Political Lineups May Take Shape

By LLOYD LARRABEE
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN (UP) Texas' political lineup for the 1958 elections may take shape this week.

U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough was scheduled to return to the state next week-end, when he is expected to reveal whether he will run for a full six-year term in his present office or make another campaign for governor.

Yarborough speaks Friday at El Paso before the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association.

Gov. Price Daniel, who defeated Yarborough in 1956 by a scant 3,171 votes out of a total of some 1,400,000, announced for re-election to a second term Friday, marking the first major entry in that race.

Daniel's announcement came as no surprise. He vacated a seat in the United States Senate to take the governorship, and early in 1956 said he would rather be governor than president.

Two Weeks Left

Only a little more than two weeks remain to clear the air in all the statewide races, before the filing deadline May 5.

Unless Yarborough decides to make his fourth race for governor, that race was expected to be calmer than the torrid campaign of two years ago.

Two others who have been mentioned as possible opponents for Daniel were State Sen. Charles Herring of Austin and Attorney General Will Wilson, who also has been the subject of speculation as a possible entry in the U. S. Senate race.

However, political observers expected Wilson, a first-termer, to run for re-election and bide his time for possible entry in an "open" race for governor in 1960.

District Judge James Sewell of Corsicana, mentioned as a prospective candidate for governor, removed himself from the governor's race this year in a statement Saturday in which he said he owed it to his homefolks to serve out his four-year term as judge.

Dies May Run

Dallas multi - millionaire cowboy-lawyer William A. Blakley was the only announced candidate thus far for the U. S. Senate, but Martin Dies, was viewed as another conserative, Congressman Martin Dies, was viewed as a possible candidate.

Rough Weather Covers Panhandle

A severe weather warning was issued for the Pampa area last night at 7:45 and was called off about 8:15 p.m.

Clouds began boiling over Pampa about 4 p.m. and at 7 p.m. rain began falling. Barometers fell sharply between 8 and 9 p.m. Winds in Pampa got up to about 45 miles per hour, however, no damage was reported.

During the time the severe weather alert was on, the sheriff's department and police department, along with civil defense members, were on high ground around the city watching for a possible tornado. None were sighted.

The rainfall in Pampa totaled .22 of an inch last night's low was expected to be 52 degrees. Today's high, 72.

The Top o' Texas weather forecast calls for partly cloudy skies with a chance for isolate thundershowers with little change in temperatures through tomorrow.

A 90-mile an hour wind gust blew a Department of Safety radio operator at Amarillo into the side of a patrol car 15 feet away Saturday night during a tornado alert for a section of the Texas Panhandle.

A tornado touched ground northeast of Dumas (Moore county) in the Panhandle, while egg-sized hail hammered other parts.

Wayne Carpenter, chief radio operator for the DPS at Amarillo, said he was standing outside his office when the wind blew him into the patrol car. He was not hurt.

Light hail fell in Amarillo, while heavy rains sent water running over the curbs in the West part of town.

Four Groups See Funnel

Four different groups, including the Ground Observer Corps and workers at the Shamrock Oil Co. plant saw funnels, apparently the same one.

No property damage or personal injuries were reported.

However, hail the size of hen eggs hammered an area around Sunray, damaging crops. Half-inch hail was reported at Borger with winds gusting at 60 miles an hour.

The U. S. Weather Bureau, in addition to a general tornado forecast, issued a warning of tornadoes in the Dumas-Sunray area.

Quarter-inch hail and .25 inches of rain followed the tornado near Dumas.

Heavy hail lashed the area north and west of Perryton, accompanied by high winds. Perryton is at the top of the Panhandle; 80 miles northeast of Amarillo.

Warning Issued

The U. S. Weather Bureau issued a forecast for a "few" severe thunderstorms "with a chance" of isolated tornadoes in an area running from the northern Panhandle through Oklahoma and into Kansas. The forecast was good until 11 p. m.

The area was 60 miles either side of a line from 50 miles north of Amarillo to 20 miles east of Hutchinson, Kan. It took in parts of the northeast Panhandle, North west Oklahoma, extreme southwest and south central Kansas.

TEENAGE ROADEO COMING UP

Shown practicing for the Teenage Roadeo to be held here Saturday is Leon Cox, 728 N. Wells. Cox will participate in the event scheduled to start at 2 p.m. on Atchison, west of Starkweather, under the sponsorship of the Pampa Jaycees. Clyde Dickerson is in charge of the Jaycees' Roadeo Committee. Written tests will be given in Pampa and area schools this week. (News Photo)

Youth For Youth Center Show Success

Amid the fanfare of a united Campaign, the third Youth for the Youth Center Talent Show played a packed Fieldhouse. Loaded with talent the 15 big acts were presented on a student-built stage Friday.

First off were the five Beaux Arts Dancers, snaking through a red spot light on the Fieldhouse floor. The girls, with Anite Guidry in the lead, were bewitching in a Modern Jazz Chorus. Her sisters in jazz were Phyllis Parker, Glenda Finkelstein and Maynette Loftus.

Next came the Stardettes, popular high school trio. The three girls, Priscilla Turnbo, Mary Gerik and Shirley Chase, were all sweetness in their rendition of "Lollipop."

Karen Kapps came on as a night club singer to much applause and Geisla Roper from Junior High School swung her accordion into some "hoppy" numbers.

Phyllis Parker and Sara Gordon flipped into their "tramp" routine which gets better all the time.

Billy Hassell, billed as "the most talented boy in the senior class," showed he had a lot on Frank Sinatra. "And that's why the lady is a tramp," sang Hassell.

High on the three-tiered stage the Starduster's Band played and looked on.

Littlest pianist of them all was Dianne Phillips from Horace Mann. With her brother Mike on the guitar, Dianne sang "The Ballad of A Teen Age Queen." Much applause later her partner got in a song.

Acrobat of the evening was agile Mary Brashears. Appearing as an acrobatic dancer she stunted like a rubber doll.

The A Capella Choir made an instant hit with "Deep River" and kept the tempo high in "Be Gone Dulcare." Soprano in the

Pampa Value Days Slated This Week

"Pampa Value Days" will be observed here this week on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The observance of "Pampa Value Days" is marked with the posting of bargain prices in Pampa's stores.

A 30-foot banner has been strung across Cuyler Street publicizing the special days and an advertising budget set up.

A committee of eight has been set up to take care of the advertising including Evert Carmon, Homer Deck, Al Metz, Morrie Silver, Bunny Behrman, J. E. Briscoe, Shelby Gantz and Coy Palmer. Metz will take charge of newspaper advertising, Carmon will arrange for advertising over KPDN and Silver, KHHH. Behrman will work with KGNC-TV in Amarillo.

"Pampa Value Days" is sponsored by the Merchants Activities Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, Bunny Behrman, chairman.

Behrman has announced that 45 firms have signed up to take part in the promotion and a total of $450 raised for advertising purposes.

The "Pampa Value Days" banner was provided with money from the chamber's general fund.

Members have decided to run a Value Days tabloid in the Wednesday edition of The Pampa News as a new way of bringing "Pampa Value Days" to the attention of the public.

Members participating in the observance include C. R. Anthony, Bentley's, Behrman's, B and G Hosiery, B. and B. Pharmacy, C. and M. Television, Carpet City, Citizens Bank and Trust Company, Cretney Drug, Paul Crossman, Dunlap's, Dunlap's Friendly Men's Wear, First National Bank, Foster's Furniture, Ford's Youth Store, Field's Men's Wear, Furr Food Stores, Gilbert's, B. F. Goodrich, Highland Children's Shop, Zales Jewelry, and Ideal Food Stores No. 1, 2, and 3.

Others are IGA Food Store, KHHH, KPDN, Kennedy Jewelry, Karl's Shoe Store, Levine's, Miller-Hood Pharmacy, Malone Pharmacy, M. E. Moses Company, Inc., Montgomery Ward, McCarley's McLellan's, Pampa Glass and Paint, J. C. Penny, Smith's Quality Shoes, Sherwin-Williams Paint, Richard Drug, Texas Furniture, Video Theatres, Inc., White's Store and Whitten Office Supply.

Council To Hold First Annual Meet

The Pampa Council of Social Agencies will hold its' first annual meeting with a noon luncheon in the City Hall Palm Room Monday. Council Chairman J. B. Massa will preside.

The day's agenda will include a Board of Directors report by Massa and Committee reports by Family and Child Welfare Chairman Calvin Whatley, Youth Activities and Recreation Chairman E. E. Shelhamer and Health Activities Chairman Bob Carmichael.

Calvin Whatley will give the report of the Nominating Committee for new directors. The Board chairman will submit a list of individuals recommended for election to the Board.

Rev. Ronald Hubbard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and a director of the Board, will bring the keynote address on the subject, "What Is a Community." Father William E. West of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church will give the invocation.

Massa expects approximately 80 people will attend the luncheon.

If it comes from a Hardware Store, we have it. Lewis Hardware.

Governor To Speak On Safety

AUSTIN (UP)—The widest radio coverage of any speech in Texas history was claimed Saturday for Gov. Price Daniel's statewide highway safety address scheduled for next Wednesday morning.

(There will be a meeting in the Gray County Courthouse Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. for all persons interested in traffic safety to hear the Governor's address and participate in discussions.

(Sheriff Rufe Jordan said that all law enforcement officers, judges, mayors, traffic safety groups, prosecuting attorneys and others interested in promoting traffic safety throughout Gray County are urged to attend the meeting, which has been called by County Judge Bruce Parker.

(A radio will be provided for the address and discussions on what can be and needs to be done to promote traffic safety in this area will be held.

(Byron Sinclair, safety engineer, has been appointed to serve this area during the statewide traffic safety campaign.)

Brad Smith, director of the governor's Highway Safety Commission, said 141 radio stations have agreed to carry the 15 - minute speech between 9:30 and 9:45 a. m.

Defense Chiefs Tell World Of Safeguards

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — The nation's defense chiefs assured the world Saturday that U.S. H-bomber flights operate under "absolutely foolproof" safeguards against accidentally starting a nuclear war.

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staffs, issued the joint assurance on returning to Washington from a Paris session of North Alantic Treaty Organization defense chiefs.

They flatly rejected Moscow's charges that the United States is risking World War 111 by sending B52s flying toward Russia with H-bombs ready in their bomb bays.

Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield promptly praised the Strategic Air Command (SAC) for sending its bombers on real or practice alerts aloft the instant it detects possible enemy aircraft. The Montana Democrat said otherwise SAC "would be derelict in its duty to defend the United States." He said he would ask for "an immediate investigation" if it failed to remain on the alert.

The United Nations Security Council will consider the Soviet charges at a special meeting Monday afternoon.

Says Charges May Boomerang

Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis. predicted the Soviet "false charges" would "boomerang." He said the Security Council debate would prove that the United States "has gone out of its way to take every conceivable precaution against accidental conflict."

Administration officials mapped strategy for the Security Council debate this weekend. Official sources said they are confident they can convince the gree world that the SAC alert system is safe and essential to guard against the threat of sneak Soviet nuclear attacks.

Officials said the United States will explains that Russia forces SAC to remain on a constant nuclear alert because of stubborn Soviet refusal to negotiate a cheat proof disarmament agreement.

Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.), a member of the congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said the Kremlin should understand that the U.S. alert system combines safety and military preparedness.

The McElroy and Twining remarks indicated a second line the United States will take in the security Council—assurance that the SAC alert system is not a hair-trigger system that can set off a nuclear holocaust through human error.

Tells of Foolproof Measures

McElroy said there are "foolproof" measures for recalling the big jets and their H-bomb cargoes after they have been sent aloft by an alert. He emphasized that the planes "do not proceed (to targets) without confirmatory au-

Pampans In Good Showing At Lubbock

Donald Darling, Pampa Thespian, placed second in the Regional Poetry Reading Contest in Lubbock Saturday. In another contest, JoAnn Thompson and Gale Harris, Little Harvester Journalists, copped the Junior Team Trophy.

Editor Harris was first in news stories, first in headline writing, second in editorials and third in copy reading, placing in four of the five contest events and coming in first in individual competition.

Darling made Second Division with his jazzed up reading of "The Judgement" from "God's Trombones", by James Weldon Johnson.

Editor Harris and Feature Editor JoAnn Thompson went to Lubbock following their wins in the Panhandle High School Press Association Convention at West Texas State College in March. At the Canyon Conference Miss Thompson won first in features and honorable mention in editorials as she rose to the presidency of the High School Press Association.

Miss Harris won the Dorinda E. Bond award at Canyon for outstanding achievement in high school journalism. The award has gone to Little Harvester editors for the past three years. Miss Harris also took second in general columns.

The Lubbock laurels are a major upset in Regional high school journalism as no Little Harvester staffer has made such a showing in the past years.

Miss Harris placed in everything but feature writing and, teamed with Miss Thompson, took the Junior Team Trophy.

For Darling, the road to Lubbock has been a rocky one. Placing First in District competition at Canyon, Darling came up from a practice defeat at Wayland Baptist College. One division out of First place in the Regionals, Darling comes back to Pampa to get set for his big role in "God's Trombones," May 16 at Pampa

Extensive Clean Up Program Is Planned

The City of Pampa, in cooperation with the Fire Prevention Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, has mapped an extensive program to be observed Apr. 28 through May 13 as Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up Days in Pampa.

The entire program is designed to make Pampa more attractive to its own people as well as to visitors coming to the city.

The City will furnish trucks and labor to pick up all trash and debris placed in the alleys. City Manager John Koontz has issued an appeal to everyone to place only those things in the alley that they would like to have taken away.

Trucks making the rounds will pick up all movable rubbish and debris found in the alleys. Excluded in this pick up will be construction debris which is ordinarily the contractor's responsibility to move and large slabs of concrete, boulders and other materials which cannot be easily manhandled. Should inclement weather stop the operation in any ward, the trucks will continue on what remains of the schedule and return to the missed area following the 13th of May.

