WITNESSES IN EARTHQUAKES HAVE STORIES

WILLIAM GUARD DOES MUCH WITH FLUTE; DESCRIBE SCENES

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—It was the night of July 23. High above Sorrento, Italy, Vesuvius cast a red glare against the sky. In the streets people were moaning and wailing while all around them buildings shook and crumbled to the ground.

On the balcony of the Hotel Royal appeared the figure of a little old man of 60 or so, white hair, white mustache, white goatee fluttering in the breeze. He gazed at the milling crowd in the streets and courtyard below, then went back to his room.

Began Playing Flute
In a moment he appeared with a flute in his hand. Placing it to his lips he blew a few notes and then swung into an Italian aria. Above the sound of the wailing and the prayers rose the thin, sweet sound. It was heard in the courtyard below. One person looked up, then another. Soon the wailing stopped and all eyes were focused on the artist, playing his flute while the earth threatened to shake his hotel down about his ears.

Played Two Hours
For two hours he played then when the panic subsided, he returned to his bed, to sleep.

Mrs. Helen Barrows told the story today on her return from the earthquake zone of southern Italy on the Conte Grande. The first ship to land here from Italy since the quake. The flute player was her uncle, William "Billy" Guard, publisher for the Metropolitan Opera company.

The returning Americans aboard the Conte Grande, of whom there were 25 or more who were in Sorrento and Naples when the quake occurred, brought back many stories of the catastrophe.

Dawn Welcomed
Mrs. Edward P. Smith said the crew of a rooster, heralding the approach of dawn, was one of the most welcome sounds she heard during the night of the quake. Sitting in the courtyard, lighted only by the glare of Vesuvius and the fitful light from a few candles placed along the garden wall, she said the cock's crow, marking the end of a night of terror, came like an answer to a prayer.

W. T. James of Chattanooga, Tenn., was at Naples with his wife and their three sons. Although the rest of the family was awakened by the quake and hurried to the courtyard, he said, he secured the end of a night of terror, came like an answer to a prayer.

Success Fails By One Floor To Aid; Death Acts
BOSTON, Aug. 6.—Success long sought and worked for, was on the 16th floor of the Stratler building here today awaiting Samuel Grossman. Grossman jumped from a window ledge on the fifteenth floor and was killed.

Grossman, formerly a playwright and poet in Philadelphia and New York but living with his father-in-law here for several months, was ignorant of the fact that a radio feature he had conceived had been accepted by officials of a radio station in the building. In fact, they had awaited him eagerly to tell him his success was assured and only an audition test to be sure his voice would broadcast well was necessary.

Police investigators believed Grossman did not have confidence in himself and rather than risk a rebuff had leaped from the window. John L. Clark, program director at the radio studio, said Grossman's feature had been tried out by live plays in Springfield and they had pronounced it a sensational success.

Hillsboro Farms To Exhibit Here
A letter was received this morning by officials of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair association from Frank Scofield, manager of the Lackawana Farms, Hillsboro, in which he states that he will attend this year's exposition with the largest showing he has ever brought to West Texas.

"You can tell your South Plains folk that I will have on exhibition at the 1930 fair, 25 head of the best dual purpose short horns ever to be sent to West Texas," the letter reads. "I'll be there for opening day and for every other day."

Mr. Scofield's communication is only one of many which are being received from exhibitors in all parts of Texas and other states. Early correspondence with the exhibitors indicate that the annual show will be greater in attractions than ever before, officials state.

As The Rest Of The World Watches Texas Stages Its 'Family Argument'

MRS. MIRIAM "MA" FERGUSON

EDITOR'S NOTE—This article is being released to hundreds of American newspapers by Central Press Association, one of the largest of the feature syndicates. It is typical of many other articles being published all over the United States as the nation's eyes are turned to Texas' never political squabble.

By Central Press
AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 6.—Texas again is reverberating with the story of "Ma" and anti-Ma.

For Mrs. Miriam A. Ma Ferguson and Ross S. Sterling, waiting Houston publisher leader in the field of candidates, in the recent primary for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, will have a runoff contest August 23, to determine the candidate whose neighbor received a majority of votes.

Lacks Women's Support
"Ma Ferguson without benefit of support of women's organizations, rode into the governorship in 1901 solely as the wife of Jim Ferguson, who had just been elected governor in spite of his unpopularity, and in spite of his unpopularity, it could not run his wife could. Ma Ferguson became the second woman governor in the history of the United States. She was destined to have been the first if Mrs. Neale Taylor Ross had not died her husband, the governor of Wyoming, and was herself chosen his successor.

Having "retreated" Ma Ferguson, "Ma" proceeded with the business of state in a hazy manner with "Pa" ever at her side. Critics became more and more numerous, particularly when "Ma" pardoned a total of 3,000.

Down With Ferguson
"Down with the Ferguson" became the slogan of the anti-Fergusonites. "Ma" answered it by Fergusonism to Modestum, then to it, and on with the battle. The people want a continuation of present conditions, vote for Mr. Sterling. If they want a change, vote for me.

Unique in "Ma's platform this year is a plank to make personal abstention from liquor a qualification for office holding. And in

LEGGE URGES WHEAT BE FED TO LIVESTOCK

FEED SHORTAGE CALLS FOR USE OF SMALL GRAIN, HE SAYS

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Use of wheat for livestock feeding is urged by Chairman Legge of the Farm Board as a means of disposing of the large visible supply of wheat which has been a depressing influence on the market.

In a radio address over WLS, the chairman said "the price of wheat has reached a point where we can and should consider wheat from the standpoint of its value as a feed for livestock."

