FLAMES SWEEP THROUGH SEMINOLE EARLY TODAY

Nine Buildings Are Burned And Loss Runs High

BLAZE DISCOVERED EARLY BUT CITIZENS ARE HANDICAPPED WITH NO EQUIPMENT; EFFORTS TO SAVE CONTENTS OF STORES FRUITLESS

(Special To The Journal)

SEMINOLE, April 22.—Fire early this morning destroyed nine business locations here and caused a damage that may exceed $30,000 to $35,000.

Starting in the Palace cafe building, owned by Ed Price, the flames spread rapidly and soon swept the south half of the block on the west side of the courthouse square. The burned area is from the C. C. Cothes and son drug store south to the corner.

Without any fire fighting equipment, citizens battled to save the contents of the buildings in the doomed area. Only a few items were saved.

The blaze was discovered about 1:30 o'clock Monday morning. In less than three hours the structures were a huge mass of blazing embers. Scores of residents, aided by oil field workers, sought to stay the flames' spread.

Insurance Carried

Some of the owners carried insurance on stock and some on buildings. Amount of this could not be ascertained. Only one building was two stories high, a structure owned by Mrs. W. B. Austin, a pioneer of Gaines county. She operated a dry goods store in the first floor and the local Masonic lodge had its rooms and hall on the second floor.

Among the firms suffering virtually complete losses on buildings and contents were: McGill Market and Grocery, Sims cafe, Palace cafe, owned by Ed Price, Club cafe, owned by Roy McGill, Haywoods store, Moore grocery, Seminole Beauty nook, Austin Dry Goods store and Masonic hall.

As far as could be learned, owners of the buildings will rebuild as soon as losses are adjusted.

The corner building of the half block ravaged by flames had been erected in 1905 by the late W. B. Austin as a hotel and reputedly was the oldest building in Gaines county.

FIRES BREAK OUT IN RUINS; TRAGEDY IS WORST SINCE '23

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press)

TAIHOKU, Formosa, Apr. 22—Fires broke out today in the ruins of several northwestern Formosa communities where violent earthquakes Sunday killed at least 2,793 persons and injured about 12,000.

Streams of injured continued to straggle into the emergency hospital centers, while army carrier pigeons brought reports hourly of further devastation in remote sections.

Entire Families Dead

Two terrific earth shocks shook the populous sections of this Japanese island possession at dawn Sunday, sending hundreds of flimsy dwellings crumbling about their sleeping inhabitants. In many villages not a building was left standing. Entire families lost their lives.

Hundreds of persons, trapped in debris, cried for help. Frantic relief workers, their efforts handicapped by insufficient equipment, were able to reach only a small percentage of the injured.

An army battalion stationed at Taichu in the center of the ravaged area, sent out 50 relief parties to set up field dressing stations.

Funds Available

Governor General Kenji Nakagawa of Formosa announced 16,000,000 yen (about $4,500,000) in Japanese government funds was available to aid the victims of one of the worst catastrophes in modern oriental history.

It was understood that Emperor Hirohito also was to make a donation from the privy purse.

Recurring after-shocks combined with the outbreak of fires and the wailing of the injured and homeless converted the period following the

FIVE DEAD IN CAR CRASHES

AT LEAST 20 PERSONS INJURED IN TEXAS OVER WEEK-END

(By The Associated Press)

Five persons were killed and at least 20 injured in automobile accidents in Texas over the week-end.

William A. Schaper, 20, of Galveston was fatally injured Saturday night in an auto collision in the Galveston residential district.

Miss Melba Jones, 23, of Tyler, was killed and five persons injured, one critically, in a highway accident near Dallas Saturday.

C. R. Jones of Mathis was killed in a collision Sunday six miles west of Corpus Christi. B. F. Bishop of Odem was critically injured in the same accident.

Dies Of Injuries

Hardin Raney, 26, of New Boston, Texas, died at Texarkana yesterday from injuries received Saturday night when the auto in which he was riding with two other employes of the Texas highway department crashed into a ditch near Texarkana. A blinding rain was blamed.

Juaretta Thomas, 12, negro girl, was killed and 12 other negroes were injured in an accident near Archer City. They were members of a Wichita Falls choir which had gone to Olney for an Easter program.

TWO UNIVERSITY STUDENTS KILLED

CHICAGO, April 22. (AP)—Two Ohio university students were killed and the parents of one of them were injured shortly before last midnight when a Michigan Central express train struck their automobile at a grade crossing in suburban Calumet City.

The dead were:

Miss Elinor Hitchcock, 17, Athens, Ohio, and Eugene MacDonald, 21, Chicago.

Bird Is Condemned Without A Chance

ATHENS, April 22 (AP)—Guests at a popular Greek restaurant thought today another revolution had broken out when they heard a voice shout "cheers for Venizelos; down with his political opponents."

An investigation disclosed the cries came from a parrot—trained before former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos fell from grace as a result of his unsuccessful revolt.

The bird was condemned to be executed, without a trial.

FOUR NEGROES BEING HELD IN CASES

WARRANT ISSUED FOR LAMESA YOUTH AND LOOT RETURNED

Arrest of four negro boys late Saturday and early Sunday solved 10 Lubbock store burglaries of the last two weeks, police announced this morning.

The suspects were in county jail this morning awaiting filing of charges. Complaints against three would be in county juvenile court as they were less than 17 years old. The other was 17.

Has Stolen Pistol

When a 16-year-old negro was arrested at 11 o'clock Saturday night in the street in the 2100-block Thirteenth street, he had a loaded pistol subsequently identified by serial number as having been stolen from Hunt Grocery company. Police had obtained the serial number of the weapon, a .38 caliber police positive revolver, from Schmelzer's, inc., of Kansas City, which had sold it to A. G. Hunt, then of Kansas City, in March, 1912.

A 15-year-old negro arrested with the gun-carrying youth subsequently was absolved and released, police said.

Arrested On Sunday

The other three suspects were arrested at 1 o'clock Sunday morning in a negro barber shop in the 300-block Seventeenth street. Three of the four orally admitted some of the burglaries, police said. None admitted participation in all 10.

Police said they suspected one of two negroes among those held also had snatched $4 in change at the Matador service station, Sixteenth street and College avenue, and fled Saturday afternoon.

Lamesa Youth Sought

Solution of the last major theft from a residence here also was revealed by police, who had not learned whether an arrest had been made. A warrant had been issued in Dawson county, they said, for a Lamesa youth accused of stealing an overnight bag and $107, all except $25 in cash, April 2 from the Dan W. Powers home, at 1649 Broadway. The suspect's father had made restitution, police said.

"Never Even Heard Of The Guy," Claims Mae As Wedding Is Hinted

BLONDE CHARMER OF FLICKERS SAYS RUMOR THAT SHE HAS HUSBAND ALL FALSE AND "IT MUST HAVE BEEN TWO OTHER GALS"

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 22.—Mae West, a hoofer, married Frank Wallace, another hoofer, in Milwaukee, in 1911.

Mae West, screen actress, says it must have been another Mae West, because she, herself, is a spinster.

"Why, I never heard of the guy," the blonde charmer of the flickers answered when informed a marriage license bearing her name had been located in the files of Milwaukee register of deeds.

"Well, this certificate seems to have considerable similitude with the known facts of your life," Miss West was told. "The names of the bride's father and mother were given as Jack West and Matilda Dilker. Those were the names of your parents, were they not?"

"Yes, but in this case, it must have been two other girls," Mae shot back, jokingly. "As a matter of fact, there were two other Mae Wests on the stage before I came along."

The Milwaukee certificate gave Miss West's age as 18. That was in 1911. Her birthplace was listed as Brooklyn, N. Y.

There is where Mae West, of "cummup'n see me" fame was born.

"But I never was in Milwaukee until four years ago," Mae came back. "And besides, in 1911, I hadn't reached the marrying age. How old do you think I am, anyway?"

No guess was ventured. Mental note was reserved that if Mae West was 18 in 1911, she would be 42 today.

At this point, Mae concluded the interview with the remark she had received several Easter gifts—colored eggs, flowers and chocolate rabbits, "but this is the first time I ever got a hus-

RAIN IN TIME TO ASSURE GOOD CROP ON SOUTH PLAINS IS FORECAST HERE

Lubbock and surrounding territory will have rain by May 1, says Prof. James Monroe Harvey, astrologer who predicted rain in this territory between February 1 and 10, during which time a rain and snow fell, he says.

The South Plains will receive rain in time to assure good crops for next year, he said. For the next two years and 11 months there will be a large amount of rain throughout the United States, particularly in Texas, he said. Saturn will be Pices for that length of time, and since Jupiter and Saturn control Texas, there will be a particularly large amount of rain here, he added.

Professor Harvey predicted warlike scenes throughout Europe for the first of March. Among other March predictions made several months ago were that "we shall hear much from some noted senator, possibly Huey P. Long, also the NRA, and proposals for expenditures to

ANNUAL SHOW DRAWS MANY TO CITY

BIG FEATURES BEING OFFERED AT BEAUTY SHOW IN LUBBOCK

A little slow in getting underway this morning, a fourth annual West Texas-New Mexico Beauty and Equipment show, for which about 350 operators and shop owners had registered at noon, was to run according to schedule after noon.

Mayor Ross Edwards welcomed visitors in the ballroom of Hilton hotel, which is headquarters, this morning. Jay Parker, an international hair stylist from Chicago, and George W. Simmons of Abilene, were introduced as feature guest artists. Representatives of about 25 major companies were introduced.

Cinderella Introduced

B. I. (Bill) Lipouu, representing a New York company, is master of ceremonies for the show. "Our Lady for a Day", a girl of a Lubbock family on relief selected to be transformed into "Cinderella", was introduced this morning.

She will be given a new wardrobe, and will receive hair and face treatments by beauticians at the show. She will reign at the ball Wednesday evening, which concludes the show.

Manufacturing representatives attended a dinner in the hotel Sunday evening. Russell Morrison, manager of the Russell Morrison company of Lubbock, sponsor of the show, was toastmaster.

Displays Set Up

Displays of equipment and products were set up on the mezzanine floor of the hotel for inspection of visitors.

Prof. James Monroe Harvey of Cleveland, O., official astrologer of a Century of Progress exposition in Chicago, gave predictions of 1935 to 1945 this morning.

