Nikki Holman receives FFA's highest honor

Nikki Holman of Colorado City joined an elite group of FFA achievers Nov. 9 in Kansas City, Mo. when she was awarded the American FFA Degree - the highest degree of membership awarded by the National FFA organization.

Along with 1,056 other degree recipients, the Colorado City Chapter member was honored at the 63rd National FFA Convention.

One of the highlights of the convention, the American FFA Degree ceremony, included the presentation of a certificate and gold key to Holman as she walked across the convention stage with thousands of FFA members in the audience.

The American FFA Degree is presented annually at the national convention to the top two-tenths of one percent of FFA membership. Awarding of the degree is based upon a member's Supervised Agricultural Experience (SAE) program in agribusiness or production agriculture and on his/her leadership ability as demonstrated through involvement in FFA and community activities.

FFA is a national organization of 387,042 members in 7,634 local chapters preparing for careers in science, business and technology of agriculture. Local, state and national activities and award programs provide opportunities for students to apply knowledge and skills acquired through agricultural education. FFA members strive to develop agricultural leadership, cooperation and citizenship.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock has sent checks to the cities of Colorado City, Loraine and Westbrook and to Mitchell County in monthly sales tax rebates.

Colorado City's check totaled $36,909, down 6.05 percent from the $39,284 received for the same period last year. The 1990 payments to date are $327,324, down 6.20 percent from the 1989 payments to date of $348,967.

Loraine's check totaled $1,392, up 1.39 percent from last year when the amount was $1,372. The 1990 payments to date are $6,248, up 5.67 percent from the 1989 payments to date of $5,912.

Westbrook's check was for $614, down 43.28 percent from last year when the city received $1,083. The 1990 payments to date are $6,744, up 29.04 percent from the 1989 payments to date of $5,226.

Mitchell County's check was for $14,285, down 4.03 percent from last year's check for $14,886. The 1990 payments to date are $173,390, up 29.30 percent from the 1989 payments to date of $134,100.

The month's checks reflect taxes collected on September sales and reported in late October by businesses filing monthly returns. Also included in this month's payments are sales taxes reported by quarterly filers whose collections reflect sales made in July, August and September.

City mgr resigns post

City Manager Brenda Hammond submitted her resignation to the Colorado City council Tuesday night.

Hammond, who has been with the city for a total of 12 years, eight of which as city manager, submitted her resignation effective Dec. 13. She cited a lack of cooperation and a lack of support from the city council as her reasons for resigning, adding that "personal vendettas should not have a place on the city council."

She commended the city staff, saying it's the finest staff any city can have. The staff has a combined total of 270 years of experience, she said.

"I wish the city well and hope you all go forward and wish you nothing but success," she told the council.

Mayor Jim Baum said the council will start accepting applications immediately.

"There have been a lot of accomplishments during your time here and we do appreciate the time and extra time you've put in the job," Baum told Hammond. Hammond would not comment on her future plans.

In other business, the council adopted an ordinance calling a special city council election for Jan. 19 to fill two council vacancies created by the resignations of Eric White and Dee Hearn.

Because there are two vacancies, city charter requires a special election. Those choosing to run for the two spots will be running for unexpired terms and will have to seek election again during next May's regular election.

Because the city also is in the process of converting to single member voting districts, the council last week made assignments to the six proposed voting districts. The districting plan is the result of a lawsuit filed against the city by the League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC) which said that the current at-large method of electing council members discriminates against minorities.

Bill to seek voters' input on hazardous waste permit

Representatives Robert Junell (D-San Angelo) and David Counts (D-Knox City) and Senators Steve Carriker (D-Roby) and Temple Dickson (D-Sweetwater) have announced they will file a bill in the 72nd legislature which will require a county-wide referendum election which must be held prior to the Texas Water Commission approving a permit to operate a toxic or hazardous waste disposal site.