Feed Is Short
"The present severe drought has reached a point," he said, "where the shortage of feed and forage threatens serious losses to livestock growers and dairymen over a wide area. The hay crop is the smallest we have had in years. In some sections the corn crop will be reduced 40 or 50 per cent or even more."

"Hay stocks are being fed out, and the prospect for sufficient winter supplies of feed is not encouraging. Under these conditions there is danger that farmers will dispose of beef cattle and dairy animals as a sacrifice. If this movement is not headed off it may mean that a large number of animals in poor condition will be forced onto the livestock markets, and still lower levels of livestock prices."

The chairman said there was absolutely no relief possible through disposal of the surplus abroad at prices below the domestic level. Many of the most important wheat importing countries now have legislation, he explained, that could be applied to prevent or penalize any such action. He added the only way to permanently improve the wheat situation was to reduce annual wheat production.

TUTTLE DECLARES LAW TO BE RULED

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 6.—Operators of speakeasies and other small traffickers in liquor need not feel safe behind their barred doors in view of the present policy of the national prohibition department to go after the big offenders against the prohibition law, first said Robert F. Tuttle, prohibition administrator for the fifth district, which includes Texas.

The policy was laid down at a recent conference with national prohibition officials in Washington. "Operators of speakeasies and other smaller traffickers in liquor need not think themselves safe as a result of the new policy of getting the big operators first," said Mr. Tuttle.

"We'll get them first if we can but if we can't get them first we'll get them later. Meantime there will be no letup in the crusade against all violators of the prohibition law, whether they be large or small."

Film Actress Is Charged By Hubby

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—Jean Harlow, film actress, was accused today by her husband, Charles McGrew, II, of Chicago, of being for indecent pictures.

The charge was made in McGrew's answer to a civil suit filed against him by Miss Harlow, who asked $4,500, allegedly due her under an agreement they made after their separation a year ago last June.

McGrew, reputedly wealthy, admitted signing an agreement to pay his wife $375 monthly, but he alleged he was induced to sign by fraud and trickery.

The period from sunset Friday to sunset Saturday was adopted by Jews as their Sabbath about 360 A. D.

MODERN JAIL Television And Radio To Be In Cells

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 6.—The $800,000 Westchester county jail, for which contracts are being awarded today, is to be wired for eventual installation of both radio and television sets in the cells.

George W. Burton, chairman of the jail committee, said this was being done because some persons confined in the county jails are held merely as witnesses, through no fault of their own, and it was felt they were entitled to such entertainment as could be given them.

Rail Purchase To Be Heard In Dallas

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The Southern Pacific's petition for permission to purchase the St. Louis Southwestern railroad will be heard before the interstate commerce commission on October 20, at Dallas.

C. D. Mahaffie, recently selected commissionaire, was designated to preside at the Texas assembly. The Southern Pacific notified the commission it had contracted to purchase control of the St. Louis Southwestern and that it already held large blocks of the smaller system's stock.

Steamship Fairfax Is Back On Its Run

BALTIMORE, Aug. 6.—The reconditioned steamship Fairfax, of the Merchants & Miners' Transportation company came back to its home port today without a sign of the collision June 10, with the tanker Pinthis off Scituate, Mass., which cost fifty lives.

Captain Archibald H. Brooks, master of the ship when it hit the Pinthis, was in command of the Fairfax as it docked and will be on the bridge tomorrow night when it resumes its place on the regular Boston-Baltimore run.

Brooks is slated to face charges which were placed against him by steamship inspectors who investigated the sea tragedy at Norfolk August 12.

Thought For Today

But in every nation he that searcheth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him.—The Acts 10:35

We must not be afraid of nothing, poverty, not exile nor imprisonment; of fear itself only should we be afraid.—Epictetus

Too Efficient

A brief railway trip through half a dozen important American cities leads one to the sad conclusion that the day of the cavernous old-fashioned railway station is no more.

Of course, it is very nice to see that our railroads are prosperous and energetic enough to build a lot of new stations. The new ones, furthermore, are probably a good deal more efficient than the old ones. Just the same, there must be a good many Americans who will miss the old stations go with something like regret.

The new railroad station is strictly business. Half of the time the tracks are underground. When they are not, each narrow strip of platform has its own roof, which runs along no higher than the top of the cars. Getting on a train in such a station is about as exciting as boarding an elevator.

But the old kind—the kind with the enormous, high-roofed train shed, with rays of sunlight leaking in through occasional columns to fall slantwise across the tall piers of a gridding white structure—taking a train to a station was an adventure. You felt that you were going somewhere. There was a bit of pomp to one's departure.

Railroad experts have found that these vast train sheds are uneconomical, and they are coming down. In their place, the modern ones, with no eye-tiring vistas and no great, echoing, open spaces up-to-date, but uninteresting.

Worse yet, the railroads are beginning to use electric engines to haul their trains in and out of the big terminals. This, from the point of view of excitement and romance, is pretty nearly the last straw. There used to be an enormous thrill in walking down the platform of one of those old-fashioned train sheds, with the engines panting and puffing like so many chargers, their steam and smoke rising to dissolve in the air, and the noise of a great railway station echoing and reverberating under the big roof. But now—no echoes, no steam, no high vistas, no panting engines. An electric locomotive is about as thrilling as a street car.

The people who live in small towns, perhaps, are luckier. It is exciting to board a train from a country station, late at night. Everything is quiet, except for the tick-tick of the telegraph in the office. Beyond the lighted platform, all is blackness. Then, far off, comes the wall of the locomotive's whistle. Its bright headlights slings into view, down the track—and at last it comes in with a rush and a roar—the sleepers looking extra palatial and inviting by contrast with the dingy station. You swing up the step, the conductor's "Goodnight!" echoes down the platform, and you're off. It's lots of fun.

