British Troops Repulse Iraq Forces

"We've Got To Deliver Goods To Britain," Willkie Says

Present Patrol Of Seas Said To Be Inadequate

GOP Leader Says He Will Support FDR's Aid Plans

BY WILLIAM B. ARDERY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Wendell L. Willkie, saying that the administration's existing sea patrol "is not adequate," declared today that "we have got to get the goods delivered to Great Britain."

"The rate of sinkings is so serious that we should protect our cargoes of arms and food to England," the 1940 Republican presidential nominee asserted in an interview.

Message To FDR

It was reported authoritatively that Willkie had sent word to President Roosevelt that he would support him in any move the chief executive might make to assure the delivery of American goods to Britain. Willkie himself told reporters:

"If my information is correct, the present patrol method is not adequate to prevent our products from going to the bottom of the ocean."

Replying to reporters' questions, Willkie asserted that if he were president he would have military, naval and air experts advise him regarding the best method of protecting shipments to Britain and then would proceed on their advice.

"I am absolutely in favor of delivering the goods," he said, "whether it by by convoy, airplane accompaniment or any other method deemed best."

Demands For Convoys

At the Capitol, meantime, there were indications that Congress would hear increasing demands from some of its members for American convoys.

Sen. Guffey (D-Pa) voiced the first such plea on Thursday, and it was disclosed today that Sen. Pepper (D-Fla) would express similar views in a Senate speech on Monday. Several other legislators were said to be withholding public statements of that nature because of uncertainty as to whether they might prove embarrassing to President Roosevelt.

Sen. Tobey (R-NH), author of an anti-convoy resolution, contended Guffey's statement and Pepper's projected speech were part of an administration program to pave the way for convoys.

Willkie questioned about public reaction to his recent article in Collier's magazine, advocating further help for Britain, asserted:

"I find that the people are confused and are searching earnestly, hoping that the administration will give them information and leadership."

Man's Complex Costs Him 5-Dollar Fine

CLEVELAND, May 3. (AP)—David Newman, 36, arrested as he past a cemetery at 44 miles an hour, explained: "I just have a fear of cemeteries. I like to get past them in a hurry. It's sort of a complex."

Judge William J. McDermott ruled it would cost Newman $5 for exercising that complex.

Turning Point In War May Be Near

New Declaration Of Policy Possible As Words, "New Phase," Heard In Berlin

By ALVIN J. STEINKOPF
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, May 3—An important turning point in the war appeared almost at hand tonight as Berlin concentrated its attention on the swiftly moving events in the Middle East.

The possibility of some declaration of policy was discussed in informed quarters, and the words, "new phase" was being heard as events speeded up in the Eastern Mediterranean and Asia Minor.

Divided Into Districts

To date Germans have divided the war into sharply distinct phases: Poland, Norway, France, the Balkans.

Germans asked one another: Will a similarly distinct campaign be the Reich's next move?

Authorized spokesmen were non-communicative save for such observations as "The war doesn't stand still" or "coming events cast their shadows before them."

But Germany's intense interest in the Near East was obvious and the cheering for Iraq, now fighting the British imperial forces, swelled as news reports told of expanding operations there.

Iraq Is Encouraged

The first semi-official comment, in the commentary service Deutsche Diplomatisch Politische Korrespondenz, said:

"Wherever a sense of honor still exists the greatest attention and recognition must be paid to the courageous stand of Iraq toward the newest encroachment of the British empire." It charged Britain

REICHSTAG TO MEET

BERLIN, May 4 (Sunday) (AP)—The Reichstag is to meet at 6 p. m. today (10 a. m. CST), to "receive a declaration of the Reichs government."

An official announcement said:

"The German Reichstag will assemble at 6 p. m. tonight. On the day's agenda: Acceptance of a declaration of the Reichs government. The session will be broadcast over all German stations."

with "flagrant disregard of treaty and apparent provocative intention" in sending new contingents of troops into Iraq while units originally landed still were present in the country.

Iraq, said Korrespondenz, now "knows the value of the British promise to Arab peoples. Britain . . . now is obtaining a receipt from a small but brave people for its presumptuous attempts to force

FCC Votes For More Networks

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 3 — The Federal Communications commission approved today, by a 5 to 2 vote, regulations which it said were intended to increase the number of radio networks and give individual stations "wider latitude" in their dealings with the networks.

The new regulations, among other things, will:

Make it necessary for the National Broadcasting company to dispose of one of its two networks, known as the Red and Blue; prohibit, unless it can be shown that public interest requires otherwise, the licensing of two stations in the same area to one network; sharply regulate the affiliation contracts between networks and stations.

Court Action Seen

There was an immediate indication that the industry might challenge the regulations in the courts.

Neville Miller, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, said in a statement that the order "constitutes usurpation of power which has no justification in law and menaces the freedom of the American system of broadcasting." He called a meeting of the executive committee of the association at New York on Wednes-

Officers To Take Off From Big Spring

Due to softness of caliche runways at Lubbock Municipal airport, an army "flying fortress" scheduled to land there at noon today will stop at Big Spring instead.

Capt. J. G. McKinnon of Fort Douglas, Utah, who with his brother, Lieut. Hollis McKinnon of Fort Ord, Calif., will return to Fort Douglas in the plane, informed army officials of the condition of the Lubbock field. Col. Adler, Capt. Preston and Lieut. Griner of the 39th bombardment group are aboard the ship.

Lieut. McKinnon will visit with his brother before returning to Fort Ord in a lighter plane.

Senate Race In Texas Warms; Johnson Begins

(By The Associated Press)

Representative Lyndon Johnson's opening speech in his campaign for U. S. senator, in which he urged unity behind President Roosevelt and questioned the right of labor to strike in time of danger, highlighted the race this week.

bearing down on defense and fifth column activities, the campaign was gradually picking up speed.

O'Daniel In ?

Still a question mark was Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's decision on whether to run. This was somewhat complicated by a series of North Texas appearances by his friend, Hal Collins of Mineral Wells, publicly asking for a "go-ahead" sign from the voters. Collins, with an entourage of entertainers smacking of O'Daniel campaign tactics, drew good crowds in several cities last week.

Also undecided was Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana who has been considering a jump into the crowded arena.

In addition to the well-known figures there are numerous lesser known political aspirants including bearded Cyclone Davis, jr., of Dallas, Rev. Sam Morris, ardent prohibitionist sometimes known as "the voice of temperance," air-minded John C. Williams of Rockport, a former naval flyer, and others.

Brooks Asked To Run

Pierce Brooks of Dallas announced Saturday he had received "hundreds of letters" urging him to announce. Brooks, in past campaigns candidate for railroad commissioner and lieutenant governor, said he had not made up his mind.

Dies spoke Saturday at Paris and next week was moving to Bonham, Monday; Sherman, Tuesday; Gainesville, Wednesday; Wichita Falls, Thursday; Vernon, Friday; Plainview, Saturday. Hometown and county campaign

Medical Students To Get Draft Deferment

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP) — To avert a possible national shortage of doctors, the selective service system today ordered deferment of military training for medical students who "give reasonable promise of becoming acceptable medical doctors."

A memorandum from Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service deputy director, instructed state and local boards to continue such deferments as long as the students progressed satisfactorily.

Local boards were urged to make sure that requirements of the armed forces for physicians and surgeons were filled, without summoning to military duty practicing doctors whose services were necessary to the community.

Justice of the Peace L. Villegas said Francis M. Burch, 59 year old crippled farmer who lived alone, was bitten in the side, apparently Friday night.

Villegas said a boy delivering goods to the farmhouse found the body and killed the reptile with a rifle.

Lindbergh Again Says U.S. Not Ready For War

Nation Able To Defend Itself, Flier Believes

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, May 3 — Charles A. Lindbergh declared tonight America was not prepared to wage war abroad successfully but pleaded that we must and can defend our own nation.

He stressed particularly, in a speech prepared for an America First committee rally, what he said was our inadequacy in the air.

He said that no matter how many planes we built and sent to England, we could not make the British Isles stronger than Germany in military aviation.

"Not only is the performance of some of our vital types of service aircraft inadequate, but our total air force in the United States today, including both army and navy, both modern and obsolescent types, is not more than Germany can produce in a few weeks," he said. "It is a small fraction of her present airforce. To enter a European war today with our air force would be almost as great a folly as that committed by France when she declared war on Germany in 1939."

Stand Is Explained

It was Lindbergh's first speech since he resigned his colonel's commission in the air corps reserve last Monday. The resignation followed President Roosevelt's press conference statement grouping Lindbergh with appeasers of the Revolutionary war and the copperheads of the Civil war.

Lindbergh referred to this early in his talk. He said:

"I resigned because I felt that the statements of the president left me no honorable alternative. This situation arose because I, together with millions of Americans, believe that our country should not enter the war in Europe while the president, and many with him, believe we should take part in that war."

"This is the third great nation that I have watched being led into war without adequate preparation and without the true facts and issues of the war being placed before the people," he continued.

"In England, in France and now in my own country, I have listened to politicians and idealists calling upon the people for war without hardly a thought of how that war is to be fought or won.

"I have seen France fall; I see England falling, and now I see

FDR Said Favoring Income Tax Boost

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP) — Some members of the House ways and means committee said today they viewed President Roosevelt's request for a $3,500,000,000 tax bill that would not "make the rich richer and the poor poorer" as a mandate for higher income taxes rather than new sales taxes.

Legislators charged with the task of drafting the revenue measure said they interpreted the chief executive's letter to the committee's chairman, Rep. Doughton (D-NC), broadly as a plea for enactment of the treasury's tax program which based on stiff increases in the surtaxes on middle bracket incomes.

The letter was viewed in other quarters as in the nature of a reassurance that the administration was not out to "soak the poor."

At the same time, Republican house members criticized the letter as vague and lacking in constructive suggestions.

WATER! LIFE-BLOOD OF OUR COUNTRY! Recent rains, which blanketed the South Plains, most of Texas and neighboring states, have broken all known precipitation records in the Lubbock vicinity. The picture above, taken by W. G. McMillan, local contractor, shows excess water flowing over the spillway at Upper Buffalo lakes, eight miles southeast of Lubbock, for the first time since the dam was completed in 1938. The recent heavy rains have damaged some wheat and have caused some farm and ranch earthen tanks to crumble. But they also have given the South Plains the finest underground season in more years than oldtimers can remember.

Follow The Wild Flower Trails

HAVE you taken a drive over the highways of the South Plains lately?

The Avalanche-Journal and the Texas Highway department suggests you get out today, load the family into the car and go for a drive somewhere over the area.

You'll be surprised at what Mother Nature has done for our territory. Besides pouring down an abundance of rainfall, she has covered the blanket of green with scores of varieties of wild flowers. In the next few days these flowers will be blooming at their height.

Not only do we have wild flowers growing on the South Plains, but a person can observe the growing and expanding oil fields to the southwest of Lubbock in Yoakum and Gaines counties and to the west in Hockley and Cochran. The oil fields border the highways from Plains to Denver City and Seminole.

For those people who enjoy wild flowers, and the natural and beautiful effect they give, the Highway department is recommending several drives in this district where the wild flowers may be observed

More Showers Today Forecast

Although skies were clear at midnight there was a forecast of more showers today.

Weather observers said rain would cease Monday.

A deluge much the same as Friday's continued to fall until late Saturday afternoon bringing the two-day precipitation total to 3.32 inches. Saturday's total was .78 inches, according to reports at the Texas Technological college station of the U. S. weather bureau.

Crops Damaged

Farmers in the city Saturday said corn three inches high and some sudan had been completely covered. Much of the crop was expected to be damaged, some of it completely destroyed.

Little cotton has been planted in the area, but seed already in the ground is likely to rot, farmers agreed. The cotton planting season, or that considered best suited to the crop, starts May 10 and ends June 10.

Water late Saturday had ceased to flow over the spillway at the upper Buffalo lake, southeast of Lubbock. However, a discharge valve at the bottom of the upper lake dam has been reseasing 51,000 gallons of water a minute since 6 o'clock Friday morning, into the lower lake. From the lower lake the water flowed over the spillway downstream.

School officials Saturday said absences were heavy Friday in city schools, ranging up to half in George M. Hunt and Sanders 300 Million Gallons And It's All Water Over The Dam!

BY H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

A LOT of water has gone around and through the dams at Buffalo lakes since rain began falling early Friday morning.

According to the most competent estimates, more than 300,000,000 gallons now are headed in the general direction of the Gulf of Mexico after brief pauses in Upper and Lower Buffalo eight miles southeast of the city.

Furthermore, the expectation is that the present estimate of more than 300,000,000 gallons will be more than doubled by the runoff into the lakes from the rains of Friday and Saturday if no more should fall. If rain should continue, the overflow from Buffalo lakes will continue just that much longer.

Pictures Are Made

All of this information is being compiled at the chamber of commerce, along with illustrating still and motion pictures made by W. G. McMillan against the day when a proposal to build a large dam in Yellowhouse canyon somewhere in the vicinity of the present lakes may be revived.

The information will contribute to the evidence, officials believe, that if a dam is built, there will be water to fill a lake. Without that kind of evidence, officials admit, there can be no hope of a dam project. With conclusive evi-

Questionnaires To Be Mailed To All Soon

AUSTIN, May 3. (AP) — Questionnaires will be sent immediately to all selective service registrants although the procedure will not alter previous announced draft calls, state selective service director J. Watt Page announced today.

The order which was dispatched to all local draft boards was to expedite classification and cut down time between calls for new selectees and their actual induction, Page said.

With classification complete, draft boards can more readily select the men to be called for physical examinations as quotas are announced, it was explained.

Page also said an amendment to selective service regulations now permits a 10-day lapse between a call for induction and actual induction. Previously the time period was five days. Under the new regulations it can be delayed as much as 60 days within the judgment of a draft board.

Chapman Wins Speech Contest

Cullen Chapman of Lubbock was adjudged first in a My Home Town speech contest Saturday morning at Texas Technological college—and winner of the right to represent district 2 at the finals of the contest May 16 at the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Mineral Wells.

Winners from nine other districts also will compete at Mineral Wells.

Eleven towns sent students to Lubbock for Saturday's contests. Vjola Martin of Slaton was adjudged second place winner and thus earned the right to be young Chapman's alternate in the finals. Yolanda Ramirez of Post was third, Mary Wanda Johnson of Ropesville fourth.

Luncheon honoring contestants was served by Lubbock Chamber of Commerce in Hilton hotel.

Others who competed were: Evelyn Hale of Levelland, Helen Pemberton of Tahoka, Sherrill Hay of Sudan, W. O. Rucker, jr., of Anton, Ross Bell of Plainview, Billie Orr of Idalou, and J. D. Rankin of Ralls.

Contestants who did not appear for the eliminations were Larae Embree of Petersburg, Fern Graham of Muleshoe, Doris Campbell of Silverton and Dorothy Ann Dooley of Floydada, as well as Farwell's delegate, who never was named by Farwell school officials. Rain was believed responsible for their failure to be here.

Judges were Miss Annah Jo Pendleton and John N. Watson, both of the department of speech at Tech, and John E. Harding, instructor in the department of business administration.

Quota For Automobile Manufacturers Given

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP) — Automobile manufacturers were advised by the Office of Production Management today that they could make 4,224,152 vehicles in the model year beginning August 1.

Individual allotments were assigned to each company, but officials said that the figures would not be disclosed by firms.

It was learned, however, that General Motors corporation, Chrysler and the Ford Motor company were reduced 21 1-2 per cent below their production this year.

Total output of the automobile industry this year was estimated at 5,289,974 cars and the overall reduction will amount to 1,057,994 or 10.15 per cent.

Allied Defense Battles To Save Vast Oil Source

London Denies Surrender Of Indian Colonels

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, May 4. (Sunday) — British troops battling to preserve the empire's vast oil fields in the Middle East drove off Iraq forces attacking in the Basra area at the head of the Persian gulf, it was learned in London early today.

RAF bombers and artillery were thrown into action against the Iraqui troops in this, the second battle area to develop in the suddenly flaring war in Iraq.

Losses Are Admitted

The British acknowledged last night that planes and men had been lost in a two-day battle at Habbaniyah airdrome.

Two contingents of reinforcements have been landed in recent days at Basra to help meet the threat to the precious flow of oil to the British Mediterranean fleet.

British quarters here branded as untrue German reports that Indian colonials had surrendered to the Iraqui forces.

The official statement, admitting that "a number of our aircraft have been destroyed on the ground and some casualties have been sustained," said, however, that the RAF had paid the Iraquis back by blasting some of their guns into silence.

Battle Continues

The battle continued tonight—but, authoritative sources asserted, the oil which alone makes Iraq a prize worth fighting for still flows by pipeline to the Mediterranean. Britain blames agents of oil-hungry Germany for provoking the two-day-old conflict.

The Iraq government, anti-British since a coup d'etat placed Raschid Ali al Gaflani in power as premier April 4, claimed destruction of 26 British planes at Habbaniyah, the RAF base 60 miles west of Baghdad; and said the British had lost mechanized units in a vain attack on Rutbah (Rusba) fort and airdrome, 250 miles west of Baghdad. The ministry of information said the Rut-

US Convoy Said In Suez Area

(By The Associated Press)

VICHY, France, May 3—Diplomatic informants who usually are reliable said tonight they had circumstantial reports that 26 American merchant ships, stacked to the funnels with war material for the British Middle Eastern armies and accompanied by American warships, had reached the Suez canal.

The word used by the informants to describe the reported presence of United States naval vessels was that they were "convoying" the merchant ships.

WASHINGTON DENIAL

In Washington, the navy department stated immediately upon receipt of the report: "No United States navy ships are employed in convoy duty."

Maritime sources however said it was quite possible that the merchant ships reported at Suez had left United States shores with 75 mm. cannon and other material intended for Greece and Yugoslavia, and while it had been understood that these vessels were mainly Yugoslav and Greek freighters, some informed sources

WTCC Preparing For Convention

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

MINERAL WELLS, May 3. — Program plans for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, its 23rd annual gathering, are steadily going forward, the WTCC's convention office said Friday. This year's convention theme—West Texas business and the region's place in the national defense picture—is winning wide interest and approbation, said Max Bentley, convention manager. Bentley said that advance hotel reservations are coming in rapidly from directors of the regional chamber, high army officers, local chamber of commerce delegations, and in some cases by town delegations on group.

The West Texas chamber is urging its affiliates to appoint delegate groups and see to their attendance on the Mineral Wells sessions May 15-16. Borger has responded with a delegation of five: C. R. Stahl, chairman; C. S. Goldsmith, chamber of commerce president; W. F. Seegar, S. M. Clayton and Walter David. The Paducah delegation is composed of J. A. Crump, chairman; J. W. Goodwin, Ernest G. Dameron, W. V. Bigham, Lawson Reid, E. A. Carlock, B. A. Shotts and V. H. Worley. From Olney will come a delegation composed of Harry Bettis, A. D. Cummings, E. G. Thornton, A. A. Cooper, V. W. Kunkel and Tom Watson.

The directors' first business session will be dinner at the Crazy hotel Thursday evening May 15, this to be followed by a patriotic mass meeting in Mineral Wells' great downtown convention hall with music by a military band. A dance, 9:30 p. m., at the Baker hotel, will close the day's events.

Full Day Friday

Friday, second and closing day of the convention, will be crammed with events both on the business and entertainment side. The convention day will open with a 7:30 breakfast for directors, old and new, at the Baker hotel. Then, these other events in order:

8:30 a. m.—Finals in My Home Town contest for winners in the ten district preliminaries, at the Brazos theater.

10 a. m.—Continuing the morning session in the theater, a taxpayers' general assembly at which Judge J. D. Hamlin of Farwell will preside. The addresses, by notable speakers, will cover Texas legislative accomplishments and needs; the WTCC good government program; and freight rates in Southwestern development.

12 noon—Triple luncheon at the Crazy hotel, by the directors to West Texas newspapermen and local chamber of commerce executives. At this session the new WTCC officers will be elected and nominating talks for the 1942 WTCC convention will be heard. During the afternoon the directors or their proxies will cast the towns' votes for the next convention city.

2:30 p. m.—West Texas national defense assembly, in convention hall. The session will open with music by the Odessa 1941 WTCC official band. G. Ward Moody directs these 60-odd high school musicians. Speakers on the program whose acceptances have been received include Col. Ernest O. Thompson, on "Texas Natural Resources in National Defense," and Gen. Preston Weatherred, who will discuss Texas labor in the defense program. Both speakers are officers in the 36th division at Camp Bowie.

Parade, Concluding Banquet

Following close of the defense assembly the afternoon will be given over to street and lobby entertainment, town acts and stunts, concerts by visiting musical groups, etc. Five o'clock is the starting time for the parade of bands in which both army and civilian units—municipal, college and high school — will swing through the business section playing patriotic and swing numbers.

The concluding convention session, expected to be the biggest in the two days, is the All-West Texas "To-Hell-With-Hitler" banquet, on the Baker hotel roof starting at 7 o'clock. J. S. Bridwell, WTCC president, will open the banquet, then hand the gavel to Amon Carter of Fort Worth who will be master of ceremonies. The winning five-minute addresses in the My Home Town Contest will be heard. Then Congressman Ewing Thomason of El Paso, chairman of the house military affairs committee, will pay tribute to the late Senator Morris Sheppard, and will address the banquet group on "The People and National Defense." There will be other prominent speakers.

High Army officers, including commanders of West Texas defense projects, will be guests of the convention at the concluding dinner. Among them will be Major General Richard Donovan, 9th Corps area; Maj. Gen. Claude V. Birkhead, 36th division; Brig. Gen. W. H. Simpson, Camp Wolters replacement center; and others.

A dance at the Crazy hotel, starting at 9:30, will bring the 1942 convention to the close.

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

MINERAL WELLS, May 3. — Program plans for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, its 23rd annual gathering, are steadily going forward, the WTCC's convention office said Friday. This year's convention theme—West Texas business and the region's place in the national defense picture—is winning wide interest and approbation, said Max Bentley, convention manager. Bentley said that advance hotel reservations are coming in rapidly from directors of the regional chamber, high army officers, local chamber of commerce delegations, and in some cases by town delegations on group.

The West Texas chamber is urging its affiliates to appoint delegate groups and see to their attendance on the Mineral Wells sessions May 15-16. Borger has responded with a delegation of five: C. R. Stahl, chairman; C. S. Goldsmith, chamber of commerce president; W. F. Seegar, S. M. Clayton and Walter David. The Paducah delegation is composed of J. A. Crump, chairman; J. W. Goodwin, Ernest G. Dameron, W. V. Bigham, Lawson Reid, E. A. Carlock, B. A. Shotts and V. H. Worley. From Olney will come a delegation composed of Harry Bettis, A. D. Cummings, E. G. Thornton, A. A. Cooper, V. W. Kunkel and Tom Watson.

The directors' first business session will be dinner at the Crazy hotel Thursday evening May 15, this to be followed by a patriotic mass meeting in Mineral Wells' great downtown convention hall with music by a military band. A dance, 9:30 p. m., at the Baker hotel, will close the day's events.

Full Day Friday

Friday, second and closing day of the convention, will be crammed with events both on the business and entertainment side. The convention day will open with a 7:30 breakfast for directors, old and new, at the Baker hotel. Then, these other events in order:

8:30 a. m.—Finals in My Home Town contest for winners in the seven district preliminaries, at the Brazos theater.

10 a. m.—Continuing the morning session in the theater, a taxpayers' general assembly at which Judge J. D. Hamlin of Farwell will preside. The addresses, by notable speakers, will cover Texas legislative accomplishments and needs; the WTCC good government program; and freight rates in Southwestern development.

12 noon—Triple luncheon at the Crazy hotel, by the directors to West Texas newspapermen and local chamber of commerce executives. At this session the new WTCC officers will be elected and nominating talks for the 1942 WTCC convention will be heard. During the afternoon the directors or their proxies will cast the towns' votes for the next convention city.

2:30 p. m.—West Texas national defense assembly, in convention hall. The session will open with music by the Odessa 1941 WTCC official band. G. Ward Moody directs these 60-odd high school musicians. Speakers on the program whose acceptances have been received include Col. Ernest O. Thompson, on "Texas Natural Resources in National Defense," and Gen. Preston Weatherred, who will discuss Texas labor in the defense program. Both speakers are officers in the 36th division at Camp Bowie.

Parade, Concluding Banquet

Following close of the defense assembly the afternoon will be given over to street and lobby entertainment, town acts and stunts, concerts by visiting musical groups, etc. Five o'clock is the starting time for the parade of bands in which both army and civilian units—municipal, college and high school — will swing through the business section playing patriotic and swing numbers.

The concluding convention session, expected to be the biggest in the two days, is the All-West Texas "To-Hell-With-Hitler" banquet, on the Baker hotel roof starting at 7 o'clock. J. S. Bridwell, WTCC president, will open the banquet, then hand the gavel to Amon Carter of Fort Worth who will be master of ceremonies. The winning five-minute addresses in the My Home Town Contest will be heard. Then Congressman Ewing Thomason of El Paso, chairman of the house military affairs committee, will pay tribute to the late Senator Morris Sheppard, and will address the banquet group on "The People and National Defense." There will be other prominent speakers.

High Army officers, including commanders of West Texas defense projects, will be guests of the convention at the concluding dinner. Among them will be Major General Richard Donovan, 8th Corps area; Maj. Gen. Claude V. Birkhead, 36th division; Brig. Gen. W. H. Simpson, Camp Wolters replacement center; and others.

A dance at the Crazy hotel, starting at 9:30, will bring the 1941 convention to the close.

