go out until a month after that.

One result of the upgrading probably will be an increase in the number of full-time students.

More money is practically assured for on-the-job trainees, too, although Congress hasn't quite finished dotting the I's and crossing the T's.

Here, as in the case of students, the idea is that the cost of living has gone up and so allowances should go up.

Until Congress acts finally, however, job-trainees will get the same government allowance they're getting now.

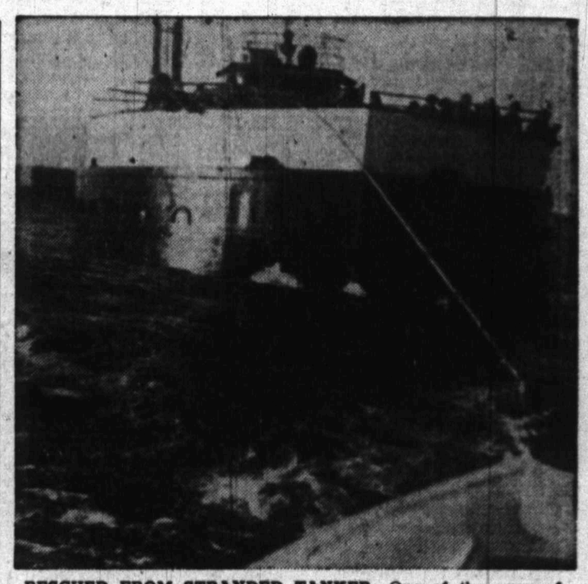

And part-time students don't get a raise at all—unless Congress at some future time provides one.

NTSTC Students Will Present Opera At High School Tonight

With three performances of Verdi's opera "Rigoletto" to its credit, the North Texas State Teachers college opera workshop will appear at Lubbock Senior High school auditorium tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

The presentation in Wichita Falls Monday night was described as a magnificent performance on a professional basis by Mrs. O. J. Dibzun, head of the music department at Hardin college in that city. Mrs. Wallace Glover, president of Allegro Music club which is bringing the opera to Lubbock, talked to Mrs. Dibzun about the performance Tuesday afternoon.

LOUISE McLANE

Soprano's Work Praised

The Wichita Falls woman stated that the presentation of the opera exceeded her greatest hopes with regard to beauty and finesse. Her report of Louise McLane of Tyler, a lyric soprano, who sings the part of Gilda, commended her as being highly absorbed in her presentation.

"She is an emotional artist and is comparable to any Metropolitan artist who has sung the part," said Mrs. Dibzun.

About Marvin Solley of Louisville, Ky., who sings Rigoletto, she stated, "He sings his part with extreme dramatic feeling." Ira Schantz of Lubbock who appears as the Duke of Mantua greatly impressed the audience with the beautiful effect of his high soft notes, according to the Hardin college department head. "He was an outstanding vocal success," she said.

Professional Costumes Used

"Even though the opera was sung by student voices, it was an emotional success," reported Mrs. Dibzun. Costumes worn by the

WHY KEEP IT?

"College" Outmoded

WHILE the method of electing presidents of the United States as embodied in a constitutional amendment proposed by Rep. Ed Gossett, of Wichita Falls, would be an improvement over the present system, it still would preserve the totally useless Electoral college.

Under Mr. Gossett's plan, which has been recommended by a House Judiciary subcommittee, the electoral votes of individual states would be divided in proportion to the popular votes. This would be a strong guarantee of the application of democratic processes in the selection of the nation's highest officials.

Under the present system, the party which receives any sort of plurality, no matter how small, in any state gets all the electoral votes in that state. Under this system a candidate might receive a landslide popular majority, and still lose in the Electoral college. On two occasions, minority candidates in the popular balloting actually have been elected President. They were Rutherford B. Hayes over Samuel J. Tilden in 1876, and Benjamin Harrison over Grover Cleveland in 1888.

Mr. Gossett's plan would be better if it proposed to dispense with the Electoral college entirely. The preferences as expressed at the election should be sufficient without going further. The Electoral college is completely useless as an appendage of government and there is no reason why it should be continued.

