

Showdown Nears On Berlin

Allies Plan Firm Stand

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will give Russia a firm hands-off-Berlin notice early next week, about three weeks later than originally planned. The delay may soften the impact of the warning on Soviet leaders.

At a time when Western officials say allied unity is of vital importance, the difficulty which the Western powers had in agreeing on the wording of the note reflects a diversity of views which could easily be interpreted in Moscow as basic disunity.

Top U.S. officials say that actually the United States, Britain, France and West Germany are solidly united on preserving basic Western rights in West Berlin, even at the risk of an East-West military showdown.

They are described as equally determined to protect their rights of access from West Germany to Red-encircled West Berlin. But in some official quarters here there is concern about the delays and frustrations encountered in translating an accord on basic issues into action as the Berlin crisis which could easily be interpreted in Moscow as basic disunity.

In the present case, the United States, Britain and France took a long time to work out their draft. Then it was sent to NATO, where some of the smaller nations were annoyed at what they regarded as an effort to rush approval. Consequently, NATO consideration required another week.

The new U.S. note on Berlin is a reply to one which Khrushchev handed President Kennedy at Vienna on June 4. Grim in tone.

Refugees Throng To West Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—East and West prepared Saturday for a showdown in divided Berlin on a show-down which is permitted to come to this isolated outpost of the Western world.

From Red-ruled East Germany, refugees were pouring in at a record rate. There were 675 new ones counted at Marienfelde Camp by 11:30 Saturday morning, when the books—but not the reception machinery—closed down for the weekend. The comparable figure last Saturday was only 477.

These counts are far from complete. Experts say the average of arrivals over the past week has been 1,200 a day. This is as many as Berlin has ever handled, although more people made it across the Iron Curtain in the crisis period of 1953. Then it was easier to escape in other ways as well. Now Berlin, still accessible from East Germany, is almost the only route.

Many refugees indicate fear the Communists are about to close the Berlin escape hatch. Others decided to leave because of party pressure to speed up work in factories and on farms. Central party authorities are pressing all the way down the line for more work to overcome shortages—including the labor shortage helped by the flight of refugees.

There were widespread reports that peasants, annoyed by Communist pressure, are trying to get out of collective farms. All East German land was collectivized in the spring of 1960. Gerhard Grunberg, a top Communist in farm affairs, warned they had better give up the idea of going back to individual farming.

There were other reports, still unconfirmed, that Communist police are stepping up their spot checks on trains that may be carrying refugees. This is the peak travel season in East Germany. Since school closed a week ago, if no longer excites much suspicion in an East German town when a whole family packs up and takes off.

School Head Picked

MEXIA, Tex. (AP)—Bruce Elden Oberholtzer, Whitney high school administrator, is the new superintendent of Mexia public schools. He succeeds Alton Bowen, who is taking over as superintendent at Bryan.

Khrushchev's note avowed Russia's determination to move toward what he calls a Berlin "settlement," by which he means to force the United States, Britain and France out of West Berlin.

The United States began consulting with Britain, France and West Germany on a reply immediately after the Vienna conference. U.S. officials then said the reply would go to Moscow before the end of June.

By the last week in June inquiries were met with the assurance that the allies were fully agreed on their basic principles for Berlin—which has been true for years—that they were decided on the form of the note and that they were still working on its wording.

Speculation then was that French President Charles de Gaulle wanted tough language that the allies would not back down on Berlin and that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan wanted to take a firm stand on Berlin—and on principles that would leave the way clearly open for a negotiated settlement. This speculation, though officially unconfirmed, was in line with known differences of allied position.

As finally put together, the note heavily emphasizes the war-won rights of the Western allies in West Berlin and the determination in Western capitals not to let those rights be snatched or whittled away.

The door to negotiation is held open but the note indicates the allies will not negotiate on Russia's demands for their withdrawal or its threat to wipe out their rights by a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

Already U.S. officials are talking about a second note which would make proposals for a way out of the crisis.

This second Berlin note would seek to seize the initiative for the West by proposing some compromise formula for ending the crisis without jeopardizing Western rights.

But whether the allies can agree on such a formula is a serious question just as it is still a question whether they can agree on what they will do in various contingencies if the Soviets, toward the end of this year, try to force the Berlin crisis to a showdown.

This is not a matter of basic attitudes or principles; it is a matter of accommodating diverse points of view—usually on details. Many officials agree that the difficulty of keeping the allies playing as a team in the grim contest with the Communist bloc is not a sufficient excuse for failing to act effectively or in time.

This means that better techniques of consultation must be found if the United States and its allies are to realize the full potential of their resources in fighting out the issues of the cold war.

Mobilization Being Talked

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Sun-Times said Saturday in its Sunday edition that President Kennedy has reached a firm decision to mobilize some elements of the armed reserves to meet the Soviet threat to West Berlin.

The story, written by Thomas B. Ross of the Sun-Times Washington bureau, said that key members of Congress have been advised of the decision.

"Final determination of how many men will be mobilized, what reserves and National Guard elements will be involved, and when they will be ordered to active duty has been deferred until Mr. Kennedy receives a detailed Pentagon review this week," Ross said.

The President has authority to call up as many as one million men without any action by Congress.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman replied "no comment" when asked about the Sun-Times story. Members of Congress available at the capital professed no knowledge of any such decision by the President.

The Defense Department has been working since early last week on a review of readiness of conventional forces which might be needed to implement any moves decided upon by Kennedy.

Kennedy ordered the review last weekend at a meeting with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the President's military adviser. The review presumably is to provide Kennedy with information on which he can base his decision on the scope of any new action needed.

Rodeo headquarters open Monday morning at the Harrell Feed Store, one-half block west of the square on the Lamesa Highway.

Prizes amounting at $3600 will be awarded to the contestants in the various events. Events include yearling tie-down, calf roping, junior goat sacking, steer riding, cutting horse, bronc riding, bareback riding, wild mare race and sponsor contest.

General admission for the rodeo will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children.

Wildcatting On Upswing

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission reported Saturday that Texas wildcatting continued last week to outstrip by a tremendous margin their performance last year.

They drilled 35 wildcat gas wells last week, bringing their total for the year to 338—nearly seven times the 50 that had been by this time last year.

Eleven of the wells were in Dist. 4, eight in Dist. 3, seven in Dist. 2, six in Dist. 6 and one each in Dist. 1, 7-b and 8.

Oil well completions totaled 208, bringing the year's completions to 3,019, compared with 3,401 in the comparable 1960 period. New gas wells totaled 70 to give a total of 1,612 for the year. This compares with 1,038 gas well completions at this time a year ago. Crews plugged 131 wells, including 91 dry holes.

Six wildcat oil wells were drilled, giving a total for the year of 250, compared with 302 for the same period last year. One wildcat each was in Dist. 2, 3, 7-b, 8, 9 and 10.

Kassem's Got 'Em Cheerin'

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Premier Abdel Karim Kassem, his threat to take over Kuwait renewed, Saturday took the cheers of thousands of Iraqis who acclaimed him "the conqueror of imperialism."

An estimated 10,000 Iraqis trooped through Baghdad's burning heat for three hours in a second straight day of noisy, colorful celebrations commemorating the third anniversary of Kassem's July 14 military coup.

The simmering Kuwait crisis was never far in the background as the demonstrators honored the revolution that ended in death the King Faisal and Premier Nuri Said and severed Iraq's military ties with Britain.

Kassem made Kuwait the theme of his annual revolution anniversary address to the Baghdad Military College Friday night.

Reiterating his claim that Kuwait historically is part of Iraq, he leveled a new charge: The oil-rich sheikdom is a Middle East base for British imperialism.

Attacking Britain for what he called its efforts "to gather others against Iraq," Kassem said, "Let every Arab listen. We are demanding our right and there is no force preventing us from restoring our rights."

Kassem said Iraq's battle is not with Kuwait's ruler, Sheik Sir Abdullah al-Salim as-Sabah, but with British imperialism. He warned that "every Arab listen. We are demanding our right and there is no force preventing us from restoring our rights."

of West Texas, without handling charges, by the auction firm at its regular sale during the month. Proceeds of the sale will be entirely net, thanks not only to generosity of the ranchmen who give the livestock, but to the auction company as well.

