Reds Crumble Oder Defense

Three Big Nazi Strongholds Topple In Powerful 30-Mile Breakthrough

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Friday, Feb. 16.—The Red Army, paced by attacking American heavy bombers, outflanked Berlin's eastern defenses yesterday in a powerful 30-mile breakthrough which toppled the Orandenburg province stronghold of Sommerfeld, 67 miles from the imperilled Reich capital.

Sweeping across the Bober, Luebst and Queis rivers south of their confluence with the central Oder, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukraine Army cut in behind a 75-mile stretch of the Oder held by the enemy between Fuerstenberg and Neusalz, thus destroying the effectiveness of that defense line guarding the capital on the southeast.

29 Generals Cited

The strength of the Soviet forces invading new sections of Brandenburg, Berlin's home province, was indicated in Premier-Marshal Stalin's order of the day which cited 29 generals in the capture of the three strongholds.

Berlin said the Russians already had reached and crossed the Neisse river west of Sommerfeld at a point only 57 miles from Berlin, putting Soviet troops 12 miles from the Spree, last natural defense line guarding Berlin on the southeast.

Front dispatches said that Konev's lower wing also had driven to within 45 miles of Dresden, capital of Saxony, after reaching the Neisse river in the area of Goerlitz, 74 miles northeast of Prague, Czechoslovak capital.

Dresden "Burning Inferno"

A Stockholm dispatch said that Dresden was a "burning inferno" because of heavy U. S. bomber attacks paving the way for the Soviet ground drive, and that "tens of thousands" of persons had been killed there. The report came from the Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Dagens Nyheter.

The fall of the three "important junctions of communications and mighty strongpoints of German defenses" southeast of Berlin was aided by a U. S. heavy bomber attack on Cottbus, strategic rail junction only 27 miles west of captured Sommerfeld.

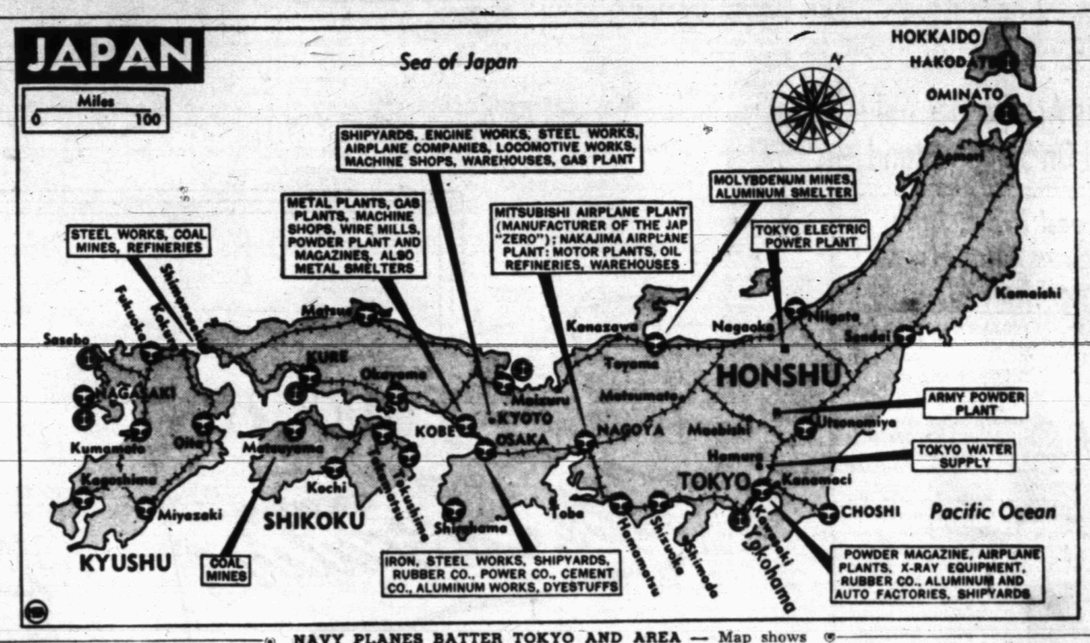

In another striking example of closest liaison between the American airmen and Russian ground forces nearly 500 U. S. bombers hurled some 1,500 tons of explosives on Cottbus, a big 12-way junction clogged with German troops and supply traffic rushed up in an effort to stop the Russians.

Controls Maze of Arteries

Cottbus controls a maze of arteries leading from Berlin to the Oder, Dresden, and to German troops based in Czechoslovakia.

Dresden also was attacked for the fourth time since the great Allied air assault began Tuesday night. Two hundred American heavyweights brought to 4,000

NAVY PLANES BATTER TOKYO AND AREA — Map shows Honshu, main island of Japan—crammed with bombing targets that include arms and munitions centers, the heart of Jap industry, naval and air bases and the enemy's capital city itself. Targets "in and around Tokyo" were battered Thursday in a bold foray by U. S. Navy that evidently was bidding for a battle with the remaining Jap fleet.

New Landing Is Indicated

Screaming Hellcats, Helldivers And Avengers Rain Death On Nip Capital

By ELMONT WAITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Friday, Feb. 16. — The most powerful battleship and aircraft carrier force afloat poured more than 1,200 Hellcats, Helldivers and Avenger planes today at Tokyo while warships and Army planes shelled and bombed islands to the south.

More flattops than America ever before assembled in a single sea operation are sending raiders in continuous waves against Tokyo's airfields and military defenses, tangling in sky battles with the enemy airforce.

The carriers, protected literally by thousands of anti-aircraft guns mounted on battleships, cruisers and destroyers, disgorded swarms of bombing, torpedoing and strafing raiders in the first such naval smash of the war at Japan's capital.

Poses Challenge To Nippon's Fleet

The huge and audacious operations, posing a challenge to Nippon's fleet, strongly suggests major developments.

(There was no word from headquarters of the raid's purpose but it easily could be intended to cover new amphibious landing operations within the inner defense ring of Japan's island outguards).

A Navy communique today, first disclosing the action, said the planes were raiding "in and around Tokyo" while warships shelled Iwo Jima in the Volcano islands and other enemy bases some 700 miles to the south.

Tokyo confirmed the attack, said it began at 7:15 a. m. Tokyo time, reported two hours later it still was continuing and still later that the planes were fanning out in attacks southeast to air bases on the Boso peninsula.

Hellcats Spew Death

"Screaming Hellcats, their heavy multiple machine guns spewing death and destruction in the first American carrier sweep over Tokyo, jarred the Japanese capital shortly after dawn into a day of hysterical terror," reported Al Dopking, Associated Press war correspondent, in a Guam headquarters dispatch.

The Tokyo smash followed by a day a Superfortress blow at Nagoya on the same island. The 21st Bomber command said the force of B-29s possibly was the largest ever to strike at Japan.

Signaling the beginning of the carrier assault on Tokyo, the Japanese radios there went silent at 7 a. m. just as the American flag was being raised over headquarters on Guam.

The overall fleet actions — the Tokyo raids, the Bonin and Volcano shellings — were under the direction of Adm. R. A. Spruance.

Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher commanded the huge task force off Japan.

Mitscher, victor over the Japanese fleet off the Marianas in June, 1944, in the battle of the Philippines Sea, directed an operation

Canadians Pour Across River Near Goch On Edge Of Plain Leading To Vital Nazi Area

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Feb. 15.—The Canadian First Army in a two-mile gain poured troops and tanks today across the last river before the stronghold of Goch, beyond which lies open rolling country leading to Germany's great munitions producing region.

As Canadians and British welded two crossings of the Niers river into a solid five-mile bridgehead, other forces pressing due east 14 miles inside Germany neared Moyland, less than two miles from the communications center of Calcar and 17 miles from Wesel in the northwest corner of the industrial Ruhr.

Ferry Crossing Captured

Canadian and British gained control of 20 miles of the Rhine's south bank east of Nijmegen by entering Hurendeich and capturing a ferry crossing to the textile town of Emmerich, five miles northeast of Kleve.

At the opposite end of the Western front, the U. S. Seventh Army lashed out in a new attack south of the Saar basin that gained up to a mile and a half on a five-mile front.

Comparative quiet lay over the remainder of the front, except for the Eifel mountain sector where U. S. Third Army is attacking the Westwall south of Pruem. This fallen German citadel was under enemy artillery fire.

Third Army Advances

Best Third Army advance of the day was a mile and a half through advanced Westwall positions 25 miles south of Pruem along the Sure river.

A fall of 16 inches on the flooded Roer, where the U. S. First and Ninth, and British Second armies are deployed, indicated that that troublesome barrier on the Cologne plain was returning to normal.

Resistance to Gen. H. D. G. Crerar's Canadian First Army was lightest on the south flank, where Scottish troops captured Kessel, bridged the Niers river and poured armor across four miles northwest of Goch.

Two and a half miles to the southwest, Hommersom, a second village blocking the approaches to Goch, also fell and the attack thus carried across the Niers all the way from Kessel to Gennep at the confluence of the Niers and Maas.

Lines Sag Dangerously

Although the German lines guarding the northern approaches to the Ruhr and Rhineland were sagging dangerously, a front dispatch said the enemy was not yet trying to dig new defenses.

It attributed this surprising lack of preparation to the paralyzing effect of Field Marshal Montgomery's incessant artillery fire, which crushed six strong counter-

Nazis Suffering Extreme Misery

LONDON, Feb. 15. (AP)—That the Nazis now are suffering extreme misery and death was reported officially tonight by the Germans who said that "several millions" of refugees from the east were swarming into the central Reich as the Red Army pushed toward Berlin.

The total number of fleeing Germans is growing hourly with many of the travelers perishing in the wintry winds, the German DNB news agency said.

The Nazi report on the mass exodus from the east stated that the "several millions" figure was reached as long ago as two weeks. That was before Marshal Ivan S. Konev started his rampage from the west banks of the Oder river in Silesia toward the heart of the Reich putting to flight or engulfing hundreds of thousands more Germans.

Many Go On Foot

Those who could ride traveled on anything that had wheels—horse-drawn carts, trucks, buses and railroad freight cars. But for many, it was a forced march by foot through snow and wintry blasts, DNB said, adding that the "marchers" were women, children and the aged. The men were taken into the volkssturm to stay behind and face the Red Army as cannonfodder. Those in the trek had to leave the roads to the wehrmacht which had travel priority to the front or rear.

To keep the marchers on the move Nazi helicopters hovered above to spot and report any traffic jams.

HIGHWAY COST ESTIMATED

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 15. (AP)—Director D. Y. Smith and Chief Engineer Harry B. Henderlite of the State Highway department estimated today that 1945 construction, maintenance and operation of Louisiana highways would cost $17,961,094, of which federal contributions would total $6,633,198.

Heavies Batter Path For Reds

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 15—More than 1,100 American heavy bombers escorted by 450 fighters, carrying the greatest nonstop air attack of the war into its second day, threw their main weight of destruction today against clogged rail yards at Cottbus, only 12 miles in front of the onsweeping Russian Army.

Burning Dresden also was hit again.

Fifteen bombers and six fighters of the Eighth Air force were missing from the Thursday's assault, but some were believed to have landed in friendly territory. It was announced tonight that figures on the Eighth's losses Wednesday, when 1,350 bombers and 900 fighters took part, still were not available.

Vast Rail Web Pounded

Nearly 500 bombers hurled some 1,500 tons of explosives on Cottbus, aiming at a vast rail web in the center of the city, where six main lines converge.

Dresden was attacked for the fourth time since the great air assault began Tuesday night, some 200 more American heavies bringing the total bomb weight unloaded on the Saxon capital to 4,000 tons.

A synthetic oil refinery at Magdeburg, 65 miles southwest of Berlin, was the target for more than 350 bombers making their 12th attack of the war and their second of the week on the plant. The refinery is one of the four synthetic fuel producers believed still to be active in Germany.

It was estimated that 14,000 Allied planes—more than half of them heavy bombers which had

Seven Planes Crash, Eight Fliers Killed

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 15. (AP)—Eight Marine fliers perished and nine were rescued today after seven planes in an ocean flight of 18 crashed along the southern California coast.

Fighting the elements and low on fuel, three of the seven planes lost crashed near a channel island airport. One was a bomber with a three-man crew, and the other two were fighters carrying only pilots. The other deaths occurred when a bomber, trying to locate an inland landing field, went down near Bakersfield.

Meador's Condition Extremely Grave

Condition of W. H. Meador, 77, former Lubbock county tax assessor, was reported as "extremely grave" early today.

The long-time Lubbock resident, who lives at 1631 Main, has been ill for several weeks.

Meador remained in the coma into which he fell early Wednesday morning.

Trio Of Appointees Rejected By Senate

AUSTIN, Feb. 15. (AP) — Three appointees of Governor Coke R. Stevenson were rebuffed today by the Senate which denied confirmation of Neth Leachman of Dallas and R. W. Briggs of San Antonio as members of the board of directors of Texas A. & M. college, and D. Davenport of Mission as a member of the game commission.

The names of Leachman and Briggs had long been before committee and the Senate, evidence that the nominations were controversial.

Leachman and Briggs, both reappointed for six-year terms, were members of the board which was involved in controversy with Dr. T. O. Walton, former A. & M. college president.

One Was Unexpected

The rejection of Davenport generally was unexpected in capitol circles.

The governor is now faced with the necessity of selecting new appointees for the three posts.

Certain other of his nominees were confirmed by the Senate. These included J. W. Pritchett of Austin to the board of water engineers, H. Bayne Satterfield of Austin to be state firemen's pension commissioner and Gilbert Smith of Anson to be a member of the Postwar Economic Planning commission.

H. A. Jamison of Boyd was confirmed as state banking commissioner. He is a nominee of the State Finance commission.

Several Bills Advance

Senate consideration of the nominees — in an executive session of more than two hours — was the highlight of the legislative day. But before adjourning until Monday Senate and House advanced several bills toward enactment.

In less than a half hour the Senate approved legislation raising the pay of non-elective state officials for the remainder of the fiscal year and in about 10 minutes the house doubled the pension of Confederate veterans.

As amended in the Senate the state employes pay raising bill lopped off about $200,000 of increases authorized by the House for employes in state departments and eleemosynary institutions. The bill now goes back to the House for concurrence in amendments. Employes in the lower brackets receive the larger percentage pay increases in both House and Senate Versions of the bill.

Pension Hike Approved

Overwhelming House approval sent to the Senate Rep. Joe Ed Winfree's bill increasing the monthly pensions of Texas' 31 remaining Confederate veterans from $50 to $100 a month. It also increased the pensions of veterans' widows from $30 to $50 a month. The Confederate pension fund has a balance of $3,014,000.

The House also:

Passed a House bill authorizing county commissioners' courts to divide between counties and school districts moneys received from the federal government from the sale of timber on lands acquired for national forests. A last minute amendment permitted counties, if they wish, to assign all of the money to school dis-

Planning Board Recommends Further Civic Center Study

The Lubbock City Planning commission last night passed a resolution highly complimenting and commending sponsors of a civic center in Lubbock and urging the City commission to direct a committee or group of individuals of its own choosing to fully study the idea in all its ramifications.

The planning board also directed City Engineer Arch L. King, jr., to ask the City commission to seek co-operation of Lubbock County commissioners court in securing right-of-way to connect Avenue H and the Brownfield highway via Thirty-fourth street, leading to establishment of a traffic artery of at least 80 feet in width.

Other recommendations to the City commission covered elimination of four "jogs" on Twenty-third street which would make that throughfare connect the farthest west portion of the city with the farthest east point adjacent to the Santa Fe tracks toward Slaton; the straightening of another east-west thoroughfare starting from the Carver Heights negro section on Twenty-fifth street and, at Avenue Q, swinging across a city-owned "lake" to Twenty-sixth and then westward to the farthest point of population; and elimination of a "jog" on Twenty-ninth street at Avenue P, thus making that street a "straight shot" traffic artery from Avenue K westward to College avenue.

Ribble Asks Co-Operation

Mayor Overton Ribble appeared before the planning board and asked members to make recommendations regarding the civic center proposal sponsored by the Lubbock Kiwanis club which, since announcement of the project, has been joined by other civic bodies. After making the request, Mayor Ribble left and

New Farmer Draft Ban Is Proposed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP) — Legislation designed to make "irreplaceable" farm workers draft-proof regardless of how badly the Army may want them was introduced today by Senator Tydings (D-Md).

Farm state legislators have complained that draft boards are taking necessary farm labor on the theory that the need of the armed forces for young men has become paramount, despite Tydings' earlier amendment to the Selective Service law giving them exemption.

Germans Desperately Trying To Save Army

Superforts Take Swat At Nagoya

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP) — Superfortresses from a newly revealed base added weight today to a new strike at Japanese production.

The development pointed up an assertation by Secretary Stimson that the enemy has no safe areas left.

The War department disclosed in a night communique from the 20th Airforce that the new B-29 strike was a daylight blow at the Mitsubishi aircraft factory in Nagoya.

Big Force Participates

A sizeable force of the huge planes participated in the attack, made through an overcast which prevented observation of the results. None of the B-29s was lost to enemy action, the communique said.

The Japanese fighter opposition was moderate and antiaircraft fire only meager, the communique disclosed.

During the day few details on the new raid had been available, except that a large force took part, some flew from a newly established base on Tinian island in the Marianas, and that the target was located on the main Japanese island of Honshu.

