Greece Claims Invaders Driven Back; Air Forces Clash

Fascist Troops Fail To Gain On Any Front

Italian Reports Conflict With Greek Stories

(By The Associated Press)

ATHENS, Nov. 1.—Greece's tiny air force swapped blows with the vastly more numerous warplanes of Italy today while Greek ground forces in the northwest declared they had pushed one segment of the Italian invasion back to the Albanian frontier.

Greek planes flew back and forth over the wild, mountainous border area, cutting loose with bombs and bullets at the Italians wherever they could find them. The Fascist air arm itself was busy blasting at the islands of Crete and Corfu and the city of Larisa on the rail line running north from Athens; Piraeus, Athens' big port, and the port of Salonika.

(Reuters, British news agency, reported from Athens the Greeks not only hurled the Italians back to the Albanian frontier but stormed and captured an important mountain and seized an Albanian area embracing several villages.

Casualties Reported

(This advance apparently was in the vicinity of Koritza, just across the border in Albania, where Greek fighters captured a height dominating the town after fierce hand-to-hand fighting, exchange telegraph, another British news agency, reported.

(Exchange Telegraph said Greek fliers dropped three tons of bombs on two Italian airdromes at Koritza, destroying one and badly damaging the other.)

A Greek announcement said 88 persons were killed and 206 injured.

ITALIANS CLAIM GAINS.

ROME, Nov. 1 — Italian armored motorized units were officially declared tonight to have made apparent headway in Greece's Metsovo line at some points, pushing forward over rugged terrain heavy with three or four inches of snow.

For other and larger Fascist forces was claimed the capture of a populous area, extending 35 miles within the invaded country in the region of Ioannina, the strategically important Greek city which is the main immediate objective of the Italian campaign.

Soviet-Nazi Talks Are Said Started

(By The Associated Press)

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 1. Nazis in Rumania said tonight that Germany was initiating negotiations with Soviet Russia for an understanding on the Balkans and Near East.

Hitler was reported to be using his veteran trouble-shooter, Franz von Papen, now ambassador to Turkey. Von Papen left here today enroute to Berlin and it was reported that his return is in connection with the proposed understanding.

Germany was represented as anxious to eliminate any possibility of conflict with Russia over both the Dardanelles, which Turkey guards, or over oil-rich Iran and other areas where the interests of the two great powers may overlap.

The Germans are willing to make some concessions, it was reported, but it was considered problematical whether an agreement satisfactory to both parties could be effected.

World Record Said Set By Seed Farms

SNYDER, Nov. 1. (Special)—What is believed to be a world's record of its kind was established here today when 87 bales of cotton were brought in from the Von Roeder Seed farms at Knapp, 20 miles southwest of Snyder.

Of the 87 bales turned out at a Snyder gin, 84 rated good middling and three strict middling.

J. C. Ezell, local manager of the Sweetbater Production Credit association, said all the cotton, grown from Texas Mammoth seed, pulled fifteen-sixteenths of an inch staple.

Robert Warren, who farms on the Von Roeder land, recently set the Snyder record with 16 bales ginned in one day. Warren's cotton brought from 10.2 to 11.46 cents a pound.

MASON DIES.

HAMILTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—William S. Tate, 68, for 27 years a member of the committee on work, Masonic Grand lodge of Texas, died at his home here today. Funeral services will be held Sunday.

Put On Yore Running Shoes, Gals, 'Cause Sadie Hawkins Day Will Be Observed Today

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche Staff Writer

SPINSTERS and bachelor-girls have a dual reason for wearing track shoes today, and eligible bachelors ample excuse for staying home in bed.

For it is not only Sadie Hawkins day. It is a leap-year Sadie Hawkins day, and Lubbock's youth plans to celebrate it as it has never been celebrated before—except, of course, in Dogpatch.

The Westerner World, Senior High school newspaper, Friday issued a special Dogpatch edition replete with pictures of moosefaced Sadie Hawkins, "the cause of it all," winsome and fleet-footed Daisy Mae and pore Li'l Abner, who is scheduled to be six feet under ground before the day is over.

"Dogpatch is ateemin' with excitement as the day fo' the big Sadie Hawkins day race comes nearer," said Doris Cherry, assistant editor of the paper, in the banner story. "Poosh onmarried Dogpatch boys is bitin' their fingah nails in terror and wringin' their hands in dispare, whilst the gals exercises their laigs and secretly sniffs their skunk parfum."

Pictures of Mayor Promethus J. Gurgle and Ole Man Mose, "the man who nose," were also prominently featured. Even the ads were written appropriately, one downtown dress shop avowing that Li'l Abner would willingly chase a girl who wore one of its dresses.

U. S. Naval Moves Cause Speculation

American Forces May Be Preparing To Seize French Territory In Caribbean

By J. C. STARK
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. — Secret movements of United States naval forces in the eastern Caribbean area stirred considerable interest here tonight.

Warships and planes appeared to be gathering in the area of French possessions at the eastern end of the Caribbean but there was no explanation in official quarters.

The entire neutrality patrol fleet from Key West, Fla., was at sea on a secret mission; air reinforcements arrived at San Juan, Puerto Rico, and an undetermined number of warships was observed off San Juan steaming east into the Atlantic today.

Two Explanations

Speculation in unofficial quarters centered on two possible explanations:

1. That the naval forces were being concentrated near the French islands of Martinique and Guadaloupe and French Guiana, on the South American mainland, in readiness to occupy them immediately in the event the Vichy government's collaboration with Germany and Italy was considered an impairment of French sovereignty over parts of the colonial empire.

2. That the neutrality patrol was taking increased precautions against possible Axis sea raiding operations in southern waters, either in the South Atlantic or the Caribbean approach to the Panama canal.

Another Reason

A third possible reason given was that the naval vessels might be engaged in work connected with the establishment of bases on sites recently acquired from the British. It was believed, however, that this would call for less secrecy than has been observed in connection with the present naval movements.

French assurances that the negotiations with the Axis powers had not involved use of strategic bases or otherwise impaired France's sovereignty over its colonial empire appeared to have been received with some reserve here pending a more complete explanation of the Vichy government's collaboration with Germany and Italy.

Apart from the French possessions in this hemisphere, officials were interested in Dakar, in French West Africa—the nearest African point to

McDonald Asks Votes For GOP

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 1. — Asserting the New Deal farm program was causing the South to grow crops in competition with the Middle West, Texas Democratic Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald tonight asked American farmers to throw aside party politics and vote for Willkie-McNary ticket.

McDonald, storm center of the Democratic party in Texas since he recently endorsed the Republican presidential nominee, made a radio network address aimed at the "blighting" New Deal farm policies.

Long a critic of the AAA, McDonald declared it was impairing the farmer's self respect by maintaining him at a bare subsistence level.

He added:

"Seven years is long enough for the American people to tolerate the New Deal's fallacious agricultural theories. It is time to make a change. It is time to remove the American farmer from the roll of charity and make it unnecessary for him to accept government doles and regimentation.

"Mr. Wendell L. Willkie and Sen-

Widely-Known Man In Oil Circles Dies

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1 (AP)—Floyd D. Ballentine, 43, land superintendent for the Texas-New Mexico division of the Continental Oil company, died in a hospital here today after an illness of ten days.

Ballentine had been connected with the oil company for more than twenty years. He came to the Fort Worth office ten years ago from Ponca City, Okla., where he started with the company.

A native of Pennsylvania, Ballentine moved with his family to Blackwell, Okla., at an early age.

Ballentine was well-known throughout the nation's oil circles, especially in Texas and New Mexico.

Dairy Program Held At Tech

Importance of production of high quality cream on the farm was stressed by Dr. N. W. Hepburn, executive secretary of the American Butter institute, of Chicago, at the West Texas Dairy day program at Texas Technological college Friday.

Mold mycelia, new test developed by the federal food and drug commission, to determine quality of butter, was discussed by Dr. Hepburn. The amount of mold mycelia, a harmless mold which may be detected only by scientific test, reveals the manner in which the cream was handled before making of butter.

The speaker urged that farmers improve quality of cream by more speedy handling, sanitary conditions and proper cooling. Cream should be delivered to the creamery, about three times a week in the summer, twice in winter, he said.

Six To Nine Best

Research has revealed that the dairyman exercises greater care and production is more economical when he has from six to nine cows.

There were two distinct phases in the day's program, said K. M. Reuner, head professor of dairy manufactures at Tech, who presided. One dealt with improvement of quality and the other with more economical production. Approximately 500 persons registered at the meeting held in the gymnasium.

W. L. Stangel, head professor of animal husbandry at Tech, and Jack

Raiders Blasted By Britain's Sharpshooters

Good Performance Is Turned In By Ground Defenders

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 2, (Saturday) — Sharpshooting British ground batteries blasted five German raiders out of the dank skies over England last night and early today in one of their best night's shooting performances of the 56-day-old Nazi air siege, the air ministry announced.

Their performance, during an eight hour raid which ended in the early morning hours today, brought to 13 the number of German craft announced officially as downed since dawn Friday. Six British planes were lost but two of the British pilots were saved.

BIT BOTH ENDS.

LONDON, Nov. 1—British air raiders, striking again at both ends of the Rome-Berlin Axis, bombed Naples harbor in their first attack on the southern Italian mainland, the air ministry reported today.

Three waves of British planes beat the city under attack for three quarters of an hour, it said, and dropped explosives on its railroad station and junction, on oil storage tanks and refineries.

New Weapons Hinted

Whether the anti-aircraft batteries had been provided with new weapons or whether they are getting sharper shooting eyes was not disclosed, and the absence of any unusual circumstances about the night's raids led to speculation in this direction.

It was a fact, however, that the Germans punched at the capital and other parts of the United Kingdom with one of the heaviest attacks in a week and the night's anti-aircraft barrage was especially lively.

In one Midland town a number of persons were trapped in a factory

Woman Is Hurt When Hit By Car

Mrs. Paula Stacker, 19, of Lorenzo route 1 suffered extensive, though not dangerous, injuries late Friday night when she was struck by an automobile about two miles west of Lorenzo, investigators were told.

She was brought to West Texas hospital and remained there for observation and treatment. An authority said Mrs. Stacker suffered possible fractures of both feet and of the left arm, and had a head injury and numerous lacerations over the body.

W. H. Simpson, 41, farmer of Floydada, told highway patrolmen the woman stepped from behind a parked car and into the path of the machine he was driving. Simpson's car struck the young woman, knocking her to the pavement, authorities said.

Other occupants of the car from which Mrs. Stacker alighted were Webb Moore and Tommy Askew of Lorenzo and J. P. Skelton of Acuff.

B. J. Patterson and B. L. Woodell of the highway patrol investigated.

Hospital authorities at midnight said x-ray examination would be made today to further determine extent of the woman's injuries.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Hutchinson of Amherst on birth of a son weighing 8 pounds 1 1-2 ounces at 4:07 o'clock Friday afternoon in West Texas hospital. The father is a school teacher.

It Was A Good Hallowe'en Prank, And For Just That Reason Hold-Up Failed To Work

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 1 — It was Hallowe'en, so when two youths wearing masks and lugging a pistol entered the filling station, Attendant Frank Murphy entered right into the spirit.

"This is a stickup," warned one lad to Murphy, who sat feet cocked on stove.

Murphy kidded right back.

"You have two seconds to open the cash register."

"Why, there's nothing in it."

Two seconds . . . then blam!!

Shooting blanks was a good Hallowe'en stunt.

"What kind of a gun you got there," Murphy asked. "A 32?"

"Naw, a 38, and if you don't open up I'll let you have it."

The kids' mouths were twitching. They can't keep from laughing, thought Murphy.

The pair stood around a few minutes "hemming and hawing," Murphy said, and left.

This afternoon, the porter noticed a rung knocked from Murphy's chair. In the corner was a slug from a .38.