The bill will require the host county of a proposed facility to hold a referendum election prior to approval of a permit, if the population of the county is 125,000 or less. The party seeking the permit will pay the costs of the election. The bill will mandate that election results be considered by the Texas Water Commission in making its determination in whether to grant or deny a permit.

Under current law, referendum elections can only be held on items specified in the law. The bill proposed by the West Texas legislators will add toxic and hazardous waste disposal sites to the list to give citizens an opportunity to record their approval or opposition to such a facility planned for their county.

Sites are currently being proposed in Roby and Mitchell County.

Knowlton wins football contest

The winners of the Record's Jackpot Football contest sponsored by local merchants for the weekend of November 9-11 were, first place - Charlotte Knowlton, who missed four games; second place - David Garcia, who missed four games; and third place - Lillian Barkley, who missed five games. Knowlton's tie-breaker prediction was closer than that of Garcia's for first place.

Knowlton will be awarded $25 in football bucks; Garcia will be given $15, and Barkley with $10.

This has concluded the 1990 Jackpot Football Contest. Congratulations to all winners, and good luck next year.

CISD takes advantage of free programming

Colorado High School and Middle School students and teachers soon will be able to take advantage of a new educational network.

CISD trustees Monday night approved a recommendation from Supt. Don Nimmo that the school district enter in a contract with Whittle Communications of Knoxville, Tenn. to provide, free of charge, a comprehensive package of video programming and equipment designed to provide teachers with innovative tools to help meet the learning needs of students.

The network will be received through satellite and includes three channels plus the use of all equipment needed to view them.

Jamie Bollman, marketing representative for Whittle, told the board that each campus will receive about $50,000 worth of equipment and that there will be two complete systems - one for each campus.

She explained that network is supported by two minutes of commercials found each day in the 12-minute news program that students will be able to watch during their activity periods.

The network is comprised of three parts, said Bollman, including:

Channel One - Channel One is a 12-minute daily news-and-information program carefully designed to make the news relevant to the concerns and studies of teenagers. It offers students a regular opportunity to digest the events of the day and to connect the significance of those events to their own lives. Schools have discretionary power in deciding when to show Channel One during the day. Principals have an opportunity to view each program before airing it. If they deem a particular program inappropriate, they may opt not to air Channel One that day.

The Classroom Channel - The Classroom Channel is an independent, non-commercial educational program service developed by Pacific Mountain Network. The Classroom Channel is designed as an enrichment tool. Pacific Mountain Network, a nonprofit agency owned and operated by 43 public television stations, annually supplies 250 programs that are general and curriculum specific. Guides listing the individual transmission dates and a short description of each program are sent quarterly to the school's librarian.

given to local benevolent organizations to help with the poor and needy of our own area. The groups receiving the food items collected include the Helping Hand and the newly re-organized Community Mission of Colorado City, Inc. Much of the collection last year helped furnish canned items for the Christmas baskets.

This year's drive is expanding its effort to canvass the cities of Loraine and Westbrook.

"We expect a larger response this year, after the excitement generated last year," said Scouting for Food Chairman Jon Farris. "We even collected more than the entire city of Big Spring last year, but they're trying to see that it doesn't happen again. Let's win again by all pitching in with lots of canned food items."

In today's Record, readers will find a lightweight white cellophane bag with the "Scouting for Food" logo. Each citizen is asked to fill that bag and other sacks with canned food items (please - nothing perishable, frozen or in glass!). Place the food bags and sacks outside your front door by 1 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Cub Scouts will be collecting Saturday afternoon from 1-3 p.m. on the east side of Colorado City with Hickory Street being the boundary. Cubs will also collect from Loraine Saturday afternoon. Individuals and groups wishing to aid the Cubs in their efforts are invited to meet at the Boys' Club Building at Third and Chestnut streets by 1 p.m. Saturday.

Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts will be collecting in Westbrook and the west half of Colorado City on Sunday afternoon. Scouts are asked to wear their uniforms to church services and to meet at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at the Dairy Queen before starting the food drive. Volunteers to help Sunday are also welcomed.

Local contacts for information include Cubmaster Julie Atkins, 728-3782; Scout Secretary Irene Graham, 728-3111; or Chaplain Jon Farris at 728-8205. If it is convenient for you to shorten our work time, drop-off sites have been secured at:

- Colorado City Fire Department, 620 East 11th Street
- Community Mission, 299 Elm Street
- Green's Li'l Super in Loraine
- The Country Store in Westbrook
- Dorn Chapel United Methodist foyer at Lake Colorado City

Rev. Farris requests that "All people need to take part in helping bear the load of helping the less fortunate of our county. The economy is finding more people desperate and without adequate income. The winter is predicted to be a cold one, and our town should be able to reach out in love by giving from their plenty."

feedback from both middle school and high school staffs about the program. He said that the advertising on Channel One is for products and services that are appropriate for teenagers and the school environment. No alcoholic beverages, tobacco products, feminine-hygiene products or contraceptives will be advertised.

Nimmo also said that some national professional organizations have voiced opposition to such programming, but added that he believes that the pros outweigh the cons.

Bollman said the system should be installed within 60 days.

In other business, the board:

- accepted the low bid of $16,900 from Bosworth Co. of Midland for new heating units for Wolf Gym at the middle school campus;

- accepted the high bid of $1,252 from Carlestead Truck Sales of Buda for a 1984 Ford van that had been used by the athletic department, and;

- accepted the lone bid of $44,300 from Bridges-Hemphill Enterprises for the purchase of a 72-passenger Blue Bird bus with diesel engine (the bus will be used for out-of-town trips).

The city and LULAC have reached a settlement and the districting plan has been approved by the U.S. Justice Department. The plan is awaiting final approval from the judge in the case.

The mayor's position will remain an at-large position.

The special election in January will be for districts number 1 and number 6.

Applications for the council seats will not be taken until Dec. 19. Only persons residing in voting districts 1 and 6 will be eligible to file for a place on the ballot. A map showing the proposed voting districts is on display at city hall.

The council tabled action after hearing a second request from the Museum Board asking that the city consider a request from Kiker-Seale Funeral Home which is willing to donate its old building to the city once it moves into its new building.

The museum wants to convert the old funeral home building into a museum.

L.B. Elliott, chairman of the museum board, said the board is committed to bringing the museum up to higher standards and said the added space the old funeral home building offers would a boost to showing the many artifacts housed in the present museum building.

He said the 8,000 items in the museum are currently being catalogued and urged the council to consider accepting the Kiker-Seale building for a museum.

The Kiker-Seale building was originally the home of Mitchell County pioneer Dr. P.C. Coleman. Two of Coleman's descendants, Preston Burchard of Palo Alto California and Mrs. Alace B. Goodridge of Chico, Calif., have pledged a $5,000 matching gift if the museum is moved to the new location, said Elliott.

"The matching pledge puts a little fire under our feet to collect some money," said Elliott.

The council declined to take any action of the matter until more studies are made concerning increased cost of upkeep of the Kiker-Seale building and of how the old museum building can be utilized if it is vacated.

"I'm not ready to say yes because I still don't know the bottom line," said Baum. "I think some money will have to be spent on renovating the Kiker-Seale building," adding he isn't sure if the city will be able to financially afford the increased cost of utilities and insurance.

The council will consider the proposal further at its December meeting.

The council also tabled a proposed franchise renewal with Southwestern Bell Telephone until the December meeting.

The council did approved a contract renewal with the volunteer fire department for use of the Civic Center every Thursday night for bingo games. The city council agreed to continue with the $125 nightly charge for another year, effective Jan. 1.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Texas Utilities Electric Company (TU Electric), in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the Company's intent to obtain a Certificate of Convenience and Necessity for the relocation of a portion of TU Electric's existing Morgan Creek-Odessa EHV North and South 345 kV Transmission Line, as described below.

