Thrill-Slayer Nathan Leopold Leaves Prison

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Thrill-slayer Nathan Leopold, who served 33½ years in prison for a bobbled effort to commit a perfect murder, walked to freedom today.

Leopold waved his hat as he stepped through the gates of the administration building.

There were few townspeople from nearby Joliet on hand as Leopold ended his long prison term.

After a secret meeting with relatives in Chicago, he plans to fly to Puerto Rico for a $10-a-month job as a laboratory worker in a mission hospital.

The Illinois Parole and Pardon Board approved his request to take the job, thus authorizing his release on parole for five years. He was officially granted the parole last month but his release was delayed pending investigation of job offers.

In 1924, Leopold, son of a wealthy Chicago family, and Richard Loeb, his fellow University of Chicago student, committed what they thought was the "perfect crime" — the murder of a neighbor boy, 14-year-old Bobby Franks.

With terrifying coldness they worked out the details of their crime. They abducted Bobby near a playground, beat him to death with a heavy chisel and stuffed his body in a culvert.

On Sept. 11, 1924, they went to prison for life on the charge of murder and 99 years for kidnaping. Loeb died in 1936 in a fight with another inmate.

Leopold, now 53, was what prison officials termed a "model prisoner." He served as a guinea pig in wartime malaria experiments, established a correspondence school for convicts, reorganized the prison library and worked in the prison hospital.

Aided by an intellectual level far above that of a genius, he mastered more than a score of languages. He corresponded with many of the world's leading intellectuals.

On Feb. 20, the parole board in a split vote gave Leopold the freedom for which he unsuccessfully petitioned four times previously.

GOODWIN SIMPSON

ROBERT KIRSCHBAUM

Funerals Set For 3 C-City Crash Victims

COLORADO CITY — Funeral services have been scheduled for the three Colorado City citizens killed Tuesday afternoon in a Mexico plane crash.

Rites for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Melton Kirschbaum are planned for 2 p.m. Friday. Services for Goodwin Lee Simpson are set for 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Goodwin Simpson, injured in the plane crash, remained in a critical condition in University Hospital at Monterrey, Mexico, today. However, friends here received a report that she had shown some improvement.

Simpson's plane crashed in a fog about 50 miles north of Monterrey as the two couples attempted to fly home from a visit in Mexico. Another plane, piloted by Frank Deregibus of Colorado City and carrying Mrs. Deregibus and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lawlis of Colorado City, made the flight safely. Deregibus, former flight instructor for Simpson, said his party almost was lost in the fog.

Rites for Mr. and Mrs. Kirschbaum will be held in Kiker & Son Funeral Chapel here Friday. Interment will be in the Sweetwater Cemetery.

The Simpson services are to be held in the First Christian Church Saturday morning with the Rev. Don Mecoy officiating and interment will be in Colorado City Cemetery under direction of Kiker & Son Funeral Home.

Simpson was born in Dallas on Feb. 24, 1929, but had lived most of his life in Colorado City. He was married to the former Jody McColl.

Survivors include his wife, two children, Sherry Elaine, 6, and Ken Lee, 4; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Simpson, all of Colorado City.

Kirschbaum, associated with his father in the appliance business, was born July 18, 1923, in Sweetwater. He married Frances Palmer in 1947. He was worshipful master of the Masonic Lodge in 1954. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris L. Kirschbaum, a daughter, Susan, 9, and a son, Joe Larry, 5.

Mrs. Kirschbaum, 30, was born Aug. 20, 1927, in Hamlin. In addition to her children, she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Palmer of Sweetwater; four brothers, Wyrondell Palmer of Dallas, Lt. Bill Palmer of the U. S. Navy, and Jim Tom and Bobby Don of Sweetwater; and two sisters, Mrs. Bill Holbert of Lamesa and Mrs. Joe Spradlin of Sweetwater.

Both the Kirschbaums and Simpsons were active in Colorado City Junior Chamber of Commerce affairs. Both men had served as local Jaycee president and both of the women had served as president of the Jaycee-ettes. Both Mr. and Mrs. Simpson had served as state presidents of their respective organizations.

Indonesian Troops Capture Oil Field

But Sumatra Rebels Deny Area Taken

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Premier Djuanda today claimed that Jakarta paratroopers had captured the American-owned Caltex oil field near Pakanbaru in Central Sumatra.

The rebel regime in Central Sumatra disputed earlier government claims that paratroopers dropped on the Pakanbaru airfield and a combat regiment had captured the nearby town of Pakanbaru.

Minas field, one of two major Caltex fields in Central Sumatra, is about 15 miles northeast of Pakanbaru.

Djuanda said capture of the oil field would permit Caltex to resume operations. Evacuation of American personnel from the area would no longer be necessary, he told newsmen.

The company closed operations last Monday and evacuated a few women and children at the suggestion of the Djuanda government.

An Army spokesman said the Jakarta troops suffered no casualties in occupying the Pakanbaru area. He could not say whether there were any casualties among the rebel forces.

Caltex officials earlier declined direct comment on the status of future operations at Pakanbaru but said it might be possible to resume production soon.

An official of Caltex who would not be identified said company officials in Singapore now are trying to move in food and fuel to their 3,000 to 4,000 employes at oil installations in Central Sumatra.

He said all workers are safe.

The town of Pakanbaru itself is headquarters for Caltex operations. Camps for its workers and an oil terminal are at Rumbai on the northern edge of Pakanbaru. The airfield is about three miles south of the city.

President Sukarno, in a speech to officers at Malang in East Java distributed today, ripped off the cloak of aloofness which he has maintained toward the rebellion led by many of his old comrades in the revolution against the Dutch.

For the first time he mentioned by name Lt. Col. Achmad Hussein, military leader of the rebel regime, and its premier, Sjafruddin Prawiranegara. He accused them of a "betrayal of the nation's struggle to create a great unitary state."

He denied they were seeking greater autonomy for the outer islands and charged they were being manipulated by foreign powers "which want to drag Indonesia or part of it into one of the world blocs."

Lt. Col. Ventje Sumual, another rebel leader in the Celebes, tried to buy arms in Japan recently, he charged, and then made a similar attempt "in a country closer to Indonesia"—a reference to the Philippines which Sumual also visited.

An Army spokesman, Lt. Col. Rudy Pirngadie, claimed Jakarta troops captured rebel arms and ammunition at Pakanbaru which had originated from a foreign country.

Batista Arms To Crush Any Students Riots

HAVANA (AP) — Armed with a new decree suspending civil liberties, President Fulgencio Batista's police and army stood ready to smash antigovernment demonstrations if thousands of Havana university students go through with plans to hold a mass meeting today.

The students planned to assemble on the first anniversary of a rebel invasion of Batista's palace. About 20 persons were killed at the palace and 20 more elsewhere in Havana during a daring but poorly organized plot to kill or kidnap the Cuban president.

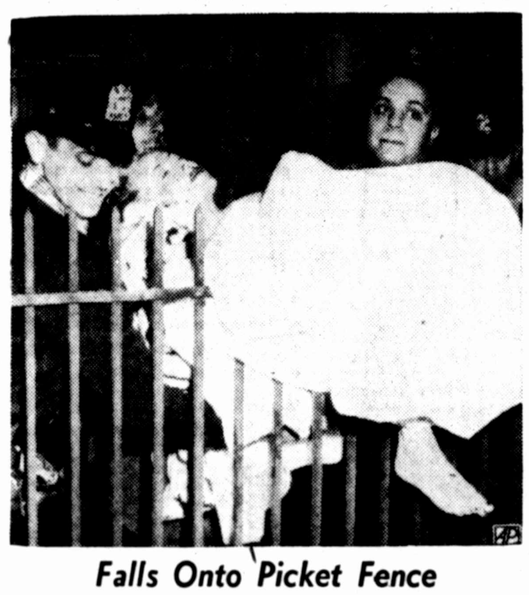

The suspension of civil liberties was rammed through Batista's new "peace cabinet" in an emergency session, forcing the resignation of Premier Emilio Nunez Portuondo.

The fiery little diplomat's walkout was a face-saving gesture. Only the night before he had promised constitutional guarantees would not be suspended for the eighth time in 15 months. His cabinet resigned with him, then most of the ministers took their jobs back, and Nunez Portuondo prepared to return to his previous post as Batista's ambassador to the United Nations.

Minister of State Gonzalo Guell became premier.

The first effect of the new decree was to bring back censorship of Cuban newspapers, radio and TV as well as outgoing foreign dispatches.

Police also were empowered to make arrests without warrants and hold prisoners without charges. All mass meetings were banned, in effect halting campaigning for the June 1 presidential election. The decree remains in force 45 days but can be renewed.

Falls Onto Picket Fence

Mrs. Betty Jane Lenny, a former nightclub dancer, is removed from an iron picket fence by emergency squad police in New York. Mrs. Lenny, clad in a negligee, jumped or fell from her fourth-floor apartment, landing partially on the fence in the courtyard. She was reported in critical condition after an emergency operation.

Texas Shivers As Snows Taper Off

By The Associated Press

A hard freeze chilled the Texas Panhandle Thursday as snows up to nearly 8 inches in West Texas tapered off.

Amarillo had a light snow and El Paso had rain and snow early Thursday.

Overnight temperatures ranged from 12 degrees at Dalhart to 49 at Brownsville. Lubbock had 15, Amarillo 19, Wichita Falls 26, Midland 28, Abilene 29, Fort Worth 32, Dallas and El Paso 34, Texarkana 36, Waco 38, San Antonio, Austin and Lufkin 39, Houston 43, Galveston 44 and Corpus Christi 46.

Skies were cloudy in West, East and South Texas.

El Paso got 7½ inches of snow, the greatest since Nov. 19, 1906, when 8.4 inches fell.

The snow slacked off at El Paso in the afternoon, the temperature rose to 41 and the damp snow melted quickly. The Weather Bureau said only a trace remained on the ground at the El Paso airport by nightfall, and a light rain had commenced.

It snowed generally from the Pecos Valley westward Wednesday night, but most ended by midnight.

Cloudy skies and cold weather were forecast for all of Texas with scattered rains. Some more light snow was predicted for the Panhandle and South Plains.

Rains fell over most of the rest of Texas Wednesday. Highways were open, but many were dangerous in northwest Texas. Buses and planes were late in the Panhandle Wednesday.

Snow ranged from 3 inches up to 7 around Lubbock. It also rained up to 7 inches at Silverton. Several public schools were closed in the Panhandle.

Despite the heavy snow, El Paso got only .74 of an inch of precipitation Wednesday. Other amounts included .66 at Lubbock, .72 at Sherman, .49 at Wichita Falls, .41 at Dallas, .39 at Austin and .37 at Abilene.

The Amarillo Daily News said the moisture has produced very favorable prospects for farmers throughout the Panhandle and South Plains areas.

"Some farmers say it's the best prospects they have had in 10 or 15 years," the paper said.

Highs Wednesday ranged from 65 at Presidio to 30 at Dalhart.

Mercury Falls To 26 Degrees

Some fear was felt Thursday morning that the current cold weather may have wreaked damage to plants, fruit and shrubs but it was said that warmer weather must return before full evaluation can be made.

No additional moisture fell on Wednesday night but the temperature dropped to 26 degrees during the period. All of the light coating of snow which was on the ground on Wednesday morning had vanished by late afternoonn Total moisture from the snow aggregated .18 inch. An additional .02 inch was recorded after 8 a.m. Wednesday and was the product of a brief but heavy flurry of snow which lasted about an hour.

This pushed the total precipitation for the month to .65 inch and brought the year's total to 3.96 inches.

Sunshine had returned Thursday morning but the air was still chill.

High on Wednesday never climbed above 36 degrees.

UAW Official Denies Riot Plot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Donald Rand of the United Auto Workers denied today that he or the union planned or staged a 1955 near riot which marked the long UAW strike against the Kohler Co.

But Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) told Rand: "I think you know a lot more than you are telling." Goldwater said the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee should get at the truth "even if we have to drag every man in Wisconsin down here" to testify.

Chairman McLellan (D-Ark) said he didn't think that would be necessary, but he added: "I'm not convinced this big union and all of its representatives are so innocent."

$4 MILLION PROJECT REVIVED

Proposed Expansion At Webb Creates Housing Demand

Contemplated installation of new facilities at Webb Air Force Base will bring additional military personnel into the city and will create a demand for more housing, a Chamber of Commerce group was told Wednesday.

Col. Kyle Riddle, Webb commander, held a conference with about 15 business leaders to discuss the need for housing.

He said plans for the proposed new facilities at the base were of a classified nature, and that firm decision has not yet been made on the project, but that one of the factors involved would be the provision — by mid-summer — of 150 housing units in the city.

It was understood that the Webb development plans include installations for which $4,118,000 was appropriated by Congress last year. This project subsequently was shelved, but may be back in the planning stage.

Col. Riddle pointed out that the housing will have to be available before the current Capehart housing project, under way adjacent to Webb, is completed. He indicated that continued growth plans are in the future for Webb, and that any housing brought on the market to meet July-August needs could be absorbed even when the 460-unit project at the base is completed.

J. E. Hogan, C-C president, appointed a special committee to start studies looking toward the housing solution. In the group are Marvin Miller, Bill Hensley, Champ Rainwater, Larson Lloyd, K. H. McGibbon, Roy Reeder, Elmo Wasson, Cecil McDonald and Robert Currie.

Among avenues to be explored are: A survey of rental availabilities existing now; a check with building interests as to number of residential units they plan to build this year; a program of seeking upgrading of rental units now on the market but possibly in the less-desirable class; and a check with hotel interests on possibility of converting rooms into apartments.

The committee also is to confer with the City Commission on long-range plans for bringing outlying plots into the city limits, to improve loan values that would permit residential building.

A meeting of the committee, the City Commission and Webb officials is scheduled at the Chamber offices Friday noon.

Clean-Up Campaign Gets Discussion

Preliminary plans for sponsorship of a spring clean-up campaign were to be mapped today by three Chamber of Commerce committee chairmen.

Discussing the project at a luncheon session were Mrs. Obie Bristow, beautifucation chairman; Dr. Floyd Mays, health and sanitation chairman; Jim Lewis, clean-up chairman; and Dr. J. E. Hogan, Chamber president.

Blonde Beauty Shot To Death

BEAVER, Pa. (AP) — A blonde beauty contest entrant was shot to death early today while walking with a married man who later said he had been keeping company with her.

Police found the body of 21-year-old Rosalie Leis, of nearby Vanport, slumped at the foot of a tree in a wooded area about a mile from her home. Dep. Coroner Marion Todd said three .22 caliber bullets had struck her chest, and three others ripped into her back. At least one bullet pierced her heart.

Theodore (Ted) Pallow, a 25-year-old millworker, had hitchhiked a ride to the Beaver police station shortly after 2 a. m., walked in to tell patrolman Edward McLister "I just killed a girl in Vanport."

In a later statement, Beaver police said, Pallow said he loved Rosalie very much, that they had been dating for several months. He said the affair was responsible for his wife leaving him and taking their 7-year-old child.

Miss Leis, an entrant in a number of western Pennsylvania beauty contests in recent years, was a runner-up in the 1955 Miss Pennsylvania contest of the Miss Universe competition. She recently has been employed as a clerk in the accounting department of a manufacturing plant at nearby Fallston.

Pallow was being held without charge pending further questioning.

Officers who heard him blurt out his statement followed his directions to find the body of Miss Leis. A pistol lay a few feet away.

Beaver police, reporting the statement they said Pallow gave, quoted him as saying that his affair with Rosalie had been near the breaking point recently, that she told him to bring a gun to their meeting last night, that he should shoot her or she would shoot him and then kill herself.

Big Springers Due At Hearing

AUSTIN (AP)—Navy Capt. M. V. Carson, head of the government's voluntary oil imports control program, and 13 other witnesses will appear before the oil imports study commission hearing Tuesday in Abilene.

French Robertson of Abilene, chairman, named the witnesses for the second meeting of the commission studying the effect of excessive oil imports on the state economy.

Olin Culberson, chairman of the Railroad Commission, will testify at 1:30 p.m. Carson will appear at 10 a.m.

Other witnesses include James Lauderdale of Abilene, president of the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Assn.; C. T. McLaughlin of Snyder, president of Sharon Ridge producers and Royalty Owners Assn.; Dr. Frank Counselman of Abilene, geologist;

Berry Brown of Wichita Falls, tax consultant; R. W. Thompson of Big Spring, vice president of Cosden Petroleum Corp., Dr. Harold Cooke of Abilene, president of McMurry College; Supt. John Culwell of Breckenridge schools; Fred Husbands of Abilene, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford; Rep. Truett Latimer of Abilene, and Rep. Gordon Bristow of Big Spring.

6 Panels Of Jurors Picked

First of six panels drawn on Wednesday by a jury commission for the Howard County Court will be asked to report to the court on Monday at 9 a.m. R. H. Weaver, judge, announced on Thursday.

The 25 men and women will be asked to serve as jurors in the initial week's trial of criminal cases in the county court.

John Richard Coffee, county attorney, said the state would be ready with at least 17 cases. Only four or five at the most, however, can be tried in a single week, it was pointed out. Weaver has announced that he proposes to have a series of criminal trial weeks from now until the present swollen county criminal docket can be materially reduced.

The jury commissioners drew the names of 150 persons to make up the six panels ordered by the court. Jury commissioners were Wayne Smith, Sue Broughton and A. B. Cramer.

Surety Liquidation Investigation Opens

AUSTIN (AP) — H. L. Tipton of Lubbock, a former employe of the state Insurance Liquidation Division, was the first witness appearing today before the Senate Investigating Committee.

The committee opened a three-day questioning of operations of the division and subpoenaed 14 witnesses to tell how bankrupt insurance companies are handled.

Tipton said he was a Lubbock used car salesman who from 1953 through 1955 handled the sales of used cars owned by U.S. Automotive Service, a subsidiary of the defunct U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co.

He said late in 1955 and in 1956 he worked for the liquidation department in reselling the autos of U.S. Automotive Service as assets of the defunct U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co.

Sen. Charles Herring, chairman, said most of the 14 witnesses are present and former employes of the Liquidation Department.

Herring said former Liquidator J. D. Weeler, who resigned Feb. 24, and James Williamson, present state liquidator, would testify Friday or Saturday.

"We're just going to look into the many complaints we have received about the liquidation of some companies and what the specific problems are," Herring said.

"It's important to determine whether new laws may be necessary to clarify any conflicting interpretations of the present statute."

Several times in recent years the state auditor has recommended that additional legislation be passed to clarify the legal status of the liquidation division. The liquidator functions under court orders in closing out defunct insurance companies but all operation costs must come from the companies themselves. Some bankrupt firms do not have enough assets to cover the costs of receivership. The state attorney general has held that employes of the division are state employes but the federal government disagrees because the wages are not paid by the state.

Automation Spikes Navigation School

HOUSTON (AP)—Automation has put the navigation training program out of business at Ellington AFB here.

Ellington officials said the training program, the primary mission of the base since 1949, will end Wednesday because of a declining demand for navigators.

"You may say automation is taking over," said Maj. William Gremillion, public information officer. "Where some of the older large bombers required two and even three navigators, only one is needed in the more modern planes."

The base will be used by Air Reserve and National Guard units after April 1.

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — On a special sale day this week, one woman rushed into a shoe shop, took off her shoes, kicked them under a counter, tried on a pair of bargain shoes and walked out with them on. No, she didn't pay.

Signs Of Progress

Despite recent continued bad weather, some signs of progress are already evident at Webb's new Capehart Housing Area—as this low-level air view shows. The area has been cleared of brush and leveled and the wide, curving access boulevard has been graded from near the San Angelo highway, lower left, to Webb AFB, over the ridge, in the background. Dark rows of piled drainage pipe dot the area. This northerly shot was made from a Webb helicopter hovering above the south boundary of the housing area.

Brundage Quits As Director Of U. S. Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Percival F. Brundage resigned today as director of the budget.

President Eisenhower appointed Maurice H. Stans, now deputy director, to succeed Brundage.

Eisenhower also named Robert E. Merriam, currently an assistant to the director, as deputy chief of the bureau.

In a letter to Eisenhower made public by the White House, Brundage said he is stepping down because he "must attend to some personal matters that have been neglected."

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said "of course not" when asked whether Brundage was leaving because of any fiscal policy differences with the administration at this time of business recession.

Eisenhower accepted Brundage's resignation "with great regret and reluctance."

Brundage has served as budget director since April 2, 1956. Eisenhower chose him to succeed Rowland R. Hughes.

Brundage had been deputy budget director since May 1954. Before that he was a senior partner in the Price Waterhouse accounting firm.

JERRY IDEN SHOWS GRAND CHAMPION STEER

Jerry Iden Has Champ Steer, Melvin Fryar Shows Top Lamb

Jerry Iden, alert young Howard County 4-H club member from Vealmoor achieved his long sought goal Wednesday afternoon —his 895-ound steer was rated as grand champion at the 21st annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Fat Stock show.

Four times this year Jerry has made a bid for this distinction with his beautiful animal. He entered the steer at Fort Worth and emerged with the third place ribbon. At Houston he took a second place nod.

He came nearest of all to his ambition at El Paso where his entry won first place in its class but did not make the coveted purple of the championship.

It is the fourth year that Iden has made his bid for high honors at the local show, too. In other years he had fared well but the championship and all that it embodies eluded him.

Wednesday afternoon, Judge Stanley Anderson of Lubbock walked backward and forward in front of the top steers of each of the weights. He pondered their merits.

Then he signalled that Iden's entry was the choice. The gorgeous grand championship banner was spread across the beast's broad shoulders and photographers' flash bulbs began to pop.

Iden's entry had scored tops in the middleweight steer division to qualify it for the chance to try for the grand championship.

Joyce Robinson, who lives in Knott Community, another active member of the county 4-H organization, won the reserve championship with her lightweight steer. This animal had rated best in its own class.

Championship of the show in the lamb division went to Melvin Fryar, Big Spring, whose heavyweight Southdown was rated best of the 125 animals entered in that division.

Susan Elrod, Forsan, was winner of the reserve championship with her lightweight Southdown.

Earlier, Dale Nichols of Coahoma had won the capon grand championship. Reserve grand championship went to Camella Ryan, Center Point.

All that remains to bring this year's show to a close will be the big auction sale at 7:30 p.m. tonight. There was no activity at the show grounds today other than the routine care the young exhibitors must provide for their animals.

