'IT'S ALMOST LIKE BEING OUT OF H...(CENSORED)'

British Envoy Cross Freed

MONTREAL (AP) — British envoy James Richard Cross was freed today after spending 60 days in a windowless room watched over around the clock by Quebec separationists armed with submachine guns.

Despite his long ordeal, a doctor's report said Cross was "in excellent" condition, except for the loss of 22 pounds due to the poor quality of food he was fed.

Cuban intermediaries handed Cross over after the Canadian government flew his captors to political asylum in Cuba. Cross was driven to the Jewish General Hospital for a checkup.

IT'S THE LITTLE THINGS

In a taped interview on television, Cross declared: "It's almost like being out of hell—perhaps purgatory would be a better expression."

He referred to all the days since his abduction Oct. 5 when he never saw the sun.

"It's a small thing and suddenly you come out of a house and its a bright day like today and you suddenly realize how much a little thing like that, that costs you nothing, means in one's day to day life," he said.

The British trade commissioner in Montreal described his captivity as "a state of suspended animation."

FILM FAN

He spent a great deal of time watching television with his captors and estimated he had seen more than 160 films on television.

The exchange for Cross took place at the site of the Expo 67 world's fair.

Premier Robert Bourassa who talked with Cross, said the British diplomat would fly to Europe today or Saturday.

Cross has high blood pressure, but the doctors said this condition was not affected by his ordeal. They said they expected him to remain at the hospital "for at least a day," and a more thorough examination would be made.

His wife, waiting in Bern, Switzerland, for news of her husband, said she hoped to be reunited with him Saturday in London.

"I am deliriously happy after these long weeks of tension," she said. "But I never gave up hope."

Cross telephoned her Thursday night after he was delivered to the Cubans. He told her "he had seen 162 French films on television," and this improved his understanding of the language. But he said he spoke very little with his captors."

"The kidnapers gave him a good collection of revolutionary literature, but it's very unlikely he was converted," Mrs. Cross said.

"Two men with submachine guns guarded him day and night, and he said he kept hoping they were well trained in controlling them."

Mrs. Cross said her husband "did not seem bitter" toward his kidnapers.

"He was so buoyant," she said. "He told me he got the impression his captors were not very keen on the idea of going to Cuba but it seems they had no choice."

The Cubans released the 49-year-old diplomat after receiving word that two of his abductors and five other French-Canadians exiled with them had arrived in Cuba under a ransom agreement worked out between Canadian officials and the kidnapers.

Officers Sift Evidence, No Leads On Gunman

GARDEN CITY — The Glasscock County sheriff's office Thursday sent evidence from the scene of the Wednesday evening murder of rancher Steve Currie to the Department of Public Safety labs in Austin.

Sheriff Royce Pruitt said a sawed-off shotgun believed to be the murder weapon, soil smples, plaster casts of footprints and fingerprints were sent to the labs for analysis.

"We still have an all-points bulletin out on the suspect, but so far we don't have any leads," Pruitt said.

The suspect is described as six feet tall, with a light complexion and in his early 20's. He was wearing dark coveralls, a ski mask and worn and unpolished shoes when he killed Currie.

The sheriff said that Mrs. Dimple Currie told him that she and her husband had just returned from Garden City to their home about nine miles east of the town and she had gone upstairs.

She said she heard a noise that sounded like her husband had fallen and went downstairs to investigate. She said her 71-year-old husband had a medical history of heart trouble and she feared he might have suffered a heart attack.

Mrs. Currie told officers that when she came downstairs the man jumped from behind the piano and threatened her.

She said the intruder said he would kill her if she did not tell him what he wanted to know. He forced her to sit down and then bound her hands with a drapery cord and her feet with a cord from a living room lamp.

The man then cut the line on the downstairs telephone and asked for the keys to the Currie's pickup truck. He then searched the house for valuables and left.

Mrs. Currie told authorities that the man appeared to be nervous and afraid.

When the man left, Mrs. Currie was able to free herself and use an upstairs extension telephone to call her son, James, who lives less than a mile from the Currie home.

James contacted the sheriff shortly after 10 p.m. Wednesday.

The sheriff said it appeared that the man planned to use the Currie pickup to make his escape, but was unable to get the truck started. The sheriff said he found the gun he believes is the murder weapon on the truck's front seat.

There is still no estimate of the value of items taken from the home, including three pistols, an opal, and diamond ring and a gold charm bracelet.

Mr. Currie was widely known for both his successful ranching and for his market trading. At one time he held a seat on the Chicago Board of Trade and was especially interested in the gold market. Wednesday, he had picked up from the Big Spring Post Office a consignment of gold coins, valued at $1,100.

Although the coins were not on the list of items stolen, there is speculation that their arrival could have been a motive for a robbery attempt.

DEADLINE TODAY FOR UF

This morning's United Fund total was $104,009.64 leaving $5,965 to go to reach the 1970-71 goal.

United Fund campaigners reported that they were spending today getting their cards together, worked or unworked, pledged or not pledged, so that the drive could be officially closed at 5 p.m. today. Contributions will be accepted after the close of the drive, but the active campaigning is being wrapped up.

CHECKS EVIDENCE — Glasscock County Sheriff Royce Pruitt points to hole in front door of Steve Currie residence. Sheriff believes the hole may have been caused by a .38 caliber gun fired by Currie before he was murdered by a robber Wednesday night in his home 10 miles east of Garden City.

U.S. Jobless Rate Highest In 7 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment rose to 5.8 per cent of the nation's work force last month, the highest level in 7½ years, the government reported today.

At the same time, average weekly earnings of some 45 million rank and file workers dropped 66 cents to $121.07 per week because of shorter working hours, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Although the average paycheck was more than 5 per cent larger than a year ago, the nation's continuing worst inflation in more than 20 years cut purchasing power 2 per cent below a year ago, the bureau said.

Total employment dropped 165,000 during the month to 78.7 million compared with a normally expected rise in November. The report blamed in part the recent General Motors strike and declines in transportation and other industries.

The rise in unemployment was two-tenths of one per cent, from 5.6 to 5.8 per cent, highest since May of 1963, the bureau said.

The number of jobless Americans rose 350,000 during the month to 4.6 million, it said.

The jobless rate for men edged up from 4.1 to 4.2 per cent to a total of 1,815,000. The rate for women rose from 5.1 to 5.5 per cent to a total of 1,557,000. The rate for teen-agers went up from 17.1 to 17.5 per cent to a total of 1,235,000.

CONG. JAKE PICKLE, LYNDON JOHNSON
. . . greeting Mr. and Mrs. Ponciano Lopez

FORMER PRESIDENT ATTENDS FUNERAL HERE

LBJ Visits With Big Springers

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, in Big Spring Thursday to pay final respects to the late J. B. Pickle, exchanged courteous greetings with numerous local people during a two-hour stay.

The former President, maintaining a pleasant reserve, appeared relaxed and was gracious in shaking hands and permitting numerous photographs.

He was neatly attired in a gray suit, a gray-striped shirt and a gray-patterned tie. He was bareheaded, exposing the long hairstyle he recently adopted. People were heard to remark "how well he looks!"

He was relaxed enough that, in the traditional LBJ fashion, he stopped his car at the Dairy Queen and enjoyed an ice cream cone as he and his group were on their return trip to the airport.

Mr. Johnson told a Herald representative: "Yes sir, I am enjoying myself these days. I look at those cattle, but I am putting in a lot of time right now on my book."

He said he expects to get first drafts of his book to the publisher soon, and that it probably will get into distribution late next year. Mrs. Johnson's new book "White House Diary," is selling well, he said. "A lot of people are getting copies for Christmas presents."

Mr. Johnson is a long-time close friend of Congressman J. J. (Jake) Pickle, who now represents in Congress the 10th Texas district, the same district in which LBJ launched his political career.

The former president also recalled well the trip in 1964, when he invited J. B. Pickle to fly with him from Washington to New York aboard Air Force One. "He was a fine man," said Mr. Johnson of his guest.

Mr. Johnson was accompanied to Big Spring by W. S. Birdwell Jr., chairman of the Texas Employment Commission; J. B. Kellem, one of his intimate business associates, and Mrs. Homer Thornberry, wife of a federal district judge who also once represented the 10th congressional district.

The party was in a twin-engine turboprop plane, a Beechcraft KingAir.

Mr. Johnson and his friends arrived at Howard County Airport about 1:40, drove directly to Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home for the services, where he sat with the Pickle family, were in the funeral procession to Trinity Memorial Park, then went back to the airport for a prompt departure, about 3:30 p.m.

Word of the former president's plans to attend the funeral was not general knowledge until late in the morning, and there was no undue press of crowds.

Some 25 were at the airport to bid him farewell, and he shook hands with most of them.

Six 'Sick' Weathermen Getting Ready To Bomb

NEW YORK (AP) — Three men and three girls, described by police as members of the Weatherman radical group, were arrested today outside an East Side bank which detectives said they were getting ready to fire bomb. The radicals were planning the act to commemorate the death a year ago of two Black Panthers during a Chicago police raid, the police said.

Posing as drunks in ragged clothing, detectives seized the six, after trailing them to the bank. Police said the alleged bombers had been closely watched by detectives for months.

One of them was quoted as telling detectives that they had planned the "first of a series of bombings to celebrate the murder of Fred Hampton," and that they decided on New York City for the first bombing "because President Nixon is coming here."

Hampton, a Black Panther leader, was shot to death a year ago today in a police raid on a Chicago apartment. President Nixon is due in the city tonight for a speech to the National Association of Manufacturers.

All those arrested at the First National City Bank branch on Madison Avenue at East 91st Street during the early morning hours were New Yorkers.

They were identified by police as Richard Palmer, 40, Joyce Plecha, 26, Sharon Krebs, 26, Claudia Conine, 22, Martin Lewis, 25, and Christopher Trenkel, 19.

Police said the suspects planned to break the bank windows—carrying sledge hammers for the purpose—then place four gasoline-filled milk bottles inside the building.

The tattered police descended on the group just as they were about to light the fuses, authorities said.

Ribbon-Cutting Time Changed

Although the open house period for the new International Technovation plant in Big Spring will begin at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, the formal ceremony has been set for 3:30 p.m.

Top officials of Intech are coming here from Tyler and will join with local plant supervisors, members of the Big Spring Industrial Foundation, and city officials for the ceremonies marking the dedication of the plant. Mayor Arnold Marshall will join in cutting the ribbon which will symbolically mark this occasion.

It is anticipated that a large number of people will have visited the plant prior to this ceremony and witness the machines extruding the polystyrene foam material and others thermoforming this into meat trays and egg cartons.

The plant is easily accessible by driving on US 80 past Webb AFB for two blocks, going north on Willa Street a short distance until the plant site is reached.

Among those due here to join Bob Reiser, manager, and his staff are R. J. (Bob) Phillips, president, his wife Mary Jo, and son, Andy; Tom Rudd, vice president, and his wife, Mary Nell, and two children, Brent and Nicky; Frank Glenn, vice president, his wife, Nila, and children Amy and John; and Norman Shahan, vice president, and his wife, Charlotte.

Oil Slick Danger Fades

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A threatening oil slick rode favorable winds further out to sea today and the state's top marine official said danger could pass at any time.

"I'm not ready to say the danger is past," said Harmon Shields, director of the Florida Marine Resources Department, "but it could pass at any time now."

Skyscraper Fire

NEW YORK (AP) — A four-alarm fire broke out today in a Third Avenue skyscraper, trapping an unknown number of persons in elevators on the building's upper floors.

Three persons died and 11 persons, including seven firemen, were injured, the Fire Department said.

Hundreds of persons were evacuated from the building.

The Nerve Of It All

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced today that 13,000 tons of nerve gas stored on Okinawa will be moved shortly to Johnston Island in the mid-Pacific to comply with a Japanese government request.

A spokesman said the first shipment of 150 tons of munitions filled with mustard gas would be shipped from Okinawa "in the near future."

CHEER FUND UP SLIGHTLY

The Christmas Cheer Fund was remembered by three other friends today, to give it a slight boost. Acknowledged are gifts of $25 from R. C. Utley, $5 from the 1905 Hyperion Club and $5 from Mrs. Orena Henderson.

This brings the total to $285.