The portion of the line to be relocated lies wholly within Mitchell County. The Colorado River Municipal Water District is constructing the Mitchell County Reservoir. The construction of this reservoir will require the relocation of a portion of TU Electric's existing Morgan Creek-Odessa 345 kV Transmission Line approximately 1,000 feet west of the proposed Mitchell County Reservoir Dam, continuing east and parallel to the proposed dam for a distance of 6,150 feet, turning in a northeasterly direction for a distance of 3,500 feet, rejoining the route of TU Electric's existing Morgan Creek-Odessa 345 kV Transmission Line. The estimated cost of this entire project is $1,089,400.

Persons who wish to intervene in the proceeding or comment upon action sought, should contact the Public Utility Commission of Texas at 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or call the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 for teletypewriter for the deaf within 15 days of this notice.

A complete copy of the application, including maps showing the location of the transmission line, is on file with the Public Utility Commission of Texas at Austin, Texas.

Crops on the moon?

You've heard of moonbeams, but by the 21st century you may be hearing about moon "beans." Scientists at Kraft General Foods' "The Land" pavilion at Walt Disney World's Epcot Center are exploring the possibility that lunar soil may support crops in the future and supply them with nutrients.

The lunar soil samples brought back to Earth by the Apollo astronauts are too small to support agricultural research, but they are enabling The Land scientists to develop a simulated moon soil. Four billion years of meteorites crashing into the moon's surface have ground down lunar minerals so that up to 50 percent of the surface samples consist of glass. The chemical decomposition necessary to turn those ground minerals into soil has never occurred on the moon because it lacks water and plants, whose roots play a role in altering minerals.

With the simulated lunar soil, made from basaltic rock collected near Duluth, Minn., the scientists hope to unlock the secrets of soil development on the moon. Perhaps by the 21st century, people will be planting lunar gardens by the Sea of Tranquility.

CHIEF LONE WOLF

The year was 1925. Mitchell County's economy was on a roll, thanks to the developing oil industry. The rumor was several major oil companies had wanted to establish their headquarters in Colorado City, but the lack of hotel facilities forced the oilmen to locate elsewhere. At the time, Colorado had hotels such as the Barcroft and the Alamo.

So, in the end of the year report, the local chamber of commerce made one of its top goals for the coming year, the attraction of investors for a modern hotel.

It wasn't long until an announcement was made that financing for a beautiful new five story hotel, "The Hotel Colorado," had been secured. Apparently two local men, Ross D. Dixon and R. S. Brennan, Jr., contacted a Dallas man, E. E. Parkhurst, to get the ball rolling. Initially it was stated that construction for the "fire proof, modern" facility would begin within 60 days.

The "Hotel Colorado" would have 76 guest rooms (later scaled back to 72) with private baths, steam heat, hot and cold water and telephones.

In addition, the ground floor would consist of a spacious lobby, a dining room coffee shop, gift shop, drug store and newsstand. The site selected upon which to build the hotel was Main and Walnut Streets. The location was purchased from C. H. Lasky for $25,000.

That property had a tremendously colorful history. It was the site of the old Malin and Colvin Livery Stable. The structure was originally built in 1896 by Sam Malin and George Colvin.

The two story lumber building burned to the ground in the late 1880's and when the fire broke out, Malin had been caught on the upper floor. He had to jump to the ground to save his life. Unfortunately, his six shooter discharged as he landed and he suffered a serious wound to one of his legs. After the conflagration, a new brick livery stable was built to replace the previous business.

That same site was where George Root had kept his race horses. And, the prestigious Stockmen's Club, a social organization made up of early day cattlemen, made its headquarters on that corner.