Pick up dates for the four wards run as follows:

Ward 4 — Apr. 28, 29, 30.
Ward 3 — May 1, 2, 5.
Ward 2 — May 6, 7, 8.
Ward 1 — May 9, 12, 13.

The Jaycees and the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Clubs will run a sound truck in the four wards several days prior to the pick ups, announcing the coming of the City trucks.

Jiggs Cooke will serve as general coordinator of the sound truck program. Assisting him from the Kiwanis Club will be Jim Conner; from the Rotary Club, Floyd Watson; from the Lions Club, Ernest Winborne; and from the Jaycees, Roy Russell.

Chamber Manager E. O. Wedgworth and County Agent Ralph Thomas will handle publicity in connection with the overall program. H. W. Waters will work with Wedgworth and Thomas to coordinate radio advertising such as forums and spot announcements.

County School Superintendent Burt Nuchols will coordinate announcements through the public school system, working through the various principals in the Pampa School System.

Ott Shewmaker will coordinate a program of public education through announcements at Pampa's service clubs. Working with Shewmaker in this assignment will be Johnny Campbell in the Optimist Club and Jaycees, Floyd Watson in the Rotary Club, Monroe Moore in the Noon Lions, D. V. Biggers in the Evening Lions and Sam Begert in the Kiwanis Club.

For the first time, a Rat Eradication Campaign will become a part of the overall Clean Up Days. County Agent Ralph Thomas met with the Fire Prevention Committee to stress the importance of a Rat Clean Up to strengthen the general campaign. He pointed out that the County has done a fine job in recent years eradicating rats in the rural areas but should put more stress on the program within the City limits.

Rat poison may be obtained at the County Agent's Office through Thomas' secretary, Miss Barbara

Four Concerts Are Booked By Group

Richard Cass, rising young pianist, will come to Pampa early next year to give style to the Community Concert series.

In their Board meeting Saturday, officials of the Pampa Community Concert Association agreed on Cass as a surprise booking and reached final agreement on the Denver Symphony as the fourth concert of the 1958-1959 series.

Already contracted for were Dancers Bambi Linn and Rod Alexander with their company of 16 young dancers, singers and musicians and the 22 Vienna Choir Boys, descendants of Richard Haydn and Franz Schubert, Austrian composers who began as Choir Boys.

In a meeting Thursday, the directors reached tentative agreement on the Denver Symphony as the third possible concert. Working with the New York representative of Community Concerts, Inc., the group considered a pianist as the best possible booking in addition to the Symphony.

Cass is a native South Carolinean who won the 1953 National Federation of Music Clubs award and, receiving a Fulbright Award to continue his study abroad, won Italy's Viotti International Contest.

Gaining 150 memberships over last year, the Association chose Cass for the fourth concert over last season's threesome. The 794 adult memberships and 266 student cards brought the total membership to 1,070 which constitutes a sell out. The 950 memberships sold last year made possible a series of three concerts, the Paganini Quartet, Vienna on Parade and the Marina Svetlova Ballet group.

The Association, headed by Dr. Carl Lang, voted to give two adult memberships to Mrs. M. McDaniel for selling the most memberships in the drive just over and one membership to Mrs. Roy Sullivan for coming in second highest.

Bambi Linn and Rod Alexander will open the 1958-1959 Concert series with a Nov. 8 recital.

Credit Group Set To Reorganize

All business and professional people in town who are interested in the Pampa Retail Merchant's Credit Association have been urged to attend a luncheon Tuesday in the basement of the First National Bank. This is the time for reorganization of the Association and the election of new officers.

Charles Lux of Austin, executive vice president of the Texas Retail Credit Association, will speak at the noon luncheon, according to Mack Hiatt Jr., Merchant's Association president.

The luncheon will be served compliments of the First National Bank. Anyone planning to attend who has not already made reservations should do so by Monday.

Charles B. Cook, Attendance Committee chairman, said Friday that approximately 50 people have made reservations and that a minimum of 75 is expected.

In order to cope properly with present business conditions it is very urgent that the Association be reorganized, said Hiatt. The present paid employees of the Association are in full accord with the action to be taken.

Former President Hoover Has Operation

NEW YORK (UP) — Former President Herbert Hoover, 83 had his gall bladder removed in a 75-minute operation Saturday. His condition was described as satisfactory.

Hoover, who will be 84 in August, entered Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center Thursday for tests and underwent surgery by a team of doctors from 8 to 9:15 a.m. e.s.t.

The former President, who had suffered from gall bladder trouble for a number of years, told his doctors just before he went to the operating room that he had never had an anesthetic before in his life.

Hoover's sons, Herbert Hoover Jr. and Allan Hoover, were at the hospital during the operation. Herbert Jr. flew here from his Pasadena, Calif., home. Allan lives in Greenwich, Conn.

"The doctors couldn't be more pleased," Herbert Jr. said after seeing his father. "They said my father's reaction was as if he were a man 20 years old."

Not An Emergency

"He certainly is amazing," the younger Hoover said. "A few weeks ago he had read proofs of five different books back from the printers and he was working on them before he went to the hospital."

Allan Hoover said the operation had not been an emergency and his father had not had an attack just before going to the hospital.

"He and his doctors just decided that this was a good time to attend to it, and they did," he said.

"I have talked to the doctors, and they say that everything is as it should be. I imagine that with this particular group of doctors, it's a routine operation.

"He is in good hands and everything is satisfactory."

A hospital spokesman said nurses had been instructed not to "thwart" Hoover's nightly habit of rising at 2 a.m. to work, play cards or read until about 4 a.m. At that time, he usually goes back to sleep.

A Busy Schedule

He indicated Hoover might be released from the hospital soon, but would not elaborate.

The first indication that anything was wrong with the former President came at about 6 p.m. Friday when the hospital issued a terse announcement saying he was there undergoing tests. His doctors said his condition was "good" except for his gall bladder condition.

Hoover had been busy in recent weeks, having returned on Easter Sunday from a Florida fishing trip with Allan and his family.

He had been busy since his return with matters connected with the publication of his new book, "the Ordeal of Woodrow Wilson," scheduled for April 28.

Eisenhower Sends Message

President Eisenhower sent a personal message expressing the hope for a quick reovery. The White House did not make the text of the message public.

Hoover had been in generally good health in recent months. Only last Feb. 22, he played a trick on his audience when he spoke at Valley Forge, Pa., in accepting a Freedom Foundation award of $5,000 and a George Washington Honor Medal for "wisdom and devoted service."

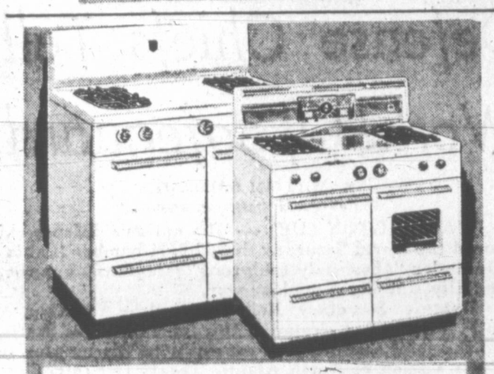

He announced at the end of his speech, which dealt with the recession, that it was almost exactly the same speech he gave on that same spot during the depression 27 years ago.

Hoover's last known illnesses were in 1953, when he was confined to a hospital in Miami Beach, Fla., because of a cold, and in 1950, when he suffered a gall bladder attack.

thorization."

This procedure, dubbed "Fail Safe" by SAC, was explained in a dispatch earlier this month by Frank H. Bartholomew, president of the United Press. His dispatch, confirmed as accurate by the Pentagon Friday, told how alert SAC planes are sent aloft and toward Russia but automatically return to their bases unless they are unver orders to proceed on reaching a predetermined point.

This system is designed to prevent a nucalear war from being started by mistake or through radio failure.

Wheat Prospects Still Look Good

According to the Farm Labor Bulletin issued by the Texas Employment Commission, wheat prospects continue to look good in the Pampa-Canadian area.

No insects are sighted but weeds are beginning to appear.

"The condition of wheat and small grain continues to be very promising over the entire Texas wheat beat," says the report. "Topsoil and subsoil moisture is adequate in all areas."

WHITE DEER — The presentation of the act play, "Bumbo the Clown," gave White Deer High School first place in the Regional contest at Lubbock Friday. Jack Reynolds, White Deer Thespian, was acclaimed as best actor.

Cathy Bennett and Mark Collins were named to the All Star Cast.

Directing the winning play was White Deer High School's Dr. Hobart McDonald. As well as teaching speech at the high school, Dr. McDonald directs the chorus. His chorus took a concert trophy in the Interscholastics at Canyon on Tuesday.

The Thespians will take "Bumbo the Clown" to Austin May 2 for the State Tournament. The Troupe has won in State twice before.

Cathy Bennett, Mark Collins and Jeffrey Bearden appear in the contest play.

green robed chorus was Olivia Ann Swain, the Harvesters' own Miss Pampa Youth and Community Center. Out in front, Bill Hunt led the chorus.

The Milliron Trio, Marilyn Myatt, Barbara Lunsford and Nancy Stephenson, put a lot of Milliron into "Them There Eyes" and an encore. Mrs. Maxine Milliron gave them keyboard accompaniment. In another number, Sissy Milliron returned to the stage with "Louisville Lou," always a sensation.

In a complete switch from the jungle dance of the opening, Miss Maynette Loftus leaped and soared in an airy ballet.

There was more variety in the Fieldhouse than the 15 acts of the show. In an unrehearsed presentation, Student Body President Robert Langford slipped a check for $1,500 to Center Board Member Rev. Dick Crews.

Rev. Crews looked around him and said, "Some people have the idea that we're going to take the key to the Center and turn it over to the President of the Student Body and the students can run it as they please." Rev. Crews made the statement that the Center would be under full time and unfailing professional supervision.

In a special intermission, Miss Olivia Ann Swain stepped out of her choir robe long enough to appear as Miss Pampa Youth and Community Center and to award the first prize of a high fidelity phonograph to the girl who had sold the most tickets, Darlene Adams. Miss Adams topped the ticket sellers with $155.75. Up for the transistor radio, coming in second, was Trouper Billy Hassell. Hassell's claim to the prize was $125 in tickets sold. George Smith got a watch as third highest.

There was some hot drumming by Jimmy Samples and some piano by Ramona Hudgins. There was a sophomore trio that did wonders with two numbers. Joanne Jones was quite a songstress and the boys quartet gave some talented singing.

The bandstand built by Henry Atchison and Company was a setting of silver on black with "Youth For the Youth Center" in silver letters at the top.

One of the most excellent performances of the evening came from Emcee Johnny Nutting and someone did a fine job helping performers on and off the tiered stage.

James Monroe, wounded at the Battle of Trenton, was the only U. S. president to have been wounded in action in the Revolutionary War.

The company of "God's Trombones" will take in the well laurelled A Capella Choir under the direction of High School's Bill Hunt. Hunt's choir came back from the Canyon interscholastics Wednesday with a Sweepstakes Trophy for superior performance in concert and sight reading trials.

Working with the chorus, the speech choir directed by Thespian Sponsor Miss Helen Schafer will present an interpretation of the choral reading, "God's Trombones."

Fire Prevention Chairman Homer Craig reminds Pampans to place their trash and debris in containers in the alley prior to pick up days announced for the four wards.

Pampa, in the early 1930's, won the distinction of being the world's cleanest oil town. Craig challenges all Pampans to live up to that standard by "helping to clean up our city this Spring and keep it clean all year."

Mayor Lynn Boyd, speaking on the subject last week, reminded Pampans that it is against the law to throw cups and paper on City streets. The Mayor issued a challenge to all Pampans to take personal pride in the job ahead in beautifying Pampa.

Explosion Destroys US Thor Missile

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP) —A Thor missile of the type that may give a U. S. rocket its first boost to the moon blew up on the launching stand Saturday in a fiery, earth-shaking explosion.

Air Force officials at the guided missile test center reported no personnel were injured and that damage to the launching gear appeared to be "superficial." The official announcement said only that "technical difficulties" caused the explosion.

The Thor, a stubby ballistic missile some 60 feet long, is in the 1,500-mile intermediate range class. It is built for the Air Force by Douglas Aircraft.

Scientists now are working on a combination rocket to shoot at the moon. The plans call for using the Thor as the first stage and the Navy's Vanguard satellite-launcher as a second stage.

However, the Thor that exploded Saturday was not believed to have been part of the moon rocket experiment tentatively planned for late summer.

One moment the Thor stood gleaming like a giant white thimble on its launching pad, filled with highly volatile and inflammable liquid oxygen and fuel.

The few observers present reported it suddenly erupted in flame and a shattering explosion about 8:30 a.m. just as it appeared to be ready to rise from the launching stand.

The shattered chunks of the big rocket toppled into the flames, punctured by smaller explosions, and were consumed in the intense heat.

Flames and a boiling plume of smoke shot into the misty early morning sky. The smoke rose to several thousand feet.

The explosion caught reporters at the Cape by surprise. They had not been told in advance that the missile test center planned either Saturday's Thor launching or the Polaris "test vehicle" launching Friday.

Tito Wants To Attend The Summit Meet

BELGRADE (UP) — Marshal Tito Saturday called for Yugoslav attendance at an East-West summit conference as a friend of both sides. His statement before the parliament was followed by his unanimous election to a third term as Yugoslav president.

In his 150-minute speech, Tito praised his country's relations with both the United States and the Soviet Union and suggested that membership of Yugoslavia, Sweden and India at a summit meeting "undoubtedly would contribute to harmonizing the opposing attitudes in world problems."

He stressed that relations with the West, particularly the United States, are "normal and good."

Indonesian Forces Close In On Rebels In Sumatra Town

By ROBERT MONANHNA
United Press Staff Correspondent

JAKARTA (UP) — Indonesian central government forces closed in Saturday on the west-central Sumatran town of Solok where Jakarta news reports said the tottering rebel government had taken refuge.

Landing forces under Col. Achmad Jani, the U.S.-trained commander of the beach invasion at Padang, pushed westward toward Solok through Indarung.