Willkie, Ending Transcontinental Tour, Says FDR's Policies Lead Toward Chaos

(By The Associated Press)

WENDELL WILLKIE wound up his transcontinental campaign tour yesterday with a swing through New Jersey during which he said that administration fiscal policies were leading to "inflation, bankruptcy and chaos" and declared that "out of the ashes of those things come dictators."

As the special train which has been the Republican nominee's campaign home headed for a Jersey siding to be broken up, President Roosevelt started off on a tour through New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Two major addresses were on Mr. Roosevelt's schedule, the first at Brooklyn last night, and the other at Cleveland tonight.

Before leaving Washington, the president disclosed that he had changed his plans and would return to the national capital after his Ohio speech and then go to Hyde Park, N. Y. Originally, he had planned to go directly to Hyde Park to remain until after election. The change in plans was made, he said, because the international situation made it advisable for him to keep in close touch with matters in Washington.

Stops were made for speeches as Mr. Willkie's train wound through Jersey on the last leg of his 18,000-mile campaign tour.

At Elizabeth, the Republican nominee expressed amazement at what he said was the president's silence on the third term issue.

"Here is a man running for office," he said, "in violation of a tradition almost as old as the republic. As yet he offers no reason why he should be permitted to violate that sacred tradition."

With his tour over, Mr. Willkie will remain in New York until after election. He is to speak tonight in Madison Square garden and will speak on the radio Monday night.

Mr. Roosevelt also will make a radio address election eve.

In addition to the electioneering of party orators, there were these developments yesterday.

Pickets carrying such placards as "stop intimidating voters" and

Roosevelt Says Republicans Backed By 'Unholy Alliance'

BELLE OF BALL—This is Jinx Falkenberg, beauteous model. What did she do? Well, she not only appeared mysteriously as a guest at the East's most difficult-to-crash debutante party, the Tuxedo Park, N. Dictatorship Is Said Sought By Radicals

By MAX BOYD
Associated Press Staff Writer

BROOKLYN, Nov. 1.—President Roosevelt charged tonight that an "unholy alliance" had been formed in the Republican party by "the extreme reactionary and the extreme radical elements in this country," they having no common ground except to "produce dictatorial ends."

Starting a final, intensive 24-hour campaign through New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, the president spoke over a nationwide NBC network before a crowd which filled the old Academy of Music to its capacity of about 4,000 persons.

Old Story Cited

The president declared that every one knew the story about the unfortunate chameleon "who died a tragic death when they put him on a scotch plaid," and added:

"We all know what would happen to government if it tried to fulfill all the secret understandings and promises made between the conflicting groups which are now backing the Republican party."

He declared "something evil" was happening when "a full page advertisement against this administration, paid for by Republican supporters" appeared in "the newspaper of the Communist party" and "when vast quantities of Republican campaign literature are distributed by organizations which make no secret of their admiration for the dictatorship form of government."

Every one should remember, he said, "what the collaborative understanding between Communism and

Egyptian Drive Started Again

(By The Associated Press)

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 1 — Italy's long-stalled invasion of Egypt came to life today in a new burst of fighting across the sands of the western desert, indicating Mussolini may be unfolding a grand plan to coordinate this drive with his campaign against Greece.

In a revival of heavy desert fighting, the RAF reported eight Italian warplanes were downed and four more so badly damaged they probably failed to reach their bases yesterday in a battle over Matruh. British advance base blocking the Fascist drive toward the Nile and the Suez canal.

More Activity

British fighters lost two planes. Two others collided but the pilots parachuted to safety.

The Italian high command reported 17 British planes downed in the Egyptian battle and said Fascist ground forces struck at British troops 25 miles east of Sidi Barrani.

Fascist Editor Charges FDR

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, Nov. 1.—President Roosevelt was accused today by Virginio Gayda, the highly-placed Fascist editor of, initiating an offensive against Germany and Italy and of responsibility of creating, along with his supporters, an ideological political conflict which is skidding toward belligerency between the United States and the Axis.

He declared again, however, that Italy is not interested in the outcome of the presidential election in the United States.

Proof Is Asked

Writing in Il Giornale d'Italia, Gayda—who frequently speaks official Fascist opinion—offered what he termed an answer to the speech of last Saturday night by Cordell Hull, United States secretary of state.

That speech, said Gayda, "pretended again to change the elementary truth of the Fascists, inventing an Axis menace against America."

He went on to ask "these bellicose Americans" to "furnish one single, concrete, documented proof" of such a menace.

Secretary Hull described the rulers of Germany, Italy and Japan as "would be conquerors" attempting to reduce mankind to "a master-and-slave relationship among na-

Relations Of 2 Nations Will Be Continued

Turkey Also Is "Collaborating" With Britain

(By The Associated Press)

ANKARA, Nov. 1.—Turkey will continue her relations with Soviet Russia "despite all other occurrences," the official Turkish radio announced tonight.

"Turkish-Russian relations in this confused period are unique," the radio said. "Our country, despite all other occurrences, will continue its relations" with Russia.

Already, Turkey's President Ismet Inonu, heir to Kemal Ataturk as leader of this reborn nation, had informed his national assembly today that Turkey would follow Russia's lead and stay out of war for the present.

May Take Offense

The radio, summarizing the president's speech, said it showed that "Turkey is non-belligerent," and then added this comment:

"Greece may leave the defense and begin a march for the Albanian frontier . . . slowness of the Italian advance indicated Italy was ill-prepared."

The president declared that "Greece, in whose security and well-being we are very interested and which lies in our zone of security, unfortunately has been dragged into the war."

But, President Inonu insisted, Turkey is weighing the whole situation in collaboration with her ally Britain; she will fight instantly if attacked, and "we remain loyal to our friendships; our obligations and ties of collaboration are unshakeable."

His stress on the "friendly turn" of Turkey's relations with the Soviet union, following "a critical period," gave foreign observers the idea that this was the key to Turkey's decision.

Waits On Russia

Thus Turkey, they believed, will wait for Russia's signal before entering the Balkan war which has been started by Italy's incursion into Greece, unless she first is attacked or considers herself menaced by such a development as the entrance of Bulgaria into hostilities on the side of the Axis.

"Soviet police," said Inonu, "in this dark world is the one of the greatest security. We have decided to act for the interests of our nation without harming anyone else."

Meanwhile, as Inonu indicated by words and action, Turkey will hold fast to her mutual defense treaty with Britain and consult with the representatives of the warring power.

Situation Studied

"Our neighbors the Greeks unfortunately have been called into war," said Inonu, "and we, with our ally, Britain, are studying the situation. Our country has decided to defend our independence, security

Request For Funds Confirmed By FDR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt today confirmed reports that Congress probably would be asked soon for additional funds to expand the warplane production program.

Word that possibly $2,000,000,000 would be sought for the purpose had come previously from official sources.

The prospective new program, Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference, would be based on the objective of increasing the industry's annual rate of production to 50,000 planes.

Last month, officials said, 920 planes were produced in American factories for the army and navy and the British.

The recent British proposal to purchase 12,000 planes, in addition to previously-placed orders, made it obviously necessary for the defense commission to arrange for new plants, through private capital or otherwise, Mr. Roosevelt said.

Winter's A Grand Season When You Serve Spare Ribs And Vegetables

The Woman's Angle
by Margaret Hubert

TODAY, Sadie Hawkins day, is being celebrated in Lubbock and other South Plains towns at dances, parties and frolics. This is the day (for the benefit of those who do not read the funny papers) that a girl pays the bills for sodas, bus fare or what have you and before the sun is set makes a race for her man and may the best man lose!

We have been asked for suggestions of forms of festivity for Sadie Hawkins celebrations and this morning present a few that have been gleaned from successful parties held by college students all over the country. Hope these ideas are not too late and that some of them will fill the bill for you.

PRIZE CONTESTS

PRIZES may be awarded at Sadie Hawkins Day celebrations as follows.

For the best costumes of any character.

For the best rendition of a tall story in Dogpatch dialogue.

For the capture of a greased pig.

For interpretation of dances such as "the Dogpatch Dip," "turnip tussle," "the Li'l Abner ramble," "the pappy shuffle," "the Skunk Hollow slide." The titles should be given in advance so the couple may practice them.

DECORATIONS

THE rooms should be cleared of any breakable furniture since Sadie Hawkins parties are fast and furious. Cartoons of the characters in the comic strip might be pinned about the walls. Small baskets of apples and trays of vegetables add to the Dogpatch theme.

PARTY GAMES

"DOGPATCH Post Office." This game played the same as regular "post office." Simply reverse the order of the roles played by the male and female participants in regular "post office." Say, you HAVE played "post office" haven't you?

"The Hairless Joe Stump." Five logs simulating tree stumps are placed on the dance floor. Couples dance to the tune of "Turkey in the Straw." When the music stops, the couple nearest to one of the stumps is eliminated. The last couple remaining on the floor receives a prize. These prizes may be as trivial as you wish.

"Fetchin' Mammy's Pork Chops." Boys and girls sit alternately in a circle. A bundle has been wrapped to resemble a bundle of pork chops. This is given to one of the boys in the circle. A small frying pan is given to one of the girls on the opposite side of the circle. At a given signal (music or otherwise) the boys pass the bundle in one direction to one another and the girls pass the frying pan in the opposite direction to one another. When the signal is given, the passing ceases and the boy who has the pork chops places the bundle in the frying pan held by the girl and must kiss her.

"Goin' South to Dogpatch." This is played in exactly the same manner as "going out West," except that the boys must take names that are not feminine in nature. For instance, ships are referred to as she and cannot be used.

PARTNER-CHOOSING

ON the basis that girls take the initiative in securing partners for these celebrations, here are ideas. The price of admission for a girl and her partner can be one cent for every inch of her waistline.

On the other hand, it might be an incentive for the girls to chase the slim fellows if the price of admission is based on the waistline of the partner she captures. Editor's note—This is as it should be for fat fellows are easy to catch, so the girls who use the least energy should pay more for their admission than those who chase the more fleet-footed male. See what we mean?)

In case of bad weather or limited space, a race may be held as follows. Either by means of uprights—lines on the floor, etc. A maze is set up with lots of dead ends and a couple of exits. Couples are let loose in this maze and the girls pass the fellows who are constantly trying to seek one of the exits.

COSTUMES

HILL billy costumes are in the order of the day. And refreshments. Well, the true Sadie Hawkins refreshments are pork chops, corn pones, turnips and buttermilk but you can choose your own.

Our appreciation to Mrs. Ross Ayers for the material used in this column today.

Hot Muffins And Dessert Favored

By LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER
AP Feature Service Writer

It's time to enlist the dependable food regulars for defense against winter.

Hearty meals combined with substantial vegetables and tasty sauces will guard the family's health. Pot roasts, stuffed meat rolls, meat and chicken pot pie, and vegetable meat stews will keep the budget in line.

Spare Rib Dish

Try stuffed spare ribs, a food regular to chase away budget blues and pay extra dividends when turned out with corn stuffing. Buy a pair of spare ribs and see that the are not too spare with meat. Wipe them off with a damp cloth and pile up the stuffing with one of the ribs. Cover with the other rib and skewer or sew the ends together to keep in the stuffing. Sprinkle lightly with salt, pepper and flour and bake 1-2 hour (moderate oven) in a covered roaster. Baste with 1-3 cup boiling water. Remove the lid the last 15 minutes to crisp up the ribs thoroughly.

Now for the stuffing. Mix 1-4 cup each of minced celery and onions, 1 cup corn and 2 tablespoons chopped green peppers (optional) and cook for 5 minutes in 5 tablespoons of fat. Mix in 2 cups cubed bread, 1-3 teaspoon salt and 1-4 teaspoon chopped parsley, poultry seasoning and paprika.

