NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

Austin.—First indication that the senate planned to get down to the real business of the regular session of the 45th legislature was given by the senate, as the final three weeks of the four-month session began, when it named a subcommittee to consider the house's tax program, and bring out recommendations to raise some additional revenue.

Altho the senate has not finally disposed of pending resolutions to submit a constitutional amendment for a sales tax, it became apparent that the resolution probably could not muster the necessary votes at this session. Work has begun on the regular biennial departmental appropriations, and as fast as these appropriation measures are shaped up, the amount of new revenue needed will become apparent. The opinion of the majority of the senate subcommittee has been made clear, that if appropriations are held to approximately the same as for the last biennium, there will be no additional revenue needed. Whatever additional funds are appropriated for other phases of the social security program, including the care of dependent children, the blind, teachers' retirement, and similar legislation, will have to be raised. This revenue obviously will come from additional imposts on sulfur, gas, oil and corporation franchises—measures already passed by the house.

SENATE TO GO SLOWLY

But the senate is not going to rush hastily into new social security legislation. It has learned thru experience with the old age assistance program that such legislation can run into tremendous sums of money, and that there are not now available any reliable estimates on the costs of aiding the underprivileged. So there is a strong disposition to go very slowly, leaving to time and possibly to a vote of the people in some cases, the decision as to whether the state shall obligate itself further to aid additional groups of its citizens.

It is already apparent that the house's taxation program, which has been cooling for weeks in senate committees, is going to be sharply pared down on final passage. Nothing like a 6-cent oil tax will be acceptable to the senate majority, for example. There is also a strong disposition on the part of the senators to bring out the racetrack betting repeal measure—long buried on the calendar—and if so, it doubtless will pass. This will remove the greatest incentive which the governor has to call a special session immediately, particularly if some additional tax money is provided.

Advertising Bill Endangered

The constitutional amendment sponsored by the Texas Press association and piloted thru the senate by Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodul, authorizing a vote by the people on a proposal to carry out a five-year advertising program by the state to attract new industries and tourists to Texas, barely escaped an untimely death in the house, when a tie vote defeated its submission. A motion to reconsider is pending, and Gov. Alfred lent his support by sending up a special message, urging its passage. Gov. Woodul has worked earnestly for its passage, took it successfully thru the senate, and has the support of virtually every newspaper in the state, for the measure. Members of the house appeared not to understand the proposal, some expressing the opinion during debate that the newspapers were for it because they hoped to receive the advertising money. Such an advertising program, of course, would be carried out in the north and east—where the tourist and industries markets are—and not within the state. So the newspapers' support is unselfish, and is chiefly based upon their own knowledge of the great good that would come to all

Seniors Hold Next Year Team To Tie

The spring football training season was closed Tuesday afternoon with a game between next year's squad and the seniors and ineligible. The game was fought to a 0 to 0 tie but the seniors had the edge on the next year squad by one first down five to four.

Coach Pratt has a nice bunch of boys for next year though several of them are inexperienced. Eight of the team, however, are lettermen and there are one or two more who will be in school next year that were not on the team Tuesday.

Those who composed next year's squad are: Rhodes and Green, ends; McWhirter and Mathers, tackles; King and Ray, guards; Baumann, center; Robert James, Simmons, Baird and Will Allbright, backfield.

Those who played on the senior team are: Glass and Shultz, ends; Compton and Price Hall, tackles; Bruce, Groom and Lee, guards; Mayes, center; Brame, Chubby James, Brians and Butsie Hall, backfield.

ODESSA WINS ONE AND LOSES ONE

The Odessa baseball team, here for a ten-day period for practice before the opening of the season in their home city, defeated Coahoma here Sunday 7 to 0, but lost to Big Spring Saturday afternoon 4 to 3. The Odessa team is made up mostly of rookies and as the season goes along will develop into a formidable team.

of Texas thru an intelligent advertising campaign. It will require a two-thirds vote to submit the matter, however, and a good many house members must change their minds if the people are to be given a chance to vote on the plan.

Harris Overplays Hand

Harris-co interests which sought remission of state taxes for flood control high hopes of passing their bill over the veto of the governor, after the senate overrode the veto, but the measure met sudden and emphatic death in the house. The Houston folks ran a special train from Austin to the Bayou City, taking the whole house, and gave the members a royal day of entertainment on San Jacinto day, when Jesse Jones dedicated the San Jacinto monument. But the house returned next day, and the bill failed to muster even a majority vote, when two-thirds was required. Many observers here expressed the opinion the Houston folks "spread it on too thick" in their effort to convince the house of the justice of their tax remission plea.

NOTES

Advocates of highway safety in Texas are working hopefully to get the new drivers' license bill, which would tighten up restrictions upon those who can obtain licenses, out of the senate long-jam and thru to final passage. With the death rate on the highways constantly increasing, they claim there is no more important legislation pending before this session. Judge T. A. McKinney, able house member from Huntsville, is being mentioned as a possible next speaker of the house with increasing frequency. McKinney is conservative, able, and is listened to by the house on his infrequent appearances before the "mike" with respect in all quarters. He is particularly apt at examining witnesses during an investigation or study, and he has a knack of getting at the essential facts of any controversial question without offending supporters of either side. The racetrack lobby is fighting desperately to stave off a vote on track betting repeal, but the natural resources lobby fears, if that issue is permitted to bring on a special session, anything may happen to them, and they are friends in the senate to vote on repeal, and thus remove the best excuse they claim Gov. Alfred has for a special session.

Pioneer Citizen Died Saturday

Funeral rites were held Sunday afternoon at 3:30 at the Methodist Church for J. H. Griffin who passed away Saturday morning at 7:55. Mr. Griffin had been in ill health for the past five years but grew worse about a week before death claimed him.

John Henry Griffin was born October 29, 1862, at Daviston, Alabama. He was married to Miss Frances Arminta Gilbert July 9, 1882, who preceded him in death October 6, 1911. To this union four children were born, all of whom survive him. They are W. E. Griffin, Miami, Florida, Mrs. B. F. Caswell, Hermligh, Mrs. Eunice Lee and Oden I. Griffin, Loraine. Four grandchildren, one great grand child and one sister also survive. Deceased united with the church at about the age of twenty.

In March 1920 Mr. Griffin was married to Mrs. Mattie Rogers of Grand Prairie, who survives him.

The church was filled with many friends who gathered to pay their last tribute of respect to "uncle John" and his family.

Rev. Hamilton Wright said the last words and offered the last petitions over the remains. A favorite song, "Asleep in Jesus", was sung by Mrs. Wright.

Interment was in the Loraine cemetery. Pallbearers were Frank Beights, Nick Narrell, Luther Anders, Homer Derryberry, John Mahon and Marshall Bruce. Flower bearers were Mesdames I. J. Pierce, J. M. Bruce T. J. Coffee, Luther Anders, Frances James, and Misses Lillie Nelson and Rita Beights.

Mrs. Horace Hendricks returned Wednesday from Fort Worth where she attended the National Beauty Show. She reports that the show was one of the biggest and best she has ever attended.

Artists were there from all over the world. New styles of hair cutting and hair dressing were presented in the lecture Monday night.

Mrs. Hendricks demonstrated permanents and waves at the Fredrick booth. She was highly complimented and given honorable mention in the lecture.

These shows are very beneficial to the operators and the customers as well. The latest models of hair dress are not only presented but instructions are given while the wave is set. Mrs. Hendricks feels she accomplished a lot of new things, and is ready to answer her customers questions and dress hair according to the ladies personality.