Advancing eastward from the interior toward Sidjundjung, 35 miles from Solok, were other central government troops under the command of Col. Kaharuddin Nasution.

A correspondent for the Indonesian Observer reported from the west Sumatran front that the two columns planned to link up for an attack on Solok, which is 40 miles south of the rebel capital of Bukittinggi.

There were some indications the final central government attack on Bukittinggi might be delayed by the attack on Solok.

They said local Sumatran residents welcomed [illegible] and even offered to guide them.

But the newspaper Bingtang Timur said there were indications the rebel government was trying to start brush fires in other areas of Indonesia to harry the government.

It said rebel Colonel Lubis met with the leader of the fanatical Darul Islam movement in west Java near Bogor, 30 miles south of Jakarta, to map plans to start trouble in Java, the Indonesian "home" island.

Darul Islam is dedicated to establishment of a Moslem state by force.

Optimists Form Cub Scout Pack

With the formation of a new Cub Pack, the Pampa Optimist Club goes into Cub Scouting. The chartering of 15 eight, nine and ten year old boys completed the organization at the Pampa Optimist Boys Club Wednesday.

Optimist President Johnny F. Campbell announced the leadership for the Optimist-sponsored Cub Pack 11.

For institutional representative, Don E. Burns; for Pack Committee chairman, Billy C. Taylor; for Pack committeemen, Harold L. Engle, John A. Simmons and Willie Wilson; for Cub master, Virgil G. Frazier; for assistant Cub master, Johnny R. Hays; for neighborhood commissioner, Bob Cardin.

Den mothers were announced as Mrs. Lula Mae Engle, Mrs. Willie Wilson, Mrs. Helen McClelland and Mrs. Louwelle Holland.

Organizer J. C. Hopkins was on hand from the Boy Scouts to make the organization effective. There is still room for more Cubs in the eight, nine and ten age group.

British Fly More Troops To Aden

ADEN, Aden Protectorate (UP) —Britain flew in 200 extra troops to this steaming Arabian territory Saturday to help hunt down two nationalist agitators and head off more border warfare.

Troops of the York and Lancaster regiments flew in from Kenya. The firgate Loch Fada stood by in Aden harbor on the heel of the boot-shaped Arabian peninsula, ready to steam up the coast towards the Aden - Yemen border in case of trouble.

The British authorities issued orders for the capture of nationalist leader Mohamed Al Jifri and his brother, who are dedicated to driving out the British and establishing an independent monarchy allied with Yemen.

A third brother, Abdullah Al Jifri, already is under arrest.

The fugitives were reported to have crossed the ill - defined frontier from Yemen last week.

The British feared a flareup in the sultanate of Lahej, perched on the edge of the Arabian Desert in Aden.

Most of the landing troop reinforcements went immediately by truck from Aden to Lahej. British officers were patrolling the scrub-covered countryside for the fugitives.

AROUND THE WORLD

POWER PLUS—Water skiing star Simon Khoury is cutting loose with some fancy high jinks at Cypress Gardens, Fla. He recently won the All American Tournament and will soon seek a new title in the Dixie Water Ski Tournament.

HOLD TIGHT!—During the National AAU Wrestling championships in San Francisco, Knobby Newbauer of the host Olympic Club used a leg of opponent Jose Luis Hernandez to defeat him. Moments later Newbauer pinned Hernandez to win in the 191 pound class.

SEASON'S END—It may be spring officially, but some cast members of "Li'l Abner" had a weekend away from Broadway to use the last of the snow in the Catskill Mountains. Peter Palmer, who plays the title role, left, is watching dancer Sharon Shore and choreographer Michael Kidd slide.

SWIM SITE—A swimmer's paradise, the Metropolitan Indoor Swimming Pool in Tokyo is being readied for the third annual Asian Games in May. The huge nine-course, 164-foot pool will have seats for 4,000 spectators, and will be equipped with the most modern apparatus.

A SPECIAL TOUR—Mrs. Bessie Braddock, a Socialist member of Britain's Parliament and a staunch fight fan, is shown as she escorted heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson on a tour of the House of Commons in London. Mrs. Braddock invited the champ to visit her at the House. He's seeing a lot of England at the present time.

FOR SPORT—The latest in sartorial splendor for the spectator was revealed in Boca Raton, Fla. This up-to-the-moment young lady of fashion was standing on the golf course of a local club watching a game in absolute comfort—and high heels.

OVER THE LINE—Duke's Dave Sime, right, leans into the tape at Big Spring, Tex., to win the 100-yard dash in the ABC Relays. Billed as the "race of the century," it was expected to be a battle between Sime and Olympic champion Bobby Morrow, second from right, of ACC. But Morrow finished third behind ACC teammate Bill Woodhouse, second from left. Jim Weaver, left, of North Texas State was fourth.

DOING ALL RIGHT—Because of the cold weather at most training camps down south, E. J. (Gene) Hayes is glad he kept his Hambletonian colt, Tronia's Pal, at Du Quoin, Ill., this winter. The animal is coming along fast as a strong potential threat in the $116,000 sulky classic in August.

COURAGE — Learning to walk with an artificial leg, 9-year-old Glen A. Rich Jr., of Cherry Valley, Mass., is on the road to roller skating, too. The 1958 Easter Seal Child is shown at the Easter Seal Center in Worcester, Mass., as he put on his skates before getting onto the rink for some fun.

NET LOSS—Making way for the new tenants at Seals Stadium in San Francisco, workmen removed the net from the batting cage as renovation on the ball park took place. The new tenants are the San Francisco Giants, of course, and a new cage is being built for the team. They'll open major league play here against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

LONG, HOT SUMMER'

Paul Newman, as "Ben Quick," and Joanne Woodward, as "Clara," appear in a scene from the Jerry Wald production of William Faulkner's "The Long, Hot Summer," the story of the effect upon an entire community and one family in particular of a ruthless, strong man. The movie shows through Wednesday at the LaNora Theater.

Even With Jack Benny, TV's 'Shower Of Stars' Was Dull

By WILLIAM EWALD
Uitned Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Jack Benny, after copping two "Emmy" awards this week, said something like: "Now, wouldn't it be funny if my next show was lousy?"

Well, Thursday night Benny turned up on CBS-TV's "Shower of Stars" with a one-hour comedy-music show and if Benny wants to keep score, I would say he turned in his usual A-plus effort in a program that was about B-minus.

Considering that the show was saddled with a rather large handicap — the last-minute withdrawal of Nan Fabray from the cast because of an auto accident — it was astonishing that the show came off as medium-well as it did at all.

Janis Paige Called In

Janis Paige stepped into Miss Fabray's role with one day's rehearsal and turned in a pro's job, but the truth is, her numbers—like all of the numbers on the show — were uninspired in their conception.

Miss Paige song-dueled John Raitt in front of a piano with "There Once Was a Man" and Miss Paige sang a mildly amusing "Mr. Wonderful" to Benny while they were seated just below the piano on a flight of steps.

Betty Grable did one of those Caribbean - straw - hat - fetch-me-a-fan-boy type songs that looked like a million old movies. And in a later number, Miss Grable and Miss Paige worked together in another dullie.

But the show did have Benny. And, of course, Benny is an obelisk of strength on any show. Together with Barbara Nichols, Benny carved out most of the entertainment on the show.

Provides Bounce

Miss Nichols, one of the most underrated of our "dumb blonde" comediennes, provided fine bounce for Benny. She has a kind of cheerful ill-breeding about her, a comic sexiness, a big girl with a little girl's mind sort of uncomprehension, that snaps against Benny's deadpan suavity with brisk vulgarity.

"Would you like to dance?" says Benny as he and his Miss Nichols are seated in a posh nightclub.

"Okay," replies Miss Nichols with enthusiasm. "Where do you buy the tickets?"

I hope that Miss Nichols comes back for another hitch with Benny next season and more to the point, I hope that next time around Benny hogs the show a little more. He deserved both his Emmys and we viewers deserve more of him.

CBS-TV's "Playhouse 90" got on the bandwagon, or maybe I should say the chuckwagon Thursday, by unreeling a filmed Western, "Bitter Heritage."

It was a middling affair about Jesse James Jr. that jogged along at a pretty fair pace, but I found myself jogging about one step ahead of it through most of the plot.

Eva Le Gallienne chipped in a brief but sturdy performance. So did Franchot Tone as Frank James and James Drury as young Jesse.

The Channel Swim: NBC says Milton Berle was not to blame for the "Emmy" telecast running behind — Berle's monologue was less than two minutes over its allotted time. Time was lost, says NBC, because Ed Sullivan, Phil Silvers, Danny Thomas, the opening song parody, the awarding of the first four "Emmys," a couple of other things put the show 14 minutes behind.

Mike Wallace will be shifted to a Sunday night slot on ABC-TV as of April 27 and he'll launch a new interview series about "Survival and Freedom." On tap as subjects: Reinhold Niebuhr, Aldous Huxley, Cyrus Eaton.

Lou Edelman, who turns out "Wyatt Earp" for ABC-TV and "The Danny Thomas Show" for CBS-TV, will be executive producer of two NBC-TV prospects: "Five Cornered Star" (a series about the early days of the secret service) and an untitled series about a railroad detective.

NBNC-TV's "Omnibus" will present as its final show of the season on May 4 a kinescope repeat of Leonard Bernstein's lecture on Bach plus a half-hour filmed report on the Brussels World's Fair by Alistair Cooke.

US Expecting New Red Sputnik

WASHINGTON (UP) —Some U.S. officials are betting Moscow is winding up preparations for a spectacular new scientific experiment in outer space, possibly a rocket shot at the moon.

These officials believe the Soviets will launch their next outer space test before May 1, the traditional international workers day.

There are some indications the Soviets have run into trouble with the outer space program after getting off to a flying start. Best evidence all is not well was seen in a Soviet newspaper a few days ago. An article on earth satellites referred to "difficulties" but gave no details.

Good And Bad Of The Week's News

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

The United States, Britain and France agreed this week to start negotiations with Russia for a summit meeting on world tensions.

In joint notes, the Western allies accepted a Soviet proposal that the negotiations be started in Moscow at once by the ambassadors of the four countries.

It was the first positive step toward a meeting of heads of government, including President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, which now appears to be almost inevitable.

But the Allied and Soviet governments were still far apart on even the preliminary negotiations.

Russia had proposed that the ambassadors discuss merely the physical arrangements — time, place and composition — for a meeting first of the foreign ministers of the four countries, then for the summit conference.

The Allies insisted that the ambassadors must discuss the problems which would be taken up at the summit meeting, in order to insure that it would not turn into a mere stage for propaganda speeches.

France was plunged into another cabinet crisis, demonstrating once again that it is arithmetically impossible to find a majority in the French National Assembly for any policy—good or bad—in North Africa.

Premier Felix Gaillard resigned after five months and nine days in office. The Assembly voted 321 to 255 against his proposals for re-opening negotiations with Tunisia on the status of French forces in the country, airfields and Bizerte naval base.

Gaillard had left the way open for taking the question of control of the Tunisian - Algerian border to the United Nations. Right-wing elements in the Assembly, led by Gaullist Jacques Soustelle, stood firm in their refusal to allow further internationalization of the Tunisia dispute, which is inextricably linked with the war in Algeria.

The 100-seat Communist bloc, which echoes the Algerian rebels' demands for independence, also voted against Gaillard.

Indonesian government forces landed in rebel-held Sumatra in a land and sea operation.

Infantry and paratroopers, covered by warships and planes, made their landing on the west coast and attacked the rebel stronghold of Padang, hoping to crush the army elements who had rebelled against the central government.

In Cuba, the rebel forces of Didel Castro failed dismally in their bid to overthrow President Fulgencio Batista by organized uprisings and a nationwide general strike.

The rebel movement suffered from lack of central control. Batista remained completely in control of the armed forces. Castro was reported running short of weapons in his eastern - Cuba mountain stronghold.

On The Business Scene

By UNITED PRESS

Retail trade this week was down sharply from the similar 1957 calendar period—the Palm Sunday week—but was slightly ahead of the similar post-Easter week, Dun & Bradstreet reported. Best sellers this week were men's and women's summer apparel, outdoor furniture and television sets.

Texas set its crude oil production allowable for May at 2,394,537 barrels daily of 42,537 barrels below the current allowable. The action was aimed at bringing supply and demand back into balance.

American businessmen in 1958 will cut their spending on new plants and equipment 12 per cent below the 1957 level, but will increase their research and development expenditures 14 per cent, McGraw-Hill Publishing Co. said. The company's 11th annual survey of business plans also showed expectations of 20 per cent higher sales by 1961 after a "small decline during 1958."

The Securities & Exchange Commission estimated that the net working capital of U.S. corporations, except for banks and insurance companies, climbed to a record $108,400,000,000 at the end of 1957. The commission said an increase over the year of five billion dollars reflected a rise in current assets of $3,300,000,000 and a dip in current liabilities of 700 million dollars.

GRAY COUNTY
Soil Conservation District News

Fish for farm ponds within the Gray County Soil Conservation District should be ordered now. Also, now is the time to begin fertilizing those ponds with fish in them for maximum production.

Application for fish are going to be sent to the Fish and Wildlife Service Friday, April 25. Applications received after this date will probably have to wait until next spring.

Fish available free to farmers and ranchers are bass, blue gill, and channel cat in limited numbers.

If you plan to use fertilizer you should apply it at one to two week intervals. Continue to apply it until the water becomes so slohdy that you can not see the bottom in water that is 12 inches deep. Additional applications should be made until frost whenever the water begins to clear.

Each application of fertilizer should consist of 100 to 200 pounds per surface acre. Desirable formulas are 8-8-2, 8-8-4, 10-10-5 or 12-12-6.

Mhddy ponds can be cleared by applying two tons per acre of bamy and manure. See your local Soil Conservation Service to get those fish orders in.

