YOUNG ASSASSIN SHOOTS PREMIER OF JAPAN

A. Y. Hembree Given 25-Year Prison Term For Attack On School Teacher

State Confederate Home Head Resigns Post As Audit Discloses Deficiency

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—State Auditor Moore Lynn today filed with Gov. Dan Moody, the board of control, and the superintendent of the state confederate home copies of reports of an audit made by his staff of conditions at the home.

The report was designed for the legislature, made under legislative mandate and copies also were mailed to Barry Miller, lieutenant governor. The report was made at this time, Lynn wrote in a foreword, "because of the gravity of the conditions found."

Resignations Filed

Coincident with the filing of the report, the resignations of A. W. Taber, superintendent of the home, and storkeeper, H. S. Lawson, were filed with the board of control and the governor. The board of control issued a short statement saying the auditor's report was being studied and that the board would take such action as was found warranted by the facts.

Lynn found a deficiency of $1,646.72 existed in the inmates' fund of the institution June 30, 1930. Subsequently Taber deposted in the bank to the balance of the fund $600.68 and Dr. T. C. Hairston, physician, on July 30 paid an amount of $830, which was deposited in the bank the following day.

Five-Year Period

The transactions covered the period from 1925 to 1930. When the audit was made amounts due inmates totalled $8,975.35 and the cash in banks $6,728.63.

Criticism was made of the methods used by Storekeeper Lawson in keeping books on provisions, and recommendations made for changes.

Recommendations of the auditor included:

Practice of employes borrowing money from inmates should be discontinued.

Method of handling pay roll "loose" should be remedied.

Too Many Employes

Number of employes "in excess of requirements" and should be reduced from 104 to 81, at an estimated saving of $14,320.

The bookkeeping system was said to be "inadequate."

Provisions were not checked out properly from the provision room.

Certain merchandise belonging to the state was used by the storekeeper for personal use or for a member of his family.

Motor equipment at the home was used for other than official business.

Certain officials of the home had obtained passes on railroads on the grounds they were inmates of the home.

Deficiency Reported

The report set forth that prior to Nov. 20 certain funds were kept by a physician and a nurse for patients in the hospital. The amounts received from patients were placed in envelopes, the amounts recevied being written on the outside of the envelope and amounts repaid to the patients being deducted.

On Nov. 20, the report said, the funds were turned over to the superintendent. At this time there was a deficiency in the cash on hand belonging to the inmates amounting to $843 on the part of the physician and $329 on the part of the nurse. The recorded deficiency of the nurse, according to the report, was repaid prior to the date the auditors report started, July 18.

A strict system of checks in regard to money of inmates was recommended.

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

More than 200 citizens visited the plant of the Western Garment Manufacturing company in Wichita Falls Wednesday afternoon when it held open house.

Visitors found a large force of workers busy in a modern, well equipped plant turning out a great variety of work clothes and specialty garments. Most of us, Talker ventures, think of this plant as an overall factory. It does make overalls but that's about what it makes the least of. Anyone who has not visited the plant will be surprised at the number of different garments it manufactures ranging all the way from work shirts to collegian trousers.

One reason Talker believes the Western Garment Manufacturing company will be a good investment for its stockholders is that its management has been responsive enough to change its products to meet new conditions in the garment industry and to meet the opportunity of new demands and, in a way, to create such demands.

The plant did start out mainly as an overall and work shirt factory. But at about that time great stocks of overalls were accumulating over the country, so that they they could not be sold except at a loss, and many were sold at a loss. A less resoureeful management would have closed down the plant probably never to be reopened. It can be said to the praise of the Western Garment Manufacturing company that it began to look about for garments it might make for which there would be a demand. It would be a revelation to most of the readers of this column to visit this plant and see just what is being made there.

A copy of Volume 1, Number 1 of The Observer, published by the Buchanan Stationery company of Wichita Falls, comes to this desk. R. Lee Joiner, who tells readers that he gave up editorial work a quarter of a century ago for the business end of the printing business, is editor of the new publication and he has a gift of expression that is admirable. He has filled the four pages of his paper with suggestions and comments that are pertinent and helpful, especially in this better business campaign.

In a "Why and Wherefore" statement Mr. Joiner says The Observer will be issued "as occasion justifies." We hope that some instances of an "out-of-town" nature mentioned in the publication will occur rarely but we want issues of The Observer published frequently.

Thanks to The Observer for the complimentary reference to this column. It is appreciated. Nothing will keep Talker working like an expression of appreciation. It takes such an expression to keep him working and an occasional criticism to keep him thinking. A man who is on the defense has got to think. Come on with the brickbats.

The Observer calls attention to several instances of "out of-town" shopping for printing. There is a lot of printing that is sent out of

WALTERS' JURY FINDS SOONER FARMER GUILTY

Suspect Claims He Acted In Fear of Elder Brother

APPEAL NOTICE FILED

Verdict Returned After Twenty-Minute Deliberation

Special to The Record News.

WALTERS, Okla., Nov. 13.—Twenty minutes after the case reached its hands, a jury here Thursday night sentenced A. Y. Hembree, Grady county farmer, to 25 years in the state penitentiary for criminal assault upon Miss Leota Bosley, Gainesville, Texas, school teacher. The verdict was returned at 10:25, after arguments in a night session closed at 10:05. Attorneys for Hembree gave notice of appeal.

On the stand in his own behalf Thursday afternoon, Hembree testified that he participated in the attack under a threat of death from his brother, E. S. Hembree. He admitted charges of the state except the actual assault, but claimed he submitted in fear of death at his elder brother's hands. The brother was convicted and sentenced to death under a similar indictment last summer.

Hembree and his wife were the only witnesses for the defense and testimony closed late Thursday afternoon.

The defendant admitted on the stand that he drove the car in which Miss Bosley and her escort, Chad Thurman of Nocona, Texas, were forced to drive to a deserted house near Loco, Okla., last March. He sat in the car, the defendant said, whil his brother four times assaulted the 23-year-old teacher. Ordered to make a similar attack himself, Hembree said he pretended to obey out of fear for his life.

Mrs. Hembree testified on the stand that E. S. Hembree had the reputation of a dangerous man, and with her statement the defense closed its case.

Earlier in the day, the state presented the testimony of Chad Thurman, who told the same story recounted Wednesday by the prosecuting witness. He said that when he refused to comply with the elder Hembree's order to assault the girl, Hembree fired a shot which grazed his body and wounded Miss Bosley in the right arm.

VERNON ATTACK JURY DISMISSED

It's the old story of the ant and the grasshopper. The grasshopper ate on margin while the ant bit outright.

When winter came the ant had six hundred million picnic plates put away.

TEXAS GRANTED HIGHWAY HELP

$10,000,000 Federal Fund Now Available

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—Gov. Dan Moody today welcomed with open arms the statement from Washington that more than $10,000,000 had been made available by the federal government for highway work in Texas.

"It is the best news I've heard in a long time," the governor said. "We'll match the money and we'll build more roads in Texas in the next 12 months than have ever been built before in two years."

Governor Moody said the appropriation would greatly relieve unemployment in Texas and recommended that in carrying out the work, local labor be used as much as possible. He also recommended the use of as much man power as possible in place of machines. He pointed out the money was apportioned by the federal government to relieve unemployment and that the best way to do this was to replace machines where possible.

The federal fund will be matched by funds furnished by the state and various counties. The federal money, however, is restricted to use on federal routes and may not be expended on state roads.

In a recent conversation with the chairman of President Hoover's unemployment commission, Governor Moody asked for an increased highway apportionment and for immediate action by the Interstate Commerce commission on applications now pending, which, if approved, would enable Texas railroads to start immediately on a large construction program.

FUNDS EXTEND TO JUNE 30, 1932

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (AP)—More than $10,000,000 has been made available by the bureau of public roads for the use of highway construction in Texas providing the state matches the sum.

The money, $10,488,476.78, represents the aggregate federal highway aid to Texas up to June 30, 1932, and has been placed at the disposal of the state in accordance with President Hoover's policy of making federal aid allotments for the fiscal year 1931-32 in an effort to speed up construction and relieve unemployment.

It was pointed out that the state would be given opportunity to draw the federal aid in advance purely because of an emergency situation

BAPTISTS SEEK SCHOOL FUNDS

Convention Asks $200,000 For Baylor

AMARILLO, Texas, Nov. 13. (AP)—Texas Baptists heard encouraging reports and not such heartening accounts of progress of their educational institutions today as heads of the schools, colleges and universities of the church summed up the year's work before the general convention here. Many schools came through with flying colors in spite of the financial stringencies of the communities they served, while others were in dire straits.

Consideration of educational affairs of the church came to a climax tonight, when a campaign was instituted to raise $200,000 toward retiring a $350,000 indebtedness of Baylor university at Waco, $150,000 of which already had been subscribed. It was pointed out that the balance had to be wiped off the books if the university was to claim the right to an endowment of $300,000 from the general education board of New York.

Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor, and United States Senator Tom Connally of Marlin were before the convention as the prime movers in the appeal.

HAMAGUCHI IN CRITICAL STATE AFTER ATTACK

First Examination Shows Prime Minister May Recover

ASSAILANT IS HELD

Young Reactionary Society Member Arrested for Shooting

TOKYO, Nov. 14. (Friday), (AP)—Yuko Hamaguchi, premier of Japan was shot and wounded at Tokyo central railroad station at 8:55 a. m. today. Physicians who examined the elderly premier at the station master's office said his chances of recovery were good. The bullet penetrated his abdomen.

The premier's assailant was captured and identified as Tomeo Sagoya, 23, a member of the Aikokuhn or "Love of Country Association," a reactionary patriotic organization.

The motive for the attack was not clear to authorities.

Tokyo central station was the scene likewise of the assassination Nov. 4, 1921, of Premier Kei Hara, who was stabbed at the main station lobby, when he was about to entrain to attend a political rally. He died in a few minutes.

Hara's assassin, Koniehi Nakaoka, a weak minded youth, was sentenced to life imprisonment, which later was commuted to 11 years.

Premier Hamaguchi's assailant apparently is a similar type.

Premier Hara figured prominently in preparations for the Washington naval conference. Similarly Premier Hamaguchi contributed largely to the success of the London naval conference.

At 11:30 a. m., the premier still was in the station master's office, his condition apparently much more serious than first was believed.

Physicians resorted to transfusions, the premier's second son Iwane Hamaguchi, supplying the blood.

The premier was removed to the Imperial University hospital at noon. Physicians had not then attempted to remove the bullet, which entered the right side of the abdomen and ranged toward the hip.

Britain Cuts Wages Of Railroad Workers

EXTRA SESSION FEARS ALLAYED

Both Parties Assure President of Harmony

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (AP)—Assurance was given President Hoover today by floor leaders of both parties in the senate that no move would be sanctioned to force an extra session of the new congress next spring by blocking action on vital appropriation measures in the approaching short session.

This announcement was made at the White House as the administration began consideration of plans for meeting the one big obstacle in the way of fulfillment of this course—disposition of the Muscle Shoals, Ala., power and nitrate plant.

White House Statement

The White House statement said: "The president has been in communication with the floor leaders of the Democratic and Republican sides of the senate with a view to securing cooperation for the prompt passage of the appropriation bills through the senate at the forthcoming session.

"Both leaders have expressed their desire and full cooperation to accomplish this. The fear and apprehension which have been expressed over reports that delay or filibuster would be resorted to, to force an extra session of the congress have therefore no foundation."

Conferees Unknown

Just whom the president spoke with was not made known. However, earlier in the day both Senator Walsh, of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, and Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, asserted they knew of no disposition within the party to obstruct legislation at the short session and each resented the "implication."

The president had written Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, seeking his views and Senator Glass observed that Mr. Hoover should first seek to get his own party in line. Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, is one of those who has proposed that an extra session be called next spring.

While there apparently is no assurance from the western Republican independents on this program, the group would have a hard job filibustering enough legislation to force the extra session if it decided to do so without Democratic support.

Muscle Shoals Demand

Disposition of the Muscle Shoals controversy is one thing the Republican independents intend to insist on, however, and the president has been told this dispute demands serious consideration.

It involves the controversy over government and private operation. The senate has passed the measure of Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, for government operation of the plan and the house has approved a bill for private operation.

Although Representative Reece, Republican, Tennessee, has announced Mr. Hoover would veto the senate plan, the president today called in Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, an advocate of the senate proposal, and McNary indicated later he was standing pat. He also announced he would call the senate and house conferees together soon.

Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, and Senator McNary, the assistant leader, both have informed the president they were opposed to the extra session and would lend every aid to disposition of the heavy calendar of unfinished and new business at the short term.

Unemployment legislation and relief for drought-stricken farmers were named today by Senator Walsh of Montana as measures demanding prime consideration and Senator Watson said the administration program probably would give first call to these.

Automobile registration in nine Southern states showed a gain of 63.7 per cent during a five-year period ending in 1929.

town that could be done as well here and perhaps as cheaply. And from what Talker knows about printers he would tell the business men of Wichita Falls that if they want to get some money into circulation they can do so quickly and thoroughly by paying it to Wichita Falls printers. They come about as near spending all they make and spending it in Wichita Falls as any group in our citizenship.

The American public will receive $632,000,000 during the next few weeks in Christmas club payments, says a news item. This amount will be divided among 11,000,000 participants and is the largest amount that has ever been distributed from such savings. This distribution ought to be a healthy stmulation to trade and industry. We must be thankful to those who have saved and we hope there is nothing in this better business and buy it now campaign that will act as a check on saving. The people who have saved are going to play a big part in restoring prosperity.

Several members of the Musicians union made a friendly call to this office to suggest that business could be helped some by patronizing Wichita Falls music. That sounds quite reasonable and now that we have become more business and community conscious it will be fitting to dance the measures of prosperity to Wichita Falls made music.

Was it Samuel Adams or Benjamin Franklin or some other patriot who said "we must all hang together or hang separately?" Adversity hath its lessons, and one of them is that we ought to hang together.

The Braniff air lines have begun the operation of air passenger service between Wichita Falls and Tulsa, abandoned a few weeks ago when the Southwest Air Express merged with another company and began service between Atlanta and Los Angeles. The Braniff lines are giving service twice a day between Wichita Falls and Tulsa. At the latter point connection is made with air lines in many directions. This service is of great use and convenience to Wichita Falls citizens and we hope that it will receive patronage that will insure its permanency.

ROAD MEETING HERE TODAY

commerce here at 4131 early Friday morning.

The luncheon, it was said, will start promptly at 12:10 noon, with reservations having been made for 200. Due to the limited number of plates, it is requested that those desiring to attend notify the chamber of commerce as early as possible Friday morning. With the exception of a very short period to attend to regular business of the council, the entire program will be turned over to the Oklahomans, with Ed Overholser, president of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce, presiding. The numbers on the program will be left entirely to the visitors to do as they see fit, although it is known that several speakers and musical numbers will appear on the entertainment.

Following the luncheon, a number of cars will be available to the visitors for trips over the city or to view irrigation development here. At 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, the party, accompanied by J. S. Bridwell, president of the chamber of commerce here; W. B. Hamilton, chairman of the highway committee; John Boswell, manager, and several others, will leave for Lawton for further consideration of the road project. Dinner will be served the trippers in Lawton at 6 o'clock, it was announced.

Chamber of commerce officials stated that a large number of citizens of cities surrounding Wichita Falls would attend the luncheon here Friday noon and to hear talks to be made by some of the best speakers in Oklahoma.

Included in the delegation from Lawton are several prominent business men of that city. Mat Koehler, chairman of the Lawton Chamber of Commerce highway committee; Ned Shepler, editor of the Lawton Constitution; Bert Thompson, editor of the Lawton News-Review, and Owen Black, state representative of the district, are among those expected.

The Oklahoma City delegation, it was said, is attending the road meet here in spite of the fact that many of the business men coming here are directly connected with the Oklahoma City Community Chest, which is in the midst of its annual drive for $400,000.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

18th amendment" and pledged itself "to oppose in all legitimate ways those who seek to remove this legislation from the constitution, or weaken the effectiveness of its enforcement."

Stating "it is the same fight we have had for decades," the report said: "We believe that the chief trouble, from the beginning, has been not with the law, but indifference on the part of many citizens, and especially on the part of those who have been charged with the enforcement of the law, both in local communities and in our national government."

Moral Question

Continuing, the report said: "The whole question remains what it has always been, a moral issue, and the fact it has been taken into the political fold has neither helped its morals nor removed one iota of responsibility from Christian citizens and religious bodies. It is the same fight that we have had for decades."

It said statistics were available to prove "to fair and unbiased minds" the prohibition amendment "has had far reaching and beneficial results."

The report deplored mob violence pointing out that during the present year "21 lives had been taken by mobs in the United States." It listed 19 of these in the South and four in Texas.

"Not only has life been taken but in some instances property of innocent and law-abiding citizens has been ruthlessly destroyed," the report said. "For Christian people to remain silent and inactive in the face of such barbarous deeds, is to be untrue to man, to human society, and to God."

Hoover Commended

President Hoover was commended for "his efforts in behalf of disarmament and world peace, and we hail with genuine joy and deep gratitude every evidence of success in this direction."

Touching racial relations, the report said "the right of the white race to the place of leadership which it has held for centuries is now being seriously questioned," suggesting: "Unless some leadership is found, wise guidance given, and Christian principles applied in solution of this pressing and perplexing question, dire consequences may result."

Trial marriages and divorces were inveighed against, and newspapers criticized for giving "wide publicity to the marrying, divorcing and re-marrying of prominent screen stars."

Dr. L. R. Scarborough, president of the convention, appointed Dr. W. H. McKenzie, Waxahachie; Dr. John A. Ellis, Denison; J. H. Hill, Canyon; A. D. Foreman Sr., Houston, and Dr. W. Marshall Craig, Dallas, as a committee to recommend to the state executive committee a future policy for Burleson college of Greenville, whose president, Dr. E. W. Provence, recently suffered a nervous breakdown and still is incapacitated.

Colleges Report

The Rev. W. E. B. Lockridge, Terrell, said it was the first time in 39 years Burleson college had been unprepared to submit a report with recommendations to the convention. He said Dr. Provence's illness made it impossible to assemble necessary data. He said Dr. Provence probably would be incapacitated a year.

Educational institutions submitting reports were San Marcos academy, the College of Marshall, Simmons university, Decatur college, Wayland college, Baylor college, Baylor university, and Howard Payne college.

Dr. M. M. Wolf, Houston, delivering a report on Christian education, said necessity existed for adjustments in the curricula of church educational institutions "to meet modern educational standards" if Baptists intend to stay in the field.

An appeal for better support of negroes who seek to train themselves for the ministry was voiced by Dr. O. L. Hailey, Nashville, Tenn., representing the American Baptist Theological seminary for negroes. He said the $25,000 the Southern Baptists were spending for the work was inadequate and the negroes were drifting from the church because of inattention. He said 3,000 negroes attended a meeting of Mohammedans in Chicago recently.

Cooperation Sought

Dr. B. L. Davis, New Orleans, asked cooperation with the Baptist Bible institute, and Dr. W. T. Conner and Dr. Scarbrough, the latter president of the institutions, told of the work of Southwestern Seminary, Fort Worth. Dr. Scarborough said the seminary soon must be endowed if it is to continue abreast of needs of the church. It has an enrollment of 400 and hundreds of young men who would like to enter the ministry cannot realize their ambitions because they do not have the money to maintain themselves while studying, he said.

Acceptance of the foundation committee's report was deferred on motion of Dr. F. S. Groner, Marshall, until the next convention to permit further study of issues involved.

