Israelis End Mission

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli soldiers ended a 32-hour search-and-destroy mission against Arab guerrillas inside Lebanon and then returned home to begin Yom Kippur, the holiest of Jewish holidays. Lt. Gen. David Elazar, Israel's chief of staff, said the mission ending Sunday night was a complete success and his forces destroyed 150 guerrilla houses and bunkers while killing about 60 terrorists and taking several prisoners.

Tel Aviv said three Israelis were killed and six wounded, while a Lebanese army communique also said eight Lebanese soldiers were killed, 12 wounded and 20 missing.

The Israelis said they searched 16 Arab villages during the operation and air force jets bombed and rocketed eight guerrilla encampments and two headquarters complexes.

The raids were a reprisal for the killing of 11 Israeli Olympic team members at Munich and guerrilla raids in recent weeks across the Lebanese border, which have resulted in killing of at least three soldiers.

"I can assure you we will pursue and root out the terrorists wherever they may be," Prime Minister Golda Meir declared in a radio speech at the beginning of Yom Kippur.

While claiming over-all success, Israel said the unexpected resistance from regular Lebanese army units was the strongest defense they have put up since the 1967 Mideast war.

"We are not fighting the Lebanese army," an Israeli commander told his troops before they entered Lebanon, according to a dispatch from newsmen with the troops.

Nevertheless, seven miles inside Lebanon, after passing up one Lebanese army check point which offered no resistance. Israelis in armoured cars and tanks came under recoilless rifle fire.

At least six Lebanese army vehicles were damaged or destroyed along one road near Beit Yahoun, Associated Press correspondent Harry Dunphy reported after a tour of the area.

Israel did not disclose the number of its troops involved in the operation, but Dunphy said as many as 40 tanks and armored personnel carriers rolled across Lebanon's hills at one entry point, indicating perhaps 100 vehicles were involved in the entire operation.

"About 80 to 100 Israelis came in early Saturday morning, stayed through the night and began to leave about 3 o'clock," a villager in Juwayya, where two buildings were blown up by the Israelis, said. "The three persons who were killed here were innocent. They weren't involved in politics. Just farmers."

Calvert To Leave Court Early

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert, who did not seek re-election this year, resigned from the Texas Supreme Court today, effective with the start of the court's new term Oct. 4.

Calvert 67, will be leaving the court three months before his present six-year term expires.

His resignation was submitted to Gov. Preston Smith, who is expected to appoint the Democratic nominee for chief justice, Associate Justice Joe Greenhill, to succeed Calvert.

Smith also is expected to appoint Sam Johnson, a Houston Court of Civil Appeals justice, to fill Greenhill's current seat on the court. Johnson is the Democratic nominee for that position.

Calvert explained that he had two reasons for wanting to leave the court early.

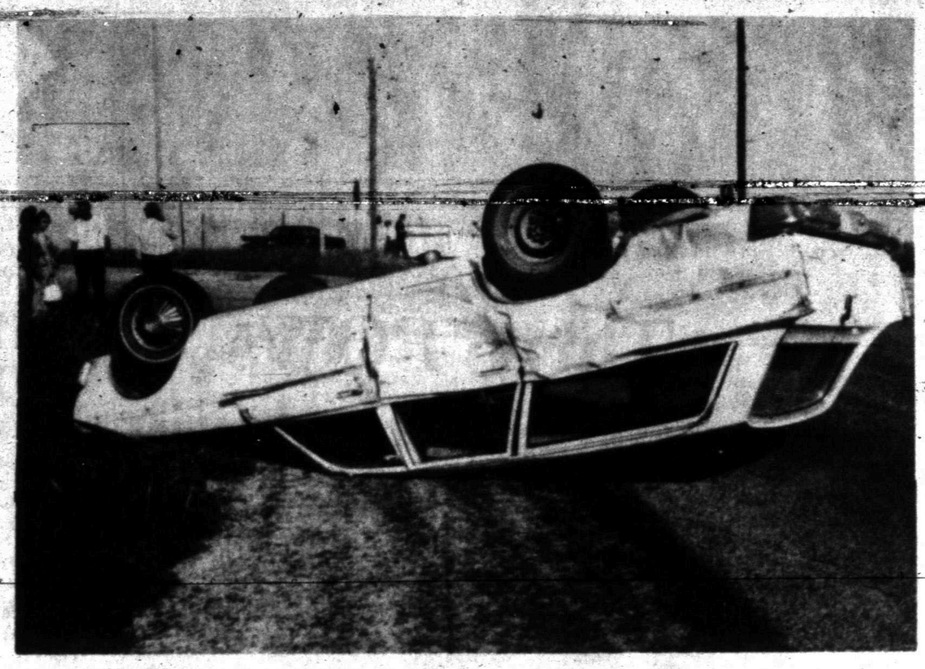

First, he said, "I'll have my docket clear" when the court begins its new term Oct. 4, and resigning is "better than taking on a new workload and getting bogged down in it" before his term expires Jan. 1.

Nixon Ups Imports Of Fuel Oil

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today moved to sharply increase imports of fuel oil. Officials said the proclamation he signed will allow an additional 9,500 barrels per day. ported daily through the rest of this year.

The proclamation signed by Nixon increased from 45,000 barrels per day to 50,000 barrels per day of importing No. 2 fuel oil and also said importers can bring in an extra 10 per cent during the last three months of this year. This would add up to 9,400 barrels per day.

No. 2 fuel oil is used extensively in New England and other northern states and Nixon's proclamation said the Office of Emergency Preparedness—OEP—had found that "changes in the supply ... and demand ... have been occurring rapidly and additional flexibility should be provided."

TWO INJURED—Mrs. Edmund J. Richter, Box 133, Hermleigh, and Mrs. Ollie E. Page, Garden City, sustained minor injuries in a two-vehicle collision at the East traffic circle at 9:38 a.m. today. Both were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service. Mrs . Richter was admitted for observation and the other woman was treated and released. Investigating officers said Mrs. Page was a passenger in a 1965 Model Ford pickup driven by her husband, Ollie E. Page. Mrs. Richter was driving this 1967 Model Ford that turned upside down following the collision. Officers said Mrs. Richter was going east on U.S. 84 business route while the pickup was traveling north on State Highway 208.

FOR DRUG PROFITEERING PROTECTION

Nixon Threatens Aid Cuts

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon vowed today he would cut off all U.S. economic and military aid to any country whose leaders protect "the merchants of death who traffic in heroin."

Selecting an international narcotics control conference to respond to Democratic nominee George McGovern's criticism of his war on drugs, Nixon said "very sharp recent increases" in heroin prices in the eastern United States "indicate that the supply is drying up and that the pressure is on the criminal drug trade."

"We are going to keep the heat on until these despicable profiteers in human misery are driven out of their hiding places and are put in prison where they belong," Nixon said in his prepared comments.

He asked the U.S. diplomats who coordinate overseas efforts to curb drug supplies to convey "this personal message for me:

"Any government whose leaders participate in or protect the activities of those who contribute to our drug problem should know that the President of the United States is required by statute to suspend all American economic and military assistance to such a regime. I shall not hesitate to comply fully and promptly with that statute."

McGovern in a statement issued Sunday said the number of heroin addicts in the United States had doubled since 1968 and charged that Southeast Asia had become a major source of heroin because the administration would not crack down on the narcotics trade in Laos, Thailand and South Vietnam.

Nixon made no direct reference to McGovern's charges, but his comments appeared to be a sharp counterattack.

He commended the foreign service personnel for "the fine initial progress."

Anderson Rites Held Sunday

Funeral service was held at 2 p.m. Sunday for W.B. Anderson, 51, who died at 11 a.m. Saturday in the Veterans Administration Hospital at Big Spring. The Rev. O.J. Archie officiated at the service at New Hope Baptist Church and burial was in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A native of Williamson County, he had lived here nine years and was a veteran of World War II.

Surviving are his wife; three daughters, Georgia Braziel of Dallas, Patricia Anderson of California and Nelda Anderson of Hillsboro; two sons, Lester and Will Anderson, both of Hillsboro; five sisters, Mrs. Cleora Snead, Mrs. Jean Wallace and Mrs. Betty Cobbs, all of Snyder, Ednor Jackson of Brownfield and Lenora Anderson of Burnet; three brothers, Andrew Anderson of Dallas, Robert and James Anderson, both of Snyder.

Windfall Profits Likely Says NFU

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Farmers Union said today that big grain companies easily could have collected windfall profits of $100 million under export-subsidy maneuvering allowed by the Agriculture Department in wheat sales to the Soviet Union.

Weldon V. Barton, NFU legislative representative, told Congress in prepared testimony that the $100-million figure was only a possibility, however.

"Actual windfalls have been, or will be, realized to the extent that certain grain-trade companies had 'inside' information on which they could gamble on staggering their contracting for sale to the Soviets or other countries and their booking for export subsidies," Barton said.

A House subcommittee is checking into allegations that some private exporting companies had advance or inside information on sales and subsidies.

The probe, into sales totaling 400 million bushels of wheat to the Soviets, began last Thursday.

Charles W. Pence, an official with the Export Marketing Service in USDA, also was to appear today before the panel, headed by Rep. Graham Purcell, D-Tex.

Pence, earlier testimony showed, telephoned a number of exporters on Aug. 24 notifying them of a change in export-subsidy policy. That change was announced publicly a day later.

The subsidies, paid to bridge the difference between U.S. prices and what exporters get for wheat on the world market, were available for one week at a rate of 47 cents per bushel on wheat sold prior to the Aug. 24 cutoff.

Department records showed the 47-cent subsidies were booked for about 280 million bushels of wheat during the Aug. 25-Sept. 1 grace period at a total value of about $130 million. The subsidy rate since then has been lowered to less than 25 cents a bushel.

Barton said it was possible for an exporter to have bought, for example, 50 million bushels of wheat on Aug. 1 and delivered it to an ocean port at a total cost of $1.80½ per bushel.

Competitive Rates Urged

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith today told legislators, some of whom were reluctant to be here, that competitive rates would resolve most of Texans' unhappiness over the high price of insuring their homes and cars.

He spoke to a joint meeting of the House and Senate an hour after the 62nd Legislature convened in its fourth special session.

The governor also asked the lawmakers to restore budgetary powers taken away from him by two attorney general's opinions.

Many lawmakers would have preferred to remain at home to campaign, and 36 of the 150 House members were absent when the roll was called.

Senators, however, defeated, by a vote of 22-4, a resolution by Sen. Murray Watson of Waco to adjourn the session 15 minutes after it convened.

Watson, vice-chairman of the Senate Insurance Committee, said there was "no emergency" to justify Smith's calling the session and declared immediate adjournment would "save the taxpayers a lot of money."

