No Election Surprises

A total of only 3,473 Eastland County voters went to the polls Tuesday and put the official sanction to a number of political candidates in the General Election.

Voting went as predicted locally at the state level and on the national scale, with Democrats sweeping Congress in Washington, being returned in Texas, and continuing in county offices.

Cisco voters made the best showing, polling 991, followed by Eastland with 883, Ranger with 501. Other totals are Olden, 91; Desdemona, 127;

Gorman, 271; Carbon, 100; Rising Star, 364; and Lake Leon, 108. Only 37 voted absentee.

County Commissioner C.B. Dill was re-elected and the only new face on the county commission will be that of Jack Blackwell who won election of the newly-reorganized precinct for Ranger, Olden and Desdemona.

Another new office holder at the courthouse will be County School Supt. Jimmy Hughes who won the Democratic nomination in a runoff election.

Buddy Rowch was elected Justice of the Peace after winning the Democratic nomination and having been appointed to fill an unexpired term.

Other officers re-elected include Judge Esco Walter to the 11th Court of Civil Appeals; Criminal District Attorney - Emory C. Walton; County Judge Scott Bailey; District Clerk Joe T. Gray; County Clerk Johnson Smith; County Treasurer, Mrs. Ellen Justice; and County Surveyor Chester H. Breneman.

County voters endorsed United States Congressman Omar Burleson; Gov. Dolph Briscoe; Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby; Attorney General John Hill; Comptroller Bob Bullock; State Treasurer Jesse James; Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong; Agriculture Commissioner John C. White; Railroad Commissioner Jim C. Langdon; Railroad Commissioner Mack Wallace; Supreme Court Justices Sears McGee, Thomas M. Reavley and Zollie Steakley; Criminal Appeals Judges W.A. Morrison and Leon Douglas; and State Representative Joe C. Hanna.

Funeral For Ott Hearn Thursday

Arthur M. (Ott) Hearn, 89, lifelong Eastland resident, died at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday in Valley View Nursing Home. Services will be at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in the First Baptist Church of Eastland.

The Rev. Haston Brewer, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Eastland Cemetery, directed by Killingsworth Funeral Home. The body will be at First Baptist Church in Eastland from 1:30 p.m. until service time.

Born Nov. 14, 1884, in Carbon, Mr. Hearn married Lelia Tucker on July 21, 1907, in Eastland. She died in 1957.

A retired farmer and rancher, Mr. Hearn also served as Eastland County tax assessor collector for four years, deputy tax assessor for 15 years, and Eastland Independent School District tax collector for several years.

He was a member of First Baptist Church of Eastland where he was former choir director.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. J.C. (Ruth) Ertel of Houston; and two grandchildren John Shannon Ertel of Fort Worth and Mrs. Donna Rhea Sabens of Houston.

Richard Watson Speaks On God's Principals

This country's number one problems are not inflation, recession and the price of oil, but rather the almost universal violation of God's principals, members of the Eastland Lions Club were told here this week.

Speaker Richard Watson recalled Gibbon's points causing the fall of the Roman Empire, showing that staggering divorce rates, high taxes, the craze of pleasure, dependence on arms and the decay of religions as the reasons for the collapse of that civilization.

President Otis Coleman presided and guests included Brad Kimbrough of Cisco and John Wortman of Fort Worth. Program next week will be by James Reid.

"These are exciting times", Mr. Watson said, "and since the turn of the century, our nation has gone from the horse and buggy to the moon." Yet, he asked, with all the progress that has been made, why is there more discontent and unhappiness now?

He quoted the Old Testament in showing that men are doing what they thought in their own hearts to be right. "We claim to be a Christian nation", he said, "but maybe it's just false face and in fact our actions and attitudes prove that 'In money we trust'."

Comparing Gibbons, he pointed out that the present divorce rate is one in four (or one in three); that American workers work a third of their time to pay taxes; that our stadiums are full of thrill seekers; our ICBM's are powerful and maybe we're vulnerable from within.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

In 1787, as commander of the Bounty, Captain Bligh was sent to the Pacific Ocean. On the trip, part of the crew mutinied and forced Bligh and eighteen other men to cast off in a small boat.

Most of the mutineers escaped to Pitcairn Island. They brought with them six men and twelve native women. The men learned how to make liquor and the island was debauched with drunkenness, fighting and murder. After several years all the men were dead, except John Adams.

One day as he was searching through an old chest which had been taken from the Bounty, he found a tattered Bible. He opened it and read it. God spoke to him. He confessed his sins to the Lord Jesus and called on Him for salvation. At once he began to teach the others the Word of the Lord.