Under the proposed plan investments of all Texas Baptist institutions, including schools, hospitals, orphanages and the state executive committee, would be handled by the foundation.

Speaking with regard to the report on civic righteousness, S. M. Gibson of Houston told the convention he and others intended to go before the next legislature in advocacy of state censorship of motion picture.

The convention by a rising vote indorsed Gibson's plan, in approving a motion offered by Dr. J. M. Carroll of Seminary Hill.

The report on religious literature, read by Rev. Sam Malone of Abilene, criticised "large metropolitan newspapers" for printing "sordid and sensational news," using "every device known to yellow journalism."

Abnormal Appetite

"These newspapers are trying to justify their efforts along this line on the grounds that they are giving the public what it wants," the report said. "If the reading public has an abnormal appetite for sensationalism, it is due in a large measure to the fact that newspapers have played a big part in developing this appetite."

It continued, "a close examination of the material in many of the news stands all over the country will reveal the fact that our homes are being flooded with a class of literature that is unwholesome and demoralizing to the youth of our land."

In presenting the report of Baylor college, Dr. M. T. Andrews of Texarkana announced it had been agreed that the projected campaign to raise money to meet debts of the school would be postponed a year, in order not to interfere with the Baylor university campaign, which will continue until Jan. 1.

Thomas H. Taylor, president of Howard Payne college at Brownwood, told the convention his institution had decreased operating expenses $20,000 this year under those for the previous year and another $10,000 cut would be effected in the year ahead.

Tomorrow's program will be devoted to missions and reports of committees, the convention coming to a close at night with addresses by Dr. W. H. Knight, professor of missions at the Southwestern Theological seminary, who spent the summer touring mission fields of Europe; and by Dr. George W. Truett, Dallas, who recently visited missions fields in South America.

HUSBAND SUES AGED FARMER

Suit Claims Alienation of Wife's Love

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 13. (UP)—J. W. Johnson, retired Geary farmer, was named defendant in a $50,000 alienation of affection suit filed today in district court here.

The suit was filed by W. D. Ferguson, estranged husband of Mrs. Rose Ferguson, former Oklahoma City church choir singer.

Ferguson alleged Johnson stole his wife's attentions and broke up his home.

Mrs. Ferguson said the suit was "ridiculous." "Mr. Johnson has been just like a daddy to me," she said.

"When my husband took three of the children and went to Vardaman, Miss., with them last May, I borrowed Mr. Johnson's auto and drove all night to get them and had to bring my husband back to get them," she said.

Judge G. W. Clark refused to grant Mrs. Ferguson a divorce several weeks ago.

Valley View Students Hear Business Address

Special to The Record News.

VALLEY VIEW, Texas, Nov. 13.—A. G. Golden, business man of Iowa Park, addressed the commercial club of the Valley View High school Wednesday morning. Mr. Golden said that the business world today is demanding of young men and women that they be thoroughly trained in doing some particular kind of work, and that high school students should lose no time in definitely choosing an occupation.

Richard Washburn Childs Quits Meeting on International Problems

BOSTON, Nov. 13. (AP)—Richard Washburn Child, author and diplomat, today walked out of a meeting of the Institute of Current International Problems of the United States, at which he was to have given a 35-minute address, with the explanation to newspaper men that he "was disgusted."

Child, who was to have spoken in opposition to America's adherence to the world court, was introduced by Prof. William Alan Neilson, president of Smith college, after Prof. Manley O. Hudson, of Harvard university, authority on international law, had traced the development of the world court and favored American participation.

"I am just going to ask one question," Child said. "You can talk about the legal effect of our adherence to the world court. You can go through the Root formula, in fact all the formulae (striking the table for emphasis) but what's going to happen in case the league asks an advisory opinion of a body of which we are members and we exercise our privilege of getting out?"

"First there wil be an uproar in the senate. Then there will be racial difficulties in the country. In fact, we will be in a nice trap. That's the whole story and that's all I've got to say."

Professor Hudson immediately rose and said:

"You're not going to leave now. You're going to be asked some questions. I'm not going to let you get away with that."

Child already had left the platform. He turned to Hudson and said:

"I have the grippe. I've already asked the question. I'm looking at this from the political side."

"Sid down and have a cigaret," Hudson said. "I'll answer your question."

"I'm sorry," Child answered. "I have a bad case of grippe," and walked out.

Afterward, he told newspaper men "I was disgusted. We are not members of the world court and we should not join the world court. But all we heard was the manner in which world court judges were elected. I couldn't stand it any longer."

Employed Musicians To Aid Jobless Men

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (AP)—Employed union musicians of New York City will give five per cent of their earnings this winter to aid their jobless colleagues. President Joseph N. Weber of the American Federation of Musisians said today in approving the action, that while "unemployment is causing suffering among musicians everywhere, the New York situation is especially acute."

Ransom Money Draws Suspect Into Trap

WATSONVILLE, Calif., Nov. 13. (AP)—Fred Weckesser, 25, was held here today after police said they had caught him digging up $2,500 which had been buried by a wealthy Watsonville resident according to instructions received in black hand notes.

Officers said Weckesser confessed sending letters, saying he wanted money to set himself up in business. Mike Resetar, wealthy fruit packer, buried the money after receiving threats that his home would be bombed if he failed to do so. Police watched the spot and Weckesser fell into the trap. Officers said he probably would be charged with extortion.

LEWIS TO FIND STRANGE FACES

Few of Veteran Senator's Old Friends Survive

CHICAGO, Nov. 13. (AP)—When the Chesterfield of President Wilson's wartime Democratic family, James Hamilton Lewis, goes back to the United States senate he will find few of that clan still wearing the toga.

Those who served under his whip in the glamorous war years will find him grayer now. Some of the sting is gone from his tongue, and some of the fire from his leadership.

But he is the same stylish dresser, the same courteous individual, and his voice still carries the silver, honeyed tones as of old.

Lewis, the Democrat, in defeating Ruth Hanna McCormick, the Republican, for the Illinois senate seat closed a cycle of campaigns and personages begun 12 years ago. Then he was defeated by Medill McCormick, husband of his opponent this year.

Charles S. Deneen eliminated McCormick in the primary six years later, and last spring Mrs. McCormick won over Deneen.

Old Timers Gone

A roll call of those whom Lewis knew when he was the Democratic whip—political friends and foes—would bring but few responses.

"Woodrow Wilson—Oscar W. Underwood—Henry Cabot Lodge—Warren G. Harding—Boies Penrose—Robert M. La Follette—Charles Culbefson—Hoke Smith"—all are dead.

James Reed has retired to private life. So has Harry New, and Gilbert M. Hitchcock, Albert Fall and Irvin Lenroot.

There are a few of the old-timers to greet "J. Ham," however—James Watson, George Norris, Key Pittman, Lee Overman, Charles McNary.

Lewis, a Virginian by birth, now is 67 years old. He grew up in Georgia—motherless, as she died at his birth. His father was a Confederate veteran.

James Hamilton went about as far west as possible—Washington—to seek his fortunes. He worked as a dock laborer to study law. When he returned to Georgia to marry Miss Rose Lawton Douglas he carried a bag of gold coins to pay off creditors.

Lewis served in the Washington legislature and went to congress from that state. He served in the Spanish-American war, emerging as a colonel. In 1903 he moved to Chicago, and nine years later Illinois sent him to the senate.

Garrulous Rainbow

Tom B. "Czar" Reed was the house speaker when Lewis first went to Washington. He dubbed the youngster "the garrulous rainbow." One writer described him this way:

"Over everything, even as the sun in the sky, looms the whiskers of Jim Ham—vast, opalescent, here a shred of pink and there a somber russet; now shimmering as a golden field of wheat, anon bristling red and angry."

But Lewis had a comeback. He once told a correspondent, "there is no relationship between statesmanship and apparel, sir."

Although Lewis devoted the early years of his attorneyship to criminal cases, of later years all his work has been as a corporation lawyer.

Lewis' dress, his diction, his mannerisms are the same whether he be addressing a Gold Coast delegation or a stockyards crowd. Always the spats, the wing collar, snowy linen, cane and gloves.

"Sir, I repeat, I shall lose more than any man I know on this floor, for if this amendment should pass now in my state the majority of women would vote overwhelmingly against me for any office to which I undertook to aspire."

The speaker was Lewis. The occasion was the senate's debate in 1918 on women's suffrage.

And his last campaign was to some extent a test of that. Two women, Mrs. McCormick and Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, opposed him. Lewis won by approximately 700,000 votes.

'J. Ham' Spry and Dapper as Ever

James Hamilton Lewis, still spry at 67, appears as dapper now as he did a dozen years ago, when he was Democratic whip in the United States senate.

Carlson to Propose Unemployment Plan

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 13. (AP)—R. V. Carlson, Oklahoma county commissioner, said today he would present a resolution at the board meeting tomorrow embodying a plan to relieve unemployment this winter among an estimated 2,500 tenant farmers in the county.

The resolution would authorize the county engineer to receive applications from all farmers who can furnish teams for road work and who will need extra funds to tide them over the winter months. A survey would be made by the engineer's department to determine where fills and drainage ditches could be worked and where repairs that can be done without heavy machinery are most needed.

National Organization Honors Electra Man

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Nov. 13.—Each year the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries give recognition at the national convention to the 40 best ideas submitted by secretaries over the United States. Robert P. Hall, secretary of the local chamber of commerce, was given recognition among the 40 for his idea regarding the accomplishments of the local organization. This competition is held between every town in the United States and no distinction is made in regard to the size and location of the towns.

ARREST HALTS BUS JOURNEY

Passengers Wait as Driver Faces Charge

FORT WORTH, Nov. 13. (AP)—The 28 passengers on board a Los Angeles bus, whose driver, Dave Austermuhl, was arrested Wednesday on charges of operating without a license, without identification plates and without a permit issued by the state railroad commission, trooped into county court for his trial today.

Texas Ranger J. W. White, who arrested the driver and who said on the stand that he was a special ranger, was the state's only witness. He said his duty was to enforce the bus law and, under cross-examination by W. E. Myers, defense attorney, testified that he was paid by Greyhound bus lines.

White, who gave his home as San Antonio, said he had been a page and later a serveant-at-arms in the Texas legislature, game warden and federal prohibition employe.

Claims Licenses

The driver told the court that, of the 28 passengers on board his bus, two were from Fort Worth, two for Dallas and one for Texarkana. He said he had licenses from California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas, the latter having been purchased from the county tax collector at El Paso. He said the collector told him a driver's license would be unnecessary for state-to-state travel.

One of the passengers, Dr. Charles L. Young, whose destination is Pittsburgh, said that after Ranger White had stopped the bus near Weatherford an automobile stopped alongside and its driver talked with the officer. The doctor testified that written on the car was "traffic department, Pickwick-Greyhound Lines."

Second Charge

This is the second time in recent months that cross-country buses have been detained here. Several week ago, a bus bound for Los Angeles from Chicago was stopped and its 18 passengers forced to spend the night here after the driver was arrested. He was released the next day and the travelers proceeded on their journey.

McBride Murder Trial Postponed Until March

Special to The Record News.

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Nov. 13.—The third trial of C. B. McBride, Eastland county oil man who was tried and convicted here for the murder of John Glenn, local oil well supply dealer, on the night of Thanksgiving, 1927, has been continued until March 10, Dist. Atty. L. H. Welch of this place said on Wednesday.

McBride's third trial was set for a hearing at Baird this week. It was continued on application of the defendant.

In his first trial here, McBride was given a 45-year sentence. The trial was reversed and later tried at Albany where he received a 25-year sentence. This trial was also reversed and set for trial at Baird.

Uncopied Portrait of Washington Found

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (AP)—A portrait of George Washington which has hung for many years in the Westmoreland club of Richmond, Va., today was hailed as a new and opportune discovery by Postmaster General Brown.

"It is a novel portrait—a good portrait—one I had never seen copied before!" exulted the postmaster general.

The reason for his glee was that he has been hunting authentic Washington portraits far and wide for a series of about 18 new stamps the postoffice department hopes to issue in connection with the 1932 bicentennial celebration.

"We hope to show, in stamps, Washington as a youth, as a civil engineer, as commander-in-chief of the army, and so on through his life," Brown said. "The Richmond portrait depicts him about the time when he went out with Braddock."

OPERA SINGER MEETS 'DADDY'

And He's the Handsome Prince Serge

CHICAGO, Nov. 13. (AP)—The "daddy" Mary McCormic went down to the station to meet today was Prince Serge Divani, the pugilistic nobleman and husband of Pola Negri.

Reporters expecting to see the Chicago opera singer greet a grey-haired old gentleman were surprised to find that it was the tall, handsome prince. They were obviously glad to see each other and did not trouble to deny a persistent story that they would be married as soon as the prince and Miss Negri were divorced.

The prince, of course, was asked about his fight on shipboard recently, but he said it didn't amount to much.

"One of the men in the bar had been over-drinking, and quarreled with another fellow," he said. "I stepped in as a peacemaker. That is all there was to it."

Miss McCormic, however, thought that was considerable. "Wouldn't you know that baby would get into a fight the last day of the trip?" she asked, "but that shows how big he is."

RECORD MADE FOR HARD LUCK

Endurance Fliers Meet Misfortune

JAMAICA, N. Y., Nov. 13. (UP)—Out to set a new endurance record of 1,000 hours aloft, John S. Donaldson and Edward Weimer set a new record for hard luck today. They shot to earth at Jamaica Sea airport like a fireball in their flaming plane and barely escaped with their lives.

The flight began at 2:05 p. m. Wednesday. At 2 a. m. refueling plane stalled while making contact aloft. It came down safely but was crippled. Meanwhile Donaldson, with enough fuel to last until noon, stayed up, hoping another plane would be obtained.

Then Donaldson tinkered with the American Legion's radio set. At 6:05 a. m. a spark shot forth, exploding gasoline fumes and the ship blazed. Diving to earth beside a hangar, the fliers leaped out and stood by while the American Legion burned to her metal structure. Weimer was taken to Jamaica hospital with cuts, bruises and minor burns, but his injuries were not serious.

WILBUR PUSHES OIL CHARGES

Secretary Asks Legislation To Clear Issue

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (UP)—Secretary of Interior Wilbur apparently is determined to force an investigation of Colorado oil shale matters, regardless of whether the senate public lands committee takes up the matter this winter.

In a letter to Chairman Don B. Colton of the house public lands committee, Wilbur asked for additional legislation to clarify the oil shale question, brought to public attention by charges of Ralph S. Kelley, former field agent, that the lands had been administered in the interests of large oil companies. Kelley's charges were refuted in a department of justice investigation.

If the house committee heeds Wilbur's suggestion it probably will begin an inquiry of the whole subject. Chairman Nye of the senate public lands committee has indicated his belief that the question should be investigated by this group. Thus, the way now has been opened for action by both houses.

Mrs. Ernest May Brilliant Speaker At Woman's Forum

No group attending a lecture at the Woman's Forum recently has met a more charming speaker than Mrs. Ernest May who addressed the literature department and other forum members on "The Modern Trend in Literature" Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin, chairman of the department, introduced Mrs. Eleanor Pace, a prominent A. A. U. W. member, who in turn introduced Mrs. May in a most charming manner. She spoke of the work the speaker had done as a member of the university women and of her trip to Amsterdam as their representative.

Mrs. May, a young and graceful woman held her audience from her first sentence. She spoke quite naturally, using her hands as if she were speaking to each individual and exhibited a most unusual personality.

The general public, Mrs. May said, has been flooded with biography in the past year; she spoke of the types and classes of writers, stressing the fact that people who are written of now would never have been mentioned in an earlier age.

Giving as one reason why taste seems to have changed in biography she said that the famous were thoroughly known and readers wished to know of lesser people; she mentioned the psychological reaction that makes people who have not met great success in life ready to read of the unusual types of this day, and gave a list of the biographies of today.

Going back, Mrs. May stated that in the past, the biographer was chosen by the members of the family, often when the deceased was not a man who would interest posterity. The new biography, she said, was of post-war origin and was divided into three classes, the familiar, the historical and the psychological. She illustrated the latter with Strachey's "Elizabeth and Essex," stating that the new biography instead of giving a pen picture of life, seized on some outstanding feature; in this case, Elizabeth's long fingers and red head, etc.

Figures of intensely interesting life who have been given in biography lately were mentioned, among them "The Raven" and "The Adams Family." The glamour of these books was spoken of and she quoted some speaker who said that many were writing of small fish because the whales had all been written. The extremely interesting lecture was closed with the statement that the modern trend was intense and dramatic rather than prosaic hum drum life and a list of books was recommended.

Tea Served

The dining room where Mrs. Charles William Wallace presided gracefully at the lovely table was a pretty scene. A beautiful bowl of roses centered the table which was covered with a handsome filet cloth over yellow satin. Pastel candles with beautifully shaded tulle bows added to the colorful room and the service belonging to Mrs. Wallace over which she presided was an exquisite piece of silver artistry.

Golden chrysanthemums were arranged in baskets with pink tulle bows. The committee of arrangements and the hostesses arranged a perfect setting for the social feature.

Approximately 100 guests attended the lecture and tea.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We knew quite well, once upon a time, a man who never quarreled, but if he was irritated with any action of his family he would go about for sometimes as long as a week without talking. He might be won into a surly "yes" or "no," but oftener he merely shook his head.

And we have known men who chatted faster than the proverbial magpie.

These are the furthest extremes we know in the field of talk, and we have chosen them because we never knew a woman who remained silent for a week.

But considering talking as a simple, everyday habit of life, we have come to the conclusion that we would rather come in contact with that woman who talks little than with the one who talks too long. We know some from whom it is almost impossible to break away, and when one goes over the conversation(?), the substance can not be figured.

One thing we do not call conversation is argument. We find about one of a hundred who doesn't still believe as he did after an argument is supposed to be settled.

Lunching Wednesday, we were told by one of the winning contestants in the last state race that he believed every man should have to run for an office at least once in his life. We asked if it was so that one might really find who were true friends and he said no, but to know what a candidate had to stand.

On the contrary, a minister talking to us said that he had never been able to decide in his own mind how a man could run for office; how he could praise himself as a candidate was bound to do.

That may be true; they both had their convictions. But for blase, sophisticated, real knowing persons do not turn to politicians or lawyers or doctors or ministers. Take the young collegiate. We watch them at times as we wait for our family at Junior college. Thursday we saw four who were carefree youths and with what must be a changing style three were wearing hats. Each had a cigaret in his mouth; we heard one say, "That's the way with that —Bob (or some such name)—he drinks too ——fast." Then they began to count their money and between the four they discovered they had enough to buy three gallons of gasoline.

It's the youthful who must be daring these days. But we rather believe that with all their rakish airs and sophisticated manners, they have just the dreams that each generation of fine boys has had of great accomplishments.

Like Tom Sawyer when he saw his sweetheart. And by the way, the first castor we have seen since we were 16 was set on Tom's aunt's table in that play, built for young and old.

Never Blue Baby's Diapers

Bluing, as well as strong laundry soaps, is very irritating to a baby's skin. When diapers are removed they should be put into a covered pail of cold water to which borax has been added. Later they should be washed clean with pure soap, boiled, rinsed thoroughly, but not blued, and hung in the sun to dry. They should be folded, pressed with a hot iron and put away. A soiled or wet diaper should never be used a second time without being washed. The urine contains substances which are very irritating to the skin of a baby.