Boys Ranch of West Texas is home to 35 to 40 boys who because of circumstances utterly beyond their control, desperately need a place where they can get the love and good training so necessary for a chance to become good citizens. Along with this sympathetic attention and education, they also require housing, three meals a day, and decent clothing. Last year, a single special sale at Producers Livestock Auction in San Angelo yielded several thousand dollars. But auctioneer sponsored the sale saw that many ranchmen were unable to donate livestock because they couldn't work pastures for that single purpose, or because they weren't able to get stock from far distances in to San Angelo. For those reasons, this year's roundup sale is spread throughout August and is being assisted by 14 leading auction firms in various parts of West Texas.

Local "Wagon Bosses" will also participate in the campaign, contacting prospective donors, explaining the program, and otherwise rendering all possible help to stockmen and auction operators in making the drive effective. These Wagon Bosses will be active west of San Angelo where no auction exists. Stock from their localities will be sold in San Angelo. The Wagon Boss for the Snyder area is Mr. Dan Gibson.

It's an area-wide effort to give West Texas stockmen an opportunity to do whatever they can to help a cause they'll all agree is worthwhile—and to lend a helping hand to some boy they may never meet but whose chances for a better life depend on their generosity.

Western Powers Are Ready To Stand Up To Khrushchev

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Suddenly the West is beginning to belt Premier Khrushchev, gag him on his own words, put him on the defensive. It's a switch. He's been doing the pitching, the West the catching.

If this is a put-up job — agreement between Western allies to turn the tables — this writer hasn't been able to find it. But they've conferred steadily on his Berlin rumpus. Now together they're potshotting him.

For weeks he's acted like a loudmouth, threatening to push the Allies out of West Berlin, bragging of Soviet power. It's kept the Allies jumpy, defensive, apparently uncertain how to handle him.

Then this week the blasts from French President Charles De Gaulle, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Lincolnton White, State Department press officer and spokesman, and even Sen. Hubert Humphrey, Minnesota Democrat.

De Gaulle, who doesn't talk often, said the West won't let the Soviets settle Berlin's fate by themselves, warned they'll be responsible for any "grave consequences" of a Berlin crisis.

"Refugees from Communist East Germany are fleeing into West Berlin at the rate of 1,000 a day," Adenauer said. "It proves conditions over there have become unbearable and a 'panic' seems to have broken out."

This kind of psychological assault can't help but hurt Khrushchev with satellites and neutrals. Major cause for the refugee flight seems to be food shortages — for instance, in potatoes and butter — and stepped-up Red pressure upon the East Germans to support communism more actively.

Khrushchev, in his finagling on Berlin, called for signing separate peace treaties with West and East Germany, an unthinkable situation for Adenauer, who wants a single, united Germany.

But Adenauer's Bonn government used this against Khrushchev, with "text" to hurt him. It pointed out that the Soviet Union, in joining the United Nations, had agreed to the principle that all peoples should have the right to determine their own future. West Germany called on Khrushchev to live up to the pledge, told him:

"Sign a peace treaty with a single German government elected by all Germans, East and West. Since letting the East Germans vote on a single German government is the last thing Khrushchev wants, he won't permit it."

But it was good propaganda against him. Rusk put the whole blame for present world jitters on Communism, said, "The underlying crisis of our generation arises from the fact that the Soviet Union did not join the United Nations in fact as well as in form. The possession of power has transformed it to ambition for more power."

Humphrey hit Khrushchev a lick which must hurt around the world, raise suspicions of Soviet successes. He said Khrushchev was plagued by food shortage of staggering proportions. He said entire Communist empire is on short rations.

The United States accused the Communist East German regime of violating religious liberty by trying to split the Evangelical Church, which exists in both Germany.

White said the purpose is to wreck the church, asked, "Is this the kind of freedom the Soviets desire to extend to 24 million West Berliners through their so-called 'free city' proposals?"

The State Department denounced the East German Communists for denying the right of the Germans who live under them but work in West Berlin to buy various household goods.

Rambunctious Khrushchev in Moscow — in a statement he'll probably regret because it was unnecessary at this time and, when thrown back at him, makes bad propaganda for him — said, "Even if all countries of the world adopted a decision which did not accord with the interests of the Soviet Union and threatened its security," Russia would not recognize the decision.

White took quick advantage, said in view of this "there can be little confidence in Soviet proposals for some sort of U.N. guarantee" on keeping Berlin free. Khrushchev previously had suggested the United Nations could do just that.

Just 18 months ago today Khrushchev, boasting of Soviet strength in missiles, said they had made airplanes obsolete, predicted they were on the way out. But last Sunday the Soviet Union displayed the very latest in new supersonic jet fighters and bombers.

White pointed to this contradiction to boot at the value of what Khrushchev says.

Khan Tries Texas Style Of Things

By JOE BENHAM

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Pakistan President Mohammed Ayub Khan and U. S. Vice President Lyndon Johnson arrived Saturday for a three-day visit in Texas.

Ayub Khan, Johnson and their official parties, traveling in a jet transport, touched down at Randolph Air Force Base 20 miles northwest of San Antonio at 2:55 p.m. (CST).

A crowd estimated at 25,000 greeted the dignitaries. Signs painted in Pakistan's official colors of green and white declared "Welcome Ayub to San Antonio."

Ayub Khan, Johnson, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara and Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, headed the party which flew here after the Pakistan president toured the Civil War Battlefield site at Gettysburg and visited with former President Eisenhower at the latter's farm.

Ayub greeted with a series of roaring ovations by the crowd which lined the runway, responded by saying he was "delighted to be in Texas."

Speaking in English with a strong British accent, the Pakistan president praised Johnson, saying, "I have fallen in love with this man ever since I met him for his courage and his skill in handling people."

Texas Gov. Price Daniel, Mayor Walter McAllister of San Antonio, Lt. Gen. Donald Booth, 4th

Army commander, and Lt. Gen. James E. Briggs, chief of the air training command, waited as Ayub, Johnson and their party walked down a flight of steps onto a red carpet.

"Welcome to the state of Texas," Daniel said as he shook the hand of the Pakistan president. "We are happy to have you here, sir."

Ayub, answering questions of newsmen, said he believes his talks with President Kennedy in Washington this week have been fruitful.

"President Kennedy and his staff now know what our requirements are and I am sure they will be met," he said.

After the arrival ceremonies and an air show lasting about an hour, the party went to the Alamo, shrine of Texas liberty in downtown San Antonio.

If Bad Worsens Into Worst . . .

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
ABOARD THE U.S.S. NORTH-HAMPTON (AP)—Someday, if an enemy should knock out the Pentagon and other command centers—the President and U. S. military chiefs may fly to this ship to direct the nation's strike-back.

Without saying it in so many words, Navy officers make it clear that this unique, 17,200-ton vessel would serve as an emergency national command post at sea, difficult for foe to find and destroy.

Vice Adm. Claude V. Ricketts, soon to take over as the Navy's second in command, told news men who visited the vessel this week that the $65-million Northampton has all the facilities to "act as a command post for every echelon of government."

The 677-foot vessel was the nerve center of a big NATO fleet maneuver this week. It is equipped to communicate with far-flung Navy ships, Army forces and air bases.

The Northampton can reach across the world by voice, teletypewriter and radio code message. News men were shown how a message was sent around the globe and back to the ship in 1.8 seconds.

"We have in the Northampton the greatest amount of communications equipment of any ship in the world," Ricketts said.

Further—and of vital importance in any national war effort—the ship is capable of receiving detailed strategic and tactical intelligence from all ground, sea and air services. And it can display the information in a form to enable the President and his top commanders to reach their military judgment.

To aid in the decision-making, Ricketts said, the Northampton has aboard a complete library, meaning war plans, operational blueprints, and the like.

The ship, literally packed with electronics gear, can be tied into the bomb alarm system by radio, the admiral said.

