More Than 150 Lives Claimed In Mine Disaster Democrats Threaten Republican Control Of House

Final Returns Hold Answers To Demos Bid

G.O.P. Majorities in House and Senate at Vanishing Point with Decision Resting on Late Reports

Results in Doubt

Democrats Take Eight Senate Seats and Leading in Two Other Contests to Give Chance of Plurality

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
Final returns held the answer today to the bold Democratic bid for control of congress in Tuesday's election. Republican majorities

Associated Press returns from the 48 honest electing companies at 11:30 p. m. (EST) Wednesday showed:
Republicans 212
Democrats 210
Farmer Labor 1
Independent Republican 1
Democrat 11 (all now represented by Republicans)
Necessary for majority 218
Democratic gains 46
Republican gains 1

Results in both the senate and house were at the vanishing point with the decision on late reports from outlying districts in half a dozen states.

In the drive for the house the Democrats still were within striking distance for a majority with about 300 doubtful Republican districts still to announce.

Key Middlewest
The opposition party had captured 46 Republican seats in the house and had elected 308 members against 208 for the Republicans. The Democrats raised the midwestern states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri for the big portion of their advantage. They were leading for five unreported Kentucky districts now Republican.

They had taken eight senate seats from the Republicans and were leading in two other contests to give them a chance for a plurality of one and an even division of the 96 members which carries with it probable control of the senate organization.

Result in Deaths
A last minute bid by Senator Small, Republican of Missouri, to become a House leader of his Democratic opponent, Ernest Hollide, left the result in doubt.

Speaker Longworth was among the Republicans to survive the Democratic avalanche which swept across the nation. He was elected to his first Ohio district, was among the last to report. Democrats won six Republican seats in that state and left the Ohio delegation in the congress composed of 13 Republicans and nine Democrats.

Representative Will Wood, the chairman of the house appropriations committee and chairman of the Republican congressional committee escaped a Democratic attack on Indiana which had netted five seats held by Democrats.
Representative Foster of Indiana, the Republican whip, still was in danger. However, Representative Hawley, of Oregon, the chairman of the house ways and means committee, was overruling a Democratic lead which menaced him.

Two Confessions In Shotgun Death

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5. (AP)—Two confessions to the shotgun murder of Mrs. Mary Ellis, 23 year old mother, were obtained by police today, one allegedly by the hired killer and the other by the woman's divorced husband.
The verdict of a coroner's jury also directly accused Emory Ellis of hiring Benjamin Franklin Brown, a Kansas man, to kill the mother of his own son.
"Mrs. Ellis died of gunshot wounds inflicted by Benjamin Franklin Brown, employed to do the killing by Emory Ellis, with homicidal intent," the jury verdict read.
Immediately after the verdict was returned both men were remanded to jail without bail.

PLEDGES HARMONY

DUVALDE, Nov. 5. (AP)—John Gardner, Democratic minority leader, said today if he won the speakership of the house he would work in harmony with President Hoover in an effort to bring the nation back to prosperity.

DO-X Reaches Amsterdam in Projected Hop

Giant German Flying Boat to Take Off Soon on Next Leg of Flight Across Atlantic to America

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 5. — The great bulk of German flying boat DO-X, largest seaplane in the world, floated tonight in the Schellingwoude basin at the end of the first leg of her Trans-Atlantic voyage to New York.

A full moon picked out the figures of mechanics tinkering with the twelve twin-engine engines which had borne her from Switzerland in less than five and a half hours, and thousands watched them at work from the docks which project the port of Amsterdam against the outer sea.

Takeoff Uncertain
Nobody knew for certain when she would roar off again toward Lisbon, Portugal, where the ocean flight is to begin about November 12, but it was thought likely that only bad weather would cause further postponement of the flight which already had been delayed so long.

It was 11:25 a. m. when she lifted herself off Lake Constantine, whence she had begun so many short-trip flights. And at 4:50 p. m. she pushed her way through the haze over Amsterdam, circled once or twice and nosed down to a perfect landing on Holland's inland sea.

DOG ATTACKS CHILD Cotton Pickers Refuse to Let Animal Be Killed

LAMESA, Nov. 5. (Special)—Cotton pickers owning a dog which today attacked the seven-year-old son of W. O. Reeves, of Woody community, north of Lamesa, departed with the dog after refusing to have it killed.
The boy was lacerated about the face. Cotton pickers to which the dog belonged were working on the Reeves farm. Before officers could be summoned to force killing of the dog, so that its head could be sent to Austin for examination for rabies, the owners left with the animal. Officers are being made by local officers to find the dog.

Mary Garden "Steals the Show" When She Attends Races at Arlington Downs

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer
ALLAS, Nov. 5. (AP)—Flushed from her one-round triumph over Editor Gene Howe at Arlington Downs today and gave the ponies some very unfair competition. She practically stopped the show.
Up to the time of the noted Dyer's dramatic appearance between the second and third races the crowd had been pretty well occupied with the horse. After that they watched Mary Garden. And it can never be

Appropriation Is Sought for Drouth Relief

Conference of Committees from W.T.C.C., West Texas Bankers and One Named by Gov. Moody Meet at Stamford

Would Make Loans

STAMFORD, Nov. 5. — Plans for relief agencies in all affected states to secure an adequate appropriation from the December session of congress were accepted here today at a conference of drouth relief organizations, headed by Dan Moody, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and West Texas bankers. The appropriation would be used to make production loans to farmers, and the loans would be secured by liens on next year's crops.

Cooperation of Other States Will Be Asked in Plan to Obtain Federal Aid; National Conference Planned

Decision was made to correlate activities of the three committees and to attempt to secure cooperation of similar committees from other states on the plan to work for federal assistance. The plan was originated by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce committee, headed by Amos G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher, and which went to Washington in September to seek help for West Texas.

Rail Hearing Will Be Here

Interstate Commerce Commission of Texas-Pacific Rail Project in West Texas to Be Held December 8

An Interstate Commerce commission hearing on the proposal of the Texas & Pacific Northern railroad to construct a 332-mile line in West Texas will be held in Lubbock, December 8, according to an Associated Press dispatch received Wednesday from Washington, D. C.
The hearing probably will be held in a hotel, although the place has not been determined definitely. A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, said Wednesday. The chamber was asked by the Interstate Commerce commission to arrange for space for the hearing.

TO SEEK ASSEMBLY Lubbock Nazarenes Attending Wellington Conclave

Lubbock representatives of the Church of the Nazarenes attending the seventeenth annual assembly of the Albuque district of the church at Wellington will leave the 18th meeting to Lubbock. It was announced Wednesday at chamber of commerce offices here.
Headed by Rev. R. M. Hooker, pastor of the Nazarene church here, the Lubbock delegation of eight persons will remain through the assembly which began Wednesday and will continue through Sunday.
Between 400 and 500 persons would be attracted to Lubbock by the 18th assembly of the Nazarene church, representatives of the church here indicated to chamber of commerce attaches.

MAPLES CASE UP To Decide If Man Can Accept Penalty Over Objections

AUSTIN, Nov. 5. (AP)—The question of whether a man accused of murder has a right to accept the death penalty over the objection of his attorney was presented the court of criminal appeals today by F. O. Fuller, of Houston, attorney for J. J. Maples, condemned to die in the electric chair November 18.
Fuller told the court that when the trial court overruled his motions for a new trial for Maples, he gave notice of appeal, as allowed by law, but Maples told the court immediately thereafter, he did not want an appeal, would accept the death penalty and wanted the penalty imposed at the earliest possible moment.

State Put On Deficiency Basis, Hatcher Announces

President Hoover, Republican Leaders Silent as Rising Tide of Democratic Gains Reported; Shouse Is Optimistic

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—While the president still was at breakfast, James L. West, the publicity director of the Republican national committee, carried to him first official information that Republican control of congress was threatened, and from then on throughout the day each shift in votes was relayed quickly to Mr. Hoover. No statement came from the White House and officials said none was expected.
Shouse early in the day had said the returns assured a Democratic majority in the house and a probable reorganization of the senate by the Democrats. In his second statement issued late in the day, he construed the result as an indication there would be a further majority of 103.

Two Ranchmen Arrested for Gray Slaying

Homer Crabtree Is Beaten to Death on His Ranch Near Lefors; Dispute Over Horse Blamed for Murder

PAMPANU, Nov. 5.—Homer Crabtree, 34, was killed on his ranch near Lefors, in central Gray county today, and two other Gray county ranchers were arrested and held for investigation in connection with his death. The three men were said to have quarreled.
Crabtree's body was badly bruised and physicians said evidently he had been beaten to death.
Crabtree's skull was fractured in several places and the scalp was badly torn. Officers said his head appeared to have been crushed by blows from the heel of a boot.

Two Men Die In Gas Blast On Wednesday

Two Others Critically Hurt When Explosion Occurs at Gas Drip Near Bethany, La.; Investigation Started

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 5. (AP)—Two men were killed and two others critically injured in a gas explosion late today at "Jaybird Thicket," near Bethany, La., station of the Dixie Gas & Fuel company. The dead were Thad Hardy, 28, Clyde Haney, 28, and the injured, W. A. "Red" Wetzel, 28, and Coleman Hardy, 30.
The men were at work tying in a gas line from the Moore No. 3 well into the main line when the explosion occurred at a "gas drip," where water is draining from the gas line beneath the ground.
Gasoline Blamed
It was believed that gasoline, compressed in the pipe line, caused the explosion, although representatives of the company at a late hour said the cause of the blast was not fully determined.

HOUSTON SELECTED WACO, Nov. 5. (AP)—Houston was selected as the 1931 convention city of the Texas society of the Daughters of the American Revolution following invitations presented at sessions today of the state conference from Corpus Christi and Texas, the latter city later withdrawing its bid. The entire slate of 1931 state officers nominated at the morning session was elected, there being 112 votes cast out of a possible 121 which was said to be the largest voting strength of any state conference.

TEXAS SIT BACK TO AWAIT TWO MORE YEARS OF DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT; CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES THOUGHT ASSURED

DALLAS, Nov. 5. (AP)—Texas sat back tonight to wait two more years of Democratic government, with the probability that voters yesterday had made five changes in the state constitution.
Some concern was felt over the success of the proposed amendment to increase the salary of legislators from $5 to $10 a day but that amendment had a lead of more than 5 to 3 when nearly half of the estimated vote had been tabulated. All the others carried more than 2 to 1 in the same returns. The vote on the amendments was much lighter than that in the governor's race.

SINCLAIR LEWIS NERVOUS AS A CAT AS HE WINS NOBEL PRIZE IN LITERATURE

BY RICHARD MASSOCK
NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—"Red" Lewis, the one-time Souk Center, Minn., boy, left his Connecticut farm today and came to town to hear and talk about his winning the Nobel prize in literature for 1930.
He was as nervous as a cat. He said so himself, after being photographed at his publisher's office for the papers and news-reels. "I feel," he said, when he last caught his breath, "the highest honor and gratification at being the first American to be awarded the Nobel prize in literature, and I am accepting it with pleasure."
To Support Author
"I shall use it to support a well-known young American author and his family, and to enable him to continue writing."
The prize is worth $42,500. The young American author is Sinclair Lewis's maid.
The family which the prize money will help support is Mrs. Dorothy Thompson Lewis, their son, Michael, four months old, and Lewis' other son, Wells, of literature, and I am accepting it with pleasure."

General Revenue Is Exhausted; Banks Refuse Advance

AUSTIN, Nov. 5.—State Treasurer Gregory Hatcher announced at the close of business today that the state had been placed on a deficiency basis.
At 4 p. m. today, Hatcher said, all monies in the general revenue fund were exhausted and warrants presented for payment were refused, with the statement that "the general revenue fund is on a deficiency and warrants drawn against this fund cannot be paid except in numerical order as funds are received."

