Idalou Cagers Come Back And Down Lubbock, 17 to 12

Matadors Leave This Morning For Week Of Games With Abilene College

Coach Victor Payne Carries Squad Of Eleven for Series of Six Games With Simmons Cowboys, McMurry and ACC

Next Games On Home Floor Will Be Played by Matadors February 8 and 9; Have High Hopes.

The Texas Tech Matadors will leave this morning, via bus, eleven strong, to storm Abilene for a week's engagement with a twin bill with each of the three Abilene institutions, Simmons University, McMurry, and Abilene Christian colleges. Coach Victor Payne's roster of cagers for the week's bill in the T-P city includes the following players: Leslie Jennings, captain; Melvern Hunter, Buck Weaver, Percy Walker, Dopey White, Jim Kerr, Alma Fain, Andy Hemphill, Coppage, and Gee.

Monday and Tuesday the Bullfighters will clash with the Cowboys of Simmons University in the Coward's corral. The fact that the Matadors' roster was only last season coach of the varsity hands will spirit the Scarlet and Black wearers to exert more effort and more ability as floorball than during any previous encounter.

Payne hopes to win a victory over Frank Bridges' combination, Wednesday and Thursday the Matadors meet with Medley's Indians of the McMurry campus, and on Friday and Saturday the Toppers will, respectively, play the Wildcats of the Abilene Christian College. The Matadors will return to Lubbock Sunday following the week's exhibitions in Abilene and on Wednesday and Thursday, February 8 and 9, the Indians of McMurry college will play a return bill with the Matadors in the Tech gymnasium. H. C. Harvey, manager of Texas Tech athletics, will accompany the Matadors on their Abilene tour.

Hooks and Slides

No Excuse for Heeey Since a satisfactory result of the first big number of his heavy-weight elimination tournament between Jack Sharkey and Tom Heeey, the public may be inclined to figure Tex Rickard in a tight place as the time rapidly approaches for him to get two opponents for Gene Tunney's summer campaign. Sharkey and Heeey were the two best cards in the rather mediocre herd of heavyweights that Rickard had to choose from, and if the bout ended with either one a definite winner the difficulties of the promoter would have been reduced some at least.

The form, however, shown by the principals in what was to have been the star number of the eliminations made the customers present feel that neither one will do as a part of a record-breaking attraction. For Sharkey, however, there may be a good excuse. He had been out of the ring for a long time and had not fought since he was pumped in the tummy by Jack Dempsey and it is reasonable to believe he will have a fight under a better light. But for Heeey there is no excuse.

His possibilities are limited only to 20 rounds, where his stamina might enable him to outlast any of the heavyweights, but the present of the heavyweights is just half that distance and he can't get started in 10 rounds.

To Work on Sharkey Rickard probably will toss Heeey aside now with Paineo for use only in an emergency, and he probably will work on Sharkey to build him back again to the place he occupied last year.

Sharkey, without doubt, has more color and would be a better drawing card than any of the other contenders, with the exception of Dempsey, and Rickard will have to have two challengers if he is to oblige the champion's demand for a fair fight.

If Richard seriously intends to give Dempsey the right of way into a third bout with Tunney, the draw between Dempsey and Rickard will be a poor form shown by him. Tunney looks like a nice little girl from his lady luck, but from recent utterances Rickard is not so hot about it as he was when the boys were singing the chorus about the "long count."

Rickard up and admitted a few days ago that he didn't expect much more than a million and a half from the customers if Dempsey was thrown in again with Tunney.

Tex Must Step Now His figure was based on the best scale of prices that could be set for the Yankee stadium in New York and it seems certain that he has packed the home of the American league champions for one of the bouts.

He offered the opinion at the same time that the bout wouldn't draw any more in Philadelphia or Chicago even though more customers could be entertained. Rickard will have to be prepared to get out on the contract he can make on the very hour named in their contract if Tunney is serious in his claim that he will hold the promoter to every punctuation mark in the agreement.

DAVIS CUP ENTRIES

List of Contestants Raised To Thirty Nations PARIS, Jan. 28. (AP)—The record-breaking list of entries for the 1928 Davis cup tennis competition was increased to 30 nations today by receipt of two additional challenges, one from Canada in the American zone and the other from Sweden in the European zone.

The number of challenging countries now in the field for the famous trophy, to be defended this year by France for the first time, is five more than in any previous year of competition since the Davis cup first was contested for in 1900 by England and the United States alone.

Last year there were 25 challenges, including 21 in the European zone and 4 in the American zone. This year the totals are 24 and 6.

THREE THOUSAND TO PAY POLLE TAXES IN DAWSON LAMESA, Jan. 28. (AP)—The total poll tax receipts issued for Dawson county on January 27 is $487. ### Weather Conditions Important In Sports, Look At Rommel, Lyons

BY BILLY EVANS Does that nag like a muddy track? That expression is often heard just before a running race, when a heavy rain storm coming out of a clear sky has rendered a fast track very slow. Does the rain affect his control?

One hears that remark time and again during the summer, when a light rain often sets in late in the game, but in the opinion of the umpire play is still possible. That wind plays havoc with tee shots is common talk in golf circles prior to a big match, when the experts realize they must tee off against a heavy wind that often has a disastrous effect on the style of play of many of the stars.

Weather conditions often play a prominent part in the results of many of our leading sports events. No system that figures to pick the winners fails to take into consideration the possible effect of the weather on the various contenders.

A great many horses simply cannot do their best on a slow track while others revel in the heavy going. Rain and wind conditions often play havoc with the control of a big league pitcher. A majority of golfers prefer to have the wind at their backs rather than blowing directly into their faces.

In the days when a great many major league pitchers featured the spitball, no wise manager ever started such a pitcher in a game with a slight rain falling, while others often refused to call on a spitball pitcher if rain even threatened.

It is obvious that a pitcher who depended on the moistening of a tight spot on the ball to produce a deceptive break, would be seriously handicapped in trying to pitch a ball soggy with rain. It is known fact, that 99 out of every 100 spitball pitchers have been ineffective in rain. Since there are only a few moist ball pitchers still in the majors, managers are no longer worrying much on that angle of strategy.

However, there are still many star pitchers in the majors who work their best under favorable conditions. That is true of most twirlers who boast a good change of pace, a very necessary asset to modern hurlers.

In this respect, I have in mind two mighty eved American League stars, Ted Lyons and Ed Rommel. Lyons, one of the smartest pitchers I have ever worked behind can make the ball perform almost as he wishes. He has two distinct styles of curve ball pitching, a change of pace that offers much mystery and a good fast ball when he wants to make use of it. Yet, pitchers like Lyons and Rommel suffer considerably from air resistance in other words, pitching directly into a stiff wind takes something off their ball. Very often with the wind at their back the ball dips all the more crazily.

"I don't believe I ever saw a pitcher more handicapped by adverse weather conditions than Ed Rommel. His best fooler is a knuckle ball, or perhaps to be more correct, a finger nail ball. I have often seen Rommel's trick delivery break so sharply that his catcher wouldn't even get the ball into his glove. He would stop it with some part of his body, bounce it off his chest protector.

Rommel pitch a game with the wind at his back and he is practically unbeat, but if the wind is blowing directly at him, the air resistance removes much of the wave and dip from his ball and he is not nearly so effective.

Ground and weather conditions play as important a part in golf as in baseball. A crack golfer who hits a long ball, but is inclined to be erratic, is always handicapped by narrow fairways.

Some golfers in getting distance hit a rather low ball and rely on the roll, if the turf is fast, all is well. Playing on a sandy course, which is usually slow, or a course soaked by rain, such a player is at a decided disadvantage.

In the four games of the last week's schedule every game was battled to a close margin; the Super-Main defeated the Armory by a score of 22 to 18; the Producers defeated the Moneyhandlers, 35-12; the Hemphill - Price department store employees dropped a 14-13 count to the Teachers; and the Wholesalers won with a two-point margin over the Journalists with a score of 12 to 10. Only decisive victory of the week was the victory the Producers registered over Judge Raley's Bankers.

Bobby Jones Gets Golfing Laurels

Give Place On Three Of Most Important Groups Handling Affairs of Golfing Association.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Bobby Jones, has been given a place in three of the most important sub-committees of the United States Golf Association.

Announcement today of the 1928 committee's make-up reveals that Jones, who was elected to the executive committee at the association's annual meeting early this month, will serve on the groups handling the selection of courses, membership, and reinstatement, and implements and the ball.

Numerous changes are made in the chairmanships of other committees. Herbert H. Ramsey, newly elected vice president, relinquishes the chairmanship of both the membership and amateur status committees. In the first he is succeeded by Prescott S. Bush, of New York, and in the second by Rodman L. Briscoe, also of New York. Mr. Ramsey, however, retains his post at the head of the championship committee.

More than 2,800 homes for working people will be built in Glasgow, Scotland, this year.

More cigars were smoked in Manchuria last year than in any previous twelve months.

Southpaw not so old but just as crafty; Lefty Johns, also a wrong hander with a wonderful curve when he is right; Denny Burns, whose great pitching in the Spring is a big asset. To help these have been recruited, Frank Keck, submarine right hand pitcher from the Cotton States League, whose experience includes everything from big league down and who is said to be right again after two seasons in which his control was gone; Vincent Devaney, from the Lone Star league; and several other promising young pitchers. There is no worry in the slab department.

Bischoff to Return George Bischoff, one of the most capable catchers in the minors, is still a Cat. He is likely to be first spring receiver again. Doc Smith will have to hustle hard to keep his job over Denny Murphy, who comes

Turn Tables On Westerners In Game At Gym Here Last Night, and Avenge 28-11 Reverse Handed In First Tilt

Morgan Starts Reserves, Then Shoots In Regulars Who Lack Drive to Overcome Lead of Visitors.

It was all Idalou last evening in the high school gymnasium both in basketball and attendance as the Wildcats of the Idalou high school Westerners handed them Friday evening on the Idalou floor, and they romped away with 17 to 12 victory before one of the largest high school turnouts this season.

Fanthers Early Lead Loyd Sweeney's pack of clawing panthers jumped into the lead early in the first half and kept the lead which was never threatened by the locals. When the conclusion of the initial half was declared by Timer Reed the Wildcats lead the scoring with a seven point margin, as the count stood 9-2, and when the third quarter ended the score read 15-6; so, it is clearly seen that the Wildcats maintained a very consistent lead throughout the affair.

Regulars Like Drive To begin with Del Morgan, hand-icapped by the local high school cager, sent in his reserves to battle the Kittens, and as they worked to no avail he shot his regulars into action, and they, too, failed to put over the drive and check Sweeney's pack of Tigers. The regulars striving hard to overcome the Wildcats lead were in a tury and passes were wild, their attempts for baskets were wild, and as a matter of fact they were wild. But on the other hand Sweeney's cagers with their lead played a cool game taking advantage of their height and keep the ball the bagger part of the contest.

Johnson Stars Johnson, rangy forward for the visitors, was the big light for the Wildcats. He led the floor in scoring honors with three field hoopers and one toss from the foul line. Johnson's floor work was indeed good as he easily pivoted over the court and was the main cog of the Idalou machine both offensively and defensively.

After leader of the Westerner quieted, played a very impressive game and took from the Wildcats the alert guard of the Morgans turned away the attempted basket shots hurled by the visitors; but his offensive work was not up to his usual form.

With the Class A rounds of the county race well under way, and since Lubbock has split with Idalou and Slaton, who are other two members of the Class A division, it is very apparent that the county race will be the fastest the county has had in many seasons.

George Lott Wins Canadian Crown

Defeats Frank Shields In Finals At Montreal To Land First Honors For Second Year.

MONTREAL, Jan. 28. (AP)—George M. Lott Jr., Chicago, won the Canadian covered court tennis championships here today for the second year, in succession by defeating Frank Shields, New York, in the final, 6-3, 6-4, 7-5.

Jack Wright and E. H. La Framboise, Montreal, defeated George Lott, Chicago, and Dr. Arthur Ham, Toronto, for the doubles title by 3-6, 7-5, 3-6, 6-1, 6-0.

Puzzling Rules In Basketball

Q. While making a free throw and before the ball touches the ring or backboard, a player steps on, but not over, the free throw mark. What is the proper ruling?

A. Goal if made shall not count, and whether made or missed the ball shall be thrown up at the free throw mark.—Rule 9, Sec. 7.

Q. When a player should be fouled by the referee when neither jumper makes any attempt to tap the ball when it is thrown up between them?

A. The players should be warned of the first offense, and for the second, a double technical foul should be called.—Rule 15, Sec. 1.

Q. A player, while dribbling down the floor, collides with an opponent. Upon whom should the foul be called?

A. This is a play that must be seen in order to give the proper decision. Again quoting from the Oswald Tower in his "Comments on the Rules," "If a player gets himself in the path of the dribbler, the latter is usually responsible for any contact that ensues. If the defensive player tries to stop the player from the rear, he is usually the offending party. Between these two clear-cut cases, however, there are many situations that cause trouble, yet it is certain that in most sections the officials often find the defensive player unjustly.

The first impulse is to blame the latter, even though the dribbler smashes through, sometimes tripping, elbowing or even straight-arming his opponents in the hope of drawing the defense into a foul. And the defense, through fear of being penalized, is weak and ineffective. It is certain that officials must curb their impulse to penalize the defense and must realize that the dribbler often causes the foul."

Q. May the umpire give a player permission to leave the court?

A. Yes.—Rule 5, Sec. 5.

Q. May an umpire disqualify a player for flagrant unsportsmanlike conduct?

A. Yes.—Rule 6, Sec. 7.

Q. May the umpire disqualify a player for a single violation of personal foul rule?

A. According to Rule 15, Sec. 13, the referee is the only official who may do so, but the umpire may disqualify him for flagrant unsportsmanlike conduct and a disqualifying foul would come under this heading.—Rule 6, Sec. 7.

Congress Active In Football Row

Efforts of Solons To Get Settlement In West Point Navy Discussion Appear Fruitless.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Efforts of interested members of Congress to obtain a renewal of football relations between the naval academy and West Point appeared tonight to have been fruitless.

Following a visit by Representative Britten, Republican, Illinois, and Representative Pugh, Republican, New York, to the White House, during which the break was discussed, Britten announced that he hoped President Coolidge might act or at least express his views on the disruption which threatens the annual Navy-Army clash.

The attitude of Major General E. W. Winans, West Point superintendent, was characterized as "highly handed" by Pugh, who condemned Winans' refusal to meet Rear Admiral Nulton, naval academy superintendent, in New York to discuss a compromise.

He offered the opinion at the same time that the bout wouldn't draw any more in Philadelphia or Chicago even though more customers could be entertained.

Rickard will have to be prepared to get out on the contract he can make on the very hour named in their contract if Tunney is serious in his claim that he will hold the promoter to every punctuation mark in the agreement.

One of Tunney's complaints is that he allowed Rickard to pass months over the day he was to have named his opponent last year and that he didn't get any credit or consideration from Rickard for having been a good fellow.

If Tunney really is looking for an out on the contract, he can have it, according to his lawyers, if Rickard doesn't give him the name and place on the day named in the contract.

Tunney and Dempsey should be good friends knocking around together so much in their work, as they are.

But just think what a terrible strain of engagement must be breaking into Jess Willard's life when he reads about these battles.

But then Jess lost that fight in three days before a round was over. And Mr. Dempsey packed a whole novel into one chapter.

SETS RECORD

Horse Clips Off Time For Course Distance NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 28. (AP)—War Eagle, one of E. B. McLean's candidates for the $50,000 New Orleans handicap to be run February 3, clipped three-fifths of a second from the fairground track record for a mile and a furlong today by winning the Memphis handicap for three-year-olds and up in 1:51 1-5.

The old record was established in March, 1908, by Meechick.

War Eagle, with Jockey Mick Huff, won by a half-length from Boon Companion. Bob Rogers was third. The event was for $2,500 added and was worth approximately $1,000 to the winner.

Matadors Reveal Improved Basket Squad This Year

Scores Higher and Opponents Held Lower Than In Other Seasons, Survey of Games Shows.

BY JAMES R. DOW Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor Tech's basketball team, although winning but two collegiate affairs, out of seven engagements, is showing marked improvement under the Payne regime and big time basketball is making headway among the wearers of the Scarlet and Black colors. In the seven performances of intercollegiate nature, two with the W. T. S. T. C. Buffaloes of Canyon which resulted in 25-27 and 25-20 scores for the Heros, two with the Hill Billies of Daniel Baker college, in which both games went to the Goats by scores of 35 to 25 and 22 to 18; and two with the Christian Wildcats of Abilene, which resulted in a split with the Kittens taking the first affair by a lone point margin, 41-40; and the Matadors the last tilt, 34-32; and one with the Jackrabbits of Wayland college, which resulted in a decisive victory for the Matadors, 51-23; the Bullfighters have managed to run up higher scores than during previous seasons and in each instance have held their opponents to narrower margins.

Team Work Is Good The prevailing factor of the Tech's is their floor work and passing. And the falling of the flames from their eyes for the basket. In the home game contests the Matadors have usually led every opponent in the possession of the ball and opportunities for baskets—but they are not hot with the loopers.

The scorings of the total games show that the Matadors have registered up a total of 296 points for the season against their opponents' total of 242. Personal foul amount to 131, while field goals total 119, 58 free chances from the foul line have been registered by the Tech quintet.

Jennings Leads Scores Captain Leslie 'Al' Jennings stepped forward of the Payne machine, leads in the individual scoring with a total of 37 field hoopers and 17 tosses from the foul line. This for a total of 86 points. Jennings is followed by Melvern Hunter, forward, who has scored 56 points for the season.

The following is a total result of each member of the Matador roster for the season's performance:

Atz and Cats View Spring With Many Changes Looming In Ft. Worth Club

Good Hurling Staff, Nice Trio of Receivers and New Outfielders Look Promising; Infield Presents a Problem To Manager and Magnate, LaGrave.