The scene will change tonight, however, as the seats around the sale ring fill with spectators and bidders for the big sale. Walter Britten, auctioneer from College Station, will rap his gavel and 21 of the steers, 70 of the lambs and all of the capons which had been entered in the competition will be sold to the highest bidders.

Last year, the sale brought in more than $14,000 for the young owners. A special committee headed by David Sims, Junior Chamber of Commerce leader, has been working for two weeks lining up buyers for the stock. It is hoped that this year's prices will be better and the bidding more spirited than even last year's successful event.

Here are the placings in the judging for steers.

Heavy weight streers—1. Rodney Brooks, 2. Tommy Newton, 3. Louise Plew, 4. Freddie White, 5 Butch Hodnett, 6. Gerry Harkrider.

New City Vehicle Is Delivered Today

A car purchased by the City Commission Tuesday night was delivered this morning.

The commission accepted a Jones Motor Co. bid of $939.28 for a 1958 Plymouth which could be delivered immediately, and this morning it was turned over to the city. Jones had also bid $900 for a model to be delivered in three or four weeks, but the commission elected to pay $39 more and get it sooner. The alternate bid was still lower than those submitted by three other car dealers.

The car was ordered for the police department, but city officials decided to turn the new car over to the city manager and giver the manager's car to the police. The manager's car is a 1957 model with only about 6,000 miles on it.

28 Lunacy Cases Are Heard Today

Twenty-eight lunacy cases were heard at the Big Spring State Hospital this morning.

Only three of the cases required the services of jurors. All of the others were tried before R. H. Weaver, county judge, and jury waived.

All of the cases resulted in the admittance of the persons named as being mentally ill.

This accumulation of applications which have collected since the February hearing at the hospital.

Under the new Mental Health Code, hearings are held on a monthly basis and majority of the matters are disposed without the services of a jury.

Press Group's Scholarship Contest Opens

Deadline for entries in the West Texas Press Association's $400 Journalism Scholarship Contest was announced as May 1 today by Roy V. Fox of Colorado City, contest committee chairman.

Winner will receive $100 per year for each of his or her four years at any of 10 cooperating West Texas colleges and universities. Two previous winners are now studying college journalism on WTPA scholarships.

Rules for the journalism scholarship award have been forwarded to high school principals and newspaper editors and publishers throughout West Texas.

Applicants must be in the top 25 per cent of their 1958 high school graduating class, demonstrate ability in the field of journalism and be interested in journalism as a career.

Auto Accessories Target Of Thieves

Thieves preyed on car accessories here the past two days.

W. E. DeHart, 1105 E. 12th, told the police that two mirrors had been stolen from his 1956 Chevrolet while it was parked on the Malone & Hogan Hospital parking lot between 7 a.m. and 3 p.m. Wednesday.

Preston Bridges, 510 Abrams, lost two mirrors and a set of fender skirts from his car, a 1957 Ford.

This morning, Mrs. J. L. Hewgley, 200 Wright, said four hub caps were taken from her 1956 Mercury while it was parked at the Clover Bowl Wednesday night.

SAYS GM OFFICIAL

Business Needs Confidence 'Dose'

FLINT, Mich. — Business would take a sharp upturn if everyone in this country took a dose of confidence along with his spring tonic of sulphur and molasses, Edward T. Ragsdale, vice president of General Motors, said today.

"There is no lack of money," Ragsdale said, "just a lack of confidence."

Ragsdale just returned from a two-week swing through the West where he held dealer meetings in five cities.

"While automobile sales are currently running at one of the lowest levels of the present decade, the hard facts do not indicate a recession of the magnitude painted," Ragsdale said. "The average consumer has been so steeped in gloom that he has put a padlock on his pocketbook and he isn't going to take it off until the air has cleared."

Ragsdale said that in Los Angeles, which in the past has been a good barometer of business conditions throughout the country, savings deposits are up 11 per cent over last year, and bank debits, which are an indication of business activity, are up 3 per cent. Bank debits in Phoenix were up 11 per cent in February, he said.

"The hard cash is available for consumer purchases, and business activity is better than the average person realizes," Ragsdale said, "but we lack a formula for generating confidence among the people."

Vacation Offered With Car Purchase

Perhaps the travel phase has come to the car business here.

For years the trade has been noted for sales promotions, one of the most widely used being the madness theme in bargain offers. McEwen Motor Company is taking a different tack in a new sales campaign. To any customer to buys a new or used car for $1,000 or more, a four-day paid vacation at the El Cortez Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev. is to be supplied, said R. R. McEwen Jr.

Banquet Scheduled

Members of the Lakeview Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs are staging a banquet as a money raising project at 8:30 p.m. today. The affair has been scheduled for the Mt. Bethel Baptist Church, tickets are available at the door. Club leaders have arranged a program and Everett Taylor, YMCA program director, is to be a guest speaker.

Quaker Appeals Truancy Fine

READING, Pa. (AP) — A Quaker father is appealing a $2 fine for not sending his 11-year-old son to public school. He says public schools lack religious instruction.

John H. McCandless of nearby Alburtis presented that argument yesterday in Berks County Court. The court had imposed the fine ruling that young Christopher is not getting enough instruction to meet the compulsory school attendance law.

McCandless and his wife, both members of the Religious Society of Friends and both college graduates, had sent Christopher to public scrool through the fourth grade, tutoring him themselves on the side.

Now they send him to a fifth-grade class at a Friends school. But the boy goes only one day a week because the school is 47 miles away. On the other days his parents tutor him.

Chubby Cashier Foils Robbery

CHICAGO (AP)—A chubby woman currency exchange cashier foiled a robbery.

Mrs. Gladys Burton, 48, was met by two men, one carrying a gun, when she opened the exchange. They ordered her to open the double doors to the back of the cages.

Mrs. Burton, 5 feet 3 inches tall and weighing 160 pounds, viewed the narrow opening and told the robbers: "I'm too chubby for two of us to go through at one time. I'll go first."

She entered, locked the doors and rang the burglar alarm. The robbers fled.

AF Develops Small H-Bomb

FORT WORTH (AP)—Gen. O. P. Weyland, commander of the Tactical Air Command, said today a hydrogen bomb small enough to be carried by a fighter-bomber has been developed for use by Tactical Air Forces.

The commander, whose headquarters are at Langley Air Force Base, Va., told a division meeting of the American Petroleum Institute the fighter delivery system for the H bomb is so accurate it exceeds that of the Low Altitude Bombing System (LABS).

Weyland, commander of Far East Air Forces during the Korean conflict, said tactical fighters are dispersed at bases around the world and a "large segment" of any potential enemy target complex lies within their range.

"At this moment at various points throughout the free world, there are squadrons of supersonic tactical aircraft, each capable of delivering an atomic bomb against an assigned target or an unexpected target of opportunity," he said.

"These aircraft are located, not thousands of miles from the scene of any future conflict but so close they will have delivered the first counterattack sometime before our major retaliatory force arrives."

Milton Lightner of New York, chairman of Singer Manufacturing Co., said modern business faces three threats: The growth of tax burdens, labor monopoly power and the concentration of power in the national government. Connelly described the organizational work of the API and its division of production.

Citations for outstanding service were presented to A. E. Chester of Dallas, vice president and manager of the Producing Division of the Magnolia Petroleum Co.; Alden Donnelly, vice president and director of Honolulu Oil Corp. of Midland, and J. H. Sullivan of Dallas, regional petroleum engineer for the Atlantic Refining Co.

Who Said Army Life Was Easy?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A busy man is 2nd Lt. John D. Vaille, 23, launcher platoon leader of an Army Nike air defense missile site in the mountains north of here.

He is also custodian of classified documents, battery fire marshal, unit fund recorder and, in addition—

Executive, security, personal affairs, safety, mess, engineer equipment, postal, communications, character guidance, voting, claims, plans and training, conservation, cost consciousness, funds, alternate re-enlistment, troop information, public information, area beautification, chemical biological - radiological warfare, crafts, theater, and repair and utility services officer.

An antiaircraft brigade officer at Ft. MacArthur, which has jurisdiction over the Nike site, said the reason Vaille has so many assignments may be that the battery is short of lieutenants. Most of the jobs are intermuttent and minor, he said.

FCC Moves To Reconsider TV Channel Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission today moved to reconsider its grant of TV Channel 10 at Miami, Fla., central case in a House investigation that led to the resignation of Commissioner Richard A. Mack.

The commission, taking note of charges in the House investigation that pressures may have entered into the award, filed a motion in the U.S. Court of Appeals requesting that the case be returned to the FCC for further review.

By a 4-2 vote last year, the FCC awarded the channel to Public Service Television Inc., a subsidiary of National Airlines.

The FCC decision is now before the Appeals Court in two proceedings.

In one of these, WKAT Inc., an unsuccessful bidder for the channel, is challenging FCC's refusal of last September to reconsider the grant to Public Service.

The other Appeals Court case was brought by Eastern Airlines, which asked the court to overrule an FCC order which denied Eastern the right to intervene in the Channel 10 proceeding as a protestant.

The commission move for return of the case to it came as the House Investigating Committee was continuing its inquiry into financial relations between Mack and Thurman Whiteside, a wealthy Miami attorney and longtime friend of the ex-commissioner.

JURY LOOKS IN

A federal grand jury also is looking into the case.

Whiteside acknowledged making loans and giving other financial assistance to Mack, but insists there was nothing improper.

At one time, Whiteside was plugging for award of the channel to Public Service Television but was never an attorney of record in the case and has testified he refused an offer of employment by the law firm which was handling Public Service's application.

Also on tap for a return appearance was A. Frank Katzentine, Miami Beach radio station operator who lost his bid for TV Channel 10 in Miami.

The two other listed witnesses — Alfred Barton of Miami and Frank Miller of New York — have been quoted by Katzentine as telling him before the FCC decision in February 1957 that they had heard he was going to lose.

Rep. Harris (D-Ark), subcommittee chairman, told reporters the committee was through questioning Mack. The former commissioner appeared before the group yesterday for the first time since his resignation March 3.

Still unanswered were questions about deposits totaling $7,986 in Mack's checking account from 1955-58. Harris said Mack would be permitted to put the explanation in the record when he could identify the deposits.

The subcommittee also plans to hear from other FCC commissioners on their vote in the Channel 10 case.

Test Vehicle For Simulated Space Flight

This general view shows the mock-up of the B36 bomber in which five Air Force officers "took off" at Dayton, Ohio for a simulated 5-day flight into space. On top of the ship, above the dome, are located movie and TV cameras to record every movement of the officers. At bottom are control panels used in the test. Stairways are used by cameramen to check and reload cameras at sealed portholes.

Unemployment Rise

This chart shows how unemployment jumped in February to 5,173,000, the highest level since August 1941. The jobless figure increased 679,000 since January, according to a government report. February is a month in which employment is normally stable.

Watchful Eyes On Consumer Loans

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The consumer who borrows to buy—either on the installment plan or in a lump sum from the bank—may see little change so far under the new easier money policy.

But as those who finance his purchases find a larger supply of credit to tap at lower rates, the benefits are beginning to trickle down to the on-the-cuff man.

Consumer loans will be watched closely in the next two months by those charting the business cycle.

Tight money for months appeared to have little effect on the steady upward climb of total consumer debt. Only contraction of the repayment period did much to brake it.

"The average purchaser pays little attention to the amount of the interest charge involved in his installment loan," says the head of one of he largest finance companies. "What he looks at is the size of the monthly payment in relation to his paycheck."

But tight money caught up with the finance companies. They have to borrow funds needed to carry your time purchases. As the supply of these available funds shrank and the interest costs climbed steadily, finance companies raised the charges for the funds they in effect lend to the car dealer or the appliance retailer to pay the manufacturer while carrying on-the-cuff customers.

About this time, competition got so tough between dealers and retailers that they absorbed some of this rise and for awhile let it squeeze profits. Last fall they began to pass on new costs along with higher prices.

Finance companies are borrowing money much more cheaply these days. They have little trouble finding all they need.

The supply is rising from a number of sources: (1) the negative one that business is borrowing less and thus leaving more for others; (2) the added funds the Federal Reserve Board is letting the banks have to lend (3) the rise in savings totals.

The National Assn. of Mutual Savings Banks say deposits in the 520 banks increased 233 million dollars during January to reach a record 32 billion. The U.S. Treasury adds that in February sales of U.S. Savings Bonds topped cash-ins for the first time in 19 months. Life insurance totals are rising. All spell more savings—all but the savings bonds spell more funds for private investment.

But getting an installment loan is more than a matter of money supply and interest charges, as many have found out.

During the tight money era banks and finance companies sought to take only the better risks on what money they had to lend.

Now the accent is different. Banks and finance companies are looking harder these days at the income prospects of applicants. There's more money to lend and interest is past its peak—but there may be fewer good risks.

Adlai Supports Summit Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai Stevenson voiced support last night for an East-West summit conference on world armament control, but agreed with the Eisenhower administration that the conference should be preceded by lower-level talks.

Stevenson, former Democratic presidential candidate, took part in a transatlantic radio discussion with Hugh Gaitskell, British Labor party leader, and Pierre Mendes-France, former French premier. The transcribed program was aired via CBS' Radio Beat network show.

Stevenson said an East-West agreement on one point alone—discontinuing hydrogen weapons test with suitable inspection provisions—would relieve "the most terrifying aspect of our contemporary scene."

While he favors a summit meeting, he said, the Western nations should get together beforehand and decide on their joint position in order to present a solid front against the Soviet Union at shch a meeting.

Both Mendes-France and Gaitskell agreed that a summit conference is advisable.

Dog Gets Estate

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — Mozart, a 2-year-old black and tan dachshund, has been left the residuary estate of Harold K. Beach, who died last Feb. 28 at the age of 74. An attorney said the sum was "considerable." Beach was a retired chief engineer at the Phelps-Dodge Copper Products Corp. of Elizabeth.

No Sacks

Miss Elsie Mumma, a candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania on an independent ticket, poses in the kitchen of her farm home in Hummelstown, Pa., mopping the floor and wearing a sack dress she said she made herself for only thirty five cents to show how terrible they look. Miss Mumma said, "sack dresses ought to be given the sack" and asserted, "women don't like to be in the bag."

Pearson Gains Headway In Canada Election

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (AP)—Lester B. (Mike) Pearson appears to be coming off the ropes in his struggle for Canada's political championship.

Less apologetic and more forthright in his speeches than at the start, he appears now to be winning better crowd reaction as he carries his peace-and-prosperity message across the country.

His audiences have become larger and more attentive. Among his handlers, the spirit has definitely brightened.

"Well, what would you expect?" he replied when asked to comment on indications that he appeared a bit groggy and slow in the campaign opening. "It was like putting a man into a championship fight with only two weeks training. That's all the time I had between the time I became Liberal leader and the date the election was called.

"And you couldn't even call it training. I had to spend that time in the House of Commons. I had no time to reorganize the party. I had to go in almost raw. It's getting easier for me now. I feel a lot more confident of the future than when I started."

With half the campaign over, the shy, rather quiet-spoken former diplomat—given more to reflective conversation than dazzling oratory—now talks less of the mistakes of the Liberal party's past and more of the bright new future he sees ahead. He has given his team a clearer shape and personality—"the new party, the party of reform, the party of the left."

Though he drives himself hard, Pearson, 60, appears in good physical shape. At the end of the first three weeks of campaigning, after he had covered parts of Ontario and toured the four Western provinces, Pearson told Liberal supporters in Quebec to take heart. He said he had found a "great spirit of life, hope, energy, enthusiasm and optimism in our party." But the party needs more than spirit to win an election, he added; it needs to work.

He carried the same message to every province: return the Liberals to power to restore prosperity. Everywhere he argued the advantages of his proposed 400 million dollars in tax cuts over Prime Minister Diefenbaker's billion-dollar works program as an answer to Canada's economic doldrums.

He hammered at Diefenbaker's proposed 15 per cent switch in Canada's imports from the United States to Britain, arguing this kind of proposal makes food for tariff protectionists at Washington.

He emphasized the need for peace and asked voters to compare his own qualifications to find peace with those of the Conservatives.

There may be some fertilizer used on dryland cotton this year because of the underground moisture. Dr. W. B. Hardy, who owns a place in the northeast part of the county, has given his renter the green light on using fertilizer as a trial.

Incidentally, twin calves have been born on the farm, which is the second time this has happened in recent years. These came from a young cow, and Hardy says they were not much bigger than jack rabbits.

Jess Slaughter, former Howard County sheriff, says range conditions are getting better in the Fort Stockton area. Grass hasn't made much growth yet, but weeds are everywhere, and sheep are grazing them. He said ranchers were further along with their lamb crop than usual and were not feeding much.

Slaughter is now a field man for a Sweetwater feed company.

Lois Madison says they won't be needing their irrigation wells at Tarzan for a while. Most of the land has been plowed but several farmers are still plowing when the weather permits.

Planting will probably start right after Easter, he said, and everyone is hoping it won't be a repetition of last year. Some of his land was planted six times, and then after the crop was already made, a hail storm came along in September and ruined several hundred acres west and south of Tarzan.

"Even that which wasn't hit by the hail never did any good," he said. "It just stood there and never opened like it usually does."

Madison said 1957 was about the most disastrous crop year Tarzan ever experienced.

This should be a good year for poultry, according to Roy Phillips, who has 2,800 young hens on his farm east of Lenorah. He expects them to start laying next week.

Phillips keeps the large hens which produce hatching eggs for a hatchery in Lubbock. The baby chicks are then sold to broiler growers in West Texas.

These are a different breed from the 1,000 he had last year. Whereas they were crossed with red chickens, these have been crossed with White Rocks and are white. He thinks they will lay just as well, even though they cost about a dollar apiece less than the others.

I saw a bit of Trans-Pecos country this last weekend. Friday night was spent with my nephew who manages a large ranch about 20 miles south of Carlsbad Caverns. That country had several rains but is not as wet as Howard County.

About the only grass in the area is found along the draws and creeks, but the cold weather has kept it from coming out. Most of it is being grazed by rabbits, deer and antelope, as there are few cattle in the area. On some of those 50 to 80-section ranches, the owners have only four or five cows to the section, and some have no cattle at all. My nephew said most of them would start restocking when the grass came out, providing they can find cattle to buy.

* * *

The Pecos Valley farmers around Carlsbad are looking for a good crop this year. The reservoirs are filled, which will give the land a good bath of fresh water. The river got so salty during the long drought that it was dumping six tons of salt per acre foot.

The water is much better now, according to Harvey Jordan of the Soil Conservation Service, and carries only about three tons of salt to the acre.

Going from Carlsbad to El Paso, there is nothing but dry mountains, barren hills and greasewood flats. Then when you think you've come to the end of nowhere, there is a sign on the highway that says Dell City is 14 miles to the north.

This is perhaps the best farming community in West Texas, and it's certainly better than Pecos or the El Paso valley. I spent about four hours Saturday afternoon driving around with Lendol Barker, farmer and gin manager at Dell City.

Barker found a good deal three years ago. The government turned back a bombing range just across the line in New Mexico, and he homesteaded 160 acres of it. He now has it improved, and this last year grew 15 bales of cotton on two acres. The two acres covered eight acres of land, but by planting one row in and three out, he was able to count only the cotton rows.

He used the ground as sort of an experiment, and put on over $30 worth of fertilizer. He has a 2,000-gallon well and it's the finest of water. This is not the biggest one there, however, as his father-in-law, Frank Gentry, has one that throws a 14-inch stream and has been estimated at from 6,400 to 6,600 gallons per minute. It's so big that Gentry irrigates over 600 acres with it.

Barker started the pump while I took some pictures. It looks like a river when all that water starts boiling out into a big concrete ditch.

* * *

When I first visited Dell City about six years ago, it was a pioneer village without pavement, electricity, or high school, and the people lived in shacks.

It was quite a primitive place. At night the coyotes howled from the hills, and the same kind of noise was heard in half dozen bars. Then the law-and-order people took over, built churches, a modern high school, and spread concrete over two or three main roads. They have electricity now, a newspaper, and will have telephones in a few months.

* * *

The land was cheap in those days, but now it's high as a cat's back. Barker said one man had been following him around trying to buy the homestead, daring him to set just any price. Some of the improved land would now sell for several hundred dollars an acre.

There is a new block being opened up, however, about four miles west of Dell City. A rancher is selling off 3,000 acres, to be divided into 160-acre blocks. The buyer pays $65 an acre, providing there is any water. He drills his own well, and if no irrigation water is found, the deal is voided. I believe the investor pays for the well test, though.

Barker said the land was good enough, but the water was deeper than east of the village, and there might not be as much of it.

War Bride Gets Death For Murder

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—A jury has decreed death in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber for a former German war bride.

Mrs. Felicitas Nicholson, 32, convicted of beating her 5-year-old daughter to death last July, took the verdict calmly yesterday. The same jury that convicted her last Friday of first-degree murder met again, under a new California law, to fix the punishment.

The body of the child, Heidi, was found stuffed in a closet of a Riverside motel where the mother had been staying. Mrs. Nicholson denied the murder, saying she found her daughter dead.

A prosecutor described her as a "callous, cold-hearted woman who had brutally beaten her child to death because the child got in the way of her good times."

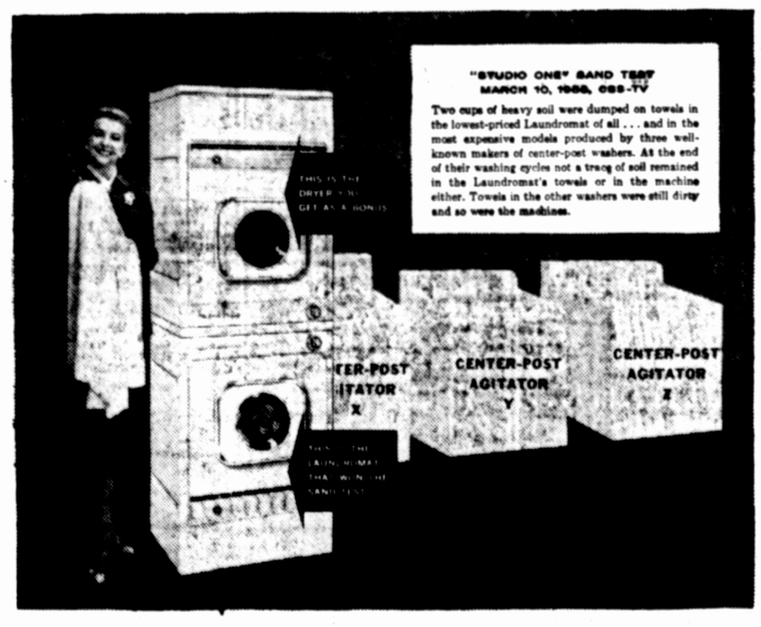

Mrs. Nicholson came to this country after marrying an Air Force sergeant. They have since separated.