After "changing" baby, wash him between the legs and around the buttocks with a soft cloth or sponge and dry thoroughly by gentle patting with a soft towel. Then dust the parts with a good baby powder. This absorbs any excess moisure, prevents friction, chaffing, "urine-burn" and redness. Probably the best powder for the purpose is McKesson's Baby Powder. It contains a premium grade talc, consisting of very fine, soft flakes rather than pointed particles, with other ingredients, soothing and refreshing to baby's tender skin. In addition, it has a deodorizing effect that preserves that "fresh baby smell" which Mother loves so much and does not want to vulgarize with a palpable perfume. It is a real medicinal powder—entirely different from any other. Daily bathing of baby with daily use of McKesson's Baby Powder will keep baby's skin smooth, white and comfortable, which, probably, will do more than anything else to keep him a happy and contented baby. All McKesson Service Druggists and other independent drug stores sell and guarantee McKesson's Baby Powder. Get a can today and see how baby will gurgle his thanks. Dix Discusses Wives Who Hope To Have Careers

Shall a woman work outside of the home after she is married? There are as many answers to the problem as there are individual cases, and each one is loaded with dynamite. If you forbid women to follow any gainful occupation after marriage, you blight the lives of innumerable young lovers and doom them to celibacy, or to dragging out their romance through dreary years and years of waiting until all the fire and passion have gone out of it and it is nothing but a dull, drab thing that they are tired of before they ever take it to the altar.

There are thousands upon thousands of fine young men earning small salaries, or who have old parents or young brothers and sisters to whose support they have to contribute, who cannot think of marriage unless their wives keep on with their jobs. There are thousands of young couples whose economic status for life depends upon whether the wife works for a few years after marriage or not. With her help they can lay the foundations of a fortune and at middle age be sitting pretty on the sunny side of Easy street, but alone and unaided the man can barely make enough to support the family from day to day and they are doomed to die in poverty flats.

The great majority of women nowadays are in business before marriage. Many of them have spent much money and years of time in preparing themselves to follow some particular profession. Whatever special talent or ability they have generally lies along this line. They enjoy doing it, so it seems a senseless thing to ask them to give up this work they are fitted to do and that it is profitable for them to do just because they get married.

Every man expects his wife to be a helpmeet and if she can help him more by bringing in the bacon than she can by frying it, why should she not do it? And certainly the woman who works in an office at a mahogany desk has a more interesting job than the one who works over a cook stove. Nor does she work so hard nor such long hours as the domestic woman does.

That is one view of the subject. The other school of thought holds that it paralyzes a man's ambition and atrophies his energies for his wife to work outside the home after marriage and that when he finds out that she can support the family he sits back and lets her do it. Miss Martha McLendon, a prominent attorney and a divorce proctor in Kansas City, says that the business wife is first-aid to divorce.

"In the divorce cases I have investigated," she states, "I have found that much of the trouble has its root in the wife working outside the home. When a wife works, the husband usually gets lazy and loses his ambition and his self-respect. In time he doesn't mind living off her. He becomes extravagant with his money, throws it around and spends it on other women.

"Many of the men who don't run around with women are deterred largely through lack of finances, but when a man's wife works and he doesn't have to watch his pennies he can have a good time and he can take out the girls and spend money on them. The next step is the divorce court."

Miss McLendon also believes that most married women work because they are unable to settle down and stint and sacrifice in order to live on their husband's incomes.

They want to go on as they did before they were married. They want to have motorcars and dress as well as their girl friends, and in general keep up with Lizzie. Then if they have to quit work and do without all the luxuries they were used to, they are miserable and peevish, and domestic troubles result.

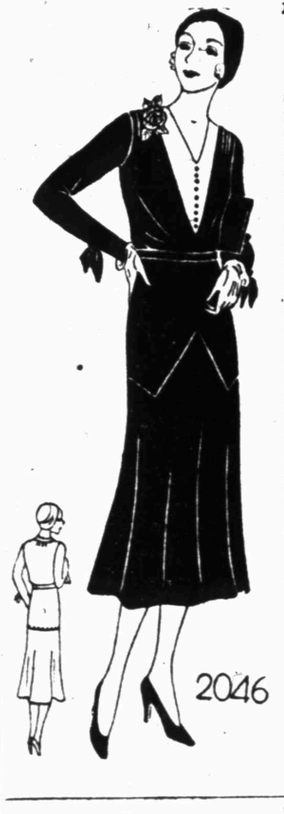

But isn't that life? Don't we all work in order that we may have the things that money buys, pretty clothes and radios and cars and amusements and what not? And do any of us, married or single, male or female, find anything to cheer about in having to adopt a lower scale of living?

It seems to me that the wife who helps pay the installments on the flivver, and earns the money to keep herself dolled up and looking attractive, stands a better chance of holding her husband and keeping him satisfied with matrimony than would be the case if his was the only pay envelope that came in on Saturday night, and it barely covered the necessities of existence and left nothing over for gasoline or movies or the beauty parlor. Many a man is disgruntled with matrimony because of what his wife costs him.

Undoubtedly there are men who need the spur of necessity in their sides to drive them on. They are loafers by nature and will let any hand, even a woman's, feed them that will, and they let Mary do it if Mary can and will. Also, without doubt, the lack of price is the beginning of virtue with many men and the only way many a wife can keep her husband is by keeping him so poor that he is of no interest to the gold-diggers.

Huey P.-T. A. Gives Unusual Program

An interesting talk on "How to Encourage Reading in the Home" featured the third monthly meeting of Huey P.-T. A. given at the school Wednesday afternoon. "Wisdom" was the theme of the inspiring devotional given by Mrs. George Gilham and the mother's quartet, composed of Mesdames F. A. Bidelspacher, J. H. Long, Fred Arbuckle and John Schiller sang "America the Beautiful," with Miss Kathryn Martin at the piano.

A playlet, "The Prickly Prince," bringing out the value of good books, was presented by the high fourth and high fifth room, Mrs. Ryle, teacher. The children taking part were La Vetta Kinsey, Scott Shirley, Mary Wade, Leon Wade, Wayne Brooks, Adena Ward, Roy Garner, Geneva Hightower, James Edwards, Herman Knight, Elsie Mahan, Charlie Stonecipher and Maxine Arbuckle.

During the business session, Miss Margaret Lewis read the minutes of the last regular and the executive meetings. The actions of the executive board were adopted by the association.

Mrs. Garner reported a balance of $71.66 in the treasury, all dues to the state and city council and all bills paid.

Mrs. R. Hightower, health chairman, gave a report of the preschool clinic check-up showing there were 23 children examined, 19 of whom had been examined in the spring clinic. Eight defects had been corrected.

Prizes of new books for the libraries of Miss Naomi Bowden's and Mrs. Ryle's rooms were awarded for 100 per cent membership.

Two new subscriptions were reported to the Child Welfare magazine, making a total of eight.

The new welfare chairman, Mrs. Homer Humphries, was introduced, and the "Standard of Excellence" was presented by the president, Mrs. R. D. Lewis, and each point was discussed. The association is striving to attain the standard.

It was decided to purchase a set of children's science books for the school library.

Miss Emma Zihlman was appointed parliamentarian and membership cards were distributed.

The room attendance prize was awarded the low fourth and high fifth grade room, Mrs. Ryle, teacher.

A large number of parents and teachers were present.

Crockett Board Plans Fathers Night Nov. 24

When the executive board of Crockett school P.-T. A. met Thursday morning, a motion made by Mrs. W. W. Fraser that no refreshments be furnished at the annual "Fathers Night" program and that the money be used in the shoe fund for the thrift exchange, was unanimously carried. Mrs. R. R. Clark, Crockett member of the thrift exchange and deeply interested in the welfare of school children, reported that a large gift of clothing was received after the last drive but it was immediately distributed. Approximately 500 children have been clothed, according to her statement, but the thrift exchange cannot function now on account of lack of supplies.

Mrs. T. C. Watkins, president, called the meeting to order and read a message from Mrs. Frank Creighton, president of the 13th district. Mrs. C. L. Anderson announced the next meeting on Friday evening, Nov. 21, at 8 o'clock.

Miss Ida Moore, principal, reported that nine children were being given lunches in the school cafeteria and the social chairman reported on plans for the "Fathers Night" program.

Mrs. G. C. Bullington presented her resignation which was accepted with much regret and Mrs. George A. Smoot was appointed pre-school chairman with Mrs. Gail Trickett as assistant to fill the unexpired term.

A study club for mothers desiring to enter one was suggested by Miss Moore and it was planned that at the P.-T. A. meeting, any mother having more than one yearbook would be requested to return them to the school.

Following the rising vote of thanks given Mrs. Bullington for her splendid work in pre-school clinics and the agreement that all members should give publicity to the fathers night meeting, members were adjourned.

Mrs. Railey Hostess At Home Mission Program

Zinnias in rich colors, chrysanthemums in all their autumn glory and a few beautiful November roses made the home of Mrs. J. E. H. Railey, where the First Southern Presbyterian church held an all-day program Thursday, particularly beautiful. The programs in blue and white, home mission colors, were pretty souvenirs for members and were made by hand by Mrs. Louis T. Hamlett. The blue cards held a white church in the corner and the program was in white.

"Near Neighbors," the home mission book written by Dr. Homer McMillan, was the theme of the day's study. "America, the Beautiful," was the song opening the meeting and Mrs. R. C. Anderson gave an inspirational devotional. Mrs. J. E. Hall told of "Home Missions Imperative," and "Building the Church" in a manner that was not only interesting but gave the lesson to the members. Following the lesson, Mrs. Grady Fletcher read "Save Them for the Nation," and Mrs. T. M. McKinney in handling "On the Red Man's Trail," discussed the missions among the Indian. Mrs. F. R. Johnson gave the prayer closing the morning session.

Lovely Luncheon Served

Mesdames W. A. Goolsbee, John Gracey and F. L. Storey, the committee in charge of the luncheon, arranged beautiful decorations and served a delicious menu.

Mrs. Fletcher, after luncheon, read cleverly "Poor Little Black Sheep," and following it, Mrs. J. A. Little discussed "Helping the Backward," making an interesting talk on problems of the negro race. Margaret Fleming gave a lovely vocal number, "Open Eyes," accompanied by Mrs. Stanley Rugeley.

"Developing a Great Race" was an interesting discussion by Mrs. George Singleton of the unique problems of the mountaineers, and after another song, Mrs. George Fleming, in discussing "Neighbors of Many Races," talked of all the foreign speaking people in the United States in whom the church is interested. Mrs. Fleming also gave the dismissal prayer.

Members who attended were Mesdames A. M. Britton, J. A. Little, R. C. Anderson, H. G. Barnes, Harry Lair, John Gracey, L. L. Herald, J. E. Hall, W. A. Goolsbee, A. W. Mount, F. R. Baptist Fidelis Class Has Pretty Luncheon Program

Yellow and orchid chrysanthemums furnished the color scheme of the Fidelis Sunday school class of the First Baptist church in their luncheon at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Thursday at noon. The long table was beautiful with masses of the fluffy mums.

Mrs. Paul Hines sang two exquisite numbers during the short program following the luncheon with Miss Thelma Adams accompanying her and Mrs. Arthur Kirby read charmingly "Gwine to Marry Jim," and responded to an encore.

A delicious luncheon was served to Mrs. Ben King, the teacher, and Mesdames B. T. McKinnon, A. W. Latham, L. E. Burnham, Leroy Richardson, Leland Miller, Ted Williams, John Webb, D. Woodson, Claude Peters, True Cauble, Paul Hines, Miss Thelma Adams and Mrs. Arthur Kirby.

Button, Button, Who Got the Button

With reference to the item in the "Observer" published by the Buchanan Stationery Company regarding the purchase of buttons by the Junior Chamber of Commerce:

Here is the dope—The Junior Chamber of Commerce office was asked by a local agency to procure some buttons for them bearing the legend, "I Believe in Wichita Falls" if same could be gotten here by Friday, Nov. 14th. The office set out to do this, not knowing that any button factory maintained a local agent. We immediately called a friend of ours in Dallas to get these buttons for them, but not for the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

When it was called to the attention of said local agency and the office of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, after we had placed the order, immediate steps were made to have the button order billed through a local stationery house. This has been done and officials of the Junior Chamber of Commerce assure you that this organization is still fighting for everything possible to make life better and more prosperous in the city in which we live and to carry out our slogan "It's Right in Wichita Falls."

We agree that it would have been a FINE EXAMPLE had we been guilty of purchasing these buttons out of town and had we known we could have purchased them in Wichita Falls. But this fact has never been advertised nor brought to our attention.

POLICE PROBE BOY'S HANGING

12-Year-Old Child Found Suspended From Tree

SMITHVILLE, Ont., Nov. 13.(UP)—Boys who may have hanged 12-year-old Charles Royal Lampman when they found him alone Monday were sought by Ontrario provincial police today after they learned young Lampman was threatened with death two weeks ago.

The new clue to the hanging—and the only tangible one revealed by police so far— was given by James L. Lampman, foster father of the dead boy, who said Charles had told him two weeks before his death he had been threatened by other boys.

"We could kill you in the woods, and nobody would know anything about it," Charles said the boys told him.

Lampman paid little attention to the threat at the time, but recalled it after his adopted son's body was found hanging by a rope tied to a pine tree on the Lampman farm.

The murder theory was strengthened because John Cwik, a neighboring farm boy, told police that he also was threatened within an hour after Young Lampman's body was found.

The farming valley around Smithville has been terror-stricken since the killing. At night, every door is locked, and guns are laid at hand in case anyone should prowl. Two families who lived close to the scene of young Lampman's hanging have moved into town.

Snow May End Search For Lost Manufacturer

JACKSON, Me., Nov. 13. (AP)—Fear was expressed by searchers today that a snow storm would hit this region and obliterate the tracks made in the woods by the mismated boots of Mitchell B. Kaufman, 37-year-old Massachusetts manufacturer who diesappeared nine days ago while with a party of hunters and guides. Weather conditions indicated snow.

Eight hundred men led by guides and hounds, today followed the three-day-old tracks found yesterday.

1,500 Pairs of Shoes Distributed to Needy

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (AP)—Fifteen hundred pairs of boots were given out at Oak street police station today to persons whose soles were thin and who were truly "on their uppers".

A shoe repair company contributed the shoes, all of which had been left at its stores to be mended and had not been called for. All the shoes were in good condition and there were sizes for almost everybody.

Quarantine Lifted In Seven Counties

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—Seven West Texas counties which have been under pink boll worm quarantine for about three years, were released from quarantine today at a meeting of the Pink Boll Worm committee.

The counties were Dawson, Howard, Borden, Glasscock, Martin and a part of Midland.

It had been planned to release these counties, and three others, some time ago, but these plans were abandoned at a meeting in Dallas on reports that signs of infestation had been found. Inspection in these counties since that time failed to verify the reports, according to J. M. Del Curto, state entomologist.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

THE above are a few examples. Our complete schedule includes low pressure for every make of car—come in and see yours.

Let us show you how the Blowout-Proof Tire makes this luxurious low pressure an actual feature of economy.

HERE AGAIN is proof that there is no other tire like the Blowout-Proof Tire . . . It challenges every comparison—for easy riding as well as safety.

Just look at the comparative air pressures in the chart . . . Note the astonishing low pressures which the new General Dual-Balloon permits.

Standardized tire construction today demands more or less high pressure—but so unique, so different is the patented construction of the Blowout-Proof Tire, it lets you enjoy tremendously reduced air pressures with absolute safety from blowout.

The result is the smoothest, most luxurious riding ease ever achieved in any tire.

But that is not all. Added to this superlative comfort you will have soft, skid-safe traction far beyond anything ever imagined in motoring.

Naturally, the remarkable success of the Blowout-Proof Tire has made it a target for wide imitation. But here is an easy way to distinguish the genuine Blowout-Proof Tire from any substitutes offered by the industry:

Compare the recommended pressure for all other tires with the remarkable low pressure made possible by the Blowout-Proof Tire.

After all, this low pressure is the real acid test of safe tire construction. Every motorist at some time forgets to watch air pressure. That's when the only tire that is safe from blowout is the one that is built to stand the abuse of neglected pressure.

The Dual-Balloon is "fool-proof." It can run as low as half pressure for days at a time without the disastrous flex-breaks from internal friction which cause blowouts in other tires.

In all the industry it is the only tire that offers these advantages of low-pressure comfort and high-speed safety.

SPECIAL . . this week

We will gladly equip your car for a week's free trial with no obligation to buy. Just put on the tires and run them—note how shock-proof and skid-safe—tires you can trust with your life regardless of road or weather.

Tire prices have never been so low, and if you have any thought of equipping within the next two years, now is the time. In addition, our special trade-in offer will further reduce the cost, and we'll gladly finance your tires on any terms to suit you.

Reward for Writing Sinclair Lewis Knows Always a Reporter

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Sinclair Lewis, one time reporter on the New Haven Journal-Courier on a salary of $10 a week while working his way through Yale, may realize today that it pays to sacrifice for development. He is selected as the first American to win the Nobel prize for literature. He comes at the end of a long line of world-renowned writers who were the recipients of the award: Kipling, Lagerlof, Tagore, Hamsun, Anatole France, Shaw, Thomas Mann.

Lewis learned how to write by being a good reporter. Newspaper work did not hurt his "style." As a matter of fact there is no style to his writing. He has achieved because he has been human and written books that have an appeal in any language. He has been reporting what he sees and what he has to say has become widely popular. His first real book, "Main Street," was a good piece of reporting about people we all know in every American city.

The best advice about writing has been given by Arthur Brisbane: "Write so that the reader will say, 'I feel as though I had actually seen what the writer describes'." That is what Reporter Lewis has done. And his books have sold by the hundreds of thousands.

When interviewed, Mr. Lewis admits he is just as ignorant of the solution of some of the world's problems as the man on the street, Main or otherwise, and he writes so that the man on the street will understand. As for his favorite novel, he cites "Arrowsmith," because "it's the only novel of mine I can stand reading at all." This is the simplicity of true genius. Tolstoi went to the peasant to learn something about life. And finally he wanted all his novels destroyed because he said they were worthless and harmful.

In Kentucky four persons are shot dead in election rows. They made voting exciting in Louisville and other sections of the state.

In one voting place, bearing the euphonious name of Stinking Creek, the Hon. Boyd Bingham, a Democratic judge, shoots and kills Hampton Smith, a farmer, because Hampton Smith voted republican.

To square matters, the son of Hampton Smith oils up his Winchester and shoots and kills the Hon. Boyd Bingham. At Elkhorn, Ky., Adam Cotterer, ex-deputy sheriff, is shot twice in a quarrel at the polls. In Pike county, Ward Hatfield is shot down from ambush. No shootings in Kentucky could be complete without the last gasp of a Hatfield.

That times are hard may be inferred from the price of murder, for instance, in Los Angeles. There a husband, Emery Ellis, pays $2.20 to have his wife killed. The crime is committed by Benjamin F. Brown, who expected $2,000 for the deed, but went ahead nevertheless on the $2.20 advance payment.

In New York the minimum for "bumping a fellow off" was, at the latest market quotation, $10. But it is probably lower than that now. Gangsters must live and the supply is larger than the demand.

Mussolini started out as a radical and wound up as the most absolute ruler of Europe. His despotism, good or bad, has aroused the protests of Italian Conservatives and Liberals alike, and a plot to overthrow Il Duce has just been uncovered in Milan. Prominent military chiefs, former cabinet ministers and university professors are involved.

As an emergency measure, Fascism is feasible and even necessary. But as a steady diet it must kaiserism. What is needed today fail. The age will not tolerate its strength, not ruthlessness.