Heroine Is Qualmish Over Royal Honors

LONDON, Eng., May 3. (AP)—Brave enough to carry on while bombs were dropping all round, but qualmish about facing King George to receive a well-earned medal—that is Mrs. Amelia Matty, of Birmingham.

She even tried to get her sister to go to Buckingham Palace to receive her O.B.E.

Mrs. Matty, who is 35, won the order for carrying on with her job of serving munitions workers with tea and sandwiches after the factory had been bombed. She was injured.

The Netherlands Indies shipped over 11,000 tons of black pepper to the United States last year.

Iraq Revolt Real Menace To British

Axis May Get Needed Bases

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The revolt which has flared out of the Iranian desert against British control is a serious development for the Allies but its real menace lies not so much in the immediate circumstances as in the danger that it may spread throughout Iraq and overflow into neighboring Arabian countries.

So far as present indications go Britain might be expected to be able to localize this little war. However, should it extend it not only would throw a vast Arabian force against the British in the Near East, but presumably would give the Axis powers the bases they need to develop their drive against the Suez canal and Egypt.

Saboteurs Are Sought

Britain's anxiety as to the extent of the threat will be increased by today's news from Beirut, Syria, that the French authorities are carrying out an intensive search for saboteurs responsible for a destructive incendiary fire in a Tripoli refinery. Tripoli is the end of the great oil pipe-line which runs from the wells of Iraq to the Mediterranean.

The danger to this oil line is one of the matters of immediate concern to the British, for their Mediterranean fleet is fed through this great duct.

The attack by Iraq forces against the great British airdrome at Habbaniyah also is calculated to cut the imperial airline to India and the Far East. It will be a serious development if the pro-Nazi Iraq government, which seized power by a coup recently, should be able to secure control of this important link in the communications. Iraq is Britain's air base for the whole middle eastern territory.

Roots In Several Causes

The action of the new Iraq regime in tearing up its alliance with Britain and launching an armed attack on imperial troops, has its roots in several causes. One is that German and Italian agents have been working assiduously for years among the Arabs of the entire Mediterranean and Near East area in an effort to win them away from the British.

Another, I should say, undoubtedly is to be found in the anti-British crusade by the grand mufti of Jerusalem, who is in exile in Bagdad. The grand mufti is leader of close to a million Moslems, and wields vast influence in the Arabian countries.

It may be because of his hand in the affair that the cry of holy war — attack on Christians and other "unbelievers" — has been raised in Iraq. Should such a conflict get under way, and spread among the fanatical sections of the Arab population of the Near East, it would create a terrible situation.

Beyond these causes, however, is one which is perhaps far more important. That rests in the hostility which has been created among the Arabian peoples to Britain's policy in Palestine. This has aroused much bitterness, for racial and religious sentiment binds the Arabs together in the face of foreigners.

The Arabs of Palestine claim that Britain promised them sovereignty over that country to win their support in the World war, and then broke faith by establishing the Jewish national home.

Pickering Family Just Ordinary Folks But Youngsters Show Promise Of Going Long Way In Musical World; Billy Is The Star

You've probably heard them singing their songs over KFYO the past three months.

And you've probably wondered how they looked and what kind of people they are.

This is to report that the Pickering family is made up of just ordinary folks like you and I, with the possible exception that singing is their vocation.

From left to right, they are: Billy, 14, the star singer of the group who sings alto and is in his sixth year of radio work; Mrs. Pickering, soprano; Johnny, 8, who isn't singing now because he has lost two of his front teeth; Pickering, accompanist and second tenor; and J. W. Elliott, 22, bass.

Started Radio 8 Years Ago

Eight years ago, Pickering was a music and voice teacher in Monroe, La., and having only fair success. He noticed an unusual talent in his six-year-old son's voice (Billy) and started ringing him into trio numbers with Mrs. Pickering. They had been fans of the Revelers quartet, then popular singers on the air, and decided to model their songs somewhat along the same style.

They started their radio work on station KMLB at Monroe and after several months moved to Beaumont where they sang on KFBM and KRIC for several years. Next they sang over station KGKB at Tyler and on last Dec. 8 they came to Lubbock to join the KFYO staff of entertainers.

Elliott Sings Low A Flat

The family sings regularly on a morning program here and about three nights a week stage programs in the various schools and communities over the South Plains. They sing religious songs, popular and semi-classical numbers but have been limited on their radio programs in the past several months due to the copywright contest between radio and the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

You might have been impressed by the singing of bass by Elliott. His voice has something out of the ordinary quality, Pickering says, in that he can sing in low A flat.

Young Billy, a student in the seventh grade at Junior High school, has had eight years of public appearances. His ambition is to sing on one of the big radio shows.

Crowds have no affect on him and he has sung before audiences as large as 15,000 people. "And when they get that big, they're too much for his daddy," the father adds.

The Pickerings reside at 2202 Twenty-third street.

Don't You Know Old Dutch Mantell Would Have Enjoyed This

McCOMB, Miss., May 3 (AP) When a bull engaged Smith Cotten in rough-and-tumble the bull lost.

The bull knocked Cotten down and broke one of his legs in the first round. But as the animal returned to the attack, Cotten, an ex-wrestler, grabbed its ear with one hand and briskly rubbed a handful of dirt in its eyes with his other hand.

The bull threw in the towel.

Vast Improvements Made In Mackenzie Park

Cost Is Over Half Million

The immense amount of improvement work that has been done in Mackenzie state park in a little more than five years was revealed in a report made public Saturday by John S. Leslie, park superintendent.

The improvements which, according to officials, represent a replacement value considerably in excess of half a million dollars, have been made by labor furnished by Lubbock Civilian Conservation Corps camp under the supervision of the National Park service in cooperation with the Texas State Parks board of which K. N. Clapp of Lubbock is a member.

Personnel Of Service

Personnel of the National Park service assigned to Mackenzie consists, besides Leslie, of Barney A. Brady, engineer; Armin E. Henneberger, architect; Sumner Haynes, D. C. Weeks and James Napier, foremen, and Frank Ohnemus, blacksmith.

Work on the program that has been completed, officials revealed, was authorized July 23, 1935, and actually was started on Aug. 12 of that year, not long after the old City Park and Shannon County Park were combined, along with connecting land between them, into the present Mackenzie state park of approximately 547 acres.

Since that time, according to the report, an average of 125 CCC enrollees have devoted a total of approximately 166,000 man days conservatively valued at 2 per day to the improvements. In carrying out the work program, a fleet of 11 trucks has traveled an aggregate of more than 615,000 miles, the report showed.

Work Completed

The work which has been completed since improvements were started is shown in the report to include:

Construction of approximately five and one-half miles of roads, most of which since have been paved by the state highway department; obliteration of approximately 3.2 miles of roads, trails and construction scars.

Construction of the modern clubhouse on Meadowbrook Golf course in the park; the clubhouse together with improvements to the golf course represent a value in excess of $50,000, according to estimate of W. G. McMillan, who operates the golf club.

The replacement of the old frame bath-house with the large masonry structure which is described as the most modern building of its kind in Northwest Texas.

Trees Are Planted

The moving and planting of 15,788 shrubs and trees.

Laying of more than eight miles of water pipe ranging in size from three-fours of an inch to six inches.

Erection of 25,805 feet of fencing and of 9,200 feet of guard rails around 31,417 square yards of parking areas.

Construction of large shelter with kitchen at barbecue pits, 15 camp stoves and fireplaces, and 60 table and bench combinations.

Seeding and sodding of 110 acres with Bermuda and native grasses, and the excavation, filling and fertilization of 62 acres of ground.

Construction of four vehicle bridges and eight foot bridges.

Erection of five combination buildings, including the clubhouse, and a group of service buildings consisting of garage, blacksmith shop, material shed and store room.

Such miscellaneous projects as the laying of 4,000 feet of sewage lines, installation of 12 drinking fountains, erection of two golf shelters, one spectator's shelter at the swimming pool and two rest rooms and the drillings of a stilling well for the U. S. geological survey.

TO FLY TO ENGLAND—Karl K. Kimbro, recently commissioned as a pilot-officer in the Royal Canadian Air force, recounts his experiences to Albert Smith, another Lubbock youth, who plans to leave Wednesday for Canada to join the force. Kimbro leaves for England later this month. (Avalanche-Journal Staff Photo).

Lubbock Youth Says Making Canadian Air Corps Plenty Tough; Another Boy Going

They met for the first time Saturday afternoon, two young Lubbock fliers. One is ready to go to England for active duty with the Royal Air Force and the other leaves Wednesday to begin his training with the Canadian Air force.

They are Karl K. Kimbro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Z. A. Kimbro of 1923 Twenty-ninth street, and Albert Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Smith of 2217 Twenty-eighth street.

Receives His Wings

Kimbro has just received his wings after seven months of "the hardest work I've done in my life." He will leave from Halifax, Nova Scotia, the latter part of the month, for six weeks' of training in an English air base. Then he is in.

"This war will make the first World war look sick, and I wanted a ringside seat," he will tell you. "And I'll probably get it."

Temperature 40 Below

After his induction at Windsor, Ontario, last Oct. 15 Kimbro was sent to an initial training school at Fort William, Ont., where the famous "Hurricane" fighter planes are built. The temperature was 40 degrees below zero the night he arrived. He was given a physical examination which he described like this:

"They take motion pictures of your heart-action, make you hold your breath for 70 seconds, test your blood pressure at 14 below zero weather—and then reject you if you can't cross your eyes."

Then came security guard training (infantry drill) and schooling in all phases of aviation and mathematics — pyrotechnics, geometry and trigonometry, mechanics and a score of other subjects.

Attended Night School

He stayed seven weeks at the elementary school, attending school until 11 p. m. six nights a week. During the seven weeks he got one day off—Christmas day.

American army discipline is light when compared with the Canadian Air force, he believes. You have to know all the rules, he said, and you have to obey them.

When he went to the No. 1 training school of Canada at Camp Borden, Ont., his actual flying instruction began. He was issued "muk-luks" (heavy flying boots), flying gloves and incredibly heavy sheep-lined suits to withstand the extreme temperatures.

Assigned to a single-seated fighting plane squadron, he flew a North American Harvard—an American-made fast plane with retractable landing gear and headlights in the wings "that would put a locomotive's to shame." In his squadron were four Australians, three Canadians, three Americans and three Newfoundlers.

The trainees were not allowed to fly more than four hours at a stretch without getting eight hours of rest. Their practice included training in "deflective shooting", blind flying and machine gun operation. At one time he was required to make 25 ground loops in two days. He flew 80 hours in a four-weeks period.

The fighter-planes are equipped with eight guns throwing 1,150 bullets per minute each. Fast-action cameras are used in the training, to record the pilot's aim.

Spring's just beginning in Canada, Kimbro said. He arrived in Lubbock Friday. The snow has been melted two weeks at his training post, he said.

"It was the greatest moment of my life when I went through the "wings" ceremonies, Kimbro said. He was one of 43 to get wings after 90 per cent of the initial trainees had dropped out. Attended by government officials, the ceremony took place before a back-drop of 100 planes lined in perfect formation.

He's just beginning his fight for England and he's glad to do it, he commented. He said he enjoyed his contact with the Canadians. "They eat too much meat and potatoes, cabbage and turnips—but they're swell."

Smith is a former Senior High school student. He has received preliminary training at Municipal airport.

Four Counties In Area Share New Production Rating In Fourteen Completions

Operations Are Slowed By Rain

By JOHN R. BREWER
Special Oil Writer

The four most northerly oil producing counties in the West Texas Permian Basin — Cochran, Hockley, Yoakum and Gaines—shared new production rating, 9,587.64 barrels, in the completion of 14 wells during the week just ended. Rain slowed operations.

Gaines county led with seven completions for 3,570.08 barrels, Yoakum county added three wells good for 3,055.16 barrels, Hockley county three for 2,183.40 barrels and Cochran county a 779-barrel well.

Designation of the Yoakum county producing area opened by Geo. P. Livermore, Inc., of Lubbock, No. 1 Shell-Ernest Ownby as the Ownby pool was requested by the operator in filing last week's gauge of 129.72 barrels of 30 gravity oil in six hours, with gas-oil ratio of 1,980-1, and the total depth 5,384 feet. The well is 660 feet out of the northeast corner of section 502-D-John H. Gibson, three miles north and three-quarters of a mile east of Livermore No. 1 Waples-Platter, the nearest of two wells comprising the Waples-Platter pool.

Flows 12 Barrels Hourly

At the week's close, Magnolia No. 5 F. L. Woodley in Cochran county, 1,582 feet west of Magnolia No. 2 Woodley, a producer in the north part of the Duggan secter of the Slaughter field, flowed 12 barrels of oil hourly, cut 6 per cent by acid residue. Bottomed at 4,995 feet in lime, it had been treated first with 1,500, then with 3,000 gallons of acid. Magnolia staked No. 6 Woodley in lot 2, league 57, Oldham county school land survey, 4,912.4 feet from the west line of the league and 3,500 feet northwest of Magnolia No. 5 Woodley.

Anderson-Prichard No. 1 Woodley, 880 feet north of the location for Magnolia No. 6 Woodley had drilled past 4,600 feet in lime. It topped the solid lime at 4,120 feet, reported flat with the nearest producers. The outpost is 440 feet out of the southeast corner of the west 327 acres of the north 487 acres of league 57, Oldham county school land survey, 4,500 feet west and one location north of Magnolia No. 4 Woodley, recent 1,285.8-foot north extension to the Duggan area.

Another Duggan Producer

O'Neil Drilling Co. No. 1 Della Slaughter Wright 3½ miles north and slightly west of Magnolia No. 4 Woodley and 440 feet out of the northeast corner of labor 12, league 60, Martin county school land survey, had drilled below 4,195 feet in anhydrite.

Milhoan Drilling Co. No. 1 T. B. Duggan, 580 from the north, 440 feet from the west line of labor 1-55-Oldham, was completed at 5,014 feet in lime, after treatment with 11,000 gallons of acid, with a daily potential of 779 barrels of oil.

Hockley county completions were Magnolia No. 4 Sue Alice Slaughter at 4,973 feet for 977.40 barrels daily, S. W. Richardson No. 5 Sun-Denton at 4,970 feet for 745 barrels daily and San Andres No. 5 Caddell at plugged back depth of 4,964 feet for 461 barrels a day.

Magnolia No. 2 Maple Wilson, 3,150 feet east of No. 1 Wilson, one-mile north extension to the original Slaughter pool, had drilled past 4,270 feet in lime and anhydrite.

Makes 1,138 Barrels

In Yoakum county, Shell No. 15-B Baumgart was finaled at 5,176 feet for 1,138 barrels daily, Mabee No. 3-D Willard at 5,195 feet for 802.16 barrels and Denver No. 5 Whittenburg at 5,170 feet for 1,115 barrels.

Four of the seven Gaines county wells finished were in the Seminole field, three in the Wasson pool: In Seminole, Magnolia and Atlantic No. 9-221 Havemeyer & Jenny was finished at 5,222 feet with natural daily potential of 81.44 barrels, the same operators' No. 10-217 Havemeyer & Jenny at 5,339 feet for 226.96, their No. 18-195 Havemeyer & Jenny at 5,270 feet for 824.48 barrels daily and Skelly No. 1 J. B. Robertson at 5,290 feet for 690.56 barrels daily. Wasson additions were: Continental No. 8-49 Wasson at 5,066 feet for 932.88 barrels, Carter No. 5-A Moore at 4,998 feet for 667.92 barrels and Carter and Continental No. 11-44 Moore-Langdon at 5,048 feet for 645.84 barrels daily.

Wildcat Tops Yates Sand

Mascho No. 1 M. M. Fisher, Andrews county wildcat in the Shafter Lake area, in the southeast quarter of section 16-A36-psl, topped the Yates sand reportedly high at 2,835 feet, 327 feet above sea level, and drilled ahead below 3,010 feet in variegated shale. Phillips No. 1 University-Andrews in southwestern Andrews county, deepest test in the North Basin, had reached 7,490 feet in lime.

Fuhrman Petroleum Corp. No. 1 Lockhart & Brown, southern Andrews county strike 2½ miles west of the Fuhrman pool, was completed at plugged back depth of 4,558 fet for a daily flow of 20 barrels of oil plus 12 per cent acid water and drilling fluid. It had been acidized with 6,000 gallons. Location is in the northeast corner of section 24-A4--psl.

Magnolia No. 1 N. B. Teague, northeastern Martin county wildcat 12 miles southwest of Lamesa, started making salt water, probably from the bottom, as it swabbed and could not lower the column below 3,000 feet from the top. As the result, it pulled tubing, reran it with a cement retainer at 6,710 feet and squeezed off perforations with 100 sacks of cement. Five and one-half inch casing cemented at 6,849 feet in the Clear Fork lime had been gun perforated with 60 shots from 6,723-53 fet and 2-inch tubing had been run, with a packer at 6,700 feet.

Pipe Perforated Higher

When the cement hardened, the pipe was to be reperforated in a slightly higher zone. No. 1 Teague is in the northwest corner of labor 10, league 260, Borden county school land survey.

B. C. Mann and J. R. Canning No. 1 Canning & Dennis, eastern Borden county wildcat seven miles northwest of the Sharon Ridge pool in Scurry county, encountered a hole full of sulphur water in porous lime from 2,650 to 2,660 feet, where it was abandoned. The test was 660 from the north, 1,980 feet from the east line of section 151-25-H&TC.

Sinclair-Prairie No. 1 Ruth G. Palmer in Ector county, three-quarter-mile northeast extension of the Johnson pool, was completed at 4,205 feet, only six feet in the pay, with a high, natural daily potential of 2,808 barrels of oil. It is in the northwest corner of section 45-42-2s-T&P.

Insured Producers May Defer Settling Indemnity Claims

COLLEGE STATION, May 3 (Special) — Texas wheat growers with Federal crop insurance may, upon unavoidable crop loss, have their indemnity paid immediately in the cash equivalent or request that settlement be deferred until later, Wilmer T. Swink, state AAA committeeman and wheat farmer from Olney, pointed out this week.

If a grower asks for deferred settlement, he will receive from the Federal Crop Insurance corporation a certificate of indemnity. The grower may use this certificate to establish the cash equivalent of his indemnity by properly executing it and mailing it direct to the corporation's Kansas City branch office, or he may use it to obtain a wheat loan from the Commodity Credit corporation, the committeeman said.

Final settlement can be deferred until the closing date for getting wheat loans from the Commodity Credit corporation, or 90 days from the time the certificate of indemnity is issued, whichever is later.

Swink reports that approximately 75 claims have been submitted by insured Texas growers so far. Most of the losses reported have been caused by wind erosion in several counties bordering on New Mexico.

Shanghai, China, has many strikes.

Air Corps Is Opened To Many More Men

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP) — The army opened the fast growing air corps today to men with keen native intelligence but relatively little formal schooling.

The war department announced that men who have completed the eighth grade in school would be enlisted provided they attained a rating of 100 in intelligence tests and were otherwise qualified. Hitherto, a high school education or a journeyman's rating in a trade was required.

The relaxed qualifications apply to enlisted men, of whom 18,000 more are needed immediately, officials said, to be trained as mechanics and specialists of all kinds.

Meanwhile, strict requirements for pilots are in process of alteration. Following British and German precedent, enlisted men as well as commissioned pilots are to fly army planes as the air corps expands toward an ultimate contemplated strength of 800,000 men.

Weighty Problem Is Settled By Board

NEW ORLEANS, May 3 (AP) — A local selective service board settled a weighty problem today by rejecting 34-year-old Walton Wilson because he was 250 pounds overweight. Wilson, a cabinet maker, is 5 feet 11 1-2 inches in height and weighs 438 pounds.

Prices On Food Again Soaring

WASHINGTON, May 3. (U.P.)—A further rise in the retail cost of food was reported today on the heels of a warning by administration spokesmen that unwarranted price increases for food and clothing will necessitate government action to prevent inflation.

The bureau of labor statistics reported that retail prices of all types of food, which have shown a "moderate and steady advance" since last November, increased 2.2 per cent between March 18 and April 15 in principal cities across the country. This brought prices to a point five per cent above those of last August and 4½ per cent above a year ago, the bureau said.

Increases Are Sharp

"Particularly sharp increases" during the period were noted in the price of fresh fruits and vegetables and flour, sugar, meats and dairy products, the bureau reported. These included an advance of 15.5 per cent in the price of lard; 10.8 per cent for eggs; potatoes, 7.4 per cent; sugar, 6.6 per cent; butter, 5.1 per cent, pork chops, 4.4 per cent, and coffee, 2.3 per cent.

The bureau said the increase reflected earlier advances in wholesale markets and indicated "the effects of lower production, larger domestic consumption and purchases by the government." Under its new food purchase program the government is buying dairy, meat and poultry products at higher prices for distribution among the needy and to create a stockpile of foodstuffs for the anti-Axis nations.

Large British Orders

Well-informed defense officials said that large British food orders in this country was a contributing factor to the price increases. In one instance, they said, the British government has requested approximately 15,000,000 cases of canned tomatoes, or more than half of this country's annual output of 28,000,000 cases.

The thinly-veiled threat of a government check on mounting retail prices was given by price control Administrator Leon Henderson yesterday at a special national defense conference of food and clothing producers. He conceded that such regulation would be a difficult problem but that the government is "not afraid of the task."

The businessmen also were told by Miss Hariet Elliott, consumer commissioner in Henderson's office that the government has evidence that certain manufacturers have maintained stable prices at the expense of quality of their goods. Such a practice, she said, would have almost as bad an effect as raising prices in order to maintain stable quality.

Polish Religious Worker Claims Modern Miracle Saved Him From Firing Squad

DALLAS, May 3 (U.P.)—A "modern miracle" saved Constanta Jaroszevicz from a Nazi firing squad, he said, after months of horror in a concentration camp in German-occupied Poland.

Jaroszevicz, a religious worker, addressed Dallas churchmen. He said he was imprisoned after the Nazis bombed a Polish town of 60,000 during the blitzkrieg.

For 28 days he was kept in an underground dungeon, where he saw no ray of light. Then he was taken upstairs where he passed a bitter cold winter with little food and virtually no heat.

Jaroszevicz said gestapo guards visited the 24 men at the prison only to beat them or carry away the bodies of those who died as the result of previous beatingss.

Condemned To Die

One day, a guard informed him that he had been condemned to die the following morning at 8 o'clock.

The Polish prisoner said he spent the night in prayer. Toward morning, he said, there was "a great flash of light" and he felt much stronger. The time of the execution passed without event.

Two hours later, he was hailed before a new Nazi commander, a venerable man who secretly admired Jaroszevicz's religious work.

The commander informed the prisoner that he had replaced the guard who ordered the execution. He said he would sign a pardon, although in doing so he "probably was signing his own death warrant."

"I am an old man of 65," the Nazi said, "and most of my life is spent. You are young with God's work ahead of you."

Jaroszevicz said the pardon got him outside the camp, where he was on his own. He managed to escape Nazi vigilance and came to this country.

Plan To Prevent Reynolds Heading Senate Military Group Said Abandoned

Many Refuse To Break Tradition

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP) — Administration supporters were reported today to have abandoned —largely because of Republican opposition—an attempt to keep the chairmanship of the important Senate military affairs committee from Sen. Reynolds (D-NC).

Reynolds, senior Democratic member of the committee in point of service, has been in line for the chairmanship since the recent death of Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex).

By Senate tradition, a committee chairman ship goes to the senior member of the majority party. In the case of Reynolds, there were many protests against his advancement in view of his criticism of the administration's program of aiding Britain.

Check Is Taken

Some administration men attempted to lay the groundwork for a move within the Democratic steering committee, which recommends committee assignments, to pass over Reynolds and place Sen. Thomas (D-Utah) in the chairmanship.

While some believed the steering committee might be persuaded to go against precedent and sidetrack Reynolds, the North Carolina senator made it known that he would appeal any such decision to the Senate.

A quick check of the Senate was said to show that practically all of the 28 Republicans would vote to uphold the traditional custom.

Let Matters Be

In addition, the canvass indicated Reynolds would have the support of several Democrats who entertain views similar to his about the British aid program, and of some Democrats of opposite views who still were firmly against depriving any member of a chairmanship when he was entitled to it by seniority.

For this reason, Reynolds' opponents were said to have concluded that the wisest thing to do was to let matters take their course in the steering committee.

Wild Flower Trails

blooming profusely.

A drive as indicated on the map shown on page 12 from Lubbock to Brownfield, Plains, Denver City, Seminole, Lamesa, Tahoka and back to Lubbock will take five hours driving time. Pack a picnic lunch and take the family for an outing along this drive. Seminole would be a half way point, where you can eat your lunch in a roadside park south of Seminole about two miles on State Highway 51. This park is for you and has water and is equipped with tables and benches.

Notice The Many Varieties

As you drive along you will notice in the sandy soil the yellow and white Evening Primrose. They cover the vacant lots of the towns and line the highways at intervals. The Spectacle Pod is common in the sandhills and the plant is topped by showy clusters of white flowers. Notice the purple flowers of the penstemon Horsemint and Fiddle-Neck. The Indian Blanket or beautiful Gaillardia is the pride of the Texas Prairies and large patches of the landscape becomes a vivid red and yellow from this composite flower.