Several international occurrences have happened as predicted by Professor Harvey.

In other lectures, he will predict fashions of hair, determined by astrology. Hair styles of individuals should be determined by their birthdays, the signs under which they were born, he said.

Irvin Is Named With 25 Others In U. S. Charge

FIVE PERSONS IN LITTLEFIELD ARE ARRESTED TODAY

BY GORDON WEBB
Journal Staff Writer

LITTLEFIELD, April 22—Five persons were arrested here this morning by United States deputy marshals on indictments returned Saturday afternoon by a federal grand jury in Fort Worth.

They had been indicted for conspiracy and for possession and manufacture of distilled spirits. Bonds in the cases will be $2,500, Mrs. Olive Fiske, United States commissioner at Lubbock, said.

The arresting officers, Arch Holmes of Dallas and L. N. McCelvey of Wichita Falls, were to take four of their prisoners to Lubbock. The fifth, Constable Sam Hudson, was released on his own recognizance.

Of the four still in custody, one was a woman, Mrs. Star Haile, wife of a barber, who also was arrested. Jack Page, a former school bus driver and mechanic, and Roy Campbell, a cafe employe, were the others held.

The true bills leading to the arrests here supposedly were related to indictments charging Sheriff Len Irvin and Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Walraven of Lamb county with dealing in untaxed liquor.

"I'm not worrying about it," Constable Hudson said, "but it did knock me over."

"They never had me before the grand jury. The people here will prove me innocent."

The constable said the liquor situation here embraced "impossibilities for a constable."

"I even asked the commissioner at Lubbock to send federal men here," Hudson added.

He had arrested many of the witnesses summoned before the federal grand jury, he said.

TWO CHILDREN SHOT DOWN

FATHER IS CRAZED BY ILLNESS; ANOTHER SON IS INJURED

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 22—Apparently crazed by illness, William Gardner, a bank teller, grabbed a gun and went on a mad death spree in his surburban La Grange Park home early today, killing his daughter and one son and seriously wounding another son.

Gardner was captured, but not before Chief of Police Edward Jones of the surburban force summoned reinforcements to aid hom in subduing the man.

Two Are Dead

The dead were Rita Jane Gardner, 20, and her brother, Gerard, 14. Kenneth Gardner, 17, was wounded.

Jones said the father fired ten shots. He first directed his fire at his daughter and Gerard. Kenneth, awakened by the shots, grappled with Gardner but fell back seriously wounded with a bullet in his abdomen.

Mrs. Gardner, who Jones said also had been ill, was asleep during the shooting and was uninjured.

The officer said Gardner had threatened his family on previous occasions.

Gardner was a teller at the First National bank of Chicago where he had been employed, according to

HEARING IN BROWN MURDER CASE IS BEGUN; WILL ACCEPT LIFE SENTENCE

Hearing in the case of Clarence Brown, charged with the murder of Sheriff W. B. Arthur of Dickens county, was begun in 99th district court this afternoon before Judge Clark M. Mullican.

Brown was to have pleaded guilty and was to accept a life sentence in the penitentiary through agreement of defense attorneys and the prosecution.

L. A. Howard of McWhorter and Howard, counsel for Brown, said this morning that his client would accept the sentence as per agreement. A jury will be selected to try the case and the agreement will be read. Their verdict will be a matter of form.

Virgil Stalcup, Texas-Oklahoma desperado, is in the death house at the state penitentiary at Huntsville, awaiting outcome of his appeal from the death penalty, inflicted by a 99th district court jury here.

Mrs. Brown is to go to trial in Dickens Tuesday on the charge that she was an accomplice in the slaying of Sheriff Arthur there October 27 when her husband and Stalcup escaped jail. She is at liberty on

VARIOUS CHARGES ARE INCLUDED IN LIST; 84 ACTS NAMED

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, April 22. — A federal indictment against Sheriff J. L. (Len) Irvin of Lamb county and 25 others charged with dealing in untaxed liquor was made public here today.

Among others indicted were Chief Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Walraven of Lamb county, Driscoi (Dirty) Irvin, son of the sheriff; Vernon Herman, who Saturday was indicted for perjury, and his mother, Mrs. Bill Herman.

Called Political Move

Sheriff Irvin came here from his home in Littlefield Sunday to "straighten out this business." He considered it a political move. He was accompanied by his son, Walraven and two other Lamb county citizens, A. D. Melton and Millard Phillips.

The sheriff was accused of protecting bootleggers and of "selling" liquor privileges in Lamb county over a period from 1926 to 1935. He also was alleged to have threatened federal agents.

Eleven counts in the 23-page indictment charge the defendants with violating the U. S. internal revenue law through possession of a still, carrying on the business of distillers, manufacture of liquor, possession of mash, transportation, aid in transporting, concealing, aid in concealment, carrying on the business of retailer liquor dealers, carrying on the business of wholesale liquor dealers, and conspiracy.

84 Acts Are Listed

The indictment lists 84 overt acts, the earlier occurring in 1926 when Sheriff Irvin allegedly gave the late Bill Herman exclusive rights to wholesale liquor in Lamb county for the sum of $200 a month. The indictment charges that Sheriff Irvin told Herman that he would raid anyone "that was not purchasing their whisky and other liquor from Bill Herman."

It was charged that the sheriff, once visiting at the Herman residence, hid when he saw some customers coming into the place; that on another occasion he pretended to search the house in order to impress certain persons who had

EAST TEXAS DONS HOLIDAY ATTIRE

HENDERSON, April 22 (AP)—Henderson took on a holiday atmosphere today as delegates to the annual convention of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce swarmed the streets.

A parade in the afternoon—21 floats, depicting significant eras and events in Texas history—was planned as the big event of the day.

Queen Etex, Miss Frances Connolly of Tyler, and her court of princesses from 16 counties were given charge of social activities, planned to reach a climax tonight with the queen's ball.

Ropesville Youth Given Jail Term

As a result of commandeering an automobile while armed, Wayne Stockstill, about 22, of Ropesville recently received a 60-day sentence to Hockley county jail upon pleading guilty of imprisoning the car's driver, Allen Dickerson of Ropesville, it was learned here today.

Dickerson last October reported from Snyder that he had been forced by Stockstill to take him from Ropesville to the Scurry county capital.

A complaint of kidnaping was filed against Stockstill, who subsequently was indicted for falsely imprisoning the driver, as there had been no attempt at extortion, a definite requirement under the kidnaping law, Burton S. Bugg, assistant district attorney said. The imprisonment case was transferred to county court.

New Hats Call For Neater Mode Of Spring Coiffure

Some of the up-to-the-minute coiffures that will look flattering when you are wearing these back-of-the-head revealing new Spring hats. Left, a one-side arrangement that insures a neat rear profile, waves ending in a nest of curls; right, a high-on-the-head arrangement for long bobs, covering the crown with a nest of ringlets.

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

With spring bonnets that slant upward at the back, expose the ears and do nothing at all to hide straggling ends, coiffures are more important than ever before. If you want your new hat to be flattering, every hair must be in place. You must be curled within an inch of your life.

First of all, have a few scalp treatments to get your hair into a healthy condition. Then, if you are one who wasn't blessed with natural waves, arrange for a new permanent. Pick a reliable operator who understands thoroughly the delicate process of proper hair-winding, see that she makes a test curl before she applies the heat to the rest of your head and insist that you get the kind of wave which makes the ends easy to curl over your finger. Incidentally, in case you never have, learned to make ringlet curls yourself, ask her to teach you how.

Remember that high-in-the-back coiffures go particularly well with the new hats. If your hair is bobbed, the curls can be arranged upward from the nape of the neck. If it's long, try putting a flat bun right up on the crown of your head.

Of course, if high, Grecian effects don't do a thing to you, there are interesting softly waved arrangements that mold the contours of the head, giving a smooth, unbroken line across the back. Good, also, are coronet styles that make use of a braid which is wrapped around and pinned securely in place.

The main thing to remember when you are trying out new coiffure modes is to plan a style that does the most for you personally. If your ears are large, don't be tempted by a Grecian hairdress. If you have a low forehead, don't let anyone persuade you to cut Katherine Hepburn bangs. After all, the purpose of a coiffure is to enhance your natural features, not to distort them.

QUICK WAY TO SHORTCAKE

A new puff paste, recently placed on the market, is useful to women who haven't time to make homemade shortcakes and patty shells. The little biscuits, packed in airtight containers, can be split into as many layers as desired, covered with fruits or berries and served at a moment's notice. Covered with creamed chicken, fish or ham, they are a fine substitute for patty shells.

To study bird migration across the desert, and other matters, a scientific expedition has left Cairo, Egypt, for the Gilf Kebir plateau in the Libyan desert.

Thirty Prints Are In Public Exhibit

Included in the thirty prints on exhibit at Texas Technological college engineering auditorium this week is "Choctaw Indian" by Werner Hoehn. The prints were chosen from the fourteenth annual exhibition of the Southern States Art league.

There is a predominance of landscape and still life this year in the subjects chosen. These include some foreign scenes, though the majority are taken from homely southern objects of views. Some of the work is decidedly modern in style, though not in extreme; other artists lean toward the academic methods.

The exhibit is open to the public.

Over Fifty Attend Easter Egg Frolic

Gly-Cas Is A Real Boon To Texas Family

Mrs. Gandy, Her Husband And Daughter All Received Remarkable Benefit From New Medicine; Rheumatism, Stomach And Kidney Troubles Yield To Gly-Cas

"I never knew a medicine to do its work as well as Gly-Cas," said Mrs. F. E. Gandy, 505 E. Ferguson St., Tyler, Tex., recently in talking with the Gly-Cas Man who is daily meeting crowds of local people everyday at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway, Lubbock, introducing and explaining the action of this new remedy

MRS. F. E. GANDY

"Myself, my husband and daughter all have received remarkable benefits from Gly-Cas," continued Mrs. Gandy. For 18 years I had been troubled with NEURITIS and RHEUMATISM, the former settled in my neck and shoulders crippling me so I could not raise my hands above my head and I had to have help to dress myself. Rheumatism caused my limbs to swell and pained so and then too my kidneys troubled me, allowing my system to clogg with poisons.