Much more is needed, of course, if the program meets its goal of seeing that every poor child in Big Spring is not overlooked at Christmas. People who want to help spread the real spirit of the holiday are invited to join in the fund with contributions, no matter the size. Just make check to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND and mail it to The Herald for acknowledgement.

Tricky Legal Questions Loom On Booze Issue

AUSTIN (AP) — Writing a liquor by the drink law is no easy chore, a Senate study committee is learning.

The Senate Interim Liquor Law Study Committee found out Thursday there are a lot of tricky legal issues involved.

It was the committee's first meeting since the voters authorized the legislature Nov. 3 to pass a local option "mixed beverage" law.

One question is whether a single local option election could be held on liquor by the drink as well as sale of beer, wine and liquor for off-premises consumption.

Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso, the chairman, was authorized to request an attorney general's opinion on the subject "if necessary."

Another problem is whether a mixed beverage permit holder could sell wine and beer.

Joe Darnall, attorney for the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission, was asked to provide a summary of various states' "dram shop" laws. Such laws hold bars liable for injuries inflicted by patrons who get drunk.

Darnall told the committee, in answer to a question by Christie, that it would be possible to write a law allowing local option elections on whether to allow cocktail bars or to restrict liquor by the drink to restaurants, hotels and motels.

"You mean open saloons," said Sen. Murray Watson, Waco, referring to cocktail bars.

"That's a bad choice of words, senator," said Sen. Ike Harris, Dallas.

Christie said the problem of collecting a state tax on mixed drinks "is not going to be a small one."

He said the committee should consider requiring bars to buy their alcohol in non-refillable bottles to block one way of cheating on the tax.

Christie said the committee hopes to write a mixed drink bill by Jan. 1.

Longest Bridge

NEW YORK (AP) — The Louisville and Nashville railroad bridge spanning the Bay of St. Louis is the world's longest prestressed concrete railroad bridge. Completed in 1967, the bridge is 10,170 feet long and was built at a cost of $4.9 million.

BUMPED BY BUMPERS

Yeh, But What Have You Done For Arkies Recently?

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)— Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller says that in the last 10 to 15 years he has "invested" more than $35 million in Arkansas in business, philanthropy and good government.

Rockefeller divided his expenditures into four categories:

—"In excess" of $10 million at Winrock Farms and its Carlisle division.

"Well in excess" of $5 million for school, hospital and educational programs and other philanthropic causes.

—"In excess" of $10 million in such endeavors as the Tower Building in Little Rock and Winrock Enterprises.

'IT HAD TO'

—"Probably in excess" of $10 million for "good government."

Asked if his expenditures on behalf of better government included spending in his four campaigns for governor, Rockefeller said: "It had to."

He said, however, that the figure also included expenditures in a number of other activities. He said this included money he spent in his role as chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, as Republican national committeeman since 1961 and in his efforts to promote a two-party system.

He did not mention it, but presumably Rockefeller included in the figure contributions he has made to the campaigns of other Republican candidates and his out-of-pocket expenses in performing his gubernatorial duties.

HE WAS FRESH

The governor said it would be impossible to give an accurate breakdown of how much he had spent on individual activities on behalf of "better government" because in many cases these activities were inter-related.

Rockefeller gave the figures during an interview in which he said "without reservation" that he could have defeated any Democrat in the Nov. 3 general election other than Dale Bumpers, who won a landslide victory.

He said, however, that if the campaign had been two weeks longer he "could have reversed" the electoral decision. Bumpers was not confronting the issues and the news media and the voters were "getting restive at the appearance of (Bumpers') indecisiveness," the governor said.

Why could he not defeat Bumpers?

"He was new, he was fresh, he had no record," Rockefeller said. "There was nothing to attack, and don't forget that Arkansas is still predominantly Democratic in direction and there were a good many Democrats who wanted back in the fold. Dale Bumpers represented that which they were looking for."

'Wild Guess' In Jury Sentencing Of Cons?

AUSTIN (AP) — Sentencing of convicts by juries is "a wild guess and happenstance," a San Antonio judge says.

Dist. Judge Archie Brown discussed a provision in the proposed new state penal code giving judges the power to assess punishment in nearly all criminal cases.

He spoke Thursday at the 6th annual Texas Criminal Law and Procedure Institute at the University of Texas Law School.

Brown said five Dallas boys recently were convicted in a rape case, getting sentences ranging from five to 50 years.

"And the guy that got 50 wasn't even first," Brown said.

The present code has several absurdities on sentencing, he said, such as "One hour in the penitentiary and the even more unconscionable three years in county jail. The first is an exercise in complete frustration and the second results in nearly complete unproductiveness."

Of the three justifications used for sentences — punishment, deterrent and reform—only the last has any real value, Brown said.

"Punishment, standing alone, tends to embitter the recipient and leads to recidivism (return to previous behavior)," he said.

"A dead armed robber at the scene tends to hold down robberies for (only) a week or two," he said. "The average criminal doesn't expect to get caught. He thinks he is smarter than the police and that others who get caught are amateurs."

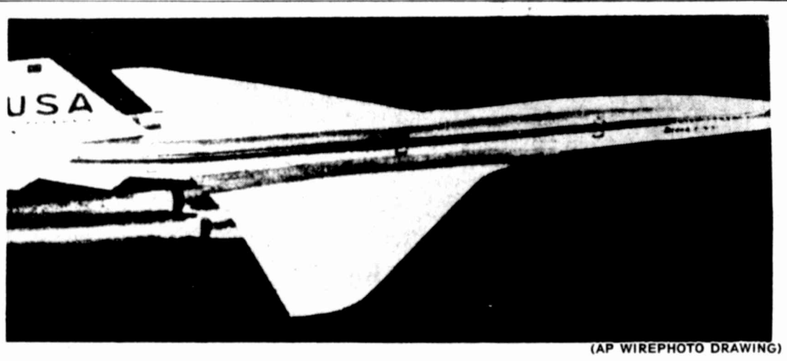

The new code retains the death penalty but reserves it for murder cases only.

"We thought there would be trouble enough without tampering with the death penalty," he said.

A pre-sentence investigation would be held in every case under the proposed code, he said.

SST DEALT STUNNING SETBACK — The Senate Thursday dealt a stunning and perhaps fatal setback to the supersonic transport, the plane President Nixon wants as the flagship of the nation's global jet fleet. This is an artist's conception of what the plane would look like in flight.

Senate Guns Down SST, Victors Savoring Triumph

WASHINGTON (AP) — More concerned with the environment than appeals to technological progress, the Senate has dealt a stunning and perhaps fatal setback to the supersonic transport, the plane President Nixon wants as the flagship of the nation's global jet fleet.

Backers of the SST project, trying to rally from the shock of Thursday's 52-41 vote to kill $290 million in federal SST subsidy money, said they would try to salvage at least part of the program in a House-Senate conference.

11-VOTE MARGIN

The victors, savoring the taste of their 11-vote triumph, say there is little chance the Senate or even the House would now approve a conference report containing any of the $290 million appropriation originally earmarked to continue work on two SST prototypes.

It was a personal victory for Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who in two previous tries could muster no more than 23 votes to stop the project he has called an environmental monster, an economic ship of fools, and a flying white elephant.

And it was a personal defeat for the President who had mustered his personal influence and the weight of the executive branch to save a program he called essential to the future of the American aviation industry.

The loss was particularly bitter for two powerful Democratic senators—Warren G. Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson—whose home state of Washington is the headquarters of the economically depressed Boeing aircraft company, prime SST contractor.

BASIC EXPLORATION

The vote drew 18 Republicans and a number of Southern conservatives into the anti-SST camp and most observers found only one basic explanation:

An overriding concern with protecting the environment in an atmosphere in which the SST had become, rightly or wrongly, a symbol of unplanned progress and misplaced national priorities.

The debate that preceded the vote was a catalogue of potential environmental, economic and political criticism.

Scientific fears were aired that the SST's sonic booms would cause avalanches and kill sea birds; that its exhaust in the upper atmosphere would change global weather and cause chemical reactions that could increase the cases of skin cancer on earth; and that its noise at airports would equal 50 subsonic jets, so loud all homes in a 15-mile radius would have to be soundproofed.

200,000 NEW JOBS

Critics such as Proxmire called the government's contract with Boeing and the General Electric Corp., a "sweetheart arrangement" sure to drain billions in tax dollars into the biggest and most costly boondoggle in national history.

On every point, the SST's backers could hardly find new phrases to express their disagreement.

Jackson told the Senate: "I have seen absolutely no evidence that SST operations will adversely affect our environment."

And Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., declared: "It is quite clear that unless the SST is built our hold on the world aircraft market is doomed."

Magnuson said defeat of the SST funds probably ends the opportunity to create up to 200,000 new jobs. He said the vote may mean the Soviet Union and the French-British team building European versions of the SST probably will dominate the future high-speed air market.

"PIONEER DAY" — Members of Airport Baptist Church donned old-time clothing Sunday and spent the day feasting and gospel singing and reminiscing about the days of horses and buggies. The Rev. Arthur Thomas, far left, poses in costume with some of the church members who brought along antiques to add to the old-fashioned scene.

Dusty Laredo Streets 'Hot'

By The Associated Press

Dense fog made driving hazardous in some areas this morning as the latest cold front slowed almost to a standstill across southern sections of Texas.

Temperatures dropped below freezing at some points in the Panhandle, meanwhile, as dry and cool air covered the area behind the frontal system, which became almost stationary along a line linking Lufkin, San Antonio and Eagle Pass.

Forecasters looked for this front to play out but promised another was on the way. It was expected to reach into Northwes Texas by Saturday.

Skies were generally overcast in the fog belt, which included Beaumont, Port Arthur, Houston, Galveston, Palacios, Victoria, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Cotulla and Del Rio. It was mostly clear in other areas.

Early morning temperatures reached as low as 22 degrees at Perryton and 27 at Dalhart in the Panhandle, 30 at Lubbock on the South Plains and 32 at Marfa in the West Texas mountains. At the same hour it was still 67 at Beaumont and Port Arthur, and 73 at Corpus Christi.

Thursday's highs ranged from the nation's top mark of 89 at Laredo and 87 at Brownsville down to 66 at Dalhart and 67 at Amarillo.

Zoning Meeting

The zoning board of adjustment will meet at 5 p.m. Monday to consider a request from R. Gage Lloyd for a zoning variance that would allow him to go ahead with plans for an attached carport that would come to within 22 inches of his west property line at 401 Edwards.

Two Officers Hit By Suit After Slaying

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — An affray in which officials said a young man was slain by a patrolman has led to a federal court suit against two policemen for more than half a million dollars.

The Mexican-American Legal Defense Fund filed the civil action for the family of Ralph Lopez Sr., 20, who was shot at a residence here Oct. 4.

No charges have been reported against officers allegedly involved in the case. It is under investigation by the county grand jury.

Police Chief George Bichsel reported after the shooting that the shots fired at Lopez came from the spot where patrolman Terry Dunkum was sanding.

A ballistics test showed one bullet was fired from Dunkum's pistol, the chief said. He said the second bullet shattered, making a test impossible.

Dunkum is one of the officers named in the suit.

However, the suit alleges that Lopez was fatally shot by detective William "Duke" Harlow.

Harlow said he was "not at liberty to discuss the case."

"What I have heard they (the family) are claiming in the suit is not true and I'll be willing to refute it once I cease being bound by the grand jury," Harlow said.

The suit seeks $570,700 in damages. It also lists as defendants other persons, all said to be policemen. Their identities are not known by the plaintiffs, the suit states.

Police reports said several officers were dispatched to quell a disturbance at the home of Lopez' mother, one of the plaintiffs. Officers said Lopez threw a soft drink bottle at a patrolman.

Police said Lopez also was preparing to throw a heavy ceramic tray at the officers. According to news accounts, Lopez was shot after he was twice ordered to drop the tray.

The suit contends Lopez yelled at officers to leave his brother alone and then ran inside the house. His brother Paul was among those involved in the affray, the suit says.