When driving south from Plains you will come upon the vast oil fields that border the highway into Denver City and Seminole. These are interesting to anyone interested in the growth and development of this area. Now back to the flowers, the white Asters and yellow Daisies are plentiful along with the copper colored mallow, and the wild honeysuckle. The Tansy Leafed Aster sometimes called the Tahoka daisy is a very showy purple composite flower and can be observed entering Lamesa and Tahoka. The blue of Verbena covers the ground in spots like a blanket between O'Donnell and Lubbock. When you get to Lamesa take time to drive to the roadside park two miles south of Lamesa on U. S. Highway 87. The entire park is covered in wild flowers. Predominate are the Evening Primrose, Gaillardia, Horsemint and Purple Fiddle-Neck. These wild flowers mentioned as along the drive are by no means the only ones on the South Plains. Upon close observation you can see the Widows Tear, Wild Onion, White Larkspur, Prickly Poppy, Texas Corydalis, Mesquite Weed, Mexican Ground Plum, White Milkweed, Winecup, Purple Ground Cherry, Nigger-head, and many others. We feel that if you make this drive you will come back feeling like you know just a little more about your native flowers and also about the vast development that is taking place over the South Plains.

Shorter Drives Given

If you do not have time to make a days drive, we suggest a shorter route which would take about three hours to drive as indicated on the map from Lubbock to Post then proceed east of Post on U. S. 380 to the Kent County line, and back over the same route to Lubbock. Do not miss the drive from Post to Kent County, as on this stretch of road is perhaps the most beautiful display of wild flowers in this district. The breaks are covered with the yellow of the Daisies and the Bladder Pod. A Wild Pea is blooming in large patches which resemble the Bluebonnet. The Prickley Pear Cactus are in bloom with their large yellow flowers along with the red flowers of the Cane Cactus. They are very attractive and quite numerous around Post. Gaillardia, Tansy Leafed Aster, Penstemon's, Copper Mallow, Winecup, and wild Honeysuckle cover the roadside east of Post. Blue Verbena, and yellow and white Evening Primroses are numerous all along the route.

As indicated on the map you will notice another three-hour drive to White River east of Crosbyton and back. Located here the Texas Highway department maintains a nine-acre park for the public. Enjoy this park and observe the wild flowers blooming in and around the breaks to the top of the Caprock. The Gaillardia, Asters, Purple Toco, Evening Primrose, and many others can be observed blooming.

At the rate of speed we drive nowdays we fail to observe the things happening around us. Take a day off and go out on these routes and see for yourself the growth of things around your country. You will be surprised.

Heavy Rainfall Of Recent Date Results In "Water Over The Dam" At Buffalo

dence of that nature, there is every reason to believe, according to officials, that the proposed dam will become a reality some day.

Even before the rain, according to the officials at Buffalo, the levels of the two lakes there had been kept at the desired point. That "desired point" on the Upper lake creates a depth of approximately 37 feet at the dam. From Upper lake, water can be valved into the Lower lake as desired to keep it at an even level just below the two spillways which flank Lower lake dam.

Upper lake was s full Friday morning, officials related, that water began running over the spillways for the first time since the dam was built three years ago within about an hour after rain began to fall at 4 p. m.

Pours Hour After Hour

During the entire day water continued to pour over the spillway, which is approximately 30 feet in width, to a depth of two to six inches.

In the center of the bottom of the dam of Upper lake is a large valve outlet approximately four feet in circumference which is a safeguard against too much water in that reservoir. The valve was opened almost completely about 6 o'clock Friday morning. It has been open ever since. Water has been pouring out of it at the rate of more than 51,000 gallons per minute—almost 75,000,000 gallons per day—from the instant it was opened. Engineers at the lake said that it will be necessary to keep the valve open at least three days longer on the strength of the rains which fell up to noon Saturday. The longer the rains continued, they added, the longer it will be necessary to keep the valve open.

A Lot Of Water

However, the water that already has escaped would be enough, if conserved in the right place, to take care of the needs of the city of Lubbock during the two peak months of a hot summer. Before the valves are closed, the escaping water will be about equal in quantity to that which has been used in Lubbock the past five months.

McMillan's experiences while picture making at Buffalo developed into one of the better fishing yarns of the new fishing season. The scene was one of the spillways at Lower lake dam. The spillways at that point slope gradually, in contrast with the sharp drops of the spillways at Upper dam. When water goes over Upper lake spillways, the effect of waterfalls is created. At Lower lake dam, the effect is of a swift rapids.

Catfish In Rapids

In the "rapids," McMillan related, he discovered large numbers of catfish attempting to swim upstream. The current was so strong, however, that the fish would take shelter to rest behind various of the wash-tub sized rocks which are scattered in the spillways. He noticed several instances, he related, of a dozen or more catfish lined up one behind the other in the shelter of such rocks.

McMillan continued that he lifted several of them out of the water—and he described the technique of fishing under such circumstances. Just put your hand carefully on the underside of the fish, scratch him gently on the belly for an instant, and then lift him out. He explained that a catfish seems to get about the same pleasure out of having its belly scratched as does a house cat when its back is stroked.

War's Turning Point

mastery on the whole world."

U. S. Only One

For the moment, however, Germany was doing, apparently, no more than expressing deep sympathy for Iraq. Officials would not discuss reports that the Iraq government had asked Berlin for help, nor would they indicate whether there was any prospect of such aid.

Attention again was engaged by the war on English commerce.

The high command's report that submarines, planes, and surface craft sank ships totaling 1,211,000 tons in April gave some conception of the intensity of this campaign.

Informed German sources estimated British shipping losses since the beginning of the war at close to 11,000,000 tons and added: "With the exception of the United States, there is no country which can relieve Britain's need for shipping space."

ENDORSE JOHN SCOTT

News Briefs

Telegram requesting information concerning Lubbock was received at the chamber of commerce Saturday from officials of a Detroit company who advised that they expect to establish a "better class" ladies' ready-to-wear shop here. The telegram asked for blueprints along with other information concerning the 25 by 100 feet centrally located buildings available for such a shop.

Last of the 36 houses that Farm Security administration is building in Cochran county on the old C. C. Slaughter headquarters south of Morton, will be completed by May 15, Earl Wise, FSA district supervisor, reports. George W. Gray of Lubbock has the contract and the last half dozen houses are being completed.

William Klein, of Amarillo, regional farm debt adjustment supervisor, will arrive Monday for a visit in district 3 of FSA. He will accompany P. F. Murray, F. D. A. specialist and Marvin C. Wilson, rural rehabilitation supervison on the visits. Counties in the district are, Lamb, Bailey, Hale, Swisher, Briscoe, Floyd, Motley and Lubbock.

Criminal cases will be tried this week in the 99th district court of Judge E. L. Pitts in Lubbock and the 72nd district court of Judge Daniel A. Blair in Crosbyton. There will be three or four cases to be set in Lubbock, three in Crosbyton, officials said. The court of County Judge G. V. Pardue will hear civil actions.

Charles R. Duncan, John H. Portwood, Hugh J. McClellan, all of Lubbock, and Frank Simmons of Slaton left Saturday for Mexico City for a week's vacation. They will return next Sunday.

Yellowhouse lodge 841, AF&AM, will confer entered apprentice degrees beginning at 7:30 o'clock Friday night on two candidates. Refreshments will be served. Members and visiting Masons are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Shinkle plan to leave late today for their home in Alice, where he is manager of the chamber of commerce, after spending the weekend visiting relatives and friends in Lubbock and area. Mrs. Shinkle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McCommas of Levelland. Shinkle was a staff member of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce for several years prior to his removal to Alice.

Selection of a new secretary to succeed Jack Stewart of Seagraves, who has resigned, will be one of the business matters to be considered at the monthly luncheon of South Plains Chamber of Commerce Secretaries association in Hilton Monday noon, according to announcement Saturday. Raymond Lee Johns, manager of Lamesa chamber, is president of the association.

Mrs. Byge Reno of Austin is in Lubbock to visit her son, Vincent, senior arts and sciences student at Texas Technological college, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed D. Allen, longtime friends.

Fine of $5 and costs of $22.90 were assessed George Ashley, who pleaded guilty to establishing a lottery, according to judgment signed by Judge G. V. Pardue of county court Saturday.

Mann pledged his support of President Roosevelt's foreign policy at a Waco rally Friday and spoke at Weatherford, Waxahachie and Glen Rose Saturday. He planned further appearances and handshaking tours next week, but his headquarters had no definite announcement.

Johnson's forces were also hard at work organizing a statewide campaign. His opening speech indicated he would make political capital of the Roosevelt friendship, expressed soon after his announcement in Washington that he would make the race to succeed the late Morris Sheppard in the June 28 special election.

Four Trainmen Killed In Locomotive Blast

SALINAS, Calif., May 3 (AP)—A huge mountain locomotive pulling a 94-car Southern Pacific freight train exploded with a deafening blast today, killing four trainmen and hurling jagged smoking steel in all directions.

Twenty boxcars and oil tank cars piled up like toys along the right-of-way. Wreckage of the powerful engine rolled 250 feet down the track after the blast and remained right side up. The explon occurred six miles north of Salinas.

Lindbergh's Speech

America being led into the same morass.

"I knew, in 1939, that England and France were not prepared to wage war successfully and I know that America is not prepared today to wage a successful war in Europe."

Lindbergh, who started to national fame as an air mail flyer in St. Louis 15 years ago, told of his pre-war visits to England and the continent and the lack of air preparedness he found in the British Isles, France and Russia. He told of the air strength of Germany and how he had informed the then Prime Minister Baldwin of England of that strength.

"The prime minister was very courteous but he changed the subject immediately," said Lindbergh. "Time and again, whenever the opportunity arose, I talked to members of the British government about military aviation in Europe. They were always courteous, but seldom impressed."

"Why must our people be divided over this question of European war?" he asked.

"Here in America we are prepared to win a victory. Here, we can defend a civilization as great or greater than any the world has ever known. We have every geographical advantage for defense. We have unlimited natural resources. We have the most highly organized industry in the world.

"And we have another advantage in defending our country—the most important of all. It is unity of purpose. Every true American is ready to fight to preserve our nation. Every one of us is ready to lay down his life if necessary for the defense of America. On questions of American defense, our strength is multiplied by the unity among us. It is only when we are told that our destiny lies in Europe, in Asia, in the Suez, in Singapore or in Dakar, that we divide."

American Convoy

suggested that American vessels also might have headed for Suez via the Cape of Good Hope.

STIR IN VICHY

The report that the ships had arrived created a great stir in Vichy, where United States willingness as well as ability to convoy aid to Britain has been considered doubtful.

However, the fact that President Roosevelt recently suspended the neutrality ban on American ships entering the Red Sea and proceeding to Suez had been considered the forerunner of just such a move as reported today.

The accounts of the ships' arrival in the canal obviously could not be confirmed in Vichy, but they ran swiftly through neutral as well as French circles.

These accounts said the vessels were loaded with light tanks, anti-tank and anti-aircraft guns, and the informants insisted also that American warships were in evidence.

Whippoorwill Drops Its Final Syllables

CAMP ROBINSON, Ark., May 3. (AP)—A tongue-tied whippoorwill has the officers of the 137th (Kansas) infantry tearing their hair.

The night bird haunts the officers' quarters. It starts out on the "whip-poor—" call in great shape but can't get out the "will."

"The damned thing is driving us mad," said Capt. Guy E. Vining of Horton, Kas., adjutant of the regiment. "It's like hearing an orchestra play everything in a song but the last note."

War In Iraq

bah story was untrue, but acknowledged destruction of Habbaniyah planes, mostly trainers.

A formal British communique said Habbaniyah was entirely surrounded by Iraq troops entrenched in the high ground overlooking the field and that since early Friday the unfortified cantonment had been blasted by tons of artillery shells.

Guns Are Smashed

Some of the guns were smashed by British bombers, but the shelling at point-blank range continues, and the Iraqui air force has tried to raid the airdrome, the British officials stated.

"As regards Iraqui claims to have occupied oil wells and all airdromes of the country," said the ministry of information, "it should be pointed out that these have always been in Iraqui hands with the single exception of Shaiba airdrome near Basra, where so far as is known no hostile action has been attempted."

Authoritative British sources said they were unable to reconcile this declaration with the fact that before the war the RAF was known to have operated several airdromes in Iraq and that this number presumably had been increased rather than decreased.

The German radio kept up a running command of sensational declarations concerning the Iraq struggle even while German officialdom professed relative disinterest.

Attack On Residence

Overheard in London, these broadcasts included assertions that British planes tried to raid the Baghdad residence of the premier;

That one British plane was shot down in two RAF raids on Iraq troop concentrations at Baghdad's camp Rashid;

That the Iraq army had taken over all oil fields, pipelines, pump stations and fisheries;

That there was an artillery duel in "the southern area; and that Iraq artillery had set off big oil fires and ammunition explosions at "Cineldebane" airport. (This apparently was a garbled version of Dhibban, the settlement on Lake Habbaniyah near the British air base.)

British Desert Army Surprises Axis Unit

CAIRO, Egypt, May 3. (AP)—A British mechanized force cutting behind the German and Italian positions on the Egyptian frontier has raced across the desert plateau and taken by surprise a considerable body of Axis troops, Middle Eastern headquarters announced tonight.

This bold sortie, reminiscent of the tactics used in routing the Italians last winter, was carried out in the Salum sector while the Axis forces stabbed repeatedly at British-held Tobruk, 80 miles to the west, only to wind up still in the southwestern corner of that port's outer ring of defenses.

The thwarted Tobruk assaults were declared to have cost the Axis forces heavy losses. These attacks were carried out for the most part by Germans using tanks with considerable air support. The Middle East command said two Stukas were bagged.

Continuation Seen

Military sources said the persistence of the Axis attacks indicated fully that British hold on Tobruk was stalling the Axis drive across Northern Africa. They added that continuation of these attacks was to be expected.

The troops which swept behind the Axis line at Salum were said to have cut the Bardia-Tobruk road for a time while they were rounding up the surprised Germans and Italians. In addition to the prisoners they brought back a big field gun.

This daring maneuver also gained useful information concerning disposition of the Axis troops. Military quarters said the foray showed the British still retain their old cunning at desert warfare and are not losing the initiative.

Thus the army of the Nile, outnumbered and awaiting reinforcement from the East, pursued the harassment of the German and Italian forces which rolled the British back from Libya to the Egyptian border but, so far, have been unable to continue their Suez-bound drive from that point.

American rubber toys are becoming popular in South Africa.

Yugoslavia's Premier Says Danube Blocked

SOMEWHERE IN THE MIDDLE EAST, May 3. (AP)—Gen. Dusan Simovic, premier of the refugee Yugoslav government, declared today his troops had so effectively blocked the Danube river that it would be at least three months before the Germans could move any Rumanian oil into the Reich by barge.

Simovic said barges full of concrete had been scuttled in the Iron Gate, the gorge-like passage on the Yugoslav-Rumanian border and that by the most conservative estimates it would take three months to clear a channel.

Master X's Crystal Ball Causes Fire

RICHMOND, Va., May 3. (AP)—If "Master X", negro seer, had glanced into his own crystal ball he could have foreseen some trouble for himself.

He left his crystal ball in his parked car, the sun rays focused through the glass into a burning spot of light—and set his car afire.

Tiny Red Ant Delays Freight 20 Minutes

schools. Absences were primarily due to weather, although more than the usual number were from sore throats, officials said.

The Santa Fe railroad reported the following precipitation since Friday noon:

Lockney, 2.41 inches; Crosbyton, 2.12; Muleshoe, 1.78; Amherst, 1.75; Whiteface, 1.75; Ralls Seagraves, Brownfield, Bledsoe, Lehman and Lamesa, one and a half inch; Littlefield, Hale Center, Floydada, Lorenzo, Idalou, Meadow and Ropesville, one inch; Plainview and Abernathy, three-quarters of an inch; Tulia and Kress, half inch, and Anton, Shallowater, Canyon and Happy, quarter inch.

Rivers Are Raging

A six-inch rain sent rivers in Texas and Oklahoma roaring out of their banks in many places threatening highway bridges, and livestock, according to the Associated Press.

Oklahoma highway workers were placed in guard at the Red river bridge on U. S. highway 277 near Burkburnett as the stream was three feet below flood level and still rising.

At Victoria in South Texas the Guadalupe was slowly rising at 30 feet. Record stage there is 31.4 feet reached in 1936.

Lowlands south and west of Victoria were under water. The river was two to three miles wide.

Arterial highways were closed in the Austin area.

Traffic was expected to be resumed on the Fort Worth and Denver railroad where three washouts were reported in Northwest Texas.

Wichita Bridge Out

The Red river washed across U. S. highway 283 in Oklahoma disrupting interstate traffic and cutting deep holes in the roadbed.

The north fork of the Red in Oklahoma was rising one foot per hour. The river was a mile wide west of Terrel bridge.

At Union, Okla., the Canadian river was falling.

A bridge between Crowell and Benjamin was washed out.

At Camp Hulen on the Texas coast a heavy wind lashed the camp theater into a welter of muddy canvas and smashed equipment. Torrential rains accompanied the twister.

The rain belt extended roughly over all West Texas from the Panhandle to the Gulf and western Oklahoma. Some showers fell in East Texas, and heavy rains fell in some central and north central points.

Willkie's Stand

velt's decision not to renew the army reserve commission of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, Willkie said:

"I don't think it contributes to leading the people to get into personal controversies with those of a different viewpoint. I wholly disagree with Col. Lindbergh, but in the words of Voltaire, 'I do not agree with a word you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it.'

"The best way to dissipate any influence that Lindbergh might have is not to attack him personally, but to show the fallacy of his position.

Rapped By Johnson

"Likewise, no one has criticized me more of late than has Gen. Hugh Johnson, but I think it exceedingly unfortunate that the failure to reappoint him came at a time when he was critical of the administration's foreign policy and those of us who disagree with his viewpoint."

Willkie asserted that "nothing would delight Hitler more" than to see the American people "fall into the use of violent language about each other." He added:

"I am so firmly convinced that our foreign policy, enunciated by the administration and approved by an overwhelming majority of Congress in the enactment of the lease-lend bill, is so right that we can finally convince all Americans of its wisdom. Certainly we can if we keep the channels of public discussion free and unclogged with the bitterness of personal recrimination."

Big Issues Remain For Texas Legislature To Solve During Its Final Days

Major Problems Are Out Of The Way But Fights Still Possible

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, May 3.—Big issues remain for the Texas legislature to solve in its closing days, although the biggest ones are out of the way.

Some problems that were highly publicized before the session opened have been side-tracked but enough are left to provide excitement before sine die adjournment.

To Exert Pressure

Leaders will exert pressure next week to get the appropriation bills passed or sent to conference committees. Only the judiciary appropriation has been passed finally. Remaining biennial appropriations are for state colleges, departments, eleemosynary institutions and aid to rural schools. With enactment of the state's biggest tax bill a tendency to boost appropriations may be expected.

Beside the $22,087,501 omnibus tax bill, chief action of the session has been as follows:

Revision of unemployment compensation to save employers an estimated $10,000,000 a year.

A law making violence or threats of violence in labor disputes punishable by penitentiary sentence.

Load Limits Increased

Increase of the legal load that trucks may carry.

Prohibition of prison whippings. (Yet to be signed by the governor).

Rejection of the proposal to set up a separate commission to administer oil and gas.

The tax bill is the only one finally passed of five upon which Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel recently asked the legislature for action to help him determine if he will be a candidate for U. S. senator.

Action is likely during the week on his recommendation for aduiting and budgeting state finances. Both House and Senate have voted to have a legislative committee instead of the governor name the state auditor. Neither provided for the budget director but the Senate has asked its finance committee for a recommendation on the proposal to include a budget director.

Little Progress Seen

Efforts, so far, have met with little progress on the governor's request for abolition of the death penalty, abolition of the poll tax requirement for voting, and a ban on deficit-financing.

Remission to counties of one half of the ad valorem state taxes collected for five years as been authorized by the Senate but waits House action.

Revival of pari-mutuel racing and sale of liquor by the drink have favorable reports from House committees but hardly show sufficient strength for farther advancement. The so-called "fair trade" and anti-loss leader bills seems to be similarly doomed while repeal of the chain store tax apparently died when the new tax bill exempted filling stations and bible stores. An anti-discrimination bill is another merchandising bill of the session. It has been re-referred to committee.

All Appear Stalled

Little is being heard now of the movement to abolish the state department of agriculture and give its duties to A. & M. college. In fact all of the consolidation and reorganization plans, except the auditor and budget-director plan, seem stalled, although the bill by Rep. Joe Humphrey of Abilene for reorganization, backed by the three regional chambers of commerce, has passed to final reading in the House.

The governor's recommendation late in the session that the board of control be given power to fire as well as hire eleemosynary employes has considerable support in the House.

Disposition of excess road bond retirement funds promises one of the major battles before the session ends. The House has voted to give the surplus to counties, continuing a past policy. The Senate has voted to give it to the highway department.

There is also division between the House and Senate over remission of interest on delinquent taxes. Both have voted to waive penalties if the taxes are paid before Nov. 1, 1941 but Senate opposition to giving up the interest forced House Sponsor Pat Dwyer of San Antonio to delay pressing for a final vote this week.

Clouded By Confusion

The bill to restrict issuance of liquor prescriptions is clouded by confusion about what it really does and what effect it will have on the amount of taxes collected under the omnibus tax bill. House adoption of a Senate resolution to accept the bill as it passed the House would send the measure to the governor.

A bill for state oil proration without the usual time limit of two years has passed the House and likely will get Senate action next week.

Funds for old age pensions and teacher retirement, subjects of rival campaigns at the beginning of the session, seem to be settled so far as this legislature is concerned by the allocation of money from the new tax bill. There still was dispute if the allocations will provide enough money immediately for old age aid and the house has passed a bill for an emergency loan of $1,250,000 from a highway fund for the purpose.

A Senate session Tuesday night will try to clear up the larger number of local and uncontested bills on its calendar. In this respect the Senate is behind the House. The Senate also has left for consideration the governor's appointments of labor commissioner, state auditor and chairman of the liquor board, and has yet to receive from the governor new nominees for chairman of the insurance commission and member of the public safety commisison.

Twenty-Seven Farms To Be Bought Under FSA Tenant Program

Twenty-seven farms will be purchased in 1941-42 through the tenant purchase program of Farm Security administration, including five in Lubbock, four in Hale and five in Parmer, Rex Baxter, Amarillo, state director of FSA, has advised Marvin C. Wilson, rural rehabilitation district supervisor.

Purchases by counties are: Lubbock, five; Hale, four; Parmer, five; Donley, six; Hall, two and Collingsworth, five.

This is the second year that Lubbock and Hale counties have had the program, each of them now having five farms purchased and occupied by former tenant farmers or share croppers.

Dawson, Lynn, Lamb and Hockley counties have had the program for two years and each county has 10 farms in the program. Floyd county has had the program for three years and there are several other counties in this part of the state with programs.

New Diesel Switch Engine Coming Here

An important moment in railroading will be signalized this afternoon when a diesel-electric locomotive is brought to Lubbock for switching purposes, said R. F. Bayless, local agent of Lubbock.

The compact 360-horsepower unit will consist of two V-type eight cylinder engines of 180-horsepower each. Each engine drives a generator and the resultant electric energy is transmitted through blind switches to the traction motors, one of which is attached to each pair of wheels under the locomotive.

The engineer has control of the amount of energy fed to the traction motors and the locomotive develops a maximum tractive effort of 22,125 pounds.

For operating purposes it has a capacity of 300 gallons of fuel oil, 80 gallons of lubricating oil and 70 gallons of water.

Bayless said he had been informed the locomotive would be delivered here by local freight 71, which arrives from Clovis between noon and 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Club Boys To Be Asked To Arrange Programs

Lubbock county 4-H clubs to be visited this month by Lee H. McElroy, assistant county agricultural agent and club leader, will be asked to complete their record books and also to arrange for a summer program.

Visits this week will include: Tuesday, Lubbock junior high and Slaton, senior; Wednesday, Shallowater; Thursday, Slaton, junior; Friday, Roosevelt junior and senior.

Awards for achievements of 1940 will be presented to those who did not receive them at the regular club achievement day, McElroy said.

This summer the boys with swine projects will work on a car load of hogs to be sent next fall to the Texas State fair. This will be the second year that county club boys have had a car load of hogs at the fair.

Annual summer district encampment will be in July or August at Ceta Glen, near Tulia, the same place as the 1940 encampment. Dates have not been worked out but will be by agents at the annual short course at College Station early in July. The junior short course will be held there the same month.

"Nobody Wants You When You're Old And Gray—"

Woman's Story Of 30 Years Of Romance Without Marriage Brings Her $10,000

(By The United Press)

SEATTLE, May 3.—Mrs. Margaret Gable said today $10,000 was less than she had expected for having been scorned by Jay C. Allen after 30 years of passionate courtship and promises of a wedding, but added: "When you've been through all I've been through, you'll just have to learn that a woman has to take what's given her."

Mrs. Gable is 58, white-haired and plump. Allen, a 72-year-old, wealthy attorney, has high blood pressure and other ailments of advancing age.

She sued him for $250,000, charging he had broken his promise to marry her. A jury of eight men and four women, which heard plaintiff and defendant describe their affair in lusty detail for 10 days, awarded Mrs. Gable $10,000 last night.

Allen was grieved.

"There ain't no justice," he declared. "I suppose it might have been worse; who gives a dumn about $10,000."

His next thought was: "I wish I had a couple of drinks to mellow this news a bit."

Allen, who had told of 30 years of love in hotel rooms, kissing techniques and pacifying his angry wife, has been rigidly restricted in his diet and drinking, particularly drinking.

"I still don't hate Mr. Allen," Mrs. Gable said. "My suit was the only alternative to his refusal to marry me."

Her attorney had pleaded: "Allen has taken everything a woman can give. Nobody wants you when you're old and gray."

Allen hoped he could get a new trial on the basis of insufficient evidence. He said the jury apparently had awarded Mrs. Gable the $10,000 for his indiscretions, rather than broken promises.

Insured Fire Losses Reported As Lower

Insured fire losses in Lubbock during the first four months of 1941 ran substantially behind those of the corresponding period of 1940, according to report Saturday by Guy Casey, city fire marshall.