But these modern stations—who can get a kick out of them?

Sad Case

If the hot weather has left you with any tears at all, you might shed one or two small ones for the citizens who thought up such a swell new scheme for getting a quart of liquor across the Canadian boundary.

Instead of keeping it all in one bottle, he got 30 small bottles and divided it among them, hoping these little bottles all over his car.

Then the customs men, unfortunately caught on. They dug out all 30 bottles—and then fined him $5 apiece for each bottle.

The stout, therefore, cost the man $150. If he had been caught with all his liquor in one bottle, it would have cost him just $5.

We're not quite sure what the moral of this story is. If it has any, it's a very sad one, indeed.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says:

That Girl on Broadway says some people think 'pleasure' is a synonym for something they can't afford to do.

SOMEbody who works in the department of streets and alleys, City of Lubbock, is a humorist. The Plainsman hasn't any idea who he is but, regardless of personalities, he is the type who can get a kick out of incongruities. We refer to the gentleman who placed the "slow" warning sign at the north intersection of Texas avenue and Sixteenth street.

The Plainsman would like to see anybody drive other than "slow" onto Sixteenth street. Texas avenue—going south. Immediately after watching the miracle, we'd hurry to the office to write an eyewitness story of the wreck. If there is a rougher stretch of thoroughfare anywhere in the United States than that leading out just south of Sixteenth and Texas we'd like to see it—and to suggest that it be placed in the Smithsonian Institution with the balance of the monstrosities.

The city authorities are working now on a proposition to get all paving leave-out hard-surfaced—that is, all of them not protected by the Homestead law. That's fine business but the Plainsman suggests that they level them off now and take a chance on paving them later. It's a crying shame that the streets are neglected.

This column has commented before on streets in Lubbock. It is the Plainsman's opinion that they should have had the care they level them off now and take a chance on paving them later. It's a crying shame that the streets are neglected.

That Man on Avenue Q says a naut should receive a testimonial upon its excellence in making necks. One of them always lasts a lifetime.

SPEAKING of streets and paving reminds the Plainsman of a practical suggestion made this column recently by Thomas B. Duggan, jr., who says how Lubbock can be improved from that angle. The middle parking in Texas avenue, Broadway and Avenue Q should be paved, says Mr. Duggan, as well as fire protection and in handling of cross-city traffic.

He goes on to point out that while he would like to see a complete property owners on either side of the streets to pay for the middle paving, the city would be making a good investment in footing the bill. This column agrees with Mr. Duggan's theory, but frankly, we have little hope in the projects being carried on any time soon.

EVERYONE knows the cooler pavements in Lubbock boulevard are unsightly as well as a menace to traffic and that those who planned them erred woefully in fact, although the theory was a good one. If they are ever paved over, fire trucks can get to fires in all portions of the city much quicker than they can now—and with much less risk to life limb and property. Further than that, when the modern ones, in which arteries are designated to more quickly handle long haul traffic across the city, these wide streets will better serve their purpose.

The idea, of course, is a dream. Just as the modern fair part idea, the city auditorium and city planning are all dreams. Some day these dreams will be realized but the Plainsman admits that the day is a "far piece" off.

As a safe-guard to public health, don't you think the "Big Dipper" should be replaced by a sanitary cup?

An Amarillo music store owner has had a nervous breakdown. A discus thrower strolled into his phonograph record department.

The dental surgeon and the gold-digger have something in common. Both make a specialty of extractions.

These movie people are certainly versatile. We note from an advertisement that "Lon Chaney Talks!"

New England Senators Have Had Tough Going But George Moses, New Hampshire, Seems To Like It, Dutcher Says

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—This has been a rough year on the senators from New England and the latest victim is the ablest and most picturesque of the lot, the Hon. George Higgins, Moses of New Hampshire.

Senator Freddie Hale of Maine, chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee, is recovering from the defeat of his attempt to block the London treaty. Gould of Maine is retiring from public life, presumably on account of Anti-Saloon League enmity after it appeared that he was getting wise to the ferment in his cellar. Bingham of Connecticut was censured by the senate because he let an agent of the Connecticut manufacturers in on secret tariff sessions.

Gillett of Massachusetts, whose state went Democratic in 1928, has retired from the Senate and is likely to be succeeded by a Democrat. Little is heard of Greene of Vermont, who was crippled by a stray bullet in a battle between bootleggers and cops several years ago, but Dale of Vermont got mixed up with the old lobby in some way and had to make public explanations. Metcalf of Rhode Island is faced with opposition this year that may prove fatal. Keene of New Hampshire recently complained that cowboys in the Senate office building were eating the banding off his books.

How He Loves To Play
 Then there's George Higgins, Moses, the wise-cracking, hard-boiled veteran politician who plays politics because he loves the intrigue of it and nearly always does things with his tongue in his cheek. George Higgins remembers a few years ago when New England was in the saddle down here.

Higgins gets into more little jams than anyone else you can think of and he always seems to do it by design. Lately his troubles have been in connection with his chairmanship of the Republican senatorial campaign committee. He had them in the same connection last year when he named Otto Kahn as treasurer of the committee, causing enough protest to embarrass Mr. Kahn to the point that Mr. Kahn quit. This time, however, the loud speakers of the so-called "Young Turks" in the Senate were trying to make George Higgins quit. They promised to make him quit, in fact, but George Higgins is still chairman.