Plan a baked dinner with squash, sweet potatoes or scalloped cabbage and beans or cauliflower cooked at the same time. Also bake some apple quarters, slightly sweetened and flavored with cinnamon, cloves and vinegar. They give a good sauce for the pork. Date pudding, peach cobbler, raisin cottage pudding or cherry roll offer a pleasing dessert.

For Stuffing

Corn stuffing also is good on veal, pork or beef round steak. Roll up, tie with white cord, and bake the roast 1 1-2 hours in a moderate oven. After the meat has cooked half an hour, flank with peeled turnips, potatoes and carrots. Baste with 1-2 cup boiling water and sprinkle with salt and paprika. Make gravy with the drippings or cover with a pungent tomato sauce.

With the rolled roast, bake escalloped potatoes, beets, graham muffins and loose fresh gingerbread for dessert.

Pot roast sailsbury is a boon for the busy housewife as it needs little tending. Any leftover makes a regular company dish when combined with mushrooms, vegetables or a delectable sauce and served atop boiled rice. Or it makes an undercover dish topped with pastry, biscuits or cornbread and baked.

For this roast select about 5 pounds of veal from the shoulder, chuck or leg. Wipe off with a damp cloth and sprinkle with flour. Brown in 6 tablespoons chopped suet or bacon fat, using an iron kettle or other heavy pot. Set a rack in the bottom of the cooking kettle to hold the meat (this prevents the meat from sticking to the bottom). Add 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon paprika, 1-3 cup chopped onions, 1-2 cup diced celery and 2-3 cup tomato juice or water. Cover lightly and simmer 3 hours.

Vegetables Added

If you like vegetables cooked with roasts, add peeled potatoes, carrots and whole onions the last 5 minutes of the cooking. Turn them to brown evenly. Carefully remove the meat and make gravy from the drippings by mixing together 3 tablespoons flour and 1-4 cup cold water and then pouring it into the drippings and boiling 2 minutes.

With this pot roast serve tossed green salad or a jelled fruit or vegetable salad with boiled dressing. And pumpkin pie is unexcelled for dessert.

Tractor Driving Winners Named

With two and a half points separating first and eighth place winners, three high point men in a South Plains tractor handling contest sponsored by E. K. Hufstedler & Sons, of Lubbock, Plainview and Levelland, were announced at the close of a contest late Friday.

Charles Kisling of Plainview, with 88.35 points, placed first; Henry C. Mayfield, Ackerly, 88.07 points, second; Ray Britton, Plainview, 87.83 points, third; Marion McCain, Lubbock, 87.65 points, fourth; R. C. Patterson, Abernathy and Adolphus Jungman, Pep, 86.27 points each, tied for fifth; Bertram Hatchel, Wilson, 86.15 points, seventh; C. E. Hinson, Levelland, 85.7 points, eighth.

Free Trip To Dallas

Preliminary announcement was made by Hufstedler at the scene of the contest, five miles southeast of Lubbock. Judges and company representatives returned to town and with adding machines, re-figured the points and then reported changes had been made in the results. Score cards were used in tabulating results and the hurried computing was later rechecked to determine the correctnesss, it was explained.

Hufstedler, in a talk to the group of farmers assembled with the eight contestants, said that the first three boys would receive a free trip to Dallas, all expenses paid, to compete in the North Texas finals. Fourth place winner will receive $10 cash; fifth place, $7.50; sixth place, $5 and seventh and eighth, $2.50 each. "However," he added, "if we should find that one of the other contestants in the district does not have as high a percentage as our fourth man, we will take him along. In that case, we will give $2.50 each to the other four."

Judges Listed

Judges for the semi-finals were, O. R. Clark, Dallas, with the Bell-Stewart Equipment Co.; C. C. Johson, Lubbock county farm agent; D. S. White, Tahoka and W. A. Pendergrass, Ackerly.

Waldo Stewart of Dallas, chairman of the Texas division of the National Farm Youth foundation, who was here and who computed percentages based on figures of judges, said 10 boys would compete at Dallas; on Nov. 8, as many more will compete in a contest at Houston and on Nov. 11 the third contest will be at San Antonio.

First place winner in each contest is to receive a Ford-Ferguson tractor. Other awards were not announced.

Representatives of the Hufstedler stores, at Levelland and Plainview were here to assist in the semi-finals. Twenty-five or thirty interested farmers also were present.

Hufstedler talked briefly to the assembled contestants and thanked them for their cooperation. He expressed the hope that the contest might become an annual affair.

Two Texas Fliers Said Killed In England

DALLAS, Nov. 1. (AP)—The Times Herald says today that friends here of Harold C. Phillips and Horace Heising, well-known Texas fliers, had been informed that both men had been killed in action in England.

A cablegram, according to the newspaper, said the aviators died when a Spitfire pursuit plane zoomed into a balloon barrage cable and crashed during a dogfight with a German plane over London.

Both men were connected with Dallas aviation before going to England several months ago. Phillips is a native of Graham, Young county, where his wife and parents are residing.

Then he went to his room, locked the door, and shot himself to death.

Steaming Red Raiders Let Florida Know Where They Live; Beat Miami 61-14

Advertised Offense Gets Going In Big Way To Nail Hurricanes To The Cross In Game Of Revenge

By GOLLIER HARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

YOU CAN have your Tommy Harmons, Paul Christmans, Reagans, et al; if you'll let us keep our Milton Hills, Glenn Lowes, C. L. Storres, Dutch Dvoraceks, et al.

The Hills, Lowes, Storres, etc., drove up and unloaded last night; and a home run with the bases saturated in the last of the ninth with the home club behind is the only prettier picture we can conjure up than the picture of the much advertised Texas Tech speedy backfield and charging line hitting its stride and crucifying their rivals from Florida, the University of Miami Hurricanes, 61 to 14!

Not since the great team of 1932's ran rough shod over eleven opponents to become the "highest scoring machine in the country," has a Texas Tech outfit thrown itself into overdrive as it did last night.

Gaither Jubilant

Not since the Raiders of '32 defeated Austin college 64-0 and Trinity university 79 to 0, has a Tech team rolled up so many touchdowns in a single game.

"We probably could have licked any team in the country last night," gloated happy Coach Pete Gaither in a hoarse voice after the game. Gaither worked almost as hard as any of his hands, and was happier, if that can be possible. The dressing room scene after the game put the Cincinnati Reds' similar scene in the shade.

Everything Happened

Everything clicked, and everything happened. The blocking was superb, the tackling, on the whole, was terrific. It was a hard smashing game and tempers flared up. Tempers were on edge as the outset, the Red Raiders having been nettled by their 0-19 setback at Miami a year ago and by a number of inaptly dropped remarks in Florida newspapers, etc., just recently. They had made up their minds to show Florida just where Lubbock and Texas Tech were situated—and they did a swell job of it.

The Miami team put on display some very good football players. True, the team as a whole was so far outclassed that a wave of pity must have swept over the crowd of 9,000 or so when the Raiders kept on scoring even in the fourth quarter, tallying up three touchdowns.

Three Miami Stars

But such players as Terry Fox, a giant fullback; Bill Steiner, a speedy halfback and smashing blocker and tackler; Russell Coates, fullback who alternated with Fox, John Tobin and Eugene Bogart, halfbacks; and such linemen as Paul Carifeo, a smashing center who dealt the middle of Tech's line a lot of misery; Joe Krulnik, a great end; and Tom Kearns and William Wunder, tackles—all of these lads gave the Raiders a workout and were always threatening to get away with something.

At that they couldn't match the tenacity and ferocity of such Tech Raiders as Red Inebetter, Rafe Nabors, Jack Shanks, Will Allbright, E. J. McKnight, and—oh, well, even the coaches couldn't pick out any Texas Tech stars on which to append the titles of game "heroes," and if the coaches couldn't, how could a press box observer?

Backs Cut Loose

The backs went to town in a big way indeed, and if there were any standouts, they must have been Milton Hill, the lone senior and Dutch Dvoracek, plunging, running fullback; C. L. Storrs, plunging passing halfback; and that bunch of grand sophomores, such as Red Amonett, Don Austin and the Turners, Glenn Lowe, a running sensation, Tyrus Bain, a heady quarterback, and great blockers Tom Douglass, a fullback replacement for Dvoracek, who can go to town and pass the ball; Bill Brown, sub quarterback, who did some real work, and—the list is long and the boys are good.

Everything Happens

As we started out to say, nearly everything happened that can happen in a football game, from straight, unadulterated power plays for touchdowns, to run-backs of kick-offs, intercepted passes and blocked punts for touchdowns.

On the fourth play of the game Miami blocked a Tech punt and two plays later had a touchdown and an extra point, Steiner going over and booting the point.

Tech did the same thing in the same way to Miami in the fourth period, Bob O'Connor blocking a punt and, while it was in the air, Clarence Tillery catching it and racing 25 yards for touchdown.

Red Amonett did the "football fans' dream" on the return of the kickoff which started the second half, taking the boot on his own 15 and carooming like a mountain goal with a clear field for 85 yards and touchdown.

Bos. Steiner, Star

It was right after that that the Miamis put on their best spurt of the evening to drive from about mid-field for a touchdown, Fox and Steiner carrying the ball and Fox going over from the 1-yard line. But Tech came right back, drove 85 yards, with the help of two 15-yard penalties charged to "unsportsmanlike conduct," for touchdown.

A few plays later, Glenn Lowe, who stole the running thunder in the second half, dribbled through the line, and outraced half a dozen pursuers for a distance of 52 yards and a touch.

So superior was the Tech offense that the Raiders weren't forced to punt, but twice during the entire game. The first one was blocked for the Miami touchdown; the second was a dandy by Tom Douglas that got the Raiders out of a hole. They punted again, Roger Smith booting a quick-kick on second down from his own 32-yard line—which was killed by Sandy Waldren, a flashy sophomore lineman from Slaton on the Miami 1-yard line. Only the final gun prevented another Tech touchdown, Douglas passing to Charles Henderson for 12 yards and a first down on the 3-yard line on the last play of the game.

Passes from Storrs to McKnight were good for two touchdowns, Storrs plunged over for one himself; Glenn Lowe made two skirting wide around end to score in the third period after helping advance the ball to that point; Clarence Tillery ran back the blocked punt for one, and Bill Brown intercepted a pass and ran 32 yards for the final counter.

Slaton Goes Down To Levelland 14 To 7

Special To The Avalanche

LEVELLAND, Nov. 1—Levelland's Lobos bounded back into the thick of the District 3-A title race with a thrilling, see-saw 14 to 7 victory from Slaton here this afternoon.

Slaton started the scoring by driving 65 yards for a touchdown after the opening kickoff; without losing the ball, Fullback Rizo Collier passed to Harry Bell for the score on a play that carried 15 yards. The try for point was good.

Levelland came right back, receiving the kickoff and driving straight down the field to score with Billie Green carrying across. The point was missed, leaving the score at 7-6.

Safety Makes It 8-7

There it remained until early in the fourth quarter. Then, with Slaton owning the ball on their own 5-yard line, Collier tried to kick out. R. J. Arrington of the Levellands blocked it and the ball rolled out of bounds in the end zone for a safety.

O'Donnell Upset By Southland, 6 To 12

O'DONNELL, Nov. 1—(Special)—Crowding two touchdowns into 60 seconds of play, Southland's Class B eleven upset the O'Donnell Eagles here tonight, 12 to 6.

After the Eagles took a 6-0 lead on H. M. DeBusk's touchdown dash early in the second period, Southland evened the score with the "country boy" play of football, hidden pass that scored from 40 yards out. A moment later, O'Donnell fumbled a wide pass, Southland intercepted and raced it back 60 yards to score.

Littlefield Pulls Out Wild 14-13 Triumph

SUDAN, Nov. 1—(Special)—Sudan's valiant Hornets put up unexpectedly strong resistance here today, but littlefield's Wildcats surged from behind twice to whip Coach Phillip Harmon's boys, 14 to 13, in a District 3-A conference game.