However, he added the margin of difference in losses already has been reduced this month. In May, 1940, he explained there were no insured fire losses. During the present month, one fire already has occurred on which the estimate of loss has not been made, but which undoubtedly will be several hundred dollars, the fire marshall said.

Also detracting from the record thus far this year has been the fact that most of the losses have been due to causes classified as 'carelessness,' he related. Among some of the causes, he said, are children playing with matches, using gasoline for cleaning purposes in a room where an open fire was blazing, an oil stove and an electric iron.

Insured losses to May 1, according to the report, have totaled $5,347.68, including an estimate of $4,000 for April. The total compares with $6,997.69 during the first four months of 1940 and $2,178.71 during April, 1940.

Insured losses during the whole of 1940 were $21,720, according to Casey's records.

In a contest in Russia for the best movie comedy scenario 737 manuscripts were submitted.

Cardinals Stop Phils To Stay In League Lead

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, May 3. — A single in the sixth inning ruined Rookie Henry Gornicki's chances of pitching the major league season's first no-hit game today as the tall right hander hurled the St. Louis Cardinals to a 6 to 0 one-hit victory over the Phillies.

It was the eighth consecutive triumph for the National League leaders and the second sparkling mound performance turned in by Cardinal rookies in the two-game series. Yesterday, Howard Krist set the Phils down 4 to 2 on five hits.

Until the sixth inning, Nick Etten was the only Phil to get as far as first base and he got there twice on walks. With two out in the sixth, Merrill May drew a pass and then came Stan Benjamin's single, but Terry Moore raced back to the centerfield wall to nab Joe Marty's hard drive to end the threat.

Gornicki, who won 19 games and lost 10 for Rochester in the International League last year, fanned five batters and gave the same number of walks.

The defeat, coupled with Pittsburgh's 3 to 2 victory over the New York Giants, shoved the Phillies back into the cellar and returned the Pirates to seventh place.

Dodgers Keep Up With 4-3 Victory

BROOKLYN, May 3. (AP) — A double by Pete Reiser and Ducky Medwick's single to left in the eighth inning gave the Dodgers their winning margin for a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs today.

Kirby Higbe was credited with the triumph which he helped along with a two-run single in the fifth. But the former Philly pitcher wasn't around at the finish. Southpaw Kemp Wicker worked the ninth and, although a pinch-hit double by Lou Novikoff and a walk put two men on, got out of the jam without allowing a run.

Staretor And Market Wise Trail Warren Wright's Colt To Tape By Eight Lengths

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHURCHILL DOWNS, Louisville, May 3—"Whacky" Whirlaway, the little chestnut horse with the big full tail and the blinding stretch speed, ran away with the greatest Kentucky Derby of them all.

Fairly flying down the last long quarter mile, the stretch-running-est son the Blue Grass has boasted of in a long time galloped home by eight lengths, laughing off all the "ifs" they had tagged onto his chances and bringing screams of admiration from the biggest crowd ever to see a horse race in America—an officially estimated 100,000.

He did it by coming up from eighth place in the field of 11 under masterful handling by wise Eddie Arcaro, and he put the crusher on his critics so convincingly that his smashing speed broke the Downs and Derby record for the mile and a quarter. He hit the wire in the red-hot time of 2 minutes, 1 2/5 seconds, two-fifths of a second faster than it took Twenty Grand in posting the fastest previous time in the 66 years of Derby history.

Far down the track and out of the money as he came bouncing home all by himself were the "big (Lucky) Howard's California-owned Porter's Cap and R. ce Martin's Our Boots, the colts which they said would leave Whirlaway in the dust when he committed his usual racing "sin" of running wide at the last turn.

But the little standard-bearer of Warren Wright just pointed his tail out in back like a rudder and ran sa true as an arrow to give Chicago its second straight Derby victory and win by as wide a margin as any horse ever has taken this run for the roses.

Only Johnstown in 1939 and old Rosebud in 1914 ever made such a show of their field. It was as if the Derby was run in two sections, and the only contest in the race found the rank outsider in the field, Hugh Nesbitt's Stareter, driving to a neck decision over another longshot, the New York-owned Market Wise, from the barn of Lou Tufano, for second place. Porter's Cap, leading money winner among the three-year olds up to now and the colt the Far West was writing songs about, finished fourth.

Ten lengths away from "Whirly's" wavinkg tail, was Rocky Palladino's Little Beans, the invader from Boston, fifth; the Texas speed horse, Robert Kleberg, jr.'s, Dispose, sixth; Tom Bragg's Blue Pair, seventh; Our Boots, eighth; J. Fred' Byers' Robert Morris, ninth; Emerson F. Woodward's Validina Paul, tenth, and trailing all the way, Cleveland Putnam's mud-running Swain, the Californian, who just couldn't get started on the lightning fast track.

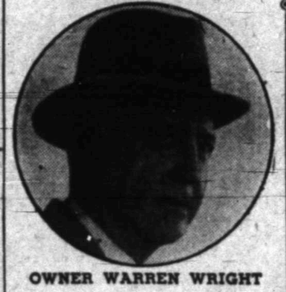

Everything, crowd, betting, time, the money in the race, and the roar of the backers of the Blue Grass boy, made this the biggest Derby of all the 67 run here. By his victory, the flying little son of Blenheim II gave his family a Kentucky Derby triumph to join his daddy's English "Darby" conquest. He brought $61,275 to Owner Wright, the largest purse a winner ever picked up in the chase after this $75,000-added rainbow. He rewarded his backers a favorite's price of $7.80 for each winning mutuel ticket held on him in the record-breaking Derby handle of $654,353. And finally, he rewarded the brilliant-riding Arcaro and the wise Trainer Ben Jones, plain Ben from out of Missouri, with their second Derby victory in three years.

That was the real story back of this race. Whirlaway wasn't supposed to have a chance after the way he "ran out" in the Derby trial last Tuesday. Plain Ben just couldn't roll up his sleeves and work the magic this time like he did with limping Lawrin when he trained for Herbert Woolf in 1938.

So all Plain Ben did was import the generally-ranked best jockey of them all, and told him to ride "Whirly" just one way—lay back of the pack until they straightened out, then uncork the drive no one doubted he had all the time. He did just that—and it was just as simple as that. For three quarters of a mile he was as much as 17½ lengths back of Dispose, who set the pace through the first mile. At the mile mark, he started to move up. Arcaro, who also rode Lawrin for Ben, said later, he just couldn't hold him any more. As they straightened out for home, he took the lead as Arcaro piloted him between horses. And from there on, he was strictly the drum

Tribe Runs Win Streak To Nine By Beating Sox

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, May 3. — The amazing Cleveland Indians ran their winning streak to nine games today by the simple expedient of jumping on Mike Ryba for four runs in the first inning. The resultant 4 to 2 triumph over the Boston Red Sox was Southpaw Al Milnar's third in four decisions.

Mr. Ryba, so versatile that he's frequently called a "one-man team," and all eight of his mates couldn't prevent the quartet of extra-base blows which gave the league leaders the two-game series.

Roy Weatherly opened the Indians' first with a double and scored on Ken Keltner's triple. Lou Boudreau walked and Keltner tallied on Hal Trosky's fly. With the count three and two, Jeff Heath then lined his fourth home run of the season over the exit gate in League Park's right-center field. Ray Mack's triple later in the inning was wasted.

Ryba settled down and pitched four hitless innings and his two successors permitted no runs but the damage was done.

Lubbock And Pampa Scheduled To Play Two Here Today

Double Bill To Start At 2:30 If No More Rain

One takes the weather into his own hands when one announces that a baseball game is to be played in the West Texas-New Mexico league these days, but IF there is no more rainfall, and IF the sun shines and the breezes blow sufficiently to dry off the playing field surfaces, there'll be about four doubleheaders in the league this afternoon.

Of particular interest to this vicinity is the scheduled doubleheader at Hubber Park between ers. These teams were scheduled to start their series here Friday afternoon, but for two days the entire schedule for the league has been flooded out.

Lubbock and Pampa, with Steve Saka pitching for Lubbock and Monty Montgomery for Pampa, in the opener, are scheduled to begin the warfare here at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Doubleheaders Everywhere

Manager Charlie Engle and Business Manager Johnny Gilchrist inspected the playing field late yesterday and said that if no more rain fell it would be possible to play the scheduled game today. The field was wet behind second base, but it was believed the water could be drained off without injury to the playing surface. The grass-covered field that the Lubbock park boasts is practically immune to moisture, once the moisture stops falling. It's a well-drained piece of real estate.

Pitchers for the second game were not certified, although it was believed that Donald Spyker would try for the Hubbers and one Howard for the Oilers.

Neither team has played since Thursday, and the players should be rested, although a bit rusty the Hubbers and the Pampa Oil-from lack of practice.

Doubleheaders were scheduled all over the league. Amarillo and Lamesa are to play two games at the Lamesa park, barring further rainfall, starting at 2:30 o'clock. The same holds true with Clovis at Big Spring and Borger at Wichita Falls. Rain and high water have conspired to wash out the entire league to such an extent that the schedule is some two-dozen games in arrears, which foretells a lot of doubleheaders in the future.

Wobszal Still In Hospital

The Lubbock management announced yesterday that Stanley Spolar, young righthanded pitcher, had been optioned to Rayne, La., of the Evangeline league, thus cutting the Lubbock roster down to the required limit. Spolar had not started a game for Lubbock, although he had appeared as a relief hurler in one.

Ralph Wobszal, large left fielder, continued to anguish in a hospital yesterday. He was being treated for an infection evolving

Rice Owls Stop TCU, 8-1, For 4th In Row

HOUSTON, May 3. (AP)—Coach Cecil Grigg's Rice Owls got five hit pitching from Bill Telschow here today to defeat the T. C. U. Horned Frogs 8-1 and chalk up their fourth straight Southwest conference triumph.

Telschow walked nine men but tightened up in the clutches to leave 14 Frogs stranded on the bases. The Owls collected nine hits off Brumbaugh, Frank Carswell's triple with the bases filled being the most potent of the day.

Rice plays S. M. U. here Monday afternoon.

Schoolboy Cage League Shuffled

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, May 3. — Division of Texas' 1,000 high school basketball teams into three leagues based on scholastic population, with a state championship offered in each, was announced tonight by R. J. Kidd, athletic director of the Texas Interscholastic league.

The league executive committee made the decision.

Starting next year, 106 Class AA teams, 291 Class A teams, and 721 Class B teams will compete for the three state titles. Only one championship is awarded now, and schools of all sizes are grouped together in basketball although they are divided by populations for football.

Regional Champs To Austin

Kidd predicted that the "streamlining" will give a better chance to small schools, although the state tournament in the past has seen many winning "country-school" teams.

Next March 5-7, teams from 24 schools, eight in each class, will enter the triple-championship tournament. Class A and B schools will have district and regional eliminations, and the eight regional champions will come to Austin.

In the 16 Class AA districts, the bi-district winners will be advanced to the state tournament.

Service Golfers May Enter Open

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—The United States Golf association said today it would consider application for exemption from sectional qualifying rounds for the 1941 National Open from any golfer now in the nation's armed services provided four conditions are met.

The conditions are that (1) the applicant must have qualified for the final day's play in the Opens of 1939 or 1940; (2) must submit with his application for exemption a full statement of his golfing record for the last two years; (3) must submit a letter from his commanding officer stating that he would be allowed time to compete in the Open; (4) must have his entry and the statements on his record and of his commanding officer in the U. S. G. A.'s hands by 5 p. m. Tuesday, May 13.

The association reserves the right to accept or reject any such application at its discretion. The Open will be played at Fort Worth June 5, 6 and 7.

Ace Parker Breaks Ankle In Ball Game

ASHEVILLE, N. C., May 3. (AP)—Clarence (Ace) Parker, backfield star of the Brooklyn Dodgers professional football team, broke his right ankle in a baseball game here today between the Asheville and Portsmouth teams of the Piedmont league.

Parker, left fielder of the Portsmouth club, snapped the ankle sliding into second base in the third inning.

Dallas Lad Captures Schoolboy Golf Title

DALLAS, May 3. (AP) — Billy Hightower, city champion from Arlington, annexed the Texas high school golf championship today, besting Bobby Davidson, of Sweetwater, 8-7 over long Cedar Crest Country club course.

PAR-agraphs

By Charles Akey

REUBEN ALBAUGH, the golf equipment salesman who in his spare moments runs the Texas Open in San Antonio and is tournament manager for the coming National Open in Fort Worth, was a visitor in Lubbock Wednesday. Reuben reports that the plans for the handling of the large gallery expected at the Open, have been completed.

The plans assure the spectator every opportunity of seeing the play with the least possible trouble, and at the same time assure the players that they won't have a couple of fans mixed up in their backstroke. Some galleryites like to get close enough to be able to read the number on a player's club during his backstroke, and Reuben has worked out a system that should be foolproof.

There will be two sets of gallery rangers on each hole, one located down the fairway about where the drives will stop and the other near the green. After the players have hit their tee shots the first group will move onto the fairway with their ropes and hold the spectators well away from the players.

After the second shots are played, the first group will drop their ropes and move back to the side of the fairway to await the following players. The gallery will then walk on to where the second group has set up its ropes around the green. The rangers will spread the gallery over the fairways in a large semi-circle around the play, which will give more people an opportunity for ringside seats near the ropes.

It looks like the best procedure yet devised for the interest of everyone concerned, and while you won't have the opportunity of getting close enough to a player to put your hand in his pocket, neither will you have to try to see over someone who has. Reuben has had a lot of experience in the handling of tournaments, and his setup for the Open shows that he has given the matter a great deal of study.

You can go to Fort Worth in June assured that you will be able to see the play.

E. J. "Pappy" Parsons came in a few days ago bragging that he beat a certain Lubbock barrister 8 up in 9 holes. The barrister offered several alibis for his bad golf, but never did admit the lacing claimed by Parsons. You will have to see "Pappy" if you want to know his name; he prohibited our printing it.

The Ladies golf league, which was scheduled to meet in Big Spring Saturday for the second in a series of matches, was called off because of the rain. The Big Spring ladies advised that the play will be held at an early date, probably next Saturday, but are waiting for a change in the weather before making the date definite. The league has great possibilities, and Lubbock ladies should get into the swing of it and bring home the prizes.

The story about "Pappy" Parsons reminds your reporter of a series of incidents concerning another Jack Parsons, which is one of the strangest happenings that we ever witnessed.

The incident happened at the Glen Garden club in Fort Worth when we were a small spriggin carrying clubs for the members. Although it is a true story, we won't hold it against you if you are a little doubtful. Listen . . .

The pro, Claude Whalen, was starting a round with a minister who played at the club when this Mr. Parsons arrived at the tee and asked to play with the pro and his companion. The pro, knowing the magnificent and colorful vocabulary possessed by Mr. Parsons, and his club breaking ability (he could beat Lofton Burnett and Cliff Dean on their good days) was very careful to introduce the minister as the "Reverend."

The tee shots were played, and the golfers progressed to their second shots. When Mr. Parsons reached the top of his backstroke, a mule in the pasture behind the No. 1 green let go with an ear-splitting hee-haw, which upset Mr. Parsons so badly that he barely touched the ball, rolling it down the fairway some thirty yards short of the green.

When it came his time to play again Parsons stood over the ball for some time waiting for the mule to sing, but the mule waited until Parsons was again at the top of his backstroke. This shot went to the left and into a trap, from which Parsons extracted it without incident.

But when Parsons got up to putt and the mule started all over again, he could stand it no longer. He broke the putter over his knee and started for the clubhouse, saying, "Excuse me, gentlemen. I have to make a telephone call."...

League May Skip Spring Football

AUSTIN, May 3. (AP)—A movement to abolish spring football gained momentum today as representatives of member schools of the Texas Interscholastic league gathered for the annual breakfast.

The purpose would be to devote more time to regular spring sports and possibly add golf, swimming and baseball to the program.

A spirited fight was carried against such a move by P. E. Shotwell, veteran coach at Longview High school. Finally, however, a motion was passed that it be recommended to the advisory committee of the league for study.

Opponents of the plan did get an amendment inserted making possible a referendum by divisions, meaning Class AA, Class A and Class B schools will vote separately.

The motion specified that the advisory committee consider a referendum on doing away with spring football but adding a few more days onto the training period in the fall.

Yale Would Give The Game Back To Boys If Rivals Willing

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 3. — (AP)—If an opponent can be found to agree to it, Yale is going to give football back to the boys who play it for at least one game next fall.

Ogden Miller, the university's athletic director, made that announcement today in response to growing alumni demand for abolition of sideline strategy by paid coaches.

"I'm willing to give it a try," said Miller. But he emphasized that the move will be an experiment pure and simple and will depend upon co-operation by one of the Elis' gridiron rivals—who include Virginia, Pennsylvania, Army, Dartmouth, Brown, Cornell, Princeton and Harvard.

Coach Is Willing

Miller admitted, however, that if the plan proved successful and made for better and livelier games (Yale won only one out of eight least season) the experiment might be extended to other sports.

The "give the game back to the boys" school of thought, as represented by letters in recent issues of the Yale alumni magazine, has been growing. Its spokesmen want all coaches to withdraw to the stands as soon as games start—and stay there.

In general, what these alumni want is to put all responsibility for play in the hands of the team captains.

Aggies Subdue SMU In Close Game, 2-1

COLLEGE STATION, May 3. (AP)—A Texas leaguer single by Ballow followed by Bill Buchanan's crashing drive over the left field wall gave the Texas Aggies enough runs today to defeat Southern Methodist 2 to 1.

But the Mustangs were bitter-enders. They scored their lone tally in the ninth and had enough additional ducks on the pond to win. A right field foul line circus catch by Marland Jeffrey and a final splurge of pressure by Moundsman Roy Peden throttled the Methods.

Yank Power Scuttles Chisox In 13th, 6-5

CHICAGO, May 3. (AP) — The New York Yankees had to hit two extra-inning home runs to down the White Sox, 6 to 5, today, Buddy Rosar's fourbagger to lead off the 13th finally settling the issue.

The Yanks had looked like winners three innings before, when Rolfe and DiMaggio got on base and Flash Gordon promptly brought them in with his fifth circuit blow of the season. But in their half the Sox got those three back.

Steve Lobue Carries Jeff Davis Of Houston To State Track And Field Title

Seminole Youth Ties For First In High Jump

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUSTIN, May 3. — Iron-muscled Steve Lobue, mighty man of the Jeff Davis (Houston) Panthers, won the Texas schoolboy track and field championship here today—with a little help from three other fellows in the closing event of a thrill-filled meet.

Lobue, 160-pound football star, scored 10 3-4 points as Jeff Davis staged a startling upset to bag the title over a highly-favored Sunset (Dallas) team that finished in a tie for fifth place.

Another one-man team, Henry Adame of Kingsville, had his school in the running until the last event—the mile relay. Adame had won both dashes and might have won again if he could have had three others to run with him.

Highland Park Fades

Lobue was more fortunate. Anchor on the Davis baton crew, he was leading until the stretch when out of the turn shot driving Larry Wolf of Highland Park (Dallas). Running a 48.4 seconds quarter, Wolf passed Lobue and led him to the tape by four yards. But second place in the relay was good for three points to give Davis a total of 13 and the title.

Adame's Kingsville finished second with 10 points and Highland Park was third with nine.

Highland Park—had Wolf lived up to expectations in the quarter-mile—would have won the meet because Bill Hannum, the pole vaulter, tied for first.

A victory in the quarter would have given Highland Park 14 points and the championship.

Shot Record Falls

But Wolf, fading badly at the finish, was jammed between two runners as they raced neck-and-neck in second place, and Carlos Salinas of Laredo fouled the Highland Park star, jostling against Wolf and knocking him flat on the track but seven yards from the finish. However, even if Wolf had not been fouled he would have finished no higher than third. Salinas finished second but was ruled out because of the foul.

Conroe, Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio), Adamson (Dallas) and Carrizo Springs tied for fourth, each with seven points, while Goose Creek and Woodsboro tied Sunset for fifth; each making six points.

One state record was bettered and one national mark equalled. H. B. Pendleton, jr., of Woodsboro hurled the shot 54 feet 3-8 inch to better the record of 53 feet 8½ inches, set in 1936, by Monte Earwood of Rock Springs.

National Mark Tied

Sunset failed to come through but did produce the outstanding mark of the day when Bill Hamman, blond hurdler, ran the 200-yard low hurdles in 22.1 to equal the national scholastic record set by Pollum of Topeka, Kans., in 1938.

Woodrow Wilson (Dallas), Longview and Brackenridge (San Antonio), tied for sixth place with 5 points each. Other schools scored as follows:

Seminole 4, Reagan (Houston) 4, Smiley, 4, Laredo 3½, Port Arthur 3½, Port Neches 3, Iraan 3, Freer 3, Wharton 3, McKinney 3, Amarillo 2, White Oak 2, Baird 2, Doole 2, Uvalde 2, Palestine 2, Farwell 2, Robert Lee 2, Austin 1, El Campo 1, Gaston 1, Livingston 1, Tomball 1, Weatherford 1, Pittsburg 1, Brady ½, Marfa ½.

Lobue, in track for his third season, still has another year to compete but it's the last for Adame.

Aubrey Vaughn, Laredo's highly-rated broad jumper, finished second to Lobue, whose 22 feet 8¼ inches was three inches back of Vaughn's best jump for the season.

The boy who was expected to break a record failed. Little Jerry Thompson, Woodrow Wilson's picture runner who had previously bettered the state mile mark, was first here today but his time was 4:35.3, more than four seconds over the record.

Bill Roark of Seminole and J. B. Patteson of Smiley tied for first place in the high jump at 6 feet, 3 inches, only one-fourth of an inch below the state record.

Among those placing in the finals were:

Tharpe of Amarillo, fourth in 100-yard dash; Vaughn of Laredo, fourth in 220-yard low hurdles; Vaughn of Laredo and Andrus of Port Arthur tied for second at 22 feet 4 inches in broad jump; Tharpe of Amarillo, fourth in 220-yard dash.

BOSTON, May 3. (AP)—The Boston Braves uncorked a three-run seventh inning rally today to give Jim Tobin his first victory of the season, 3-2, in a tight pitching duel with Paul Derringer of the Cincinnati Reds.

The champions scored a brace of tallies in the third.

Corpus Christi Teams Corner Tennis Honors

AUSTIN, May 3. (AP)—For the third successive year, Corpus Christi today won the Interscholastic league title in boys' tennis doubles.

Frank Whaley and Gordon Best of Corpus Christi downed Browne Baker and Perry Menking of Lamar, Houston, 6-2, 6-2, 7-5.

Corpus Christi also won the title in girls' doubles, Alma Lee Sissom and Rosemary Walker defeating Helene McCarther and Gloria Levy of Ball, Galveston, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.

It was the first time since 1914 when the competition started that a high school has taken the third successive title in boys doubles to retain the cup.

Richard Elliott of Trinity defeated Jack Urlrich of Thomas Jefferson, San Antonio, 6-0, 8-6, 6-1, to take the title in the boys' tennis singles.

In the girls' singles, Shelby Frizzell of Austin won the title by defeating Mary Jane Bullington of Paschal, Fort Worth, 8-6, 6-3.

Billy Bob Coffey And Bobby Riegel Meet For Texas Golf Association Championship

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
Associated Press Sports Writer

BEAUMONT, May 3.—Through a day of shot-making seldom equalled in the tournament's history, Billy Bob Coffey, the champion, and Bobby Riegel, a former titleholder, emerged into the finals of the Texas Golf association tourney today.

Riegel started the fireworks in his match with Jack Tinnin, Houston insurance agent who won the medal. Riegel won 2 and 1.

Iverson Martin of Fort Worth fell before Coffey in the semi-finals, 2 and 1, despite some sensational shooting.

Riegel, also a Houston insurance man, was two under par for the day's play. In the morning, he eliminated veteran Horace Young of Houston, 6 and 5, ending the match with three straight birdies and a coasting bogey.

Coffey had a shaky experience in the morning with 15-year-old Tyrrell Garth, jr., home course player competing in his first state tournament.

The slight, black-haired youngster had Coffey one down through No. 16, but Coffey flashed two straight birdies, sinking putts of 10 and 18 feet, to pull out the match, 1 up.

Riegel, who won the championship three years ago, and Coffey will play a 36-hole match tomorrow for the title.

Martin entered the semi-finals by defeating Ed Anderson of Houston 5 and 3. Tinnin disposed of Kyle Alford, Beaumont municipal champion in the morning, in 19 holes.

Tigers Sweep Series With Athletics, 4-3

DETROIT, May 3. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers' star rescue man, big Al Benton, did his job again today to safeguard a victory over the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 3, and give the home club a sweep of the two-game series.

Taking over with young Hal Newhouser in a jam in the eighth, Benton befuddled the A's with his sinker ball to hold the Philadelphia rally to two runs. It was Detroit's fourth victory in five games.

Boom For Baseball Predicted

(By The Associated Press)

ENID, Okla., May 3 — A great revival of the national sport was predicted tonight by Ray Dumont, semi-pro booster, as a result of the baseball activity in army camps over the country.

Here for the premier tomorrow of the 1941 season of National Semi-Pro congress, of which he is president, Dumont said:

"Many of the boys who would never have played baseball in their home city will get their chance in the army camps. When they return home, they will still want to play baseball, then, watch more teams than ever spring up!"

Unusual Noises Upset Body's Normal Health

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., May 3. (U.P.) — Unnecessary horn-blowing, riveting and similar sudden and unexpected noises may do serious harm to the human body's nervous system, Dr. R. K. Bernhard, head of the department of engineering at Pennsylvania State college, believes.