MATCHING ELECTRIC DRYER $138.88
BOTH FOR ONLY $318.88

WESTINGHOUSE REVOLVING AGITATOR WASHES CLEANER, RINSES BETTER, EVEN CLEANS ITSELF
In the Laundromat, clothes go inside the Revolving Agitator that lifts, turns, plunges them 50 times a minute, washes each piece equally well all the time. During the rinse cycle, Revolving Agitator lifts clothes while dirty wash water drains away from them — never back through them. All soil, lint and scum go down the drain. The Sand Test proves it!
Center-post machines give clothes bunched around the agitator harsh treatment while those at outer edge of tub get almost no washing action. During rinsing, dirty wash water is strained back through the clothes, redepositing soil, lint and scum on the washed fabrics. The Sand Test proves it!

50,000 Cases Of Breast Cancer In U.S. Predicted

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There will be 50,000 cases of breast cancer in American women next year and 17,000 of the victims will die, says Dr. Ralph R. Coffey, director of surgery at the Kansas City General Hospital.

"It would be difficult to say what the ratio of malignancy to nonmalignancy is in breast tumors," Dr. Coffey said, "but in my own practice the biopsies run 10 nonmalignant to one malignant."

He said many women, discovering a lump in the breast, nevertheless are afraid to consult a physician, partly because they fear cancer, partly because they fear breast disfigurement.

Dr. Coffey explained that it is possible to make a submammary crease incision that is not visible after the operation, regardless of where the lump in the breast has appeared. He has pioneered a radical incision method that leaves no disfigurement, bypasses the blood supply that courses through the domed wall of muscles, and yet his patients have full use of their arms within two days of the operation.

Dr. Coffey stressed the need for women to make monthly self-examinations and report promptly the existence of breast lumps. He spoke at the annual Congress of the International College of Surgeons.

Prices apply only when purchased in quantities as advertised.

In 1928 Safeway made its first appearance in the Texas area by it purchase of the Bird Grocery Stores of Dallas. At that time, the stores consisted of over 110 in number and in all cases were semi-self-service with weekly sales seldom exceeding $2000.

During the past 30 years, although the number of stores has increased by at least 25%, a store's daily sales today are greater than the weekly sales were in 1928. Most of this change can be attributed to changing methods of distribution, self-service operating policies, plus Safeway's continuing policy of offering customers more food for less money.

Safeway hopes to continue to enjoy an ever-increasing patronage of satisfied customers and during the coming years endeavor to provide customers with the lowest possible prices along with the finest selection of meats and produce.

It shall be our main objective to make Safeway your best place to shop.

REDLEGS, GIANTS MAY SOON COMPLETE SWAP

By BEN OLAN
The Associated Press

A pair of home runs by a rookie Cincinnati catcher and a statement by San Francisco Manager Bill Rigney fanned rumors today that a trade was in the making between the Redlegs and Giants.

Rigney, at Phoenix, Ariz., said he was sending scout Tom Sheehan to Florida to look into some deals which simmered several weeks ago. hSeehan will be based at Tampa, Cincinnati's training camp.

Dutch Dotterer, a hard-hitting backstop up from Nashville of the Southern Assn., may help swing the deal. Dotterer slammed two home runs as the Redlegs downed the Detroit Tigers 9-7.

The Giants, admittedly weak behind the plate, have made offers for big Ed Bailey, the Redlegs' No. 1 receiver. They may be glad to settle for Smoky Burgess, the No. 2 man who would be the first stringer for several other big league clubs.

Burgess probably will be made available if Dotterer (.303 with 79 RBIs last year) continues his robust hitting.

In other exhibition games, the St. Louis Cards blanked the New York Yankees 6-0 the Chicago White Sox whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-2 and the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the Milwaukee Braves 4-3. The Cards-Yankees and White Sox-Pirates games were cut short by rain.

Dotterer's second home run in the ninth climaxed a four-run Cincinnati uprising that wiped out a 6-5 Detroit lead. Harvey Kuenn, Al Kaline and Bill Taylor homered for the Tigers.

Vinegar Bend Mizell and Bob Miller limited the Yanks to one hit—a single by rookie shortstop Fritz Brickell. Bob Turley was battered in a three-inning stint, Bobby Shantz was touchel for two runs in two frames while Ryne Duren held St. Louis in the sixth when the rains came.

The White Sox batted around in the seventh and last inning against the Pirates, scoring all their runs. Pinch hitter Nelson Fox drove in two tallies and Tito Francona, Sherman Lollar and Don Prohovich had one RBI each.

Norm Larker's single scored Bob Lillis with two out in the ninth as the Dodgers picked up their second straight victory. Hank Aaron and Ed Mathews homered for Milwaukee.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The two thoroughbreds Big Spring's J. T. Dillard purchased in Kentucky last year weren't long in living up to their promise.

One came home a winner in its first start, the other finished second in its debut at Oak Lawn at Hot Springs, Ark., recently. Each raced three-eighths of a mile.

The campaign to legalize pari-mutuel betting in Texas is now well along. The people circulating the petitions say they are half way along in their drive to get 150,000 citizens of the state to sign the papers. They'll shoot for twice that many.

Once the signatures are obtained, the petition will be turned over to the State Legislature and eventually the proposal would wind up as a referendum on a state ballot, probably in 1959.

The race horse people hope to sell the proposal to the people as a way to raise money for old age pensions, etc. If taxes keep going up, and there's no indication that they won't, it might just succeed.

Incidentally, thoroughbred and trotting racing combined drew a total paid attendance of 53,820,958 in the United States last year. That's amazing, considering the fact that organized baseball (both major and minor league) attracted only 32,512,503 paying customers and college and pro football drew only 16,767,613.

Attendance at horse tracks was up 2,183,452 for the year. Trotting races alone drew 20,820,958.

If pari-mutuel betting ever is legalized in the state again, it's believed a West Texas track would be located at Midland, rather than in Big Spring or Odessa.

Cleaners Pad Bowling Lead

Cauble Cleaners padded its lead in Housewives Bowling league standings by belting Zale's Diamondettes, 2-1, in Wednesday morning play at Clover Bowl.

Second place Wasson and Trantham Furniture lost to Good Housekeeping, 2-1; while Girdner Electric slammed HiFi House, 3-0; and Truman Jones Motor fashioned a 2-1 triumph over Gandy's Creamery in other matches.

Girdner's post high team scores, with 693-1891. Cauble's was close, with 660-1832.

Isabel Mangam of Girdner's and Peggy Dement, Wasson-Trantham, each had a 173, the high game. Dement proceeded to a 461 total. Dora Court of Girdner's came in with a 170 game. Jodie Bowers of the same team registered a 415 total.

Splits were scored by:

Ginger Parsons, Good Housekeeping, 5-9-7; Dora Court, Girdner, 2-7; Jean Cauble, Cauble's, 3-10; Betty Keune, Cauble's, 5-6 and 2-7; Dorothy Henderson, Cauble's, 5-10; and Betty Reid, HiFi House, 2-7.

Next week, HiFi House clashes with Wasson-Trahtham, Good Housekeeping opposes Girdner's, Zale's meets Gandy's and Cauble's tries Truman Jones Motor.

Dalhart Plays Local Netters

Anna Smith's Big Spring Steerettes, who vanquished San Angelo for their second straight District 2-AAAA girls' volleyball victory Tuesday night, meet Dalhart in the first round of the Plainview tournament this weekend.

The Steerettes were to have played Abilene here tonight but that game has been postponed to Monday, March 24, due to the fact that most of the Abilene team is down with the flu.

Big Spring leads the conference standings with a 2-0 won-lost record. Overall, the Steerettes have won 18 of 20 starts and have won tournament crowns at Odessa and Lamesa, as well as here. The locals were also runnersup in the Imperial meet, losing to the host school in the finals.

Big Spring shaded San Angelo, 45-14. The B team also won, 57-10.

Pin Heads Jump Into Top Spot

In the OWC league at the Clover Bowl Monday night, the Jet-ettes, coming up from the bottom, stopped the first place Bowleroos by winning all four points.

The Pin Heads, three points behind the Bowleroos, jumped into first place by taking all four points from the Jet Streams.

In the remaining match, the Topplers bounced the Odd Balls, 3-1.

Evie Malott, of the Jet Streams, carried the high game of 179 and the high series of 478.

For the Jet-ettes, Joyce Ruhl's top game of 171 was the second high game in the league play, while the Pin Heads' Charlotte Townsend's series, 443, placed second.

The Pin Heads led the team play with a total of 2273 pins, plus handicap.

Splits converted were the 5-10, Lois Slavin; 4-5, 2-9 by Dodie Wyatt; 2-7 by Carol Rash and Chips Baumann; and the 4-5 by Jeanne Hermanson and Betty Reid.

Standings

Ken Venturi Is Favorite In Florida Tournament

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—A fledging golf pro who never before had seen the course was the favorite as play started in the $15,000 Pensacola Open tournament today.

He is Ken Venturi, the hottest player on the winter tournament circuit with three victories and top 1958 earnings. The young San Francisco star has won five titles and about $40,000 since he became a professional 15 months ago.

The 26-year-old pro lost a sudden-death playoff yesterday to Bill Casper of Apple Valley, Calif., for the New Orleans Open championship. But the $1,900 runnerup money moped him from second to first place in the PGA money list with a total of $10,262 since the start of the year.

The top 11 official money winners and winners of nine of the 11 1958 tournaments were here.

Also back was the winner of the first Pensacola Open, Art Wall Jr. of Poconoc Manor, Pa.

Hood And Brown Tops At Angelo

The Big Spring team of Dot Hood and Sugar Brown won first place in doubles in the Sherwood Open bowling tournament, which was concluded in San Angelo recently.

The two had a total score of 1278. Hood came up with a scratch tabulation of 629. The feat earned the pair $60.

Frances Glenn and Olive Cauble, also of Big Spring, finished with a tally of 1198 and won $20.

Hood was second in handicap all-events with a 1864 and earned $25.

Sugar Brown was ninth in singles with a handicap score of 634 and made herself $17.50.

Thelma Geers and Ruth Makris are others from here who competed in the tournament.

Coaches Unsure Of Foes' Plans In NI Tourney

NEW YORK (AP) — Basketball Coaches Don Kennedy of St. Peter's (N.J.) and Joe Lapchick of St. John's (N.Y.), whose teams will participate in first round games on tonight's opening program of the National Invitation Tournament, are at opposite ends as far as knowing anything about the opposition is concerned.

St. John's (16-6) will meet Butler (16-9) and St. Peter's (20-3) faces St. Joseph's of Philadelphia (17-8) in Madison Square Garden.

Kennedy has some idea of what to expect from St. Joseph's Lapchick admits he knows nothing about Butler.

"I went down to Philadelphia last Saturday night to see St. Joseph's play Temple. Except for a brief period early in the second half the game was about even (Temple won 91-77). I actually don't know what to expect in the way of defenses. I thought St. Joe's would throw a zone against Temple. Instead it played man-to-man and did a good job of it," Kennedy said.

"I have no scouting report on Butler," said Lapchick. "We tried to get one but we were unsuccessful. Maybe it's just as well I don't know anything. We'll just play our game and not worry about them."

Butler, competing in its first NIT, won 11 of its last 13 games.

The St. John's-Butler winner will play fourth-seeded Utah Saturday afternoon after Niagara meets Xavier of Ohio in a first round game. The St. Joseph's-St. Peter's victor will take on third-seeded St. Bonaventure in the second quarter final game Saturday night. Fordham faces St. Francis of Loretto, Pa. in a first round game Saturday night.

Top-seeded Dayton and second-seeded Bradley will not see action until next Tuesday night. Bradley's defending champions will battle the Niagara-Xavier winner and Dayton goes against the Fordham-St. Francis survivor.

Venturi Loses In Playoff At New Orleans To Casper

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Billy Casper, who doesn't believe in wasting his best golf in practice, dropped a putt of "roughly about 30 feet" for an eagle three and a victory over Kent Venturi in a sudden death playoff Wednesday for the $20,000 New Orleans Open golf title.

The 26-year-old Apple Valley, Calif., pro sank his winning shot on the 477-yard second hole. The victory was worth $2,800 to Casper, who limits his pre-tourney practice to nine holes. It also was his first tournament appearance since illness sent him home in January.

Venturi, of San Francisco, who came in from behind with a 66 on the final 18 yesterday, won $1,900.

Rain, which delayed the start of the tournament three days, played a part in the finish.

After Venturi and Casper ended the 72 holes Tuesday tied at 278, officials set up an 18-hole playoff. But showers began to fall at the starting time and officials shortened the playoff to nine holes. When the rain became harder, the change to a sudden death basis was agreed on.

Venturi and Casper split the first hole of the playoff, each posting par fours on the 393-yard hole.

On the second final hole, Venturi, shooting first, and Casper sent their drives about an equal distance down the fairway. But then things changed. Venturi's second shot landed in the trap. Casper's hit the green and stopped about 30 feet from the pin.

Venturi seemed on the verge of recovering and gaining a split when he lobbed his third shot to within a foot and a half of the hole. But Casper ended it moments later by rolling his third shot straight into the cup.

Casper said it was "just my turn. And I won."

Venturi didn't comment on that but he disagreed about the winning putt being, as Casper put it, "roughly about 30 feet."

"It was a very smooth 30 feet," Venturi said.

Tied for third Tuesday at 281, were Walter Burkemo of Franklin Hills, Mich., and Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa.

Three State Cage Champions Ousted

AUSTIN (AP)—Sixteen girls basketball teams, including 10 newcomers, were on hand today to begin the annual Girls' Tournament.

Three unbeaten teams will give each division one club with a spotless record, including Abernathy, 37-0 in Class AA, Central of Pollok, 35-0 in Class A, and Comfort 23-0 in Class B.

The three 1957 state champions were eliminated earlier. Rockdale knocked off defending AA champ Buna 44-39 in the regionals. White Deer eliminated Ropesville in the regionals of Class A and the Class B champion, Roosevelt, was stopped in its own district by Cooper.

Scholarship-Wise, Other Schools Ahead Of HCJC

By BOBBY HORTON

Howard County Junior College athletes are handicapped each time they challenge opposition from the other colleges in West Zone competition.

The Jayhawks are at a distinct disadvantage in that they come up against many top-notch athletes whose schools are able to offer as much as two times the number of athletic scholarships given from the Big Spring college.

Coach Harold Davis states that the other schools in junior college circles in Texas are way ahead, scholarship-wise. The local institution is able to extend to sports performers a total of 30 scholarships, that covering all sports. The conference of which HCJC is a member allows up to 60 scholarships to be awarded.

Coach Davis and track coach Red Lewis get together on their potential material prospects, and work out at a ratio at which they may operate.

For instance, last year there were 12 scholarships given in basketball and track each, a total of 24. Only six of these were full scholarships, and a boy who was outstanding in both sports could accept a half scholarship in each sport. This way there was a strengthening in both fields from a single scholarship. The other six were to cover the minor spring sports.

The remainder was for half scholarships, or covered tuition, fees, and books.

But look at other junior colleges and their present setups. Cisco awarded 10 full basketball contracts, Decatur and Clarendon 12, and Kilgore gave 20 full scholarships last season. The Kilgore coach, because he did not need as many boys, cut that at his own will, to 16. And that's a large number of boys to work with.

It boils down to this: Both Lewis and Davis have to do a tremendous job of recruiting in order to turn out outstanding teams yearly. Howard County is always among the top-ranked in basketball and track, and were football played, it is likely that the same results would be achieved.

Their big problem is that of contacting the boys and being unable to offer each a full scholarship. For example, where the six full awards are given, four might go to basketball and two for track. The coaches are unlikely to sign up each boy that is contacted. But colleges with 10 or more full scholarships can contact and offer limited scholarships, to that number. And if they get half of the boys contacted, their total would exceed Coaches Davis and Lewis' efforts, even if the Howard coaches were 100 per cent successful.

As it is, the HCJC mentors can only hope for the best as they extend about 15 half-scholarships to athletes.

It would be very possible to award a majority on one sport and come up with a cracker-jack team every year, as many colleges do, but both the local coaches feel that it is much better to compete well in all sports, extending somewhat the same number as the schools they oppose.

Actually, "giving scholarships" is misleading, as far as the Big Spring school is concerned. HCJC has what is known as a "work" scholarship. Each athlete is assigned some duty to do, and must carry it out through the year in order to receive his scholarship. Gymnasium floor care, dressing room cleaning, uniform and practice outfit washing, and similar janitoral jobs are assigned to the players.

In fact, in a couple of weeks the basketball boys will give the gymnasium a thorough final going-over of polishing, washing, scrubbing and painting. After basketball season is ended, their foremost responsibilities concern care and assisting in track. On the other hand, track boys did the same during the cage season.

Conference rules permit a free scholarship in one sport for only four months. From there on, the player is on his own. If, however, he is a three-sport competitor, he can receive the full year of scholarship free. Several colleges give the free scholarship to football players for the four months, then leave them on their own.

The local college has been able to do more and more every year in climbing to a level with competing schools in the conference. Tennis facilities are already in present plans for expansion, and a few scholarships will be awarded in that sport. Golf already has three or four scholarship boys, but is limited because other institutions don't back it too enthusiastically.

A college is figuratively forced in presenting a well-rounded athletic program. It forms the backbone of the student body, and is the best advertising a school could sponsor.

March Madness Is To Hit Peak Tonight

By DON WEISS
The Associated Press

Basketball's March madness reaches its wackiest peak tonight with the NIT busting in on the NCAA big college, NCAA small college, and the NAIA in the alphabetical battle for national tournament honors.

The National Invitation Tournament, a 12-team affair, opens at New York's Madison Square Garden with two of four first-round games; St. John's of New York 16-6 vs. Butler 16-9 and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia 17-8 vs. St. Peter's of New Jersey 20-3.

The NCAA Small College Tournament reaches the semifinal stage at Evansville, Ind., with defending champion Wheaton of Illinois playing South Dakota the club it bounced in the semis a year ago, and host Evansville meeting St. Michaels of Vermont.

The NAIA Tournament at Kansas City heads into the quarterfinals with these parings; Tennessee State vs. East Texas, Western Illinois vs. Youngstown Ohio, Coe Iowa vs. Texas Southern, and West Virginia Wesleyan vs. Georgetown, Ky.

And the NCAA Tournament for the big schools, under way since Monday, regroups for regionals at Charlotte, N.C.; Lexington, Ky.; Lawrence, Kan.; and San Francisco starting tomorrow after Idaho State and Seattle won the last of the first-round games.

Seattle, with All America Elgin Baylor scoring 26 points and dabbling in playmaking too, crushed Wyoming's Skyline Conference champions 88-51 in the second game of a double-header at Berkeley, Calif. Idaho State's Rocky Mountain champions downed the Border champs, Arizona State of Tempe, 72-68, in the first game. The winners advance to the Far West NCAA regional at San Francisco Friday night.

Baylor's 26 points dipped his season average to 33.3 compared with 34.5 for Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson, the national leader.

Friday, Seattle plays San Francisco and Idaho State faces California.

All set for Friday's other big NCAA games are Maryland vs. Temple and Manhattan vs. Dartmouth at Charlotte, Kentucky vs. Miami of Ohio and Notre Dame vs. Indiana at Lexington, Ky., and Oklahoma State vs. Arkansas and (the one everybody's waiting to see) Cincinnati vs. Kansas State at Lawrence, Kan.

Patterson Expects Baylor To Be Much Improved

Baylor scored only 6½ points in the Border Olympics at Laredo last weekend but Coach Jack Patterson expects the situation to improve before the Bears head west to compete in the American Business Club Relays here April 4-5.

The major Baylor disappointments came in the sprints, where Merton Fuquay and Billy Hollis were considered strong quantities, and in the shot put, where big Larry Cowart was the popular favorite.

Cowart failed to place, his best toss hitting near the 48-foot mark, Fuquay failed to make the sprint finals and Hollis finished sixth in a good field.

"Cowart looked good in warm-up but bad on his official heaves," said Patterson. "We've had him going through a weight-lifting program and he didn't have a lot of work behind him."

As for the sprinters, Jack admitted both "are at least two weeks away. Fuquay has always been slow to come around and Hollis did all right. It was a fine field. He'll do better, of course. The first jump from freshman to varsity is a big one."

Neither Baylor relay team placed but both the mile and sprint foursomes are riddled with injuries. Henry Cannaday and Jim Millerman are key men on the mile unit and Millerman also doubles in the sprint group.

Patterson doubts he will get much service from either boy "until the Texas Relays, maybe later."

Another member of the ailing is high hurdler Ike Tennison, who had two battles with the flu and is weeks behind in his training schedule.

On the surprise side of the Laredo performances, Jack listed Cowart's 153-7 whirl of the discus, a third-place javelin throw by soph Gary Wisener, and a 146-foot discus heave from Bob Spain, who is back from a long layoff.

The surprise of them all, however, was distance man Joe Garcia, a cross-country discovery last fall who ran a 4:31 plus mile, then came back with a 9:54 time in the two-mile.

"I think in a couple of weeks Joe will be down to 4:20 in the mile. He could be the best miler I've ever coached if he keeps coming."

Disappointments outnumbered the surprises, however, and Patterson was not searching for an alibi, not even the elements.

"The rest of them have had the same weather," he shrugged.

This weekend, Patterson takes both freshman and varsity squads to the Southwest Recreation meet at Fort Worth.

Steers Enter Snyder Meet

Coaches Harold Bentley and Curtis Kelley will take their Big Spring High School track and field team to Snyder this week for the annual Canyon Reef Relays.

The Steers failed to score a point in the Border Olympics at Laredo last weekend but Bentley said he was far from being discouraged.

The local team is young and inexperienced. There isn't a senior on the squad and more sophomores than juniors are now working out.

Only Class AAAA and AAA schools have been invited to field teams in this year's Snyder meet. For that reason, only about 18 teams have entered.

Odessa is the defending champion and one of the favorites to repeat. Snyder is also due to make a strong bid for the championship.

Webb Is Upset By Holly Mims

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) —Jubilant Holly Mims, unranked middleweight won a unanimous decision last night over Spider Webb, No. 3 in the ratings, and immediately demanded a title fight.

He wants to meet the winner of the Carmen Basilio-Sugar Ray Robinson title bout in Chicago March 25.