Japanese broadcasters, however, were more specific, naming oftenbombed industrial Nagoya as the main objective, saying there were B-29s over other areas, and admitting some damage.

Tinian Wing Announced

A few hours after the bare announcement of the raid, it was revealed at 20th Air force headquarters here that a new wing of its 21st Bomber command, the 313th, is operating from Tinian. Previously the only announced island operating base had been Saipan.

Shortly afterward 21st bomber headquarters on Guam reported that some of today's raiders were from Tinian. That report accompanied early information that the bombardiers had to work through an overcast.

Tinian's field was commissioned last December, it was revealed, and the first B-29s landed there Dec. 21.

Japs Admit Damage

The secretary of war, discussing Superfortress operations at his news conference, said that "the Japanese admit the present damage to their industry and the certainty of much greater damage in the future when they speak of moving airplane factories and other vital plants to Manchuria."

In its announcement of the new Superfortress wing, the 20th Airforce commented that "with the headquarters of the 21st Bomber command established on Guam and the original bases on Saipan in full operation, all three major islands of the Marianas group now become an impressive center of B-29 operations in the Pacific.

Captured Document Shows Plans To Hold Manila Frontally Smashed From 'Back Door'

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Friday, Feb. 16.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur disclosed today that Japan's master plan to make Manila the turning point of the Luzon campaign in Nippon's favor is being smashed by a powerhouse American drive nearing victory in the scarred city and fast overrunning nearby Bataan peninsula.

Today's communique, reporting steady reduction of the enemy pocket in south Manila, new gains on Bataan and withering air attacks on Corregidor, also announced seizure of an enemy document.

Had 20,000 Troops

This document, the general said, made it clear the Japanese had expected to hold Manila with 20,000 troops, street and house fortifications, thousands of mines, elaborate concrete strongpoints and hundreds of heavy guns—all prepared for an attack from the south.

But MacArthur struck from the north and the campaign for Manila is close to American victory, with destruction of the defense system, slaughter of the last ditch defenders and capture of hundreds of cannon.

Of high interest is the swift progress on Bataan where, in a push of only a few days down the east coast, Yanks of the 38th division have advanced four miles below Abucay bay to the eastern bastion of the final American defense line in 1942.

Domei Boast Recalled

MacArthur's revelations of the seized document recalled a Domei news agency broadcast from Tokyo Feb. 8 saying "the Luzon battle is fought for very high stakes."

The communique told of a 112-ton bombing of Corregidor but made no reference to Japanese reports that American minesweepers had forced entry of the bay, followed by bombarding warships and troop-laden transports.

The general said the captured document set forth Japanese expectancy of a major and successful defense of Manila.

"The garrison comprised more than 20,000 men, with hundreds of guns of various calibers, and many thousands of mines based on elaborate system of concrete strong points, pillboxes and street and house fortifications," he declared.

"These were especially fitted in

A UNITED STATES NAVAL BASE IN THE PACIFIC, Feb. 8. (Delayed)—The largest warfleet in history rides at anchor here restlessly awaiting the date already scheduled when for the first time an American sea-borne force will strike at Tokyo in force.

The task force is so large that it is difficult for the mind to grasp this fantastic mixture of large and small fighting ships and all the auxiliary vessels needed to keep them armed, fueled and supplied.

Greatest Ever Known

Of the hundreds of vessels in this area base, scores of them will steam toward Tokyo within a few days in quest of a fight.

That task force will be the greatest ever known to man — greater even than dreamed of a few years ago and it will include the largest and newest American heavy carriers, battleships, light light carriers, jeep carriers, cruisers and destroyers.

It will launch considerably more than 1,200 planes against Japan's main island of Honshu in the first low-level air attack upon tokyo

Cops Shoot Negro Here After Girl Is Accosted Second Time

A trap sprung by a cool-headed girl and two police patrolmen about midnight foiled lewd overtures of a young negro in 1500-block Ave. J.

The negro, Massie Daniels, 21, of Lubbock, was shot by Patrolmen Marlin Brothers and L. N. Bartley as he attempted to evade capture. The bullet entered between the shoulder blades and emerged on the left side of the neck. Hospital attendants termed his condition as "serious."

The girl, a 19-year-old downtown worker until 11:30 p. m., told police that the black approached her first Wednesday night and again last night as she walked home from work. She related that both times he made lascivious suggestions to her. She outran him Wednesday night, she said, and the negro followed, lingering around her house for several minutes.

She called police before she left for home last night. Brothers and Bartley cruised along in their car several blocks behind her.

Brothers told a newsman that the negro tried to flee when he and his partner showed up on the scene. He said they chased the black down, caught him, but the suspect bolted again. He said both he and Bartley shot in an effort to stop him.

Carriers Taking Revenge For Jap Sneak At Pearl Harbor

By ELMOT WAITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Friday, Feb. 16.—Carriers opened the Pacific war.

They were Japanese carriers and their planes dealt the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941.

Today American aircraft carriers are paying back that blow and dealing one several times bigger on Tokyo. Thus the United States fleet has completed the last mile of the 4,000 from Pearl Harbor to Tokyo.

The carrier's westward drive began in January, 1944, when flattop planes supported invasion of the Marshalls in January.

Then as now Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher commanded the flattops and, then as now, he was operating as part of Adm. R. A. Spruance's Fifth Fleet.

In what was regarded as a stroke of breathless daring, carriers blasted the enemy fortress of Truk in the Carolines in mid-February. One hundred and twenty-nine planes were shot down. Only 14 of 35 ships in Truk's lagoon escaped damaged.

Pushing boldly forward into enemy-controlled seas, Mitscher's force attacked the Marianas a few days later, destroying or damaging all enemy aircraft sighted.

Before the end of March, the Spruance-Mitscher team struck the Palau islands, sinking 29 enemy ships. Others fled. Yap, Ulithi and Woleai in the Carolines also were targets.

The American task force then ranged far southward to support

Hearing Set March 7 On Proposal To Move Texas U. Medical School

AUSTIN, Feb. 15. (AP)—Senate joint resolution 12, by Fred Mauritz of Genado, authorizing re-location of the medical branch of the University of Texas now at Galveston, took its first step down a long legislative trail today when a Senate committee set the bill for public hearing at 7:30 p. m. March 7.

The Senate committee on constitutional amendments, recognizing the resolution as the most controversial submitted to date on which the voters are scheduled to have the last say, purposely set the hearing for a night session to accomodate an anticipated large turnout of opponets from the island city.

Site Up To Legislature

Should the amendment clear all legislative hurdles and win public support at the next general election it would permit two-thirds of the legislature in agreement to select another site for the school in a more centrally populated urban area."

The committee also set four other constitutional amendments for public hearing for Feb. 21, including one by Ben Ramsey of San Augustine to abolish the office of constable and by Kyle Vick of Waco providing for a supreme court of nine members and abolishment of the commission of appeals composed of six members.

The other two amendments set for hearing next week include one by Ramsey to provide for the election of a district and a county clerk in counties having a population of 15,000 or more.

By Pat Bullock of Colorado City, providing for the distribution of available school funds on the basis of scholarship attendance instead of scholastic population.

John Tarleton Building

Reported favorably by the committee was an amendment by Buster Brown of Temple, authorizing the legislature to appropriate $75,000 to pay claims incurred by John Tarleton Agricultural college of Stephenville for construction of a building on deficiency warrants authorized by the governor in 1937.

The committee likewise approved Senate joint resolution seven by George Moffett of Chillicothe and Penrose Metcalf of San Angelo and House joint resolution seven by J. E. Winfree of Houston, allowing members of the armed forces to vote without payment of a poll tax during a national emergency or in time of war.

American Airmen In Yugoslavia Rescued

ROME, Feb. 15. (AP)—Mystery radio messages from Yugoslavia which were picked up and solved by RAF wireless operators in Italy have led to the rescue of 250 airmen, mostly Americans, who had bailed out over the Balkans during the German occupation.

The sender, a commercial operator, could not give specific details in his messages for security reason. But he referred to the "fist on the wall." This was found to indicate a squadron emblem painted on the wall of its mess. He also sent the Army APO number of the U. S. 15th Air force.

After the location of the hiding airmen was established beyond doubt, the fliers were rescued from a secret airfield in Yugoslavia.

Couple Of American Girls Are Responsible For Garden-Growing Fad On Saipan Island

By BOB GEIGER
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAIPAN.—A couple of American girls are responsible for a garden-growing fad that is sweeping Saipan island, the American Superfortress station on the road to Tokyo.

These girls aren't named Mary and they aren't quite contrary, the B-29 men say. Nevertheless, their gardens are going quite well, thank you.

"The combination of American sweethearts, back in the states, and a little old-fashioned psychology may give us an adequate supply of fresh garden vegetables," says Lt. Russell L. McNamus of Lake Charles, La., a B-29 intelligence officer.

Need Vegetables Badly

"We need vegtables badly, but you can't go out and tell highly-trained American flyers, assigned to the Japan bombing run, that they have to raise radishes. They probably wouldn't do it.

"So here's what we did. We got a couple of American girls to send us some seeds. We got radishes, corn, beets, and a lot of flower seeds.

"In some places on this island the soil, deeply covering the coral base, is black and rich.

Plants Popped Up

"We planted those first seeds and they grew almost as fast as a B-29 can fly—and that's powerful fast. Radishes popped up almost overnight. Corn the same way. We found you can grow almost everything that you can grow in the states, and about twice as fast.

"My roommate, Lt. Millie Wagstaff of Salina, Kans., and I casually planted the first garden with a few seeds we had brought with us when we first came over. The other boys got curious. We didn't say anything. Soon they were around asking questions.

Sites At A Premium

By that time Mrs. Wagstaff and a couple of girls I knew in the states, Miss Selma Leeburg of Hutchinson, Kans., and Miss Margaret Booth, of Houston, Texas, had sent us some seeds.

"We told the boys about it. They thought that was pretty swell. They suggested to their sweehearts that they send them seeds.

"Well, sir, soon the good garden spots were at a premium. There was a land rush that must have been as bad as the gold rush of the 49ers.

"Everybody wanted to plant a garden and now it's beginning to look like we really are going to eat food with plenty of vitamins and stuff."

Freed From Japs, Texas Man Hopes Small Son Alive

SANTO TOMAS CAMP, Manila, Feb. 14. (Delayed) (AP)—John Lapham, member of a prominent Texas oil family, hopes now for the return of his six-year-old son, Jackie.

Lapham, whose home is at San Antonio, was freed with his wife and daughter, Elizabeth, nine, when American troops reached Santo Tomas.

The son is somewhere in the battle-torn city of Manila—Lapham hopes, still alive.

Lapham and his family slipped out of Manila late in 1942 ahead of the Japanese invaders and joined American troops on Bataan. With the fall of Bataan, where they had lived on scanty food, they were brought to Santo Tomas camp.

They gradually recovered the strength they had lost under the rigors of the Bataan experience. Lapham, one of Manila's outstanding polo players, returned to athletics. He played outfielder on a camp baseball team.

Then, after the Japanese stopped outside food sources, he lost 45 pounds in a month. He became sick and was confined to bed until just a few days ago. His wife and daughter managed to keep fairly well.

The son was sent from the camp more than a year ago, ill with dysentery. He was taken to board at the home of a Manila physician. The home is in the present battle zone.

A week ago a message, the last, said the boy was well. "All we can do now is hope," said Lapham.

Anti-Discrimination Bill Is Introduced

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (AP) — An Anti-discrimination bill showed up in Congress today as the aftermath of Marilyn Kaemmerle's editorial in a college of William and Mary campus paper, The Flat Hat.

Senator Langer (R-ND) introduced a measure which would deny federal funds to any college or university which discriminates in any way against any person because of "race, color or creed" or because of his views on racial matters.

Langer said it was the outgrowth of the controversy over Miss Kaemmerle's editorial which he said disposed of "white supremacy nonsense."

LAAF Sets Fete For Club Boys

Plans have been completed for the visit Saturday of a group of outstanding Lubbock County 4-H club boys to Lubbock Army Air field acting as hosts to the young farmers in recognition of their outstanding food production records for the past year.

Thirty-eight members of the Lubbock County 4-H Club organization are to be honored by the visit to LAAF. However, all of the group will not be present since several of the young men have entered the armed force during the past few weeks. The parents of those who have entered the service have been invited to visit the field with the group. The mothers of those boys still here also have been extended an invitation to attend the day's session.

Visit Parts Of Field

The group will visit various parts of the field and will be given an opportunity not only to see how the big AAF Instructors School for Instrument pilots is operating but how the food they produce is helping keep the soldiers at their posts.

At noon the guests will sample GI food at the consolidated mess and will meet in the Service club for a brief recognition service. The tour of the field will include visits to the station hospital, the officers club, some of the hangars on the line, the chemical warfare display, link trainers and other places of interest.

In Charge Of Gordon

The group will be incharge of J. O. Gordon, county agricultural agent, and M. W. Ayers, assistant. Guides for the group will be Capt. Rupert G. Treadaway, intelligence officer at LAAF, and members of the public relations office at the field. Capt. Treadaway is a former Texas state 4-H club champion in livestock judging.

In addition to the parents of the visiting 4-H Club boys who are invited, to the day's session, the group will also include various chairmen of the agricultural committees of Lubbock's civic clubs.

Good Production

Seven of the club members have produced enough food during 1944 to equal the annual food used by five soldiers and each of the other 4-H club boys have raised enough food for one soldier for a year.

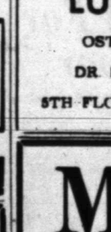

The seven big food producers among the group include Edwin Powe of Shallowater, Bill Tanner of Idalou, Berry Thomas of Shallowater, Bruce Gentry and James Utley of New Deal, Kenneth Miller of Roosevelt and Horace Durham of Frenship. These and the other members of the 4-H Clubs in Lubbock county have produced all kinds of food stuffs including vegetables and meats.

Allied Advances Cut Nazi Output Of Motor Fuels By 80 Per Cent

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Paris, Feb. 15.—The loss of refineries to Allied advances from the east and west, combined with air blows, has cut German motor fuel production by 80 per cent to 103,000 tons a month — hardly enough to keep an average size froce in operation — it was annouced officially today.

The Russians in the east and Gen. Eisenhower's armies in the west have overrun 36 of Germany's 81 major refineries and synthetic oil plants, which once turned out more than 500,000 tons of motor fuel a month, said a joint statement of the U. S. Strategic Air forces in Europe and the British Air ministry.

Plants Are Selected

When the air forces launched an all-out attack on German oil production last April, the high command selected 58 refineries and 23 synthetic oil plants as major producers of fuel and lubricants for the German armed forces and marked them for destruction.

Since last April, 52 of the refineries and 22 of the synthetic oil plants have been attacked a total of 450 times by heavy bombers of the U. S. Eighth Air force from Britain and the Fifteenth Air force from Italy.

Now, with the advance of the Red Army and the Allies from the west only 45 of these major plants still are in enemy hands.

Because of constant "policing" by heavy bombers, only four synthetic oil plants and possibly only one of the refineries still are operating.

Here Are Locations

The synthetic plants are at Bohlen, Ruhland, Magdeburg and the big Leuna plant at Merseburg.

The U. S. Strategic Air forces in Europe originally figured it would take six months to carry out a decisive program of destruction against German oil production.

It failed to achieve that goal because it underestimated the enemy's ability to repair plants—an ability now greatly diminished by a lack of supplies and manpower and a reduction in the production of equipment.

Truman Pledges His Aid To CIO Leaders On Wages Ceiling

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (U.P.)—Vice President Harry S. Truman told about 50 CIO leaders from Michigan and Indiana today that he would ask Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson to hear their complaints against the Little Steel wage ceiling formula.

He told them he already had talked with Vinson and Chairman William H. Davis of the War Labor board about adjustments to keep wages in line with living costs.

The CIO leaders called at Truman's office to ask him to help them break the Little Steel formula.

"There's not much that I can do for you," he said, "since I have been taken out of the Senate and put in a neutral job—a job I didn't ask for."

Truman said he sympathized with labor's desire that wages be kept in line with living costs, but "we must hold the line against inflation." He said, however, that he thought wage adjustments could be made while holding the line.

Canned Grapefruit Shortage Forecast

WESLACO, Tex., Feb. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Housewife will have to adjust her menus to do with much less Texas canned grapefruit this year, it appeared today.

Rio Grande valley canneries have turned out about 5,000,000 cases of canned grapefruit juice thus far, estimates Secretary J. Overby Smith of the Texas Canners association. This is 2,500,000 cases short of last year's production.

The government already has ordered set aside for use by the armed forces, lend lease and other agencies 43 per cent of the 1943-44 pack, or 3,225,000 cases, this season. From the current pack that would leave 1,775,000 cases for domestic sale, far less than the civilian supply of last year.

Some canning plants are closing down, the owners saying they can not buy fruit at the government-set price of $25 per ton to growers in competition with offers of $30 and upward from fresh fruit buyers.

Poles To Resist Big Three Plans

LONDON, Feb. 15. (U.P.)—Prime Minister Tomas Arciszewski of the Polish government-in-exile bitterly denounced the Russian "occupation" of Poland today and announced that his government "will never surrender" to the partitioning decision of the Big Three.