Warrants Outstanding at This Time Total $779,067.66, Hatcher Said

Warrants outstanding at this time total $779,067.66, Hatcher said. In other years banks have advanced funds to carry the general revenue warrants, Hatcher said, but banks would not continue the practice this year.
In a statement announcing the deficiency, Hatcher said:
"I am very sorry that I could no longer keep the state on a cash basis, as I have heretofore done by having the banks to advance the funds to carry the general revenue warrants, pending the receipt of ad valorem taxes, which are not received in any considerable amount until February 25 (1931). However, no criticism of the banks for refusing to continue to assist me in artificially financing the state can be made."
"The increased financial burdens placed upon them, and the increased legal complications that have arisen from year to year fully warrant such action. The attitude of the banks which have heretofore advanced funds for this purpose, is expressed in letters from the different clearing house associations and the association of one of the cities which has heretofore borne the largest part of the burden of assisting me to finance the state through the deficiency period. I quote from the letter:
"The members of this clearing house association feel that they should not be called upon to resume the burden and responsibility involved in carrying their part of the deficiency regarding which there are so many phases of uncertainty and impracticability."
"The greater portion of the gross receipts taxes for the quarter ending October 31 having already been received I know of no source of income."

Tells of Crime

Gangster's sweetheart don't often talk to the police—but this one did, and as a result her lover and another man are being held in the murder of Courtney E. Merrill, Chicago banker, stabbed to death in a holdup. The girl, Rose Morris, accused John Papecus, of the crime in an effort to save her lover, Chas. Rocco. Papecus then confessed and implicated.

E. W. Provence Missing Since First of Week

President of Burleson College and Former Business Manager of Texas Tech Feared Victim of Foul Play

GREENVILLE, Nov. 5. — Police here and at Dallas tonight were trying to locate Dr. Ernest W. Provence, 51, president of Burleson college of Greenville, who has been missing since Monday when he alighted from an automobile in which he had ridden to Dallas with William Taylor of Greenville.
In a note addressed to his wife and left at the Provence home here, Dr. Provence said he was going to Dallas and would return Monday afternoon.
Taylor said Dr. Provence got out of the car at a drug store on Gaston avenue in Dallas, near Lakewood country club.

Nothing Heard Since that time nothing has been heard from the college president and today authorities were asked to make an investigation, relatives fearing he may have met with foul play.

FOOD AND CLOTHING TO USSERY FAMILY

Donations of food and clothing for the J. H. Ussery family, poverty stricken as a result of crop failures on a leased farm near Wolf-ford, are sufficient to provide for members of the family until a house can be obtained for them. Mrs. W. T. Milam, voluntary charity worker, of Lubbock, said late Wednesday.
Consisting of a five-month-old twin boy of the family was reported to be weaker Wednesday night by attendants at Lubbock sanitarium. The infant is suffering from malnutrition, which Monday caused the death of the other twin, a girl. An 18-year-old girl of the family died about two weeks ago, her death being attributed principally to exposure and lack of food.
There are seven living children. The family moved to the dump grounds to live in a tent several weeks ago. The group is living temporarily with a Lubbock family, Mrs. Milam reported.

CHARGED WITH FRAUD NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—George W. Griffin, 44, said to be the treasurer of L. C. Smith and Corcoran Typewriters, Inc., was rearrested tonight on a charge of real fraud.

Five Officials Of Mine Among Blast Victims

President and Other Heads of Company on Inspection Tour with Guests at Time Blast Takes Heavy Toll of Life

No Signs of Life

MILLFIELD, Ohio, Nov. 5. — Between 150 and 160 persons were killed by gas explosions and fire in the No. 6 mine of the Sunday Creek Coal company here today. Andrew Ginnar, state mine inspector, told Pearl Hill, veteran bookkeeper for the company, after traversing the entire mine tonight.
The disaster, which miners said was the worst in the history of mining in the Hocking valley, came suddenly this afternoon with an explosion that sent smoke and flame shooting from the shaft and the airways. Among the dead were five officials of the mine, including the president and the vice-president, who were on an inspection tour of the workings with several guests when the blast took its toll of life.
No Sign of Life
Hill said Ginnar went entirely through the main shaft of the mine and that he reported seeing bodies everywhere but not a sign of life. Ginnar, according to Hill, said there was a remote possibility some of the trapped men may have taken refuge in tunnels leading to the main shaft and escaped death, but he considered this barely possible.
At least seven of a party of officials, but not a sign of life, were seen in the mine at the time of the explosion, are known to be dead, officials said. The known dead are: W. E. Tytus, Columbus, vice president of the company; H. H. Upson, assistant to Tytus; H. E. Lancaster, who was on an inspection tour of the mine; Walter Hayden, Athens, mine superintendent; Joseph Bergen, Zanesville, superintendent of the Ohio Power company at Philo, Ohio; Robert Parsons, Zanesville, superintendent of the Columbia Cement company, division of the Pittsburgh Glass company; Thomas Trainor, official of the glass company; Emory Lefevre, Floyd Crabtree, Andy Keish and a man named Cunningham, employees of the mine.

All Thought Dead George Maurer, member of the rescue force, who also explored the shaft, told an Associated Press reporter that all of the men in the mine apparently were dead. He said he counted 65 bodies.

No Bodies had been brought out at 10 p. m.

Positions of some of the bodies seen by Maurer showed the victims had made desperate attempts to flee the terrible gases and reach fresh air. Ten men succumbed in the entrance of a ventilating shaft not far from the apparent center of the explosion, while six others had fallen lifeless just outside of the shaft.
Many others lay scattered about

What A Rexall One-Cent Sale Is

It is a sale where you buy an item at the regular price, then another item of the same kind for one cent. As an illustration: The standard price of Klenzo Dental Cream is 50c. You buy a tube at this price and by paying 1 cent more, or 51 cents, you get two tubes. Every article in this sale is a high class standard piece of merchandise, just the same as is sold every day at the regular price.

This sale was developed by the United Drug Co. as an advertising plan. Rather than spend large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, they are spending it on this sale in permitting us to sell you a full size package of high standard merchandise for 1 cent. It costs money to get new customers, but the sacrifice in profit is justified, knowing the goods will please you.

Change in Pen Sentence Not To Be Allowed

Court of Criminal Appeals Rules Participation in an Attempted Jail Break Not Reason for Longer Term

AUSTIN, Nov. 5. (AP)—Participation in an attempted jail break could not be properly held a reason for changing the sentences of WILLIAM TURNER, McClennan county, convicted in 25 cases of burglary and theft, the state court of criminal appeals held today.

Turner was sentenced to four years in each case, the sentences to run concurrently. After the attempted jail break, the trial judge resented Turner, making some of the sentences cumulative, according to the opinion filed by the court today.

Sentences Affirmed.
The court passed upon 23 of the cases, in each case affirming the first sentence, which made all sentences run concurrently. Two cases were disposed of previously.

The court overruled a motion for rehearing for Roy Grundy, sentenced to 25 years for the murder of D. J. Hilburn in Wichita county, October 17, 1929.

The five year sentence against Paul Landry, convicted in Knox county for the murder of Constable Lee Mosley of Motley county on Nov. 28, 1927, was affirmed. The court also affirmed the five year sentence against James Tanner for assault to murder.

Denied New Trial.
O. R. Fulton, Tom Green county, sentenced to two years for wife desertion, was denied a new trial.

Doubting the "sufficiency" of the evidence, the court reversed and remanded the five year sentence against J. J. Bartlett, 62-year-old former deputy U. S. marshal of Wichita county, in a criminal assault case. The court also found fault with the pleadings of the prosecuting attorney in which he referred to the plaintiff's father as a paralytic, "unable to defend his father."

Applicants for an automobile driving license in Great Britain are now required to sign a declaration of physical fitness.

ARTIST NUMBER TONIGHT

Two Americans and two Italians are included in the opera quartet which appears tonight in the Tech gym as the second number of the Texas Tech Artist course. Torrelbanca's Orchestra which appeared here Thursday October 23, was the initial number of the course.

Tickets are on sale at the business office of the college, or at the City Drug store. Professor W. R. Waggoner, who is in charge of the Tech Artist course, announces that students may purchase tickets for seventy-five cents each. Four numbers are left on the program.

Members of the quartet are Marie Tiffany, soprano; Giuseppe Martino-Rossi, baritone; Louise Barnhardt, contralto; and Enzo Atti, tenor. Stanford Schussel is the director and pianist. The program will start tonight at 8:15.

REPORTS READY SATURDAY

Midterm reports will be given out Saturday according to E. L. Dechroy, registrar of the college. A similar report will be sent to the parents or guardian of each student.

These reports do not indicate the grades, but show whether a student is passing in all his subjects.

RODEO JUDGES ANNOUNCED

Judges for the first annual Tech Rodeo which is to be staged on the Tech campus Friday and Saturday have been announced as O. A. Lambert, former manager of the Pitchfork ranch near Spur, Horace Bryant, range boss of the 8600 ranch near Post, and Don Perrin of Spur.

Some of the prizes to be given away during the affair are a pair of boots to the best broncho rider, a hat to the winner of the steer riding and a silk shirt to the winner of the steer roping contest. A pair of dress gloves will be given away in the relay race and pack race. The best calf roper will receive a leather jacket.

All contestants wishing to enter for the prizes must see Jim Williams or E. B. Snyder, managers of the rodeo, before 10 o'clock tonight. An entrance fee of seventy-five cents is required. Fifteen wild horses have been secured from the Johnson ranch and will be used during the rodeo.

Names of some of the broncs secured for the rodeo are: "Hell-to-

DEBATE KEYS PRESENTED

Debate keys were given to members of the Tech debating teams at convocation yesterday at 11 o'clock. These keys were presented by President Horn, who stated, "I hope that you'll always use your gift of speech on the side of the right, and against the side of the wrong."

Members receiving keys were Bill Sewell, three year debate man, Alvis Ellis, two year debator, Wayne Castleberry, member of the team for two years, Linde Belle Clements, member of the team for two years, and Mary Beth Sheely, who has debated on the team for one year. One key is to be sent to Hal Lary who is at present studying in Switzerland. Each year on the debate team is represented on the key by one ruby. For the fourth year a diamond set is given for the key.

Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, acting head of the speech department, is coach of the debate team.

department of the college, is president of the association. No plans have been made for a banquet which is usually featured during the home-coming occasion. Headquarters for the ex-students will be in the administration building.