"Easy Pickin's!"

IT would seem to the average American that no member of Congress need have any trouble deciding how to vote on an international issue.

If the Russians are against it, it's certain to be best for us and the balance of the free world!

Not All Done Yet

THE expedition headed by Milton Reynolds, of Chicago, to measure a mountain peak which may be higher than Mount Everest, emphasizes that there still is a great deal upon the earth remaining to be discovered.

Actually, the best available evidence seems to be against the possibility that Amne Machin peak, object of the expedition, is higher than 29,002-foot Everest. The prevailing opinion of geographers is that Amne Machin will be shown to be around 25,000 feet. But no one pretends to know definitely.

Some estimates by airplane pilots and others who have observed the peak are that it is upward of 35,000 feet in altitude. Some of these opinions are that several peaks in the vicinity of Amne Machin are taller than any previously measured. Unquestionably, there are lofty elevations in a stupendous mountain chain which were wholly unknown to civilized men until a few years ago.

This fact is a reminder that no great land mass upon the earth has been explored completely. This applies to Europe, to the United States, to all continents and a great many islands.

There still are enough blank spots upon the map of the world to tempt those who might want to go exploring. Geographers are of the opinion that important discoveries still will be possible a century or more in the future.

Another unmitigated bore is the toastmaster who, after beating his gums for some 10 minutes in making an introduction, says, "Without further ado, I now present Mr. Windjammer."

Whee! The People!

Murder At My House

By Rene Ryerson Mart
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

XXVIII

MARIE was quite—quite dead. No doubt of it. No living person ever lay like that, so utterly relaxed and yet so awkward. Beneath its paint her face was a pasty gray color.

I knelt down at last and looked at her without touching her, and I saw that her blue eyes were wide open and their pupils were wide and black. And I remembered Jeff Haverson saying that the dilated pupils of Art and Avis were one of the things that had tipped the police off to murder in the first place. It meant that Marie had been poisoned, too.

Marie had been poisoned while I lay taking a sun bath in the patio just outside the windows of her room, and with a policeman still on guard out front somewhere. With no one else around. No one!

I could see myself trying to explain this to Bob Leiphan. Or to anyone else for that matter.

My thoughts began to buzz like angry bees whose hive has been molested. There had to be some connection between Marie's death and that of Avis and Art . . . had to be! Death by poison doesn't just begin to happen accidentally and indiscriminately. There had been no visitors at the house all morning except Jeff Haverson. Only Jeff Haverson. I let that fact sink into my mind. Jeff, one of the suspects in the original murders, had been there in my house that morning.

He must have put the poison into something while he was there. Something that Marie Maloney had eaten or drank later. My heart skipped a beat—and I went on relentlessly to the logical conclusion of that line of thought. If Jeff had put poison into something while he was there that morning, he was also the one who had poisoned Avis and Art, and regardless of his alibi to Leiphan he must have been the one who had made the attack in the dark on me. Marie Maloney had died by accident. The poison that killed her was meant for me.

I TIPTOED out of the room where Marie Maloney lay and closed the door behind me, I went back to the kitchen and to the icebox. I looked at the leftovers of food. There were only those things which I had had for luncheon and I had eaten some of all of them—the tomato bouillon, baked chicken loaf, escalloped potatoes and a jello dessert. So the food could not have been poisoned.

That stopped me for a moment. I wracked my brain. There was the liquor upstairs. Remembering Marie's habit of tippling, that suddenly seemed the most probable solution. Jeff had slipped the poison into some of the liquor in the bar upstairs while he was alone in the living room that morning waiting for Marie to announce his arrival to me.

I went up to the living room and over to the bar. I tried to open it. It was locked. And the key was still in my purse where I had put it the afternoon before when I had come home and had found that Marie had been drinking.

My tidy little solution collapsed; my grand theory vanished like a bursted balloon.