About twenty years later an American ship visited the island. The crew found a stronghold for God, an island completely Christian, without liquor, without crime, without any racial or social trouble. Why? Because of the Bible.

Psalm 119:130 declares, "The entrance of Thy Word giveth light." Why not bring the light of His Word into your life? The Bible will make you better.

Healthy Beautiful House Plants Can Be Grown In Winter

College Station--"Healthy, vigorous and beautiful house plants can be grown during winter months if given a little special care," notes Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Plants placed outside for summer color as well as those kept inside should be repotted in fresh, rich soil.

When selecting new pots for house plants, check the drainage they provide. Plants can be grown in porous red clay, glazed crockery or plastic containers as long as they have good drainage, says the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"Select only pots which have neutral colors so they will not detract from the plant. House plants are grown for their attractive flowers and foliage and a gaudy pot can ruin the desired effect," contends Janne.

A container that is too large can also detract from the plant, so select the smallest pot that will hold the root system and still support the plant.

Good soil mixtures for house plants are available at florists and garden centers. For only a few plants, Janne suggests premixed and sterilized soil.

"If you prefer to prepare your own soil mixture, use two parts each of soil, shredded peat moss and coarse sand, and one part dried manure. To each bushel, add a half cup of 8-8-8 fertilizer and one cup of superphosphate. To sterilize the mixture to kill insects, disease organisms and weed seeds, bake it at 200 degrees F. for one hour," the horticulturist explains.

For a mixture that does not need sterilizing, use two parts each of shredded peat moss, perlite and vermiculite, and one part dried manure. Add one cup each of ground limestone and 5-10-5 fertilizer (or one-half cup of 12-12-12) to each bushel.

When preparing the pots, place a piece of broken pottery over the drain hole and add an inch-thick layer of fine gravel or crushed stone to promote drainage. In small pots, a half-inch layer may be enough. To get the plant out of the old pot, invert the pot, hold the stem base between two fingers, tap the pot rim on a table edge and let the soil and roots fall into your palm.

After removing the outer inch or more of the root ball to provide space for new rich soil, center the plant in the pot. Pack the soil firmly around the root ball, creating a downward slope from the stem to the pot edge. This will cause surface water to move away from the stem and reduce the possibility of rot. The soil level should be at least one-half inch below the rim of the pot.

"The final step is to remove any dead, diseased or broken leaves and branches," says Janne. "Cut back long stems to give the plant a compact, natural shape."

"Who's going to listen to me? I'm just one voice."

Do you really think God is going to let you get away with that?

Of course, you'd like to help make the world a better place. Maybe you can't do it alone. But there's plenty you can do with others at your local church or synagogue. Example: one religious group helped the Navajos set up a cooperative trading post on their reservation. Now the Indians can purchase goods at a lower price. Even more important, they've learned that other people care about them. The God we worship expects all of us to help our brothers and sisters.

Start treating your brothers and sisters like brothers and sisters.

Thrid Grade Blue Birds — Holds Meeting

The Third Grade Blue Birds met Oct. 31 on Park Hill. Our Patrol Leaders for this week were Jodi Bakker, Bekky Rollins and Stephanie Underwood. These girls took up the weekly dues in each Patrol.

We discussed projects for Thanksgiving and Christmas. Each girl is to bring two medium sized potatoes and an empty thread spool to our next meeting.

We then talked about safety when we went trick and treating Halloween. It was such a pretty day so we went on a hike around the park looking at the trees with their different colored leaves and discussed why the trees were losing their leaves and why some trees stayed green all winter. We also kept an eye open for snakes because this is the time of year when they are looking for a den for the winter.

The girls enjoyed Halloween cupcakes and punch brought by Jodi Bakker. Lorrie Smith is to bring refreshments for our next meeting.

Blue Birds Meet Oct. 24

The third grade Blue Birds met Thursday, Oct. 24, on Park Hill.

Our patrol leaders for this meeting were Shirley Kidd, Sue Maxwell and Bobbie Wallace. The Patrol leaders took up the weekly dues.

Handed out to the Patrol leaders were bowls, cups and spoons. Then flour and salt were mixed with colored water to make play dough. This recipe is found in our Blue Bird Handbook. The play dough turned out fine and each girl took some home. The girls were reminded to put papers down before they used their play dough and to always clean up when they were through.

Delicious oatmeal cookies were brought by Robin White.

Funeral services for Mrs. W.O. (Martha) Clark, sister of Mrs. G.H. Lockhart, were held in Amarillo Thursday, Oct. 31, at Griggs Funeral Chapel. Burial was in an Amarillo cemetery beside the body of her husband. She died Tuesday, Oct. 29.