(By Associated Press) FORT WORTH, Jan. 28.—The end of a long hard winter doesn't mean anything to Jake Atz and Paul LaGrave, the guiding geniuses of the Fort Worth baseball club. It's going to be a long, hard Spring for these two.

They are starting out with an excellent pitching staff, a catching department that looks good. It also will be a Spring of experiments for Atz and LaGrave, out of which they may or may not produce a ball club that compares favorably with the Fort Worth clubs from 1915 through 1925, the last year a Dixie pennant was won by the Panthers.

Philers Look Good The mound staff appears as good as any in the circuit. It is composed largely of veterans, among them the tough spit ball-thrower, Paul Wachter, who gets better as the seasons roll along; Joe Pate, crafty old southpaw; Jimmy Walkup, another

Slaton Tigers Win Class A Division of Tournament

Tigers Defeat Crosbyton In Extra Period of Final Game By Score Of 21 to 19 to Cinch Highest Honors

Monroe Wins Class "B" Division From Field of 14 Starters; Crowd of 700 Witnessed Games.

SLATON, Jan. 28.—The Slaton high cagers emerged victorious here last night in an unofficial tournament to determine the champion Class A high school basketball team of the South Plains by defeating the Crosbyton five in the final game by a score of 21 to 19.

Two extra five-minute periods were necessary before the winner of the final tilt could be decided. In the elimination tests between teams from Crosbyton, Floydada, Lorenzo, and Slaton, Slaton defeated Lorenzo by a score of 29 to 18; and Crosbyton was victor over Floydada by a 28 to 21 count. Three extra periods were necessary before Crosbyton could win.

Monroe won the Class B Division from a field of 14 starters. The tournament lasted through Friday and Saturday, with an estimated crowd of 700 viewing the games. The tournament had no bearing on the interscholastic race.

Panthers

From the Pacific Coast league with a splendid reputation as a fine catcher and a good pinch hitter. The infield is the biggest worry for the Fort Worth magnate and manager. Bill Sweeney, best first sacker in the league last season has gone to Detroit. George LaFayette, a wonderful fielder but a 293 hitter, was bought during the winter from Wichita Falls to take Sweeney's place but he will have opposition. So will every other infielder.

While first has been tentatively assigned to LaFayette, none of the other positions is anything like definite. Andy Harrington, bought from the Toronto club, seems to be likely to fill Howard Lindimore's old post at second. Horace Kibbie, whose broken leg suffered during the training period in 1927, handicapped him all season, is the leading candidate for shortstop. Nolan Richardson, young collegian who played a nice game for the Cats at third last season, has been sold to Detroit and may not return. That leaves a hole at third. In case he doesn't return, a third sacker may be uncovered among the flock of young infielders who will report to Panther Park the latter part of February.

They Come From Everywhere—These young infielders come from all parts of the country, from Manitoba, Class B. C. and D. leagues. Several of them are highly rated and Fort Worth may pick up another Traverser, which will be gratifying, as the Panther Manager has been trying to uncover a young star since their pennant run set two years ago. Bill Sweeney has been the only result, unless one counts Charlie Sullivan, tall kid pitcher who is trying out with Detroit this season.

Two players from the 1927 outfield, Eddie Moore, just about the best fly chaser in the league, and last year a good hitter, and Joe Bonowitz, remain. Dutch Holland has gone to Detroit, with Richardson and Sullivan. To replace Holland, Fort Worth bought the veteran Ralph Shimmers from the Pacific Coast. He is a great ball hawk but can he hit? If he can't, the Atmen must obtain some one else to patrol right field, as the club has suffered badly from lack of punch in the last couple of seasons.

However, LaGrave and Atz aren't worried greatly. If they can get at least one good infielder out of the youngsters, they believe all will be well, as LaFayette, Harrington and Kibbie look mighty good. If the pitchers come through as they should, the club can stick up pretty well in the race without any great amount of power, though to win the pennant, some slugging is needed.

PARIS, Jan. 28. (AP)—Bonnie Brownlow, well known minor league manager, has accepted an offer from the Paris club of the Lone Star league and will pilot that team next year.

The Lone Star league is to meet in Dallas on March 15.

BAYLOR BEATEN

Owls Stage Scoring Spurt To, Down Bruins

HOUSTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—For about ten minutes Saturday night, Coach "Pug" Daugherty's Rice Owl basketball team defeated the Baylor Bruins, 37 to 27. With ten minutes to play the Owls knotted the score at 24 all from that point on the game was Rice's, Captain Grant, Zuber, Morgan, Keen and Kendrick passed the ball around in great style and the owls made good their "crips" under the baskets—shots they had missed with amazing consistency in the first half. The big crowd urged on the Owls to their first conference cage victory with frenzied shouts and the brilliant Captain Strickland and his comrades wilted.

'The Gorilla' Is To Show In City

Hilarious Comedy Will Show At Lindsey Monday; Actor Charlie Murray Is at His Best.

Comedy is supposed to be closely akin to tragedy. The greatest comedians and critics say the best comedy is that which is mingled with pathos, and if this is true then Charlie Murray, who is featured in "The Gorilla," has all the laughs coming to him.

"The Gorilla" is the hilarious and hysterical comedy comedy coming to the Lindsey theater on Monday in which Murray, with Fred Kelsey, combine to form a new screen team. And one must not forget the gorilla himself. There is where Charlie Murray and his pathos and comedy come in. It's comedy for the audience to see him playing around cliffs, house tops, cellars, etc., etc., with a nine foot, four hundred pound ape man, but as for Murray, let the pathos speak for itself. Just place yourself in the same predicament and imagine the fun.

"The Gorilla" is an adaptation of Ralph Spence's stage play of the same name and combines all the elements of fun and chills that made the legitimate version so popular. The situations in the motion picture have been enlarged over those in the stage play. It is reported to be a combination of the weirdest, spookiest mystery and the greatest comedy imaginable.

Murray and Kelsey have the roles of the two dumb detectives, Mulligan and Garrity, whose greatest problem is to keep together. The gorilla is a whole melodrama in himself. His huge bulk and tremendous size present a ferocious aspect. A four hundred pound gorilla is menace enough for any picture.

The remainder of the cast includes Alice Day, Tully Marshall, Claude Gillingwater, Walter Pidgeon, Gaston Glass, Brooks Benedict, Aggie Herring and Syd Crossly.

named in this list will receive attention, Hood said, among which is continuation of work on an eastern or southeastern railway connection giving the South Plains more direct contact with distant market centers. Hood predicts 1928 will be a good year for general development through this section of the South Plains.

Farming Special Draws Big Crowd

Average of 3000 People Daily See Demonstration Train Being Run By Santa Fe Lines.

An average attendance of 3,000 persons daily has been attending the exhibits on the Santa Fe farm and home special train which will arrive in Lubbock February 13, according to word received by the county agents here from H. H. Williamson, acting director of the A. and M. extension service.

This is an average of about 1,000 persons per stop, as the train has been visiting three places daily. The train is operated by the Santa Fe railroad in conjunction with the A. and M. college extension service and has exhibits of all phases of farm life. Lectures on poultry raising, dairying, livestock farming, field crops and home-making are given by specialists. The stops vary from 45 to 55 minutes. A large crowd is expected to be on hand when the car reaches Lubbock.

Better Business Institute Brought Much Information To Retailers And Wholesalers; Irwin Talks Reviewed

Conductor Of Course Gave Much Information To The Business Men Here; Many Topics Discussed

Filling his measure of service to the business people of Lubbock in the Better Business Institute conducted the past week by the Lubbock Retail Merchants Association, Pryor Irwin struck a key-note in community development of his strong advocacy of the duty merchants and business men generally owe to the so-called "strange" claims of the people at large. He stressed that all the activities of a community, such as church life, schools, good roads, farmer co-operative bodies, fair county expositions and the like should receive the support of the business men of Lubbock.

Speaking in a more general way of the work done by Mr. Irwin here, he may be said to have opened the eyes of his hearers, wider than they had previously been to the need and value of doing big things in a big way for the community.

Talks Are Valuable. Mr. Irwin's talks on business problems contained much data of value to each citizen in Lubbock as well as the merchants. Below will be reproduced in part, high spots of his lectures during the week.

Selling is merely influencing people. Success is doing the thing you like to do and doing it better each day, realizing that the thing you are doing is of service to others.

Sell with enthusiasm, not cold blood. A satisfied customer is the ultimate aim of all business.

Advertising is to business as gas is to the car, it is the power. The store which doesn't advertise, which buys something new and doesn't tell the people about it, is like the fellow who throws a kick to the girl in the dark, he knows it but she doesn't.

Advertising is the accepted method of getting customers. Advertising takes the place of the retail peddler, it carries your goods into the homes.

Advertising is no job for a quitter. The only instance where advertising costs to any great extent is to the non-advertiser because the fellow who advertises gets his customer.

Advertising is an investment, not an expense. Tombstone is missing. "I haven't seen a tombstone in all my travels with the inscription, 'Died from over-work' written upon it."

The customer is the boss. The human element is the most important factor in business. "Know your customer, give them personal attention."

Don't be a member of the "I-Knew-Him-When" club where all the members say, "Oh, he's already amounted to much, why I knew him when he was a kid." Competition is the life-blood of trade.

Don't neglect youth. The business man who is building his business by ignoring youth has already begun to write the word "finish" on the business.

Keep Youth At Home. "Keep the youth brains and energy of your community at home. Make your home an interesting place that the old home town will seem the best for the youth and his eyes will be turned from 'Beyond the Horizon.'"

Don't under-estimate the home grown stuff. Use them, make a place for the youth of community in your business.

The man who says that advertising doesn't pay is the one who

INVITE RIDER Argentine Schoolmaster Is Given Invitation

LAREDO, Jan. 28. (AP)—Invitation to be the guest of the chamber of commerce of Muskogee has been accepted by Aime Felix Tschiffry, riding horseback from Buenos Aires to New York, he said today. He will visit Muskogee on his way to New York.

Tschiffry was the guest of honor today at Fort McIntosh, where he is visiting Col. R. C. Fry. A military review was held today to honor him at the parade grounds and he later was taken for an inspection of the fort.

"If a town is not to die, and if good business conditions of any community are to be kept up, the community must be studied. The small town that is proud of the big city men who grew up in their town, is going to seed because it has no leadership or any constructive merchants in their own place. They have all gone to other cities. If a merchant wants business for himself, he must do something to keep his town from going to seed."

County 4-H Clubs Vote for Contest

Club Banner Will Be Award To Group In County Having Best Attendance For a Month.

An attendance contest among the 4-H clubs of the county was voted by members who attended the monthly council meeting yesterday afternoon in the office of the county agent.

The club which has the greatest per centage of representation at the monthly council meetings will win a 4-H banner, according to terms agreed upon.

At the meeting yesterday 28 members were present to hear a short talk given by J. D. Conaghan, division supervisor of the Texas Farm Bureau cotton association and to see the film, "Romance of Sleepy Valley," given under the auspices of the farm bureau.

Junny Potts was named as chairman of a committee to arrange a program which the clubs will give before the farm bureau association February 11.

SNYDER MAN DIES

Illness Following Operation For Appendicitis

John J. Farris, 50 years of age, resident near Snyder, died at a late hour Friday night in a local sanitarium, following a six weeks' illness after an appendicitis operation.

The body was shipped last night to Paris, Texas, for burial. Rix undertakers are in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Farris is survived by a wife and four children.

INHERITED ABILITY

The ability of hens to lay eggs is inherited. What is most needed in a poultry flock is the development of winter layers. The average farm hen not only could lay at least 144 eggs in a year, but most of them should be laid from October to March. This, or even a better record, should be the aim in management of the flock.

An expedition has started from northern Egypt to study conditions of the sources of the Nile.

Real Estate Deals Hit Highest Mark Of Past 18 Months

Total for January Boosted To $711,817.04. With Filing of Deeds Saturday Totalling $98,665.

REGISTRATION BETTER

Believe 3500 Cars and Trucks In Dawson County

LAMESA, Jan. 28.—Twenty-one hundred cars had been registered at the sheriff's office to January 27 and 233 trucks. It is estimated that the number of cars and trucks will reach the 3500 mark at the close of business on January 31.

WEEVILS IN PEAS

Weevil working in beans and peas cause great losses to growers in the United States. The loss is both in destruction of crops already grown and in limiting the planting of desirable legumes, particularly cowpeas. Weevil damage often comes either by heating or by emergence of weevil. All infested seed peas and beans should be thoroughly fumigated with carbon disulphide.

American automobiles now lead foreign cars in number in Czechoslovakia.

Designation On Highway West Of Lubbock Is Seen

Route Inspection Ordered For Recommendations Of Division Engineer Through Highway Commission

Apparently efforts of citizens of Hockley and Cochran counties, in co-operation with this city and county, are beginning to approach fruition in connection with plans for a state designated highway between Lubbock and the New Mexico line, serving Levelland and intermediate points, and Cochran county towns.

Inspection Ordered. Instructions have been received by Geo. A. Field, division engineer of the state highway department here, to make inspection of the proposed route, pursuant to an order of the state commission on January 16, when a delegation of Hockley and Lubbock citizens were told that immediate investigation of the proposal would be made.

Mr. Field said here Saturday that his inspection probably will be made in a few days, but that until the inspection is completed, and recommendations made to the state commission, no information will be available as to the terms to probably be served.

As the route between Lubbock and Levelland is now about as short as practically possible it is apparent that little change will be made in this portion, but the route beyond Levelland, as to whether Bledsoe and adjacent towns, or Morton will be served, is problematical.

New Mexico Designation. Information from Texas authorities says that New Mexico has placed designation on a highway east from Elida through Dora, in Roosevelt county, to the Texas boundary, and this fact no doubt will have some bearing on the Texas designation, if made, west from Levelland. The proposal, now believed near-

PURCHASERS OF THESE 100 FOOT—sites are protected against having the value and beauty of their home reduced by reason of there being a 50 foot lot along side or across the street.

THAT THERE IS MONEY HERE AND—coming here fast for such high type homes is evidenced by the purchase of 24 of the large home sites in University Place during the last two weeks.

THE INCREASE IN VALUE OF—one of the sites will far offset the depreciation of that Buick or Cadillac.

THIS IS A CLASS OF REAL ESTATE—that grows into big money.

LEGAL NOTICES
THE STATE OF TEXAS
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon E. L. Hursey by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 99th Judicial District Court of Lubbock County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, on the 1st Monday in April, A. D. 1928, the same being the 2nd day of April, A. D. 1928, then and there to answer an amended petition filed in said Court on the 25th day of January, A. D. 1928, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 2126, wherein Geo. E. Benson and Sam C. Arnett, are Plaintiffs, and E. L. Hursey, is Defendant, and said petition alleging that on the 14th day of April, 1926, defendant E. L. Hursey executed and delivered to the plaintiffs his two notes, one for $116.67, and one for $116.66, whereby he promised to pay to the plaintiffs on or before eighteen months after date the sum of $116.67, and on or before twenty-four months after date the sum of $116.66, with interest on both notes from date until paid at 8 per cent per annum.

That on November 29, 1927, the defendant executed and delivered to plaintiff, George E. Benson, his note for $117.90, payable thirty days after date, with interest at 10 per cent per annum, and all of said notes provide for 10 per cent additional attorneys fees if placed in the hands of an attorney for collection. That all of said notes are secured by liens on Tract or Lot No. thirty-two of the Arnett & Benson Subdivision of the South Half of the Northeast Quarter of Survey No. Twenty, Block "A" in Lubbock County, Texas.

That default has been made in the payment of the above described notes, when due, therefore plaintiff prays for judgment for debt, interest, costs of suit, attorney's fees, foreclosure of lien, etc.

Herein fail not, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given Under My Hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Lubbock, Texas, this 25th day of January, A. D. 1928.

THE STATE OF TEXAS
To the sheriff or any constable of Lubbock county, greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Vera Pate by making publication of this citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 72nd judicial district court of Lubbock county, to be held at the court house thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, on the 1st Monday in February, A. D. 1928, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 7th day of January, A. D. 1928, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court as No. 3173, wherein Arlander Pate, is plaintiff, and Vera Pate, is defendant, and said petition alleging that plaintiff and defendant were married in Lubbock county, Texas, Nov. 5, 1921, and lived together until Sept. 1, 1927, when defendant left this plaintiff and refuses to live or participate with him in any normal functions that exist solely in the marriage relation between husband and wife, which render their living together insupportable.

That a child was born to the union, Charlotte Pate, two years old, and plaintiff prays for custody of said child.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays for divorce and for custody of said child. Herein fail not, and have you before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Lubbock, Texas this 7th day of January, A. D. 1928.

Cotton Acreage

The executives heard, from have agreed that the conference should be held in February, and it was believed here that a definite movement may be under way soon.

The Texas executive believes there actually will be a decrease in the South's cotton acreage and that "propaganda" is being used by financial interests to hammer down prices.

FEDERAL BOARD TO TAKE HAND
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—The Department of Agriculture announced today it planned to unite federal aid for control of the pink boll worm infestation in West Texas.

Extensive scouting and field work is now under way to determine the extent of the pink boll worm invasion.

Ector, Midland and Marten counties are the greatest sufferers at the present time, the department said. All are in the western part of the Texas cotton producing area.

Railway Row
ing or designating their representatives, some of the plaintiffs and some of the class represented by them.

Ended Long Fight
The litigation began after months of negotiation between officials of the railroad and representatives of Brotherhood of Railway Clerks who were unable to agree on an increased wage scale. The federal arbitration board of which former Governor Pat Neff is a member, failed to affect a compromise.

The brotherhood, through its representative, John W. Harper, of San Antonio, began a fight for an injunction against the railroad, under the 1925 Railway Labor Act.