All operators attending were highly entertained as well as highly benefited at the show.

School Band To Go To Contest

Lubbock, Texas, April 26.—School musicians from 50 counties of the Western Texas School band and orchestra association are expected here this week end to participate in the ninth annual contests. Advance registrations indicate that more than 40 bands and orchestras would take part in the competition which will last through Saturday night. The registrations indicate that over 2,500 students will be here, according to D. O. Wiley, general director of the contest, and band director for Texas Tech.

Those chosen as judges for the band contest will be: Herbert L. Clarke, the "Crowned Prince" of John Phillip Sousa fame and now director of the Long Beach California Municipal Band; Earl D. Irons, director, North Texas Agricultural College; L. M. Calavan, Oklahoma City Central High; Milburn E. Carey, Phillips University, and Ellis B. Hall, Amarillo Academy of Music.

A parade composed of 23 bands will be staged downtown Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and the marching contest will be conducted on Tech's athletic field in the evening, and later the contestants will be guests at a spring football game between Texas Mines of El Paso and Tech.

Saturday afternoon, massed bands will rehearse at Senior High School, starting at 4:15 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock, the several hundred selected musicians will join in perhaps the most colorful event of the entire tournament, a public concert at the auditorium.

HOME BURNS

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Crosby, together with its contents, was badly damaged by fire of undetermined origin Friday night about seven o'clock. The loss was estimated at about $1000.

Mr. and Mrs. Crosby had not been at home since Thursday at noon when they went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Beaty.

The firemen did an excellent job in saving the house for it was afire all over inside when it was discovered.

LANDERS H. D. CLUB

The Landers home demonstration club met Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock in the home of Mrs. Earl Chitsey. Miss Gunter being absent the meeting was not so interesting. The subject was "My Favorite Cleaning Agency".

Making Cleaning Easy by Prevention—Mrs. Cooper. Care of Curtains for Kitchen Windows—Mrs. M. L. Adrain. Storing of Cleaning Equipment—Mrs. Merket.

Favorite way of making homemade soap—Mrs. J. T. Duffer. We also practiced and made different plans for our recreation program to be given for the Art Club at Colorado May 13. Miss Ethel Adrain is sponsor of the program.

Mrs. W. E. Wimberley baked the prize cake and it was cut into 11 pieces and contained a dime. Each member paid 5 cents for her piece of cake and the one who got the dime has to cook the next cake. This is the way we are adding money to our club budget. Our club is increasing at every meeting. We had two new members, Mrs. Houston Post, and Mrs. Russ Mathis. Come on new members we welcome you very much. All old members were present. We adjourned to meet in the home of Mrs. R. H. Cooper May 11.

Mitchell County Outlaws Beer

Mitchell County will remain in the dry column as result of the election Tuesday. The majority was 298 votes against the sale. This number was tabulated from nine of the twelve boxes, but election officials said the other three boxes could not total more than 75 votes and would have no bearing on the result of the election other than change the totals either way.

Every box in the county heard from went against the sale of beer, the precinct in which Colorado is located included.

The vote by boxes: Colorado, 284 for, 286 against; Westbrook, 28 for and 59 against; Cuthbert, 5 for and 31 against; Carr, 2 for and 16 against; Loraine, 60 for and 266 against; Buford, 15 for and 26 against; Hyman, 7 for and 14 against; Landers 10 for and 11 against; Colorado Legion Hut 48 for and 59 against. Spade, McKenzie and Itan were not in.

C OF C WANTS ROAD TO OTHER COMMUNITIES

The Loraine Chamber of Commerce went on record last Thursday night in favor of better roads to communities in this territory. The organization will put forth an effort especially at this time to secure an all weather road into Valley View and Longfellow Communities. It hopes that a project may be worked out whereby such a road may be possible.

The organization also favored trips by business men with the band into various communities as suggested by the trade extension committee. The first trip will be made to Hermligh next week.

A better lighted town is another goal the chamber of commerce is working toward. The organization has already had a committee before the city council to ask for the improvement and it is possible that light standards will be placed along at least four blocks in the business district. Nothing definite has been worked out as yet but both organizations are working on the proposition.

In order to stimulate attendance at the meetings the body voted to hold the next meeting, which comes on the third Tuesday, at the noon hour instead of at night as formerly. The meeting will be called at 12 o'clock and will be dismissed at 1 so that no one will be away from his business longer than one hour.

BUSINESS INCREASED IN TEXAS IN MARCH

Austin, Texas, April 26.—Business of Texas department and specialty stores during March increased sharply over both the preceding months and the corresponding month last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Reports from 99 establishments show total sales 27.9 per cent over the preceding month and 20.4 per cent over the like month last year. Aggregate sales during the first three months were 14.8 per cent above those of the corresponding period last year.

The increase in sales over last year exceeded that of the State during the two comparable months as well as the year to date in El Paso, Houston, Lubbock, and Port Arthur.

Ollie B. Webb, assistant to the president of the Texas and Pacific railroad, has requested the Rev. Hamilton Wright, pastor of the Methodist Church, to board No. 7 westbound early Thursday morning for a conference with him relative to some publicity matter proposed by the Texas and Pacific lines. Webb will be on his way to Pecos, where he is to be the principal speaker at a public meeting. Wright will probably accompany him as far west as Monahans, returning on the midnight train.

B. Wilkerson, who has been working out west for some time, is here for a few days.

President Demands Economy, Predicting Deficit of $418,000,000, but Asks Billion and Half for Relief—Franco Creates Authoritarian State.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
© Western Newspaper Union.

REVISING his budget estimates for the fiscal year 1938, President Roosevelt told congress in a special message that the deficit probably would amount to $418,000,000 exclusive of debt retirement payments of $400,000,000, instead of the "layman's" balanced budget he predicted in January. He recommended the appropriation of $1,500,000,000 for relief; and he demanded rigid economy to combat an anticipated drop in federal revenues amounting to $600,000,000. Mr. Roosevelt also said there must be a careful survey of the nation's tax structure, and intimated that a new tax bill would be introduced at the next session of congress.

In correcting the over-estimation of revenue and the under-estimation of expenditures, the President indicated that the national debt will rise over the 36 billion dollar mark. Though he made no specific recommendations as to economy, the President spoke sharply about "special groups" who are exerting pressure to bring about increases in government expenditures. It was understood he referred especially to the farm tenancy program, proposing an annual expenditure of $135,000,000; the Wagner housing bill, calling for an expenditure of $50,000,000 a year, and the Harrison-Black education bill calling for allocations among the states beginning at $100,000,000 for the first year and reaching a maximum of $300,000,000 a year.

Mr. Roosevelt had rejected these measures at a White House conference and his attitude provoked vigorous prominent senators and representatives so much that they declared they would favor cutting down the relief appropriation he asked to one billion dollars. Among the Democratic leaders taking this stand were Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, representing the appropriations committee, and Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi. Said Senator Byrnes: "I think the President's estimate of one and a half billion dollars for work relief is too high. It would make possible a monthly expenditure of $125,000,000. Each month it will be possible for Mr. Hopkins to further reduce the number on the relief rolls and consequently reduce the expenditures.

"It is my purpose not only to urge that the work relief appropriation be limited to one billion dollars, but that the law require larger contributions from the sponsors of projects. If the sponsors could be required to put up 50 per cent of the cost of the projects, we would not have applications for a billion dollars during the next fiscal year."

Senator Joe Robinson, majority leader, made an earnest plea for economy in all directions; and Senator Charles L. McNary, Republican leader, assured Senator Robinson that the Republicans would co-operate in every way possible with the Democrats in their "be-lated" efforts to balance expenditures with income.