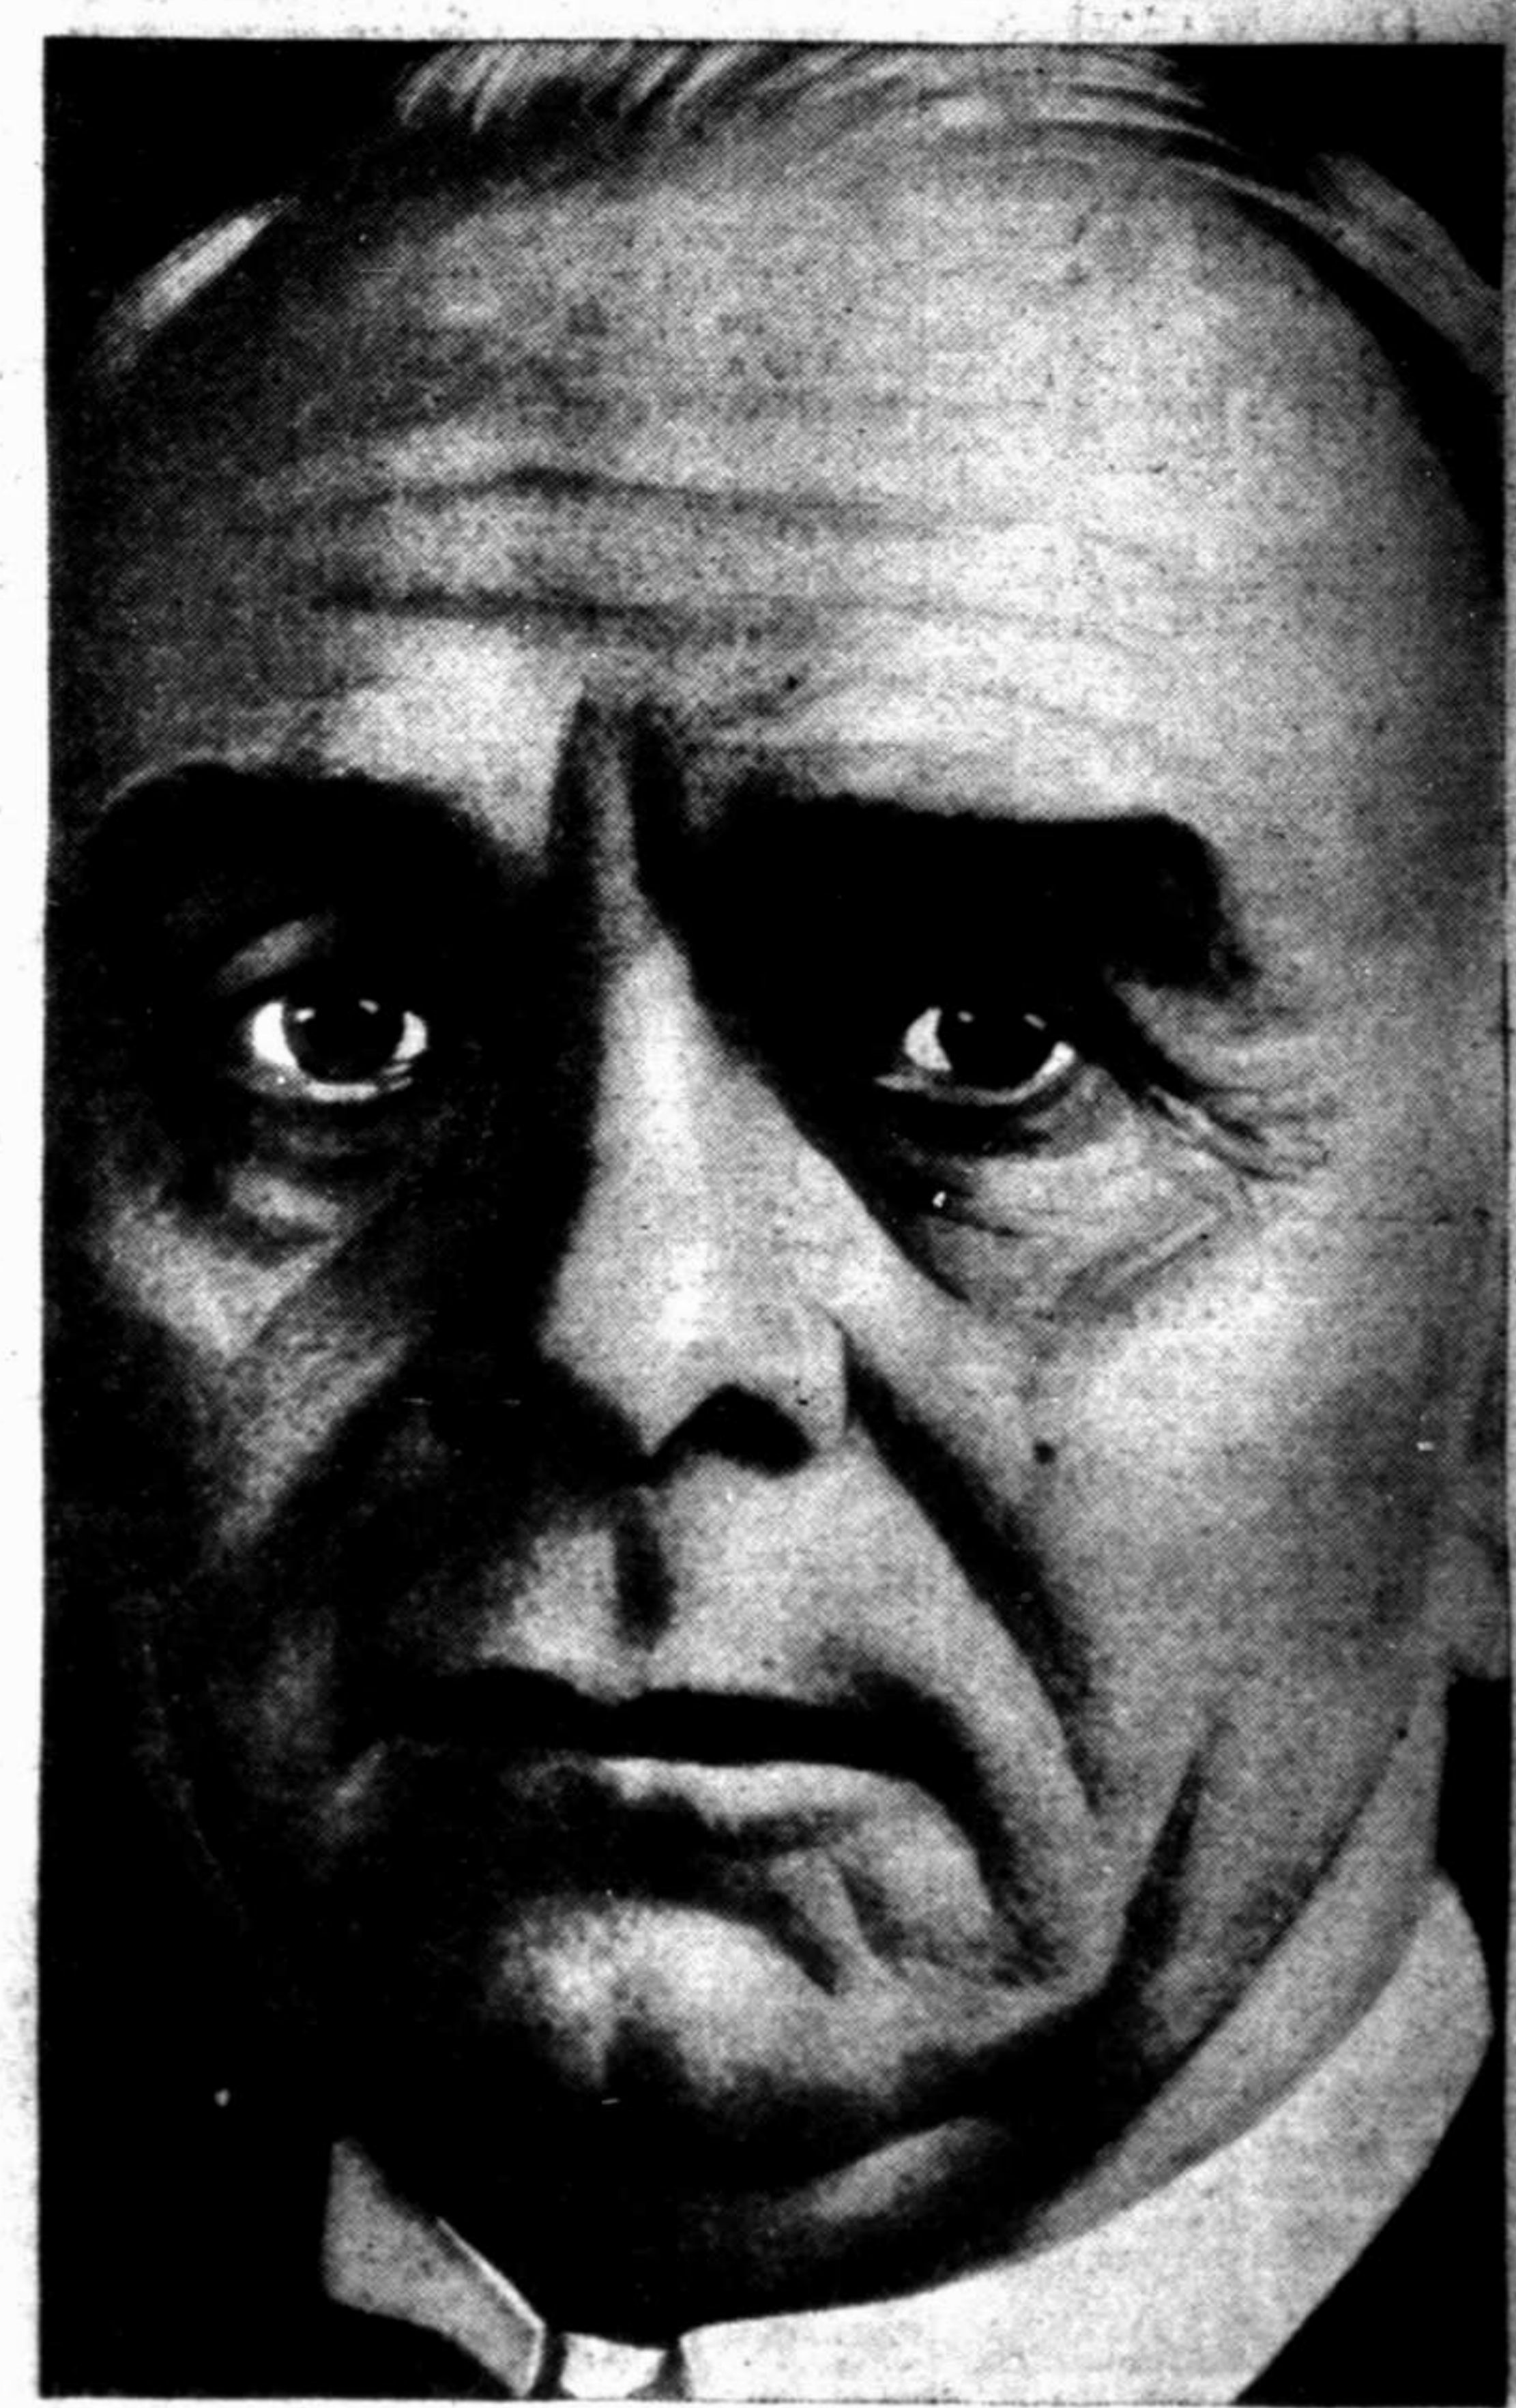

Renner, head of the dairy manufacturing department, will leave for Wichita Falls, November 23, where they will study the methods used by commercial plants on the preconditioning of milk before drying. The class will also visit the Southwest Dairy Products plant while there and will study the Rogers system of drying milk.

Each year a trip of this kind is taken by members of this class. Last year the class made an inspection trip to Waco and other points in the state.

"A REMARKABLE REVELATION"

Says
HON. JAMES FRANCIS BURKE
General Counsel of the National Republican Committee
Congressman 1905-1915, Government Director of War Savings during World War.

"Americans love to do their own thinking—But they welcome facts from others. You are wise in letting every smoker know that you employ the modern Ultra Violet Ray principle in 'Toasting LUCKY STRIKE tobaccos. This 'extra secret process' is a remarkable revelation."

James Francis Burke

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray. LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating!

Coffee from the West Coast of Central America

"In All The World, No Flavor Like This"
.. Say Experts!

Have You Tried It Yet?

WANT something different in coffee?