The bomb alarm system is employed at key air and missile bases, military and government centers, industrial and population concentrations. It is rigged to flash an automatic signal in event a nuclear bomb exploded within its range. Thus, top chiefs would be told instantaneously where an enemy has struck and how extensive the attack is.

A class in English vocabulary for beginning Latin-American children will be held at Central Elementary School on Monday, July 17th at 8 a. m.

The Snyder Schools urge parents of these beginning children to bring them to this class. The class will continue for one and one-half hours each morning (Monday through Friday) for six weeks. Children who attend this class should have sufficient knowledge of English vocabulary by September to continue in the regular first grade classes.

There is no charge for attending the class. It will be necessary for the parents to furnish transportation to and from school for their child.

To justify the continuation of this class it will require at least fifteen in regular attendance each day. We urge parents to stress the importance of attending to any friends or neighbors who have children beginning school in September.

STILL HOPEFUL—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kremer of Granada Hills, Calif., pose with their son, Jeffrey, 13, a year ago during an extensive search for another son—Bruce—whose ninth birthday is July 21. Jeffrey holds a picture of the missing boy, who disappeared a year ago on a YMCA hike in the Angeles National Forest. Despite a year has passed since Bruce disappeared, the parents are still clinging to the hope that somehow the boy may still be alive. (AP Wirephoto)

LeROY KEY
Panic Grass Proves Profitable

CAUSE FOR ELATION

Local Rancher Pleased With Grass Results

Blue panic, a perennial grass, has proved to be an excellent grass for grazing as well as being good hay, reports LeRoy Key. Key cuts the grass when the seed is in the soft dough stage. It almost equals alfalfa in protein.

Key operates a 3,600 acre ranch southwest of Snyder, and adds that blue panic has proven to be an outstanding grass in his ranch operation. It has furnished an abundance of grazing as well as producing hay. He has about 1,000 acres in panic at present.

This is the second year he has put up hay. It is cutting 20 bales per acre this year. His plans are to cut about 400 acres this year.

Cattle thrive on it, he reports, and makes mention of the fact that it has been a "life saver" to him, as he has been able to graze it during the winter and early spring when the native pastures need resting. Also, he states that it is the only grass he has found that will stay and not have to be planted each year.

This represents the fifth year for the grass. He cultivates twice a year by churning the middles. Weed control has been carried out by spraying.

Key feels there is a need for fertilizing the grass and plans next year to accomplish that phase.

The grass is being grown "dry land." It is planted in forty-inch rows. The land has been used for growing cotton and grain sorghum.

"Blue panic doesn't meet all my needs, but it is going a long way for year round use," he concludes.

One Dead, Another Hurt In Smashup

HOUSTON (AP)—A light plane crashed Saturday at Pearland Airport, killed a veteran crop-duster pilot and critically injuring a student.

Ralph Parkman, 57, owner of a crop dusting service and a flying instructor, was dead on arrival at a Houston hospital.

Howard Moorehead, 44, of Pasadena, a student pilot, was termed in very critical condition with multiple injuries.

Santa Fe Exec Dies Suddenly

WASHINGTON (AP)—James P. Reinhold, 55, assistant to the president of the Santa Fe Railway, died suddenly Friday. He was in charge of the railroad's public relations department in Chicago.

New Port Planned

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Treasury and marine ministries are studying a British plan to finance a new port at Matamoros, across the Rio Grande from Brownsville.

Marauders Terrorize Chi Sector

CHICAGO (AP)—Pointless violence that erupted fitfully and ruthlessly in a racially mixed section of Chicago's Southwest Side appeared under control Saturday.

Shooting matches between groups of unruly youths, seldom requiring police action, continued however.

Some 200 extra police from outlying areas were ordered into the Lawndale and Fillmore districts Friday to help maintain order.

Extra police were withdrawn Saturday.

Twelve two-man squad cars normally patrol the two districts during the day. They had help from an additional dozen squad cars Friday.

The swift, senseless attacks by roving gangs of youthful Negroes started Thursday after the mysterious slaying of a Negro boy who was shot from ambush as he walked home from summer school. The gunman has not been found.

Seldom numbering more than six, the gangs appeared suddenly where a single white man or woman walked or was driving an automobile. Suddenly, sometimes shouting obscenities and sometimes silently, the hoodlums swarmed around their victims.

Wielding as handles, sawed-off baseball bats, short lengths of chain and rubber hose, the marauders beat down their prey in seconds. Before fleeing, they generally rifled the victim's purse or pockets for valuables.

In three days, the victims numbered 20. Some were hospitalized. Among them were two young girls—one 12 years old, sitting on the front porch of her home. The girls suffered cuts and bruises when the gang hurled a home-made bomb at them.

One man, 68 years old, was beaten and slashed by razors when a gang of 15 Negroes attacked him.

Sixty-five Negroes of all ages were taken into custody. Police said at least 45 of them were boys and girls under 16. Some older Negroes were charged with aiding a riot, breach of peace and unlawful assembly.

There was no pattern to the attacks, police said. As quickly as a victim was attacked and robbed the gangs fled assembling again at a distant, prearranged location.

Sometimes the gangs would stone a passing bus, taxicab or private car.

Yankees Drop Pair; Tigers Colt Titlists

The Colt League Red Sox proceeded to "take up where they left off" on June 24 the past Friday, as they finished the game with a 3-0 fourth-inning lead. From there they went on to ease into the final 6-0 shutout victory.

The Yankees also went on to get themselves felled in the nightcap by the Phillies, 4-1. Going into that final night of regular play, the Yankees were at .500, while the Red Sox were at .333.

The sole team still possessing a mathematical shot at a piece of the league's crown behind the Roby Tigers, who stood 7-5. That double loss plunged them into the loop cellar, however, and gave Roby outright possession of the bunting.

Final standings show Roby to be champ with their 7-5 reading, followed by the Phillies and Red Sox, each of whom finished with 6-6, and the Yankees, who were 5-7.

The aforementioned Sox-Yank fray was a weather-abbreviated affair, with the resumption of Friday play showing the eventual winners to be entering the game with a 3-0 fourth-inning lead. From there they went on to ease into the final 6-0 shutout victory.

Gerald Bullard, who had started the contest last month, received credit for the victory. In his absence, Keith Moreland finished out and preserved the blanking Friday. Following the lengthy apoplexy, Gale Potter completed the game for his Yankees to be the loser.

The only extra base hit of the game was uncorked by Yank centerfielder Jimmy Taylor, who landed a June triple.

Ronnie Bennett chucked the 4-1 nightcap Phillie with over the Yankees, where a fifth frame unearned marker ruined his shutout effort, a two-hitter.

Southpaw Jerry Kruse, who went the initial four and a third innings, was tagged with the loss. Dalton Walton tolled the remainder of the game on the hill, hurling hitless ball, while Kruse—like Bennett—relinquished only two singles during his stint.

IN SEASON ENDERS

Thrillers Dominate Little League Play

Snyder's Little League Athletics ended their regular season on a happy note here Friday, pulling in a final title tie with the White Sox on the strength of a 4-3 nipping of the Yankees.

A garrison finish turned the trick for the A's, as they found themselves blanked until the final two innings, when they chased over a pair of runs in each of those canoes to register the important triumph.

Freddy Beniter sparked that late surge with back-to-back singles in the fifth and sixth.

Lloyd Potts also singled twice for the victors.

Terry Holt was the winning deliverer, being touched for four consecutive batters over the span of the contest. Relief hurler Butch Fletcher was the loser after spelling starter Ted Winter.

In still another game which hung in the balance until the final inning, the league champion Giants followed up in the nightcap to cap off their season with a slim 1-0 win over the Braves, with a homer by Murray Howden in the sixth, winning the game for the Giant nine.

Bowden, the first hitter to face loser Don Jones in the inning, picked on the first pitch as offered up, sending it sailing and breaking up the game in the process.

Both Jones and winning chunker Lane McMillan were stingy with the base hits, each allowing three for the night.