The white-bearded former revolutionary told a press conference that his government had no faith in Soviet Premier Stalin's words about democracy and accused the Russians of starving and looting the Polish people.

No Right To Quit

Arciszewski declared that the exiled government has no intention of resigning in compliance with the Big Three decision and has no right to do so without instructions from the people of Poland.

Any resignation at this time would be under "foreign pressure" and legally impossible, he said.

The Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin decision to partition Poland and establish a new coalition government was a great blow to Poland, he added, asserting that it violated all the desires of the Polish people.

"We will never surrender to slavery and the new partition made by our Allies," he said.

Wants Freindship

Arciszewski wound up his hour-long press conference, however, with the statement that his government wants the friendship of Russia.

Meanwhile other Polish leaders as well as members of the Yugoslav royal government in London were moving rapidly to form coalition governments in line with the recommendations laid down by the Big Three at Yalta.

Herman, Only A Bedraggled Pigeon From New Caledonia, But His Record Made Files

By HAMILTON W. FARON
Associated Press Staff Writer

ABOARD A U. S. BATTLESHIP AT SEA.—Herman is gone. He died recently far from his home in New Caledonia where he "joined up" with the crew of his United States battleship.

But he still is prominent in the memories of all officers and men on this big warship and the record of Herman's activities is carried semi-officially in the files.

Quarters Built For Him

Herman came aboard with sailors returning from shore leave in New Caledonia more than two years ago.

He was a bedraggled pigeon, But he was cleaned up and quarters were built for him on a 16-inch gun turret. That was his battle station when the big guns went into action. At other times, he had the freedom of the ship.

Herman, before coming aboard, had suffered injuries to his flight mechanism. He made short flights about the ship but never quite qualified for flight pay despite his officially recorded recognition as a "dive bombing squadron."

Made Repeated Attacks

The dive bombing assignment became Herman's as a result of an episode at a formal captain's inspection. Herman was making a short flight, the record shows that he became unduly interested in the supply officer's hat — made repeated attacks.

A formal inquiry built Herman's file to huge proportions. Many officers and men joined in officials letters supporting or condemning his attacks. During the inquiry, the ship's doctor offered the suggestion that Penelope would have been a better name. That didn't appeal to the officers and men. Herman continued to be Herman.

He finally was cleared of all blame. With the exoneration came restoration of his semi-official rating of STP 1/c (stool pigeon, first class) as well as the assignment to dive bombing.

Herman couldn't get far with the latter job. In fact, recalls one of the higher ranking officers aboard, Herman ran into severe difficulties on one of his most pretentious flights. He soared out from the deck while the ship was in dry dock.

"Herman lost altitude pretty fast," recalls Commander W. G. Hammond, the executive officer. "He circled but couldn't turn up enough power. He went down and down, until he'd reached the bottom of the drydock where he tried time after time but couldn't take-off again.

"Finally I had to order out a working party to go down and rescue him. He stayed on deck after that."

Maybe it was the exertion of this unsuccessful flight, maybe it was just age. Herman died a few days later.

Charges against two other officers were dismissed for lack of evidence.

Grants Are Made To TSCW Mexican School

DENTON, Feb. 15. (AP)—Grants totaling $2,250 to aid the Texas State College for Women summer school of Spanish, held annually at Saltillo, Mexico, have been allocated the college by the department of state, Washington, President L. H. Hubbard said today.

Benefitting will be the English center and English-language library established in Saltillo for year-round use of its residents, the inter-American workshop for teachers of Spanish, the home economics program, and the health and physical education program which is to be expanded this year.

The fifth annual session opens July 19 and runs through August 29. It has a TSCW and Mexican staff.

Massive sea walls now protect Galveston, Tex., from a recurrence of the 1900 hurricane's tidal-wave.

Retired General To Head Airline

FORT WORTH, Feb. 15. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Delmar H. Dunton, AAF retired, who entered the service in 1917 and saw his first duty as an instructor at Everman field, Fort Worth, during World war I, will be general manager of the Lone Star Airways if that proposed local air carrier is certificated by the Civil Aeronautics board.

That was the testimony today of T. A. Lambert of San Antonio, Lone Star president, as he and other witnesses testified in behalf of the system at the CAB's Texas-Oklahoma air carrier hearing at Hotel Texas.

General Dunton, formerly commanding general of the Air Service command, was retired in March for physical disability. He was scheduled to testify but is ill of pneumonia at a San Antonio hospital and was unable to attend the hearing.

Braniff Not To Control

Lambert, president of the San Antonio drug company, specified that although Braniff Airways is owner of 25 percent of the Lone Star stock, Braniff would not control the company. "It is Lone Star's intent to keep control of the company in San Antonio and the city's trade territory," he emphasized.

Also presented today were the applications of three other proposed feeder air lines, Union Bus Lines, San Antonio; Jack Neal and Son, San Antonio, and Hannaford Air Lines, Illinois.

Testimony in the Union Bus case disclosed that Joe Amberson, San Antonio, the owner, is selling the company's bus equipment to Guy L. Mann, attorney, and L. R. Mabry, realtor, both of Dallas, for $500,000. He is leasing his operations certificate to them for a ten-year- period and will realize approximately $120,000 a year from it. The railroad commission will rule on the change next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Operates Out Of Valley

Amberson would operate his airline in the Rio Grande valley from El Paso to Brownsville, and north from Brownsville to Fort Worth, Dallas, Wichita Falls, Amarillo and Breckenridge.

Jack Neal and Son would operate in South and West Texas, covering 3,203 route miles and serving 72 towns, 61 of which are now without air carrier service.

Hannaford would operate a system covering Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, Temple, Austin, San Antonio, Houston, Galveston and Bryan, paralleling in the most part an existing Braniff route.

Trial Examiner Thomas L. Wrenn tomorrow will hear the applications of Houston Airways, the fifth and last of the local systems Braniff sponsored in organization, and that of Bowen Airways, proposed by R. C. Bowen, veteran Texas bus operator who disposed of his ground carrier system last year.

Long-Sought Way To Give Penicillin By Mouth Is Found

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. — Discovery of a method to make penicillin pills, to replace the injection by needle, was announced today by the Lederle laboratories of the American Cyanamid company.

Pills to be taken by mouth have been one of the main medical goals in penicillin treatment. Until now it has been impossible to do this because the gastric juices in the stomach destroyed most of the penicillin.

Raymond L. Libby, of the Cyanamid Research laboratories at Stamford, Conn., solved this trouble by placing penicillin in a double-deck capsule. The outside covering is gelatin, which is dissolved in the stomach. The inside cover is cottonseed oil, which is little affected by stomach juices.

The oil carries the drug to the small intestine, where it is absorbed into the blood, the place where penicillin has to be to do any good. Experiments with peanut and corn oil indicated that probably any vegetable oil is good for the inside coating.

Changes Made In Drilling Regulations For Texas Counties

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (AP)—The Petroleum Administration today changed regulations for natural gas well drilling and development operations in several Texas counties.

In the counties named, material for drilling to a depth of 1,500 feet may be used on units of 80 acres; to 3,500 feet on units of 160 acres; and to 5,500 feet on units of 320 acres.

Previously, wells had required 640 acres, regardless of depths. Now 640 acres is required only for wells deeper than 3,500 feet.

Counties named in the new authorization are Archer, Baylor, Brown, Callahan, Clay, Coleman, Comanche, Cooke, Coryell, Eastland, Erath, Fisher, Foard, Hamilton, Hardeman, Haskell, Hood, Jack, Jones, Knox, Lampasas, Mills, Montague, Nolan, Palo Pinto, Parker, San Saba, Shackelford, Somervell, Stephens, Stonewall, Taylor, Throckmorton, Wichita, Wilbarger, Wise and Young.

Railroads are operating many more Diesel locomotives, and on heavier schedules, than in prewar days. As a consequence, the railroads now rank second to household consumers on the list of fuel oil customers.

Japs Losing Rapidly As Chinese Start To Conscript Half Million

By SPENCER MOOSA
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHUNGKING, Feb. 15—Japan's once-powerful position on the mainland is deteriorating rapidly, the U. S. commander in China declared today as plans were announced for conscripting 500,000 Chinese for an all-out offensive in concert with coming American landings on the coast.

"Japan's over-all position is unfavorable," declared Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of American forces in the China theater, in one of the most optimistic statements yet made on the war in the East.

Conscription Plans

Gen. Lu Chung-Liu, conscription minister, announced that a half million new men would be drafted before the end of March "to meet the demand for the all-out Chinese counteroffensive in conjunction with the coming landing of American forces on the China coast."

Wedemeyer said the Japanese had lost considerable shipping, and now American air power was planted in the Philippines, where it could further restrict the flow of raw materials to the enemy's war factories. At the same time, he said, bombs are falling on Japan proper.

Wedemeyer declared the first consideration was that the defense of the supply terminal at Kunming, which lies on the Burma road and is a depot for supplies flown over the hump from India.

"Splendidly equipped" Chinese troops were moved in immediately, he said, and "we are now confident we can defend that area."

Wedemeyer described Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, China's chief of staff and commander of new field headquarters at Kunming, as "the Gen. Eisenhower of this theater."

Supplies in increased amounts are now reaching Kunming since the opening of the Stilwell or Ledo road, enabling the Chinese to expand training facilities for their troops and to prepare for the offensive.

A motor school has been established in China, and consequently it no longer is necessary to fly Chinese to India for training as drivers and mechanics.

Higher Price Supports Set On Vegetables

DALLAS, Feb. 15. (U.P.)—Increased military needs were credited today with increased price supports and higher production goals for four major processing vegetables announced by the War Food administration.

Frank W. Underwood, district WFA representative, announced that the new prices are higher than the proposed "supports" announced last fall for 1945.

On a per ton basis at a national average, the prices were announced as $83.50 for green peas, $18 for sweet corn, $25.25 for tomatoes and $85 for snap beans, Underwood said.

Products sold on the open market will not receive the price supports, he said.

Ground peanut hulls are being used to manufacture a new cork substitute.

CROSBYTON, Feb. 15. (Special)—Perry E. Holleyman, 54, retired Crosby county farmer who in recent months has been custodian at the Baptist church here, died last night in St. Mary's hospital at Lubbock after suffering a stroke here earlier in the day.

Holleyman farmed in this county for a number of years before moving to town several month sago.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Baptist church here, with Rev. T. M. Gillham, pastor, officiating, under direction of Marr Funeral home. Burial will be here.

Survivors include the widow, Edna; one son, Pfc. John E. Holleyman who is stationed in England; four daughters, Mrs. Raymond Williams of Camden, Ark., Mrs. Lee Porter of Childress, and Lillie Belle and Redell of Crosbyton; his mother, Mrs. D. M. Baltic Nations Seek Knowledge Of Fate

BALTIMORE, Feb. 15. (AP)—The Lithuanian National council now meeting in Washington will ask a clarification in regard to Lithuania and other Baltic countries of the Big Three's Crimea declaration, William Laukaitis of Baltimore said today.

Laukaitis, supreme president of the Lithuanian Alliance of America, said the inquiry would be made of the State department because the Crimea statement by the president, Churchill and Stalin was silent with regard to the Baltic nations.

That part of the declaration relating to democratic self-determination as set forth in the Atlantic charter might afford some hope to Lithuanians who cherish their country's independence, Laukaitis continued.

The Washington meeting coincides with the observance of Lithuanian independence day tomorrow.

War Against Varmints To Start After V-Day

MERCEDES, Tex., Feb. 15. (AP)—To stay alive, predatory varmints will have to duck—quick—when the war is over, predicts D. D. Green, chief of the division of predatory animal and rodent control of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service.

All sorts of poisons are being cooked up experimentally as sort of secret weapons of warfare.

When the war is over and ingredients are plentiful, these will make nice lethal dishes to be served up to the predators, said Green while touring the Rio Grande valley to check the extermination program under way in the area against coyotes, bobcats, rats and other troublesome rodents.

Plea Of Not Guilty Entered By Convict

SEMINOLE, Okla., Feb. 15. (U.P.)—Harlen Broyles, 31 year old escaped Missouri convict, pleaded not guilty today at arraignment in justice of peace court on charges of murdering Deputy Sheriff Eric Nicholson, Jan. 10.

The suspect, arrested two weeks ago at Waco, Tex., after wounding a policeman there, waived preliminary hearing. County Attorney Bill Biggers said Broyles' trial would be held in superior court here probably late in March.

However, George Hill, McAlester, attorney for Broyles, said he probably would ask a change of venue because of strong feeling against the suspect in Seminole county.

After the arraignment before peace justice Fred Statham, Broyles was returned to the McAlester penitentiary for safekeeping.

First Infantry Division's New Commander Is Former Artilleryman Maj.-Gen. Andrus

By HAL BOLYE
Associated Press Staff Writer

IN GERMANY — The famous First Infantry division's new commander is a pipe-smoking, coffee-drinking, chess-playing former artilleryman with one chief battle fetish—complete cooperation between doughboys and the men who back them up with the big guns.

Kansas-born Maj. Gen. Clift Andrus is the third man to lead the "Red One" division since it landed in North Africa in the fall of 1942. He knows the value of infantry and artillery teamwork. Before becoming division commander he served as the division's artillery general in all of its World war two campaigns — in Tunisia, Sicily, France, Belgium and Germany.

Was At Pearl Harbor

At 54 he is perhaps the army's most experienced artilleryman and some military critics have rated his first division artillery the finest under the American flag. He commanded the 24th division artillery at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese attacked. His unit was the first to roll. Within 35 minutes after the first bomb dropped, his artillery was emplaced ready to defend the beaches.

Andrus is friendly and approachable—the kind of an officer an enlisted man can talk to without self-consciousness. He is a man of average height with graying, sandy hair, gray eyes and a small moustache—a "Mister Chips" in uniform.

Gave Coat To Soldier

Every man long in the first division is familiar with Andrus and his jeep which he rides daily about the frontline positions.

"Once in Africa he took off his raincoat and gave it to a soldier who needed one badly," said Pfc. Lawrence Herman, 23, of Allentown, a military policeman who helps guard the division command post, adding:

"It was raining like hell that day, too. But I bet you the general doesn't even remember giving him the coat. He's that kind of a guy. I don't know anyone that doesn't like him."

Keeps Farmer's Hours

Andrus keeps a farmer's hours, getting up with the sun. He likes to chat, likes to work, keeps his pipe lit almost constantly, and drinks at least a dozen cups of coffee a day. When he thinks he has been smoking too much he slows up by "rolling his own." He smokes 10-cent pipe tobacco. His military beliefs are simple and direct:

1. That the only way to whip the Germans is to sock them hard, get them on the run and never allow them time to rest, or dig in.

Doughboy Better Man

2. That the American doughboy is a better man and a better fighter than the German infantryman.

3. That you use less ammunition in the long run and kill more Germans by massed artillery fire when suitable targets are available.

No division has had greater success with mobile masses of artillery than the first infantry under Andrus. Typical was the speed with which his gunners broke up a German counterattack northeast of Aachen. The Nazis struck by night, trying for a surprise, but exactly six minutes after they were sighted Andrus' artillery was plastering them with 96 guns—eight full battalions. The counterattack broke up immediately.

Andrus has had phenomenal success with the 105 mm. guns but his favorite field piece is the new 155 mm. howitzer because it can "plunk them into a rain barrel."

When his battlefield worries are over for the day, the general likes to read his much-thumbed copy of Mark Twain or a current periodical. He also relaxes by working crossword puzzles or playing solitaire cribbage and chess. He is a crack cribbage player.

His favorite chess opponent is his aide, Lt. Robert C. Rush, jr., Harvard graduate of New York City.

"That's because I usually can beat him," smiled Rush.

The general doesn't enjoy a game unless the competition is tough.

Labor To Fight Anti Legislation

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 15 (AP) — A tough fight against anti-labor legislation was promised last night by American Federation of Labor President William Green, who said it was being pressed by the Christian American association.

In a press conference following a report to the executive council here by AFL counsel Joseph A. Padway, Green said this type legislation is being challenged by the AFL in Florida, Alabama, Texas, Colorado and Arkansas.

Green said he understood Senator W. Lee O'Daniel (D-Tex) is "the prime leader" in the association, with headquarters at Houston.

O'Daniel Denies Connection

O'Daniel in Washington denied having any connection with the Christian American association, but said that the organization has sponsored in several states "my anti-strike violence bill which was passed in Texas while I was governor there."

At Houston, Vance Muse, secretary-treasurer of the Christion American association, said the association was organized "to combat radicalism in any form." He said it is seeking an amendment to the national constitution "providing the right to work," as its ultimate goal.

Muse explained the organization means "by the right to work" as the right to work without having to join a union to obtain employment.

Five Bataan Veterans In Hiding 3 Years

WITH 40TH DIVISION, Luzon, Feb. 15. (U.P.)—Five veterans of Bataan, who hid from the Japanese in Luzon's mountains for three years, have been liberated by the 40th division.

The men joined Filipino guerillas after they escaped from the Japanese following the fall of Bataan and sometimes existed on monkey meat and bats.

Sgt. William E. Gately, Greenbrier, Ark., and Sgt. Bernice R. Fletcher, Leo, Tex., escaped from a Japanese prison camp. Gately became the leader of 1,500 guerillas.

AUSTIN, Feb. 15. (AP)—A Senate committee, accustomed to seeing all appropriation funds used up to the last cent, was recovering from a mild shock today.

