

On The BEAM
By J. W. King, Sr.

In a letter to the editor last week Jerry Baumann made some statements concerning Loraine merchants that are true, at least partly true.

One statement was to the effect that what Loraine needs, Loraine can't afford, and went on to say that the smaller businesses here do not have the economic ability to compete with the larger stores, and they can't afford to participate in Red Tag Days.

I am well aware that the small business man cannot buy his merchandise in large quantities as the larger merchant. I am also aware that the small business man does not have as large overhead as the larger one.

My opinion is that the small business man cannot afford not to participate in Red Tag Days or any other promotion designed to benefit the town as a whole as well as the individual merchant. A man can open a small business and not advertise his place and it will remain a small business. But if he opens a small business and really tries by advertising taking every advantage he can in buying grow into a large business. Advertising turns merchandise into cash faster and it is the turnover that counts. Merchandise left on the shelf for a long period of time does not make any money for the store operator. He must sell it and there is no better way to sell it than through advertising.

Another statement was to the effect that Loraine is a "have not" community and is at the mercy of stiff competition from larger towns until someone comes up with a sound solution. If not the walls will come tumbling down.

The last statement is true at least a part of the way. I have been telling the merchants here for years that their competition is no longer "down the street" but "down the highway eight, twenty, fifty or a hundred miles." It is true that those who try to operate a business now like they did back in the horse and buggy days are on the way out of business. I would not say that advertising alone will bring people to your store. The store operator must "have something on the ball" and when people do come to his store he must have good merchandise at a reasonable price, must be courteous and helpful, must show that he does appreciate the business and he must be interested in and take part in activities of his community. His advertising must be truthful and appeal to the buying public.

If I were to offer a solution to the problem of "Loraine's dilemma" I would say the first thing Loraine merchants need to do is to learn to "Cooperate with each other" . . . and advertise.

City Council Studies Peddlers Situation In City Of Loraine

The City Council for the past two months has had under study ways of dealing with peddlers of merchandise from door to door in Loraine.

In recent months the town has acquired door to door delivery of milk and possibly other products and the council has been trying to devise a plan whereby the city could tax such peddlers in order to give the local merchants who pay taxes on their merchandise an even break. No plan has been found yet that is feasible or lawful.

Of course it is unfair to local merchants for peddlers to come into town and sell merchandise from door to door. So far the only remedy is for the customer to buy from local merchants rather than a peddler. The local merchant pays his taxes and does other

LITTLE MOISTURE ACCOMPANIED FRONT

The front came in late Tuesday with a sandstorm which lasted only a short time. Moisture was barely enough to moisten the top of the ground.

Things that help the community. The peddlers do nothing.

Perhaps you had not thought about it but peddlers take hundreds of dollars away from legitimate merchants every week in the year, dollars that would make Loraine a better town.

Read John 14:17
Jesus said unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me. (John 14:6.)

Once a man wanted to go to a certain village on the other side of a mountain. He had never been there and did not know the way. Several offered to take him. One of them asked, "Have you been there?"

"No," he replied, "but I can take you."
The traveler said, "You won't do."

Another volunteer said he had been to the top of the mountain but no further, and the man said, "You won't do."

The person who was selected to guide him was chosen because he said, "That village is my home."
Jesus Christ, sent of God, is man's Savior, guide, and friend. He is God's way to man and man's way to God. In Him God fully revealed Himself. In the love of Jesus we see God's love. In the words of Jesus we hear God's words. In Him we have God's standard for man, as well as the way to come up to that standard.

Prayer: O God, we thank Thee for Thy Son Jesus Christ, our Redeemer, whom Thou didst send to live with us and to uphold us in the battles we fight and in the work we do. We commit ourselves into Thy hands with utter faith in Thy Son, in whose blessed name we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day: In

"MAGNETIC BOTTLE"

Announcement of a major research program in atomic energy to be conducted initially at the University of Texas and Texas A & M University was made last week at Austin by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, composed of 10 Texas investor-owned electric utility companies. Above, observing a model of a "magnetic bottle" used in nuclear fusion research that was displayed at the Austin meeting are left to right, Dr. Norman C. Hackerman, Vice Chancellor of University of Texas; Dr. M. T. Harrington, Chancellor of Texas

ARE SCREW-WORMS OVERWINTERING?

College Station, Feb. 28—If any screwworms have survived the winter in Texas, they should be appearing soon, say officials of the Screwworm Eradication Program. But it appears that if any did overwinter in the state they are few in number, they add.

The weekly report on the eradication program shows that no cases have been reported in the state during the last two weeks of January, and during the entire month only one case was identified. This compares with 157 confirmed screwworm cases in January, 1963. There were over 62 million sterile flies released in Texas during the last week of January, according to the report.

The biggest problem facing the eradication program during 1964 is preventing the migration of fertile flies out of Mexico into the southwest, the officials say. Since funds are limited this migration must be checked by placing the flies in areas where infestation is most likely.

tained from livestock producers becomes valuable. Their reports of confirmed screwworm cases will pin-point areas where sterile flies must be dispersed, and prevent releasing flies where they will be of little benefit.