Survivors are a daughter, Billy Jane Freeze; two grandchildren and Terry and Cindy Freeze and a great-grandson, all of New Mexico; three sisters, Emma Lane Ince, Fort Worth, Maurine Wells, New Albany, Miss., and Pearl Lockhart of Rising Star, and one brother, Cecil Maples of Fort Worth.

Rain Not Good For Peanuts But Fine For 1975

B.A. Butler

Peanut farmers, business men and bankers of the West Central Texas area were anxiously awaiting the verdict of the skies this week as the fate of the 1974 peanut crop hung largely in the balances of the weather.

"If we can have two to three weeks of fair, open weather," said one, "I think we will be surprised by the yield." But he hastened to say that the crop, no matter how warm and dry the period, would not measure up even to last year's average yield.

James Rutherford, Rising Star, pointed out that only about 80 per cent of the allowable acreage normally planted was put to seed during the unpromising period of spring planting.

"When you add that fact to the second condition that we have had one of the most irregular years weatherwise in many seasons, with a 10-month drouth followed by near deluges of rain during the maturing season, you can't expect more than a modest crop even under favorable circumstances. But I do think, given those conditions the crop will be good by average standards."

Peanut growers often report that dry land acreage is doing better than irrigated land although those with irrigated peanuts who dug early have been rewarded with good yields and excellent grades.

The problem now is to get into fields that have been heavily soaked with penetrating showers which have been recurrent and have brought the total rainfall of the past three months to more than the average annual precipitation. This will require two weeks or more in some cases, especially in the "bottom" soils. This is one reason for the estimate of better upland yields, where drainage is assisting the drying out process.

Farmers are hopeful that rain and winter conditions hold off for the time and that the vines hold their leaves until the nuts are matured. Where leaf shedding occurs it is just as well to dig at once, since the maturing process stops.

Only a few growers had brought peanuts to the drying plants of the area by the beginning of November.

According to the records kept by John W. Lee, official Rising Star observer U.S. Weather Bureau, there had been almost 21 inches of rain in Rising Star over the three-month period ended October 31. That is almost the annual average of 27 to 28 inches. Fortunately, for one fact, there were no downpours to cause flooding and washing of land. And most fortunate indeed was the arrival of the moisture to nourish a drouth-stricken peanut crop and save pastures that were being denuded of foundation stock on a low market because there was no grass to offset high feed costs.

From January 1 to August 1, Lee's gauges recorded only 6.6 inches. The rains of the past three months brought the year's figure to a normal 27 inches plus with two months yet to go. In contrast to last season's drouth, this rainfall means a wonderful sub-soil seasoning which, with showers normally to be anticipated, insures a good prospect for both pastures and field crops next year, it was pointed out.

Following are Lee's records of rainfall during the last three months:

August	4.78 inches
September	9.46 inches
October	6.65 inches
Jan. to Aug.	6.60 inches

Ways And Means To Reduce Heating Bills

College Station--With the prospect of energy shortages plus higher utility bills this winter, homeowners can take some action to reduce their heating bills, says an agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Your home should be adequately insulated to reduce heat loss," says Bill Allen. "Tight-fitting storm windows and doors or double-glazed windows can cut heat loss in half. Use of weather-stripping on loose-fitting window and door frames provides additional insulation, and caulking helps minimize heat loss from loose-fitting window panes."

The Texas A&M University System engineer also advises closing off rooms that are not frequently used and shutting draperies and window shades at night.

By limiting the use of kitchen and bathroom exhaust fans, a homeowner can further reduce heat loss in the home, Allen points out. However, the fans should be run just enough to eliminate all excessive moisture.

The engineer also advises closing the fireplace damper when the fireplace is not in use so that heat cannot escape.

"By keeping heating and cooling systems in good operating condition, a homeowner might have an energy savings of up to 10 per cent," notes Allen.

"Careful maintenance and planning in your home can provide comfortable living conditions at lower costs."

ELECTRICITY

We Couldn't Do Without It!