If you're tired of ordinary coffees, try this rare flavor of coffees from Central America. It is captivating the taste of the World.

From certain tiny mountain districts along the West Coast of Central America we procure coffees entirely different from any that has ever come into your home before.

Here volcanic soil, mountain sunlight and steaming tropic rains combine to produce probably the choicest flavored coffees known today. They have a rare tang and full mellow body that experts concede are not duplicated anywhere else in the world. Nature eliminates, in these coffees, all the "rough" offensive oils, leaving the flavor rich and clear.

Less than one pound in 20 of the world's coffee comes from these remote plantations. That's why they are so seldom found in ordinary brands.

To satisfy your curiosity and to see what an amazing difference in coffee richness there can be, try the famous Folgers' flavor test.

Accept A Pound To Try

Just go to your grocer and buy a pound of Folgers'. Drink it tomorrow morning. Next morning serve the coffee you have been using. The third morning serve Folgers' again.

If for any reason you decide against Folgers', your grocer will refund your money. We'll pay him. And you will have a pound of coffee without cost. But if you do as 8 out of Antigua Coffee Berries—When ripe they are picked by hand, like cherries. Then double-washed to remove the outer pulp.

Antigua, Guatemala—Back in the days when New York was still a Dutch settlement Antigua was a flourishing city of almost 100,000 population. Many of the imposing public buildings still stand, monuments to the grandeur that was Spain in the days of Philip II. Here you see burros bringing in the rare Antigua coffee, used by Folgers.

10 do, you'll never be satisfied to return to less flavorful coffees. And you'll become a regular customer of ours. That's why we can afford to make it so good. Try it. You'll be glad you did.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCH E. BEAN, Avantage's Women's Editor

IN ONE of Gilbert Swan's columns the other day I noticed a storm about the playright, George Kaufman finds it hard to divorce himself from his old newspaper background.

A cubbyhole in the office of the New York Times is dedicated to him and here he has kept his desk for many years, although when he first became eminent as a playwright, he fitted out an elegant workshop, Mr. Swan relates. Mr. Kaufman found this new study too polished to work in and was soon sneaking back to his old newspaper desk to work, he says.

One traditionally seeks out a secluded place in which to think and create, but I do not believe that this will work out in reality. For one thing, I can never find in this office, which is about the noisiest place I know of, than I can anywhere else in the world. Sometimes I take work home to do of an evening, but the typewriter is different and I haven't my familiar desk atmosphere, even though I have solitude. I don't usually accomplish much.

I've heard women wonder why their husbands always return to their offices to work on evenings and Sundays when they might just as well be doing the thing at home. I think I know the reason in most instances. The husband has grown accustomed to working in a particular atmosphere and that is where he thinks best.

FOR THE SICK CHILD If a child is sick, it often is much more susceptible to give a little bowl with two spoons in this office, than flowers or a book. I read somewhere the other day. That sounded like a sensible suggestion to me.

THESE OFFICE PICTURES RECENTLY I've been noticing the pictures that men have around their desks. There are very few business men who do not have some sort of picture about their desks.

Along with the usual notices rewards and such, there is a Christmas card depicting the traditional carolers hanging in the post office and, under the glass on the sergeant's desk, there is a picture of a baby clipped from some magazine.

Dr. M. C. Overton has a regular gallery in his office at the Lubbock Sanitarium, composed of his pictures. A lot of men have pictures of their children or grandchildren and one occasionally has a picture of his wife on his desk.

MY HALL OF FAME TO MY gallery of women who do things, I'm going to add Mrs. M. T. Askew, of the Wolffarth club. She has canned 335 1-2 quarts of fruits and vegetables and 111 quarts of meat this year and has raised more than a ton and a quarter of vegetables in her quarter-acre garden this season.

Her first vegetables were picked May 20, when she began using onions and greens, and she now has chard, squash, peppers, collards and egg plant in her garden. She raised 59 varieties of vegetables this year.

I don't suppose Mrs. Askew ran around and gossiped much with her neighbors during the summer because she must have been pretty busy with her garden, but I imagine that her family will be able to get through the winter pretty well living at home.

OPPORTUNITY FOR MORALIZING WHAT OTHER people do is none of my business. I know, and I can't predict the outcome of marriages any better than anyone else, but I know a little story about brides that offers opportunity for moralizing.

The other day I happened to be visiting at a house at the same time that a 30-year-old bride was there and the conversation concerned jobs and the like. Finally, the bride opined that she didn't believe she had found anything yet for which she was fitted and when someone asked her about her new home and housekeeping, she said that it was simply drudgery and that she never could get through with her work.

More recently I was talking with another bride who is keeping house in a crowded little duplex apartment and who is having the time of her life smiling her new furniture and trying to cook and working out her schedules for managing a home. "I don't think I could be happy doing anything else," she concluded to me. "I never did care anything about office work, but I do love to keep this house!"

J. J. Clements Talks at Tech

Lubbock Mayor Takes "Civic Responsibility" as Subject at Second All-College Convocation of Year

"City officials of Lubbock need the assistance of all the students and faculty members of Texas Technological college if they are to keep this city one that the parents of this state will be proud to send their boy or girl to." Mayor J. J. Clements said at convocation in the Tech gym yesterday morning. It was the second all-college convocation for this school year.

Taking as his subject, "Civic Responsibility," the Lubbock mayor stated that each college student should consider himself a part of the city and start his civic training now. He further stated that each college student had friends in the present city government of Lubbock.

Comments C. of C. Mayor Clements pointed out the good work being done by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and commended the college for its having a similar organization among the students. He emphasized the fact that the organization would not be complete, however, without the membership being extended to the women of the college as well as the men students.

Prior to Mayor Clements' address, President Paul W. Horn presented members of the Tech debating teams with key awards. Each year served on the debating team for the individual members was represented on the key by a ruby. For the fourth year on the debate squad a diamond is to be placed on the key. Students receiving keys were Alvis Ellis, Wayne Castleberry, William R. Sewell, Mary Beth Shroyer and Lizzie Belle Clements. Hal R. Lary, who is studying in Europe, is to be presented with a key, also. In making the awards, President Horn stated, "I hope that each of you will use your gift of speech always for the side of the right and against the side of the wrong."

Following the main address Jack E. Boyd, secretary of the Tech Y. M. C. A. explained the finance drive which was started last night by the Christian association of the college. It is planned to raise $2,000 among the students to help with the carrying on of the two organizations on the campus.

Mrs. M. T. Askew of Wolffarth Club Produces 2,696 Pounds of Vegetables

Cultivation of a quarter-acre garden by Mrs. M. T. Askew, of the Wolffarth home demonstration club, resulted in total production of 2,696 pounds of vegetables, it was learned at a meeting Tuesday afternoon of the Wolffarth club.

Records kept by Mrs. Askew showed that she had raised more than a ton and a quarter of vegetables. Miss Ruth Stockton, Lubbock county home demonstration agent, said Wednesday.

"Eight of the 12 women at the meeting of the Wolffarth club reported that they had gardens this year and had canned vegetables from the gardens for their tables, according to Miss Stockton.

November is "achievement month" when club members and garden demonstrators report their accomplishments of the summer.

Mrs. Askew leads the Wolffarth club in canning, as she has 335 1-2 quarts of fruits and vegetables and 111 quarts of meat preserved, Miss Stockton said.

"Twenty-nine varieties of vegetables were raised during the summer by Mrs. Askew. Five of them, pimiento, asparagus, egg plant, oyster plant and rhubarb were new to her garden. Mrs. Askew first picked her vegetables May 20, taking onions and greens. She now has chard, squash, peppers, collards and egg plant in the garden.

AWARDS ANNOUNCED

In Sunlight Yarns Knit Knacks Contest

Mrs. E. Booher Wins First Prize

Mrs. Maggie Short Wins Second Prize

Mrs. O. E. Smith Wins Third Prize

The Sunlight Yarns Knit Knacks Contest at our store closed last Saturday.

With scores of beautiful and useful pieces of work submitted it was no easy matter to decide on the prize winners. After much careful consideration by competent judges, first prize of a $15.00 Bostom Comforter was awarded to Mrs. E. Booher for her beautifully made Baby set of cap, booties and saque.

The second prize, an $8.50 electric waffle iron was won by Mrs. Maggie Short. Her entry was an Infant Set of knitted booties and mittens.

Mrs. O. E. Smith who won the third prize with her charming multicolored Afghan, done in block patterns, received an attractive serving tray as third prize.

Honorable mention was made of Mrs. O. C. Elliott, whose entry was a pair of knitted stockings, of Mrs. Maple Wilson, whose entry was a beautiful Afghan, also Mrs. E. L. Robertson, whose entry was a lovely Afghan. All entries were highly commended by the judges, Mrs. W. T. Gaston, Miss Irwin and Miss Della Wilkerson.

The prize winning pieces as well as all the many other attractive articles submitted, are on display in the window at our store the entire week.

OFFICERS TO MEET

Lubbock Police Department to Be Represented at Confab

Conference of police officers Thursday at Sweetwater to consider the problem created by an unusually large number of transients will be attended by a representative of the Lubbock police department. It was announced Wednesday at city hall.

The large number of men seeking shelter and places to sleep at police stations throughout the section actuated calling of the conference. Most of the transients are without money and unable to obtain work, police officials have reported.

In a recent fire at Roubaix France, nearly 5,000 bales of wool were destroyed.

Cooking School Note

In the cooking school under the auspices of the Lubbock police department, Mrs. Louisa Taylor, instructor, has prepared a number of modern shortening.

Perhaps Ramses II ate cakes like these

"THE charming art of cake-baking probably originated with the Egyptians," says this old book called "The Pantheon of the History of Food." gorgeously sweet and filled with spices were these Egyptian cakes. Can't you imagine an old Egyptian cook puzzling out the hieroglyphs which meant Yum Yum GEMS? And then hunting around for the spiciest spices, the sweetest honey and a delicate shortening? No hunting around for a delicate shortening now—for your Crisco. Crisco with its fresh, sweet flavor makes an air-tight can, fresher, sweeter flavor than you ever imagined a shortening could have. A shortening, too, so fluffy you don't need to cream it. Think of how much time that saves in making cakes!

YUM YUM GEMS

1 cup Crisco	1/2 cup walnuts, chopped
1 cup brown sugar	1/2 cup walnuts
1 cup sour milk	1/2 cup walnuts
2 cups flour	1/2 cup walnuts
1 teaspoon soda	1/2 cup walnuts
1/2 cup walnuts, chopped

Blend Crisco and sugar. (Notice how easily Crisco wraps itself around every tiny grain of sugar. That's what makes a fine textured cake.) Add sour milk, stir in sifted dry ingredients and add raisins and nuts. Pour into Crisco cup cakes in paper baking cups and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) for 20 or 30 minutes, or until done. This recipe makes about 18 cakes. Use with the following icing:

Beat 1 1/2 cups of brown sugar and 1/2 teaspoon salt with 1/2 cup of water until it spins a thread (200° F.). Pour 1/2 cup of this syrup over the stiffly beaten whites of 2 eggs, beating while you pour. Put the remainder of the syrup back on the fire and cook until it forms a soft ball in gold water (235° F.). Add this syrup slowly to original mixture and beat until it's of the consistency to spread.

Try this one on your husband

A cake like this, flavored with coffee and put together with Crisco, whose sweet, fresh flavor allows the taste of the coffee to predominate, is truly a "man's cake."