But, back to the Hotel Colorado. When plans for the building were unveiled, it was announced that the architects would be Young and Young of Dallas. The projected cost of the hotel was $300,000 and that was later upped to $400,000 when plans were revised to include an adjoining theatre.

Newspaper accounts of how the historic structure was to be financed are incomplete and at times confusing. Originally it was stated that E. E. Parkhurst had secured $150,000 from Southern Mortgage Company of Abilene, plus he and his associates were going to kick in $100,000. The balance of $50,000 was to be paid in bonds by local citizens.

Later, it was stated that $271,000 had been covered by "outside interests" and Colorado residents would be asked to raise the remaining "65,000." An article in the Dallas Morning News stated that the land for the hotel was given by the "citizens of Colorado."

At any rate, the money was going to be available and the Colorado Record proudly called the project "the biggest ever launched in this city." Not all citizens were thrilled with the proposed hotel. And, because there was opposition, a mass meeting was called to explain the deal, from top to bottom.

Local banker J. M. Thomas, a vice president at the Colorado National Bank, addressed the crowd. He insisted nothing was too good for Colorado.

"Colorado is no hick town," he thundered, "and should be entitled to receive the very best opportunity brings to our very door."

In March of 1926, the contract to build the "Colorado" was awarded to Churchill-Humphreys Company of Dallas. The owners were listed as J. M. Thomas, Ross D. Dixon and E. E. Parkhurst. Expanded blueprints included a theatre, which would seat 800 persons; plus there would be a 40 car garage.

By mid-April, clearing the lot of the brick livery stable was underway and a month later, the work was completed. Colorado was ready to move out of the horse and buggy era.

(Next week, a gala grand opening with ladies and gentlemen decked out in costumes and masks, as a dance culminated activities).

"The Angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear him; and delivereth them." Psalms 34:7.

My friend Charlie said to me, a good writer corrects his mistakes, well good or bad I have spent 3/4 of my life correcting and apologizing for my mistakes. I hope I have the right verse this time. You might do well to read the entire 34th Psalm again.

Well the election is over and we will just have to live with it for another few years, like it or not. The majority has spoken. You know every election year I have company from Abilene, but then so do you if you watch the returns from Channel 9, 10 or 12.

Pauline Cornutt Pitman walks into my living room and tells me how the voting in Abilene and the entire state is going. She really is overseer of a lot of votes cast. I enjoy seeing her and listening to how well informed she is. Good work friend.

Mr. and Mrs. Presley Powell have moved to Loraine to their farm home north of Loraine. They bought the place where B. D. and LaJuana Green lived before his illness. At least they own the house I am not sure about the farm, so I'll keep quiet about that part.

Billy is the daughter of Leona and the late Jack Linam. I am sure Leona is glad to have them that near her. They had lived in Midland for lots of years. Welcome to the Loraine area Presley and Billy.

Trixie West had lots of lovely company over the weekend and she was so happy to report it. I just know how pleased she was. She had children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren for a while Sunday afternoon.

They are Rebecca, Deon and Guy, children of William Duke and his wife of Rotan. Also Lacy and Kayli Norton of Ira and their mother Ginger Duke Norton of Ira where the husband and father of the Nortons teaches school.

All these kids and grandkids are Bonnie Ruth's and the late Leon Duke. Bonnie still lives in Rotan and is married to a very nice fellow O. L. House. They also came to see Trixie Sunday.

By the way, Trixie told me that Guy Duke is a preacher and a very good one at that. She said he spoke at the Loraine Methodist Church recently. Had I have known I would have told you and we all could have listened to him.

I am sure everyone knows that Patty and Jennifer Graham had surgery in Lubbock on Monday of this week. Jennifer had to have a kidney transplant and her mother, Patty gave one of hers to her daughter.

I understand they went through the surgery just fine, but in her waking up process the daughter pulled something loose and had to return to surgery to get it fixed.

The report is that of this morning both are doing well and the donated kidney is working well. We sure hope they will both be fine and have a very good life from now on.