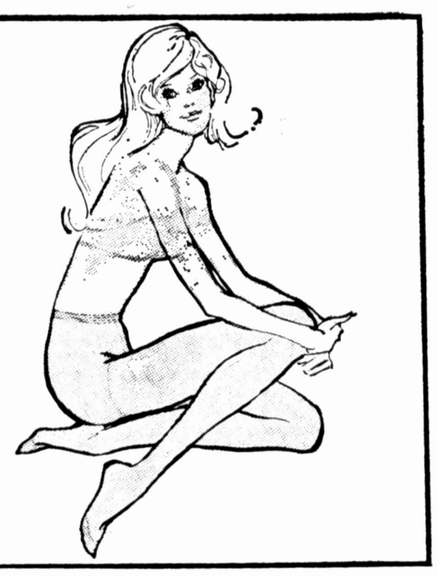

"While inside he (Lopez) did not seek to interfere with defendants," the suit maintains. It says Harlow was outside at he time and fired twice through the front screen door of the House, fatally wounding Lopez.

The suit also contends one of the plaintiffs was beaten "without justification" and another was manhandled by police. Officers said policemen sent to the disturbance were attacked by the people involved in the affray.

Burleson Says R.N. Rule Relaxed

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Omar Burleson said today that he has been successful in getting the committee on Ways and Means to adopt an amendment to the Social Security Bill which will relieve small hospitals of the requirement of having a registered nurse on duty at all times.

Under present law, many small rural hospitals simply have been unable to qualify for medicare under the provisions requiring around-the-clock registered nursing care. Rep. Burleson contended that Texas has a fine Licensed Vocational Nursing program which can adequately furnish nursing services under the direction of registered nurses and doctors.

The essence of the adopted measure authorizes the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, under certain conditions, to waive the requirement that an access hospital have a registered nurse on duty at all times. This requirement could be waived by the Secretary if he finds that the hospital has made and is continuing to make a bona fide effort to comply with the nursing staff requirements but is unable to find qualified personnel in the area. It further provides that in small towns located away from the larger hospitals the nursing requirement would be waived.

Under the provision proposed by Burleson, the Secretary of HEW would examine the nursing staff requirement with respect to each hospital each year and the waiver would be granted on an annual basis but not beyond Dec. 31, 1974, when he hoped that the shortage in this field may be relieved by that time.

"Of course, we must have hospital standards for quality medical care, said Burleson but they should be reasonable and adaptable to the possible."

Springer To Draft TOPICS Request

In a telephone conversation with City Manager Larry Crow Thursday, city planning consultant Marvin Springer reported that data is still under analysis in preparation for a meeting in the near future with the Texas Highway Commission concerning the TOPICS program.

Springer is to draft a definite proposal backed up by traffic counts, population distribution data, origin and destination data, and cost analysis showing the traffic improvements Big Spring would want under the program.

The traffic operations program to increase capacity and safety in urban areas (TOPICS) was set up by the state to implement the use of federal funds made available under the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1968.

Someone had apparently gained entrance by breaking a kitchen window, and then drank two soft drinks and ate an apple and some cookies, and made off with two cartons of empty soft drink bottles.

Same Cell, Same Soup, Same Propaganda, Same... Thing

By JULES LOH
Associated Press Feature Writer

Never fully awake; never soundly asleep. Never unbearably uncomfortable; never at ease.

The world of the American prisoner of war in North Vietnam is a twilight world in which he does not live but vegetates. Gradually the treadmill of deprivation and routine flattens his wit and crushes his initiative until he responds not to ideas or even to hunger or pain but, like Pavlov's dogs, only to the sound of a gong.

HANOI HILTON

That, say men who have endured it, is the ultimate ordeal of the "Hanoi Hilton." The isolation and monotony of the prison, they say, surpasses in psychological horror and human degradation all the beatings and rats and diarrhea and morning emptyings of the honeybucket.

"If you think only in terms of physical torture you miss the subtlety of what we mean by 'inhumane' treatment," said Air Force Col. Norris M. Overly, who spent five months as a prisoner of the North Vietnamese and is now attending the National War College in Washington, D.C.

"A military man can anticipate beatings, can even expect it from someone who wants information. What he can't contend with is the sameness. The same cell, the same soup, the same propaganda, the same . . . everything."

Other former prisoners concur. Even men like Navy Lt. Robert Frishman.

Exploding shrapnel shattered Frishman's right elbow when he was shot down Oct. 24, 1967. He was taken prisoner and released 21 months later, his elbow still unhealed—and his weight down 63 pounds. He now is recuperating in San Diego.

ISN'T SO BAD

"The actual physical thing isn't so bad," he said of his prison experience. "I was struck with rocks and had knives jabbed at me and I was slapped around and tied up with ropes on my bad arm. But it's the isolation, the extended isolation that gets you."

Air Force Capt. Wesley Rumble, now stationed at George Air Force Base, Calif., is another. He spent 15 months as a prisoner, calls it "the worst thing I've ever lived through" and insists "The worst thing about it was the forced boredom and the deliberate cutting of communication with the outside and among prisoners."

Overly, Frishman and Rumble are three of nine American prisoners so far released by Hanoi. The United States believes that 378 men, perhaps as many as 500, possibly many more, are being held captive among about 1,500 listed as missing in Indochina since 1964. Hanoi has refused to give an accounting of its war prisoners.

Hanoi justifies its treatment of the men—or rather its refusal to honor provisions of the Geneva Convention of 1949—on grounds that they are "war criminals" and thus not entitled to the convention's protections.

RELEASED POW'S — Air Force Capt. Wesley Rumble, 24, left, of Oroville, Calif., was a prisoner of war for 15 months in North Vietnam and was released in August, 1969. Navy Lt. Former Big Springer Named In Damage Suit

A $251,989 damage suit has been filed against a former Big Spring man in connection with a Nov. 8 accident at Hawley in which a young Abilene school teacher was killed.

Robert Lindley, 1705 S. 3rd, Abilene, who is still hospitalized from injuries he received in the two-car accident, was named defendant in the suit filed Thursday in 104th District Court, Abilene. Lindley was formerly associated with KWAB-TV.

Attorney Frank Scarborough filed the suit on behalf of Richard DeLeon, husband of Linda Elizabeth Ramos DeLeon; and Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Ramos Sr., her parents, all of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. DeLeon, 23, was a teacher at College Heights Elementary School in Abilene.

The wreck occurred in the southbound lane of divided U.S. 83 within the Hawley city limits in Jones County. Both drivers were alone in their cars.

DeLeon asks $50,000 damages for loss of his wife's income, and her parents ask the same amount. The plaintiffs also ask for punitive damages of $150,000 and burial expenses of $1,989.

A Big Spring man was arrested by Howard County sheriff's deputies this morning on a charge involving a worthless check over $50. Charges were filed in Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter's Court against Robert E. Smith, 23, Northcrest Apts., Apt. 40. He was released after posting $1,000 bond set by Justice Slaughter.

AMOUNT WRONG

The Herald erred in reporting that Nona Hill was denied the $10,470 she was seeking in damages against Robert D. Brewer. Mrs. Hill was seeking $1,037.48, which was denied. In her original petition, Mrs. Hill was seeking the $10,000 figure; but the amount was reduced in a later amended petition which did not come to the Herald's attention.

Book On Martin County To Be Introduced Sunday

STANTON — The Martin County Historical Survey committee will sponsor introduction ceremonies Sunday for a new book "Martin County—The First Thirty Years."

The book and its authors, Fay Eidson Smithson and Pat Wilkinson Hull, will be introduced at a reception from 2 to 4:30 p.m. at the Caprock REA Reddy Kilowatt Room.

Mrs. Hull said she got the idea for the book about five years ago after reading a similar work on another county. She, with the help of Mrs. Smithson, began the painstaking process of compiling and writing the information.

"For one part of the book the families sent in their own historical information, but it took time to get it all together. Then, I went out and conducted some interviews and worked to present a picture of the county in its first three decades," Mrs. Hull said.

"Although at times we thought we'd never be able to finish the book, we've already been approached by several persons who want us to do another volume of the county's history. We are considering it, but it is still too early to decide," she said.

Nation's Eyes Focus On Austin Saturday

By The Associated Press

Orange and Cotton Bowl officials are standing by with bids in hand. The pollsters are waiting anxiously with ballots. President Nixon might even be poised by his telephone. It's Texas and Arkansas again.

For the third time in three years, the Longhorns and the Razerbacks meet for the Southwest Conference title and the honor of being the host team in the Cotton Bowl, and for the second straight year, the game comes on the final weekend of the college football regular season.

Texas has won both those games, 39-29 in 1968 and 15-14 in last year's thriller, when President Nixon visited the Texas dressing room after the game to offer congratulations. Since then, the President has telephoned his congratulations.

The second victory also kept the Longhorns No. 1 in the country, an honor they protected with a victory over Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl. Texas, with a 29-game winning streak, the nation's longest, is ranked No. 1 again entering this game, with Arkansas, 9-1, not far back at No. 4.

Arkansas went to the Sugar Bowl after losing to Texas last year, but this time the loser might get shut out, a fact both coaches. knew when they let television re-schedule the game to the last weekend of the season.

The loser might have a shot at the Orange Bowl, but Louisiana State, No. 8, has that wrapped up if the Tigers can get by 16th-ranked Mississippi in their drag out battle Saturday night in Baton Rouge, La.

LSU rules a solid favorite with Ole Miss qquarterback Archie Manning still questionable as attempts still are being made to find some type of protective device for his broken arm. Manning has not played since he suffered the injury Nov. 7.

The Texas-Arkansas affair will be televised nationally in the afternoon from Austin, Tex., with the LSU-Mississippi game televised to 85 per cent of the country that night.

Two other teams in the Top Ten also will be in action with No. 5 Tennessee playing host to UCLA in the other day game and unbeaten No. 9 Arizona State traveling to rival Arizona at night. Both are heavy favorites.

In two other night games, Houston plays at Miami, Fla., and North Texas State is at Tulsa.

Both Texas and Arkansas have their fingers crossed on the availability of their star running backs. Fullback Steve Worster of the Longhorns, the key man in their wishbone-T offense, suffered a hip pointer against Texas A&M Thanksgiving Day and has been slow recovering.

Arkansas' Bill Burnett suffered a shoulder separation against Texas A&M earlier and underwent surgery, which was expected to end the college career of the leading scorer in conference history. But Burnett was working out this week in pads, and was listed as doubtful.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Mike Royko, the caustic columnist for the Chicago Daily News, says that the $100 million sports complex in Chicago likely will be built because Dick Daley, now in his 16th year as the city's mayor, feels there is nothing in the way of a public building that bears his name.

That omission will surely be cured, Royko thinks, and what better way than with a great stadium built with public money.

Not that he would have lasted long in any event but Jerry Quarry might have fought on for a while against Cassius Clay had his trainer used a "secret cut medication" on that damaged eye brow. Quarry's corner had employed it in previous fights.

In other bouts, the coagulant had been applied on Quarry's wounds by Max Yeargin. Yeargin, never in the big time but always on its fringes, was in a Veterans Administration hospital the night Quarry lost to Clay in Atlanta.

It was Yeargin who gave Quarry his first main event a few years ago, an eight-rounder which Jerry won over John Henry Jackson.

Quarry's handlers, including his father, eased comanager Johnny Flores out of the picture after Flores had helped bring the young Californian along in the boxing game. Yeargin knew what was happening and didn't like it, because he was close to Flores.

Jack Quarry, Jerry's dad, again asked Yeargin for the coagulant prior to the Clay fight but Yeargin said "no" very definitely and with great finality. Max, you see, maintains a friendship with some of the dying breed of old-time fight figures and he lives by a code which he felt the Quarrys had violated.

Yeargin learned how to mix the cut medicine while confined to a Navy hospital during World World War II. He watched a doctor apply it to the bodies of patients who had been blasted open by enemy gunfire.

Doctors had to take 11 stitches above Quarry's eye after his conjunction with Clay but Yeargin reasons his coagulant could have delayed the inevitable.

The San Antonio Toros, who were a part of the old Texas Football League when the West Texas Rufneks were a part of the fabric, will be affiliated with something called the Trans-American League in 1971.

The league will try a spring season, scheduling games from April through June. League officials, completely oblivious of the fact that the public turns to other endeavors in the spring and loses some of its appetite for football, hope to sell TV on the idea that the game is always in season.

The Central division of the new league will embrace Dallas, Fort Worth, Texarkana, Oklahoma City and Omaha, as well as San Antonio.

Gamecock 5 May Be Ready To Move Out

By The Associated Press

The names were Roche and Owens and they were the sophomore super stars of South Carolina's dazzling future. This was two seasons ago.