A MAN'S CAKE

1/2 cup Crisco	1/2 cup walnuts, cut up
1 cup sugar	1/2 cup walnuts
2 eggs, separated	1/2 cup walnuts
1 teaspoon vanilla	1/2 cup walnuts
1/2 cup walnuts, cut up

Put sugar, egg yolks and Crisco into mixing bowl together and blend in one operation. (This procedure is new—and possible only because Crisco comes to you already creamed.) Then add alternately the sifted dry ingredients and the coffee. Stir in nuts and flavoring and lastly fold in the egg whites beaten stiff. Turn into Crisco take pan and bake in moderate (350° F.) oven for one hour. Cool and ice with 1 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup granulated sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt cooked with 1/2 cup strong coffee until it spins a thread (200° F.). Pour 1/2 cup of syrup slowly over 2 egg whites, beating stiff and beat as you pour. Cook remainder of the syrup until it forms a soft ball in cold water (235° F.) and add to icing. Beat until it's of the consistency to spread.

And when you haven't time to bake cakes at home it's nice to know that you can go to a nearby baker or grocer and buy delicious cakes made with Crisco. Most good bakers do use Crisco. I've found. And when a baker is so particular about the shortening, he's apt to use the very best of other ingredients.

ALL MEASUREMENTS LEVEL. Recipes tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Crisco is the registered trade-mark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Co. © 1930 P. & G. Co.

Taste Crisco—then any other shortening. Crisco's sweet, fresh flavor will tell you why things made with Crisco taste so much better.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

The righteous shall never be removed; but the wicked shall not inhabit the earth.

The mouth of the just bringeth forth wisdom; but the froward tongue shall be cut out.—Proverbs 10, 31.

THOSE AMENDMENTS

APPARENT victory of the five proposed amendments to the Constitution of Texas is cheering, to say the least.

The men who drafted the Constitution of Texas were brainy men, serious men—men who studied and who endeavored, in their every effort, to give Texas the best Constitution ever written.

Their labors were successful. During the time that the Constitution was drawn and accepted it was as perfect, perhaps, as it was humanly possible to make it.

But the authors of the Texas Constitution were men, just as we all are. They were capable of interpreting the signs of their own times and capable of looking into the future a surprising distance.

The amendments approved in Tuesday's balloting are, as The Morning Avalanche views them, essential to the progress of Texas.

A constitution is just like any coming election. It is subject to improvement as civilization, commerce and business changes. The action of Texas voters in approving the last five proposals is not only comforting, it bodes well for future efforts to bring the Constitution abreast of the times.

ANALYZING GENIUS

Few human beings fall together themselves, at some period of their lives, of being geniuses.

It has been called an infinite capacity for taking pains, but a scientist, who is acquainted with the Hils, deems it just the reverse of this. Genius may be, he thinks, an ability to know when no pains should be taken at all.

There are some nine billion little gray cells in that marvelous one-sixth inch layer on the surface of man's cerebral hemisphere in which takes place what is called thought.

The far more important and far rarer ability of leaping through all the mass of fact and possibility which the brain cells have recorded to that one possibility which is worth the taking of more pains—that, perhaps, is the essence of genius.

It is a mystery how the brain cells do this, or if it is they that do it at all. But the fact that it can happen is one of the hopeful things about the human race.

The 2800 employees at the Pennsylvania state capital have been turned out three times during working hours to provide audiences for Gifford Pinchot in his campaign for governor.

STEWART SAYS MORROW STILL IS POSSIBILITY FOR PRESIDENT IN '32

By Charles F. Stewart Central Press Staff Writer

ASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Although Dwight W. Morrow recently eliminated himself from the 1932 Republican presidential running, nevertheless he is not necessarily wholly eliminated.

He eliminated himself in President Hoover's favor. There is just a bare chance that Mr. Hoover will not be a candidate for renomination.

It stretches one's imagination almost to the snapping point to suppose such a thing, but at least in theory it might happen.

Then how about Mr. Morrow? The greatest Hoover enthusiast in this country can hardly argue that the Californian has not had hard luck in the White House.

Now and then one hears it suggested that, if the coming congressional election goes heavily Democratic and the presidential run of luck continues as strongly against him during the latter half of his administration as during the first half, maybe Mr. Hoover cannot get a renomination.

This does stretch imagination to the snapping point. Out at the bureau of standards once I heard Dr. Paul Heyl, the famous scientist, say that the higher mathematics never balk at the inconceivable but they do balk at the inconsistent.

And theory involving the possibility that President Hoover cannot get a renomination verges on actual inconsistency. It is among the possibilities for a president to decide that it is undesirable for him (from his own standpoint) to choose to run again.

It occurred in President Coolidge's case. He literally had to fight to escape being renominated. He doubtless would have been re-elected as overwhelmingly as Mr. Hoover was, but he didn't choose.

The only question now is: How many thousands of times since then must Mr. Coolidge have thanked his guardian angel that his power of selection was in such excellent working order the afternoon he issued that "do not choose" statement well in advance of the day for him to step out of office with prosperity still rampant.

Thus it is not beyond the skill of super-scientists to create a mechanical situation contemplative of Mr. Hoover's decision that it would be injudicious for him to accept a renomination.

If so (as previously queried) what about Mr. Morrow? If New Jersey be a test, his drawing power as a candidate is unquestioned and remarkable, all things considered. Perhaps because he is not a politician in the accepted sense.

I was talking with Representative Joseph W. Byrnes of Tennessee, chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, as the election campaign neared its close, and he chanced to mention the Republicans' confidence of carrying the mosquito state.

"Well, they will, won't they?" I inquired. "Oh, they will," said the representative. When that old Tennessee concedes anything to the G. O. P. one is safe in believing that he means it, pressed down and overflowing.

"But," he added, "they wouldn't have stood a show if they hadn't nominated Morrow. Which almost certainly is perfectly true. Before Morrow's conscription for the senate race, it is a fact that the Democratic managers felt as sure of New Jersey in November (on the wet-and-dry issue) as they still feel of carrying Georgia.

And I think they were right about it—until Mr. Morrow upset all their calculations. Besides the senator, they figured on a clean sweep of every congressmen.

This opportunity was ruined, of course. One might reasonably have guessed that Mr. Morrow's former connection with J. P. Morgan & Company would have handicapped him a trifle in his senate campaign; it appears not to have done so to the extent of a single ounce, try weight. But I still have my suspicions that he will find it more troublesome if ever he runs for president.

LIMP OFFEN IS FIRST WARNING OF SERIOUS AILMENT IN CHILD

By Dr. Morris Fishbein, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene.

When a child who has previously walked in a quite satisfactory manner suddenly begins to limp, the parents naturally become greatly concerned.

Their concern is warranted for the simple reason that the limp may be due to some serious general condition or to some disorder that is of the greatest importance in the health of the child.

As pointed out by George A. Ramsey, the normal gait of a normal person is an example of perfect symmetrical motion. It demands that the bones of the limbs should be equal in length, that the joints move smoothly, and that the nerves controlling the muscles be in a normal state.

A disturbance of any one of these factors will result in a disturbance of the gait. Hence an attempt to analyze the cause for the limp demands careful study on the part of a competent expert. It is important to know by measurements whether the limbs are equal in length to examine the patient without clothing.

The physician must be concerned with the question as to whether or not there is pain on motion. He must study the strength of the muscles. He must find out whether the leg is jerky and forcible or whether the leg is relaxed and without tone.

In many instances children develop a waddling gait because of congenital dislocation of the hips. There may be absence of some of the bones in the legs at birth, in the act of birth nerves may be torn. Such diseases as infantile paralysis and inflammation of the nerves or of the brain may incapacitate the nerve control permanently. There is the possibility of fracture of a bone, tearing of a muscle or alignment, dislocation of a bone, and finally there is the purely pathological limp developed by the child to secure attention, and frequently appearing at any time that the child becomes somewhat tired.

In addition to the factors that have been mentioned, children sometimes limp because the foot has been bruised. In the case of the common stone bruise, in case the arch breaks down, there is a painful flat foot.