Mims, 29, a veteran of 65 professional bouts and once ranked No. 3 middleweight, said he was not interested in meeting anybody but the champion.

The Washington, D.C., fighter, beaten 16 times but never knocked out, started a comeback Jan. 22 by fighting a draw with Bobby Boyd, No. 8 middleweight, at Miami Beach.

Mims was the aggressor all the way last night. He floored the Chicago fighter with a flurry of punches in the sixth round for a nine-count. Webb suffered a cut over the left eye but it didn't seem to bother him. He fought back vigorously after the knockdown.

He said later he was off balance when he was knocked down.

Webb, supposedly headed for a title bout in the near future, was bitterly disappointed by the defeat, his third in 29 fights, and said he thought he won.

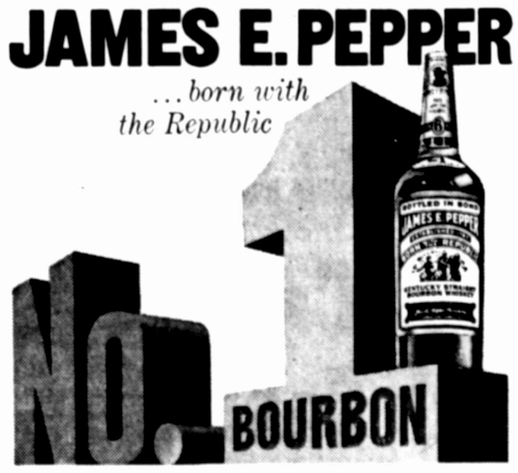

Sheppard Seeking AF Cage Crown

DENVER (AP)—Two giants of Air Force basketball, Sewart AFB of Tennessee and Sheppard AFB, Tex., tangle tonight in semifinals of the Air Force Wide World Basketball Tournament.

Both teams advanced yesterday with hard-fought victories over tough opponents.

Sewart handed Mitchel, N.Y., its second loss of the season 81-69 while Sheppard dumped Colorado Springs, Colo., 84-57.

Pacific Air Force eliminated Air Materiel Command, Kelly AFB, Tex., 98-66, and Strategic Air Command ousted headquarters command, Andrews AFB, Mo., 73-67.

Boy Rescued

Michael Vitucci, 4, clutches a lollipop as he is held by track foreman Arnold Perazzo after the boy was pulled to safety from the tracks under an elevated train. The boy was in the arms of his mother, Mrs. Marie Vitucci, when she plunged into the path of an elevated train in New York City. The mother was killed but, although two cars passed over the boy, he was not seriously injured. He had slipped between the ties and hung by a leg, head down, 60 feet above the street for five minutes until he was rescued.

Uranium Deposits Suspected In Dome

BENAVIDES, Tex. (AP) — For months drilling rigs have been making tests of the Palagana Salt Dome, eight miles north of here for uranium.

Operators of the 3,100-acre lease from the very first have been secretive about their findings.

Unofficial word is that the drillers struck uranium deposits.

The development has been delayed by a mounting surplus of uranium which prompted the Atomic Energy Commission to "freeze" its uranium milling facilities.

This policy, including development of deposits on the Schallert tract, is scheduled to come up for relief in 60 to 90 days, Rep. John Young of South Texas said.

Columbia Southern Minerals Corp., a subsidiary of Pittsburgh Plate Glass, took a lease in 1956.

Keen & Smith who claimed an interest in the lease, challenged the Columbia Southern lease.

The Court declared the lease valid. Keen & Smith has an appeal pending.

Columbia Southern kept out of the court record the size and value of the uranium deposits. Exploration activity at the Palangana Dome was stepped up to four drilling rigs making tests at one time last September.

Sources here say the test drills entered uranium at a depth of 206 feet, left it at 240 feet, reentered it at 280 feet and finally were out of it at 315 feet.

That would mean two strata of uranium ore 34 and 35 feet thick. There is no information on the size of the area the deposits cover.

'Feeders' Day' Slated At Tech

LUBBOCK — Final results in Texas Tech's 31st cattle feeding experiment will be announced during the institution's annual Cattle Feeders' Day April 1, Agriculture Dean W. L. Stangel reports.

The program will begin at 10 a. m. in Aggie Memorial Auditorium, where graduate student Tom Neff of Colorado City will give data on the 140-day tests.

After a visit to the eight lots where the feeding experiments were conducted, visitors will be guests at a noon barbecue in the Tech Livestock Judging Pavilion. That afternoon, they will have opportunities to hear three specialists in the cattle industry speak, Stangel said.

Purpose of 1957-58 experiments is to test the effectiveness of fattening cattle by feeding loose and pelleted cottonseed hulls with various additives. The '57-58 experiments are a continuation of '56-57 tests.

Texas Farm, Ranch Income Up In 1957

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Income figures of the Agriculture Department show the total farm and ranch income in Texas in 1957, including government payments, amounted to $2,027,552,000.

In 1956 the total was $1,900,630,000.

The U.S. total for 1957 was 31 billions, about 100 millions above 1956.

The average realized net income per farm in Texas last year—the amount available for spending after the farmer has paid all his production expenses, which were up 3 per cent in 1957, amounted to $2,558. This was 12 per cent over 1956.

"Higher cash receipts from cattle, hogs, wheat, peanuts and sorghum grain, combined with increased government payments, more than offset lower receipts from cotton," the department said.

"Production expenses, especially for hired labor and feed, were substantially higher. Inventory accumulations of cotton, hay, sorghum grain and corn were substantial, increasing total net income per farm 56 per cent over 1956."

The report noted that total net income is "realized net income plus the increase in inventories" of crops and livestock.

Government payments accounted for 112 million dollars of the 1957 total Texas farm and ranch income. These payments in 1956 amounted to only 55 millions. The soil bank accounted for 82 million dollars of the 1957 payments.

Sales of livestock and livestock products in Texas last year brought 893 million dollars, sales of crops just over a billion. The total: $1,914,885,000.

Jet Plane Sets New U.S. Record

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — A jet transport plane swept across the country in 3 hours and 29 minutes yesterday, setting an unofficial speed record for passenger-type craft, Lockheed Aircraft Corp. says.

The company said its new JetStar averaged 557 m.p.h. in flying from Edwards Air Force Base on the southern California desert to Dobbins AFB in Georgia. It reached a top speed of 572 m.p.h. and an altitude of 46,000 feet on the nonstop, 1,926-mile trip, Lockheed said.

The company said the previous record for transport-type planes was 5 hours, 15 minutes, set in 1954.

Sputnik II May Crash April 14

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—American scientists say the Soviet Union's dog-carrying Sputnik II satellite is losing altitude at the rate of five miles a day and is expected to plunge to a fiery end about April 14.

Scientists at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory said last night the satellite and its now-dead dog is swooping at present to within 120 miles of the earth with its high point at 550 miles.

Computors said Sputnik II will make four passages that might be visible to most of the United States tomorrow.

America's Explorer I, will be visible with small telescopes or good binoculars early Friday. One passage will be east of El Paso at about 5:19 a.m. (CST). A final passage tomorrow of Explorer I will cross southern California and the Southwest starting at 7:13 a.m. (CST).

New Outbreak Of Asian Flu Is Seen

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service feels it is unlikely — but possible — that a second epidemic wave of Asian flu will follow on the heels of the virtually ended recent outbreak.

So says Dr. William H. Stewart, assistant to Surgeon General Leroy W. Burney, in summarizing the American experience in the recent worldwide epidemic which:

Sickened millions and killed thousands throughout the world, although the death rate was very low; struck an estimated 20 million Americans, killing not less than 6,500; caused the temporary closing of hundreds of U.S. schools and cost industry a staggering total of man-hours lost.

But even if a second nationwide epidemic should occur between now and the first of May, said Stewart in an interview, the service feels it would be "relatively mild from the standpoint of the mortality being very, very low, as it has been in the recent epidemic."

"Since you can't say with certainty that a second wave will or will not occur," he said, "the wisest course is to be conservative and make your plans" on the basis of possible recurrence.

"Thus the health service is continuing to urge people who haven't already done so to get vaccinated —particularly people in the 'high risk' groups such as the chronically ill, the aged, and pregnant women," Stewart emphasized. "In these groups we are also recommending second shots for the highest individual protection."

On the unlikely side of the picture, health officials point out that despite the global scope of the recent epidemic, only one country has reported what appeared like a substantial second wave. That was in Japan, but the outbreak there has pretty well died down now.

SPORADIC CASES

But Federal health experts caution that sporadic cases of Asian flu can be expected through early spring.

And there's a possibility too says Dr. Carl Dauer of the health service's Office of Vital Statistics that small localized outbreaks may occur in areas where the incidence of the disease was relatively low in the earlier epidemic.

Meanwhile, here's a rundown on the American phase of the worldwide epidemic which started in Red China last February but didn't reach the United States until June:

1. More than 20 million Americans are believed to have been affected, most of them since September, with the peak of the epidemic occurring in mid-October. This is the largest number of flu cases of any kind since the 1918 epidemic.

2. Total number of deaths has not been specifically determined, but one indication is this:

Between September and March 1, the latest statistics available 108 major cities of the United States reported 16,174 deaths from influenza and pneumonia, compared with 9,038 for the same period a year ago. The difference, health service officials say, indicates about 6,500 deaths were due to the 1957-1958 outbreak of Asian flu. Fatal cases have occurred most frequently among the aged.

Indirect effects of the epidemic were also reflected in an approximate 10 per cent rise in mortality from heart disease during the period, health service officials say.

3. Approximately 40 million cubic centimeters of vaccine have been used so far indicating that at least that many persons have been vaccinated. The Public Health Service estimates that the vaccine used through most of the epidemic was effective in 60 to 70 per cent of cases. A newer, more potent vaccine became available early in December, and preliminary estimates are that this offers protection to approximately 75 per cent of recipients.

Girl, 10, Gives Birth To Son

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Santa Clara County juvenile authorities said today a 10½-year-old child mother and her son have been placed in separate foster homes.

The baby was born Jan. 28 by Caesarian section. The girl's name has not been reported.

"She was quite childlike in her relation with the baby," said Sister Ann, a Roman Catholic nun at the hospital where the baby was born. "She thought the baby was funny and just grinned at it.

"About all she said was that it didn't look like her."

The father has not been identified.

Model Sentenced

Elizabeth Ann Roberts, a model, left, and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Darnell, chat in Women's Court in Chicago where Elizabeth Ann was sentenced to 15 days in jail for refusing to testify against her mother and a man accused of photographing the model in the nude. Judge George B. Weiss imposed the contempt sentence on Elizabeth Ann, whose age has been stated both as 16 and 18, then held off the jailing 60 days to permit an appeal. Charges were dismissed against her mother because of lack of evidence.

Moisture Reduces Use Of Electricity

Further evidence that the persistent wave of moisture since the beginning of the year is helping farmers is furnished in the current report of Cap Rock Electric Cooperative.

The co-op, which delivers its biggest volume of power to irrigators in central Martin County, is down about 44 per cent from the first two months of last year when farmers were pre-watering in order to put in reserve and planting moisture.

Sales of power in February amounted to 1,429,673 KWH as compared with 3,341,217 for the same month a year ago. This pushed the total sales for the first two months to 2,733,573 as against 4,884,917 for the first two months of 1957. Sales in February, however, were up slightly from the 1,303,900 in January. KWH purchased by the system the first two months stood at 3,565,690 as against 6,095,430 a year ago.

Four additional miles of line were energized in February, bringing the system total to 1,972, which is 51 miles more than a year ago. There were 3,689 customers connected, a decline of 34 from January but 265 more than a year ago. Average bill in February was $12.66, up slightly from January but well below the $18.28 for the same month last year.

O. B. Bryan, Cap Rock manager, commenting previously on the decline, said that it was caused by the good seasoning which was about the best thing that could happen to the country and to Cap Rock in the long run.

VA Insurance Dividends Due WWI Veterans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Veterans Administration will pay a special dividend of 32 million dollars in April and May to about 325,000 holders of World War I government insurance. That averages nearly $100 per policyholder.

Administrator Sumner G. Whittier, announcing the payment today, said the special dividend is in addition to the regular annual dividend for 5,300,000 World War I and World War II holders of GI insurance.

The regular dividend of 262 million dollars is being paid out at the rate of 22 million dollars a month.

Without referring to it as an anti-recession measure, Whittier noted that addition of the special dividend between mid-April and mid-May means all dividends for the period would total 54 million dollars.

A spokesman said the special dividend actually was approved some time ago by the former administrator, Harvey V. Higley, but it took time to set up machinery for the payments.

Whittier said the special dividend will go to holders of permanent-plan U. S. Government Life Insurance. He said about 44,000 USGLI policies will be excluded. Those omitted include 19,000 five-year term policies, 8,000 extended-term policies and 17,000 other policies for which permanent and total disability payments are being deducted from the face value.

Whittier said policies on which veterans are drawing disability benefits under a rider for which they made extra payments are not excluded.

He asked veterans not to write to the Veterans Administration about the dividend, saying the handling of such requests might delay the payments.

This will be the third special dividend to usgli policyholders. Previous special payments were made in 1949 and 1952.

A spokesman said mortality experience made the special distribution possible.

Driver Charged After Mishap

Police officials charged a Lockney Latin American with DWI after an accident Wednesday night.

Gilbert Castillo was in the county jail today under the DWI charge, but the case had not been taken to court.

Castillo and Viviano Nurcio were in a 1955 Ford which ran into two parked cars in the 1200 block of Gregg about 9:05 p.m. Wednesday. A River ambulance rushed the pair to Big Spring Hospital for treatment but they were not admitted.

They were accepted at the city jail, however. This morning Castillo was transferred to the county jail and Nuncio was fined in Corporation Court for being drunk.

Police officers said Castillo's car hit a 1950 Studebaker owned by A. A. Martin, 1202 Gregg, and a 1955 Chevrolet owned by Charles Brown.

Also Wednesday, Kennard Lawrence, 543 Hillside, and Billie Flanagen, Gail Rt., were drivers of cars involved in a smashup at 2nd and Runnels. Police said the vehicle occupied by Lawrence was stopped and that Flanagen was backing at the time of the collision.

Today, Nile Bailey, 204 NW. 12th, and Ulis Johnson, 707 Wyoming, were in an accident at 11th and Gregg.

NEED $840?

Well, now, just by luck we've got $840 down here and man, would we like to see YOU tuck it into your wallet and carry it off! When you need $840, you may need it bad. You may need it quick. You'd like to get it from some outfit who knows and understands just the kind of money problems that brought all this on. Man, do we? We do! We've had 'em — every one at S.I.C., ourselves. And LOOK: $40.49 a month, 24 months, repays that $840 S.I.C. loan. How about that? Will you be on down? SOS for SIC

Rehearsals Begin For Easter Pageant

The board of governors of the Big Spring Civic Theatre has ordered the Easter Pageant cast out for rehearsals.

The annual presentation is staged by the theatre group, under the sponsorship of the Big Spring Pastor's Assn. The script was prepared by the theatre's scriptwriting committee, in collaboration with the Pastor's Assn. Details were carefully checked against the Bible account by the committee appointed by the pastors. Bob Smith, Herald editor, was chairman of the scriptwriting committee.

Director Dewey Magee, who handled the narration for the pantomime last year, will again take the "mike." The chorus will come from the various churches of the city. The Roman soldiers are volunteer officers and airmen from Webb AFB, whose authentic uniforms — including the picturesque head dress — were designed by members of the group and made from obsolete flying gear.

The story opens with the entrance of a young Roman in semimilitary dress, indicating that he is on leave from the military service. As the lights come up, he discovers that he is not alone. An old man is shown sitting on a stone, above the path. The young man stares curiously at the oldman: "What do you here, ancient one?" The old man tells the youngster that the hills attract a Roman, because they are so much like the hills of Galilee where Roman soldiers once were stationed. The young man is interested. In answer to questions about service in Galilee, the old man begins his story.

As he talks, the drama-packed days unfold, in pantomime, on the stage below. The story ends with the resurrection of Jesus, timed to coincide with the first rays of the morning sun—the dawn of a new day.

In addition to the Pastor's Assn., the Big Spring Civic Theatre, and the Chamber of Commerce, dozens of other civic organizations are cooperating to make the 1958 Easter Pageant the outstanding event of its kind.

Since hundreds of out of town guests make the pilgrimage to Big Spring on Easter morning, a number of restaurants and coffee shops have arranged to open early, to take care of the visitors. The law enforcement agencies of both city and county are cooperating in the handling of cars, traffic and other parking problems.

Members of the Big Spring Civic Theatre who are assisting Magee are: John Austin, assistant director; Bob Martinez, set design; Mary Magee, secretary; Jennie Austin, costumes; Lt. Arthur Hood and Glen Gale, props and special effects; Paul Ritterbrown, stage manager; Roy Rogan, city electrician, lights; Gayle Johnson, makeup; Jack Hendrix, music; Mrs. Forrest Gambill, chorus, and Wilma Rudeseal, producer.

Others in the cast include: Dick Bailey, Hugh McCauley, Lt. Byron Chudom, Marilyn Chudom, Roy Rosene, Sidney Rosene, Bettie Smith, Rita Gale, Capt. Allen Robertson, Mary Archer, Matthew Bertallini, Lt. Leonard Eggen, Darlene Eggen, Edith Gay, and Bob Walker.

Newcomers to the theatre group who will take part include: Jo Bright, Peggy Brasher, Angy Gowan, Skip Gowan, Jerry Fouts, Bernie Padilla, Mary McConkey, Rod Radebaugh, Virginia Johnson, Francis Jones, Nollie Wilson and Gary Weatherman.

The pageant will begin tentatively at 5:00 a.m. Easter morning with the ressurection timed to occur at 6:29 a.m.

Hail, Caesar!

Matt Bertalini dons a Roman uniform, less armor, to pictorialize some of the spectacle to be seen in this year's Easter Pageant, produced by the Civic Theatre in conjunction with the Pastors' Assn.

Tunisians Send West Ultimatum

TUNIS (AP) — President Habib Bourguiba today called on Secretary of State Dulles to support Tunisia by next Thursday in her dispute with France or lose Tunisia's allegiance to the West.

Bourguiba canceled public celebrations of the second anniversary of independence from France and warned that Tunisia might have to fight France again.

In his weekly radio speech Bourguiba said: "We are not truly free. It is not excluded that we will take up the fight again.

"Dulles holds the key to the problem. He must decide. His decision will not hurt France, for to be a supporter of justice is to save France from her own weaknesses."

Bourguiba, since the French bombing of the Tunisian village of Sakiet Sidi Youssef on Feb. 8, has been demanding that French pull out the 22,000 troops she has had in the country under the 1956 independence agreement. A U.S.-British good offices team has been trying to bring the two governments together.

Informed sources said previously both governments had agreed to French evacuation of Tunisian airfields and placing the fields under neutral supervision.

A French note made public last night claimed that the 1956 independence agreement not only gave France the right to maintain bases in Tunisian but also gave her control over air and coastal defenses. These were not included in the transfer to Tunisia of general responsibility for national defense and foreign affairs, Paris claimed.

U.S. Laws 'Inscrutable'

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Edward Hsu, 37, San Francisco, found U.S. legal procedure, well, inscrutable.

Hsu appeared on a traffic charge, driving without due caution and following too closely.

"I come myself to state the nature of the matter," he told Municipal Judge Harold Haley yesterday. "It is a small matter and I ask the judge to pronounce me not guilty."

"Mr. Hsu," said Judge Haley, "you will have to follow the directions of the court. Now, how do you plead, guilty or not guilty?"

"I don't have to," said Hsu. "You," he suggested, "pronounce me not guilty."

Judge Haley demurred; Hsu insisted.

Finally the judge told him: "I am directing the clerk to enter a plea of not guilty. You will be here one week from today and we will set the time for your trial."

"I don't come back here,' Hsu informed him. "You just said I'm not guilty. I'm all through."

"And a bench warrant will be waiting if you fail to appear," said the judge.

Hsu left, saying he was not coming back.

"The judge said I'm not guilty," he said. "Anyway, it was just a small matter."

Normally, the "small matter" would be a fine of perhaps $11 for following too closely.

Projects Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee approved housing projects at two Texas Air Force bases yesterday. The projects include 700 units at Amarillo for 11½ million dollars and 366 units at James Connally in Waco for $5,039,000.

14 In Class On First Aid

Enrollment in the five-week first aid course sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary reached 14 at the initial study period Monday night.

The announcement was made by Mrs. Marvin Patterson, Civil Defense committee chairman of the sponsoring organization.

F. G. L. Snow and Helen Secrest, both qualified Red Cross instructors will direct the training. A two-hour session is scheduled each Monday night at the American Legion Hut on the San Angelo highway. The course is to last for five weeks. There is no charge for the study.

Additional attendance is expected in the next Monday session, Patterson said. Her committee is to extend further invitations to both members of the Auxiliary and Legion and to the general public.

Those successfully completing the training period will receive Red Cross first aid certificates.

Pork Lower, Other Meat Prices Unchanged In Week's Markets

By The Associated Press

Texans may expect to find cuts of pork slightly lower this weekend, the Agriculture Department said Thursday.

The easing of pork prices reflects increased slaughtering.

Prices and supplies of red meats are generally unchanged.

The marketing service said pork roasts, fresh and ready-to-eat picnic hams, and pork chops are reasonably priced.

It reported choice cuts of beef roasts and steaks are relatively high, and most grocery stores continue to feature chuck and arm roasts, ground and stew meats.

Lamb is showing up at many meat counters with square cut shoulder roasts a good buy, although priced a few cents higher than last year.

Small size fryers are 1 to 2 cents a pound lower and in good supply. Heavy frozen turkey toms are about the most economical poultry buy.

U. S. egg production was down 4 per cent in February from 1957, largely accounting for the upturn in egg prices early in March. Supplies are increasing and prices will likely be back at Feb. 15 levels by Saturday.

Cheese stocks are high and prices are favorable for budget conscious buyers to use freely in maintaining the protein level in well balanced meals.

Best buys in fresh vegetables are Texas cabbage and carrots, film pack spinach, cauliflower, bunched greens, green onions, Florida radishes and celery. Potatoes and tomatoes are higher priced, as are lettuce, and large Spanish onions. Shipments of celery, radishes and new potatoes from Florida are increasing, and prices are about unchanged.

Apples head the best buys in fresh fruits, with winesaps and large red delicious in good supply. Other fruits wearing attractive price tags are bananas, Texas grapefruit, Oregon d'Anjou pears and California lemons and avocados. Oranges are slightly higher than a week ago.