In the house the economy program lost a point when Representative Vinson of Kentucky succeeded in getting through his $1,000,000 stream pollution bill.

TWO cabinet members were quick to comment on the President's economy orders. Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace forecast an immediate curtailment of the administration's farm activities. Federal aid to farm tenants, production control and the ever-normal granary are among the projects to feel the economic ax, Mr. Wallace said. He is still hopeful that the crop insurance program, to be applied to the 1938 wheat yield, may be salvaged.

Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper and his first assistant, Ernest Draper, joined in predicting that business recovery will not be retarded by the apparent inability of the administration to balance the budget in the 1938 fiscal year, as the President anticipated in January. They said they regarded lagging treasury revenues as a temporary condition and added:

"The present headway of business is so strong that it will offset the effect of a probable deficit."

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT announced his plans for another fishing trip, to begin April 28 and last two weeks or longer. This time he is going to angle in the Gulf of Mexico while congress struggles with his latest recommendations. After leaving Washington his first stop will be at Biloxi, Miss. From there he will go by motor to New Orleans, pausing en route at Beauvoir, the old home of Jefferson Davis that is now a home for Confederate veterans. At New Orleans Mr. Roosevelt will board the Presidential yacht Potomac and cruise out into the gulf after tarpon. A navy cruiser will accompany the yacht. The fishing trip will end at Galveston and Mr. Roosevelt will go from there to Fort Worth to visit his son Elliott.

While the Potomac is at sea Secretary McIntyre will maintain headquarters at Galveston with a small staff.

NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN, British chancellor of the exchequer, introduced in parliament the biggest budget since World war times, and gave warning that national finances for several years to come would be dominated by expenditures on armaments. He said that the government will require an outlay of $62,848,000 pounds (about $4,314,240,000) to carry out its plans and pay its expenses during the next year. Revenue obtainable he estimated at $47,950,000 pounds (about $4,239,750,000), leaving a prospective deficit of 14,898,000 pounds (about $74,490,000).

Chamberlain said the taxpayers would have to pay 3 pence more on each taxable pound of income, bringing the tax up to 5 shillings, or 25 per cent. He also announced a new tax on business profits, and this especially was bitterly attacked by the Conservatives, led by Sir Robert Horne. They argued that it would demoralize industry.

FRANCISCO FRANCO is well on the way to becoming a real dictator of the part of Spain his insurgent forces control, and of the entire country if they win the war. By decree the general has merged the two chief rightist factions under his leadership and has outlawed all other parties, thus creating a one-party authoritarian state. His decree left open the way to restoration of the monarchy in Spain "if the nation needs it," and the monarchists of the Carlist and Bourbon persuasions agreed that if this takes place, the king shall be Prince Juan, youngest son of Alfonso XIII. He is known as prince of the Asturias and is twenty-three years old.

"The new Spain needs a new king," said a Carlist leader. "We traditionalists prefer the prince of the Asturias, who is a known sympathizer with the ideals of the new Spain."

GOV. LEWIS O. BARROWS of Maine has lined up with other state executives who will not stand for riotous and illegal tactics by strikers. When an unruly mob of 1,000 men tried to storm two of nineteen factories in Auburn involved in a general shoe strike and the local authorities were unable to handle the situation, Governor Barrows ordered out eight companies of the National Guard.

"I'll order out the entire military forces of Maine, if necessary to preserve constitutional authority," the executive said. "When there is open defiance to the orders of our courts and our officers of the law, there is little difference from anarchy. We shall not tolerate this situation for a moment."

The trouble followed a state Supreme court injunction, issued by Judge Harry Manser, outlawing the shoe strike which affects about 6,500 workers. The mob had been aroused by speeches by Powers Haggood, New England secretary for the C. I. O., and other organizers.

FORBES MORGAN, who was the able treasurer of the Democratic national committee during the 1936 campaign and who resigned to take the presidency of the Distilled Spirits Institute, died suddenly in a committee room of the Ohio state capitol in Columbus. Mr. Morgan, a relative of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt by marriage, was a major in the World war.

BY UNANIMOUS vote, nearly 4,000 Daughters of the American Revolution, in their forty-sixth annual congress in Washington, adopted a resolution opposing the President's Supreme court enlargement bill. It declared against "unbalancing" the federal tripartite system of government and favored submission of the issues raised by the President to the people through a constitutional amendment.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT sent to the senate the nomination of Mrs. Florence Jaffray Harriman of Washington as minister to Norway. She is the widow of J. Borden Harriman, New York banker, and has been active in politics for a number of years. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., who now holds the Norway post, was nominated to be ambassador to Poland.

Distillers Are Called to Task

Violations of Law Will Mean Suspension of License; Stirred by Hiring of Morgan

By EARL GODWIN

WASHINGTON. — Not long ago a group of distillers which maintains at Washington an organized conscience of the same sort Will Hays operates for the motion picture industry, thought it would be good business to employ some one high up in the administration so that whiskey would have an influential representative with the government. This is a very old idea and, while it works now and then, it doesn't work as well or as often as it did once upon a time.

This group of distillers employed Forbes Morgan, uncle of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and at the time the treasurer of the Democratic national committee. The whiskey business contracted to pay Mr. Morgan $100,000 a year for five years, and put the money in escrow. Shortly thereafter, Wilford S. Alexander, chief of the federal alcohol control board called in about fifty of the leading whiskey men of the country and read them an old fashioned lecture. It was more or less a distinct notice to the whiskey business that some of its distinguished leaders had been edging closer and closer to violation of the law. Some of them have been stepping across the dividing line. Hereafter, said he, instead of writing letters to law-breaking distillers or anyone else in the business, when laws and regulations are violated licenses will be suspended! The fact that the whiskey business had hired a lobbyist right out of the Roosevelt family is responsible for this stiff-necked attitude, which goes to prove that the one way to have the government get tough under this administration is to try to make the path easy by this particular method.

The administration, responsible in large measure for repeal, is growing aware daily of the tremendous loss of life from drunken driving; is aware of the increase in drinking among women; and has had an official eye on many of the most obnoxious of the liquor ads. Through the advice of some of its wiser heads the whiskey business is toning down its advertising. It does not use the radio for that purpose, and is reported to be keeping whiskey advertising out of Sunday papers.

However, it seems to have wasted $500,000 for the five-year services of a former Number One Democrat, if it thinks it can get any favors from this administration. There are plenty of fine things that Mr. Morgan can do for the distillers or anyone else who employs him, but just at the moment the administration seems to have given orders to be just as tough as possible with the whiskey and allied businesses—just to show all and sundry that you cannot buy your way into the Roosevelt circle of influence.

Let the politicians rave! They're already talking about who will be President in 1941. The conversation if analyzed, is really based on the Democratic choice for a nominee at the party convention in 1940—because it would be worse than foolish to try to dope out a Republican choice. And—who knows? There is always a chance of a third party again—although third parties have yet to demonstrate that they can draw a vote large enough to make a dent.

Political sharps drew a quick breath one morning recently when a newspaper poll reported Postmaster General Farley as the best choice for Democratic nominee and President next term. Don't take that too seriously. In the first place Mr. Farley's deep seated conviction is that the present cabinet should contain no man who is an avowed candidate for the job. That's one reason why Paul McNutt is in the Philippine islands right now instead of in the cabinet as Secretary of War.