At hearings in August, when the injunction was granted, it was alleged that railroad officials were actively engaged in promoting a rival union, the Association of Railway Clerks.

In September, the Brotherhood presented a petition alleging that the injunction had been violated, asking that four Southern Pacific officials be held in contempt.

It was alleged that the head of the association was being kept on the company payroll while performing no actual services, that letters of the association were being sent through company main channels, that the railroad maintained an office for the association in the Grand Central station at Houston and that officials of the Brotherhood had had their pass privileges removed.

College Site
when removal plans have been carried to consummation were announced by R. O. Conner of Dallas, a member of the board of trustees of the college and chairman of the meeting hereabouts.

He said that approximate cost would be $30,000 and that two sections of land would form the college, under present plans. Fifty residences, it is planned, would be built upon this land and these sold on easy payments to help finance the college.

Under the scheme of financing proposed, 120 lots of the college site tract would be sold for $1,000 each to form the initial fund. The remainder necessary for buildings would be borrowed.

John R. Freeman, president of the college, is attending the session. Ginter college is a Church of Christ denominational school.

Weather

day for the first time the storm was general over many states.

Beginning early in the day the snow fell steadily and the weather bureau predicted that it would continue throughout the night.

Temperatures in the snow belt were not severe, but farther west the mercury descended sharply. Several deaths were reported in Chicago.

In New York City the snow was gentle and very fine and for hours succeeded in doing little more than making a slippery paste on streets and sidewalks.

Generally throughout New England there was light snowfall during the day which was expected to pile up several inches before morning.

Hickman Trial

tentation of opening their case Monday with the introduction of 41 depositions taken in Missouri and Arkansas, the scenes of Hickman's early life and school days. The array of defense alienists will be the first witnesses.

Argument of opposing counsel, or ruling of the court, or both, was expected to enliven the opening minutes Monday. The question to be settled is the swearing in of the present jury of three women and nine men, or the allowing of further prosecution challenges. Keyes asked to retain this privilege in the dramatic closing minutes late Friday after the jury had been accepted first by himself and immediately by the defense. The Judge, J. J. Trabucco, ruled that the situation would be settled Monday. At that time two alternate jurors also must be chosen.

Late today word from the district attorney's office indicated that Keyes on Monday might declare to the court his acceptance of the nine men and three women jurors, which move would automatically clear the trial of the legal tangle he had propelled into it. In that event the next action would be the selection of the alternate jurors, and the swearing of the completed group.

The jurors who will file into the box on Monday morning are: Elias Kahn, Mrs. Elizabeth Bullis Maurice J. Maehl, Virginia L. Roess, Robert L. Bowman, Arlo Ricketts, Edwin Venables, J. A. Ruggler, Howard Atkinson, Judson Burch, and Mrs. Sarah A. Roess.

All are middle-aged or over, several are gray-haired, and all three women are housewives.

CRIME ANTIDOTE
Moral Development of Youth Is Stressed

DALLAS, Jan. 28. (AP)—Proper moral development of youth, and better resources to assure swift and certain detection of crime would do much toward the suppression of crime, Associate Justice T. B. Greenwood of the supreme court of Texas said here tonight at a banquet given by the Dallas Bar association honoring him and Associate Justice William Pierson.

"Mould aright the character of youth. Leave nothing undone to bring to him the true meaning of life and what should be its high and noble aims," the justice said.

CLUB WOMEN IRED
Protest Removal of Mrs. J. U. Fields

(By the Associated Press)
HASKELL, Jan. 28.—Vehement protest against the action of the General Federation of Women's clubs in declaring vacant the office of the Texas local biennial chairman was voiced in a letter written here today at a meeting of 150 women representing 24 West Texas clubs.

The letter, addressed to the General Federation at Washington, reads in part:
"January, 1927, your committee decided that the selection of the Texas local biennial chairman was technically a state matter. Acting in good faith, upon your decision, in February, 1927, the Texas state board elected Mrs. J. U. Fields. This action was confirmed without a dissenting vote by the Texas Federation in convention assembled at El Paso, November, 1927. We vehemently protest against this injustice and insist that the duly elected chairman be recognized until satisfactory explanation has been made."

IBANEZ DEAD
Famous Spanish Writer
Passes Away

MENTONE, France, Jan. 28. (AP)—Vincent Blasco Ibanez died here today in voluntary exile and will be buried Tuesday in the town cemetery in accordance with his last wishes.

The famous Spanish novelist, a victim of diabetes and bronchial pneumonia, raised himself in bed to express the wish to his family gathered about him, then rested his head on his wife's shoulder and expired at 2:30 a. m.

The tumultuous career of the writer, of which Anatole France said to him "Your greatest work is the romance of your own life," in recent years made him appreciate peace so much that he was inspired to make his home a refuge for other authors, with telephone lines and other communication to the outside world eliminated as far as possible.

FOREST FIRE
Thousands Men and Boys
Battle Raging Flames

PONCHATOULA, La., Jan. 28. (AP)—A thousand men and boys late today were battling against a forest fire, breaking out in ten miles from here today and burning over thirty square miles.

The flames along a three mile front crushed the Ponchatoula and Yellow Water creeks, traveling in an eastward direction. No loss of life has been reported, but twenty-five fire factories narrowly escaped with their lives when caught between two walls of fire.

ANTI-POULTRY THEFT
FORT WORTH, Jan. 28. (AP)—Poultry men from all parts of the county are expected to attend a meeting here on February 18 when first steps will be taken to form a poultry anti-theft association.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Harry Bettis of Ardmore, Oklahoma, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. W. Porter, and family.

Mrs. W. G. Street and children are spending the week-end at the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Arnett at the Spade ranch.

Mrs. John H. Arnett is visiting at Colorado and Fort Worth.

Mrs. Bessie Baze left for San Angelo Thursday night, called there by the serious illness of her father.

Mrs. N. H. Walden returned from a business trip to Eastland Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Brandon are shopping in Lubbock today.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ayrian and baby and Mrs. Millard Phillips were in Lubbock Thursday.

Mrs. S. J. Smith and daughter, Elaine, of Dallas are visiting on the Spade ranch this week.

Mid Seale was in Amarillo Thursday on business.

Miss Eula Neeley of Lubbock is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ayrian this week.

BRIDGE CLUB

The Thursday Afternoon Bridge club met at the home of Mrs. H. W. Steen with Mrs. W. D. Arnett as hostess. There were four tables of bridge.

At the close of the games the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Steen, served dainty refreshments to the following: Mesdames Bessie Baze, W. G. Street, Lena Howard, A. P. Duggan, Roy James, W. O. Stockton, A. C. Chesher, H. W. Wiseman, I. G. Sadler, J. M. Stokes, E. S. Rowe, P. W. Walker and the guests, Mesdames R. S. Thomas, Frances Tolbert and J. E. Whitner of Dallas.

HI-Y BANQUET

The Littlefield chapter of the Hi-Y had its fourth weekly banquet Thursday evening with 17 members present. After a song by the club, Chaplain Walter Gray returned, thanksgiving.

After dinner speeches were made by Ferrell Burford, Walter Gray and sponsor, L. A. Boles. Then Bill Arnn's quartet composed of Curtis Heard, Ernie Inman and William Lowmore, rendered several songs. One new member was present and was initiated by a committee appointed for that purpose. A reporter was elected by popular vote, and the president appointed Ferrell Burford to be a third member of the membership committee. Plans for a trip to Wichita Falls were discussed and practically all of the club voiced hearty approval of such a trip. A yell was then given by the club and the meeting adjourned.

THISTLEWOOD'S RETURN FROM GEORGIA ASKED

AUSTIN, Jan. 28.—R. B. Thistlewood, under Harris county jerry indictment, would return for trial through a requisition on the Governor of Georgia, issued today by Governor Moody.

Thistlewood is under arrest at Macon, Ga., officers advised.

HOUSEHOLD BUDGET

Many homemakers excuse themselves for not having a plan for spending by saying they are "poor at figures." Figures are not the important thing in budgeting. It is not a matter of addition and subtraction. It is a matter of deciding upon what type, quantity, and quality of articles, and services to spend one's income.

MAKING BISCUITS

Try cutting out biscuits in very small rounds, then brushing the top of half of them with a little rich milk and placing the rest on top of these to bake. When cooked these dainty biscuits are attractive in shape and easy to open and butter. Serve them for afternoon tea, or with salad at an evening party.

We will not condemn you or tell you it is wrong. All we ask is this—did you ever hear of one of the apostles talking about the queen of diamonds or the ace of spades? Use your own judgment—a monkey can't.

We talk about those about us—take them "hail Columbia" but never take some of our deeds might be worse than theirs.

Most of us have an idea that the world thinks we are all o. k. and are about the "hot stuff". Well, the world has no such ideas, and if we had the gumption of a monkey we would know it.

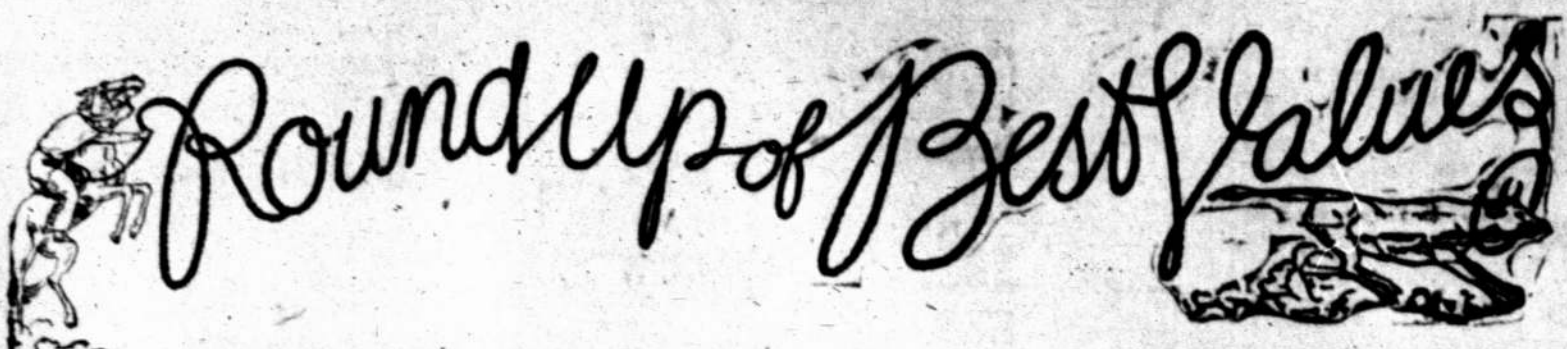

Right now we can think of a number of men—women too, who pass off as 100% all wool and a yard wide stuff, who should be in jail. Some of them are church members—had ones though, and the church isn't to be held responsible for them.

The trouble with most of us is this—we think we are a lot when we are nothing. We figure we are wise when in reality we are ignorant; we think we are great when we are small. We fool our friends and our neighbors, and are "monkey" enough to think we can fool God. As a matter of fact we do not—we don't even fool ourselves.

Be yourself for a couple of days and you will be a different kind of an animal from what you think people think you are.

Next Sunday we are going to give you the inside on politics—everything from precinct to president.

Major Hoople Says Some Of Us Have No Kick Against Evolution Because Monkeys Aren't Senseless, At That

Who Ever Heard Of Monk Drinking Bootleg Booze? It's Time For Most Men To Take Stock, He Says

By MAJOR HOOPLE McCORKLE
Avalanche-Journal Philosopher

Well, people, it's about time for us all to get down to "brass tacks"—quit kidding ourselves and take life for what it really is. Of course most of us will have to make a lot of changes, but the chances are the changes will be for the better, and as long as progress is being made we shouldn't kick.

We hear a lot about evolution these days, and while we have never been brave enough to come right out and say that we were an evolutionist, we have always wanted to. Not because we think it has anything to do with the plan of salvation—all creeds disregarded—because it is something new. But evolution won't get you anywhere. It's a dead issue and has been every since Brother Darwin started it. We just wanted to ride the tide—be with the new-fangled bunch, and look as much "unlike" and "idiot" as possible. And when we say this we realize that a lot of evolutionists look a lot like we do.

The Monkey Can't Help It
But that's that. Why cry over spilled (or split) milk? If men and women are related to the monkey, the monkey can't help it. He's never had a college education, and about the best thing he knows to do is hang by his tail to a coconut tree and throw the death-dealing fruit. Men and women hang by the lamp post or telephone post or what ever kind of post happens to be nearby. They use their legs and arms while the monkey uses his tail. God made 'em that way.

Man has been educated, however, and he should know how to do a few things—even if he doesn't want to. Still he continues his crazy stunts and human beings (a little better than the monkey, we think) stand by and wonder why.

If there is a more rotten and foul smelling plant on earth than the tobacco plant we have never heard of it. Maybe our education has been neglected along this line, but we doubt it. We bear the dis-tion of philosopher and that kind of a life might mean anything—educated or otherwise. Yet men chew and smoke and "dip" this weed until they have the odor of a billy goat of a negro on election day and swear they like it. Maybe they do.

Andy Made A Mistake
Before Brother Volstead elected himself to save America from "Demon Rum" many men bathed themselves "internally" with this liquid. Whether this harmed them we can not say, for Volstead landed on earth to set the world right a long time before we did. But one thing we know—Volstead never heard of or tasted moonshine, else he would have remained silent and given rum a chance.

The stuff rum drinkers "take" today would make a hound dog leave a packing house. It would disgust a respectable buzzard and make a rat-rat wish it had never been born. It is a swif—just like anafetida or horse liniment. It has the taste of bile, the color of catsup and the kick of a Missouri jack. The more rotten it is the more men crave it, for once they get a taste it works on them like soko works on horses.

This merely proves that evolution is wrong—a monkey wouldn't drink moonshine on a bet.

Here Are The Facts
A fellow doesn't have to be a murderer to be a sinner; a crap shooter to be un-saved. Bob Ingersoll never killed anyone, but there are not many people who have any idea of meeting him in heaven. And Bob wasn't an evolutionist, either.

We know some people who will give "big money" to boost foreign missions who won't pay their grocery bill at home, but these fellows must do it where everybody can witness the demonstration. They will go to heaven about as rapidly as the monkey. Just as well come down to brass tacks before it is too late—they still have a chance, while the monkey hasn't.

If you like to play poker, play

POLITICAL POT BOILS

Politics Move Better In Lamesa and Dawson

LAMESA, Jan. 28.—Politics are looking up early in Lamesa and Dawson county. There are two candidates already in the race for Mayor and others anticipated. Judge E. B. Warren and Judge C. P. Rogers have already announced. In the county races much interest is showing up in the sheriff's race with Joe L. Ray, present incumbent, Boone Dillard, and Mac Hancock all running.

START NEW CHURCH

LAMESA, Jan. 28.—The Baptist Missionary church broke dirt this week for the erection of a new church building. It is located on North First and Bryant streets. The Rev. W. B. Wages is pastor of this church and has been for the past three years. The cost of the building will be $5,000, when complete, according to present plans, and will be of frame structure.

Strong the Family Praise!

Houston, Texas.—"I wish to say Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been a blessing to our family, especially in our daughter's case. She was in a serious condition with woman's weakness and just about past going when we decided to try one more remedy we had heard of—the 'Favorite Prescription'. Well, a few bottles of this helped her so she has never had any more trouble of the kind. So it is no wonder that we have depended wholly upon this one remedy ever since for all such ailments."—Mrs. Emma Allen, 313 Hogan St.

LUBBOCK, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JANUARY 29, 1928

Ryor Irwin Sees Wonderful Future For Lubbock And Tells Why He Sees City As Center Of Great Territory

Business Expert Points To Reasons For His Decision That Hub Of Plains Will Continue Its Growth

That Lubbock will continue to prosper in the same era of development which is now dominant and rise to be one of the greatest agricultural and business centers of West Texas is without a doubt in the opinion of Pryor Irwin, nationally known retail business counselor and investigator who closed a five day Better Business Institute here Friday for the Lubbock Retail Merchants association.

With your surrounding population, your geographical location and transportation facilities coupled with your section's agricultural possibilities and diversification, Lubbock has the brightest of settings for a business, both wholesale and retail, and agricultural center, in this section of the state.

Facilities for reaching this territory are most excellent. Mr. Irwin pointed out. "The best way, of course," he said, "is through your local newspaper which seems to me to be a great power in the advertising of this section. Then, too, with your mail facilities and business direct advertising of various kinds may be conducted with little trouble. But your newspaper is the best route and I know of no town the size of Lubbock which supports better publications than you have here."

Void of False Booms "One element which is admired about your city is that it is void of false booms and inflation tactics. It seems to me that you fellows here have a very solid foundation for a city which has a wonderful future to be secured merely by continuing sound business economy and community planning. If you fellows have the false boom or inflation spirit here, you're hiding it and keeping it quiet for I haven't noticed a single trace of the defect during my stay in Lubbock."

Your merchants and stores as a whole compare very favorably with places much larger where I have visited," Mr. Irwin said. "The aggressiveness and susceptibility as demonstrated by the interest manifested in this business institute which is closing tonight. They seem to have a broader vision in their work which was displayed by their co-operation with the merchants of the city in the institute and by their invitation to South Plains merchants. If they will continue striving to practice sound business economy by retaining the best methods and keeping the customer viewpoint, they will face unlimited possibilities in the growth of the section."

"Lubbock is certain to forge ahead. It has wonderful advantages for home life. Its schools, its mild climate and its chances for making a living stand out as opportunities for the people. Its growth has just started due to the fact that so few people had realized its possibilities during the past."

In closing his interview, Mr. Irwin stated that he wished to express his thanks to the merchants, the employees, the schools, the service clubs, the Avalanche-Journal, the chamber of commerce and retail merchants for their aid in making the institute.