Dr. Bernhard, who has just published studies measuring the effect of sounds and vibration on both inanimate structures and human behavior, said that "there are definite limits to the amounts of noise and tremors the body can bear."

He said that noise alone can never destroy a building, but it can harm the human body seriously.

The body can adapt itself to a certain extent to constant noise or to regularly repeated mechanical vibrations, he said, but it may be "definitely damaged" by sudden, unexpected sounds, by tremors, or by the combination of noise and mechanical vibrations.

Explaining the difficulty of devising instruments to measure the effects of noise on human beings, Dr. Bernhard recommended that medical doctors and psychologists co-operate with engineers in solving noise and tremor problems.

BILL DEAN'S COLUMN

ONE trouble with ladies' day . . . It was the last of the ninth inning and the score was tied. The bases were full and there were three balls and two strikes on the batter. The fans were sitting grimly in their seats waiting for the next pitch. The atmosphere was charged with tension as the pitcher toed the rubber and took his signal from the catcher. He hitched his belt and looked carefully at the bases. Just then the sweet young thing in the next box, having finished her make-up, turned to her nail-chewing escort and said, "George, doesn't Mabel look terrible in that green dress."...

—B—D—

A FEW months ago I read a story in "Reader's digest" about a man in a New England town who had organized a blood donors club. The idea was to have on file a list of names of volunteers whose blood had been typed. When an emergency required a blood transfusion, one or more of the members having the proper blood type were called. No charge was made for the blood thus furnished by these club members. The club was operated on a non-profit, humanitarian basis.

—B—D—

ASIDE from the help to people unable to pay for a blood donation, the saving in time during an emergency would be well worth while. The story went on to say that, in spite of numerous obstacles and some objection on the part of the local medical fraternity, the blood donors club had been a singular success, and numbered among its members some of the most prominent people in town.

—B—D—

THE thought strikes me that a movement of this sort would be a worthy undertaking for some local group. Much time and effort have been spent on far less worthy plans. I would be happy to use this space to aid such a project.

—B—D—

THERE is a strong feeling among informed persons that the present year will see a serious shortage of rubber for private use. In fact, it would not be surprising if we had Federal supervision of tire manufacture and distribution. There are also whispers to the effect that manufacturers will be compelled to use a lot of reclaimed rubber for tires. All this makes it unlikely that you will be able to buy tires, six months hence, of the present quality and, certainly not, at the present low prices.

—B—D—

THE Pennsylvania Co has supplied the government with a lot of its requirements in the past. The quality of this product has never been questioned. The price is more than reasonable. If you want complete protection, road hazard guarantee and all, try PENNSYLVANIA TIRES next time. Payments will be arranged to suit you.

HITLER is not the first person who was ambitious to rule the world. The pages of history list many others who had similar dreams of power. One of these is still living, but he spends his time chopping wood. Yet he was once the great and mighty Kaiser of Germany. If there is a thought here, it might be a solace to you if you are discouraged about the future of democracy.

U.S. Sea Strength Steadily Grows, But "Two-Ocean Navy" Four Years Away

Shipyards Show Faster Output

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 3. — As American warships assume their peril-fraught roles of "interested bystanders" in the Battle of the Atlantic, the projected two-ocean U. S. navy is estimated here to be four years away from completion.

Though, thanks to appropriation bills passed prior to the present emergency, vessels steadily are being added to the U. S. fighting forces, it will be well into 1945 before this country can boast of the huge super-navy now deemed necessary for full protection of both coasts.

Nevertheless naval authorities are pleased by the way in which the shipyards are cutting construction time. Workmen in the U. S. navy yards as well as in yards owned by private concerns are driving steadily ahead as fast as the material is delivered.

A good sample is the 1,650-ton destroyer Edison, now in commission. This vessel was constructed in 10 months. Some years ago the regular period of construction was 31 months. This now has been slashed until the average is 15 months.

New Battleships Welcome

The two most welcome additions to the navy of course are the battleships North Carolina and Washington, the first completed since 1921. They both are 35,000-ton vessels. Their main armament is 16-inch guns, mounted in three turrets, three per turret. They also carry a battery of anti-aircraft and secondary broadside guns. They are propelled by turbines developing 115,000 horsepower from oil-fired boilers and giving a speed of 27 knots. Each is equipped to carry three planes.

A further report on the progress of the navy to date:

Keels of the battleships Alabama, Iowa and New Jersey were laid last year and of the Missouri and Wisconsin early in 1941. The big aircraft carrier Hornet was launched at Newport News, Va., last Dec. 14. In the latter part of 1940 keels were laid for the cruisers Atlanta, Juneau, San Diego, San Juan, Cleveland, Columbia, Montpelier and Denver.

Destroyers' Role Vital

Submarines launched in the latter part of 1940 were the Marlin, Grayback, Grenadier, Grampus, Gar, Grayling and Gudgeon. Keels were laid for the submarines Gato, Greenling, Grouper, Drum, Flying Fish, Silverside and Trigger.

Destroyers which were launched were the Meredith, Grayson, Monssen, Woolsey, Ludlow, Nicholson, Wilkes, Swanson and Ingraham. The Ericsson was completed and placed in commission. In addition, in 1940 keels were laid for nine more destroyers and already in 1941 keels have been laid for five.

Destroyers are expected to play particularly important parts in the navy's newly announced patrol of a broadened Atlantic "safety zone."

Best In World

Keels have been laid for nine coastal minesweepers. The repair ship Vulcan was launched last December, as was the submarine tender Fulton. In the latter part of 1940, six submarine chasers were launched and keels were laid for nine more. Keels were also laid for four seaplane tenders and one mine layer. In the latter part of 1940 one motor torpedo boat was commissioned, four were launched and keels were laid for seven more.

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, chairman of the Senate naval committee, has revealed that 17 more destroyers will be completed this year, 45 in 1942, 86 in 1943, 52 in 1944 and 5 in 1945, making a total of 204. This will be the strongest and biggest modern destroyer force in the world.

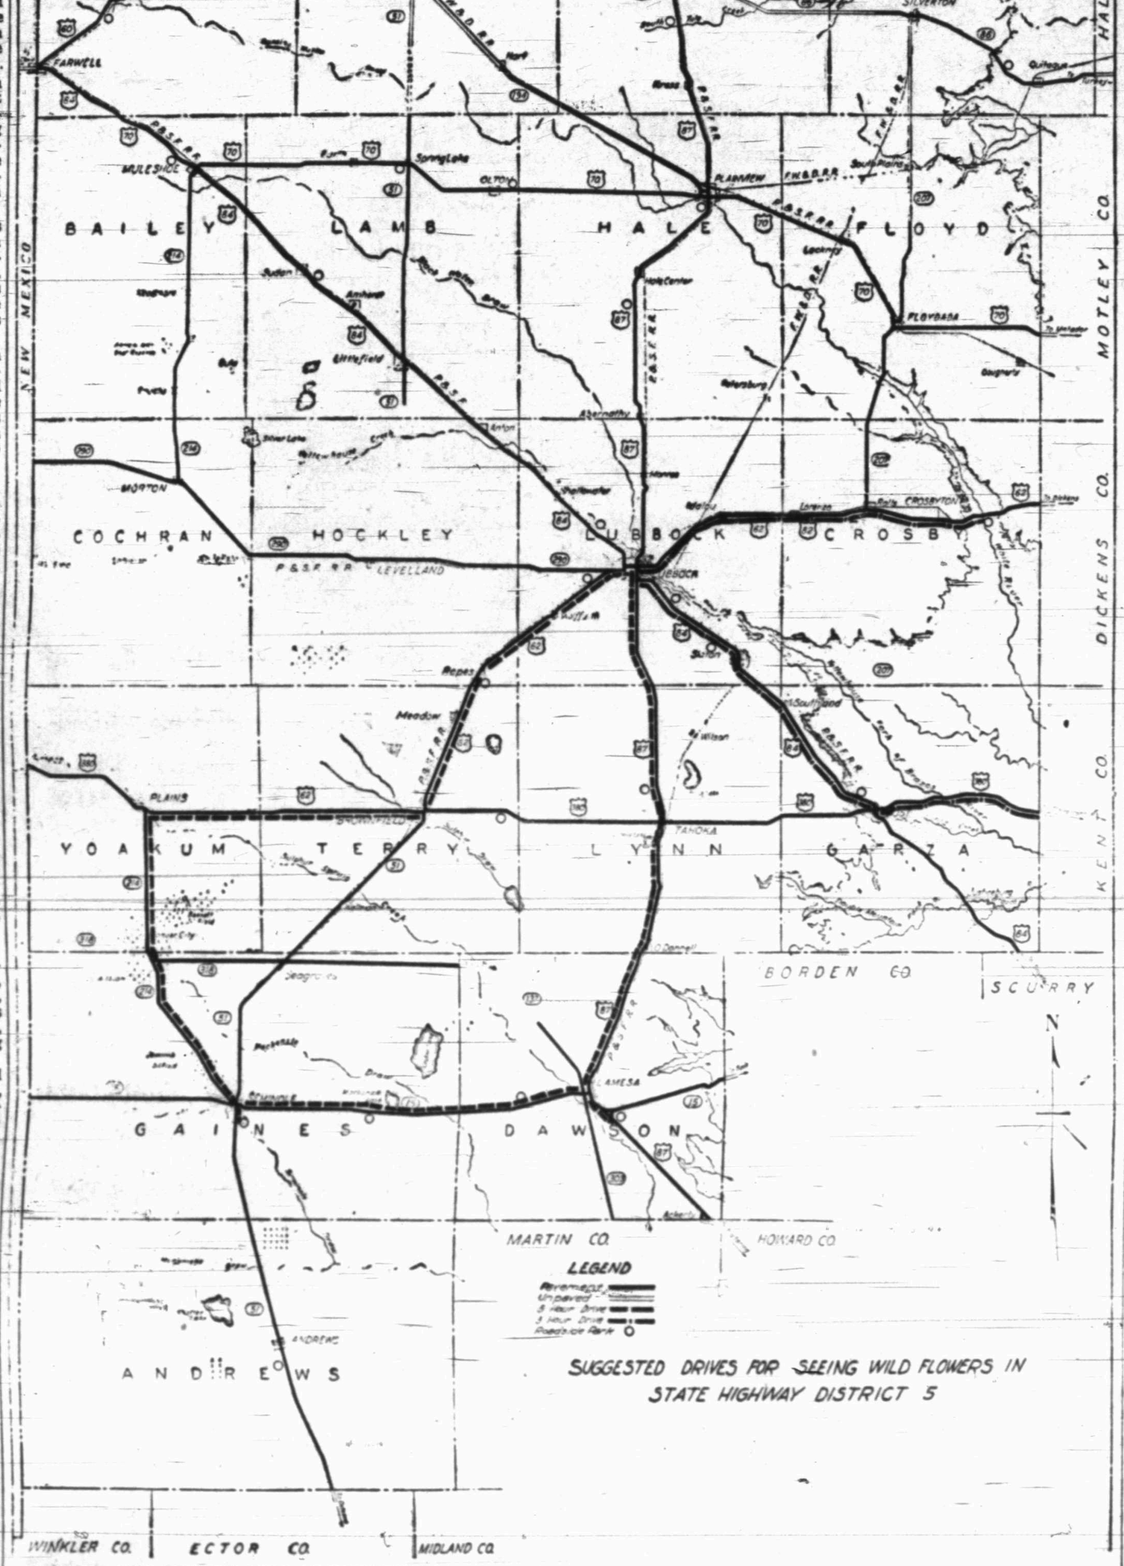

By the time these are completed the two ocean navy also is scheduled to be well on the way to the finish with completion of 17 battleships, 12 aircraft carriers, 14 heavy cruisers, 40 light cruisers and 80 submarines.

Small Craft Also Stressed

In the present European war Germany, for offensive purposes, and Great Britain, for defensive purposes, are both supposed to have built great numbers of small craft. The United States will not be far behind when the naval program of 1940 gets into full swing.

Among those for which contracts have already been let or will shortly be let are 36 165-foot submarine chasers, 30 110-foot submarine chasers, 24 torpedo boats, 18 165-foot mine sweepers, 32 fleet mine sweepers, 19 motor mine sweepers and 13 coastal mine sweepers.

The Germans are reported to have built a special type of small ship for a possible attempt to invade Great Britain. In this category, too, the United States navy will not be behind. $3,240,000 has been appropriated for 200 vessels known as "amphibian tractors." They are small vessels capable of going through deep water and of getting along in shallow water. They are designed particularly to carry and land marines on sea coasts. Contracts for these vessels were let last Feb. 17.

GET OUT AND SEE THE WILD FLOWERS TODAY—You probably haven't been out of Lubbock since last summer when you loaded the family in the car and drove at a breakneck speed to some distant resort for a brief vacation. Mother Nature has blessed the South Plains this spring and scenery over the area is the prettiest in years with a blanket of green dotted with more than two score varieties of wild flowers. Today they are to be in the best clothes and the Avalanche-Journal, through the courtesy of the State Highway department, has arranged three scenic drives for motorists over the area where the flowers are most bountiful. The heavy broken line shown on the map above is a five-hour trip and the two other trips, three hours each, to the east and southeast, are shown in the dash and dotted line. On the trip to the southwest, you may drive through the oil fields. Circles indicate roadside parks where benches and tables are provided for spreading picnic lunches should you desire to take them along.

First Annual School-Wide Spelling Bee To Be Staged; Prizes Will Be Awarded

With the antiquated ring of "C-o-n, con, s-t-a-n, stan, t-i, t-i, n-o-p-l-e, Constantinople, and E-, E, P-l-u, Plu, r-i, ri, b-u-s, bus, U-, U, r-u-m, E Pluribus Unum", Junior High school students entered the last rounds of preparation last week for the first annual school-wide spelling bee." Sponsored by a publisher of a standard dictionary, the contest is designed to reawaken the interest of students and adults in spelling.

Awards will be made in two divisions, sixth grade division and a combination of seventh and eighth grades. Sixth grade prizes will be copies of books, and in the seventh and eighth grade division the "best spellers" will be awarded medals.

Contests Are Popular

Preparation for the spelling bee has been made in the various English classes and in the activity periods on Thursday and Friday mornings. Competition between different rooms has been arranged during the preparation period and the contests have grown to be very popular with the students, resulting in a spelling conscious student body.

Preliminary eliminations have been made in the various rooms, and final and semi-final contests have been scheduled for May 9 and 12. The final "bee," to be held in the Junior high library, will be transmitted to all the rooms in the building by the public address system. Just as in the "Friday nite spellin' bee" that was the fore runner of these contests, the public is invited to attend the May 9 and 12 exercises.

Miss Dorothy Lomax, curriculum director for Junior and Senior High schools made arrangements for the contests, and Ray Hynds, Junior High school English teacher is in charge of all competition. Also serving on the committee arranging competition are Mrs. Carl M. Bailey, and Miss Ruby Atwood, Junior high teachers.

Ford Scion Awaits Call For Training

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., May 3. (AP) — Benson Ford, 21-year-old scion of the automobile family, today awaited a call to a year's military training.

The Macomb county draft board No. 2 placed the grandson of Henry Ford in class 1-A—available for immediate service—by a two to one vote.

The dissenting vote was cast by Charles N. Mc Naughton, uncle of Edith Mc Naughton, suburban Grosse Pointe farms debutante whose engagement to Ford, son of Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Co., was announced April 19.

Cleanup Campaign's Activities Rained Out

Most activities in connection with the opening of the city cleanup campaign scheduled Saturday were rained out, but several are planned Monday, according to Mrs. N. H. Holt, chairman of the cleanup campaign committee of the chamber of commerce.

Most important of the events planned Monday, Mrs. Holt said, will be the inspection of back yards and alleys by Boy Scouts who are to assemble at Junior High school at 3:15 p. m. The annual scout nail and junk pickup, originally scheduled Saturday, has been set for Wednesday afternoon.

Blanks are to be distributed to pupils in city schools Tuesday with the request that they be taken into homes for listings of activities there in connection with the cleanup drive.

Reminder also was given that, starting Monday, city trucks will be used to haul such things as tree cuttings, lawn trimmings and the like. That service is provided, it was explained, only during cleanup campaigns.

Lyndon Johnson Opens His Campaign For Senate Post

SAN MARCOS, May 3. (AP) — Opening his campaign for U. S. senator, New Deal Congressman Lyndon B. Johnson in a grim speech tonight questioned the right of labor or capital to strike in "this danger time" when the job of all is to save America.

The 32-year-old congressman from Central Texas who announced for senator after a conference with President Roosevelt declared "the government itself must prevent both capital and labor from taking advantage of the national need."

Friend Of Roosevelt

Johnson has been a close friend of Mr. Roosevelt since his election to the House of Representatives in 1937 to succeed the late Congressman James P. Buchanan of Brenham. In 1938 and 1940 he was returned to Congress without opposition.

"The time has come to say: Strikes must cease!". Johnson asserted, "and saying it, to mean also shut-downs of coal mines, manufacturers who will not make bombers for Britain, and every form of monkey-wrenching defense.

"Anything less spells France. Anything less spells death for England.

Issue Explained

"The issue is: No strikes in this danger time! There can be but one answer. Roosevelt, your leader in peace and war, or Henry Ford and the hundreds of little Fords who want to tell their government what to make, for whom, at how much profit, or John L. Lewis and the hundreds of little Lewises seeking things now at the price of production.

"The president will not let you down . . . Depend on the great heart of your leader, not on the hearts of men who say they lead you rightly, when they order you to lay down the very tools liberty must use to save itself."

Johnson, a member of the House naval affairs committee, said "Britain is mighty wobbly" because it started late, "dawdled, appeased, waited for something to turn up."

"We have adopted the policy England must not fall," he declared. "But it can't continue without arms and planes or resist forever the great dictator who will start after us the day he shakes that island lose."

Energetic, forceful, the young congressman said he was seeking election to the Senate "knowing there is a chance I may be your war senator."

Promises Made

But he made this promise:

"If the day ever comes when my vote must be cast to send your boy to the trenches, that day Lyndon Johnson will leave his Senate seat to go with him."

Touching on his experience in national affairs, he declared no other man in the Senate race "has that training and no other man can have it now. The time to train the firemen is before the fire breaks out."

Johnson said it was ridiculous to discount warnings that Germany muy use bases in Africa and the Azores as springboards for an attack on the United States and South America.

"Modern bombers can hop from the Azores to New York, from Africa to Brazil, in a few hours," he said. "Don't forget they ferry bombers to England over night).

Judgment For $10,000 Affirmed For Widow

FORT WORTH, May 3 (U.P.) — The second court of civil appeals today affirmed a $10,000 judgement awarded Mrs. Ethel Graves and daughter, Peggy Jean, in a suit that resulted from the slaying of Percy Graves in the Wichita Falls jail in 1934.

The defendants were former Sheriff Perry Browning, Deputy Sid Johnson, and the Public Indemnity Co., surety on the sheriff's bond.

Graves, a pipeline company employe, allegedly was killed by fellow prisoners after a "kangaroo trial" in the jail. He was blackjacked to death by a hi-jacker, the plaintiffs contended.

The Wichita district court held that Browning was negligent in placing Graves in the cell with the hi-jacker and allowing the criminal to keep a blackjack in his cell. Graves had been jailed on a charge of drunkenness.

Hughes Tool Company Workers Get Pay Hike

HOUSTON, May 3 (U.P.) — A $432,800 yearly wage increase for 3,200 hourly workers was announced today by the Hughes Tool company.

The firm's announcement said the increase was effective May 1 and that it was a raise of five cents an hour.

A spokesman said that the hike was "voluntary" as a company policy of paying "higher wages than other companies, and now that so many are raising their wages, we want to stay ahead of them."

MANY MEN IN CAMP

LEVELLAND—During the five months the selective service law has been in effect, Hockley county has sent 62 men to army camps, the draft board said.

Lubbockites Take Rain In Their Stride

By Tom Miller
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Lubbock continued to take the rainy weather in high good humor Saturday.

There have been unusual turns—the fact that this is one of the longest rainy spells on record is one. Another, in only three days this month there has been nearly as much rain as the whole of May in any of the last 30 years.

In some cases the rain made inroads into abilities of certain firms to perform regular service.

But "why so much rain" seemed to be the foremost question o fall who talked weather — and who didn't?

War Discounted

The consensus was that Lubbock is too far away from Greece and other war-stricken counties of Europe for wartime explosions to control the elements here. This observation, however, was advanced:

That 1915 was one of the rainlest years on record in this section, that year having followed opening of the World war some 12 months. This year is comparable close to opening of hostilities in the present conflict.

There was none to back up that theory.

One seemingly more plausible was that stored up moisture, in the form of snow in New Mexico and Colorado mountains, is responsible. Oldtimers say rainy weather in this area follows heavy winter snow to the west.

Usually Later

Steve Edsall, son of H. V. Edsall of 2108 Broadway, recently telephoned Dr. W. L. Baugh that he at the moment had been able to leave the mountains near Albuquerque, N. M., for the first time since last fall. It was the first winter he had been unable to ride horseback over the mountains at will, he added.

J. D. Caldwell, Lubbock pioneer, said rain had fallen long and hard several times but always later in the year.

"The Quakers at Estacado never started planting their crops until June when the rains started falling," he said.

Neither Caldwell nor the other oldtimers around the courthouse was able to say whether there had been a more sustained wet spell in this section.

Whatever causes the rain, there were those with headaches and those with smiles.

Raincoats In Demand

"I coulda sold a carload of overshoes!"

That was the lament of one Lubbock shoe sales manager and a co-worker in the clothing department countered:

"What about me? Don't you think raincoats would have sold in pairs, even dozens?"

Just odd lots of overshoes are left, most stores reported Saturday afternoon. Some of the stores sold rubber boots as substitutes for overshoes and galoshes when the latter played out.

"I could have sold hip boots if I'd had them," one salesman said. Most of the overshoes left, except in one store, were 11s and 12s, and the such.

One department store was fortunate to get a good order filled through a Dallas jobber. Business was good at that store during the week end.

Travel Slower

"When I came here three years ago there were more than 100 raincoats in the work clothes department but we liquidated them in a hurry. We could have used them this week."

That was the statement of another salesman, then he sgied:

"But who knows what will happen in this dry country?"

On the whole one would gather that all the stores could do with some raincoats and overshoes to meet the demand.

Taxicab operators and drivers had plenty of their stock in trade and collected in accordance.

Cabs were able to go to all parts of the city—washouts on College avenue and Thirty-fourth streets were well marked and drivers detoured around them.

"I suppose that business picked up less than it appeared to us," one operator said, "but drivers were traveling carefully and slowly. That made the calls seem to come thicker."

While a slaughter house, where it was rumored much meat would be stored, was being constructed in Peiping, China, 29 policemen guarded it against sabotage.

19-A—Poultry & Supplies

There's no doubt about it, the sow is the real center of hog profits. Feeders make or lose on what she gives in the litter. Sows need pig-building feed if they're to farrow big litters of heavy pigs—and Purina Sow and Pig Chow is built especially to go with grain to give sows what they need to produce big litters.

Come into the store and see us about Sow and Pig Chow. We'll show you records that prove it's a real-pork-making ration.

Camporees Are Set This Week

Approximately 300 Boy Scouts in Lubbock, Idalou and Abernathy are expected to take part in the annual central district camporee in Mackenzie state park Friday and Saturday, according to Cecil Schwalbe, chairman.

Northwestern district camporee at Littlefield and western district at Levelland are to be held the same day, scout officials announced at South Plains council headquarters here Saturday. The northwestern district camp will be for scouts in Littlefield, Muleshoe, Sudan and Amherst and western district for boys in Levelland, Sundown, Whiteface and Morton.

Public Is Invited

Lubbock district camporee will be set up east of the barbecue pits in Mackenzie park about 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon and will continue until after lunch Saturday, Schwalbe said.

The public is invited to inspect the camporee at any time, he announced, but a special invitation is extended to those interested to attend the campfire program Friday night at 8 o'clock. Included on the program will be Indian dances by members of troop No. — sponsored by Allen Bros. post the American Legion, and stunts by the following troops, which are listed with their sponsors: No. 4, First Presbyterian church; No. 5, First Christian church; No. 7, Asbury Methodist church; No. 9, First Baptist church; No. 10, Buffalo Springs; No. 17, American Business club; Nos. 18 and 19, Dunbar negro school; and No. 100, Optimist club.

Field Events Planned

Competitive inspections and field events are scheduled Saturday morning. Judges are to be members of Alpha Phi Omega, honorary service fraternity at Texas Technological college. Members of the Lubbock district executive committee are to provide the food for Saturday luncheon.

Members of the committee in charge of arrangements for the camporee are, in addition to Schwalbe, H. J. Bingham, Harmon Jenkins, Dr. E. L. Reed, K. N. Clapp, Paul B. Williams and Ralph Brock.

Jack O. Stone, council executive, announced that camporees in Brownfield and Floydada scheduled to have been held the past week end, have been set for May 23-24 instead of next Friday and Saturday as was erroneously announced. The Floydada camporee will be combined with that of eastern district and will be held in Matador.

Other events scheduled in the council during the coming week follow:

Locker Storage Plant On Large Scale Seen

AUSTIN, May 3. (U.P.)—Some day people will walk into a locker storage plant and pick up their Sunday roast beef just as handily as they now get mail from a post-office box, W. R. Woolrich, University of Texas engineering dean, predicts.

"A typical 300-locker refrigeration plant costs about $10,500 and rents between $10 and $15 a year per locker unit, including cost of operation," Dr. Woolrich said.

"Average locker users can store 200 to 500 pounds of food at an estimated saving on the family budget of $11 a year. The locker renter may make economical purchases of large quantities of perishable foods at favorable times."