But a funny thing happened last year when the Gamecocks were supposed to wind up on top of the college basketball heap—they didn't. And everyone pointed to next year, which is now.

Are you listening, UCLA? Tom Owens and John Roche are back for another shot, and Thursday night helped the second-ranked Gamecocks open their season with an 86-69 walloping of Auburn.

Top-rated UCLA, defending national champion, opens its season tonight against Baylor.

JACKSONVILLE WINS

Monstrous Artis Gilmore helped fourth-ranked Jacksonville squash St. Peter's of New Jersey 152-106; seventh-ranked Southern Cal toppled Utah 90-81; No. 9 Western Kentucky hammered Old Dominion 96-82 and No. 17 Houston crushed Northwestern Louisiana State 81-68 in games involving the top twenty teams in The Associated Press Poll Thursday night.

Coach Frank McGuire had recruited off the sidewalks of New York and the Gamecocks were a front-page item with a sophomore-studded team that proved itself under pressure conditions in the 1968-69 season.

The Gamecocks won the Quaker City Tournament in Philadelphia, handing LaSalle its only loss of the season, then lost in the semifinal playoffs of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

But the word was: Watch this team.

South Carolina was picked No. 1 in the AP's preseason poll last year and lived up to its rave notices most of the year. The heavily favored Gamecocks won the ACC regular season race, but lost to North Carolina State when Roche got hurt in the final.

Owens scored 28 points and got 16 rebounds and Roche put in 17 points and added five assists. Tom Riker added 23 points and 16 rebounds to the Gamecocks' cause.

Gilmore pulled down 34 rebounds, a regular-season record in New York's Madison Square Garden, and scored 28 points in the Jacksonville success. Sharp-shooting Harold Fox scored 29 and had 11 assists for the powerhouse Dolphins, who boast two seven-footers in Gilmore and Pembrooke Burrows.

Paul Westphal relentlessly crashed through on driving layups and jumpers for 10 of his 17 points in the second half for Southern Cal.

Florida Play

CORAL SPRINGS, Fla. (AP) — Brian Allin, a Vietnam veteran playing in only his second professional tournament, refused to get excited about his tournament leading 67.

"It feels pretty good," the soft-spoken young man said, "but I don't want to build it up too much. You've got to try to take it in stride."

Allin, a slightly built 26-year-old who spent 14 months in combat as an Army artillery lieutenant, graduated from the PGA players school only a month ago and made his tour debut last week when he finished in a tie for 70th in the Heritage Classic.

But he didn't let lack of experience bother him in leading the seven-man charge into a tie for the first-round lead in the $125,000 Coral Springs Open Golf Tournament. He was tied at 67, four under par, with Bob Lunn, Mike Hill, George Johnson, Butch Baird, Mac McLendon and Canadian Wilf Homenuik.

Just one stroke back was another group of 11 tied at 68. They included Tommy Aaron, Lee Trevino, Gardner Dickinson, Homero Blancas and Gay Brewer.

Dave Hill and 52-year-old Tommy Bolt topped another big bunch at 69.

Jack Nicklaus and Masters champion Billy Casper are not competing in this, the next-to-last event on the pro schedule this year.

The 6,843-yard, par 71 Coral Springs Country Club course, a relatively flat, but lake-studded layout, offered little challenge to most of the big field, with 51 players breaking par Friday and a total of 89 at par or better.

But Arnold Palmer found all the trouble he could handle.

The 41-year-old master, still seeking his first individual title of the year, had a 72 and must improve if he is to make the cut for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

He three-putted two greens, took a triple bogey 6 on the par 3 15th and was steaming when he came off the course.

"I just had one lapse, then got mad," Palmer said.

Allin, who attended Brigham Young University before his Army days, worked as a club pro near his home in Santa Barbara, Calif., for a year before attending the PGA school.

To say he is an unknown is an understatement. When he showed up in the press room, a woman attendant asked what he wanted.

"I shot a 67 and they told me to come here," he replied.

"Well," the woman said, and looked around the room, "I don't see anyone who wants to talk to you."

He shrugged and left.

"I just figured, what the sell," he said.

Odessa Quintets Post 3 Victories

Board Screening CC Applicants

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado City school board has set up a committee to screen applications for the position of head coach and athletic director at Colorado City following the recent resignation of Coach Truman Nix.

Nix had said in his resignation that he would work until "the end of the school year." He will be paid through August 31, in accordance with established custom, according to superintendent of schools Lloyd E. McKee. Nix cleared up any confusion that might have existed by telling reporters that he intended to work until May 31.

McKee said that it would be "desirable" for the new coach to report to duty two months before school is out in the spring, but that the board had set no hard and fast requirements as to the time of reporting — "this will largely depend on the coach and his commitments."

Vikes Near Playoffs

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Minnesota will become the first team to enter the National Football League playoffs, St. Louis will solidify its hold on first place and Kansas City will break a tie with Oakland.

All that—it says here—will happen this weekend on a 13-game program that runs from Saturday to Monday. And whether it's believed or not depends on whether last week's 7-6 record tends to discourage.

At any rate, the season-long record still is a respectable 37-24-4 with only three weeks remaining. Here we go again:

SATURDAY

Minnesota 24, Chicago 13—There may be some question of Gary Cuozzo's effectiveness after spraining an ankle in Vikings' loss to New York Jets last week, but there shouldn't be any reason the Minnesota defenders can't win this almost by themselves.

SUNDAY

St. Louis 27, Detroit 24—Cardinals just might pull off the upset if Jim Hart can hit consistently. MacArthur Lane and Johnny Roland will get yardage on the ground for the National Conference East Leaders. But they'll have to watch Lions' quick Mel Farr on dashes to the outside.

Kansas City 31, Denver 17—The Chiefs, getting top form passing from Len Dawson, should be able to romp over the fading Broncos in their bid for the American Conference West title and a return trip to the Super Bowl. Broncos just don't seem to have it anymore.

New York Jets 24, Oakland 21—Always a bitter battle, the pick here is the Jets, who have momentum with three straight victories. Combined with a Kansas City victory, that would drop the Raiders one game behind in the frantic Western race.

Los Angeles 35, New Orleans 14—The Rams' offense hasn't pulled off many fireworks recently but should be able to against an outmanned Saints' team, and it's not a bad opportunity for Coach George Allen to show off against the team he's been rumored heading for.

San Francisco 27, Atlanta 20—The 49ers will keep pace with the Rams in NFC West as John Brodie gets back on target against the Falcons. Atlanta has a rugged defense, but quarterback Bob Berry is erratic.

Baltimore 20, Philadelphia 17—The Colts seemed to have slipped since earlier in the season, but still should have enough left to handle the Eagles. Philadelphia lacks scoring punch.

Pittsburgh 27, Green Bay 17—Either Terry—Bradshaw or Hanratty—capable of keeping the Steelers in first place in AFC Central against a Green Bay team that just isn't moving the ball.

San Diego 28, Cincinnati 21—

N.Y. Giants 38, Buffalo 14.

Washington 27, Dallas 14—

Miami 24, Boston 21.

HE HAS A PROBLEM — Dick Harter, University of Pennsylvania basketball coach, directs his team during first game at Philadelphia where some experts say he has only one problem this season. He has too much talent on his squad. His club has been rated 11th in the pre-season poll but his team is loaded with big, strong and quick players who figure on winning the Ivy League title.

T. E. Cantrells Mark Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Cantrell, Big Spring residents since 1942, will celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary Sunday. They were married in Waco Dec. 5, 1920, by the Rev. John W. Rentfro, in the First Methodist Church parsonage. The wedding followed a courtship of two and one-half years which began during high school days.

Hosting a reception from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday in the First Federal Community Room, will be the couple's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Hopper of Alamogordo, N.M. All friends are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Cantrell are members of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church and, for many years, have been active in various phases of church work. Mr. Cantrell has been an active deacon since April, 1959, and has served on the executive board of the Big Spring Baptist Association for several years.

Refreshments for the reception will be served from a table covered with a gold lace cloth and centered with a golden epergne holding gold mums, carnations and babies'-breath, accented with leather fern. The tiered cake will be topped with a miniature bride and groom and the golden numerals, "50." Mrs. Cantrell will wear a gold dress trimmed in white, and a gold carnation corsage. Mr. Cantrell will wear a gold carnation boutonniere.

Assisting with the serving will be Mrs. L. W. Whisenhunt, Mrs. Otis Rogers, Grand Prairie; and Mrs. Clarence Cox of Pecos. The registry table will hold a crystal and gold bud vase with yellow carnations, and guests will be registered by Mrs. Ken Blackenton.

Out-of-town guests will be Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Coleman and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Huckabee, all of Pecos; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Coward, Gatesville; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Myers, San Bernardino, Calif.; Mrs. G. B. Davis, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Cevoy Cantrell and Mr. and Mrs. Travis Cantrell, all of Garden Grove, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Murry, Corsicana; and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clem, Artesia, N.M.

Party Honors Miss Boadle

Miss Martha Boadle was guest of honor at a bridal shower Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Boadle, 2505 Cheyenne.

Miss Boadle, bride-elect of Lt. Jerry L. Nichols, Webb Air Force Base, was attired in a three-piece orange knit suit. She was presented a corsage of red carnations, as was her mother, Mrs. Robert Boadle.

The future bride's chosen wedding colors of red and green were carried out with a white crocheted table cloth accented with red candles and green and white crystal.

Miss Murfi Boadle and Miss Debora Boadle, the bride-elect's cousins, served refreshments.

Cohostesses for the shower were Mrs. Ben Boadle, Mrs. Joe Boadle, and Mrs. Ada Boadle, all aunts of the future bride. The wedding will be Dec. 22 at Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church.

A LOVELIER YOU

Positive Attitude Aids Discouraged Dieters

By MARY SUE MILLER

A main cause of reducing failures is a negative attitude toward dieting. It always surfaces about now as the holiday feasting season approaches.

Instead of dwelling on the privations, which in truth are few, a dieter should give thought to all the delicious foods she may have — broiled mushrooms, for example, and Christmas strawberries brushed with blossom honey. Or just a whopping patty of good old, broiled top-round.

Approved diets call for no real hardship. Honest! Following one, you cannot starve. Hunger, real hunger, is a figment of the imagination. Lovelies, already figure-proud, welcome restrictions on the amount of food that guards health and figure, and find it satisfying. Reeducation of the appetite makes it so. Acceptable diets aim at reeducation.

Foods are varied to include the commonplace and the esoteric. As already implied, the difference these days between a normal and slimming intake is a puny number of calories.

So viewed, dieting loses its punishing aspect. Obviously, a positive attitude is half the battle. In that connection some important areas are overlooked. The most vital one could be giving yourself the special kind of care that makes you lovelier as you slim.

In this category count oil soaks, lotion rubs, facial masks and hair treatments; walks in the a.m. and tea in the p.m. a new interest. In short, the secret of reducing is looking ahead to lovely tomorrows.

POCKET CALORIE COUNTER

Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our leaflet, "Pocket Calorie Counter," tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan — a way to eat and slim. AID AND COMFORT — A nine-year-old peasant girl comforts her father as South Vietnamese soldiers treat his wounds in Quang Nam Province, southwest of Da Nang. The man was accidentally hit by rifle fire when the troopers made a helicopter assault into the area.

Texan Gets $1,000 Loan From AMA

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A senior student at the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston, Richard J. Norman of Houston, has received a $1,000 scholarship loan from the Texas Medical Association that raises the money loaned by the association to $500,000.

Norman is the son of Mrs. Ross C. Hall of Houston. A 1967 graduate of the University of Texas at Austin, Norman has completed a year of study in the UT Medical Branch graduate school and has a master's degree in psychology.

Over 1,000 loans have been granted by TMA to medical students, interns and residents through its Dr. S. E. Thompson Scholarship Fund.

The loan program was established in 1959 in the will of the late Dr. Sam E. Thompson of Kerrville, a past president of TMA. Students may borrow up to $3,000 during their medical education and the interest rate is four per cent. Repayment does not have to start until four years after the students' date of graduation.

Soaring Costs Of Education

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas school officials say the soaring costs of education may call for another hike in school taxes next year in the face of an expected $105 million school operating budget.

The board of education approved a 14-cent increase last summer but projections for next year indicate the hike may not have been enough due to continued higher salaries for teachers, new buildings and expansion of the kindergarten program.