Instead of being a rebuke to George Higgins, the plan whereby he will supervise Republican senatorial campaigns east of the Mississippi while Steiwer of Oregon takes over the western territory is said to be George Higgins' own idea. But the decision of party Treasurer J. R. Nutt not to turn the campaign over to George Higgins was more of a slap.

Just to recall that these troubles of George Higgins in campaigns aren't anything new, remember 1928. National Chairman Hubert Work and George Higgins had a feud all the way through. Once George Higgins left Hubert's office muttering "At last they've found a man who can stop Hoover," George Higgins became eastern campaign manager for Hoover and the Democrats found one of his letters to an editor praising as "hot stuff" a violent anti-Catholic circular, indicating, as before suggested, that George Higgins is a very practical politician.

- That "Jackass" Epithet
 A few months ago George Higgins called the Republican progressive senators "Young Turks" and in the subsequent commotion there were plenty of Republicans to moan bitterly that that was a heck of a way to talk for a senatorial campaign manager, whose business was to re-elect Re-

SEE CLINIC SPECIALIST FOR GOTTEN

Mrs. C. I judge from your description that your gottens is not a simple one (one without symptoms) with the exception of the enlargement of the thyroid gland, but it is a rather serious condition. For these are accompanied by extreme nervousness and thinness, symptoms which you describe. The eye-ball protrusion is usually a late symptom.

This exophthalmic type causes such a speeding up of the burning of food in the body that it is very difficult to gain weight. It is very difficult to gain weight. It is very difficult to gain weight. It is very difficult to gain weight.

The exact cause of the exophthalmic gottens is not known, except that it is some toxic condition which has profoundly upset the gland. They have been known to arise from extreme nervous systems. Retarding tablets containing thyroid and iodine, certain infectious diseases, prolonged absorption from local infections such as carious teeth, prolonged diseased tonsils, etc., prolonged unbalanced diet, are other causes listed.

The diet may have to be increased to 5000 or 6000 C. a day, because of the great need for food. Have you counted your calories?
 I notice you live in a small town. I think it is very necessary for you to go to your nearest big city where you can find a doctor who specializes in this disease, or go to some clinic there. As you observed the column rules, the article on Thyroid Disturbances was sent you, this explains a little more in detail.

Mrs. H. You should go to a very public senator.

Ever since National Chairman Claudius Huston had some of his interesting lobbying-financial deals revealed by the Senate Lobby Committee George Higgins and Claudius have been the only Republicans who thought Claudius shouldn't resign at the first convenient moment. George Higgins insisted that the party ought to defend Claudius and keep him at the helm, which attitude gained very few more friends for George Higgins.

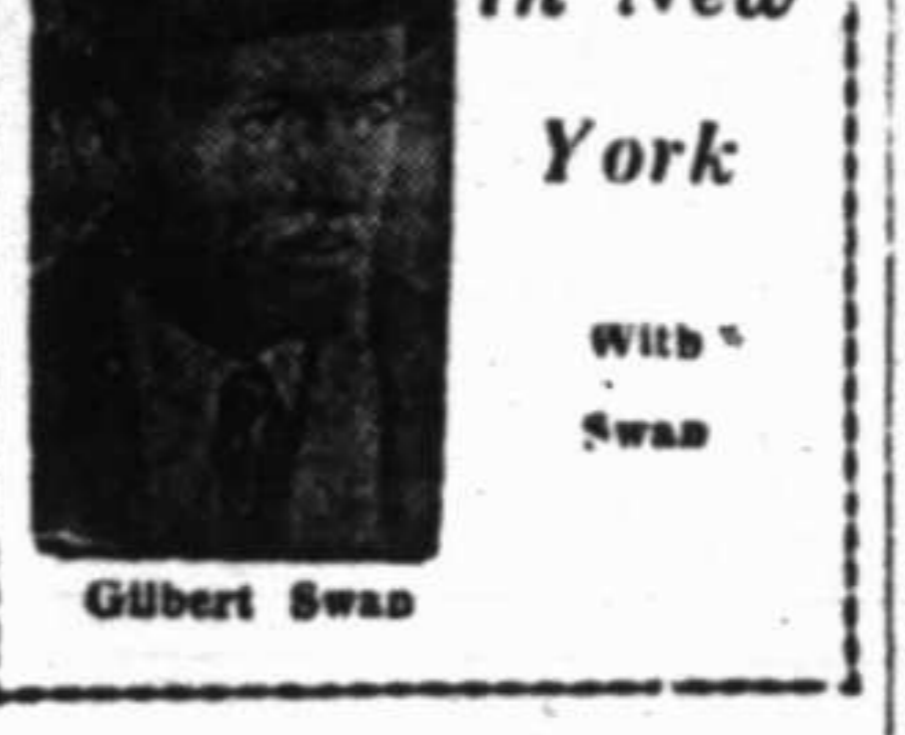

You might have considered George Higgins quite regular up to that point, but he went and committed the unforgivable sin when he belabored President Hoover during the debate on the naval treaty.

Of course, George Higgins was only being himself when he waded into the anti-treaty fight, but he might have refrained from declaring that Hoover in presenting the treaty had "affronted the American people."

So there are many Republicans who feel like saying to George Higgins, "Son of a wild jackass, yourself!"

In New York

Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—There died in this strange town the other day a woman who left a $12,000 trust fund for the maintenance of her horses.

And that in a city which has surrendered to speed and motors and machines, seems to me worth jotting down in your notebook as another instance of the anything which can happen in this metropolis.

Her name was Galway—Elizabeth A. Galway—and such was her sentimental attachment to the old tradition of stable and Victoria that, though she occupied a brownstone mansion in the mid-Fifties, she would not buy an auto nor would she ride in one unless it was absolutely necessary.