Mr. Irwin left Lubbock last night for Dodge City, Kansas, where he is conducting a five week institute. The fifth he has held in this city. Garnett O. Reeves, secretary of the Lubbock Retail Merchants association, took Mr. Irwin as far as Amarillo by automobile.

Hunting Spies a Great Sport for European People

Secret Agents Abound Over Continent and In Britain Too, Milton Bronner Has Found In Survey.

BY MILTON BRONNER LONDON, Jan. 28—Hit! Spy! No, this is not the old children's game of hide and seek. It is the game of those older children of Europe who run the governments, the armies, the navies and the air fleets.

Pre-war Europe was bad enough in the spy line, what with France watching Germany and Germany watching France and Russia watching both. But pre-war Europe is not a patch on after-war Europe.

The nations proclaim part of their armament program by the budgets they pass through their parliaments, but their spy activities are concealed in appropriations for various funds. Most of these funds are secret ones. Not even in England, run as it is by Parliament, is any accounting publicly made for the expenses incurred by the various secret service agencies.

And England is supposed to have one of the finest in the world. The country which is supposed to have the biggest spy system in the world at present is Bolo-land. The activities of the Soviet agent are two-fold:

There are the men who go snooping all over Europe trying to find out the war secrets of their neighbors.

But still more important are the agents provocateurs scattered all over the map, whose purpose is to encourage Communism and any other "ism" that will hitch up with the revolutionary plans of the masters of Russia.

The two countries where the Bolois are most active are England and France. Many of the recent mutinies in artillery regiments and several warships of France are attributed to the activities of Bolo agents. Bolo money has streamed into some French electoral districts.

ORIENT CHIEF ENGINEER GIVES UP HIS POSITION WICHITA, Kan., Jan. 28 (AP)—The resignation of W. L. Churchill as chief engineer of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad was accepted by Orient directors in session here Friday. Mr. Churchill has been connected with the Orient since 1905. He spent 12 years in construction work on the line.

HALE JURY BUSY PLAINVIEW, Jan. 28—Sixty-five indictments were filed with the Hale county grand jury before its adjournment Thursday to meet again February 20. Twenty five were felon indictments.

which have elected Communist members of Parliament or local councilors. Sober, steady-going England also has the Bolo scare. Only the other day several men were arrested on the charge of being spies for the Soviet government, seeking particularly to get dope on the navy and air fleet and on naval and aerial secrets. France has recently sent to prison men whom it deemed spies, three of these being Englishmen. Another country that has a large number of secret agents at work is Italy. The Fascist government keeps its eye on trouble-makers both at home and abroad. At home it especially wants to know what the one-time Communists and Socialists are doing. The Communist and Socialist movements have disappeared completely from the surface of Italian politics and life, but it is known they have only been driven underground. Every once in a while, thanks to the Italian secret service, there is a roundup of men in all walks of Italian life. There is a short trial. And one fine morning a little ship, heavily guarded by armed troops, takes the convicted suspects off to one of the lonely bare islands in the Adriatic. In a lesser degree this is true of Spain. Many prominent Spaniards have left their country to avoid the rule of Dictator Rivera. Many of them still clandestinely work in Catalonia, and especially Barcelona. Until the League of Nations took a hand in trying to settle the scrap between Poland and Lithuania, each of these countries swarmed with spies from the other. And to cap the climax, the Bolo claim their own country is the greatest of all victims of spies. Wrongly or rightly, they have executed nearly 100 persons this year who have been accused of being spies, many of the unfortunates being English.

Spacious Home Of Mr. And Mrs. Sam Davis Festive Friday Evening When Large Party Given; Young Men Hosts

Stunts Follow Progressive Games Of Forty-Two; Tech Men And Women Constitute Gathering

The first floor of the spacious Sam T. Davis home at 1802 Avenue O was festive Friday evening when three classes of Methodist young people gathered there for one of the most enjoyable church parties to have been given.

Young men in Glee Ford's Sunday school class, which is composed principally of Tech students, were hosts to young women in the classes of Mrs. E. W. Camp and Mrs. William Dings. Mrs. M. W. Richardson directed the entertainment for the evening.

Fifteen tables were laid for games of progressive forty-two in four rooms and while part of the group was playing others furnished music and enjoyed other socialities. The floors were cleared later and a stunt designed to assist the guests in becoming better acquainted provided much merriment. As an outgrowth of this feature, a mock marriage ceremony was staged.

Valentines were matched when partners were chosen for refreshments of brick ice cream and cake.

THE WOMAN'S DAY By Allene Sumner

A great office building in a certain city recently fired all its girl elevator operators and replaced them with boys. The firm explained that the girls refused to take orders from the two women starters, stopping and succeeding when feeling it and utterly refusing to heed the startlers' signals. The men followed the women's orders implicitly, the management says.

We hadn't heard about women refusing to work for other women for some time, but there's no denying that all of us do hate taking orders from them, even if it does seem far-fetched to refuse to start an elevator when a woman starts says, "go."

I suppose that women know another woman's game too well and get motives which a man wouldn't. Perhaps, too, we're all out after the same spoils and find it only good business to take a crack at a competitor—to work and play fairly with other women.

Nose Powdering

How many times a day does and should a girl powder her nose? This weekly question pops up in our daily press. The same research in London revealed that the London girl powdered her nose four times an hour. The average over here seems to run six times a day. Well, what of it? If it is started by an office efficiency worker I recommend that he next start an investigation on the number of times a day a man tops work to light and smoke his pipe or paper.

For Children

"Club Woman" asks for some good books on Americanism in biographical or autobiographical form. Ask your librarian for "The Soul of an Immigrant" by Panunzio, "The Frontier" by Antan, "An American in the Making" by Rawage, "Story of a Pioneer" by Shaw, "Autobiography of Andrew Carnegie," "Caste and Outcast" by Mukerji, "The Making of an American" by Felt, "The Americanization of Edward Bok" by Bok, "My Miraculous Life" by Damroch and "From Immigrant to Inventor" by Pupin.

Lady Pirates

Every once in a while we suspect that our term of "modern woman" and our casual assumption that a woman look like a chimney just to prove it, a new book coming out called "Gallant Ladies" which is a collection of the stories of ten adventurous ladies of history whose exploits make the modern woman look like a chimney come lady. There is Meta Hart, the German spy; two English pirates, Mary Read and Anne Bonny and Belle Star and Calamity Jane, bandit ladies, represent our own country.

Hot Air

If there's any one thing that pulls the chin whiskers of my pet Angela, it is those damned hot-air driers now taking the place of old towels in our nation's wash rooms. Of all the messy contraptions! You pedal and treadle and wheeze and shake and blow and then go forth with moist fingers all so chapped hands. I'm stopping my charge account in all stores with hot air driers.

HONORS SISTER

Commenting her sister, Mrs. B. A. Fain, Brownwood Party Honoree.

Complimenting her sister, Mrs. B. A. Fain, of Brownwood, who is her home guest, Mrs. F. Y. Robnett, 1907 13th street, was hostess at bridge Friday afternoon at the Pagoda tea shop.

Bridal guests were Mesdames Fain, R. A. Mills, W. R. Waggoner, E. L. Dohoney, W. R. Rix, W. H. Meador, J. H. Murdoch, W. B. Gates, J. A. McElvey, Gus L. Ford, G. E. McElvey, Dorrance D. Rodrick, E. Y. Freeland, Misses Flora McGee and Mary Meador.

Tea guests were Mrs. Paul W. Horn, Mrs. Allan L. Carter, Miss Ruth Horn and Mrs. Sam Henry. Accompanying the salad course that was served the guests, were bouquets of sweet peas tied with dainty ribbons. Bouquets of carnations and pot plants were cheerfully in the tea rooms where tables were laid for the games.

Mrs. Mills made high score in the games and Mrs. Waggoner scored second high. The honoree was favored with a gift.

District P.-T. A. Convention Will Meet In Lubbock

Approximately 500 Women To Attend Sessions On April 10, 11 and 12. Mrs. E. W. Camp Notified

Lubbock has been chosen as the meeting place for an annual convention of eight district Parent-Teacher associations and dates for the conference are April 10, 11 and 12. Mrs. E. W. Camp, president of the City Council who last spring extended an invitation to the convention to meet in Lubbock was notified yesterday by Mrs. J. I. Kendrick, of Amarillo, district president, that the meeting will be conducted here.

No program announcements have been made yet. Mrs. Camp said yesterday, but it is expected that it will be published within a few weeks. Several state officials in P.-T. A. work are expected to be here and the meeting is to be at a date earlier than was originally scheduled in order that the officers may be able to attend, she said.

Plan Entertainment

Presidents of all parent-teacher associations in Lubbock are to meet at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. M. Smith, 1922 8th street, to plan entertainment for delegates during the three days. Mrs. Smith is county extension chairman in the district.

Approximately 500 delegates are expected to attend this convention.

Members centralized the district convention last spring the latter part of April and it was at this time that Mrs. Camp and other delegates from Lubbock extended an invitation from Lubbock. The selection was made by board members.

Palm Beach Style's A-Blooming

Mrs. Richard Croker—Louise Van Allen

BY BETSY SCHUYLER

NEA Service Writer

PALM BEACH, Jan. 28—Even a fine memory seems to have forgotten how gorgeously white Palm Beach sands are, how blue the sea and smilingly hospitable the skies—until one returns! And what gorgeously beautiful clothes abound!

It's the same each year, at Palm Beach. Everyone predicts this, or that type of costume, and several or many beautiful pastel or vivid shades that will undoubtedly be the most popular. Then, when you really get here, what's the color and the sports frock that the thing for the runabout daytime costume.

Must Be Vivid

All touches and colored costumes simply must be vivid, for where could soft colors get by in this penetrating sunshine? The color and the sports frock that the thing for the runabout daytime costume.

But I must not give the impression that Palm Beach speeds its life away in sports frocks—only. Evenings see a riot of color, styles, beauty that makes one's eyes bulge. Such gowns!

For sailing sponsors none could have been more than Mrs. Heckcher Wetherill in a biscuit colored creation of wonderful line—draperies too intricate for anything but admiration—neck rounded but still smartly low. Lace had many champions; Mary Brown had her, and Mrs. M. L. Lacey the most extreme back decolletee of the season; Mrs. Herbert Pulver in soft black lace of an indecipherable Spanish atmosphere; Mrs. Ester Mann, a string-colored accent, delectably dainty with three bouquets and a moulded bodice, and Mrs. Vibel Chase in intriguing, lace with blue and gold slippers and other accessories.

County Federation President Proposes United Action In Worthy Projects

Cooperative Market Would Benefit Rural And Urban Women of Lubbock, Mrs. R. A. Baldwin, Of Slaton, Tells City Federation Members Here Friday

Mrs. R. A. Baldwin, of Slaton, president of the County Federation of Women's clubs, is anxious that the City Federation at that junction in a manner to be of civic benefit to the county and at the same time bring closer harmony of urban and rural women.

She spoke of this desire Friday afternoon when she was the principal speaker at a meeting of the City Federation at the First Baptist church parlors.

Benefit To Women

A cooperative market in Lubbock would provide a place for rural women to market their excess products, such as eggs, poultry, canned fruits, meats and vegetables, fresh produce and other yields of the farm and city women might cater to this stand, she pointed out.

Through standardization of prices, both rural and city women might benefit from the market, according to this president, who told something of the Long Beach, Calif., market and the Mitchell County Home Products association, the latter having been fostered with success by West Texas women.

Mrs. Baldwin told some of the benefits that might accrue from a club house, explaining that it would furnish a social center for club activities, provide home demonstration work and give with a common meeting place, furnish a rest room for country women while they are in the city, as well as permit the home demonstration agent to have room for displays meetings.

This house might be so arranged

Dancing Club Members Have Clever Invitations For Circus Masked Parade In Hotel Ball Room.

Two large dances, one a masquerade, are scheduled for this week and probably will be principal social events.

An entertainment committee of Mesdames L. C. Enoch, W. S. Poyer and Neil H. Wright is planning a Valentine-Country club dance for Tuesday evening, expecting an attendance of about one hundred couples. This is the first dance to have been given for the Country club membership in more than a year.

Music is to be furnished by the Tech Torvadors and light refreshments will be served.

This dance is to be informal although plans are being made for some feature stunts.

At Hotel Lubbock

The other dance of the week is to be on Thursday evening at Hotel Lubbock and is given for members of the Danzette Club. As this is a masked affair, hostesses are keeping their identity secret.

Clever invitations, written in verse, have been issued in which it is stated that this is a circus masquerade dance and urging that members "Come dressed as animal trainer or clown, the funny or fat lady with her nose upside down, a ballet girl or trapeze artist, a light wire walker or bareback rider; just anything suggesting circus."

The hotel banquet hall will be dressed in keeping with this masked ball and refreshments will suggest the circus vendor's store, according to the hostesses.

Preparations for the attendance of about forty couples are being made.

Home Opening

The opening of Tech's Home Management house is to furnish social events three evenings of the week. The house will be open Wednesday evening from 7 until 9:30 o'clock to townpeople; at the same hours on Thursday for the college students. The first event of the evening will be a Faculty club party on Tuesday evening.

In addition to these events will be a regular social club meetings and parties, according to the forecast.

ever, that the influence of a Texan was responsible for the choice of Houston as a convention city. Jesse Jones has been treasurer of the Democratic party for several years, and as treasurer has been compelled to finance heavy party deficits out of his own ample treasury. When he asked for the convention, and laid a certified check for $200,000 before the committee, it would have been gross ingratitude as well as poor business to refuse the treasurer's request. Mr. Jones proved himself to be a big man when he presented that check, for he did so upon his own responsibility, confident that the people of Houston would give him all the support, financial and otherwise, that might be needed if the offer were accepted. A wealthy man who has such faith in his home city, and such an interest in its welfare, is a very valuable citizen. The thousands of us who have always wanted to attend a Democratic convention need not be especially interested in the Houston meeting. For most of us, the convention will be as far away as ever, and we will save our time and trouble by remaining at home during the meeting. Houston is going to be crowded with delegates and alternates, Congressmen, Senators, Governors and all the other fifty-seven varieties of convention visitors, and the uneducated bourgeoisie will be unable to get within ten blocks of convention hall. And after all is said and done, those of us who remain at home will be just as well situated as those who attend. The convention will be a big show, but not a very instructive or inspirational entertainment. The party will devote its attention to the task of picking a winner, with most of the procedure determined in the privacy of a few hotel rooms and a dozen leaders behind the scene pulling the strings that operate the boisterous and important looking delegations on the floor. It will be impressive, perhaps, but not especially important.

OBSERVANCE OF THE MORAL LAW

MOST of us are agreed that good citizenship involves voluntary observance of civil law, regardless of our own opinion of the wisdom or justice of the law. This is so because we recognize the necessity for law observance as a foundation upon which to erect and maintain the whole structure of civil government; and without civil government, civilization itself would perish. But there is not such unanimity as to the necessity for voluntary observance to moral law. Each of us has a different code of moral law for individual guidance; and each of us insists upon placing an individual interpretation upon moral law, and upon using a different standard as a guide to the observance of moral law. The result is that not many of us can claim anything like a complete observance of the moral law; and if the feeble eyes of humanity are able to detect our failures to observe the law, what must be the condition as God sees it? Most of us meet with difficulty, when we undertake to discuss the moral laws and their observance because we stray into bypaths of uncertainty as to the exact interpretation of specific laws. For instance, most of us believe in Sabbath observance; but immediately we ask, "is it lawful to do this and so on Sabbath day?" Jesus Himself was challenged, during His earthly ministry because His disciples were not fasting according to the law of Moses, and again when He healed a lame man on the Sabbath day the Pharisees were so incensed that they went out immediately and began to plot for His death. With reference to the Sabbath day, God has given us a number of interpretations of the law requiring the observance of the day, and has made it clear that it is the spirit in which we observe the day, rather than the specific acts committed during the day, that constitute the observance or violation of the Sabbath. These interpretations make it clear that the Sabbath is a day set apart for God's own glory, and that it is to be observed by public and private worship of God, and by works of mercy or necessity. An honest and fearless application of this definition of the Sabbath will answer any question as to the lawful or unlawful nature of any contemplated activity on that day. Not long ago the Supreme Court of the United States, in an opinion settling a very important case, applied what it called the "rule of reason" to the interpretation of the statutes involved in the case. Every moral law will stand the same test, if honestly applied, for all of God's laws are reasonable laws. Violation of moral laws, in most cases, is not a result of misunderstanding of them, nor of a lack of sympathy for them and their purposes, but of a refusal to accept God as the great Law-Giver and the merciful Father. The greatest of all moral law is this, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God" with every ounce of one's energy and mind and soul; and unless this law is observed, voluntarily and gladly, it is well nigh impossible to observe those laws which are merely explanatory of the greater statute. Non-Christians who openly flout the moral laws advertise their defiance of the Law-Giver. Christians who find it difficult to give obedience to moral law should recognize the danger signals that warn of a waning love for God, and by returning to Him, in penitence and worship, should seek to place themselves in an attitude which will enable them to give voluntary obedience to the laws He has enacted for His children.