Presently, Dallas schools are on a tax rate of $1.39 per $100 at 54 per cent assessment.

Suit Seeks To Force State School Board To Accept Bid

BEAUMONT (AP) — Superior Oil Co. has filed suit seeking to force the Texas School Land Board to accept a bid it offered for a tract of Jefferson County offshore land. The Louisiana-Texas border dispute is involved.

The suit, filed in Austin, argues that the board had no right to withdraw Tract 560 from bidding last August after two bids had been made. It also notes that the bids were made public after the tract was withdrawn.

In the suit, the company says the tract was withdrawn from sale for the announced reason that "pending litigation between Texas and Louisiana" might affect such sale.

Superior contends that the border dispute could not affect Tract 560 since the boundary issue is over the Sabine River. Tract 560 is more than three miles off the coast so it could not be in Louisiana, whose tidelands rights end at the 3-mile mark.

The oil company asks that the court award the lease to it since its bid of $585,748 is already public and other companies thereby know the land is valuable. It says Superior will lose the advantage of having conducted an expensive study.

Dealing With Drug Abuse Problems

AUSTIN (AP) — A 32-page booklet designed to help local communities determine the proper course for dealing with drug abuse problems has been mailed to mayors and local leaders working on drug abuse.

"Guidelines for Community Action on Drug Abuse" was prepared by the State Program on Drug Abuse and represents one step in the community assistance program, whereby teams representing the state agencies working on the drug problem visit communities to help them identify their problem and correct it.

Sheltered Life

LONDON (AP) — Students take up teaching because they fear the outside world, says a university survey. The Assistant Masters Association which compiled the survey, also suggests undergraduates are too firmly entrenched in "the rut of the classroom world."

Phone Calls To Cost More In Big D Area

DALLAS (AP) — Telephone service will start costing more Dec. 21 in Dallas and 19 suburban towns.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. accepted a schedule of higher rates approved Monday by the city council although the increases were not as large as it asked.

As examples of the new charges, one-party home phones will rise from $5.80 per month to $6.35 and two-party from $4.70 to $4.90, and one-party flat business service from $16.50 to $18. There are corresponding boosts in other categories.

In a formal statement, Bell officials said, "We will continue to do our best to provide Dallas with good telephone service, even though the rates granted are less than we feel are needed to assure the expansion and improvement of the telephone network serving this growing metropolitan area."

Tom Taylor, acting city utilities director, said he felt the new rates are adequate for improvements necessary to meet a franchise requirement for first class service.

"We feel the city has done its part," Taylor said. "The company must now do its part to fulfill these needs."

This Idea Not Bullet-Proof

AUSTIN (AP) — A citizen's committee headed by an ex-FBI agent recommended the Texas House chamber should be sealed off from public spectators with a transparent bullet-proof screen.

The committee is part of House Speaker Gus Mutscher's Committee of 100, which is probing legislative duties, pay and ethics.

Since it was set up by Mutscher, the committee's proposals apply directly only to the House, but by implication many of them — such as the enclosed gallery — also could apply to the Senate.

Dallas Constable T. A. Vines pushed the idea of enclosing the gallery with a transparent, bullet-proof shield. He said it would prevent spectators from intentionally or accidentally throwing or dropping objects among the legislators.

But County Judge Ray Holbrook of Galveston called the idea "ridiculous."

"There is a noise problem but there is no danger," Holbrook said.

The recommendation by the committee on internal security will be presented to the full Committee of 100 in January. The committee chairman is Maurice Acers of Austin, a former FBI agent and aide to former Gov. Allan Shivers.

Acers said some legislators think their telephones have been tampered with. The committee then approved a recommendation that wiretapping be out-lawed unless authorized by a court order. Texas has no wiretapping law at present.

Another recommendation called for a new law on indecent exposure in the light of reports last summer that nooks and crannies of the Capitol were being used at night by young prostitutes.

The committee also recommended that the Capitol be closed at 8 p.m. daily except when the legislature is in session. It now is open around the clock.

A state law patterned after a federal statute that prohibits demonstrations on the Capitol grounds was proposed.

Hair Spray Might Lead To Disaster

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The ingredients of a can of hair spray may be a formula for disaster, a Houston fireman warns.

A woman, an innocent can of hair spray and an open face heater, either gas or electric, could cause death or a lifetime of disfigurement, H. G. Torres, a fire department public relations man warns.

Hair spray and some other aerosol products become liquid fire when they are touched off by an open face heater.

At least three Houston women had their hair catch fire during the early months of this year when they sprayed their hair near a heater, Torres said.

In fact, working with any flammable liquid indoors can lead to disaster, even when there is no apparent open flame about.

Torres said vapors from liquids such as gasoline are heavier than air and travel to flames in hot water heaters or pilot lights on gas stoves.

The pilot light touches off the vapor which then travels back to the vapor source causing an explosion or severe fire, he said.

Smart Girls Test Men's Khaki Pants

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Without complaining, five graduate students at Texas Woman's University here are laundering 250 pairs of men's khaki trousers every day of the week—except Sunday—in a project conducted by the school's research institute.

The trousers study and other textile research is supported by the Cotton Producer's Institute.

Purpose of the test is to evaluate the competitiveness of cotton against other textile products.

Thirty male members of the faculty and staff are cooperating in the tests by wearing the test items to be cleaned by the five young students.

The trousers are later evaluated for appearance and comfort.

The Cotton Research Committee of Texas is also a sponsor of the program.

Krohn said the roofing firm did not ask payment for the job.

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Two Corpus Christi men were charged with assault, and robbery Wednesday and jailed in connection with the holdup of an FBI agent.

Bonds of $20,000 each were set for Curtis Terrell, 22, and Eugene Nedd Jr., 23.

FBI agent Leonard Matthys said he was robbed of $43 and his watch Tuesday night by the pair outside the federal building here.

One man was captured in 28 minutes and the other a short while later.

Says Texas' Teachers Are 'Behind The Times'

DALLAS (AP)—Texas' teachers are "behind the times" and their organizations are "primitive", says the president of the American Federation of Teachers.

David Selden, president of the AFT labor union movement, says his group is attempting to organize teachers in Texas.

He says teacher organization in Texas is in a "very low, primitive state."

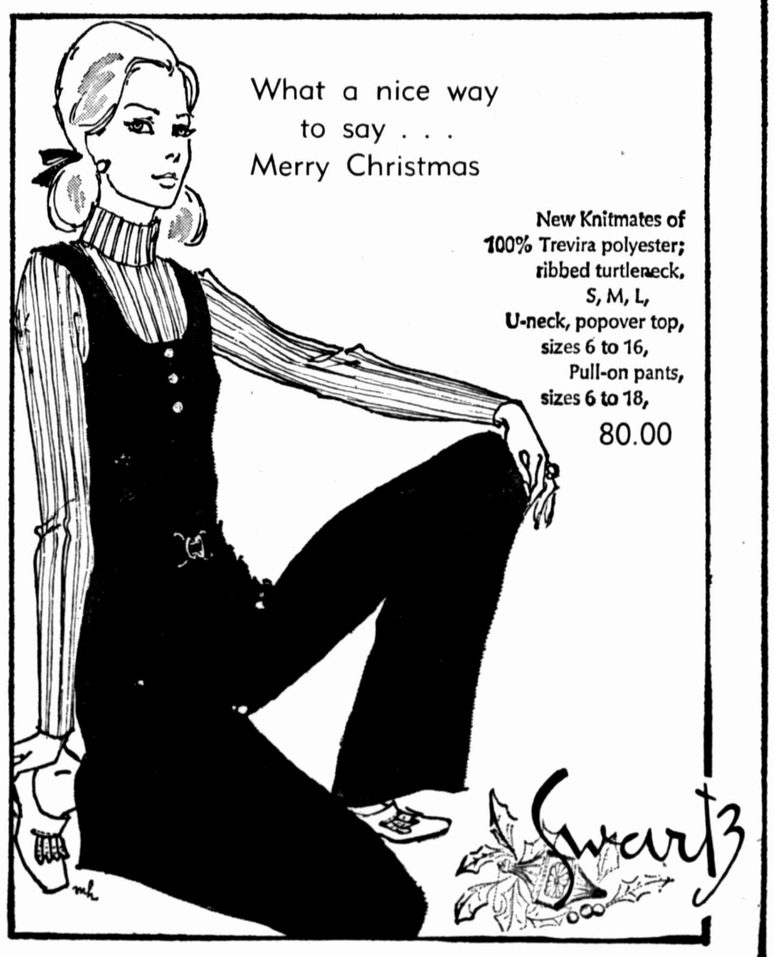

He cites tenure as one of the rights not now held by Texas teachers. Tenure policies provide job security after a specified length of time.