RAILS LEAD GAINS

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP) — Behind a vanguard of strong rails which established numerous 1941 highs, the stock market moved ahead sufficiently today to neutralize losses incurred earlier in the week.

The best gains among the most active issues ran a little over a point, but steels generally failed to follow the upward lead and no great volume of buying developed.

The Associated Press average of 60 selected stocks gained .1 of a point at 39.4. Turnover was 197,750 shares compared with 196,000 last Saturday, the smallest short-session day since March 8.

The rails, and, with them, the shares representing railroad equipment manufacturers, got their big lift from a prediction by the Association of American Railroads that carrier traffic would reach a maximum in 1943 and that roads would need 270,000 additional cars to carry prospective loads.

Even outshining the rails in brilliant performance was cotton, which climbed actively on United States senatorial action favoring an increased loan scale to close $1.10 to $1.36 a bale higher than Friday.

Other commodities also advanced sharply.

New highs were established for the year by Nickel Plate Preferred, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, American Car and Foundry Preferred, Skelly Oil, Pure Oil and Socony. Other gainers included Savage Arms, Air Reduction, Douglas, Yellow Truck and du Pont.

The oils were aided by reports of increasing sales of gasoline at higher prices. Rails dominated the bond market.

Deadline Extended For Tenant Applications

Bad weather the past week caused the county tenant purchase committee of Farm Security administration to extend to Saturday the taking of applications for 1941-42 farm purchase program, John E. Key, rural rehabilitation supervisor, said Saturday.

Applications may be made to the committee up to Saturday noon. The office is on the second floor of the federal building. So far approximately 75 applications are on file. Five farms are to be bought this year.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 3 (AP)—Cotton for future delivery climbed sharply in the New York Cotton exchange again today, closing 22 to 27 points, or $1.10 to $1.35 a bale higher as legislative trends in Washington hinted a "better break" through higher price pegs for the grower.

Active demand was attributed to Senate agricultural committee approval of an 85 per cent parity loan for cotton. The Senate committee action followed House approval of a 75 per cent parity loan earlier in the week.

The present loan a farmer can get from the government against his crop averages 9.42 cents a pound. The House would hike this to 12.20 cents. The Senate would make the rate 13.80 cents.

Despite the sharply higher futures prices, hedge-selling did not attain any sizable proportions in today's market. Cotton satisfying demand of buyers came largely from "profit-taking" sales of nearby month contracts. Mills and speculative interests were principal purchasers.

Exports yesterday 271 bales, season so far 889,133. Port receipt 8,787. Port stocks 3,360,261.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, May 3 (AP) — The average price of middling 15-16ths-inch cotton today at ten designated southern spot markets was 26 points higher at 11.68 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 11.66 cents; middling 7-8ths-inch average 11.47 cents a pound.

Television Will Go Commercial July 1

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP) — Television had government permission today to go commercial July 1.

The federal communications commission announced yesterday that it had decided to permit the sale of television programs to sponsors after that date.

Its decision, the commission said, was based on general agreement in the television industry that the time had come for broadcasts by standard transmitters which standard sets could receive. During the experimental stage of television, it was explained, sets were keyed only to one station or group of stations.

Industry spokesmen had advised the commission that at least two of the big commercial broadcasting networks already transmitting television experimentally were ready to go on a commercial basis as soon as the order became effective.

However, television circles in New York indicated no definite plans would be made public for the time being. One official remarked that the defense program's priority claim on the radio industry's production capacity would be a complicating factor.

Dogs To Be Trained In Seagraves Area

SEAGRAVES, May 3. (Special) Francis Frazier of the Dewey English kennels of High Point, N. C., has arived in Seagraves with 20 bird dogs he will train here this summer.

"This undoubtedly is the finest training grounds anywhere for the hunting of prairie chickens," Frazier said. "The country is big and open enough, the climate is right, and you have the birds. It is possible that field trials will be staged here this year."

Frazier will confine his training activities to a ranch 10 miles east of here.

School Students Are Winning In Strike

FORNFELT, Mo., May 3 (AP) — The 130 Fornfelt high school students returned to class rooms — winners of a strike for reinstatement of Principal L. L. Schuette.

The pupils called their own recess and paraded around town for two days until the board of education called a special session yesterday and offered a new contract to the popular teacher.

From Lou To Louella

DEAR LOUELLA: Today is the birthday of James Pitts, Jayson Young and little Bill Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Foster, jr., of Brownfield. Wednesday, George Musick will celebrate his birthday and Thursday, George Weiss will celebrate his birthday. We also want to congratulate Mrs. Sam Henry who had a birthday last week.

Our sports editor, Collier Parris, had a birthday May 1. He was far from being the 47 years someone announced he was.

Bob Thurman, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Thurman, of Randolph Field, San Antonio, is visiting his parents this week-end. He is to be transferred to Mather Field, Calif., sometime this month.

Likes Army Life

From Camp Bowie at Brownwood comes a letter from Pvt. John S. Hatchett of the 141st infantry. He sends word to his former Tech friends that he is enjoying army life.

I would like to know: why a certain South Plains town doesn't take down the dead Christmas tree decorations from around the lamp posts; who the handsome rancher was I saw Emmagene Douglas with Thursday; what happened to the wedding plans of a sorority girl and an out-of-town man (her mother told me); if the beautiful Frances Mudge would wear a gold fraternity pin if it were presented to her; if Harold Thompson is happy about being elected president of the student council at Tech?

DOROTHY DELL WEST, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray West, has been invited for the past several years to dance at a school near Coleman.

Mrs. Fred Tinkle of Winters has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. George M. Garrett, and family.

Dr. J. T. Hutchinson certainly must be fond of chocolate milk shakes. I saw him drink two at one time the other night. They were those huge ones, too.

Helpful Husband

Garden note: A young couple were starting their first garden several days ago. The bride planted a row of morning glories, a row of snapdragons and a row of pansies. Her young husband, wanting to be helpful, was washing the windows just above the flower bed. He used so much water that he washed the flower seeds up. Now the couple think that probably the pansies will be growing next to the wall and the morning glory vine will be running all over the driveway. (They had better luck with their radishes and onions though.)

Mrs. R. E. Fry of Floydada is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Holt Waldrep and Mr. Waldrep, this week.

Lubbockites are proud of Harriett Jarrett. She was selected junior beauty at Texas State college for Women. And incidentally, she is wearing a diamond ring on the third finger, left hand.

THIS is National Music week and you should attend at least one of the programs being given. The Allegro club is to have a radio program tonight at 7:15 o'clock. Wednesday there is to be a program honoring American composers and Friday night the famous "Nutcracker Suite" is to be given at Senior High school auditorium.

This afternoon the choir of St. John's Methodist church is presenting a public program at 4:30 o'clock at their church.

The announcement of the engagement of Rex Webster and Madge Malone verifies a prediction I had Jan. 1, 1939, mind you, which was cause for much haughtiness and complaint on Mr. Webster's part. He didn't complain to me either but to someone who does not write this column.

Oil Shortage Is Nearly 'Critical'

By JAMES J. DOWNING
United Press Staff Correspondent

TULSA, May 3—The current crude oil shortage is rapidly nearing the "critical" stage, usually well-informed quarters said today.

One observer said Oklahoma was "near the end of its rope" in supplying demand and that other states were having difficulties.

"Oklahoma took six fields off proration in April and 13 more off today," he said. "Many fields have difficulty in coming up to their allowables."

More Price Raises Seen

A concensus of observers indicated that the industry expects another general move to raise crude oil prices. Although most forecasters expected the increase to be five cents a barrel, many said this would not be enough. They said hikes up to 20 cents more would be absorbed without difficulty.

"There is no doubt that the Mid-continent area is out of line right now," a spokesman said.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines said crude oil production during May probably would hold around 3,800,000 barrels a day, however, the bureau also said that gasoline demand during the same period would be 3,790,000 barrels—only about 10,000 barrels less than the crude production figure.

Petroleum Output Lower

Since less than half a barrel of gasoline can be manufactured from a barrel of crude oil by standard methods, obviously crude production will be far too low to supply gasoline demand. Much of the market supply of motor fuels will have to be taken from the industry's dwindling storage supplies.

Petroleum output this year has been below last year, but gasoline demand as of the week of April 26 was nearly 15 per cent greater than a year ago.

The industry does not have as much gasoline in storage from which to draw as it customarily does. Total stocks last week reached 96,647,000 barrels, but nearly 7,000,000 barrels of that was aviation gasoline.

Last year at this time, gasoline inventories totaled about 98,000,000 barrels, of which only a negligible amount was aviation gas.

Grain Dealers To Gather In City

For the first time in their history Texas and Panhandle Grain Dealers association will meet in joint sessions at Lubbock hotel Friday and Saturday, H. B. Hankins, president of Lubbock Grain Exchange and chairman of the program committee for the event, announced Saturday afternoon.

Ray Bowden of Washington, D. C., executive vice president of the National Grain Dealers association, will be principal speaker at the sessions. His subject has not been announced.

Sessions Open Friday

Business sessions will begin at 10 o'clock Friday and Saturday mornings. T. E. Melcher of El Campo, president of the Texas association, will preside Friday and J. A. Pitman, of Hereford, president of the Panhandle association, will preside Saturday.

A banquet and dance will be held Friday night at Lubbock hotel. The wives will be guests at a luncheon Saturday noon at Hilton hotel. Sandy Sanderson and his orchestra will play at both occasions.

Business meetings will be held in the east ballroom of Lubbock hotel.

First Panhandle Meeting Here

S. E. Cone of Lubbock is a past president of the Texas association and Hankins is past president of the Panhandle group. This will be the first Panhandle meeting held outside of Amarillo and the first state meeting held west of Mineral Wells.

George Roach, J. H. Williams and Herbert Stubbs are members of the entertainment committee and Hankins, Walker Stanton and Clyde Tatum comprise the program committee.

Formula For Hawkins Field Gets Change

AUSTIN, May 3 (U.P.)—A change in the oil allocation formula for the Hawkins oil field was issued today by the Texas Railroad Commission to be effective May 15.

Commissioner Jerry Sadler said the new order carries out the understanding reached at the hearing here on April 28.

Under it a well on a small tract will receive not less than half the allowance for a large tract.

ARMY DOCTOR MOVES

PLAINVIEW—Dr. C. D. Wofford, long a practicing physician here and a first lieutenant in the army medical corps, has been transferred to Carlisle, Pa., where he will attend school for six weeks. He visited here en route to Canyon to see his mother, Mrs. Ann Wofford. The officer formerly was at Camp Bowie, Brownwood.

Mann Boosters Are To Gather Tuesday

Permanent organization of a Jerry Mann-For-United States Senate club will be perfected at a meeting in 72nd district courtroom in the courthouse Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, according to reminder given Saturday by Hugh Anderson, local attorney who is temporary chairman.

One of the matters to be discussed, Anderson revealed, will be preliminary preparations for a gigantic Lubbock county rally at which Mann will be the speaker sometime during the campaign preceding the special senatorial election June 28.

He extended an invitation to every person in the county interested in issues of the senate campaign to be present at the meeting Tuesday night. He has been advised, he said, that delegations from Post, Spur and perhaps several other towns will be present.

Amending Campaign Cost Law Hinted

AUSTIN, May 3 (AP)—Announcing a Senate committee investigating political campaign expenditures might undertake amending the law, Chairman Joe Hill of Henderson said today reports from radio stations indicated some instances of illegal expenditures.

"Reports to the committee from 40 radio stations," Hill declared, "indicate that vast sums of money were expended in excess of the legal limit in the last political campaign. In the governor's race, sworn answers to questionnaires indicated the law was ignored if not directly violated."

As An Expert Sees It—

Behind War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Assuming that Hitler will waste no time in seeking to exploit his Balkan victories, conjecture as to where he will strike next against Britain runs a wide gamut.

There is little yet of a definite nature yet there is growing belief both in London and in Washington that England itself will bear the brunt of new Nazi blows—this despite Nazi-Fascist diversions in the Mediterranean and Middle East.

Such a conclusion is suggested by American moves to extend sea patrol protection far into the Atlantic and to supplement quickly tonnage available for British war uses. Both London and Washington are increasingly apprehensive that a decisive shipping crisis in the Atlantic might come soon, months earlier than heretofore anticipated.

Prime Minister Churchill recently indicated to Parliament that he did not expect Britain's shipping problem to become critical before 1942.

Nothing Official

There have been no official statements from London on shipping losses since mid-April. None is due before Mid-May. However Berlin claims its air force, submarines and surface craft sank 1,211,000 tons of British merchant shipping space or space used by the British during April. Other sources tend to confirm some if not all German claims.

Rising uneasiness in London parliamentary circles over recent developments in the Atlantic is reported. It has induced a promise by Churchill lieutenants of an accounting, probably in connection with the government - demanded confidence vote test next week.

Escape from Greece of a far larger part of the imperial forces trapped there than could reasonably have been expected virtually assures an emphatic approval of Churchill's leadership. Cumulative bad news which may be coming on the shipping situation probably can be partially off-set, also, by reference to the American sea patrol and shipping pool measures.

A Rising Tempo

Those American moves, must have been dictated by Washington knowledge of actual or anticipated events not available to the public. It may be that this information led to the conclusion that, Nazi gestures eastward to the contrary, Hitler has signaled his forces to turn now on England for a death stroke.

There is a rising tempo to the Nazi attack on England by air and sea and a change in their pattern.

Of greater significance, however, is the British and American official view that it is only by smashing England that Hitler can win the war this year as he has promised, or any year.

Behind it lies the further indicated conclusion in both capitals that if England can survive until winter, her ultimate victory with American resources to back her is assured.

CAN THEY DO IT?

CLUB delegates attending the 20th annual spring convention of seventh district, T. F. W. C., in Amarillo last week adopted a resolution endorsing the bill introduced by Congressman Andrew J. May of Kentucky that provides for the curbing and elimination of liquor and vice in camp areas. They went the congressman one better by adding "this organization should like to have this bill include beer."

You probably would have laughed to have heard the discussion that followed a declaration by an Amarillo woman (don't know how old she was but her hair was quite white and her face very wrinkled) that she had been reliably informed that beer was not so bad, that it was good for one and had little more effect than a coke. Although she wanted her club sisters to know she never indulged, still she thought the boys should be permitted their beer if they wanted it.

At that statement, another woman arose and said it was ridiculous to assume that beer was no more intoxicating than a soft drink and that she was sure a barrel of beer would have quite a harmful effect on a person. And at that speaker number one got to her feet and brought laughs with her suggestion that a barrel of coke might not be so good for one if taken at one time.

Well the long and short of the matter was that the vote ended in a tie and Mrs. H. F. Godeke, who was presiding, refused the privilege of the chairman to break the tie so the proposed amendment was killed. She said later she did not want to take the responsibility that went with that vote.

When you think about it, the club women are undertaking a gigantic job when they try to eliminate beer from camp areas. And we know a certain young man who is serving his year as a draftee in a northern fort who is not going to want to exchange beer for pink lemonade. As we listened to the discussions we could not help but think of the words of Mrs. J. W. Walker, state Federation president, in her talk on presidents' evening: "As we work toward national defense, let's study community problems and help with the problems nearest at hand." Surely there is a more difficult problem at hand than whether or not a soldier drinks beer.

FINAL ADIEUS

THESE next few paragraphs will be the last concerning the convention which in many respects was the more remarkable in the history of the district and these statements came from women who have been going to district sessions for year. . . . We must get to work at once but be content with one step at a time seemed to be the keynote of the talks. Or, as was expressed in a card given as a favor at the high tea: "I do not ask, O Lord, that Thou shouldst shed full radiance here; Give but a ray of peace, that I may tread without a fear." . . . The 1935 Study club of Sudan which won recognition as an outstanding senior club, has organized or federated seven clubs in the last five years. The yearbook was selected for state competition with 39 other yearbooks from the eight districts. . . . Mrs. J. T. Whitmore of Snyder, past district president, was elected to life membership on the district board, sharing positions already held by Mrs. W. E. Davis of Childress and Mrs. J. A. Hill of Canyon. There were 12 women from Snyder, who traveled over 200 miles for the three day conference. Ten Spur women were there.

Possibly the program that will remain longest in the memory of the delegates and visitors was the outstanding presentation of the Kaufman-Hart play, "The American Way," presented by The Amarillo Little Theater directed by Oma Link Rowley, assisted by Lucian Upshaw. You could sense surges of patriotism all over the audiences as that impressive, wholesome drama got under way. Although the play is three years old it seems more timely now than when Fredric March first appeared in it on Broadway. We asked about the possibility of the play being brought here, but we were assured it would be too gigantic a task. There are 150 persons in the cast and about 19 changes of scenery as well as difficult lighting effects. And since we do not have curtain hangers who belong to a union, we are always afraid to invite too much to Lubbock.

The badges worn at the convention were made of cotton. . . . A painting of yuccas in bloom and the bluest sky imaginable, the work of Mrs. Vernetta Hutto, attracted a great deal of comment. It hung over a fireplace in the church parlor. And water colors done by Robert Lockard of the Tech faculty also brought praise from the women. . . . At the panel on the Americas — North and South — conducted by Mrs. William Dingus, Tech students and cousins, Doris Brotherson and James Wood who live in the Canal Zone, suggested a better understanding between these countries might be brought about if tourists treated the natives more like friends than foreigners. . . . Mrs. Godeke presided at the sessions with the poise and dignity that are Lubbock Child Study club, 3:15 p. m., meetings contributed to the causes for so many regrets.

This is the first time young Roberts has appeared in a public concert in Lubbock. Last fall he was presented in an invitation recital at the Hilton hotel by the Lubbock Music club.

The program, which included works by Beethoven, Chopin, Brahms, Debussy, Ravel and Guion was climaxed with the Rachmaninoff Concerto No. 2 in Minor which Marion played with the Dallas Symphony orchestra in December. His teacher, Miss Jeannette Tillett, head of the Fort Worth Conservatory of Music, was at the other piano.

Enjoy Modern Group

Although he is only 19 years old, the young artist plays with the dignity and assurance of a mature musician. His Chopin numbers were played with beauty and feeling that comes only when one has spent hours at the keyboard and his modern group awed younger members in the audience.

But it was the Concerto that revealed his brilliant and sure technique and which brought a loud "Bravo!" from young Edouard Blitz, who also is recognized as a musical genius. He returned to play Guion's "Scissors Grinder" as an encore.

Mrs. George N. Atkinson, club president, presented young Roberts to the audience. An informal reception was held in his honor at Mexican Inn after his concert.

Mrs. Gettys Tucker was chairman of ticket sales for the concert.

Marion left early Saturday for Fort Worth where he was to play that night. He will go to New York next week to get settled for the summer term at the Julliard School of Music and to continue preparation for the concert career of which he dreams.

Through the Shop Window

Well, one thing that the rain has done for Lubbock and West Texas besides the aid to the farmers and ranchers . . . it has changed the subject.

And what we need right now is a good changing of the subject. And to start things off . . . I would suggest a look to the improvement of your home in furniture . . . accessories . . . drapes and new slip covers for the summer.

I noticed something right funny last week . . . drove by the Decorators Studio at 1302 Ave. N, and they must have taken my little hint to heart . . . in reference to the house "on 13th behind all the trees" . . . as they are repainting and giving the exterior of the Studio a general going over.

After that—I just had to stop and apologize . . . but I found out they were planning on doing it all the time.

If you are interested in buying any goods that are still rolling out of Britain . . . the Decorator Studio has a plentiful supply and a visit will convince you that "Britain REALLY Delivers the Goods."

See you next week . . . "Nosey"!

Others attending were Mesdames J. A. Hood, I. E. Banks, C. H. Hudson, Roy Privett, Mary Diebel, Roche Newton and Minnie Pullen.

East Side Club Has Program On Shrubs

The East Side Home Demonstration club met with Mrs. A. J. Huckabee Friday afternoon for a program on "Along Nature's Trails." There are few native shrubs on the plains but there are many which will grow and do well if given an opportunity, according to the talks given.

The purple leaf plum, cenizo and the yucca plant, which is not a shrub, add to the beauty of the yard. Liataris is another that is suitable, and should be used in every home planting. Cat call is a pretty shrub and if kept away from stock will bloom all summer.

A party is to be given May 23 at Mackenzie State park to honor members who have birthdays this month.

Refreshments were served to Miss Tommie Gearhart, a guest, and the following members: Mesdames S. W. McGaw, A. H. Gearhart, Carl Hughes, L. W. Chance, R. B. Stalnaker, J. C. Hart, Ola Nordyke, Luther Green and C. R. Rogers. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Chance, May 16.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy . . . It helps keep the skin soft and pliable . . . thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin . . . for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use.

Mother's Friend

Warning Given Business Men

AUSTIN, May 3 (U.P.)—Texas business men were warned today by State Comptroller George Sheppard that they must begin at once to keep records that will be required for reports and tax payments under the state's new $22,087,500 tax law.

Forms now are being prepared for the required reports. Those on sales of cosmetics, radios and playing cards will be sent to each of the approximately 75,000 persons now paying store taxes.

Stamps To Be Printed

Stamps will have to be printed and be distributed to county clerks for collection of the tax of three cents on each transfer of stock. Instructions that records must be kept of all transactions are being mailed to every security dealer licensed by the secretary of state and to each county clerk.

The motor vehicle sales tax will be collected by county tax collectors when the vehicles are registered or title transferred. Triplicate receipts will be furnished to the county tax collectors as quickly as they can be printed, Sheppard said.

Gross receipts taxes that are made payable quarterly will be collected for a two-month period the first time—covering May and June transactions. This arrangement is being made so that the future reports and collections will correspond to the usual quarterly system. Reports are required monthly on oil, gas, carbon black and cement.

Details have not been worked out yet for application of the intangible tax to common carrier motor trucks and busses.

The increased tax will not be applicable on liquor until June 1 and the new tax of eight cents a gallon on Diesel engine fuel will also take effect June 1.

Story Is Told

The fanciful story of a little boy who fashioned King Nutcracker from the heart of a fir tree to reign over all living creatures who live in the forest is told in the songs and dances. Into his dance King Nutcracker calls all the gnomes, goblins, fairies and elves to participate in the revelry and pageantry of his court. The Russian peasant in her gay costume dances gives the Russian "Trepak" and there are two Arab dancers who give the slow movement of the Arabian ballet. Boraschein has woven into this number women's voices which Tschaikowsky originally gave to the various instruments of the orchestra.

The Chinese dancers appear in the court of King Nutcracker as the chorus tells the story of the courtship of a young Chinese maiden by an old Chinese man, Wu Fong. The fireflies, glowworms, frogs, crickets, moonmoths and nightbirds all join in the revelry of the court to be followed by the sprites, nymphs, elves, moonbeams and finally every flower which Spring Fay summons to determine which is the most beautiful and fragrant. The climax is seen in this brilliant ballet of color, dancers and singers who bring to a close one of the most entrancing suites in musical literature.

The proceeds are to benefit every P-TA organization in Lubbock. The suite is appropriately given on

Marital Case Ends In Two-Minute Divorce

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3. (U.P.)—The divorce of Mrs. Adelaide Harlan from Marion E. Harlan, advertising man, is believed to have established a speed record in local courts. In less than a minute, Mrs. Harlan testified her husband had precipitated their separation and was opposed to reconciliation. In one more minute, Superior Judge Deasy had approved a property settlement and granted the decree.

FUNNIEST thing that happened was during a session of the club reports. Those who know anything about federation departments are aware of the Penny Art fund which is reported on by each club from year to year. Well sir, at one of the sessions, just before everyone was too, too tired of the sameness of it all one dear little woman from a small town arose and said "We gave thus and so to the Penny ANTE fund."

Scatterings: This is the third straight year that brunettes have led in beauty selection at Texas State College for Women and the second time in three years that blondes have been banned altogether. Harriett Jarrett and one other of the six college beauties are "brownettes." The other four are dark-haired. . . . Nicest greeting we heard last week came early in the morning from Mrs. R. G. Porter: "I hope you have a happy day." . . . Lubbock is gaining a reputation as an art center. We may have an artists colony here some day. How about that Mr. Kleinschmidt? . . . Corded seersucker is one of the newest summer fabrics. . . . Shepherd checks are top notchers for summer suits and coats. They come in light weight materials, sharkskin, tropical rayons, gingham, chambray and shantung weave. . . . People who absent mindedly "dial" their new-faced phones while talking are giving the Lubbock operators a fit.

son county, Sept. 21, 1890, one of seven children of Mr. and Mrs. J. I., sr. Only one other member of the family is still living, a brother, R. A. Kilpatrick, Cleburne attorney.

Nosed Out Classmates

Kilpatrick's early schooling was in the Cleburne public schools. He graduated from Cleburne High school as highest ranking boy (there were two others in the class) and as a result received a scholarship to the University of Texas.

Shortage of funds prevented him from enrolling in the university that fall, 1908, and the next three years found him working on a farm, in the railroad shops at Cleburne and in a sawmill camp at Hartsburg, Newton county.

With $100 saved up, Kilpatrick entered the university in the fall of 1911 and in a short time had a job waiting on tables, cleaning house, etc., at the Faculty club. Later he worked at the University Co-Op store and later as a cotton statistician for the state department of agriculture.

Graduated In 1916

In the spring of 1916, Kilpatrick graduated from the university law school. He had decided to become a lawyer in his early teens after listening to various noted Cleburne jurists such as the late Judge Wm. Poindexter, W. F. Ramsey, M. M. Crane, S. C. Padelford and others as they practiced their profession in the Johnson county courthouse.