Smith, however, said a special session was the ideal time to consider competitive rate legislation because during the past regular session the issue did not receive the consideration it should have.

"After long and careful consideration and study, with the advice and counsel of many experts in the field of insurance, it is my belief that competitive rates will resolve most of the inadequacy, unfairness, discrimination and frustration inherent in our current system," Smith said.

The present system of uniform rates for building and car insurance, set by the State Insurance Board, "has created false, inflated and excessive rates for homeowners and automobile insurance. Our present system encourages inefficiency and discrimination," the governor asserted.

"Almost every other industry in the State of Texas operates under a system of fair and open competition—and so should the insurance industry," he said.

"While there can be no guarantee that rates will only go down and never up, the plan that I am submitting to you would effectively guard against rates that are excessively high, rates that are so low they threaten the solvency of a company and rates that are discriminatory," Smith said.

Debt Ceiling Hearings Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration said today that Social Security payments would escape budget cuts if a proposed spending ceiling is adopted, but it added that defense would not necessarily be shielded.

In testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee, budget Director Caspar Weinberger said that although the spending ceiling would be government wide, it would be "academic" to suggest that "we would cut back Social Security if it appeared the $250-million would be exceeded.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz said that Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, had the best idea for where any cuts should be made: "Everywhere."

In response to a question, Shultz said, "I would expect we could find a nickel or two in defense."

The discussion on the spending limit took place as the administration asked the committee to approve a $15-billion increase in the national debt limit to $465 billion through June 19, 1973.

Weinberger and Shultz declined to get specific on what programs might be trimmed if Congress should go along with Nixon's request to clamp a $250 billion lid on spending for the remainder of the current year.

The debt-ceiling hearings provide Democratic members of the House Ways and Means Committee another opportunity to rake over the economic policies of the Nixon administration. Democrats are trying to make these a prime election-year issue, asserting that Nixon has failed to control inflation or improve employment and that his policies favor business and the wealthy.

The Democratic Study Group, made up of liberal and moderate Democrats in the House, already has announced it will try to attach to the debt-ceiling bill provisions to close what it calls $6-billion loopholes favoring business and high-bracket individual taxpayers.

Uganda Recaptures 3 Towns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Uganda said today its air and ground units had recaptured three towns it claimed were seized by troops invading from Tanzania in a drive to halt the expulsion of Asians from the East African nation.

Ugandan military spokesmen said troops of neighboring Tanzania invaded Uganda Sunday.

Tanzania denied its forces were involved but suggested Ugandans opposed to the regime of President Idi Amin were fighting troops loyal to him in southwestern Uganda.

A Radio Uganda broadcast said President Amin had informed the charge d'affaires of Libya that Britain was behind the fighting, trying to bring former President Milton Obote back to power.

He said that in this way Britain hoped to bring a reversal of his order of last month to expel Asians holding British passports. The issue has stirred controversy in Britain where some quarters express concern about a heavy influx of nonwhites.

The first group of 193 Asians reached England today.

Obote, ousted by Amin in a military coup in 1971, lives in exile in Tanzania. About 5,000 Ugandans fled there with him after Amin took over the government.

PREPARING FOR FAIR—E. M. Ashley is shown working on construction of booths for the annual Scurry County Fair which opens Thursday in the Scurry County Coliseum. Commercial booths are being offered with basic construction work already completed so that exhibitors need only to decorate and install their own displays. A total of 31 commercial booths had been rented this morning and the figure is expected to increase by Wednesday, the final day for reserving booth space. Commercial booth rentals are biing handled by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

Childless woman seeks guaranteed twins

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: After trying without success for a long time to have a child, my husband and I had fertility examinations. We discovered that he was unable to father a child, so we agreed that I should have artificial insemination.

Abby, twins have always fascinated me, and if I could have a pair of twins my dream would come true!

Is there a donor somewhere who could guarantee me twins?

I asked my doctor about this and he said he thought I was asking for too much, and I should be satisfied with just one baby. Will you please see what you can do for us in this line? Thank you. WANTS TWINS

DEAR WANTS: No one can guarantee you twins, with artificial insemination or otherwise. Only one mother in 11,000 [in the U. S.] is likely to produce twins. And since twins fascinate you, do get the book [just out] titled "The Curious World of Twins" by Vincent and Margaret Gaddis. It's the most fascinating collection of documented stories about twins ever published! And one of the most entertaining and informative books I've ever read.

DEAR ABBY: I agree, there is entirely too much food wasted in some restaurants because they serve much too large portions, and one can't carry home soup or leftover salad or relishes.

We are two senior citizens, and naturally our appetites aren't what they used to be, but we enjoy eating out in different places.

A full meal usually consists of soup, salad, vegetables, bread, butter, and by the time we get to the main course, we can't eat it because we are so filled up with the other things.

Lo and behold, we went to a restaurant the other evening, and we saw in bold print on the menu, "children's and senior citizens' portions at a reduced price."

I wish more restaurants would give us a break like that. It's not only cheaper, but there is no food wasted.

MOM: AGE 90
DAUGHTER: AGE 67

DEAR MOM: Maybe after this appears in print, they will. I hope so. Our senior citizens need all the "breaks" they can get.

DEAR ABBY: Our family usually takes a winter vacation over the Christmas holidays, so we were talking about it when my father suggested that instead of going somewhere, we should use the money to give Mother a facelift!

Mom was very hurt and she broke into tears. I would like to say that I think my mother is very pretty and she doesn't look her age.

Do you think my father should be praised, or was my mother justified in feeling hurt? PUZZLED DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Mom probably needs a facelift less than Dad needs a dressing down.

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the teen-ager who cursed and used foul language, and told her 50-year-old mother to "get with it" when she expressed disapproval, reminded me of a similar incident.

About 10 years ago my granddaughter came home from her freshman year of college. When she came to visit me, she immediately used two obscene words which shocked me, but I tried not to show it.

I don't know where I got the courage, but in the very next sentence I used the same two obscene words! My granddaughter burst into laughter and said, "Granny, it is so out of character for you to talk that way. You're such a lady!"

I smiled and said, "It's also out of character for YOU to talk that way, Dear. You're a lady, too!"

She never used that kind of language in my presence again. EIGHTY ONE AND STILL A LADY

US Loses Three Jets In Raids

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today the loss of three jets during raids over North Vietnam and said four of the six crewmen were missing.

U.S. Navy destroyers, fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships stepped up their attacks on supplies being unloaded by Chinese freighters off the coast of North Vietnam in efforts to circumvent the U.S. blockade of the ports of Dong Hoi and Vinh.

The U.S. Command reported that Air Force, Navy and Marine tactical fighter-bombers carried out more than 330 strikes across North Vietnam Sunday. The closest raid to Hanoi reported by the command was 42 miles north of the capital.

While the strikes were being carried out across North Vietnam Sunday, the North Vietnamese held a release ceremony in Hanoi for three American pilots who are scheduled to return to the United States this week.

In Da Nang, terrorists riding motorbikes tossed hand grenades into two coffee shops and a street intersection Sunday night, killing two children, a civilian and a policeman. Fourteen others were wounded.

An Air Force F105 was hit by a surface-to-air missile Sunday and crashed into the Tonkin Gulf near Dao Cat Ba island east of Haiphong and the two crewmen were listed as missing.

The two crewmen of an Air Force Phantom, after completing a mission over North Vietnam, had to bail out Sunday when a malfunction caused a fire in the cockpit, spokesmen said. They were rescued 65 miles northwest of Da Nang.

Police Are Kept Busy

Police have been busy investigating thefts and cases of vandalism.

Sometime during the past weekend someone shattered a door glass and several lights and damaged five window screens at Northeast Elementary School. The damage was estimated at $50.

Three boys, ages 6, 10, and 11, were apprehended by Police at 3:44 p.m. Sunday on suspicion of breaking out windows at the old Scout hut at Forty-fifth Street and Avenue U. They were released to their parents.

Someone stole a stereo tape deck from the room of Max Tenorio at Western Texas College sometime between last Thursday and Saturday. It was valued at $80.

Three POWs Freed Sunday

By PETER ARNETT
AP Special Correspondent

HANOI (AP) — Three American pilots shot down during bomb raids over North Vietnam have been released from captivity at a ceremony organized by the North Vietnamese Army and attended by relatives and U.S. peace activists who had journeyed to Hanoi.

They are Navy Lt. Norris Charles, 27, whose wife Olga, had flown out from San Diego, Calif.; Navy Lt. Markham Gartley, 28, whose mother, Minnie Lee Gartley, came from Dunedin, Fla.; and Air Force Maj. Edward Elias, 34, of Valdosta, Ga.

Overjoyed at their new freedom, the three fliers were neat-appearing in new civilian clothing provided them for Sunday's 40-minute ceremony, a unique affair in the annals of warfare.

Each pilot made a statement into microphones before the official release, held before Vietnamese and European television cameramen in a building of the Peoples Army.

Olga Charles, 27, who had had her hair washed and set in a downtown Hanoi beauty shop in anticipation of the ceremony, fought through the throng of cameramen and technicians for an emotional embrace with her husband.

Minnie Lee Gartley joyfully put her arms around her Navy pilot son and said, "He's even better looking than I remembered." Mrs. Gartley for the past four years has actively picketed Congress and the White House for an end to the war.

Elias, who until Saturday had expected his wife or father to come to Hanoi, said in a statement before the microphones, "I have been told that for various reasons they could not make it, but I will be seeing them soon."

Elias' father, Barney, a housing consultant, said in Jacksonville, Ill., he, his wife and daughter-in-law had decided it was "not in the best interest of all the POWs" for them to make the trip. He also said peace activists Cora Weiss and Dave Dellinger, who arranged the release and were at the Hanoi ceremony, had assured the Elias family the major's release would not be jeopardized by their not attending.

Charles, Gartley and Elias were the first American prisoners released by Hanoi since 1969. The U.S. Defense Department prior to Sunday listed 539 Americans known to be captured and held prisoner in Southeast Asia and more than 1,000 missing.

Following the ceremony, there was a banquet at the Hoa Binh Hotel.

Police Probe Four Mishaps

Alex Ynguanzo Jr., Box 84, Fluvanna, was driving a 1973 Model Chevrolet that was in collision with a cedar fence behind the Lot-A-Burger at 1810 Thirty-ninth Street at 7:45 p.m. Saturday, officers said. Owner of the fence is Glen Stephens.

Three mishaps occurred Sunday. The first one occurred in the 1200 block of Thirteenth Street at 1:20 p.m. Involved were the 1971 Plymouth of Gary Reed Barrett, 217 Thirty-sixth Place, and the parked 1967 Model Buick of Joe Zapata, Jr., 1203 Avenue O.