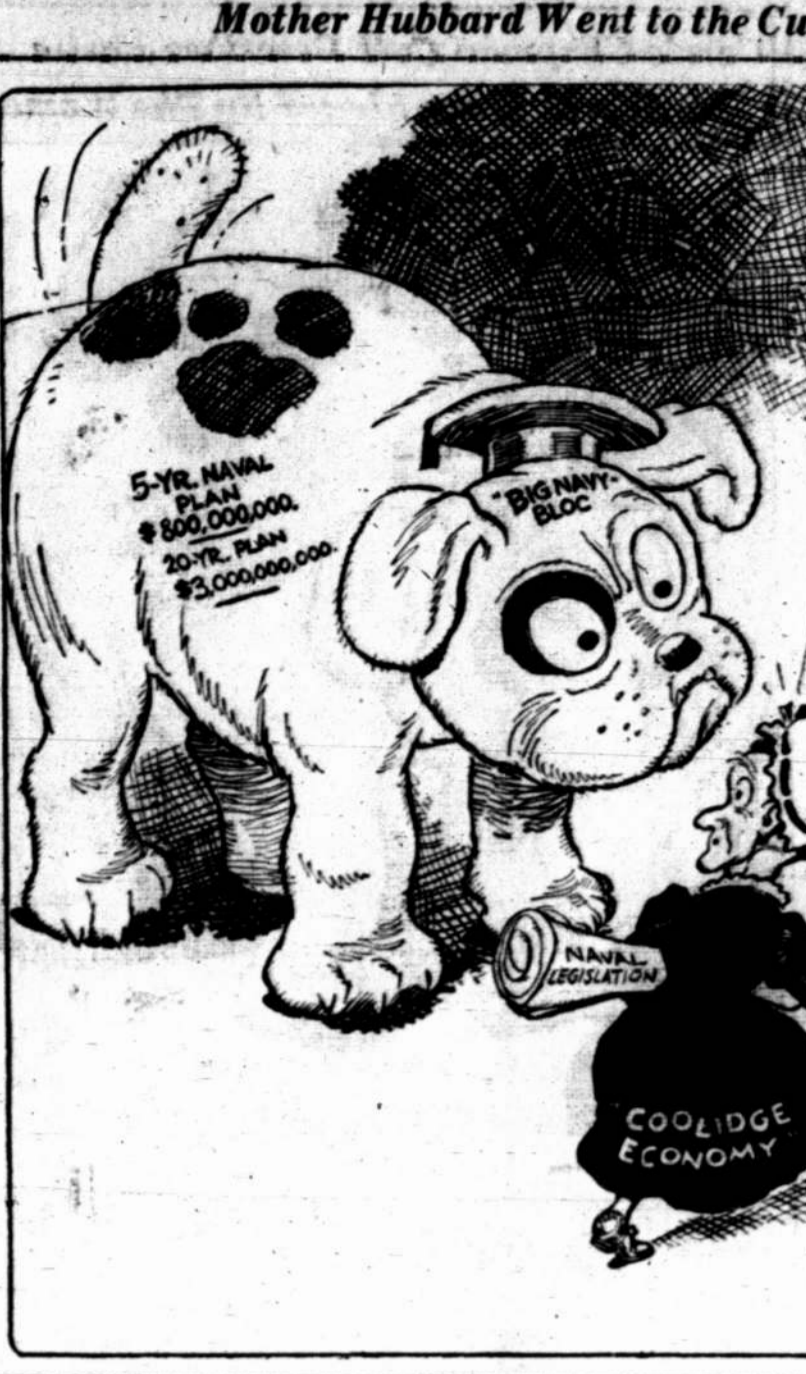

THE HOUSTON CONVENTION

There is Political significance, to be sure, in the selection of Houston as the convention city of the Democratic party. The significance is that the Democratic party plans to meet and choose a standard bearer, place him upon a campaign platform that may or may not mean something, and then launch the quadrennial drive for votes. If there is other significance, one guesses is about as good as another as to what it is. For one thing, it seems to us, the coming of the convention to Texas does not mean anything in particular with reference to the political ambitions of Texans, although a boom to nominate Dan Moody for vice president has been under way for some time, and Jesse Jones of Houston has also been offered as a possible vice presidential candidate since the National Committee selected his home town as the convention city. Democrats representing all of the forty-eight states will attend the convention, and its location in Texas will have no influence upon them in their consideration of prospective nominees. Most of the state delegations will bring with them the names of favorite sons of their own, and all of them will be prepared to fight the bitter end in support of some and opposition to other outstanding leaders national reputation. It does seem, how-

NO THINK WE

We think it would be a very good idea if we would adopt the practice of never taking the life of anything that will do us no harm while we are dead. We think it strange that so many people will be satisfied to violate the laws of the land by operating their automobiles without license plates with one light and sometimes no light at all. We think possibly the meanest man in Lubbock is the fellow who kept his wife in bed a month after she was well, so that the neighbors would bring in enough food for him to live on. We think the fellow who rubbed around the room when his wife asked him who he thought was the prettiest woman in the room, certainly used very poor judgment. We think that possibly the slang phrase "cut it out" originated in the doctor's office. At least we have heard the expression on numerous occasions in doctor's offices. We think that we can get a pretty good idea of the disposition we have by observing what the other folks seem to really think of us. We think there are more new residences being built in Lubbock than any other town in West Texas. We think a really great man is the fellow who never has a disposition or occasion for any kind of deceit, no reason for being or appearing different from what he is. We think it real strange to hear a boy talk like we heard one a few days ago. He said a person could not realize the real joy of going to school until he stays out a few days. It would seem that there are some boys who really like to go to school. We think that some people just can't be satisfied. Some want winter when it is summer and some want summer when it is winter. We think the average boy who has never enjoyed having a black eye cannot enjoy not having one just as well. We think that most heroes never talk much. That is the reason that we contend that some of the husbands of this town are real heroes. We think we may both be responsible for the thoughts that pass our doors, but we are responsible for those that enter into our mind. We think it is a pretty sure sign that a man is wrong and he knows it when he assumes great dignity, that is unbecoming to him. We think that Houston is going to pull a pretty big show down there at the National Democratic Convention, if not up to the expectation of the general public in the matter. We think the more trifling a man is the bigger load of fountain pens and pencils a man can carry around with him. We think Lubbock is living up to her past record in keeping in touch with the South Plains, and cementing the fellowship and the friendship that she has with the people of that section. Lubbock does not want to be the big dog of the kennel, especially, but does afford the men in Lubbock who are at the head of the commercial civic and commercial interests of this city a great deal of real satisfaction. It is a pleasure to those of us who are not able to have the facilities that we have. We think the reason that some men do not succeed is they pay too much attention to the office girl, and not enough attention to business. Attend to the business during office hours and give your time and attention to the wife and children after that and there will be more business successes and more happy homes. We think it will be a case of irresistible force meeting an immovable body, when Al Smith hits the Democratic dry plank in the Houston convention. We think that the people of West Texas cannot afford to send anything but real strong influential men to the legislature. This section of the state is in the growing stage—in the adolescence period so to speak, and we all know how critical that is, and how it requires so great attention to those who are trying to direct the life of the state. West Texas and especially the South Plains and Lubbock should see to it that none but men who are able to look after our interests be elected to the Senate and the lower house. We should not only be interested in our own district but all of the districts in this territory. We think a lot of people will be planting gardens soon if it does not snow. This pretty weather on the South Plains is something that just keeps a fellow all pepped up all the time. We think some folks will not care to vote in the democratic primary if Al Smith is nominated, but there will be a lot of them that won't have any vote coming if they keep on fooling around and not paying their poll tax. We think a fellow can get by the failure of paying his auto tax by paying a fine and a penalty, but you can't get by this poll tax business. If you do not pay you are just out of luck. We think this is a funny world. Some folks storn about their wrongs and other storn about their rights. It just looks like some folks can't be satisfied right or wrong.

There are 10 times as many cafes and similar places as bakeries in France, according to a recent census.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that a French scientist has said that high heels makes girls fat and sour. He will probably be saying the same about flat heels in a very short time. It is reported that very few Lubbock county voters have paid their poll tax. Better pay up, your very worst enemy may announce for office, and oh how you would hate to not get to vote against him. It is reported that sixty persons were killed in an explosion at McCamey yesterday. That town must be pretty well blowed up. It is reported that after all of these years the city of London is seeking a slogan. Why not call it the hub of England. It is reported that there is a bald headed barber in Lubbock who sells more hair tonic than any other barber in the city. He tells his customers that the reason he looks like he does is that he failed to use hair tonic when a young man, and that if they do not use it they may look like him, and they nearly all buy. It is reported that there will be a hot time in Kansas City when the Republicans meet to nominate their candidate for President. It looks like they will probably undertake to Hooverize the G. O. P. It is reported that a great many men believe in local self government, but there are very few of them who are in favor of any restrictions when away from home. It is reported that it is impossible to live 200 years on a vegetable diet, but gosh, who would want to live that long and have to eat vegetables all the time.

OUR SUNDAY MORNING SERMON

By REV. R. F. DUNN

WHAT IS PRAYER?

Ask and it shall be given you; seek and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened. If ye then being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him? It would be difficult, if not impossible, to express a truth in more simple, direct, and unequivocal language than is found in Matt. 7:7-11. Our Lord had many things to say unto His disciples, which they could not bear, at that time, but this was not one of them. Here was something so familiar to everybody that the simplest and most familiar language could be used to declare it. This fact ought to thrill our hearts with joy and gratitude because prayer is a privilege that belongs to all, regardless of rank or fortune, culture or lack of culture. It is a part of Divine wisdom and goodness, that this universal privilege should be revealed to us, in the simplest form of statement; so that no one could fail to understand it. It is in this, that we are all on an equality with one another before God. There is no aristocracy here, but the aristocracy of faith and humility, and this is open to all. Prayer is one of the first things that we ever did. When small infants, with no language but a "cry" we made our wants known to our parents, and our cry was heard and answered. Prayer is the simplest form of speech. That infant lips can try: Prayer the sublimest strains that reach The Majesty on high. If we examine closely the language of the text, we shall find that nothing is more simple than prayer. "Ask," said Jesus, "and ye shall be given you; seek; and ye shall find; knock; and it shall be opened unto you." One word is enough to express each form and phase of prayer, when uttered in its simplicity. Surely, no one has the least excuse for failure to pray because of the mystery of it. If we look for a reason why so many

YOUR HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine. The word "cripple" comes from an Anglo-Saxon word meaning to creep and from the word "dwarf." From the earliest times, cripples were cruelly treated. It was customary for superstitious persons to attach to them an evil spirit. The tribes that traveled about found the cripple in the way and endeavored to "lose" him. Only in modern times has humanitarianism changed the attitude of man toward the defective so that today efforts are made to rehabilitate the disabled and to make them capable of becoming self-supporting individuals. A small hospital for the crippled was opened in Boston in 1839, and a hospital for the ruptured and crippled in New York City was established in 1863. Since that time, American surgeons have given special study to these problems. A school for the education and industrial training of crippled children was opened in Boston in 1893. Today there are hundreds of competent surgeons in the United States who devote all of their time to the care of the crippled. Dr. Robert B. Osgood has recently surveyed the legal situation of the crippled child. In 1897 the state of Minnesota passed the first legislation representing acceptance by the state of its responsibility for the treatment and care and education of the crippled. New York followed in 1900 and Massachusetts in 1905. In 1925 the state of New York passed a law which requires that all children who are physically handicapped must be reported in the annual school census each year. Ohio, Pennsylvania, North Dakota, Michigan, Kansas and West Virginia now have enlightened legislation for the control of this problem. Many of the great philanthropic foundations give special attention to the crippled. Masonic groups, Elks, Rotary clubs and Kiwanis clubs are also especially interested in the care of the crippled children. Medical research has begun its attack on the problem with the newer investigations on the development of the bones, whereby rickets is largely overcome. Tuberculosis is being prevented on a larger and larger scale. Infectious diseases of the bones and joints are being attacked with all of the armamentarium of modern science. The big problem of the future is the control of one of the most dangerous of all crippling diseases, infantile paralysis. Specialists have become aware of the dangers of unrestricted manipulation during the state of acute inflammation. With proper handling, the amount of crippling in this disease may be greatly diminished.

OPINIONS

SERVICE The school teacher exhorts and is often herself exhorted to service. The word is best defined in the lives of those who live the definition. Mrs. Mable Watkins Lang of Canyon Teachers College, who died last week after a short illness, was such a teacher. At the time of her death she was acting head of the English department. A native Texan, she followed the destinies of Trinity university in getting her education, and later studied in Eastern universities. Her life was dedicated, along with that of her husband to work among young people of the schools and churches. She was one of those remarkable women who combined the sympathetic and gentleness of her sex with the keenest of grasp for ideas and details. Exacting, she demanded much of her students, but they found her abundant source of information and inspiration. Her family will miss her little less than the school she served, and the students she taught pause thoughtfully in contemplation of a grateful memory of her work.—Pampa Daily News. HATCHERY AT POST RECENTLY ENLARGED H. J. Dietrich, owner of the Post Hatchery, and J. L. Myers, poultry expert were Tahoka visitors Wednesday and paid the News office a pleasant call. Mr. Dietrich has recently doubled the incubator capacity of the hatchery and can now take care of 25,000 eggs at a setting. He reports that he is having excellent success with his mainline this year, and received an 89 percent hatch last week. He is also a raiser of fine chickens, raising the Rhode Island Reds, the English and the American White Leghorns. Although he breeds

TODAY'S POEMS

GOING TO BED When I go to bed in the evening, And the big moon is shining so bright, She seems to be smiling and saying to me "Good night, little girlie, good night." So I nod and smile back from my window, And whisper a soft "Good night," too. While she seems to be saying, "I hope all the day, You've been loving, obedient and true." Then I kneel by my bed, to say "Thank you," For the things God has given to me, And to ask him to bless the dear children afar. Who are hungry and cold—o'er the sea, And when I wake up in the morning, In my box goes a penny or two. Or more, if I have it, to help the dear Lord to do, Do the things I have asked him to do.—Exchange. BE STRONG Be strong! We are not here to play, to dream, to drift. We have hard work to do and loads to lift. Shun not the struggle, face it; 'tis God's gift. Be strong, be strong! Be strong! Say not the days are evil—who's to blame? And fold the hands and acquiesce—O shame! Stand up, speak out, and bravely, in God's name. Be strong! It matters not how deep entrenched the wrong, How hard the battle goes, the day, how long; Faint not, fight on! Tomorrow come the song.

Carrie Chapman Catt Describes Battle For World Peace Staged By The Women

Carrie Chapman Catt . . . "women are the logical sex."

BY CARRIE CHAPMAN CATT, Chairman of the National Committee on the Cause and Cure of War. Exclusively for NEA Service and The Avalanche-Journal.

Men, being the belligerent sex, originated the delightful pastime of killing each other as a means of settling their differences. And governments managed entirely by men have continued collective killing, called war, in order to determine which nation had the right end of a quarrel.

Women being the logical sex never have liked war, regarded it as a reasonable solution of difficulties between people or nations. With rare exceptions they have been omitted from the war game. They have been left on the sidelines to hold the coats of the fighters or to bathe their wounds or cheer them on.

Not many of them have approved the game or have wanted their men to engage in it. Now that women are participating on an equal basis with men in the conduct of government, they are determined to establish some more rational method of settling disputes between nations as has been done for quarrels between individuals.

This is not the idea of women on country but a world-wide movement. For instance, I have just returned from a conference in Holland of the women of European nations, many of them members of their own national parliaments or holding other public offices, all of them determined on finding a safe practical definite way to peace.

As part of this world movement, the women of the United States are seeking a path which they may follow toward better world understanding. During the last few years women's organizations in this country have heard thousands of peace speeches and read thousands of peace pamphlets. Often they have not been enlightened by what they heard or saw for the reason there has been no accepted definition of peace nor has there been a plain road to peace.

To settle the confusion caused by the differing opinions of speakers and writers on peace topics, the national committee on the Cause and Cure of War has organized representatives of nine national women's organizations: the American Association of University Women, the Council of Women for Home Missions, the Federation of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America, General Federation of Women's Clubs, National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association, National League of Jewish Women, National League of Women Voters, National Woman's Christian Temperance Union and the National Women's Trade Union League.

Two national conferences have taken place in Washington and a third is scheduled at which 100 delegates from each of the cooperating organizations will hear speeches by experts on the economic causes of war and armaments, and will discuss those national policies which lead to peace or war. There will be radical and conservative opinions those who are for international cooperation and those who are for isolation; those who are for the United States going into Nicaragua, Mexico and China, and those who are for the United States keeping out.

Out of the conference it is expected that a definite program will be evolved which can be used as a basis of action by the cooperating organizations themselves and by other groups of men and women. That is, that there will be a definition which can be accepted as explaining peace and that sign-posts may be put up marking at least one road leading toward international partnership to prevent war.

Beauty! How and Why

HOW FINGER NAIL POLISH IS MADE

Do you prefer liquid nail polish to the solid or to the powdered kind? Yes? Well it is up to you. And goodness knows there are lots of fine makes of finger nail varnishes on the market.

In most cases it is just as well to buy the ready-made article as to try out a formula of your own, since it is possible to purchase good preparations at any good pharmacy or department store. At the end of this article, so that you may have an idea how such polishes are made I shall give you a simple formula from which you may have a liquid polish compounded by your favorite pharmacist.

As a general thing, these polishes are really dainty varnishes, made by dissolving a wax, or a high grade gum, in a suitable liquid such as chloroform or banana oil. The essential point is that the solvent must be volatile, and capable of entirely dissolving the gum of wax. Of course, the better the ingredients, the finer the finished product. After the principal constituents have been mixed, the preparation is perfumed to suit.

Brush the liquid quickly on the nails. When necessary to remove it, wipe off with the polish itself, or with a little chloroform or ether.

Liquid nail polish or varnish: Paraffin wax, 60 grains. Chloroform, 2 fluid ounces. Oil of rose, 3 drops.

400 Members Is Legion Goal Here

Members Enter Campaign In Earnest and Over 100 Are Believed Added the Past Week In Drive.

Setting a membership of 400 as a goal for this city, members of Allen Bros. Post of the American Legion the past week have been combing the city and vicinity for additional members, and although no definite check was available on the drive Saturday, it was known that approximately 100 had been added during the week.

One man proudly announced Saturday that he had signed up more than a score of members during the week, and others are known to have signed up from five to nearly a dozen.