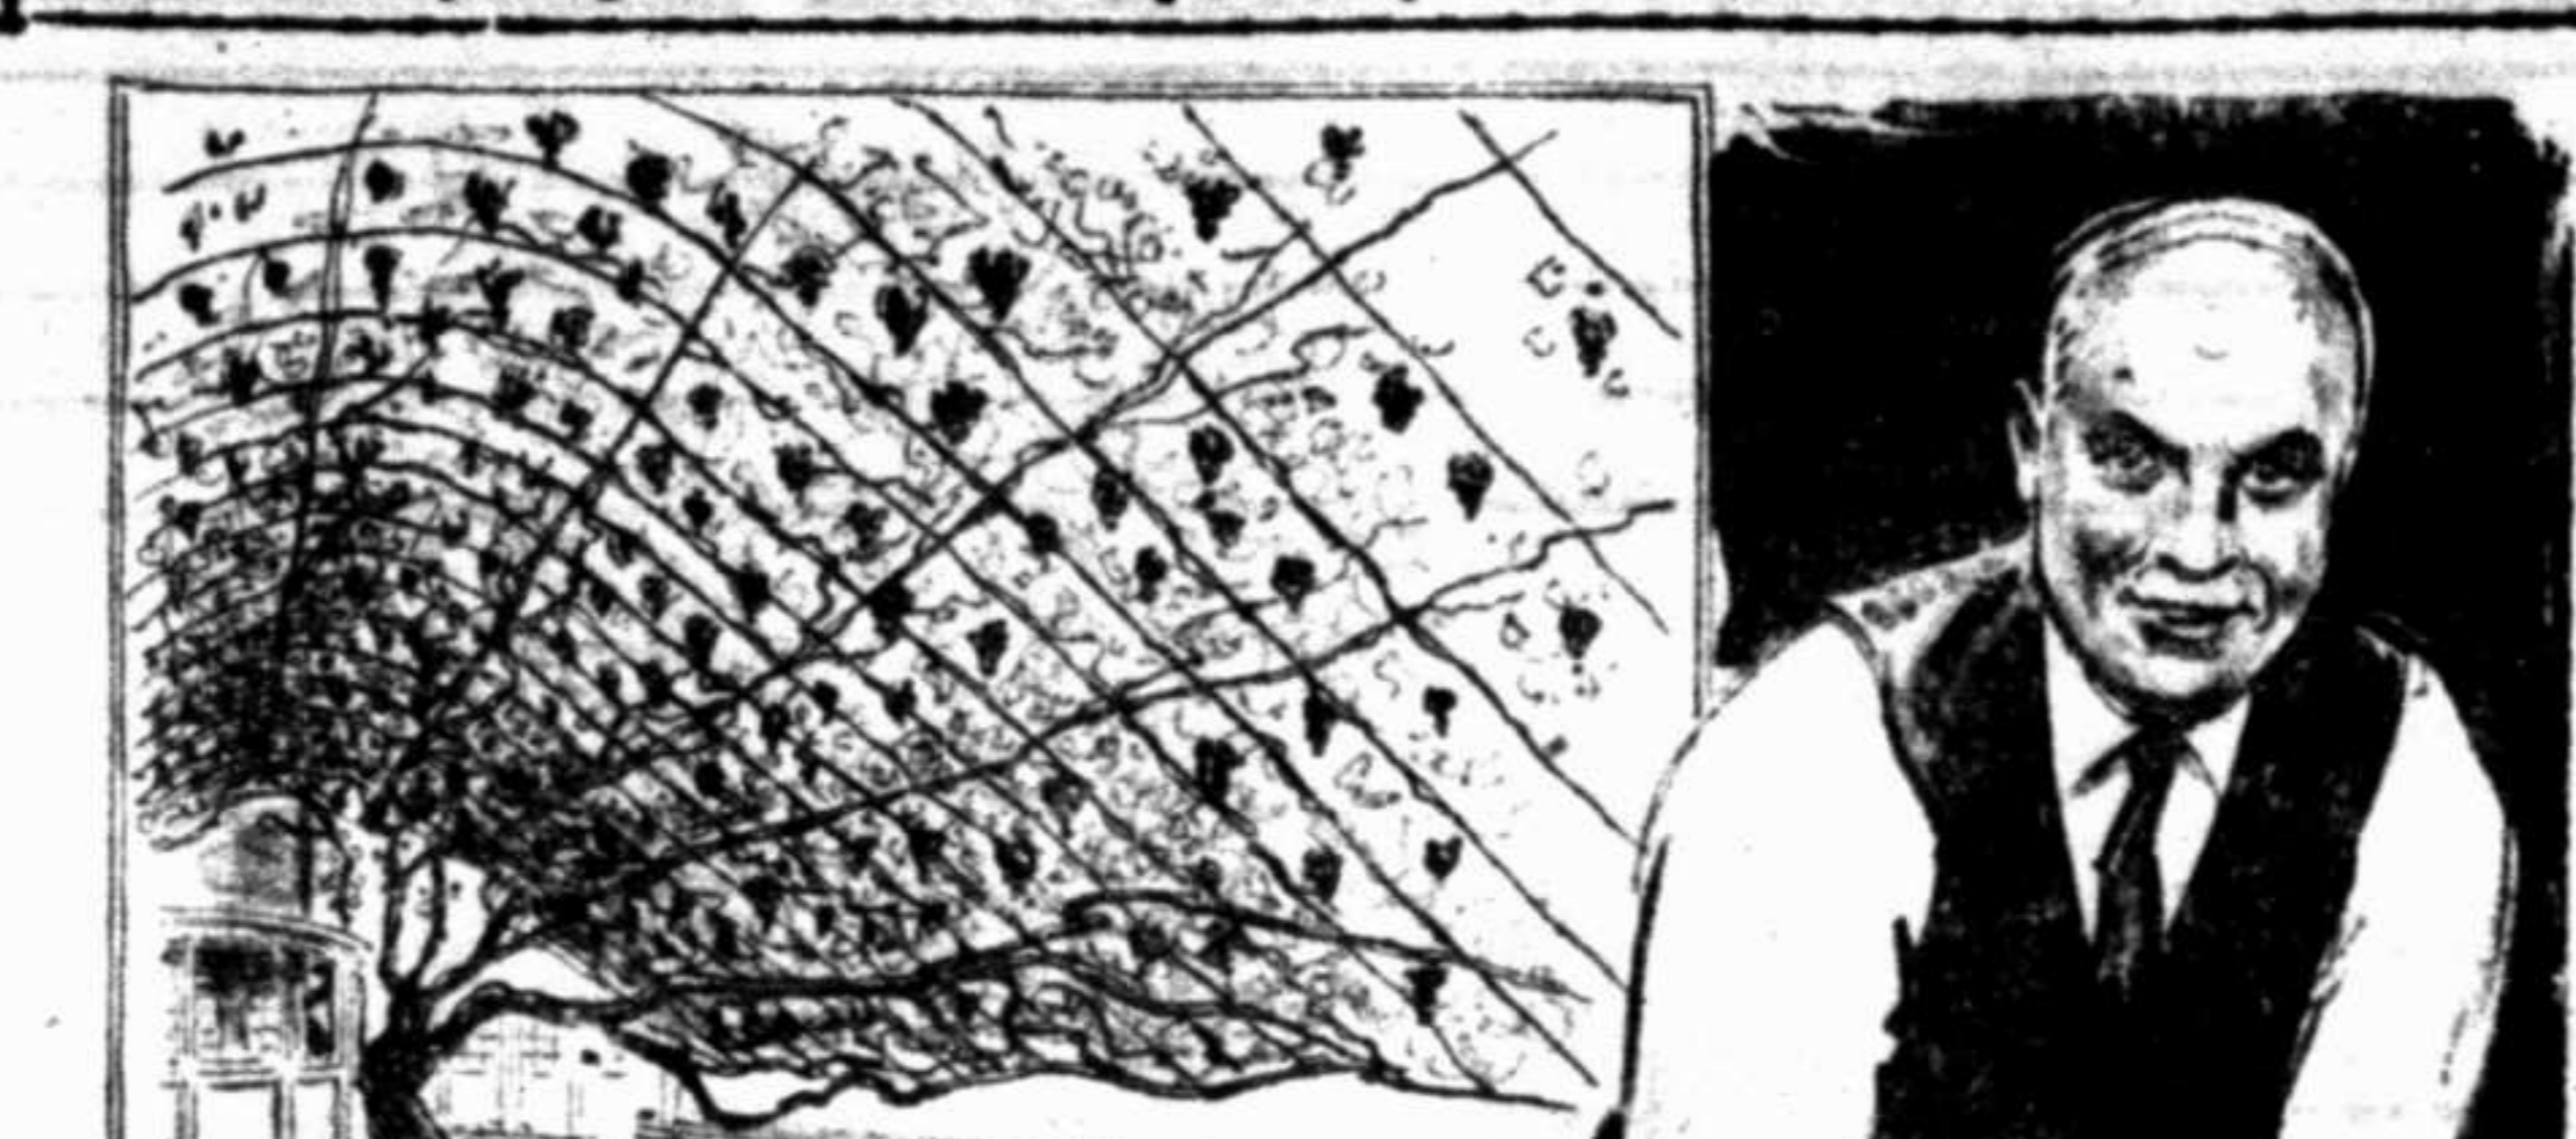

Obviously, therefore, a limp developing in a child is not to be considered as an indication for putting the child to bed with the idea that a little rest will make it go to get up and walk correctly. Such a disturbance must be considered merely the symptom of some deep-seated or unknown condition until its exact cause has been determined, and the necessary steps taken to assure proper control.

TOMORROW—"HOW LONG IS A STRAIGHT LINE?"

Heart Hungry

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN AUTHOR OF "DASH ROMANCE" © 1930 by NEA SERVICE, INC.