Their address is: University Medical Center Lubbock, Texas 79417.

They have separate rooms, we don't know the number, but we know they will get your card with the above address.

Clarence Lee came from Austin last week to visit Elmer and Stella Rainey. He took them home with him for a visit. They stayed a week and the Lees brought them home. Mrs. Lee is Elmer's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Singleton move to Loraine

Oscar and Rachel Singleton moved to Loraine this week from Alamogordo, NM. Oscar is from Lamesa and Rachel is a former Loranian and a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Price.

Oscar has been in the photography business for many years and plans to have a studio on the home premise.

Rachel is an artist having studied different techniques in Texas and New Mexico.

Oil is her favorite medium in which to paint.

The Singletons bought the Mary Coffee house and some of their work will be on display at a later date when the public will be invited to an open house.

Welcome to Loraine! We hope you will be happy here Oscar and Rachel.

Gladys Payne was in Midland over the weekend visiting in the homes of her two daughters and families.

We had lunch in town on Monday and were lucky enough to find a place as it was full. Of course the subject was cotton but I was glad because that's one subject I know about from the seed to the gin.

Relatives here for Ted Lefevre's funeral were Bill and Lela Bowles of Rule, Carol, Joy Bowles and kids from Waco, Donnie Mack, Pam, Nathan and Keith Bowles of Rule, Jean and Lindy Fruge and Mrs. Lynn Compton of Lubbock.

Also Jack and Gloria Compton of Midland, David Compton of Longview, Renee Rogers and sons Justin and Zachery of Dallas and Loyd and Tracy Biles and daughter Natalie of Lubbock and a long ago neighbor of Ted and Lula, a Mr. Hogue of Abilene.

Lula, I have a little poem for you: I said a prayer for you today

And know God must have heard I felt the answer in my heart Although He spoke no word! I didn't ask for wealth or fame I knew you wouldn't mind I asked Him to send treasures of a far more lasting kind! I asked that He'd be near you at the start of each new day. To grant you health and blessings and friends to share your way! I asked for happiness for you in all things great and small But it was for his loving care I prayed the most of all.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Bryant from Big Spring spent Friday night and Saturday in the Effie Wheeler home.

Mrs. Cain presents program

The North Loraine Extension Homemakers met on Wednesday, November 7 at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Blondie Hamilton. Veida Gage, club president, was in charge.

Program for the day was given by Mrs. Charla Cain, RN, who is director of the nursing program at TSTI in Sweetwater. She gave the "American Red Cross First Aid: CPR for an Adult" for the club's safety program.

She demonstrated the Heimrick maneuver and expounded on how to handle other emergencies, e. g. strokes, heart attacks, etc.

Mrs. Cain gave a CPR demonstration, using a mannequin in demonstrating each step. Several of the club members also went through these steps with the mannequin.

Another point she stressed was to call for professional help, especially if you were alone. Brochures pertaining to strokes, heart attacks, etc. were given to all the ladies.

A short business meeting followed the program.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Bessie Ann Vaughn, Margaret Brame, Veida Gage, Pat Carter, Eva Wells, Mildred Rose, Elaine McMichael, Blondie Hamilton, Bertha Fay Snyder, Effie Wheeler and Darlene Hamrick.

TELCOT[®] Report

A WEEKLY SUMMARY OF COTTON MARKETING NEWS

For The Week Ending November 8

Record weekly U.S. cotton exports highlighted a series of reports issued by USDA on November 8, as 702,500 bales were sold to foreign mills. Heavy sales to China and a major purchase from Egypt resulted in the new record. The previous record set in 1980 showed weekly sales of U.S. cotton at 534,100 running bales.

U.S. officials speculated that China made the purchases to keep up with domestic demand, according to Knight-Ridder Financial News Services. China's cotton consumption was forecast at 20 million bales—700,000 bales above domestic production. USDA also increased Chinese cotton import forecasts to 1.7 million bales from 1.4 million last month.