Frozen fish sticks, whiting and perch fillets are unchanged pricewise and in plentiful supply in most areas.

Canned pears, canned and frozen green beans, corn, spinach and broccoli are in good supply and attractively priced.

Soviet Invention 'First' Saves Million For U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A case where the Soviets actually did invent something first turned up today. The result: an American company saved about a million dollars.

The story was given to a House Appropriations subcommittee by the National Science Foundation in asking for more money to spread information on scientific advances. The testimony was made public today.

The foundation said it happened this way:

An American chemical company which was not identified, recently prepared a dye, pyrazolone-5, and sought a patent because of the dye's importance in color photography. It turned out the compound already was covered by a Swiss patent.

But a U.S. chemist, in a chance conversation with a Soviet chemist at an international meeting, learned that the Soviets had already published a description of the dye in a chemical journal in 1949.

The Soviet article helped knock out the Swiss patent and allowed the American firm a saving of about a million dollars in royalties.

Mother Cited For Rearing Children Despite Handicap

PADUCAH, Tex. (AP)—Care for nine children, four of them helpless with muscular dystrophy, in crowded quarters? Mrs. E. W. Hollar has done it.

For about 24 years, one or more of her children have suffered with the crippling disease. They were unable to feed themselves or move about.

At the same time, she reared five healthy children. The family now lives in the sheriff's quarters at the jail in Guthrie. Her husband is King County sheriff.

In recognition of her patience, cheerfulness in spite of odds, and devotion to her family, the Paducah Lions Club selected her recently as Woman of the Year.

She was showered with more than $5,000 in prizes and cash.

Three of her sons, Jimmy, 16; Billy, 18; and Karlton, 20, have muscular dytrophy. Each weighs less than 100 pounds. They cannot care for themselves.

Another son, Luther, who also had the disease, died 10 years ago at 14.

Dr. C. C. Pate said, "Her family is the only family in the entire world and medical history where four cases of progressive muscular dystrophy is found."

The other children are Gail, 8, and Douglas, 14, who both live at home; Donald, 21, a student at Texas Tech; Gloria, a resident of Kingsburg, Calif.; and Wesley, a farmer near Guthrie.

Donald is known as the famous masked Red Raider who rides a black horse and leads the Tech football team onto the gridiron.

Gift For YMCA Building Fund

Mrs. Kendall S. Clement of the Officers Wives Club at Webb AFB presents Judge R. H. Weaver, YMCA president, with a $100 gift for the Y's capital fund. Drive for $309,000 for construction of a new building was launched recently. The YMCA already has more than $100,000 in the fund.

War 1 Veterans To Hold Reunion

A reunion of veterans of World War I, will be held at the American Legion Hut Saturday night, according to Commander J. V. Gregory of the Howard County Post.

The occasion will be the celebration of the 40th anniversary of the American Legion.

George Zachariah, chairman of the committee to invite all veterans of WWI, is issuing a blanket invitation to them and their families. No lists of these veterans are available, Zachariah said, in extending the invitations.

In conjunction with the program, members of the Legion with lengthy continuous membership will share the honors.

Foy Dunlap, membership chairman, has announced that six post members have held continuous membership in the American Legion since it's first year of organization. They will be eligible for 40-year awards. An additional 16 members are scheduled to receive cards in recognition of 35 years in the organization.

The activities also will include the early day members of the Legion Auxiliary, Amy Sparks, president, has announced. This invitation will also include the wives, sisters and daughters of the Veterans of World War I, Mrs. Sparks said.

The Howard County Post and Auxiliary is to provide a free barbecue supper at the Legion Hut beginning at 6 p.m. Saturday. At 7:30 a brief ceremony honoring the veterans of the first World War will be held. An evening of old time dancing will conclude the program.

M. T. Kuykendall who is directing the dance has named it a 49'ers dance with the older tunes and steps to be the mode. Dress, he said, should be the rough garb, typical of the era.

49 History Books Gained In Campaign

Big Spring Junior Historians, a club composed of high school boys and girls studying history, have added 49 important volumes to the high school library shelves on Texas and Southwest history in the course of the first two weeks of their city-wide book drive.

Club members have divided into two teams—boys and girls—for this book collecting campaign. The team which adds the greater number of books to the library collection this month will be entertained by the losers at a barbecue supper.

To date, the girls have a narrow margin. They have collected 26 books to the boys' 23.

The idea of the campaign is to appeal to all persons in the city to cull their own book shelves and donate all volumes they can about the Southwest and Texas to the club. Any type of book, fiction, historical, reference or otherwise, is desired just so it has as its primary subject the state or the Southwest.

Each donated volume is provided with a name plate on which is inscribed the name of the donor. They will be placed in the school library and made available to the present and future students of the schools.

Books donated so far indicate the wide variety sought by the club members.

Books picked up by the girls include: "Design", "The Houston Journal," "Rawhide Bound," "Assignment Huntsville," "The Comancheros," "No Place for a Duke," "North of '36," "Sand In My Eyes," "The Proud Way," "Our Government—Texas',, "Cattle Kings of the Staked Plains," "Brann and the Iconclast," "Big Spring," "Governors of Texas," (two volumes); "Howard County In the Making," (four books); "The Devil In The Desert," "Yonder," "Home to Texas," "The Iron Mistress," "35,000 Days In Texas," and "Apache Gold and Yaqui Silver."

Books added to the list by the efforts of the boys:

"Flight from Natchez," "Farewell to the Stranger," "The Searchers," "Fort Concho and the Texas Frontier," "Golden Gate Country," "The Iron Mistress," "The Mustangs," "The Political History of Texas," "A Poltical History of Texas," "A School History of Texas," "The Cow," "Twice-Told Tales of Texas," "Fort Concho and the Texas Frontier," "Pioneering in Texas," "Rio Grande," "Will Hogg — Texan," "Reluctant Empire," "Rough and Tumble," "Spirit of the Range," "The Lost Wagon Train," "History of Eastland County, Texas," "The Big Ranch Country."

Any resident having books on the subjects of Texas and the Southwest who is willing to give the volumes to this cause is asked to contact any member of the history club or to call the high school. A member of the club will call for the books and take them to the library. The campaign will terminate with the end of March.

'Dirty' Man Gets Town's Apology

IPSWICH, England (AP)—A man who was told he was too dirty to have a shower at the municipal bath house won a letter of apology from the town clerk yesterday.

Brian Jennings, 22-year-old mate on a coastal barge, said the attendants turned him away when he sought to wash off the grime of a voyage from London.

Town Clerk J. C. Nelson wrote the attendants had been reprimanded and that Ipswich "earnestly hopes to receive your patronage" the next time Jennings arrives in town dirty.

Fugitive Is Cited In Suit

Vincent Gomez, under an indictment for embezzlement returned some months ago by the Howard County Grand Jury and a fugitive since that time, was named as defendant in a civil lawsuit filed in 118th District Court Wednesday.

Pete Rodriquez and his wife have filed a suit seeking possession of property which they claim as their homestead and from which they contend that the defendant dispossessed them.

In the petition, there is an affadvit by Clyde Thomas, attorney for the plaintiff, reciting that Gomez is a fugitive and that he cannot be located for officers to serve the proper papers.

Search for the Latin-American Big Spring resident has been in progress since the indictment alleging he was implicated in embezzlement of property of the Saunders Co. was filed before the end of 1957.

Dog Death Toll Is 113

The city continued to destroy about as many dogs as did motorists last month.

According to the monthly report from the dog pound, the city killed 54 dogs during February while 59 were picked up by the city that had been killed on streets here.

A total of 76 dogs were impounded during the month, and five of them were redeemed or sold. There were 20 in the pens at the end of the month.

New license fees paid during the month totaled $172, and $11 was collected from pound fees.

Stockholders Of Rodeo Association To Meet Friday

Annual stockholders meeting of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo Assn. is set for Friday.

E. P. Driver, secretary, said that the meeting would be held in the conference room of the Chamber of Commerce and that a majority of the outstanding stock would be represented in person or by proxies.

Principal business will be the election of directors and officers as well as receiving the annual financial report.

LOST SON TO DISEASE

Bob Stanley Waging Personal Battle Against Child Killer

A former Big Spring man, Bob Stanley of Baird, is waging a personal war on nephrosis, a frefrequently fatal kidney disorder.

Stanley has an especially personal interest in the fight against the disease. Two of his children are victims of nephrosis and a third died of the disease last December.

The Baird mortician, who was associated with the Eberley Funeral Home when he lived in Big Spring, is trying to arouse sufficient interest in the National Nephrosis Foundation to put the organization on a footing similar to that of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, so successful in fighting polio and aiding victims of that disease.

Stanley has met with some success, especially in Texas where Gov. Price Daniel has proclaimed March as "Nephrosis Month." He now is working with a group interested in establishing a Nephrosis Foundation chapter in Dallas and has written letters to people "from Washington on down" in an effort to enlist support.

"I have been given good cooperation. People recognize the importance of the thing and have helped me in whatever way they could," Stanley said.

There is no state nephrosis organization, but the national agency has chapters in El Paso and San Antonio.

One of the Stanley children, David O'Neal, 3, died of nephrosis last Dec. 4. Others afflicted are Paul, 3, and Deborah, 6. They are receiving almost-daily treatment. Deborah is showing some progress, but Paul is having a "hard struggle." The Stanleys have another son, Steve, 9, who is not affected by the disease.

In proclaiming Nephrosis Month in Texas, Gov. Daniel said:

"Children who have nephrosis, one of these killer diseases, live under the threat of a mortality rate which, in this enlightened day of modern science, cannot be permitted to go unchallenged. Thousands of thoughtful citizens are rallying to bring to nephrosis researchers the financial support needed if victory is to be achieved over this dread disease."

Stanley said he is interested in fighting nephrosis "just as a parent and because we have been so close to it."

He hopes to help develop a strong organization in Texas, along lines of the polio foundation, with funds to help hard-hit families pay for their own children's treatment and to provide funds for research into seeking a cure.

PROTESTANT LAYMEN SAY

No Sacrifice Of Belief In Practice Of 'Brotherhood'

Religious motivation which puts into practice the precepts of brotherhood is the best basis for rooting the ideal of mutual respect among men.

This was the view of two Dallas laymen who addressed the joint meeting of the service clubs here Wednesday for the annual Brotherhood Week program.

"You don't have to sacrifice your beliefs to practice brotherhood," said Joe Haggar Jr. "All you have to do is to recognize and respect the views of others."

Haggar, a Catholic businessman, and J. L. Evans, regional chairman of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, represented the Protestant viewpoint at the meeting. David Florence, who was to have spoken from the Jewish faith, was unable to accompany the panel here, but Sidney Mellinger took his place in introducing the two visitors.

Evans asked why people could not do in peacetime what they did in the urgency of war, citing the example of the chaplains who gave up their life preservers and went down together aboard the USS Dorchester. He said that there was a growing appreciation among men, but that it consciously had to be encouraged and developed.

"Prejudice can happen anywhere anytime," he said. One of the hopeful signs of overcoming bigotry is that in his region 307 laymen had volunteered to serve as brotherhood speakers.

"We get good at what we practice," said Haggar. "If we practice the admonition of 'love thy neighbor as thyself,' we can get good at it."

He urged men not to underestimate their individual roles in brotherhood, for no man should discount his own example, he said.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, Brotherhood Week chairman, was in charge of the program and Carl Smith, president of the host downtown Lions Club, presided. Rotarians, Kiwanians, Evening Lions, Jaycees and others met jointly.

Eight Colorado City Boys Registered For 1958 Running Of Soap Box Derby

Eight Colorado City boys have entered the 1958 Big Spring Soap Box Derby, boosting to 46 the number of boys building racers for this year's big classic.

Registration, here and at Colorado City, is to continue for a few more days due to widespread interest in the Derby, Loyd Wooten, registrar, reported today.

The books will be opened again Saturday at Tidwell Chevrolet Co. for boys to enroll, Wooten said. He urged all boys planning to enter to register at that time, although a decision may be made to continue registration beyond that date.

Any boy in Howard or Mitchell County is eligible to enter the races and compete for numerous local prizes as well as the championship which carries with it a trip to the All American Soap Box Derby in Akron, Ohio, next August.

The local races will be staged the evening of June 26 on the Lancaster St. speedway.

Sponsors, who will pay all expenses of Derby entrants, are to be assigned to boys in the race soon. Youngsters are being encouraged to start planning their racers immediately, so they'll have plenty of time to turn out good, competitive cars.

Colorado City contestants are Bobby Nobles, 441 Walnut; David Lewis, 945 Chestnut; Larry Hamner, 1449 Waco; Rex Harris, Route 3; Raymond Noble, 1520 Dallas; Robert Martin, Route 3; Roy Lee Chastain Jr., 860 E. 9th; and Darrell Mize, Route 1.

There are 38 Howard County boys enrolled for the Derby.

About Youthful Skin

Teen-ager Gail Stone of "The Eve Arden Show," tells what she does for a problem skin to Lydia Lane in today's Hollywood Beauty.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

A Teen-Ager Meets Complexion Problems

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD —"My big problem is my face," Gail Stone said with a sigh, when I visited her on the "The Eve Arden Show" set. "I have trouble with what adults call adolescent skin."

Gail told me she had been reading my column ever since I had interviewed her big sister, Rosemary Clooney, and was well prepared to answer my questions—I asked her to tell me more about her complexion problem.

"Well, I simply can't eat chocolate any more, and I'm not allowed more than one soft drink a day. I have to cut down on all sweets or my skin will break out. Even then I still get a few pimples, but I know what to do for them. My mother came from Kentucky, and the routine is something she and my grandmother used on the farm. When you think the pimple is coming to a head, you put hot water on it—as hot as you can stand. Then put a paste of baking soda, salt and a little water on it. Leaving this on over night helps to dry it up.

"My brother-in-law, Jose Ferrer, had trouble getting make-up off his face until he used a liquid detergent," Gail continued. "It worked so much better than cream or soap that all of us use it. I think it's keen.

"Sometimes, when I'm washing my face with my favorite soap, I mix in some coarse-ground corn meal with the lather to clean out my pores." Gail added. "This idea is from Kentucky, too."

I admired the dress that Gail was wearing, and she proudly admitted she was permitted to choose her dresses for the show.

"Now that I'm 13 I'm allowed to go shopping alone, too. Someone drives me to the store and waits for me in the car. I take home what I like, and if Mother doesn't approve of some of them, she sends them back."

"Like what?" I asked.

"Well, I thought a pink velvet dress with purple butterflies on it was lovely, but Mom said for me to keep it simple and choose dresses that are easy to care for. I guess velvet is pretty fussy and hard to keep looking nice.

"There are two big things that have been a problem to me, and I'm improving on both of them. I used to talk real loud and real, real shrill. But boys don't like girls who shout, so I've tried to lower my voice. And I used to interrupt people when they were talking, but I don't do this nearly as much as before."

We chatted about the teen-agers of today and Gail offered: "I think some of my friends are given too many privileges. A teen-ager is not the most educated person in the world, and she should be guided in her life."

Music Study Club Has Classical Selections

Following the theme "Music Is the Door to Literature", members of the Music Study Club heard a program of selections from the classics. The group met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Roberta Gay, with Edith Gay and Mrs. Leslie Green as cohostesses.

The Shadow Song from Meyerbeer's "Dinorah" was sung by Mrs. Jack Ware, who later paired with Joyce Howard for a vocal duet from Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro".

A piano trio composed of Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, Mrs. Fred Beckham and Mrs. J. L. Christensen performed a march from Wagner's "Tannhauser".

Mrs. Norman Furlong was presented in One Fine Day, well-known aria from Puccini's "Madam Butterfly".

Concluding the program, for which Mrs. G. T. Hall was leader, was the choral ensemble's rendition of Spinning Song, from Wagner's "Flying Dutchman".

A report was given by Mrs. Nell Frazier on the program given in February by the high school a cappella choir as part of the national Parade of American Music. The group was under the direction of Bill Dawes.

A nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Hall, Mrs. J. E. Hardesty and Roberta Gay, was appointed.

Edith Gay was elected second vice president to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Bobby Robbins, who has moved to Amarillo.

Members of the club attended a meeting at the state hospital, it was reported, and about 10 will serve as volunteers to help with the music at the institution.

Mrs. Beckham told of the plans being made for the observance of Music Week during the first part of May.

The club heard Mrs. Frazier tell something of Theodor Uppman, singer to be presented here on March 21, as the closing number of the Big Spring Concert Association.

"When I Survey The Wondrous Cross", hymn of the month, was sung by the group at the beginning of the meeting. Twenty attended.

The next meeting will be April 9 in the home of Mrs. Hall.

Forsan P-TA Hears Doctor's Discussion Of Delinquency

FORSAN—Members of the P-TA heard a discussion by Dr. Phillip Deza of the Big Spring State Hospital Monday evening at the school.

Dr. Deza dealt with juvenile delinquency and recommended that more discipline be used on teen-agers.

The attendance count went to the sixth and eighth grades as a tie.

* * *

The Rev. and Mrs. L. L. Garner, Mrs. L. C. Alston and Mrs. C. V. Wash attended the state convention of the Baptist WMU in San Angelo Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Howard have returned from Lubbock where they visited his brother, who is ill.

Recent visitors in San Angelo were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miller.

Linda Lewis has been dismissed from a Big Spring hospital.

Meat Salad Prepared For Forsan HD Club

FORSAN—The method of preparing a meat salad was demonstrated for members of the Forsan Home Demonstration Club Monday. The group met at the Drivers Education Building to see the demonstration given by Elizabeth Pace, county HD agent.

Miss Pace also gave the club pointers on writing reports on home improvements, canning, sewing and other accomplishments of members.

Hostesses were Mrs. L. M. Duffer and Mrs. M. M. Fairchild. Because of the conflict between the club's meeting dates and those of the HD Council, the group voted to change to the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month.

Mrs. Harley Grant will be hostess on March 25, which is the first of the new meeting dates.

* * *

In Georgetown to visit his mother, Mrs. A. D. Barton, are Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Barton and Van.

Recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Wilson have been their daughter, Mrs. Dennis Hughes, Raymond and Ann of Spraberry.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Prescott of Midkiff recently visited their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Prescott.

Dismissals from Malone-Hogan Hospital include Mrs. R. A. Chambers and Tilmon Shoults.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gressett were visitors in San Angelo Sunday.

Sew And Chatter Club Adds New Member

Mrs. C. L. Rowe was presented as a new member of the Sew and Chatter Club, Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. W. Moeser.

Refreshments were served to 16, including a guest, Mrs. Terry Lowrey.

Mrs. L. C. Murdock will entertain the group at 3 p.m. March 26 at her home, 606 East 17th.

Wax Your Blinds

After cleaning venetian blinds, wax them with furniture wax and see how much easier they are to dust.

Luther HD Club

Mrs. Dean Self was hostess for the Luther Home Demonstration Club Tuesday afternoon; she also gave the program, which dealt with the selection of accessories for the home. Hostess for the next meeting will be Mrs. N. D. Greene, who will entertain the club at 2 p.m., March 27.

Mrs. Jones To Supply Sketches Illustrating 'Big Spring Story'

Pen-and-ink sketches, developed by Mrs. E. A. Jones, will illustrate the history of Big Spring, soon to be published in The Flame, monthly magazine of the Cabot Industries.

The February issue of the magazine carried an announcement of two prizes won by the paintings of two local women. Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Dalton Conway, which were entered in the Caravan of Cabot Art.

These were a prize of $100 for first place on Mrs. Jones's "Lonesome Road", and a 50-dollar prize to Mrs. Conway for her painting of "Louisiana Washday", which won second place.

Now, the company has asked that the history of Big Spring be written and that black and white sketches be made of some of the historical highlights.

Owen Gee, an engineer at the local Cabot Carbon Company plant, will write the story of Big Spring's past and development.

Included in the sketches will be one of the big spring for which the town was named as it appears today. Another will possibly portray the scene of the spring with the trading post saloon which stood nearby, Mrs. Jones said.

Designating various industries of the city will be sketches of a railroad, a jet plane, some white-faced cattle and some elements of oil field work.

The writer and the artist have been given a deadline for the last of April; the results of their efforts will appear in a later magazine, probably as one of a series of stories about the towns where the Cabot plants are located.

Salad Demonstration Is Given Elbow HD Club

A demonstration of how to make a meat and vegetable salad was given by Elizabeth Pace, county HD agent, for members of the Elbow HD Club Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Leroy Findley was hostess for the session in the school cafeteria.

Using cubed ham as the heart of the one-dish meal, Miss Pace suggested that the salad could be varied with either beef or chicken as the meat.

Romaine and head lettuce, celery, bamboo shoots, mushrooms, ripe olives, bean sprouts, water chestnuts and tomatoes were lightly tossed with a wooden spoon, and the ham was added just before serving. The salad dressing was a mixture of equal parts of mayonnaise and mustard.

The 13 present heard a devotion by Mrs. J. L. Stevens. Mrs. Ray Shortes was in charge of the meeting, and Mrs. Jack McKinnon read the council report.

The club presented to Russell Howle, principal of the Elbow schools, a sum of money which is to be used toward the purchase of needed equipment for the school.

Mrs. Sarah Findley will be hostess when members meet at 2 p.m. March 26 at the school cafeteria.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

How times have changed!

I recently came across a test paper of a junior high student who had received the grade of 95.

The test was in driver's education and I suppose the answers were nearly perfect—but I felt the instructor must have used second sight to figure out the words which were spelled thusly: delevoped, engin, gasolin, framwork, votage, electicy, hornissing, explorisian, exaust, swich, persontily, hepp, becase, tolarate, defin, attion and attionation.

These words mean developed, engine, gasoline, framework, voltage, electricity, harnessing, explosion, exhaust, switch, personality, helps, because, tolerate, define and the last two mean attention.

MRS. FRED KEATING taught me spelling in junior high. I can picture her swooning dead away if we had turned in any paper in any class with such a complete lack of knowledge of how to spell simple words. I'm no teacher, but it seems only fair to at least mark the misspelled words, and let the student know they are not correctly spelled, even if there is to be no mark off because of them.

Another happy birthday anniversary is about to come around for MRS. R. L. SCHWARZENBACH who will be 86 years old on March 19. There won't be any special observance of the day for the German born woman who came to Marienfield (Stanton) in the fall of 1882.