Spahn Hurls Win Over Phillies, 5-0

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Southpaw Warren Spahn extended two of his National League pitching records Saturday when his five-hitter and home runs by Mel Roach and Joe Adcock carried the Milwaukee Braves to a 5-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The triumph was the 225th of Spahn's career and marked his 42nd shutout. Both marks are tops in the league for active pitchers.

Roach, who shuffled between the University of Virginia and the Navy since signing as a bonus infielder in 1953, hit his first major league homer off loser Curt Simmons in the fifth.

Adcock lined a canon-shot off the leftfield stands in the seventh off reliever Jack Meyer to remove all suspense from a game tight to that point.

Spahn, who pitched nine innings without figuring in the decision on opening day, had a one-hitter going until two were out in the eighth. Wally Post, who had doubled in the second, got a single on a hot smash which struck Ed Mathews in the face, and then Ted Kazanski blooped a single to right. Pinch batter Willie Jones walked to fill the bases, but Spahn tossed out Chico Fernandez to end the threat.

Richie Ashburn and Gran Hamner opened the ninth with singles but the veteran southpaw fanned Stan Lopata, and rookie Chuck Essegian hit into a double play, ending the game.

Simmons, pitching seven-hit ball in six innings, gave up an unearned run in the fourth when Fernandez booted a double play ball with one out after singles by Adcock and Johnny Logan. Roach homered to open the fifth.

Red Schoendienst greeted Meyer with a single to open the seventh. Pinch batter Bob Hazle got a single when his bouncer hit the redhead. Mathews' high pop was fumbled into a force-out by Hamner but then Hank Aaron singled and Adcock smashed his homer.

Cubs Push Past Cards

CHICAGO (UP) — Walt Moryn and Dale Long homered for five runs in an eighth inning rally Saturday to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 6-3 victory, their fourth straight, over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The big Cub inning came after starter Vinegar Bend Mizell left for a pinch hitter. Larry Jackson came on in relief and was belted for a three-run homer by Moryn after he yielded a single to Lee Walls and walked Ernie Banks.

Billy Muffet, relieving Jackson, was nicked for a single by Bobby Thomson, and Long's home run over the left field wall.

The Cubs had been able to get only six hits off Mizell and one run, a homer by Banks in the sixth inning.

Chicago worked itself out of trouble in the eighth when three pitchers were sent to the mound to stem a St. Louis rally. The one run, which was forced in on Cardinals were able to score only a walk to Don Blasingame after Turk Lown and Don Elston loaded the bases.

The Cardinals jumped to an early lead, scoring single runs in the first and third innings. Del Ennis bounced a double off the 400-foot center field wall in the first inning to score Al Dark who had singled off Cub starter Taylor Phillips.

The victory went to Dick Mayer, the fifth pitcher for the Cubs. Jackson was tagged with the loss.

Pampa Bowl Has New Owners

Mr. and Mrs. Gil Burgund, Pascal, Washington, have announced that they have purchesed the Pampa Bowl.

The Burgunds will take over operation of the Bowl May 1, close for remodling about May 15 and open about June 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Burgund have operated a bowling alley in Pascal for the past eight years.

Gil is a member of the Elks, VFW, and the American Legion.

Redlegs Blast Pirates, 9-6

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs parlayed 11 hits with five Pittsburgh errors Saturday and then snuffed out a ninth inning rally to send the Pirates down to their third straight defeat with a 9-6 count.

The Pirates scored three runs in the ninth inning and had the bases loaded when Frank Thomas hit into a game-ending double play.

The short-lived rally was highlighted by a pinch homer by rookie R. C. Stevens.

Southpaw Harvey Haddix, who yielded 7 of 10 Pirate hits and was relieved in the ninth, picked up his first victory of the season as Pirate starter R. G. Smith lost his first.

Pirate shortstop Dick Groat committed three errors, two of them paving the way for Redlegs runs. Bob Skinner and Bill Virdon turned in successive miscues in the seventh when the Redlegs scored four runs, two of them unearned.

Steve Bilko, who had three base hits, belted his first 1958 homer in the eighth off Eddie O'Brien and scored behind Fran Robinson, who also had a pair of RBIs. His smash was followed by Johnny Temple who doubled and scored after a putout and Robinson's single.

Thomas accounted for two Pirate RBIs. He hit his first homer in the eighth with none on after Groat had scored by singling and advancing on two putouts.

Groat bobbled the ball in the fourth inning and Robinson was safe at first. The runner scored after Bilko's single and Gus Bell's infield out.

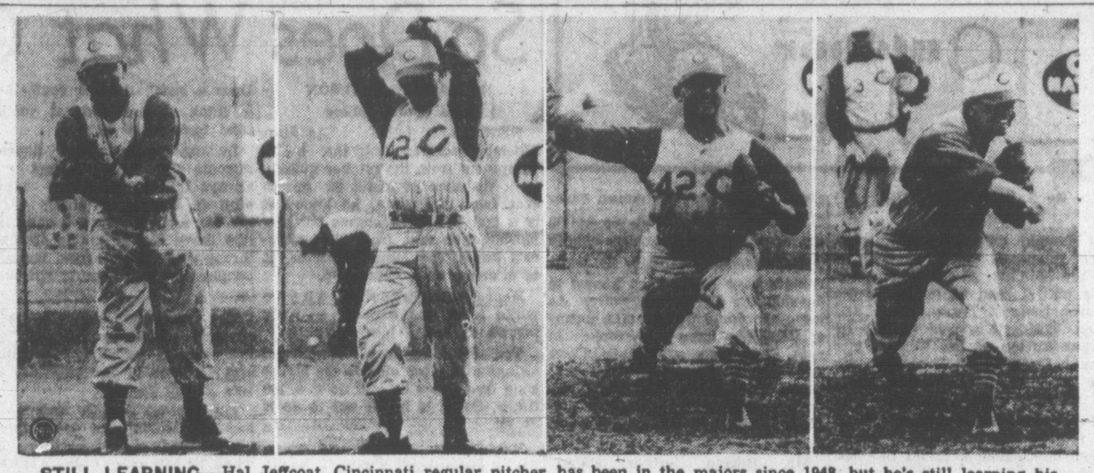

In the sixth inning Bilko reached first on Groat's error nad scored after Don Hoak's single, Bell's out and Roy McMillan's single.

The Pirates first run was unearned. Skinner single and Ted Kluszewski was safe when Hoak juggled the ball. Skinner took second on a passed ball and then scored on Thomas' sacrifice fly.

Thygerson Takes Dual Victory In Regional Track Meet

STILL LEARNING—Hal Jeffcoat, Cincinnati regular pitcher, has been in the majors since 1948, but he's still learning his present job. He was an outfielder until 1954 and is trying to come off a 12-13 showing at Crosley Field last year. A right-hander, his style is simple, but it's the results that count.

To Compete In State Finals May 1-2-3

ALTON THYGERSON, the Pampa Harvester track flash, sped to a duel victory yesterday in the regional meet in Lubbock as he clinched championship honors in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Ranking through the season as one of the top dash men in the area, Thygerson's victories handed Pampa ten points to place seventh in the regional gathering.

IN WINNING the 100-yard dash Thygerson clocked 9.9 and recorded a 22.0 to claim the 220-yard dash. The wins entitle him to represent Pampa May 1-2-3 in the state track and field meet in Austin. The Harvesters were coached by Dwaine Lyon.

IN TEAM STANDINGS Abilene's Eagles took first with 31½ points, followed by Andrews with 25½ points and Amarillo with 20 points.

Complete winners and times for the meet are as follows:

100-Yard Dash - Thygerson, Pampa - 9.9

220-Yard Dash - Thygerson Pampa - 22.0

120-High Hurdles - Bob Swaf- Abilene - 19.3.

180-Low Hurdles - Ira King, Abilene - 14.5

440-Yard Dash - R. E. Ment, Andrews - 49.0

Broad Jump - Andy Springer, Abilene - 22' 6"

440-Yard Relay - Andrews - 42.9

Woodhouse Ties World Mark

ABILENE, Tex. (UP)—Abilene Christian College Sprinter Bill Woodhouse equalled world record times in the 100 and 220 yard in 9.3, and then won the 220 by meet with North Texas State and Texas Tech.

Woodhouse beat teammate Bobby Morrow for the second straight week as he ran the 100 in 9.3, andthen won the 220 by 10 yards in 20.0. Both times tie world records but will not be sent in because there was no wind gauge on the track.

Morrow, who was held out of the 220 to run on the mile relay, ran a sizzling 46.6 anchor leg to give the ACC team the third fastest clocking in the nation for the event this year, at 3:11.5.

Harvesters Wallop Plainsmen

District Win Taken By Wide 10-1 Score

The Pampa Harvesters scored nine runs in the fourth inning yesterday to overwhelm the Monterey Plainsmen 10-1 in a District 3-4A baseball game. The Harvesters now own a 3-0 District record and stand 9-2 for the season. Kip Williams was the winning pitcher going four innings and giving up three hits and no runs.

The Harvesters were aided by six walks in the big fourth inning. Robert Langford led off the fourth with a walk, Conway and Glover followed with walks, Bill Brown struck out, then John Campbell drew a walk. Gray Wills, batting for Kip Williams drew a walk to force in Langford giving the Harvesters the first run of the game.

Merle Terrell than hit into a fielder's choice, then Cruise was hit by a pitch, driving in the fourth Harvester run of the inning. Langford was walked for the second time in the inning forcing in another run and then Mike Conway doubled, bringing in two Harvester runs. DeWayne Glover followed with a single driving in the ninth and final run of the inning for the Harvesters.

The Harvesters picked up 10 runs off eight hits in the game. De Wayne Glover led Harvester hitters, slamming a homerun and a single in two offical trips to the plate.

Kip Williams started on the mound for the Harvesters, giving up no runs on three hits in four innings. Mike Conway pitched the fifth and sixth innings giving up one run on two hits. Langford pitched the seventh for the Harvesters giving up no runs and no hits.

The Harvesters meet the Borger Bulldogs Tuesday in a District 3-4A game at Broger.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Braves Again In Lead Of League Home Run Hitting

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves may surrender their attendance records to those transplanted Dodgers this year but they're bent on retaining the home run punch that made them world champions.

The Braves led both leagues with 199 homers last season and they're right back so far this year with the "big sock" when it does the most good. Ed Mathews hit two in each of their first two games and Friday night shortstop Johnny Logan unloaded a grand slam that provided them with a 4-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Logan's blow was the "big noise" of another spectacular day of coast-to-coast big league baseball during which:

—The Dodgers drew a league record crowd of 78,672 and beat the San Francisco Giants, 6-5, in their opener at Los Angeles.

—Herb Score and Whitey Ford took firm steps along the "comeback trail."

—The Chicago Cubs remained the only unbeaten team in the majors when they beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 11-6, for their third straight victory.

Another Grand Slam

In addition, the supposedly weak-hitting Chicago White Sox slammed out four homers to down the Kansas City Athletics, 11-7, and rookie Vada Pinson unloaded a grand slam homer that carried the Cincinnati Redlegs to a 4-1 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bob Buhl, the 18-game winner who flopped in the World Series, gained credit for the Braves' victory although fireballer Don McMahon came out of the bullpen with two on in the ninth to strike out Rip Repulski for the final out. Jack Sanford, a 19-game winner last season, suffered the loss when Logan tagged a 1-1 pitch for his grand slam after the Braves filled the bases on two walks and Frank Torre's single.

The huge crowd at Los Angeles saw the Dodgers win their home opener with the help of sloppy San Francisco fielding and baserunning. Two Giant errors contributed to a three-run Dodger fifth inning and San Francisco missed a chance to tie in the ninth when rookie Jimmy Davenport failed to touch third base while circling the bases on Willie Kirkland's triple. Kirkland later scored what should have been the tying run.

Erskine Gets Win

Carl Erskine, a sore-arm case in 1957, went the first eight innings and got credit for the win while Al Worthington suffered the loss. The crowd was roughly 3,000 more than the Dodgers drew for their first five home dates in Brooklyn last season.

Score, kayoed by Kansas City on Tuesday, yielded eight walks and five hits but struck out seven to gain his first win since last April 27, 10 days before he was sidelined for the season when hit on the eye by a batted ball. Roger Maris homered for the Indians and Al Kaline homered for the Tigers. Tom Morgan absorbed the loss.

Ford, limited to 11 victories last season because of recurring arm trouble, pitched a five-hitter as the Yankees handed the Orioles their first loss of the season. Billy Loes matched Ford's pitching until the sixth when the Yankees broke a 1-1 tie on a walk to Mickey Mantle, Bill Skowron's double, Jerry Lumpe's sacrifice fly and a single by Bobby Richardson. It was the Yankees' third win in four games.

Three In a Row

The Cubs, who had a 12-10 season edge over the Cardinals in 1957, made it three in a row over them this year with a 13-hit attack on six pitchers. Dick Drott went 7 1-3 innings for the victory and contributed three hits to Chicago's attack, which featured five straight hits off Von McDaniel in a six-run, fourth-inning rally. Del Ennis hit a three-run homer and Stan Musial had three hits for the winless Cardinals.

Ron Jackson, Jim Landis, Bubba Phillips and Luis Aparicio all homered for the White Sox, who racked up five Kansas City pitchers for 14 hits. Nelson Fox weighed in with four hits — two doubles and two singles — and Aparicio had three hits in paving the way for Jim Wilson's first win of the new season. Alex Kellner suffered the defeat.

Pinson, the 19-year old kid up from the Class C California League, connected for his grand slam off Ron Kline in the third inning to give the Redlegs their first victory of the campaign. Bob Purkey held his former mates at bay for 8 1-3 innings and Hal Jeffcoat came in to retire the last two batters in the ninth.

The Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators were idle.

Cupit Leads Lake Charles

LAKE CHARLES, La. (UP)—Buster Cupit of Fort Smith, Ark., shot a two-under-par 70 Saturday to increase his lead in the $5,000 Lake Charles Invitational golf Lake Charles Invitational golf tournament by two strokes at the end of the third round.