Sudan scored first on a pass from Buddy May to Leroy Garvin, but missed point; littlefield came back with Babe Hammons scoring running, kicked point; to tied. The same May to Garvin combination put Sudan back up, 13 to 7, early in the fourth, but littlefield's Hutson crossed the line again, the point was kicked and that was the ball game.

Sandies Take 38-0 Triumph From Borger

Special To The Avalanche

BORGER, Nov. 1—Blasting out a three-touchdown lead in the first quarter, the Amarillo Golden Sandstorm buried the Borger Bulldogs under a 38-0 count here tonight in their first brush with a District 1-AA foe.

Big-footed Otto Payne plowed through tackle on the second play of the ball game and galloped 66 yards to paydirt. From then on, there was no stopping the black and gold pigskin disciples of Coach Howard Lynch.

Before the first period had run its course, Lynch fielded a mixture of second and third-stringers, but they continued to harass the Bulldogs with touchdown forays.

Three Stars On Bench

Shifty little M. T. Johnson, Sandies triple-threat backfield ace, Tackle Jim Warner and Gene Sutton, another tackle saw the game from the safety of the bench as Coach Lynch refused to allow them to take the risk of incurring further injuries. All three were slowed down during the past week by minor hurts.

Otto Payne, Clyde Clark, Boone Baker, William Martin, Roy Marcum and Paul Burden were on the scoring end of touchdowns.

Billy Briggs, sub Borger quarterback, was great tonight, even in defeat. He ran back punts, scampered to first downs, blocked with viciousness and played an all-round great ball game. J. N. Trotter, all-district end of 1939, performed creditably along with Briggs for the Bulldogs.

Minnesota-Wildcat Tops On Grid Card

Northwestern Is Picked To Win

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP) — You need look no farther than Dyche stadium at Evanston, Ill., for tomorrow's most important football game.

There Northwestern and Minnesota will play the first episode in a three-team round robin that will settle the Western conference championship and should have a strong bearing on national championship pretensions. Michigan, the other member of this all-winning trio, is resting up for its home stretch drive in which the Wolverines will meet both the Gophers and the Wildcats.

This will be the day's only game pairing two major unbeaten-untied teams, and it will pack Dyche stadium to its 48,000 capacity. Elsewhere there will be larger crowds, but it's doubtful that there will be more bone-crushing impact anywhere.

Army To Draw 78,000

Notre Dame and Army, as usual, will take the attendance palm, with 78,000 due at Yankee stadium despite the fact an Irish victory is almost a foregone conclusion. Unbeaten navy against once-beaten Penn, will bring 68,000 to Philadelphia's Franklin field; unbeaten Clemson against Tulane will draw 40,000 at New Orleans; 20,000 will see Texas A. and M. meet recovering Arkansas, and on the West coast pace-setting Stanford will play UCLA, before 55,000.

Cornell, on the other hand, No. 1 team in the Associated Press ranking poll, will have only some 12,000 witnesses for its clash with Columbia, although the lions gave the Big Red its biggest scare of all in 1939.

Mr. Lilac: Northwestern.

Manfully fighting down the memory of last week's surprises, your correspondent fights his way out of his corner thusly (home teams first, probably attendance in parentheses):

Northwestern-Minnesota (48,000) —Northwestern will be outweighed, and DeCorrevont is limping. In spite of these evens, a vote for Northwestern.

Army-Notre Dame—Notre Dame; Penn-Navy — Well, string along—sink, if necessary—with Navy.

Tulane-Clemson—Clemson.

Texas A. and M.-Arkansas—Those Aggie 60-minute men may be getting weary, but they're still the choice.

UCLA-Stanford — One of these days the Uclans should win one, but this doesn't seem the spot. Stanford.

Cornell-Columbia — A year ago Cornell won by one touchdown on two blocked kicks. But Matuszcsak and McCullough played only one period, Cornell.

Tennessee-Louisiana State (29,000)—Tennessee.

Oklahoma-Nebraska (35,000) — Nebraska, but no landslide.

Harvard-Princeton (25,000) — Princeton.

Boston College—Manhattan (18,000)—Boston.

Syracuse-Georgetown (17,000)—Georgetown.

If Train Runs.

Ohio State-Indiana (40,000) — A three on Indiana.

Iowa-Purdue (40,000)—Iowa.

Duke-Georgia Tech (30,000)—Taking Duke.

Kentucky-Alabama (10,000)—Alabama.

Texas-Southern Methodist (30,000) —Texas, if Crain can get back to full-time duty.

Georgia-Auburn (14,000)—Should be fairly easy for Auburn.

Fordham-North Carolina (20,000)—Fordham to come back.

Wisconsin-Illinois (30,000) — Wisconsin by a shade.

Texas Christian-Baylor (12,000) — Off the way they played the Aggies, Baylor.

California-Oregon State (40,000) —Even-Stephen, California.

Vanderbilt-Mississippi (12,000)—Ole Miss.

Missouri-New York U. (15,000)—Missouri.

Duquesne Over Marquette.

Yale-Brown (35,000)—Yale.

Detroit-Tulsa (20,000)—Detroit.

Penn State-South Carolina (25,000)—State.

Here an' there elsewhere:

East—Colgate over Holy Cross, Dartmouth over Sewanee, Duquesne over Marquette, Temple over Bucknell, West Virginia over Washington and Lee.

Mid-West — Michigan State over Kansas State.

South and Southwest — Furman over N. C. State, Rice over Texas A. and M.

Far West—Oregon over Montana, Washington State over Idaho, Colorado over Utah.

Brownfield Stops Post, 12 To 0

By EDGAR HEARD

POST, Nov. 1—Brownfield's Cubs continued an undefeated season here tonight as they outplayed the Post Antelopes to a 12-0 victory, in a game that was slowed by fumbles of both teams.

The victory leaves Brownfield in undisputed possession of the District 5-A, south half, conference lead, since Slaton was beaten by Levelland today. The Cubs have one more conference game, an Armistice day engagement with Slaton in Brownfield. A victory would mean the circuit crown for the Cubs, a Slaton triumph would toss the district into a three way tie between the two and Levelland.

Post Threatens In Second

Post held the Cubs close to the line of scrimmage most of the first quarter with the exception of a 30-yard run by Mullins, who intercepted a pass on his own 40-yard line. In the last part of the period Brownfield scored on a 19-yard jaunt by W. D. Warren after the Antelopes received two 15-yard penalties. Before the close of the quarter Delmo Gossett, Post halfback, made a 9-yard run and then tossed a pass to Laurence Sherrod for a gain of 26 yards.

In the second quarter Charley Futrell, Antelope halfback, got away for 30 yards immediately after entering the game. The Post boys stayed in Cub territory most of the second part of the tilt and with two penetrations threatened to score.

Cubs Miss Points.

Brownfield scored a second time when Deverelle Lewis plunged from the Post one-yard line. The Cubs failed to convert on either touchdown.

Twice during the siege the Cubs sucked the Antelope line for less than three yards gain in the four downs.

Futrell, the smallest player on the field, thrilled onlokers who stampeded the sidelines with his flashing plays. Another outstanding Antelope star Ralph Dean, a boy hard to stop when he toted the pigskin.

All-American Squad To Introduce Hockey

Introducing a new game to Lubbock and Texas Tech, a touring All-American girls' hockey team will meet a picked group of Texas Tech players on the Texas Tech freshman field at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Earl Huffman is coach of the Tech hockey team, and she advises that spectators "haven't seen anything yet" until they see a fast game of field hockey. "It's fast and interesting, requires physical ability, presence of mind and quick thinking."

To Stimulate Interest.

Object of the tour by the visiting team is to stimulate interest in hockey in colleges and high schools of the 12 different states the team is visiting. It is the first time such a team has played in Texas, and it makes only two stops in the state.

Several graduates of the Tech women's physical education department will return to see the hockey game this afternoon, some bringing students. Miss Reba Hill of Morton, 1940 graduate now teaching physical education, will bring a group of students from Morton and Miss Ruth Embray, 1940 graduate teaching in Idalou, will come with a group. There will be a representative from West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon and the college at Las Vegas, N. M.

Several Teachers Here

Miss Gwendolyn Tosh of Petit and Mrs. Virginia Brummett of Muleshoe will return for the occasion. Mrs. L. B. Kirby of Lubbock Senior High and Mrs. Jay Gordon and Miss Gloriadel Bowen, Junior High teachers, will attend with groups of students.

Doc Mobley Scores 21, Paducah Whips Ralls

RALLS, Nov. 1 (Special)—Ralls Jackrabbits found Paducah's Burgoff (Doc) Mobley a bit too much to handle tonight and the visiting Dragons took a 25 to 0 decision. The victory kept them even with Floydada, also a winner today, each a half-game behind Matador.

Mobley ran his season's point total to 139 by scoring three touchdowns and three extra points running. Buddy Subiett counted the other marker. Paducah scored once in the second, twice in the third and once in the fourth.

Plainview Halts Steers, 8 To 0

Special To The Avalanche

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 1—Plainview's Bulldogs found Big Spring troublesome tonight, but a safety early in the first and a touchdown late in the fourth kept them on the undefeated trail, 8 to 0.

Early in the game, Mick Mason, Bulldog star who is leading the District One scoring race, kicked out of bounds on Big Spring's four-yard line. Pete Presley, back to kick for the Steers, missed the pass from center and the ball rolled out of the end zone for an automatic safety.

The score remained at 2-0 until late in the game, when Plainview took the ball on the Bulldog 29 and drove straight down the field to score on six plays plus a 15-yard penalty. F. G. Hester carried the touchdown play, a 22-yard sprint.

Outstanding in the game were Clifton Patton and Don Webb in the Big Spring line, Presley, Bostick and Brummett in the Steer backfield, Roland Wilson, Plainview tackle, and Wick Mason, Bulldog end.

Sweetwater Scores In Last 2 Minutes To Beat Lamesa, 13-7

LAMESA, Nov. 1—(Special) — The Sweetwater Mustangs defeated the Lamesa Goliath Tornadoes here tonight by a score of 13 to 7. Before a crowd of nearly 3,000 people the teams battled on even terms up to the closing minutes of the fourth quarter with Lamesa leading 7 to 6.

With two minutes to play the Tornadoes had put up a great goal line stand to take the ball on downs on the halfyard line. White kicked safely from behind his own goal line to the 30-yard line. Hudgins returned to the Lamesa 35 and on the first play he bounced off left tackle to cross the goal line untouched. Then Eberle kicked the extra point to make the final score read 13-7.

The Tornadoes scored in the first when White carried around left end for 47 yards to the 8-yard line. On the first play, White swept around right end and outran the defensive men to score standing up, then coolly kicked the extra point to give his team a lead they held until the closing minutes.

Floydada Rolls Over Lockney, 47 To 13

FLOYDADA, Nov. 1. (Special)—Floydada dashed Lockney's hopes of an upset here today by blasting the Longhorns 47 to 13 in an offensive blast that shocked even Floydada fans. R. L. Golightly, Whirlwind quarterback, scored four touchdowns before he turned his job over to a second stringer. Davis and Kelley were powerhouses for the Longhorns.

Golightly scored twice in the first quarter, once from the 20 yard line on a drive over left guard, and again in a 9-yard spring over left tackle. Davis countered for Lockney in the opening minutes of the second quarter in a four yard smash around left end. Davis passed to Kelley for the extra point. In the fading minutes of the second, Golightly dived over right tackle for the third Floydada score.

Using straightaway power Golightly scored his fourth touchdown in the opening minutes of the third. Foster, left wingback, sprinted 15 yards around left end for the fifth Floydada score.