The Democratic national committee is definitely opposed to nominating anyone not a lifelong Democrat. This would bar Messrs. Ickes and Wallace. These two cabinet members are not Democrats of the old school, Wallace was, and as far as I know, still is a Republican. Harold Ickes was a Bull Moose from the old T. R. days—and has only recently qualified as a Democrat by being a delegate at large from Illinois at the 1932 Democratic national convention.

There are several United States senators who could slip the leash and rush out for the Presidency now if it were not political suicide to do so at this early date. Yet the same poll which turned with Farley as the potential people's choice did not mention a single senator, except far down among the also-rans. The senator who gives powerful indications of running for the job now is Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, sudden dynamic foe of the President's Supreme court plan.

Two governors in the headlines who gain ephemeral notice as possibilities for 1941 are Murphy of Michigan and Earle of Pennsylvania. Of Earle I have written previously. He is the son of the ultra rich, suddenly gone Democratic and to the left wing at that. His Pennsylvania success is due largely to solid support from the labor ranks. Murphy has almost the same story to tell in Michigan—but there is no assurance that the labor strength will be the same three years hence; in fact no one can predict the political outcome of the present labor upset.

President Roosevelt himself is the unspoken choice of most of top Democrats here. He has indicated his firm desire to retire; and the idea of a third term is something the average American repulses. But the politicians who have won with Roosevelt in three national elections—the first presidential; the midterm congressional and this recent landslide, seem to think there is no one else in the country.

The Wagner act gives federal guarantee to workers that they be represented for collective bargaining by any union of their choice. This is purely Democratic. Workers in any shop vote whether they want to join a union or not—and what union. Shortly after it was signed by the President in the spring of 1935 a committee of fifty-eight power trust and other corporation attorneys met at the vigilance committee of the Liberty League and instructed the public and inferentially the Supreme court, that the law was plainly unconstitutional and a departure from the American way of life. On this thesis the President was assailed and assaulted during the remaining months until election as someone who was tearing down American standards, boring holes in the Constitution and all the rest of the heavy artillery that made so much noise and so few hits.

Also, as a result of the vigilance committee's completely fallacious prophecy (the Supreme court having now upheld the act in five cases) many attorneys and one large manufacturers' association advised clients to disregard the law. Several large corporations and employers followed this advice. This resulted in a lawlessness by certain industrial leaders far more reprehensible in my opinion than the local trespass of the workmen in the sit-down strikes. This disregard of law by leaders of industry—big men in their walks of life—is one of the circumstances which angered the labor leaders to the point where they have perfected the strike as a coercing weapon.

The Supreme court's right-about-face which resulted in the five OK's on the Wagner act does not settle all the labor problems, nor does it reach the administration's objectives which included not alone the right of collective bargaining and union-joining, but also federal control over hours and wages; to see that there is a federal standard of wages and a limit to the hours men and women must work. The administration is also determined to wipe out the form of slavery known as child labor in factories. The court so far has not peeped on these phases—hence the wary New Dealer will not heed the plea of the tired crusader who wants to stop now. The court must be rejuvenated and given a permanent and unmistakable enlightened view; not merely a freak five-to-four combination which depends upon the legalistic whim of a single member.

The great flip-flop of the court was its acceptance of the idea that goods manufactured in an ordinary factory are in interstate commerce and hence subject to federal supervision through the Constitution's interstate commerce clause. The old horse-and-buggy doctrine which knocked out the NRA and caused all this hullabaloo about a new court was that factory goods were not in interstate commerce and did not come under the interstate commerce clause until they were actually rolling along in a freight car.

It must be recalled that all these discussions leave agriculture and farming out of the picture entirely. The Supreme court has not yet moved from its position that agriculture is purely local, thus making it legally awkward and almost impossible for the federal government to use its whole power directly for farm aid—in an emergency at least. It was that AAA case which aroused the liberal minority of the court to heights of well-mannered sarcasm at the conservatism of the majority, but as yet the court has not changed its view. One reason is that no case involving the question has reached them, and if it did, who knows whether or not the court would again deprive farming of federal power to aid? That's one more reason why the administration leaders want the President's court plan enacted.

While it is Roosevelt's desire to reduce the growing tendency toward farm tenancy, congress takes a hard-boiled attitude which threatens to wreck the administration's plans to lend money to the underprivileged farmer-tenant and at the same time help make his farm self-supporting.

Congress has before it a presidential message on the subject, pointing out that fewer and fewer farms are being operated by their owners, and accompanying that message is a commission report which shows considerable study of the problem. The commission recommended a government corporation to lend money at easy rates and long-term repayments, at the same time providing advice and guidance to the farmers until the land is paid for. That plan would give security to both the farmer and the government.

Bowling Official as Guest Columnist Praises 1937 Event

(Elmer H. Baumgarten occupies this space this week as guest columnist for Hugh Bradley. He is secretary of the American Bowling Congress held this year in New York for the first time in history and like all bowlers, thinks there's no other sport like it.)

By ELMER H. BAUMGARTEN

IT SEEMS that Charlie Ebbets, while in attendance at the 1936 A. B. C. tournament at Louisville, Ky., was so impressed with the tournament that it was his intention to have the event awarded to New York City. He said at the time that if it was ever taken east of the Allegheny mountains, it would never be returned to the Mid-Western states.

This display of enthusiasm was misinterpreted by the bowlers of the Western and Mid-Western states and, as a result, the tournament never was permitted to go east of Buffalo until the 1935 event was held at Syracuse.

The Eastern bowlers made a remarkable showing in organization work, in patronizing the Syracuse tournament, and living up to their promise to return the tournament to the West the next year many of the leaders from the Western cities supported New York City in its campaign to obtain the tournament for this year.

The entry of 4,017 teams in this year's tournament must prove conclusively to all skeptics that the Eastern seaboard is capable of enlisting such an entry as to make any future tournaments in the East attractive to the bowlers of the United States and Canada.

We entered in this year's tournament approximately 22,000 individual bowlers some coming from points as far as 3,200 miles away. The great majority of these were accompanied by their wives; many by their entire families. The average stay was four or five days, but some remained in the city for two weeks or more and, as a result, we have been told that the American Bowling Congress tournament and convention is the most valuable of all conventions and gatherings inasmuch as there was a consistent flow of business into the tournament city over a period of weeks.

A. B. C. Makes "Hot Shot" Just Another Bowler

The A. B. C. tournament alleys level off all participants. One who might have a very fine average on his home alleys becomes just another bowler. There are only a small number of the country's outstanding bowlers who continue to maintain an average nearly approximating their averages at their home alleys. Quite a number of the so-called quibition bowlers must have a particular alley finish upon which to do their stuff. When these individuals are permitted to practice a certain number of games in order to find the particular spot on which to start their ball on each alley, they can then make a creditable showing, but in an A. B. C. tournament they must begin to count immediately after a game starts, no practice being allowed except one ball on each alley without pins being set up.

Quite a number of the so-called "hot-shots" are practically scared to death when they appear at the A. B. C. tournament each year simply because they realize that they have no advantage. They do not know the "run" of the alleys, but must go in cold and proceed to knock down the brand new ten pins which are spotted for each team.

Although alleys are resurfaced each twelve months and all alleys on which sanctioned league and tournament games are bowled are certified as to being strictly regulation so far as the specifications are concerned, some bowling alley proprietors, alley mechanics, resurfacers and so-called sharpshooters insist upon having alleys finished in such a manner as to enable them to bowl a hook ball that has terrific power, and brings about excessive or unnatural high scores that in the end cause these particular individuals to look ridiculous when they bowl on alleys that are strictly flat; carry the proper amount of shellac and are correctly polished in accordance with the written rules and intent thereof.