The added incentive in the campaign that has been under way since the first of the year came as a result of a challenge from a very active member at the last meeting that he would sign up five new members by the next meeting, one week from next Monday, or pay into the treasury a dollar for every one of the five not signed. Sixteen others accepted the challenge, and from reports, every man has reached or surpassed his quota.

At the next meeting, February 16, the ladies auxiliary will entertain the Legion in the hall in the Temple Ellis building, and it is probable that renewed efforts will be launched at that time.

TO TELL OF PLAY. Little Theatre Patrons To Hear Dr. Carter.

Dr. Allan L. Carter, of the Tech English department, will address members of the Little Theatre and any others who wish to attend, at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Chamber of Commerce. He has chosen "Beyond the Horizon," Eugene O'Neill's play as his subject as this drama is to be staged on February 20 by the local Little Theatre.

BENEFIT PARTIES. A. A. U. W. Gives Two Large Parties Yesterday.

The local Association of University Women's chapter sponsored two benefit parties yesterday at Hotel Lubbock, bridge and forty-two games being played each time at about two dozen tables.

Appointments were in the Valentine motif and punch and candies were served.

These parties were for the benefit of the Tech scholarship maintained by the chapter to loan some Lubbock girl attending Tech college.

C. I. A. EXES TO MEET

Mrs. R. S. Williams Will Be Hostess

The February meeting of C. I. A. exes here is to be at 7:30 o'clock on Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. R. S. Williams, 1905 16th street, observing pancake night, a custom remembered each year at C. I. A.

A radio program is to be broadcast from the college on that evening and will be listened to by the local exes at Mrs. Williams. Included in the program will be a talk by the college president, the singing of C. I. A. songs by a vested choir, and greetings from the presidents of the student and ex-student association of the college.

The local ex-student chapter meets twice annually and this is to be the February meeting.

PLAN FOR LYCEUM. Meeting Called by Mrs. E. W. Camp

Mrs. E. W. Camp, president of the P. T. A. council, is calling a meeting of the school principals and presidents of associations that plan to bring a lyceum course to Lubbock schools next year. The associations represented in this group are the High School, Junior high school, Central and K. Carter ward schools. The meeting is to be at 4 o'clock Tuesday in Room 101, Junior high school.

Public To View Tech Management House This Week

Completion Of Practice Residence Of Home Economics School Reveals Profitable Future For The Co-Eds

College Faculty Is To See House Tuesday, Public On Wednesday. Tech Students On Thursday Night

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche-Journal Staff
Whether or not Dan Cupid has leagued himself with the Tech home economics school, the opening of a new home management house is enabling co-eds to practice on each other those intricacies of culinary art sometimes disastrously associated with the honeymoon. This residence, which is to be formally opened Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, is now housing five college girls and the hostess, Miss Jonnie McCrery, a member of the home economics faculty.

As a laboratory, it will accommodate six girls and an instructor, designated periods of residence being twelve weeks. However, for married women, the rule has been altered, as a concession to husbands, who do not seem to favor losing a wife for so long a period, even when she is learning to be a better home maker.

Five in House Now
Mrs. Roy Sides, a Lubbock matron, is now in the house, being one of the first group to live in this residence. Other students are Misses Fay Brooks, Floy Anglin, Ella Mae Lyle and Lila Allred. Initiating the opening of this home management house is to be a regular meeting of the Tech Faculty club on Tuesday evening. The public will be given an opportunity to inspect the residence on the following evening, Wednesday, from 7 until 9:30 o'clock. Evening hours were chosen in order that men might also visit the place.

On Thursday evening, the third open house will accommodate Tech students during the hours of 7 until 9:30 o'clock. The group that is now living in the house will be hostesses with the Home Economics club of Tech, and will assist in conducting visitors through the rooms. Complete cost $22,500.

Tech was allowed $20,000 for erecting this brick residence of 12 rooms and $2,500 was granted for furnishing the place. This latter amount was budgeted and an effort made to spend the money most wisely in securing useful and substantial, as well as attractive furnishings.

As the Home Economics club and students in the home economics school are in charge of the furnishings, the budgeting of purchases is in keeping with instruction in home management and this project allowed another opportunity to apply theories expounded in the school.

Each young woman who stays in the house, and residence is required of home economics majors, pays a specified sum for room and board and the amount is carefully budgeted and the group is required to live within the amount. All activities of a well regulated home are carried on and family service is used at all meals except on guest night, when semi-formal service is used.

fashioned of many small panes of glass, a point of interest in plain composition wall of cream color, this latter being used throughout the house.

Simplicity Marks Furnishings
Simplicity is a mark in the furnishings and no attempt was made to select equipment in Spanish style to harmonize with the architectural design of the building. Period furniture expensive and was not considered altogether practical for this type of residence. But in each room there is a definite color scheme.

A living room is to the left of the hall, a southeast corner room, and a dining room is on the right, this latter leading back into the service pantry and kitchen. Laundry rooms are in the back and next to the hostess' office, this last room opening into the south and west.

Five Bedrooms Upstairs
There are five bed rooms upstairs, two large ones accommodating two girls each, and three single ones, one of these being the hostess' room. In addition there are two baths, a large hall in which an ironing board is placed and at the end of which is a closet with storage shelves and space for brooms, mops and other cleaning materials.

There are hardwood floors throughout the house, lamps in each room and a bit of color and adornment in keeping with the general scheme of the home.

"Notice the pictures", one is reminded by Miss Weeks on a tour of inspection. "We have hung two prints of good pictures in each room." There is a Corot, a splash of colorful architecture out of Spain, a demure small boy with his pucker lips, landscape—always a theme from the brush of a master.

Stupendous Fashion Shades
Students in the school of home economics fashioned every lamp shade in the house, with the exception of one, this being an elaborate one in the living room. Doorsteps, cushions, draperies, scarfs for dressers, coverings for beds and even of the rugs are handiwork of girls in this department.

In one of the bedrooms is a chair, proud in its dress of clear green daintily applied with smart design. This is a problem in renovation, an ugly and scarred bit of furniture that was painted and dressed to harmonize with other furnishings.

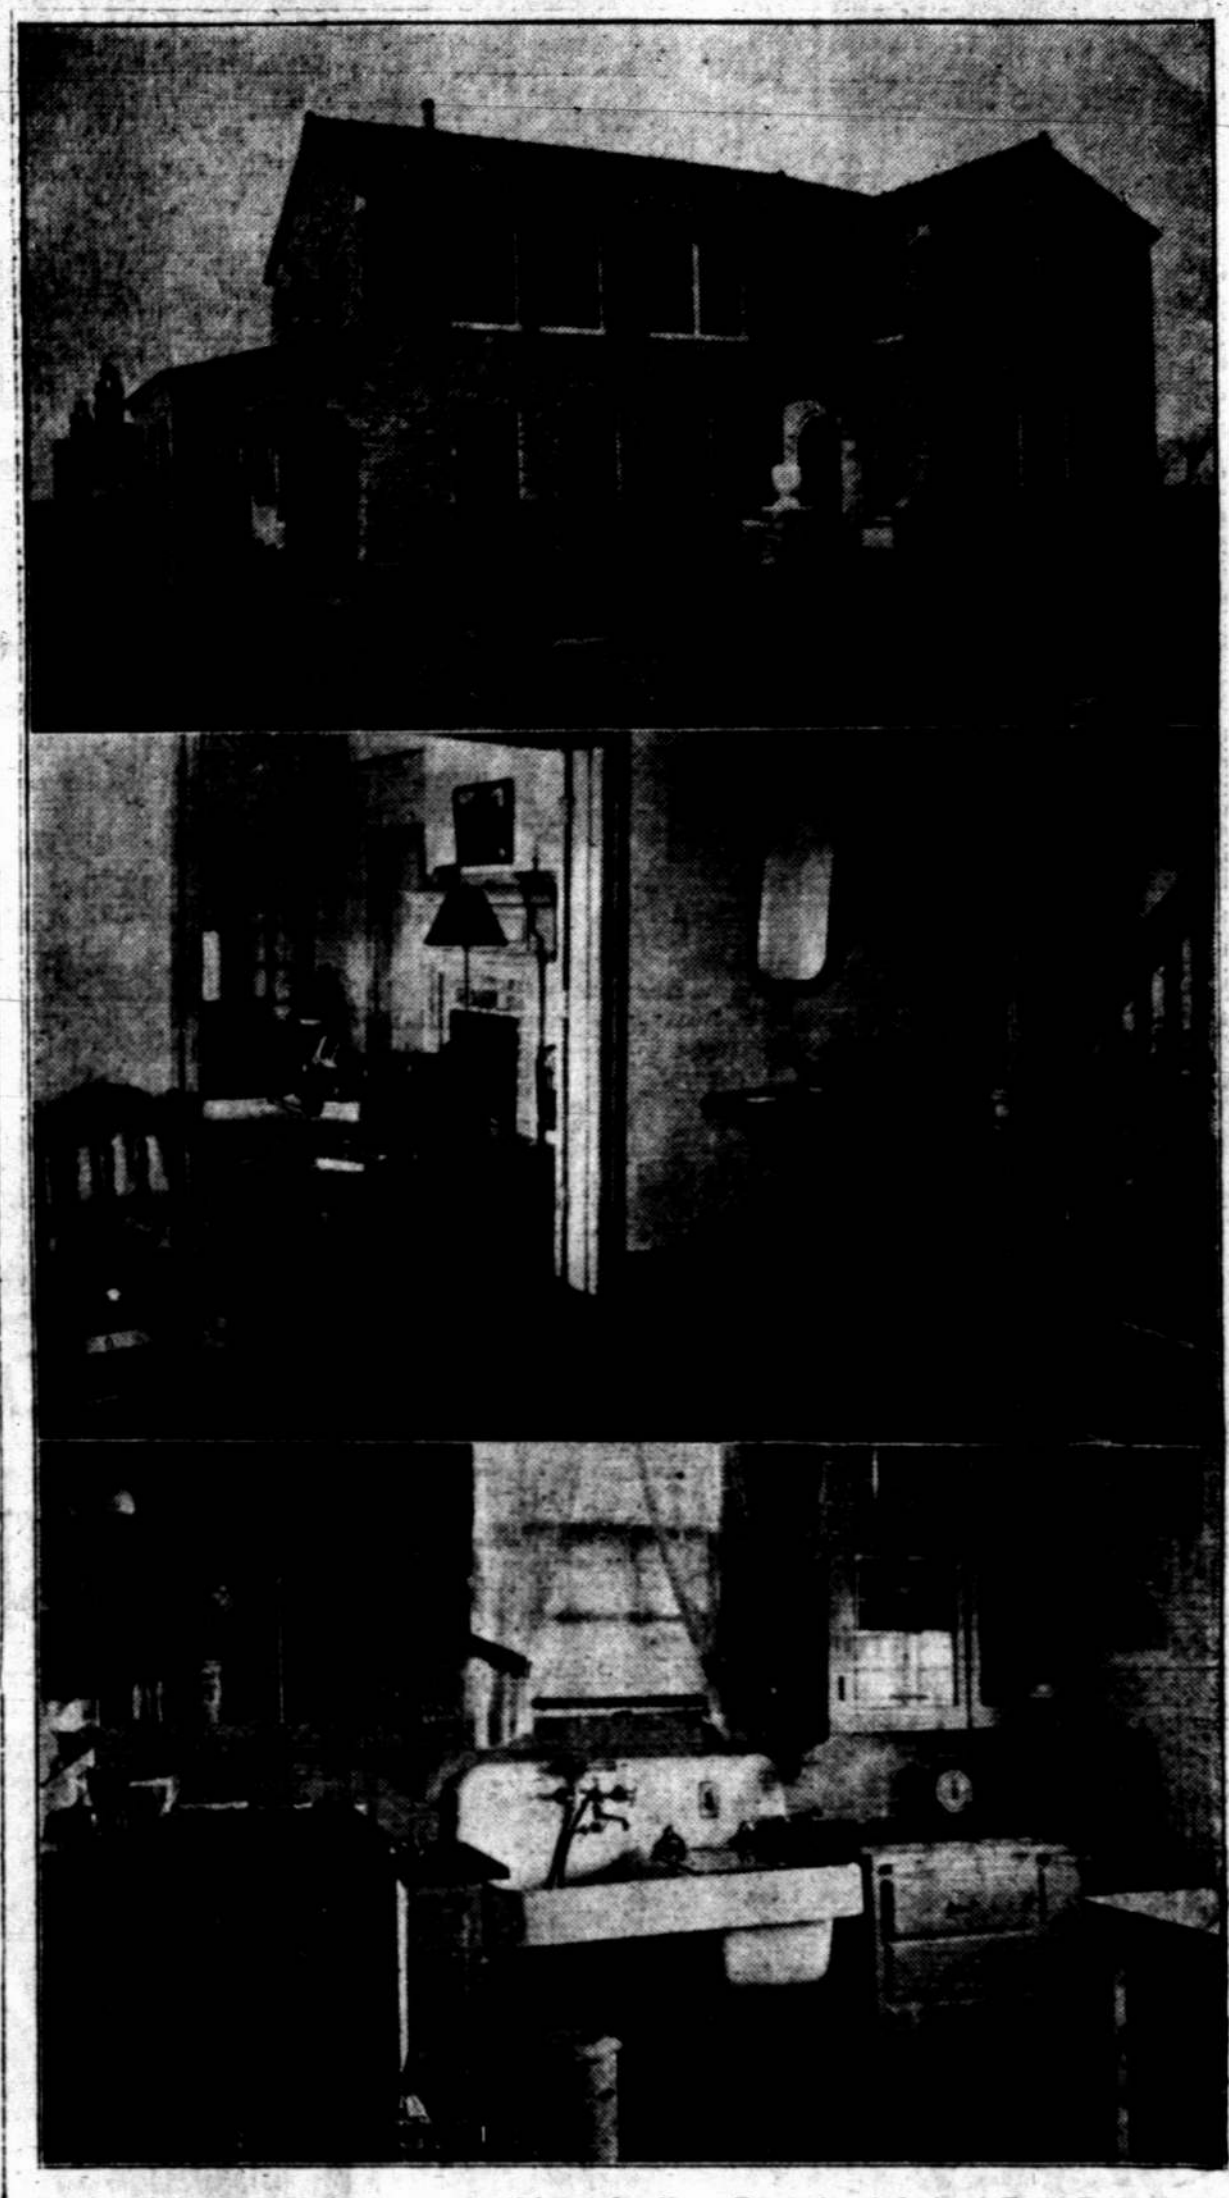

In another room an inviting rocker has been enameled and upholstered in lively colored fabric, another bit of renovation at the hands of the co-eds.

Grass To Floor Patio
A patio at the back of the house is to be floored with grass and encircled shrubbery and plants. Plots are being prepared around the house for the placing of shrubbery and flowers, this work to be carried out under the supervision of Charles H. Mahoney and his classes in landscaping.

The Home Management House of Texas Tech is to serve as a three fold function; to serve as a home where the students may put into practice the knowledge gained in the class room; to serve as a practical laboratory for classes in home furnishing, design, home management and home nursing, and it is to be used as a center for social activities of the school of home economics.

Some local merchants and companies have donated articles to the home in the way of furniture and credit for the girls will be given on the nights of the opening, Miss Weeks said.

Improvement For Pontiac Is Made

Pump Feed Type Of Fueling Added To New Series And Better Model That Was Already Approved

Continuing the policy of keeping its cars up to the latest developments in engineering, the Oakland Motor Car company this year has equipped the New Series Pontiac Six with the pump-feed type of fuel supply. This with the G. M. R. cylinder head, a new carburetor and improved manifold, brings to the Pontiac Six new advantages in economy, reliability and performance.

Flooding of the engine is guarded against, fuel supply is conserved and easy starting is insured. Maximum power with a high degree of economy has been worked out to bring to the motor car owner that enviable combination—economical and dependable transportation.

Buicks Popular For Yule Gifts

More Purchased Christmas Of 1927 Than On Any Holiday Before, Reports Of Company State

FLINT, Mich., Jan. 28.—More Buicks were bought as Christmas gifts during the Christmas season just past than ever before in history, reports from Buick dealer organization to C. W. Churchill, general sales manager, indicated this week.

The practice of selecting motor cars for Christmas giving is one which has gained considerable impetus in the last few years, a fact which Mr. Churchill attributes to genuine year-round utility and lasting satisfaction derived from such a gift. During the holiday season just ended, hundreds of Buicks were ordered for Christmas delivery, in which Buick dealers all over the country cooperated to the utmost.

Plans For System Of Toll Highways In U. S. Brings Ringing Protest From Auto Association; Henry Raps Plan

Resolution Of Michigan Solon For Commission To Study Plans Draws Fire Of Organization

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 28.—On behalf of its 958 motor club and in the name of its Board of Directors, National headquarters of the American Automobile Association served notice today that it will strenuously oppose any and all schemes for instituting a system of toll highways on the car owners of America.

The A. A. A. protest, which took the form of a statement issued under the signature of Thos. P. Henry, president of the national motoring body, called attention to the resolution introduced in the House of Representatives by Congressman Allen J. Furlow of Minnesota, to authorize a commission to study the need and feasibility of express highways to be built and operated by private capital on a toll basis.

We are uncompromisingly opposed to the principle underlying the Furlow Bill, and, while giving Mr. Furlow credit for sincerity, we seriously question the motives and the wisdom of the forces behind it, the A. A. A. spokesmen declared.

Proposals to foist toll highways on a gigantic scale on the motorists of the country, Mr. Henry said, were considered at length at the meeting of the A. A. A. Board of Directors in New York, and the unanimous sentiment of the spokesmen of the car owners was that no effort must be spared to prevent the installation of the "vicious toll principle" on the highways of the United States. He continued:

The proposal for the study of this or that plan for toll highways, express or otherwise, by a federal commission is simply a blind-entering wedge—that cannot fail to play into the hands of the sponsors of privately-owned and privately-exploited highways.