She was born at Breslau, near Berlin, and was one of nine children who came over the Atlantic to land at Casper Gardens in New York. She remembers the train trip from New York to Texas very well and recalls the 'butches' selling peaches to the passengers. Another family in the group coming from the old country was that of ALVIS KNAPPE, whose father and mother brought their three boys and two daughters across the rugged country to Marienfield, a German Catholic settlement.

Despite her years, Mrs. Schwarzenbach perfers to make her home alone at 103 W. 9th Street. She has a few chickens and a garden which she tends herself. She keeps busy, which makes her a happy woman. Many happy returns on your birthday anniversary, Mrs. Swatzie!

* * *

MRS. OLA MOORE of Plainview joined her sister, Mrs. Wayne Smith, here Tuesday and the two have gone to Rotan to help their mother, Mrs. Janie Bridges, move. Mrs. Bridges has taken a home in Abilene where she will move today. Mrs. Smith expects to return here Friday.

* * *

Among the hundreds of people who are eagerly looking forward to attending the ABC Relays here next month is BILL GORDON, whose home is in Baytown. According to his wife, Bill hasn't figured out how he can make it, but if it's at all possible, he wants to be on hand. The J. C. Pickles didn't get to talk to Bill when they were in Baytown over the weekend, but Mrs. Gordon assured them if he didn't get to come it wouldn't be because he didn't want to. Bill is a former resident of Big Spring.

Little Dana Ann McDaniel, two-year-old daughter of MR. AND MRS. LUTHER McDANIEL has a new sister. She was born at Malone-Hogan Hospital Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock and weighed 7 pounds, 10 ounces.

BPODoes To Continue Candy Sales

At a meeting of the BPODoes Wednesday evening, the group voted to continue selling candy, which has been one of their moneymaking projects.

Pro tem officers were Mrs. J. F. George, outer guard, and Mrs. Grace Grandstaff, inner guard. Mrs. C. C. Ryan was appointed temporary chairman of the membership committee.

The name of Mrs. Paul Liner was called for the attendance prize, but it was carried over for the next meeting, since she was absent. Twelve were present.

Grandma Of Modern Chemise Is The Hawaiian Muumuu

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

HONOLULU (AP) — The muumuu is an Hawaiian dress that looks like a nightgown, is built like a tent and has as much glamour as a potato sack.

For reasons unknown to men, women are crazy about them.

Every woman in Hawaii owns at least one muumuu. Most women have three or four.

They wear these drapeless shapes to go shopping, as house dresses, sports dresses, for the beach and for lounging.

The muumuu also makes an excellent maternity dress. Women here wear them also to parties and dances.

It is an old tradition to wear nothing beneath the muumuu. (There are no reliable statistics on how closely this tradition is observed. There are no unreliable statistics either).

COLLEGE FAD

The muumuu vogue is said to be spreading to the American mainland, especially among college coeds and in the Hollywood movie colony ever since a film troupe was on location in Hawaii last year to make "South Pacific."

The muumuu dates back 138 years. It is an adaptation of the Mother Hubbard brought to Hawaii in 1820 by the wives of New England missionaries.

One legend says these women were shocked by the nude Polynesian girls and quickly covered them up with the sack-shaped Mother Hubbards.

Another tale — and take your choice—says the Hawaiian queens of the day were entranced by the free-flowing garments worn by the missionary wives and asked them to help make muumuus for their own use.

HEFTY QUEENS

Because Hawaiian queens sometimes weighed as much as 300 pounds, the missionary wives fashioned Mother Hubbards of tent-size proportions. Once the other island women saw their queens in muumuus, the story goes, they rushed to make their own.

The present-day muumuus are all floor length and come with a variety of necklines. They are usually made up in bright Hawaiian prints. They range in price from $5 to $30.

Muumuus are usually worn with sandals on the feet and flowers in the hair. (Flowers worn behind the left ear indicate the girl is married or spoken for and behind the right ear, she's available and looking. Flowers worn on top of the head mean she's spoken for or married but looking anyway. No flowers mean a tourist.)

Polynesian men are said to prefer the muumuu to conventional, form-fitting dresses.

One Hawaiian says: "The muumuu keeps you guessing. It adds a touch of mystery to a woman and works on your imagination."

A somewhat different view is taken by Society Editor Betty Wilder of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin. She says: "Some people spell it moomoo. That's not surprising because it's big enough to cover a cow."

BEFORE PARIS

Miss Yoshi Sameshima, a fashion designer, says: "Hawaii is showing the fashion world that the islands had the chemise before Paris fashion experts came on the scene."

Jack Gillett, president of an organization known as the Waikiki Unmarried Bachelors' Association, says:

"The muumuu is charming and has its place."

He did not say what place.

A sampling of opinion in the U. S. Navy at Pearl Harbor boils down to this:

"The muumuu will never replace the grass skirt."

Hawaii Outsacks The Sack

Elenore Tuckman and Aunt Elizabeth, a lei lady of Hawaii, wear the island's favorite all-purpose costume, the bright, voluminous muumuu.

Child Study Club Sees Cancer Film

Members of the Child Study Club saw the film on cancer, which is being shown by Mrs. Garner McAdams, at their meeting Wednesday afternoon.

The group met in the home of Mrs. Tommy Hart with Mrs. Bruce Wright Jr. as cohostess. Dr. Carl Marcum was present for the showing and answered questions following the film.

Appointed as a nominating committee were Mrs. Wayland Yates, Mrs. Hayden Harrell and Mrs. Glenn Allen.

Thirteen were present.

Girl Scout Lemon Pie Recipes Are For Cooks Of All Ages

Girl Scouts, who this week are celebrating their 46th anniversary, have come up with a series of recipes for lemon pie which they want to share with youngsters their own age.

Cooking has been as popular as the outdoor camping and hiking trips, according to Alice Sanderson, home economist at national Girl Scout headquarters.

Across the country, three million youngsters are observing Girl Scout Week and launching a new Girl Scout theme, "You Can Count On Her." Typical of these girls might be Lee Margaret Tidwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Tidwell, 906 Mountain Park Drive.

Eleven-year-old Lee Margaret is a sixth grader and an Intermediate Girl Scout in Troop 12, sponsored by Park Hill School. Leader for this unit is Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin.

Scouting started for Lee Margaret in the third grade, when she became a Brownie and her mother was a Brownie leader. Now Mrs. Tidwell is a Girl Scout troop organizer but hopes to become a Brownie leader again when her younger daughter, Martha, 7, joins Brownies next year.

This week marks Lee Margaret's initial venture in pie-making, and she plans to follow one of the series of recipes for lemon pie which her fellow Girl Scouts will be using. The recipes are included in this story.

Always interested in goings-on in the kitchen, Lee Margaret can't recall the first thing she learned to cook. But chances are it was that universal "first", fudge. She's an old hand at making the candy now, and fudge-making is fun when the girl friends come over. Lee Margaret also bakes cakes and cookies, with brownies a special accomplishment.

Her mother remembers the day that a chum came, and she and Lee Margaret improvised a molasses taffy. Turned out to be a real success. Fulton Tidwell, 4, is too young to try his hand but is a patient waiter for licking the pan.

Main interest of our featured Girl Scout cook is horses, and she has one of her own, a Tennessee walking horse. Although his registered name is Snuffy, Lee Margaret decided it was a misnomer and renamed him Velvet.

Our Girl Scout has attended Camp Wa-Na-Ka in Woodland Park, Colo., for the past two summers. She is taking piano lessons and can make tunes on the family's chord organ. She also likes to play selections from their record collection.

Girl Scout Cook

This scene in the Leroy Tidwells' kitchen is being repeated over and over again in homes throughout the land as Girl Scout Week is observed. Lee Margaret Tidwell, an Intermediate Scout, is preparing the crumb shell for a luscious lemon pie. The recipes, which Girl Scouts are sharing this week, are easy enough for all ages to make.

Now for the recipes. Here is the basic recipe for the crumb pie shell, one that most youngsters can tackle on their own:

1 1-3 cups graham cracker crumbs

1-3 cup softened oleo or butter

¼ cup sugar.

Crush crackers between sheets of wax paper, or in a plastic or paper bag. Measure in an 8-inch pie plate, thoroughly mix crumbs, butter and sugar. Reserve ¼ cup crumb mixture. Press remainder in an even layer on sides and bottom of pie plate. Chill well, about one hour, before filling.

* * *

For youngsters, aged about seven to nine years, Miss Sanderson suggests the Brownie Scout lemon filling:

1 pkg. instant lemon-pudding mix

2 cups cold milk.

Combine pudding and milk in bowl. Beat until smooth, following directions on pudding package. Pour into pie shell, decorate top with reserved crumb mixture. Chill until serving time. Serves six.

* * *

Sub-teen girls from about 10 to 14 years may enjoy trying a more difficult lemon pie filling:

1 egg

1 (14 oz.) can sweetened condensed milk

½ cup lemon juice

1 tsp. grated lemon rind or ¼ tsp. lemon extract

Beat egg until frothy. Add remaining ingredients and stir until mixture thickens. Pour into crumb shell. Decorate with reserved crumb mixture. Chill one hour. The pie will serve six.

* * *

Teen-agers may have fun making the Senior Scout "Chef's Favorite."

4 Tbsp. lemon juice

3 egg yolks

4½ Tbsp. flour

1 cup water

1 Tbsp. butter

Mix sugar and flour. Add hot water, cook until thick. Beat yolks of eggs and stir into mixture. Add lemon juice, butter and salt. Fill shell.

Beat the three egg whites until foamy; add 3 tbsp. sugar. Beat until whites hold their shape. Spread the meringue on the pie filling so that it touches crust all around. Brown in oven at 300 degrees for about 15 minutes, or until meringue is brown.

Peanuts And Apricots Blend For Sticky Buns

What's more tempting than a "sticky bun"? Famous restaurants and knowing hostesses have built enviable reputations around these delectably gooey, nut-crusted little upside-down hot breads.

Maybe it's their fresh-baked, butterscotch fragrance...or the happy way butter melts into their brown-gold spirals. Could be it's because they're so simple to make, versatile to serve and easy to vary delightfully that these sweet-coated whirly-buns are such consistent favorites.

Start with raised roll or baking powder biscuit dough—your own or a speedy packaged mix. Switch the nuts, the fruit, the spices, the glaze! Serve with breakfast coffee, with lunchtime salad, or with hot sauce or sweet cream for a scrumptious dinner dessert.

Go adventuring with peanuts in your sticky buns. Nutritionists declare that these powerful little vegetable nuts are loaded with top-value vitamins, rich in important proteins, and packed with quick energy fuel. Add fruit to the dough, spike the filling with raisins, and you've practically a meal in a bun basket!

Try Apricot-Goober Gooey Buns as a starter. Then take off on sticky bun adventures of your own.

APRICOT-GOOBER BUNS

1-3 cup butter or margarine, melted
½ cup salted peanuts
¾ cup apricot preserves
2 cups biscuit mix
2 tbsps. softened butter or margarine
¼ cup brown sugar
¾ cup chopped salted peanuts
¼ cup raisins

Heat oven to 425 degrees (hot). Grease 12 medium muffin cups and drop into each 2 teaspoons brown sugar, 1 generous teaspoon melted butter or margarine, and 8 to 10 peanut halves. With a fork, blend apricot preserves with biscuit mix. Turn dough onto lightly floured board, knead gently 10 times and roll to a 16-x18-inch oblong. Spread with softened butter or margarine.

Sprinkle with ¼ cup brown sugar, chopped peanuts and raisins. Roll snugly from the wide side and seal. Cut in 12 slices. Place rolls cut-side down in prepared muffin cups. Bake 10-12 minutes.

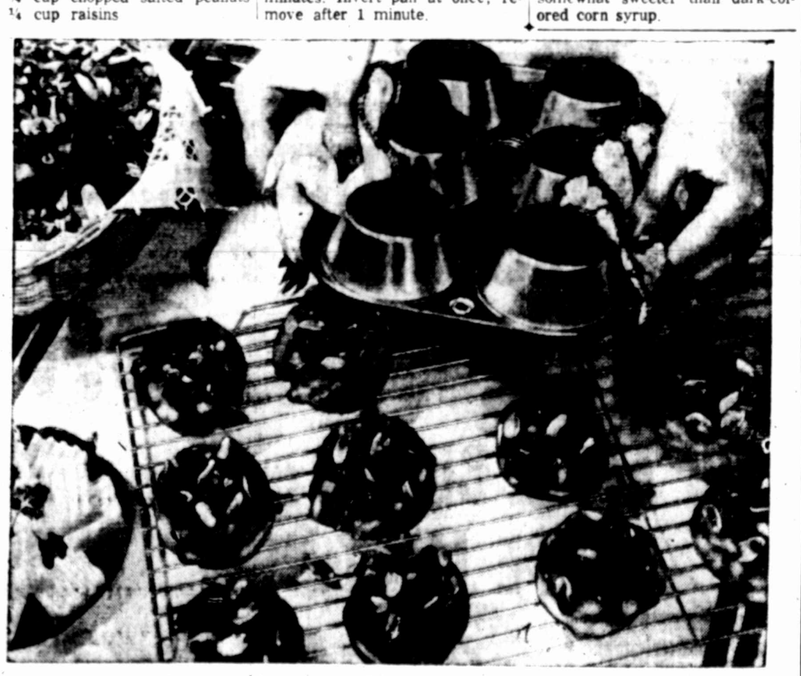

Immediately place a tray over muffin pan, invert both, let stand 1 minute before removing pan. Makes 12 rolls.

CANDY BAR DESSERT BUNS

Heat oven to 375 degrees (moderately hot). Chop 4 peanut-chocolate candy bars into bits. Grease 12 medium muffin cups and into each put 1 teaspoon melted butter and half the chopped candy, dividing it between cups.

Prepare baking powder biscuit dough by recipe or biscuit mix, using cream instead of milk (or substitute ¼ cup melted butter for ¼ cup of the milk). Add 1 tablespoon honey with the liquid. Beat 12 strokes; drop on lightly floured board and roll to a 16x7-inch oblong.

Spread with 2 tablespoons softened butter and sprinkle with remaining chopped candy. Roll up from wide side, seal and cut in 12 slices. Place cut-side down in prepared muffin cups. Bake 10-15 minutes. Invert pan at once; remove after 1 minute.

Apricot-Goober Buns

A delightful new twist for popular "sticky buns" puts the spotlight on goobers. Use apricot preserves for the liquid in a batch of baking powder biscuit dough. It's that easy! Peanuts and brown sugar roll up inside to form the crunchy brown glaze when the buns are turned out.

Thyme For Spareribs

Add thyme to the water in which you simmer spareribs before broiling them.

Baking Powder

For kitchen chemists: Baking powder is made of baking soda and cornstarch plus an acid ingredient.

Sweeter Corn Syrup

Light-colored corn syrup is somewhat sweeter than dark-colored corn syrup.

Texas Irish Stew Wins Favor With Motherland

The Irish have conquered the world. They didn't do it with armies and navies, but with people.

An innate love of adventure has led Irishmen around the world. They have been highly successful colonizers, weaving their own traditions into the cultures of their adopted lands.

Texas Irishmen are no exceptions. Irish stew is one of the traditions they brought with them, and Texas beef is the new product they adopted. With it, they make an Irish stew which is not just as they made it in the old country. It's a grand new stew, but still wonderfully Irish.

Hoisting its Stetson to the Irish on St. Patrick's Day, the Texas Beef Council has supplied the hearty and appetizing recipe below which recently won favor with natives from the Motherland. It yields four to six servings.

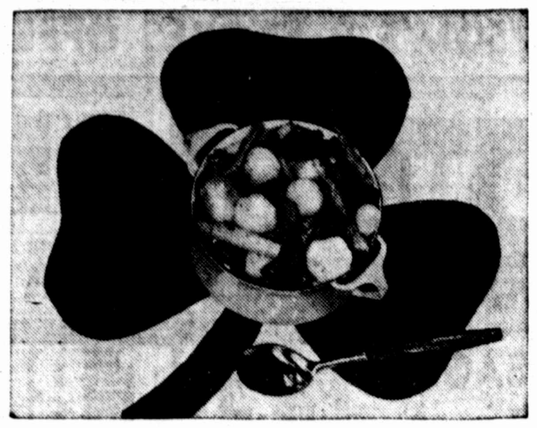

IRISH STEW

Cut into 1½-inch cubes 2 pounds beef round and brown it in 3 tablespoons fat. Remove beef from pot and brown ¼ cup sliced onions. Return the beef and cover it with 4 cups boiling water.

Add these spices and seasonings to the water: 2 bay leaves, broken into pieces; 4 whole cloves; ⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper; 2 teaspoons salt; 1 tablespoon Worcestershire Sauce; 6 drops Tabasco Sauce and ⅛ teaspoon dry mustard.

Cover the pot closely, reduce the heat and simmer for 1½ to 2 hours. Parboil 12 small, whole new potatoes and 8 to 10 whole small round onions; drain and add them to the stew. Quarter and slice lengthwise 4 medium carrots and add to stew. Simmer for 20 to 25 minutes.

Rather than thickening the stew with a flour gravy, the council suggests mashing the potatoes after the stew is cooked. Leave the other vegetables in their original form for texture and appearance.

Irish Eyes Will Smile

. . . when they taste this Irish stew, Texas-style, which will be served in many homes Monday, March 17 is the day Texas Irishmen doff their Stetsons to their ancestors on St. Patrick's Day. The Texas Beef Council's stew is hearty, tasty and economical.

These Cookies Star Cereal, Chocolate

Fill the cookie jar with such treats as Massachusetts Cookies and you'll have to devise a lock and key. Here are the ingredients:

MASSACHUSETTS COOKIES

Ingredients:

¾ cup sifted flour
½ tsp. baking soda
½ tsp. salt
½ cup dark brown sugar (firmly packed)
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup soft butter or margarine
1 egg
1 tbsp. water
1 tsp. vanilla
1½ cups quick-cooking rolled oats
1 package (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate pieces

Method:

Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt into a medium-sized mixing bowl. Add sugars, soft butter, egg, water and vanilla. Beat until smooth—about 2 minutes. Stir in rolled oats and chocolate.

Drop rounded teaspoonfuls of mixture onto buttered baking sheet, about 1 inch apart. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven about 12 minutes. Makes about 4 dozen.

DO KNIVES CUT?

They Will If You Treat Them Properly

Every home has knives. Unfortunately too many people take this basic tool for granted. They don't know which knives they really need, what to look for when they buy, and how to care for these household helpers so they will live a full and useful life.

Begin by buying good knives. Quality cutting blades are essential in the kitchen for peeling, paring, slicing, dicing, and chopping; in the dining room, for cutting food; and all around the house for dozens of other chores. Cheap blades do not hold a sharp edge and are apt to break and chip.

A good knife wardrobe should include a blunt-end paring knife, saber-like paring knife, bread knife, utility knife, french knife, butcher knife, cleaver, boning knife, hot slicer, cold slicer, carving set, and steak knife set.

After choosing a good knife and the right knife for the job, the next essential is its sharpness. Sharpening is in order when more than a gentle pressure has to be exerted in order to cut. Dull knives are actually dangerous, since there is no way to tell how much pressure is actually needed to cut, and the dullness of the knife may divert the blade from its cutting course. With a well-honed edge, the cutter knows in advance exactly what his sharp blade will do.

Protect your knives by avoiding these don'ts:

Don't use your knives to open cans, remove bottle tops, jar lids or thumbtacks.

Don't cut on top of glass or a wooden "chopping" board.

Don't soak knives in water. It eventually warps wood handles. Instead, rinse in hot water and dry immediately. Don't use steel wool.

Don't keep your knives in a drawer without some means of protecting the blades. Other objects will nick and scratch them.

Once your knives are sharpened, it's easy to keep them that way.

Tasty Franks

Some cooks like to plunge frankfurters into boiling water for a minute before grilling and serving with a barbecue sauce.

Coffee Sans Caffeine

Decaffeinated coffee comes in ground form in vacuum-packed cans and also in instant form in glass jars.

Research In Meats Done For Soldiers

AUSTIN — Tenderer, tastier, juicer meat is in store for the Army and Air Force as a result of a research project nearing completion in the University of Texas home economics department.

Under a $22,000 federal government contract with the university, home economists have been conducting a study on cooking meat in quantity since September, 1955. They have used more than 22,000 pounds of meat—all "U.S. Choice" or better—furnished by the armed forces. (A restaurant serving 500 meat orders a day would use that amount in less than six months.)

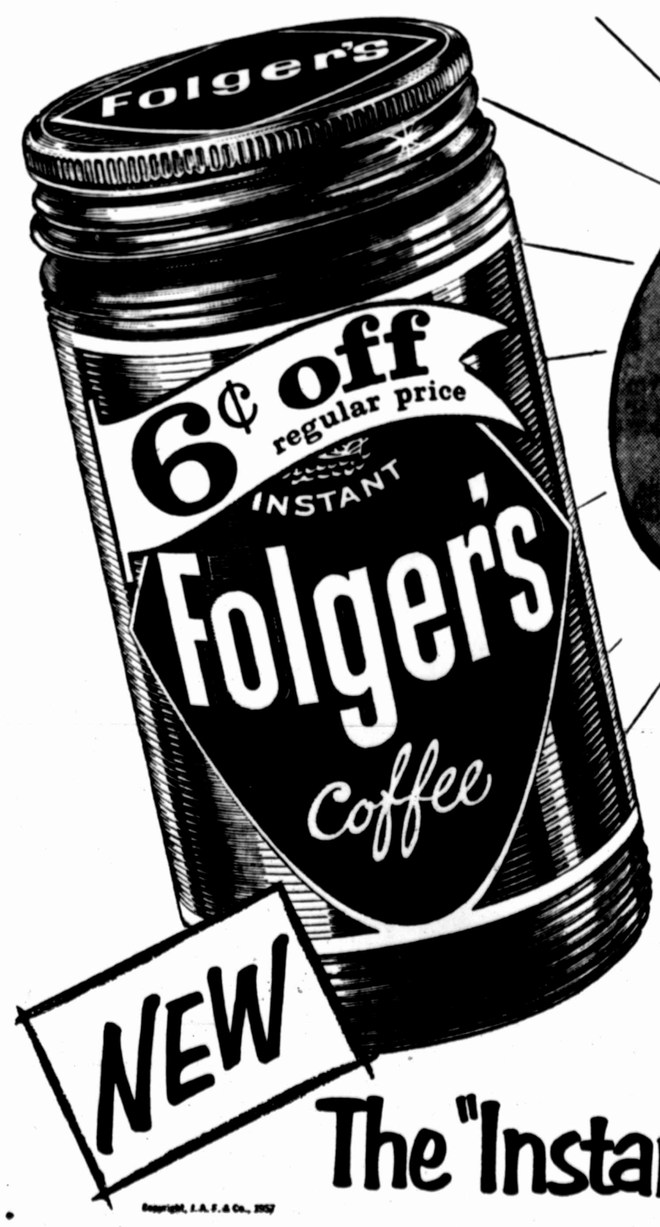

When findings are analyzed and reported to the project sponsors, the Army and Air Force may make some major revisions in their recipe books and directions for meat preparation.