Bowden was the "whole show" in the stick department for the Giants, as he had previously singled in both the first and fourth frames, which—coupled with his game-ending circuit smash—was the sum and substance of it for the Giants. Second baseman Doyle Gallman, with two singles in three trips, was the leading Brave hitter.

SOFTBALL ROUNDUP

Oilers Nip Greenhill

The Harlin Oilers downed Greenhill Baptist Friday night in a City softball encounter, but by the skin of their very teeth, 1-0.

The two teams fought on scoreless terms until the seventh, when in the home half of the frame Billy Joe Brown hit the game-winning home run, then rounded home with the tie-breaker ahead of Tim Marcum, who slapped a two-bagger to center. Two were out when the winning run was scored.

Guy Sullivan chunked the win, giving up only two hits—a triple and single—to Kokomo Lloyd.

Rinehart absorbed the loss for Greenhill, pitching a commendable three-hit game.

Devers Mobl whacked Mixon Tires by 19-7 in the other contest of the night.

James Cantwell pitched and batted his way to victory in that one, hitting the home run on the hill and booting his cause with a 4-for-5 platter.

Other prominent Devers hitters included Jimmy Allen, who doubled and tripled, and Orville Ham, who clouted a two-run homer in the second. Harve Tatom suffered the loss for Mixon.

A's, White Sox In FL Triumphs

The Farm League Athletics capped off their regular season in impressive fashion Friday, as the league champs sidetracked the Indians with ease by 11-1.

The victory was chalked up by Raymond Rodriguez, who allowed just five hits over his six-inning tour of duty.

Tribe rightfielder Clay Landon collected two of those hits, both singles.

Rodriguez helped his own cause with a pair of singles, while a like number were notched by teammate Larry Woolsey.

Other closing night action saw the White Sox applying the stoppers to the Yankees, 10-5.

John Briner chalked up the victory in that one, and R. Fritzell was nailed with the loss.

Yank Men, Red Women Take Lead

By ED CORRIGAN Associated Press Sports Writer MOSCOW (AP)—The American men's and women's 400-meter relay teams set world records and Wilma Rudolph tied her own 100-meter mark Saturday as the United States men and Russian women took 19-point leads at the end of the first day of the two-day track meet.

The U.S. men won 7 of 11 events for a 64-54 edge. Russian women won 3 of 5 for a 31-21 margin.

Hayes Jones, a 1955 Olympian, Charles Frazier and Paul Drayton shot to a fantastic record of 30.1 seconds in the men's 400, stunning the crowd of 60,000 in Lenin Stadium.

Miss Rudolph, the triple gold medal winner in the 1960 Olympic Games, matched her own record of 11.3 seconds for the 100. Then she anchored the 400-meter relay team to a new mark of 44.3 seconds.

The Russians had expected to win the women's relay with no trouble. But grabbing the baton about four yards back, Wilma sprinted to the front and won going away. The old record was 44.4.

Except for the women's relay, there were no surprises. The U.S. men scored 1-2 sweeps in the 100 meters, 400 meters, 800 meters, pole vault and shot put. The only American victory that was not a 1-2 sweep was in the 100-meter hurdles by Hayes Jones of Pontiac, Mich. In 13.8 seconds, Anatoli Mikhailov sneaked in ahead of Fran Washington of North Sacramento, Calif., to take second.

The Russians finished 1-2 in the hammer throw, hop, step and jump, 20-kilometer walk and 10,000-meter run.

Tamara Press set a new world record in the women's discus with a throw of 138 feet 4 inches as Russia won three of the five women's events.

COMING NEXT SUNDAY—Shirley MacLaine is reluctant to suggest that Lawrence Harvey needs vocal coaching if he aspires to a singing career. The scene is from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Two Loves," showing for the first time in Snyder, beginning Sunday, July 23, at the Canyon Drive-In. The movie is based on a novel by Sylvia Ashton-Warner. Jack Hawkins also stars in the CinemaScope and color production, with Nobu McCarthy heading the supporting cast.

Asian Allies Talk Of Yugoslavia

By GENE KRAMER
TOKYO (AP)—Red China and North Korea declared a bold Saturday that "the main danger to the present international Communist movement" is in the revisionism of Yugoslavia.

A resolute struggle must be waged against it, the two Asian allies said in a joint communiqué broadcast less than 48 hours after the windup of a Yugoslav-Soviet love feast in Moscow.

Despite this slap at the independent communism of President Tito, the communiqué tended to minimize reported friction between Peking and Moscow. At several points it voiced strong support for policies of the Soviet Union, including Berlin.

Premier Khrushchev has been trying off and on for years to heal the Stalin era split between Moscow and Belgrade over divergence of Tito's Yugoslav party from the Kremlin line—the Communist sin called revisionism.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Yugoslav Foreign Minister Koca Popovic announced only Thursday that their nations' positions on most international problems coincide. This statement, issued after a week-long visit by Popovic to Moscow, indicated relations between those two nations are the warmest in a long time.

Chinese Communist theoreticians have never looked kindly on Tito's brand of communism and now the North Koreans sound committed to the Chinese view.

The communiqué was signed during a visit to Red China of North Korean Premier Kim Il-sung. He has just returned to his capital, Pyongyang, from a talk with Communist leader Mao Tse-tung in Hangchow. The communiqué was broadcast by Peking and Pyongyang radios.

The United States was accused again of fomenting danger of a new world war.

North Korea and Red China declared they would "remain consistently and unwaveringly faithful to the declaration of the 1967 Moscow (communist) meeting" and the statement of the 1960 Moscow meeting.

Moscow's view that war is not inevitable prevailed in the 1960 statement, issued after reports of heated disagreement on the point between the theoreticians of the Soviet Union and Red China.

The communiqué said North Korea and Red China had made "unremitting efforts for the realization of peaceful coexistence among nations with different so-

Actresses Do Retire, And She Did

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
PARIS (AP)—I can't seem to convince people that I have retired. But I have.

This was Deanna Durbin speaking. Still with glowing apple-cheeks, she was as lovely as when she starred in a series of hit musicals in Hollywood.

She and her family had come to visit an old friend. There was her husband, writer Charles David, a charming intellectual with short hair and inquiring eyes. There was daughter Jessica, a fresh-faced beauty of 15. And there was son Peter, 10, who read a book while the adults talked.

"You'd think that after 12 years the idea would get across that Deanna does not want to work any more," said David. "The French now understand it. When we go to an opening in Paris, the photographers wink and look the other way."

"But the foreign journalists don't understand this, and we continue getting inquiries. Then we have to go through the same dreary process of convincing them that Deanna does not want publicity," she explained.

Deanna added: "I suppose nobody believes that actors can really retire. That's because so many of them have announced retirement, then come back."

As one who had reported the impetuous retirements of Fred Astaire, Betty Hutton and others, I agreed. But Deanna seems a different case. Her reasons for quitting go deep.

"It's not that I didn't like acting," she explained.

"What I didn't like was the publicity, the invasion of my private life."

She has found contentment in a life of anonymity in France. The Davys live in an old farmhouse a half-hour's drive from Paris. There they make an art of the quiet life.

"I cook and I garden," Deanna said. "Before I came here, I couldn't boil water. Now my husband says I am a good French cook."

Joey Bishop Show For Fall Viewing

By JAMES RACON
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Word is that the Joey Bishop Show is the not television entry for the fall season—but deadpan Joey isn't moving his family out here yet.

Said Bishop: "I'm renting a house in Beverly Hills for the summer but I still keep the one in Englewood, N.J. My boy Larry is out here for the summer but I'll start him in school back home again in the fall."

"We're making 36 films with options for 13 more. If the series goes, I'll come out here for good—not before."

Joey, a night club comic, does not care if he ever plays a saloon again.

"I'd like some of this Hollywood home life for a change. I told Jack Entratter I might play the Sands for him in Las Vegas once in a while—but no more of the tour."

That is, of course, if the TV series hits. If not, Joey says he will gladly go back to the clubs. Currently, he is appearing with Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin.

Sammy Davis Jr. and Peter Lawford in "Soldiers 3."