The Soviet on Parade

THE RULERS of Soviet Russia seem to know the value of putting on a good show. Celebrating the 13th anniversary of the revolution, they held a great parade in Moscow. Fifteen thousand trained soldiers marched past the Kremlin, with banners waving and guns gleaming; then came no fewer than 500,000 citizens, marching together to show the might and power of the Communist regime.

It made an impressive spectacle—impressive to read about, triply impressive, no doubt, to see. There is no question that it stimulated the faith of such people in Moscow as were beginning to get weary of Bolshevism. Crowd enthusiasm is contagious. Moscow knows how to propagandize among its own people.

There is something in it, too, that ought to make us do a little thinking, even though Soviet Russia is literally and spiritually thousands of miles removed from our orbit.

This celebration was just another reminder of the stability and might of the Communist nation. We often like to think that Russia is due for a change. Any traveler who comes out of Russia with the report that Communism is on its last legs is sure to get big headlines in the newspapers. Since the Moscow government stands for so much that most of us on this side of the water dislike, it is easy and pleasant for us to think that it won't last much longer.

But no one ever prospered by kidding himself. It will be a lot better for us if we can realize that the government of the Soviets is not a shadow or a passing phenomenon that will soon disappear, but an established fact that will remain in the world for a good many years to come.

So far we have done our level best to ignore it, as if by shutting our eyes to it we could put it out of existence. And all the while it has been growing stronger and more powerful, so that there are students of the situation who now believe that the next few decades will see a stupendous clash between two diametrically opposed schemes of human society, with Russia as one of the contestants.

If the human race has not completely lost its reason, it probably will never be necessary for these two opposed social schemes to come to blows. But the danger is there—below the surface, as yet, and not especially alarming, but real, nevertheless.

The sensible thing for us to do is study the situation and see exactly what the facts are. We shall be extremely foolish if we go on in our old way of pretending that Soviet Russia can be ignored. Moscow really ought to be thanked for calling the solidity of its handiwork to our attention.

Acreage Reduction the Solution

COTTON FARMERS of Northwest Texas and southern Oklahoma who are receiving about half as much for their staple this year as last year will find food for thought in the following editorial from the Memphis (Tenn.) Commercial Appeal:

"The federal farm board suggests a reduction in cotton acreage and diversion of the surplus acreage to pasturage and feed crops as a solution for the cotton situation. The suggestion is sound and perhaps feasible. At any rate, it goes back to the fundamental principles of equalizing supply with demand.

"The only criticism of the suggestion that can be made is that the proposed acreage reduction is inadequate. If the farm board has facilities with which to bring about a reduction from 45,000,000 acres to 40,000,000, it should be able to bring about a reduction to a maximum of 30,000,000. Forty million acres with a favorable season for cultivation would easily produce a 16,000,000-bale crop. A crop of this proportion next year would be a calamity and indefinitely postpone the return of prosperity to the cotton states. Thirty million acres would produce a crop not in excess of 10,000,000 bales. Against a 10,000,000-bale crop we would still have a 6,000,000-bale carry over, which would take care of the demand under favorable conditions, and at the same time wipe out the carry over and give the South a clean slate with which to start the following year.

"The situation in the United States is not different from that in other countries. The carry over of American growth for 1929-1930, according to the New York Cotton Exchange service, is 6,187,000 bales, while the carry over of foreign growth is 4,998,000 bales. Other countries are giving consideration to the problem, with the likelihood that reduction will be about on a basis such as has been suggested for this country next year.

"It is highly desirable that concerted action be taken under the direction of the federal farm board, and that the farm board revise its figures to bring the reduction within a 30,000,000-acre crop."

Clearing Buckley's Name

REPORTS from Detroit indicate that the estate left by Jerry Buckley, the young radio announcer who was killed by gunmen last spring, totaled only $150. This news is worth thinking about.

To begin with, it ought to knock on the head those rumors current at the time of his murder, that Buckley was in league with crooks and was extorting large sums of money from speakeasy proprietors under threat of exposing them. If that had been true it seems reasonable to suppose he would have had rather more than $150 in his possession at the time of his death.

In the second place, it proves once more—as if it needed proving—that you cannot reckon the value of a man's services by the amount of money he makes. Buckley did Detroit a great service by arousing its civic conscience. The amazing outpouring of citizens to his funeral testified to the esteem in which his fellow citizens held him. But he died, by most standards, relatively a poor man.

HEARTBREAK GIRL

By ROB EDEN

Gail Stewart, befriended by Nick Walther after hiking to Hollywood, can't get in pitcures and becomes secretary to Carla Cross, the star. By subterfuge she gets Ross Hardy, her fiance, a chance as Carla's leading man. He makes good but fame spoils him and Gail ends their engagement when he makes love to Carla. Carla, hoping to marry Walther, discharges Gail when she goes to dinner with the wealthy man. Nick loves Gail, but she still loves Ross. Ross won't help the girl, and she goes to work in a store. She is thrilled when he comes to the store and invites her to dinner. He tells her of his financial troubles—he's living like a millionaire—and finally asks her to go to Nick and ask a loan for him. It is a terrific blow to Gail, who thinks Ross might have come to his senses. She finally consents to see Nick.

CHAPTER XXXIII

Gail was waiting for Nick, not impatiently as she had waited for Ross the night before. Waiting nervously, for she dreaded what she had promised to do. What would Nick think of her? Hoping he would be late, to put off her agony a little longer. How could she tell him?

She had had a sleepless night, and a miserable day at the store. Questions of Rita's to answer constantly. Where had she gone with Ross? What had he said? She had replied of course—with evasions.

When Nick came, she got into his car and without a word they sped away from Mrs. Green's. He had phoned when she had come in from the store, just as she was about to call him. Asked her to go out for a ride. And she had accepted, thinking of what she must ask him. Hating it.

The day had been another hot one, but the evening was fairly cool. Nick asked her preference for the ride, and she said she had none.

She was so quiet, he was worried. Now and then he glanced at the still figure sitting beside him. She had not moved since she had climbed into the car. Her hands were folded tightly in her lap, her eyes set ahead on the road.

"You're worried about something," he said at last, when they had left the city traffic behind, and were idling along the wide pavement to the orange country.

Gail only nodded. She didn't trust herself to answer.

"If I can help you—"

No, she couldn't ask him—yet. She didn't feel able. Something was holding her back.

"Don't you like your work at the store?" Nick had been surprised when he found out she was no longer with Carla.

"It's—all right—"

"Are you disappointed about the movies?" That was it! She was making no headway in her ambitions.

Gail Has Struggle

"It isn't that—"

"What is it then? You must know by now that I want you to be frank with me." He was making it so easy for her—

"It's—Ross, Nick—"

"Oh." That was all Nick said, but Gail felt the car gather speed as if he had stepped violently on the accelerator. She couldn't go on—not now.

There was a long silence before Nick spoke again. "What is it about Ross?"

"He came to me yesterday—and told me he needed money—"

Nick knew Ross needed money. The boy had already been to him for a loan, and he had refused it. He had done it as kindly as he could, under the circumstances. Now and then he helped out the movie colony, but too many demands had been made on his money lately. He didn't want to end up a money lender. When he had helped, it had been from a friendship angle, nothing else. He didn't feel particularly friendly with Ross Hardy. Indeed, for that matter, he didn't even like him. He knew that jealousy of the boy entered to a certain extent into his feeling for him. Frankly he was jealous of Ross. Hadn't Gail admitted she loved him?

"And you feel sorry for him?"

"I—he asked me to come to you—oh, Nick, I can't do it!"

The car stopped abruptly at the side of the road, and Nick faced Gail squarely. "Now what is it?"

"He asked me if I wouldn't come to you—and—"

"And what, Gail?"

"He wants—a loan—" She leaned back and tried to relax now that she had said it, but her body was still too tense.

"He asked you to come to me?" Nick was amazed. He didn't think Ross would do that. Ask a girl to plead for him, when his request had already been refused. Embarrassing Gail this way.

"Gail, tell me, did he ask you to do this?"

Gail's eyes, tragic, misty, told him Ross did.

No point in telling her Ross had already been to him. She would feel all the worse about it, then.

He tried to make his voice very business like as he continued. "What do you think about it?"

"What?"

"About the loan?"

"He needs money, Nick. He says he can't work he's so worried—and upset. He's young, and he doesn't know what money is—"

Nick thought bitterly that when he had been Ross' age, he had known what money was. Known it only too well. That was when he was starting to make his pile.

"He says you're his last chance—" her voice drifted off in the night. She dared not look at Nick again. She didn't trust herself.

"Do you want me to lend him money?" Quietly.

"I want you to do what you think is right—"

"I'm leaving it up to you, Gail. If you want me to lend him $6,000 on an unsecured loan, I will."

"Six thousand dollars?"

"Yes, that's what he wants."

"How do you know? He didn't mention any amount to me?" She felt panicky now, frightened. Ross was asking for a lot.

"Oh, I know, I heard." She did not need to know that Ross at first had wanted ten thousand, and then come down to six.

"If you want him to have it, he shall."

"Don't put it that way, Nick. I hated to ask you. All day long I've been loathing myself for promising I would ask you. I loathe myself now—"

"Then he'll have it, Gail, so don't worry." He started the car and they were riding again. There was no happiness in his answer for the girl. Only misery. What did Nick think of her now? Begging for Ross—

"You think Ross has a big future in pictures?" Nick was saying.

"I know—he has."

Nick nodded as if he were satisfied, but he was far from that. He was almost sure that the loan he had promised Ross would ruin him. He had heard tales, too, of the boy's extravagance, his wild passion for Carla, which was wrecking him. What the boy needed was the steady firm hand of a strict business manager. Someone who would collect his salary for him every week, and dole out very little of it to Ross, investing the remainder. Useless to suggest anything like that now. Ross was too far in debt.

"I didn't thank you, Nick—" Gail was murmuring.

"You needn't thank me," he said shortly.

"Do you—do you hate me now, Nick?"

"I shall never hate you, child. You know that. Do you still love Ross?"

Gail bent her head. "Yes," she whispered.

"And you want him?"

"Yes."

The car gave another spurt, then the speed evened up. Nick's hands loosened a little on the wheel. He had gone away for a week, thinking he might forget this girl. Hoping he might. But he had come back loving her more than ever, wanting her. The week away from Hollywood had been terrible. Gail had been in his mind night and day. The "boy" he had picked up on the road, the "boy" who had turned out to be Gail. He had driven past the place where he had found the hiker only yesterday, and stopped for a time, lingering near the spot, which had become something of a shrine to him.

He was planning another trip, this time farther away. A longer trip, maybe to China, anywhere. Just so that he could forget. Tried but failed. Today all day, he had fought with himself, wandering to the telephone, then away from it. So useless, his love. So hopeless.

He shouldn't be seeing her again. It would only make his forgetting more difficult.

"I Will—Nick"

The two of them unhappy, because they couldn't have what they wanted. . . .

He wanted Gail to be happy. Should he try to make her happy? A sudden plan struck him, and he brushed it from his mind as quickly as it had come. No, it was impossible. It persisted, however, and for miles it kept coming back and back to him.

Should he try to make Gail happy? Should he?

When they came to Mrs. Green's house a little after midnight he turned to the girl.

"Gail, you want Ross?" The girl nodded.

"You'd be happy if you had him?"

"Yes." She was puzzled. What did Nick mean? Why was his mouth so hard, and stern? Why was he shaking his head?

He touched her arm, then drew his fingers away quickly. "Gail, if ever you need me, I'll be waiting for you. Always, will you remember that? Always. Tell me you'll remember?"

"I will—Nick." She watched the car glide away, and then went slowly into the house. Nick had been so mysterious. She didn't understand. A hot wave of shame came over her as she went into her room, and glanced at Ross' picture on the dresser—she had done a frightful thing. Had hurt Nick again.

His attitude, his parting with her, still bothered her. What had he meant, asking her again if she wanted Ross? Insisting on an answer.

Answers to Questions

This is a special department devoted to the handling of inquiries. You have at your disposal an extensive organization in Washington to serve you in any capacity that relates to information. Write your question, your name, and your address clearly, and enclose two cents in coin or stamps for reply. Send to The Record News Information bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Who was it who replied "It always has" when he was asked whether he thought it would stop raining?—F. D. S.

A.—The story is told of the late Senators Spooner, of Wisconsin, and Allison, of Iowa. They were leaving the capitol one evening and it was raining heavily. "Do you think it will stop?" asked Spooner. "It always has," answered Allison.

Q.—What do the initials I. D. B. stand for?—W. N. T.

A.—They are a South African abbreviation for illicit diamond buying. The buying of diamonds contrary to South African law from natives or other unauthorized persons is a penal offense, which is tried by a special court.

Q.—Please describe the tube connecting Detroit with Canada. Is it the first international tube?—A. L.

A.—The international vehicular tunnel connecting Detroit, Michigan, and Windsor, Ontario, is the first subway ever built between two nations. It has taken nearly two and one-half years to build this tunnel. One of the most spectacular construction features was the fabrication, towing, and sinking of the nine steel tubes comprising the underwater portion. The ventilation system is similar to that used in the Holland tunnel. The total amount of fresh air that can be supplied to the ducts of the tunnel is approximately 1,500,000 cubic feet a minute, giving a complete change of air every 90 seconds. The tube is 5,135 feet from portal to portal, of which 2,200 feet is under water. The cost was approximately $25,000,000. Traffic capacity is 1,000 vehicles an hour in each direction.

A.—It is a torii. This gateway of a Shinto temple is properly comprised of two uprights with three super-imposed crosspieces.

Q.—What city is called the City of Oaks?—J. G.

A.—Raleigh, N. C.

Q.—What are circular notes?—S. A. C.

A.—Circular notes are notes or letters of credit furnished by bankers to travelers. With the notes the traveler is given a "letter of indication" bearing the names of foreign bankers who will cash the notes upon presentation.

Q.—Please describe the new Empire State building under erection in New York.—M. B.

A.—It is 85 stories high and 67 elevators will carry its 30,000 inhabitants to and from work. The 85th floor is 1,50 feet above the street and above this is the mooring mast which rises 200 feet higher. From 6,000 to 7,000 men are working every day on the structure, the steel frame of which weighs in excess of 46,000 tons. Despite the height of the Empire State, it goes down only two floors, about 33 feet, below street level. The windows are not indented, the glass being even with the outside wall. No heating apparatus is visible. The effect is one of extreme simplicity throughout. An investment of $55,000,000 is represented in the building.

Q.—When did Andy Jackson spell "Europe" "Erop?"—D. S.

A.—After his famous battle in the war of 1812 Andrew Jackson wrote: "I will hold New Orleans in spite of Urop and all hell."

Q.—What is the total number of policemen of all kinds in the state of New York?—R. D.

A.—The total number, including town constables, is slightly in excess of 63,000.

Q.—When did the Chinese coolie immigrants become a problem in this country?—R. T. Y.

A.—Prior to the discovery of gold in California in 1848 there were no Chinese laborers in the United States. From 1840 to 1850, according to immigration records, only 35 entered the country, but during the next decade 41,397 came to the port of San Francisco. About 1870 Chinese coolie immigration began to be a political issue and the treaty signed Nov. 17, 1880, gave the United States the right to regulate, limit, or suspend the immigration of new Chinese laborers, but not to prohibit it altogether.

Q.—How much money did William and Mary give for the founding of William and Marry college?—P. M. G.

A.—William and Mary college was founded in 1693. An old history of this college says that William gave 2,000 pounds toward the building and toward the endowment of the college William and Mary gave 1,985 pounds. This money was raised out of quit-rents of the colonies. The quit-rent was the rent paid to the superior by the under person in exchange for his service.

CANAL GROUP MEETS TODAY

Great Waterways System Nears Completion

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13. (UP)—When the 26th annual convention of the Intercoastal Canal association of Louisiana and Texas convenes here tomorrow, it may survey an almost complete chain of waterways extending between Mobile and Houston and linking the great ports of the Gulf of Mexico in a solid commercial phalanx.

A battery of dredges, burrowing at the rate of a mile a day from a point 125 miles distant toward New Orleans promises completion of the intercoastal canal, between New Orleans and Corpus Christi, within a year. Those miles comprise the last link in the huge undertaking. The state of Louisiana recently supplied $65,000 as its share of the cost, thus releasing some $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 of federal funds to finish the job.

Links Cities

When the project is complete, an inland series of canals will connect great American cities on the Gulf of Mexico.

At the eastern end of the chain is the free port of Mobile with its two miles of concrete wharves loaded with products brought down an intricate mesh of rivers and dumped there by railroads and ships from the seven seas.

At the western end is Houston, which has undertaken an enormous program to expand its port facilities, already estimated to have cost $62,000,000, to handle commerce which has made it the sixth port of the United States in foreign trade. Houston claims first place in cotton exports.

Expansion Planned

At the juncture of two great canals which form the coastal system, is New Orleans, the second exporting port in the United States, with a program for the expenditure of $1,000,000 a year for the next ten years to improve and expand its port facilities.

The first of these canals, which extends between Mobile and New Orleans and serves, also, Paragoula, Biloxi and Gulfport, Miss., was completed some time ago and plans have been made for extending it. Commerce with an estimated value of $16,000,000 annually moves on this channel. The intercoastal canal, now nearing completion, will bind New Orleans, Morgan City, Corpus Christi, Galveston and Houston together with an inland waterway.

At the end of a year, if plans are fulfilled, steel from Pittsburgh can be hauled all the way by barge to Houston, via the Mississippi waterways system. Cotton, wheat, petroleum and the many other products which flow to Texas can be loaded on barges at Houston and delivered to Mobile or any of the other intermediate ports on the inter-related canal system and the Mississippi and its tributaries.

To Move Steel

The steel and iron products of the Birmingham industrial district, which in 1929 supplied $34,422,365 worth of trade to the ports of the United States in coastwise traffic, will float down the Mobile, Tombigbee and Warrior rivers to Mobile and thence be delivered along the entire length of the gulf canal and Mississippi river systems.

Congress has appropriated $600,000 for extending the intercoastal canal from Mobile to Pensacola, Fla.

STAMFORD, Texas, Nov. 13.—The Old Glory Rural High school, which has been planned for a number of years, is an actuality, and the school opened for enrollment with Supt. W. A. Lewis in charge.

The newly organized school has an enrollment of 144, which will probably increase weekly until the first of the year and represents the combined districts of Old Glory, Hooker, New Hope and Old Brandenburg, which were consolidated by election last spring. Four school buses, three of them large, new white ones, daily transport the pupils from the annexed districts.

Teachers in this year's program are Superintendent Lewis, who comes from Roaring Springs; Mrs. Lynn Flowers and Mrs. J. B. Humphrey Jr. of Old Glory, James Lewis of Commanche, T. J. Turner of Rochester, H. G. Dowdey of Commanche, and Mr. Little.

BRIAND FIGHTS FOR POLICIES

Foreign Minister Takes Up Cage of Battle

PARIS, Nov. 13. (AP)—Foreign Minister Briand today took up the gage of battle over his foreign policies flung to him by the opposition and vigorously defended his course before the chamber of deputies.

He told Louis Marin, Nationalist leader, that if parliament felt the foreign minister did not possess the necessary firmness to deal with the situation, it should not hesitate to dismiss him.

Cotton Ginnings Reach 24,141 Bales in Tillman

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Nov. 13.—There were 24,141 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales, ginned in Tillman county, from the crop of 1930 prior to Nov. 1, as compared with 48,761 bales ginned to Nov. 1, 1929, according to the federal report. Next report will show the ginnings prior to Nov. 15.