"I would get up in morning with sharp pains across my back that would feel like I was being cut with a knife. My husband had had a bad stomach for years, he could not eat many foods he liked and could not even drink water without suffering afterwards. Gas crowded his heart until he could hardly get his breath. He was also bothered with bad kidneys and rheumatism and often would have to lay off from his work for days at a time. Then my daughter was bothered with kidney disorder, lost sleep at night and our household was certainly one of poor health until we began Gly-Cas—and today we are able to enjoy life like others once more."

"Gly-Cas was the very medicine we should have had years before," said Mrs. Gandy. "My rheumatism and neuritis has been conquered by Gly-Cas, kidneys regulated and I am able to eat and sleep good and am free of that former suffering. My husband has improved so he is able to eat the things he wants with no ill effects afterwards, his rheumatism is relieved and kidneys regulated as are our daughters. So you see we are all enjoying the good health Gly-Cas has given us and are praising this new remedy for it. It is truly worth many times its small cost."

The Gly-Cas Man is kept busy everyday at the Drug Store, 1219 Broadway, where he is meeting crowds of local people and introducing and explaining the action of this valuable new remedy.

Gly-Cas $1.00 per box—6 boxes $5.00. Add 2c postage for each box ordered. Send money orders made payable Mark Halsey Drug Store. Don't send cash. Checks not accepted.—Adv.

U. S. INTRUSION NOW FOUGHT

CHAMBER IS PLANNING NEW FIGHT AGAINST FEDERAL BUSINESS

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—A new attack against what critics call government "intrusion in business" was predicted in official quarters today as a probable outcome of the convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, April 29 to May 2.

A high official, who would not be quoted by name, said that although business has always opposed government interference, many executives feel that currents now in motion foreshadow operations by the federal power for gerater than ever before.

An indication of the importance of this topic was given in the chamber's "Washington Review," published today.

Encroachment By Competition

"One of the major concerns of business today," the review said, "is the encroachment of government into the business field as a competitor of private enterprise.

"The actual intrusion that already has taken place and the threat of further activity of this character is one of the main causes of present business uncertainty.

"The forcoming meeting can be expected to define proper limitations upon government in business and to give occasion for renewed efforts to protect business against this kind of unfair competition."

Convention Important

The chamber's convention this year, the 23rd annual meeting, is viewed as particularly important because of the legislation in congress directly affecting business.

"Much of the discussion," the weekly review noted, "will center upon governmental policies and pending legislative proposals which look to modification of long established principles."

LAMESA TO TAKE PART IN SESSION

LAMESA, April 22 (Special)—Lamesa will have entries in a fiesta, a home town speakers contest, and a home town poster contest at an annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Plainview.

Contests were being conducted to determine Dawson county champions, William A. Wilson, Lamesa chamber secretary, said.

Damages Held In Trust Get Payment

SAN ANTONIO, April 22. (AP)—Damages of $12.50; held in trust by the district clerk's office for more than 21 years, were paid Saturday to Miss Roberta Smith, 21, the payment was in connection with a suit brought by her mother, Mrs. Lucy Smith in 1914 after injuries had been suffered in a railroad accident. The suit, filed by W. C. Linden, now an assistant district attorney, was against the G. H. & S. A. railroad.

In settlement of the suit, damages of $12.50 each were to be paid several children of Mrs. Smith, including an unborn child.

Each of the other children have collected the amounts as they reached their majorities. Saturday Linden collected the final payment of $12.50 for Miss Smith, who was born after the accident.

TRIP IS POSTPONED

PANHANDLE-WEST TEXAS REGION BRANDED AS LARGEST BROWN TOOTH STAIN AREA IN ENTIRE UNITED STATES

AMARILLO, April 22 (AP)—The origin of mottled enamel, which mars the appearance of the teeth of hundreds of children in parts of Texas and other states, remains unsolved.

Extended research has failed to develop means to eradicate the brown stain, which generally is attributed to flourine in drinking water. Treatment of water supplies has been advocated as one of the most likely solutions.

Largest In Nation

The Panhandle-West Texas region constitutes the largest mottled enamel area in the United States, Dr John W. Brown, Texas health officer, states.

Dr. Brown visited the "brown tooth stain" section recently in the interest of a program designed to find ways and means of eliminating the trouble. He suggested the addition of a bureau of oral hygiene to the state department of health, with an expert dentist assigned to the study.

The combined fight of state and federal health authorities on mottled enamel will be blocked unless the Texas legislature approves a $10,000 appropriation for carrying on a scientific study of the problem, Dr. Brown said.

Funds Are Lacking

"Lack of funds is our major obstacle," he said. "The legislative committee on appropriations has eliminated the special funds from the department of health appropriation bill. Unless the state appropriates its share of the money the United States public health service will abandon its investigation in the Panhandle and withdraw other services being rendered in the state."

Based on a survey in West Texas last fall by Dr. H. T. Dean of Washington dental surgeon of the U. S. public health service, from 35 to 40 counties are classed in the "brown stain" area.

In Dr. Dean's survey 3,722 school children in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades were examined in 56 cities, towns and rural communities in 44 West Texas counties.

Matched By Federal

The proposed state appropriation would be matched by federal funds but the U. S. P. H. S. work will be discontinued in July unless the state cooperates, Dr. Brown said.

Dr. Dean's report pictured Post as the area most severely affected. The stain was reported marked at Silverton, Tulia, Slaton, Spur, Lubbock, O'Donnell, Lamesa and Crosbyton, and rather marked at Littlefield, Amarillo and Brownfield.

Muleshoe, Hereford, Midland, Levelland, Farwell, Lockney, Stanton and Perryton were placed in the medium class and the stain was held slight at Tahoka, Odessa, Spearman, Pecos, Canyon, Dimmitt, Dalhart, Wink, Stamford, Fort Stockton, Dumas and Panhandle.

Pampa and Borger were placed in the borderline classification and Big Spring was given a negative rating. The report said Amarillo was the largest city to be seriously affected.

CHICAGO — Four minute kisses have the approval of three noted Chicago jurists.

Judge Joseph Sabath, veteran divorce court arbiter, said:

"The longer the kisses, the fewer divorces."

Judge Joseph B. David asserted:

"Four minutes? OK if you're in a hurry."

Judge Rudolph Desort, who also has presided at many divorce trials, echoed with "harmless, charming—pleasant."

FRANK BUCK SAYS

"A BLACK PANTHER ISN'T HALF AS TREACHEROUS AS A BLOW-OUT"

THIS NEW GOODRICH TIRE IS A LIFE-SAVER

"I'D RATHER try to 'bring back alive' a roaring lion than bring myself safely through another blow-out accident," says FRANK BUCK. "When that tire blew out—when my car plunged off the road at those rocks—there was nothing I could do to avoid the crash. Now I'm playing safe by riding on Goodrich Silvertowns."

Can you afford to take chances that a man like Frank Buck doesn't care to take—can you afford to risk your life with high-speed blow-outs when Goodrich Safety Silvertowns, the only tires in the world with the Life-Saver Golden Ply, cost no more than other standard tires? Of course you can't. Get a set of Goodrich Safety Silvertowns now. Then you'll get real blow-out protection and months of extra mileage FREE.

Play Safe!

At speeds of 40, 50, 60 miles an hour, terrific heat is generated inside the tire. This heat causes rubber and fabric to separate. A blister forms and grows bigger and bigger until suddenly BANG! A blow-out! Anything might happen.

But in Silvertowns the rubber and fabric don't separate. The remarkable Golden Ply invention resists internal heat. Blisters don't form. These high-speed blow-outs don't get a chance to start. In addition, Silvertowns, with their big, husky-cleated treads, will give you positive protection against dangerous "tailspin" skids. Put a set of Goodrich Safety Silvertowns on your car today. That's the way to play safe.

SPORTS

DIZ TURNS IN VICTORY FOR ST. LOUIS

THOUSANDS OF HUNGRY FANS ARE ON HAND AT SEVEN GAMES

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

These warm spring afternoons a man's fancy seems naturally to turn to the nearest ball game. And with the exciting doings of the first few days of the season it turned yesterday for a total of approximately 126,000 fans at seven major league contests—a figure which compared to the 148,000 total for the season's eight opening games.

Pittsburgh hit the high mark when 28,000, the largest crowd since 1929, turned out to see the Pirates take a 6 to 1 licking from the St. Louis Cardinals and Dizzy Dean. The great Diz, slightly injured the opening day, came back to hurl a five-hit game and lost a shutout when Arky Vaughan conpected for a home run in the second inning.

Tigers Beat Indians

Another banner crowd, more than 26,000, saw the Detroit Tigers go 13 innings to pull out a 3 to 2 decision over the Cleveland Indians. At New York 25,000 turned out for a pitching battle between Bill Dietrich and Johnny Allen in which the Yankees pulled out a 4-3 triumph over the Athletics, and some 22,000 Boston fans cheered Babe Ruth's second National league home run, then watched Brooklyn go to belt out an 8 to 1 victory over the Braves.

The other gatherings were 10,000 at Chicago, where the Cincinnati Reds repelled a ninth-inning uprising by the Cubs and won out in the twelfth, 8 to 4; 9,000 at St. Louis where the White Sox defeated the Browns, 6 to 5 in ten innings, and 6,000 at Philadelphia to see the Phillies and Giants battle to a 4-4 tie in a game ended in the tenth by the Sunday six o'clock law. The Red Sox and Washington were rained out and rescheduled their game for today.

TEXANS CAPTURE FIRST POLO TILT

DALLAS, April 22 (AP)—The first of four international matches between Texas and Mexico poloists was won by the Texans as the ponies from the southern republic's high altitude lacked spirit on a soft field at Arlington yesterday.

Concentrating the attack in their captain, Cecil Childers of Arlington, and A. B. Wharton, jr., of Fort Worth, the El Ranchito polo club riders piled up eight goals to the Mexican civilian team's one in the first six chukkers.

Julio Muller, five-goal No. 3 man of the invaders, and Jose Cobian, team captain, stood out for the Mexico team.

The next clash was slated for Wednesday, when the Mexican army team planned to meet the El Ranchito quartet.