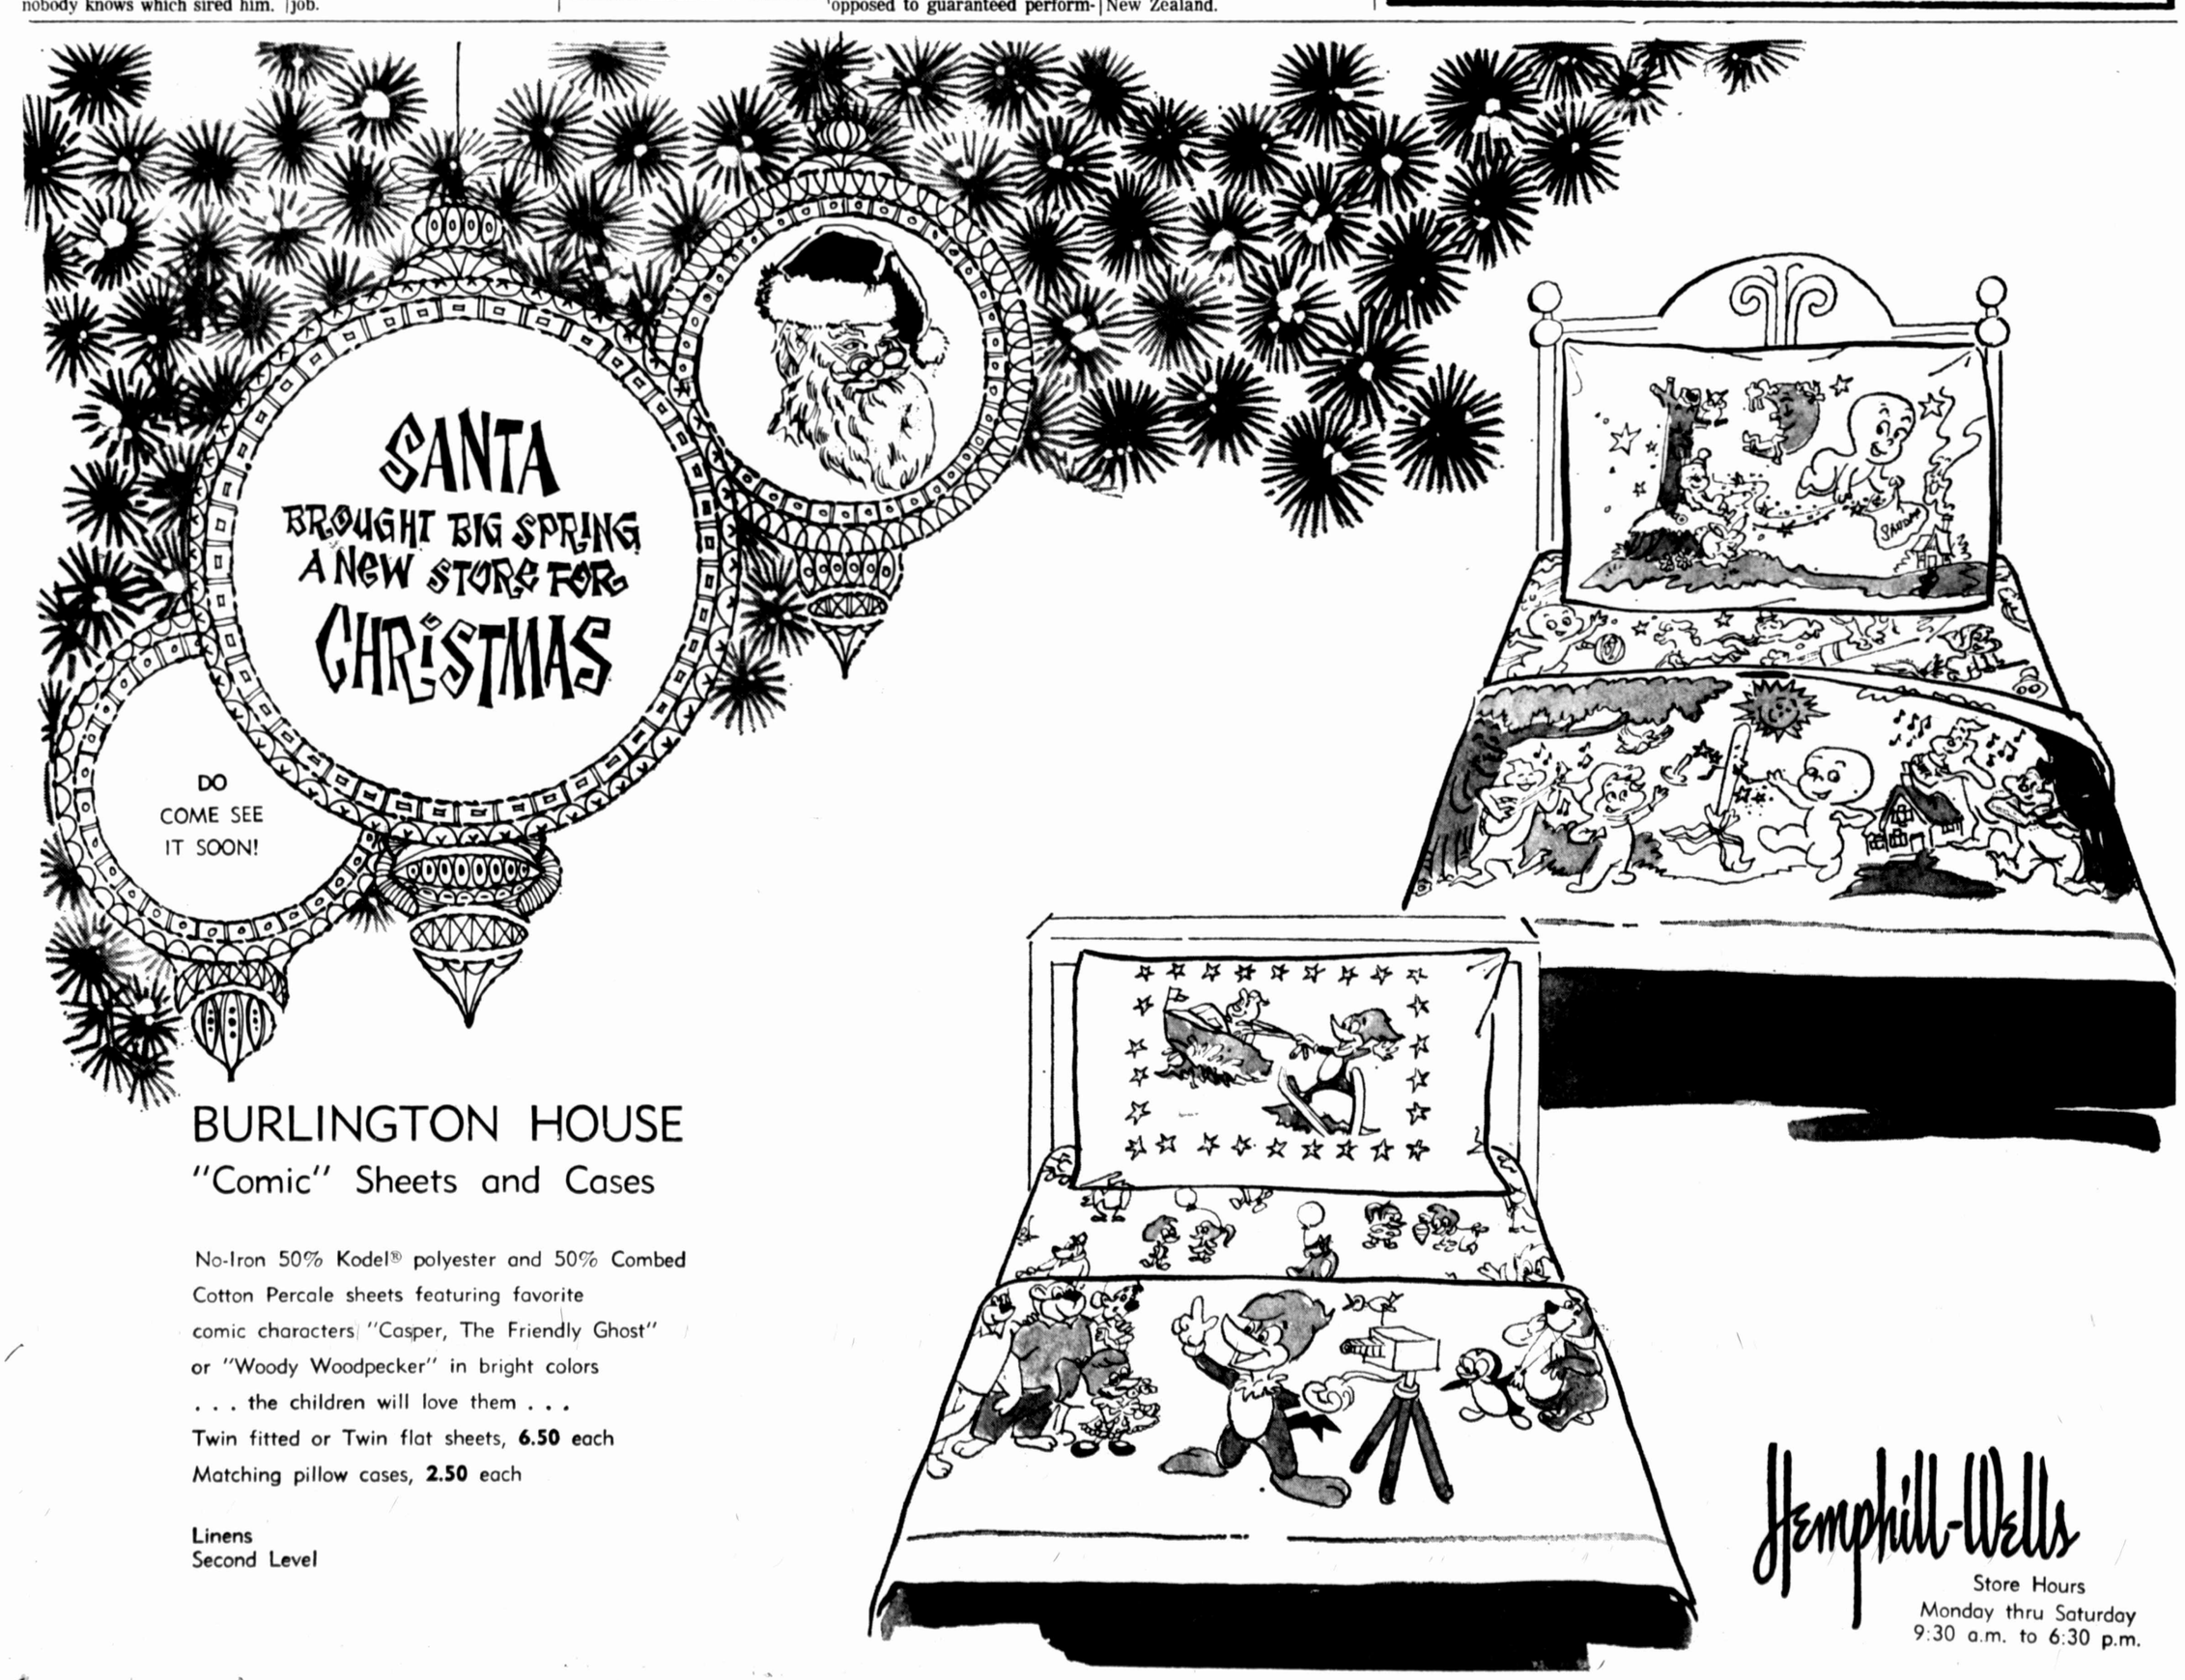

Selden says he is unalterably opposed to guaranteed performance contracting whereby school systems contract with private firms to provide classroom teachers.

"We don't think the profit motive should be introduced to education," he says. "Education has a social purpose and it shouldn't be turned over to profit seekers."

Local Church Youth To Collect For CROP

Youths from nine local churches will collect funds for CROP in a house-to-house drive Sunday from 2 to 7 p.m. CROP is the Christian Rural Overseas Program designed to aid the world's hungry.

The money collected will furnish such essentials to hungry persons as milk and meat. CROP also furnishes tractors and, seed corn and other materials to fight the effects of famine and poverty.

Those participating in the collection drive will wear a lapel pin identifying them as CROP workers. The collections will be placed in envelopes and mailed to the state office.

Donors may give cash or checks. Persons preferring to mail in their donations themselves will be given campaign envelopes. The campaign ends Dec. 31.

The slogan for the campaign is "Everytime You Breathe, Someone Somewhere Dies of Hunger." Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richards, 1805 Alabama, are sponsoring the drive.

Youth from the following churches will participate in the campaign; Wesley United Methodist, First Presbyterian Church of Big Spring, First Christian Church of Big Spring, Kentwood United Methodist Church, Elbow Baptist Church, First Church of God of Big Spring, Temple Baptist Church, North Birdwell Lane United Methodist Church, and Baker Chapel AME.

Honea, also announces an advance Christmas gift to the church in the form of four new speakers for the church sanctuary and a complete overhaul of the public address system, by William E. FOREIGN STUDENTS TO SPEAK SUNDAY — Miss Taraiz Qubty, left, and her sister, Miss Mary Qubty, of Galilee, Israel, will speak on behalf of Baptist Missions at the Tarzan Baptist Church and the College Baptist Church, Sunday.

Foreign Students Initiate Baptist Annual Mission

During the month of December, Southern Baptists participate in their annual Lottie Moon Christmas Offering program. This annual promotion serves as a means of securing money to be used in the mission program of the twelve-million membership organization.

The goal for 1970 is in excess of two million dollars. To help in promoting this cause in Big Spring, two churches have invited two foreign students to speak at the worship services Sunday morning. the College Baptist Church and the Tarzan Baptist Church are having as their guests two sisters from Nazareth. They are Miss Taraiz Qubty and Miss Mary Qubty who were converted to Christianity under the ministry of a Southern Baptist Missionary.

The father of these young ladies is an Arab. He was converted through the ministry of the Rev. Louis Hanna who served as a missionary in the Middle East for many years. The Rev. Hanna now lives in Bryan, Tex., where he has retired.

Following his conversion, Qubty surrendered his life to the full-time ministry of preaching the Gospel of Christ. He presently serves as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Cana of Galilee.

Taraiz and Mary are both students at Howard Payne College in Brownwood, Tex. They are being assisted by the College Baptist Church in their expenses at Howard Payne. Upon their graduation from Howard Payne the girls will return to their homeland where they will live and practice their Christian faith.

The public is invited to hear these two young women speak at the morning worship services of Tarzan Baptist Church in the Tarzan community and the College Baptist Church of Big Spring.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Luke, the beloved physician, and Demas, greet you. (Colossians 4:44)

PRAYER: Our God, our Father, dwell in our hearts, in every thought and action, that we may overcome the lure of evil. In Thee only can we find perfect freedom and clear vision of the truth. Amen.

Our Debt To Hardy Pioneers

The reminder comes, even if less frequently as the early-day West Texas pioneers move on to their reward, how much present generations owe to those who labored amid deprivations and hardships to build a land — a sturdy land which it has been our privilege to improve.

Of such hardy stock was J. B. Pickle, a transplanted Tennesseean who sought his fortunes in West Texas, and, while doing so, left an indelible mark for the improvement in each community he called home.

Mr. Pickle served as city commissioner and mayor of Big Spring in the darkest days of the depression, but with his colleagues never ceased to plan what could be done for the betterment of their community. Principally, he led the way to one of the finest municipal parks to be found in western Texas.

Prior to that, he had served as a city official at Roscoe, and, as a newspaper editor in several communities, exercised a voice of progress. It is through this kind of leadership that towns mature and become something of a beckoning beacon in a forbidding land.