The 1969 Model Jeep of Jane Ann Harrington, Route 3, was in collision with a gas pump on the parking lot of the L&L Gas Station at 4:29 p.m. Sunday. Damage to the gas pump was placed at $20

The other mishap occurred on College Avenue at Forty-third Street at 8:27 p.m. Involved were the 1969 Model Chevrolet of Kenneth Gene Kornegay, Route 2, and a 1964 Model Ford station wagon driven by Robert Elwood Clark of Odessa.

Commissioners Take Action

County Commissioners this morning appointed John Jarrell to fill the unexpired term of Les Francis on the county hospital board following Francis' resignation.

Commissioners accepted the bid of $827 from Lyddick-Hooks of Abilene for repairs to the roof of the county jail. It was the only bid submitted.

Commissioners also awarded the service contract on the elevator in the court house to Bob Preston of Abilene.

Violence Toll Unusually High

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nine deaths in two East Texas traffic accidents paced a tragic rash of violent deaths in Texas over the weekend.

Early today, the count that included deaths between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday stood at 38, with 22 traffic fatalities, 12 shooting deaths, two drownings, one accidental electrocution and one fatal stabbing.

Five persons died Sunday when an automobile hit another broadside at the intersection of U.S. 80 and Farm Road 2199 about four miles east of Marshall.

Killed outright in the accident near Marshall were Bobby Wells of Waskom and Bill Worley, Mrs. Annie Woodley and Mrs. Emma Bobk, all of Marshall. Mrs. Leah Worley died soon after the crash in a Shreveport hospital.

Bobbie Gillespie, also injured in the collision near Marshall, was termed in "very critical" condition late Sunday night in a Shreveport hospital.

Two cars collided near Etoile in Nacogdoches County near Saturday midnight killing four persons and injuring a small boy. The dead included Lee Edwards, 19, of San Augustine; Herbert Jones, 19, of San Augustine; James Rice, 27, of Lufkin, and K. B. Cartwright, 22, of San Augustine. Officers said the wreck occurred on Texas 103 about 23 miles east of Lufkin.

William E. Jones, 26, of Paris was killed and four other persons injured Saturday night in a two-car, head-on collision. Officers said the accident occurred on U.S. 82 six miles east of Paris.

The body of an unidentified serviceman from San Antonio was found early Sunday on the south shore of Canyon Lake in Comal County. Sheriff Walter Sellers said the man had been shot pwice. His identity was withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

Clara Mae Jones, 32, was charged with murder Saturday in the Friday night shooting in Pasadena of her husband. Officers said Harley Wayne Jones, 27, was slain with a .38 caliber pistol during an argument.

Tenola Keton, 35, of Houston drowned Saturday while swimming in the San Jacinto River. Sheriff's deputies said Keton was swimming about 30 feet offshore when friends saw him go down.

Don Allen Kinney, 19, of Houston was killed Saturday when the motorcycle he was riding struck a guard rail on a Houston freeway. A girl passenger on the vehicle was treated and released.

Benjamin Blanton, 77, and his wife, Naomi Blanton, of Dallas were killed Saturday night when their car was in collision with another vehicle. The accident happened on a Dallas freeway.

DWI Charged

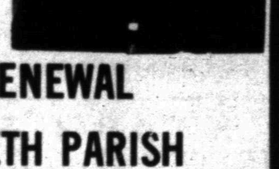

Pierce Moffett Bishop Sr. was charged in county court with driving while intoxicated and he was released on $500 bond.

The offense allegedly occurred Sunday, and he was arrested by Highway Patrolmen.

Declaration Of Independence, Constitution Are Reviewed

Editor's Note: This article was expecially prepared by Delilah Baird of Rotan, member of the Anne Pettus Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The article is in conjunction with Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23.

ONE COUNTRY, ONE CONSTITUTION, ONE DESTINY
Delila Baird, Regent
Anne Pettus Shellburne Chapter, DAR

It was in 1955 that the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution originated the idea for one entire week of each year to be devoted to the constitution of the United States of America. It is a period for thoughtful study and consideration of the events that led up to the forming of the Constitution, and of the means of preserving it from those who would destroy or weaken it. That week, by Act of Congress and Proclamation of the President of the United States, is September 17 through 23 of each year.

Let us refresh our memories on history concerning The Declaration of Independence. This document, written by Thomas Jefferson, was prepared in only two weeks. It was ratified after a two day debate by delegates of the manarch they felt impelled to disown. The Declaration tied a knot that King and Parliament were unable to untie. Unlike the Constitution, the Declaration has never been amended or changed since its adoption. This fact adds to the impression of some that it is obsolete. Nothing could be further from the truth. The principles expressed are still very much alive and are the essence of American self-government today. It was eleven years later that the Constitution was written and molded the thirteen colonies into ONE nation and provided a standard of legal reference as the supreme law of the land, subject to amendments as the need arose. The political theory implicit in the Constitution is that no man or set of men should rule the people, but that the governing power should rest in the hands of the people themselves through their chosen representatives. This concept is the identical idea expressed in the Declaration of Independence—that the people are sovereign and can only be governed by their own consent.

The five principles which Jefferson called self-evident truths still have validity 196 years later. They stand today as a solid bulwark of the American democratic system. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower wrote in the Readers Digest of April 1966 on a subject, "Thoughts for Young Americans," in which he recommends the study of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution as handbooks to be referred to time and again to keep them in our minds as we do the morals and instructions we receive from the Christian teaching of our Bibles—to ponder the true meaning of the documents which is expressed in the five "self-evident" truths:

(1) That all men are created equal—This concept extinguished the century old belief in the divine rights of kings. It also means that all men, regardless of race, color, religion or creed, were created on the same plane and entitled to equal treatment under the law.

(2) That all men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights—meaning in the legal sense, that the rights with which men are endowed with at birth are God-given and cannot be transferred as one might real estate or personal property.

(3) That among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

(4) That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. There are two pillars of thought here. One, that a government exists to guarantee all citizens their birthright of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; the other, that a government obtains its legal powers from the consent of the governed, and has no other authority. These two pillars are implicit in the first ten Amendments to the Constitution, which make up the Bill of Rights.

(5) That whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter it or institute a new government. However, the Declaration warns that this right should not be treated lightly, as it went on to say, "prudence, indeed, will dictate that government long established should not be changed for light or transient causes".

We should take to heart President Eisenhower's advice to read and ponder the meanings of these two great documents. The freedom we now enjoy is a legacy from brave patriots who shed their blood in defense of these self-evident truths.

We read in the 16th chapter, 5th verse of Numbers: "Tomorrow the Lord will show who are His. . . " Some essentials for successful living, characteristics of the men and women who will shape tomorrow, are gearing themselves for emergency living, that is, mental alertness, intellectual insatiability, and a constant readiness for the vicissitudes of life; Husbanding a magnanimous spirit which never empties the heart and seldom the purse; The practice of self inventory learning today to trim your lamps so they will give more light and less smoke; and finally, acquiring the knack of being able to anticipate a problem before it becomes a crisis.

For the future of America we must latch on to the good things of the past, at the same time accepting necessary changes of the present and future. The way of life is not static. The blending of the old and the new is no small effort, but it is imperative in our era. We must recognize that there are some phases of both conservatism and liberalism that are good. However, we must always take a stand for what we consider as good for the community and the country. Stand for something, lest we fall for anything.

The one thing which we as individuals must never forget is the all-powerful God in heaven who has blessed each of us with life and has blessed America with the greatest nation ever known on earth. If we forget God we might lose this great nation; we might lose the freedoms we now enjoy.

Respect for the rights of others, and an understanding of those rights, is a condition of freedom and rights for ones self. If we approach our common problems and our great issues judiciously, we can make a great contribution to the public good. It is to be hoped that the new generation, in turn, will become the substance on which can be built illustrious centuries to come.

FREEDOM—no word was ever spoken which held greater hope, demanded greater sacrifice, needed more to be nurtured, praised more the giver, condemned more its destroyesr, or came closer to being God's will on earth.

American's need the enlightenment of the soul which comes with deep and abiding faith in God, faith in our fellow man, faith in America—the last bulwark of freedom. May Americans always be protectors of our freedoms.

The National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution and Anne Pettus Shelburne Chapter of Rotan urge you to join with us in commemorating our Constitution during the week of September 17-23, 1972.

SIGNS PROCLAMATION—Mayor Bill Seale signs a proclamation declaring the week of Sept. 17-23 as Constitution Week, as designated by President Richard Nixon. Also pictured is Miss Delilah Baird of Rotan, a member of the Anne Pettus Shelburne Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. All citizens are urged to pay special attention during this week to our Federal Constitution and the advantages of American citizenship.

PLAN STYLE SHOW—The board of directors of the Snyder Newcomer's Club met Thursday morning to complete plans for the club's annual style show to be held at 10 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 28, at the Scurry County Coliseum. Pictured, left to right, seated, are Mrs. Winford Corzine, Mrs. Don Wilson and Mrs. J.M. McPherson; standing, Mrs. Bennie Baeza, and Mrs. Max Grosshans. Others attending included Mrs. Tom Perryman and Mrs. Olin Bunch. The style show is free and all women in the Snyder area are invited to attend.

For individual servings of lemonade pour the juice of a lemon and ½ to ¾ cup cold water into a tall glass; add 1 to 3 tablespoons sugar or honey and stir well. Fill glass with ice cubes.

Pope Assails Sex Permissiveness

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — Pope Paul VI assailed sex permissiveness today and said contraception, abortion, adultery and divorce made modern man "vulgar, vicious and sad."

"We live at a time when man's animal side often degenerates into unchecked corruption. We walk in the mud," Pope Paul told 3,000 visitors in his weekly public audience.

He linked psychoanalysis and sexual education with porno magazines and sex shows for contributing to what he called the "pollution of environmental immorality."

Quest For Profits Is Changing Businesses

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The quest for money and profits is never to be underestimated. On that you will find widespread agreement, even though some consider money nasty while others honor it.

Among other things it can shake institutions free of their mindless dedication to tradition. It can return competition to the marketplace. It can heal wounds quickly, no matter how serious.

All this it has done recently.

1. Americans are a restless, mobile people. As many as 40 million of them change their addresses in a year. For a couple of days or maybe a month they may be on the road for business or pleasure. Almost any evening they are out.

This is quite a change from 50 years ago, when families were inclined to have a permanent address and were less likely to be on the move. Their lives were clearly patterned.

Accordingly, business hours were fixed. The drug store and grocery store and bank had standard hours during which everyone conducted their business affairs.