When the volcanic island, Krakatoa, between Java and Sumatra, exploded in 1883, waves rushed upon the land with a velocity of 400 miles an hour.

by COLLIER PARRIS

(Title Copyright 1935

BACK IN 1931, there was a great blocking-ball carrying duet playing football for Lubbock High school. One of them, the ball carrier, was ranked ace high among West Texas schoolboys. The other was just as good in his particular line, but because he did most of the blocking and let the other fellows tote the oval his name did not glitter so gushingly over the state.

The duet is back together now, has been for more than a year, and it has been practicing some of its old songs, under new arrangement and direction. It is beginning to harmonize again, and local football fans may hear their melodies Friday night if they attend the Texas Tech-Sul Ross game.

They are Cecil "Doc" Merrill and Gene Barnett. Mighty familiar names around here four years ago. They drifted apart after helping Lubbock to its first district and bi-district grid title, but they're back together. Their names popped up frequently last fall when they played creditable freshman football. You are due to see and read a lot more of them for the next few seasons.

Doc Merrill is still carrying the ball, and Barnett is still blocking. They reverse the positions now and then and you may see Barnett—he's a big boy now, built like a line plunger—doing a lot of leather lugging. In fact, he's doing just about as much of it, and getting just about as far each time he tries it as Merrill, who also is quite a man-sized figure, tall and rangy.

Merrill's a natural ball player. He can do just about anything on the gridiron he wants to do. He can make Tech a great player, can make himself a great name if he applies himself. His attitude so far has been on a par with his ability. If he continues to keep the two qualities together, he'll go places.

Barnett has had to work harder to find his place in the sun. He has been handicapped in several ways, held back by circumstances over which he had no control. But he has responded nobly to efforts of coaches, has dug out fundamentals for himself and, through consistent effort has come to be highly respected by his coaches and fellows. He'll get along, and the others will have to hustle to keep up with him.

Yep, they're together again, this blocking-ball toting duet. Put a line in front of 'em, a couple of backs alongside of 'em to take out an end, give one the pigskin and the other a two-yard lead and the first downs'll start piling up. They're on the varsity now, and they'll be hard to hold.

IF YOU TRIP the light fantastic, which is an indoor sport the technique of which this department is not very well up on, you should attend the shindig out at Lubbock Country club Tuesday night. If your underpinnings, like ours, are getting old and creakly and if your tootsies don't shuffle like they used to, buy a ticket anyway. It's a benefit brawl, and for a good thing too.

The women's department of Lubbock Country club is sponsoring the affair. Proceeds will go into the West Texas Women's Golf association coffers for the purpose of defraying expenses of the first annual W. T. W. G. A. tournament to be staged here June 12-16.

The West Texas Women's Golf association, embracing golf clubs from Fort Worth to El Paso and from Del Rio to Dalhart, was formed about a year ago. The women were getting tired of the men having all the West Texas tournament fun. Local ladies, Mrs. Guy McAfee and Mrs. Cliff Dean, were elected first and second ranking officers for the first year. In deference to them, the association awarded the first tournament to Lubbock Country club.

To show their appreciation, the officers decided to postpone the assessing of association membership fees for one year, and to bear the financial load. But it costs money to throw a big tournament, purchase prizes and feed the visitors a time or two. Thus the benefit bridge party and now the benefit hop. Let's help them put the thing over. Ned Bradley's orchestra is to furnish the noise tomorrow night.

JUMPING BACK TO football for a moment, it is interesting to note the changes made by Texas Interscholastic league officials in renumbering the Class B districts. This is of particular interest to the towns and schools involved.

Formerly designated as District 3, in Region 1, this division now becomes District 5, in Region 2, according to literature mailed recently by Roy B. Henderson. The same schools that competed in District 3 last year, namely: Brownfield, Crosbyton, Lamesa, Levelland, Littlefield, O'Donnell, Olton, Post, Ralls, Slaton and Tahoka, now are in District 5.

Instead of competing in the Region 1 department, which still includes the Texas Panhandle towns, the winner of this district will meet the winner, or winners, of Districts 6, 7 and 8. District 6, whose champion will be this district's bi-district foe, includes Anson, Colorado, Hamlin, Haskell, Merkel, Roby, Roscoe, Rotan, Rule, Snyder and Stamford.

AN ASSOCIATED PRESS note yesterday hinted that there might be a renumbering of Class A districts. Texas High School Coaches association members are to meet next month in Austin to hear Henderson discuss this plan. It may be that Lubbock, in the heart of the Class B District 5, will yet be grouped with the teams directly to the south.

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 22.—Tall and willowy Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., is the leading professional golf shot-maker and money-winner in the country.

Picard played 45 medal rounds during the winter barnstorming tour with an average of 71.6 strokes per round—good for aggregate winnings of $5,560 or $123.50 for each 18 holes.

His scoring average, aided considerably by successive rounds of 65, 67, and 68 in the Atlanta and Augusta tournament enabled him to nose out Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., who compiled an average of 71.7 for 27 rounds. Runyan's earnings of $2,631 were slightly less than one-third of what he pulled in last year.

Although he did not play enough to qualify for the main ranking, the veteran MacDonald Smith of Nashville, Tenn., struck an average of 71.3 for 10 rounds. Tommy Armour of Chicago did 73.8 in 12 rounds.

TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

BIG SPRING, April 22 (Special) Plans are being made by the attendance committee of the Big Spring Rotary club to have 100 per cent attendance at the conference to be held in Midland on May 6 and 7, according to Jas. Davis, president. In an invitation received by the local Rotary club, said there will be no dull moments at the two day meeting.

OILERS, CATS GAIN GROUND

OKLAHOMA CITY DROPS COUPLE TO CATS AS STEERS GO LOWER

(By The Associated Press)

Tulsa and Fort Worth gained two notches each in the Texas league race yesterday by making off with twin bills.

The Oilers whipped the Dallas Steers, winners of a single game in a dozen starts, 8 to 3 and 3 to 0. It was the Oilers' third straight victory over the Steers and their sixth win in a row.

The Oklahoma City Indians, holders of the top position in the league, dropped a couple to Fort Worth, 5 to 1 and 7 to 3. The loss of the games, however, did not drop the Indians from the top place. They have won 8 in 11 starts.

While Galveston was stopping Beaumont, 10 to 5, Nelson Potter was in the box at Houston hurling the Buffs to a 2 to 0 victory over San Antonio.

Yesterday's STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Jim Bottomley, Reds—Started triple play and double play and made two hits in 12-inning triumph over Cubs.

Tony Cuccinello, Dodgers—Hit three singles and drove in three runs against Braves.

Jimmy Dykes, White Sox—Singled and scored winning run in tenth to beat Browns, 6-5.

Dizzy Dean, Cardinals—Limited Pirates to five hits.

Schoolboy Rowe, Tigers—Shut out Indians with four hits in seven innings of relief hurling.

Mel Ott, Giants—Clouted homer and three singles in tie game with Phillies.

LAYDEN LOSES KEY MEN ON NEW SQUAD

FOOTBALL BLUES SONG IS BEING CHANTED AT NOTRE DAME

(By The Associated Press)

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 22—Elmer Layden has broken out in a rendition of the well known "Football Blues" six months ahead of schedule at Notre Dame where spring practice is nearing an end after many interruptions.

If it hasn't been the weather it's been two other things, says the Irish mentor, as he bemoans the fact that his squad hasn't had opportunity for any concerted work.

Captain Is Dead

One of the numerous interruptions was caused by the untimely death in New York of Captain-Elect Joe Sullivan. Besides putting a damper on the spirits of the squad, Layden says the loss of Sullivan gives him an almost impossible task of replacement.

As a tackle, the coach says, Sullivan had no equal on the squad. And as a leader and friend, Layden says, he'll never find another Joe.

So far Layden hasn't succeeded in finding adequate replacements for some of the strong men of last year's eleven who will be lost by graduation.

Stars Are Lost

They include Capt. Dominic Vairo, right end; Jack Robinson, center; George Melinkovich, right half (high scorer), and Rocco Schiralli, guard. Besides these, 23 others, many of them monogram winners, are graduating in June.

To compensate for his losses Layden has 22 lettermen returning, but most of them were minor cogs in last year's machine.

As it looks now the 1935 Irish machine will be built around the following men:

Ends—Milliner, Peters, Thernes.
Tackles—Michuta, Stilley, Becker, Pfefferle, Steinkemper.
Guards—Smith, Lauter, Church.
Centers—Solari, Pojman.
Halfbacks—Shakespeare, Pilney, Mike Layden, Mazziotti.
Fullbacks—Elser, Fred Carideo, Miller.

All but Steinkemper and Lauter will be seniors next fall, meaning that Layden'll lose virtually his entire team by graduation a year hence.

Notre Dame has one of its most attractive home schedules in history next fall when Kansas, Pittsburgh, Northwestern and Southern California will appear in the stadium here. Carnegie Tech, Navy, Ohio State, Wisconsin and Army will be played away.

B. H. WHATLEY DIES

LEVELLAND, (Special)—Five days after his wife died, B. H. Whatley, 80, died at his home here. Funeral services were held in the First Presbyterian church here by Rev. W. K. Johnston, Lubbock, pastor. Mr. and Mrs. Whatley were born in Alabama and married there before coming to Texas. They came to the Plains about 14 years ago, settling at Floydada and four years ago moved to Slaton. They came here two years ago. Four children survive.

German And Jap Are To Meet Here For Main Wrestling Go

ACTION AND THRILLS ARE PROMISED FOR LUBBOCK FANS

With neither the fans nor one of the principals satisfied with the outcome of a wrestling match here two weeks ago, arrangements have been made whereby the same contestants return this Wednesday night to resume the young feud.

Vic Webber of New York and Matsuda Matsura, the well-known Japanese, who gave a large crowd a large thrill in a three-fall match recently, are due to pick up where they left off when they enter the ring for the main event this week.

The second meeting of these two very well-equipped young matmen is not brought on solely by the demand of fans. Vic Webber, who lost the first match on what he and his friends termed a "break" has lost no time bringing pressure to bear for a second meeting.

Winner Take All?

"I'll beat him this time, and I'll meet him on a winner-take-all basis. If he wins, he can have both our purses; if I win, he can draw on his account for awhile."