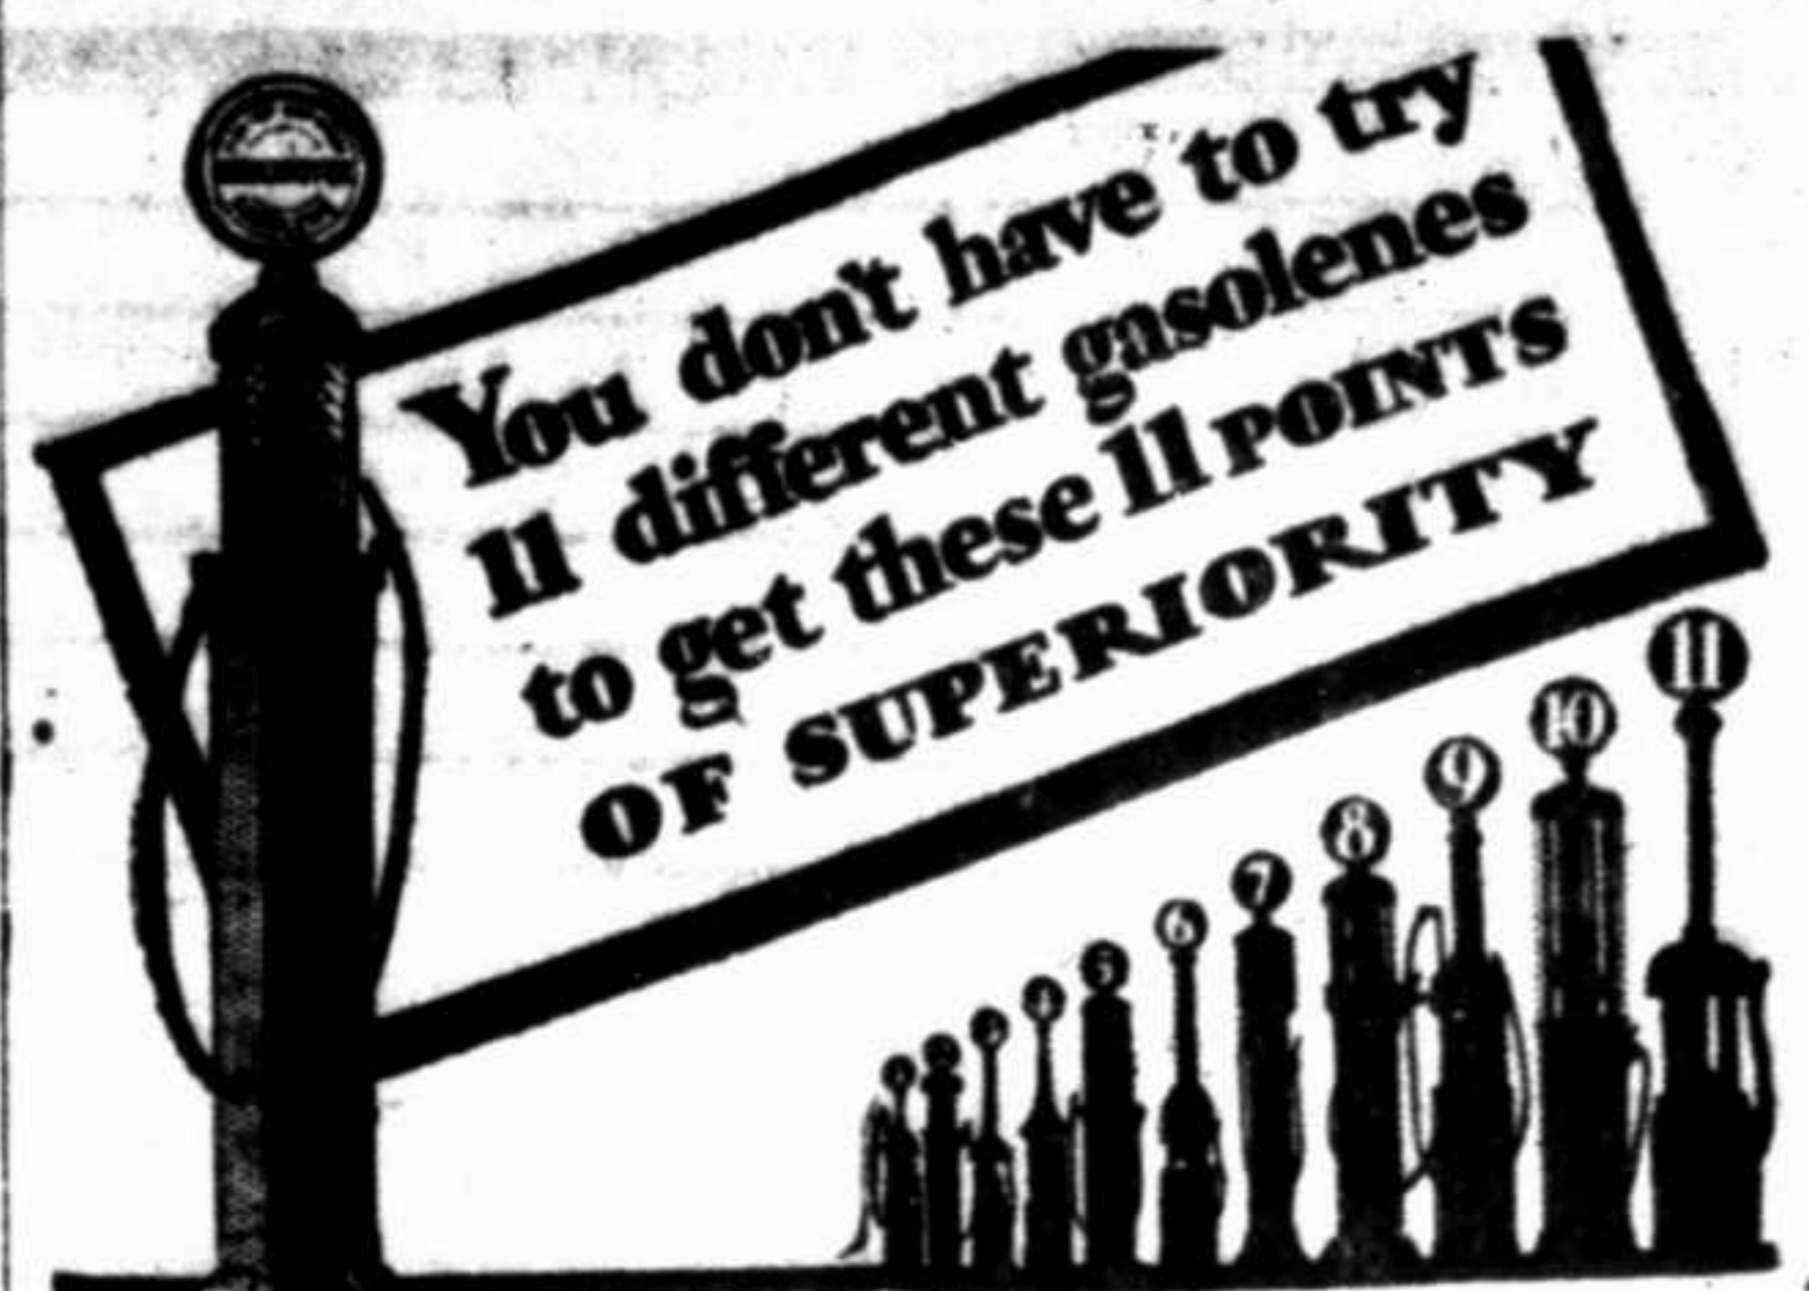

BEGIN HERE TODAY Adventure enters the life of CELIA MITCHELL. It, when she learns the father she has supposed dead is alive and wealthy. She leaves her unpretentious home in Baltimore for a home in New York with her father, JOHN MITCHELL, and her aristocratic grandmother. MARGARET ROGERS, Celia's mother, divorced Mitchell and remarried and is now a widow. BARRY SHIELDS, young newspaper photographer, is in love with the girl and before leaving Baltimore Celia promised to be loyal to his love. She is lonely in her new home. Mitchell asks EVELYN PARSONS, beautiful widow, to introduce the girl to young people. Mrs. Parsons considers Celia a means to win Mitchell's affections and agrees. She invites the girl to her Long Island home for a week-end and there Celia meets TOD JORDAN, fascinating but of dubious character. Mrs. Parsons encourages the match. Celia treats Jordan coolly at first but is won by his romantic love making after he has rescued her from drowning. LINDA DUNCAN, socially prominent, becomes Celia's friend. Mitchell arranges and elaborate party in honor of his daughter's 18th birthday. The party is a dinner dance. Jordan persuades Celia to leave early. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVIII Celia's heart was pounding as she ran up the steps of the old stone house. It must be very late. Suppose her father was angry, even after Evelyn had explained? She tried to open the door. It would not move. For a moment the girl stood terrified. She had been locked out! Helpless she looked up and down the street. There was none to tell her what to do. But then, how could there be? This was her home. She must find a way to arouse someone inside. Then she realized that she was acting ridiculously. The bell of course! She pressed it firmly. Someone was coming. She could hear the footsteps. The lock was turning now. "Celia!" John Mitchell stood in the hallway looking out at her. The girl tried to muster a smile. She held her velvet cloak about her nervously. "I'm sorry, father," she began. "I hope you haven't worried about me. Mrs. Parsons promised—" "Celia, come inside!" Mitchell's voice was harsh and his manner coldly formal. He stepped aside as the girl came in. The atmosphere told her at once that something was wrong. Celia hesitated. Her father went ahead into the drawing room, and she followed. "Do you know what time it is?" the man demanded. He was angry. Celia could tell that from the way he walked, the way he snapped the words out. Her eyes darted to the clock on the mantle. Two-thirty-five was what the dial said. "I didn't know," she answered. "I didn't know the girl could enter. At Mrs. Parsons tell you I was coming home."

KOOLMOTOR the original high test, anti-knock green gas combines them all in ONE!

SOME gasolens are built to make a showy effect in starting—some in pick-up—some in anti-knock performance. Unfortunately these effects are produced at the sacrifice of other phases of performance equally important.

Koolmotor, the original high test, anti-knock green gas, combines the best points of all gasolens in one superior motor fuel.

Koolmotor—the gas that is good throughout—excels in all the 11 points of gasolene quality. It is laboratory tested 11 times in the most exhaustive tests ever given any gasolene—tests for starting, acceleration, anti-knock, power, vapor pressure, odor, corrosion, sulphur, gum content, distillation, and mileage.

You don't have to try 11 different gasolens to get the good points of each. They're all combined in one; Koolmotor, the gas that gives you the greatest mile-by-mile performance money can buy—one gasolene that really justifies its premium price.

ment? The girl had to wait several seconds, restrained by her eyes, and coughing to clear her throat before she could answer.

"We went for a little ride—just through the park. I didn't think it late, and so many people had left the party I thought it would be all right. The others were all dancing."

"So you went for a ride. In the park! Celia Mitchell, I wouldn't have believed that a daughter of mine could do such a thing. Here I've tried to introduce you to young people of the right sort. I've tried to give you everything in the world a girl should have and you—riding with a young man in the park!"

He turned his back and walked away as though the thought were to much. Suddenly she cried aloud.

"How much do you know this young man?" he demanded. "Who are his people? What does he do?"

Celia admitted between sobs that she did not know. Never in her life had she been so humiliated, so stormed at. There was a great blochy tear drop rolling the front of her gown now. No one had ever talked to her this way before.

"There is one thing you are to understand from now on," John Mitchell said firmly. "You are not to see this Jordan again! I mean it! A young man who keeps a girl out until this time of night is not the sort for any respectable young woman to associate with!"

There was a quick answer on Celia's tongue, but she checked it. Didn't her father realize times had changed since his boyhood? She thought of the guests at Mrs. Parsons' house party going for a swim at midnight. Her father was so sure everything about Evelyn Parsons was perfect. Celia might have said some of these things, but one glance at John Mitchell warned her argument was useless.

"Do you understand what I'm saying to you?" he asked.

"Yes, father."

"Then go to your room. It's nearly morning. If your grandmother should have any idea of what you've done tonight I'd hate to picture the consequences! Be quiet as you go up the stairs so not to wake her."

Celia went. She was a pitiful little figure as she mounted the stairs. Softly she turned the knob, opening the door of her bedroom. Then she closed it and switched on the lights. A sorry replica of herself in damaged finery greeted her from the trip mirrors across the room.

The girl went nearer and surveyed herself. Swollen eyes redrimmed. Hair awry. Her cheeks marked by her sobs, and the front of her bodice what a sight!

Her beautiful birthday party—even the memory of the drive with Ted—was ruined now. Celia dropped her coat on a chair. Her eyes were swimming and filled with tears so that it was hard to undo the fasteners which held her dress.

At last she had it off.

She dropped to the bed and let the robe come. Her shoulders rose and fell convulsively. Finally the robe slipped and she lay quiet. Celia noticed the ring on her finger. She set up and took the ring off. It brought her misery back with a fresh start. Her father had said that she should never again see Ted. How could she keep such a promise!

It did not occur to the girl to blame Jordan for her unhappiness. It did not occur to her to suspect Evelyn Parsons of treachery.

Celia rose and dropped the ring in a box on her dressing table. Then she went to the bathroom and bathed her eyes with cool water. It eased their stinging.

Finally the girl turned out the light and crept into bed. She lay in the darkness for several minutes. Then she got up again, snatched on the light and went to her desk, fumbling through a drawer of papers. She found what she sought and returned to bed.

An hour later Celia dropped to sleep. Beneath her cheek, damp with tears, was the birthday letter from her mother.

She telephoned Evelyn Parsons at 10:30 the next morning. Rose said her mistress was having breakfast.

"Will you tell her it's Miss Mitchell calling?" Celia persisted. "Tell her I want to speak to her. It's important."

In a few moments Evelyn's dulcet tones came back over the wire.

"Why, Celia, dear, good morning! How're you feeling after the party?"

Celia swallowed. Then she said: "Good morning! I'm—oh, I'm all right thank you. Mrs. Parsons, I want to see you. I—I want to talk to you about something. Could I come over right away?"

"Why, child—your voice sounds as though something were the matter. Of course, come along!"

Celia stopped just long enough to tell her grandmother she was going to call on Mrs. Parsons, and to wait for Thompson to bring the car around.

She reached Evelyn's fashionable apartment, stepped into the elevator, and a minute later Rose was ushering her into Mrs. Parsons' boudoir.

"Darling! You've been crying!" The older woman's sympathetic tone broke down barriers of restraint. Celia told her all that had happened. Would Mrs. Parsons tell her how she could ever gain her father's respect again? How could she ever undo this tangle?

Evelyn comforted her. She declared that she herself would talk to John Mitchell. Celia was not to worry. Everything would right itself. As for never seeing Ted again, that was nonsense! She would tell Mitchell what a fine young man Jordan was.

The girl returned home feeling her burdens lightened. When she saw her father that evening he believed her clouds were banished.

And then Friday morning she went again with her grandmother to Charlotte's shop.

Mrs. Mitchell had decided she needed a new tea gown. She stood on the fitting block as a seamstress smoothed down folds of lavender crepe. The seamstress dropper her ball of pins. It rolled within an inch of Celia's toe.

"Let me get it for you!" the girl said. She picked up the object and returned it smiling.

Her grandmother stiffened. She made no comment until they were in the car again. Then she said: "Celia, your conduct speaking to that sewing woman was outrageous. Don't you know you can't treat tradespeople as equals?"

"I didn't," the girl began.

"That's enough!" snapped Mrs. Mitchell. "You are not to be familiar with common working people!"

The girl's eyes blazed. Don't you see that! she cried. My mother works, and she's not common!"

Return Eighth, Ninth Members Of Kidnap Band

Last Two Suspect Arrested in Connection with Abduction of Earl Youcum Being Taken to Henry County

DETROIT, Nov. 5. (AP)—Sheriff Charles Nash of Henry county, Ill., started home today with the eighth and ninth prisoners to be arrested in connection with the kidnaping of Earl L. Youcum, Galva, Ill., banker.

His prisoners are Lloyd Winslow, Stark county, Illinois, farmer, and Roland Schmelz of Forrest, Ill., brought Winslow to Detroit on what police say was an intended flight to Canada. Sheriff Nash said Winslow, whom he accused of participation in the actual kidnaping, was permitted to make a "full statement" when the teacher, Illinois, Schmelz is being returned as a co-suspect.

After an investigation, Sheriff Nash said the death of Clarence Radtke, of Kewanee, Ill., who was held to be an acquaintance of Winslow's, arrest in Detroit, Radtke's body was found in his automobile at Charlotte, Mich. Officials there said he was a victim of carbon monoxide fumes from an improvised heater in his car.

Report Six Fires Here for October

Only six fires were reported here in October and total loss was $3,798.30, according to a report by W. L. Metcalf, city fire marshal, to the state fire insurance commission. A copy of the report was filed Wednesday with the city commission. A loss was reported in only three of the six conflagrations. One blaze caused $3,000 damage, another $150 loss and the third total damage of $756.30, of which $300 was on contents.