Now, with patterns not nearly so distinguishable, drugstores and supermarkets are beginning to open 24 hours a day. And banks, which sternly adhered to the hours 9 to 3 as if they were sacred, are joining the trend.

For the banks, so much inclined to believe they set rather than followed rules, the change has been painful and gradual: from night deposit slides to banking by mail to 24-hour card-operated money machines.

Now they are making the ultimate sacrifice to the dollar. In Arlington, Va., Huntington, W. Va., Oklahoma City and Edina, Minn., to name some, full service banks are open 24 hours a day.

2. Regardless of criticism, the woman who does the food shopping is a shrewd money handler. She may be guilty of waste here and there but if her bill adds up to more than it was a week before she takes action.

As a result, supermarkets have just about the lowest return on sales of any major industry, ranging between one and two cents on the dollar. The profit for some is less than a penny. And for others, including chains, there is no profit.

The tendency of food shoppers to shop down to lower prices has forced almost all supermarkets to change tactics, and the trend continues toward functional rather than glamorous markets.

Even the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., which once was indisputably the largest chain in the country, has been goaded to change. With leadership now claimed by Safeway Stores, A & P has been forced into discounting.

One regional competitor, thrown into the red by the competition, calls it a "cut-throat price war."

3. A few years ago a fast-growing upstart of a company by the name of Leasco Corp., headed by ambitious young men with an understanding of leveraging, committed what seemed to be an unpardonable blunder. They offended the banking establishment.

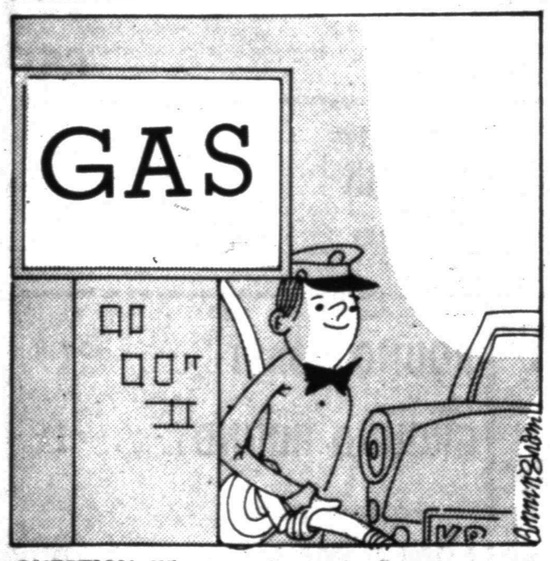

Possessing few of the credentials that gets one invited into this austere club, they tried to push open the door and barge in by seeking control of the huge Chemical Bank.

For this offense they found their credit cut off everywhere and they were forced into retreat. But the blunder, terrible as it was, appears not to have been unforgiveable to the banking fraternity.

Leasco recently announced completions of arrangements to borrow $150million from 46 domestic and international banks. Chemical wasn't included, but nine of the top 13 were represented.

They might not have wanted Leasco, and they still might not. But bankers always distinguish between people and money.

Junior Editors Quiz on GASOLINE

QUESTION: What is gasoline made of?

* * *

ANSWER: Gasoline is an inflammable liquid which easily turns into vapor. It is a compound made up of carbon and hydrogen. It is obtained from petroleum, natural gas or coal. Its speed in burning, and the great amount of heat generated with very little waste, has made it the ideal fuel for the internal combustion engine which, since the turn of the century, has revolutionized transportation in the world. The internal combustion engine is used in automobiles, airplanes and motor-boats. Gasoline is also used as a cleanser and as a solvent.

The most important source of gasoline is petroleum. It is extracted from petroleum by a heating process known as distillation. Its connection with petroleum has resulted in the name petrol, which is used in Great Britain and other countries.

Early in the history of the petroleum industry, gasoline was known as naphtha. In refining petroleum, gasoline was produced. The engine in the auto created a large demand for gasoline. Then the emphasis turned to new and more efficient methods of producing gasoline.

Boyle Recalls Yesterdays

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — A computer is a better recall machine than the human memory in some ways.

But it excels only in terms of pure quantity. No human mind could store and then deliver back on demand the millions of figures or letters or words that a computer can.

But when it comes to quality, the machine is hopelessly outclassed. Only the blood-fed heart and mind can recall the flavor of a memory or restore an emotional event with all the impact that it had originally.

You've got a pretty good memory box in your own head if you can push a mental button and it will remember when:

A juvenile delinquent was a kid who pitched pennies at sidewalk cracks for keeps.

A man who skipped going to church on Sunday felt guilty about it all next week.

You weren't a real traveling salesman until you learned to call every Pullman porter "George."

In summer you could tell a dude by his straw boater and two-tone shoes.

In a fair fight, there still was some tradition of sportsmanship. You were supposed to refrain from kicking an opponent when he was down — a rule later dropped by a generation which believes that it is only when a fellow is down that you can give him a proper kicking.

Anyone walking down the street of a small town after midnight would start a dozen dogs barking.

Sometimes it seemed that the only things the parlor of a home were used for were wakes and later, the reading of the will.

A kid knew the coming Saturday afternoon movie serial would be a dinger if Eddie Polo or Pearl White was in it.

F. Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald were young, alive, in love — and still living together, a romance to remember.

Producer Billy Rose, a former shorthand whiz, was earning a living on Broadway as a song lyricist, turning out such hits as "Me and My Shadow," "The Old Gang of Mine," and the one about some odd character who left Spearmint chewing gum on the bedpost overnight.

Those were the days -remember?

Fair Weather Forecast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fair skies dominated the Texas weather today, and forecasters predicted the warm Indian summer would continue.

Skies were clear near dawn over the Panhandle, far West Texas and extreme eastern portions of the state. Elsewhere, skies were partly cloudy to cloudy, with temperatures ranging from 58 at Dalhart in the Panhandle to 8 at Corpus Christi on the coast.

Before sunrise, moist unstable air produced a few showers and thundershowers along the coast and along the Rio Grande Valley from Laredo to Del Rio. But the state in general enjoyed a night of clear to partly cloudy weather.

Texas forecasters called for partly cloudy and warm weather across the state, with isolated thundershowers along the coastal plains and in the Rio Grande valley.

Isolated thundershowers covered much of Texas' southern sections Sunday.

Duchess Status Change Urged

LONDON (AP) — Britain's bible of the aristocracy today urged Buckingham Palace to promote the Duchess of Windsor — former American divorcee Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson — to the status of royalty.

Debrett, the acknowledged guide to the British peerage, said in its 1972-73 edition that Queen Elizabeth II now should elevate the newly widowed duchess to royal rank.

Near Record Of New Faces In House Likely

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although a near-record number of new faces is likely in the next House of Representatives, the effect of the changes, including some in leadership positions, may not be noticeable for some time.

Some senior members are losing influential committee positions but in most instances other oldsters will take over the vacancies.

Newer and ydunger members must start at the bottom of the seniority ladder, but their opportunities for advancement are becoming brighter as older members depart.

With more casualties certain in the November elections, the number of new members in the House convening next January may approach the record of 116 who took office in January 1949.

There were 51 new faces in the House when the present Congress convened in January 1971.

That number already has been exceeded by announced retirements, primary election defeats, and the quest for other office. Among them, departing members have about 1,000 years of service.

Of the 15 House members defeated in primaries this year, four, all Democrats, are committee chairmen.

Celler, 84, has been in the House 50 years. His committee post is scheduled to go to Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who is 63 and has 22 years of seniority.

Miller, 81, has been in the House since 1945. His chairmanship is slated to go to Rep. Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., 62, with 26 years of service.

Teague now is chairman of the Veterans Affairs Committee. If he elects to keep that post, Miller's chairmanship would go to Rep. Ken W. Hechler, D-W.Va., 58 a 14-year veteran. If Teague leaves the Veterans Affairs panel, the chairmanship would go to Rep. William Jennings Bryan Dorn, D-S.C., who is 56 and has been in the House since 1947.

Aspinall, who is 76 with 24 years of service, is due to be replaced as chairman of Interior by Rep. James A. Haley, D-Fla. Haley, 73, came to the House in 1953.

McMillan, 74, has been in the House since 1939 and is one of its most conservative members. He is slated to be replaced as head of the District of Columbia Committee by a liberal black, Rep. Charles C. Diggs, D-Mich., 50 who was elected to the House in 1954.

Two of the 30 retiring House members are committee chairmen. They are Reps. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., and Edward A. Garmatz, D-Md.

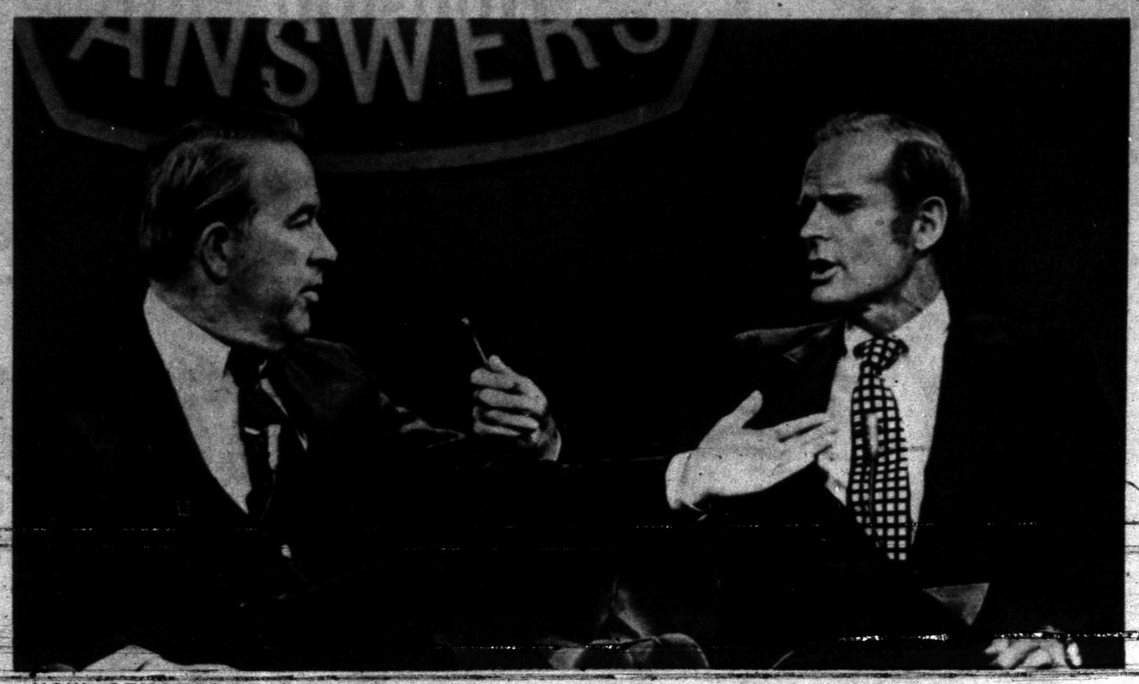

The 80-year-old Colmer heads the Rules Committee and has been a member for 40 years. A conservative, his place as committee chairman is destined to go to a liberal Democrat. Rep. Ray J. Madden of Indiana, 80, with 30 years' seniority.