This message was brought to Matsura, who has been on the verge of leaving this territory for the past few weeks. Undefeated in this or almost any other circuit, the wily Jap, one of the ablest grapplers ever to work here, did not welcome the advances mad for a return bout with Webber.

It was only after severe coercing on the part of Promoter Allen and Webber himself that Matsura agreed to come back. He has not, however, agreed to fight Webber on the 'winner-take-all' basis.

To support next Wednesday night's large main attraction, Allen has booked Senor Pascual Castana, the bounding Spaniard, and Ernie Arthur, veteran Canadian grappler, for the semi-final go, and is bringing in a newcomer, one Ali Kaba, fierce little moustached Turk, to fight Lobo Brown in the preliminary.

There will be no advance in prices except for women and children's general admission. These will be hoisted from a dime to 25 cents.

The curtain raiser goes on at 8:15 o'clock.

WOMEN'S TEXAS GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP IS AT STAKE AS STARS TEE OFF FOR QUALIFYING ROUNDS AT RIVER OAKS

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, April 22—The qualifying round started today over the River Oaks country club course here in the 19th annual Women's Texas Golf association championship.

No entry was expected to equal par 35-36—71 over the difficult tree-lined course, but several low scores promised to feature the medalist test because of the brilliance of the starting field.

Mrs. Dan Chandler, 1932 champion and finalist last two years; Miss Betty Jameson, Dallas school girl and southern champion; Miss Mildred Babe Didrikson, Olympic star; Miss Hilda Urbantke, Austin champion, and Mrs. F. C. Rochon of Wichita Falls, former Texas municipal champion, were among the players who left the first tee.

It is Babe Didrikson's first major tournament. She is representing the Beaumont Country club. Babe played yesterday with Mrs. R. E. Winger of Fort Worth.

The championship is wide-open. Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, 1933 and '34 champion, is not defending her title.

WORK DRAWS ATTENTION

OLTON, April 22—John W. Hulsey, vocational agriculture teacher here, has an experiment in poultry that is attracting wide attention. He as some 25 baby chicks, that at six weeks, weighed an average of one pound. The fowls had never been on the ground up to that time, he added. He is feeding them in an experiment.

why

WE BUY FROM WESTERN ELECTRIC

As the world's best purchasing agent, she applies the same rules of thrifty buying used by the Bell System.

We buy from Western Electric under a contract which requires that the prices quoted us, as one of the 24 operating companies of the Bell System, be the lowest offered by that firm. And, through the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., we go to considerable pains to make sure we get such a price.

Based on 3,000 separate items of telephone equipment and supplies, a special study comparing Western's prices with prices for comparable equipment from leading independent telephone manufacturers indicates this fact:

Western sells telephone apparatus and equipment to Bell operating companies for a fourth less, on the average, than the lowest price offered by other reliable firms.

This does not mean, of course, a saving of a fourth on every item purchased from Western Electric. Some supplies...paper, paints, poles, for example...range from 5 to 17 per cent under usual market prices. Others, such as telephones and switchboards, show similar variations.

Buying Below the Market

But the important point, clearly indicated, is that Western's prices are appreciably lower to us than open market prices.

There are sound reasons for this.

Some of them are to be found in Western's great shops, its factories and foundries, its nation-wide system of warehouses from which telephone equipment can be delivered to any part of the nation in a few hours time. These factors bring the savings of mass purchasing and mass production to the job of supplying the System.

More Reasons Why!

Again, Western manufactures for an almost assured market whose needs it knows... usually in advance.

Because its principal customers are Bell System companies, it has few credit losses.

It has low sales expense.

As for Western Electric profits, they don't exist today.

So completely have these savings and economies been made available to the Bell System, that even in pre-depression years Western's earnings upon its investment in shops and manufacturing plants were moderate, averaging only 7 per cent.

Fair Price for Telephone Users

There is no rule which requires that this company buy from Western Electric.

But we do buy most of our equipment and much of our supplies from Western (as do the other companies of the System) because we get bargains there, because we get uniform quality and the assurance of exact performance... and because Western Electric parts are so designed that future improvements and developments will fit into and work with equipment already in use.

The fact of the matter is that the person who profits most from Western Electric's function as supply unit of the Bell System is... the telephone user.

For, during more than 50 years of operation, the savings Western has made possible have been unusually important in helping us carry out the Bell System policy of giving you the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety.

NAMING BEAUTIES SERIOUS MATTER FOR SCREEN STAR

HOLLYWOOD, March 22 (AP)—Selecting "the most beautiful girl" on a college campus is ticklish business for a movie star, and Fredric March takes it seriously.

Probably because of the publicity March has had on his career at the University of Wisconsin, where he was class president and up to his neck in other collegiate activities, he has become Hollywood's foremost beauty contest judge among the actors.

Six college annuals this spring will contain photographs of beauties personally selected by Fredric March. It is Fredric March, and not John Westwood, his secretary and stand-in, who does the picking from photographs sent him from the campuses.

Westwood opens March's mail, but always turns over important matters for his employer's personal attention. March rates beauty-judging important. When he recently received 15 full-length portraits from Iowa State university, the star took the portraits home and studied them. In a couple of days he had narrowed the selection to six—and these half dozen portraits decorated a divan in the hall, where they could be scrutinized several times daily, for two or three days more, before March made his final selection.

He makes his choice not without misgivings. And he is always careful to explain that the winner is in his own estimation the most beautiful girl, but that this is the opinion of one man. Had it been Ronald Colman or Clark Gable or George Arliss doing the job, he points out, a different winner might have been selected.

March likes the contact with colleges his beauty-judging affords. He has not forgotten his own college days.

This Dixie Princess Really Is Twins

A princess who is twins will grace the throne of Memphis' great annual cotton carnival and that's a fact, not a joke. The throngs attending the fete, May 6-11, will see both Jean Boyer, left, and June Boyer, right, wearing the crown, but they'll never know which is which, as the twins' own friends can't tell them apart. One of them was chosen for the honor, but she refused unless her sister could share it. The solution was easy, as a look at the pictures will prove.

PERMANENT SOLUTION FOR MUNICIPAL REVENUE CALLS FOR STATE AID, SAYS UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS BUREAU MAN

AUSTIN, April 22, (Special)—A permanent solution of the problem of municipal revenue in Texas calls for a system of financial aid by the State to supplement the yield of the general property tax, it is pointed out by J. T. Barton, assistant in the University of Texas Bureau of Municipal Research, in a recently published bulletin, "A Revenue System for Texas Cities."

"State assistance to cities may take the form of grants-in-aid, direct grants, development of new sources of municipal revenue, assumption of local functions by the State government, or State-administered municipally-shared taxes," he said. "Municipal officials in this State exhibited opposition to grants-in-aid, direct grants, and State assumption of local functions, procedures which are likely to bring in their wake a strong element of state control over local government which in turn means that local functions probably would fall into the hands of those not acquainted with local conditions.

Few Sources Open

There are comparatively few new sources of revenue which the state may throw open to municipalities because most sources already have been exploited. State-administered municipally-shared taxes, however, embody the benefits resulting from state administration of the taxes and local administration of the governmental functions thus financed. The need for and the equity of state-administered municipally-shared taxes may be indicated by reference to the state gasoline tax.

"Also available as potential state-administered municipally-shared taxes are the severance, inheritance, and the sales taxes. Without attempting either to attack or to defend any of these taxes on the ground of public policy, it may be said that, if any is to be used, the state, from the very nature of the tax, must assume responsibility for its administration. Yet it is hardly to be doubted that the cities are as much entitled to the revenue so produced as the state itself.

State To Serve As Agent

In brief, if one or more of these taxes is to be adopted, the state should serve as the administrative agent and should divide the yield with the cities. The portion of these taxes allotted to the municipalities would take the place of revenue supposedly received at present from the ad valorem tax on personal property. This would make possible the recommended modification of the present ad valorem tax, and a more equitable distribution of its burden. State-administered municipally-shared taxes may be said to be the most important single proposal yet made for the solution of the problem of a revenue structure for Texas municipalities."

EVIL SPELL OF ABDUCTION STILL DOGS MARY McELROY AS EXECUTION DATE FOR ONE OF BANDITS DRAWS NEAR

KANSAS CITY, April 22 (AP)—Ransomed for $30,000—safe in her home for nearly two years—Mary McElroy still is a "kidnap victim"—suffering from a distress that has dogged her mind almost from the moment her kidnapers were captured.

She is the slender, brunette, 26-year-old daughter of Judge H. F. McElroy, city manager of Kansas City. It has been almost two years since she hastily completed a bath in her home at the behest of rough voices she thought belonged to pranksters. There was no joke about it. The rough voices were those of her kidnapers.

In Jefferson City, less than a month separates Walter H. McGee from the gallows where he will atone for his part in the kidnaping—unless the Missouri supreme court grants a rehearing on his conviction. Should that fail, only commutation by Gov. Guy B. Park can save him from dying May 10.

Mary McElroy has had several nervous breakdowns. Two followed trials in which her testimony convicted captors. During one breakdown early this year, she disappeared from home without notice and 11 hours later was found on a bus at Normal, Ill.

She wired Judge McElroy: "Sorry but am so frightened. Don't know what I'm doing."

She came back to Kansas City by plane. At the airport she was still the "game kid." She told her father her flight had been "okey-doke." Then she collapsed in his arms.

Her efforts to minimize her kidnaping have been apparent from the first. Restored to her home, after being held, one arm chained to a wall, in the basement of a house near Shawnee, Kan., she bantered friends, newsmen, photographers.

Holds No Hard Feelings

She explained that she bore no malice toward her captors. They were "business men," who did not threaten her.

The arm of the law reached out and gathered in three of her four abductors. They were McGee, his brother, George, now serving a life sentence; and Clarence Click, serving an eight-year term. It was her identification that clinched the case against them at the trial in December, 1933.

"I hold no personal hard feelings against them and I am sure today that they do not hold hard feelings against me.

"That's what makes the situation all the worse I have nightmares about those men and the fates they brought on themselves. I was a part of the drama that fixed their destiny."

A Shot Through Window

But apparently it was not "their destiny" alone that had been influenced. In January, 1934, Miss McElroy went to California for nine weeks. In April, after her return, an unidentified person sent a bullet through a front window of the McElroy home. No one within was harmed.