The jolt came when Weaver Moore of Houston, sponsoring a bill to extend compensation coverage for another two years on claims incurred through operation of the Texas State guard, told committeemen that out of a $50,000 appropriation made by the 48th legislature, less than $3,500 had been expended.

Members, still dazed by the Houston solon's recitation of figures, recovered long enough to give quick approval to the bill.

Red Raiders Win Again, 49 To 32

Texas Tech's smooth working Red Raiders made it two in a row last night at the Tech gym, sweeping the series with Texas School of Mines of El Paso by romping to a 49-32 win in the finale.

The story was much the same as the night before, with the Red Raiders breaking away to a quick lead, and were never headed off by the visitors, and never pushed after the first few minutes of play.

Grab Quick Lead

The Red Raiders scored twice before the Miners broke into the scoring column, and built up the lead from there on out. The Red Raiders held the lead at a margin of from eight to twelve points throughout the first half, and ended the session with a 28-19 advantage.

Jay Kerr, the Odessa sharpshooter, was the lad that set the pace for the Red Raiders for the second straight night, and looped in 14 points in this first half, half of the Tech total. Kerr equaled his game high of the series opener in the first half.

The Red Raiders came back on the floor after the intermission, and settled down to work. While holding the Miners to three field goals for the last half, Ernest Hawkins and Jiggs Jackson set the pace in the last half as the Red Raiders pulled away.

Reserves Take Over

The reserves took over late in the ball game, and finished up the route. While the Miners picked up a little of the slack against the second stringers, the 20 point advantage left the Kids by the Red Raider starters was too much difference in the clubs.

Hawkins finished second to Kerr in the Red Raider scoring looping in nine points, while Don Grove celebrated his return to the lineup by tipping in eight more points.

Abrams again was the lead of the Miners, getting 11 points, while Baca was close behind with eight points.

With Don Grove or Gene Hardey controling the play off the backboards, the Red Raiders were never in any danger with the first stringers in the lineup, and the defensive play of both of these boys went a long way in the success of the Red Raiders.

Wichita Falls Five Plays Here Saturday

The Lubbock Boys club cage five will seek to even the score with the high scoring Wichita Falls Boys club here Saturday afternoon, playing the Wichitans a twin bill at 3 o'clock on the Boys club court.

The Wichitans nosed out the Lubbock lads on a visit to the Wichita county club last Saturday, and the local lads hope to even the count this week.

The Boys club here has won eight out of ten games this season, losing one game to Idalou, and the other to Wichita Falls. The club later evened the score with Idalou, and will be shooting the works to do the same with Wichita Falls this week.

The Boys club five was picked from the league play held earlier in the season, with the first stringers being Hubert McQuire, captain, Johnny Lawson, Jimmy Clark, Benny Gunn, Ralph Seay and Jerry LaMond.

The Boys club B team has not had the success of the first stringers, and have won only three out of nine games this season.

The B team members are Bobby Snodgrass, Wendell Conditt, Bob Swain, Earl Johnson, James Johnson, Bobby Baker, John McQuire, Jack Smith and Denny Davidson.

Favorites Win In Ropes Meet

ROPESVILLE, Feb. 15. (Special) Both tournament favorites that were in action on the opening night of the district 9-B cage tournament here, turned in easy wins as the tournament moved into the second day of play in the three day double elimination meet.

With Delbert Timmons looping in 11 points to set the pace, New Home romped over Wellman, 26-5, in the opener. In the second game, Barnes poured 18 points through the meshes to lead Meadow to a 50-18 victory over Union. Hill paced the losers with six points.

Play will be resumed Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with New Home playing the Plains five in the opener. The feature battle of the day will then pair Ropesville with the high scoring Meadow five in the first meeting of the three favorites during the tournament.

Friday night, Wellman and Union, losers of tonight's games will play. The finals will be played off Saturday.

Good Marks Set In Track Show Opener

Captain Jim Lowrey's Golds took the early lead in the two day practice track meet at Chapman field, with some very good feats being turned in at the opening track session of the year. The Golds piled up 39 points to 29 for Captain N. W. Elston's Blacks.

G. W. Hensley kept the Golds squad in the fight with the days most sensational individual feats, copping two first places for the Blacks, and running a leg of the winning 440 yard relay team.

Two exceptional feats of the day featured Lowrey and Hensley, with Lowrey stepping off the half mile run in 2 minutes, 7.1 seconds, a much better time than turned in by Lowrey at any time last season when he was the most sensational half-miler on the South Plains.

Hensley turned in a leap of 20 feet, 5 inches, a very good showing for this early in the season. This leap copped the broad jump event, and his other first place came as he stepped the high hurdles in 18.8 seconds.

Elston brought another first place to the Blacks with 24.5 second sprint that took the 220 yard dash. Charles Funk of the Golds took the shot put with a heave of 35 feet, 10 inches.

The opening day relays were divided, with Rhea Bradley, Tommy Vallas, G. W. Hensley and Jack McClelland winning the 440 yard relay for the Blacks. Jim Lowrey, Bishop Wadsworth, Tennon Stroud, and Charles Funk copped the half mile relay for the Golds. The time in the 440 yard relay was 47.2 seconds, and in the 880 yard relay was 1:41.5.

The remaining seven events are scheduled to be run off this afternoon.

County Tourney Favorites Win

First round play in the Lubbock county-district basketball tournament, which started last night at the Cooper High school gym, found the opening four games on the card going according to the "dope sheet" as favorites won their first tests.

The Cooper girls won a close battle over the Roosevelt girls in the opener, 20-15, in a battle that found the favored Cooper girls hard pressed at times. Webb flicked in 15 points for Cooper, to top scoring honors, but the sensation of the game was McAlister of Roosevelt, who scored 14 of her team's 15 points.

In the second girls game of the county tournament, Idalou had less trouble in winning, beating the Shallowater girls, 24-7. Sawyer paced the winners with 11 points, while Weber was high for the losers with four points.

In the boys district tournament, the favored Idalou Wildcats romped to a 27-9 victory over Roosevelt. Bishop and Isom of Idalou tied for scoring honors with six each, while Leach flipped in five points to pace the losers.

The New Deal boys were never pressed, as they romped to a 29-10 win over Frenship in the remaining boys game on the card. Hall paced the winners, flipping in nine points, while Crump scored four points to pace the losers.

Play will be resumed this afternoon at 2 o'clock with two more first round games on the afternoon slate. The opener will bring together the New Deal and Frenship girls, with New Deal a top flight favorite.

The feature of the afternoon will find the Cooper and Shallowater boys tangling at 3 o'clock in a clash of two top favorites. A busy card for Friday will lead up to the payoff battles on Saturday night.

Shallowater Cagers In Favorites Role

With three wins in three starts over the fast stepping Abernathy Antelopes, the Shallowater High school basketball team enters the district tournament at Cooper this weekend as the decided favorite.

A six-foot plus starting lineup, a fast breaking, hustling offense, and a good defense all combine to give Shallowater its best team in recent years.

Adding two first stringers to the lineup at mid-term, the boys in blue are perhaps the best high school team on the South Plains.

The starting lineup of Dean Galey and Abie Reed at guards, Olan Murphy at center, Kenneth Lindsey and Bill Evans at forwards provide a polished team for fans of this area to admire.

The high scoring Mustangs boasts of no individual star. Every boy is capable of scoring 20 points a game, and all are good defensively. Murphy's backboard work, and Lindsey's floor game border on the sensational. With Glenn Johnson ready to step into the shoes of any of the starters, Coach Hack Galey is assured of a good lineup.

Golfers Tune Up At Gulfport For Tourney

GULFPORT, Miss., Feb. 15. (AP) —Golf's touring professionals declared "open season" on par on the Great Southern Country club course here today in a pro-amateur warmup round to the $5,000 Gulfport Open starting tomorrow.

Thirteen of the link's money men bettered the course's par 71 and three others tied it.

Bruce Caltart, Absecon, N. J., shot the best round of the day, scoring even par-35 going out and 4-under par 36 on the back nine for a 4-under par 67 for the round.

A surprise entry in the open tournament, Sgt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Little Rock, Ark., and Mobile, Ala., turned in a 3-under par 68 today in his first competition golf since he won the $10,000 Miami Open last December.

Other 68's were made by Claude Harmon, Groose Point, Mich., Mike Turnesa and Slammin' Sammy Snead, Hot Springs, Va.

Former Champions Turn Out Wins In Golden Glove Show

FORT WORTH, Feb. 15. (AP)—Two former champions ripped through for victories here tonight to highlight the Texas Golden Gloves tournament and to mark themselves as favorites to represent the Lone Star state again in the Tournament of Champions at Chicago.

In the first state fight of the night Shirley Gaudet of Beaumont, last year's flyweight champion, sent Don Johnson of Brownwood down for the count early in the first round. Gaudet made a quick kill and looked very good in doing the job.

Attra Hard Pressed

Tom Attra, San Antonio, three time state champion and once a winner at Chicago, decisioned Sammy Grounds of Camp Hood in three rounds but Tom found the going rough, especially in the third round. The Alamo City lightheavy-weight took the first two rounds going away, but the Camp Hood soldier gave the crowd of 2,371 paid customers one of their biggest thrills of the evening by taking the third round.

The top fight of the night from an action standpoint was the fight between Middleweight Billy Grombacher, Camp Swift and San Antonio, and Mike Katzman of Harlingen AAF. The San Antonio fighter, touted as one of the best in the tournament, displayed a world of class and won the bout, but Katzman was rough all of the way.

Fort Worth Breaks Even

Fort Worth fighters broke even for the night. Pvt. Leoard Dixon fought a great fight to win over Henry Flores of San Antonio in a bantamweight fight. Flores, who looked classy in winning his Wednesday night fight by a kayo, took a beating from the right hand of the Fort Worth Army Air Field boy.

James Cooper, of TCU, winner in his opening fight Wednesday and rated as one of the best lightheavies in the tournament, defaulted to Clin Goodwin of Comp Wolters. Jesse Longoria, lightweight, Fort Worth's other representative left in the tournament, drew a bye.

Donald Fdye, a tall, skinny lad from Houston, put on a great show in whipping Pvt. Steve Braxton of Camp Wolters.

The biggest surprise came in the lightweight battle between J. W. Blenkenship of Beaumont and Corp. Peter Gaglio of Eagle Pass AAF, and San Antonio. Gaglio apparently had the match in his back pocket at the end of the second, but lightning in the form of a mule-kicking right hand dealt out by Blankenship sent Gaglio to the canvas twice and the last time he stayed there.

LUBBOCK FIGHTS TONIGHT

Coach Dell Morgan of Texas Tech will send the Lubbock Golden Gloves champions into action tonight at the state tournament at Fort Worth, with all eight of the local winners scheduled to enter the ring in the third night's show at Fort Worth. Jackie Driver and Oscar Duron battle Amarillo boys, Willie McCarty fights Sheppard Field, Dwayne Vaughn fights Waco, Lonnie Balch fights Abilene, Ralph White fights Corpus Christi, Albert Haag meets the El Paso boy, and Hardy Sorkin fights the Camp Howze winner.

Referee Charged With "Deliberate Steal"

OAKLAND, Calif., Feb. 15 (U.P.) —Referee Billy Burke today was charged with a "deliberate steal" in awarding a decision to Chet Slider, 147-pound Fresno, Calif., negro, in his fight last night with Henry Armstrong, 141, the former triple champion.

The accusation was made by George Moore, Armstrong's manager, who asserted he would take the case to the California Boxing commission. If he fails to get action there, Moore said, he will go direct to Gov. Earl Warren.

"I claim Burke made a deliberate steal of that fight," Moore told reporters. "I'll admit that Armstrong got the benefit of the doubt in a previous fight with Slider, which was called a draw. But two wrongs don't make a right and we'll take this to the highest authorities for investigation.

"I demand that Burke be relieved of his referee's license immediately."

LAAF Leaders Keep Up Unbeaten Record

TWo undefeated teams in the second half of the Lubbock Army Air field squadron basketball league came through with wins Thursday night to stay in the favorites slots.

Section A defeated Sec. I 19-15, and Section C line won a 30-24 battle with the Flying Officers quintet.

In other tilts at the field Section F edged past the Finance five 29-28, and Sec. C Hangar took a close match with Section B 29-27.

Russia has developed hard and soft wheat which can be grown on either irrigated of non-irrigated land.

Brownfield Cubs Play Plainview

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 15. (Special) The chips will be on the line Friday night when the Brownfield Cubs move into this city to battle the Plainview Bulldogs in the "showdown" tilt for the championship in the south half of District 1-AA.

The Bulldogs will be favored to defeat the Cubs, and win the right to move into the playoff with the winner of the north half of the race for the district crown, and the right to enter the bi-district battles with the winner from District 2-AA. The winner of this playoff will move into Austin for the state schoolboy tournament of Class AA schools.

The Bulldogs have been beaten but once in the south half race, this in a low scoring duel with the Brownfield five, at Brownfield, in the opening game of the playoff.

Since that time, Plainview has beaten Lubbock twice, while Brownfield has been beaten by Lubbock on two occasions.

A victory for the Cubs would throw the race into a three-way tie, and call for an arrangement of a playoff for the title.

The north half title will also be playing the final game Friday night, with the Borger Bulldogs moving into Pampa, where the Harvesters will be favored to win, and finish that race in a tie with Amarillo.

A tie in the north half will call for a playoff between Amarillo and Pampa for the championship.

Both coaches for the game here have indicated there would be no changes in their regular starting lineups, and a real battle is expected, with the largest crowd of the season in prospect.

Army Cagers Add To Prestege, Win Again

WEST POINT, N. Y., Feb. 15. (U.P.) — Army's claims to a National championship basketball team as well as football team grew by leaps and bounds today as the Cadets' 27th consecutive cage triumph went down in the books.

Meeting what was supposed to be its toughest test in the three years it has been establishing the winning skein, Army yesterday turned back St. John's of Brooklyn, 56 to 39 — the 11th win of this season for the future generals.

Coaching School To Seek ODT Approval

BRYAN, Tex., Feb. 15. (AP) — The ODT approving, the Texas High School Coaches Association coaching school will be held at Abilene in August with Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian university and Skip Palrang of Boys Town, Neb., as head instructors.

Selection of Meyer, who coached the Southwest Conference championship grid team, and Palrang, an expert on the T formation was announced today by Bill Carmichael, secretary-treasurer of the association, who also revealed that the ODT would not approve the school.

Carmichael said the association could go ahead on grounds a coaching school did not come under the convention ban but that the coaches would not want to hold the clinic unless the ODT gave its full approval.

An application will be filed with the national office asking for such approval, Carmichael added.

The school, scheduled to be held at Hardin-Simmons university Aug. 6-10, attracts from 300 to 500 coaches annually. It is known as the world's largest.

Palrang was selected after he had received high praise for his work as an instructor at the Tulsa university coaching school last year. Boys Town is the famous home for boys founded by Father Flanagan and the subject of a motion picture several years ago.

Carmichael said assistants to Meyer and Palrang would be named soon.

The association secretary also announced that the film of the state schoolboy football championship game between Port Arthur and Highland Park at Austin now is ready for distribution and coaches could obtain it through the University of Texas film bureau.

Cage Honors Shared In Boys Club Tilts

Lubbock Boys club cagers won the feature game over the local schoolboy teams invading the club gym Thursday night, with the Boys club five winning the feature game of the show, a 31-17 yin over Coach George Philbrick's Cowhands Black team.

The schoolboys won the other two games on the card, the Cowhands B team nosing out a 19-17 win in an overtime session in the second game on the card. Coach Roy Morris' Cowboys Blue from Junior High school, won a 20-14 victory over the Boys club juniors in the curtain raiser.

In the feature game, Johnny Lawson poured in 15 points, followed by Jimmy Clark with eight, to lead the Boys club attack. Hicks paced the Cowhands with five points.

In the opener, White of the Cowboy Blues equalled the score of the Boys club five, pouring 14 points through the meshes for one of the best performances of the night.

WACO WINS AGAIN

WACO, Tex., Feb. 15. (AP) — The fighting Waco Army Air Field Wolves outscrapped, outsped and outscored the towering Air Tecs of Wright Field 44 to 34 in a benefit basketball game here tonight. Halftime score was Waco 22, Wright 20.

It was Waco's 24th victory in 25 games.

Best Man For The Job

Kuykendall Will Get The Money!

SELECTION, for the third consecutive year, of George P. Kuykendall as head of the Red Cross' annual financial drive in this county all but guarantees, several weeks in advance, the success of the campaign. Mr. Kuykendall is, of course, the most experienced Red Cross campaigner in this county. But, what is more, he is also the best informed and most aggressive supporter in these parts of the great, international organization.

Mr. Kuykendall not only leads Red Cross campaigns. He "drives" them.

When he takes on any civic task—and his interests are many—he is not at all backward about doing whatever has to be done to make it a success. He sets a fine example of personally doing more work than any of his assistants. And on top of that, he bolsters flagging interest whenever it appears by personal visits and pep talks which literally force others to "get in the saddle and stay there."

Fortunately, for both Mr. Kuykendall and the community, his personal business is arranged so that when he embarks upon a public job he has his full time to apply to it. And he does just that. From now on, until Lubbock county's quota for the Red Cross in 1945 is met and exceeded, George Kuykendall will be working, working, working—and making sure that a lot of other people are working, too.