Dubois, sub fullback, went over left tackle for nine yards and a touchdown early in the fourth, and Chowning, sub quarterback, flipped a 24 yard pass to Cardinal, sub wingback, for the final touchdown, and Patterson, regular tackle, kicked the extra point. Davis passed four yards to Kelley in the final minutes of the game for Lockney's second score.

Picadors Stop Buff Frosh, 34 To 7

By JOE PIERCE
Avalanche Sports Staff

Flashing a powerful ground attack and an adequate defense, Texas Tech's freshmen footballers opened their home season Friday afternoon with a pleasing 34 to 7 triumph over West Texas State Teachers College Yearlings.

Once, by virtue of a Tech fumble and a freak pass completion, the Yearlings led the Picadors, 7 to 6. But Coach Berl Huffman's young men came back with vim and vigor to thoroughly outclass the visitors, piling up 17 first downs to 9 and 385 yards gained running to 73.

Touchdown Procession

The scoring parade: Tech scored on a 15-yard pass completion, Bob Baker to Jim Driggers. Everett missed point; the Yearlings scored from the one-yard line after a freak completion had put the ball in position, with McCann carrying. Miller kicked point; Maxey McKnight, the Littlefield sensation, broke away for 62 yards and a score, Avon Sewalt adding point; Jack Everett crowded through the middle for two yards and a score, climaxing an 80-yard drive he had sparked, Sewalt adding point; Marvin McKown ran 20 yards to score, Everett adding point; McKown got away for 42 yards and the game's final score, Everett again adding point.

Tech's boys looked good all the way. Coach Huffman had two full teams, and on both the forwards were opening gaping holes and the backs crowding through them for consistent gains. Everett, McKnight, McKown, Baker, J. L. Bates, Howard Alford, Roy Williams — all handled themselves in the approved way for promising freshman backs.

McAdoo's Six Men Beat Wilson, 26-20

WILSON, Nov. 1. (Special) — McAdoo's high-flying six-man football team romped to its seventh victory of the season here this afternoon, scoring a touchdown in the final quarter to defeat Wilson, 26 to 20.

The victorious Eagles scored two touchdowns in the first period, the first when Formby passed to Allen, the second when Rose received a lateral pass and ran 25 yards to score. Formby passed to McWilliams for extra point after the first touchdown.

Wilson scored a safety late in the first period, then Jackson for Wilson raced 15 yards for a touchdown in the second. Heavy scoring in the third quarter saw Formby pass to Rose who ran 45 yards to score, and Jackson and Wilson returned the kick-off for touchdown. Crews of Wilson intercepted a pass and returned it for another quick touchdown, and Wilson led, 20-19 going into the fourth quarter. Formby passed to McWilliams for touchdown, and Robertson plunged for the extra point.

Spur Takes 20 To 6 Victory From Chiefs

CROSBYTON, Nov. 1. (Special) —Spur's Bulldogs concentrated 20 points into the third quarter here tonight to defeat Crosbyton in a District 4-A conference game. The Chiefs counted in the last period.

Westerners Are Favorites To Smear Pampa

Special To The Avalanche

PAMPA, Nov. 1—Lubbock's mighty Westerners—roaring toward a second consecutive state schoolboy championship—meet the challenge of Pampa's dangerous Harvesters here Saturday afternoon in the Panhandle's pigskin classic for interscholastic league fans.

A special train which was to leave Lubbock at 8 o'clock is scheduled to arrive in Pampa at 11:45 o'clock this morning. It will leave at 7 o'clock tonight, arriving in Lubbock at 10:45 o'clock.

Seek Sixteenth Straight

Coaches Goober Keyes and Walter Nichols brought their charges as far as Amarillo tonight to avoid the long hop Saturday morning.

The game will mark the Bronc Busters attempt for their sixteenth straight triumph in continuance of Class AA's longest current winning streak. It was against Coach Odus Mitchell's Green and Gold powerhouse that the Westerners inaugurated that impressive string last fall, turning in a stunning 6 to 0 upset that rocked the state and marked the first step in the "Cinderella Kids'" march to Interscholastic league football fame.

Is Crucial Game

Contests between the two teams have always been surprises. Veteran fans will remember back in the early thirties when Pampa and Lubbock elevens were constantly upsetting each other's well laid plans—regardless of the favorite.

So, it will be with a wary eye on the tricky Sickle Wielders that the Black and Gold clad standard bearers trot onto Harvester Park's turf this afternoon. A surprise stumble here would all but dash Lubbock's hopes of a third straight District 2-AA crown, which most critics are predicting will rest atop the heads of Amarillo's highly publicized Sandies.

Almost unlimited reserve power and a team that wears down opposition with its remarkable physical condition throws the odds heavily in the Westerners' direction, however. No serious injuries have been reported in either camp, and all hands should be available for both squads.

Season's records indicate that the Westerners are at least three, maybe four, touchdowns better than the Harvesters. While the champions have added six straight victories to the nine scalps gathered last season, Pampa has managed to win only one of six games for their worst season in several years.

Probable starting lineup for the Westerners: J. A. Blackwell and Francis Reardon, ends; G. D. Milner and DeWitt Moore, tackles; Carl Smith and Franklin Butler, guards; Roland Nabors, center; Max Walthall, quarterback; Leete Jackson and Billy Wright, halfbacks; and Bob McKinnon, fullback.

Before he spoke the president saw Major General Arthur P. Smith, chief-of-staff of the British near-east command, and his premier, Refik Saydam, conferred with the Greek ambassador.

The war, Inonu observed, may involve the whole world, and the countries now under occupation may remain that way a long time.

Turkey, he went on, will spare nothing to strengthen her armies.

He drew a bright picture of the country's economic and financial position, declaring that the production of iron ore and other defense commodities had been increased "tremendously," the organization of industry bolstered and that Turkish financial resources were "sufficient."

"The youth of the Turkish nation today will make the future wonder at its heroism . . ." he said, "in a period in which it is only possible for heroes to live, the Turkish nation advances toward the future and security."

'Master Lists' Are Mailed Out

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINTON, Nov. 1. — The last copies of the selective service lottery "master list" rolled off the presses at the government printing office in the early hours today and were rushed into the mail for the conscription boards in nearby states.

The "master lists" for inland and western states had long since been on their way by train and plane, as selective service headquarters here concentrated on speedy distribution so that local boards would have their lists by the start of next week.

Until the lists are in the hands of the nation's 6,175 local boards, these boards cannot get to work on the mailing of questionnaires and the classification of the first selective service eligibles for a year's military training.

"restore civil rights" paraded before the White House. They said they were protesting what they declared were efforts in New York to scare WPA workers into voting the Democratic ticket. Howard O. Hunter, acting WPA commissioner, said their charges were an "unqualified lie" and that their complaint arose from an investigation of Communists on New York City WPA rolls.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia of New York city said the apology tendered by Stephen Early, presidential press secretary, to James Sloan, negro policeman, who was injured in a scuffle near President Roosevelt's train last Monday, should end the affair. Sloan complained afterward that he had been kicked in the groin. Early said he had kicked no one. The scuffle occurred when policemen barred Early and a party of newspapermen from the presidential train. Republican speakers, among them Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, have alluded to the incident in speeches to negro audiences.

Early did not accompany Mr. Roosevelt on the trip which began yesterday. William Hassett, assistant press secretary, was assigned to handle press relations on the tour. Hasset frequently substitutes for Early on such trips.

They offer a full parity price for the portion of the farmer's crops domestically consumed. They propose to leave the American farmer free to produce and sell his products in foreign markets, at world market prices."

No Developments In Lorenzo Case Found

Despite the following of a police to carry to the end every bit of evidence in connection with the slaying of Irvin Bolands, 38, Lorenzo State bank cashier, in the bank last April 29, the latest portion of the investigation has led to the same dead end, Burton S. Burks, district attorney, said Friday.

Floyd Pearson, 47, Crosby county farmer and brother of H. F. Pearson, president of the bank, had been questioned at length with his own consent, the official said. He is charged with the murder and robbery in Crosby county.

Knox's Paper Is Out For Willkie

(By The United Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—The Chicago Daily News, controlled by Secretary of Navy Frank Knox, today urged the election of Wendell Willkie as "America's answer to the dictators."

In a strong front-page editorial the newspaper commended President Roosevelt for adopting a national defense policy but urged that Willkie be elected because he is an executive "who will know how to get things done."

Earlier in the campaign the News endorsed Willkie but reserved the right to change its mind pending further compaign speeches by the Republican nominee. Today's endorsement was complete.

"Once more, in a crisis, our nation has found a leader," the editorial said of Willkie. "He is a man to trust and follow."

The paper said two terms were enough for any president, "crisis or no crisis."

The sudden departure of the German freighter Helgoland from Barranulla, Columbia, three days ago without clearance papers also aroused interest among officials here. The ship, which had been anchored there since the beginning of the war, was reported to have aboard several German airplane pilots of the German commercial airline in South America, the Scadta.

The Colombian port in the Caribbean is about 1,000 miles from Martinique, where some 100 American-made planes were taken by the French aircraft carrier Bearn immediately after the Franco-German armistice.

The planes, however, have been on a field exposed to the weather since last July and doubts have been expressed here that they could be flown without reconditioning.

French authorities here said their reports from Martinique indicated all was quiet there, and private advices said no German ships had arrived there.

in Italian raids on 13 Greek towns during the day. Twenty-five of the casualties were reported at Corfu. Fascist warplanes, apparently coming from the nearby Dodecanese islands, dumped two dozen bombs on Canea, Crete island, but the damage was said to have been slight.

Reports Conflict

In five days of fighting, the Italians have accomplished only a subdued form of blitzkrieg, declared the Greeks, who claimed that in addition to throwing the Italians back in the northwest they were holding firm everywhere else along the rugged frontier.

These claims in direct contradiction to Italian assertions that the invaders' spearheads had slit the "Metaxas line" and penetrated 35 miles into Greece), were made while bombs thumped again in Piraeus, Athens' big port.

Other Italian planes raided Salonika, hitting a hospital, a church and several other buildings and killing 15 persons and wounding 30. Two of the raiders were shot down into the sea. Residents estimated more than fifty bombs were dropped and several fires were started.

FDR's Campaign Talk

Nazism has done to the processes of democracy abroad.

The crowd in the flag draped academy stood and cheered wildly when Mr. Roosevelt appeared on the arm of Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr.

James A. Farley, former Democratic national chairman, and Edward J. Flynn, Farley's successor, were among those on the platform.

The cheering and chants of "we want Roosevelt" continued for about four minutes.

Mr. Roosevelt had motored to the hall from the special train that brought him from Washington, through cheering thousands that massed about Pennsylvania station and lined his route through Greenwich village, over the Manhattan bridge and through Brooklyn. The crowds in Brooklyn were four, five, six and more deep on the sidewalks.

Farley With Him

Among those who rode in the president's open car to the academy were Representatives Delaney and Cullen of New York; Frank Keily, Democratic leader in Brooklyn, and Flynn.

There were boos from the crowd when the president said that a full page advertisement against his administration, "paid for by Republican supporters," had appeared in The Daily Worker.

Mr. Roosevelt said the country would "take warning" from the fate of the nations great and small which, he declared, had gone down in ruin or been backed against the wall "because the reactionary men who led them could not see the real danger that threatened."

"They were afraid of losing their own selfish privilege and power," he declared. "They feared the legitimate forward surge of their own common people, more than they feared the menacing might of foreign dictators."

Nation Stronger

Most Republican leaders in this country had "bitterly fought" the "forward surge of average men and women in the pursuit of happiness" during the last seven years, the president continued.

Cries of "no, no" greeted his inquiry as to whether the people wanted to "abandon the protection of people's savings from fraudulent manipulators, the curbing of giant holding companies that despoiled investors and consumers alike, by delivering them into the hands of those who have fought these reforms."

The president said the nation was becoming "strong and purposeful."