A Bible Thought For Today

God, who at sundry times and in the divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, Hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds. (Hebrews 1:1-2)

Conciliatory Approach To Problem

The city commission has taken a conciliatory attitude toward the problem of right of way for FM-700 and has come up with a proposal to the county.

The commission has offered to pay the county $200 an acre for land required for the road inside the corporate limits. At the same time the matter of securing the land would be turned over to the county, which already has secured the bulk of holdings outside of the city limits. The $200 per acre figure is undoubtedly predicated upon the price at which the county paid for most of the roadway which was not donated.

Whether $200 an acre would be adequate is doubtful, but the commission's offer represents a hopeful attitude of composing differences in the interest of establishing the road.

The routing of this southeast loop from U. S. 87 to U. S. 80 is not to the exact liking of all, for the county would have found it easier had it been to the south; it would not have traversed the corporate limits and could have been used as a route for a sewer fallout line. But the road is where the state highway department has decided, for its own practical reasons, that it should be, and if it is to invest eventually a third to half a million dollars in the road, the department undoubtedly will stand pat on its location. In other words, for practical purposes that issue has been settled: the job is to get the roadway and we are hopeful that the latest development will help do just that.

Tax Cut And The Economy

The evidence as to the effectiveness of individual income tax reductions in reversing downward trends in the general economy is mixed.

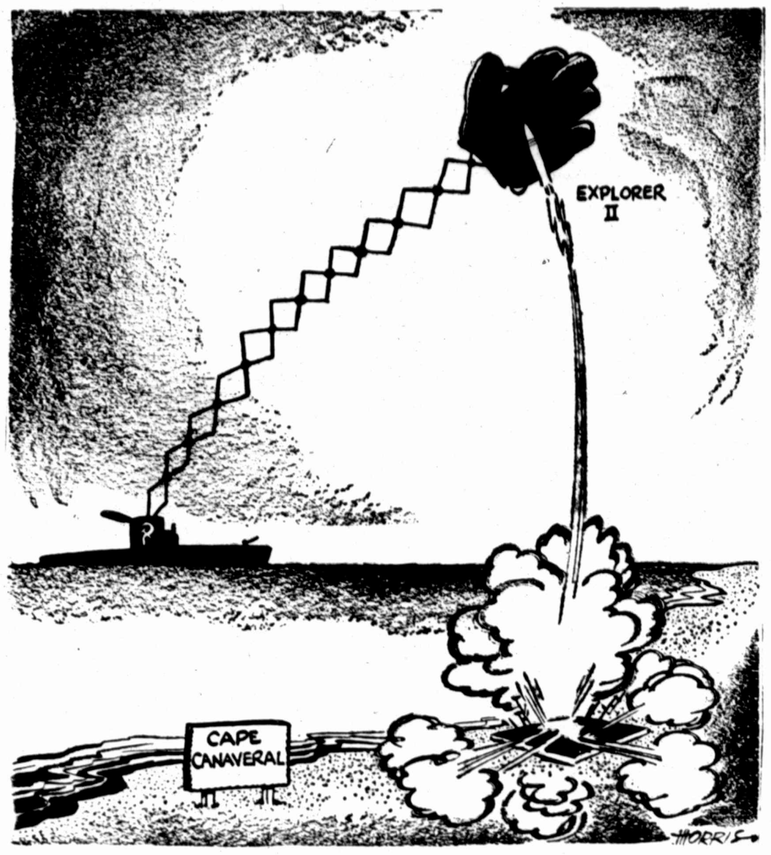

Last previous general reduction was in 1954, on a graduated scale. The lowest rate was reduced 2.2 percentage points, to 20 per cent; the highest rate by 1 point, from 92 to 91 per cent. The rates themselves have remained the same ever since.

The recession had set in in 1953, and by the time the reductions were voted in August of 1954 the FRB production index was down 10 per cent, or 14 points, from its 1953 high.

The reductions were made retroactive to January 1, 1954. Nine months later the index reached and then passed the 1953 high. So, on the face of it, tax reductions must have been a factor, great or small, in the upswing, though an aggressive advertising campaign to move goods is also cited as a strong factor in the revival.

On the other hand, when the great depression got under way in September of 1929 the Hoover administration, that December, put through an individual income tax reduction on payments due in 1930. The reduction was one percentage point in normal tax rates—from 5, 3 and 1.5 per cent to 4, 2 and ½ per cent, respectively.

But the Treasury was slipping into the red—from a surplus of $738 million in 1930-31 to a deficit of $462 million for 1931-32. Accordingly, the higher income tax rates were allowed to come back for payments due in 1931. Tax reduction, by itself, had not availed to stem the tide of a fading economy.

All Right Then, What's Your Theory?

Russia Challenged On 'Pre-Emptive War'

WASHINGTON—Premier Bulganin of the Communist regime in Moscow wrote a letter on March 3 to President Eisenhower which is a striking example of why there is a lack of understanding between the Soviet and the American peoples.

One section of the Bulganin letter is based on a faulty translation in Moscow of the difference between the words "preventive war" and "pre-emptive war." Consequently, the following message was cabled to the Kremlin by this writer:

"To Premier Bulganin: In your letter of March 3 to President Eisenhower you questioned his statement that he knows of no one in the United States who is advocating 'preventive war.' The President is right — nobody is advocating it. You, however, refer in rebuttal to the comments of certain American writers, including myself, and you point particularly to some articles in 'U.S. News & World Report,' of which I happen to be the editor.

"Perhaps due to faulty translation, you unfortunately confuse the discussion of 'pre-emptive war' with 'preventive war.' In the proper understanding of these two phrases lies the key to a solution of the critical problems of disarmament and an eventual relaxation of tensions in the world.

"Actually we in 'U. S. News & World Report' first discovered the significance of the phrase 'pre-emptive war' by translating several military journals published in the Soviet Union in which articles by your prominent military men disclosed that 'pre-emptive war' was made the official policy of the Soviet Union in 1955. Theoretically, its purpose is said to be to defend oneself against a 'surprise attack.'

"Surely you would not deny the United States the right to adopt for itself this same doctrine as a measure of defense.

"I quoted in an editorial on January 10 from an article in the January issue of 'Foreign Affairs,' a quarterly magazine published by a private organization in New York City known as the Council on Foreign Relations, in which Herbert S. Dinerstein defines the 'strategy of pre-emptive war' as 'getting in the first blow against an opponent poised to strike.' He stated that it was advocated by your general Rotmistrov and was officially adopted as a military policy by the Soviet Union in 1955.

"In the February 7, 1958, issue of 'U.S. News & World Report,' we reprinted from the May 1955 issue of your magazine 'Military Thought' an extract from the article by General P. Kurochkin, in which he writes:

" 'In order to make our motherland more secure against a surprise attack by an aggressor, we must be in a state of complete combat readiness and must know how to strike pre-emptive blows against an enemy who is preparing to attack. That is the only way of preventing a surprise attack by an aggressor. Events of June 1941 (when Hitler made his surprise attack against Russia) must not repeat themselves again.'

"Also Marshal Sokolovsky, who is today the chief of the general staff of your armed forces, said in a signed article in 'Izvestia' on February 23, 1955: 'It is not enough for states which are under the threat of attack merely to be ready and able to deal blow for blow. One must deprive the aggressor of the surprise factor—not allow oneself to be caught unaware.' "

"In an editorial in 'U. S. New & World Report' on December 13 last, I wrote: 'We in America and our allies abroad are faced with the danger of being destroyed because we are unwilling to strike the first blow. For us to strike the first blow is called "preventive war," and the idea is promptly waved aside as unthinkable. But where is the guarantee against surprise attack?

" 'There is a middle course between the two extremes. Soviet Russia must not be led to believe that we will take the first blow. Our forces must be ready overseas and in this country to strike not only when—through our devices of detection—Soviet planes or missiles are known to have left the ground but when the mobilization for attack against us begins.'

"Surely you would not deny to America and her allies the right to intercept an attack with pre-emptive blows.

"I appealed in that same editorial for an ironclad agreement limiting or abandoning altogether the use of atomic bombs and missiles by all nations. I repeated the plea on January 10, 1958, when I wrote that, unless a foolproof system of inspection accompanied any agreements reached, either side—believing that it is truly acting in self-defense—may feel compelled to inflict the 'first blow' as the real deterrent, and that this is why a disarmament agreement has become an absolute necessity.

"Progress, however, toward such an agreement will not be made by ignoring the realistic facts of military strategy as outlined publicly by our own military men and by attempting to divert attention from the policy of 'pre-emptive war' officially adopted in 1955 by the Soviet Union."

Comparing Ike And Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, in fighting the recession, has one problem President Hoover shared in the early 1930 depression days, and other problems which either didn't exist for Hoover or were secondary.

Both men's primary task was getting the American economy back on its feet. Hoover failed badly. But Eisenhower also has to worry about the effect of an American economic tailspin would have in other countries. That was truly a secondary concern for Hoover.

The early 1930s were a time of American isolation, mental and financial. This country, following its historic tradition of avoiding foreign entanglements, had no military alliances.

So Hoover didn't have to worry about maintaining or supporting anything like that while this country was concentrating on bailing itself out at home.

The attitude of this country in the early 1930s was pretty much that of letting the rest of the world worry about itself.

In the early 1930s, under Hoover, Congress passed the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act, highest in history, to keep out the competition of foreign goods. In turn, it helped close foreign markets to us.

The United States wasn't too concerned about the spread of communism overseas. The men in the Kremlin, still struggling to make communism work in Russia, were years away from their later successes and their present aggressive expansionism.

It's all changed for Eisenhower. Since the war this country has pumped about 60 billion dollars into foreign aid of various kinds. American policy—in the foreseeable future—is to continue pumping it.

Part of this foreign aid money goes into helping American allies maintain their own armed forces as a defense against the Soviets and Red Chinese.

But now, increasingly successful at home, the Russians are beginning to try to offset American foreign aid by foreign aid of their own.

If the present recession slides into depression, with antirecession government spending far exceeding the revenue from taxes, there will no doubt be severe pressure at home to cut down on foreign aid, or cut it out.

The Office Revolving Fund

NEW YORK (AP)—"Neither a borrower nor a lender be," wrote William Shakespeare.

It is obvious from this line that Shakespeare never worked in a modern business office.

If he had, he probably would have reworded his advice to read: "Never lend more than you can borrow yourself."

It is almost impossible to work in the average office now without being both a borrower and a lender.

A man who won't now and then help tide a fellow worker over a rough spot is regarded as a sanctimonious churl. He couldn't be more unpopular if he were in the pay of a foreign power. He is known as "the grouch" and everyone hopes Santa Claus will give him an ulcer for Christmas.

Bosses sometimes try to curb borrowing in their offices, but this is rather like trying to stamp out a forest fire barefooted.

Borrowing is not only a recurrent necessity among the indoor desk-bound peasantry, it is a way of life. It is an art form. It provides that little human touch that makes the whole office kin.

It takes all kinds of borrowers to make a world, and perhaps you recognize a few of the following types in the world where you work:

1. The big operator—He has just got a hot inside tip on the market, and if you lend him $500 now you will be doing yourself a favor as he will be in a position to pay you back double — maybe even triple—within a month when the stock blows its top. Actually, however, any company would be smart to pay this guy not to buy its stock, because as sure as he does, it will go down.

2. The bird dog—This gentle soul never borrows for himself. He just likes to go around and borrow for those too proud to borrow for themselves.

3. The cold calculator — He figures that if he borrows $10 from everyone in the office he will have enough to make a down payment on his house and won't have to pay interest to a loan company.

4. The Tragedian—wet-eyed, he reaches for your pocketbook as he unfolds a tale of woe that would melt a stone. His life is one disaster after another. He counts that day lost on which no catastrophe befalls him that will give him an excuse for borrowing.

5. The straitened Romeo — He has just met the most wonderful doll in the world, and with a little financial help from you he is going to take her out tonight—and, in return, tomorrow he will tell you what happened. If you like listening to other people's love struggles, this guy's not a bad investment.

6. The wife fighter—"I had another fuss with the old lady this morning, and she wouldn't give me any lunch money. Will you?"

7. The addict—He is a compulsive borrower — just can't help himself. But you don't have to lend him money. Anything will do —a cigarette, a pencil, a used paper clip. He will go away happy.

Well, there they are—a gallery of the more common office borrowers.

LETTER TO EDITOR

To the Editor:

Because there is a lot of talk about teen-agers and crime, I would like to give my views. First of all, I can look at it as a teenager and I think all of us should stop and think what would happen if there were no laws and peace officers to enforce laws. There would be killers, robbers, gangs, narcotic rings to prey on all people. . even good, steady churchgoing people. Let's hope and pray nothing like this will ever happen.

I was reared on a farm and I have three healthy brothers who kept me busy on the farm. But those in the city are looking for something to occupy their minds. Sometimes they go wandering at night, maybe doing nothing, maybe doing something wrong.

From what I have seen, teenage crime sometime starts because a boy wants to be noticed. Maybe he is not popular, so to get attention he will act tough, as to be asking for trouble, and most of the time he will get trouble from someone. One thing leads to another, always something bigger and perhaps he will wind up in a correctional institution or pen.

All of this leads to nothing but heartbroken parents, broken homes. If only someone could find this poor lost soul maybe they could save heartbreaks for the boy, his parents and others. I would say that there is a way to be popular and that is to go to church; you may not necessarily be popular with others, but you will be popular with God.

Death Of A Boa

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A pet boa constrictor named Wadsworth (for Longfellow) has come to a sad end, at the bottom of a hot air duct.

The 31-foot pet of 16-year-old James Clemons crawled or fell into the hot air register at the Clemons home recently, probably to enjoy the warmth.

A serviceman for an oil company fished the body of Wadsworth out of the heating pipe.

Harsh Discipline

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Overheard in a Little Rock department store:

Mother, in irritation: "Where did you lose it?"

Little girl about five years old: "I don't know, it just got away."

Mother: "I've warned you about holding on to money. I'll give you another one but if you lose this, that's all!"

And she handed the youngster a five-dollar bill.

Around The Rim

Delaying Tactics For The Spring Campaign

The battle of the dandelions, wild rye, goatheads and milkweeds has begun.

Already I see some of my neighbors out pulling, hoeing, spading and grubbing. And their premises are looking nice in the wake of the onslaughts.

Some other neighbors and I haven't started yet. We've been waiting for that nice, spring-like day to inspire us to begin the annual effort to curb the unwanted vegetation. Everytime we get ready to start, it comes another snowstorm. Or else, it clouds up and the cold north wind blows.

Of course, we could start on Sunday. We've had two or three real nice, sunshiny Sundays lately. They made me want to get to work. But Mama always said never work on Sunday. (I wish she had banned it on some other days, too.)

Meanwhile, the wild grass and the weeds are making hay out at our house. They're growing like mad, and I can see signs that they're going to be making seed before long. In spite of the cold, you can spot the timid yellow blooms on the dandelions when the wind ruffles the rye and lets you look down under.

I saw some of those fuzzy little tassels replacing the blossoms the other day, too, which means that dandelion seeds soon will be scattered all over the place. They'll probably blow onto the neighbors' freshly groomed lawns also, and I know I and other slow-starting yard keepers in the neighborhood will be roundly criticized.

We feel kind of justified, though. A few years ago some of us worked real hard to do away with the undesirable vegetation before it went to seed. We were successful, more or less, too, but it lasted only about one spring. Then the seed blew in from someplace, and covered us up again.

Meantime, I broke the handle out of my spade, and the hoe handle is showing signs of wear, tear and weather. It looks like more of an uphill battle than ever this year.

Besides, I'm growing tired with the passing seasons. And since I can't afford a yardman like they have over on the boulevard, I'm thinking about putting my hoe and shovel funds in on a new mower so I can just concentrate on keeping everything mowed down to ankle-high. I'm hoping it doesn't get too tough to cut, while I'm making up my mind.

Gen. Billy Mitchell And Adm. Rickover

The old Machiavellian concept that might makes right has won another splashing victory. Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas has refused to erase the court-martial verdict of "guilty" voted 33 years ago against General Billy Mitchell, apostle of air power.

The general's son, William Mitchell Jr., had asked that the verdict be sponged away in view of the fact that time has proved his father right and his detractors wrong. Congress tried to make amends in 1946 when it voted a posthumous Medal of Honor to the pugnacious general.

Even though the Air Force Board of Correction of Military Records approved the erasure, Secretary Douglas, the pure of heart, cried, "No, No!" To right a wrong, to admit of an injustice would, in his opinion, destroy all military discipline. It might encourage other brilliant men to talk back to their superiors in rank if not intelligence, and then the fatheads would be in the fire!

As a result of all this, one of Washington's most astute political columnists, Roscoe Drummand, has asked his readers to bring pressure, via letters, on President Eisenhower to grant executive clemency to the dead general.

This is a charming, sentimental appeal. But I am unalterably opposed to it. If I were a member of General Mitchell's immediate family, I would wear his "guilt" as a decoration beyond the price of rubies, since it was bought with honor. I would have that guilty verdict incorporated in my coat of arms and blazon it forth on the family escutcheon.

I would wear it proudly, if I were William Mitchell Jr., as another passing triumph of small minds and petty men over the brilliant nonconformist to whom his contemporaries in all ages so often give a hotfoot.

Since 1925, when General Mitchell was court-martialed for being a prophet without honor in his own military establishment, the burden of proof and guilt has shifted dramatically. Today, General Mitchell's family has nothing for which to explain or apologize. Let the military do that!

What I find farm more urgent and distressing in the military picture at the moment than this intransigient attitude toward General Mitchell is the identical and continuing efforts of the United States Navy to rid itself of Rear Admiral Hyman G. Rickover. All the Navy owes Rickover is the world's first fleet of atomic submarines. And if the Navy had had its way, it would not owe him that nor would the United States have such a fleet.

Only Congressional action in 1953 saved Rickover from being retired by the Navy Brass. He has long been found unacceptable for The Club because he is (1) a genius and (2) a Jew.

Now, the most reliable reports from Washington say the Navy is again planning to do a job on Rickover and retire him in 1960, at the earliest, and in 1961, at the latest.

Once more, members of Congress have been alerted to the fact that the country may be deprived of Rickover's services by action of the Navy, which had so much to do with General Mitchell's conviction. Perhaps Congress and public opinion, if united, can save Admiral Rickover, only 58 years of age and with long years of service yet available to his country. I am writing President Eisenhower a letter about that problem and writing it today.

Minding The Store While Boss Is Away

WASHINGTON—A question being asked more and more often these days is: "Who is this Sherman Adams anyway?"

It is a reflection of the way in which President Eisenhower's immediate staff is being held accountable for what is done—or not done—by the President. While the President himself is not as yet a sure target, Adams, James C. Hagerty, the press secretary, and others are the object of a growing barrage of criticism.

The answer to the question is simple enough if one takes Adams' modest record from "Who's Who in America." He was woods boss for a lumber company in his home state of New Hampshire. He went into politics in a small way, was elected to the Legislature and served one term in Congress. Defeated once for Governor, he won on a second try. When Mr. Eisenhower became President in 1953, Adams became assistant to the President.

The bare bones of this record seem unrelated to the remarkable legend growing up around the man who sits at the President's right hand. In that legend the spare, taciturn New Englander is 10 times life size—a cross between Rasputin and Svengali.

All the cliches—the power behind the throne, the gray eminence—are applied to his role in the White House. When letters came to light recently from Adams to Murry Chotiner, Vice President Richard M. Nixon's campaign manager in 1952, relative to a case before the Civil Aeronautics Board, this seemed to prove everything that had been said about the quiet engineer at the switchboard in the White House. The House investigation would show that he ran the independent agenices—the CAB, the Federal Communications Commission, the Federal Power Commission.

The truth, lying somewhere between the facts and the legend, is difficult to appraise. The reason for the public inflation of Adams' post as "assistant to the President" can be found, in the view of this observer, in two developments.

First is the fact of the President's increasing withdrawal over the past three years from the responsibilities of his office. When he agreed to run for a second term, he said that he would, because of his illness, lead a more restricted life, with periods of rest and recreation. Before that he had shown an indifference, if not an antagonism, toward the political aspects of his job.

Consequently a large share of the poltical duties of the Presidency have fallen on Adams. In 1952 he had bucked the predominant Taftite Republicans in his state, headed by the powerful Senator Styles Bridges, to help Mr. Eisenhower get the nomination, and he had a leading place in the Eisenhower campaign.

Adams has passed on virtually all domestic appointments. He will not discuss the degree of his responsibility, but there are those who insist that he makes the decisions subject to the President's approving signature. This has meant a wide latitude of operation in the far-flung bureaucracy of the Federal government.

The second reason Adams finds himself being shot at in an exposed position outside the political trenches lies in the growing complexity of the impossible office of the Presidency. There has been a lot of talk in the Eisenhower Administration about revising and strengthening the office. But this has never been done and, therefore, Adams' position as, in effect, deputy President is extra legal.

That makes him vulnerable, just as it made Harry Hopkins, who performed somewhat the same office for Franklin D. Roosevelt during the war. He was a favorite target of attack of those who did not want to hit the President directly.

One thing Adams readily admits. Looking drawn and haggard at the end of a 12-hour day, he concedes that it is a murderous job. Just now he has gone away for a few days of skiing in New Hampshire. But he will be back at the old stand since, given the situation of the President and the anomalies of the office itself, there is no substitute for the deputy who minds the store when the boss is away.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

It is very good news for the nation that Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia has yielded to pleas not only in his own state and Congress but from men and women throughout the country to reconsider his decision to retire. To agree, at the age of 70, to seek re-election (as certain as anything we can think of) is another example of devotion to public service for which the Virginia gentleman is famous. And certainly we can use the services of the outstanding economist in Congress.

Hollywood, seeking to replace New York as the TV capital, snagged 71 nominations to Gotham's 54.

The winners will be announced April 15 after a vote by members of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences — TV's equivalent of the movies' academy.