They may not know it in New York and St. Louis, but the big bosses of the Red Cross are lucky to have George Kuykendall actively campaigning on their side.

If the Red Cross had a man like him in every county in the land it would clean up its financial drive in half the time alloted and probably would pick up at least 50 per cent more money than it asks for. George Kuykendall knows the Red Cross—and because he does he imparts his enthusiasm to all those who aid its cause. And enthusiasm, of course, is vital to the success of any great public endeavor.

Because we believe in the work of the Red Cross all the time; and in wartime, especially, recognize its value to the world, we are glad George Kuykendall is going to again boss Lubbock county's part in the organiaztion's financial campaign.

The reason is, we know Mr. Kuykendall will get the job done—and done to the full measure.

Pardon Our Yawn!

THERE is no end to the fantastic stories coming out of the war. Many of these concern the fate of Hitler and other Nazi leaders when Germany surrenders.

There has been much discussion of possible punishment to be meted out by the Allied War Guilt commission. Full agreement is lacking to date but it is to be hoped that all disagreement will be ironed out as the great day of victory approaches. Meanwhile, methods by which Nazi war lords will attempt to escape punishment are many and varied, according to correspondents.

For months, according to one report, planes have been kept constantly warmed up to take Hitler and his gang to Tokyo when the jig is up. In a slight variation of this rumor, Argentina is named as the destination. Another report says the Nazi leaders will leave by a giant submarine, capable of staying under water 40 hours—or is it days?—and provisioned and fueled for a long voyage. Most of these reports come from rumor factories in Switzerland and Sweden.

One of the latest of these reports is a bit more elaborate. Two military planes, loaded with fuel for a 40-hour flight, and food for eight persons, are waiting in Bavaria to carry Hitler, Himmler, Goering and von Ribbentrop to an undisclosed destination. Goebbels is missing from this list. This story has it that he is to play the hero's role, staying behind to direct final defense of Berlin, and then dying from a lethal dose of poison which he always carries on his person.

All of these stories, of course, are interesting to contemplate—but they all have one thing in common, a lack of originality.

We've seen cub reporters who, with comparable subject matter, could do much better!

That Ever-Tightening Belt

WE see by the papers that "more belt-tightening" is the order of the day throughout what is left of Hitler's reich.

If they keep on tightening and tightening that belt, pretty soon the dead volksstrum are going to choke themselves to death—which, at least, will save the United Nations fighting men some trouble!

It should be clearly evident by now that making history and changing geography cost more than they are worth.

WHEN NEW YORK WAS YOUNG

VI

The town of New York, in the 18th century, was considerably different, in habit and temprament, from any other colonial community. A large number of travelers and strangers were always to be found on Manhattan Island. To accommodate them there were numerous inns, with such names as the King's Arms, the Merchant's Coffee House, the Blue Boar, the Three Pigeons, The Sign of the Spread Eagle. Anybody who had the money to pay his way could come to New York and stay indefinitely without being questioned by the authorities if he behaved himself.

Most of the coastwise vessels, carrying passengers between New England and the southern ports, put into New York, where they remained from three or four days to three or four weeks. For some reason that is psychologically difficult to analyze New York attracted counterfeiters and swindlers of one kind or another, as well as tourists whose pockets were well-lined with money.

Nevertheless there was a solid core of highly respectable citizenry—both English and Dutch—in the town. On top was the community of gentle manners, quiet homes, elegant furniture, and good taste. Under this community lay a heterogeneous horde of tavern oristerous, Negro slaves, thievish servants, underpaid workingmen, and crooked individuals of all conditions. Many of them from the other colonies were fugitives from justice.

Next morning, as Major Lawrence and Charles Mason left the house together, the Major said, "I'm going up to the debtors' prison, and I thought you might like to see it."

Mason said that he wanted to see everything, but asked the Major's purpose in going there.

"Oh, I'm going there to get a prisoner released. A bricklayer I know, named Jason Kittle. A good man and a good workman. He's been in the jail for two months, and today I take him out."

"What was his crime?" Mason seemed somewhat bewildered. "Was it nothing but owing debts?"

"That's all," was the reply. "He owed four pounds and some shillings."

When they had reached the Commons—the square where the city hall now stands—the Major pointed to a dark, bleak, bare building and told his companion that it was the debtors' prison. "The man I'm taking out is a good workman, as I've told you. He helped build one of my houses. A few months ago he fell from a house and injured himself so that he was laid up for weeks. When he got well at last, and was ready to go back to work, he owed some money, mostly for provisions and rent. He couldn't pay and his creditors sent him to prison."

"How could he be expected ever to pay his debts if he is kept in jail and is not allowed to work?"

"The question you ask," the Major replied, "is the essence of the whole thing. They jail a man because he is unable to pay his debts and fix it so he will never be able to pay them."

"But I should think that the government would object to feeding these prisoners," said Mr. Mason.

"The government doesn't feed them, nor does it clothe them. The creditor who has the man put in jail must pay a few pennies a day for his support while he is in prison, but it is not enough to keep him alive, so the prisoners depend on the charitable public to send them food and clothes.

"I arranged yesterday with Jason Kittle's creditors. I paid them not only all he owes them but also various charges and fees, and got a release from them. Today he'll be released and I'll see that he gets work to do. Then he can repay me a little at a time."

There were no cells in the debtors' prison. It consisted of a large room with 50 or 60 men in it. All the men were shabby, unkempt and hungry-looking. A fire of logs was burning in a vast chimney at one end of the room. A few tables and rickety chairs were in the place. The pallets on which the men slept were rolled up against the wall, all except three or four. On these men were lying. The prostrate men seemed very ill, all of them.

They found Jason Kittle. He was a wan, nervous-looking man in a shabby but decent suit of clothes—the long trousers of the workingman, the stout shoes, the checkered shirt—so soiled that it looked black, and a coat of coarse gray wool.

As they stood outside the door, the young Virginian, the Major, and the shabby man with the bundle under his arm, the Major said, "Now, Kittle, we're saying goodby to you here. Wait"—he drew out his pocket book, counted 30 shillings, and placed the money in the man's hands. "Take this and buy yourself some warm clothes. I'll add it to what you owe me. Go to your wife, take a good rest tomorrow, and come to me the day after, and I'll find some work for you. No, no, not another word from you. On your way now."

He waved the man away and turned to Charles Mason. "Now, my young buck," he said, "I have 10 shillings here that says I can beat you at your favorite game of billiards. Want to bet? Of course you do. Well, let's go down to the Merchant's Coffeehouse and try our skill."

FDR Probing Failure Of Relief For French

PARIS, Feb. 15. (AP)—President Roosevelt is having an investigation made of the reputed failure of American relief for France's civilians to be distributed during the current winter as reported promised to the French government, reliable persons said today.

Judge Samuel I. Rosenman, special adviser to the President, has been charged with this task, according to these sources.

There is no official word whether the President will come to France himself, but many persons here expect him to come and preparations have been made to receive him in case he does come.

In official Frnch quarters it was said that only one-fourth the amount of food, clothing and medical supplies promised France had been delivered.

PRISONERS RETAKEN

TEMPLE, Feb. 15. (AP)—Liberty was short for three prisoners who escaped from Camp Hood last night. The prisoners, two of them from the United States disciplinary barracks, made their break from the station hospital prison ward and were apprehended this morning at Killeen, which is just off the miltary reservation.

The oldest universities in the western hemisphere were founded in Mexico and Peru in 1551.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

THERE isn't any need to mention the names of this loving couple. In the first place you don't know them, and in the second place they have gone home and made up by this time.

At any rate, she came into the police court in Camden, N. J., and wanted her husband put in jail for assault and battery.

And here was the story:

He is a foreman in the same shipyard where she works. He made $6,047 last year and she earned $3,000.

BRANDEIS

That's a lot of money for a couple who made much less than half that before the war, and a girl certainly should be entitled to something.

But he didn't agree, she said, and beat her up.

Didn't he have a perfect right to beat her up, the husband asked the judge, when she bought 25 pairs of shoes, 150 pairs of stockings, 35 pocketbooks costing from $18 up; 30 to 40 dresses and four coats at a time?

She denied his accusations and said that she never bought more than two coats at a time.

The judge told them they were both silly and advised them to go home and save their money for old age and the education of their two children.

They went home, all right, but what they are going to do with their money is something I don't know.

And what thousands of other war workers are going to do with their money is something I also don't know.

I do know, however, that every expensive night club and restaurant in New York and Chicago and San Francisco and Detroit is filled with war workers. The more expensive the place, the longer the waiting line.

A jeweler in Danbury, my nearest town, told me right after Christmas, that in the 30 years of his business experience, he never sold so many expensive presents as he did this holiday. The majority of Danbury's inhabitants are war workers.

I inquired at some fur and clothing stores. The same experience. People who used to buy cheap stuff before the war want the most expensive merchandise now.

When I was in New York the other day a taxi driver told me that he had just bought his wife a beatiful Persian lamb coat.

The cashier of my bank said he was getting worried about the steady increase in the cashing in of war bonds.

WHAT is it that makes people so imprudent in war time?

They seem to live just for today with no thought of the future.

To me it has always been horrible to get rich at the expense of other people's lives.

War-time hilarity, war-time profligacy and war-time excesses must be some sort of a mass hysteria.

What is that old saying? "Let's be merry today for tomorrow we die."

What you do with your money isn't any of my business. But when people who are throwing their money away become public charges and come to me begging for handouts that IS my business.

And when I see a lot of folks—many of them mothers and fathers with sons overseas—get drunk and hang huge diamonds and expensive fur coats on themselves, that just makes me plain sick.

Don't think I'm a goody-goody. I was a darn fool during the last war. But I've learned my lesson. I don't like sheriffs with summonses after me.

Those 60 Million Jobs

Anyhow, Term Is Vote-Catcher!

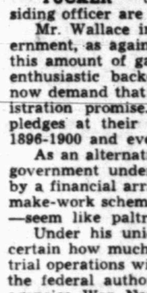

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE Roosevelt-Wallace promise of 60 million postwar jobs has been taken so seriously and literally by the organized labor and liberal groups that it may become as troublesome a slogan in politico-economic history as Mark Hanna's "full dinner pail" or Herbert Hoover's "two chickens in every pot."

Neither McKinley's astute manager nor the last prewar President was able to achieve his ambition, despite the desirability of each one's program. Both pledges made votes, but they did not make permanent jobs. Now a cold, statistical analysis by Mr. Roosevelt's nonpolitical experts, based on official figures, suggests that the same fate awaits this latest aspiration for the millennium.

Although Mr. Roosevelt first advanced this goal in one of his closing and most effective campaign speeches, Mr. Wallace has made it his own in his attempt to wrest confirmation of his cabinet appointment from an uneasy Senate.

The Iowan argues that the ability to maintain this level of employment in normal times will furnish a test of the success of the system of private initiative and its right to exist in its present form. In short, he has put the structure of old-fashioned American economy "on the spot" as the strategists on both sides appreciate.

TUCKER

This controversial question has grown into the key issue in the Wallace confirmation battle as a result of the Commerce nominee's challenge. Senatorial admiration of Mr. Jones and prejudice against the upper chamber's former presiding officer are superficialities.

Mr. Wallace insists that his philosophy of government, as against that of the Texan, would give this amount of gainful occupation. His even more enthusiastic backers, taking their cue from him, now demand that Uncle Sam carry out this administration promise. They seem to take campaign pledges at their face value, which the voters of 1896-1900 and even of 1928 apparently did not.

As an alternative, Mr. Wallace suggests that the government underwrite a total of 60 million jobs by a financial arrangement that makes all previous make-work schemes—PWA, RFC loans, WPA, AAA—seem like paltry undertakings.

Under his unique plan, Washington would ascertain how much work normal, peace-time industrial operations will offer in any given period. Then the federal authorities—the Treasury, the lending agencies, War, Navy etc.—would take up the slack, whether it be 10 or 15 million people, by subsidies or some other form of federal activity.

Mr. Roosevelt has not mentioned his proposal since he fathered it in the last week of the 1944 campaign. He has been mostly away from Washington since the former No. 2 man raised it in acute form. But it was he who furnished the inspiration and, presumably, he still favors it.

FIGURES: A persistent search through federal departments fails to disclose how the President happened to hit upon his figure of precisely 60 million postwar employables, or where he obtained the date to subsantiate his promise. He has never made public any supporting evidence.

On the other hand, an official breakdown of the population total seems to prove that the employment of such a number within the next 10 years will be a physical impossibility even under the most propitious circumstances. It looks as if Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Wallace had set up a "straw man" so as to knock him down when the time comes. Here are the official facts:

The population of the United States as of July 1, 1944, was 138,100,872, and it may reach 140,000,000 should the war last two or three more years. But of that number approximately 10,000,000 will be more than 65 years of age. In fact, since they were 65 on July 1, 1944, they will be almost 70 at the close of the conflict. And 65 is the age at which, according to Social Security standards, they are supposed to retire and live on the interest.

About 47,000,000 will be less than 20. If it be suggested that many youths under 20 will looking for work, the number under 15 alone will be approximately 37,000,000. For several years at least the armed services at home and abroad will eliminate at least 3,000,000, possibly 6,000,000, from the general work pool, although some economists maintain that anyone on the public pay roll should be included in the Wallace "60 million jobs."

UNEMPLOYABLES: Federal, state and local governmental units employed 7,000,000 at the last counting, and it is not expected that this number will decrease appreciably, for it is the first law of government to grow.

The average annual population of all hospitals in the United States is about 1,400,000, and it will mount as a result of war casualties. It is estimated that there are always 1,000,000 who will never work, even when there is plenty to be done. They are the "floaters," physically able but unwilling to hold positions. Imiates of all types of prisons and reformatories total 140,000.

Thus, as tabulated here, the number of unemployables and those who will not be in the market for the promised 60,000,000 jobs amounts to about 70,000,000. Deducting that figure from the over-all reservoir of 140,000,000 leaves only 70,000,000 as the total from which the Roosevelt-Wallace 60,000,000 can be drawn.

On such a population basis the American economic system cannot be sustained. Ten million people are not enough to carry on the home and the cultural activities of the United States in an expanding postwar world.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

GENERAL MacArthur gave the nation the rallying cry for the week—and for the months ahead—"On to Tokyo!"

The realization of the gigantic task involved in living up to that inspiring slogan is dawning on businessmen. For example, New York executives point out that steel requirements for the second quarter will be higher than they have been in any previous period of the struggle.

Bankers say that 65 billion dollars' worth of war production has been scheduled for 1945, compared with last year's output of 63 billion, 700 million.

And this budget does not include a brand-new Pacific Fleet of warships and merchant craft which the admirals plan to operate in addition to our present huge complement. These will be needed for the great land battles which must be fought before Japan is utterly vanquished.

LEMAN

The United States—not Russia, as many writers think—is the most powerful military nation in the world today.

We have mobilized for two simultaneous wars 12 million in our Army and Navy—one out of every 11 persons. The Soviet Union has the same number and therefore a larger army. But we have a bigger Navy and Air force. The Slavs could not equip their own troops and had to call on us for tanks, trucks and planes.

After providing for a European Army of Occupation and demobilizing certain age groups Uncle Sam can hurl the remainder of his 12 million fighters against Nippon, aided by a large element of the eight million, 700 thousand under arms in the British empire.

Tokyo's soldiers and sailors are put at five million, with probably four million more in reserves. Combined, these add up to far fewer troops than the Anglo-American hosts that will soon strike them. But, to supply our expeditions, civilian reconversion must be postponed until the Jap flag is hauled down.

The fall of Manila made the Japs irretrievably lose "face" throughout the Orient. But our generals and admirals do not underestimate the strength our enemy might muster if Tokyo has the administrative capacity. When our men land on the Japanese islands, they will confront a nation of 73 million fanatics. Hirohito rules 24 million in Korea and 43 million in Manchuria. He could squeeze second-rate troops and laborers from them.

State's Relief Rolls Shrink

By GORDON SHEARER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN—Increased employment opportunities have resulted in at least 1,600 persons leaving state assistance rolls during the past six months and a new welfare feature has been inaugurated to help them when jobs begin to fade.

Not all of the individuals leaving the rolls have private employment, the Public Welfare department explains. In some instances a family member, previously unable to get work, now secures a job because of labor shortages, and is thereby voluntarily able to care for the other family member who received a state pension.

The removal in these cases is voluntary on the part of the recipient since the welfare department has no authority to inquire into ability of a child or other relative to provide support in determining pension eligibility and amount.

Reinstatement Assured

Those persons who have been taken from aid rolls will be reinstated at the amount of their last pension when jobs terminate. This is where the new phase comes in.

As Welfare Executive Director John Winters illustrates: a pensioners has been receiving $21 a month. He secures employment and leaves the rolls. Months later the job ends and he asks for reinstatement.

Winters says the man will be put back on the roll at $21 a month. However, within 30 days a welfare staff worker will investigate the man's case. On the basis of the investigation the certificate will be kept the same or changed to meet new conditions.

A stranger wandering into the state capitol gets little aid in finding people from the building directory that occupies a large space on one of the lobby walls.

Upon the directory this week he would find Gerald C. Mann still listed as attorney general, though he was succeeded a year ago by Grover Sellers.