There seemed to be nothing left except to call the policeman in, show him Marie's body, and let him arrest me as the only possible suspect.

No—not that—not yet.

I went back to the room where Marie's body lay. I looked around—there must be some clue there, something to show how she had been poisoned I looked at the two suitcases lying on the bed. They were both fully packed. I unfastened them and tumbled their contents out on the bed—looking for I didn't know what. There were lacy silken underthings and stacks of nylon hose and fancy nightgowns. From the expensive look of most of them, I began to suspect that Marie had had a taste for other people's personal belongings as well as their liquor. She must have done quite a bit of appropriating while she was with Avis.

I LOOKED at the dressing table. A black satin evening bag lay there—I remembered it as the one Avis had carried the night she died. I supposed the police had returned it to Avis' apartment to b put with her other things and Marie had taken a fancy to it, too. Toilet articles were still scattered on the dressing table as if Marie had waited to pack them until after she was dressed. More of Avis' things, I thought—bottles of perfume and expensive face powder and huge jars of creams, and it was then I saw IT. It was still open where Marie had used it, and I knew it from the monogram on the top—an "A" set with small rubies and chip diamonds.

I picked it up and held it in my hand and looked at it and knew how three people had died. One of them by intent—and two by accident. That was the most tragic part of it. Two had died by sheerest accident.

Yes, I knew how three people had died, and why the attempt on my own life had been made. Knew, too, with a sudden paralyzing fear, that I was still in danger.

I knew how they had died, but I didn't know why. The motive—the motive. I thought wildly. There had to be a motive for a crime of this sort—a deep, passionate, driving motive.

I stood there with the dead woman at my feet and the beautiful weapon in my hand and thought harder than I ever had in my life.

A lot of things were swimming up out of the depths of my mind. Half-remembered incidents. Small disconnected details. Things that had happened at the studio that last day before Avis died.

They all made a pattern now—a weird, ugly, twisted pattern. But a pattern.

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

I DON'T like to get into arguments with fellow columnists. There are lots of things they write that I don't like and I am sure that much of my stuff displeases them just as much.

So we writing fellows usually do the smart thing—ignore one another.

But today I read something in a column that really irritated me.

BRANDEIS

Never mind the name of the column or of the columnist. I generally like his stuff very much and admire the writer.

But today he did a most facetious article about the wedding of what he calls the "neon scion Winthrop" and his bride "the Lithuanian lollipop who was living in a walk-up tenement on Third Avenue."

He makes much of the fact that she was born on what he calls "the wrong side of the tracks."

Now all that is catty and mean.

I hold no particular brief for Winthrop Rockefeller. Personally I wish he would reduce the price of gasoline and oil of which I buy enough to contribute quite a bit to the prosperity of his family.

But he is not a "Neon scion." He is a hard-working, decent, modest young American who has never done anything that would make even a workingman father ashamed of his son.

And what does my fellow columnist mean by "the wrong side of the track?"

What is the wrong side of the track?

Who are the people that live on the wrong side of the track?

Hundreds of the most prominent people in America came from "the wrong side of the track."

(Not to mention the fact that the columnist of whom I speak is himself a "wrong-side-of-the-track" product but has, nevertheless done mighty well by himself."

The wrong side of the track, in my opinion, is the side of the track that produces the wrong kind of people.

* * *

PLAYBOYS, idlers, chiselers, fourflushers, show-offs, those are the wrong-side-of-the-track people even if they are worth millions and if their names appear in every Society Register in the country.

Winthrop Rockefeller's bride is the daughter of honest, working folks who, according to all records, have never earned a dishonest dollar.

In America there is no wrong side of the track.

But when a train gets derailed both sides of the tracks are the wrong sides.

It's not the sides of the track but the track itself that matters.

GROWERS FACE LOSSES

Apple Cart Is Upset

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—"Operation Applesauce" is the ironic description which Senator A. Willis Robertson's Virginia apple growers now apply to foreign trade in one of the Old Dominion's most profitable products. Several old-established firms stand to lose several hundred thousand dollars because of frozen dollars and price controls in Sweden, England and other countries abroad.