There were few surprises on this year's list. Competing for the best female and male personalities were old favorites Dinah Shore, Gracie Allen, Lucille Ball, Loretta Young, Sid Caesar, Steve Allen, Jack Benny and Perry Como. They had competition, however, from the star of the Tonight show, Jack Paar, and his gal Friday, Dody Goodman, newcomers to the list.

Playhouse 90 led the field for the most nominations — 12 — including one for the best TV series of the year. Two of its productions, "The Comedian" and "The Helen Morgan Story," were among the nominees for the best individual show of the year. Others: the Edsel Show, the General Motors Anniversary Show and Hall of Fame's "Green Pastures."

BEST ACTORS

Mickey Rooney, who starred in "The Comedian," competed for the best individual acting award with Peter Ustinov, David Wayne, Lee J. Cobb and Ed Wwynn.

Top actress nominees were Polly Bergen: Helen Hayes, who won in 1952; Piper Laurie; Julie Andrews; and Teresa Wright.

Three Westerns — Gunsmoke, Maverick and Wagon Train — were among nominees for the best dramatic series. The others: Lassie and Perry Mason.

James Arness, who plays Marshal Dillon on Gunsmoke, and his sidekick Dennis Weaver, who portrays his crippled deputy Chester, were among those nominated for best leading and supporting actor in a series. Arness' competition: Bob Cummings, Phil Silvers, Danny Thomas and Robert Young.

Best comedy series contestants are the Bob Cummings Show; Caesar's Hour — which went off the air last June and returned as Caesar Presents this January over another network; the Jack Benny Show; Father Knows Best; and the Phil Silvers Show.

Competing for the best dramatic anthology series — a new category — were Alfred Hitchcock Presents, Climax, Hallmark Hall of Fame, Playhouse 90 and Studio One.

The best musical, variety or audience participation show nominees are Dinah Shore, Ed Sullivan, Perry Como, Steve Allen and the Jack Paar Tonight show.

Contestants for the best actress in a series award are Eve Arden, Spring Byington, Jan Clayton, Ida Lupino and Jane Wyatt.

SEATO Meet Ends On Note Of Warning To Neutralist Nations

MANILA (AP) — The SEATO Council ended its fourth annual conference today with a swipe at neutralist nations which won't recognize the dangers of communism and a promise of only slightly more economic aid to help the Asian pact members develop their resources.

The foreign ministers of the eight nations outlined the results of their meeting in a 1,200-word communique which pinpointed "the insidious character" of Communist subversion as Southeast Asia's "most substantial current menace."

The foreign ministers said SEATO collective security measures had forced a diversion of Communist activities in the area from the military to the nonmilitary field. It warned of Red "activity in the economic, political and cultural field, and also activity within youth and labor organizations."

Without naminy them, the council warned "some non-Communist governments" against "failing to distinguish between the aims and ideals of the free world and the purposes of international communism." The communique said because of "the insidious character of Communist subversions, there was particular danger arising" from these governments.

The communique announced no big new program of economic aid to meet Pakistani charges that such neutral nations as India were getting more help than free world allies.

Instead the Council of Ministers pointed out that SEATO's three Asian members — Pakistan, Thailand and the Philippines — had gotten more than 700 million dollars in economic aid in the past year, principally from the United States.

The communique said the programs of extensive bilateral and other economic arrangements between the SEATO countries would continue. In addition, it cited U.S. Secretary of State Dulles' announcement that the United States would put up two million dollars for a program of vocational and on-the-job training for Asian members, and the Australian grant of one million pounds ($2,230,000) to the Asian members.

The communique also called attention to Dulles' statement that the major portion of U.S. economic aid now is going to Asia.

The communique carefully avoided any mention of the shooting war in Indonesia, in line with SEATO's official policy of not intervening in affairs of nonmembers.

Other conference decisions summed up by the communique included authorization for SEATO to set up liasion with the anti-Communist NATO and Baghdad alliances and to conduct a new program of combined military maneuvers. The Council also approved plans for a U.S.-Philippine defense college in the Philippines, a graduate engineering school in Bangkok and an administrative budget of $830,360 for the 1958-59 fiscal year.

Outside the conference, Dulles also met with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau to work out a solid Western position on Russia's proposals for summit talks.

The foreign ministers agreed on a series of diplomatic steps to prepare for a summit conference and will recommend them to the other North Atlantic Treaty allies.

The Big Three foreign ministers meeting in private for the first time since the 1956 Suez Canal crisis, also reaffirmed their stand in favor of a foreign ministers' conference as one of the preliminaries to summit talks.

They added they had reached general agreement on the proposals they will prepare for a summit meeting.

Three important issues have been suggested as the major ones blocking a relaxation of world tensions — German reunification, the status of Russia's East European satellites and controlled disarmament.

It was privately conceded here that agreement now is possible only on disarmament, and therefore the foreign ministers want to see some solid progress on it before any summit meeting.

Imports Blamed For Price War

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Independent Gasoline Assn. blames a gasoline price war raging in San Antonio squarely on oil imports.

"There's no cause for this price war," Dan Traugott, president of the group, said yesterday. "It is directly traceable back to crude oil imports."

Jerome O'Brien, president of Monterrey Oil Co., and president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Assn., said major oil companies are trying to force independent refineries out of business so that there would be no market for domestic crude oil.

He estimated major firms get about 90 per cent of the imports. He said excessive imports affect the economy of oil producing states and invite monopolies and antitrust violations.

Traffic Violators More Numerous Than 'Drunks'

Traffic violators outnumbered the drunks fined in corporation court last month, but the drunks got more fines.

Judge Grover Cunningham Jr. assessed fines totaling $1,810 against 75 drunks, and 135 traffic violators got fines of $1,203. However, most of the jail layouts were the drunks. Fines totaling $1,794 were laid out during February, according to the monthly report from the police department.

Twenty-five persons were fined a total of $375 for operating without drivers' licenses, and 44 persons arrested on vagrancy charges drew fines. Their fines amounted to $493.

Six gaming charges brought total assessments of $100. Eighty-four persons drew fines of $167 for parking violations.

The total from all fines assessed was $4,588, and cash receipts amounted to $3,686. Motorists paid $822 overtime parking tickets during the month.

Coy Best Rites Held At Odessa

Funeral services were held in Boyd-Head Chapel, Odessa, for Coy Best, 46, former manager of the United Store here. Burial was to be in Cordill, Okla., today.

Mr. Best, who had operated the Best Shoe Store in Odessa since leaving here, died in a local hospital Tuesday. He is survived by his wife and six children.

Senate Passes First Recession Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed its first major anti-recession measure of the 1958 session—an emergency housing bill its Democratic sponsors hope would give jobs to more than half a million workers.

The $1,850,000,000 bill now goes to the House. Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) has said he will give housing legislation priority.

Many Democratic senators expressed the hope that the House would knock out of the bill its most disputed feature — authority for President Eisenhower to raise the interest rate on GI home mortgages from the present 4½ to 4¾ per cent.

The House last year refused to go along with the President's recommendation that this rate be boosted to 5 per cent to attract more private funds into the veterans housing market.

The Senate passed the bill 86-0 after a day of debate.

On the only controversial issue —higher interest rates—the Senate divided evenly in two dramatic tie votes. Vice President Nixon broke the second one to settle the issue in favor of the administration.

In addition to permitting the interest boost on GI loans, the bill would make large amounts of new government funds available to buy mortgages for which no private lenders can be found. It would extend the VA guarantee and direct home loan programs for two years for World War II veterans and lower the down payment on FHA mortgages.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), chief sponsor of the bill, said it could make possible 200,000 additional homes in 1958.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said such a step up in construction "could put more than 10 per cent of our unemployed back on the job."

The additional money authorized by the bill would permit the Federal National Mortgage Assn. to buy a billion dollars worth of FHA and VA mortgages for which private funds are not available and give Eisenhower a 500-million-dollar fund he could direct FNMA to use to buy other mortgages if the recession worsened.

Also included are an extra 300 million dollars for direct loans to veterans and 50 million for military housing mortgages.

FHA down payments would be lowered so that 3 per cent of the first $13,500 of the mortgage would be the minimum requirement. Now it is 3 per cent on the first $10,000, with higher charges above $10,000.

The top rate on military housing mortgages would be increased from 4 to 4½ per cent as the administration asked.

Project Vanguard Floundering Again

CAPE CANAVERNAL, Fla. (AP)— The Navy's Project Vanguard, grounded by repeated frustrations apparently floundered in serious difficulty today.

None of the officials in charge would comment. The Navy has lowered a strict curtain of secrecy over its space research program, dogged by misfortune.

There were definite indications a Vanguard satellite launching might be days or even weeks away.

Meanwhile, the rival Army Jupiter-C program, despite troubles of its own, pushed to the fore.

Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker said in Washington that launching of a third Explorer satellite has been authorized.

The Navy called off its third attempt in a week to launch the Vanguard three-stage rocket with a grapefruit-size satellite in its nose.

It blamed technical difficulties which slowed the test beyond the time that liquid oxygen could be retained in the rocket without freezing the valves and other sensitive fittings.

Experts said it may prove that so much work is required to get the shopworn Vanguard back into condition that a launching may be out of prospect for possibly weeks.

An Army spokesman said the Army has five additional Jupiter-C rocket combinations which will be used to put up satellites.

The Army launched its first Explorer satellite successfully Jan. 31, using the four-stage Jupiter-C. Its second launching attempt, March 5, was unsuccessful.

Mitchell, Meany Confer

Secretary of Labor James Mitchell, left, and President George Meany of the AFL-CIO confer in Washington at an "emergency" AFL-CIO economic conference. In a speech at the meeting, Mitchell reported that unemployment reached 5,200,000 in mid-February, up about 700,000 from January. Meany, also in a speech, accused both Republicans and Democrats of playing politics and acting too slowly to counter the business recession.

Co-Ops Advised To Consolidate

LUBBOCK—This is an era of big business and agricultural co-op's must consolidate or face real hardships, officials conducting a co-op managers schools at Texas Tech agree.

More than 90 managers are attending the sixth annual statewide school, being conducted Monday through Thursday of this week by the Texas Federation of Cooperatives, Texas A&M Extension Service, Houston Bank for Cooperatives and Tech.

Smaller co-ops need to get together in federations or regional organizations, according to J. K. Stern of Washington, D. C., president of the American Institute of Cooperation.

"After all," he pointed out, "the purpose of co-ops is to save members money through mass purchasing and give them bigger profit margins through the economies of processing and marketing by a large organization."

Co-ops just are not merging as fast as other businesses are, he said.

C. E. Bowles, vice president of the Houston Bank for Cooperatives, said the plight of many smaller gins serves as a concrete example of the need for larger co-op's.

"Once a gin turning out 1,000 bales anually could make money," he explained. "Today a gin must turn out 25,000 bales to be profitable."

More unity and economic integration within management was cited by Wayland Bennett, Tech agricultural economist, as another need.

Brothers To Wed On Four Saturdays

CHRISTCHURCH, England (AP)— The four Vigor brothers, all sailors on different ships, reached home on leave yesterday and found they have arranged by chance to be married on four consecutive Saturdays.

This is the lineup:

Next Saturday — Edwin Vigor, 25, and Hazel Dawce, 19.

March 22 — Maurice Vigor, 24, and Shirley Vickers, 21.

March 29 — Raymond Vigor, 23, and Patricia Fear, 18.

April 5 — Aubrey Vigor, 21, and Pauline Collins, 19.

Said father William Vigor, "Four weddings in four weeks — it's a real shaker." Said the boys' mother: "I think it's thrilling."

SAME STORY...

NEW HEADLINE!

Year after year, as the report comes in, the same story is filed for the record. Advertisers continue to exhibit their confidence in the power of newspaper advertising by placing the bulk of advertising dollars in newspapers.

According to the McCann-Erickson, Inc.-Printers' Ink Preliminary Estimates of Advertising Expenditures for 1957, advertisers spent a record $10,432,000,000 in all forms of media. Of this total, by far the largest share was again invested in daily newspaper advertising—$3,325,000,000.

Advertisers turn to the daily newspaper because it gives the best buy for the money. Take a hard look at your advertising budget. Is the major share going into deeper-penetrating, more resultful newspaper advertising? If so, you're on your way to more sales per advertising dollar.

All business is local...and so are all newspapers.

Rain, Snow, Wind Lash Wide Areas

By The Associated Press

Rain, wind and snowstorms lashed wide areas of the country today, with Southern and Western sections hit hardest by the late winter storms.

A belt of rain or snow extended from Florida west, northwestward through the central Rockies.

Heavy snow fell from northern Arkansas and southwestern Missouri westward to the Continental Divide. Falls in some parts of Missouri measured 6 inches, with 4 to 5 inches general in Kansas anl Oklahoma. Snow on the ground at Russell, Kan., was more than a foot deep.

The heavy, wet snow, with fog in some areas, cut visibility to less than half a mile. The snow was expected to spread into western and central Nebraska and western South Dakota.

Thunderstorms and winds whipped the Florida peninsula during the night.

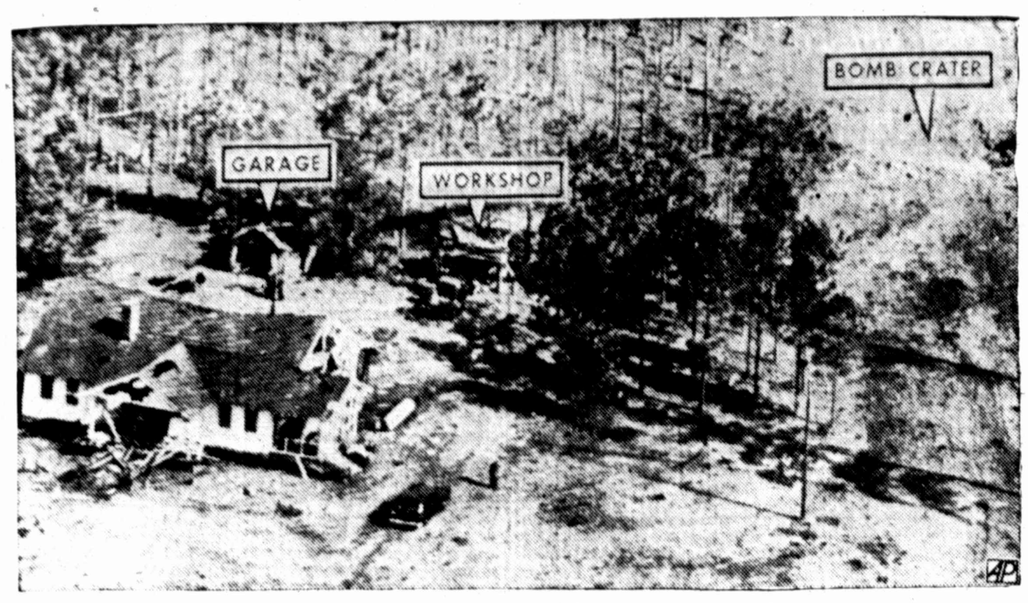

A violent windstorm hit the Miami area. Heaviest damage was a Pompano Beach, 30 miles north of Miami, where four persons were injured, one seriously. Seven house trailers were overturned as winds of 30 m.p.h. pounded the area.

Church Council Slaps NAACP Law

DALLAS (AP)—The Texas Council of Churches asserted yesterday a state law requiring NAACP members to register with county judges is "unjustified, unnecessary and undemocratic."

The group, in an unanimous resolution, urged the law's repeal.

The Rev. Harry Sarles, Abilene Presbyterian minister, was elected president of the ocuncil. Dr. Willis Tate, president of SMU, was chosen first vice president. Directors elected included Mrs. O. B. Coe of Waco and R. W. Fair of Tyler.

Atomic Bomb Damage Scene

This airview shows the damaged home of Walter Gregg and the crater made by a bomb accidentally dropped by a B47 bomber at Florence, S. C. The back of the house, a workshop and garage also suffered damage. Gregg, his wife and three children escaped with only slight injuries and a fourth child, a cousin of Mrs. Gregg, was hospitalized for a head cut. The bomb carried no atomic warhead.

AF Apologizes For Atom Bomb Drop

FLORENCE, S.C. (AP)—The Air Force has apologized to this tobaccoland community of 30,000 for the accidental dropping of an unarmed atomic bomb.

The atomic portion of the bomb did not go off, but its TNT trigger exploded, blowing up a house and digging a crater 40 feet wide.

In Washington, Secretary of Defense McElroy confirmed that the area was uncontaminated by radioactivity.

Air Force crews were at work removing scars left by the explosion when the bomb accidentally fell from a B47.

Mayor David McLeod at City Hall got an apology for the incident from Maj. Gen. Charles B. Dougher of Hunter AFB, Ga., the bomber's base.

High-ranking officers and claims personnel toured the two-mile-square area surrounding the impact point near the shattered Walter Gregg house five miles east of here. Gregg, his wife, their three children and a niece were injured, none seriously.

Air Force authorities explained the bomb did not set off anuclear explosion because it lacked the complete triggering device. The accidental bomb release was attributed to malfunctioning equipment.

McElroy said a "high level" investigation has been ordered into the "wider implications of this unfortunate occurrence. . . ." He, too, expressed deep regret to the six injured.

The Hunter base identified three veteran captains as crew members of the bomber—Capt. Earl E. Koehler, about 36, Mount Carmel, Ill.; Capt. Charles S. Woodruff, 35, Van Wert, Ohio; and Capt. Bruce M. Kulka, 29, New York City.

In London, the incident quickened concern in Parliament over possible nuclear devastation by accident from American -controlled weapons.

A few curiosity-seekers came forward with bomb fragments they carried off as souvenirs.

Sheriff Blames Gang Vengeance For Income Probe

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—Sheriff Henry Reid said yesterday revengeful gamblers had caused a federal investigation of his income.

Reid said the gamblers threatened to have him prosecuted for income tax evasion unless they were permitted to operate. He repeated previous pledges gambling would not be permitted.

The federal grand jury in New Orleans Tuesday indicted Marion Johnson, a Lake Charles gambler, on charges of lying when he told the grand jury he had not paid or given Reid any money.

Reid, who said gamblers had never given him "a single dollar," said he was told the gamblers planned to have him prosecuted for income tax evasion as "their means of revenge."

Demos Prod Administration For Early Ruling On Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Democrats prodded the Eisenhower administration today for an early decision on possible antirecession tax cuts.

The administration, meanwhile, waited to assess the results of stepped-up spending programs it has ordered and recommended before deciding whether a tax cut is needed to spur production and create jobs.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and his assistant Sen. Mansfield of Montana urged action to make it clear whether there are going to be tax reductions and what kind.

Johnson told the Senate that "we will face up — I hope very quickly—to the question of tax cuts." Saying that he hasn't reached any firm conclusion himself, he added: "But I believe we owe it to our fellow Americans to end the suspense at the earliest possible moment."

Mansfield said in an interview he is glad Secretary of the Treasury Anderson has announced he will confer with leaders of both parties on the tax question.

"I hope these conferences are held quickly and the results announced immediately," he said. "The people ought to be told where they stand."

Anderson announced that the administration will delay any tax decision until "the future course of the economy has been clarified." That left up in the air the timing for any possible tax cut move.

Chairman Byrd (D-Va) of the Senate Finance Committee, who opposes reductions now, said any tax cut is likely to cost the Treasury up to seven billion dollars in revenue and bring on a 15-billion-dollar deficit.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) was reported to feel that Congress ought to make its objective clear in the tax field before an anticipated Easter recess April 3.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) and Sen. Anderson (D-NM) have proposed five-billion-dollar reductions in personal and business taxes as amendments to a House-passed bill dealing with another matter. Johnson appeared confident he could block any such backdoor approach to tax action. The Constitution says tax legislation must originate in the House.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a $1,850,000,000 housing bill which its sponsors say could increase by 200,000 the number of new homes planned this year and provide jobs for more than 500,000 workers in construction and related industries.

Also passed by a 93-1 Senate vote was a resolution calling for a stepup in civil public works projects as a means of providing additional jobs. The resolution has no legal force.

The House Armed Services Committee voted 24-2, for a similar resolution applying to military construction projects, but even before it acted Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles announced a two-billion-dollar increase in construction plans for the next five months.

Tax Cut Would Add $3 To U. S. Worker's Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — An income tax cut of the sort now under consideration in Congress would add an extra $2 to $3 to the weekly pay check of the average American breadwinner.

In the aggregate, it would mean the quick addition of an estimated five billion dollars of new consumer buying power.

This immediate release of new buying power is the primary goal of tax planners seeking a quick antirecession stimulant.

Whether a tax cut actually will be attempted, and when, have not yet been decided. It is one of several things under study.

Congressional tax experts say that any tax cut would be reflected immediately in the form of fatter employe paychecks because of lower tax withholdings.

Self-employed individuals, who pay their taxes quarterly, would be able to give themselves a tax credit equal to the percentage cut when mailing their next quarterly tax installment.

The greatest impact of an overall individual income tax cut would be on the low and middle income taxpayer, who make up the majority of the nation's 48 million individual taxpayers.

The plan under serious consideration by House leaders would cut from 20 per cent to 15 per cent the tax on the first $1,000 of taxable income — in effect a 25 per cent cut there. A 5 per cent cut would be provided in all other personal income tax rates.

If enacted, this cut would mean another $2 of weekly spendable income for the average married taxpayer with two dependents who earns $5,000 a year.

For the taxpayer in the $10,000 income bracket, the tax saving is estimated in the neighborhood of $3 a week.

Grace Still Eyes Movies

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — Princess Grace's friends here are convinced that the ex-film queen has not given up the idea of returning to the screen someday.

Now awaiting the birth of her second child, the former Grace Kelly receives almost as much fan mail as ever. The palace says she usually gets about 100 letters a day, but with the publicity accompanying her confinement about 400 now pour in daily.

A top box office draw before her marriage to Prince Rainier, the princess had disclaimed any intention of returning to the movies, and that's the way her husband wants it.

But the Philadelphia-born princess has told many visitors she dislikes the words "forever" and "never" and won't positively rule out anything in her future.

She also keeps up contacts with her Hollywood friends and is as style-conscious as ever. And she sees two or more movies a week in the palace projection room.

3 Texas Girls Will Meet Queen

LONDON (AP)—Three Texas girls will be among debutantes presented to Queen Elizabeth II.

They are Cynthia and Barbara Hunter, daughters of Capt. and Mrs. Raymond Hunter of Sherman, Tex., and Imogene Young, daughter of Brig. Gen. Millard Young of San Antonio.

With about 500 other young women, they have been invited to Buckingham Palace March 20. This is the final year debutantes will be received by the Queen.