She was one of the few grand old ladies of yesteryear who each day, come rain or shine, would step into her carriage and ride through Central Park in aristocratic stables. She had a closed carriage for stormy weather and another more elaborate equipage for Sunday mornings when her horses clattered down the Avenue to church.

Eyes turned about as her charming old Victoria drove up to the smart Fifth Avenue shops, accompanied by a coachman and footman. It's a sight not to be seen often in this particular generation. But Mrs. Galway took great pride in her loyalty to the livery stables. Hundreds had become more elaborate equipage for Sunday mornings when her horses creased their necks, but few in all New York knew her.

During the last few years as a grey older, Mrs. Galway began to wonder what would happen to her two remaining horses when she died. And hence the clause in her will leaving the fortune for the old-fashioned horse.

There are a few more who have inherited their carriages and in many sections of the country of the past horse is still markedly visible. The old coachmen, with hacks to rent, give "fees" and "fines" not so many years ago when first I landed in Manhattan, they were to be found in the city of New York, at the Pennsylvania station, trying to get a horse to the city.

Today their old law has surrendered to a new traffic law, and the old-fashioned horse is being driven to the slaughterhouse. A few are still to be found near the Plaza hotel, at the gateway to Central Park.

Not many New Yorkers know that two of the very largest art sections of the town are merged into one. Just back of Washington Square in Greenwich Village is MacDougal Alley and the Washington Square. The latter thoroughfare, are color-stained and the sides are occupied by the richest and most successful artists and writers. Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, the sculptor lives in one of these.

Yet these were once the stables for the folk who owned old-fashioned brick mansions with the old-fashioned and moved up town the stables were abandoned and art-late fairly leaped upon them. In the passing years, the stables were demolished and decorated and now blossom forth as an exclusive art colony.

The rentals are almost prohibitive to the average creator and colorful efforts in street lamps and tricky advertisements now give the spots a most individual flavor. Only Patches Place, with its old-fashioned street oil lamp and its overhanging tree set in cobblestones, can match the old stable alleys for quaint effect.

After robbing a summer home on Long Island Sound, robbers departed in the owners $5,000 speed boat. As though they hadn't puttered around enough that evening.

Mrs. according to the headlines, used to end their lives over their finances, but now it's a case of their finances.

Add victims of the auto age—the quot player who has to buy his horsehoes.

Mr. Thomas Writes a Generous Letter; One May Will Support Mrs. Ferguson, Another Ross Sterling

MR. THOMAS WRITES
 Editor, Avalanche-Journal,
 My Dear Sir:

It is with the utmost gratitude I express my appreciation of the manner in which you have handled the campaign of myself and the successful candidate, Hon. G. E. Lockhart, in our race for state representative.

I assure you it has been a pleasure to have known you. May I also say that my unsuccessful campaign has been a pleasure to me in meeting many people of the district in whom I have the highest respect.

I attach herewith a short statement to the people of our district and will thank you if you will run this for me in both the morning Avalanche and the evening Journal. Any expense covering doing this will be taken care of by myself upon receipt of a statement covering.

With the very kindest feelings toward you and your worthy papers, I am,
 Yours very truly,
 JOHN N. THOMAS,
 Tahoka, Texas.

Mr. Thomas' Statement
 John N. Thomas of Tahoka who was a candidate for State representative for the 119th district in the past primary issues a statement to the voters of the district thanking them for the support given him in this race. Mr. Thomas said "My district in the district which was only a few votes short of winning was gratifying beyond expression. I have made many new friends in this race and to them and the old friends who supported me so liberally I will always be grateful. I do not hold any ill feeling of any kind toward any one arising from this campaign. May we all co-operate our efforts toward a continuance of the progress and prosperity of the people of the South Plains of Texas."

OPPOSES STERLING
 The Avalanche-Journal, Lubbock, Texas.
 Gentlemen: In your Sunday paper you inform the public that I must be Sterling.

Just why this must be, you do not state, except that her election would be detrimental to the people. You state further along that both she and Jim have been tried and found wanting. You state further on that you will give further information as the campaign advances—perhaps when Sterling Headquarters tell you just what to say.

From Sam Houston to Moody there has always been a large body of citizens and newspapers who declared the candidate "Wanting."

Gov. Jim Hogg, who was undoubtedly the best governor Texas ever had, was furiously assailed by the press of the large cities of the state and by pretty much the same kind of people that are now attacking Ferguson. Led by one of the best known lawyers of the state and backed by high finance and other exploiters of the press, he was defeated. It was humbly possible was done to defeat him. A crippled son of his is now legging for Sterling.

The Ferguson were defeated four years ago by the poorest specimen of the genus homo ever elevated to gubernatorial honors in the whole U. S. and I am very sorry that I assisted in doing it.

Sterling is the puppet and protégé of this fake governor and is being assisted by a man that has been repudiated by Democrats and in the recent primary got the dose he needed and it will last unless the present Highway commissioner should win in the coming primary. In this case it is probable that both he and Moody will find a place on the Highway commission where they can brag and show their ears.

If "It must be Sterling" then I must decline to assist you, even in a small way, to put it over.

Please discontinue the Avalanche and Evening Journal to the Meadow Grove Store.

Check will be found to cover amount due.
 Very truly yours,
 J. D. MOORHEAD,
 Meadow Grove Store,
 Meadow, Texas.

STERLING IS APPROVED
 Editor, Avalanche-Journal,
 Dear Sir:
 Please send me the Evening Journal to this address for without it I am homeless. Enclosed find money to pay for it.