Dupit's 208 total was one stroke shy of the low tournament score set in 1954 by Gray Little. If he continues the sub-par pace, Cupit could equal or better the record.

Two strokes behind Cupit was Dick Metz of Dallas, who sank a 22-foot putt on the 18th green for a 70 and a 210 total. Metz also was the crowd favorite Friday, firing a sizzling six-under-par 66 to equal the course record.

Little, Pony League Baseball Players To Register Today

The two Little Leagues and the Pony League will register today at the Pampa Optimist Boys Club for the Little League Baseball Season.

Optimist John D. Pharr calls all ball players, 8-12, and 13 and 14 to sign up for the season starting Apr. 26th.

Three registration times are set up for interested boys, 2 p.m. today for Eastern Little Leaguers and Pony Leaguers and 4 p.m. for Western Little Leaguers.

Boys, 8 through 12, can play in the Eastern and Western Little Leagues. Eastern Little Leagues should come from the area of the Pampa School District east of Russell and from Gray to the Railroad tracks.

Western Little Leaguers will come from the area west of Russell and west of Gray to the tracks.

The boys must become 12 years old after Aug. 1 to participate.

Pony Leaguers must become 15 following Aug 1.

To register boys who have not played before must appear at the Boys' Club with their birth certificates.

Pharr announces that boys from last years teams need not register unless they are moving into the Pony League.

Boys who have moved to another part of town will remain on their old teams.

Try outs for the Little League Baseball season start Apr. 22 and end Apr. 26.

The Pampa Optimists and some members of the Evening Lions Club are working on the three baseball fields on Tuesday evenings.

DISTRESS SIGNAL — More often than not, Manager Jack Tighe of the Detroit Tigers has been a picture of despair during exhibition games. The Tigers will have to do better in regular season play.

Southern Paces T U To Nat'l Record

By JERE COX
United Press Sports Writer

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UP)— Eddie Southern anchored the Texas Longhorns to a new national Intercollegiate record of 3.09.1 in the mile relay Saturday as a total of eight university division marks were broken in the 33rd annual Kansas Relays.

Southern, clocked in an unofficial 44.9 seconds for the final quarter mile, teamed with Drew Dunlap, Jimmy Holt, and Wally Wilson to better the mark of 3:09.4 that California set in 1941.

Southern also anchored the Longhorns to a victory in the quarter mile relay and to second place in the half mile relay.

Oklahoma raced to its second record in as many days as Gail Hodgson anchored the final mile in the distance medley in the unofficial time of 4:07. The Sooners went the distance in 9:50.8 to better Texas' one-year-old record of 10:04.3. The Longhorns were second by 30 yards this year.

It also was Hodgson who anchored the Sooners to a new American record in the sprint medley Friday.

New Half Mile Record

Orlando Mahey led off with an unofficial 20.7 as Oklahoma State set a new record 1:23.5 in the half mile relay, bettering Texas' 1957 mark of 1:24.2. The Longhorns finished second without the services of Hollis Gainey who reinjured a foot in the quarter mile relay.

Willie Atterberry paced Michigan State to a new record of 7:24.8 in the two-mile relay, erasing Kansas' mark of 7:32.3 set last year. Kansas was second by 40 yards.

Howard Payne set the only record Saturday in the college division with a time of 7:39.9 in the two-mile relay. It was the third consecutive year for the Yellowjackets to win the event and improve the record.

John Macy of Houston successfully defended his 3,000 meter steeplechase championship in 9:12.5 and bettered the 9:20.4 record set by Rich Ferguson of Iowa in 1954.

Bruce Parker of Texas threw the javelin 232 feet, 8 inches to break the old standard of 229 feet, by Alton Terry of Hardin - Simmons in 1937.

Al Oerter of Kansas became the first double-winner weight man at the Kansas Relays since Darrow Hooper of Texas A&M in 1953 when he took the shot put Saturday with a toss of 55 feet, 8 inches after winning the discus Friday.

Dee Givens of Oklahoma upset Hazley in the 100 yard dash in 9.5. Buddy McKee of East Texas State passed favored Jamaica Jet Keith Gardner of Nebraska at the sixth barrier to win the 120-yard high hurdles in 14 seconds flat.

Phil Mulkey, formerly of Wyoming and now representing the Memphis Olympic Club, won three of the final events to break Ken Kelly of San Antonio, Tex. ago, edged defending champion his own record in the decathlon. Mulkey, the winner two years Emmett Smallwood of Texas A and M was third.

Yanks Squeeze By Baltimore, 4-3

NENWN YORK (UP) — Relief pitcher Ryne Duren induced pinch hitter Jim Marshall to bounce into a rally-killing ninth inning double play Saturday that enabled the New York Yankees to squeeze out a 4-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

It was the third straight victory and the fourth in five games for the Yankees while the Orioles suffered their second defeat in four games.

Bobby Shantz carried a 4-0 lead and a three-hitter into the ninth inning but both he and bullpen ace Bob Grim were kayoed before Duren finally clamped down the lid on the Orioles.

Billy Gardner started the rally with a single and went to third on Al Pilarcik's double. A sacrifice fly by Dick Williams produced one run and Bob Nieman followed with a single that scored Pilarcik and knocked out Shantz.

Grim walked Gus Triandos and then was tagged for a single by pinch hitter Gene Woodling to bring the Orioles to within one run of a tie. At that point, Duren entered the game and got Marshall to bounce back to the mound from where he started the Yankees' third double play of the game.

Billy O'Dell suffered the loss for the Orioles although the Yankees scored the two runs that enabled them to win off relief pitcher Gerry Walker in the eighth inning. Andy Carey homered in the fifth and Mickey Mantle doubled home Gil Mc Dougald in the sixth to produce the two Yankee runs off O'Dell.

With Walker pitching for Baltimore, McDougald opened the eighth with a home run and the Yankees added what proved to be the decisive tally on a single by Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron's double.

Tularemia

I thought the only way to contract tularemia (rabbit fever) was in the handling of infected rabbits until I read an article in the March issue of Texas Game and Fish. The article was written by Grant Burton of the Texas State Health Department. It really gives the low-down on this disease. Parts of the story will be related.

"A 28-yearold McLennan County farmer was in excellent health when he cleaned a rabbit he had shot in his pasture. At that time he had a small abrasion on his left index finger. Two days later the finger was sharply painful and swollen. Seven days later he was admitted to a hospital, with a fever of 103 degrees and a painful, movable lump the size of a lemon under his left arm. A victim of tularemia.

"A quail hunter scratched his hand on a sharp bone as he sat cleaning his kill. Within a week he was hospitalized with tularemic pneumonia.

"Tularemia has been and still is prevalent over all of Texas. Hunters and outdoorsmen are more susceptible than the general population, because of greater opportunities of exposure. Well over 600 cases have been reported in this state since 1946, and that figure is undoubtedly only a small fraction of the actual number."

"Today we know that tularemia is capable of infecting almost all species of Texas wlidlife, from deer to field mice. There is a broad range of insect vectors or carriers of the disease, with ticks being most important in spreading the disease from sick rodent to unwary human.

"A 21-year-old Williamson County housewife found a tick embedded in her leg. Five days later her left eye and eyelid were swollen shut, and she was admitted to a hospital, weak and feverish. She could not recall having been in contact with any animals. And she was not aware of getting anything in her eye. Apparently the tick was the transmitting agent."

From what has been said so far by Mr. Burton, it would appear dangerous to take to the outdoors for almost any reason and especially to hunt wild game, but, in closing the article reads:

"According to authorities in the field, 90 per cent of human cases of tularemia throughout the nation are acquired from rabbits—chiefly cottontails. Interestingly, domestic rabbits have never been known to develop the disease naturally. As for other domestic animals, natural infections have been found in cats, dogs, hogs, and sheep. Cows and horses apparently are immune. Susceptible wild birds include quail, chicken hawks, and horned owls — all common to Texas."

Mr. Burton further stated: "Our object is most certainly not to discourage hunting, fishing, or hiking. A theme of soul - satisfying beauty runs throughout the whole, intricate, infinite realm of nature; a balm for jangled nerves compared to which the threat of tularemia seems insignificant. To forego the pleasures of the field through fear of contracting tularemia is as absurd as foregoing a shower in fear of slipping in the tub."

One bit of information that I was particularly interested in wasn't noticed in the very informative article. That was whether or not a person could contract the disease from cooked wild game. Dr. M. M. Stephens, prominent Hutchinson County physician, a lover of the hunt and of the outdoors, supplied the answer. The doctor said that so long as the game was thoroughly cooked a person would not become infected by eating it.

When the warm, sunny, spring days appear, all true fishermen get the fever. Most of the fever subsides eventually but is not cured. A sure cure for this ailment is to spend a few days trying your favoirte lures and watching the cork go out of sight. There are not many lakes here above the caprock and still fewer that are open to the public. My guess for camping, bait-casting and trotline fishing would be Buffalo Lake. There have been hundreds of tons of rough fish removed from this lake, hardly affecting the bass and channel catfish population. These game fish should be on the move in search of food. Bait up a trotline with cut bait, shrimp, or live minnows and my figuring is that a party will catch a tubful of nice ones.

Batter Has No Time To Think, So Does What Comes Naturally

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — As Stan Musial describes it, if the ball jumps out from the pitcher quickly to a distance of about 30 or 40 feet from the plate, he knows it is a fast ball. If it comes out any slower then that from the pitcher's hand, The Man maintains, it is a curve or a change-up.

Henry Aaron will show those white teeth and explain, "They throws it, and I hits it."

Ted Williams says if a man swings at a pitch outside the strike zone five times he will do it a 100 times. Sot it is better not to do it at all.

Yogi Berra shrugs and says, "If it looks good, I take a swing at it. I think they're all strikes but guys keep telling me they are balls. It don't matter, as long as you can hit them."

These little examples of the two sides of baseball you'll hear about most of the season.

You'll have the Musial-Williams school of smart, inside stuff. On the other hand, you have the Aaron and Berra types who just do it and oftimes haven't the slightest idea why.

This leads to a set-up argument. Does a baseball hitter really have to think or does natural instinct take care of it all?

In wanderings around baseball dugouts and locker rooms you always find a ballplayer sitting atop an equipment trunk with the day's sport pages in hand. His lips move slowly as he struggles through the light-hearted nonsense people who write sports specialize in.

The newspaper seems to be an obstacle course for the guy, yet the story is probably describing him as "one of the smartest hitters in the game."

The feeling here is that a fellow like Musial can speak intelligently about almost anything. But when he stands in the batter's box, crouching and coiling, he is nothing more than a strong-armed bloke from the smoke and steel mills of Donora, Pa., who reacts with animal instinct when a pitcher heaves a ball at him.

In retrospect, The Man can tell you what he does out there. But if he tried to think about it while in the act of pulling a bat around he wouldn't be one of the finest hitters the game has known.

In hitting a baseball a contestant can check a good part of his brains in the locker room. Pure instinct, plus reflexes disciplined throughout afternoon after afternoon on Donora, Pa., sandlots and minor league fields at Williamson, W. Va., and Daytona Beach, Springfield, Mo., and Rochester made Stanley Musial a seven-time National League batting champion.

Ted Williams, Hank Aaron, Yogi Berra and the other belters of this era are of the same mold. Tom Greenwade, the Yankee scout, knew that Mickey Mantle was a tremendous hitter when The Switcher was 17 years old.

Players can be taught to do some of the mechanical tricks basball demand.

But they cannot be taught to hit.

At bat, the combatant mostly does what comes naturally.

Traffic Becomes Problem For Crowds At Dodgers' New Bas

By JACK V. FOX
United Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (UP) The one thing the Dodgers forgot to bring with them when they moved out here was the New York subway.

A monumental traffic jam gorged the streets and boulevards around the Coliseum Friday evening when 78,672 fans mixed their autos with those of homebound workers after the opening game with the San Francisco Giants.

One businessman who flew his own plane here from Phoenix to see the game had to walk 24 blocks afterwards to find a taxicab. He figured out it took him less time to fly here from Arizona than it did to get from the ballpark to his hotel — more than two hours.

Other than the post-game crush, the Dodgers' arrival in their new home was a shasheroo. They won a typically zany game, blown by the Giants when a rookie forgot to touch third base. The weather was magnificent and some fine sunburns were picked up in the stadium which is one vast bleacher. Come July, a roof may be missed.

Movie Stars Attend

The seats around home plate were filled with movie stars. Jimmy Stewart came close to getting beaned by a foul ball. Starlets in dresses resembling anything but a sack posed for pictures over the dugout. Edward G. Robinson and

The tremendous crowd was enthusiastic but there was little of the "coarse" hysteria that has marked such matches between these teams at Ebbets Field. The vast stadium was, as a matter of fact, rather markedly quiet most of the time but the lack of noise was partially due to absence of a roof.

But the city gave the Bums a real welcome. Helicopters flew overhead during the game which came after a parade through packed downtown streets. Gov. Goodwin Knight and Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson sat in chairs right out on the field: Mrs. John McGraw, widow of the storied manager, was an honored guest.

Bums Almost Boot It

The teams put on a show to match. The Giants used 19 players and the Dodgers 13. A move for the exits in the ninth was halted when the Giants staged their abortive rally. Afterward, Dodger President Walter O'Malley told moviemaker Sam Goldwyn: "Now you know why they call us Bums. Scare you to death the way they almost booted that game."

The greatest object of interest was the huge wire screen built to prevent fly balls from dropping in for home runs. It was a particular object of interest to the hitters, many of whom deliberately pulled their swings toward the screen and dropped off singles on what could have been easy outs.

The left field stands are so close that Dodger Gino Cimoli wisecracked:

"This is the only major league park I've ever seen where a shortstop could play left field."

Players Miss Brooklyn

The crowd was well below the house [illegible] but it was the biggest in National League history. Two heart attacks were reported by police and one woman, expecting a child, was escorted from the park.

This correspondent is a New Yorker and it was a sorrowful sight — Willie Mays making his scoop catches on alien soil. We told Carl Furillo that New York would miss the Bums and the Giants.