In its November 8 cotton crop estimate, USDA pegged the 1990 U.S. cotton crop at 14.905 million bales, surpassing by 355,000 bales the October estimate of 14.550 million bales. USDA showed Texas production at 4,600 million bales, a 100,000 bale increase over the October estimate. Oklahoma's cotton crop was estimated at 340,000 bales, an increase of 40,000 bales.

The latest USDA supply/demand report projected U.S. mill consumption of cotton at 8.40 million bales, an increase from its October figure of 8.20 million bales. Projected carryover at the end of this marketing year will be a low 2.6 million bales.

Despite confirmed record sales to China, cotton futures on Friday, November 2 closed with only slight increases. December futures closed at 74.98 with a gain of 19 points, and March closed with a gain of 6 points at 74.86. Nearby contracts on Monday, November 5 plunged sharply with December closing at 72.98 and March at 72.86, as both contracts experienced 200 point losses. November 6 saw December finish the session sliding further at 71.83, down 115 points and March losing 53 points at 72.33. The market rallied back on Wednesday, November 7, with the December contract closing at 73.67, up 184 points. March showed a gain of 185 at 74.18. Futures closed mixed on November 8, with December higher at 73.87, up 20. March closed lower at 74.05, down 13.

Analysts said slight gains on Friday, November 2 resulted from rumors of additional Chinese purchases. Any gains were held in check, however, with ideas that the market had become overbought making it vulnerable to profit taking. This inability to rally spurred liquidation on stops by commission houses early on Monday, causing futures to plummet early in the week. Analysts said the market had been gaining since September on rumors of the Chinese purchases of U.S. cotton that were confirmed on October 31. This buildup in speculative longs and open interest on such gains left the market vulnerable to a drop such as it experienced on November 5 and 6, traders said.

The market may have also been affected on Tuesday, November 6 by a bearish cotton estimate by private crop analyst Sparks Commodities. Sparks estimated the total 1990 U.S. cotton production at 14.924 million bales. This estimate was above USDA's October crop estimate of 14.550 million bales. Rumors of sales to South Korea, Egypt and additional sales to China after the drop in price, as well as anticipation of a record or near record export report helped the market rally back from losses experienced earlier in the week, analysts said. Floor sources said trade house buying surfaced early on Wednesday, and was linked with covering some of those rumored sales. Ideas that the market fell too far, too fast also encouraged bargain buying on Wednesday, sources said. Prices Thursday showed slight further recovery from losses on Monday and Tuesday, traders said.

Knight-Ridder reports U.S. cotton ginnings to date total 7,958,604 running bales. Cotton harvest as of November 3 in the top 14 producing states was 64 percent complete. This amount surpasses the 56 percent average, according to USDA.

Harvesting efforts were hampered beginning November 3, when precipitation fell on much of the Texas High Plains and other cotton producing areas. As much as 60 to 70 percent of the High Plains crop may have been in the field at the time.

Trading over TELCOT on Wednesday amounted to 18,615 bales after prices rebounded from previous losses.

TELCOT trading for Friday, November 2 through Thursday, November 8, totaled 45,795 bales. Bales listed under firm offer November 8 amounted to 44,581. The adjusted world price effective through Thursday, November 15, is 66.64, adjusted to U.S. location and base quality, according to USDA.

BIG BUCK - Brandon Oden, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Oden of Colorado City, shows the nine-point buck he killed this past weekend. The deer field dressed at 124 pounds and had a 17 1/2-inch rack. He killed it in West Mitchell County.

PUBLIC NOTICE

On July 19, 1990, GTE Southwest Incorporated ("GTE-SW") filed revisions to the company's tariff pertaining to the features and associated equipment for providing emergency number services (9-1-1).