Spurgeon Bell is a navy lieutenant and has been for some time but his name appears on the state directory as state attorney for the Court of Criminal Appeals. Bell has been succeeded by Ernest Goens.

The directory's press room listing carries the names of eight correspondents no longer at the state capital. Some of those listed have gone other places, one is in the Army and one has died.

Some of the branch offices of the State Railroad commission at other locations are listed on the directory. The principal branch—Oil and Gas division—does not appear.

There is no listing of the lieutenant governor's office nor for Secretary of the Senate.

Gov. Coke R. Stevenson's office and that of his secretaries are listed as being on the first floor though they have occupied second floor offices all the time that Governor Stevenson has held the office.

No listings appear for the recently renovated basement, which now houses many state offices.

Not Well Known

State Railroad Commission Chairman Beauford Jester is a well-known official, but when it comes to cashing a check at the state treasury that's a different matter.

Preparing to leave the city recently on business, Jester noted it was after banking hours and that he needed some money. He thought he'd be able to cash a personal check at the Treasury.

But at the Treasury Mrs. Lolabell Flournoy told him employes had been instructed by Treasurer Jesse James to cash no checks. Jester plead, but it was no avail, and James was not immediately at hand.

Jester finally gave up, congratulated Mrs. Flournoy on following instructions, and went on his way still sans cash.

Has "War Scar"

State Sen. Allan Shivers of Port Arthur will have an overseas scar to show after the war although there has been no report of his being wounded since he became a captain in the American Military government service.

Word has been received by friends here that he underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis at Naples, Italy. A Texas doctor performed the successful operation.

SECRETARY of State Sidney Latham received so many inquiries about how many voting precincts there are in Texas that he set out to get the information. To date he has 5,069 and several small counties have not yet answered his inquiry.

Election returns are made to the Secretary of State by counties and there is no direct communication between his office and the individual election precincts. For that reason there never has been an official state-wide list of election precincts.

The number for a county and their boundaries are fixed by County Commissioners courts at the regular August session of the commissioners.

THE family of Mercedes Quirino Carrerra can once again sit down to a meal that includes items from the ration list—thanks to the kindness of an unknown benefactor in Kansas City, Missouri.

Several weeks ago Cannerra lost his family's ration books—all 10 of them. Despite an extensive search not a single clue was uncovered concerning their whereabouts. Today they were returned to him, via mail, from Kansas City. Attached to the books was a penciled note explaining that they were found in a carload of cabbage shipped from Mercedes.

No—Carrerra doesn't work in a shipping plant—the whole matter remains a complete mystery.

Soviet Advances

tons the weight of explosives dropped on that Saxon citadel.

The Soviet communique said that the Russians had swept up 150 places in German Silesia and Berlin's home province of Brandenburg. These included Naumburg, on the broken Bober river defense line 12 miles east of Sommerfeld, and Schweinitz, five miles southwest of Gruenberg.

Northwest of Budapest, captured Hungarian capital, other Soviet forces completed the destruction of isolated enemy groups which had broken out of the western part of the city, and captured 6,650 more prisoners, including three generals, the bulletin said.

This raised to nearly 130,000 the number of captives taken in the long siege of Budapest, and in addition perhaps 50,000 Germans and Hungarians were slain in the period since Dec. 27, when the Russians first broke into Budapest's streets.

In western Poland the Russians had captured most of Poznan, last big Polish city still in German hands, the communique said.

The Russians, in taking Gruenberg and the other two strongholds, had destroyed a German bridgehead in a bend of the Oder river southeast of Fuerstenberg, and broken the entire German Oder river defense line extending clear down through Silesia almost to the Czechoslovak border.

Corridor Bastion Falls

In another order of the day Stalin announced the fall of the Polish corridor stronghold of Chonjnice, on the Berlin-Danzig railday and highway 60 miles southwest of Danzig city, as Marshal K. K. Rokossovsky's Second White Russian Army struck northward toward the Baltic in an effort to seal off thousands of enemy troops in Danzig territory and Pomerania.

Swamped by the swift advance of Konev's powerful armored formations, German home army and shock troops were being split up and cut off, and there still was no sign that the foe could stop the westward and northwestward surge.

RAILS LEAD UPSURGE

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—Rails led the stock market on a swift last-hour recovery push today, after considerable profit cashing irregularity in the forenoon, and the over-all average hit another high mark for the past seven years.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .7 of a point at 61.4, a peak since Sept. 4, 1937. It was one of the broadest markets since 1940, individual issues numbering 1,006 appearings. Of these, 599 were up, 200 down and 207 unchanged. Transfers totalled approximately 1,870,000 shares compared with 2,060,000 Wednesday.

Prominent on the climb were Canadian Pacific, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Air Reduction, Standard Oil (NJ), Texas Co., Pullman, Speery, American Telephone, Union Carbide and Bethlehem. Declines were posted for Goodrich, Du Pont and General Electric.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—Cotton futures market advanced 40 to 50 cents a bale today on trade and outside buying which met only scale-up offerings.

There was considerable easing up of contracts in March, anticipating first notice day February 23rd.

Carrier Revenge

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's seizure of Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea.

On the way back to base, another attack was made on Truk in late April. Surface units, supported by carrier planes, pounded Ponape in the Carolines in May.

Marcus, Wake In May

Marcus and Wake were dealt carrier blows in late May. Another 150 enemy planes were destroyed in a second great carrier attack on the Marianas preceding the June invasion of Saipan. Several convoys were destroyed in a spreading sea action before the troops landed June 14. Iwo Jima, Chichi Jima and Haha Jima in the Volcano and Bonin islands also were pounded—the first attacks on these outposts so near Japan's homeland.

The battle of the Philippines Sea began June 18 west of the Marianas when enemy carrier planes attacked American fleet units, only to lose 420 planes in a single disastrous day. American carrier planes found and struck the enemy carriers the next day, sinking or crippling at least one-third of Japan's carrier strength.

Before the end of the month, another 114 enemy planes were shot down at Iwo Jima, at a cost of five raiders. Regular attacks on the Bonin and Volcano islands followed.

July Invasion Of Guam

Carriers supported the July invasion of Guam. That month Palau was hammered again. Another convoy was wiped out in the Bonins early in August.

A mighty carrier force paved the way for the invasion of Palau in September.

Sept. 20 and 21, carriers sent planes into the Philippines area. Then it was the U. S. Third Fleet of Adm. William F. Halsey in action, with Mitscher commanding the carriers. In later actions, Halsey's carriers were commanded by Vice Adm. John S. McCain.

In the September attack in the Philippines, more than 40 enemy ships were sunk.

Range Into Ryukyu

Soon the carriers were ranging into the Ryukyu archipelago in great force, sinking 46 more enemy ships in October. They also smashed Formosa with blows which cost the enemy 416 planes and 100 ships sunk or damaged.

These blows paved the way for

Manila Fighting

anticipation of attack from the south and from Manila bay. The enemy apparently hoped to hold Manila and Manila bay, thus making this the turning point of the Luzon campaign."

MacArthur said these plans were defeated "by the rapidity of the envelopment by our forces and the dislocation and unbalance caused by our unanticipated advance and attack from the north and east."

Corregidor fortress just off the tip of Bataan was pounded with 112 tons of bombs centered in coastal defense positions, while southern Bataan was swept by fighters and light bombers flying at minimum altitude.

420 Planes Captured

MacArthur announced that 420 enemy planes have been captured on Luzon in addition to "the thousands of enemy planes destroyed."

Medium bombers hit the Kagi airdrome on Formosa, dstroying two parked planes and damaging many others. A locomotive was demolished and heavy casualties were inflicted on airdrome personnel.

Tobefa and Lakunai airdromes on Rabaul, on New Britain island just north of New Guinea, were plastered with 115 tons of explosives unloaded by heavy and medium bombers and fighter bombers.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's invasion of Leyte in the central Philippines.

Carrier planes played the chief role in decisively whipping three enemy fleet formations off Leyte gulf late in October, with little escort carriers as well as the Essex type in action. In that battle, the enemy lost 24 warships, probably 13 others, with 21 more damaged.

Since then the carriers have roamed the South China sea.

Now the climax has been reached—a smash at Tokyo itself.

Tall, slim girls look best in two piece bathing suits.

Tokyo Battered By Navy Planes

which "fulfills the deeply cherished desire of every officer and man of the Pacific fleet," Adm. Chester W. Minitz announced.

Operation Long Planned

Nimitz, who only recently moved his base of operations to Guam, within 1,500 miles of Tokyo, said the operation "has long been planned."

It was regarded as a blunt challenge to the Japanese fleet, out of action since defeat last October in the battle of Leyte gulf, to come out and fight.

Tokyo was attacked April 18, 1942 by Army bombers of then Lt. Col. (now Lt. Gen.) Jimmy Doolittle flying from the aircraft carrier Hornet but today's job was the first full scale Navy operation against the Japanese capital or homeland.

(Webley Edwards, of the Columbia Broadcasting company, reported from Guam that "at this minute waves of the carrier planes are sweeping over Tokyo."

Different This Time

(After recalling the Doolittle raid, Edwards reported:

("This one is different. This is the one we've been waiting for. This is by many carriers. The warships include battlewagons."

(Edwards said Nimitz is carrying the attack to Japan's front yard, and front steps and into the living rooms.")

Art Primm, of Mutual, speculated in a Guam broadcast that the American warships must be riding the seas within 300 miles of the coastline of Honshu, on which Tokyo, Yokohama, Nagoya, Osaka and other war centers are situated).

Tokyo radio, two hours after originally reporting the attack said: "The air battle is still going on."

Air Full Of Planes

(Edwards, of CBS said: "While the air is swarming with United States and Japanese planes over Tokyo, we may expect the Japs to try to send planes at our carriers — if they can find them.

"(The situation calls for them to send out their fleet, but fear of losing their fleet entirely may cause the Japs to hold the remaining warships back to fight another day."

(Jack Hooley, of the Blue network, said there was every reason to expect one of the fiercest air fights of the war.")

High American air officials pointed out recently from Guam that Japan has been building up huge air reserves, with their losses nothing like their production, and could be expected to commit these on a grand scale when needed.

Looks Like That Time

This looks like that time.

Admiral Mitscher, Wisconsin-born and a resident of Washington, D. C., only recently returned to the naval wars.

He came into prominence as the leader of "Task Force 58" which dealt the Nipponese Navy a mortal blow while protecting the invasion of Saipan last year. He remained on the job to direct Third Fleet planes against enemy islands in the far western Pacific last October to help Gen. Douglas MacArthur return to the Philippines at Leyte.

After that, the Japanese claimed they had annihilated Task Force 58 and commented on the disappearance of Mitcher from the news.

1,000-Plane Buildup

The possible size of the attacks may be deduced from past statements of naval authorities that once carriers move in on Tokyo it will be possible to send in as many as 1,000 planes at a time. There was, however, no official word on the size of the raiding airforce. The communique merely referred to a "powerful task force of the Pacific fleet."

Reports broadcast of the United States from Guam all stressed the power and daring of the operation.

(Hooley, of the Blue network, referred to a "new phase of the war" and of the Navy "snuggling in close to the heart of Japan.")

Path Bombed Open

The way was cleared for the Navy to advance on Tokyo by months of steady raids by Superfortresses on Japanese aircrift plants which have so cut into the enemy's production that the Nipponese leaders have begun moving plants to Manchuria.

Islands along the way to Tokyo also were knocked out by such raids.

This is particularly true of Iwo Jima which has been raided daily for more than two months.

The shelling of Iwo announced today meant a return of the Navy to that island which has been bombarded several times this year.

Dragnet Laid For Slayer At Stanton

Assistance of South Plains peace officers was solicited Thursday night by the Martin county sheriff's department in the investigation of the murder of a man whose body was found yesterday afternoon under a culvert in Martin county 14 miles east of Midland.

Police radio station KGZW was asked to broadcast the description of a 1936 Terraplane and an order for the arrest of the occupants. The automobile bears Texas 1942 license 884-829.

An Associated Press story said the man appeared to be about 40 years of age and that his body was "bullet pierced."

The story quoted Police Chief Jack Ellington of Midland as saying that the name of "J. R. Treadwell" and the laundry mark "JRT" were found on the man's clothing. The man was described as weighing around 140 pounds, with graying black hair and brown eyes. He was dressed in khaki pants and shirt and khaki field jacket and wore cowboy boots.

Officers expressed the opinion he may have been from Alice, Tex.

Western Front

blows yesterday and left the enemy in a precarious situation.

As the Canadian First Army offensive once more picked up momentum on the eighth day of operations, the most significant gains were made on the south, where the strong German Niers river line was cracking.

United Kingdom troops captured Kessel, across the river, and pushed on southeast toward Goch, less than four miles away.

Another Stronghold Seized

Simultaneously, other forces seized Hommersum, a second strongpoint guarding Goch's network of roads and railways.

Scotch troopes pressing down the Maas river captured Heijen, two miles south of the Germans' fallen Maas-Niers strongpoint of Gennep. The advance here was slowed more by the mire than by the enemy.

Finally appreciating the full significance of Montgomery's offensive, the German high command was rushing reinforcements into the battle zone from all sectors of the far-flung Western front.

The mud was knee deep at places, restricting the use of armor and throwing the burden on the foot soldiers, who had to contend as well with dense mine fields.

The drive was slowly rolling up strong German positions in the eastern edge of Holland along the Maas, which the enemy has converted into his first line of defense on this sector.

Death Trap For Nazis

So far in this offensive, the Maas has proved a death trap for the enemy. He has been pinned against the river from behind repeatedly, an din the early stages of the drive was hit so hard he was unable to form a defense line for a time on the south flank.

Along the U. S. Ninth Army front, a dispatch said the Germans had begun to increase their flying bomb attacks and apparently were trying to turn them into short-range attack weapons, since many were directed at front line troops.

The U. S. Third Army front to the south was a scene of slow battering against the Westwall and gnawing gains beyond two breaches already carved through the fortifications.

Aerial Pounding

spread some 20,000 tons of explosives on at least 15 industrial and rail centers from Austria to the Ruhr—had taken part in the great 48-hour linkup of the Eastern and Western fronts.

The figure included Allied tactical planes based on the continent, which made 3,800 sorties against Nazi troops and communications along the Western front yesterday and again struck in strength today. Also, U. S. heavy bombers from Italy flew into Austria for the third straight day and attacked communications in the Vienna area.

While the heavy fleet from Britain was heading back home after its blasts at Cottbus, Dresden and Magdeburg, the German radio warned that a bomber formation was approaching from the west and another from the south.

No Trouble Sighted

While the Nazis told of great air battles raging throughout Germany, there was no other indication that the American fleet had run into trouble.

The only available figures of Allied losses in the past two days were 28 RAF bombers, 13 bombers and seven fighters of the Ninth Tactical Air force, and 13 fighters of the Second Tactical Air force. Eighth Air force losses were incomplete. A total of 29 Nazi planes were reported shot down yesterday and five more destroyed on the ground.

Form 200-Mile Belt

Ships in this greatest of fighting fleets will stand off Honshu forming a line two hundred miles or more up and down the coast while fighter, dive-bomber and torpedo planes carry the war into the heart of Japan.

This greatest strike of the war is a place of constant orderly activity. Small craft churn the blue-green waters, dashing back and forth between vessels.

At night low-lying clouds glow with the flashing of signals between ships.

It is a 24-hour-a-day job to get this battlefleet into operation.

B-29 Falls Into Bay And Burns

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. (AP) — A B-29 Superfortress, attempting to make an emergency landing at La Guardia airport, crashed and burned spectacularly in Flushing Bay at 3:50 p. m. (EWT) today.

Five survivors were rescued from the flaming waters by Coast Guard, police, and airlines crash boats which fought through the fire and heavy smoke to the wreckage. An unknown number of persons were listed as missing.

Col. Eugene F. Gillespie, commanding officer of the Army air transport installations at the field, said such a plane usually carried a crew of 11.

Eye-witnesses said the big bomber apparently overshot the runway as it attempted to land. The pilot nosed the Superfortress up to circle the field again but as it turned the left wing dipped. The ship lost altitude, struck the water, somersaulted and crashed, immediately bursting into flames.

It had taken off a short time earlier from Mitchell Field, Long Island, about 15 airline miles away.

Planning Board

the board plunged into a detailed discussion, marked by some argument, of the civic center idea.

A resolution, offered by L. Wesley Read, chairman of the planning commission, was subject of considerable debate and finally portions of it were unanimously approved. As passed, the resolution commended the civic center plan and the Kiwanis sponsorship; gave the planning commission's approval of a civic center for Lubbock, but set out that the planning commission "feels that the time is not opportune for its recommending any certain civic center plan without full study of such features as best available locations, number of buildings needed, types of buildings and cost involved."

Seeks Full Study

The resolution continues that "the planning commission believes it is desirable that the City commission authorize and direct a committee of its own selection to visit other cities comparable to Lubbock as agricultural educational and industrial centers for the purpose of studying solutions reached by those cities and noting how to avoid errors made by them in their civic center projects."

Only concrete civic center plan offered the City commission to date has been that of the Kiwanis club, urging the calling of a bond issue to purchase from Lubbock Independent School district the Central Ward property on Thirteenth and touching on Avenue Q. The school board, at the request of the City commission, has agreed not to sell the property before March 25, last day of a 60-day "gentlemen's agreement option" sought by the City until study of the entire proposal can be made.