Garmatz, 69, heads the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, and is due to be replaced as chairman by Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., who is 69. Garmatz came to Congress in 1947, Mrs. Sullivan in 1953.

Nine retiring veterans are Republicans who would be chairmen of important committees if Republicans won control.

Only two senators have lost their seats in this year's primaries. Six others are retiring voluntarily.

Nine House members are running for Senate seats. Another is running for governor and one already has lost his bid for nomination to the Senate.

Typhoon Helen Kills Fifty

TOKYO (AP) — Police reported today that Typhoon Helen killed 50 persons, destroyed 399 houses and damaged or sank 75 ships over the weekend when it swept through Japan.

Helen weakened over northern Japan and was downgraded to a tropical storm Sunday. It had maximum winds of 108 miles per hour when it whipped through Shikoku, Honshu and Hokkaido, three of Japan's four main islands, Saturday and Sunday.

Goldwater Joins Aces

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, a World War II fighter pilot, joined four Vietnam aces here as they were honored by the American Fighter Aces Association.

Goldwater also won enthusiastic applause from the group, declaring that the Vietnam War "could have been over seven or eight years ago" if restrictions had not been imposed on U.S. fighter pilots.

Among those honored along with Goldwater Saturday night for distinguished service were Navy aviators Randy Cunningham, 30 of San Diego, Calif., and William Driscoll, 24, of Framingham, Mass.

The two were the first U.S. pilots to qualify as aces in Vietnam with five air victories.

Also cited were the Air Force's first aces in Vietnam—Capts. Charles DeBellevue, 27, of Lafayette, La., and Richard S. Ritche, 30 of Reidsville, N.C.

Goldwater told the association that the policy of waiting for "hostile intentions" to be shown before U.S. pilots can do battle is the reason the war has lasted so long.

He blamed former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara for implementing such restrictions.

"If I have to have a heart transplant ... I'm going to be around when they tack that Robert S. McNamara to the wall," he said.

The Fighter Aces Association, meeting here for its 11th annual reunion, has about 300 members who have scored five aerial victories to qualify as aces. Most are World War II veterans.

All of today's North American thoroughbred horses are descendants of three horses brought from England toward the end of the 17th century and the beginning of the 18th century.

Houston Shippers Fear Rail Logjam

HOUSTON (AP) — Some 70 per cent of the $750 million worth of wheat being bought by Russia will probably flow through the Port of Houston, sources in the industry say.

But while shippers here welcome the bonanza, they say they fear a massive logjam of freight cars.

"This represents a record volume," said O. R. Puckett, Houston sales manager of the Missouri-Kansas Texas Railroad Co. "I've never heard of such a volume of grain...but fortunately the business will be spread out over a two year period."

Puckett and officials of the half dozen railroads which will be carrying the wheat from the Middle West to Houston say the railroads have enough cars to handle the shipment—but only if there are no delays in discharging wheat into elevators or ships.

"If vessels are late coming in, the yards will be blocked in two to three days and everyone will be in trouble," Puckett said.

Four vessels have already sailed from private elevators here, but the bulk of the shipments will begin in October.

Puckett said very few railroads have time to acquire additional hoppers in time to transport the Russian shipments.

"We are pulling out covered hoppers from other areas to be used in this and earmarking cars that have been in other services," he said.

Ralph R. Luddecke, area sales manager of the Burlington Northern Inc., said there would undoubtedly be a shortage of cars as there has been in other periods of intense grain shipping.

Nixon Courting DemocraticBlocs

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is courting traditionally Democratic voting blocs as he increases the pace of his re-election campaign.

Making a surprise stop while en route back to the White House from Camp David on Sunday, Nixon went to an Italian-American picnic and then toured a Catholic-sponsored home for the elderly.

In past campaigns, most ethnic blocs and the Catholic vote generally have been considered in the Democratic camp. But this year Nixon is trying to make inroads into Democratic strongholds as he seeks to weld a new political majority of Democrats, Republicans and independents.

Pursuit of that goal carried him on the steamy Sunday afternoon to the southern Maryland community of Mitchellville where he found a crowd gathered for the 12th annual Italian Fall Festival, an event to raise funds for the Villa Rosa Nursing Home.

The President's daughter, Tricia Nixon Cox, had been scheduled to attend the picnic but canceled out at the last minute. Her father decided to substitute for her.

Linking arms with two Catholic priests representing sponsors of the event, Nixon worked his way slowly through the crowd.

Mounting a bandstand, the President drew cheers when he praised the patriotism, hard work and spirit of Italian-Americans. And he drew laughter and applause when he declared:

"Every time I've been in Italy and every time I'm at an Italian picnic, I think I have some Italian blood."

After declaring that all Americans should give the elderly "the respect they deserve," he worked his way back through the crowd to the nearby nursing home where he chatted with Catholic sisters garbed in nurse's white and greeted about a dozen residents of the church-supported facility.

The Sunday afternoon politicking was an example of the type of campaign schedule Nixon will be pursuing until Congress adjourns sometime in October. Nixon has said he will be sticking close to the White House while Congress is in session, limiting himself to one-day or weekend jaunts.

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

BY CRAWFORD C. MARTIN
Attorney General of Texas

"Who are you helping?"

"They need your help just to survive."

"A dollar means so little to you but it means so much to them."

Have you heard similar appeals lately? Of course you have, nearly everyone has.

But are such appeals legitimate? Often it is difficult to tell. Sometimes the request is virtually a swindle.

The Postal Inspectors were involved in the investigation of one of the biggest charity rackets of which I have heard. This involved a professional fund-raising organization which solicited from millions of persons throughout the United States on an annual basis for several years. Ostensibly they were seeking funds to help find a cure for a crippling disease.

The investigation by the Postal Authorities disclosed that of approximately $22 million contributed by the public, nearly $11 million was earmarked for salaries and expenses. In addition, illegal kickbacks were given to the charity's officers.

While the dollars involved here are larger than most, the percentages are not unusual. We have received information where only 25 per cent of funds raised go to the charity and the other 75 per cent goes to the fund raiser.

But this is not to discourage your support of charitable groups. Many are making important contributions in medical research, helping the handicapped, giving assistance to the elderly or to children unable to help themselves. Their work is worthwhile and it deserves your support.

However, you can and should be sure your contributions are effectively used. Before you donate, you should know the charity, its purpose and its past record. If you don't, check with your Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce. You can also ask for a financial statement from the organization.

Remember, the pictures on the literature may be appealing, but if you are not careful your money may wind up in the pockets of some rich promoter.

Angela Arrives In Bulgaria

MOSCOW (AP) — Angela Davis has arrived in Sofia, Bulgaria, to a welcome of "red carnations and friendly smiles," Tass reported.

The official Soviet news agency's dispatch from Sofia said Miss Davis, a member of the American Communist party, was invited there by the Central Committee of the Bulgarian Communist party.

She visited the Soviet Union and East Germany earlier and was quoted Sunday by Tass as saying:

"In the U.S.S.R. we saw representatives of many nationalities living and working together as members of one big friendly family."

3-Day Work Week Is Praised

GASTONIA, N. C. (AP) — Lester Cutler, a 51-year-old textile mill owner, is as proud as a new father about a three-day work week he has initiated for his employes. He says he thinks it is "as historical as Ford's $5-a-day plan."

Most of the employes at Cutler's Wales Manufacturing Co. are off four days a week, putting in three 12-hour days to earn their full 40-hour pay per week.

Grace Martin, back on the job after a four-day weekend, said: "I was glad to come back. It's unusual for me to miss work that much."

Mrs. Martin runs a knitting machine and says the long day at work does not tire her. There are several short breaks throughout the day and a half hour for lunch.

Another worker, Gloria Bryson, said, "I didn't think I'd feel that good" as she did after her three 12-hour work days.

"If I have to work 40 or 48 hours, this is the best way. I have more time at home," she added.

Cutler says he began thinking about the best way to utilize his plant nearly a year ago, noting that the best utilization of his equipment requires 24-hour operation.

He said he used to have three groups of 30 employes for three eight-hour shifts each work day.

"Now we have 30 working from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Wednesday, another 30 from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. those days, 30 more on two shifts like that Thursday through Saturday — four groups of 30

"We created more jobs," he said.

He cites what he thinks are its main benefits:

"First, in today's mode of life one of the main things people are looking for is time off.

"Second, instead of driving to work five days, now they come three days. There is some savings: less wear and tear on automobiles, less gas.

"Third, some females require babysitters, instead of five days, now only two or three. Their husbands can often keep the children one day.

"If it doesn't work, we can always go back — but I don't think so. I'd have one hell of a problem if we went back.

"I'd be tarred and feathered."