Securities Act Is Regionalized

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1. — The regional office of the Securities and Exchange commission announced today new steps have been taken to regionalize the registration of securities under the securities act of 1933.

The Fort Worth office, in charge of Administrator O. H. Allred, is headquarters for Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and Louisiana.

The announcement said in part:

"For the past six months, the commission has provided facilities in the San Francisco regional office for assistance to registrants both before and during the process of registration. It has been found that smaller issuers in particular have availed themselves of this assistance.

"This plan is now being extended to the regional offices in Boston, New York, Atlanta, Cleveland, Chicago, Fort Worth, Denver and Seattle. Under this procedure, a prospective registrant may confer with registration experts in those field offices during the period when he is preparing his registration statement. The field office will send copies of memoranda based on these pre-filing conferences to the Washington office to aid it in expediting registration examination."

basement shelter; in another several persons were buried in cellars when four houses were demolished, and a bus was hit; and in a third 150 fire bombs came whistling down in rapid succession.

Flares Downed

Flare-scattering German raiders took to the stratosphere tonight to launch their nightly monotonous attacks on London and widely scattered areas of England but the first flights over the capital passed without dropping bombs.

Anti-aircraft batteries picked off the flares almost as quickly as they appeared and the raiders, unseen in the blackness, showed no inclination to get close enough to the ground to pick out targets.

Nazi planes moved on the capital from several directions; the Thames estuary area was under heavy assault by relays of raiders and the barrage there was one of the heaviest yet put aloft.

No Heavy Damage

During the initial phase of the stab at London, reports came in of scattered raiders over east Anglia, northeast Scotland, southwest and southeast England. There for the most part were single plane forays and there were no reports of heavy damage.

The 58th night of raids beginning earlier than usual, followed a series of daylight raids on London, merseyside and other points in England and Scotland and a brisk duel between German and British long-range guns across the English channel.

The air ministry said the day's air attacks cost the Germans nine planes against six British fighters downed. Two of the British pilots were saved.

TERRY REGISTRATION

BROWNFIELD — Of the 2,486 men who registered here under the draft 1,768 were actual residents of Terry county, R. A. Simms, of the board, said. Some of these were temporarily in other counties, he said.

Dairying Is ABC Subject

Development of the dairy industry, especially in the past half century, was the theme of a talk by Dr. N. W. Hepburn of Chicago, executive secretary and manager of the American Butter Institute before an American Business club luncheon in Hilton hotel Friday.

Following the meeting, the board of governors voted to give a thousand bricks to West Texas museum, President Bob Gee, who presided, announced. George Reinhardt of the entertainment committee announced a dinner-dance the night of Nov. 14, in the hotel.

Game Nets $539.20

Secretary Jimmie Wilson announced gross receipts from a negro football game amounted to $539.20, with two more reports to be made. Coach Jack Harding, of Miami university, a guest of Bob Crawford, spoke briefly on his team and its trip to this section. It was their only trip, he added, and the boys so enjoyed the journey to Lubbock, they did not want to return by way of Fort Worth where today they were to see a football game.

Dr. Hepburn, here to attend the West Texas Dairy day at Texas Technological college, was introduced by K. M. Renner, head of the dairy manufacturing department of the college. M. E. McMurray, Fort Worth, secretary of the Texas Dairy Productions association, was a guest.

Disease Resisting

Dairy products, said Dr. Hepburn, "are one of the most complicated things we get on our tables." Dairy crops, to the farmers are the largest cash crops. The industry has grown during the past 50 years, largely through the pioneering work done in Wisconsin and Minnesota. Texans, profiting by the mistakes made before, are "bringing the industry in this state a long way."

Production, processing and consumption are the three phases of the industry. In the processing and production Dr. Hepburn characterized as dominant the research and the scientific development work done. It was only a little over 50 years ago that Dr. Babcock developed a test for determining the amount of butter-fat in cream.

Scientific research has shown milk as a major source of vitamins, so necessary to growth and development of mankind and as a means of resisting disease, he pointed out.

Charges Exchanged By GOP's And Demos

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—Democrats and Republicans exchanged a volley of pre-election charges today before the special Senate committee appointed to police this year's elections.

John Burke, New York county Republican, urged the committee to investigate this charges that Chairman Edward J. Flynn of the Democratic national committee had used "bartenders, saloon-keepers and others" to circulate petitions for prohibition party in New York in order to reduce the vote for Wendell Willkie and other Republicans.

Sol A. Rosenblatt, counsel for the Democratic national committee, asked the committee to investigate what he described as an illegal attempt to scare 64,000,000 life insurance policy holders into voting against President Roosevelt.

Shelton, vice director of the Texas Extension service, from College Station, discussed better feeding and breeding. Ray L. Chappell, head professor of agricultural education at Tech, discussed assistance vocational agriculture teachers may give in educational work for producers of cream.

Welcomed By Jones

R. B. Davis, secretary of the Houston Bank of Cooperatives, spoke on dairying from the consumer's angle, and pointed out that by cooperation of the manufacturer of dairy products, educational forces and producers, cost of production may be reduced and quality improved.

M. E. McMurray, manager of the Texas Dairy Products association, Fort Worth, spoke on the present status of the dairy industry in Texas.

A. J. Riddle of Denison, president of the Texas Dairy Products association, called the meeting to order Friday morning. Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president of Tech, welcomed visitors.

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division of agriculture spoke briefly on work being done at the college.

From Far Away

After the meeting, many of the visitors attended open house in the agricultural division and some remained for the Tech-Miami university football game Friday night.

A Floyd county dairy demonstration team presented a demonstration indicating the value of milk as food Friday afternoon.

Visitors registered from New Mexico and from as far away in Texas as Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, Sherman, Amarillo, Midland, Abilene, Big Spring, Hereford and from numerous South Plains towns.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

Twilight For A Czar

GENERAL rumor is that the number of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City is "up regardless of the result of Tuesday's election.

This is a prospect admitted even by Republican leaders who have made a major campaign issue of their charge—which cannot be denied—that Hague still is the boss of Jersey City after eight years of Democratic rule, that he was among the first to advocate a third term for President Roosevelt, and that today the power he wields in his state is the hope of swinging New Jersey's 16 electorial votes into the Administration column.

It is entirely possible that those 16 votes could decide the outcome of the election—a circumstance which lends color to the charge and suspicion that the Administration has deferred, strictly for political expediency, a break with New Jersey's czar until after votes are counted.

But prospects for Hague after Tuesday are dreary at best. If the Republicans win, they are almost certain to be after him in full cry without loss of time. If the President should win but a Republican majority shohld be named to the House of Representatives—considered by many observers to be the most likely outcome of the election, then the same situation likely would prevail.

If the Administration and the Democratic party should win on all fronts, it is very questionable whether Congressional investigations of Hague already started could be stopped by the President himself—and there is considerable doubt whether Mr. Roosevelt would try to stop them. Congressional investigating committees — especially Senate investigating committees like the one conducting the Hague inquiry, have a way of being stubborn at times, as numerous Presidents have learned to their embarrassment.

Certainly the time is long past due for someone to get at the truth of what has been going on in Jersey City and New Jersey during the Hague regime. It is time to learn why the tax rate of Jersey City is by far the largest of any large city in this nation, why its bonded indebtedness is the highest, why it has so little to show for the enormous sums of money that have been spent, how it is that Hague has been able to pile up huge wealth while living in the splendor of a spendthrift millionaire on the relatively small salary that goes with his office of mayor, why the constitutional rights of freedom of speech and assembly have been violated repeatedly, why voters have been intiminated, why Hague majorities on occasions have been larger than the number of men and women over 21 years of age residing in Jersey City.

Most definitely, there has been a stink coming from Jersey City for years. Nothing should be permitted to prevent a determination of the source of that odor, and nothing should be permitted to save the guilty from punishment if the conditions there are as suspected.

A Common-Sense View

PERHAPS the most intelligent analysis that has come from any Englishman concerning the most valuable assistance the United States can render to Great Britain in her war for existance was that of H. G. Wells, the famous author who is now touring this country.

He hopes, said Mr. Wells, the United States does not enter the war. His first reason is that if we become involved, we are likely to keep at home the materials we otherwise would send to England. His second reason—and it is most persuasive—is that if we should become active participants, it would be over the opposition of millions of our people. They are people who are patriotic, who doubtless would attempt to do their full duty even in a war they opposed. But it simply would not be possible for them to give to it their full support.

Mr. Wells' reasoning is sound and unanswerable. It is the kind of reasoning which will go much further toward enlisting the maximum of aid than that which suggests we send our men overseas.

The Road To Shani Lun

By RITA MOHLER HANSON

YESTERDAY: Lynn Britton, beautiful American girl destined so far as she can tell to marry the Prince of Shani Lun, is at present dodging Chinese revolutionists and trudging across the plain afoot. Temu Darin, her "escort," has lost his plane in a storm, and now must guard Lynn and arrange to send their unwelcome companion, Peggy Telford, back to the coast.

CHAPTER 25

Strange Blessing

Lynn turned to Temu.

"Do you expect to walk Peggy and me all the way to Delun?" He had relieved Chan of some of his burden.

"I hope I won't walk you all the distance. Your friend is leaving the first chance I have to send her back."

Lynn's shoulders squared. "I'd like to see you send her and keep me without unpleasant consequences to your government. I notice you don't always secure your own way."

He agreed. "If I had my way now, we wouldn't be here. But, since we are here—" He looked at her and smiled. She understood; he intended to make the best of it.

Peggy caught up with them in her absurd moccasins and hung to Temu's arm for a while. They passed a woman and her old mother, the latter mincing along on little goatlike feet which were bound in remembrance of the "good old days." They carried their possessions in bundles on their backs, and herded ahead of them a blind girl carrying a younger child pick-a-back.

After crossing the wide plateau they came to a ridge of green hills. Temu stopped a tall, red-robed lama riding a tiny donkey. The priest lowered his feet, permitting the little animal to walk from under him and begin cropping the short green grass at the edge of the trail.

The lama explained that his monastery was located up a side canyon a bit and insisted that Temu and his party take refuge within the religious enclosure. The monks were Mongols and Tibetans, good fighters when they needed to fight and respected for the fact by the Moslems, who were inclined to leave them alone.

They could send a fast messenger on to the Chinese military stronghold at Tusin with the telegrams Temu wished to dispatch; the monastery would be blessed by their presence.

Lynn suspected that Temu did not translate everything that had passed between them. He looked at the two weary girls and accepted the invitation. The monk, turning to Lynn, bowed deeply and brought her his donkey to ride. It did not seem incredible to him, evidently, that a goddess should be met on the highway fleeing before the revolution.

The gesture touched and warmed her heart. Her thoughts flew to a woman in Palestine who had ridden a donkey, and suspecting a certain state of affairs, she gave the animal to Peggy.

Temu helped her mount, and giving the little donkey a slap, sent him jogging up the path he had just come.

"You need the lift as much as your friend," he said mildly. "But since you are a goddess, I suppose you can do as you please."

Lynn told him she was glad he had learned one thing about her.

"As you please within limits," he smilingly amended.

The monastery houses, with their flat roofs and ladders for mounting to them, climbed the canyon side in a way that reminded Lynn vaguely of a Pueblo village, except for the surrounding wall.

They were taken to an apartment in the grand lama's house near the upper wall, overlooking the rest of the inclosure. The several rooms opening into each other were clean and bare except for the stove, with its usual shortlegged table, and the altar niches with their images and offering vessels.

In the largest room was a table set with food. The grand lama served them with tea, Chinese cakes, pickled bean pods, and dates. As he left, he knelt before Lynn and asked if she would bless him.

"Touch him with something," Temu suggested.

Happiness

She picked up Peggy's parasol and touched him lightly. The simple, devout, old fellow turned and went out, his face shining with an inner light as if indeed he had been blessed.