The five of them also work together as a night club act—the Summit Conference. Amazingly, it is Bishop who is the catalyst for the group of performing giants.

His jokes, delivered with that serious look, hold the act together. Once in Las Vegas when the then presidential candidate, John F. Kennedy, was in the audience, Bishop quipped:

"I know, senator, that if you get elected, Sinatra will ask to be ambassador to Italy and Sammy Davis ambassador to Israel. But me, I'm not asking for anything like that."

A pause—and then that serious delivery:

"I'd just appreciate it if you could fix it so I wouldn't get drafted again."

Kennedy roared.

Jayceettes Hear Civil Defense Program By Dunlap

Mr. Roy L. Dunlap, director of Civil Defense for the City of Snyder and Scurry County spoke to the Jayceettes recently on the "Keys to Survival."

Mr. Dunlap stated that "Civil Defense is self protection and preservation, and the 'Keys to Survival' are: preparedness, participation, sanitation and removal of debris. To become prepared to survive the effects of tornadoes, the effects of an atomic blast, the effects of chemical warfare, and biological warfare will require time, money and thought. The question most asked is 'Is it hopeless and foolhardy to prepare for an atomic blast?' No, because if your present cellar or shelter will stand the direct blow of a tornado, your chances of surviving an atomic blast and fall out are extremely good—in spite of the many misconceived ideas that have been put forth on this subject. So be prepared! Construct your storm cellar. Outfit it with a transistor radio, food supply and tools by which to remove yourself should debris become clogged over the door.

"The second Key to Survival is Participation. Now, you may ask, how can participation affect me in survival. My answer to that is very simple. Participation in your local government, the City, County, District, State and finally Federal. Know the people that you vote for. Pay your poll tax so that you may vote. After you have voted keep up with their work, see if they are carrying out the principles that you wish for them to do.

"The Third Key to Survival is Sanitation. Most of you take daily cleaning of household, the cleanliness of city streets, the removal of your garbage, and the disposal of sewage for granted. In the case of an all out war, we can be expected to be hit by every conceivable means of destruction. One of these is biological warfare. This is one of the most insidious and potential lethal means of destruction, for the Communists, and for that matter, Uncle Sam, is equipped to spread disease throughout the world. Listeria (carried by rats), tularemia (carried by rabbits), encephalitis (carried by mosquitoes), dengue by mosquitoes, typhoid fever, epidemic dysentery, and diarrhoea (carried by flies). These diseases though controlled are by no means dead. Included in these is flu.

"These diseases can be planted here in Snyder or any other city by an enemy agent. Your best defense is cleanliness—Sanitation! So it is up to you to support your government and in seeing and demanding that proper sanitary facilities are provided for you. Now, what happens in case of disaster? Your sewer lines become impassable, your garbage may not be picked up due to excessive damage to streets. You will be on your own, and it is of utmost importance that all aspects of sanitation must be closely adhered to. Flies and mosquitoes, for instance, cannot live without proper environment, moisture, food and temperature. You can eliminate the food by burying your garbage and human fecal matter to a depth of not less than six inches of earth cover. Remove all containers of stagnant water, and relentlessly seek out and destroy these flies.

Dutch Elm Malady Won't Respond To Wonder Cures

Home owner gullibility can be had medicine for the bank roll and the landscaping.

So don't fall for the sales pitches of charlatans who claim they have wonder cures for Dutch elm disease. There has been no major breakthrough in chemical discoveries to treat the arboreal ill.

In the dry, hot periods, afflicted trees will show their distress most evidently to the average week-end gardener. As a result, this is the time the medicine men will be most active peddling their remedies, many of which will be impressive pseudo-scientific in appearance.

Magic potions run the gamut—products to be added to the soil, mixed with fertilizer, sprayed on leaves, painted on the trunk and even injected into the trunk and larger branches. Muscle, more than medicine, promises to do the most at this time. This means clearing out the dead, dying or diseased wood properly called sanitation.

All dead elm branches should go, for these are ideal breeding places for the elm bark beetle, carrier of the scourge. In the same way, removing and burning stricken elms is also essential.

The most important control measure found to date is DDT spraying of elms, before the Spring flight of the beetles to feeding places on healthy elms. Spraying may keep elm losses down to two per cent or less a year. Feeding with a good tree food high in nitrogen content to restore growth vitality, plus thorough sanitation practices, helps keep losses to a minimum.

The Gardeners Corner

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

YOU CAN PROVIDE a constant supply of water for your lawn, for your plants or your trees with wicks.

This system gives your garden a drink through underground capillary irrigation rather than sprinkler or surface watering. When we learned about it, we asked the Visalia, Calif., engineer who devised it how it works and to tell about the benefits. And C. Frederick Young did.

Young's Water Wick System delivers moisture into the ground directly to the root structure of growing plants. The wicks are porous ceramic containers fed and connected by plastic pipes and placed at intervals 7 to 12 inches underground. The water enters a float box where a constant water pressure is maintained according to the needs of the plants. The pressure is determined by the consistency of the soil.

The water flows through the plastic hose from the float box to the wicks. Plants, which appear to ration themselves according to their own needs, draw off the water from the wicks. The principle is capillary action. This is the movement of water or the absorption of water into the soil through the capillaries or hair line openings between the grains of soil.

Young says his wick system circumsvents evaporation, deep penetration, seepage, runoff and other losses of water, which means a saving.

There are many economies. A smaller amount of water supplies a greater area of growth. The growth of a plant is not interrupted by periods of drought. The wick system 'being automatic, labor costs are eliminated.

The system is being used in citrus groves, nurseries, and in large and small gardens. It may apply liquid fertilizers, chelates, pesticides, and fungicides as well as water. The use of these materials, Young adds, eliminated the need for sprays and dusting materials, plus the labor, and kills the larvae and eggs of insects in the soil. He said it permits elimination of two major pests, the termite and the nematode.

Eating Habits Can Change

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Typically AMERICAN is a family dessert called a cobbler. It's easy for Mom to make, it's nutritious and popular.

Once upon a time a cobbler, according to Webster, was "a deep-dish fruit pie with a thick upper crust." Although the dictionary doesn't say so, the fruit was most often apples or blueberries.

Like everything else, eating ways change. Modern cobblers have less crust than the old-time versions of this dessert—due, maybe to weight-watchers. Then, too, we're likely to call upon convenient pantryshelf fruits when we concoct them.

That's just what we did when we used canned Bartlett pears in the following recipe, and all our tasters approved. The pastry—really a drop short-cake— atop the pears holds a delightful surprise. Try this cobbler and see for yourself.

PEAR COBBLER
1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) Bartlett-pear halves in heavy or extra heavy syrup
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon sugar
4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Topping
Drain pears and place in a 2-quart baking dish—about 8 inches across and 3 inches deep. In a saucepan mix together the cornstarch, sugar and cinnamon; gradually add the pear syrup, stirring until smooth; simmer, stirring constantly, until clear and thickened. Stir in lemon juice. Pour this hot sauce over the pears. Place in hot (425 degrees) oven until bubbling hot—about 15 minutes. Remove from oven; at once drop a spoonful of the topping on each pear half. It doesn't matter if the hot syrup comes slightly over some of the pears. Return at once to 425-degree oven and bake until topping is lightly browned—about 18 minutes. Serve warm with cream. Makes 6 or 7 servings.

PEAR COBBLER TOPPING
1 cup sifted flour
1 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
3 tablespoons shortening
1/2 cup flaked coconut
1 cup milk—about 1 cup
Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar; cut in shortening; stir in coconut and enough milk to make drop-dough consistency.

WEDDING DATE SET—Mrs. C. E. Shilcutt of Houston announces the forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Patricia Diane, to Jerry Walker Jackson of Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jackson of Lubbock. Vows will be exchanged in Bowman Chapel of First Methodist Church, Lubbock, on August 26, at 7 p. m. Mr. Jackson is sports editor of the Snyder Daily News.