Most of the cotton now being marketed is 75 points off middling and is known as strict low. From 75 to 150 bales or more a day recently have been ginned at Frederick and the two establishments near the city.

Some cotton has "put on" since the September rains but these bolls will not open until after a heavy frost. In the uplands the frost has been so light as not to have turned the leaves of the cotton stalks.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov 13. (AP)—Professor Arthur J. Hill, chairman of the chemistry department of Yale university, today made known today that he had sent a warning to graduate students and research fellows that they must not use for beverage purposes grain alcohol kept in the university storehouse for experimental and laboratory work.

Physician to Leave Brain to Science

CLEVELAND, Nov. 13. (AP)—Dr. Arthur MacDonald, Washington physician, notified Western Reserve university here today that when he dies his brain will be sent to the Reserve Medical school for scientific study.

"Men of intelligence, especially those engaged in research work, should add to the sum of human knowledge by leaving their brains to be analyzed after death," Dr. MacDonald said. He himself has long been engaged in a study of the human brain and recently examined the skulls of several members of congress.

Dr. MacDonald has provided funds for the pathological laboratory of George Washington university to remove his brain, and to send it to Western Reserve.

Pile Sufferers

End Your Misery Without Salves or Cutting

External treatments cannot permanently end Piles. Nor does cutting remove the cause.

The cause is internal—bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. The veins are flabby—the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles an internal medicine must be used to heal and strengthen the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, a specialist, after years of study discovered a real internal Pile remedy. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1,000 patients, with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist.

Don't waste time on external remedies or think of the pain and expense of an operation until you have tried HEM-ROID. Allison Drug store will supply you and guarantee money-back if it does not end all Pile misery.—Adv.

Meteors Tonight May Presage Shower in 1933

The great Leonid meteor shower now nearing the earth is due in 1933, but may miss its mark because Jupiter deflected the meteors' course (sketch) on their last visit in 1900. Drawing above shows typical mteor shower.

Scientists to Scan Heavens Tonight For Forerunner of Big Meteor Shower

Few Leonid Conflagrations Expected to Give Forecast of Huge Display Three Years Hence

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—A few thousand science sentinels will be out all night Friday in America and Europe—looking for signs of a possible celestial conflagration three years hence.

They will be watching a few Leonid meteors, advance guards perhaps of a very great host of meteors now out in space, somewhere in the direction of the orbit of Jupiter, but high above that planet's plane.

Some Leonids, however, may appear any night until Nov. 19.

This meteor flight is headed "downhill" toward the earth's orbit and will come very close to it—possibly cut it squarely and hit the earth by the millions—about 1933.

The sentinels are seeking to estimate their exact position.

The meteor swarm, in terms of "space-time," is three years long, that is, it takes three years to pass a given point. It is millions of miles wide, but astronomers estimate its core is only about 120,000 miles across.

Only if this central tube of meteors hits the earth is there expected to be a dazzling shower. This core has struck the earth many times in the past 1,000 years. It arrives three times a century, but it sometimes misses making a direct hit.

The vanguard of the Leonids is out in front of the main host, and by counting the few expected this year astronomers may be able to predict whether on the coming visit they will illuminate the night sky.

If the big show is headed directly earthward, the counts in the vanguard flights are expected to increase each year as 1933 approaches.

For the last two years watchers have counted the November Leonids. There were fewer of them last year than the year before—a bad sign, but not conclusive, for "seeing" or some temporary condition might have cut down the count last year.

The Leonids appear well after midnight tonight—in fact at nearly morning Saturday.

Jupiter was blamed for the Leonids missing the earth in 1900. This great planet was close underneath them as they swung earthward and is thought to have pulled them out of their regular course, so that only some of the thin edges of the stream touched the earth.

PASTOR RESIGNS AFTER BREACH

Fundamentalists Oppose 'Liberal Views'

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 13. (UP)—Rev. N. H. Royer withdrew from the pulpit he has occupied for the past 21 years today when he resigned as pastor of the First Lutheran church here.

Strife between Liberal and Fundamental factions within the church had caused breaches which he believed could be mended only by his resignation.

Church leaders said the Fundamentalist faction, composed of older members, was small but "intense." They objected to modern habits and doctrines of Rev. Mr. Royer.

"I do not believe every word of the Bible is divinely inspired," said the minister. "Fundamentalists do. In regard to the Jonah and the whale story in the Bible, I can't prove that Jonah was or was not swallowed and I don't care. It is merely a story to persuade people to believe that the violation of any law is followed by a definite penalty.

"It is a deplorable condition when a minister cannot go forward with a religious spirit that will guide people properly because of differences of this two factions in the church," he said.

Kennedy, honor law student, was convicted yesterday on the charges.

"Use Palmolive Beads for safe washing of silk hosiery"

advise Silk Manufacturers of World Renown

CORTICELLI...HOLEPROOF...KAYSER...LUXITE
PHOENIX...VANITY FAIR...VAN RAALTE

WOULD you protect your silk hosiery against unnecessary runs . . . keep colors like new . . . prolong wear? Then read what the great silk manufacturers advise as the correct way to wash silk stockings—all fine fabrics.

For years these master craftsmen have created America's finest hosiery. For years, too, they have used no soap for washing costly silk skeins that did not contain olive oil. Because—they declare—such a soap dissolves, cleanses and rinses away in water cool enough to be safe for silks.

Called "Ideal Soap for Silks"

These leading silk manufacturers submitted Palmolive Beads to exhaustive tests in their own laboratories. And now all of them acclaim this new discovery "the ideal soap for silks."

"Its olive and palm oils give a gentle cleansing action that protects the life of silk fibre," declares Kayser.

"It rinses away with the greatest ease," says Van Raalte.

"We foresee longer wear for silk stockings with this new and different fine fabric soap," writes Phoenix.

Approved by Committee of 17

What hosiery manufacturers have found to be true of Palmolive Beads in laboratory tests, American women find true in home washing of silks. The Committee of 17— a group of America's most distinguished women . . . called recently to the Ritz Hotel to watch tests of the new soap discovery—unanimously voted Palmolive Beads "the ideal soap for all fine fabrics."

Give your own lovely lingerie and sheer silk hosiery the protection of this new bead soap. Order a box from your dealer today.

Vanity Fair interprets in sheer silk hosiery the flare and style that are an essential part of the modern woman's dress today. "If you wash silk hosiery with Palmolive Beads," says Vanity Fair, "you will obtain the longest life and beauty possible from silk stockings."

WOMAN'S DEATH BRINGS PROBE

Wife Fatally Stabbed at Rival's Apartment

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 13. (AP)—Prosecuting authorities sought to determine today whether murder or suicide explained the death of Mrs. Nelson C. Bowles, stabbed through the heart with a bread knife in the apartment of her husband's former secretary, Mrs. Irma Paris, 25.

As police received the story from the principal Mrs. Bowles went to the apartment of Mrs. Paris yesterday to inquire about the former secretary's relations with Bowles.

The women were reported to have quarreled and Mrs. Paris telephoned to Bowles, who hurried to the scene.

Bowles told officers he and the two women had discussed the situation and Mrs. Bowles had gone to the kitchen apparently to get a glass of water. He said he had a partial view of Mrs. Bowles as she stood at the kitchen sink and that presently he saw her slump to the floor.

Bowles said he rushed to the kitchen and found his wife with a bread knife plunged into her breast. He summoned a physician but she died in a few minutes.

Officers said Mrs. Bowles' body had been removed to a mortuary and the apartment put in order before they were notified of the tragedy. Mrs. Paris confirmed Bowles' statements, officers said.

Investigators inclined to the belief that Mrs. Bowles had taken her own life but said they would await the coroner's inquest before making a final decision.

Bowles, who is 34 and scion of a prominent family of Portland and Seattle, said he and his wife had been separated about a month. He said he had attempted to communicate with her yesterday but had been unsuccessful.

Mrs. Bowles was 33. Before her marriage she was Miss Leone Cronkhite of Yakima, Wash. She leaves two small daughters.

No blood was spilled, but dozens of sore heads resulted and 36 of the Reds were hustled into patrol wagons and locked up.

BOMB SEEN IN STORE BLAST

Police Probe San Antonio Explosion

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 13. (AP)—A theory that a shattering explosion which completely destroyed the interior of the Van Ness drug store yesterday was caused by a bomb and not by accidental formation of explosive gases, was advanced today by Fire Marshal Ed. Wolff.

Wolff's statement followed an investigation of the explosion which rocked the entire neighborhood in the vicinity of the drug store and brought terror to hundreds of residents. The blast also resulted in severe burns to H. T. Pinson, 29, proprietor, when he hurried to investigate the explosion from his living quarters in the rear of the store.

Wolff stated that the intense concussion of the explosion could hardly have been caused by combustion of gas fumes. He believes the blast was caused by a carefully laid high explosive bomb.

Destruction of the drug store recalled that Pinson sustained a bullet wound in the right knee on the night of Sept. 7, 1930, when he attempted to prevent a holdup at his establishment. A youthful bandit shot the proprietor when Pinson struck at him with a bottle. Several suspects were later arrested but no charges have been filed. Pinson has been seeking the man who shot him since he recovered from the wound.

English Church Heads Foresee Reunion of All Christian Faiths

LONDON, Nov. 13. (UP)—The reunion of all Christian faiths during the present generation was depicted as a possibility today by the archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, in a speech before the lower house of the convocation of Canterbury.

The same theme, envisioning Christian reunion, was simultaneously put forward by the archbishop of York, the Most Rev. William Temple, in addressing the full synod convocation of York at York.

The archbishop of Canterbury, in discussing the future development of Christianity, expressed the belief that the church was moving toward greater unity.

"The prospect now opening before our eyes is of groups of churches in all parts of the world, all of them self-governing and free to develop their own character on their own lines," he said. "Yet they are in communion by virtue of their existence in the common bond of faith and order.

"Therefore, we may see, in our time, the return to that firm visible unity which marked the undivided church before Christendom was sundered into its various fragments."

Party Heads Pledge Economy in Bills

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (INS)—Republican and Democratic leaders on the house appropriations committee both pledged themselves today to economy in making up the big annual supply bills for next year, but differed upon the probable expenditures of congress.

Representative Will R. Wood of Indiana, committee chairman, said that appropriations may be cut a little under last year, but added this calculation might be upset if extraordinary expenditures are voted for public buildings and other unemployment relief work.

Representative Joseph Byrns, Democrat of Tennessee, ranking minority member, predicted the total appropriations will go beyond five billion dollars, with congress sure to make huge outlays for public works.

Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) germ associated with cold and irritated throat.

COLDS AND SORE THROAT

Gargle Listerine every 2 hours reduces mouth germs 98%

In your mouth, a fierce and continuous battle is being waged. The forces of Health against those of Sickness. Nature against Germs—dangerous bacteria that lodge and multiply in the mouth by millions, striving to cause illness.

Surely you can appreciate the necessity of using, every day, a mouth wash fatal to germs, yet harmless to tissue.

Physicians have long urged a night and morning gargle with full strength Listerine, the safe antiseptic with the pleasant taste. For Listerine kills germs of all types in 15 seconds. No faster killing time has ever been accurately recorded by science.

Gargle every 2 hours

The morning and night gargle is deemed sufficient in time of normal health, to keep germs under control and maintain a cleanly condition of the mouth.

But when infection is actually under way, which is the case when you have a cold, sore throat, or inflamed condition of the oral tract, authorities urge that the gargle be repeated every two hours.

By so doing you give the body, now at lower resistance, the extra attacking force it needs to combat the ever-multiplying germs in the mouth.

Mouth germs reduced 98%

If you could look into your mouth with a microscope before and after gargling with Listerine, you would behold a remarkable transformation.

Before the gargle you would see millions and millions of germs, alive, wriggling, darting to and fro. After, you would see the same germs dead and powerless to cause harm.

Repeated tests, following the technique employed at great Universities, show that full strength Listerine actually reduces bacteria on the surfaces of the mucous membrane, 98%.

At the first symptom of trouble in the oral cavity, begin gargling with Listerine and consult your physician.

Do not be afraid to use Listerine undiluted. Only in this way can you get the full benefit of its germicidal action. Remember that Listerine is non-poisonous, absolutely safe to use, and actually healing to tissue. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

SCHEDULE FOR BRANIFF LINE TO SET NEW SPEED RECORD

AIR SERVICE STARTED HERE

J. Glenn Groves Named Agent for Wichita Falls

J. Glenn Groves was appointed traffic manager and agent of the Braniff Airways in Wichita Falls when Paul R. Braniff inaugurated air passenger service between Tulsa, Oklahoma City and Wichita Falls Thursday morning, flying here from Oklahoma City on the first trip of the new service.

Six Passenger Planes

Office space will be maintained in the lobby of the Holt hotel, Mr. Groves stated. Mr. Groves was traffic manager here for the Safeway lines for a period of 18 months prior to the discontinuance of service by that line.

Mr. Braniff had intended to inaugurate the service Sunday after making several test flights in order to work out a schedule. However, just before the flight Thursday, he decided to commence actual service at once, and arrived here Thursday morning at 10:02 o'clock in one of the two new Lockheed-Vega six-passenger cabin planes recently delivered from the California factory. The flight here from Oklahoma City consumed 52 minutes, although under ordinary flying conditions the trip will be made in 45 minutes.

The schedule Mr. Braniff announced for the service will be the fastest in the United States, it was said. Planes will leave Tulsa at 8 o'clock each morning and at 2 o'clock each afternoon, arriving in Oklahoma City at 8:45 a. m. and 2:45 p. m., and at Wichita Falls at 9:30 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. Return trips will begin at 9:30 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. out of Wichita Falls, arriving in Oklahoma City at 10:15 a. m. and 4:15 p. m. and in Tulsa at 11:15 a. m. and 5:15 p. m. The fare will be $7 from Wichita Falls to Oklahoma City and $14 from Wichita Falls to Tulsa.

150 Miles Per Hour

Connections are also made in Wichita Falls with the Western Air Express planes to Amarillo in the morning and Dallas during the afternoon.

While in Wichita Falls, Mr. Braniff stated that if business justified in the future, a plane to arrive in the late afternoon and to stay overnight here would be put on to take care of traffic.

When the plane arrived Thursday morning, it contained Mr. Braniff, Chester Bailes, pilot, and Mrs. P. S. Pidding, a former Wichitan now living in Tulsa who was the first passenger to be carried over the line. Mrs. Pidding is visiting relatives here.

Mr. Braniff announced that M. A. Marrs would be chief pilot and Chester Bailes and Ray Schrader, pilots. Mr. Braniff was greeted at the field by a committee which included J. S. Bridwell, president of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce; Wilburn Cahoon, president of the Wichita Falls Airport association; Budley B. Foy, chamber of commerce traffic manager, and Wilburn Page, secretary of the Junior chamber of commerce.

The plane on the afternoon schedule arrived at 3:30 o'clock, making the trip on schedule time. Before returning to Oklahoma City on the second plane, Mr. Braniff explained that his line was assuming an average speed of 150 miles per hour and was cutting down on time from airport to city. All other lines in the country, he said, operated on a speed basis of 100 miles per hour.

Safety Stressed

Mr. Braniff and business leaders here appeared very enthusiastic for the future of the new airway, which is on a 60-day test, the success of which will determine the permament establishment of the line.

"We have eliminated all the red tape of signing a long ticket," Mr. Braniff said, "and passengers may now purchase a ticket as they do when they travel any other way. We do not expect to have much baggage worries, since most of our business will be brief-case business, and we are concerned only with making speed and safety our most important factors."

Dixie Farmers Pool More Cotton Than Ever

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (AP)—More cotton is being pooled in the South than ever before, the total quantity being handled cooperatively being far in excess of the expectations of the association managers or members of the federal farm board, according to a Washington dispatch to The Daily News Record.

Up to Nov. 5, 1,401,000 bales had been pooled compared with 420,000 on the same date a year ago and 363,000 bales in 1928.

The largest quantity has been pooled by Texas farmers with 430,000 bales, Georgia is second in the pooling, while Alabama is third and Oklahoma fourth.

Rev. Patrick Henry Named President Of Christian Churches of District

Officers Elected at Quarterly Conference; Only Power of Church Can Halt Bolshevism, Says Dr. Hill

Rev. Patrick Henry, pastor of the Highland Heights Christian church of Wichita Falls was elected president of the Wichita district of Christian churches for the next year, Rev. C. M. Jackson, pastor of the First Christian church at Olney was named vice president and Dr. R. B. Wolford was elected secretary of the organization at a quarterly banquet of the group held at the First Christian church here Thursday evening.

Rev. H. T. Wood, pastor of the First church here, presided at the affair and gave the welcome address after which Harry Hines, prominent laymen of the church, introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Claude E. Hill, pastor of the First Christian church at Tulsa, Okla.

Power of Church

Dr. Hill in his address on the pension fund system discussed the foundation of the plan and told of its aims.

"During the last hundred years of the church's activities many drives have been conducted for various activities in the church but this is the first time the church has attempted to do anything for its ministers. The world lives more by preaching than by any other one thing and there is no other way to have preaching other than to have ministers. Scientists, poets, philosophers and teachers have contributed a lot to this world but every advancement the world has known, moral or otherwise has been the result of preaching," the speaker pointed out.

"Preaching lighted the torches of freedom in England and Scotland and ended the bonds of slavery in America. The church has only its message but when that message fails to reach the hearts of our people, I shudder to think of what will happen to our nation.

Pension Fund Explained

"Business will never stem the tide of the Red danger that confronts our country and education will never stem the tide that runs toward Bolshevism; the only salvation we can look to for the end of this tremendous trend to paganism is the power of the church."

In closing, Dr. Hill explained the principles of the pension system which will be put into operation on Jan. 1 if sufficient funds are raised.

Following Dr. Hill's address, Harry Hines made a short talk outlining plans whereby the money might be raised in the various churches. Mr. Hines is state chairman of the fund.

The meeting was closed with a song by R. E. Shepherd who was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Shepherd. The next quarterly meeting will be held in Graham at the First Christian church.

RAINS BENEFIT STEPHENS SOIL

Ranch Lands Show 90 Per Cent Improvement

Special to The Record News.

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Nov. 13.—The condition of Stephens county farm and ranch lands is better than it has been for three years, farmers and livestock raisers were saying Thursday, following timely rains of the past two days.

Rains this week came in the "nick of time," according to experienced farmers and ranchmen. Until the present rains came, the ground on top was becoming dry and feed stuff planted immediately after the last rains were in need of more moisture. These last rains will insure a splendid grain crop and plenty of winter grass and weeds.

Feed Ample

Farmers of Stephens county will have ample feed stuff for their livestock this winter and a great saving is seen, since farmers had been making plans to purchase much feed this winter for their stock. Stephens county farms are covered with healthy grain and feed that will be used to winter their stock. Conditions are looking 90 per cent better than they were two months ago, when farmers and ranchmen were figuring on ways and means of securing feed for their stock this winter.

The fall rains point to a brighter spring next year, too, since Stephens county soil has a better seasoning at this time than at any time in a number of years.

Yield Sure

Farmers who received the two carloads of government wheat last week and have already planted it, may be sure of obtaining a good yield of the grain, which is beginning to come up now.

Condition of Wortham Boy Still Critical

Arthur Wortham, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wortham, 1411 Thirteenth street, was still in a critical condition at the Wichita Falls General hospital Thursday night after receiving a fractured skull Wednesday when struck by an automobile driven by J. W. Boyd in the 1300 block on Holliday street. X-ray pictures Thursday revealed a serious fracture at the base of the skull. The boy was struck when he dashed into the street after a football.