Will just say let's work for Mr. Sterling fast and furious.
 Yours truly,
 E. F. HOWARD,
 Big Spring, Texas.

FAMILY FEUD IS ENDED IN DEATH

HOPE Ark. Aug. 6.—(U.P.A.) family feud begun 12 years ago resulted in the fatal shooting of Elmer Tullis, 50, by C. W. Ashcraft, 45, in the shopping section here Monday. Both men were farmers.

Ashcraft was arrested following the shooting which occurred when the men met for the first time since the quarrel on a highway near here Saturday night. Ashcraft was held under $5,000 bond for the October grand jury after waiving a preliminary hearing last night.

The two men, officers said, had been enemies 12 years. They finally were reconciled on a highway near growth of the killing of Tullis, son-in-law at Mineral Springs. Tullis was reported by officers to have charged Ashcraft with connection with his son-in-law's death.

DETROIT NEWS SEEKS RADIO MAN'S SLAYER

NEWSPAPER IS OUT TO DETERMINE MOTIVE OF SLAYING

(By Associated Press)
 DETROIT, Aug. 6.—The Detroit News says it has collected current rumors and theories of what was behind the killing of Gerald E. (Jerry) Buckley, radio speaker who attacked the underworld and criticized the administration of Mayor Charles Bowles.

The rumors, the News says, have been collected particularly from "those elements of society which had reason to fear and hate Buckley."

Banner Asks Question
 The News asks in a first page eight column headline "Who Killed Jerry Buckley and Why?" The first answer, the paper says, comes from the police themselves. In the fall of 1927, the paper recalls, liquor exportation from Canada was at its height, and Canadians who were in that business found themselves dealing with the underworld in the American side of the river.

Kidnapers turned their attention to the wealthy exporters in Canadian border cities, intending to extort money from them as they had been doing from persons in illegal business in the United States. Canadian businessmen, however, were engaged in a legitimate enterprise in their own country, and appealed to the law. The News said, two men—Frank Cammarata and Thomas Liscov—were arrested and charged with carrying weapons.

Buckley Was Lawyer
 The men insisted that they were being framed, the News says, in order to forestall kidnaping attempts. They were rumors that they paid $4,000 to "some one" to get them out of trouble. The paper continues, but $10,000 was reported to have been paid to the same person to see that they were convicted. Buckley who was a lawyer, aided these men in arranging for counsel for them in Windsor. They were convicted and served five years. Recently they were released. The police announced they were seeking

 Argotane Beats Any Medicine He Ever Saw For Troubles Like His, He Says

"I am certainly glad Argotane came my way," says Ed S. Cole, a well-known baker employed at Herring Brothers Bakery and Grocery and residing at 117 North Main Street, San Angelo, Texas, in an interview.

"My health has been broken down and had for two years," continued Mr. Cole. "My stomach was all upset, my food would sour and about two months ago I got poisoned from some food or other and I was in what I might term an awful fix. I had sharp shooting pains through my left and right side, especially at night, and I want to tell you I suffered intense agony. I was constipated and at times would nearly die with headaches. I was in a miserable shape and got to where I almost had to quit work."

"I began to pick up in just a day or so after I began taking Argotane and I have been gradually improving ever since. My stomach feels stronger and I can eat and digest many things now I couldn't eat before without suffering afterwards. I'm not constipated like I was, my headaches are broken up and my appetite is enormous. My side is feeling all right now, my general health has greatly improved and I'm getting better right along. I have suffered a long time and have tried many different kinds of medicines but Argotane beats them all. I could never get the right relief until I began taking it, therefore, I have the best of reasons for thinking it the best there is."

IN THE REALM OF SPORTS

With Collier Parris

Plans are being forward to make the Panhandle Open Golf Tournament one of the most complete and interesting meets ever held in the state. Some four hundred entrants will be on hand when the tourney opens Saturday morning at the Hillcrest and municipal links at Amarillo. These golfers will be from all points in West Texas, southwest Oklahoma, and southern New Mexico.

One of the features of the tournament will be the link duel between Dennis Lavender of Abilene, former state champion, and Frank Foxhall of Memphis, Gen. Belt champ. A match between these two had been arranged previously, but an injury to the Green Belt title holder prevented the duel. The combined Hillcrest and Municipal layouts in Amarillo will offer a 72-hole medal play, should give the pair plenty of room to fight it out.

But who said Lavender and Foxhall would settle the question of state champ? They will have plenty of strong competition in the Panhandle tourney, and if one of them is beaten, or both of them are forced to bow to more clever niblick wielders neither could claim the title, unless his or their conqueror should be an out of state man. The Lubbock entry is not going to be a slouchy bunch of opponents to be despised. The outstanding Lubbock golfer at present seems to be Clinton Bussey, who threatens to take the individual honors of the city. Bussey holds the low score record on the Lubbock Country Club course, with 68 shot last week. There are some hot shots over Amarillo who are training their guns on Foxhall and Lavender, and the North Texans are not to be denied their power.

Work on the construction of a field house, locker and dressing rooms for the Texas Tech gridsters will get under way about next week. The move is characteristic of Tech's new coaching staff. The erection of a suite of dressing rooms, check room, and equipment store, club room, and the football stands, open only to gridiron candidates, will make the team at least 25 per cent better. Another step in conjunction with the dressing room idea is a bringing together of the football men under a common residential roof. The school has leased a dormitory near the campus to be occupied by none other than gridiron boys, with a coach or two to keep order. It is another wise move, and one that will make for a better spirit, a more unified cooperation, and a general advantageous attitude among the players.