"You'll miss us?" said Furillo. "Don't think we don't miss Brooklyn. We still feel like we're barnstorming and we'll finally get to Ebbetts Field for the opener."

But they're the Los Angeles D[illegible] ception they got today, they seem pretty sure to be here to stay.

Tigers Drop Tribe, 9-1

DETROIT (UP)—Paul Foytack, who couldn't do anything right in spring training with a 14.06 earned run average, stopped the Cleveland Indians on six hits Saturday and chipped in with a run-scoring single as the Detriot Tigers cracked out 19 hits and walloped the Tribe 9-1.

Foytack, who went into the game with a heavy cold, had been wild all spring and his longest performance against major league competition was four innings.

But Saturday he fanned seven Indians, walked two and yielded just six singles.

Frank Bolling, Billy Martin, Reno Bertoia and Harvey Kuenn paced the Tiger attack with three hits apiece. Kuenn, who also made the play of the day with a diving catch off Bobby Avila, also rapped out his second homer of the season.

Detroit hopped on Don Mossi, the first of five Cleveland pitchers for three hits in the third on successive singles by Martin, Kuenn, Kaline and Ray Boone with Kaline scoring on Minnie Minoso's throwing error.

Kuenn doubled the lead in the next inning when he homered after Bolling and Martin singled. Detroit made it 8-0 in the fifth with four successive singles by Boone, Bertoia, Foytack and Bolling off rookie Chuck Churn.

A double play erased an Indian threat in the fifth but the Tribe spoiled the shutout in the eighth when Avila singled in Preston Ward.

Bob Lemon, troubled by injuries last season, finished up for Cleveland. He allowed the final run and three hits in 2 1-3 innings.

Columbus carried playing cards to America on the Santa Maria and his sailors whiled away long hours at sea playing cards.

Senators Defeat Red Sox By 4-3

WASHINGTON (UP) — Roy Sievers' game-tying homer and a run-producing pinch single by Ed Fitzgerald in the ninth inning enabled the Washington Senators to come from behind and edge the Boston Red Sox Saturday, 4-3.

Ted Williams, 1957 major league batting champion, made his first appearance of the season and went hitless in two official times at bat. He walked on two other trips to the plate.

Sievers led off the ninth with his first homer of the year to tie the score at 3-3. Mike Fornieles, who had yielded only six hits, was relieved by southpaw Leo Kiely. Clint Courtney singled and moved up on an infield out. Norm Zauchin received an intentional pass then Fitzgerald, batting for Ossie Alvarez, singled home Courtney with the winning run.

Until this sudden outburst, Jackie Jensen had been the big gun with his fourth homer of the season. Jensen drove in all three Boston runs and now has batted in eight of the nine runs the Red Sox have scored this season.

Pedro Ramos pitched a two-hitter for eight innings but Truman Clevenger, who came in to pitch the ninth, picked up the victory. Clevenger yielded Boston's third and final hit in the ninth.

Ramos walked Jim Piersall and Williams in the first inning. The two pulled a double steal and then Piersall scored on Jensen's sacrifice fly. A single by Albie Pearson in the fourth, a double by Courtney and another two - run double by Jim Lemon gave the Senators a 2-1 advantage. But Jensen again wiped this out by hitting a homer in the sixth after Pete Runnels had walked.

That's the way it stood when the Senators rallied. Both of Washington's victories this year have been over Boston.

Haney Repeats That Braves Are Top Team In League

By RUSS GREEN
United Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Manager Fred Haney repeated himself Saturday in saying that his Milwaukee Braves were the team to beat for the pennant.

With triumphs over Pittsburgh and the Phillies after an opening-day setback, the Braves' skipper stuck by his guns that the other clubs had to catch him, thereby joining with pre-season consensus of the experts.

But with expressive caution, taking no chances on late-season reprisals, the little Milwaukee pilot wouldn't pick a most dangerous opponent for the rest of the way. There was to be no "Is Brooklyn still in the league?"

"I figure us to win. Who do we have to beat? The other seven clubs," was Haney's answer to his own question. He agreed it wasn't the most original answer in the world, but he said that's the way he felt about it as the Braves opened their first road trip.

Haney ticked off the points which he figured made his club stronger than last year, starting with the attitude—the confidence bred of a world championship.

"There's a lot more confidence out there, and a lot more strength too," the Milwaukee manager said. "There's a lot of reasons. I figure Bob Rush to help us, and Gene Conley has pitched mighty fine. I have Red Schoendienst longer this year.

"I was criticized quite a bit for experimenting during the spring, but what I got an insight was to what maneuverability I could expect," Haney continued.

"I played a lot of guys out of position, and drew a lot of criticism. But shucks, it costs you nothing in the spring."

Palmer Now Golf's Top Money Maker

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UP) — Arnold Palmer, the new Masters champion from Latrobe, Pa., climbed to the top in professional golf money winnings this month with $19,883, the Profesional Golfers' Assn. announced Saturday.

Palmer, who was in eighth place last month, displayed Ken Venturi of San Francisco as the leader. Venturi dropped to third place with $13,731, overtaken also by Bill Casper Jr. of Chula Vista, Calif., with $13,861.

Doug Ford, $11,130; Frank Stranahan, $11,117; Jay Hebert, $10,160; Dow Finsterwald, $9,072; Fred Hawkins, $9,049; Art Wall Jr., $6,897; and Bo Wininger, $6,766, rounded out the top 10.

Casper remained first in the 1958 ten top tournament standings with 328 points, but Venturi slipped from second to seventh with 234.

Casper was followed by Hebert, 292; Finsterwald, 289.5; Ford, 250; and Wall, 238.

Stengal Says Yanks Always Face Best Of Rival Pitching

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

"Labored interpretation of a philosophical commentary by Charles Dillon (Casey) Stengel, the erstwhile left-handed dentist from Kansas City who manages the New York Yankees, would indicate that while the Yanks win more pennants than anybody the job is more difficult for them than it would be for others.

"With us, now, every day is exactly like the World Series," he allows. "Those there other fellers are always throwing their best pitchers at us, more so than at anybody else, and we ain't kickin' because that's the way it should be and we all expect it and anyhow, why not?"

Keeps Them On Toes

Casey adds:

"We got to play hard to win because they love to beat us and it's an honor to beat the Yankees and you can bet that in every series we get to look at the best pitchin' they got and it keeps my guys on their toes which is where they should be." And he wasn't even out of breath when he finished, merely branching off into something else.

Secrets of other jockeys against Willie Hartack: They say that if you crowd him from the left he has to put away his whip because he is awkward switching sticks and your sister can hit harder right-handed than Willie can. Must be tough to get up close to him on the inside considering the fact that he has won three straight riding championships.

Any Skittles Around

Kyle [illegible], captain of the New York football Giants, says he's spoiled since he was converted from halfback to end two years ago. "You get a lot fewer bruises a end," he asserts, "and I don't even know if I could play halfback again." Like getting hit by a sedan instead of a truck.

"Beer and skittles" is defined by Webster as "easy going enjoyment." But "skittles" haven't been played in the United States for about 100 years and it has the U.S. Brewers Foundation in a sudsy dither. So, in observance of the 25th anniversary of the repeal of prohibition and the scuttling of the speakeasy, the foundation is offering $1,000 for the best preserved set of antique skittles that can be found. PS: Skittles is an ancient form of bowling which used nine thick pins and a flat, chees-shaped "ball" 10 to 14 pounds.

Mihalic Wins Boston AA Marathon

BOSTON (UP) — Physical education student Franjo Mihalic of Yugoslavia, who turned to marathon running only two years ago, Saturday won the 62nd Boston AA marathon, beating defending champion Johnny Kelley by three-quarters of a mile.

The 36-year - old Iron Curtain runner, who placed second in the 1956 Olympic marathon in his first attempt at the 26-mile 385-yard distance, turned in a time of 2:25.54 over the hilly course from suburban Hopkinson to down town Boston.

The first runner from behind the Iron Curtain ever to win the race, Mihalic was the 12th foreigner to capture first place in the last 13 years.

Mihalic's time was nearly six minutes slower than Kelley's record 2:20.05 time of last year, when the 27-year - old Groton, Conn., school teacher brought the coveted laurel wreath back to the United States for the first time in 12 years after the course was adjusted to the regulation distance.

However, Mihalic turned the trick in mid-70 degree heat, a blazing sun and practically no breeze.

Kelley's time was 2:30.51. Eino Pulkkinen of Finland, who placed second three years ago, was third in 2:37.05.

French Boxer Clouts Baker

WASHINGTON (UP)—Lahourari (Larry) Godih, French lightweight champion from Oran, Algeria, almost ran up a perfect score in his American debut against Larry Baker of Mount Vernon, N.Y.

Godih was awarded 99 out of a possible 100 points by each of the three ring officials in jabbing his way to a unanimous decision over Baker Friday night in their nationally televised bout at the Capitol Arena.

Under the 10-point must scoring system, referee Marty Gallagher favored the Algerian, 99-84; judge Julian Avstone turned in a 99-85 card and judge Benny Alperstein voted 99-83.

Godih, who weighed 141½ pounds to Baker's 142, used a flicking left jab and occasional countering rights in registering his 20th straight victory and his 46th in 51 pro fights.

Gibson Has Problems As IBC President

NEW YORK (UP) — Truman K. Gibson Jr., considered an expert on tax law, today faced several taxing problems as the new president of the International Boxing Club.

Uppermost in the mind of the 41-year-old Chicago lawyer, who succeeded James D. Norris as head of the boxing empire Friday, is the government anti-trust case against the I.B.C., which will be reviewed by the Supreme Court later this year, and the current boxing probe in New York.

Gibson also faces a tough task trying to woo heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson back into the I.B.C. camp and attempting to line up a "rubber" match between middleweight champion Ray Robinson and Carmen Basilio.

The erudite Negro barrister figured prominently in the negotiations for last month's second Robinson-Basilio scrap, so he is hopeful of promoting a rematch sometime this summer. However, Patterson may prove a tougher nut to crack.

The heavyweight champion and his manager, Cus D'Amato, broke with the I.B.C. last year after several clashes with Norris.

"I don't know what will happen now," D'Amato said Friday. "But if a stooge of Norris' takes over and functions as Norris has functioned, I will go on fighting the I.B.C. as I have in the past."

Norris actually tendered his resignation as boss of the I.B.C. in a letter dated April 12, but the announcement was not made until Friday. He said his doctors advised him to resign last fall following a severe heart attack.

Seattle To Be Top Prize For Professional Basketball Draft

DETROIT (UP) — Professional basketball's "grab bag" opens Tuesday with big Elgin Baylor of Seattle the top prize in the annual National Basketball Association draft.

The NBA begins its two - day meeting Monday with the league's board of governors conferring on the television setup, tentative schedules for next season, air travel insurances and other topics.

The draft begins at noon Tuesday with 75 to 80 of the nation's top collegians up for grabs. By virtue of the worst won - lost percentage, the Minneapolis Lakers get first pick followed by Cincinnati.

The Lakers at first expressed interest in Archie Dees of Indiana. The 6-foot 8-inch Hoosier ace led the Big Ten in scoring and was second in rebounding while pacing Branch McCracken's team to the conference title.

But lately the Lakers have been looking west to Baylor, the all-American from Seattle University who led his teammates to the NCAA finals before losing out to Kentucky.

The New York Knickerbockers, NBA's Eastern Division, have been courting Baylor for some time and he evinced interest in the Knicks but not the Lakers. The Knicks don't get their first choice until Minneapolis and Cincinnati have made their initial picks.

Also expected to go on the first round are Guy Rodgers of Temple and Conn Dierking of Cincinnati as territorial choices. Each team is allowed to take one player from a 50-mile radius around its city as its first pick. Philadelphia would get Rodgers and Cincinnati Dierking.

Canadiens Go For Stanley Final

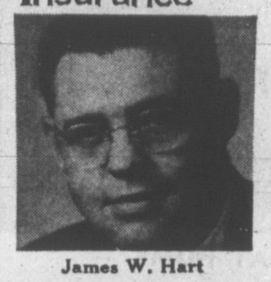

BOSTON (UP) — The Montreal Canadiens, who have a habit of bouncing Boston out of the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoffs, pit hockey's flashiest powerhouse against the game's gumption team Sunday night in the sixth and possibly decisive game of the championship series.

By the usual yardsticks, the Canadiens should make short shrift of Boston in sweeping to their third straight Stanley Cup conquest. Montreal has vanquished Boston in playoffs in four of the last five years.

As the series now stands, Montreal has three wins against Boston's two and needs only one more to triumph.

EVENING AT HOME

Enjoying an evening at home after hours in the air is Wes Lewis and his wife Jewel Dean, who is now learning to fly. Lewis left yesterday to bring to Pampa the "World's largest spray plane." He will fly it in today. (News Photo)

Pampa Flyer Utilizing Large-Capacity Plane

By RONNIE CROSS
Pampa News Staff Writer

Wes Lewis, who resides with his family at 651 Sumner may be engaged in a "history-making business." He has worked with the Plains Aero Service in Dalhart, which he aided by helping them get started on a twin-engine spray plane. When he terminated employment with this company, he worked with the Trans Air Spraying Company in Canyon.

Together they purchased a four engine plane, with the provision that he would take the contract for flying it. They bought the aircraft in Phoenix, Ariz., where it had been used in the atomic experimentation for weather purposes. The plane, which has a 3,718 gallon chemical capacity, has been stripped and is now ready for testing. The test will probably get underway today in Dalhart to find the maximum load capacity.

This plane will perhaps be the world's largest spray plane. Another one, which was possibly larger, has been tried but proved to be unsatisfactory. Lewis's aircraft, a B-24, will be able to carry more than 1,000 gallons of fuel, and was designed as a bomber for submarine patrol.