Although hundreds of American exporters dealing in other commodities suffer from the same tragic-comic difficulties, the Virginia producers believe that their plight provides a dramatic lesson in what happens to private commerce when the United States or any other government finds it necessary to interfere with ordinary transactions.

TUCKER

The incident serves to explain why Senator Robertson and Senator Harry F. Byrd, one of the nation's largest apple growers, are so violently opposed to President Truman's demand for a return to rationing and price-fixing. Here are the details of the story which they do not find at all amusing:

CEILING: Several months ago, the Virginia planters were encouraged by the State and Agriculture departments to prepare shipments of York apples for export to Sweden where this particular brand is especially popular. The fruit had to be packed in barrels for the overseas haul, and in such a way that it put the exporters to unusual expense.

After the apples were wrapped up in accord with detailed instructions, Sweden froze her supply of dollars. Our State Department intervened, however, and $500,000 was frozen for financing the Virginia deal. Everything seemed in "apple pie' shape until Stockholm applied price ceilings to this commodity.

Virginia growers were about to haul their product to the nearest railroad or port when Sweden found it necessary to install the price-fixing system. They placed the maximum retail figure on the Virginia York apple at such a low ceiling that Swedish dealers could not handle them profitably. Due to the higher ceiling fixed for Winesaps, the $500,000 order was given to growers on the West Coast.

Facing a total loss, the Robertson-Byrd constituents turned to their agents on Capitol Hill for assistance.

LUNCH: The Virginia representatives then moved to persuade Agriculture to include apples in their school lunch program and they were successful in their quest. Secretary Anderson's dietitians agreed to set aside $2,400,000 for the fruit which keeps the doctor away.

Again it appeared that the prospective loss and waste of the packed goods would be avoided. However, Agriculture notified the Virginia planters that it could buy apples only if they were packed in boxes. Inasmuch as they had already been piled in barrels, the transaction fell through because of this red tapism.

The next step was to try to have the all-packed-but-no-place-to-go apples included in the Marshall Plan. But it was discovered that the prepared shipments will spoil if they are not consumed by the end of the current month, and ERP will not be operative for several months at least.

SATISFY: The persistent John B. Nell, well-known apple-raiser at Staunton, Va., figured out a plan which might offer him a market for his wares. But he soon discovered that red tape, bureaucracy and official stubbornness are not an exclusive American possession.

The conscientious Mr. Neff recalled that his father had incurred a $5,000 debt to the British firm of Simmons & Company some twenty years ago, with $3,000 remaining to be paid. He offered to ship apples worth that sum to London, and thus discharge the ancient obligation.

Since a poorer grade of apples now sells in England at fifty cents a pound, and inasmuch as the deal would not require any loss of dollars to Britain, he thought that his substitute plan would satisfy everybody concerned.

* * *

UNWILLING: British authorities at Washington, however, refused to approve his scheme. "We would rather have dollars now," wrote Charles Campbell, who has charge of Embassy public relations. "If we cannot get dollars, we will take nothing. We need dollars more than apples. Why not sell your apples here, and pay us in the dollars you obtain?"

Mr. Neff felt like replying: "Applesauce!" Instead, he wrote, in effect:

"In other words, you are unwilling to relieve your own people's hardship, yet you are asking our government for the loan of American dollars."

TRIBUTE: Two prominent members on the House side are paying Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg an amusing but a high tribute. They are striving to obtain something like his stature in the field of foreign affairs.

Representative Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts has assumed almost entire charge of the Marshall Plan in the lower chamber, although the venerable Charles A. Eaton of New Jersey heads Foreign Relations. Representative Karl Mundt of South Dakota has made a race of it by successful sponsorship of an increased appropriation for the "Voice of America."

Cloakroom colleagues refer to the rivalry as competition for the role of becoming known as "the poor man's Vandenberg"—a deferential acknowledgement of the fact that the Senate enjoys supreme charge of foreign problems on Capitol Hill.