Temu watched Lynn's eyes follow him, a strangely gentle expression on her face. "You see what it means to be the Tara," he said in a low voice. "To be loved by an untold number of people and remembered in their prayers, never criticized, never questioned, never thought of except in love and devotion."

"It is wonderful," she admitted softly. "But I am quite sure that I am not worthy of anything like that."

"You are not the judge."

Chan came in from the meal he and Bula had eaten in their own room and set about heating a basin of water. Bula followed, and in a corner brought out his knitting. The head lama returned with a living Buddha, a boy of seven or eight who had a boil on his wrist. Temu lanced the infection and bandaged it.

"He was born my cousin," the lama explained. "But he is the reincarnation of my elder brother who died eight years ago." Tears came to the old man's eyes. "I could not bear to see him die a second time."

"We'll take good care of this," Temu assured him, "and it will soon be healed." He turned and translated to the girls what the priest had said.

Lynn looked around at the people in the room, Peggy, Chan, Temu, Bula, the high lama, the little Buddha, and a grease-grimmed attendant monk who had come in with the latter two.

"I wonder," she asked in a mischievous mood, "if any of my former relatives are present?"

Peggy giggled. "Bula may be a husband from a former incarnation. He stares at you adoringly enough."

"If he were a husband he would probably be trying to order me around."

"You've said it!" Peggy returned with heartfelt agreement.

Temu laughed. "You American girls! You need to be reborn Hindus some time and taught proper reverence and appreciation for husbands." He cleared the room of the rest of the men.

"Perhaps that's already happened to us once too often," Lynn retorted maliciously, "and the worms have turned.

"Two worms!" he hooted.

Peggy burst into tears. "I want to go home!" she sobbed.

"We'll send you back as soon as possible," Temu promised.

"A night's sleep will do you good," Lynn assured her, "and you shall have a bath if we have nothing more for a tub than a teacup."

Chan managed to find a copper kettle and fill it with hot water. Many soft, padded quilts of chinese satin were brought in to make a comfortable bed. Lynn stayed with Peggy, tucked her in, and sat beside her for a while afterwards.

"I suppose it will be just my luck to have twins," sighed Peggy.

Lynn was enthusiastic. "That will be fun."

"For whom?" Peggy moaned.

"For everybody. I always wanted to be twins myself."

Peggy turned her face to the wall and shuddered. "It seems to me that you get into enough outlandish predicaments as it is. Why double the liabilities? And why did I ever take you for a model?"

Lynn laughed and gave her a reassuring pat. "You've stopped imitating me now and gone me one better, darling. Or should I say two?"

"Leave me," Peggy ordered. You're too darned cheerful."

Lynn slipped into her coat and entered the courtyard. Temu came striding up the path towards her.

"Where have you been?" she asked.

"Sending off a couple of dispatch runners. Do you care to sit on the roof for a while?" She followed him up the ladder and dropped down against a chimney pot. He lay down beside her.

A spiral of smoke curled up from an incense bowl near them, dispersing the odor of juniper leaves for the demi-gods who nourished themselves upon sweet fragrance. Below, near the temple, a drum throbbed insistently.

They rested until the drum had ceased and so reminded them that the hour was late. Lynn stirred reluctantly.

"We must go in," she sighed.

He leaned towards her. "Has it been a happy evening, Lynn?"

"Heavenly. You've taught me things about companionship I've never known before."

New Disaster

A messenger returned from Tusin next morning with word that the telegraph line had been torn up for a long distance. No messages could be sent out. The revolution was spreading north in Sinkiang and west to the Tibetan border. Practically all trade and travel had ceased except for that of the fleeing refugees.

"That's that," said Temu. Peggy clouded up; Lynn looked grave.

They were eating breakfast of tea and little cylinders of oaten bread baked by Chan on a stick over the coals. The abbot had sent them butter and dried fruits. Peggy turned to Temu.

"Now, what are you going to do?" she demanded.

"Whatever can be done," he answered lightly. "First, put a fresh dressing on Lynn's shoulder."

"Will it leave a scar?" Lynn asked, trying to see the wound with a hand mirror.

"I think not, it's coming along splendidly."

"How did it happen that these lamas took us in?" asked Peggy. "I thought women weren't allowed inside monastery walls."

It depends on the individual monastery," Temu explained. "This one belongs to the Red sect, the unreformed. The monks may entertain their women relatives and friends. Some have wives."

He rose. "The lamas tell me that refugees are beginning to come here to the monastery. Many of them are sick or injured. Lynn, you can help me if you wish. Mrs. Telford, some of the sights are rather horrible. You had better stay away."

"I'll try to get some more sleep," said Peggy. "I wish I could sleep until I got back to America."

"We'll be back by noon," he promised, and accompanied Lynn down the worn stone steps that led to the levels below.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE increased registration in almost all areas constitutes the major mystery of the 1940 Presidential campaign. Does it consist of youngsters added to the rolls since 1932 and 1936 who will plump for President Roosevelt? Or does it consist of a protest vote consisting of anti-war women, Willkie independents and anti-third-termers?

Nobody knows precisely, of course. But an independent analysis of new registrants in three New York City counties—hitherto Roosevelt strongholds—may shed some light on this absorbing question. National Chairman Ed Flynn's County of The Bronx showed a tremendous increase. But it is noted that 73 per cent of the additional registration occurred in districts which gave Thomas E. Dewey two-thirds of his Bronx vote for Governor in 1938. A similar breakdown in Brooklyn shows that the greatest registration gains were in Dewey districts, and the same obtains for Queens.

GOP analysts have applied this analytical system to numerous other cities and states. And almost invariably they discover that the greatest gain in registration has taken place in sections regarded as Republican in a normal election year. So they figure, roughly, that Wendell Willkie will corral from 60 to 70 per cent of the new 140.

INSTRUCTION: President Roosevelt's old pronouncements are now being cited as proof that he favors compulsory military service in peacetime, and not simply for national defense purposes. They have convinced National Guard and Regular Army officers that he wants a permanent system of conscription.

As long ago as 1917, when he was only assistant Secretary of the Navy, the President declared himself in favor of a draft army required to serve for several years in peace or wartime. He declared that he would be only too glad to have his own sons go to the camp with the rank-and-file and rub elbows with our democratic youth. In view of the roles now played by "Captain" Elliott in the army, and "Captain" James in the marines, FDR's 1917 thoughts impress today's buck privates as rather ironical.

But the fact is that the President regards military training camps as more than places for making an army. He looks upon them—as he has said both privately and publicly—as educational centers where the youth of the land will be taught "right action and right thoughts." In short, FDR believes that these training centers can be transformed into thought-making institutions. The draftees will spend almost as much time in learning "right thinking" as they will in doing "squads right."

DROMOS: President Roosevelt is expected to stage a sensational coup in the field of foreign affairs within the next week. Whether his action will be warlike in nature or a gesture for peace will probably depend upon the political reports he receives from his lieutenants in the last days of the campaign.

That sounds like a cynical pronouncement. It implies that FDR is playing politics with problems which involve the very safety of the nation. But his own aides admit privately that they hope to take advantage of any break in the foreign situation, as they have from the start of the campaign. If it appears this weekend—as it does now—that FDR's pro-war attitude is hurting him, he may join the pope in a plea for peace by Christmas — as previously hinted in this column. If new foreign crises frighten our people—such as Italy's attack on Greece—then the United States will again utter a roar on behalf of the democratic way of life.

It is deeply unfortunate that the European war and an American presidential election should occur simultaneously, as all impartial judges admit. It is even more unfortunate that an American President should seize this moment to try to break the third-term tradition, for it makes him a President and a candidate at the same time. He cannot, obviously, divorce his aims for the country from his ambitions for himself, no matter how high-minded he may be.

JOB: The crackup of Henry Wallace's Vice-Presidential campaign came a few nights ago when he and FDR and several topnotch Democratic strategists outlined the last few weeks of campaigning. They admitted then without saying so that the Roosevelt-dictated No. 2 man had been the greatest flop in recent political history.

Henry wanted to sweep through the farm country in a last-minute roundup of agricultural votes. He named the states—Illinois, Ohio, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado and the Dakotas. Incidentally, most of these commonwealths are now listed in the Willkie column. But when the former Secretary of Agriculture completed his outline of his grandiose, campaign plans, a hard-boiled politico replied:

"Listen, Henry. It looks as if your own state of Iowa were going for the President's opponent in a big way. Why don't you go out there, and try to persuade them to vote Democratic?" And that is Henry's main assignment for the last feverish week—to save his own state!

TARRED: The Interstate Commerce theory is being manhandled these days in order to lodge a maximum number of employes under the Wage-Hous tent.

Only a few days ago the Administrator ruled that a small print-shop that ran off a few letterheads for a corner grocer was engaged in interstate commerce because the grocer used a few pieces of stationery to write to friends across state lines. Therefore, although the grocer sent his thoughts rather than his goods across state lines; the print-shop which furnished him with letterheads was proclaimed an economic vassal of the federal government.

NEW YORK
By Richard Waldo

THERE has been expert opinion among New York consulates that has questioned the ability of Italy's superior numbers to sweep through the Greek defenses. It now becomes a question of policy as to when the British navy will choose to take possession of Greek ports. Italy may well be smashed on land, and Britain, by general agreement, can put its dreadnaughts in command of the harbors.

Thereafter, Britain will continue landing sufficient troops to defend the longprepared situation. Her armed forces, once in possession of the hinterland, can present a problem to the German armies which will test to the uttermost all that the Fuehrer's armed might is capable of showing. The British high command believes it can now go far to wipe out the debacles of Norway, Holland, Belgium and France.

In its essential British policy is not only fulfilling the assistance pact with Greece, but doing so in a timed operation of immense weight for our Presidential elections. A series of British successes, with credit to American material as supplied by the administration might conceivably stem the rising tide of anti-war, anti-third term sentiment. Shrewd men in New York see in Greece the last-minute coup that had been expected to be played somewhere within our own borders.

LIMIT: Bar steel, the base in every department of rearmament, will soon supplant skilled labor and the tool bottleneck as the single biggest defense problem. For the first time in generations the output is taking up 96 per cent of the industry's plant capacity. For the first time, also, the combined orders of army, navy and innumerable private heavy industries make up a backlog that cannot be met with any degree of promptness by existing smelters.

Moreover, while the backlog of orders is enormous, the industry is certain that the government has not even hinted at the volume to come if world conditions call for a speedup. Since plant expansion for the production of steel represents one of the most elaborate and costly forms of capitalization in industry the question as to who shall do the financing is one of the toughest in the field of defense economy.

"They Play Soldier Too Long And Hard!" American Boy Gives Reaction To Newly Formed Friends Among British Refugees

Hundreds of English refugee children are taking up a new life in American homes, meeting new playmates, learning new games and new speech. Here is the story of how two English boys are making out in their home in a suburban New York township, written by their 12-year-old host exclusively for NEA Service and The Morning Avalanche.

BY ROBERT SCOTT

IT IS more than a month now since the two English boys came to live with me and my two brothers. We live out in the country about 20 miles from New York.

They are very good fellows and are just like us. They use a lot of English words.

I think they are really scared about the war, but they don't show it. They are always talking about how England will win.

When we were driving home I said something about planes coming up the river. I could see they appeared to be scared and were really and truly afraid the Germans would come up the Hudson.

PLAYING INDIANS IS CONFUSING

They play the same way as American boys. They talk a lot about cricket, but play with a baseball and football very much the way we do.

The English boys play very fair and they sock each other pretty hard when they play. They don't fuss much about bumps and scratches. They like to play Indians, but they get mixed as to whether it's their kind or our kind of Indians.

Mostly their games are make-up games about soldiers, and they work very hard at it and make everybody else work very hard. At first the older English boy drilled the five of us as long as two hours at a time.

For a day or so that was all right, but afterwards we quit. He wanted to lock us in the yard to make us keep it up.