Officials of the South Plains League meet tonight in Tahoka to map out a schedule for the last half of the season. The first division expires next Sunday with each team playing three games this week to wind it up. Each team will play fifteen games during the latter part of the season, and one that will meet the Tahoka team in a playoff series for the championship, provided the Lynn County entry does not insist on making a sweep of the second division. This is hardly likely, since the other teams of the league source of them at least, have shown a tendency toward improvement, what with procuring the services of more capable pitchers and strengthening their lineups generally.

The ebony kid from Cuba, Eligio Eardlian, pronounced Kid Chocolate, faces perhaps the toughest assignment given him in all his successful fight life when he takes on Jack Bergman, the Jewish lad from the White Chapel district of London, tomorrow night. Kid Chocolate, the favorite in his class, must drop ten pounds of his weight before the bout, and that takes away his favoritism. Three days before the bout the betting was 6 to 5 on Berg, the lightweight whirlwind. And plenty of betting is being done and taken. Chocolate's friends believe in him to the limit, but he'll have to do some tall stepping to stop the Jew baby. The Kid has flashed for two years in American amateur and professional boxing, never being beaten in 67 bouts. He is a natural lightweight, and is considered the unoverrun champion of the class. He holds a decision over Al Singer, reigning lightweight, and has one draw to mar an otherwise perfect record. The draw was decided in a bout with Joe Scalfaro.

Hole-In-One Made In Lamesa Tourney
LAMESA, Aug. 6.—(Special)—Snyder's golf team defeated the Lamesa squad playing there Sunday by a large margin, according to Bob Lavender, one of the local players. Two records were broken during the match which was a return tilt with the Scurry countians. Earl Fisch, Snyder golfer, playing on the fourth hole, sank a 125 yard tee shot for a hole-in-one during the match while Frank Rose of Lamesa broke the low score record for the course, making 32, two below par for the nine holes.

Exchange Made In National League
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 6. (AP)—The exchange via the water routes of Pittsburgh Pirates, for Danny Southland, centerfielder, of the Philadelphia Nationals, was announced today by Sam Dreysfus, vice president of the Pittsburgh club. Southern will report to the Pirates Thursday. Brickell will report to the Phillies at Cincinnati Friday.

DEL MORGAN GOES ROUTE FOR LOCALS

MEETING IS SCHEDULED TONIGHT IN TAHOKA TO CARD GAMES

The Lubbock Hubbers defeated Southland 3 to 2 at Merrill Park here yesterday in one of the cleanest and fastest games of the season. Del Morgan was on the mound for the locals all the way, giving up six hits and keeping them well scattered. Cummings went the route for the visitors. He was touched for eight hits, two of which accounted for runs. Lubbock scored first, early in the first inning, when Granade, Hubber centerfielder, smashed a triple to right field and crossed the plate on Marshall's single. The Southland team hit twice in the third for their first tally, and Martin's double in the ninth resulted in his scoring when Rich, Hubber short stop, made the only Lubbock error of the day, and Holland, visiting short, singled. Lubbock's second run came in the third when Morgan was safe on Holland's fumble, advanced by Rich's sacrifice bunt, and scored on Marshall's single, after Waller had singled. The winning run came in the fourth when Crites, safe on an error, scored on Morgan's single.

To levelled Thursday. The Hubbers go to Levelland tomorrow for a game with the Hockley County entry, and wind up their first half of the season Sunday with Southland at Southland. The South Plains League council meets at Tahoka tonight to draw up a schedule for the last half of the season, and to consider applications for membership in the league as a result of the breaking up of the Lamesa team yesterday. After a more or less successful half-season in which they stood every chance of gaining second place, the Daversy County club disbanded when it was found that several members of the team would not play the second half. It is thought that Littlefield or Crosbyton will enter the league.

LARGE CROWD SEES BROWNFIELD WIN

BROWNFIELD, Aug. 6. (Special)—Before one of the largest crowds to witness a South Plains League game, the Brownfield team met the Tahoka aggregation Tuesday and inflicted a 3 to 2 defeat on the leaders of the loop. It was the second time of the season that Tahoka has been beaten and the Brownfield sluggers lost no time in bringing about the collapse of Tahoka's almost perfect standing. Brownfield's business houses closed up and business was dull everywhere except at the ball park, where two pitchers and two catchers were used by the visiting Lynn County boys in a vain attempt to halt the Browns. The park was fairly crowded with the township which had turned out to encourage the locals.

Graham on Mound
Smiling Graham went the route for Brownfield, striking out fourteen men, and giving up seven hits. Brownfield hit only six times, and Brownfield errors assisted somewhat in the scoring. Larkin, for Tahoka, was the leading hitter for the visitors, with two singles. Only one of the Tahoka runs was earned. Graham kept the seven hits well scattered, and was accorded full support by his mates. Oliver, Squires and Wells, Hollis; Graham and Coffey.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (AP)—The "big" minor leagues of the American Association, the International League and the Pacific Coast League, will go to war with the American and National leagues over the universal draft question, if they have to, but their members do not think it will be necessary. Walter Haggood, general manager of the Midwest clubs of the International League and chairman of a joint committee to recommend the three class AA leagues course of action, said that representatives of the groups did not believe the major leagues will go back on the agreement made at Kansas City in 1921, by refusing to carry on player relations after December 1.

Haggood also said that it was universally felt among the members of the big minor groups, that the trouble over the draft question would be cleared up, but that they would go it on their own if the major leagues carried out their threat to sever player relations unless the universal draft is accepted.