Lengthy Wet Weather May Result In Crop Failures

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Continuing showers and heavy spotted rains coupled with cool temperatures are adding to the troubles of Texas farmers. While a few spots continue to report a shortage of moisture, it is adequate to excessive in all other areas and farmers in the wettest areas are fearful about crop losses, said director John Hutchinson, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Ranges and pastures in every section continued to improve as did the condition of livestock. Only parts of far West and South Texas reported a need for more rain.

In the drenched upper Gulf coastal area, Silver Whittett from Richmond put it this way: "Happy smiles turned to worried frowns as farmers see their crops standing in water as the rains continue. All crops need dry, sunny weather."

Some cotton is turning yellow and may shed, Whittett continued. The watermelon and hay harvests have been slowed, some levees in rice fields damaged but corn prospects are good and pastures are extra good.

Heavy rains were fairly general over South Central Texas, reported Joe Glover from Gonzales. He said they were unusual for this time of year and stopped the grain sorghum, broomcorn and hay harvests.

The sorghum harvest was reaching the peak in the coastal bend area when bogged down by rains, reported Joe Rothe from Weslaco. About 10 per cent of the cotton in the Rio Grande Valley had been harvested and boll weevils were causing considerable damage.

Moisture is fully adequate in East Texas, said Walter Scott from Nacogdoches. All crops and pastures are making excellent

Needed One Tour Guide

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—When Harold D. Spencer, a retired New York printing executive, brought his family to Southern California for a vacation, he had to appoint one of them as "tour guide" to keep order.

The reason, Spencer and his wife Rachel had invited their five children and their spouses, plus 17 grandchildren. Also making the trip was the Spencers' houseman from their home at Clinton Corners, N.Y.

Twenty-eight of the group arrived in Los Angeles Thursday aboard the Santa Fe Super Chief. They filled one car and overlapped into a second. Two others, including Mrs. Spencer, came by plane.

They rendezvoused at a hotel which will be their headquarters here for the next 10 days while they traveled to points of interest by chartered bus.

Hike May Be Made In Gas Export

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—Texas legislators once again have been asked to find a way to increase the state's tax on natural gas being exported to other states.

Such a tax hike eventually affect the gas bills of hundreds of thousands of consumers in Midwestern and Northeastern states.

The objective is to find a tax hike formula that would place most of the added taxes on pipelines who move trillions of cubic feet of gas out of the state annually.

The legislature actually has been searching since 1951 for such a formula.

Direct and indirect tax hike plans have been adopted in the past only to be voided in state and federal courts as unconstitutional. The successful court attacks by the pipelines have centered on charges the increases were a burden to interstate commerce and were designed to raise state revenues at the expense of citizens of other states.

Texas got nearly $47 million dollars in the 1959 fiscal year from the current gas production tax of 7 per cent of market value.

This week Gov. Price Daniel asked the legislature to consider a new indirect route that would bring in $15 million a year in added revenue.

The plan is aimed at production from the huge gas reserves of the pipelines held under exclusive, long-term contracts.

The legislature would be asked to retain the 7 per cent of market value tax but set a minimum tax of 1-cent per 1,000 cubic feet of gas. In cases wherein the 7 per cent formula amounts to less than 1-cent per 1,000 cubic feet, the tax would be increased to 1-cent per 1,000.

Such a plan would affect gas being sold at less than 14¢ cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

Daniel's message made no scientific reference to exported gas but made frequent references to pipeline companies.

"It is only the gas which has been tied up by the pipeline companies under cheaper rates or less than 11¢ cents that would be subject to an additional tax," he said. "In all cases where the present tax amounts to less than 1-cent per 1,000 cubic feet, the difference would be levied on the pipeline companies which have the gas production and reserves tied up under exclusive contracts."

Statistics for 1960 indicate the significance of exporter natural gas to Texas' economy.

Marketed production exceeded 5.4 trillion cubic feet. More than 2.9 trillion cubic feet, 53 per cent of the state's marketed production, was exported to other states by 39 pipeline companies.

Coffee Kit

A traveling coffee kit is handy for preparing hot drinks or soup, or even for boiling eggs away from home. Use an electric outlet to plug in the water heater—which may be a heat-immersion pot or an actual coffee percolator. Such kits come in small zippered cases complete with cups or mugs, spoons, and sometimes plastic jars with locking covers. To prevent stale food, odors, or mess, contents must be washed in hot soap or detergent suds and rinsed promptly after use.

Basket Frames

Those basket frames used to carry heatproof serving dishes from oven to table—should be washed after the meal. The method is to scrub the basket with a vegetable brush dipped into thick soap or detergent suds. Then hold it briefly under running water, shake off the excess, and hang it to dry.

Dr. Albert Marshall, a member of the Indiana State Board of Health, states that the chief preventive of dread infectious hepatitis is frequent and thorough washing of the hands with plenty of soap—especially before meals.

Novel Twist

Here's a novel twist on how to keep cool on dog days. Every time you wash your hands, rinse the soapsuds off with warm water, as usual. Then let cold water run over your wrists, where blood vessels are close to the surface. That will make you feel cooler and more relaxed all over. Another heat-relief trick is to apply cold water to your forehead after washing your face.

GIVE A TERMITTE a temperature of 70 to 90 degrees and a humidity of 70 to 90 per cent—and you have a happy termitte.

But this doesn't mean that homes are safe in either a cold or a hot, dry climate. The necessary warmth and dampness are provided by centrally-heated houses and well-watered yards. As a result, termites are found everywhere in the United States, as well as in other parts of the world. They have been found, in fact, in such places as the Buddhist temples of Japan, the Latin quarters of Paris, the Vatican, the Kremlin—and the 20th story of a St. Louis hotel.

While the most common variety of termitte looks something like a flying ant, an expert can tell the difference immediately. A flying ant has an hour-glass figure. A termitte has a body that is thick from end to end. Actually, very few persons ever see a termitte. But if you find silver-colored wings in and around the house, sweep them into an envelope and take them to an exterminating company or an agricultural college for an analysis. And don't get panicky. Your house isn't going to tumble down around you—and the chances are the infestation can be wiped out effectively.

Termites enter most houses through wood contacting ground, foundation walls, tubes on foundations, dirt fills, within veneered walls and behind stucco extending below grade. In slab-type houses, they enter through hairline cracks in the slab, small spaces around plumbing fixtures, heating ducts, pipes, form boards left in contact with the ground, and several other places. While many persons believe a concrete slab protects against termites, the opposite is sometimes true; that is, the slab offers protection to the termites as they move into the house directly from the soil. In short, no matter what the construction of your house, termites aren't deterred from their wood-eating activities.

While these insects annually cause house damages of $20 million, the figure is expected to be reduced in the years ahead. Builders have learned that proper ventilation, adequate clearance under just construction, good drainage and a number of other construction safeguards can do much towards eliminating termitte problems.

Women in Turkey wash down the wooden floors of their homes every day with cold water to help cool off the house.

American women, of course, want to adapt the hot weather trick to fit their penchant for cleanliness by adding soap or detergent to the water, making it

MR. AND MRS. JACKIE MARION PEVEHOUSE

White-Pevehouse Marriage Held In Ira Church Of God, July 9

IRA — Karen Lee White and Jackie Marion Pevehouse exchanged marriage vows Sunday, July 9, at 3:30 p.m. in the Ira Church of God before an altar of candelabra flanked by baskets of white gladioli. Rev. R. E. Bowden of Ballinger officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. R. D. White and Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Pevehouse of Ira. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of chantilly lace over tulle. The fitted bodice was designed with a scalloped neckline and formed points at the waist. The formal length sleeves formed petal points at the wrist. A solid lace panel made up the front of the bouffant skirt while lace ruffles cascaded down the waist to floor in the back. Her elbow length veil of illusion fell from a crown of pearls and iridescents. She carried a white orchid surrounded by stephanotis atop a white Bible.

Linda Wilson was maid of honor wearing a street length dress of orchid silk organza styled with a shirred blouse, cap sleeves, and a full skirt. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations and wore a headpiece of white ruffled net. Wearing identical dresses were bridesmaids Patricia Weir of Snyder and Bonnie Chapman.