If there be need of such an inquiry, why can't it be undertaken by the Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture, which has more detailed knowledge of the national road situation and needs and means for their appraisal, than needs than any new fangled commission could command in many years.

General Motors Pays Investors

Savings Fund Nets Men Who Put Part Of Salaries In Company $4 For $1, Says President Sloan

Cash and stock amounting to $5,000,000 are being distributed this week to 9,432 employees of General Motors participating in its Employees Savings and Investment Fund Class of 1922, according to Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president.

All General Motors employees who have been with the corporation three months or more, have the opportunity of investing 20 per cent of their wages up to $300 per year, in a fund to which the corporation adds 50c for every dollar invested by the employee.

In case of an individual who paid $300 in to this fund in 1922 there is returned to him cash and General Motors common stock having a total value at the present market of $1,341. This has been made possible because the employee became a partner in the business and profited through the increment in value which he himself had in part made possible.

Three Men Ready To Champion The English Workman

When Ramsey MacDonald Has Had Enough Others Stand Ready To Wield Sceptre For Labor Party.

BY MILTON BRONNER LONDON, Jan. 28.—Who will succeed to Ramsay Mac's crown, Jim or Phil or Arthur?

That's the favorite topic of conversation these days in the British House of Commons cloak-room. And it's a very important subject not only for the powerful Labor Socialist party, but also for the nation at large, for the man who succeeds Ramsay MacDonald as leader of the party may someday soon be the second Socialist prime minister of Great Britain.

It is universally known that MacDonald is in bad health. He has never completely recovered from the breakdown he suffered while on a trip to the United States some months ago. His British doctors have been urging him to take things easy, but that is not Ramsay Mac's way. He does not spare himself.

He is in daily and nightly attendance at the Commons. He is often on his feet, taking part in the debates, heckling the ministers with questions, or making long and important set speeches.

That being so, only three names are being seriously canvassed as possible successors—Arthur Henderson and Philip Snowden, each 64 years old, whereas MacDonald is 61 and J. H. Thomas, 53, Henderson is said, Snowden is brilliant and cynical, Thomas is oratorical, good humored and generously popular—except with some powerful labor unions.

Henderson and Thomas are actual working men, or have been. Snowden, like MacDonald, is an intellectual who came into the Labor party through the doors of the Independent Labor party, of which he was one of the founders, and afterwards the chairman.

It is not believed that Henderson is an active candidate for the job. He is secretary of the Labor party and one of its best organizers and satisfied with his job. He was the first Socialist to achieve cabinet rank, having joined Lloyd-George's coalition cabinet during the war.

When MacDonald formed the first Socialist government of Great Britain, "Uncle Arthur," as he is universally known, was made home secretary. He started out in life as a molder and has been identified with the Labor party almost all his life. He's a total abstainer, and ardent Methodist, and known as a sort of preacher. As the Leader of the House, he would be a solid speaker but not particularly good in a red-hot debate.

Snowden is quite a different type of man. Injured in a terrible accident while riding his bicycle when a young man, he was a frail physical strength and has been for years a martyr in the suffering he bears without complaint.

Something like the fire of political genius flames in the man and when he arises painfully to his feet, the House of Commons instantly fills up with members of all parties, anxious to hear what he has to say.

Practical Student He is at once a student and a man with a knowledge of political affairs. He proved it when he was chancellor of the exchequer under MacDonald. His first budget for the treasury was a personal triumph. He cut taxes at the same time reducing the imposts upon the commodities the poor use—tea, sugar, etc. He is

Winter's Crop Of Accidents To Child Coasters Reveals Motorists And City Authorities Negligent, Auto Club Says

Motorists Responsibility Is Great With Youngsters Forgetting Danger With Zeal For Pleasure

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—So far this winter the accidents and fatalities to child coasters in many parts of the country indicate that neither the motorists, the parents nor yet the municipal officials are directing to this hazard the attention it deserves, according to a statement issued from the national headquarters of the American Automobile association today.

The reports from the safety departments of A. A. A. motor clubs in many sections of the country are incomplete, but on the basis of these partial reports, there is no indication that there has been a material reduction in accidents to child coasters during the first part of the winter season," the national motoring body declares.

Motorists' Responsibility The motorists' responsibility is to exercise the greatest precautions in areas where this form of winter sport is being indulged in by youngsters who, in their zeal for its pleasures, forget that it is fraught with many dangers, the A. A. A. points out.

Parents, on their part, the statement asserts, should impress upon their children the dangers of sledding in areas other than those set apart specifically for this purpose, and municipal officials should see to it that such zones are designated and police patrolled immediately upon the opening of the sledding season. It continues:

"Constant alertness on the motorist's part is essential. Even the most vigilant parental and police control cannot prevent a child with a sled from regarding almost every hill as open territory for coasting. It is easy to lose sight of the fact that a rapidly moving sled is one of the most difficult conveyances to control. Once started, a sled carries its occupant almost where it will and it frequently happens that this leads into the path of an automobile.

Carelessness Rapped "Perhaps a child has no right to be where he is, but he is there and no motorist will attempt to dodge the fact that it is very largely his responsibility to see that no accident results.

"Parents can do a great deal to prevent coasting accidents if they will lose no opportunity to impress upon their children the dangers of this sport at places other than those where there is no traffic or on streets from which vehicles have been diverted. Every gift of a sled should be accompanied by the very definite caution that its use is restricted to locations where there is no motor traffic.

Each municipality should see to it that areas are designated for this sport from which all other activities are barred. This is the practice of a majority of the alert municipal governments of the country and one that should be adopted by all others. Barricades should be

Increasing Mill Usage On Plains Noticeable

PLAINVIEW, Jan. 28.—A revolution in feeding methods in Hale county and other Panhandle-Plains counties is being effected by the increased use of feed grinding mills on the farms.

The mills utilize the various grain sorghums that are produced in this section of Texas, grinding the stalk, fodder, grain and all, which eliminates waste and at the same time makes a better feed, and the animal consumes every part of it. One farmer says that whereas each of his animals could consume three bundles of feed daily before he began to grind it, now they use only two bundles and seem to be doing better.

The feed is eliminating the waste that one could readily observe, by taking a trip through this section, in the open ricks of bundles which became unpalatable after a time. These bundles are now being ground up at the mills and fed in their entirety. Several farmers believe that the ground feed, when fed to dairy cows, gives better results than many of the prepared rations.

PRIZE HUNT BECOMES A PROFESSION

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The average citizen who enters a prize contest hasn't a chance in a thousand of winning, according to Assistant United States Attorney Thomas J. Todarelli, who has made an investigation of what is termed a "puzzlers' trust."

He has disclosed that those who make a business of entering prize contests have a publication, the Prize Market, which keeps them in touch with every kind of contest, the aggregate awards offered always totalling many thousands of dollars. Through the systems they employ the professionals are usually able to carry off the awards.

For instance when large prizes are offered for movie titles or names for new products, printed lists containing five or six thousand names are sold to the professionals for $1. Fifty or a hundred of the most likely answers will be marked on the lists. Todarelli said the professionals usually send in answers under dozens of different names.

THE CANARY MURDER CASE

CHARACTERS
PHILO VANCE, District Attorney of New York county.
MARGARET ODELL (THE CANARY), a woman about town.
KENNETH SPOTSWOOD, a manufacturer.
DR. ARTHUR LINDQUIST, a fashionable neurologist.
TONY SKEEL, a professional burglar.
WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator.
HARRY SPIVELY, telephone operator.
ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Homeless Bureau.

THE STORY THUS FAR
 Vance's theory is that two unknown persons were in Margaret Odell's apartment that fatal night; one hiding in a clothes closet, the other the man who strangled her. In no way can the police account for the presence of anyone in the apartment. The door to the alley was bolted on the inside and the man who had gone out with the "Canary" the night before had been the only one to be seen with her, and circumstances completely eliminated him. There is another man who called white she was out, but one of the phone operators testifies that he had been unable to get in the apartment.

CHAPTER XIII
 An ugly light came into Heath's eyes.
 "We've got ways," he said through his teeth, "of getting damn interesting conversation outa people who haven't no great reputation for repartee."
 Vance sighed. "How the Four Hundred needs you, my Sergeant! Markham looked at his watch.
 "I've got pressing work at the office," he said, "and all this talk isn't getting us anywhere." He put his hand on Heath's shoulder.
 "Leave me to go ahead. This afternoon I'll have these people brought down to my office for another questioning—maybe I can jog their memories a bit. You've got some line of investigation planned?"

"The usual routine," replied Heath drearily. "I'll go through Odell's papers, and I'll have three or four of my men check up on her."
 "You'd better get after the Yellow Taxicab company right away," Markham suggested. "FTR out, if you can, who the man was who sat here at half past eleven last night and where he went."
 "Do you imagine for one moment," asked Vance, "that if this man knew anything about the murder, he would have stopped in the hall and asked the operator to call a taxi for him?"
 "Oh, I don't look for much in that direction," Markham's tone was almost listless. "But the girl may have said something to him that'll give us a lead."

Vance shook his head factiously. "O welcome pure-eyed Faith, white-handed Hope, thou hovering angel girl with golden wings!"
 Markham was in no mood for chaffing. He turned to Heath and spoke with forced cheerfulness.
 "Call me up later this afternoon. I may get some new evidence out of the outfit we've just interviewed."
 "And," he added, "be sure to put a man on guard here. I want this apartment kept just as it is until we see a little more light."
 "I'll attend to that," Heath assured him.
 Markham and Vance and I went out and entered the car. A few minutes later we were winding rapidly across town through Central Park.

"Recall our recent conversation about footprints in the snow?" asked Vance as we emerged into Fifth Avenue and headed south.
 Markham nodded abstractedly.
 "As I remember," mused Vance, "in the hypothetical case you presented there were not only footprints but a dozen or more witnesses—including a youthful prodigy—who saw a figure of some kind cross the hibernal landscape.
 Here you are in a most beastly pother because of the disheartening fact that there are neither footprints in the snow nor witnesses who saw a fleeing figure. In short, you are bereft of both direct and circumstantial evidence.
 Sad, sad."

He wagged his head dolefully.
 "You know, Markham, it appears to me that the testimony in this case constitutes conclusive legal proof that no one could have been with the deceased at the hour of her passing, and that ergo she is presumably alive. The strangled body of the lady is, I take it simply an irrelevant circumstance from the standpoint of legal procedure. I know that you learned lawyers won't admit a murder without a body; but how, in sweet Heaven's name, do you get around a corpse delicti without a murder?"
 "You're taking nonsense," Markham rebuked him, with a show of anger.
 "Oh, quite," agreed Vance. "And yet, it's a distressing thing for a lawyer not to have footprints of some kind isn't it, old dear? It leaves one so up in the air."
 Suddenly Markham swung round. "You, of course, don't need footprints, or any other kind of material clues," he flung at Vance tauntingly. "You have powers of divination—such as are denied ordinary mortals. If I remember correctly, you informed me somewhat grandiloquently that, knowing the nature and conditions of a crime, you could lead me infallibly to the culprit, whether he left footprints or not. You recall that boast?"
 "Well, here's a crime, and the perpetrator left no footprints coming or going. Be so good as to end my suspense by confiding in me who killed the Canary girl!"

Vance's severity was not ruffled by Markham's ill-humored challenge. He sat smoking lazily for several minutes; then he leaned over and flicked his cigaret ash out of the window.
 "Pon my word, Markham," he joined evenly, "I'm half inclined to look into this silly murder. I think I'll wait, though, and see whom the nonplussed Heath turns up with his inquiries."
 Markham grunted scowlingly, and sank back on the cushions.
 "Your generosity wrings me," he said.
 (Tuesday, Sept. 11, afternoon)
 On our way downtown that morning we were delayed for a considerable time in the traffic congestion just north of Madison square and Markham anxiously looked at his watch.
 "It's past noon," he said. "I think I'll stop at the club and have some lunch. I presume that eating at this early hour would be too pleasurable for so exquisite a hothouse flower as you."
 "Since you deprived me of my breakfast," he decided, "I'll permit you to buy me some eggs Benedict."
 A few minutes later we entered the almost empty grill of the Stuyvesant club and took a table near one of the windows looking southward over the treetops of Madison square.
 Shortly after we had given our order a uniformed attendant entered, and bowing deferentially at the district attorney's elbow, held out an unaddressed communication sealed in one of the club's envelopes. Markham read it with an expression of growing curiosity, and as he studied the signature a look of mild surprise came into his eyes. At length he looked up and nodded to the waiting attendant. Then, excusing himself, he left us abruptly. It was fully twenty minutes before he returned.
 "Funny thing," he said. "That note was from the man who took the Odell woman to dinner and the theater last night. A small world," he mused. "He's staying here at the club—he's a non-resident member and makes it his headquarters when he's in town."
 "You know him?" Vance put the question disinterestedly.
 "I've met him several times—a chap named Spotswoode," Markham seemed perplexed. "He's a man of family lives in a country house on Long Island and is regarded generally as a highly respectable member of society—one of the last persons I'd suspect of being mixed up with the Odell girl! But according to his own confession, he played around a good deal with her during his visits to New York—sowing a few belated wild oats," as he expressed it—and last night took her to Francelle's for dinner and to the winter garden afterwards."
 "Not my idea of an intellectual or even edifyin' evening," commented Vance. "And he selected a deuced unlucky day for it. I say imagine opening the morning paper and learning that your petite dame of the preceding evening had been strangled! Disconcertin' what?"
 He's certainly disconcerted," said Markham. "The early afternoon papers were out about an hour ago, and he'd been phoning my office every ten minutes, when I suddenly walked in here. He's afraid his connection with the girl will leak out and disgrace him."
 "And won't it?"
 "I hardly see the necessity. No one knows who her escort was last evening, and since he obviously had nothing to do with the crime, what's to be gained by dragging him into it? He told me the whole story, and offered to stay in the city as long as I wanted him to."
 "I infer from the cloud of disappointment that enveloped you when you returned just now that his story held nothing hopeful for you in the way of clues."
 "No," Markham admitted. "The girl apparently never spoke to him of her intimate affairs; and he couldn't give me a single helpful suggestion. His account of what happened last night agreed perfectly with Jessup's. He called for the girl at seven, brought her home at about eleven, stayed with her half an hour or so, and then left her."
 "When he heard her call for help he was frightened, but on being assured by her there was nothing wrong, he concluded she had dozed off into a nightmare, and thought no more about it."
 "He drove direct to the club here, arriving about ten minutes to twelve," Judge Redfern, who saw him descend from the taxi, insisted on his coming up-stairs and playing poker with some men who were waiting in the judge's rooms for him. They played until three o'clock this morning."

SCOUT-WITH BYRD

Youth to Accompany Expedition to Pole
 DALLAS, Jan. 28 (AP)—A Boy Scout probably will accompany Commander Richard Byrd, U. S. N., on his proposed trip to the South Pole. James E. West, chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, announced at a regional conference here today that Commander Byrd had extended an invitation for "one of the older boys" to accompany him, and that the offer had been accepted.
 At the same time it was announced that two other scouts would be given a taste of exploring, but in Africa, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, through the courtesy of G. P. Putnam, publisher.
 No announcement was made as to the methods of selecting the scouts who would be assigned the exploring trips.

WE SHOULD USE MORE COTTON SEED AT HOME
 (Dr. Tait Butler in Progressive Farmer)
 Denmark has 1,478,000 milk cows and imports 695,000 tons of oil meal or oil cake per year. If this were all fed to the milk cows, it would mean that each milk cow would receive about 2.6 pounds of oil cake or meal every day. Of course, not all is fed to dairy cows but most of it is. Of the total importations of oil cake, about 39 per cent is cottonseed cake, about 33 per cent sunflower seed cake, and the balance largely peanut oil cake. The last quotation available (September 1927) on prices of cottonseed cake in Denmark is $59 per ton.
 If Denmark can pay $50 or more a ton for cottonseed meal to feed to dairy cows, we ought to be able to use more of it at home to feed more dairy cows.
 If the 5,000,000 dairy cows in the 13 states covered by The Progressive Farmer received 2.6 pounds of cottonseed meal a day they would consume 2,375,000 tons in a year. A crop of 13,000,000 bales of cotton, if 85 per cent of the seed reach the oil mills, will not make enough cottonseed meal to give the dairy cows in the South 2.6 pounds a day and leave more than a mere taste for the beef cattle, mules and other livestock, with none left for export. We do not produce as much cottonseed meal as the livestock we already have right here in the South, should consume and yet so-called agricultural authorities advise its use as a fertilizer, direct to the soil.
 With this excellent cattle feed right here at home, we ship it all over the world, and with every pound of it also ship a part of our farms, and then buy it back in the form of dairy products and meats. There is no question as to "who pays the freight" in this case.
 Feed LUCKO cotton seed products to your milk cows, beef cattle, hogs, sheep and poultry.
 Pamphlets may be had here giving directions for proper mixture of cotton seed meal with other feeds.

Will Lubbock's Sky Line Look Like This In Just a Few Years From Now?

It hasn't been so many years ago that Lubbock was just a small village—when the country surrounding it was made up of large ranches—when it was merely a trading post, but look at it now!

In just the few years that have marked its tremendous growth, land values have jumped remarkably, and Lubbock, through its resources and the energy and progressiveness of its citizens, is receiving marked attention throughout the state and nation.

It will continue to grow, and to give its full measure of prosperity and contentment to those who merit it by working for it, and utilize to the fullest extent the rich potentialities Lubbock and this section offer.

This public utilities will share in that growth and aid in the development, through the modern service it has to offer to home-seeker and investor as well. It will share in that growth, because it constantly strives to maintain a character of service to its customers that will continue to merit their confidence and good will, and with each stage of growth that Lubbock and its environs enjoy, it will increase its facilities for serving, in order that at no time, may those dependent upon that service be deprived of it for a single moment.