NIGHT GAMES AIDING HURLERS

COOPER AND HARRIS ARE GOOD TUESDAY

WACO CLIMBS BACK TO SECOND; SPUDS CONTINUE

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
If nothing else, night baseball has provided the Texas league with more brilliant pitching performances already than ordinarily would be seen in a full season of daylight play. The innovation undoubtedly has worked to the advantage of the hurlers, making up to some extent for the handicaps placed upon them in recent years.

The latest striking example of what a smart hurler can do in the lights and shadows was given last night at Houston, when old Wilbur Cooper, recently acquired by the San Antonio Indians, when the Shreveport management decided he had completed his pitching span, held the Buffs to two hits and multiplied young Allyn Stout in a hurling duel, 3 to 1.

Peel Gets Homer
Homer Peel, Buff outfielder, robbed the veteran of a shut-out when he pashed one of his southern slants out of the lot in the ninth. Gary Selph's single in the first was the only other blow off Cooper, whose baseball career dates back to 1912. The Indians sewed up the verdict early, bunching hits for two runs off Stout in the first inning.

While Cooper was dazzling the Buffs in their home lot, Lanky Bill Harris of the Waco Cubs was turning in an almost equally fine performance against the Beaumont Exporters in their opener at Katy Park. The tall righthander gave up only three hits, scattered over as many innings, and blanked the Shippers, 8 to 0. The Cubs battered Newman hard, Bischoff and Rye featuring the assault with homers. The victory broke a four-game losing streak for the Waco nine and boosted the Prattmen back into second place, a game and one-half behind the leading Spudders.

Spuds Win Two
Continuing their vicious attack on opposing hurlers since their return to home ground, the Spuds cracked down on the luckless Dallas Steers in both ends of a daynight doubleheader, 6 to 5 and 7 to 3, to sweep the series. The Mavericks were ahead only once, when Jim Babe Ruth hit his forty-first home run but that didn't help much when Walter Johnson's batters got busy on Penneck and Johnson. Charlie Ruffing was largely responsible for the Yanks 7 to 1 triumph in the curtain game. He put his team out in the fifth with a homer in the second inning and then let the opposing batsmen down with nine scattered hits and fanned the same number.

A Stationary
The Athletics failed to take advantage of Washington's even legs, losing a 4 to 3 game to the Boston Red Sox.

Detroit put over four runs in the eighth to give Earl Whitehill his eighth consecutive victory, the Tigers defeating the Indians 8 to 4.

SENATORS PROVE JINX TO NEW YORK IN AMERICAN LEAGUE RACE; ROBINS CONTINUE SUPREMACY IN NATIONAL

BY ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

But for the presence of the Washington Senators in the American league, the New York Yankees might be up there fighting the Athletics for leadership. As it is, however, Babe Ruth and company are battling in third position, ten games back of the champions and not much chance of gaining ground as long as they are scheduled to play Walter Johnson's Senators.

The Senators have beat the Yankees in 12 of their 15 meetings this season. The Yanks succeeded in breaking the jinx yesterday but not until the Senators had won their seventh straight by taking the first of a doubleheader 6 to 4.

The Athletics failed to take advantage of Washington's even legs, losing a 4 to 3 game to the Boston Red Sox.

Three of Cleveland's four runs were unearned.

The Giants and Robins furnished another one of their spectacular contests in the National league, Brooklyn finally winning 9 to 8 in ten innings. The Giants trailed 6 to 1 going into the ninth but a five-run rally sent the veteran Adolfo Luque to the showers and tied the score. Two more were added in the tenth but the league leaders fell on Bill Walker for three runs and the game in their half of the frame. Bill Terry was the big gun of the Giants attack, getting five hits including a homer. In the ninth he went into the National league batting leadership.

Cubs Best Cards
The Cubs kept pace with the Robins, scoring three runs in the ninth to defeat the Cardinals 5 to 4. Bill Hallahan held the league champions to two hits, one of which was Hank Wilson's thirty-sixth home run in the ninth when he weakened and was forced to retire in favor of Rheim, who was charged with the defeat.

Frankhouse held the Phillies to two hits as the Braves gave Philadelphia a 6 to 2 defeat.

Other news and other far-reaching matters are now being reported from more than 500 farms in the state.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

All afternoon the Tinymites talked round the town, just seeing sights. "By night," exclaimed the Travel Man, "we'll sure be all tired out. But while we're here it seems to me 'tis best to see all we can see. Then when we leave you'll just know what this country's all about. So on they went till Scouty tied. 'Where's Clowny?' Is he going to hide? I cannot see him anywhere. Perhaps he's dropped behind. And, sure enough, as Scouty feared, he suddenly had disappeared. Said Copsy, 'If he's hiding, he's hid very kind. The Travel Man was much concerned. Down several streets they quickly turned, but nowhere was poor Clowny's form. He'd simply dropped from sight. We must find him at any cost,' said Copsy. 'I'm sure he's hid, but I only hope wherever he is, that he is all right.' The search kept on till almost dark. Then Scouty loudly shouted, 'Look! I think I heard some town's noise. Somebody's shouting. Hey! There, for the bunch here came a treat. They sped poor Clowny down the street. He ran right up to them and said, 'Oh, are you all here? I've been away—' I hopped a cart that passed our way and then the pony ran away. When someone caught him I jumped off. That was a trip quite rare. 'Well, have your fun, lad now and then, but please don't pull that trick again. We've all been looking round for you. You gave us all a scare.' That night the Tinymites slept real sound and in the morning they were bound for some new land. The Travel Man was teasing them but not tell, but said, 'I know you'll think it's swell. They took a train and then a boat and sailed right out to sea.

(The Tinymites arrive in a big city in the next story.)