Eudora House and Linda Pevehouse were candlelighters wearing dresses of orchid organza designed with full skirts and puff sleeves. Flower girls Sabrina Leard of Snyder and Darinda Smallwood were dressed similar to the candlelighters.

W. T. Cox was best man with J. W. and Joe Smallwood serving as groomsmen. Brent Weir of Aberrathy and Roger Monce were ushers.

Music was furnished by Mrs. J. W. Lewis at the piano. Jean Holaday sang "I Love You Truly" and "Walk Hand in Hand."

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents with the bride's attendants presiding at the table laid with a white lace cloth and centered by an arrangement of white carnations. A miniature bride and groom topped a three-tiered wedding cake with clover-leaf base. The appointments were in crystal and silver.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride chose a dress of green and white shantung. The couple will be at home in Hobbs where the bridegroom is employed by Drillproco.

Mr. Pevehouse is a 1959 graduate of Snyder High School and attended Fort Worth IBM College. Mrs. Pevehouse graduated in May as high point girl at Ira High School where she was school queen.

She Takes Stock Of Business

By MARY LOU LOPER
Los Angeles Times

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When Marjorie Fisher asks big business executives—acquaintances she happens to meet on plane trips to New York—"Why did your stock sell off today?" they do double takes.

But when she gets elected president of the Los Angeles Society of Security Analysts by 190 men and three women, none of her fellow analysts is surprised.

Marjorie Fisher, a bright-eyed, vivacious woman who wears hot pink suits with the flair of a Chanel model, is the first woman to be elected president of such a society in the United States.

Way Up There

She is also vice president of a company which does investment research for four mutual funds. Assets of the companies total 400 million dollars.

Miss Fisher lives in Parkland, loves cats and hopes to get to Hong Kong "before the tourists ruin it." She grew up in Toronto and heard stocks and bonds discussed "since I can remember."

Always Treasurer

Her economics professor at Mt. Holyoke College should have guessed she would become an analyst; she was treasurer of everything she belonged to, including the International Club.

Her first job upon graduation (1942) was with "Dun's Review," published by Dun & Bradstreet in New York. She wrote business reviews for the experts on Wall Street. Looking back, she says, "I'm amazed that I had the nerve to do it!"

She made $30 a week.

Next she spent two years as an assistant field director with the American Red Cross in the Philippines. Then she joined Babson's Report, investment advisory service. In 1951 she became a junior analyst for the firm she is now with.

She is the only woman analyst among eight in her company.

"I work with common stocks, learn the financial situations of companies, where they stand, and their competitive positions within their own industry."

Marjorie Fisher specializes in chemical, drug, food and insurance stocks. And four times a year she calls on top financial officers to investigate companies her mutual funds are interested in.

She always arrives for interviews well-briefed, and armed with annual reports and lists of questions.

Timing Difficult

The difficult part of the current market is the question of timing, she maintains.

"An analyst may have a very comprehensive analysis, but when it comes to the question of buy, sell or hold, that's the hard part. This is an art, I guess you'd say, not an exact science."

What does it take to be a security analyst?

A good background in economics, ability to communicate easily, write concise reports, ferret out the important facts in a mass of information. In addition, says Miss Fisher, the analyst needs curiosity and a knack for evaluating new products.

"You've got to be feminine, yet talk their language," she said. "There's no place for the cute and the coy. You're dealing with large sums and busy people."

WHAT'S GOING ON

Mrs. Marvin White and daughter, Mrs. Charley Reeder and baby of Denison were recent visitors in the home of Mrs. White's mother, Mrs. J. M. Doak, Route 2. Mrs. White is the former Alpha Doak and also visited her sister, Mrs. J. F. Cooper.

BACKYARD LUXURY: Home swimming pools are reaching new heights of popularity but the potential builder is well advised to investigate the installation and maintenance requirements before turning the first shovel of dirt.

Swimming Pool Requires Planning

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP News-features Writer

BEFORE YOU PLUNGE FINANCIALLY into a backyard swimming pool, be sure to acquaint yourself with the requirements of installation and maintenance. If you would save you a lot of headaches.

The popularity of the swimming pool has ushered in a new set of municipal codes. Boards of health in all 50 states have set rigid requirements for community pools, those used by three or more families.

These pools must be equipped with skum gutters, skimmers, a main drain and water purification. Some states require special low voltage lighting as a safety measure against electrical shocks. All communities require a backwash. Where there are no sewers, a dry-well must be built. Where there are sewers, a direct connection is mandatory. Filtration is based on a six to eight-hour cycle.

Many communities have codes relating the swimming pool to the property line. A recent survey shows the smallest set back allowed in the nation is three feet, although some vary to 20 feet with the average about 18. A majority of communities require submission of plat and pool plans in advance of installation.

Residential pools are not governed by filtration codes. Most pool owners just follow the recommendations for good sanitation suggested by experts. They say the pool should be turned over once every 22 hours, although some exceptions require a 12 to 16 hour filtration cycle.

Most local laws require that pools be enclosed by fences of a type and height that discourages children and animals. Some communities require a four-foot chain link fence, although one township requires a six-foot fence.

Once you decide you can meet the standards and can afford the maintenance of a pool, you are ready to go ahead with your plans. Take your choice of cement, fiber glass or vinyl liner pools, and remember—the cost of your pool installation is only the beginning. It costs money to maintain them. One manufacturer is touting a do-it-yourself pool kit (12 by 24) which can be installed with a filter over a weekend.

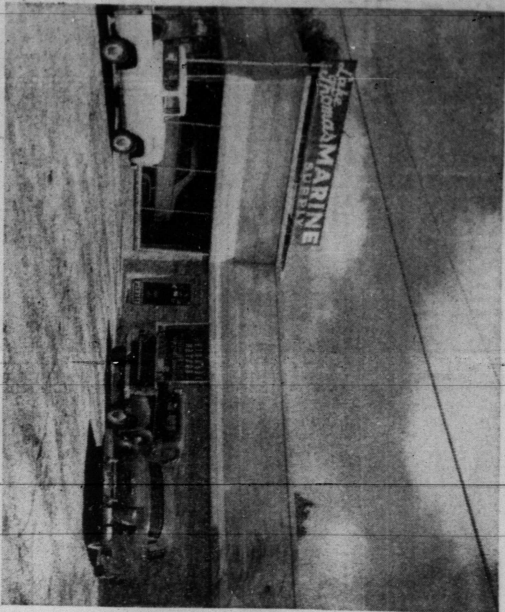

The initial cost of a fiber glass pool is higher than most pools but it is also deterrent, yet not require painting. Cement pools must be painted, polished and drained every year at a cost of about $250.

Vinyl liners must be replaced about every 3 to 10 years at a cost of about $250.

In northern sections of the country, swimming pool use has increased to six months with the new vinyl inflatable pool houses and pool heaters. Sales figures indicate that 60 per cent of all swimming pools are sold in the north-east.

BACKYARD LUXURY: Home swimming pools are reaching new heights of popularity but the potential builder is well advised to investigate the installation and maintenance requirements before turning the first shovelful of dirt.

Swimming Pool Requires Planning

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

BEFORE YOU PLUNGE FIN-
ANCIALLY into a backyard swimming pool, be sure to acquaint yourself with the requirements of installation and maintenance. It would save you a lot of headaches.

The popularity of the swimming pool has ushered in a new set of municipal codes. Boards of health in all 50 states have set rigid requirements for community pools, those used by three or more families.

These pools must be equipped with scum gutters, skimmers, a main drain and water purification. Some states require special low voltage lighting as a safety measure against electrical shocks. All communities require a backwash. Where there are no sewers, a dry well must be built. Where there are sewers, a direct connection is mandatory. Filtration is based on a six to eight-hour cycle.

Many communities have codes relating the swimming pool to the property line. A recent survey shows the smallest set back allowed in the nation is three feet, although some vary to 20 feet with the average about 18. A majority of communities require submission of plot and pool plans in advance of installation.