In this filing, GTE-SW proposes to modify its existing 9-1-1 tariff and to add more than 200 new service offerings. The new items of service and equipment in this application have been added to meet the company's increasing 9-1-1 customer demands and to allow GTE-SW to compete more effectively in the 9-1-1 equipment market.

The product line in the new offerings consists of a mini-computer and specialized console package for larger communities, as well as a personal computer with Automatic Number Identification (ANI) display for smaller communities. (ANI displays a caller's telephone number on the emergency dispatcher's computer screen.) In addition, the product line will include ANI and Automatic Location Information (ALI) display units compatible with, and similar to, those offered by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and other local exchange carriers in Texas. (The ALI feature displays a caller's address on the computer screen.) The rate charged existing 9-1-1 customers may be revised at the expiration of their contracts with GTE-SW if the proposed tariff is approved.

This filing has been assigned Docket No 9667. The hearing on the merits is scheduled for February 25, 1991, at the offices of the Public Utility Commission of Texas. The deadline to intervene in this docket is December 31, 1990.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information, should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas, 78757. Mitchell County Farm Dispatch

From Your
ASCS Office

WOOL & MOHAIR

January 31, 1991 is the deadline for filing 1990 wool and mohair sales documents. Please remember that the following information is necessary to make an application for an incentive payment:

1. Number of head shorn; 2. Date of shearing (year and month); 3. Amount of freight paid; 4. Purchase of unshorn lambs.

FOREIGN INVESTORS

Foreign investors who acquire or transfer any interest other than a security interest must report the transaction within 90 days. This is a requirement of the Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act and those who fail to report or who are late in reporting face possible fines.

APPROVED COOPERATING GINNERS

The owners or authorized representatives of all Mitchell County Gins have certified to CCC that all bagging and bale ties used will meet specifications approved by the Joint Cotton Industry Bale Packaging Committee for 1990 crop.

TEXAS AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS SERVICE SURVEYS

TASS will begin contacting farmers and ranchers for 1990 acreage, yield and production totals and end-of-year livestock in late November. Information from these confidential surveys conducted by mail, telephone, or in person will help producers make their plans for the coming year.

SHRUB CONTROL IN CROP ACREAGE

The State ASC Committee has determined that shrub and tree control will NOT be required on CRP acreage. This policy pertains only to trees and shrubs. It will still be necessary to control weeds.

COTTON FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Cotton producers in this area are being asked to donate 25 cents per bale from this year's cotton crop to give the West Texas Rehabilitation Center a helping hand. Your local gin will have complete details and pledge cards.

1988 AND 1989 DEFICIENCY OVERPAYMENTS

Refunds, from overpayments of 1988 and 1989 deficiency payments, which were due July 31, 1990, and haven't been paid, are now considered late. Claims have been established and 9% interest will accrue. These have also been reported to creditor agencies. You will receive a third demand letter as soon as software is made available. An interest rate of 12% will apply.

ACR & PAID CU MAINTENANCE

REMEMBER!! ACR and paid CU acreage must be maintained until the end of the calendar year, December 31, 1990. Failure to do this could result in the loss of program benefits.

COMMUNITY AND COUNTY COMMITTEE ELECTION

Ballots will be mailed to eligible voters by November 23. Only voters in LAA 3 will receive ballots. Persons appearing on the ballots will be: Eloise McDaniel, Frank Garcia, Curtis Shaw, Robert Cox and Larry Don Watlington. Ballots must be returned to the office by December 3, 1990. Tabulation will be December 5, 1990 and the election will be held December 10, 1990. George Martin is now serving as LAA 3 representative and eligible for another term.

CONSERVATION RESERVE PROGRAM

There has been some talk of another CRP sign-up, but at this time nothing official has been received concerning this. If and when this does happen it will be publicized. Please remember, NO HAY CAN BE STORED ON CROP ACRES. This is a violation of your contract and could cost you your payments.

HOLIDAYS

This office will be closed November 22 in observance of Thanksgiving.