This practice can be compared with a golfer who has been playing on a so-called croquet course, and then attempts to display his proficiency on a championship golf

NOT IN THE BOX SCORE:

AT LEAST ten ballplayers who performed on Cuban teams last winter could make good in such leagues as the International or the American Association. Two or three others would have excellent chances of holding jobs in the majors. They do not get a chance because organized baseball is almost as prudish, as unenlightened and as selfish as Joe Louis in the matter of drawing color lines. . . . Horsemen who wintered in California say that Santa Anita has the country's best-conducted race meeting and that next winter the minimum purse will be $1,200. . . . Lou Chiozza's worst fielding trouble is that he tries to straighten up and aim before throwing. When he gets the ball away quickly from any old stance, his control is better and he looks more like a Giant third baseman.

When the indoor season ends boxing will have grossed more than $1,000,000 in the New York metropolitan area. The Garden naturally heads the list in gross revenue with St. Nick's and the Hippodrome running neck and neck for second position. This is the biggest season since the depression, and promoters are so enthusiastic that they plan twelve outdoor clubs in addition to those operating in the Garden Bowl and the ball parks. . . . The Bomar Stable, a Maryland-trained outfit owned by Detroiters, is a combination of the names of Charles Bohn and Peter Markey—thus, the Bo-Mar. "Fall Guys," a new book of revelations due from the pen of the sports writing Marcus Griffin, already has wrestling, emmentissimos in an expectant; dit-

That feud between Burleigh Grimes and Charley Dressen is strictly on the level.

Players whisper that, late last summer, the Cincinnati manager, who was none too secure in his own job, was offered the Brooklyn berth but refused to carry on negotiations behind Casey Stengel's back. . . . The reason why Tony Cucinello, whose legs were supposed to be worn out several seasons ago, still can star for the Bees is simple. The Boston infield is the deadeast in the league. That is, the ground is so surfaced that balls do not take the fast and erratic hops they take in Chicago and other spots.

Dick Shikat, former world heavyweight wrestling champion, is in New York trying to buck the Trust. . . . Indian Quintana is very anxious for Champion Sixto Escobar to know that he'd like to fight him for money, marbles or old moth balls. . . . Bowie, the track that opens and closes the Maryland racing season, once was a rabbit hunting ground. . . . Bill Johnston will promote boxing at the Coney Island Velodrome this summer. Also, not at all awed by the task of filling the 18,000 seats in the Velodrome, he is dicker for a show or two at the local ball park. . . . Johnny Neun, the former Tiger who now manages Norfolk in the Piedmont league, also is a Baltimore sports writer.

Although he is doing well enough, it is Jack Dempsey's ambition to promote a big heavyweight championship fight. . . . An American league club could make a smart move by picking up Babe Herman. The former Dodger still has a year or two of big-time baseball left in him and a change of surroundings would give him a chance to bring it out. . . . Furists can take the word of one of the nation's most celebrated gambling house proprietors as to why roulette wheels—which never fail to provide the house with a better than 5 per cent profit—still remain in action. He says, "We gotta keep 'em going. The man got wise long ago. But we gotta lotta lady customers and they squawk like hell whenever we try to remove the wheels. . . . Incidentally, another eminent proprietor of such devices of the devil provides the information that 45 per cent of the money gambled in Florida during the past winter was gambled by the gals.

The main thing holding up the sale of the Dodgers is Judge Steve McKeever. The Ebbets heirs, who own 50 per cent of the stock, are more than willing to peddle their end. So are the Ed McKeever heirs, who own 25 per cent. But even though his 25 per cent of the stock is in his daughter's name and she would like to get rid of the headaches it causes her, the Judge has been holding out.

Harry F. Sinclair, once a mighty turf force, has only one horse left on his expansive farm in Johnston, N. J. That's the old, and once truly great, Grey Lag. . . . Jimmy Fox is playing first base for the Cambridge, Mass., Latin school baseball team; while Lou Gehrig is a candidate for second base. They are not related to the major leaguers.

Sam Leslie, the Giants' first baseman, wanted to be a prize fighter. . . . Herb Steward, who virtually junked a Harvard education and an architectural profession to become a wrestling referee in Los Angeles, is writing a piece for a magazine on the life of a referee and is calling it: "Boo for the Referee." . . . Bob O'Farrell, the Waukegan boy who made good before Jack Benny ever owned a violin, says Carl Hubbell is the greatest pitcher he ever caught.

Lesson for May 2 ABRAHAM A MAN OF FAITH

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 12:1-9; 13:14-18. GOLDEN TEXT—By faith, Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed. Hebrews 11:8.

One of the greatest characters in all human history comes before us today in the person of Abraham. He is venerated by Christian, Jew, and Mohammedan alike.

Our lesson, however, centers on the faith of Abraham. As the Golden Text (Heb. 11:8) indicates, it was by faith that Abraham responded to the call of God.

I. Faith Calls for Separation, Obedience, and Worship. 1. Separation (Gen. 12:1). "Get thee out" was God's command to Abraham. It is his command to his followers today.

II. Faith Results in Blessing, Protection, and Liberty. 1. Blessing (12:2,3). "I will bless," said God. "The Lord's commands are rarely accompanied with reasons, but they are always accompanied with promises, either expressed or understood."

In the case of Abraham the promise was not only to him, and to the nation of which he was the father, but to "all families of the earth."

Deciding What Not to Do Men must decide on what they will not do, and then they are able to act with vigor in what they ought to do.—Mencius.

Butterscotch—Two cups brown sugar, four tablespoons molasses, four tablespoons water, two tablespoons butter, three tablespoons vinegar. Mix ingredients in sauce pan. Stir until it boils and cook until brittle when tested in cold water. Pour in greased pan. Cut into squares before cool.

Jelly Sauce—One glass jelly (crab-apple, red currant, grape, etc), quarter cup hot water, one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon flour. Add hot water to jelly and let melt on stove. Heat butter in saucepan, add flour and gradually hot jelly liquid. Cook until smooth and serve hot over almost any pudding.

Melting Chocolate—Chocolate is easy to burn, and for that reason should never be melted directly over a fire. Melt it in the oven or over a pan of hot water.

Boiling Old Potatoes—Old potatoes sometimes turn black during boiling. To prevent this add a squeeze of lemon juice to the water in which they are boiled.

Hanging Pictures—Is your picture hanging on a nail which keeps breaking the plaster and so falling out? Before you put the nail in next time, fill the hole with glue, the plaster will not crumble.

Left-Over Liver—Liver that is left over can be converted into an excellent sandwich filling if it is rubbed through a sieve, well seasoned, and moistened with a little lemon juice and melted butter.

Those two dump grounds within the business district where merchants dump their filth and refuse have not been removed yet. The city officials have not complied with the proclamation of the mayor in having these filthy places cleaned up. We hope they see to it right away for they are an eye sore as well as creating an unhealthful condition in our town.

Merchants who have been using these places to dump their refuse should have more respect for the looks and healthful condition of the town than to create such piles of rubbish. We hope they will not let it happen again.

We notice that the Big Spring Weekly News is suggesting editorially that unless the drunks let up in their cavorting in the city the citizens will be forced to vote booze out.

If every business interest in Loraine will cooperate to the fullest degree with the chamber of commerce many things can be done for the town that will be of great benefit to all of us. Why not get into the chamber of commerce and help make your town a better town in which to live and do business.

Farmers in this territory are planting their crop right along. Many of them already have their feed and some cotton up to a good stand. There seems to be plenty of moisture to get stuff started off if the high winds will let up.