Katy to Put 900 Men Back to Work

DALLAS, Nov. 13. (AP)—Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad officials here said today in accordance with permission granted the line by the Interstate Commerce commission, about 900 former employes of the railroad would be put back to work.

The order of the I. C. C. permits the road to re-employ shopmen for three weeks in December and pay them without charging the wages against operating expenses of the company, until equipment repaired in the shops is put into service again.

It was announced that this action by the railroad was entirely one intended to relieve unemployment, since the line has a surplus of engines and the ones to be repaired are not needed in service at present.

Poultry, Rabbit Display Planned

Members of the Wichita Valley Poultry association and the Wichita Rabbit Breeders association held a joint meeting Thursday night in the office of G. C. McGown, agricultural agent, in the basement of the courthouse.

There will be special and cash premiums offered that will attract birds from over Texas and Oklahoma. The catalogs will be ready for mailing Monday morning, Nov. 17. Those desiring the catalogs should address C. O. Smith, postoffice box 1205, who is secretary of the poultry association. The rabbit division has for its secretary J. H. Stanfill.

In the production class this year there will be a number of special prizes in addition to the cash premiums. A very heavy entry is expected in the Leghorn class.

Gold and Silver Fall To Low Level in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 13. (AP)—Business circles were concerned today by a new slump in the values of both gold and silver, and as a result plans hastily were made for a conference of banking and commercial interests with government officials.

The slump reached its height yesterday when, despite strenuous effort by the government and banks to check the downward trend, the silver pesos fell to 15 per cent less than gold, whereas the normal difference is 3 per cent.

At the same time the value of both gold and silver money suffered a strong decline in exchange for the American dollar.

W. C. T. U. BACKS PRAYER WEEK

National Leader Outlines Temperance Plan

HOUSTON, Nov. 13. (AP)—A world-wide week of Pentecostal prayer, in which as many as 2,500,000 members of the woman's Christian Temperance union may participate, was approved this afternoon by officials of the national union, in 56th annual convention here.

The plan as outlined by a spokesman for Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president, will comprehend sending a message of temperance, identically worded to the sister organizations all over the world for reading probably in the week of January 8-15. Heretofore, it was said, the prayer week had been observed only in this country.

That action was taken in an executive meeting of Mrs. Boole and the various state presidents. There was no open session today, the general meetings not being scheduled to begin until tomorrow.

Officials had said that Governor Moody, though he originally was on the program for tomorrow night, would be here tonight instead to welcome the delegates, but as the night musical program began, it was announced from the stage that he would not be able to arrive until tomorrow.

Another problem which occupied the officials was whether a number of proposed regional conventions next year should replace the annual dalcon, or whether it should be continued. The discussion, it was said authoritatively, centered around the desire of the organization not to "let up" in its fight against the enemies of prohibition. There were reports that a publicity campaign also was discussed.

Today's most colorful event was the street parade in which about 1,000 women walked or rode in motor cars. They were led by a police band and a motorcycle escort. The only banner displayed was one proclaiming that "Fourteen Million Women Say Prohibition Can and Will be Enforced."

Jensen 'Resting Well,' Attendants At Hospital Say

Andrew Jensen, South Dakota farm boy, was again favored to recover late Thursday night when hospital attendants stated that he was resting well after passing a second crisis brought on early Thursday morning when his temperature started rising after a hemorrhage.

Jensen was taken to the hospital about 10 days ago after being shot twice by Jess Leverett, city plainclothes officer, in the Country Club Estates while trying with two companions to locate highway 79 out of town.

The bullets which had lodged in the back and neck had been removed by physicians and young Jensen had shown considerable improvement until the relapse Thursday morning.

A. P. I. ADJOURNS ANNUAL MEET

Oil Men Fail to Act Upon Tariff Proposal

CHICAGO, Nov. 13. (AP)—The American Petroleum Institute adjourned its 11th annual meeting tonight without committing itself on imports and oil tariff proposals.

The tariff proposal, which many big importing companies oppose and large producers favor, was discussed by the board of directors but was held over without action for future consideration at a directors' meeting.

The directors, in adopting resolutions asking the industry to adapt itself to a greater degree to the law of supply and demand were careful to add that their action was "not to be construed as an approval of the present rate of imports nor as an acceptance of the principle that domestic production should be limited by the amount of imports."

Refiners Warned

The board of directors called attention to committee reports showing that if the runs to oil stills continue as contemplated by the separate units of the industry, "the stock of gasoline on hand March 31 next based on a break-even demand would be 78,000,000 barrels, an amount so much in excess of the estimated requirements as to demand the immediate attention of every refiner."

The American oil industry then was urged by the board to try to conduct operations so as to harmonize the supply of gasoline and crude oil operations with the indicated demand "to the end that they may avoid the wasteful conditions indicated" in the committee reports.

Final business sessions of the three divisions of the institute were held this afternoon. In the marketing division, the chairman, Henry M. Dawes of the Pure Oil company, asserted the oil companies should carry on their business "as one price merchants, rather than like a lot of shysters with as many prices as customers."

Violations Charged

Calling attention to flagrant violations of the institute's code of ethics by the sellers of gasoline, Dawes said the only way to solve the marketers' problem was "to post one price in the service station and to adhere to it: to forget courtesy cards, charge accounts, commercial discounts, and all of the host of subterfuges now resorted to for the purpose of discriminating between customers and receiving competitors.

The preparation of a manual on fire protection to be distributed to the thousands of men engaged in distributing petroleum products was described by R. A. Wotowitch of the Cities Service company, New York, in a paper before the marketing division.

The principal fire hazards in the marketing of petroleum products, Wotowitch said, are friction and combustion, electrical storms causing ignition and any other sources of sparks or flashes; explosions, faulty mechanical devices and equipment and careless handling of flame producing materials.

Regular Inspections

To combat fires, Wotowitch urged widespread dissemination of information concerning the type and proper use of fire fighting equipment, and regular inspections of equipment and personnel.

Ways and means of putting the oil industry on somewhat the same basis as the packing business which is well known for using every part of the pig except his squeal, were discussed by the chairman of the committee on disposal of production wastes, V. L. Martin of the Prairie Oil and Gas company, Independence, Kan. Martin prefaced his remarks by saying "at least 50 per cent of our so-called wastes are preventable. The simple fact that some oil escapes from its normal course of travel from well to the refinery should not automatically class it as a waste. Rather it is a loss of a valuable product, and some means should be provided to prevent these losses.

'Hackberry Slim' All Ready for Rodeo

He Catches His Wolves With Flivver

More than 35 "home talent" but nevertheless ferocious wolves will compete against at least 100 dogs entered in the wolf and dog rodeo to be held under the auspices of the Wichita Falls Elks lodge Sunday afternoon at the Staley airport, according to Turner E. Campe, director.

"Hackberry Slim" Johnson, former Wichitan and rodeo bronc rider and roper who has competed in rodoes over the entire country, has been busy for a month catching wolves in this territory to be pitted against the numerous fine wolf and grey hounds and floppies entered in the contests.

"Hackberry Slim" stated that he had two dogs which he used with a Ford car to catch the wolves without harming them. His two dogs have been trained to "down" a wolf with the least amount of damage to the animal, which is held by the dogs until "Hackberry" arrives with a sack.

The wolf and dog fights are not inhumane, it was stated, as the animals are allowed together for only a few minutes and a kill seldom occurs and wolves are used in only one contest per week. "It is far more humane than rabbit coursing," Turner E. Campe stated. "In rabbit races, the rabbit is used until caught and the kill is made."

E. R. Brown, editor of the Electra News, discussed the science of economics in relations to present business conditions, encouraging the civic leaders in their efforts to improve the local situation.

Dr. F. W. Carman, tuberculosis specialist of Dallas, was a guest at the meeting and discussed the treatment of the disease.

and that no further allotments for 1932 might be expected when that year arrived. Nevertheless, it was believed, state highway departments had their programs worked out so far in advance of their available money they could undertake large construction with no waste.

In addition to the $10,488,476.78 uncalled for as yet in the treasury, $1,105,639.59 has been taken from the treasury ready for expenditures upon Texas projects, approved but not yet begun, costing $2,820,000.

Federal aid highway construction aggregating $14,766,525, of which the federal government contributed $6,147,590, already is under way in Texas.

TRAIN VICTIM NEAR DEATH

Colorado Man Falls Under Wheels of Car

Although an investigation was conducted by both the Fort Worth and Denver and the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railways to determine which of the roads' trains crushed and critically injured Tom Slater, 40, of Center, Colo., beneath its wheels just north of the Wichita river railway bridge about 7:30 o'clock Thursday morning, officials of both railroads were unable to discover how the accident occurred.

A train of both the Denver and the Katy leave Wichita Falls at about the same time and where the accident occurred both trains use the same tracks. No one witnessed the accident and although both companies wired ahead in an effort to determine which train injured the man, the moving wheels of the car that ground and mangled Slater's arm near the shoulder and inflicted severe injuries to the right leg had erased all signs.

Slater was taken in an Albert's Funeral home ambulance to the Wichita General hospital, where it was necessary to amputate the arm at the shoulder. He was also suffering from severe shock, loss of blood and other injuries.

Despite the man's condition, he was able to tell hospital attendants that he had slipped and fallen beneath the wheels of a box car when he attempted to get on the moving train. He also confirmed his identity, which had been discovered when a note was found in his pocket requesting that Mrs. Tom Slater of Center, Colo., be notified in case of accident. He had left Center several weeks ago to search for work.

Hospital attendants stated Thursday night that Slater's condition was so critical that no change so far had been discovered. His wife in Center, Colo., had been notified but it was not known whether any of his relatives were on the way here.

Witnesses Tell Story Of Galveston Shooting

GALVESTON, Nov. 13. (AP)—Taking of testimony in the trial of John W. Adams, former deputy sheriff and probation officer charged with the murder last spring of Marie Doherty, began today. The 12th juror was sworn in shortly before noon.

Witnesses said Adams came to Ernest Sigmon's place on the afternoon of March 6, fired four shots into the floor and threatened to kill Marie Doherty. As he was going out of the place with her, he stumbled and she helped him to his feet and they walked across the street to her house together. As he reached her gate he transferred the gun to his right hand, opened the gate and went into the house behind her. A shot was then heard and the woman fell through the doorway screaming for help.

THREE SLIDE VICTIMS FOUND

Searchers Probe Ruins for Buried Bodies

LYONS, France, Nov. 13. (AP)—This was a bitter night in Lyons as workmen thrust crowbars under debris of 12 ruined homes, half fearful of what they would find beneath as the toll of a landslide today took perhaps as many as 100 lives.

As night fell they had recovered only three bodies in the ruins along the slope of the Fourviere hill where the ground slid out from under a dozen houses this morning, tumbling them in upon themselves and burying men, women and children.

Police and firemen hurried to the vicinity as the first thunderclap of the catastrophe startled the city. Twenty-five of them moved unafraid into the ruins to bring out the injured, and were buried, under walls which toppled in on them without warning.

About the scene tonight the families of those who were lost sobbed as the work went slowly along. Volunteers were scarce after that group of police and firemen had perished, and the task of caring for the living appeared of even greater importance than that of searching for the dead.

Engineers called from Grenoble hastily shored up buildings which remained standing in the vicinity; hospitals near the ruins were evacuated as a precautionary measure. The cathedral was opened to the survivors and hundreds of homeless crowded in, for it was the only place they had to spend the night.

As the night advanced and the darkness made work impossible, the task of excavating the debris was halted, to be resumed at day break.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS TUTOR

Burk Man Tells Beauties of English Language

Tribute to the English language as a medium of speech through which expression of virile, forceful thought may be adequately made was paid by Jack McWilliams, English teacher in the Burkburnett High school, before members of the Rotary club at the Kemp hotel Thursday noon.

Mr. McWilliams, a member of the Burkburnett Rotary club, announced his speech as a "classification" talk.

The English language is a man's language," he said, "virile, forceful a language which expresses itself. There is strength behind our speaking. It is terse and concise, a speech of power. The English language has been distilled in this American melting pot from the best of all languages and is a heritage of which we should be proud."

Twenty students comprising the Zundelowitz Junior High school orchestra, directed by Miss Minnie T. Baker, and attired in new red and grey sweaters, played two selections.

Loss of "the highest type of citizen" in the recent death of A. V. Moller was mourned by A. H. Britain, who eulogized the qualities which he said "had stamped upon Mr. Moller's face the best traits of his Danish ancestry and of his native America."

Paul R. Braniff, president of the newly opened Braniff airline was a guest at the meeting and was introduced by John Boswell for a short talk on modern air travel.

Ross Rogers of Amarillo, formerly of this city, presented the club with an electric Rotary emblem as a gift from the Neon Manufacturing corporation and the Wichita Falls Poster company. S. H. Standefer of Amarillo, John Akin, Henry Ford and R. W. Smith, of Wichita Falls were associated with Mr. Rogers in presenting the emblem to the Rotary club.

Highway 5 Leaders Seek Route Across Montague and Clay

Paving of Road From Arkansas to West Texas Hinges on Agreement on Right of Way

Dudley B. Foy, assistant manager of the chamber of commerce in charge of traffic, W. B. Hamilton, chairman of the highway committee, and D. M. Puckett, division engineer of the state highway department, will go to Henrietta Friday morning to participate in the meeting to be held there in an effort to settle right of way difficulties through Clay and Montague counties confronting state highway No. 5 plans, according to an announcement Thursday.

Highway No. 5, an important artery of travel from Texarkana to West Texas, is paved to the Arkansas line from Gainesville. It is planned by the state highway department, it was said, to pave the remainder of the road when right-of-way matters through Clay and Montague counties are settled.

The meeting will open in Henrietta at 10 o'clock Friday morning. Mr. Foy and Mr. Hamilton will return from the meeting in time to attend the business council luncheon here Friday noon, when matters pertaining to U. S. highway No. 277 will be discussed with Oklahoma visitors.

Salvation Army Warns Of Fake Solicitors

Several persons with tambourines have been calling on homes in the residential section and on business houses downtown in Wichita Falls, representing themselves to be of the Salvation Army and obtaining funds for other than charitable purposes, according to Ensign Amel Shultz, who warns citizens of Wichita Falls as follows:

"I wish to again remind the citizens of Wichita Falls that the Salvation Army does not pass the tambourine for collections through the business and residence sections. Wednesday afternoon numerous calls come in by phone and otherwise regarding some women in the city who were passing the tambourine, leaving the impression that were doing so for the Salvation Army. We have had many complaints recently of this nature but it is always after the panhandler has collected the money and cannot be found. I wish to again urge each one to make sure before giving as we do take tambourine collections only from the crowd in our open-air meetings."

Plans Complete For Junior C.-C. Dance

The Junior chamber of commerce fall dance on Nov. 21, will be held at the Wichita club, according to an announcement of the social committee Thursday.

Ligon Smith's orchestra will furnish the dance music and possibly several entertainers will be secured.

Delegates attending the meeting of the trust division of the Texas Bankers' association here Nov. 21 and 22, will be invited to the dance and will be guests of the Wichita Falls Clearing House association, it was said.

CALF-PATH

a not-too-serious analogy

Speaking of wasteful methods of doing business, reminds us of Sam Foss's famous poem, "The Calf-Path." A few selected lines explain what we mean:

One day, through a primeval wood,
A calf walked home as good calves should;
And left a trail all bent askew,
A crooked trail as all calves do.

And from that day, o'er hill and glade,
Through those old woods a path was made;
And many men wound in and out,
And dodged, and turned, and bent about
And uttered words of righteous wrath
Because 'twas such a crooked path

The years passed on in swiftness fleet,
The path became a village street;
And this, before men were aware,
A city's crowded thoroughfare;
And men two centuries and a half
Trod in the footsteps of that calf.

A hundred thousand men were led
By one calf near three centuries dead...
For thus such reverence is lent
To well-established precedent.

Excerpts from The Calf-Path by Sam. W. Foss

A&P does not go it blind along the calf-paths followed by business men centuries ago. A&P customers do not have to bear the expense of handling food by old-fashioned zig-zag methods. A&P's methods are the best money-saving methods of today.

Tribute was paid to Mr. Moller in eulogies by four prominent Wichita Falls churchmen who were his brother Rotarians. He was described as a man and a citizen who had always taken an active and constructive interest in the affairs of his community. Participating in the services were Dr. S. S. McKenney of the First Methodist church; Dr. Nat F. Grafton of the Floral Heights Presbyterian church; Rabbi S. J. Schwab of Temple Israel; and the Rev. Father Patrick J. F. O'Beirne of Sacred Heart church.

Following the services, the body was forwarded to San Antonio for cremation.

Mr. Moller died Wednesday at a hospital here following an operation here about a month ago after being in ill health for several months. He came to Wichita Falls in 1925 from Littleton, Colo., establishing a poultry ranch on the Grant street road.

Active pallbearers were H. A. Glass, S. H. Rider, Harry ten Brink, Thornton Lomax, T. A. Fields, M. D. Walker and John Oechsner. Members of the Rotary club were honorary pallbearers.

Surviving are the widow, three daughters, Misses Clothilde, a student at the University of Colorado; Corinne of the Hockaday School for Girls at Dallas, and Maud, of C. I. A. at Denton; two sons, Herbert and Albert, all of Wichita Falls and all at the bedside; a brother, Jens Moller, a student at Yale university, but who has made his home here, and a borther, Herbert, and his mother of Copenhagen, Denmark.

The parents and child were en route to Childress and had arrived at Electra, where the child became ill and later died in a home.

The body was brought here to the Albert's Funeral home, which had charge of funeral arrangements.

Wichita to Invite Tax Assessor Here

Hope was expressed Thursday by Max Shumake, Wichita county tax assessor, that the 1931 convention of the Texas Tax Assessors' association may be obtained for this city during the 1930 meet which he will attend at Laredo on Nov. 20.

Cooperation of the local chamber of commerce was assured, Mr. Shumake said, in the effort to bring the large body of county tax assessors here next year. Such a meeting would bring approximately 150 visitors to Wichita Falls, he said.

LIQUOR RING CASE TO JURY

Miami, Okla., Conspiracy Trial Near End

MIAMI, Okla., Nov. 13. (UP)—The cases of 14 persons, including Picher city officials, charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, probably will go to the federal court jury late Friday, it was indicated tonight.

Five persons, including Joe Nolan, Picher police chief, already have pleaded guilty to accepting bribes from bootleggers. They will be sentenced next week, Judge Franklin E. Kennamer said.

Three federal agents, F. W. Harrold, J. M. Searles and Bert Bryant testified today their six-month investigation revealed operation of a liquor "protection" ring in which bootleggers paid Picher officials and residents money so they could operate in the surrounding lead and zinc fields.

Many Farmers Attend School of Terracing

A terracing demonstration on the Roy Cunningham farm, six miles northeast of Electra, Thursday drew a number of farmers from Wichita and Wilbarger counties.

The terrace lines were run by M. R. Bentley, extension department of Texas A. & M. college, A. K. (Dad) Short of the Federal Farm Loan bank of Houston, and G. C. Gowan, agricultural agent of Wichita county. A number of club boys were present and were given instructions in the use of a level.

The farm of Mr. Cunningham is one of the best farms in Wichita county but was being badly damaged by erosion. To protect the soil a number of lines were run, there being a difference of two feet in the fall between the lines. In the field the terrace lines will reach between three and four miles in length.