It took a hardy breed of men, of which Mr. Pickle was one, to accomplish these things. Lesser people would have flinched in the face of such difficulty.

But Mr. Pickle, and the others of his ilk, were after all, men of staunch conviction. Nobody ever was in doubt where Mr. Pickle stood — in matters of his deeply felt religion, his strongly felt politics, his determination for community uplift, his sense of complete integrity.

Strong men are good — men like J. B. Pickle — and the country owes them an immeasurable debt.

Presidential Press Conferences

What is to be gained from a presidential press conference? This question must occur as criticism of President Nixon's reluctance to meet the questions of the press becomes more open.

It goes further than the President's wish to inform his constituents. The President is a skillful politician.

He not only seeks to inform but to build a case for his policies and his decisions. He wants to rally public opinion behind him.

He knows that the role of the press is to attempt to strip away propaganda and to reveal the bare bones of fact that lie behind all policies. He also knows that most newsmen will resist his natural tendency to use the press conference as a springboard to shape public opinion.

Press conferences, if held often enough, can be a valuable gauge to reveal the President's thinking and his moods and thought processes. Moreover, if held weekly they can serve as a catalyst for government action.

More importantly, questions thrown at a president from newsmen representing papers from every region can help the President measure public concerns. President Wilson, at his first press conference, put it this way: "Please do not tell the country what Washington is thinking, for it does not make any difference. Tell Washington what the country is thinking."

Mr. Nixon probably does not share these views because he has held fewer conferences than any president in modern history. The conference he announced last week will be held Dec. 10, the first since July 30 and only the 12th announced in advance in the nearly 23 months he has been in office. It will be his 16th if five extemporaneous affairs are counted.

At the same point in their first terms Lyndon Johnson had held 85, John F. Kennedy 44, Dwight Eisenhower 53, Harry Truman 84 and Franklin D. Roosevelt 158.

Much of this disparity is probably a matter of personality. Mr. Nixon is not a public man. He is defensive and protective and he avoids the and protective and he avoids the spontaneous event.

There are those who wish it otherwise, but it must be said that the press conference is the President's alone to hold.

The Issue Of Import Quotas

WASHINGTON — When millions of American workers lost their jobs because products came into the United States from countries where low wages made it possible to send goods to America to be sold at lower prices than the cost of those made here, the custom a half-century ago was to call for a protective tariff. The Republicans espoused protectionism and the Democrats favored "free trade."

TODAY, the Democrats in many states which are injured by the low-cost imports of shoes and textiles are demanding tariffs, and Democrats as well as Republicans are sponsoring a bill which has passed the House and is now pending in the Senate to try to put a stop to the influx of some of the competing products.

The United States has sought for two years to persuade Japan to accept a system of voluntary quotas whereby a high percentage of the average output in recent years would be maintained but no increase would be made. At first, it looked as if the Japanese might agree to this, but they kept postponing their decision.

MEANWHILE, more and more Americans were hurt by the inflow of imports, and the administration, which has favored voluntary quotas, was compelled to support legislation to fix quotas. Not only were textiles and shoes included, but a variety of other items. At the outset, the United States was willing to agree to flexible arrangements which would permit negotiations from time to time and a variation in the amounts of the quotas. But Japan held out for a minimum of restrictions, even while the situation inside America became worse. During the last five years, for instance, imports of clothing have doubled to more than one billion dollars and shoe imports have tripled to about 500 million dollars a year.

IVER OLSON, senior vice president and economist for the American Footwear Manufacturers Association, says that the bill sponsored by Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee in favor of quotas supports the interests of 2,500,000 workers in footwear, textile or apparel plants in 22 states. He declares that these workers constitute one-eighth of the total U.S. manufacturing work force.

MR. OLSON asserts that failure of the Mills bill would also affect the jobs and incomes of many more hundreds of thousands, especially in the small cities and rural areas where most of these people work. He points out that shoe factories are located in over 600 towns in some 40 states, and apparel and textile plants are located in many more. If the bill — which has passed the House — is also victorious in the Senate, Mr. Olson predicts it will help save a great number of jobs among the 65 million people who now live in rural America.

OPPONENTS OF the legislation assert that, if it is passed and implemented, there would be a trade war in which other countries could retaliate against the United States. It is said foreign governments would adopt measures to block the sale overseas of U.S. soybeans and other farm products and perhaps of U.S. aircraft and machinery as well as other articles.

Many of the free-trade senators are urging delays, but the industries, like shoes and textiles, which have been seriously affected do not wish to wait any longer. The President is finding himself compelled to move.

Billy Graham

Is willingness to wait for a reward an indication of maturity? Is this Christian teaching?? J.W.

The mature Christian does not do things for personal reward or aggrandizement. Jesus said, "He that is greatest among you shall be your servant." Unselfish service to God and others carries its own reward, and asks for nothing more.

In the fine book, Magnificent Obsession, by Lloyd Douglas, a doctor finds great reward in doing good deeds for others, and when he is offered a reward, he says, "I have already been paid." Loving parents ask no reward from their children except gratitude, and even when this isn't shown, they go right on loving and serving. The higher the form of life, the greater desire to serve. Animals live on a selfish plane, foraging for themselves, thinking only of themselves. Some humans live on the plane of animals, with their only drive that of self-preservation. But, through faith in God, and a change of motivation, some people rise above the animal level and have consideration of others. This is a sign of emotional and spiritual maturity — Christian maturity. Read the biographies of great Christians and you will see this ethic of selflessness exhibited. Of course Christ was the great example of the perfect One. "He was rich, and yet he became poor, that we through his poverty might be made rich." With Christ, work, in love and compassion for others, and you will be rewarded, and you won't have to wait for it.

Relying On Human Nature For Comeback

NEW YORK (AP) — Their sales undermined by the mercurial mood of consumers who now seem to prefer discount prices, the trading stamp industry is nevertheless relying on human nature to pull it through. It always has.

Sales have fallen to something around $800 million from more than $900 million in 1966-67, as cost-conscious housewives seek to receive something less in price rather than something more in goods.

The emphasis at the supermarket is on keeping prices lower, that is. The meteoric rise of the stamp industry from a $10 million-a-year infant in 1950 is now stalled, and industry officials are becoming used to hearing it.

As Max Olsen, newly-elected president of the Trading Stamp Institute of America sees it, the industry is far from being stamped out.

In the good old days, Olsen relates, trading stamp companies relied on female psychology.

"Stamps gave the housewife her own private nestegg," he said. "She didn't have to justify things she bought with stamps. But if she took $30 out of the clothes budget to buy another item she'd have hell to pay."

Things haven't changed that much. Stymied at the supermarket, the industry is now broadening into other premium areas, and human nature in the form of female psychology is still heavily relied upon.

Stamp men believe in their product, even if the grocery shopper is a bit disenchanted. A typical book of 1,200 stamps, Olsen insists, is worth $3.09 in merchandise, although the cost to the grocery stores is little more than $2.

In other words, if the stamps add 2 cents to the grocery bill, the shopper gets back 3 cents when she redeems the stamps for goods. The bargain, Olsen says, results from purchasing power and efficient distribution.

"Distribution centers have no thefts," he explained, referring to reports of big increases in shoplifting at retail stores. "They don't even have shoppers."

Moreover, the stamp company gets its money in advance of the sale and so has considerable funds for profitable investments in the money markets.

Remember When . . .

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is man's best friend.

It can't lend him money, but it won't desert him in extremity.

It consoles him when he's in trouble, and when he doubts his own worth, at least it can pat him on the back and tell him what a great guy he used to be when the world was younger.

You have a good store for memories if you can look back and remember when—

Bob Hope was a vaudeville headliner.

Every home Christmas tree was a potential torch, because it was lit by candles, not electric lights.

Rural families kept in touch with the outside world by reading the Saturday Evening Post and studying the illustrations in the latest mail order catalog.

The FBI spent most of its time catching kidnapers and bank robbers.

If you were poor and had rich relatives, one of your family chores was to break in their new shoes for them.

In a small town you could become a celebrity and a local landmark merely by buying a toupee. It was commented on daily by the inhabitants and pointed out to visiting strangers as something really worth seeing.

When a wife put her first set of Venetian blinds in the window, everybody knew her husband must be doing better financially.

Most people had heard of calories but many weren't quite sure just what they were. Some of them spilled more calories on their neckties at lunch than a weight watcher today eats between sunup and sundown.

If you didn't feel up to cutting your own lawn, you could get the neighborhood handy man to do it for a quarter.

Kids earned their ice cream cone money by selling old newspapers and scraps of metal to the junkman, who came by once a week, pushing an old two-wheeled handcart and ringing a big bell to announce his presence.

In a large family there always seemed to be somebody pounding on the bathroom door trying to evict someone else so he could get in.

People who had cocktail parties in their homes were suspected of being raffish or downright Bohemian—and there really wasn't hardly anything much worse than that for anyone to be.

Obsolescence was unplanned. Whatever you bought, whether you liked it or not, you used or wore until it was worn out.

Old people were treated with kindness and respect. It was widely thought then that people gained wisdom with the years.

Those were the days—remember?

Unruly Players

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Two rugby clubs have been fined by the Rhodesian Rugby Football Union's disciplinary committee for "unruly behavior" while traveling to matches by chartered aircraft. They also were ordered to write letters of apology to the airline and two air hostesses. The action followed complaints that a glass door at Salisbury airport terminal was broken and hostesses were embarrassed by the conduct of the players.

The Hassle Over Why People Are Obese

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I wish you would settle a dispute. My friend claims that some people are naturally obese (with no medical reasons such as thyroid, etc.) and put on extra weight because of different body metabolism.

He believes calorie consumption and exercise play a small part in such cases. I believe the opposite — that calories and the amount of exercise one gets will determine one's weight, and that body metabolism plays a small part. —D.G.

You are fundamentally right. There is some evidence that some people put on and retain weight because of a peculiarity in their metabolism. This is apart from thyroid or other hormone imbalances as such.

This can be a problem for them — but even so, it does not alter the fact that one can put on weight from only one source: consuming more calories than are used up. These people with the tricky metabolsim don't need as many calories!

There are pathological conditions that can prevent a person from absorbing all he eats. The "dumping syndrome," which sometimes follows stomach surgery, is one. If the stomach cannot hold a normal amount of food, it will be "dumped" before being digested. There are some other situations, too, but they are not common.

In normal people there can be some variation in the amount of food that is assimilated, but not much.

The greatest harm from arguing that "some people are naturally fat and can't help it" is that this is used as an excuse for continuing to eat too much. I take my hat off to such groups as TOPS and Weight Watchers for exploding this excuse. Every time one of their members, who has been fat all his life, gets down to business and sheds 50 pounds, he is exploding that old excuse, and proving that calories count.

Most obese persons do not know the caloric values of the food they eat, or realize how much they eat. They do not realize that, for example, one extra slice of bread and butter per day can be the difference between normal weight and obesity. Not overnight, of course, because obesity can be the result of two or three or more years of steady, if small, overeating. (That's why nibblers can become obese and still say — and believe — that they "don't eat more than anyone else.")

Exercise is not an effective way to take off weight in a hurry, but it plays a big part over the long haul. On exactly the same diet, the energetic, active person may keep his weight normal, yet a placid sitter gets pudgy. Only a few pounds a year, over 10 years, can make a whopping difference.

Nobody Pays His Bills

WASHINGTON — Everyone has his own theory as to why the economy is in such trouble. In spite of all the gobbledygook the Administration is putting out, the real reason the economy has gone to pot is that nobody is paying his bills.

My father, who is president, vice president, treasurer and sole full-time employe of the Aetna Curtain Company, in New York City, called me in Washington to tell me what was going on in the business world.

"IF THAT President of yours really wants to get the economy moving again," he said, "you can tell him to get people to start paying their bills."

"You mean people aren't paying their bills?" I said, astonished.

"No one is paying bills, People, companies, corporations, banks, insurance companies. Everyone is holding up on the money."

"It's hard to believe."

"BELIEVE IT," my father said. "I made curtains for a toy company's showroom on Fifth Avenue three months ago. They still haven't paid me. I went over the other day and said, 'Look, you're a big toy company; I'm a small manufacturer. Why don't you pay me for the curtains?' They said, 'We'd love to pay you for the curtains but Krum's Department Store hasn't paid us for our toys.'