But war clouds hovered over the United States and we next find our young attorney enlisting in the aviation branch of the U. S. Army signal corps, what is now known as the air corps. Training for more than a year at the School of Military Aeronautics at Austin, Kilpatrick spent additional service as an observer-trainer at Post Field, Fort Sill, Camp Dick, Dallas and at Langley Field, near Old Point Comfort, Va. He rose to the rank of second lieutenant in the air corps before the war ended.

Married In 1919

Resigning his commission in January, 1919, Kilpatrick returned to his old home and hung up his shingle as attorney at law.

Nov. 26, 1919, he married his sweetheart of university days, Miss Mabel Bentley at Buda. They have three sons, J. I. Kilpatrick, III, sophomore in engineering at Texas Technological college; David, 16, senior in Lubbock High school and Thomas, 13, Junior High student. A fourth son, Bentley died at the age of 5 years several years ago.

After practicing law at Cleburne two years, he moved to Fort Worth where he spent a year, returning to Cleburne to join his younger brother, R. A. Kilpatrick, in the firm of Kilpatrick and Kilpatrick. That partnership continued until August, 1925, when the senior member of the firm moved to Lubbock.

Decided On Lubbock

Kilpatrick wanted to locate his family in a good town where his children could attend school and in looking for such a place, he visited Lubbock—a place he had been hearing about on numerous occasions.

"It looked like a paradise to me then as it does now," Kilpatrick said. "They had had plenty of rainfall here and everything was pretty and green. I decided Lubbock was to be my future home."

Kilpatrick came here in August, 1925, and two months later joined the late Roscoe Wilson and Jack M. Randal in the firm of Wilson and Randal which became Wilson, Randal and Kilpatrick. Mr. Wilson died in February, 1936, and the firm name continued for several years but is now Randal and Kilpatrick.

Substitute Course Is Being Planned

Offered in substitution for the annual public health workers and sanitation officers course, a national engineering defense training course in community and camp sanitation will be given at Texas Technological college this summer, J. H. Murdough, chairman of the committee in charge, announced.

The study will be essentially the same as that which would have been offered in the health course. Camp sanitation will be emphasized to greater extent. The same group of persons, health workers and sanitation officers, is expected to be interested.

The course will be offered with cooperation of the Texas state health department and the Federal Security agency, United States office of education.

Major difference will be that there will be no fee for the course. Fee of $30 for the two terms would have been charged for the health course. A breakage deposit of $3 will be charged, but any unused part will be refunded.

The course will be offered in two terms, June 5 to July 14, and July 15 to Aug. 22.

This summer's health course would have been the fourth annual course offered at Tech with cooperation of the health department and state department for vocational education.

Germans Will Get Christian Burials By English Church

(By The United Press)

LONDON, May 3. — German fliers killed over England will receive a Christian burial, according to the ruling of the Church of England.

The decision has ended a nationwide controversy which arose over the burial of a Heinkel's crew in the churchyard at Steyning, Sussex. Villagers hotly protested that "these murderers should not be laid to rest beside our loved ones," but Bishop of Chichester decided that the fallen fliers should be buried in the parish cemetery and that the burial service should be used.

The Rev. E. W. Cox, rector of Steyning, said:

"We cannot know the secret thoughts of the German airman's heart as he went about his task. Whatever they were, death closes all. We should bury him with the same honor we should like to see done to anyone we love who had fallen in a better cause — in a strange land."

The Bishop of London likewise has told his clergy to assume that Nazis are Christians and give them a suitable burial.

Postcard 10 Years In Reaching Addressee

PLEASANT VALLEY, May 3. (U.P.) — Glen L. Coffee recognized his daughter's handwriting but he had difficulty in placing the airplanes on the postcard.

He received the postcard the other day. It was mailed in Miami, Fla., in 1930. The postcard featured pictures of the Miami air races of that year.

The card had been incorrectly addressed and had been in the dead letter office for almost a decade.

Abandoned Ship To Shore On Own Power

LONDON, Eng., May 3. (U.P.)— Without a crew on board, and with the engines still running, a ship was found by villagers berthed safely in a deep water inlet within a few inches of dangerous rocks.

They informed the lifeboat authorities, and an amazing story of the sea was revealed.

The ship had been set on fire, and the crew had abandoned her. They did not even stop to take their personal belongings, and wallets containing money was found on board.

The vessel continued with the engines running slowly, while the fire burned itself out. The vessel had traveled about 60 miles.

"Black Lily" Blooms In California Yard

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., May 3. (U.P.)—A "black lily"—not really black but deep purple; not really a lily but a member of the Fritillaria family—bloomed in the yard of Rod McVeigh of Bakersfield.

The deep purple blossom was somewhat larger than the white flower of the Calla lily, which it resembles in appearance. McVeigh said the plant was 2 years old and bloomed for the first time.

The so-called "black lily" is a common name for either of two members of the Fritillaria family which have deep purple petals.

MOVES TO FLOYDADA

FLOYDADA — Shelby Stapleton, employed at the Schuler hardware store in Petersburg, has moved here to be associated with J. R. Minton in his machine shop. He will be manager.

BANK FIXTURES ORDERED

MORTON — Fixtures for the new First State bank of Morton were ordered at a meeting of the board of directors. Foundation of the new building has been poured and the rest of the work is under way. The bank is to be open in June. W. M. Ashworth is chairman of the board.

DEMAND FOR EFFICIENCY!

That's Why Heavy Power Installations and Chrysler Cars Have Fluid Drive

"Immediate adaptation to variable power load"... that's how science describes the function of Fluid Drive.

To give gasoline engines the fluid flexibility of steam was long the goal of research engineering.

Efficiency and economy were demanded ... for industry must count the last penny of cost.

Flexibility to meet all load conditions ... scientific control of power slippage in place of the hit and miss power loss of individual driving ... ability to pick up great loads easily ... these were the economic requirements of industry.

Fluid Drive was the answer! Today the identical principle that drives your Chrysler Car is efficiently serving in Diesel powered ships ... great double-deck busses ... heavy tractor-trucks ... giant industrial refrigeration plants.

Fluid Drive gives industry, as it gives the driver of a Chrysler Car, double economy ... efficient application of power ... plus longer life because of lessened strain from jerks and jolts.

Now you can have this two-way efficiency in your own car—if it's a Chrysler—and in addition ... ease, smoothness and silence possible only with genuine Fluid Drive.

Owners of Fluid Drive Chryslers, for the third year, are reporting greater economy than from their former cars.

Why shift gears? Why stumble away when you can glide away? Chrysler Fluid Drive—jerk-free and jolt-free—is easier on both car and driver. The nearest Chrysler dealer cordially invites you to make a real test of Fluid Drive efficiency and ease.

South Plains Has Sufficient Moisture To Carry Crops Through Until August

Late Plantings To Be In Vogue

By J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Again Mother Nature has come to the aid of professional agricultural experts of this section who hold that their records for more than a score of years show May-June plantings of crops the best in the long run, and it will be mid-May, to say the least before farmers can get into their fields to knife weeds and work over the ground before planting.

Rainfall of this week, added to that of the first four months, has put such a wonderful season in the ground that unless there is a real drouth this summer, sub-soil wetness now is sufficient to carry crops through until August.

Down Several Feet

Coring of ground in several places the past week, before the Thursday night and Friday rains shows the ground to be "wet" down four to five and six feet. Thomas G. Moore, manager of the Ropesville FSA project, said his tests showed it wet down four feet and he added that he did not touch the bottom.

"It was very wet here at the station, down through the top of the caliche," said Don L. Jones of the state experiment sub-station. "We tested in the crop land and it was wetter than in the sod land. Of course, what we got from the Friday rain will go still further down."

At Texas Technological college tests showed that heavier moisture content of the soil prevailed for the first three and four feet than is average for this season. The additional rain will improve conditions.

Total Near Nine Inches

Total 1941 rainfall at the experiment station approximates nine inches, almost half of the normal fall of 18.55 inches. Recent dry years had cut the average fall from more than 20 inches.

A check of records of the station show this season to compare with 1937, 1932, 1919 and 1915. Moisture in 1915 set an all-time season record of 31.89 inches; 1919 was second with 31.61 inches and 1914, 31.43 inches.

Heaviest rainfall in any one month recorded at the station was Sept. 1925 when 9.44 inches fell; October 1926 was second with 8.4 inches and June, 1921, was third with 7.71 inches. Other monthly records are: Jan. 1939, 2.45 inches; Feb. 1911, 5.83 inches; March 1941, 3.56 inches; April 1915, 6.18 inches; May 1929, 6.91 inches; July 1928, 6.78 inches; Aug. 1914, 5.95 inches; Nov. 1940, 2.35 inches and Dec. 1932, 2.48 inches.

Inch Rains Frequent

Inch rainfalls in one month are fairly frequent. In the 30 years since 1911, when local records were begun, there have been 182 months with that much rain. There have been two in January, eight in February, 12 in March, 17 in April, 23 in May, 20 in June, 22 in July, 22 in August, 21 in September, 20 in October, seven in November and eight in December.

Station records show that plantings from May 10 to June 10 have better yields, mature virtually as quickly as earlier ones and that there is considerably less replanting of crops.

Sudan Has Been Planted

Reports from all sections of the South Plains indicate the plantings this year have not been as general, or perhaps as large, as in some recent years. In the southern sector there has been some planting of cotton and in some instances the crop has come up to a good stand.

Up to half of the sudan acreage for pasture has been planted in many communities and prospects before the rain were for pasture late in May, an unusual record. Should the past week's rain wash down the ridges into the furrows, it is probable the sudan has been covered and will have to be replanted.

The general area practice is to plant half of the grain sorghums first, then cotton and then the rest of the sorghums. Sudan is usually the first to planted.

Late Replantings Frequent

Late May and sometimes June storms have caused cotton to be replanted especially if the plantings were late. It is not uncommon for cotton to be replanted two and three times. Even four and five replantings have been reported, due to late June storms that covered up growing crops.

Weed growth in April was good, the heavy moisture causing weeds to start growing. Where farmers were able to get into their fields to knife weeds, there will be easier jobs ahead as soon as the soil dries out.

Growth will be stimulated by additional moisture. Warm weather should dry out the top soil to permit tractors to operate. Water standing in furrows will delay working even longer.

The rain came in time to aid wheat and land badly whipped by sand and wind may now be expected to come out, producing nearly an average crop. Wheat is heading and the last of the month should see some harvesting.

Bright sunshine and wind will tend to reduce hazards from rust. Some rust has been reported in Crosby and Floyd counties but no serious threat has so far come.

Late wheat may be better in yield than early wheat, as growers are reporting a difference in the condition of the crop.

April Rainfall Totals 4.17 Inches At Spur

SPUR, May 3 — April's rainfall was 4.17 inches, according to the state experiment sub-station here, a record for the month for the 30 years that this station has kept a record of precipitation.

Rainfall in one 24-hour period was 2.5 inches, said to be a record.

So far in 1941 total rainfall was 8.73 inches, compared with an average for the first four months of 4.06 inches during the past 30 years.

Rural Residents Urged To Improve Mail Boxes

This is Rural Mailbox Improvement Week all over the United States and Postmaster Amos Howard is urging all patrons of the six routes out of Lubbock to give their boxes a thorough going over and to make necessary improvements.

Howard pointed out that all boxes should be firmly fastened to a post set well in a strong base. Boxes should be the proper heighth from the ground to permit the carrier to place the mail in the box without difficulty.

All boxes should have the name of the owner painted clearly on it. It is not necessary to paint boxes white, although the postoffice department recommends that it be done.

Judging Will Be Show's Feature

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

PLAINVIEW, May 3 — Future Farmers of America and 4-H club bzoys and girls will again have their innings at the Panhandle-Plains Dairy show, to be held in Plainview, May 6-10. Tuesday, opening day of the show, has been designated Future Farmers of America Day, and the two contests in which the youthful dairyman take part will be held on this day. These contests are the F.F.A. dairy products judging and the 4-H and F.F.A. dairy cattle judging. Participants in these events will begin their work at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, with N. C. Fine, and M. D. Pederson, Texas Technological college superintendents.

Entries in these contests for the fourteenth annual show are expected to exceed the number in 1940, show officials declared. Twenty-two teams were entered in 1940 for the dairy cattle judging, an all-time high for the years that Fine had been superintendent, he said. Five teams were entered in dairy products judging.

Teams From Tulia Ready

Tulia and Swisher county, for the second successive year, took top honors in the dairy cattle judging contest, the Swisher county 4-H team and the Tulia vocational agricultural team both placing first in the entire contest. Swisher county dairymen state that their judging teams will be ready to go to work in the 1941 contest in the attempt to win the coveted cup for the third successive year, which will make it their permanent property, should they be successful.

Teams entering the dairy cattle judging contest in 1940 were from Lockney, Bovina, Canyon, Crosbyton, Happy, Greenville, N. M., Abernathy, Tulia, Floydada, Lubbock, Ropesville, Plainview, Estelline, Claude, Tucumcari, N. M., Clarendon.

4-H club teams entered were from Floyd, Swisher, Briscoe, Parmer, Crosby and Hale counties.

The five teams entered for dairy products judging were from Estelline, Floydada, Plainview, Clarendon and Lockney.

Increased Interest Seen

Plans for this department of the 1941 Dairy show indicate increased interest and a greater number of teams. Show officials have stated that the growing interest of the boys and girls of this area in the dairy show is evidence to them of the importance of the annual event. Dairy specialists who have been interested in the show since its early beginning, and who have judged various events during the thirteen previous shows are unanimous in their opinion that the future of the show, and the future of the dairy industry for this section is largely in the hands of these youthful dairymen who take part in it each year.

"Anything that stimulates the interest of these young dairymen in their work is a definite contribution to the development of the country", E. R. Eudaly, dairy specialist, A. & M. college extension service, declared as he viewed the 1940 show. Eudaly has been on hand for a number of the dairy shows and has been an interested and enthusiastic supporter since its early days.

Two trophies are awarded in these judging contests, each one having to be won for three successive years to become the permanent property of the team. The Texas-New Mexico Utilities company offers one of these loving cups, presenting it to the 4-H club team scoring highest in the dairy cattle judging contest. The second trophy is offered by the dairy show association to the high team in the dairy products judging contest."

These men will discuss grain regulations and methods of inspection.

Actual selecting of grains and the making of an analysis of wheat, corn, cotton and grain sorghums will be made.

Sorting Late Senator Morris Sheppard's Papers Proved Colossal Task; 38 Years In Congress Provided Lots Of Material

BY L. T. EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 3 — The task of sorting through records of the late senior senator from Texas, Morris Sheppard of Texarkana, to see what should be preserved, was a colossal job in view of the 38 years he had been a legislator in the nation's capitol.

Burden of the assignment fell on the senator's long-time aides, Mr. and Mrs. D. Roland Potter, legal residents of Texarkana.

Shortly after the Senator's death they began their job with a cleaning up of old files stored in the attic of the senate office building. Despite the fact that every few years old and worthless material was weeded out, the accumulation was so great that stacks of correspondence had to be thrown away without having been given a glance.

Among personal possessions of the late veteran lawmaker were many interesting and historic documents and papers relating to Texas history, and great numbers of books. Consideration was being given to the possible lending or donating of some of these to libraries at the University of Texas and Texarkana junior college.

Favors Cotton Bags

Growers of alfalfa, grass, clover and other such seeds out in Oregon face a shortage of bags in which to ship their product, so chairman Fulmer (D-SC) of the House agriculture committee announced he would introduce legislation authorizing manufacture of some of the government-owned cotton into cotton bagging.

With the maturity date of the seed only 90 days off, the growers complained through their congressmen that burlap sacking was almost unobtainable and that only about one-fourth the needed amount now was available. They complained that large shipments of burlap to Japan was continuing and causing the shortage in the American market.

Sumners Finds Facts

ACCOMPANIED only by a driver, Dallas' Congressman Hatton Sumners toured over more than a dozen strike-bound coal-mining towns in southern West Virginia, questioning idle workers to learn their views.

Leaving the car around the corner from where he could see any cluster of men standing on a street in any of the small mining communities, Sumners would saunter up and begin a conversation. He never let his true identity be known.

The long day's ride left the Texan convinced that the average miner he talked to was a good, honest American, ready to work and wishing the strike would be settled. The average striker—all he talked with were in the Southern coal fields—believed that Southern operators were justified in holding out for a reduced pay scale because of higher freight rates they had to stand, Sumners said.

Texans Keep Solons Busy

What with tens of thousands of tourists pouring into Washington daily this spring, along with national defense project representatives, the housing situation for strangers has become so acute Texas congressmen occasionally find themselves involuntarily in the real estate business.

Many Texans getting in to Washington without having first made any reservations find hotels filled up and come to their representative for assistance. Once in a while a constituent writes and asks the congressman if he will help a son or daughter, here to work or attend school, find a place to live.

Connally Mail Increases

On the whole, letters from back home to the Texas legislators have fallen off since passage of the controversial lease-lend bill.

Mail to Senator Connally has increased, however, since the death of his senior colleague, for many who formerly wrote Sheppard now direct their problems to the Marlin statesman.

Most common of all requests received by Texas representatives are those asking for farm bulletins, particularly those relating to the extermination of bedbugs and ticks.

Attorney Represents Cowmen

Here representing the interests of western cattle growers in case there is any price-fixing of beef during the national emergency is Joe Montague of Fort Worth, attorney for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association. Mention of Argentine beef in his presence is sure to start a good argument.

Race Of Interest

THE Texas Senatorial race certainly is of keen interest to members of Congress from the Lone Star state, and the subject of much speculation, but they carefully avoided favor for any particular candidate as the list of candidates took shape.

The annual exploration report of the Smithsonian Institution shows that its 20 field expeditions last year pushed into areas from Greenland's icy mountains to Liberia's steaming jungles.

Many of the searchers, which ranged from a hunt for fossils half a billion years old and relics of vanished races to collections of living mammals and reptiles, took place in the United States.

Virginia, Wyoming, Utah, Texas, Alaska, California and Colorado were among the states visited.

Dr. Charles E. Ressar visited the headwaters of Wyoming's Green river in a search for the remains of the crab-like trilobites that lived in shallows off low beaches in that area 500 million years ago. They were among the earth's earliest inhabitants.

Huge Specimen Found

In Utah's Manti national forest and southwestern Wyoming Dr. C. Lewis Gazin gathered together a nearly complete specimen of a huge six-horned sabre-tusked uintathere, 30 million years ago the terror of the earth.

The Smithsonian described as its "most ambitious" expedition the Smithsonian-Firestone trip into Liberia for collection of living mammals and reptiles. In Greenland waters an institution representative made extensive collections in a journey that took him within 578 miles of the north pole.

Other expeditions went into the Glass mountains of West Texas for 300-million-year-old fossils, to Alaska to study the life habits of the Alaska king crab.

They collected mollusks from the west coast of Mexico, made excavations of the Indian village of Patawomeke in Virginia, where Pocahontas was kidnaped.

Dr. Frank H. H. Roberts, jr., formerly of El Paso, continued excavation in Colorado of a known composite of the earliest known inhabitants of North America—people who hunted bison, now extinct, in the closing days of the last ice age.

In another study, Dr. John P. Harrington of the bureau staff found "unquestionable evidence" of a relation between the languages of the Navajo Indians in the southwest, and Indians 2,500 miles away near Juneau, Alaska.

Hollywood On The Loose..

Movie Youngsters Plan Nice Things For Little College

By LUCIE NEVILLE
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 3. — That's a nice thing some movie youngsters are planning for the spring formal of Southwestern university which hasn't much money to frivol away on collegiate fun. Most of the 1,500 students earn their own tuition by filing, tutoring, janitoring and such, and the girls don't have piles of evening gowns or the boys snappy cars.

This year they determined to have a bang-up party like other schools, but all the traffic would stand was $1.25 a couple in comparison to UCLA and USC's $5 and $10 tickets, so after a hotel ballroom and an orchestra were hired, there wasn't anything left for entertainment and decorations.

One student, who had transferred there from a snappier school, was dismayed at what seemed stark poverty to her, and mentioned it to a pal at Paramount. Word got around to some of the younger players, who immediately asked if the university would let them be the floor show.

So Martha O'Driscoll, June Preisser, Jimmy Lydon, Leonard Suess and some others are cooking up a program that will have other local schools green with envy. There's no Lady Bountiful air about it, either, because the movie youngsters think it's wonderful to go to college — they never had the chance.

Costly Carnations

THEY say the flowers for Deanna Durbin's wedding cost $1,000, and that was $400 under the lowest bid offered by a florist. He was willing to come down on his original price and take the loss because it was worth it in prestige to handle such an affair. They're saying, too, that the studio boys held a heated two-hour conference before the wedding deciding whether they'd wear tails or dinner jackets.

RED SKELTON says his mother still doesn't believe he's going to be a success in Hollywood. Last time she wrote, she warned him not to buy anything he couldn't bring home with him in an upper berth. . . . A friend of Actor George Arliss got this panic-stricken report from him in a recent note: "I've had to leave London because of the racket."

Jitters Cured

ORSON WELLES, back from the desert and recovered from his jitters, is on a reducing diet. He was quite firm with a waiter on the matter of "no butter on my steak," but ordered a side dish—a double portion of French fried potatoes. . . . Gloria Swanson, returning to the screen in "Father Takes a Wife," has 18 costumes designed by Rene Hubert who has just finished a similar job for Marlene Dietrich. Co-star Adolphe the Well-Dressed Menjou tops her with 20 changes, including a gorgeous, eye-splitting dressing gown.

THEY'RE calling Mickey Rooney the Younger Set's Diamond Jim Brady. He brought girl friend Linda Darnell a silver and jade bracelet back from that Mexico City jaunt.

ELEANOR POWELL had a special case of jitters during the rainy spell because she can't stand windshield wipers, clocks, water dripping from a faucet, or anything with a metronome-like ticking. Sets her to making up tap rhythms so that she can't relax. . . . An electrician at Warner Brothers really means it when he says keep out of his tool kit. The order's lettered on the lid in Spanish, Russian, French, Hawaiian, Gaelic, Holland Dutch and East Indian. Oh, yes, and American too —"Scram!"

Dr. Kildare Is Palace Feature

HOLLYWOOD reached for the stars—and gave them to America in "Ziegfeld Girl."

The glitter and glamor of movieland spiced with 21 top flight screen personalities, 100 lavishly costumed lovelies in Adrian creations and spectacular production numbers—that is the entertainment highlight along Lubbock's theater row today through Wednesday.

Production Elaborate

William Anthony McGuire, who was author and director of some of Florenz Ziegfeld's most successful stage shows and who wrote "The Great Ziegfeld," is the author of this new story of the master showman who made a nation beauty conscious. Robert Z. Leonard, the man who directed the film depicting Ziegfeld's life, also megaphoned "Ziegfeld Girl."

Production numbers ranging from the typical Ziegfeldian "stairway" and a fantasy laid in the tropics, to the finale, using the world's largest drum, have settings scaled to a lavish, spectacular note.

Supporting Cast Top Flight

Tracing the lives of three girls, enacted by Misses Turner, Garland and Lamarr, the film shows how Ziegfeld's press agent, played by Edward Everett Horton, ever on the lookout for beauty, picks them from obscurity and skyrockets them to fame and fortune in the Follies. Their romance, tragedy and careers, along with others whose loves are spotlighted for millions, "make" this new show of shows.

Adding their talents to the film is a supporting cast including Jackie Cooper, Ian Hunter, Charles Winninger, Horton, Philip Dorn, Paul Kelly, Eve Arden, Dan Dailey, jr., Al Shean, Fay Holden, Felix Bressart, Rose Hobart and many others.

Favorites At Palace

Musical hits are "You Stepped Out of a Dream," "We Must Have Music," "Caribbean Love Song," "Minnie From Trinidad," "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," "Laugh, I Thought I'd Split My Side," and "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean."

Another favorite of film fans comes to the Palace today through Tuesday when Dr. Kildare returns in "The People vs. Dr. Kildare."

Lew Ayres, Lionel Barrymore and Laraine Day—the trio which has made movie history with the new series of pictures, are the stars in this latest adventure of men and women in white.

Tower Has A-1 Feature

"The Strawberry Blonde," starring James Cagney, Olivia de Havilland, Rita Hayworth and Alan Hale is the current Tower feature. Presenting intimate glimpse of the gay and naughy nineties, "The Strawberry Blonde" unravels a plot as poignant and true to life as Hollywood could make it. Especially is the role of Cagney, as the fellow who thought he was getting the worst of everything, above average. The picture continues through Wednesday.

An unusual picture is that showing at the Texan today through Tuesday—"Seven Sinners."

Dietrich, Power Return

Marlene Dietrich, John Wayne, Broderick Crawford and Mischa Auer turn in sterling performances in the story of a lovely cafe singer who goes laughingly from one tropical island to another, leaving romantic trouble in her wake. Dietrich plays the heartbreaker, while Wayne acts the young naval officer attached to an American island base. The course of his infatuation for the mysterious entertainer brings the story to its dramatic climax.

The Cactus feature, "Jesse James," is one of the better adventure photoplays to come out of Hollywood in recent years.

Depicting the life of the notorious outlaw whose feats of daring are legend, "Jesse James," as portrayed by Tyrone Power, adds another celluloid chapter to America's colorful history. Also taking starring roles are Henry Fonda, Nancy Kelly and Randolph Scott. The feature continues through Monday.

New Adventures For Hardys In Today's Broadway Film

"Westerner" Is Back At Lyric

ANDY HARDY — today's screen counterpart of America's young manhood — comes back to the Broadway today through Tuesday.

"Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," latest of the Hardy family series, is the feature, bringing back Mickey Rooney, Lewis Stone, Fay Holden, Ann Rutherford in their old roles and introducing a newcomer in Kathryn Grayson.