WEEKLY HEALTH LETTER

Austin, Texas, April 30.—"One of the valued by-products of May Day-Child Health Day activities of recent years has been the stimulus to physical examinations in the schools of our State," is the opinion of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. Early detection of these defects and their correction will assure better health and well being to our coming generation.

A child with defective vision cannot be expected to do the required work in school until this handicap is removed. Inflamed, watery eyes, granulated lids, chronic styes, nervous actions as habitual winking, may be caused by a defect and should have immediate attention.

The far reaching effects of infected tonsils on the system has been recognized by health workers for years. Many of the ills of later life, such as heart disease, arthritis, deafness, etc., are directly traceable to tonsils that became infected during childhood and were allowed to remain untreated.

Dental defects are found in more children than any other imperfection, and for this reason children should be taken regularly to their dentist for examination and cleaning of the teeth. This precaution keeps the mouth clean and makes it possible to discover dental defects as soon as they appear.

Postural defects appear in the life of a child much sooner than we formerly suspected. Have your family physician see if your child's shoulder blades project and if his arches are low. Simple exercises, diligently adhered to, when the child is young, will prevent later serious developments in many cases.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

Preparations are going forward for District Conference at Colorado next Tuesday and Wednesday. The session opens at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Between 200 and 250 preachers and lay delegates and visitors will attend.

Those who will go from Loraine are the pastor and seven lay delegates, as follows: Mrs. Hamilton Wright, Mrs. J. M. Bruce, C. F. Glass, Albert Mearse, C. W. Palmer, W. E. Honea, and Lester Jarratt.

Business sessions will be presided over by Rev. Sam H. Young district superintendent. Minutes will be kept by Rev. Hamilton Wright, secretary.

The Methodist pastor has accepted the call to conduct a two weeks' revival meeting at Sudan beginning the fourth Sunday in August.

Attendance at Methodist Sunday School Sunday was 180. Efforts will be made to reach 200 next Sunday. All members absent past weeks are urged to come and bring the attendance up.

The pastor at the morning hour preached on "Idleness in Christ's Vineyard." The congregation joined with the Baptists at the evening hour to hear Mr. Root of Colorado speak on the effects of alcohol on the human body.

A special sermon of peculiar interest to the congregation is promised Sunday.

In the Bishops Crusade about $40 was realized to apply on the $385,000 mission debt incurred by the denomination during the depression.

The pastor and members of his family attended the revival service at Westbrook Tuesday evening. Conference Evangelist Bascom Morton who is doing the preaching there will conduct the Methodist meeting here beginning July 2. Morton is a very interesting, inspiring preacher with a great record throughout Texas and New Mexico for souls won. Eighteen years ago he preached near Westbrook and two of the hardest infidels in Mitchell County were converted.

Miss Ruth Reeder of Lubbock spent last week here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Reeder.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Edwards and little daughter of Sweetwater spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Edwards.

Mrs. J. K. Mahon is reported on the sick list this week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Woodard and daughters, Misses Evelyn and Edith Mae, spent Sunday afternoon with their daughter and sister, Mrs. J. W. King and family.

A. Callahan and daughter Iona and Roy Lee spent the week end in Waco visiting friends.

Used Cave for Glass Work
The first glass maker in Scotland was George Hay (1566-1625). He took advantage of a peculiarly formed cave at Wemyss, on the Fife coast, and set up his furnace there.

Wore Prince Alberts
In the "nifty nineties," most United States senators wore Prince Alberts. The frock coat was a symbol of statesmanship and a beard was the mark of a man of maturity and substance.

Red Coral Always Prized

It is red coral that is and always has been prized, not solely for jewelry and buttons, but as a charm to bring safety, health and secrets not revealed to the ordinary person. As ancient Gauls rushed headlong into battle, they trusted their safety to their swords, strength and the "magic" coral imbedded in their shields or helmets. Many Italians and Indians regard coral as protection against the "evil eye." The world's red coral comes from the reefs off the Mediterranean coast of Africa, says the Washington Post, and is obtained chiefly by Italians.

FOLLOW the FUNNIES

Here are real friends whose life's business is making you happy!

FRIENDS who never fail to make you laugh can always make you forget the painful pressure of your corns or taxes. On the Funny Page of this newspaper are a group of friends whose riotous antics shoo the blues away week after week.

FR instance, there are Gene Byrnes' "Reg'lar Fellers," as likely a band of youngsters as ever busted a schoolhouse window. Jimmie Dugan, Aggie Riley, Pudd'n'head and Pinhead, Bump Hudson and the dog Bulleye are worth a chuckle in every line.

DESPERATE Ambrose, who becomes doubly dangerous when donning his vendetta hat, Pop Wimpus and Old Timer have become national institutions in the uproarious strip, "S'Matter Pop?" by C. M. Payne. One of the wildest, craziest comics in the world, this is still as true to life as cold oatmeal or corned beef hash.

SLIGHTLY daffy, of course, are "The Feather-heads," but only daffy enough to do the things that all of us do that are good for a million laughs in our daily lives. Cartoonist Osborne's funny folk also come to you every week in this paper.

AND Finney of the "Force" is the answer to the charge that nobody loves a policeman. This genial flatfoot's humorous adventures, as portrayed by the young artist, Ted O'Loughlin, are a lot of fun for him and even more for you as you watch him walk his beat.

MESCAL IKE" by M. S. L. Huntley brings you Mescal himself, Pa Piffle, Miss Sally Price, Dirty Shirt Mulloney, Muley Bates and the other salty citizens of Cactus Center. This hilarious strip has the excitement of a diamond-back's rattle, a kick like an untamed Mustang and all the dry humor of a desert mule.

UNUSUAL insight into human nature and a keen sense of humor are the stock in trade of Magnus G. Kettner, who ranks among the truly great cartoonists of the day. In "Our Pet Peeve," "Along the Concrete," and his other cartoons, there is always a chuckle, often a real, constructive thought, but never a sting. Especially has Kettner caught the warm humor of small town and rural life.

Follow the doings of these friends of yours. They'll make your life gayer, your lot easier and your digestion better.

Junior-Senior Banquet

The big event in the affairs of the Juniors and Seniors took place Thursday night the twenty-second when the Juniors entertained the Seniors with the annual banquet.

The students, faculty, and guests gathered at the school house where the students styled their evening clothes.

About 8:30 they drew the anchors and sailed to the banquet hall. The room was decorated to carry out the sailing theme, using the Junior class colors, blue and silver.

Lanthus Brame, Junior President, serving as toastmaster, introduced the following program: Invocation—Mr. Pratt.

Welcome—Garland Faulkenberry
 Response—Opal Martin.
 Saxophone Solo—Byron Bennett.
 Class Pophecy—Clista Hoover.

Reading—Dell Johnson.
 Duet—Earlene Brown and Doris Glass.

Class Will—Nina Pearl Brown.
 Main Speeches—E. E. Williams and Newby Pratt.

Song—"Shipmates Forever"—Unison.

The menu was carried out in sailor fashion served by six sophomore girls dressed in midly blouses, sailor caps, and aprons to imitate life saver.

The menu consisted of Sailors' Delight, Sea Fowl, Dressing, Cranberry Sauce, Celery Boat, Jelly Fish Salad, Sea Flowers, Moss, Rolls, Butter, Sponge, Iceberg, and Seawater.

Every modern hair style was displayed by the girls as well as the latest styles in evening dress. The banquet was given the title of the "nicest ever."