Strip Mining Up To Counties

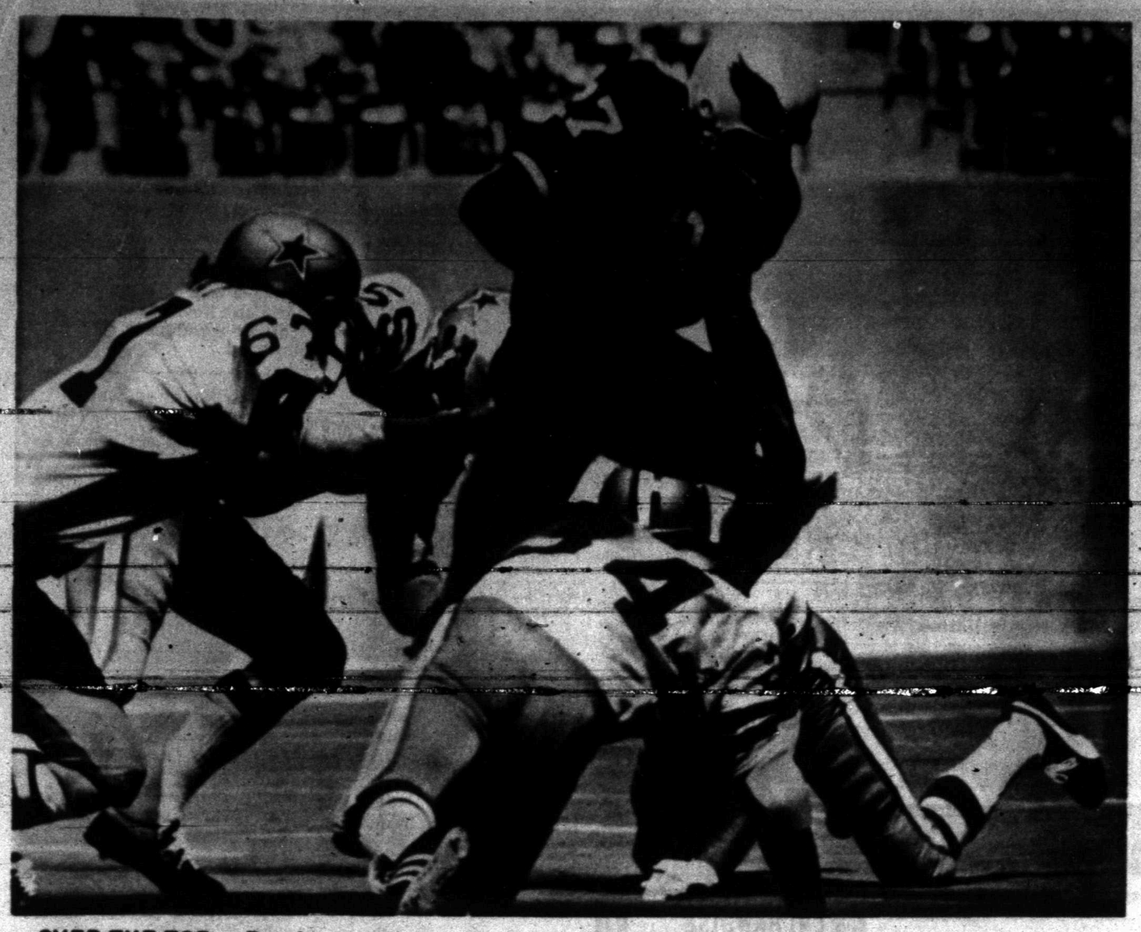

FRANKFORT, K.y. (AP) — The attorney general's office says a new 1972 act appears to authorize counties to regulate strip mining as long as the restrictions do not conflict with state laws.

Associated Press Sports Writer

Tim Van Galder has qualified for the National Football League's pension plan for players.

It could mean a lot larger pension than the one he'd have gotten if he had remained in the Army.

The 28-year-old rookie-by NFL rules—directed the St. Louis Cardinals to a 10-3 upset of the Baltimore Colts Sunday as pro football began its 1972 season.

"Not only was this my first regular season start, it qualified me for the NFL pension," explained Van Galder, who upstaged one of the game's old pros, Johnny Unitas. He spent three years on St. Louis' taxi squad and two years in the Army before getting into a regular season game.

In Sunday's other games, the Miami Dolphins defeated the Kansas city Chiefs 20-10; the Atlanta Falcons bombed the Chicago Bears 37-21; the Green Bay Packers upset the Cleveland Browns 26-10; Cincinnati's Bengals clouted the New England Patriots 31-7; the Los Angeles Rams routed the New Orleans Saints 34-14.

The Detroit Lions whipped the New York Giants 30-16; the New York Jets jolted the Buffalo Bills 41-24; the Pittsburgh Steelers thumped the Oakland Raiders 34-28 the Dallas Cowboys thrashed the Philadelphia Eagles 28-6; the San Francisco 49ers beat the San Diego Chargers 34-3; and the Denver Broncos clipped the Houston Oilers 30-17.

Coach George Allen, who has never lost an opening game, sends his Washington Redskins to Minnesota tonight for a nationally televised game, winding up the first of 14 weekends of NFL action.

Van Galder's statistics from the Cardinal-Colt game weren't very impressive—10 of 15 passes for 110 yards. But he connected with a 71-yard toss to Jacky Smith in the third quarter on a play which led to Donny Anderson's four-yard game-winning touchdown run.

Baltimore's Unitas threw 36 times, completing 22 for 257 yards. It put Unitas' total passing figures for his 17 seasons as a pro over 22 miles.

"Mistakes, Mistakes," muttered Don McCafferty, the Colt coach. "We made mistakes and the Cardinals didn't."

Now for a quick look at the other games:

Dolphins 20, Chiefs 10; In the celebrated replay of the 1971 Christmas Day double-overtime game, Miami won again. The Dolphins had all of their points—on a Bob Griese touchdown pass, a Larry Csonka run and two Garo Yepremian field goals—before the Chiefs could get on the scoreboard.

Falcons 37, Bears 21: getting a team record 31 points in the first half, Atlanta easily crushed Chicago with Bob Berry throwing a pair of touchdown strikes and running for a third Falcon tally. "I thought we were ready," said Chicago Coach Abe Gibron.

Packers 26, Browns 10 "You can't say field goal in Polish because they don't play football," said Polish-born Chester Marcol, who kicked four three-pointers to lead Green Bay past Cleveland. Rich McGeorge caught two touchdown passes to make things even sweeter for Dan Devine and the Packers.

Bengals 31, Patriots 7: "When you don't block and tackle, you don't win," said New England Coach John Mazur. Cincinnati gained 246 yards on the ground under the direction of quarterback Ken Anderson, who also threw for one touchdown.

Rams 34, Saints 14: Bob Thomas "ran awfully well," said Los Angeles Coach Tommy Prothro. Indeed, he did. Given a starting assignment only hours before the game, the 5-foot-10running back scored two touchdowns and gained 144 yards in the Rams' rout of New Orleans.

Lions 30 Giants 16: Greg Landry threw three touchdown passes. Erroll Mann kicked three field goals. Steve Owens gained 114 yards rushing. What more can you say about a Detroit team that thrashed the New York Giants. Except that New York's Rocky Thompson got a touchdown on a 92-yard kickoff return.

Jets 41, Bills 24: "I know I could do better," said New York running back John Riggins. Riggins wasn't satisfied with his 125 yards and a touchdown in the Jets' triumph over Buffalo. Emerson Boozer scored three times for the Jets, one on a 12-yard throw from Joe Namath.

Steelers 34, Raiders 28 Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw ran for two touchdowns and passed 57 yards for a third to lead his team over Oakland. Daryle Lamonica, who came in for the Raiders in the fourth quarter when his team was down 27-7, threw two scoring strikes.

Cowboys 24, Eagles 6: Craig Morton threw twice for touchdowns in leading Dallas to its victory over Philadelphia. Backup quarterback Danny Reeves saw action late in the final quarter and later Sunday underwent surgery for a bone chip in his left knee.

49ers 34, Chargers 3: "The San Diego defense took Ted Kwalick away from us," said San Francisco quarterback John Brodie. So Brodie threw three touchdown passes to Gene Washington when he couldn't find tight end Kwalick, his favorite receiver.

Broncos 30 Oilers 17: Denver quarterback Steve Ramsey ran for one touchdown and passed for another., Houston's Dan Pastorini countered with scoring throws of 18 and 57 yards.

Andros Impressed

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

"They are ranked No. 1 and they played like a No. 1 team."

So Said Oregon State's Dee Andros after powerful Southern California completed its first week as college football's top-rated team with a 51-6 rout Saturday night, outgaining the Beavers 670yards—354 rushing, 316 passing—to 92 and recovering five of the losers' seven fumbles.

And despite the score, the Trojans didn't roll it up.

"It was just a matter of Oregon State being a young team," said USC's John McKay. "We just had too many advantages. We suited up 50players and everybody played, even some of the reserves in the second quarter."

By halftime, Southern Cal had a 20-6 lead, with Rod McNeill scoring all three touchdowns on runs of 14, two and five yards. McNeill gained 117 yards while quarterback Mike Rae completed 12 of 19 passes for 268yards and one score and second-stringer Pat Haden scored one TD and passed for another.

Second-ranked Colorado kept pace with Southern Cal by trouncing Cincinnati 56-14 while third-rated Ohio State and No. 4 Oklahoma opened their seasons with shutout triumphs—21-0 over Iowa and 49-0 over Utah State, respectively.

Alabama, rated fifth, was idle while No. 7 Tennessee outlasted No. 6 Penn State 28-21 in the only match-up of Top Ten teams. UCLA, No. 8 held off Pitt 38-28, ninth-rated Louisiana State debuted with a 31-13 victory over Pacific and Nebraska's defending national champions, who skidded from first to 10th after losing to UCLA a week ago, started the long road back with a 37-7 whomping of Texas A&M.

Colorado broke Ken Johnson, Charlie Davis and Bo Matthews loose for 314 of its 473 rushing yards and four of its eight touchdowns against Cincinnati.

Ohio State combined strong running by fullbacks Randy Keith 81 yards and Champ Henson (79 yards) and a defense that kept Iowa off the scoreboard as Woody Hayes began his 22nd campaign at the helm of the Buckeyes.

Oklahoma was worried about a successor for Wishbone quarterback Jack Mildren but Dave Robertson got the Sooners rolling against Utah State with a 44-yard scoring pass to John Carroll and his replacement, freshman Kerry Jackson, was the leading ground-gainer with 109 of Oklahoma's 412 rushing yards. All-American halfback Greg Pruitt scored three times on short runs.

Tennessee got touchdown gallops of 41 and three yards from Haskel Stanback and raced to a 21-0halftime lead over Penn State before John Hufnagel rallied the Nittany Lions with a pair of scoring passes. Stanback's third TD, a two-yard run in the final period that capped an 80-yard drive, put the game out of reach.

UCLA got one touchdown from each member of its starting backfield—short runs by Mark Harmon, James McAlister and Gary Campbell and an 80-yard scamper by Kermit Johnson—plus a 63-yard scoring dash by second-string quarterback Rob Scribner in beating Pitt.

Refugio Is Upset 49-19

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Several highly-rated Texas high school football teams got caught out of their class last weekend and found themselves in the loss column.

Topping the list was the top-ranked team in Class 2A, Refugio, which tangled with the No. 7 team in 3A, Cuero, and was stunned 49-19.

Hondo, ranked sixth in 2A, faced an even tougher task, facing No. 1 Class 3A squad Uvalde and falling 20-7.

Two other 3A teams faced 4A opposition and fell to defeat Gregory-Portland, tied with Silsbee for the second spot, fell 32-23 to Corpus Christi Carroll and 10th-ranked Lubbock Estacado was stopped by Fort Worth Terrell 26-6.

In Class A, two rated teams met 2A opposition and were stopped. Sixth-ranked Stinnett was upset 10-9 by Dalhart and 10th ranked Three Rivers was blanked 19-0 by Karnes City. But No. 2 Class A club Crowell went down in class to swamp Class B Chillicothe, ranked eighth, 39-6.