You might think that is an odd statement for a natural gas company to say about electricity. But it's true! There are some things that only electricity can do...like lighting, refrigeration and the many other jobs that it does so well and so easily. But—

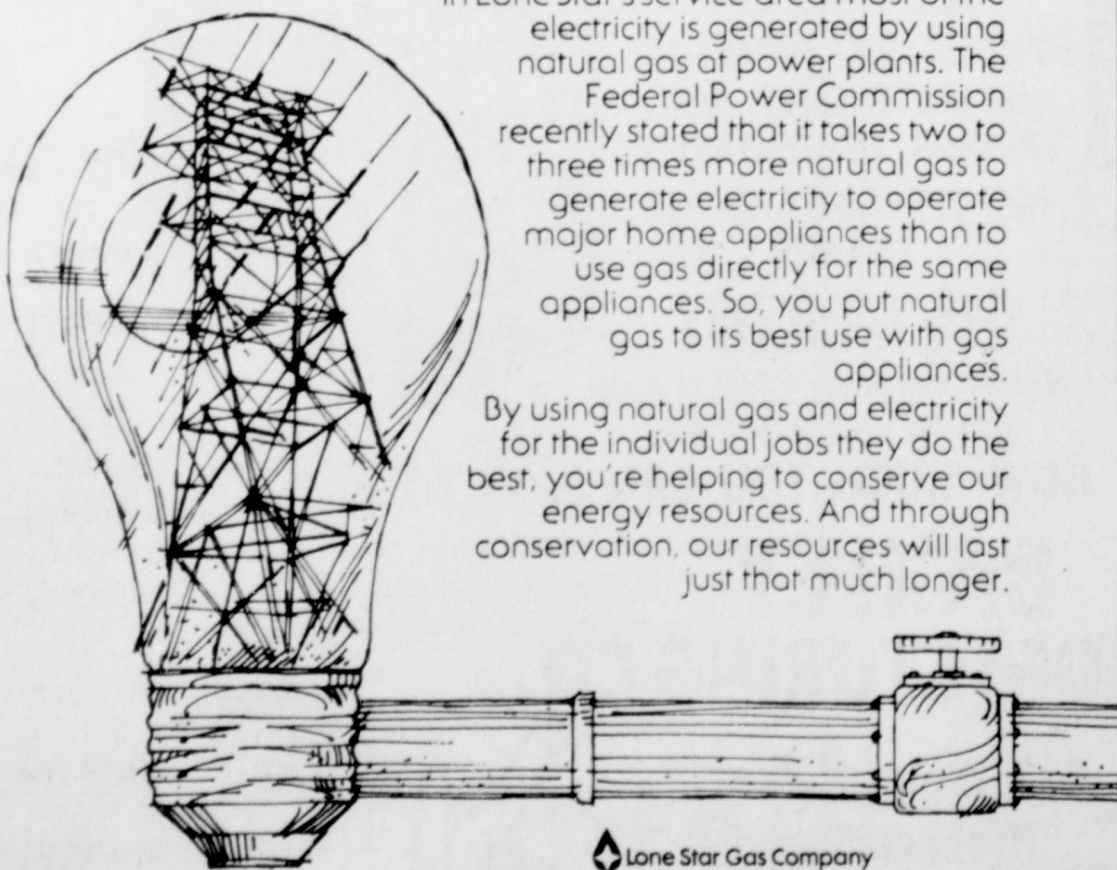

NATURAL GAS

Generates The Electricity You Use!

In Lone Star's service area most of the electricity is generated by using natural gas at power plants. The Federal Power Commission recently stated that it takes two to three times more natural gas to generate electricity to operate major home appliances than to use gas directly for the same appliances. So, you put natural gas to its best use with gas appliances.

By using natural gas and electricity for the individual jobs they do the best, you're helping to conserve our energy resources. And through conservation, our resources will last just that much longer.

Paramount Pictures' Chinatown To Open Soon At Local Theatre

Paramount Pictures' "Chinatown," starring Jack Nicholson, Faye Dunaway and John Huston, will open soon at the local theatre.

Sunday And Monday

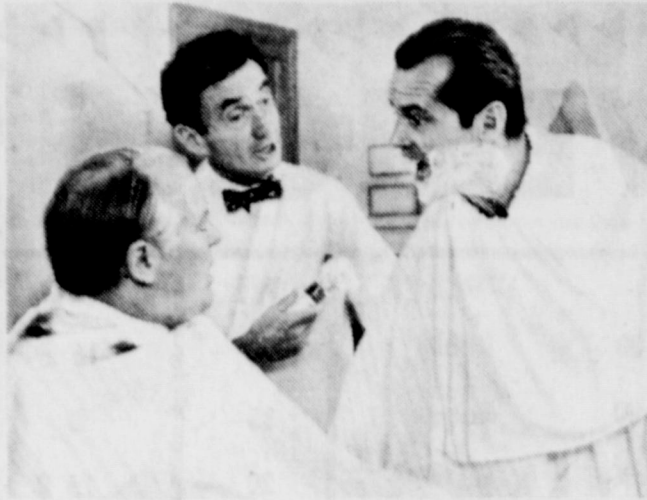

Director Roman Polanski describes "Chinatown" as "a traditional detective story with a new, modern shape." It is the first film to be personally produced by Robert Evans, Paramount's highly successful Executive Vice President in Charge of Worldwide Production.