The following day you would not have been able to secure much information from the sleepy-headed group but might ask Charles Glass and Ruth Anne Hall about the Iceberg, or Lewis Brians about the "Sailors Delight" and get their opinions of the food served.

Senior Day at H. S. U.

The Seniors were royally entertained by the students of Hardin-Simmons University on Saturday 24th at Abilene. Seniors from 75 or 80 high schools were at the University. The opening was held at Parramore Field. The famous Cowboy Band opened the program with several entertaining numbers. Xylophone solos and an accordion solo were given by members of the band.

Feats of tumbling and gymnastics were shown by 6 girls and 11 boys from the physical training classes, while rope tricks were given in the background.

Each group of Seniors was accounted for by the Master of Ceremonies. A pantomime was given by the Speech department which kept the many hundreds laughing.

The President of Hardin-Simmons spoke and introduced Governor Standifer of Arizona who was visiting at the university. He is a native Texan.

Lunch was served cafeteria style under the trees. There was 20 lines of tables. After lunch open house was held in all the buildings. Radio auditions were given in the Fine Arts building.

At 3:30 a football game was played between the Hardin-Simmons "Gold" boys and "Blue" boys. Tennis games were played all between Hardin-Simmons and Daniel Baker players. Cowgirls were guides around the campus and made everyone feel as if he belonged there all the time.

Ten Seniors went to the Senior Day from Loraine and we had such a wonderful time that we wish we could be Seniors again next year and attend the annual Senior Day at H. S. U.

Band News

Early Friday morning the band will pile into a bus and go to Lubbock for the band contest of the Western Division of Texas.

We will play Friday morning at 9:15 and will be free to listen to other bands all day. Some of the members will take part in the huge massed band concert Friday night. The soloists have not been informed as to when they will play.

We will have very strong opposition this year as we have had other years but we feel that we can make an excellent showing for Loraine High School.

Don't fail to see the laziest person moving portrayed by Ruth Anne Hall. Also her handsome cousin, Price Hall, taking the role of a dashing young Yale football tackle.

Sophomore Signals

On Friday night April 23 the Freshmen entertained the Sophomores at the band hall with a picnic and party.

After many games were greatly enjoyed by all refreshments of weiners, rolls, marshmallows, potatoe chips, and punch were served. At 9:00 o'clock everyone reported a nice time and went home.

At 2:30 the Colorado High School Band arrived and gave us a very nice program accompanied by Mr. Watson, superintendent, and Mr. Rose, the director.

 "Light Cavalry" (Overture)
 "Trombone Blues" (Novelty)
 "Business in F" (Novelty)
 "Fifth Division" (March)

Senior Play

In case you have not heard of the occasion when the Seniors give their Annual Play, you have missed quite an occasion. As long as L. H. S. can remember the Seniors have presented some type of a closing climax of the year work. This year the play is to be presented on May 7th in the high school auditorium. The title is "In the Corner Cupboard." It is a very interesting mystery, an amusing outcome. Don't fail to see "In the Corner Cupboard."

The characters are Price Hall, Loyd Brame, Duane Brame, Y.

F. James Jr., Byron Bennett, Opal Martin, Iris Riden, Lillian Hendrick, Billie Rowland, Maurine Robertson, and Ruth Anne Hall. The play is being directed by Miss Princess Martin and Newby Pratt.

Sixth Grade News

The Good Citizenship Club met April 19 for business meeting. The following officers were elected:

President—Gloria Martin; Vice President—Aileen Hallmark; Reporter—Foy Green; Secretary—Roy Hall.

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN!

The date for the Annual Senior Play has been set! The play is "In the Corner Cupboard." No, that is just the title, for the play is to be given in the Loraine High School auditorium on Friday night, May 7, at 8:00, o'clock. The admission, which is always a question asked by the fans, has not been decided; however it will be only a small fee. Anyhow what difference does it make as long as there are lots of excitement!

The story centers around the adventures of five girls and a maid at a mountain camp. Sally wishes that a bandit or a burglar might show up and then what should actually happen but an escaped convict come to frighten the neighborhood almost into fits. In the midst of the excitement, Don Davies, a football tackle, gets locked up in the cellar and thereby spoils a perfectly good cleopant which has been carefully planned by him and Stephanie. The play is ideal, its different, its full of excitement, humor, and mystery!!

Don't fail to see "In the Corner Cupboard!" If you do you will be sorry when you realize that this is the last play you will get to see put on by this class, the Seniors of '37.

Introducing the Seniors

The modern world was again honored on February 9, 1921 when Lucille Maurine Robertson made entrance into this world. Maurine was born at Jewett, Texas, and since the time of her birth has grown into a young lady of 5 feet, 3 inches in height. She presents a very pleasing appearance and blue eyes and brown hair her major makeup one can see very well that the advertisements "Maurine for the Eyes" are justified. Several young men think so. Maurine has only been with the Seniors of L. H. S. two years now but in that time she has made many friends. Before she came to L. H. S. last year she was a student at Valley View. There she competed in scholastics and was very vivacious in all activities. She has kept up the good work since coming to L. H. S. As she has personality, determination, and integrity she should, when the curtain goes down on the grand finale, look back on her debut on earth with a contentment akin to measured success.

Milton Hallmark of Texas Tech spent the week end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hallmark.

Silk Prints Lead the Style Parade

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

JUST one dazzling, color-gloried silk print after another is what's happening in the fabric realm this season. The new prints are more fascinating than ever, and try to resist them and do you? You do not. The urge for another and another in your wardrobe ever keeps on keeping on.

To add to the excitement, couturier and dressmaker are devising ways of making up these silks that are so artful and fraught with such high-pressure novelty the world of fashion is being cast into new throes of enthusiasm every time a style parade of last-minute costumes is staged.

A favorite treatment is pleating and when you pleat printed silk you multiply the beauty and intensity of its coloring to a thrilling degree. The all-around pleated skirt is a favorite topic with designers who are styling the new gowns of silk print. Even if you are making your dress yourself it is a good idea to have the skirt pleated, and it is almost a certainty that you will be pleased with results. The charming dinner dress to the left in the picture is fashioned of a water color print silk crepe with separate jacket and pleated skirt.

Another dressmaker treatment adding untold interest to print ensembles is the self-print lining. To achieve a maximum of practicality and wearability these coats with linings matched to the print of the frock are made reversible. You turn them inside out and vice versa. The idea nicely worked out in the model centered in the group. The silk print is highly colorful and the monotone cloth of the coat repeats the background tone of the print.

Then there is this reigning vogue of the bolero. Dressmakers and designers are turning out the bolero frock of silk print in vast numbers. You'll love a print silk bolero frock. Flattering it will prove to be and practical. See the model to the right in this group. Here is a bolero frock of feather silk print. The dark grounds such as this with wide-spaced motif are especially smart and attractive and wearable. The bodice buttons to a high neckline. The bolero has peaked shoulders and elbow sleeves. Note the red silk chiffon handkerchief in the buttoned pocket of the bolero. The circular skirt of the dress has emphasized creases. The straw bonnet has flowers massed at the front. Which calls to mind another feature designers are emphasizing, that of having flowers somewhere in the picture that are related in color to the print of the silk. This may be a corsage, a gay posy cluster at the new low of a neckline or it may be a bouquet played up in conjunction with a vivid gypsy sash tied at the front.

One of the outstanding innovations in the realm of print silk costumes is the redingote fashioned of matching print, the small figured being smartest for day wear. This redingote, while it tops off the dress of self print to a dramatic climax, will prove one of your happiest possessions to be worn as a separate coat or wrap over the monotone crepe dress on cool spring days and later on serving admirably as a summer wrap worn with dainty lingerie frocks.