Routine Matters Cared For

The planning board's meeting, held in City commission offices in City Hall, lasted from 7:30 until 11 o'clock and various routine matters were attended to, including approval of replatting of Acuff Heights, in the vicinity of Texas avenue and Second street, and of Faulk's addition, adjacent to Twenty-first and Avenue K.

Also recommended was a joint session of representatives of the City and County commission to discuss and correlate plans for future routing of state highways in and out of Lubbock and the outlining of farm-to-market roads.

Present at the meeting were eight of the nine members of the planning board. They were Chairman Read, J. H. Murdough, W. L. Bradshaw, K. N. Clapp, Dr. J. T. Krueger, Arch L. King, jr., Marlin R. Smith, jr., and Chas. A. Guy. Out of the city was J. D. Hassell, jr.

Temperature Climbs To 83 Here Thursday

With the thermometer showing a high of 83 degrees, Lubbock experienced one of the highest February temperatures on record Thursday.

Only twice before had the mercury climbed to such heights in what usually is one of this area's most wintry months, according to 31-year-old records at the agricultural experiment sub-station. The highest February reading on these records is the 89 degrees recorded in 1918. The only other reading to approach yesterday's 83 degrees was taken Feb. 29, 1940, when the temperature was 87.

But shivery weather—almost cold by contrast—hit the city last night. West Texas Gas company reported a drop of 31 degrees from 4 o'clock yesterday to 11 o'clock last night, from 82 to 51.

Still lower temperatures and cloudiness are expected to be the lot of the South Plains today. The forecast said the cloudness is to remain over Saturday but that higher temperatures will come.

Ernest William Gentry, 42, of near Lubbock, was named in a complaint charging incest filed Thursday afternoon in the office of D. W. Robertson, justice of peace. Authorities said Gentry is the employe of an irrigation well drilling concern. He was arrested by Sheriff Grady Harrist and Glynn Hudgens, vice officer. Arraignment for Gentry was tentatively slated for this morning.

Soviet Tidal Wave Rips 70-Mile Gap In German Inner Defenses

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Speeded by effective Allied air support, a Red Army tidal wave of power, the Nazis admit, has ripped a 70-mile-wide gap through German inner defenses.

SIMPSON

This could be the greatest and most decisive breakthrough of the war in Europe.

Official Russian confirmation was lacking immediately but from both Berlin and Moscow came broadcasts, however, indicating that Marshal Konev's First Ukrainian Army had stormed its way swiftly through relatively feeble Nazi resistance to within 50 miles or less of British and American-bombed Dresden on the left of line. The Russians also enveloped the Neisse river bastion of Furst in the center, while on the right they established contact with White Russian comrades west of the Oder.

Reds Straighten Front

In effect the latest Russian advance gave Soviet armies a virtually straight front more than 160 miles long reaching from Gorlitz, road and rail center 45 miles east of Dresden, to the head of the Stettin estuary where the Oder flows into the Baltic. On the left this line not only outflanks the Oder bend east of Berlin, last natural barrier guarding the city; but is across the Neisse in the center and rounding its headwaters in the Gorlitz area farther south.

It seems certain that Marshal Zhukov's White Russian forces are about ready to resume their frontal attack from the east. There remain no vulnerable Russian salients of any more than local consequence along the whole Russian main attack front so far as it can be traced.

Rhine Reached In West

To match Russian success, Allied troops have reached the Rhine opposite Emmerich in the west.

Field Marshal Montgomery's troops now have both portals of the Arnhem-Emmerich gateway to the flat plains of northeastern Germany under their guns. They all but crashed through there months ago in the bold airborne attempt to seize the Arnhem bridge. The possibility of a new and more powerful effort to break across the lower Rhine and out into the Hanoverian plain is too real to be ignored by the Nazis. It is tending even now to sap away Nazi reserves from the still dormant and flood-bound Roer and Maas sectors in the center.

Lunchroom Committee To Meet Saturday

A Lubbock county lunchroom planning committee recently appointed by Roy Boyd, county superintendent, will meet in his office at the courthouse Saturday morning at 10 o'clock to discuss menu planning, marketing and food preparations.

Mrs. Pearl Sullivan of the homemaking division of the State Department of education, will lead the discussion. Plans to be worked out by the committee for more efficient handling of food will later be presented to all rural school lunchroom supervisors at a central meeting.

Lubbock county is one of eight Texas counties selected by the War Food administration in which lunch room planning committees have been appointed for the purpose of experimenting with planned lunchroom efficiency and economy.

Youth Aids Officers In Hit-And Run Case

DALLAS, Feb. 15 (U.P.) — The courageous determination of an 18-year-old Dallas youth that justice be had today accounted for police having in custody a hit-and-run driver whose apparent carelessness last night resulted in serious injuries to a 22-year-old woman.

The youth, David McCullough, was riding with an unidentified man when their automobile struck Miss Edwina Faulkner, as she alighted from a street car.

The driver, the youth said, speeded up and raced away from the scene. However, the youth forced the car to the curb by grabbing its steering wheel away from the driver, then ran back to the scene of the accident.

The youth described the man and the car to officers, and told them where he thought the man could be arrested.

Police found the hit-and-run driver where McCullough said he would be. He was arrested and held without bond.

Meanwhile, Miss Faulkner's condition was described as serious. She had both legs broken in the crash, and suffered severe bruises and lacerations.

"Share The Ride" Is More Than Mere Slogan For Former Greenville High Football Star

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 15 (AP) — "Share the ride" is more than a slogan to Lt. Col. Bert W. Marshall of Greenville, Texas.

The P-51 pilot, former Greenville High school and Vanderbilt university football star, hitch-hiked by air from under the noses of the Germans, thus avoiding imminent capture. The man who returned him to base was Capt. (then second Lt.) Royce W. Priest, who won the Distinguished Service Cross for his feat.

Rode Crippled Plane Down

Coy. Marshall told his story this week when he reported in to the Army Air Forces redistribution station No. 1 here.

They had been on a dive-bombing and strafing mission that day, hitting a marshalling yard, when flak tore out his plane's coolant radiator at 500 feet. He climbed to 1,500 feet then decided to ride the crippled plane in for a crash landing.

He bellied in to a small field, unhurt. His radio was still operative. Col. Marshall called his flight, told them to go on home, that he was OK.

Said He Was Coming In

He heard Lt. Priest assert over the radio that he was coming down to pick him up, but Marshall didn't believe it. Then the colonel — who was a captain at the time — started running for a small clump of woods to the south.

Beyond that small woods, into a small wheatfield, came Lt. Priest's P-51. Running up to it, Marshall still tried to persuade Priest to go on—"There isn't room for both of us . . ."

"The hell there isn't," exploded Priest, as he leaped out onto a wing, and threw off his parachute. "Get in," he insisted.

In climbed Marshall, cramping his five - foot, 7½ inch, 140 pound frame into the small cockpit. Priest sat on Marshall's lap and found he could still manage the plane's controls.

They gave it the gun, wobbled off the small field, and managed to get airborne.

"We just made it," Marshall admits.

Not His Closest

That ride wasn't the colonel's closest call. His narrowest squeak, in his mind, came on his last mission.

It happened near Emden. He spied a supply train and went down to get it. He got it — but they also plastered him with flak. He was no more than 100 feet off the ground when a blast sevved and wobbled.

"I thought they had me," the 26-year-old fighter recalled.

Priest Aided Him Again

Experimenting with the rudder trim tab controls, he found that he could control the ship fairly well.

Once more he was shepherded home, again by Lt. Priest. "That guy was always around when I needed him," grinned the colonel.

All told, he flew 67 missions, piled up 320 hours.

He also knocked down seven Jerries in confirmed kills. His total score includes two probables and one damaged.

Germans Hold Fire While Yanks Rescued

WITH U. S. FIRST ARMY, Feb. 15. (U.P.)—Fifteen doughboys and a medical airman rescued five comrades from an island in the Roer river opposite Dueren yesterday in full view of German artillery.

The five had been marooned since the night before after the boat in which they were trying to cross the river was blown up by a mine.

The German gunners held their fire during two boat trips to the island although they hardly could have missed the rescue party at a distance of less than 200 yards.

Shorter Onion Crop In Valley Is Indicated

AUSTIN, Feb. 15 &—Cabbages and carrots are on the upswing in Texas fields but onions are not keeping pace, the U. S. crop bulletin issued here today reported.

Unfavorable weather conditions last October prevented planting a large area in the South Texas onion belt, the report said, with a resulting nine per cent slump in onion acreage.

Cabbage production as of Feb. 1 was placed at 4.8 tons an acre, compared with 4.3 tons on Jan. 1. Conditions January were generally favorable for carrots with yield prospects improving.

Other crop prospects:

Spinach—indicated yield 5,220,000 bushels for winter crop compared to 6,148,000 last year.

Oranges—Crop placed at 3,800,000 boxes with more than 2,000,000 having been harvested by Feb. 1.

Dear Doctor: I do not know whether I wrote you or not, but I had 7 cases of hay fever, and got good results in all cases.
The asthma disappeared, also.
Your remedy is all right and in the few cases I had has given uniformly good results. Easy to apply and is without doubt along the right line.
Thank you very much for your cooperation. I am sure it has given me a new line of thought in approaching the hay fever case.

Fraternally yours, (Signed), Geo. L. R_____, M. D.

Patriotic Meals Bolster Morale

While hatchets and cherry trees are generally associated with Washington's Birthday, the majority of folks would gladly settle for a nicely served, well prepared meal. If you are in need of menu inspiration, perhaps these will appeal to you. There is a welcome variety of food, prepared in an interesting manner which spikes the meals with more than their share of appetite appeal.

Middle American Sunset Pudding

1 package vanilla pudding mix
1½ cups milk
1 cup apple sauce
1 egg white
2 tablespoons sugar
Orange marmalade
¼ cup chredded coconut

Empty the vanilla pudding mix into a saucepan. Add the milk gradually and cook over direct heat, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens and boils. Remove from heat and stir in the apple sauce. Pour into shallow custard cups and allow to cool. Spread about a teaspoonful of marmalade on each pudding and top with a meringue made of the beaten egg white and sugar. Sprinkle with coconut and bake in a slow oven, 325 F., for fifteen minutes or until lightly browned. Serve cold.

BOLOGNA TRIANGLES

Water Is Essential For Good Health

"I know I don't drink enough water; I just don't think about it," you often hear someone say in a half-hearted way, as if it really didn't make any difference whether one drinks water or not. Few people consider water as essential for good health, as are the proper foods, according to Mrs. Ruth Wilson, emergency war food assistant, Texas extension, A. and M. college, whose Lubbock headquarters are at the county home demonstration agent's office.

"Every cell in the body requires water to carry on its proper functions and depends on the blood stream and lymph systems to bring it food," Mrs. Wilson continued. "Food stuff taken into the body must be put into dilute form by digestion, absorbed into the lymph and/or the bloodstearm and then transplanted to every part of the body where it may be needed. All of which processes require water."

In addition to these important functions, water is necessary to carry away the waste products; to regulate body temperatures; act as a mechanical lubricant to joints and for the smooth movement of muscles and intestines.

Amount Needed Varies

The amount of water necessary for good health depends on climate, activity of the individual, amount of perspiring, clothes and general condition of health. Because these conditions may vary with each individual, no set rules can be made for the daily intake of water. Usually the satisfaction of thirst as it arises will take care of the need, which under normal conditions many authorities agree is, 6 to 8 glasses of water per day. Also, the kind of food we eat determines the amount of water we need. Fresh fruits contain 75 per cent to 90 per cent moisture, and some vegetables contain as much as 90 per cent to 95 per cent moisture.

Often the questions is asked, "Is it harmful to drink water with meals?". The answer to that depends on how and when the water is taken during the meal. The food must be well chewed and mixed with the salivary secretions before swallowed. If this is done the drinking of water during the meal is not harmful, but is helpful. Water should not be used to wash down food.

Often nervousness, headaches, digestive disturbances, diminished appetites, were noticeable when deprived of the regular water supply.

Socrates once said, "Bad men live that they may eat and drink, whereas, good men eat and drink that they may live."

HAM 'N BISCUIT SHORTCAKE—Ham 'n biscuit shortcake is the dandiest and most delicious shortcake ever tasted. Make giant-sized biscuits with pure lard. Sift together 2 cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, and ¾ teaspoon salt. Cut in 4 to 6 tablespoons lard until mixture has fine even crumb. And enough milk to make soft dough. Turn on to lightly floured surface and knead gently for ½ minute. Pat or roll ½-inch thick and cut with large biscuit cutter—about 4-inches in diameter. Place on baking sheet and bake at 450°F. for about 15 minutes. Brown 6 slices cooked ham in hot fat. Remove from skillet and keep hot. Blend 4 tablespoons of flour with 4 tablespoons hot meat drippings. Add 2 cups milk, stirring constantly, and cook until thick. Season. Put hot ham slices between biscuits and top with hot gravy. Serves 5 or 6.

Upside Down Cake—Winner With Family

Several Fruits May Be Used In This Favorite Dessert

LONG a favorite with many families, the upside down cake may be made with several fruits and served either as it comes from the pan or with the wartime rarity of whipped cream.

Mrs. E. K. Hufstedler of 3008 Avenue H has a recipe which is among her favorites and has been tested through use—and approval of her family—numerous times.

She mixes one-fourth cup of butter, one cup of brown sugar and one cup of either crushed pineapples, peaches or apricots and places the mixture in an iron skillet.

Batter

Over the mixture she pours a batter made with the following ingredients:

¼ c. shortening (butter or lard)
¾ c. sugar
1 egg
½ c. sweetmilk
1¼ c. sifted flour
1¼ level tsp. baking powder

The shortening is creamed and sugar added gradually, the egg beaten well and added to the shortening and sugar, and the milk added alternately with the flour and baking powder.

Although the cake makes a delicious dessert served warm, Mrs. Hufstedler prefers to serve it cold because the cake holds its shape better after it has cooled.

SALT FOR SWEETS

Salt improves sweet foods. Add a dash to chocolate dishes or to cocoa to emphasize the flavor.

VEGETABLE CENTERPIECE

If plants or flowers are hard to get and expensive, try making a centerpiece for your diningroom table with vegetables and fruit.

CHOICE OF SPICES

Put ground allspice, cloves, mace and nutmeg in shakers on the table and let people choose their own spices on their dessert.

DEVIL'S CELERY

2 dozen 2-inch pieces celery
1 3-ounce can deviled ham
3 tablespoons real mayonnaise

Mix deviled ham with mayonnaise. Stuff celery pieces with this.

Cake pans should be about two-thirds full and the batter should be spread well into the corners and sides of the pans with a slight hollow in the center.

Soak such things as greasy overalls in a good soap solution and make it easier for your washing machine to do its job.

Lid-lifting and opening of the oven door will cause heat loss which lengthens cooking time and wastes fuel.

United Press Writer Says Capitol Medic Is All Wet; He Gets A Cold In Senate And Discovers That Handkerchiefs Are Scarce

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15—Dr. George W. Calver says he has the cold situation among the lawmakers licked. He is a nice guy and a first class sawbones and I like him, but:

I went up to the Senate and watched the boys spray oratory all over the place and I came down with probably the most magnificent cold in the history of mankind. I can't walk. I can't see, unless I squint. My eyes hurt and my ears feel terrible; my nose is red. It drips.

Says Pill Does The Job

Dr. Calver claims that he can fix me with a pill (and I'm going to let him try), but I insist a cold caught in the Senate is a mysterious and special disease, unlike colds caught elsewhere. My feet hurt. Whoever heard of an ordinary cold doing that I think I know the Senator who sprinkled me with germs. He made a speech at me and I could feel it. Damp. Why some Senators have to dribble when they talk, I do not know. Next time I venture into their sanctum, I'm going to wear a gauze mask, as an official obstertical ward.

Handkerchiefs Are Scarce

The problem, in the meantime, is handkerchiefs. Lack of same.

I tried four stores. Three had no handkerchiefs. The fourth had silk ones with pretty stripes around the edges. A silk handkerchief has no more chance keeping up with my cold than a parasol has of warding off a typhoon. Ochew

Eventually I found a cigar store, which had handkerchiefs in pasteboard boxes. The man would sell me three. Who'd I think I was, he said. The only owner of a cold in the capital

Rationed Like Cigarets

So he's rationing handkerchiefs, like cigarets. I never thought life would come to this. Let's stop here a minute while I squirt myself with ephedrine.

As for Dr. Calver, he is the attending physician to 500-odd Congressmen and Senators, plus their clerks, plus the inhabitants of the press galleries. He has a staff of assistants and nurses and manages most of the time to keep his charges on their feet. He only wishes that they'd spend a little more of their time following his advice.

Commandments Posted

Dr. Calvar has posted in strategic spots around the Capitol building his 10 commandments of health. All a lawmaker has to do to stay healthy is eat wisely, drink plentifully (of water, the doctor is quick to point out), eliminate thoroughly, bathe cleanly, exercise rationally, skip the worry, play enthusiastically, relax completely, sleep sufficiently, and check up occasionally.

"P. S.", the doctor adds. "Give five per cent of your time to keeping well; you won't have to give 100 per cent to getting over being sick.

Must Have Skipped Rule

"P. P. S. This even applies to the Fourth Estate."