A total of 390 fire inspections during October was reported by the fire marshal. There are a few business houses which have not corrected conditions," said Fire Marshal Metcalf. Most such cases were overloading of electrical circuits by addition to the original systems of circuits, he said. The additions had been made without inspection and approval of the fire marshal.

Open Bids for Steel for New Building Here

Contract May Be Awarded on Between 425 and 450 Tons of Steel for Temple Ellis Structure Today

Bids for 425 to 450 tons of steel for the new six-story Temple Ellis office building, Broadway and Texas avenue, were opened Wednesday. The contract may be let today, the contractor said.

Steel for the structure may total slightly more than 450 tons, it was estimated by contractors, J. J. Clements and the general contractor, J. J. Clements.

Requirements for steel will run about 300 tons, or 600,000 pounds of structural steel and about 125 to 150 tons or 250,000 or 300,000 pounds of steel for joist. Other steel needs are expected to run about 25 tons.

Mr. Clements said the steel for the building is being ordered from the local market. The steel is being ordered from the local market.

Footings for the steel columns are not yet started. They are 24 and 28 feet average from four to eight feet deep. One hole alone had 37 cubic yards of dirt removed.

To Carry 12 Stories Engineers have checked the plans and the structure and they claim the steel to be installed will support the building 12 stories.

Plans are still in the hands of the architect, S. B. Haynes. Engineers and experts have gone over them thoroughly and they will be ready for issuance shortly.

We are not going down into the ground again after this, if we have to add more stories to the building, Temple Ellis said in announcing bids for the steel. "We are putting the foundation in to stand for 12 stories if necessary."

Build Higher "This building is being built to last at any time we need to add two or three stories, we can go right on up. The roof is being made so that all we have to do is to start our work on top. There need be no concrete ones to be installed in the building when we have to build more."

Contracts for plumbing and heating are yet to be let as well as the contract for the electrical work. Other sub contracts may be let also.

Mr. Ellis stated that the building will have 123 rooms in the five upper floors of the building. Many of them have been contracted for by former tenants who are anxious to get back into the new building.

The building has a 75 foot frontage on Broadway and a 110 foot depth on Texas avenue. It will be fireproof throughout and modern with elevator service and the usual arrangements of suites of rooms for tenants.

Interior walls are to be of brick and concrete to permit changes to suit tenants.

Members have filed pleas of intervention in the hearing, which is expected to be held before Examiner Davis, of the commerce commission.

The Santa Fe, Rock Island, and Fort Worth and Denver city railways have indicated that they will fight the case and a formidable array of legal talent is expected at the hearing to oppose granting of a certificate of convenience to the Texas & Pacific Northern, a part of the Texas & Pacific organization.

Matters of selecting quarters for the hearing and other details relative to the case will be considered soon at a meeting of the chamber of commerce board of directors. Several hundred persons are expected to be here in connection with the hearing.

The proposed line would include Lubbock and Amarillo, stretching from Big Spring to Vega. Estimated cost of the proposed railway recently was reported as $13,000,000.

Moving picture theaters in Lubbock are now playing to capacity.

Officers Fail To Nab Capone

Anonymous Telephone Message Sends Police Squad Hurrying to Rooming House; 13 Men Are Arrested

CHICAGO, Nov. 5. (AP)—An anonymous telephone call sent a police squad hurrying to a rooming house on South Halsted street last night to apprehend Al Capone, gangland-ruler.

Capone and Ted Newberry, whom the tipster had informed would be with his new chief, were not present, but officers seized 13 men and six revolvers.

Among those apprehended were Frankie Roy "Public enemy" and reputed bodyguard and companion of Capone during a jail term in Philadelphia, and Ronald V. Libonatti, leading on the basis of early reports in the race for state representative in the 7th district. Libonatti said the information which led to the raid was given by political foes.

The men were busy tabulating election returns from a radio when the officers demanded entrance. Police said they learned Capone and Newberry had been at the place shortly before the raid.

Stock Markets Maintains the General Trend for Day Following Elections

BY JOHN L. COOLEY Associated Press Financial Writer NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—The day after election found the stock market steady, but with a general downward trend. It had held for many weeks before election.

Today's declines, ranging from 1 to 3 points, doubtless attracted wide attention because of the results of the election. Trading was fairly active on all stages and steady prices were maintained in most of the leading issues. U. S. Steel, Westinghouse, Consolidated Gas and Pennsylvania railroad, were among the narrow safety issues that had separated them from new lows for the year.

The market was dull, but 1525 million for the averages was maintainable because of the weakness in the basic stocks. The market was 1/2 cent lower at the close of the day.

NEEDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK KANSAS CITY, Nov. 5. (AP)—Moderate activity developed around the eleven grades of steer and yearling at firm to higher prices. Lower grades of beef mostly steady to higher prices. Hogs were in good demand. The market was 1/2 cent lower at the close of the day.

Wheat made new lows for the season on losses of 3 to 5 cents a bushel, which was due to a report that the crop was 10 percent below the normal. The market was 1/2 cent lower at the close of the day.

Officially said bodies of the known dead had been identified within the mine.

John Bean, a mine boss, also was a member of the party, officials said.

Rescue work was proceeding in an orderly manner with troops of the Ohio National guard doing patrol duty. Frantic relatives of the trapped miners who gathered about the mine mouth soon after the first explosion, were quieted, and those needing medical attention were treated at an improvised first aid station set up in an engine room of the mine.

Tonight mothers, daughters, sons and wives lined about behind the soldier picket lines, anxiously peering toward the mine shaft where rescue parties went back and forth into the working. Some moaned softly, others were silent. As each relay of relief workers came out, anxious eyes strained, hoping against hope.

"I was troubled with stomach ailments for five years," said Mr. J. B. Wicks, 613 Avenue B, San Antonio. "Nervousness was also an ailment that worried me. I took a lot of medicines over this period of time but Konjola was the only one to help. I was very careful what I ate because of gas pains. Back pains, too, were troublesome. I did not always sleep well at night and was losing my appetite. I lost weight steadily.

"My appetite began to improve almost from the beginning of the Konjola treatment. I ate heartily without the dreaded gas pains and back pains were leaving. My nervous condition, also, was greatly relieved. Now after a two weeks treatment I feel better than I have in years. I have gained three pounds in the last eight days and I give Konjola all the credit."

"And so it goes—the same glad story whenever this great medicine is given a chance to make good. Konjola is recommended for ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

Konjola is sold in Lubbock, Texas, at Bowen's Drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Colorful Parade to Be Staged Here
In Connection With 1st Annual Rodeo
At Tech College; Show Starts Friday

A colorful procession of performers astride horses, "La Riema del Rodeo" and her attendants in cow-girl regalia, and other students at Texas Technological college will parade through downtown streets Saturday afternoon in connection with the first annual rodeo of the school of agriculture.

The parade, expected to be one of the longest to march through Lubbock streets, will be held immediately before the second presentation of the roundup program. The first show will be held Friday night. The final will be Saturday night.

To Start At 1
Scheduled to begin at 1 o'clock, the procession will mobilize on Broadway, head of the line being in front of the Methodist Episcopal church. The rodeo parade will go east on Broadway to Avenue G, turn north to Main street, west on Main street to Thirteenth street and Avenue J, back to Broadway and west to the college.

The Technological college band, garbed in colorful new uniforms, will lead the parade followed by the rodeo queen, "La Riema del Rodeo," Miss Kathleen Harmon, of Lampasas, and her two ladies-in-waiting, Miss Ola Reeder and Miss Venetia Gilkerson, both of Lubbock.

Others who will perform at the rodeo, in addition to the student contestants, will be in the procession. Those arranging the two-day program of range sports have invited everyone who has a horse to ride in the parade.

From 20 to 25 girls, members of the college riding class, will be in the long line.

Autos To Parade
Decorated automobiles, as well as collegiate vehicles, are expected to parade also.

A truckload of long horn steers will be included in the procession. Clowns will march or ride to amuse the crowd.

Thirty students of the school of agriculture will lay aside campus attire to don sombrero, boots and spurs to participate in the school's first annual rodeo. Broncho riding, steer riding, goat and calf roping, relay races and other events are billed.

A coming and going contest in which two student punchers will face each other on the back of a single steer, each attempting to stay on the back of the bucking range animal, is one of the bits scheduled.

Details Worked Out
The rodeo is being sponsored by the students in the School of Agriculture, with Junior students in charge, assisted by Seniors and other students. From fifty to seventy students have been busy for the past two weeks working out details for the rodeo.

Facilities at the Tech have been made ready for the event. The arena, chutes, pens and other equipment have been prepared just south of the Dairy barn. Plans are being made for a big parade Saturday afternoon just before the second showing of the rodeo.

Opens Friday Night
The rodeo will open Friday night. Another showing will be held Saturday afternoon and the final show will be Saturday evening.

All contestants are students in the college and a majority of the boys have been out on ranches where they have gained much experience that will qualify them to put on a good rodeo show.

The show Friday evening and Saturday afternoon will be elimination contests for the contestants and the finals will be held Saturday evening, when prizes will be awarded.

Nine Cases Set
For Trial Here

A total of nine cases of state liquor law violations are on the November term criminal docket of Seventy-second district court. It was announced Wednesday by Durwood Bradley, district attorney. Criminal cases set for hearing total 18, District Attorney Bradley said.

November 12, the day following Armistice Day, a holiday. All cases are set for that week.

Cases not heard the first week will be heard the week of November 17. Burton Burks, assistant district attorney, added.

Cases announced are as follows: Martin T. Smith, burglary; B. F. Polson, two cases of forgery; Claude Davis, R. H. Jones, E. A. McDonough, W. Johnson, Ray Myers, violation prohibition law; R. B. Kelley, two cases forgery; Carl Sharpe, burglary; W. B. King, Jack Lyons.

Paul L. Gifford, J. W. Mabry, violation prohibition law; N. K. Gant, theft of over $50; B. W. Mullin, two cases forgery.

LAUDS SAFETY CONTESTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Pointing to the high toll industrial accidents exact in the United States annually, Robert P. Lamont, secretary of commerce, made a radio address today praising safety contests as the means of preventing mishaps.

Columbia
PHONOGRAPH AND RADIO
COMBINATION
TELE-FOCAL
Power Detection
.. No Dead Spots & Dial..
Never before have you thrilled to such RECORD reproduction as the new Columbia Radio-Phonograph Combination delivers. Never before have you experienced such amazing RADIO performance!
THE RADIO is Columbia's new 8-tube screen grid Tele-focal receiver—THE RADIO WITH NO DEAD SPOTS ON THE DIAL. It pulls in programs on every notch of the dial—stations you've never heard before. And, with all this remarkable sensitivity, the Tele-focal Radio gets you each station sharp and clear—WITH NO OVERLAPPING.
THE PHONOGRAPH is Columbia's triumph of acoustical and electrical art. In THIS Electric Reproducing record player tone is richer, volume is fuller. For every note is caught from the record by a new, improved type of electric pickup—and delivered through a new, improved electro-dynamic speaker. Every note comes to you "like life itself!"
In addition to this new Columbia Radio-Phonograph Combination, you can also get the new COLUMBIA TELE-FOCAL RADIO ALONE in two handsome cabinet models—high-boy and low-boy. Both are exquisite examples of the finest cabinet work—both are beautifully finished.
COME AND HEAR for yourself the magnificent performance of the Radio and the Phonograph of the new Columbia Combination. SEE for yourself the rich beauty of this Combination's walnut-finished cabinet—beauty that will harmonize with the finest living room suite. See and operate, too, the beautiful Columbia Tele-focal Radio—priced lower, of course, than the Combination but giving you the same extraordinary radio reception.