Meanwhile, Class 4A kingpin San Antonio Lee appeared to serve notice it will be in a class completely by itself.

Abilene JV WhacksBengals

ABILENE—The Abilene Junior Varsity whacked Snyder High School's junior varsity 34-0 here Saturday afternoon in Rose Park Stadium.

The only threat by the Bengals occurred in the second quarter and it was stopped by a fumble.

Quarterback Jimmy Minor passed to Harold Jones for a touchdown in the second quarter with the play covering 84 yards. In the same period, Curtis Bledsoe scored on a 3 yard plunge.

In the fourth quarter, Bledsoe scooted 76 yards for a touchdown and Jones raced 23 yards for a tally. Also, Minor connected with Terry Conner for 65 yards and the final touchdown. Minor also hit Ricky Grovens and Terry Conner on extra point passes.

Fish Bite At Spence

It's a tossup whether Odessa fishermen or black bass dominated the fishing news from Lake E.V. Spence last week.

However, the big news was a new record 8¼-pound striped bass landed by Aubrey Walker, Big Spring, establishing a new record for the lake. Clark Storm, Midland, landed a respectable 6¾-pound striper. Morris Huckaby, Odessa, hooked a 3-pound striped bass.

Odessa fishermen dominated the reports. F.E. Willcox had 12 black bass up to three pounds. Terry Scott, landed 10 black bass up to three pounds. James Jennings reported four black bass to three pounds and six channel cat, while Mrs. Jennings had 24 channel cat and four black bass, the latter topping at three pounds. Robert Dewoodie reported half a dozen black bass to 2½ pounds, C.L. Davenport 10 black bass to three pounds, R.M. Martin seven crappie to a pound, C.W. Freeman seven black bass and six channel cat to four pounds; J.R. Peak two white bass up to 1½ pounds.

Also from Odessa Jack E. Cox, one 5½-pound black bass; Pat Parbee 10 black bass to three pounds, C.B. Tippet a 4½-pound black bass, Harlan Smith five channel cat to three pounds, Cecil Tucker eight black bass to 2½ pounds, Dill Holland 10 black bass to 3½ pounds, Ricky Holland 10 black bass to 3½ pounds, Willie Wilcox, 10 black bass to 2½ pounds, and Holland Smith 21 channel cat to 5 pounds top.

Charles Morris, San Angelo, had six black bass up to four pounds, E.G. Martin, San Angelo, 25 channel cat up to four pounds; Jim Morrison, Stanton, seven channel cat to 2½ pounds; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Brazwell, Sweetwater, 15 black bass to three pounds; C.C. Tippett, Winters, 5½-pound black bass; Ed Henry and Party, Andrews, 10 black bass to four pounds; Bill Manness, Andrews, 10 black bass to 2½ pounds.

'Laundered' Movies Are Coming To Television

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Remember all those movies everyone said would never be on television because of the sex, language and violence?

Well, a lot of them are coming to television—but laundered.

Television has virtually exhausted the supply of movies made before the Motion Picture Association of America instituted its rating system in 1968, and the networks and stations are now turning with scissors ready—to later pictures with bolder themes.

A few movies rated R for theaters reached the home screen last year, after careful editing, and at least a dozen are scheduled by the networks this coming season. None of the networks is even looking at X-rated movies because sexuality generally runs throughout.

Under the R rating, persons 17 or under must be accompanied by an adult. An X-rated movie is barred to 17-year-olds or under. A movie with a G rating is released for general audiences, while a movie with a PG rating leaves it up to the parent to decide whether to take children.

"When you go into a home where there are young children there are certain subjects you don't want to be that graphic about," said Herminio Traviesas, NBC vice president for practices and standards. "We must be careful because we don't know who is watching and yet we have to provide more provocative thematic material."

William Self, president of 20th Century Fox Television, said, "It's a problem. Motion picture companies are aiming at a different audience, one that's more sophisticated and fragmented. Movies don't have to appeal to everybody. Television is just the opposite. It's a mass medium.

"Obviously, we don't try to edit a film for television if it's thematically difficult," Self said. "I'd never offer 'Myra Breckinridge' or 'The Staircase' for television. But if it's language or a sex scene that I can isolate, I can cut that out."

NBC's premiere movie on "Monday Night at the Movies" last week was "The Anderson Tapes," a crime caper starring Sean Connery that had been rated R for theaters.

"When we first saw the picture we didn't think we could use it because of the rough words," Traviesas said. "But Columbia Studios sent over two editors and we reviewed it together. We told them our philosophy and what couldn't be done.

"They went back and did a masterful job of cutting, turning scenes around and getting the language out. We think the integrity of the picture was preserved. That's important, because you can conform to broadcast standards and ruin a movie for viewing."

Grace Johnson, director of standards and practices for ABC, said, "Our policy on R films is to look at them and indicate where editing is required. Then we return the film to the producer for editing and he submits the film to the Motion Picture Association for a new rating. If he cannot get the rating changed we don't accept the film."

"I think we're getting tougher in the violence area," she said. "In the sex area, I think we're a little more relaxed. Certainly not with nudity, however, which is always edited out. But we are more relaxed with subject matter and language as long as it's in good taste."

Among the R movies ABC has edited for television are "Goodbye Columbus," "The Sterile Cuckoo," "Hard Contract," "John and Mary," "The Magus," "Lady in Cement," and "The Adventurers."

The last required extensive editing for sex and violence and Miss Johnson said, "We're still working on that one." Some of the films may not be aired until next season.

ABC also edited "Love Story," "Patton" and "True Grit," which were rated PG, for language, and "Lawrence of Arabia," for violence. NBC edited "In the Heat of the Night," for a scene of nudity.

A movie can be edited for television in different ways. Nudity, for instance, must come out, but that does not mean the entire scene is lost for television. Sometimes another—and less revealing—angle can be found among the original film that was shot and not used. Other times, studio editors can optically scan the film to move the nudity out of the frame in the same way a corner drugstore can make a closeup from a group shot.

If a character utters a four-letter word it has to come out, but the actor can't be shown silently mouthing the word. Usually, the studio will go back to the original film and find another angle that can be spliced in.

That was the case with "Love Story" which will be seen on ABC. "It had some strong language," said Mike Policare, director of technical operations for Paramount Pictures, the producers. "I feel as though the cut picture has not at all hurt the Ali McGraw character. She's the same character without the strong dialogue."

In the scene in the park in which Miss McGraw asks costar Ryan O'Neal what he calls his father, in the theater version he answers "son of a bitch." For the television version the editors went to another part of the movie and found another piece of dialogue.

Military Is Preparation Stage For Chaplain

By RUTH ANN RAGLAND
Associated Press Writer

FT. BLISS, Tex. (AP) — Chaplain (Maj.) Caleb Holestewa Johnson a Hopi Indian, says his military career is preparing him to go back to his hometown of Oraibi, Ariz., and continue his father's work in the Hopi Independent Church.

"That's my ultimate goal," said Johnson, who is chaplain of the School Brigade at Ft. Bliss. "The military is a kind of preparation stage. When my father is unable to do the work, I'll take it up."

The Hopi Independent Church was established in Oraibi in 1946 by his father, Fred A. Johnson, about 70, a former Hopi Mennonite pastor.

"First we had church at home," Johnson recalled in a recent interview. "Then the congregation got bigger, and we built a chapel. Later on we added a classroom."

The little church now has 40 to 50 members, all Hopis, he said.

Johnson, who said he believes he is one of only two Indian chaplains in the U.S. Army, works mainly with young people.

"Our audience is very young, 18 to 24," he said.

Members of the so-called New Army are mostly volunteers and a little different, he said.

"They're not as mature as some of the earlier draftees. They're still drifting; they haven't found their place in life."

Johnson sees troubled young men daily, many of them Indians. They come with marital problems, spiritual problems, problems with drugs and alcohol, he said.

"I'm kind of a trouble shooter for Indians here at Ft. Bliss," he said. "They feel only an Indian can really talk to another Indian."

He cited one young man from the Papago Tribe assigned to Ft. Bliss after serving in Vietnam who "was having some adjustment problems. The soldier's first sergeant thought he was basically a good soldier and shouldn't receive a dishonorable discharge," he said.

After some counseling, the youth went into a program for soldiers facing discharge to learn a job useful in civilian life.

This particular soldier took up bricklaying, he said.

"Instead of going to the stockade, where he would have eventually gone, he's out, instead with an honorable discharge," Johnson said.

He said there are about a dozen Indians of various tribes stationed at Ft. Bliss.

"Indian young men sometimes have adjustment problems in the military," he said. "they're reserved; they're not extroverts. They don't push themselves into the white man's society. They hold a lot of feelings back."

As chaplain, Johnson said, he can help "bring these feelings out more openly. Because I'm another Indian, they'll talk freely with me," he said.

Extra Cash For Stamp Dealers

Career Corner
by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: I would like to know how to go about becoming a stamp dealer. I could do this from my home. -- N.W., Denver

Prices of some of the world's rarest postage stamps soared to record levels in the United States last year. Among the nation's philatelists – estimated at about 6 million -- stamp collecting seems to be more popular than ever as an investment, hobby, and extra-income business.

Stamp collecting and dealing involves considerable scholarship. It seems to appeal most strongly to men – they outnumber women in stamp collecting by about 50 to 1.

Unless you have enjoyed stamp collecting as a hobby for at least a year, stay away from philately as a part-time business; it's much too complex for amateurs.

Here are several key suggestions from Edward J Davis, Jr., publisher of "Stamp Business," a magazine for stamp dealers:

• Do not use your personal stamp collection as inventory to get into stamp dealing. After you sell your choice stamps, you may not know where to buy replacements. Start by using wholesale suppliers.

• At the beginning, let your dealing interests coincide with your collecting interests; a general collector should deal in general issues and a country specialist should deal in his preferred country.

• Your biggest risk is sending stamps on approval to customers. If a customer doesn't pay, or the stamps are stolen or lost, you are responsible for their wholesale value.

Davis has put together a handbook for the beginning stamp dealer: "Basic Stamp Dealing." It's 16 pages, mimeographed, and costs $2 from Davis at 847 Main St., Riverton, R.I. 02878.

Dear Joyce: I am interested in turning my hobby -- woodworking -- into a going business. I am particularly interested in furniture making and repair. Do you know of any literature on woodworking shops? -- A.S., Greensburg, Pa.

Since you're planning a one-man shop, you're wise to specialize at first in custom items such as furniture, stairwork or cabinets. You'll need to know (1) how to buy lumber (2) how to store lumber (3) how to operate the machinery and tools in a professional and efficient way (4) how to assess the market for your products (5) how to handle the business part, including recordkeeping procedures that show you what profit is made on each order.