REBELLION: M. A. of Concord, N. H., whom I judge to be a Republican, is eager to know whether the Southern rebellion against President Truman's civil rights program will peter out.

Answer: As a fellow-New Englander, I may not be a good judge. But on the basis of twenty-four years at Washington and my survey of the national political scene over that period, I would answer no. It may not extend to all states in Dixie, but I think it can be cost the Democrats the electoral votes of three or four.

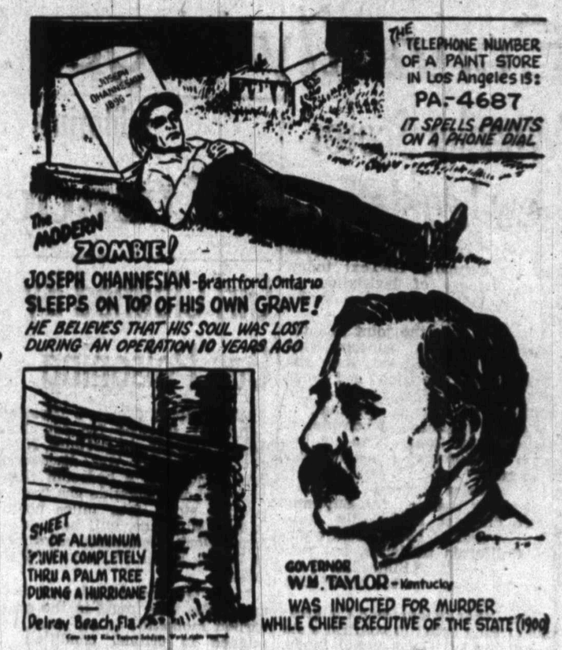

It has always been said that two issues will stir the South—namely, religion and the Negro question. I think that prejudice on the former question has abated and that a man like James A. Farley could have carried every Southern state. So do most Dixie politicians.

But the racial question, as I recently pointed out, is sociological rather than political. The South is solving, slowly but intelligently, the poll tax and lynching problems. It is also giving economic equality to qualified members of the colored people. It will never, however, agree to the kind of social equality and termination of segregation which Mr. Truman proposes.

DEVOTION: The same considerations apply here as in the Wallace case. If President Truman backs down, he will lose the important colored vote in the North and Midwest. If the Southerners do, it will mean the utter loss of influence which they have enjoyed within their historic party for so many years.

DECISION ON FUTURE NEEDED

Foreign Policy At Crossroads

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It's time to stop and see where we're going.

It's now clear that our foreign policy has reached a critical and dangerous point where it could be turned into a course contrary to all our traditions and hopes for the world. The present conflict of purpose is plain.

On the one hand is the Marshall Plan objective of peaceful rehabilitation of Western Europe to put those countries in such shape that their people, natural Democrats like ourselves, will be immune to Communism. On the other is the new and growing talk of throwing in military aid here and there, making us international adventurers. Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer is back from China to insist we do that there. Secretary of State Marshall asks more money for military aid to Greece and Turkey. House leaders talk about including all that in the Marshall Plan.

STOKES

Next Move Awaited

That, truly, would symbolize a return to the Truman doctrine in which the military was emphasized, and which we tried to forget and cover up with the Marshall Plan. Who knows in which direction we might later be asked to send our guns?

We seem headed, indeed, for a matching of military force that can end eventually in only one way. Russia, soon after the war, moved out to surround herself with allies. Whether from fear or for aggression nobody is quite sure. That now is beside the point. We made our counter move in Greece and Turkey right at Russia's door. She now has moved her pawns in this dangerous international checker game to take over Czechoslovakia and hovers over Finland. We speak of other moves on our part.

This can't keep going on. It's like moving fences around in the early days of the west to take over more ground claimed by a neighbor. Sooner or later there was a shooting. It's just as simple and inevitable as that.

In one of the clearest and most convincing analyses of where we are today and where we're going if we don't stop and do something positive about it, James P. Warburg says very truly:

"We are not threatened by the Russians—nor they by us. We are threatened primarily by our own fears."