That last postscript means me. Somewhere along the line I must have skipped a rule, from one to 10, and I am a mess.

Bleary-eyed. Pale-faced. Croupy-looking. And dribbly.

'Im going to give the Senate's doctor one more chance. I'll take that pill and if it works, wonderful. Otherwise I'm going out to the back pasture, lie down, and die.

Achew (I can't help it) achew.

Low-Level Economy South, Southwest Is Said Gone Forever

DALLAS, Feb. 15 (AP)—The old low-level economy of the South and Southwest, which depended too greatly on agriculture as a source of wealth, has gone out the window forever, Felix J. Garniere, liaison specialist for Smaller War Plants corporation in Ordnance, Engineer, Coast Guard and other procurement, said here today.

Geniere, whose work keeps him constantly investigating the resources of virtually the entire nation, is most impressed by the Southwest, particularly Texas, as being the "White industrial hope of the states."

"Texas will not turn back with the war's end, but will henceforth be an ever expanding manufacturing state," he said in commenting on the future of firms established here as wartime measures. "The East certainly is aware of the fact that Texas no longer is dependent on Eastern markets."

Ganiere came from his offices at St. Louis to meet in Dallas with district SWPC directors and Regional Director Morton R. Harrison.

Wallace Barely Escapes Outright Rejection In First Test In House

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Legislation enabling Henry A. Wallace to become secretary of a cut-down Commerce department barely survived today its first test on the House floor.

By a vote of 202 to 192, the Democratic leadership turned back a solid Republican front, joined by some southern Democrats, that sought to sweep the Senate-passed George bill off the House floor.

Would Rip Out RFC

The Senate bill is intended to rip the multi-billion dollar Reconstruction Finance corporation out of the Commerce department, before the Senate votes on confirmation of Wallace as Commerce secretary.

A change of six votes in the first House test would have thrown the government future of the former vice president into confusion.

That test came on adoption of the House rule by which the George bill was presented on the floor. If the rule had been rejected the bill would have gone back to committee, and probably into a pigeon hole. This was calculated by the opposition to bring about the outright rejection of Wallace for the President's cabinet, by forcing the Senate to vote on him not only as Commerce secretary but as head of the RFC.

It 'is conceded that Wallace would have little chance of confirmation without divorcement of the RFC.

Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) and other Democratic leaders appeared confident after the narrow victory today, but the opposition will get another crack at the bill on the final vote, at the end of debate probably late Friday.

Republican lines held solid in the voting, which showed that 200 Democrats were joined by the two minor party (1 Progressive and 1 American-Labor) members, for immediate consideration; while 19 Democrats—all from the South or border states—aligned with 173 Republicans in the effort to sweep the bill off the floor.

Cecil Lee Belcher To Be Buried Here Today

Funeral services for Cecil Lee Belcher, eight-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilton E. Belcher of 1616 Ave. E, who died Thursday morning en route to St. Mary's hospital, will be at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Plains chapel. Rev. Jeff Welch of Central Baptist church is to officiate.

Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

Relatives said the child had been ill of pneumonia but apparently was getting along satisfactorily until early this morning.

Other survivors are two brothers, Raymond Roy and Jimmy Ronald Belcher and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Belcher and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Grizzell, all of Lubbock.

Tahitians Amazed At New England's Rousing Blizzards

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Feb. 15. (AP)—Far from their native island in the South Pacific, a group of 30 Tahitians are shivering in this wintry fishing port awaiting the fitting out of three vessels they plan to sail back to warmer climes.

The Tahitians are finding New England's near-zero temperature quite different from the 85 degree "winters" to which they are accustomed.

And the Feb. 8 storm, which left 14 to 17 inches of snow over most of Eastern Massachusetts — well, they haven't gotten over their astonishment yet.

All are members of the French navy, rated as able seamen. They were brought here by a small party of French merchant marine men to take over three fishing boats purchased by the French government for inter-island trade in the Society islands, a French possession.

They came to the United States by ship to the West coast, crossing the country in the first train most of them had ever seen.

It seems it isn't true what the storybooks say—that the Tahitians just fish and swim while their wives do all the cooking and crop making.

"No," said one, "on weekdays the Tahitian men fish and swim, but on Sundays—then the wives rest while the men do all the work."

Miss Alice Phillips Is Motor Corps Head

Miss Alice Phillips of 3308 Nineteenth has been appointed acting chairman of the Red Cross motor corps for the next several weeks, according to Miss Kathryn Weaver, chairman of the corps.

Operations of the motor corps, which serves every branch of the Lubbock county Red Cross chapter, were recently placed on a full-time basis and a member is on duty from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily at the executive offices in the City Hall. Members must complete first aid course, advanced first aid, and motor mechanics course in addition to meeting all requirements for drivers' licenses before being qualified.

SERVICE PAY HIKE ASKED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (AP) — Rep. Sparkman (D-La) proposed today that members of the armed forces be granted a five per cent increase in pay for each year after their first year of overseas service. The increase would be in addition to the flat, 10 per cent salary increase now awarded servicemen for overseas duty.

How War's Climax Squeezes Germany

SOME PROBLEMS FACING NAZIS—Above is graphically portrayed some of the things the German High Command is up against as the tune of Allied attack approaches the final crescendo. Manpower available now comes from "the bottom of the barrel." Too many of the Wehrmacht's best soldiers are dead or wounded. Their replacements are too young or too old or too green. On the home front, dwellings, factories, whole cities have been bombed out. Transportation, too, has broken down under Allied bombing and the Red Army's approach to Berlin has driven thousands of refugees on to roads in the dead of winter. Germany's armies are split up (see map) and spread thin over the face of Europe. And right in the Germans' midst, at home, are 12,000,000 foreigners, mostly captive slave labor, vengefully awaiting the chance to rise against their oppressors.

Greater Texas Orange Production Forecast

AUSTIN, Feb. 15 (AP) — The United States department of agriculture today forecast a Texas orange crop of 3,800,000 boxes for the 1944-45 season, with about 2,600,000 boxes already harvested by Feb. 1.

Total production for the United States was estimated at 104,638,000 boxes, two per cent more than the previous record of last season.

Texas indicated grapefruit production on Feb. 1 was 20,150,000 boxes. Approximately 12,500,000 boxes of the Texas crop have been utilized. Conditions in Texas were favorable during January. Groves have been given good care and fruit was of good quality.

Other USDA crop estimates: Cabbage—158,000 tons; onions—acreage estimated at 64,300; spinach—indicated production of winter spinach in Texas was estimated at 5,220,000 bushels.

BUDGET DIRECTOR NAMED

U. S. Casualties Mount Steadily

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (U.P.)—U. S. combat casualties announced here reached 782,180 today.

This was a jump of 17,348 from last week's compilation.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said Army casualties compiled through Feb. 7 totaled 693,342.

These casualties, reflecting losses through January, included 135,510 killed, 408,553 wounded, 58,556 prisoners of war, and 90,723 missing. Of the wounded, 202,813 have returned to duty.

Toll In Other Branches

To the Army total was added 88,838 Navy, Marine corps and Coast Guard casualties announced up to today. They included 33,536 dead, 40,607 wounded, 10,221 missing, and 4,474 prisoners of war.

Stimson said Army ground forces alone have suffered 394,874 casualties on the Western front from the June 6 D-day to Feb. 1. Of these 63,410 were killed, 273,997 wounded and 57,467 missing.

He said ground force casualties on the Western front in January were 61,962, including 8,848 killed, 41,325 wounded and 11,789 missing.

Stimson reported that 5,000 German prisoners were taken in the Allied advance on Kleve. On the southern flank of the Western front, he said, the French Army has taken 96,000 German offensive now underway.

Discussing progress of the actual fighting, Stimson said the Canadian Second Army advances south and east of Kleve have increased the threat to the Ruhr, Germany's chief industrial region.

Farther to the south, the flooded Roer river—raised by the blasting of the floodgates of one of the large storage dams—is now receding, he said. He added that the river may be expected to be back to normal in a few days.

Of the Philippines, Stimson said "there is nothing to change the pattern of action which was foreshadowed some time ago on Luzon. The enemy is cut up and divided. His main force at the northern part of the island has had some of its aggressiveness wiped out of it, but there will be much hard fighting before the Japanese on Luzon are eliminated or pushed back into small refuges which have no military meaning."

Senate Filibuster Upheld By Bankhead

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. (AP)—The time-honored Senate filibuster found a champion this week in Alabama's Senator John Bankhead.

Bankhead is taking no chances that the Senate's privilege of unlimited debate may be declared out-of-date.

It is under this privilege that Southern senators have been able to wear down annual legislative attempts to outlaw poll taxes and enact anti-lynching laws.

An amendment, carefully worded by Bankhead and approved by the Senate, forbids a new joint committee of House and Senate, now studying ways and means of streamlining Congress ,to tamper with traditional rules of either House.

Anti-poll tax and anti-lynching laws passed by the House, which can limit its debate, always have met defeat in the upper chamber, principally by filibuster.

Three-Eighths Of Army Is In U. S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP) — The Senate military committee, trying to decide whether coercive manpower controls are necessary, asked an Army witness today whether the service is making the best use of its uniformed personnel.

Lt. Gen. Thomas Handy, deputy chief of staff, began his reply by describing the Army's allocation of its personnel.

Facts Are Revealed

Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) told reporters the committee learned from Handy that:

About three-eighths of the Army is in the United States, the remainder overseas.

About five per cent of those in the United States are in hospitals or in the process of being hospitalized, including men wounded overseas and returned to the states.

On Limited Duty

About 10 per cent of the Army is on special limited duty. This includes the WACs.

The equivalent of approximately two divisions of troops man regular defenses posts in this country.

About half the troops in the United States are taking care of supplies and reserves.

The Army's liberal furlough policy before a man goes overseas and after he returns might give an untrue impression of soldiers without apparent duties.

DEFERMENTS TO FEDERAL WORKERS ARE INCREASED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP) — The number of federal workers receiving draft deferments because of their employment has more than doubled since last year, Congress was told today.

The information came from Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey in a report which said 265,909 government job-holders qualified for military service were deferred as of Dec. 1, 1944.

In addition to the 265,909, Hershey said 88,293 other federal workers held deferments, but they were not qualified for induction into the armed forces because of physical or other reasons.

He added that of those qualified for service 211,430 are in the 30 to 38 age bracket.

Several states had more men listed than the District of Columbia, which had 12,905.

State leaders included California 25,949; and Texas 17,404.

MONTEVIDEO, Feb. 15 (U.P.) — The Uruguayan cabinet today decided to declare war on the Axis powers, it was officially announced. The declaration will become effective upon receiving parliamentary approval.

Eighteen Yanks Start Out But Only Eight Get To Destination

By ROBERT EUNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE 84TH DIVISION.— Eighteen Yanks started out and only eight got there, but when they had finished they had overrun a German 75, knocked out four German mortars and captured 150 prisoners.

Every man who finished the day with Lt. Joseph R. Darrigo, Norton Heights, Conn., has been recommended for the Silver Star.

Jumping off early in the morning they headed for Trinal, Belgium, with a medium tank and one tank destroyer. Only ten minutes later they ran against a German strongpoint and went into action, flushing out foxholes with machinegun and automatic rifle fire.

At Trinal, the doughboys' armored vehicles were stopped by Jerry's bazooka.

Undaunted, the infantrymen sloggeed on through Trinal, fighting house by house, until they broke through on the other side of town with 120 prisoners, and a number of enemy dead behind them.

They had intended to stop for rest, but a terrific barrage changed that, and with support from another platoon, they moved on to Beffe.

On the way Darrigo and his men ran into a full section of four German mortars. Assigning six men to nullify the position, the rest holed up and waited. The partol worked its way to only a few feet from the mortars, then jumped up and opened fire. Taken by surprise, the whole German battery surrendered. The next job was to overrun a German 75-millimeter gun and crew, which Darrigo did with nine men.

Next morning they moved into Beffe an dthe exhausted men had just set up headquarters when someone shouted "Krauts!"

Lt. Darrigo rushed out the door with a broom in his hand, calling for tank support, and his men went into action again, killing eight more Germans before the rest fled.

New Contracts To Step Up Texas War Plants Output Through June

DALLAS, Feb. 15. (AP)—High gear war production will roll increasingly faster through June with $123,082,000 in new contracts for Texas, George L. Noble, jr., War Production board regional director, said today.

The new figure was reported in the latest WPB report, which covers the first two weeks in January, Noble said.

Last month brought a $70,000,000 expansion in war plant facilities in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana, he said.

New Plant At Orange

A $22,000,000 DuPont nylon salt plant was approved for private construction in Orange today by the WPB and production urgency committee, Noble announced. Approval, previously delayed because of manpower problems in the tight labor area, was granted after War Manpower commission had negotiated an agreement with the company for construction of hutments and trailer living units, additional school buildings and a food supply store and for provisions of transportation.

The three-state southwestern WPB region, already carrying 11 per cent of the nation's war business, could absorb about 20 per cent more than it is now handling, Noble said. This has been reported to Washington WPB and procurement officials, he added.

Plenty Of Manpower

The region's manpower supplies are sufficient to carry much more war production, but housing, transportation and community facilities must be expanded in the tight labor areas to permit full utilization of the existing manpower in the region, he said.

New Dallas county contracts total $58,348,000, and include transport planes, rocket motors, bombs, packing crates, shells airplane parts, cotton shirts, gun turret assemblies, the WPB reported.

The facilities expnasion in this region include a tire plant at Houston, munitions plants at Shreveport and Houston and the new Orange plants Noble said.

Newest war contracts let in Texas include high octane gas, munitions, 155mm. and 105mm. shells, bombs, herringbone trousers, electric power plant equipment (for lendlease), rocket motors, blankets, containers, fragmentation bombs, airplane parts.

Army Sgt. J. P. Billinsgsley; mother, Mrs. J. P. Billingsley, San Antonio.

Army Pvt. G. E. Feray; mother, Mrs. T. J. Feray, Beaumont, Texas.

AGENT PROMOTED

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 15. (AP)—Mrs. Florence W. Low, for eight years a Texas county home demonstration agent, will become acting specialist in landscape gardening for the A. and M. college extension service on March 1. She replaces Miss Sadie Hatfield, recently granted a year's leave for graduate study. Mrs. Low served as county home demonstration agent in Henderson, Lamar, and Fayette counties.

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

House Wrangle Over Cattle Theft Bill Holds Up Decision

AUSTIN, Feb. 15. (AP)—A subject as old as the west—cattle stealing—was wrangled over and laid aside without decision today by the House Criminal Jurisprudence committee.

Under present law auctioneers are required to give a receipt carrying sellers' name and description of animals sold on all livestock except the cow, which is somewhat sacred but unprotected.

Rep. R. E. Senterfitt of San Saba, is author of a bill which will require such receipt on cattle to prevent the quick running of stolen cattle through the auction barns.

Other Checks Approved

C. M. McFarland of Wichita Falls suggested that as a further check, the license number of the seller's car or truck be recorded. Senterfitt agreed to this amendment and also to one requiring that receipts be retained by the auctioneer in a bound and numbered book for one year.

W. R. Cousins of Beaumont and Cecil Barnes of San Angelo voiced approval of the bill which carries a penalty of $50 to $500 fine and six months in jail. Both said cattle stealing was "terribly bad" in their sections.

Marvin Fertsch of Halletsville however, objected to taking immediate action. There were, he said, a number of auction barns in his district and he did not want auctioneers to object so strenuously to extra work entailed in making out the descriptive receipts that they would "raise their auction percentage price" or "go out of business."

Birch, The Magician To Present Shows At High School Today

Birch, noted magician, will present a matinee this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Senior High school auditorium and a night performance at 8 o'clock under sponsorship of Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Tickets are available from any Jaycee member. Matinee tickets are 25c for students and 55 cents for adults. Tickets for the night performance are $1.10 for adults and 55 cents for children.

Perhaps his greatest illusion is the Vanishing pony in which "Princess," a beautiful miniature horse, is caused to disappear while suspended in mid-air.

Musical interlude will be offered by Miss Mabel Sperry, well-known xylophone artist.

Major Problems To Face Texas U. Board At Two-Day Session

AUSTIN, Feb. 15. (AP) — The legislative program of the University of Texas before the 49th general session was expected to take the spotlight in the forthcoming two-day session of the board of regents.

The board, with its first fully-constituted membership since the explosion of the controversy with former President Homer P. Rainey in November, meets tomorrow and Saturday.

There was no comment from board members on the report of the American Association of University Professors demanding Dr. Rainey's reinstatement as an "assurance that their principles of academic freedom would again be observed at the University of Texas." The interim report, by Dr. Ralph Himstead, executive secretary, was to have been mailed to each member of the board.

At their last session here in January, the regents rejected petitions seeking Dr. Rainey's reinstatement. Six members who so voted are members of the board that meets here tomorrow. Three members, recently confirmed by the Senate, will also attend.

A major task facing the regents is the naming of a president for the university, but there has been no official indication of when preliminary work would be done.

With its membership in question and with the resignation of Vice-Persident J. Alton Burdine during the opening weeks of the legislature, presentation of the university's usual legislative program has been somewhat hampered.

Another matter facing the regents was selection of a vice-president to replace Burdine. The university's vice-president ordinarily is active in legislative work, as well as detailed administrative work.