A bibliography which describes much of the literature you'll find helpful is available free from the Small Business Administration (field office in many cities, or headquarters at 441 L St. NW, Washington, D.C. 20416). Ask for "Woodworking Shops, No. 46."

FREE BOOKLET ON FURNITURE CARE. Readers who wish to obtain an unusually good 20-page booklet of tips on furniture care -- plus a 68-page "Album of American Furniture Classics" (for antique lovers) should write to me. Send your request on a postcard to Joyce Lain Kennedy at this newspaper. Ask for "FURNITURE CARE." You will be sent both booklets, but allow several weeks for delivery.

Would Find Job For Lt. Calley

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The law-and-order mayor of Macon, Ga. says if he is elected to Congress he will offer Lt. William Calley a job on his Washington staff.

Ronnie Thompson, a Republican, says if he wins the 8th District congressional race, "I'll put him on my staff in Washington, D.C. — if he so desires."

Calley is under house arrest in Ft. Benning, Ga., awaiting a decision on appeals on a court-martial conviction of murder in the 1968 My Lai incident.

Thompson's law-and-order stand won him a landslide re-election last year as mayor of Macon.

"I don't know what his qualifications are," said Thompson of Calley, but added, "I would find a job for him."

Shriver Appears Poorest

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sargent Shriver says his net worth is about $100,000-a figure that would make him appear the poorest of the four men seeking national office.

It puts the Democratic vice-presidential candidate out of the financial league of President Nixon, who reports a net worth of $765,118

Vice President and Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew disclosed a net worth of $198,250. Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic presidential nominee, reported in January that his assets totaled $271,600 more than his liabilities.

In answer to a newsman's question Sunday, Shriver replied: "My net worth is about $100,000." He did not elaborate. But since his wife, Eunice, is a member of one of America's wealthiest families, the Kennedys, it was apparent that Shriver was speaking only of his personal worth.

John Twohey, Shriver's deputy press secretary, said in Washington that a detailed statement of Shriver's financial situation is in preparation and will be issued within the next few days.

"The $100,000 represents mostly the income from his law practice in the last year," Twohey said.

Shriver spent a sweaty Sunday afternoon doing some old-time politicking at the annual Essex County sheriff's picnic at Parsippany, N.J., good-humoredly absorbing such nuisances as a sabotaged public-address system and a helicopter with a battery too weak to take flight.

"Let me tell you something—you never had it so bad," Shriver told a beer, hot-dog and baseball crowd at the picnic. He pledged that a McGovern-Shriver administration would ensure that every person who wants to work will have a job; that taxes would be applied fairly and that inflation would be cut.

Grapevine Cleanup Project Is Success

By MARYLN SCHWARTZ
Dallas News Writer
(For The Associated Press)

GRAPEVINE, Tex. (AP) — The people around Grapevine knew their lake was in trouble when they found themselves wading knee-deep in beer cans.

But the problem was what to do.

"There are federal funds available to clean out the lake area," explained Bill Maxwell, manager of the Grapevine Chamber of Commerce. "But the funds available are prorated by the size of the lake. Last year three million people used that lake. The money just wasn't enough."

Meanwhile, the debris kept mounting.

"We knew we had to do something," said Maxwell, "We would just have to make up in ingenuity what we lacked in money."

He explained that the Corps of Engineers had a new program that utilized students of the Texas Rehabilitation Commission and the Mental Health and Mental Retardation centers in Dallas for some cleanup programs.

"But because of funds, they were only able to keep up certain areas. It was the others that we were worried about. But these kids are doing a great job with their areas."

Then someone heard of a project that had been successfully attempted in Arkansas. It used volunteers from an entire town to come in and clean out a littered area by hand.

Even they were amazed by the response.

Saturday, about 1,500 residents from Denton, Tarrant and Dallas Counties showed up with trucks, dune buggies and blastic bags to start the cleaning process.

"You can't believe how disgusting people can be with litter," said Stanley Ormond of Dallas who brought his entire family to aid in the program. "We found dirty diapers, cans of all kinds and even old washing machines."

The Corps of Engineers began collecting a stack of wallets that had been pulled from the lake. Most contained a full array of credit cards.

"We're going to send all of them back to the owners if we can find an address," said Maxwell. "We found two that belonged to a man and a wife. That must have been some picnic."

"And it must have been quite a blow for the guy who lost this," said one chamber member who pulled out a list with the names and telephone numbers of 30 girls.

"You can't solve the problem of littering overnight," said Maxwell. "But when the people are actually out there seeing the effects of throwing away trash carelessly, they can't help but think twice before they do it themselves. Today's program has been very successful.

"We hope to make it an annual event."

Rep. Ryan Dies Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. William F. Ryan, a veteran Democratic liberal who was the first Congressman to vote against funds for the war in Vietnam, has died of cancer at 50

Ryan died Sunday night at Memorial Hospital where he had been since July 6. A spokesman said he suffered a recurrence of throat cancer following an operation for a perforated stomach ulcer.

His health had been a major underlying issue in a hard-fought primary last June when Ryan was challenged by Rep. Bella S. Abzug, whose district was eliminated in reapportionment. Ryan won the election handily.

Although they were both reform Democrats and had been close friends for years, Mrs. Abzug said she chose to run against him because of the need for "more women in the power structure."

Officials said there would be no interim appointment to fill Ryan's seat and his replacement as the nominee will be chosen by Democratic district leaders within the congressional district.

Throughout his six-term congressional career, Ryan championed causes that cost him influence in the House but found favor with his liberal constituency on Manhattan's West Side.

Roman Furnaces Are Unearthed

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — At least 12 Roman furnaces have been unearthed in a "dig" off Manchester's Deansgate.

"These undoubtedly are the earliest traces of industrial Manchester," said Professor Barri Jones, 36, professor of archeology at Manchester University.

Air Force Marks 25th Year In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The 25th anniversary of the "baby" of the nation's military services, the U.S. Air Force, holds special significance for this military town.

Millions get their first taste of Air Force life at San Antonio, which has four major air bases—including two of the oldest in the country.

Men and women at Kelly, Randolph, Brooks and Lackland Air Force bases joined in special commemorative ceremonies at base chapels Sunday.

Special dinners with cakes iced with red, white and blue Air Force insignia were featured in dining halls as the Air Force marked the observance of its separation from the Army on Sept. 18, 1947.

Military aviation was born at the Army's Ft. San Houston here in 1910, and San Antonio went on to become one of the nation's pioneer aviation centers.

Kelly and Brooks, the oldest here, were built in 1917 and trained such aviation greats as Charles Lindbergh, Gens. Nathan Twining and Claire Chennault.

Today more than 32,000 uniformed personnel serve at the four installations. San Antonio officials credit more than one-third of the city's jobs to Air Force ties.

Kelly, Randolph, Brooks and Lackland pump $539 million in payrolls into the local economy as well as another $94 million in purchases, Chamber of Commerce statisticians say.

Every raw recruit for the Air Force starts his career here at Lackland, and half the Air Force's new officers go through training at that base.

Lackland also is the home of Wilford Hall Medical Center, the Air Force's largest.

Randolph, headquarters of the Air Training Command, got its start in 1930, training pilots. Today it also trains all the pilot instructors throughout the Air Force.

Kelly plays a vital role in keeping the Air Force jets, including the massive C5A, airborne. The sprawling base, which employs mostly civilians to maintain Air Force craft, is roughly the equivalent of a city of 28,000 persons.

Brooks rocketed into importance in the Air Force in 1963 when the late President John F. Kennedy created the Aerospace Medical Center to conduct medical research that helped enable the United States to put the first men on the moon.

Fischer Back In America

NEW YORK (AP) — World chess champion Bobby Fischer has returned from Iceland, stating "it's great to be back in America."

In a rapid, running exchange with newsmen at Kennedy Airport late Sunday, Fischer was asked if he would play in the chess Olympics in Yugoslavia beginning today.

"I don't know," he said. "I'm going to get some rest."

The Rev. William Lombardy, the American international grandmaster who was Fischer's second in Reykjavik, met the champion at the airport. He said it was hoped that Fischer would join the U.S. team but that "he may be too tired" after the strenuous play for the world title.

Power Costs Are Up 7%

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of electricity was up 6 per cent for average residential users in 1970, and consumption of electricity was up 7 per cent, the Federal Power Commission reports.

The FPC Sunday said the national average monthly bill for 500 kilowatt-hours in 1970 for residential customers was $11.13, or 2.23 cents per kilowatt-hour.

The corresponding figures for 1969 were $10.51 for 500 hours in 1969, and 2.10 cents per kilowatt-hour.

It was previously forecast by the FPC that increased us of electric power would be accompanied by higher rates to consumers.

The study showed increases in all residential usage categories in 1970—for 100, 250, 400, 750 and 1,000 kilowatt-hour levels.

Average residential consumption was 6,367 kilowatt hours in 1970, up from 5,943 in 1969 and 45 per cent more than in 1965.

TIC Has Plan For Exhibits

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Industrial Commission has announced a plan to sell the state's industrial products overseas—it will lease the Queen Elizabeth II for 60 days of trade Fairs in Europe and North Africa.

The "Texas World Trade Round-Up" will cost about $14 million, the commission said Friday, and exhibitors will pick up the tab.

"No state funds are involved," executive director James H. Harwell said.

Harwell said the cost for one of the 500 exhibition areas that the ship will be specially fitted out with would probably be in the $25,000 to $50,000 range.

That would include transportation and all expenses for two persons travelling with each exhibition, the commission said.

The commission listed a proposed itinerary that include 13 countries in Europe, North Africa and the Middle East.

Odessa, Russia, is among the stops contemplated. Harwell said a commission official had visited the Russian embassy in Washington rencently and Soviet officials "seemed to indicate they would be more than willing to have the Queen Elizabeth and Texas manufacturers come to Odessa and show their wares."

The trip is planned for Oct. 15 to Dec. 15, 1974.

Commission representatives are approaching all companies that have manufacturing plants in Texas. That includes "all but 10 or 15 at the top 500" industrial companies in the country, Harwell said.

"If they want to display more than (products manufactured in) Texas that's alright with us," Harwell said.

Williams Chooses To Stay In Jail

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Southern Christian Leadership Conference official Hosea Williams chose to stay in jail for the second straight night rather than pay $1,500 bond.

Williams was arrested Friday night on charges of battering a police officer and creating a turmoil as he was leading demonstrators at the Martin Luther King Sr. Nursing Center. The group was protesting what it termed deplorable working conditions at the center.

A spokesman at the city jail said the DeKalb County SCLC head, told Saturday he would be allowed to make bail, replied, "I think I'll just stay here for awhile."