The English boys thought of loads of things that they wanted to do, such as go out into the mountains and shoot their own food and live out alone, but when the oldest one was allowed to sleep outside alone by himself, he came in as soon as the lights were out in the house.

They like our funnies very much, and the movies too. Our guests said that in England there were three kinds of movies: one for grown-ups, one for grown-ups and children, and one for children only. This last was the only kind they could go to themselves.

PREFER BRITISH SHOES AND SOCKS

The English boys like to wear their clothes and said that in English schools when they were teased about their kilts, they liked to fight for them. They think British socks and shoes are lots better than American ones.

They younger boy has learned that in England there were three American words like "shut up," and things like that, and his brother is worried about his language. English boys don't say, "shut up," but they say things that make our colored man very shocked.

Their manners are very much better than ours, except when grown-ups aren't around. Then they are just like anybody else. That's what you mean by manners, isn't it—how you act when grownups are around?

Robert Scott, aged 12 . . . His English guests drill too long and hard in the soldier game.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: Letters from readers are welcoming, at all times, and on all subjects. However, no letter of more than 500 words will be considered for publication, and all letters omitting, or misspelling the names of any individual, firm, or corporation must include, for publication, the true name of the author. The Editor shall be the sole judge of whether or not letters may be published and cannot engage in correspondence concerning them.

AGAINST McDONALD

Editor, The Avalanche: I have read Mr. Humphries' letter and The Plainsman reply, as to J. E. McDonald. I think they agree that he had a perfect right on the Roosevelt ticket and while the Plainsman admitted he would vote for McDonald, Mr. Humphries did not commit himself, but I inferred he also would support McDonald.

Now, if these two "influential writers" has this right, they have the same right to vote for Mr. Willkie. I frankly admit that I am suspicious. They both agree so easily on the McDonald question that I fear.

I expect to vote the straight Roosevelt ticket regardless of McDonald, although I don't think his name has any business on the ticket. He certainly has the "gall" to expect the Roosevelt supporters to elect him to high office while he is doing all he can to defeat Mr. Roosevelt and his supporters and to elect Mr. Willkie.

As for Mr. McDonald and Mr. Willkie's farm program, it is just another promise. The farmers already have a program. The first and only one they ever had, made by the first and only president they ever had. We do not think McDonald or Willkie can beat it.

I do hope my suspicion of these two of my friends is wrong, but I didn't like the sound thereof.

Smith Shaw, sr.,
Idalou.

FOR ROOSEVELT

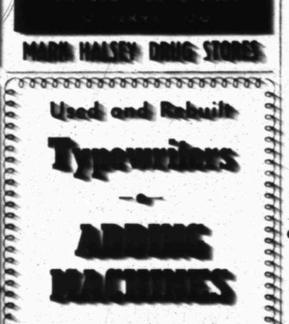

Editor, The Avalanche: I've been expecting some one to write their views on the candidates for President. Since I suppose the farmers are busy gathering their crops, and the merchants busy selling their wares, and the bankers are busy with their tasks, none have time to contradict or deny what the GOP candidate or the CIO leader have to say about our President or the New Deal.

Let us go back when Mr. Hoover was President, how the farmers lost their farms and the banks went broke. Who heard the people's cry then? Was it Mr. Hoover and how about the CIO? How many remember the big labor strike at Slaton? The railroad men had to strike because they belonged to the union. Most of them were satisfied with their wages, but no they were ordered to strike or else! Some of them went back to work under threats from the union, others never did get their jobs back.

Mr. Lewis would appeal to the mothers of our good old U.S.A. to vote against our President, as he was going to have our boys on the battle fields. How many mothers would not prefer our boys to die defending our freedom than to die on the picket lines in some big strike that some labor leader decided to pull?

To my knowledge, this last de-

PROSIT TABLING

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP)—Traders cashed profits on the stock market today and an early bulge of fractions to a point or more for leading steels, utilities, rails and specialties turned into irregularity at the close.

Dealings, fast in the forenoon on the extension of Thursday's brisk rally, dwindled in the home stretch but the day's turnover topped the million-share mark for the second time since Sept. 5, and was one of the largest since last June. Transfers of 1,258,965, compared with 1,143,960 the day before.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 45.8 after being up three days in a row. At mid-day the composite was up .2. It was a broad market with 856 individual issues changing hands against 846 yesterday.

There were 27 new highs for 1940 in evidence when stocks were rising. Among these were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Crucible, Great Northern and Chesapeake and Ohio. All but "big steel" ended slightly under water.

Ending on the upside were Republic Steel, General Motors, North American, Consolidated Edison, Public Service of N. J., Anaconda, Dow Chemical, Union Carbide, American Airlines, Glenn Martin, Boeing, International Harvester and Caterpillar Tractor.

Declines were recorded for Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, du Pont, Westinghouse, Western Union, Santa Fe, Eastman Kodak and Montgomery Ward.

Bonds and commodities were uneven.

In spots, curb mild advances were retained by Brewster Aero, American Gas, Cities Service, Gulf Oil and N. J. Zinc. In the minus column were Electric Bond and Share, Aluminum of America, Humble Oil and Phoenix Securities. There was a turnover amounting 212,000 shares versus 187,000 in the preceding session.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP)—A late wave of hedge selling carried cotton futures down 2 to 6 points after morning gains today.

Reports of large turnover in cotton textiles encouraged buying but the imagnitude of March to break through 9.60 rents a pound signaled a selling movement.

A good follow through developed to the textile buying that started late Thursday. Brokers estimated sales for the day totaled 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 bales at some point. Offers and called terms. Resistance developed after initial advanced quotations a cent a bale.

Ending Thursday, 9.91 was the season top. 9.815, Dec. 1940. 1,058 Port stocks 326,435.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 1. (AP)—The wheat market was beset with pre-election uncertainty today as traders cashed profits and cleaned up accounts preparatory to assuming outside positions pending Tuesday's voting. Prices, fluctuated narrowly, most of the time, a cent. Early gains ranging up to ⅞ cent were wiped out after the session and at times quotations showed net losses of as much as a cent. Closing figures were unchanged to 1⅛ lower compared with yesterday, December 84¾-85, May 83½-83⅝.

With commercial milling and flour trade activity at a low ebb and not expected to revive until after election, the market's course was dependent almost entirely on small scale orders placed by dealers who followed the trend of securities or commodities. Shorts, short sales and adjusted accounts. Open interest in wheat is near the smallest in years, reflecting in part reluctance of dealers to participate in the trade in view of domestic and international uncertainties.

Corn advanced ⅛ to ⅜ cent at one stage, reflecting a good demand from shipping interests, but closed only ⅛ to ¼ cent higher. December 58⅝, May 60⅜. Oats were unchanged to ⅛ up; soy beans 1½ to 2⅝ higher; rye ⅛ to ⅝ up and lard unchanged to 3 lower.

Private crop experts released their November reports. The average of estimates of winter wheat acreage for the 1941 crop was 44,101,000 acres, slightly larger than sown last year but 2,000,000 below the ten-year average of plantings. They said the crop will go into the winter in good condition.

American Bombsight Has Not Been Released To Britain

Military Heads Make Statement

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—Out of the welter of discussion of whether the American bombsight has been or will be released to Great Britain this explanation of the situation was given today by authoritative military quarters:

The army's own bombsight has not been released to Great Britain or any other country. Neither has the navy's bombsight.

It is true, it was explained, that an American manufacturer, who makes parts for the army bombsights, is making sights for Great Britain. But those are being made to British specifications and are not the American sight, it was said.

Closely Guarded

The bomosights, it was explained, are still closely guarded military secrets. All planes in which the sights are installed are kept under heavy guard at all times.

Both the army and the navy assemble their sights from parts made by various manufacturers. No one manufacturer knows the full specifications. The assembly is done in relays so that no one workman can know the full secret.

Reliable sources said today that it is partly true that the two forces use different sights, but only to the extent that they engage in different kinds of bombing.

Fundamentally Same

Most navy bombing would be dive bombing. That is the only way a vessel can be bombed accurately. This requires one kind of bomb sight, which the navy has developed to a high degree of accuracy.

Level bombing from high altitudes is the army's specialty. This requires a materially different kind of bombsight, which is the pride of the army.

Both army and navy sources indicated that where their two air forces employ the same kind of bombing, the sights are fundamentally the same.

WAR VETERAN DIES

Norton served as assistant quartermaster in Havana during the Spanish-American war.

Letters To The Editor

pression labor had wages so much higher than the people's income they simply could not use the organized labor. Carpenters for instance, how many had jobs? How many carpenters are idle now, please tell me. How many people are idle now unless they prefer idleness to work?

Then how they weep because the third term for President breaks a precedent. I've been told that men walked on their all-fours and swung from trees by their tails. When man became more enlightened he walked on two feet. I've not heard anyone complaining about that and it seems to me our history books tell us our forefathers plowed with crooked sticks. Wonder how our tractor farmers would like staying with that method of farming?

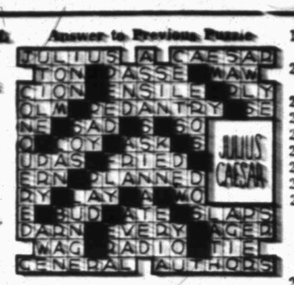

We have progressed a little thanks to the press and radio. I don't believe we, the common people, are going to forget so quick the privations we suffered when we had a GOP President. We have gone off the diet of blackeyed peas that was called "life savers" when Mr. Hoover was President. We are now on a well balanced diet. Thanksgiving day means a lot to we citizens of this good old U.S.A.

Levelland.

Mail Schedule Is Being Worked Out

Railway mail service is making efforts to arrange a satisfactory schedule to replace the service formerly handled by Santa Fe trains 94 and 95, which were taken off by the railroad under authority of the Railroad Commission of Texas, Postmaster Amos Howard said.

Harry K. Coale of Fort Worth, chief clerk of district 1, which includes territory west of Fort Worth, visited Lubbock this week, as well as other towns, to confer with postal officials on a new schedule. A temporary route between Lubbock and Amarillo, to serve seven other towns, would be set up.

Coale indicated the proposed route, either by bus or truck, would carry all classes of mail. It also would approximate the same hours as the two trains removed. No. 94 left Lubbock at 8:30 a. m., arriving in Amarillo at 11:30; No. 95 left Amarillo at 7:30 p. m. and arrived in Lubbock at 10:10 p. m. Towns served included, Abernathy, Hale Center, Plainview, Kress, Tulia, Happy and Canyon.

Every effort is being made to install the new service in the immediate future. Mail arriving here on No. 94 from the south, for these towns, is held over until 1:15 o'clock in the afternoon. Mail from the towns to points beyond Lubbock arrive either on a schedule due early in the morning and held until afternoon, or a Santa Fe train due at 3:55 o'clock in the afternoon.

Today Deadline For Discount On Taxes

Today is the last opportunity to obtain a 3 per cent discount on current state and county taxes, H. B. Bryan, county assessor-collector, reminded Friday.

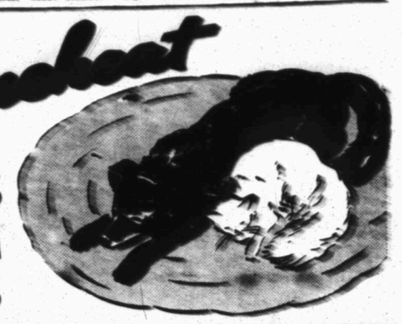

The deduction drops to 2 per cent Monday, he explained. Tax payments have continued heavy this week, although totals are not yet available, he said. He added that his office will be open during the noon hour today.

Report also was made this morning by V. B. Plummer, city assessor-collector, that payments of city taxes have continued briskly since receipts arrived and collections were started Wednesday afternoon. Payments Thursday totaled more than $2,000, he said.