During the noon hour the Barwise club served lunch. The lunch was in charge of Mrs. C. E. Taylor, president of the club. R. E. L. Patillo, farm agent of Wilbarger county, and M. B. Oates, agricultural agent of the Denver road, were present and gave the farmers and landowners much interesting and valuable information concerning farm terracing.

Katy Announces New Travel Rate

A reduction in rates which will permit persons coming to any point in Texas on the M-K-T lines from Chicago, St. Louis or Kansas City to ship their automobile free of charge upon the purchase of five one-way passenger tickets has been announced by officials of the company, according to word received by local officials of the road.

The new schedule was put into effect for the convenience of those who wish to travel in Texas but dislike to drive their automobile through. The same rate may be applied to Texans wishing to go to any of the three cities. Two persons may travel upon the five purchased tickets with the free transportation of their motor vehicle, it was explained.

Prior to the new schedule, two one-way tickets and the transportation of an automobile from St. Louis to Wichita Falls cost $177.82 while with the new rate the cost is only $128.30.

What Kind of Milk

Many people are doubtful as to whether they should use raw, pasteurized or evaporated milk. The difference is not as great as many people suppose. Any kind of milk is good milk as long as it is clean and uncontaminated. The type for you to use depends more on where you are located than upon any difference in nourishing qualities. Here is a short summary of the different kinds of milk:

Raw milk in its fresh, uncooked state contains practically all the elements needed for the body's nutrition. If you are living on a farm and can get your milk fresh and clean from a healthy cow you can not obtain any better kind of milk than raw milk. If you are living in the city, however, it is better to get pasteurized or evaporated milk unless you can afford the certified inspected milk which, because of the special care it requires in handling, is usually somewhat more expensive than the other forms of milk. The raw milk does not keep as well as the pasteurized and if you cannot use your milk soon after you buy it, it is better to use the pasteurized milk.

Pasteurized milk is the safest method of providing fresh milk to large communities. It is probably the best plan for the average family in cities to depend upon this type of milk for their milk supply, but they should use in addition to it some orange juice or tomato juice, for a large part of the vitamin C, which is contained in raw milk, is lost during the pasteurizing process. The loss of vitamin C in pasteurized milk does not interfere with any of the other nutritional properties of the milk and babies will grow just as well, provided they obtain some of the vitamin C foods in addition. If milk must travel, it is much easier to handle if pasteurized and usually safer.

Evaporated milk is canned, unsweetened milk from which much of the water of fresh milk has been evaporated. More of this kind of milk is sold than all the other forms of concentrated milk added together. This milk is almost a necessity in districts where no fresh milk can be obtained. Milk was designed by nature to be used immediately. The tin can overcomes this difficulty and brings to the consumer a container of milk which is both sweet and clean and with a good taste. Evaporated milk is always safe to use, as it is free from all live bacteria when you open the can. Experiments have proven that evaporated unsweetened milk can be safely used in an infant's diet provided some of the foods containing vitamin C, such as orange juice or tomato juice are used in addition. Some babies seem to digest evaporated milk better than the fresh milk, and for this reason evaporated milk is coming to be quite a popular baby food.

Dried milk or powdered milk is a creamy powder made of milk solids with most of the water removed. Both the powdered whole and powdered skimmed milk are available. This type of milk is especially valuable in out-of-the-way places and is useful on hiking trips, exploration camps, etc., where the weight is an important item. The dried milk is the whole milk with only the water removed. For this reason it may be used in place of fresh milk even for feeding infants, providing some of the foods containing vitamin C are used in addition. Dried milk is proving quite popular for the manufacture of ice cream, milk chocolate, bakery products and synthetic cream. A drink tasting very much like fresh milk may be made by adding water.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Witch-Hazel

Question—F. E. asks: "Is witch-hazel a good astringent to use on the face? Will it cause hair to grow? How often should it be used, and how applied?"

Answer—Witch-hazel is a soothing astringent to use on the face, and there is no reason to suppose that it will make hair grow. It may be used quite liberally each time after the face is washed.

Drinks With Meals

Question—Mrs. R. G. asks: "May tea or coffee be used with your menus?"

Answer—I do not recommend hot drinks with meals, either in my weekly menus or in those which I outline for individual correspondents or patients. It is better to use a small amount of water if it is necessary to satisfy the thirst.

Body Odors

Question—S. D. writes: "In your health column you would greatly assist the hygienic conditions of all concerned if you would drive home the question of personal cleanliness. There are often the foul odors from humans from lack of soap and water. I understand that the persons concerned do not detect his or her odor, therefore it is more difficult to overcome."

Answer—It is not always because of lack of soap and water but often from internal uncleanliness. Even if one's friends do not tell him, they often sidestep, and many a friend is lost in this way. Certain odors are associated with certain diseases, but an impacted colon is the principal cause of all repulsive bodily odors. The remedy is diet and intestinal cleanliness.

ZUNDY GAME TODAY AND COYOTE TILT SATURDAY IN SPOTLIGHT

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Ozark Ripley, great hunter and sportsman who addressed members of the Isaak Walton league here Wednesday night, has fired his last shot at a moose.

No more of that kind of shooting for Ozark, says he. It's too much of a set-up, as we say in football. Slaying a moose doesn't involve the sport of killing a deer, or snaring a 14-pound trout. Though the moose meat is good to eat, and is cherished everywhere, the idea of mercilessly slaughtering an animal that puts up as little fight as a moose does not appeal to the great conservationist.

He said as much Wednesday night.

Incidentally, there was some doubt, as the guests filed into the banquet hall, as to whether Ozark had really slain his moose this year. There was also some doubt as to whether members of the Walton league chapter here had killed any ducks, or had caught any fish for the banquet.

The banquet opened with a dish of fried oysters. How unromantic! Some of the cynics said, in effect, "Well, I guess our brother sports had the same fate on their hunting and fishing trips as Ozark experienced with his moose meat. He said he would bring us some moose steaks for our banquet, but wired the meat had spoiled during the hot weather. I guess our brother sports will put up the same alibi."

But all these doubts vanished. As soon as the oysters had been consumed, in marched waiters with duck and fish. And Ozark Ripley told this reporter he certainly had slain his moose this year. I went back and informed the cynics. What Ripley should have done was to have movies made of him slaying the moose. That would have saved reporters a lot of trouble.

And after we had questioned Ozark about the moose, he added his decision not to kill any more.

"In 34 years, I have killed 34 moose," said he. "But I killed my last one this year. There is not sport enough in it."

I don't know anything about fishing, except what I learn from hearing my boss talk—and you ought to hear him spill stories about his fishing expeditions! And, of course, what I learn from talking with Ikes, and hearing such fellows as Ozark talk. The only fish I ever caught was a craw-fish, and he nearly nipped the end of my little finger off and I got mad and threw him back in the creek to drown, for all I cared.

But I noticed this in the movies that Ozark showed at the Ike banquet. The movies were of Ozark himself, on his fishing trip in Ontario, Canada. I noticed that all Ozark did was throw his line around in the water and wait for some poor fish to hang on, and then the guide who was paddling the canoe did all the dirty work of scooping up the trout in a net, getting the fish off the hook, and fixing the hook up again for another trip through the H2O.

All that seemed pretty soft for the modern day fisherman. It's what you call angler efficiency, I guess. Wonder how the Indians fished in those same streams. Did they have first, second and third assistants, I wonder, to paddle the canoe, scoop up the prey in a net, and bait the fisherman's hook?

Maybe Ozark is a conservationist in more ways than one. Maybe he believes in conserving his own energy.

In which we agree with him. Why work? Hire some expert assistants to accompany you on your fishing trips. It will help the unemployment situation. If you want to, even hire a man to actually catch your fish, and put him under bond so he won't tell off on you, and rob you of the credit of making the catch.

Then when you come back home you can say, "Boy look what I caught today!" But deep in your mind you'll be thinking, "Just look what my efforts toward relieving the unemployment situation brought me!"

In other words, "Look what a liar I am, but how well I'm getting away with it!"

Indeed, since most fishermen are liars anyway, and probably get their fish at the nearest market, we don't see why they can't lie about something that actually tends to benefit humanity. They can say they caught the fish that their assistants caught, and yet keep a clear conscience, because they will know their lies are helping the old world along.

When you get down to brass tacks, we can all do our little part towards bringing better times, even if we do considerable fibbing.

Last Services Held For H. C. Broyles

Funeral services for H. C. Broyles, 62, who died Wednesday at his home, Third and Pine streets, were held at Rosemont cemetery at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, with the Rev. Charles O. Cook, Baptist minister, officiating.

Mr. Broyles' death followed an illness of several years. He had been a resident of Wichita Falls for 15 years and was a retired farmer. He was a native of Hardin county, Tennessee.

Surviving are the widow, three daughters, Miss Mary Lee Broyles, of Van Zandt county; Mrs. Mitty Dinney of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. J. W. Carter of Iowa Park, and seven sons, Louis who is in California, and Frank, Douglas, Charles, Terry, Henry and Connie, of Wichita Falls.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of the Dalton-Powell Funeral home.

One of 'Four Horsemen' Is Proud Father of Son

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13. (AP)—Harry Stuhldreher, one of the famous "four horsemen of Notre Dame," is the proud father of a son, Harry Jr., arrived today at the Germantown hospital in this city. "He'll be a quarterback," was the comment of the former football star.

Stuhldreher is head football coach at Villanova college.

GOLDEN'S MEN SEEK TITLE

Memphis-Clarendon Game To Settle Race

Though the Amarillo Sandies—who are never beaten!—will be in gunshot of Wichita Falls this weekend, local teams will provide the biggest thrills Friday and Saturday afternoon, so far as this city's fandom is concerned.

The Sandies meet Electra Saturday in the feature game of the week in district No. 1. But the invasion of the Denton Junior High school team, for a contest with Zundelowitz Junior High, and the Coyotes practice battle with the Sherman aggregation, have filled the minds of fans hereabouts with a wealth of speculation.

There is no so much speculation about the Amarillo-Electra joust at Electra Saturday. Everybody knows the Tigers are in for a lacing, including, probably, the Tigers themselves.

Tight Games Promised

On the other hand, the Denton-Zundy game here this afternoon, and the Sherman-Coyote game here Saturday will present to the critical minds of the audiences teams that are about on an even keel.

As the Denton-Zundy dope, both teams are undefeated in the Northwest Texas Junior High school conference. Denton boasts a whale of a score over Reagan Junior High, and Coach Roy Golden's Zundy men are proud of a 6 to 0 victory over Vernon Junior High. Both teams are expected to be at their best this afternoon. The game will be played at Athletic park.

The Sherman Bearcats are undoubtedly superior in every respect to the Wichita Falls High school Coyotes, judging from reports from Denton. The Bearcats and the Greenville eleven are the only undefeated teams in district No. 5. But a series of circumstances tend to show that the Bearcats will not be up to their standard when they play the Coyotes Saturday. The letdown, if any, will be more or less intentional on the part of the Bearcats. Here's the dope: the Sherman gridders face a gruelling battle with Greenville Thanksgiving day. The battle will decide which of the two is to wear the district five crown. For that reason, the Sherman outfit has no intentions of ripping up much sod here Saturday. They will play a conservative game, reports state.

Might Weaken, Anyway

On the other hand, they may play a conservative game whether they want to or not. For last Tuesday the Sherman gridders won a tough tussle from Paris, 6 to 0. That game left the Sherman team war-weary, and inclined to wish for peace and comfort before the old log fire, with a bottle of milk and honey ready. No great injuries were sustained in the Paris game, the report goes on, but much rest afterwards was needed, with the result the eleven has put in little practice for the Coyote scrap.

All in all, then, the Coyotes have a good chance of bringing home another victory.

Title Battle at Memphis

In class B competition this week, one great game stands out. It is the bout scheduled today between Memphis and Clarendon at Memphis. The game will decide the championship of the Memphis district, as both the Cyclone and the Clarendon Bronchos are on an even keel in the standings.

Other class B games offer less of the sensational, but good scraps should result from Henrietta's invasion of Fairview, and Nocona's battle at Newcastle today.

Iowa Park's Hawks will play the Burkburnettt Bulldogs at Burkburnett today in a practice game.

There will be only two clashes this week-end in class A, district No. 1. The first, as stated, is the Amarillo-Electra joust. The second finds Quanah at Plainview. Sherman's excursion to Wichita Falls will be on the practice list, as will Slaton's trip to Lubbock to battle the Westerners.

The scarcity of district one games this week-end is accounted for by Armistice day schedule the first of the week. On that date Pampa strode over the Childress Bobcats by an impressive score. Crowell played a practice game at Vernon and got whipped.

Games scheduled for today, in this section, in addition to those already mentioned, include:

Frederick, Okla., at Cordell, Okla.
Duncan, Okla., at Lawton, Okla.
Granite, Okla., at Lawton, Okla.
Throckmorton at Rochester.
Waurika, Okla., at Fort Sill, Okla.
Grandfield, Okla., at Walters, Okla.

'We're All Set,' Says Zundy Mentor

Coyotes Ready to Tackle Sherman High

By JACK ALLEN

"We're all set," said Coach Roy Golden Thursday in referring to the battle with Denton Junior high at Spudder park today at 3:30 o'clock. The game will establish Coach Golden's Zundelowitz eleven as either champions or runners-up in the Junior High conference. Both the Denton and Zundy elevens have swept through their conference games without a defeat and the championship is at stake when the two aggregations line up for the opening kickoff.

After suffering a rather crushing 25-0 defeat at the hands of the Fort Sill Indians in a practice game last week the Zundy warriors settled down to hard practice in an effort to attain the top of condition in time for the crucial melee. The Zundy mentor drove his charges hard every afternoon during the week and topped it all off with a light workout Thursday, after a strenuous scrimmage Wednesday with the Coyote C squad. Several stars bobbed up in the practice scrap. Particularly outstanding in the practice game was the dark horse of the Zundy machine. He kicked high and far, passed accurately, and skirted the ends until the Coyote Pups were in a trance. Much is expected of this dark horse in the crucial battle.

New Plays Perfected

Several new plays have been dished out to the squad in signal work, sandwiched with work on fundamentals, has occupied much of the practice sessions each day. The first team romped through the practice session with unbounded enthusiasm Thursday and prepared themselves morally for the conflict. "The morale is high and everybody is ready to go," states Coach Golden. A giant pep rally is scheduled to interrupt the school's activities Friday morning.

"I think we have a fighting chance to win," reiterated Coach Golden, and he believes that his proteges will put up a good fight against the faster Bronchoes. By virtue of their 44-0 win over Reagan Junior High early in the season, the Denton machine established themselves as favorites to cop the conference title. Zundy defeated Vernon 6-0 in their first game. Vernon and Denton did not play when scheduled because of a disagreement.

Good Reserves on Hand

With his regulars reeling off the plays in almost perfect style Coach Golden has turned his attention to his reserves. Several yannigans have developed wonderfully in the past two weeks and plenty of capable reserve material will be available should the regulars fail to bring home the bacon. Charles Hurd and Bob Kelley, reserve ballotters, are sure to see action against the speedy Denton crew, the latter looking exceptionally good in practice. Woodrow McCracken, P. B. Cox and W. D. Tollett form the trio of reserve linemen. McCracken is a fighting end, Cox is a hefty little center, while Tollett is a guard or tackle. Then there's that dark horse that is a bundle of power in the Zundy backfield.

Zundy's starting lineup will probably find Ben Kelley and Corbett Hunn at ends, McFayden and Rice at tackles, Tarkenton and Johnson at guards, Captain Merchant at center, Phil Williams, and Hines at halfbacks, Rusk at fullback and Ted Bratton will call the signals. The officials have been announced as Barry Holton (Notre Dame), referee; Coyal Francis (Wichita Falls High School), umpire; Bubs Mosley (Baylor), head linesman.

The Coyotes went through their final workout of the week Thursday afternoon, and are ready to tackle the invading Sherman High school eleven. Coach Barry Holton said the Pack was in good shape, with every man in perfect shape except one.

The injured player, however, will be in Saturday's game. The casualty, Johnny White, fullback, has been suffering from an injured hand since the Temple game at the first of the season. A Temple gridder's cleats dug into White's hand and it was feared a bone had been crushed. The injury has bothered the player ever since and Thursday an X-ray examination was made at the clinic hospital. No broken bones were revealed, however.

The first string Coyotes today will be let off to see the Zundy-Denton game, at Athletic park, Coach Holton said.

The mentor announced the Pampa-Wichita Falls game, originally scheduled for next Saturday at Pampa, had been moved up to Thursday. The team will leave here Wednesday night by train.

The B squad team will go to Archer City today for a game with the Wildcats.

VERNON-DENTON DISPUTE TO BE SETTLED TODAY

Differences between the Vernon and Denton Junior High schools arising from Denton's failure to play Vernon last week on account of conflicting eligibility rules will be settled today at a meeting of football coaches and principals from schools in the conference, it was announced.

Also, plans will be made to expand the circuit next year. The conference now includes the Reagan and Zundelowitz schools of Wichita Falls and the Vernon and Denton schools. Representatives from Childress, Olney, Electra and Burkburnett Junior High schools have been invited to attend the meeting. It will be held at Reagan Junior High school at noon.

Canzoneri Fights Al Singer Tonight

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP)—Young Al Singer, who won himself a lightweight championship by knocking out Sammy Mandell last summer, will carry the crown into battle for the first time tomorrow night in a 15-round match with Tony Canzoneri in Madison Square garden.

Singer's defense of the 135-pound title will mark the first title go in that class staged indoors here since Benny Leonard whipped Ritchie Mitchell in the old garden years ago. Under financial conditions existing in the fight game today, however, despite the drawing powers of the two local favorites, gate receipts are not expected to exceed $50,000. The Singer-Mandell affair, staged in the Yankee stadium, drew better than $130,000.

The mental, rather than physical condition of the youngsters, perplexes the wise ones who whisper the odds on tomorrow night's battle. Singer, after knocking out Mandell in a round, tackled Jimmy McLarnin, the Vancouver belter, in an overweight match and was himself battered senseless.

Vernon Marines Beat Quanah B Team, 12-0

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Nov. 13—Fighting a stubborn Quanah line and their own misplays, the Vernon Marines, third string Vernon High school organization, finally chalked up a 12-0 victory over the Quanah B team here today at the city park. Although the Marines continually threatened the Quanah goal line, a penalty would rob the Vernon team of its chance to score, and both Vernon counters were made on long runs.

Kenny Bowden, Marine halfback who scintillated throughout the contest for Vernon, scored the initial Marine touchdown in the first period with a 15-yard dash around end, while Charles Lutz, stellar Marine end, intercepted a Quanah pass and ran 40 yards for the last Marine counter late in the final quarter.

BUCKS PLAY LIONS TODAY

Brownwood Game Switched To Breckenridge

Special to The Record News.

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Nov. 13.—Breckenridge football fans will see the Breckenridge Buckaroos perform in one more game than they had expected to see.

It was announced Wednesday morning by school officials that the Brownwood-Breckenridge game, originally carded for Saturday at Brownwood, would be played on the local gridiron Friday, instead. The game will start here at 3 p. m.

Brownwood agreed to bring the game to Breckenridge due to the fact that supporters of the Brownwood Lions have been extremely lax in their attendance this year and it was thought that a very small crowd would see the game if it was played in the Brown county city.

Brownwood will be given the big end of the local gate receipts for coming here for the game, it was stated. Ranger is the only team now left on the Buckaroos schedule that must be played away from here. San Angelo comes here the week after Brownwood appears here.

BUCKAROO QUARTERBACK GOES INTO POLITICS

Special to The Record News.

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Nov. 13.—Although he may not know it, Boyce Magness, star Buckaroo quarterback, is in politics.