Like the early western settlers who, once embroiled with their neighbors, were willing to accept rustlers as their allies, so we have not been very particular, contrary to the ideals we professed un-Democratic governments in Greece, Turkey, and China and, on our side of the world, Argentina, and the trend of our policy in Germany toward revival of forces that we fought. To those of like ideals we have not been too helpful. Some among us didn't like our Democratic sort in Europe because they were socialists, though vigorously anti-Communist. Their weakness in Czechoslovakia made that nation easy game for Russia.

Trying To Police World

Out of the war we came, too, with another ideal, the United Nations. Yet we have by-passed it time and again and frequently acted on our own without even consulting other members. Again to quote Mr. Warburg:

"In our frantic anxiety to stop Russia, we are tending more and more to set ourselves up as the world's policeman. It is perfectly true that the Soviet Union is pursuing a very similar policy. That is what makes the game doubly dangerous. The Soviet Union wants to stop us, fears us, understands us as little as we understand Russian motivations. Neither of us wants to fight the other. Yet each of us is afraid that war may become unavoidable. And so each of us takes out insurance against the failure of the effort to maintain peace. In taking out insurance—by pushing out frontiers, expanding spheres of influence or acquiring far-flung bases—each of us lends reality to the fear of the other.

"This is the road to war. Never mind who started it."

It is up to us to stop this trend. We must, as Mr. Warburg says, take the lead to transform the United Nations and rapidly into a world government, not only endowed with the sole right to use force, but also equipped to take care itself of such economic needs as are now represented in the Marshall Plan. Many nations have committed themselves to world government. But not we nor Russia. Yet it can't be done without the two of us, since we control the world between us. Nor can we expect Russia to make the first move, as Mr. Warburg says, since it fears and distrusts us as the most powerful member which controls a majority of votes in the Assembly and Security Council.

"It is our move," Mr. Warburg warns most pointedly.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY
The Knights of Pythias Lodge is the owner of Lots Five (5) and Six (6) in Block 164, Original Town of Lubbock, 1400 Block on Avenue K on East side of street, dimensions 52 feet by 125 feet. The Lodge is interested in conveying the lots to a suitable party who is willing to erect a two-story building thereon free of all liens, and under an agreement giving the Lodge ownership of the second story to be used for Lodge purposes, and the remainder to be owned by the other party. It will probably cost between $50,000.00 and $60,000.00 to construct such building according to the Lodge's requirements. The estimated value of the lots at the present time is from $20,000.00 to $25,000.00. Anyone interested contact Hub Lee or Victor H. Lindsey.

group are from New York City.

The 75 students who are presenting the opera have appeared in Denton, Amarillo and Wichita Falls; from Lubbock they are going to Port Arthur. Also making the tour are Dr. Walter Hodgson, dean of the NTSTC School of Music, who conducts the performances, and Miss Mary McCormic, producer of the opera.

"Rigoletto" is the fifth major opera to be produced by the college opera workshop within three years under the direction of Miss McCormic, former star of Paris Opera-Comique.

Tickets, $1.50 for adults and 60 cents for students, are being sold by Adair and South Plains Music stores and Allegro Music club members.

MARKET IN NEW SLUMP

NEW YORK, March 9. (AP)—General bearishness together with erratic commodities, continued to depress the majority of today's stock market leaders.

An argument for the bulls, however, was that selling remained light throughout. Dealings turned sluggish after midday and extreme losses were recorded at the close.

Doubters regarding the domestic economic outlook and darkening international situations again trimmed accounts. Rising business failures to a peak since 1943 tended to chill sentiment.

The Associated press 60-stock composite was off .4 of a point at 60.8, a bottom since Feb. 27. Of 827 issues registering, 565 fell and 183 rose.

United Fruit added 1 ⅝ at 53 and Midland Furnace 1 at 23¾ on pleasing dividends. Minor gains were shown for Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Columbia Gas, Consolidated Edison, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Sinclair Oil and United Air Lines.