Chevrolet Puts On Big Meetings

Sales Sessions Of Highly Elaborate Nature Are To Feature Company's Plans For Present Year

National sales meetings of the most elaborate order ever attempted in the automobile industry are being held again this year by the Chevrolet Motor company...

Designed to improve the dealer's relations with the public in schooling him thoroughly in every phase of automobile merchandising...

Grant Heads Parties R. H. Grant, vice-president in charge of sales and H. J. Klingler, general sales manager, will have charge of the two parties...

The itinerary will take the two parties into 30 cities in key centers throughout the country to which dealers in neighboring towns have ready access...

Each meeting consists of a three-hour afternoon program—usually held at the largest auditorium in town—followed by an elaborate evening banquet while ample time has been provided for dealers to take up their individual problems with the factory officials.

Banks At Lamesa Show Conditions In County Good

Comparison Of Conditions Reflect Prosperity For Territory; Officers Are Named Recently

LAMESA, Jan. 28.—(Journal) The condition of the banks in any community is the true index of the financial condition of that community. In Lamesa there are two banks. In Dawson county there are two banks. In Dawson county there are 21,873 people. There are approximately 20,000 people in the trade territory of Lamesa. The two banks at Lamesa show more than 5,000 deposits.

The First National bank and the Lamesa National bank are the two banks in the county. The newly elected officers of the banks are as follows: First National—E. R. Yates, president; Henry J. Price, vice president; J. E. Barron, vice president; W. K. Crowley, vice president and cashier; M. H. Boren, assistant cashier; M. E. Smart, assistant cashier. The directors are E. R. Yates, Henry J. Price, J. H. Barron, W. K. Crowley, S. E. Cleveland.

For the Lamesa National—R. C. Couch, president; W. V. P. Baker, vice president; O. B. Norman, vice president and cashier; J. L. Teal, assistant vice president; Walter Barfoot, assistant cashier; C. A. Hollingsworth, assistant cashier. Both McCormick, assistant cashier. The directors for the year are R. C. Couch, W. V. P. Baker, R. E. Townsend, Walter Barfoot, O. B. Norman, D. R. Couch, Roy Riddle.

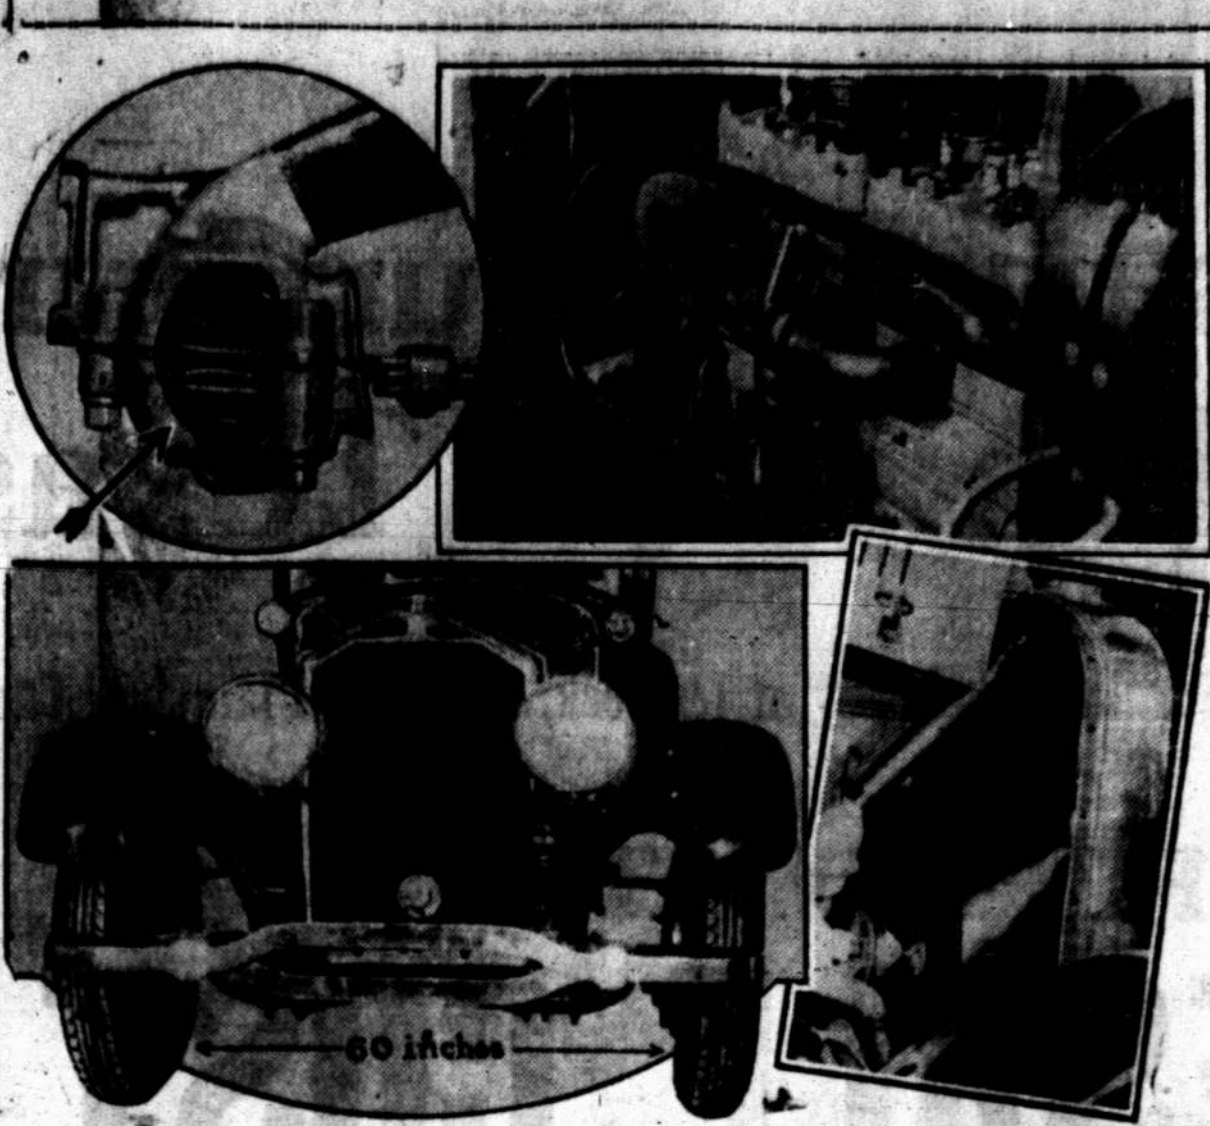

A comparison of the banking condition here now and a year ago is interesting. Deposits are almost double and instead of showing a decrease at this time of the year a net increase of deposits is shown. Today the two banks of the community show a total deposit of $1,575,000 as against $750,000 the same time last year. This increase is brought about by the higher price realized from cotton and maize this fall. The total resources of the two banks are $1,818,091 at this time, according to recent statement of the two banks.

The whole section is in good financial condition as compared with a year ago. Farmers still have some money left from their cotton crops. But they have another thing much better than money. It is the lesson of living at home and they are doing it. On almost every farm there can be found hogs, cows, chickens and the necessary elements to make a living at home. They have not forgotten that they can realize much from their cream, eggs, hogs and general produce.

They are not trying to go into the markets with these things but simply stocking their farms with sufficient supply to keep up the home supply. Nothing has done more to bring this about in Dawson county than the efforts of the bankers. Of course the county agent has done much and is doing all now within his power to encourage through education this program in the county, but he has certainly had the cooperation of the bankers in doing so. In the matter of loans bankers do not make them to the farmer who cannot subscribe to a well balanced diversified living at home program.

Lower Loans Best They claim such loans are not only safe, but the very best thing the farmer. When a loan is made to a farmer who is making a living at home the banker feels that there will be no trouble in collecting the loan at the time it is due. Many times, according to Lamesa bankers such loans are paid before they are due, while on the

These photos depict the newness of things in motor cars as shown at the New York auto show. Arrow at upper left points to the rubber shackle used on the ends of springs on the larger Chrysler. At upper right, the new design of exhaust manifold above the intake is shown. The Stearns-Knight eight at lower left has a 60-inch wheel tread while the new Chevrolet at right includes a "shroud" on the inside of the radiator to deflect all air on the motor.

BY ISRAEL KLEIN Science Editor, NEA Service NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—What the automobile manufacturers promised, they have more than fulfilled.

The New York automobile show has revealed to the country an array of motor cars such as has exceeded all expectations. It was known previously that there were going to be sleek, speedy lines and snappy color combinations. It was known also that an occasional engineering improvement was to be introduced and that, as a result, we were going to have more powerful and yet more economical automobiles in 1928.

But the surprise of the New York auto show, which has just introduced the 1928 models, is the remarkably low price for which we can now obtain a well-constructed, good looking, economical automobile. We find for instance, that Ford is no longer alone in the "lower-price" field, that Whippet and Star have to be considered strong competitors. We find also that the next higher price field is filled with some of the most remarkable innovations in motor cars.

Chevrolet, with the thermostatically controlled radiator, is the only one in the higher priced cars, with its totally covered engine and its "shroud" that deflects and directs all air on the engine for better cooling. It is a highly respected participant in the lower-price area with Chevrolet and Chrysler '28 and Whippet, although the latter extends into the lower price field.

One-Price Dodge by Dodge The next group welcomes an entirely new automobile to its fold. That's the Dodge Brothers Victory Six. Its makers say this is no Dodge of former days. It is a substantially new car, from headlight to rear tire.

The Victory Six brings entirely new achievements to America. The one-piece body and chassis is a European innovation. Dodge brings it over and through it is able to lower the body considerably and make a sturdier car. The battleship construction of the body, with its double layer of sheet steel, is also new and as-other hand they claim it is not only unsafe to make a loan to the farmer who fails to appreciate the living at home program but it is bad policy to set for the farmer himself, pointing out that at the time he is to meet his obligations it is hard for him to do so and most always works a hardship on him and his family.

CORN SUBSTITUTE This year's record barley crop may lead to use of part of the grain as a feed substitute for corn. After a test of barley against corn the department of agriculture concludes the former has from 80 to 95 per cent as high feed value as corn. It is suitable for all stock, but it should be crushed or rolled for sheep, hogs and all young animals. It should not be the only grain in the ration for young pigs. It is slightly richer than corn in digestible proteins but it should be supplemented with some protein concentrate of legume roughage. Use as a feed should be determined by comparative prices and availability.

SCRATCH RATION A good scratch ration for laying fowls is made up of two parts by weight of corn and one part each of wheat and oats. For a mash ration to be fed dry in hoppers and always available, or as a wet mash moistened with water or skim milk, mix 30 parts by weight of corn meal and 10 parts each of ground oats, alfalfa meal, middlings, bran and meat scrap.

TIGHT ELASTICS Do not use tight elastics for leg-bands on children's rompers or bloomers. If the legs are short and not too full, they can be finished with cloth bands or straight hems that do not restrict circulation. If the full type of leg is used, a knitted leg-band may take the place of the elastic band.

sure greater safety on the road. Slightly lower in price, but in about the same class is the Oldsmobile, also entirely different in design and construction. Most outstanding in appearance is its high narrow radiator, with the vertical shutter, to enhance the appearance of sleekness and speed.

The new Durant, with its running mate, the Star, have something new in the method of raising the windshield. It is a sort of a lever arrangement at the corner, which needs only little energy on the part of the driver for operation. When we come to the group that includes Buick, Paige, Chrysler '28, Hudson, Chandler and the rest in this price field, we add further advancements in motor-cars to the credit of this year's auto show.

Most startling of all, in this class, is that of the Paige, or Graham-Paige as its makers prefer to call it. From its slightly rounded radiator to the very back of the car, it is something different. Its most significant feature is its four-speed transmission of which its manufacturers are particularly proud. They say this will effect greater economy in fuel consumption at higher power than any three-speed automobile. They still marvel at the speed it will maintain even on hills, going up easily on third speed while others have to shift lower. And the appearance of the car is a further subject for their lofty praises.

One feature that the Paige has in common with Dodge, Oakland and DuPont is the new type of exhaust manifold, placed on the same side and above the intake manifold, and so connected as to produce a hot spot where the fresh fuel is fed into the cylinders. In one of the three cars, the Oakland, the exhaust runs from rear to front of the engine and then around below to the muffler. It is argued that this reduces the possibility of back-firing and carries the heat of the engine away from beneath the floor boards.

The new Hupmobile, which may also be considered in this group introduces a new type of mechanical steel-drum brake. A series of small cups and a wash well greased, are lined along a cable, in such a way that the car may be turned into all sorts of positions without interfering with the brake mechanism. The brake itself consists of only one shoe, in place of the conventional two or three and has a sixteenth of an inch clearance, five times that of other brakes. Yet Hupmobile engineers say that there is no lost motion in this type of brake and it is more efficient.

What enhances the beauty of the new Hupmobile is the idea of carrying out the line of the hooding along on top of the radiator cap and even a half inch farther. The motor meter of course, is on the dash. The Hudson brings out, besides a snappy body, a hard rubber covered steel steering wheel and a thin metal door frame. These are only minor details, but quite attractive, among many important features of the new Hudson.

His younger brother, Essex, also comes out in new dress, its radiator being a smaller replica of the Hudson's. Besides its appealing price of $795 F. O. B. Detroit, for the four-door sedan, an attractive feature is the cow lamp that reaches out on brackets at each side.

Wider Tread Introduced When we come to the high-price class, we encounter what may be considered only gradual changes for improvement of what was already the best in engineering skill, in workmanship and in appearance. However, the new Stearns-Knight eight dares venture into the auto show not only with quite a large radiator, but with a wheel tread of 60 inches, almost four inches wider than the standard.

The widened tread is what many engineers say will result from the demand for more roominess and greater comfort and from the achievement of better and wider highways. The Stearns-Knight is the pioneer in this country. That the general motorist is interested in these innovations, as well as many other technical improvements, is shown by the fact that the largest crowds at this show were massed around the various stripped chassis on display and that all sorts of complicated questions were fired at the factory engineers on hand.

Realtors Finish Houston Session

Act On Several Issues Of National Importance At Closing Meeting Of Mid-Winter Conference.

(By the Associated Press) HOUSTON, Jan. 28.—The National Association of Real Estate Boards ended its mid-winter conference here Friday after acting on a half dozen questions of national importance and hearing Harry Zander, Chicago, its new president change that "America's tax ex-pending bodies are throttling real estate."

The directors passed resolutions calling on the federal radio commission to abolish the radio station's practice of broadcasting free lot schemes. Members of the mortgage and finance division announced that a committee would be appointed to draft a code of ethics for the division, following the example set Thursday by the appraisers and sub-dividers divisions.

A committee was appointed to carry the association's plan of flood relief before congress and urge its adoption by the federal government. After considerable discussion, the delegates approved recommendations of their city planning committee, which is planning a nation-wide city planning drive.

The directors elected Walter Schmidt of Cincinnati, William H. Gardner of Winnipeg and J. W. Wheeler of Seattle as the board's representatives on the nominating committee.

comes out in new dress, its radiator being a smaller replica of the Hudson's. Besides its appealing price of $795 F. O. B. Detroit, for the four-door sedan, an attractive feature is the cow lamp that reaches out on brackets at each side.

Wider Tread Introduced When we come to the high-price class, we encounter what may be considered only gradual changes for improvement of what was already the best in engineering skill, in workmanship and in appearance. However, the new Stearns-Knight eight dares venture into the auto show not only with quite a large radiator, but with a wheel tread of 60 inches, almost four inches wider than the standard.

The widened tread is what many engineers say will result from the demand for more roominess and greater comfort and from the achievement of better and wider highways. The Stearns-Knight is the pioneer in this country. That the general motorist is interested in these innovations, as well as many other technical improvements, is shown by the fact that the largest crowds at this show were massed around the various stripped chassis on display and that all sorts of complicated questions were fired at the factory engineers on hand.

Robbers Snatch Payroll—Of Iron

NEW YORK—For 18 months Thomas Reilly, private detective for a foundry company, carried pay-rolls from a bank. Each week he carefully rehearsed with his two assistants just what they would do if bandits ever attacked them. The other day they went through the program again—dumping the money into the bag, with much flourishing of revolvers, the trip to the automobile at the curb and the drive to the company offices.

This time their car was crowded to the curb by a big sedan carrying six men, who leaped out and demanded the payroll. They grabbed the bag and dashed away. Reilly, grinning despite the loss of the bag and several pounds of perfectly good scrap iron, drove on to the foundry with the money safely hidden under the back seat.

JUST A "CAN OPENER" CHICAGO—"I lived with her for six months, and that was plenty," said Earl Cornell in applying for a divorce. Edna Cornell, it seemed, couldn't or didn't cook. "She wasn't a wife," Earl said, "she was a can-opener. She'd get home ten minutes before I did and start opening cans."

Does your Cream Separator Separate Money from you or for you?

A CREAM separator is supposed to make money for its owner—yet there are hundreds of thousands in use today losing money because of poor skimming. Their owner's profits are going into the skim-milk instead of the cream can.

Here is an easy way to show up each cream thief. Ask us to bring out a new De Laval and run your skim-milk through it. It skims so clean that any butter-fat in your skim-milk will surely be removed. Then you can tell exactly what you have been losing and how much a new De Laval will make.

The new De Laval is the crowning achievement of 48 years of separator manufacture and leadership. It has the wonderful "floating" bowl—the greatest separator improvement in 25 years. It is guaranteed to skim cleaner. It runs easier and lasts longer.

Liberal trade allowances made on old separators. HODGES BROS. $1.49