The following summer Judge McElroy and his daughter made a five-week tour of Europe. She said she had a "grand time."

Questioned as to the reason for making her strange journey to Illinois, Miss McElroy said:

"To get away. Not to have to see people and face people who know me as the city manager's daughter and the girl who was kidnaped by a man who faces a death sentence, and by two other men sentenced to prison.

"Did you ever feel as if you just couldn't stand it a minute longer and must do something or go somewhere?"

Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 22—Every spring in Washington it's the same way. First come the cherry blossoms, with pictures of the Japanese ambassador and his family in costume. And tens of thousands of tourists. Then a nasty, windy, cold rainstorm which beats off the cherry blossoms. Then more rain, more sunshine—and the annual convention of the D. A. R.

Many an innocent traveling salesman, turned away from hotels, is forced out into the country to sleep at a farmhouse just as it says in the joke-books.

The only variation this year has been an unusually vigorous battle for the D. A. R. presidency between the red-baiters and the ladies who would like to keep the D. A. R. from being so funny. Nevertheless, that in itself brought out a scientific explanation of what's been the matter with the D. A. R. to wit: Schizophrenia!

NO DIRT, PLEASE

The Hon. Donald Richberg, discussing the Colt Arms, collective bargaining-Blue Eagle case at an NRA press conference:

"Frankly, I am not going to answer those questions which are in the slightest degree unpleasant."

One is indebted for the word to Mrs. Flora Myers Gilletine, presidential candidate of the anti-schizophreniacs. Mrs. Gillentine is entitled to sling the word around as airily as she likes, because she is the head of the University of Arkansas psychology department and it comes within her field.

She says it means a hysterical overemphasis on just one thing. One of its manifestations among the D. A. R. gals has been a tendency to regard Mrs. Roosevelt, Grace Abbott, Mayor La Guardia, and such folks as Communists.

As a correspondent who has at odd times been made privy by the D. A. R. national defense section to the indubitable responsibility of Communists for brush fires, dust-storms, pyorrhea, and the stock market act, this writer bows appreciatively to Mrs. Gilletine and promises to memorize — s-c-h-i-z-o-p-h-r-e-n-i-a.

Brain Truster Makes Good

Prestige of the "Brain Trust" was measurably restored at Atlantic City recently by Dr. Willard Thorp and his wife Hildegarde, the New Deal's most beautiful redhead. Thorp, chairman of NRA's advisory council, had suffered a nervous collapse after months of the council's grinding effort to straighten out some of the NRA code messes.

After a few days' rest amid ocean breezes, Thorp felt up to some recreation. He and Mrs. Thorp danced at the Ritz-Carlton cocktail lounge, returned that night and again next afternoon, having the orchestra to themselves most of the time. They were so good that the manager finally approached and said:

"Would it be at all possible for you to appear in our floor show on Saturday night?"

(Thorp earned his way through college playing piano in a dance orchestra.)

Clark Gable Blushes As You Admire Him; He Can't Take It, He Admits, When Fans Crowd About Him Too Close

BY DAN THOMAS
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 22.—Look! He's blushing!

You'd never expect to hear that sort of thing about Clark Gable, handsome he-man of the screen, who's noted for his rough handling of beautiful ladies. But if you ever catch him in a crowd, you're apt to hear those very words.

Yes, girls, Clark still blushes—a deep crimson.

He admits it, himself.

The actor was sprawling comfortably in a folding chair, his feet perched on the wheel of a camera truck, waiting to be called for the next scene in "China Seas."

Despite his posture, he looked very natty in the white uniform of a ship's captain in tropical waters. At least it was supposed to be white. Actually it was pale blue.

Real white seldom is used in the movies. Pale blue, yellow, or pink photographs much better.

"How does it feel to have a million women crazy about you?" I asked, drawing up a chair and using the same wheel for a foot rest. Ordinarily that's a quesflon which closes Gable like a clam. But, being in a particularly amiable mood, he gave me an answer.

"It's the most gratifying and at the same time terrifying feeling in the world," he replied. "Honestly, when people start crowding around me, as they have on a few occasions, I want to get out of sight as quickly as possible.

"I used to think I was too old to blush, but at such times I can feel the blood going clear to the roots of my hair.

It's Man On Screen

"I always think, 'what a disappointment you must be to them.' You see, it's not me they get a kick out of seeing. It's that fellow they've seen up there on the screen."

Clark wasn't putting on a modesty show, either. He meant exactly what he said. He really isn't much different than he was a few years ago. And nobody even turned to look at him then when he walked down the street.

"There are times when it's swell to feel that a lot of people like you, are interested in you. Then you suddenly recall that only yesterday nobody gave a hoot about you. And you realize it's not you as a person, but your screen image, that really is getting all the adulation," he continued.

Gable really takes this star business with a sort of bewilderment. He still doesn't know how or why all his success came to him. And there are times when he actually wishes he weren't famous.

But at the same time he's genuinely grateful to the fans who have enabled him to take so much out of life. And he'll never rise above them, as some stars have done.

Can't See Garbo

Constance Collier, brilliant English actress now appearing in "Anna Karenina," had just finished her first scene with Garbo. As she was waiting to be called for the next scene, another player asked, "And now that you've seen Garbo, what do you think?"

"But I haven't seen Miss Garbo yet," was Miss Collier's surprising reply.

"Impossible!" exclaimed the actor. "Why you've just been in a scene with her."

"But I haven't seen Garbo," reiterated the British actress. "You see, I'm almost as blind as a bat—can't see as far as the corner of that table."

Cowboy's Vacation

Having completed two films on his new six-picture contract, Hoot Gibson has laid aside his make-up box for the next two weeks. And he's now working almost 24 hours a day getting ready for the gigantic rodeo he's going to stage at his Sagus ranch near here the end of this month.

MORE MEN ON THE JOB

It is encouraging to learn that the bulk of the $4,880,000,000 recently voted for work-relief will be put to work quickly on projects creating the greatest number of jobs.

One of the first things to get under way, for instance, will be the grade crossing elimination program. Another will be a project for checking soil erosion in the western states. Still another will be expansion of the C. C. C. by 300,000 new enrollments.

All these undertaking are of a kind in which the bulk of the expenditure goes for jobs rather than for materials. It is hoped that they will put 3,500,000 men to work.

If they do, a big bite will have been taken out of the unemployment problem—and we shall be able to take a little more time at the next task of importance, stimulation of the heavy goods industries.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MILLICENT GRAVES, secretary to GEORGE DRIMGOLD, finds her employer in his office dead. Millicent has a notebook in which Drimgold had begun to dictate a confession. In panic she rushes away, registers at a hotel under an assumed name.

JARVIS HAPP, a stranger, offers to help her. He sends her to a beauty shop where she is transformed into a brunet, then takes her home, introducing her as his secretary. She meet's Happ's son, NORMAN; his stepson, ROBERT CAISE; and MRS. HAPP.

That night a note under her door informs Millicent, "The woman in black ermine is here." Millicent sees the woman in black drive away and follows in Robert Caise's coupe, but runs out of gas. She walks home, enters the chauffeur's quarters and finds him dead.

Next morning she and Jarvis Happ discuss the case. DETECTIVE BUCHANAN shows them a typewritten note saying the keys to Robert Caise's car will be found in the fountain pool.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXI

Millicent kept her presence of mind. Now that she had seen the human side of the officer brought out by Vera Duchene, she realized that he was, after all, only a man and one of the kind who could be impressed by Vera Duchene's simulated interest.

"Just what do you mean," she asked, "by asking me what I know about this?"

He put the paper down on her desk, banged it with his knuckles by way of emphasis. "This paper," he said, "was written on the machine in your desk. Therefore, I want to know just what you know . . ."

"Wait a minute," Jarvis Happ said. "I think I can answer that question, Buchanan. This young lady knows absolutely nothing about it. This is the first time she has sat at that desk. I showed it to her last night, but she didn't have an opportunity to use the typewriter for the simple reason that I was in the room until the time I retired, and when I retired the room was locked. There's a particularly good grade of lock on this room, and Millicent doesn't have a key."

"How does it happen she doesn't have a key?"

"Simply," Happ said, "because I hadn't got around to giving her one. I intend to give her one, because she'll have to come in here at all hours of the day and night. Many of the times I won't be in the house, but last night she didn't have a key, and this morning she didn't have a key, and she didn't have access to that typewriter."

"Then who did?" the detective asked.

"Quite a few of the people in the house. The housekeeper, for one. She comes in here to clean up. My wife has a key which she leaves, I believe, either in the custody of her maid, Miss Vera Duchene, or leaves hanging where it is accessible to Vera Duchene. Robert Caise has a key. My son, Norman, has a key, and I have a key."

"How about the chauffeur?"

Jarvis Happ hesitated a moment, then said slowly, "Yes. My chauffeur had a key."

"His keys were found in his pocket," Detective Buchanan said.

"Then the keys that are missing are those of Robert Caise. Is that right?"

"Yes. Caise said he left his entire key container in the car. He doesn't usually do that. He leaves his ignition key on his key container. In that way he isn't so likely to forget it. He's rather absent-minded at times, it seems. So, if your chauffeur took Caise's car and got Caise's keys, he'd have a way to get into your study."

"He didn't need to do that," Happ said, "because I've already told you he could get in here any time he wanted to. He had a key."

"Isn't it rather unusual to give a chauffeur a key to your private study?"

Jarvis Happ's tone was icily formal. "I can assure you, Buchanan," he said, "that I am not in the least interested in the usual etiquet applying to chauffeurs, or the customary relationships between chauffeurs and employers. I manage my affairs for my own convenience, and I consider that I am thoroughly capable of doing so."

"Well, we've got to investigate this thing," Buchanan said, "and that's one of the funny facts."

"There certainly is nothing funny about it," Jarvis Happ remarked savagely.

"Well, call it queer if you want to. There are lots of queer things about this murder. For instance, why should Harry Felding have thrown those car keys into the pool below the fountain?"

"He didn't," Jarvis Happ said swiftly.

"What makes you think he didn't?"

"You haven't any reason for believing that he did," Happ pointed out, "except that someone has sent you an unsigned typewritten document."

"Oh yes, we have," the detective said.

He pushed his hand down into his coat pocket, brought out the water-soaked leather key container, and slapped it down on Jarvis Happ's desk.