After the testing is completed, Lewis will take it to the Government Test Site in Beltsville, Maryland. The government is interested in testing the plane to find how wide a swath it is capable of covering and how many acres per minute it can spray. At present, it covers a 600 foot swath and will spray 200 acres per minute. It is equipped now for forest spraying such as Gypsy Moss and Swiss Bud Spruce.

As soon as the spraying season is over, other plans may be made for the plane. The forest workers are interested in a plane to carry chemicals to help check forrest fires and aid the men working on the ground. For this, the plane needs to be able to drop 600 gallons of chemical in a mile. At present it can drop an emergency load but there is no way to control it for such work.

Lewis owns one airplane, a Cessna 180, and two hangars. He has approximately 6,000 flying hours. His longest, non-stop flight was from Long Beach, Calif., to the Hawaiian Islands, while he was serving with the Air Force. Lewis was an instructor for the Air Force in 1942, which he joined in 1943; he served until 1946. He served overseas in North Africa, India, and China in the transport division in which he carried engines, equipment, etc.

Lewis says his biggest scare was qhile flying from IIndia into China over the Himalaya Mountains. During a storm, the pilots were taking turns piloting and sleeping. While Lewis was asleep, the pilot on duty neglected the alcohol pumps and they began losing altitude. They were flying at an altitude of 16,800 feet. When they finally regained control of the plane they were flying at 14,000 feet, and in the Himalayas there are several peaks which extend up to 14,000 feet.

Lewis said there were so many thrills in flying he really couldn't say what his biggest one was, but that one of the biggest was his first solo flight. Lewis not only flies in his business, but at present he is giving flying lessons to his wife, Jewel Dean.

Rally Restores Values To Market

By ROBERT G. SHORTAL
United Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK (UP) — A strong rally — interrupted only by a Wednesday setback — restored more than $4,700,000,000 to market values this week.

Stocks have risen in eight of the past nine sessions and during this period values have soared more than $6,600,000,000.

With rails supplying most of the power behind the upswing, the over-all market as measured by the Dow - Jones averages approached the year's high set on Feb. 4.

The market generally and individual groups responded to numerous developments during the week. The rise was achieved in the face of generally unfavorable economic news.

Roard Bill Helps

The rails led the upside on news a congressional committee would begin studying ways of improving that depressed industry's financial condition. Oils strengthened on indications of a brighter outlook for that industry.

Companies which make road building equipment got a whirl after President Eisenhower signed an anti-recession highway construction bill.

On Friday, when the market scored its best gain, the key factor was the Federal Reserve's double-barreled action in cutting the discount rate and bank reserves. Experts said more money at cheaper rates will spark public works projects and housing construction, thus paving the way for a business upturn.

There were numerous forecasts made during the week that the recession is bottoming out and that there are signs in some industries of an upturn. However, the market generally ignored some poor first quarter earnings reports and further small declines in key economic barometers.

The setback on Wednesday, which was fairly sharp, was attributed mainly to profit - taking following six straight sessions of rising prices.

Oils Show Gains

Brokers said market sentiment on Friday also was helped by estimates of a big short interest. After the close of trading on Friday, the New York Stock Exchange announced a slight dip in short interest but the total still was large.

Short interest is selling a stock you do not own in anticipation of buying it later at a lower price. Short interest acts as a cushion beneath the market.

Oils showed some of the best gains. Gulf jumped 4⅛ and Standard Oil (New Jersey) more than 2.

Baltimore & Ohio ran up more than 2 in the rails, Texas & Pacific climbed 4½ and Western Maryland added 3. Youngstown, Lukens and U.S. Steel rose more than 2 points each. Merck and Schering were strong in the drugs.

In the chemicals, Du Pont rose 4½ and Dow added 2⅝, but Union Carbide eased on poor earnings. General Motors rose more than 1 in the autos but Chrysler lost 1⅜, reflecting the announcement it operated in the red in the first quarter.

Of the 1,420 issues traded this week, 965 advanced, 297 declined and 158 held unchanged. New highs were scored by 271 stocks and new lows by only 53.

Trading on a daily average basis rose to 2,444,940 shares from 2,075,128 the week before and was the most active since the week of Feb. 7.

Sewell Not After Post Of Governor

CORSICANA, Tex. (UP)— Dist. Judge James C. Sewell announced Saturday night he would not be a candidate this year for governor.

The former state legislator said he was prompted to make the statement because "for several weeks I have received consideraof all walks of life in all parts of the state to become a candidate for the office of governor."

But, Sewell said "I will not make the race for governor at this time, because I am deeply obligated to my homefolks here in Navarro county who elected me to the office which I presently hold."

Gov. Price Daniel Friday announced he would run for re-election to a second term. He is presently the only announced candidate.

Swell said that he feels that he should serve out his four-year term as district judge.

THERE'S A FEATHER in our federated club caps this week....for we are to receive a visit from Mrs. A. J. House, who is the state president of Federated Clubs in Texas....now when you stop to think of just how large Texas is....and how many federated clubs dot its area ....you can fully appreciate the honor it is for local clubs to receive a visit from her....we hear that federated club members are going all out to help make the gracious lady realize what an important little city Pampa is....a reception is planned in her honor in the City Club Room on Wednesday evening....we know an interesting sidelight about Mrs. House....she requests clubs, that she is to visit, not to send her a corsage to wear....but rather she asks that they put the money they would spend for flowers into a vitamin fund for undernourished children.....

AREN'T THE FORSYTHIA bushes lovely this year? .... can't remember when they have seemed so full of rich-looking yellow blossoms .... they are one of our favorite bushes .... for, to us, they vie with the crocus in reminding us that Spring is near....the grayer the spring winter days, the more they seem to stubbornly hold out that Spring is coming! .... even if we mortals doubt it .. .. so many lawns around town are dotted with these harbingers of Spring .... our eyes were really taken one day recently with the home of Gladys Harvey out on Charles Street .... her home is a white bungalow, you know, with yellow shutters and yellow awnings .... and on the gray winterish, rainy day it caught our eye, it seemed like a bright sun-burst .... for with the yellow daffodils and forsythia, the awnings and shutters seemed the brightest spot in town.

WELL! ALL WE CAN say is that if the "Father Knows Best" TV program hadn't received some type of recognition from the Emmy awards this week, we would have clipped our TV wires .... glad, too, that Dinah Shore was duly honored.

JUST IN PASSING .... one of the prettiest dogs in town is the coach-dog owned by the Welches out on Chestnut .... black and white spotted, she answers to the name of Trudy .... wasn't it a shame the Thespian group had to come down with the measels just on the eve of contests in Canyon .... better luck next year, but guess that doesn't make the seniors in the group feel any better .... it's safe now to mention sour pickles or lemons to Chris Schenider without her wincing .... she's recovered from a case of the MUMPS .... saw Rochelle Smith home during the Easter holiday with a very handsome young man in tow .... what a warm-hearted person is Inez Carter, everyone who knows and loves her were so proud of the honor she received from Beta Sigma Phi who named her Woman of the Year .... she looked so pretty in her smoke-blue lace and chiffon dress .... the yellow roses she received from Ruth Nenstiel .... who was honored last year .... was a perfect complement .... almost as happy over Inez's honor was her close friend, Flossie Anderson, who fairly beamed throughout the entire proceedings .... it was nice to see Mrs. Carl J. Wright at the reception, too .... presiding at one of the punch services .... Mrs. Wright, who is now living in Fort Collins Colorado came down especially for the event .... she was BSP's Woman of the Year in 1946 .... the second year of the award .. .. a real pretty sister-team around town is Gwen Gray and Freda LeMond .... They both have the prettiest dark eyes .... speaking of Freda .... she and her husband, Guy, Van and Clyde Vanderberg are spending this San Jacinto week end in Fort Worth and Dallas .... lucky People! .... and Maxine Etheridge is all excited over the proposed visit of her not one, not two, but three grandchildren .... it's been about two years since they were here last!

ONE OF THE PRETTIEST showers of the pre-bridal season was the one given for Bette Jo Tooley on the eve of her marriage to Gregg Mamikunian .... Hostesses were Mmes. Leon Cook, Don Forsha, Paul Root, W. R. Campbell, J. M. Turner, H. R. VanSickle, E. O. Wedgeworth, Roland Dauer, Bob McCoy, W. L. Waggoner, Oscar Westbrook and Emmett Osborne .... Bette looked so pretty in a blue linen dress with a white corsage surrounded by stacks and stacks of wedding gifts, wrapped in white tissue and tied with blue satin ribbons .... Bette and Gregg met at McMurry College, where they were both students .... his home-town is Baghdad, Iraq .... doesn't it sound romantic!

TOM ATKIN ... who has been out of town for the past two weeks tying Nuptial Knots ... will return this week with his bride ... our favorite Mata Hari tells us that the ceremony was performed weekend before last in Kansas City .... not sure whether it was Missouri or Kansas .... but their friends are looking forward to welcoming them home and meeting the new Mrs. Atkin ... we can't understand the male aversion to the chemise (just can't get away from this fashion subject) .... if they dislike it so much ..., they have a perfect weapon at hand for retaliation .... the Ivy League Suit .... the suit that looks like it got caught out in the rain and shrunk .... our congratulations to Faye Eaton and Lena Pearl Hobbs .... Faye is the new president of B&PW Club and Lena of Altrusa .... two capable gals .... have you seen those beautiful jeweled purses Mrs. Ed Barnes .... who lives northeast of the city .... creates .... they will soon be available in one of the local stores, we understand .... the colors and handwork on them are simply out of this world .... and so feminine .... wonder if Viola Jordan knows just how much the Upsilons hate to lose her as one of their sponsors .... but she is such a busy person .... realyl should be two of her .... Jerry Nell and Ed Griffin are in Pheonix this week end .... having fun in the sun.

TWO REALLY BUSY SPOTS in town these days ....one is Jeanne Willingham's Dance Studio .... where almost any hour of the day or early evening you will hear rhythm and music coming from the open doors and windows .... the students are busy preparing for their annual recital to be given on May 31 .... and the mothers are at home buried in yards and yards of net, sequins ,and satin preparing costumes .... the recital will be sponsored again this year by the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority .... the money made from the recital last year, they gave to the Youth and Community Center .... another busy spot is the Girl Scout Office .... where plans are being made for the annual Brownie and Intermediate Day Camp program to be held in Cap Mel Davis in June .... sometimes when you see an activity in its finished form, you don't realize the months and months of preparation that must go into the effort to make it a success.

We like the story we heard this week about the tourist who was spending the night in an Amarillo Motel, "What do you have of unusual interest in your city?" ... the motel clerk replied, "Well, we have the only helium plant in the world" .... "Really," the tourist gasped, "and is it in bloom now?"

Always leave 'em laughing, we say .... 'bye.

Miss Bette Tooley, Gregg Mamikunian Repeat Marriage Vows In April Rites

Miss Bette Jo Tooley was united in marriage to Gregg Mamikunian on April 11 at nine in the morning in the Holy Souls Catholic Church with the Rev. Father Otto Myers officiating.

Double-ring vows were exchanged amid a setting of white Easter lillies and white carnations.

Miss Tooley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tooley, 1318 N. Russell. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hartijon Mamikunian of Baghdad, Iraq.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white street-eingth lace over blue taffeta sheath worn with a full, white nylon half-skirt of nylon organdy. Her shoulder-length Veil of Illusion was attached to a tiny hat of seed pearls and peralized sequins.

She wore short white gloves with lace insets and carried a white orchid arranged with feathered carnations atop a white Missal.

ATTENDANTS

The bride's sister, Miss Kay Tooley, served as maid of honor wearing a white knit sheath interspersed with silver and gold threads. She complemented her dress with a white lace picture hat and white gloves. She carried a nosegay of blue and white Esterreed Daisies.

John McBride served the bridegroom as best man. Tommy Lockhart seated the wedding guests.

Pre-nuptial music was played by Mrs. Jack D. Edwards at the organ. Mrs. W. R. Sligar, accompanied by Mrs. Edwards, sang "Ave Maria," "The Rosary," "Panis Angelus," and "On This Beautiful Day, O Mother."

The bride's mother, Mrs. Tooley, wore a navy blue silk suit with navy accessories, accented with an orange-ice hat. Her corsage was of white split carnations.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Mamikunian, was unable to attend the wedding because she resides in Baghdad, Iraq.

RECEPTION

Friends were received, immediately following the exchange of vows, in the home of the bride's parents. A white linen, cut-work cloth over blue covered the bride's table, which was centered with an arrangement of blue and white Esterreed Daisies and appointed with silver and crystal.

Mmes. E. O. Wedgeworth and W. D. Forsha presided at the coffee service. Miss Pat Reynolds served the three-tiered wedding cake, which was decorated in blue and white and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom standing under a heart-shaped arch.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregg Mamikunian

Mrs. Jim McDowell was guest registrar. Mrs. Emmett Osborne was in charge of the reception.

For a wedding trip, Mrs. Mamikunian traveled in a brown, two-piece Spring suit complemented with bone accessories. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Mamikunian attended elementary school in Pampa and graduated from Pampa High School. She was a student at McMurry College and employed by Oschner Clinic in NNew Orleans, La. for the past year and a half.

Mr. Mamikunian was graduated from Baghdad College in Baghdad, Iraq; attended McMurry College; Tulane University in New Orleans, where he received his Master's Degree.

He is employed as a chemist for Mohave Minning Co. in Wickenburg, Ariz., where they will reside.

Bethany Class Has Monthly Luncheon

Bethany Class of the First Baptist Church met in the dining room of the Pampa Hotel for its monthly business and social hour.

Mrs. George Hutto called the meeting to order. Mrs. J. B. O'Bannon gave the invocation. Each member present read a scripture as part of the devotional.

Mrs. Lida Ramsay read minutes of the last meeting. Mrs. O. J. Moore dismissed the group with prayer.

Ten members were present.

Federated Clubs To Hostess Reception For Mrs. A. J. House State President

Texas Federation Club president, Mrs. A. J. House will be honored at a recpetion to be given on Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the City Club Room.