Touching lows for 1948 were Goodrich, which finished off 2 1/8 at 48 5/8, and Pullman, off 1 1/4 at 43 1/4.

Bonds were uneven.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 9 (AP) — Cotton futures moved over a wide range in nervous dealings today. Initial weakness in grains brought in heavy selling in cotton which broke prices more than $2 a bale. The market subsequently revovered sharply on mill buying and short covering, with gains extending to better than $1.50 a bale before reacting partially on New Orleans and local selling.

Traders continued to await further developments on the foreign aid programs and the Japanese cotton purchase agreement.

There were 49 additional March transferable notices issued which were believed to have been promptly stopped by leading spot firms.

Persistent mill covering against textile sales induced further covering in the final hour of trading. Prices closed around the best levels of the day.

Futures closed higher than the $2.00 to $3.15 a bale previous close.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 9 (AP) — Cotton futures advanced $2.35 to $3.80 a bale here today under heavy short covering and trade buying.

The gains of today recovered a good portion of yesterday's losses when cotton broke along with grain and other markets. The closing tone was firm.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, March 9. (AP)—The average price of middling 15/16ths-inch cotton today at ten designated southern spot markets was $3.05 a bale higher at 32.70 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days 32.14; middling 7/8ths-inch average 31.47.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 9 (AP) — Prices drifted lower toward the close of today's board of trade session, after a rally had lifted them, the low point caused by a sharp opening break.

The nearby contracts in all grains were weak. Oats, however, showed resistance to selling pressure. Demand for deferred oats was good enough to push prices up about a cent above the previous close.

Toward the close buying by commission houses and those with cash connections dried up.

Action on the nearby contracts in wheat reflected disappointment resulting from government refusal of flour offerings which were considered too high. There was no evidence of mill buying in wheat.

At the close wheat was 1¼ higher to 2⅛ lower, May $2.35¼-½. Corn was 1 cent higher to 2⅛ lower, May $2.13-13¼. Oats were ¼ lower to 1⅝ higher, May $1.10½-⅝.

Hospital Needs

city-county institution.

"If we had nine hospital beds available in the city of Lubbock, we could take care of all the charity cases we have," Capt. Larsen said. "If these beds were set aside and used for no other purpose but for charity cases.

"We need to increase our hospital facilities and we need more doctors. Lubbock has grown tremendously," the speaker continued. "But we can't get more doctors until we have a hospital or hospitals with an open staff where they may practice."

Tribute Paid Doctors

Capt. Larsen paid tribute to Lubbock doctors, several of whom were present at the luncheon "They have never failed to try to do something for our charity cases whenever I've called on them and they've treated hundreds of cases without charge.

"But gentlemen, I say to you that the crying need of people in Lubbock who are poor is a place where they can get medical and hospital care."

Referring to an article recently in The Avalanche-Journal about unsanitary conditions at the city dog pound, the Salvation Army head declared. "I could take you to 500 homes in the city where conditions are far worse than at the city dog pound. It's all right for people to offer aid for a dog pound, but they also should be thinking about the people who are living in worse conditions."

The speaker was applauded generously as he sat down. He was introduced by Bob Garner, program chairman. W. B. Osborn, Lamesa; Senator Fred Harris, Dallas; Carl Milam, Senta Fe, N. M.; Jessie James, Fort Worth; W. B. Berger, Amarillo; C. M. Van Syckle, Dallas; and Dick Jennings, also of Dallas, were out-of-town guests at the luncheon.

Senator Harris spoke briefly at the outset of the program.

LUFKIN BUILDING BOOMS

LUFKIN, March 9 (AP)—Issuance of a permit for the construction of a 36-apartment, $289,000 building here today brought total Lufkin building permits for 1948 to $662,725—a record for the 70-day period. Arthur Temple, Jr., and associates took out the permit for the Pinedell Manor apartment project, a two-story brick veneer building to occupy an entire block.