It is good style, too, to wear over your navy or crepe afternoon dress either a bolero of eye-impelling silk print or a hip-length jacket if you prefer. The latter should be slightly fitted to be up to the mode and they are especially smart when buttoned down the front.

The silk print idea enters into every phase of fashion this season. You are encouraged to wear gay print from the tippet of your head down to your feet.

BLUE TAFFETA

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Fancy turns to the southern-belle type of dress for evening wear. Here is a charming specimen of the quaint and picturesque type that is proving such a general favorite. It is made of silk taffeta in a delectable soft-toned medium blue. Young girls are showing a preference for sprightly taffeta and they love the way the little puff sleeves stand up in lively taffeta manner. Square necklines are much in evidence this season. This one is accented with rhinestone and enamel flower pins and there is a matching bracelet.

GLOVES TO MATCH YOUR SPRING SUIT

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Cloth gloves to match spring suits are the latest news from Paris. An extra piece of material, ordered when the suit is bought, can be made up in any size or style, short or with deep gauntlet cuffs. Square fingertips are another innovation. The finger may be stitched at sides and straight across the top, giving a casual, out-of-doors look, especially popular in gloves of doeskin or chamois.

Half-finger gloves, which made their appearance last winter in the guise of lace mitts to go with gowns of the southern belle type, are now an established vogue. They are shown in pigskin and chamois for sports wear, and in suede for dress. The gloves extend as far as the finger-joint, revealing brightly polished nails. Very convenient when it comes to picking up a dropped coin, fitting a key or writing out a check. Polish in cardinal or burgundy may be worn to match or contrast with the gloves.

Further independence in glove fashions is exhibited in the unconventional treatment of seams along the back of the hand. These vary from two or three seams running across instead of up and down, to one crosswise seam with two short ones in the usual direction.

Tiny Watches Are Fitted to the Latest in Gloves

Small jeweled watches are being worn everywhere but on the wrist these days. Some of the new tailored suits with heavy cuffs have a small detachable watch encased over the left wrist.
Many of the new cigarette cases have small watches fitted on the outside, while purses and gloves that are fitted with watches have been shown for several months.

UNCOMMON AMERICANS

By Elmo Scott Watson
© Western Newspaper Union

"Liberator of Bulgaria"

HIS name was Janarius Aloysius MacGahan and that fact alone should be enough to make him an "uncommon American." But he had other and better claims to distinction.

Born in 1844 in the little town of New Lexington, Ohio, young MacGahan grew up into a mild-mannered, timid youth, which was strangely in contrast to his character later. At the age of seventeen he tried to become a country school teacher but his application was rejected on the grounds that he was too young and inexperienced.

Deeply wounded by this rebuff, MacGahan left his native state and never returned to it. He went to Huntington, Ind., where he was given a school and taught it successfully for two years, then to St. Louis, where he studied for four years and wrote for the newspapers, all the time preparing himself for a career as a lawyer.

Next he decided to finish his studies in languages in Europe before starting his law career. But just as he was preparing to return to America, the Franco-Prussian war broke out and the New York Herald engaged him to accompany the French army as a war correspondent.

If he had been shy as a boy, he seems to have gotten over that. His new job took him into the thickest of the fight and there he wrote his dispatches while the bullets whistled around him. His graphic reports from the French front won him a position with the London News as well as the Herald.

In 1876 he went into the Balkans and his exposures of the Turkish atrocities in Bulgaria not only stirred England to the depths but led to action by the European powers which won for MacGahan the title of "Liberator of Bulgaria." His untimely death, caused by a fever which he took from a friend when he refused to leave in Constantinople, brought to a close a brilliant newspaper career. He was buried first in the Turkish capital. Six years later his body was brought back to his native town of New Lexington, where thousands united in honoring the "home town boy" who had made good in other fields. Today his is one of the names honored in the Hall of Fame in the school of journalism at Ohio State university.

Swindler of Millions

AROUND the turn of the century, when American were becoming accustomed to the idea of "Big Business" in finance and industry, Cassie L. Chadwick taught them that "big" might be applied to swindling also. Born in Canada of poor parents, Elizabeth Bigley soon decided that she didn't want to remain poor.

After getting her out of a forgery scrape, her father sent her to live with a sister in Cleveland. There she represented herself as an English heiress and married a young doctor named Chadwick but he soon divorced her. For the next four years she supported herself as a spiritualist, clairvoyant and hypnotist under a variety of names in the Middle West. In Toledo she was arrested for forging a draft for $10,000 and sentenced to the penitentiary.

Paroled in 1893, she started out to get money in a big way. She let it be known that she was related to Andrew Carnegie and that the facts of that relationship could only be whispered. After a trip to New York to visit her "father," she came back to Cleveland and turned over to the president of a bank a trust fund agreement and notes amounting to more than $15,000,000. Since these were apparently signed by Carnegie himself, the banker readily gave her a receipt for them.

With her credit thus established, Mrs. Chadwick started on an orgy of wild borrowing and spending. Once she bought $1,200 worth of handkerchiefs from a Cleveland store. She sent grand pianos to eight friends as "little surprises." She chartered a special train to take her friends to New York.

Then suddenly her bubble of prosperity was punctured. An enterprising Cleveland newspaper printed a full-page story revealing the details of her past life. She managed to put off the anxious bankers who were demanding repayment of their loans and fled to New York. Arrested and brought back to Cleveland for trial, it was revealed that her liabilities were more than a million dollars. Several banks failed as the result of loans to her.

Moreover, Andrew Carnegie, who had examined the documents which she had deposited in the Cleveland bank, pronounced them forgeries and Mrs. Chadwick an impostor. She was sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary again, this time for four years and there she died in 1907, leaving an estate of only $14,000.

A Winsome Quartette

THERE was a lull in the mid-morning activities of the Chic Twins (in aprons this time) and their week-end guests when the candid camera caught this gay quartette.

The guests are wearing—let's have a close-up—sports dresses because they are so all purpose; tennis frocks go shopping just as often as not. The spectator model to the right with its unusual use of buttons is demure enough to wear when calling on one's Sunday school teacher and yet would have sufficient swing to "belong" in the gallery at the golf tournament. Summer days offer so many unexpected opportunities that these dresses are chosen as equal to any informal occasion.

MOTHER'S DAY SPECIAL

Only the very best is good enough for mother on Mothers Day!

Give her something different and lasting—a Permanent—$1.00 to $6.00

[Mrs. Horace] Hendricks

May we give you six dollars?

NOT in cash, of course. We're speaking of its equivalent. But here is something for you to consider:

Every year this newspaper brings you at least three outstanding novels in serial form. Purchased as books each would cost not less than $2, making a total expenditure of at least $6 per year.

Like yourself, we could find plenty of uses for that $6. Some member of the family is always in need of a new pair of shoes or some other necessity. But at the same time your requirements for good reading material must be met. By accepting these three novels each year, we feel you are treating yourself to real enjoyment, at the same time giving your purse a substantial boost.

These novels are a source of constant pride to us. Every year we select them from the season's most outstanding best sellers, offered in serial form by a large newspaper syndicate organization. We'd like to feel that you—as a subscriber—always look forward to reading the coming installment in the next issue. It gives us a great satisfaction to know that here is another reason why our paper is popular in the home.

You are invited to begin reading our novels now. These regular brief visits to fictionland will prove a delightful interlude from your work-a-day activities. And it will make us happy to know that you are getting enjoyment from them.