"So," my father continued, "I went over to Krum's Department Store and said to them, 'Why don't you pay the Thumbsucker Toy Company for their toys so they can pay me for my curtains?' The people at Krum's Department Store said, 'We'd love to pay the Thumbsucker Company for their toys, but none of our charge accounts has paid us. Here is a customer, Arthur Gordon. He bought $100 worth of toys and he hasn't paid for them.'"

MY FATHER went to see Arthur Gordon and said, "Mr. Gordon, I don't know you, but you owe the Krum Department Store $100."

"What business is it of yours?" Mr. Gordon wanted to know.

"Because if you don't pay your bill, the Krum people won't pay the Thumbsucker Toy Company, and if they don't get paid, they won't pay me for my curtains."

"Well," said Gordon. "If you must know, I'm a lawyer, and I won't pay Krum's until Harold Jaffe, who is in the lumber business pays me."

MY FATHER went to see Jaffe, who said, "The reason I haven't paid Gordon is that the Man Mountain Construction Company owes me $5,000 for lumber. You get my $5,000 from Man Mountain and I'll pay my lawyer's bill."

Since business was slow, my father went to see the Man Mountain Construction Company. They admitted owing Jaffe the money, but said the reason they couldn't pay him was that the Third National Bank of Queen's Village had refused to give Man Mountain a loan to finish a housing project they were building in Happy Valley, New York.

MY FATHER went to see Mr. Michael Kahme, president of the Third National Bank of Queen's Village, and he said the reason they couldn't lend Man Mountain any money was because a dentist named Dr. Hiram Torem hadn't paid back a loan he made to furnish his office with all-new dental equipment.

Dr. Torem told my father he couldn't pay back the loan for his equipment because Mr. Robert Cantor hadn't paid him for a very expensive set of false teeth.

MY FATHER told me "I knew it was hopeless to look up Mr. Cantor, so I went back to the shop where I found Mr. Sam Plotnik, who sold me the fabric for the curtains I made for the Thumbsucker Toy Company. He said, 'When am I going to get the money for my curtain material?' I said to him, 'What's the hurry?' And he said, 'The hurry is that I've had to lay off people because you haven't paid your bill.'"

And my father said, "One of those people wouldn't be named Robert Cantor, would he?"

"No," said Plotnik. "Why do you ask?"

My father replied, "It was just a hunch."

Leave The Driving To The Girls

WASHINGTON — These days, polls tell us what we think about everything and so it is not surprising that their proprietors consider it their duty to issue annual pronouncements on male drivers vs. female drivers. What is impertinent about these polls is that they consistently conclude the male is a more trustworthy operator of the family monster.

I SUSPECT most of those polled are males, who react in the American tradition which says every man is a kind of latter-day Barney Oldfield, with stepped-up reflexes. The tradition is nonsense, of course. My poll of one individual, namely me, reveals that all driving should be turned over to the real experts, named women.

AS A SEX, girls drive more slowly and observe traffic laws with more fidelity. Possibly they are afraid of cars. They're never sure when a Buick or Ford will take advantage of them and do something nasty. But that makes them more discreet in handling them; they seek to stay on good terms with the creeps.

Women are better drivers because they have more patience. The average male blows his top in a traffic jam because he considers it a personal affront. Out of sheer pique he is apt to stomp on the accelerator and shear off his neighbor's fender to teach the world a lesson. If he's on a strange road and misses a turn, watch out. That U-turn he makes could pile up cars a half-mile back.

WOMEN ARE better drivers, also, because to them driving remains an adventure. They realize a car is temperamental and mischievous and that it enjoys practical jokes, like running out of gas or smashing a headlight for no discernible reason. After his first few years at the wheel, the average male often finds driving a bore. The result is his driving becomes perfunctory; and pretty soon he's absent-mindedly pulling out onto the boulevard without checking that car bearing down on him from the right.

DOLLS DO HAVE occasional accidents, and I sing not their praises when they sneeringly beat me to a parking space. But I have noticed they err only when there is another female in the car. Not even a male could make a proper left turn into traffic with some girl briefing him on the current marital status of the president of the PTA. But I offer a solution for this perilous situation. Just pass a law, Congress, saying not more than one woman to a car.

VIRTUOSO

You wouldn't believe your ears if your baby were suddenly to play a Beethoven sonata.

But, of course, no one expects a baby to do more than "play at" a piano. It takes years of study and preparation and a "bushel" of talent to become an accomplished pianist. In fact, to become any kind of success in this life takes hard work and experience. If this boy is to make his mark in the world — whether as a pianist, engineer, doctor or lawyer — he must be trained and guided.

The challenges that confront him in later years will not only be concerned with his occupation but will also involve his spiritual growth. In a world growing ever more complex, basic precepts of religion and faith will have to be cultivated. Through the Church give your child and yourself the opportunity to acquire faith for the future.

Smelly Habits

LONDON (AP) — Smelling, touching and even biting other people can be good for you, says a marriage guidance booklet. Author Nancy Holt now runs sensitivity training sessions where people lose their inhibitions by groping and sniffing about in groups. Mrs Holt says this makes everyone nicer to each other.

Sleep Patterns Key To Disorders?

HOUSTON (AP)—Houston scientists are investigating whether the physical underdevelopment of children with brain disorders may be associated with disturbed patterns of sleep.

Children with such disorders lag behind in physical development when compared to normal children and scientists at Baylor College of Medicine say that larger amounts of growth hormones, essential to normal growth, are secreted during sleep than at any other time of the day.

They wondered if disturbed patterns of sleep could affect the amount of such hormones released by the body.

To find out what is abnormal, the Baylor group must first determine what is normal.

To accomplish this, the group has normal children sleep in a sound-proofed laboratory at the school. Here, the child wears a helmet which contains sensitive electrodes necessary to record patterns of electrical activity of the brain.

From such patterns, they are able to tell if the child's sleep is restful or disturbed . . .

The child sleeps in the lab for two nights to get used to his surroundings. The third night, the measurements are taken.

Measurements of growth hormone are secured through blood samples. A long, tiny tube is inserted into a vein, then brought outside the room.

Tiny amounts of blood are removed from the tube at intervals during the night so the patients does not have to be awakened for sampling.

The Baylor group hopes to study 45 or 50 children before they start studies of children with various types of brain disorders, such as mental retardation, seizures or abnormalities in the way the body processes chemicals frm food.

Profs Paid Above Norm

AUSTIN (AP)—Faculty members in Texas' state colleges and universities are paid above the average of other southern schools but below the national average, the Southern Regional Education Board says.

Texas, Florida, Georgia and Maryland are regional leaders, the SREB said in a special report on faculty salaries.

Professors in Texas public colleges get a median salary of $16,130 annually, compared with $15,793 for the entire south and $17,082 for the nation. Associate professors in Texas get $13,024 compared with $12,880 in the south and $13,267 nationally. Texas instructors and lecturers get $8,332 compared with $8,205 in the south and $8,563 nationally.

Opening lead: Four of ♣ South, the declarer at four spades, did not obtain maximum mileage from the dummy's assets in today's hand.

West opened the four of clubs and South covered East's ten with the king. The nine of diamonds was led, overtaken by North's ten and taken by East with the ace. He shifted to the jack of hearts. Declarer played the king and ace of hearts and continued with the three. West covered with the ten and North ruffed with the queen of spades. East overruffed with the ace and exited with a spade.

Declarer cashed his high trumps, however when East showed out on the second lead, West was revealed to have a trick in the ten of spades. Inasmuch as there was no way to reach dummy, South could not avoid losing a trick to the queen of hearts as well, and he was obliged to concede defeat.

As it turned out, declarer could have made his contract if he had ruffed the third heart with the six of spades. East overruffs with the eight and then cashes the ace, however his forced return either of a diamond or a club puts North in to give South enough heart discards to eliminate his loser in that suit.

We are not recommending this as the proper line of play, however. A better procedure by South after he wins the opening lead is perhaps to cash the ace and king of hearts and then lead his singleton diamond. If East has the ace of diamonds, he cannot prevent the dummy from obtaining the lead, no matter which suit he returns.

His best course is to lead back the eight of diamonds which permits South to discard a heart. On another high diamond from dummy, East trumps with the eight of spades and declarer overruffs with the nine. A heart is led and trumped with the queen of spades. East overruffs with the ace and returns a club which permits South to dispose of his remaining heart. A spade is led to declarer's jack, followed by the king. West's ten of spades will take the third and final trick for the defense, but South makes his contract.

TEXAS WINNER — Texas state winner in the National 4-H Consumer Education-Home Economics competition, Joan Crawford, Big Spring, is congratulated for her outstanding work in consumer education by Edward S. Donnell, president and chief executive officer of Montgomery Ward at a reception and dinner given by Montgomery Ward, sponsors of the National 4-H Consumer Education-Home Economics program, Sunday in Chicago. The event honored national and state winners who were attending the annual National 4-H Congress.

Nine Of Every 10 Fire Alarms In Dallas False

DALLAS (AP)—Alarmed that most fire alarms in Dallas are false, authorities say it's time something is done about it.

But just what, is the $64 question.

Fire officials say nine of every 10 alarms sounded from the city's 712 small red alarm boxes are false.

Chief A. L. Mabra of the communications section says fire alarms in Dallas have doubled in 10 years.

Mabra blames most of the false alarms — a misdemeanor offense — on juveniles.

He warned that turning in a false alarm is more than a prank since firemen must respond to every summons which means, he said, the danger of traffic accidents and injury when the big trucks roll out of the station.

Heavy Load

LONDON (AP) — A Conqueror tank from the Second World War weighing almost 150,000 pounds was moved from the Imperial War Museum to a storage depot in Essey. Although the usual route is only 11 miles, the transporter had to make a 50-mile detour to find bridges which could accommodate the tank's weight.

Tiny Return

LONDON (AP) — The government paid a Scot five shillings and six pence (66c) after he complained that Concorde 002 shook off his ceiling tiles with its sonic boom.

DEAR ABBY: You be the judge: Recently a young couple got married. They received many beautiful wedding gifts, among them were two identical electric blankets. The mother of the groom offered to buy one of the electric blankets from the newlyweds and they agreed to sell it to her. The deal was made, the blanket was delivered and the money was collected.

Well, when the bride's mother heard about it she called the kids and told them they should get that blanket back, ask the person who had given it to them in the first place if it could be exchanged for something else, and blah, blah, blah. She made a whole big federal case out of it and caused a lot of hard feelings.

If you were the bride, what would you have done about this mess?

INNOCENT BYSTANDER

DEAR INN: I'd have thanked my mother for her suggestion, told her that the deal had been made, to the satisfaction of all parties concerned, and not to sweat the blanket.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am extremely fond of a young woman and am considering marriage, but something bothers me. Having a meal — just the two of us — in the privacy of her apartment is something of an ordeal because she is terribly strict about table manners. Elbows off the table, knife and fork must be properly placed on the plate when not in use. Hands must be below the table when not eating. No resting the arms or hands on the table while eating, etc., etc.

I would like to dine in a relaxed, comfortable manner without worrying about the rules of etiquet constantly. Be assured, I do not eat like a hog, and my relaxed manner wouldn't offend even the fussiest lady. But what would marriage with such a woman be like? EMERALD ISLE

DEAR EMERALD: Like being nine years old again, and being married to your mother.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: What I know about snakes did not come from books. I have lived in snake country all my life and anyone who says poisonous snakes have no odor has a lot to learn about snakes. The rattlesnake, water moccasin and cotton mouth — all poisonous — give off a distinctive odor. It smells something like cucumbers.

Thank God for that odor because every time I have detected it and looked for a snake, I have found one nearby.

OKLAHOMAN

DEAR OKLAHOMAN: Others have written in to confirm your testimony. I also telephoned an expert who is all wrapped up in snakes, and he says that most poisonous snakes lose that distinctive odor after they have been in captivity a short while.

Hips 'Shootout' Sounds Like Start Of World War III

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP) — Police arrested seven persons Wednesday in Jefferson County in Jefferson County in connection with what police called a shootout between two groups of hippies.

Witnesses said the shootout at a residence at Pear Ridge, a Port Arthur suburb, sounded "like the beginning of World War III but there were no injuries and no deaths.

Officers said the shooting occurred when one group of hippies accused the other group of burglarizing its residence.