Residential pools are not governed by filtration codes. Most pool owners just follow the recommendations for good sanitation suggested by experts. They say the pool should be turned over once every 22 hours, although some exceptions require a 12 to 16 hour filtration cycle.

Most local laws require that pools be enclosed by fences of a type and height that discourages children and animals. Some communities require a four-foot chain link fence, although one township requires a six-foot fence.

Once you decide you can meet the standards and can afford the maintenance of a pool, you are ready to go ahead with your plans. Take your choice of cement, tile or glass or vinyl liner pools, and remember—the cost of your pool installation is only the beginning. It costs money to maintain them.

One manufacturer is touting a do-it-yourself pool kit (12 by 24) which can be installed with a filter over a weekend.

The initial cost of a fiber glass pool is higher than most pools but it is algae deterrent and does not require painting.

Cement pools must be painted, patched and drained every year at a cost of about $250.

Vinyl liners must be replaced about every 5 to 10 years at a cost of about $250.

In northern sections of the country, swimming pool use has increased to six months with the new vinyl inflatable pool houses and pool heaters. Sales figures indicate that 60 per cent of all swimming pools are sold in the northeast.

HOWARD'S GROCERY AND BAIT SHOP located at Knapp is operated by Melvin Howard and features groceries, fishing tackle, all types of fish bait. Howard's has several grades of minnows and raises much of his own bait.

If You Need It, Howard's Got It

When you buy a pair of shoes or food for your table, you want the best. Most fishermen feel this way about their fish bait, and if it's the best you're looking for, look no further than Howard's Cafe and Bait House, located at Knapp (right on your way to the lake).

Melvin Howard, owner and operator, says, "I raise my own bait and grade it out; whether you're looking for crappie or trotline minnows or whatever other size you wish, I have it and it will compare with any bait found anywhere."

Since Howard specializes in bait, he has a wide assortment from which to choose, such as crayfish, perch, shrimps, worms, etc., and consequently takes considerable pride in his wide selection and quality of product.

Both his bait house and cafe remain open until approximately 7 p. m. Sandwiches, cold soft drinks, ice cream, etc. are featured at the cafe, and in addition he also carries a line of canned goods and picnic supplies.

Howard extends an invitation to all Lake Thomas patrons, saying, "I do appreciate all business, but I would like to invite everyone to stop by and see us whether they buy anything or not. I'm more than happy to give lake information and to give the latest 'scoop' on how the fish are biting."

Big Baboon By The Light Of The Moon

The signals, from top left, are: The universal OK sign means everything is fine; thumb down in for slower speed; thumb up means more speed. From top right; Palm down means skier intends to drop off; palm extended is call for stopping boat; pointed finger shows direction in which he intends to ski. This latter signal can also be used to point out danger such as bathers, fishermen, other craft or obstructions.

Lake & Fishing Information

BOATING AND SKIING are enjoyed by hundreds at Lake Thomas. There are many spots around the lake where boats may be launched.

CABINS in groups and in isolated spots dot the entire shore line of Lake Thomas. Many of the cabins are modern permanent structures while others are move-in houses.

Hodnett's Feature Top Accomodations

Guided missile launchings are a far cry from boat launchings, but the latter is one of the features of Claude Hodnett's Sportsman's Paradise, which has a launching ramp for just such purposes.

The Paradise is situated on the south side of Lake J. B. Thomas, and has a channel leading into a secluded boat basin.

Boats and motors are available for rental purposes, while accommodations include air conditioned cabins and a snack bar. Also, sandwiches and breakfast are served in the snack bar.

Fishing and skiing supplies are featured, and Mrs. Hodnett emphasizes that there is available for use a picnic area at the site.

A complete line of fishing tackle is offered, and Hodnett reports that the fish are "biting like mad" at his fishing home, weighing "all the way from nothing to a pound."

Labor Contract Signed By Ford

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Ford Motor Company has signed a new collective labor contract giving its 800 assembly plant workers a 10 per cent wage increase.

Marcel Antonio Ibarra, industrial relations manager, said this would boost salaries from $3.20 to $4.56 a week, and, with fringe benefits, cost the company 17.7 per cent more than it is now paying.

The contract, effective Aug. 1, provides a one month salary as a year-end bonus.

They Were Careless

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Police reported more than 2,000 fines were imposed Friday on careless drivers here as authorities waged a campaign to check an increasing number of accidents.

An official report said 2,005 fines were imposed during the day.

Of these, 225 were for driving without a license, 565 for careless driving of passenger buses, 404 for parking in forbidden places, 67 for blaring horns, 38 for speeding and 606 for other causes.

AFTER THE FISH in a boat is one of the popular pastimes at Lake Thomas. Anglers find their favorite spots and still fish or troll for many of the bigger catches at the lake.

Sea Playboy On Way Out?

GALVESTON (AP)—A scientist says the porpoise—the playboy of the sea—may be on its way to extinction.

Dr. John Sinclair, professor of anatomy at the University of Texas medical branch here, finds the porpoise has several strikes against him.

Sinclair has possibly the largest collection of porpoise embryos in the world.

He recently returned from a five-month tour of Japan with a few more specimens.

Sinclair has engaged in a comparative study of porpoise and human embryos for many years.

Chief among the factors contributing to the porpoise's race toward extinction is an extremely low reproductive rate, he said.

The U.S. Navy paid a part of the expenses of Sinclair's Japanese tour. Naval sonar experts are extremely interested in many mysteries of the flocking mammals.

Their ability to translate whistles and clicks into meaningful symbols while swimming at speeds exceeding 35 miles an hour, for instance, indicate the presence of a natural sonar system so superb as to arouse the curiosity of international experts.

"Porpoises have been observed swimming unscathed through the propellers of ships at sea," Sinclair said.

Information on the subject is classified secret.

The porpoise's brain is very similar to a human's, the doctor says. "The porpoise brain weighs almost exactly the same as the human brain and appears to be equally complex," he said. The difference is in the frontal lobe—which indicates an intelligence equal to that of a very bright dog.

The porpoises which surface next to small boats on Galveston Bay and exhale fishy breaths into the faces of astonished tourists are friendly, the doctor believes—but they are also out of breath.

A porpoise can remain below the surface for about four minutes at the most.

A census of 1,000 would probably include all the porpoises from Los Angeles to Seattle. The few porpoises make themselves so obvious, cavorting and blowing, that people are apt to overestimate how many of them there are, he said.

Perhaps the porpoise is aware of threatened extinction. Porpoises react with evident consternation to distress signals from one of their species, the doctor says, and always proceed rapidly to a porpoise in trouble. They will push it to the surface in the belief that the wounded mammal needs air.

Under a proposal, Socony would acquire Republic's assets, subject to reservation and sale by Republic to third parties of oil and gas payments of $110 million.

Fatalities On Rise

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas traffic deaths now are 7 per cent ahead of last year, the Department of Public Safety said Saturday. There have been 6 per cent more accidents in which persons were killed this year than for the same period in 1960.

DPS statistics show 1,124 persons killed in 902 accidents this year compared to 1,049 killed in 822 accidents during the same period last year.

In addition to modern air-conditioned cabins complete with television, there is an air-conditioned cafe, which also carries a good supply of groceries. Along with the standard stock, these groceries include fresh meats at all times.

Supplies and facilities also include bait and storage. Mr. Coston states that, "We have excellent bait at all times. The boat storage facilities at the Lodge allow for the housing of 130 boats, including space for 3 cabin cruisers."

Still another feature of this storage area is a weather-protected basin, Coston explaining that, "On the very roughest days the water in the boat basin is comparatively calm."

Trailer house space is available for rent at the Lodge, also, and a gas station carrying flight fuel and mixed fuels for the boaters' convenience is located there.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will hold a news conference at 9 a.m. next Wednesday, the White House announced today.

A conference had been tentatively set for 4 p.m. Monday, but this was changed today.

Asked about the change White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the reason would be some apparent in unfolding events.

Salinger said it is likely that before Kennedy meets the press the Western reply to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's memorandum on Brin would have been made public.

No time has yet been set for the publication of the Western reply, but Salinger, without being specific, said it probably would be early next week.