"We drained the pool," he said. "That's what we found in the bottom of it."

Jarvis Happ stared at the water-soaked key container without emotion, and Millicent was glad Buchanan's eyes were fastened upon Happ, for she realized her own face showed only too plainly her mental confusion.

"I still say," Jarvis Happ remarked, "that you have no evidence whatever that Harry Felding put those keys in the pool. On the other hand, you have every evidence that he did not."

"What do you mean we've got every evidence that he didn't?"

Jarvis Happ sighed after the manner of a patient teacher explaining something to a rather dull schoolboy.

"The note," he said, "was delivered to you. It was written for the purpose of enabling you to find the missing keys. You didn't enter upon the scene until after Harry Felding had been murdered. Naturally, therefore, the note was written after Felding's murder. A dead man doesn't write letters on a typewriter, even if he does have access to the room where the typewriter is kept.

"Now, on the other hand, someone knew those keys were in the pool. Logically, the only person who would know this was the person who threw the keys there. Certainly if Harry Felding had returned home in the darkness and tossed those keys surreptitiously into the pool he would have been the only one who knew about it. The fact that this note was written is proof that some living person knew of the hiding place of those keys, and is almost positive indication that this person put them there."

Buchanan said slowly, "Why did that person put them there?"

"To hide them, of course."

"Why?"

"If Harry Felding had those keys," Jarvis Happ said, "the person who secured possession of them must have taken them from Harry Felding. They couldn't have taken them from him while he was alive without a fight, unless it had been some person in whom Felding had confidence. If such a person took the keys from Felding after his death, that person must have been instrumental in bringing about his death, or else must have discovered his body without reporting it to the police. Either would have been an indication of guilt.

"If, on the other hand, Felding, himself, did not have those keys, the person who did have them realized that it would be most incriminating to be found with those keys, since the mere possession of the keys ties some person up with the surreptitious operation of Robert Caise's automobile. That means that some member of this household was out at a late hour last night, and it is only reasonable to suppose that such a secret nocturnal excursion was connected in some way either with the death of Harry Felding or the events which led up to it."

Buchanan suddenly dropped his attitude of hostility. His eyes glistened with interest.

"We still ain't getting anywhere, Mr. Happ," he said, "because the person who tossed those keys into the pool did it to conceal them. Such a person would never have written a note telling where they were. Therefore, the person who wrote the note wasn't the person that chucked the keys in. That means that some other person knew those keys were thrown in. So if you're going to figure two people

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, April 22 (AP)—An upward trend of grain values showed itself early today. Bullish sentiment predominated, owing in great degree to continuance of drouth conditions over important areas of wheat territory and because of stock market upturns.

Opening 1-8 to 5-8 higher, May 1.01 3-4 to 1.01 7-8, wheat soon scored additional gains. Corn started 3-8 off to 1-4 up, May 91 5-8, and afterward rose all around.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, April 22 (AP) — Trading was resumed today on the cotton market after the Easter holidays with opening prices from 2 to 6 points higher. Dealings were restricted in narrow transactions.

While stocks, grain and the Chicago cotton market displayed strength on Saturday when the local exchange was closed, the better feeling failed to carry over into the new week and price improvement was nominal.

May started the week at 11.53 while at the first call similar gains were shown by July at 11.63, October at 11.34 and December at 11.37.

After firmness in the first hour prices began to sag and futures were off an average of 7 points around mid-day.

The late easiness was attributed to continued rains in that section of the belt where a drouth had appeared to be imminent last week. A light volume of selling orders was enough to unsettle the market and May dipped to 11.41, July to 11.53 and Oct. to 11.21.

Dec. proved to be a comparatively strong spot in the list and was up 1 point at 11.36.

With Washington developments lacking the market returned to the question of supply and demand for a price cue, and heavy rains in West Texas with their bearish implications tended to depress prices.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 22 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 5 to 6 higher on trade and commission house buying and owing to Saturday's advance in the stock market. May 11.59; July 11.69; Oct. 11.36; Dec. 11.44; Jan. 11.47; March 11.57.

Trading was fairly active at the start with some Wall Street buying in evidence while brokers with far eastern connections were also buyers on the call. The advance met realizing and after selling up to 11.70 for July and 11.36 for October the market reacted slightly. Private reports from Texas said rains there last week had been beneficial.

Buyers showed little disposition to follow up the advances, being influenced apparently by uncertainties with reference to the further development of the administration cotton program and after the early demand had been supplied prices turned easier. There was some scattered southern and New Orleans selling here as well as profit-taking by recent buyers and at mid-day July was ruling around 11.58, with the general market showing net losses of about 5 to 7 points.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, April 22. (AP)—The stock market continued to reach for recovery today with the utilities and scattered specialties getting a firm grip on higher levels.

While equities were forced to absorb some profit-taking at times, most of the selling was viewed as unimportant. In the boardrooms optimism was the watchword as company statements were scanned for prosperity clues. The activity was almost as pronounced as in the fast Saturday session.

Power and secondary rail bonds were in demand. Grains withstood realizing, although cotton slipped back a trifle. European markets were closed for Easter Monday and foreign exchange rates meant little here.

Shares of American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Loew's and a number of others got up 1 to more than 2 points to new peaks for the year.

Santa Fe and Delaware & Hudson edged up about a point, but the majority of the rails, steels, oils and metals were only moderately improved.

THOUSANDS DEAD

two main quakes into a nightmare of terror.

Men, women and children wandered through the debris shouting the names of lost relatives. The correspondent for the Rengo (Japanese news agency) told of seeing long rows of injured persons lying on mats along a roadside screaming with pain.

Thousands Homeless

Early official estimates placed the number of homeless at 250,000 and the number of dwellings destroyed at 16,493. At least 20,000 other structures were damaged.

Most of the victims were of Chinese racial origin, since Formosa was taken from China by Japan in the war of 1895.

The destruction centered in a district approximately 40 miles in diameter, including scores of populous villages in Taichu and Shinchiku provinces.

Especially stricken were the towns of Naiho, where 581 died, including the "head-man" (corresponding to mayor); Kamoika, with 445 killed; Taiko, where fires added to the destruction; Byoritsu, which saw a majority of its houses leveled; Kori, Chikunan and Taianko.

Main Street Destroyed

The epicenter of the earthquake was near Toyohara only six miles below the surface, accounting for the unusually heavy damage.

The entire main street of Taichu was destroyed. Intermittent rains after the quakes added to the discomforts of the homeless. Alarming rumors were circulated concerning imaginary tidal waves and aboriginal uprisings, causing police to arrest several persons suspected of disseminating the false reports.

The shocks opened fissures three and four feet wide in modern highways, twisted the rails of railroad lines and shattered oil pipe lines and gas mains.

With all normal transportation systems out of commission, the most primitive means, including makeshift litters and bullock carts, were employed to carry the injured to the first aid centers.

The disaster was the worst to afflict Japanese territory since the earthquake of 1923, which devastated Tokyo and Yokohama with a loss of approximately 100,000 lives.

Formosa, meaning "beautiful," was the name conferred on this island by early Portuguese explorers. The Chinese name for it is Taiwan.

Keck said Gardner had a nervous breakdown some time ago, but apparently recovered only to suffer a recurrence of the ailment. Recently he was given a two months' leave of absence, Keck said.

The bank official said Gardner, as far as he knew, had no particular financial worries and that there had never been any difficulty with accounts handled by the man.

FEES PROFIT FRANCE

PARIS (AP)—The island abbey of Mont Saint Michel, off the Normandy coast, brings more revenue to the French government than any other fee monument, reports for 1934 crediting it with receipts of $35,500, which outrank those for the Louvre Museum, the Palace of Versailles or the Arch of Triumph. The total yield of French museums and monuments for the year was $240,000.

SHERIFF INDICTED

come to buy whisky.

The indictment alleges that in 1927 Sheriff Irvin agreed to allow Bill Herman to set up and operate a whisky still "for consideration to be paid in money; that on some date in 1928 Mrs. Bill Herman paid approximately $75 to Sheriff Irvin, and that on Nov. 16, 1929, Vernon Herman paid approximately $1,760 to the sheriff.

On Dec. 25, 1933, after the death of Bill Herman, Sheriff Irvin asked Vernon Herman to take over the bootlegging racket in selling and handling whisky under Irvin's protection in Lamb county, the indictment sets out.

Threatened Officers

On several occasions Sheriff Irvin was alleged to have threatened federal officers. The indictment sets out that on some date during December of 1933 the sheriff made the statement, in a public place, that he would give $100 to get certain federal officers out to a place where he (Irvin) could use a gun on them. On that occasion, states the indictment, Irvin "used opprobrious and offensive epithets in referring to the federal officers."

On Oct. 15, 1933, the indictment charges, Sheriff Irvin told Vernon Herman he believed Herman and the "federal officers were trying to get Irvin tied up"; that "if the federal officers ever came to get him they had better come with both guns as he (Irvin) was ready for them and that he was going to run Lamb county and those federal officers had to stay out."

Warning Is Given

During November of that year Irvin was alleged to have warned another defendant to "be rather careful just then while bootlegging whisky as Irvin was of the opinion there was a federal officer in town."

The indictment further charges that Sheriff Irvin invited Claude B. Cooper, chief of the internal revenue department in Texas, to "come and bring his whole bunch, that he (Irvin) was getting tired of the federals snooping around in Lamb county and that it had to stop and that he (Irvin) was going to run Lamb county."

This conversation was alleged to have been made in a long distance call to Austin where Cooper had his headquarters.

The latest of the overt act sets out that in February of this year one of the other defendants "sold some whisky under the protection of Sheriff Irvin."

Indicted For Perjury

The perjury indictment against Vernon Herman charged that he had first stated, and then denied, that he and his father had agreed to pay Sheriff Irvin and Deputy Sheriff Walraven the sum of $600 a month and $2 a gallon "for protection."

Bill Herman later died while serving a one-year sentence in the Amarillo jail for violation of the state liquor law.

Records show that Vernon Herman, who is now in the Tarrant county jail, was given a year last December in Lubbock but was conditionally pardoned by Governor Ferguson while his case was on appeal.

Herman's mother, Mrs. Bill Herman, and John Purdy, another named in the indictment, also are in jail here.