Has His Troubles

Andy has his troubles galore — and corresponding rewards in laughs — as he promotes senior activities just before graduating from Carvel high. It's another Hardy hit.

A big outdoor action epic tops the week's program at the Lyric, starting today, with the showing of "The Westerner."

Starring Gary Cooper, the picture boasts a supporting cast of Walter Brennan as the famed Judge Roy Bean — the law "west of the Pecos" — Fred Stone, Doris Davenport, Forrest Tucker, Kilian Bond and a host of others.

Dealing with the battle of the cattlemen and the farmers, who wanted to fence in the wide open spaces, grow crops and live in peace, the picture boasts a western setting that is as realistic as possible but superb acting that takes the film from the average "horse opera" class, tosses it among other Samuel Goldwyn starring vehicles.

Draft Board Softens, Gives Cupid A Break

PHILADELPHIA, May 3. (U.P.)— When Albert Gaudioso sent out invitations for his approaching marriage, he sent one to the head of his local draft board. That's why Gaudioso will be married this year.

Just after the invitation had been sent, Gaudioso was ordered to report for army induction—two days before he was to be married. Sadly he called all his friends and told them it was all off for the present.

But Chairman Frank Massey of the draft board, who noticed for the first time after receiving his invitation how the army was interfering with Cupid, decided the army could wait.

As a wedding present, Massey not only postponed the date so that the marriage could take place, but gave Gaudioso an extra week for a honeymoon before reporting for service.

Laughton And Lombard Star In Dramatic Tech Feature

"Chad Hanna" Is Arcadia's Tops

ABSORBING drama is provided by two of Hollywood's topmost stars at the Tech theater today in "They Knew What They Wanted."

The picture stars Charles Laughton and Carole Lombard with a supporting cast including William Gargan, Harry Carey, Frank Fay and others.

Looks For Wife

The plot finds Laughton as an Italian grape-grower who goes to San Francisco in search of a wife. He spies Carole, a waitress, and returns to his home, never having even spoken to her. But he has Gargan, his foreman, write her letters which she answers and finally marriage is proposed.

When she arrives she thinks Gargan is the would-be groom and is furious when she learns that she has been tricked but decides to go through with the wedding.

Complications arise, however, when she falls in love with Gargan. Laughton becomes furious when it is discovered that she is to become a mother but finally calms down and agrees to raise the child as his own. She is not ready to take advantage of his kindness and leaves, but apparently she plans to return to Laughton later.

Glamor Of Circus

Henry Fonda, Dorothy Lamour, Linda Darnell, Guy Kibbee, Jane Darwell and others assure patrons of fine entertainment.

Fonda betrays a slave catcher in order to get money to get into the circus. The latter's daughter, Miss Darnell, for having given him money, is beaten up and runs away to the circus playing the town. When the sheriff goes after Fonda, he joins too. Fonda falls in love with Miss Lamour, but she leaves to join another circus. Soon after, he marries Linda, but disaster befalls the circus when Kibbee, its director, becomes ill and the biggest attraction, a lion, dies. Fonda quits in a huff when Kibbee blames him, he doesn't know that Linda is going to have a baby. But he returns when the canal boys are about to tear the tent down with a new and bigger attraction.

Comedy Also At Arcadia

Ginger Rogers and Walter Connolly team up in a crack comedy vehicle as the second portion of the Arcadia's program. The two star in "Fifth Avenue Girl," which also has Veree Teasdale, James Ellison and Tim Holt in its cast.

Connolly is seen as a rich business man whose family has no time for him. He meets Ginger in a park and invites her to help celebrate his birthday. They run into his wife with her playboy and she leaves in a huff. Through Ginger's attentions Connolly's family starts giving him more consideration. The wife forgets her playboy, the daughter plans to marry the chauffeur and the son falls in love with Ginger. Her job done, Ginger starts to tell them all goodbye.

2. What star, who played a priest in one film, is playing a fiend in his next?

3. (a) What in common have the new movies of Marlene Dietrich and Walter Pidgeon? (b) What famous male trio is glorified in another movie title?

4. (a) What star, now in Hollywood, is known as the "Spencer Tracy of France"? (b) Who is called Hollywood's "one-man-band"?

5. What two feminine ex-stars, long away from the movies are "coming back" on the same lot? One is playing a matronly role.

Count 20 points for each question answered. A score of 60 is good, 80 excellent and 90 or above colossal.

James Stewart Is Learning Lots Of Things In Army; He's Been Promoted To Corporal

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, May 3—A month in the army has taught James Stewart, voted the best actor in the movies in 1940, "to listen attentively, to obey orders and to keep my mouth shut."

It also has given him a sunburned nose, has made him thinner, if anything, and is teaching him to bellow orders in true drill-field style.

Stewart was conscripted March 22 and became a private at Moffett field. He had one two-day furlough, which he spent—bedded with a severe cold—at his house here. Aside from that he has kept strictly to camp—hasn't even been to San Francisco, 30 miles away.

Now he's a corporal, the lowest rank of noncommissioned officer but the leader of a squad. He spends his days receiving instruction in drilling—days which begin at 5:30 a. m. and end at 9 p. m.

"When you drill, and yell orders all day, going through the manual of arms, by nightfall you're hoarse and ready for bed," he says.

"But I'm feeling swell, getting in good condition, and get along fine with the other draftees. They all treat me very well."

"City For Conquest" Offers Fine Story At The Midway

Study Of Life In New York

ENTERTAINMENT at its fullest is on tap at the Midway theater today with return of "City For Conquest."

"City For Conquest" is a study of New York life in terms of action and ambition, failure and faith, despair, determination right, wrong and in-between.

They Rise To Fame

The production starts a number of tenement children on their way up from the gutter, takes them to heights and brings all but one of them back again.

Two-fisted James Cagney is cast in the role of a truck driver who turns boxer to win fame he thinks will bring his sweetheart back to him and, blinded, ends up selling papers.

Ann Sheridan is his heart interest and her ambition is to see her name in lights. A dancer takes her from him but she returns after her fall to burlesque.

Only One Sticks

Arthur Kennedy, as his brother, whose education in music he finances at a sacrifice to himself, is in the finale the one among the several who secures his hold on fame.

Frank Craven portrays a tramp given to philosophy and soliloquy who wanders into and out of the story, uttering observations about New York, which the other characters proceed to substantiate.

"Juke Box" Gets Hot, But Not From Music

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. May 3. (U.P.)—It was bound to happen some day in this era of "hot" music.

Firemen were called when a "juke box" in a Bakersfield tavern started throwing off smoke while it was being played.

But the firemen wouldn't admit it was the "hot" music. They said the heat came from an overloaded power unit inside the instrument.

Gerald Mann Does The Fair Thing; Congress Leaves Convoy Decision To F.D.R.

He Declines Unearned Pay

Others Should Follow His Lead

ATTORNEY General Gerald C. Mann has set an example for all office-holder candidates for all time to come in returning his salary to the state during the period of his campaigning for the United States Senate.

He thereby acknowledges a situation of which everyone is aware, but about which little has been done in the past. He knows, as does everyone, that he can't give value received to the people of Texas as attorney general while he is campaigning for another office. So he is declining the salary that he will not earn. He is not attempting to make the people of Texas pay the expenses of the effort he is making to gain a promotion.

If more office-holder candidates follow his example, then it won't be necessary to waste time on a proposed law now receiving serious consideration, which would require the holder of an office to resign upon announcing his candidacy for another. However, if there is not a more general inclination to follow the attorney general's example, agitation for the proposed law almost certainly will continue until something in the nature of the plan now considered is adopted.

That Pan-American Highway

THE Pan-American highway for which President Roosevelt has asked $20,000,000, so that it may be completed to the Panama canal, appears to be a project of most obvious and varied merit.

Possible importance of an overland link between the Rio Grande and canal is difficult to exaggerate. It would simplify immeasurably the transport of men and materials to keep defenses of the canal at peak strength. The time might come when the interior highway would mean that additional naval strength could be released for service urgently needed elsewhere. Conceivably, if disaster should overtake our fleets, the highway might become something of a life-line much in the manner that one narrow, rough, winding and uncertain road has enabled China to continue its resistance to Japan through years. We might need such a road as that now sought to obtain supplies from the south some day.

But aside from its national defense values, the proposed highway would be likely to pay tremendous dividends in time of peace. Build a good road to the canal, and the touring American motorists will follow it. Extend that road to the tip of South America—as is planned and as will be done some day if civilization survives—and our tourists will follow it still. Furthermore, such a highway and the example set by our own tourists would be almost certain to mean a lot of return visits from the Latin Americas, thereby promoting and cementing the Hemisphere ties for which this nation has been working.

Thus, the United States undoubtedly will have to carry more than its just share of the cost in hastening the project to completion. Others may not be willing to share in proportion to the benefits to them. Even so, the job still should be done with as much speed as possible, with Uncle Sam paying every dime of the cost if necessary.

With Our Contemporaries

"We hope that Hop Halsey, Lubbock state representative of this the 119th district, succeeds in getting his Redistricting bill through, as we have not had a redistricting since the early twenties," Andy Jack Stricklin hopes in the Terry County Herald, Brownfield.

"Looks like the study of geography, which used to plague us back in grade school days, is going to be simplified considerably if the present course of war continues," Ben Ezzell remarks in the Sudan News.

Memories Of 1917's Food Shortage Plague British Housewives

Queues Form Before London Stores

BY PAUL MANNING
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 3'— The line of women waiting their turn in front of a London store stretched nearly one block. It was in a suburban section of London and was the first I've actually seen — a lineup reminiscent of the long columns you used to see in almost any American city during the long winter months of the dark thirties.

These queues are not yet common and only occur when a store receives a new consignment of cigarettes and eggs and tea or some other hard-to-get commodity. The women stand in line hoping that by the time they reach the counter of the little store they will be permitted to buy at least two packages of cigarettes, one for themselves and one for their husband at work in a factory—and possibly an extra half-dozen eggs or an additional lump of butter.

Three women were discussing the new bread which will be released soon. It is a bread which will contain vitamin B and calcium salts and which the Ministry of Food hopes will make up some of the deficiencies now existing in the English wartime diet. The women in the lineup were rather despondent over the idea of buying "doctored" bread because, they said, it reminded them too much of the bread problem of the last war.

Situation Serious In 1917

THAT was the bread which was grey when purchased from one baker and white when bought from another. Bakers, owing to the flour shortage, were not baking entirely with flour. Mixed with the flour was maize, rice or oats. Maize made the bread gritty. The loaf that got stale quickly had rice in it.

By October, 1917, the food situation had become so difficult that storekeepers were often without butter, tea, sugar margarine and jam, and there were weeks in some villages when the chief diet was bread. Toward the end of 1917 most of the milk cows had been slaughtered for food, and a bad harvest made things worse. Eggs vanished from the scene. Dried eggs appeared. So did a mysterious egg powder which, it was falsely claimed, would become an egg in the frying pan. Sugar disappeared and saccharine tablets took its place.

Food queues lengthened and people began thinking less about what they could get to eat and more about just the problem of keeping alive. They were told that people in Central Europe were starving, but Prime Minister Lloyd George said, later, it was a gamble whether Germany or Britain would starve first.

Worst Is Yet To Come

ALL THIS these women remembered, vividly. Now, once again, they are standing in queues and hoping the situation will not be repeated. Whether it will be repeated, no one can say. But certainly signs point to the assumption that things will get worse before they get better.

At the moment people are not suffering from their wartime diet. It is adequate and filling but unfortunately not too well balanced. The vitamin content is below par and people are beginning to eat more candy, when they can get it, to make up for the lack of sugar in their regular meals.

The luxury hotels still serve food with aplomb, from glittering service trays, but upon analysis is found to consist of hors d'oeuvres with no eggs or meat but highly seasoned vegetables. Or you can have smoked salmon instead. The main course is invariably chicken, because the meat ration is so minute that when you do get it the value is poor for the money spent.

But chicken after a few hundred times becomes rather unpalatable and it's then that you begin wondering how a Kansas City or New York cut steak smothered in onions would taste.

The dessert is a choice of canned fruit, ice cream made with an ersatz cream listed as "Freme," or

The faces of these London housewives reflect the increasing shortage of foodstuffs in the British Isles due to the ever-tightening German counter-blockade. Eggs from Canada, along with other provisions, are doled out on a ration basis.

Reds Foment U. S. Strikes

(The National Whirligig)

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

KEY Senate and House leaders quietly have decided to leave on President Roosevelt's desk the question of convoying or escorting British supply ships. The President alone must assume full responsibility for the fatal decision which could involve the United States in a shooting war, the Democrats have voted in secret caucus.

Administration members probably would vote for convoying if it came to a floor issue, particularly if the White House snapped the whip. But they do not want to be put on a war spot if they can escape it. So House and Senate bosses have advised FDR that if he decides to take the final step toward war he shall do it without consulting the Congress, without asking for formal declaration. They are convinced that if American warships are blown up in the convoying process, the Congress will back the President in his expected call for a declaration of war against the Axis powers.

FDR's advisers are urging him to obtain Congressional authority before plunging this country into the war. They want the Senate and House to share the final responsibility. But the Capitol Hill crowd, which must run for re-election a few years hence, insists that the President must assume all blame for taking us into the European conflict at this late date.

CANDIDATE: Martin Dies has collected secret data on the major strikes which have obstructed national defense. Even allowing for the Texan's alleged prejudices, his revelations may prove impressive when spread on the record.

Dies' evidence indicates that 60 per cent of strikes on national defense jobs were fomented by foreigners with Russian, German or Italian names and backgrounds. For some strange reason, according to Martin's agents, the rank and file of American workmen seem willing to follow this foreign leadership. The Dies files suggest that foreign influence and money is most potent in key industries — land and water transportation, CIO-controlled industries (planes, trucks, tanks and ships), and steel and coal.

The Dies summary will blast Secretary Perkins' reports that strikes, and Communists, are not sabotaging national defense. And Martin, who has announced his candidacy for the Senate, figures that his revelations will insure his victory over New Dealer Lyndon Johnson and even over Governor Lee O'Daniel of "Pass the biscuits, pappy" fame.

FORMULA: Teutonic science and ingenuity have scored another victory over the enemies which seek to starve Germany into submission. The story of this new Hitler accomplishment does not emanate from Berlin. It is described in a recent memo issued by the United States Department of Agriculture.

When Hitler conquered the Scandinavian countries, he seized large herds of live stock. But Denmark, Norway and Sweden grew no animal feed. They were entirely dependent for cattle feed on England, and that supply was shut off by the blockade. As a result, Hitler was forced to slaughter the cows, sheep and hogs which he had confiscated. In a less degree the same was true in his conquest of France and the Low Countries. It meant a steadily dwindling supply of food for his hungry people, and no assurance of replinishment.

But now, according to our agricultural scouts, Hitler's scientists have found a formula for making cattle feed out of wood cellulose. He is building eight factories for transforming timber into animal feed. Thus he will be able to save, instead of slaughter, such live stock as remains of what he has seized in the countries he has conquered.

NEW YORK
By S. Burton Heath

THE Phelps-Dodge Copper Products corporation plant at Elizabeth, N. J., has been on strike since April 6 or 8. National Mediation board statements give both dates. Probably both are correct. The United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (CIO) have a rule against strikes unless approved by central authority. So a work stoppage April 6 may become a strike April 8. Under either name no work is done, and no copper products are made for defense use.

The Elizabeth plant has only 1,800 employes. These constitute an infinitesimal fraction of the nation's workers. There's hardly anybody on strike when 1,800 walk out. Yet so closely is our industry integrated today that already 30,000 men are prevented from working in defense production plants because of this single flyspeck upon the clean and shining page of labor relations. And it is a matter ranging from days to weeks before several times that number will be laid off—because their factories can't get the copper products Phelps-Dodge is supposed to be fabricating for them. Still there will be only 1,800 on strike.

Copper is used in a wide variety of armament items. One is in ships—naval vessels, cargo carriers, tankers, tugboats, of which we have 1,465 on order at a projected cost of $5,668,000,000.—They are regarded as one of the most critical needs in defense re-arming. Copper is necessary for condenser tubes, electrical wiring, the degausing cables which foil magnetic bombs. A lot of the copper for many of our 1,464 ships is supposed to come from Phelps-Dodge. No ship has been held up yet. But before long now some of the smaller craft will be ready to leave the ways, and later some cargo vessels, and finally cruisers and battleships. There will be no condenser equipment, no wire, no degausing cables, because of that insignificant little strike over in Elizabeth, involving only 1,800 men.

RED: The CIO union now striking against the Phelps-Dodge company has been branded as red by no less a labor spokesman than Sidney Hillman, co-director of the OPM. This column has checked upon the record of James J. Matles, who is directing the strike. Here, in brief, are the facts:

Before he became director of organization for the UERMWA, Matles used to be secretary of the Metal and Machinery division of the Steel and Metal Workers Industrial union. This was known in trade union circles as a Moscow-inspired organization formed for the express purpose of smashing AFL units in that field and taking it over. In its December, 1934, issue the monthly "Labor Unity," organ of the Trade Union Unity League—which was organized by William Z. Foster as an official branch of the Profintern, trade union international unit of the Moscow government—carried a number of class struggle roundup articles by outstanding figures in the party scheme. The magazine was edited by Foster, frequent Communist candidate for President. George Morris, staff writer for the Daily Worker, had an article in the issue. So did Herbert Benjamin, now a paid Communist party official, and Ben Gold, now head of the Communist furriers union. Matles had one too, entitled "Uniting for Struggle in Metal."

Last August John L. Lewis advocated Matles' appointment to the Labor Policy Advisory committee for National Defense. Sidney Hillman rejected him on the ground that his union was "tinged with red." Recently Lewis made Matles chairman of a CIO jurisdictional committee to determine whether the West Coast International Longshoreman and Warehouse union headed by Harry Bridges —now fighting against deportation as a Red—should be permitted to take over the East Coast anti-Stalinist warehouse workers organization, a branch of the United States Retail and Wholesale Employes. This would give Bridges and the Communistic National Maritime union, headed by Joe Curran, domination over warehousemen, longshoremen and sailors—and the power to stifle shipping completely.

Our Curious World---By William Ferguson

ANSWER: Yes. It is the brightest star of the Little Dipper, and forms the end of the handle.

"In My Father's House" Is Grand Story

James Street Scores Again In Father-Son Novel

"IN MY FATHER'S HOUSE," by James Street; (Dial Press, New York).

YOU, who have read newspapers regularly for the past several years, might remember the James Street by-line on Associated Press stories. He was the fellow who kept the Southern AP wire brightened with stories of colored mammies, cabins in the cotton, etc.

Of late years, Street has been in Hollywood where he has been writing movie stuff. This week, his second novel is being published.

"Big Hob" Abernathy could tilt back in a chair, take off his shoes, put them by the chair, then reach down and put them back on again without budging the chair. That, in itself, was enough to make him an extraordinary individual in the eyes of his son, "Little Hob." But that is only one of "Big Hob's" accomplishments which James Street recounts in his father-son novel, "In My Father's House".

It's Grand Story

"Big Hob" wasn't an outstanding citizen, even in Laurel, Miss., but he knew a lot about farming, about people, and the world, and about raising a family. People who told "Little Hob" that he was growing more like his father could pay him no higher compliment.

This is a grand story Street puts into the mouth of the lad, alternately amusing and tragic, beautiful in its simplicity, strong in its evaluations of men and motives.

Family Of The Old School

Through "Little Hob" you meet the Abernathys: Papa, the farmer, planting and laying by his crops according to tried and tested formula, loving the earth, its products and its creatures; Mama, devoted wife and mother; Teenie, 16-year-old daughter, embarking on her first love affair, and "Little Hob," with his Negro pal, Kink, his dog and his pet raccoon. They form a family of the old school; you know, by heart, just what each will say at every Sunday dinner.

Only One Answer

Woody Martin, son of the Abernathys' neighbors, wrecks the rural paradise, and "Big Hob" has only one answer to the problem.

"If a man goes into your barn and steals your mule, then the thing to do is lawsuit him. If he steals your plow, lawsuit him. . . . But if he comes in your house and messes with your wife or your daughter, then you've got to kill him."

That's the plot, but the real story is in the boy's love of his dad, the closeness of the family the basic principles of right and wrong which "Big Hob" followed and taught his son.

Cost Of Killing One Soldier Claimed Over $50,000 Now

(By The United Press)

TARENTUM, Pa., May 3.—The cost of killing a soldier has increased from $50 in the time of Julius Caesar to between $50,000 and $75,000 in the present war, according to H. V. Churchill, an industrial chemist.

Churchill told a meeting here the expense of war-time killing has risen steadily through the centuries, with a tremendously great advance occurring between the World war and today.

By the time of Napoleon, the cost had become $1,500 for each man killed, the chemist said, and during the World war the figure was about $2,500. He added that Napoleon's advisers and allies thought the cost far too high in their time.

Churchill cited as the reason for the huge increase in the cost the fact that war is now fought with machinery—which adds greatly to the cost—although manpower still is the backbone of war.

"The development of mechanical devices and improvement of machinery has lifted a great deal of hard physical labor from men's shoulders but military men are turning this machinery to war purposes instead of using it for peaceful pursuits," he declared.

Defense Drive Tints Cattlemen's Outlook

DENVER, May 3. (U.P.)—Happy days are here again for America's cattlemen—and the reason is the national defense program.

Authority for that conclusion is F. E. Mollin of Denver, secretary of the American National Livestock association.

Mollin said the national defense drive has been a boon to the growers of good beef. The outlook for the cattle industry is good, he says, and the stockmen believe they can take care of any post-war slump.

Army and navy purchases provide the brightest spot in the livestock outlook, the veteran association official said. These will include all cuts of meats and will be made according to grades and standards agreed upon by cattle growers.

Mollin explained the stockmen aren't a bit worried about purchases from Argentina.

"They won't be harmful to the American meat industry because the government has recognized the importance of the hoof and mouth disease quarantine," he said.

Cattlemen can expect a rising market, but steps are being taken to prevent conditions from getting "out of hand," Mollin explained. There is no shortage of beef in the United States, he adds, and no reason for runaway prices.

Airmen's Diet Tip-Off

IT WAS a recent visit to an airdrome, however, which underlined the fact that the German counter-blockade is having some effect.

Months ago, when I visited the flying field and ate in the officers' mess, food was plentiful. There were no razor-thin slices of butter, but big plates resting in the center of the table. The food was good and from soup to dessert you could always ask for another helping.

This last noontime visit, though, was different. The butter was sliced thin, one pat to a person, as in any civilian restaurant. And though the food was still good and well cooked, the servings were modest and one was all you got.

The airmen were not starving, but, for the first time since this war began over England, their meals were as rigidly simple as that served to any civilian.

FILE MURDER CHARGE

SEMINOLE — A charge of murder has been filed in the district court here against Willie Lee Fowler, negro, for the death of Matthew Lewis, another negro, who was fatally shot in a quarrel. The shooting took place at Seagraves. Next district court session and grand jury will be in the summer.

Three Shoot Birdies, Fourth Gets An Ace!

FORT WORTH, May 3. (U.P.)—John Shores, Spud Cason and L. B. Cason, golfers, decided that Lady Luck must have been looking the other way when all three made birdie 2's at a local golf course.

It was on a 113-yard hole, where a two usually is good enough to win. Shores stepped up and sank a long putt for his birdie. Frank Palmer shot, then the two Casons.

It was Palmer who collected for the hole, however.

He made a hole-in-one.

Defense Training Course Approved

Preliminary approval has been received from the Federal Security agency for a second engineering defense training course at Texas Technological college, it was announced Friday.

The course would be in engineering drawing. The course in progress, which is to end May 10, is in production engineering.

Persons interested in the engineering drawing course may obtain information from or make application with O. A. St. Clair, head professor of industrial engineering and engineering drawing.

The course is to open about June 1, if there is sufficient demand, and continue 12 weeks. Purpose is to provide suitable training for draftsmen for government service and industry. High school graduation, with at least two years of mathematics, including one in plane geometry, are pre-requisites.

A minimum of 10 must register before the course can be offered. Final approval for the engineering defense training courses are not given until the courses are actually under way.

A member of the regular staff of the industrial engineering department would offer the instruction.

Mother Is No-Billed For Son's Slaying

FORT WORTH, May 3 (U.P.) — Mrs. Sadie Stewart, 60, who shot to death her 36-year-old son, Farris J. (Pat) Kemp, because "he never was no good" was freed by the grand jury as she prepared to attend his funeral.

Kemp was killed Wednesday after he had threatened his mother's life. Mrs. Stewart, a hotel operator, said the son had molested her for years and that "Pat, he never was no good."

The grand jury voted not to indict the gray-haired woman. There was no "no bill" or written record of the grand jury's action.

Cadet Marks Up Hit With Plane, Not Gun

PENSACOLA, Fla., May 3 (AP)—Aviation Cadet Douglas Henderson of the naval air station, engaged in gunnery practice, hit the target with his seaplane instead of bullets today and wound up in the Gulf of Mexico.

Apparently misjudging his distance, 24-year-old Henderson's ship struck the fabric sleeve being towed behind another plane, and the machine went out of control.

Henderson, a native of Paduach, Tex., took to his parachute and came down in the gulf. Another seaplane picked him up. He was treated for minor abrasions.

"Headin' for the nest" is a start-to-finish task—husky chicks, sturdy pullets, productive hens—a big job. But Everlay Mashes fortified with Cereal Grasses, Dried Milk, Dried Whey, Kelp, Fish Meal and Vitamin Oil builds a pullet that you will be proud to own . . . at a cost you will be pleased to pay. And when your Everlay pullets are headin' for the nest next Fall, you too, will say, "It's good from start to finish."