In canvassing the returns of the recent election, the county commissioners court here recorded one vote for Magness in the official records.

Some admiring grid fan had scratched the name of W. J. Richard, county treasurer candidate, and placed in its place the name of Boyce Magness for the position. It was the only vote Magness received but it went down in the official records.

Army-Navy Agree To Meet on Grid

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 13. (INS)—The Army and Navy will play football against each other again.

Overlooking the controversy which cancelled their gridiron relationship, the West Point superintendent, Maj. Gen. William R. Smith, today agreed to play a football game against the Navy on Dec. 6 in New York for the benefit of the unemployed fund.

The arrangement for a game in the Yankee stadium was suggested in a telegram sent by the West Point superintendent today to Rear Admiral Robison, superintendent of the Naval academy at Annapolis.

The telegram was a reply to the statement issued at the navel academy a few days ago that the sailor boys were willing to play a game against their traditional rivals for the sake of the jobless.

Lamesa Gridders Meet Rotan Team Today

Special to The Record News.

LAMESA, Texas, Nov. 13.—The Lamesa High school Golden Tornadoes are ready for the game here Friday with the Rotan Yellow Hammers, which promises to be full of thrills. Neither Steers Nor Toads Will Be Able to Dump the Dope Saturday

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 13.—There will, at least, be no opportunity for either the Texas Christian university Froggies or the equally well known Texas Longhorns to capsize the dope bucket when they hold their momentous meeting Saturday at Fort Worth.

For the first time this season, two Southwest conference units will clash on what the experts regard as even terms. Neither will be a favorite; hence, the winner can be assured of full credit for its performance.

Up to this point, the critics have received some rough treatment. Except for last week, when the results were about true to form, the teams picked to win have lost with rare consistency. The boys who do and dare for their reading public have had to explain their own lack of foresight by crediting team after team with having "played inspired football" to defeat a favored opponent. It was the only explanation ready to hand.

Anybody bold enough to name Saturday's winner, however, will have to take his medicine if he guesses wrong. It will be a meeting of two strong, well balanced elevens, and the victor will need a lot more than inspiration to turn the trick.

The approaching bout at Fort Worth is the one big topic of conversation wherever sportsmen gather this week. It overshadows in popular interest the Southern Methodist-Navy tilt at Baltimore the same day, proving that the conference championship race still is the thing in these parts.

The press box at Arlington Downs the other day was so full of football talk you could have cut it with a knife. The Longhorns or the Frogs?

One scrivener who had seen both teams in action the last two weekends predicted the Christians would win by two touchdowns. He was under the impression that Coach Schmidt's eleven didn't half open up in squelching the Rice Owls. He prophesied they would stop the Longhorns' passing attack cold, pointing out that Rice was able to complete only a few short tosses and had seven intercepted by the alert T. C. U. secondary.

Just to balance the argument, an observer who had been much smitten by Texas' play against Southern Methodist and Baylor the last two weeks didn't see how the Longhorns could win by less than two touchdowns. An account of the T. C. U.-Rice battle disclosed, he said, that the Owl backs picked up some very nice yardage around the Frog ends and off tackle. If the Rice runners did that, he felt that those three bustling fellows—Koy, Stafford and Shelley—might be expected to give the Frog wings a real workout.

So matters stand, and it looks more like a battle every day.

Some 25,000 spectators—that's how many T. C. U. officials expect to be on hand—will have an opportunity to compare the season's two outstanding sophomore halfbacks, Elmard Spearman of the Frogs and Harrison Stafford of the Longhorns.

Big, husky chaps, their play has improved as the season progressed until they stand now as leading candidates for all-conference honors. At least one of them is pretty certain to make the mythical team. Stafford has become the leading scoring threat of the Longhorns, and Spearman played a similar role against Rice last week. Spearman is the faster, more elusive, but Stafford has more power once he gets under way and is blessed with the meanest stiff-arm in the conference.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. —Sharp rallies from an early decline in cotton here today were followed by even sharper and more rapid declines in the late trading under southern selling and liquidation.

March contracts, after selling off to 11.46, advanced to 11.70, but broke to 11.40 in the last few minutes of trading and closed at that figure. The general market closed easy at net declines of 14 to 22 points.

Early offerings were absorbed by trade buying and covering and the market stiffened up during the middle of the day.

Reports of a better tone in the stock market were accompanied by some buying believed to be for Wall Street account while covering was rather active.

The advance during the middle of the day was accompanied by reports of a renewal of Wall Street interest, and the way offerings tapered off after the early decline probably promoted considerable covering.

Liverpool cables said realizing and hedging had been taken by covering and continental buying in that market. Port receipts today 51,059. U. S. port stocks 3,923,040. Exports today 31,625, making 2,637,013 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13. (AP)—Trading was again quite active in the cotton market today and the general trend of prices was upward most of the day despite a good deal of profit-taking particularly in the early trading. After an irregularly higher opening, the market eased off during the first half of the morning until December dropped to 11.06, down 8 points from yesterday's close. Later in the morning prices rallied with firmness in the stock market and the advance continued into the afternoon with occasional temporary reactions due to realizing until prices showed gains of 21 to 22 points and December traded up to 11.27.

In the last half hour of trading the market broke badly in sympathy with a reaction in stocks said to be due to martial law in Cuba, weakening of the techincal position due to the recent advance and uneasiness as to the domestic consumption report due tomorrow. Prices declined 31 to 34 points from the highs with December down to 10.97 and January to 11.11. The close was barely steady and at the lows the general market showing net losses for the day of 12 to 17 points.

Liverpool came in 6 penny points worse than due and private cables stated shorts covered and locals and the continent bought. While there was a slight early gain on overnight buying orders, the market soon eased off on realizing only to rally later with stocks until prices were a shade over a dollar a bale above the lows. The late decline caused a drop of more than a dollar and a half a bale. The net decline on the three most active months December, January and March was 16 to 17 points.

The census bureau will issue a report on domestic mill consumption during October and according to recent private estimates the showing is expected to be bullish.

Port receipts 45,688, for week 305,227, for season 5,209,572, last season 5,013,149. Exports 21,189, for week 152,172, for season 2,586,217, last season 2,604,010. Stock Market Goes Upward For Third Successive Day Thursday

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (US)—The stock market continued upward today, advances being distributed among all groups.

Its ability to maintain an upward trend for three successive days, the first sustained advance of this time length in two months, was particularly encouraging to those who follow the market's own disclosers almost exclusive of external developments.

With some new buying attracted by the previous price gains, and short covering occurring in increasing amount, prices enjoyed virtually a sustained upward movement with only temporary halts. Closing prices were close to the best levels of the day. The Copper price strength, with the newly-inspired rumors of probable further advances in the metal, continued the outstanding bull factor.

The change in sentiment was quite noticeable and this has been accomplished chiefly as a result of more cheerful view taken of actual underlying conditions, rather than purely stock market hopes.

With the market obviously depending in part for buying power under present circumstances upon a short interest, the chief question was naturally the extent of the short account. It is quite likely, according to indications, that the big speculative bear operators have substantially reduced their commitments. There remains, however, a sizeable short interest composed of "small fry" speculators, the extent of which is problematical.

The biggest bears seemingly are waiting to observe whether the present improvement proves only a rally and whether it can be sustained without having to face determined short selling. If it shows signs of softening under reasonably normal conditions, that is with only a public short account, the big bears probably would be encouraged to resume aggressive activities.

Although there were many stocks showing determined strength, the relative backwardness of Steel Common was a matter of considerable comment. The issue closed up a full point, but it seemed to experience difficulty attaining new high ground on the recovery. There is no mystery that the near-term prospects for the industry are discouraging; the attempt now is to foresee prospects into 1931 beyond the first few weeks or perhaps the first quarter.

American Telephone also met increasing offerings and closed up only ⅝. However, there were numerous other prominent issues advancing quite vigorously until a reaction was experienced on reports from Havana of political disturbances. National Dairy Products was a feature of strength on announcement its directors had raised the cash payment on the stock to $2.60 annually, from $2 formerly, at the same time discontinuing payment of the 1 per cent quarterly stock distribution.

As evidencing the extent to which some of the Railroad shares have been liquidated in discounting adverse news, Chicago & North Western advanced in face of a reduction in its annual dividend rate from $5 to $4. Even on the lowered rate the stock yields almost 9 per cent.

There is no doubt but that the Copper news, while perhaps exaggerated in its possible immediate influence on the industry, has greatly encouraged powerful interests. The market now awaits additional signs of fundamental improvement, rather than the talk upon which it looks with distrust. The Railroad section of the market, which has been carried lower than any other major group—industrials or utilities—seems to be discounting some possible early news of favorable import.

It is known, for example, that the leading eastern railroad executives are again seeking a satisfactory basis for consolidations, one which would receive favorable action from Washington. It is known that European interests, always close to the American railway field, have lately been quietly adding to their holdings of certain railroad stocks. Some Americans, too, who have never lost faith in the permanency of the railroad industry, likewise have been buying rail shares.

The Coppers naturally continued the outstanding group, Kennecott, Anaconda, International Nickel and the others in the industry all attaining new highs.

The price was raised to 11 cents by various producers and considerable volume was sold at the higher figure. Even this level, however, permits only a limited number of Copper companies to show profits, but the market is capitalizing the good news to the fullest extent. Public Utilities again advanced, but it was noticeable that discriminating selling was taking place in issues where the price-to-profits ratio has again become unwarranted.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Nov. 13. (AP)—Light receipts combined with higher contract values to advance cash wheat prices here today. No. 1 hard of any protein was probably worth 81@82c, based upon last sales posted, this price on carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid. Grain sorghums were depressed by the new crop with quality of receipts still below the average. Estimated receipts: Wheat, two cars; corn, one; oats, one; barley, one, and sorghums, six.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn, No. 2 mixed 79@80c; No. 2 white or yellow 84@85c.

Oats, No. 2 red 46½@47½c; No. 3 white delivered Texas group one 43@43½c, to which add one cent for delivery Texas group three.

Barley, No. 2, 60@61c.

Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 pounds, nominally $1.20@1.22.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 13. (AP)—Purchasing on a big scale developed in the wheat market today, and prices went as much as 5c a bushel higher than Monday's bottom figures. Improvement of stock exchange quotations gave help to the buying side of the wheat market, and there was active closing of so-called "spread" transactions in wheat between Chicago and other markets, largely as a result of notice that government-sponsored bodies would take delivery of 10,000,000 bushels on December wheat contracts. Reports of heavy rains in Argentina renewing fears of widespread damage from rust tended also to lift wheat values here.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ⅝@1¼c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed at 1⅛@1⅜c advance, oats ⅛@⅜c up, and provisions unchanged to 15c down.

Upturns in values of wheat and other cereals today took place despite news of persistent big shipments of wheat from Russia. Nevertheless, wheat traders here practically ignored Russian advices, and focused attention almost altogether on stimulating factor, such as reports that in some parts of Argentina attacked by rust the fields are being given over to cattle feeding.

Independent strength shown by the corn market today contributed to the upward trend of wheat as well as of oats and rye. Corn met with excellent buying on all setbacks in price, and was showing something akin to buoyancy at the finish.

Provisions went lower responsive to downturns in mog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, Dec. 72¼c, 76⅛c, March 74⅛c, 77⅝c; May 75⅛@75⅛c, 79@79⅛c; July 76⅝c, 79⅝c. Corn, Dec. 72⅝@72¾c, 75⅛c; March 75½c, 78c; May 77¼c, 80c.

ENID WIDOW PROTESTS BOND

Dollie Douthitt Defends Herself in Hearing

ENID, Okla., Nov. 13. (UP)—Dollie Douthitt, 59, a comely widow charged with assault with intent to kill, as the result of her shooting spree in a district courtroom here Sept. 24, was given preliminary hearing before Justice M. E. Shockley today.

She was bound over to district court trial on three counts.

When bond was set at $20,000, Mrs. Douthitt said:

"I refuse to have my bond set so high. I will not have it that way."

Shockley informed her she could file a motion to have bond reduced.

Mrs. Douthitt consistently had refused to be brought into court until this afternoon when she advised the court she wanted a complete hearing.

After the hearing she declared she should be turned loose. She represented herself at the hearing.

H. Z. Wedgwood, United States commissioner here, testified Mrs. Douthitt fired twice at him and only recently was he able to leave home because of wounds.

Judge A. G. Sutton of Alva, a special judge assigned to hear the case in which Mrs. Douthitt was interested, barely escaped being struck by one bullet.

Roy Elam, Enid attorney, grappled with Mrs. Douthitt in time to strike her arm as she fired at him.

In the hearing Mrs. Douthitt asked Elam if he was sure she fired before he grappled with her.

The judge had just handed down an opinion unfavorable to the widow when she started shooting, Elam said.

Ever Try This?

MELBOURNE, Australia.—When potato digging gets tiresome, a lad near Orepuki, Southland, New Zealand, has the following system to offer to farmers. He was sent out to dig potatoes on his father's farm recently. Because the work wasn't just what he liked, he took a couple of sticks of dynamite along with him, buried them in the potato field and set them off. Every potato in the field was unearthed all right, but he couldn't find anything except pieces of them.

MAJESTIC: Jackie Coogan, Junior Durkin and Mitzi Green in "Tom Sawyer." Lloyd Hamilton comedy, Lillian Roth vaudeville skit and sound news.

STRAND: "Whoopee" with Eddie Cantor. Short subjects and sound news.

STATE: Victor McLaglen in "A Devil With the Women." Ginger Rogers novelty, comedy, serial and sound news.

GEM: "Roaring Ranch" with Hoot Gibson, Chapter 9 of "The Indians Are Coming." Comedy.

Victor McLaglen proves that he is a devil with Spanish women, at any rate, in his "A Devil With the Women," but in all his wanderings and conquests, he is still a vagabond lover at the end. Vic isn't the marrying type anyhow.

Not a single "Oh, yeah?" or "Says you!" is to be found in the entire talkie, which is a record for McLaglen, the original oh-yeah and says-you man from Hollywood.

The Majestic is doing its utmost to pack in every child in town before the three-day stay of "Tom Sawyer" is up. If there's anybody that gets any more kick out of the picture than the youngsters, its the man who has almost forgotten his Mark Twain and his boyhood. One dignified grey-headed business man almost stood up Wednesday night and shouted, "Run, kid, it's time to run!"

The only adverse comment takes the form of a wail that "they didn't let Junior Durkin do enough," or "Mitzi Green didn't get a chance!" which proves that the public likes to see its favorites repeat themselves. If the picture had been built as most pictures are built, the story would have been broken to allow Mitzi to do an imitation and "Tom Sawyer" would consequently have been utterly ruined. As it was, the picture is rigidly true to the book and Mitzi Green proves her own versatility by playing a good little girl for a change.

As for Junior Durkin, his chance is coming. He is playing the same role in "Huckleberry Finn," soon to be released, and he will be in the limelight as was Jackie Coogan in "Tom Sawyer," while Jackie and Mitzi and Dick Winslow (Joe Harper) form the supporting cast.

Two young ladies, very new to the screen, find short subjects a good field for their talents, and Lillian Roth and Ginger Rogers are seen in skits at the Majestic and State, respectively. Lillian's "Meet the Boy Friend" and Ginger's "Dear Sir:" almost take the place of vaudeville.

346 Wichitans Given Poll Tax Exemptions

Three hundred forty-six residents of Wichita county have availed themselves since June 1 of permanent poll tax exemption certificates provided for persons over 60 years of age by a law which took effect at that time, according to information given by Tax Collector Guy C. Raley, Thursday.

The measure was passed, it was pointed out, as a means of saving aged voters an annual trip to the courthouse to obtain a yearly exemption certificate.

It was announced that 204 regular poll tax receipts for 1931 already have been issued, and eight exemption certificates to persons who will become 21 during the ensuing 12 months.

COMEDY WINS TEXAS CRITIC

'Strictly Dishonorable' Given Praise at Houston

"Ultra-modern in its theme and dialogue, perhaps risque to some people, 'Strictly Dishonorable,' as presented Thursday night proved the most delicious piece of sophisticated comic fare offered Houstonians in many a day," comments the critic of a Houston paper. The comedy will be presented at the Memorial auditorium Nov. 17 by Alfred H. Harris.

The Houston paper gives a resume of the production as follows:

"The play takes its name from the first act curtain speech, a gem of wit. A young man from New Jersey and his naive Southern fiancee quarrel in a New York speakeasy, when the girl engages in conversation with an elderly judge and a handsome young Italian opera singer. With an unsuspected determination, she refuses to leave when the boy orders her away, and he goes alone. The singer offers her the hospitality of his apartment, and at the judge's show of approval, she asks the Italian what are his intentions toward her. Strictly dishonoroable, Isabelle," he answers as the curtain falls.

The two ensuing acts taking place in his apartment are masterpieces in their deft, humorous treatment of a situation, which might have proved over-sentimental, too impassioned, or otherwise objectionable. In a cross-fire of sparkling, brilliant repartee, the the girl reveals a surprising amount of wordly wisdom and courageous sincerity in facing the truth. Her open confession of love for the singer and desire of being extremely happy for just a little while during her life are all the more amusing because of the artless Southern drawl with which they are delivered.

"Elizabeth Love as Isabelle rose to charming, irresistible heights during the progress of the play, although her opening actions presented a none too flattering picture of a Southern girl as regards intellect and capability. Her high-pitched voice, although not particularly pleasing, was well suited to the role, and she was most attractive in appearance, possessing a wealth of brown-gold, curly bobbed hair, a beautiful brow, and appealing smile.

"Tall, handsome Cesar Romero made the singer a most romantic personage. Well built and agile, with flashing dark eyes and fine Latin features, he was the most vivid of a nicely delineated group of characters."

IN JAIL FOR THEFTS

Two convictions following pleas of guilty on charges of theft constituted the activity of the county court-at-law Thursday, according to Assistant County Attorney Louis V. Abernathy.

A white man was sentenced by Judge Irvin J. Vogel to eight days in jail plus court costs after admitting the theft of a hat from a local store, while a negro received 10 days and court costs on a charge of stealing two women's hats from another establishment.

Two Texas Leaders Praise Wichita For Campaign for Business Revival

What is being done in Wichita Falls to better business conditions and give more employment keeps spreading to distant cities and daily letters are being received by J. C. Mytinger, general chairman of the committee, congratulating the citizenship for the success of the movement.

Wednesday two letters were received from Dallas, one being written by Ben T. Harrison, assistant manager of the Southern Surety Company of New York, Dallas office. The other came from F. W. Grace, general manager of the Katy lines in Texas.

Mr. Harrison says: "While I was in Wichita Falls the other day, I knew you were very busy on a first meeting for a better business bureau organization in Wichita Falls. I note from press reports that the attendance at this meeting was approximately five thousand. I want to personally congratulate you and Wichita Falls' business men who have taken the lead in this thing. This organization is sure to be very influential in rebuilding confidence in the individual buyer in business and his ability to continue to produce. I hope the movement meets with the success that it deserves. I am sure that it will, by reason of the men behind it."

Mr. Grace says: "Thanks very much for the copies of the Wichita Falls Record News which contain reports of the business revival meeting held in Memorial auditorium, of which meeting you were chairman. I am sure this was a very interesting meeting and will be of much benefit to Wichita Falls. I do not believe there is a city anywhere in the United States where the citizenship works together for a common cause to a greater extent than in Wichita Falls, and it is a pleasure to note that at a meeting of this kind those two great community leaders Mr. Kemp and Mr. Kell, are still ready to assist."