"Chinatown" is Polanski's first film in Hollywood since "Rosemary's Baby" in 1968. It is an original screenplay by Robert Towne (a recent Academy Award nominee for his script of "The Last Detail"), set in 1937, which was filmed on locations in the Los Angeles area.

Jack Nicholson portrays J. J. Gittes, a matrimonial investigator who is well known for his "discreet" work gathering evidence for sometimes sensational divorce cases. He is driven against his will into a larger and more important case.

Faye Dunaway portrays Evelyn Mulwray, a prominent city official's wife, a sophisticated and elegantly dressed lady from Pasadena. John Huston plays her father, Noah Cross, a powerful, enigmatic millionaire. Other major roles are played by Perry Lopez, John Hillerman, Darrell Zwerling, Diane Ladd, Roy Jensen and Roman Polanski.

Production design is by Richard Sylbert and costumes by Anthea Sylbert. The director of photography was John A. Alonzo. The music is scored by Jerry Goldsmith. C. O. Erickson is associate producer and film editor is Sam O'Steen.

EHS Student Council Continues To Be Active In New Projects

The E.H.S. Student Council continues to be active as new projects are underway following a meeting held October 31.

The first new activity will be a "Fifties Day" on Friday, Nov. 8.

All students and teachers are urged to participate by dragging old clothes out of mothballs and donning them for the occasion. Authenticity and "Fifties-ness" of costumes are necessary to help make the day a success.

The pep rally at 3:00 for the Clyde football game will also carry out the 50's theme.

The biggest project tackled by the Student Council so far this year is their forthcoming school newspaper.

It is scheduled to come off the press at noon, Tuesday, Nov.

19. Clever students are asked to enter the "Name the Newspaper" Contest and an entry blank will appear in the first edition.

The winning name will be official and head line the second newspaper. Announcements,

Heart Of Texas Holds Meeting

The Texas Federation of Women's Clubs "Heart of Texas District" met for their 15th annual Fall Board Meeting and workshop at San Angelo on Oct. 26, 1974. San Angelo Junior and Senior Federated Women's Clubs were hostesses for the day with headquarters at Massie Club House. Miss Martha Graves, District President of Cisco, presided over the business session. A well planned program of workshops, District reports and news of Texas Federated Women's Clubs projects was enjoyed by the 93 who registered.

Stress was made of the need to work together in Community service. A Poll Power campaign hopes to increase voter participation to a much greater extent. A campaign is on to financially support M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute that is presently undergoing extensive expansion in size and service.

sports news, school activities and a classified section are to be included in the school's introductory publication. Advertising space may be purchased at a minimal fee and the cost of the paper will be ten cents.

The "Car Bash" held Oct. 22-25 was deemed a success and students are to be reminded that Student Directories are still available and may be purchased from Student Council members.

Thanks From EHS Students For Donation

The Eastland High School Student Council wishes to publicly extend to Mr. Bob Fox a big Thank You for donating the car used in the Council's "Car Bash".

We appreciate his assistance in making our project the success it was and want to express our gratitude to him. His generous contribution was important not only to that particular activity, but it demonstrated his concern and interest in the success of Eastland High's first student council.

We find it very reassuring to know that Mr. Fox cared enough to assist us. Thanks again.

Witnesses Assembly At Snyder

Eastland delegates to Jehovah's Witnesses' two day Circuit Assembly at Snyder have returned to resume their regular schedule of meetings here, according to Mr. Gilstrap, presiding minister of the Eastland congregation.

Gilstrap said, "The climax of the assembly was reached at 2 p.m. Sunday when 1700 delegates heard the public discourse 'What the Near Future Holds'." Jehovah's Witnesses' District Overseer P.D. Moske discussed every day concerns of mankind, their concerns for the future, and stated "that for true Christians, the near future includes survival into God's provided 'New Order' with the prospect of eternal life in paradise!"

"An encouraging high point" said Mr. Gilstrap, "was the ordination of the 39 new ministers who were baptized Sunday morning. This demonstrates the continued growth of Jehovah's organization; throughout the United States the increase was such that, on the average, over 10 new congregations were formed each week last year."

Gilstrap mentioned "that anyone interested in more information about the Witnesses' free home Bible study program or meetings at the local Kingdom Hall, can contact him at 606 S. Madera St., Eastland, Texas."