Because livestock producers are the key to the release of sterile flies they are reminded that the eradication program is not yet over and their cooperation is vital to its success. Producers in counties bordering Mexico are advised that their area will be the first hit by migration of screwworm flies from the south, though help is needed from livestockmen everywhere.

Screwworms are nearly "licked," say the officials. But they solicit continued help from stockmen to finish the job of screwworm eradication.

Dinner guests of Mrs. Homer Mearse Sunday were her sons and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Mearse and sons Billy and Gary Don of Abilene, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mearse and children Mike and Jan, and also Mike McDaniel.

EARLY FILING

District Director Ellis Campbell, Jr., today urged all taxpayers in the Dallas District who have not already done so to file their 1963 tax returns as soon as possible, Mr. Campbell explained, "There is no time like the present to file your return if you have a refund coming and want to get it as soon as possible."

Mr. Campbell urged those taxpayers who do not have a refund coming to file early to expedite processing of returns and to help his office utilize as fully as possible the temporary help employed every year during the filing period.

Shade trees and summer-flowering ornamental shrubs should be pruned during the winter months when the temperature is above freezing. Pruning should follow careful thought and include repair of injuries, dead wood removal, and controlling the size and shape of the plants.

Dogs and other pets can be protected from rabies for one year or more by vaccination with chick embryo vaccine.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Moody Richardson for the weekend were their son and family Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Richardson, Vicki and Brenda of Lubbock, and L. M. Gage and Sharon Gage of Irvin, father and uncle of Mrs. Lowell Richardson.

VIEWS

OTHERS

We often look about us and behold many, many things which should be done and must be done if certain results are to be experienced. Yet it is too often true that we feel no sense of obligation. "They" should do something about this and so, we immediately think, Who is "They"? Oh we can think of a dozen or more persons who should be doing it. Old So-and-So has so little to do so he or she should get busy.

Somebody should get 'um together and plan for it or it will never be done. Too often do we hear others say or even say ourselves this same thing. Somebody ought to do it.

We have a common expression, I am so busy, just let George do it.

How often is real responsibility and obligation shunted aside in this manner? Most of us can see needs but we can also see an easier "out" for ourselves.

But, who is George? Who are "They"? What about "Um"? Of as a short manner of saying course you readily recognize "Um Them". Just what about these folk anyhow.

We must see immediately that others are using these same expressions to escape responsibility and obligation as we are. Others are looking at us with the same wonderment about our lack of interest. No matter what the need may be. Others are asking the same questions about us as we are propounding concern them.

We must immediately conclude that "They, Um, and George" include us as well as others. What are the needs most outstanding in our town? What would I like to see accomplished? What do you see that we need. Ask yourself these questions, find the answers and enquire, "Who is going to make the first move"? Will it be you and will it be me? Think it over.

EXCERPTS FROM ATHENEUM CLUB HISTORY
By Mrs. Hal Bennett

At the first meeting in September the Atheneum Study Club voted to place an exhibit in the local fair and to enter a float in the parade. What better exhibit could they have chosen than that of using a big Bible beside their yearbook to impress the community of the fact that the club has an active division of religion, as a member of GFWC. Streamers of green and white crepe paper led from the interest center to a distant focus. This emphasized the importance of religion to the year's theme, "The Challenge of Tomorrow".

Officers of the club rode in the parade in a car bearing green and white streamers framing the "The Atheneum Study Club" placard. The club president, Mrs. T. J. Riden, rode on horseback beside her husband to carry the Christian flag and he the U. S. flag in leading the parade.

Individual members led in setting up antique, art and flower exhibits. They had entries in these, also in needlework, horticulture, hobbies, food preservation and others.

Special Awards
Perhaps the most coveted of the year's awards was second place from TFVC in Historical Tours Division. Mesquite District awards included first place in forest, grass and land division. Second place in continuing education and ESO.

In November a showcase in Federation Library in Colorado City featured Historical Headlines. Mrs. Glen Coon arranged the display of front page news concerning World War 1; Roosevelt and Stalin meeting at Yalta, World War 2; stories retold of the assassination of former U.S. Presidents, Abraham Lincoln, 1865; James A. Garfield, 1881; Wm. McKinley 1901; and John F. Kennedy Nov. 22, 1963.

Practically all members attended the Federation Day Tea Nov. 22 in the Medallion Room of Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative. Miss Eudora Hawkins was guest speaker. Her subject was Search For Growth. She wore a unique "money" corsage donated by club members. She donated the corsage to the Federation Library.

The club donated $2 to the Mesquite Scholarship Fund. A local student now attending H. S. U., was chosen to compete with other entrants for the $100 scholarship that was available for this semester. Miss Alex Foy of Sweetwater was the winner, however.

Eight or more worthy projects received donations from the Atheneum Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Holman and son Robert of Lubbock spent the weekend with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Jack Richey and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Holman.

Mrs. B. W. Tartt and daughter Karen spent Monday at Elmdale with her mother on her birthday. They were accompanied by Mrs. G. B. Tartt.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bond visited their daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Beights in Tahlequah, Oklahoma, last week.