U. S. Marshal J. R. Wright said he expected to make additional arrests today.

Declare Innocence

"I am not guilty of the charge and I believe the good citizens of Lamb county realize I am innocent," Sheriff Irvin commented here today. He is arranging bond.

"I know no reason why Herman should implicate me in any illicit liquor transactions."

His son, Driscol Irvin, also indicted, remarked: "I'm a farmer and if they will let me make bond and give me some rain, I'll be back on the job at the farm."

"There is no evidence to support these charges," Walraven declared. "All three of us will be able to prove our innocence."

Bond Is Posted — W. L. Bailey, indicted for beer possession, posted $1,000 bond this morning.

further prosperity." The month shows increased interest in aviation and some remarkable flights, he predicted. He has made other predictions which came true. He was official astrologer of the world's fair. He is on the program of a beauty school in Lubbock.

After the 2 year, 11 month period of heavy rain, there will be a period of severe electrical storms such as have never been known in West Texas, he said. They will not be extremely destructive and will not bring on an arid period such as we are now going through, he said.

"This one slipped by me," he said in speaking of the continued drouth in this section. He has not studied it enough to determine its direct cause, he said.

Professor Harvey predicted rain before the Lions club when he was here the first week in February. Rain occured February 8 and snow February 9, he said, approximately 3 and one-half or four inches of rain falling during the period he predicted.

$2,000 bond.

The agreement was said to have been accepted by the prosecution in the 110th judicial district, of which Alton B. Chapman is district attorney. The case was transferred to 99th court by former Judge Kenneth Bain of the 110th district.

Brown already is under a 99-year sentence, imposed for robbery in Wichita county.

After Brown and Stalcup allegedly had robbed a bottling company truck driver in Dickens county, they were arrested at Lawton, Okla., and returned to Dickens to await trial. While there, on August 18, last year, they escaped after menacing Mrs. Faye Arthur, a daughter-in-law of Sheriff Arthur. Brown was recaptured at Snyder 8 days later. His wife surrendered him to officers who had surrounded the house.

HODGES SELLS STOCK

LEVELLAND, (Special)—W. B. Hodges, owner of the Hodges Dry Goods company here, has sold his stock to the Southern Trading company of Lubbock, composed of H. A. Watson and H. H. Holmes. The concern is closing out its new stock here, it is announced.

An Enterprising Young Merchant--

NEWSPAPERS are an important factor in the progress of the world, supplying all of the news from at home and abroad to every interested person at a negligible cost. The service which they render has come to be taken more or less for granted, but there is one factor that is deserving of your attention and consideration.

The carrier boy who delivers your newspaper daily, regardless of weather or other interfering forces, is the principal link between the publisher and the reader. It is through his enterprise and industry that you are able to enjoy the convenient service that characterizes newspaper delivery.

This young man in most cases is not a newspaper employee. He is an independent young merchant, buying and paying for his papers by the week and selling them on a weekly credit basis to his customers. His profits for the service that he renders are small, yet many of these boys, by thrifty management, are paying their way through school with their earnings and at the same time putting something away for the future.

Encourage your carrier boy in the thrifty habit which he is forming by paying him regularly for the service that he is rendering you.

HISTORICAL EVENT IS TO BE STAGED IN HARVESTER PARK

(Special To The Journal)

PAMPA, April 22—One of the major attractions of the pre-centennial celebration and pioneers round-up to be held here June 6 and 7 will be the historical pageant which will be produced in Harvester park. Last year, the pageant which depicted great moments in the history of Texas from 1534 to 1934 was witnessed by 5,000 persons in the natural theater in Central park.

This year it has been decided to hold it in Harvester park that spectators may sit on the comfortable seats where thousands have watched Harvester football teams play. The stands will seat approximately 7,000 persons. The gridiron is covered with a thick growth of Bermuda grass, the pageant will be staged on it.

Plan Indian Attack

One of the most interesting features of the pageant this year will be an Indian attack on a wagon train. This scene in the pageant will be based on an actual incident that took place in the early days in the Panhandle. Real Indians will be used and oxen will draw one wagon and mules the other.

The pageant will begin with the release of Stephen Fuller Austin, the father of Texas, from a Mexico City dungeon where he was held in captivity for two years, from 1833 to 1835. A succession of scenes will show his arrival in Texas, the joyous welcome he received, his determination to free Texas from Mexican tyranny, events leading up to the battle of Gonzales, the Lexington of the Texas revolution where the first shot was fired.

Cannon Presented

Other scenes will show the presentation of two cannon to the Texas revolutionists by Ohio people; the organization of the New Orleans Grays in New Orleans, and the general influx of adventuresome youth to Texas to join the revolution. The pageant will show that with the exception of Houston and Austin, the revolution was largely fought by young men. A fact generally overlooked is that Bowie, Crockett, Fannin, Travis, and other of Texas immortals who died at Goliad and the Alamo were under 30 years of age. One scene of the pageant will show historic events in Panhandle history. All characters in the pageant will appear in authentic costumes.

Dick Hughes is chairman of the pageant committee and Dr. Carl Schulkey is chairman of the costume committee.

OFFICERS CHOSEN AS SESSION ENDS

DALLAS, April 22 (AP)—Miss Martha Emmons, of Waco was elected president of the Texas Folklore society at the concluding business session of the convention here.

Austin was selected as the 1936 meeting place.

Other officers elected were:

Dr. John Lee Brooks, Southern Methodist university; Miss Mabel Majors, Fort Worth, and A. W. Eddins, San Antonio, vice-presidents; J. Frank Dobie, University of Texas English professor, secretary and editor; Mrs. Marcelle L. Hamer, Austin, treasurer; and John Green, Houston; Thomas A. Knight, Dallas, and David Donohue, Fort Worth, councillors.

At the closing session, a subscription dinner at Southern Methodist university, folklore readings were given by Mrs. Zelma Polly, Waco; and Judge Frost Woodhull, San Antonio.

Papers were read by Aylett Royall, Dallas; Henry Barton, Wichita Falls; Ramon F. Adams, Dallas; Sue Gates, O'Donnell; J. Mason Brewer, Dallas; and David Henry, Dallas.

MUST HAVE LICENSE

LAMESA, April 22 (Special) — Lamesa is no place for Fido unless he has a license.

More than 75 dogs have been killed and about 50 licensed this week, city officials said. A bounty of 10 cents a head is paid for dogs running loose without license tags within the city limits.

Mrs. Ethel Lawrence, Memphis Tenn., has been in the bird business for 30 years. Besides being an expert at restoring voices to canaries, she repairs dislocated hips, broken backs, closed windpipes, and other canary ailments.

in on it, you might just as well figure Harry Felding was the one who threw them in, as to figure that some other person was."

Jarvis Happ nodded his head slowly, and said, "That, of course, is true if the possession of those keys was wrongful."

"What do you mean?" Buchanan wanted to know.

"The only way that we know Robert Caise left those keys in the automobile," Jarvis Happ said slowly, "is that Robert, himself, says so. On the other hand, isn't it equally logical to believe that he was out last night, didn't want anyone to know this and, therefore, shrouded his absence in secrecy? Unfortunately, he ran out of gas. He ran out of gas at a time when he couldn't readily replenish it. Therefore it became necessary for him to leave his automobile by the curb. Under those circumstances, nothing is more logical than that he would have returned and tried to cover up the fact that he had been out in his own automobile by pretending he left the keys in his car and then hiding the keys somewhere, such as in the pool.

"Having done that, he would want the police to find the keys—first, because he would want the keys back, secondly, because he would want the police to find them in some place where they had very evidently been concealed by someone who was trying to cover up the theft of the keys."

Buchanan stared steadily at Jarvis Happ. Slowly, almost thoughtfully, he nodded his head.

"Sold!" he exclaimed at length. "That's damned good logic. You get Bob Caise up here and I'm going to turn him wrong side out."

Jarvis Happ reached for the telephone on his desk and said, "I'll communicate with the butler. He . . ."

"Just on moment, please," said Cynthia Happ's well modulated voice. "I happen to have been standing in the doorway. I have heard the last part of your conversation. I don't think you will send for Robert after you have heard what I have to say."

Millicent glanced up apprehensively.

The diamond-hard, gray eyes of Cynthia Happ were boring steadily into hers.

"Close the door," Cynthia Happ said, "and don't let anyone leave this room."

STATE LEAGUE PLANS MADE

THOUSAND STUDES TO TAKE PART IN BIG EVENT IN AUSTIN

(Special To The Journal)

AUSTIN, April 22—One thousand eager-eyed boys and girls from rural and high schools of Texas will throng the University of Texas campus May 3 and 4 to participate in the silver anniversary state meet of the Texas Interscholastic league. Having won through local, county, district, bi-district and regional competition, these youngsters represent the finest talent that exists in the state, Roy Bedichek, chief of the university bureau of public school interests, pointed out. At the state meet, they will face competition in dramatics, journalism, athletics, public speaking events, typing and shorthand, Three-R's, and art.

Registration for the twenty-fifth annual state meet will begin at 2:30 Thursday afternoon, May 2. Actual business of the meet opens at 8 o'clock Friday morning, with rehearsals of the one-act plays. On Friday, the following events will take place: Track and field preliminaries; news writing, copy-writing, copy-reading, head-line writing and proof-reading contests in journalism, and two sessions of the journalism conference; first round in boys' and girls' tennis singles and doubles; first round and semi-finals in boys' and girls' debate; both preliminaries and finals in extemporaneous speech; preliminaries in the typewriting contest; preliminaries and finals in boys' and girls' declamation, rural and high school divisions; and presentation of one group of contestants in the one-act play.

Discuss Changes

Breakfast in the junior ballroom of the university Union building on Saturday morning will precede the state meeting of league delegates, at which time changes in the constitution and rules of the league and other problems will be discussed.

The Saturday program will include the following events: Editorial writing contest in journalism; finals in typewriting and the contest in shorthand; the Three-R contest; the art contest; second group of one-act plays; semi-finals in boys' and girls' tennis, singles and doubles; final session of the journalism conference; finals in boys' and girls' debate; finals in track and field events, including the Rural Pentathlon; finals in tennis, boys' and girls' singles and doubles; and the final in the one-act play contest.