Mrs. House, whose home is in Yoakum, will bring a special program of particular interest to all Federated club members. She has made a request that no corsage be sent for her to wear, rather that a contribution be given to the Dorothy House Vieman Oriental Scholarship Fund. It was on a tour of the Orient that Mrs. House developed her interest in the education of students from the Orient and wiich has resulted in the successful administration project, the Dorothy House Vieman scholarship, in memory of her daughter.

Mrs. House is one of the most active presidents of the federation and her activities cover many and varied subjects. She is managing editor of the Federation's official magazine, "The Texas Clubwoman," which was organized in 1897 and chartered in 1914. This magazine, published eight months out of the year, is a necessary channel of information to every clubwoman.

The Texas Traffic County program, of which Mrs. House was instrumental in establishing, had its "kick-off" meeting in Midland on Feb. 24 and is designed to bring traffic safety before the public as a national emergency.

Recently, Mrs. House launched a clean-up campaign of newstands and served on the committee of the National Library Week, Mar. 18-22.

Music is another forte of the Federation's president. A fine musician herself, Mrs. House has stressed music as the open door through which we gain a better understanding of all people.

Pampa Federated Club members are fortunate to have Mrs. House as their guest this week. It is hoped that all club members will attend the reception planned to back up their own club president and to show appreciation to Mrs. House for her visit.

Accompanying Mrs. House on her visit to Pampa is Mrs. Robert R. Lindsey of Borger, who is the president of the seventh district of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

The seventh district, of which Pampa is a member, consists of forty nine counties. Mrs. Lindsey, as president of this district, has visited with 185 clubs in the last year.

Among this district's accomplishments are, 20 new clubs have been added to federated membership; the Lola B. Mundy Scholarship, established the Christmas Stocking Project for Boys' Ranch last year and raised over $500 for the home for boys. The seventh district is proud of Mrs. Lindsey's leadership, which is inspired by a comprehensive feeling for the needs of each club. For nearly 40 years, the seventh district has grown under capable and inspired leadership, such as Mrs. Lindsey's.

Pampa Federated Clubs presidents, who will be hostesses at the reception for Mrs. House and Mrs. Lindsey, are Mrs. W. C. Scott, Civic Culture; Mrs. Tom Perkins, El Progreso Club; Mrs. Homer Johnson, Parent Education Club; Mrs. Jack P. Foster, Twentieth Century Club; Mrs. J. W. Edminster, TC Culture Club; Mrs. Henry Rose, TC Forum Club; Mrs. Lee Moore, TC Cotillion Club. and Mrs. W. A. Wagoner, Varietas Club.

All Federated club members are cordially invited to attend the reception.

Miss Lynda Stevens Becomes Bride Of Robert Wood In Church Service

In the Community Baptist Church, Kermit, Miss Lynda Gail Stevens and Robert Allen Wood exchanged wedding vows repeated by Rev. Kenneth Stohner on April 4 at five o'clock in the afternoon.

Miss Stevens is the daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Bert Stevens, Kermit, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Ola Isbell, 211 N. Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Wood, Jal, N.M., are the parents of the bridegroom.

The double-ring ceremony was performed amid a setting of baskets of blue stock and Easter lillies flanked with blue tapers in candelabra.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white Chantilly lace over tulle fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and tapering Chantilly lace points over the hands. The full, sleeves, which ended in petal gathered skirt was floor - length. Her Veil of Illusion draped from a Queen's Crown of seeded pearls and rhinestones.

The bride carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of white phalaenosis orchids atop a white Bible. Her only jewelry was a heart-shaped lavalier fashioned with rhinestones, a gift of the bridegroom.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Carol Dawson, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor with Miss Nelda Wood, sister of the bridegroom, Jal, N.M. as the bridesmaid. They wore blue silk organza dresses with blue sequin-trimmed half mitts and carried crescent-shaped corsages of blue carnations. Miss Dawson wore a blue half-hat trimmed with white flowers.

Jerry Swain, Jal, N.M., was best man. Gromsman was Wayne Hampton, Jal. Ushers were Lee Kent Stevens, brother of the bride, and David Stevens, Odessa, cousin of the bride.

Lighting the candles at the altar were Kent and David Stevens.

Little Miss Cathy Wood, sister of the bridegroom, wearing a blue tulle over nylon dress and a small flower hat, carried a basket of rose petals.

Joe Wood, brother of the bridegroom, was ringbearer dressed in a white dinner jacket. He carried the rings on a heart-shaped satin pillow.

Mrs. B. W. Branscum, Kermit, played the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional and was accompanist for Mrs. Raymond Williams, who sang "True Love," "Because," "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Stevens, mother of the bride, chose a blue silk shantung sheath with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Wood wore a blue linen sheath and duster with white accessories. Their corsages were of white gardenias.

Mrs. Isbell and Mrs. Marion Arnold of Springdale, Ark., grandmothers of the bride, wore corsages of white carnations.

RECEPTION

A reception was held, immediately following the cermony, in the parlor of the church. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over blue and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake flanked with blue candles in crystal holders. Mrs. Branscum provided backgrund music during the reception.

Miss Gail Atwood, Kermit, presided at the punch bowl. Cake was served by Miss Patsy Burgess. Mrs. Raymond William was guest registrar.

For a wedding trip, the bride traveled in an ice-blue chemise suit with white accessories and wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Wood is a senior in Kermit High School and employed at the Youth Center. Mr. Wood was graduated from Jal High School and is employed by Texas Electric Co. in Odessa.

Mrs. Isbell and Mrs. Louis Edwards were hostesses for a rehersal diner in the home of the bride's parents on Thursday preceding the wedding on Friday.

Among the out-of-town wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Taylor and Lynn, Miss Carol Dawson, all of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Taylor, Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stevens and David, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Marlar and family, Monahans; and the following guests from Ja, N.M., Messrs. and Mmes. W. B. Wod, Joe and Cathy, Don Wood, G. A. Swain and Shawn, Joe Bussey and Nancy Lester Arlerholt and Susan; Mmes. S. E. Hampton and Linda, O. L. White, Andis Showmaker, Betty Word, Linda Hunter, and Glenda Mosley.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen Wood

Just prior to her marriage, Miss Stevens was honored with a bridal shower given in the Fellowship Hall of the First Christian Church, Pampa.

Hostesses were Mmes. Inez Sumner, Johnny Zueker, Roland Dauer, Oscar Frashier, Harold Weidler, Rolla Sailer, H. B. Taylor Jr., Roy Williams, W. F. Taylor, Glenn Nichols, Milo Carlson, Lester Mason, Roberta Valiant.

In the receiving line were the honoree, wearing a blue and white carnation corsage; her mother, Mrs. Bert Stevens, and her grandmother, Mrs. Ola Isbell, who wore white carnation corsages.

Johnnie Dauer presided at the guest registrar.

The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth centered with an arrangement of blue stock and carnations flanked with crystal candelholders holding blue and white tapers.

White cake topped with white wedding bells was served by Mmes. H. B. Taylor Jr. and Glenn Nichols, Mrs. Harold Weidler and Mrs. John Zueker presided at the punch service.

Approximately 100 guests attended.

Mrs. John Woodward Lee, Mrs. John Lee, Mrs. Henry Riley

Post Nuptial Fete Honors Mrs. Lee

Mrs. John Lee, the former Miss Gaylene Riley, was honored with a post nuptial shower on Firday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Lee Jackson, aunt of the bride, 1436 N. Russell. Assistant hostesses were Mmes. Chester Shellhouse, great-aunt of the bride, Leon Richter, H. W. Bowerman, Jack Hasselvander and Miss Annette Holtman.

Mrs. Shellhouse presided at the guest registrar.

A pink carnation tied with gold ribbon was presented to the honoree. Her mother, Mrs. Henry Rilley and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. John Woodward Lee, wore white carnation corsages tied with pink ribbon.

A lace cloth over pink covered the serving table, which was centered with a Spring floral arrangement flanked with pink tapers in brass candleholders. Punch was served from one end of the table by Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Leon Richter presided at the cake service. Sheet cake decorated with two pink wedding bells, joined with a cluster of pink roses, was inscribed "Gaylene and John."

Approximately 75 guests attended or sent gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lee were united in marriage on April 12 at 3 p.m. in the parsonage of the First Methodist Church with Rem. W. W. Adcock performing the ceremony.

Bird lovers will find cleaning cages simpler if the bottom is lined. By using a waxed paper there is less chance of rusting from water dripped from the bath or drinking cup. To clean, remove bottom liner and replace with fresh paper.

Twentith Anniversary, Reunion Dinner Observed By Lefors Art-Civic Club

(Special to The News)

LEFORS — 20th Anniversary and Reunion Banquet of past and present members of the Lefors Art and Civic Club was held in the Lefors High School Cafeteria recently.

Japanese theme was used throughout the banquet room. The tables were covered in white cloths with centerpiece of fresh-cut flowers arranged with Japanese umbrellas and intermingled along the tables with miniature Japanese figurines.

Place-cards were umbrella shaped, and the programs were decorated in Japanese character writing, while overhead hung Japanese lanterns.

"The Life of a School Teacher" was the program topic given by Mrs. R. D. Shepherd, guest speaker, Borger, a first-grade teacher at present and formerly a teacher in junior high. Mrs. Shepherd, who kept a diary throughout her teaching years, gave some of the high points of her dairy including some of the tragic, humorous and hilarious events in her teaching experiences throughout the years.

Also, on the program were Misses Gail Henson and Jerrir Barber, who gave a Japanese Dance in costume before a background of Japanese screen and motifs.

Mrs. H. W. Callan, president of the club, served as master of ceremonies. The welcome was given by Mrs. R. M. Watson, charter member and presently holding the office of vice president.

The response was by Mrs. Elvis Mathis of Hooker, Okla., also a charter and guest for the event.

Mmes. R. C. Ogden of Lefors and Cecil Houchin of Pampa, two senior members, who helped organize the club in 1938, were introduced.

Following the banquet the group went to the civic center for games of forty-two, bridge and visitation. Coffee was also served.

Out of town guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Marion Brown, Venus Collum, A. C. Houchin, Clyde Rodecape, all of Pampa; Ray Carruth of Borger, Bob Brown of Seminole, Okla., Max Brown of Stinnett, L. M. McGlathin of Ardmore, Gene Harlon of Skellytown, Elvis Mathis of Hooker, Okla., and Floyd Mathis of Tyrone, Okla.

Others present were Messrs. and Mmes. Howard Archer, Earl Atkinson, R. H. Barron, Ray Boyd, H. W. Callan, Ray Chastain, Bud Cumberledge, C. H. Gustin, Carl Hall, Scott Hall, Jerry Jacobs, James Jinks, Raymond Jordon, John Lantz, Ed Lehnick, Bill McBee, R. C. Ogden, L. R. Spence, Bill Watson, and Miss Norma Lantz.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Can a girl love two men at once? I met a Marine on a bus and we talked for 13 hours straight. In all that time I only slept one half hour (on his shoulder) and I dreamed we were married. I let him kiss me and there was no shame to it because there wasn't anything cheap about it. I got off the bus and my husband was there to meet me, and, Abby, I really love my husband with all my heart, but I can't get this Marine out of my mind. I took his address, but want to know if I should write to him?

IN LOVE WITH TWO MEN

Dear In: I would say that you are In Love with your husband, but feel a strong physical attraction for the Marine. The bus ride shook up your sense of values a little. Throw the Marine's address away. He'll get over it.

DEAR ABBY: As a manufacturer of model railroad trains, may I offer a valuable suggestion to the person who used coffee grounds for his miniature "hillside"? Discontinue this practice at once as it can foul up your moving parts.

J. J.

Dear J. J.: Thank you. This sounds like sound advice.

DEAR ABBY: You've Got to help me. I am in seventh grade and have the worst reputation in school. I can lick any guy in school and everybody knows it. If I don't fight when someone chooses me, I am chicken, and if I do, then I am a bully. Anytime something goes wrong they send for me. No decent girl will talk to me and some boys have told me their folks don't want me around their house. What am I supposed to do?

DISGUSTED

Dear Disgusted: Go to the coach (or your favorite teacher) and tell him you want to learn to get along with other boys without using bully tactics. You will gain more by using your brain than your brawn.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 years old and am very much in love with a man who is 28. He farms and to tell you the truth the only thing my folks have against him is that he can't read or write as he was born in the hills of Arkansas. He doesn't care to learn, either, as he makes a good living farming. He loves me and wants to marry me. Do you think it is so important what he can't do?

IN LOVE

Dear Love: If his inability to read or write doesn't bother him, and it doesn't bother you, it shouldn't bother your folks.

CONFIDENTIAL To Joan: Better to leave the wolf at your door than to invite him in.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

National Piano Playing Auditions Begin Tomorrow In First Methodist Church

National Piano Playing Auditions will get underway tomorrow in the First Methodist Church, when Mrs. Madelon Skonbert arrives from Chicago to begin the hearings, which will continue through April 29.

Mrs. Skonberg is a member of the faculty of the Cosmopolitan School of Music in Chicago and, also, reviews concerts for the "Musical Leader." She has studied privately with Jan Chiapusso, Dutch pianist, and Gavin Williamson of the duo-harpsichord team of Manual and Williamson. She also attended Bush Conservatory, State Normal University in Illinois, the Chicago Musical College and North Park College.

Piano playing auditions are sponsored annually by the National Guild of Piano Teachers in 550 centers throughout the United States and Cuba. Last year, fifty-one thousand piano students participated. For the past twelve years, Pampa has been one of these centers and many local students have taken advantage of the opportunity to receive the help and constructive criticism offered by these outside judges. The movement was begun in 1929 in Abilene by Iri Allison, its founder and president.

This year the auditions are the largest ever held in Pampa. A total of 174 students from Pampa and surrounding area are enrolled and will be heard on the succeeding eight days. Mrs. H. A. Yoder is guild chairman for this area and Mrs. Irvin Cole assists as monitor.

The following piano techers have students enrolled in the auditions, Sister Mary Catherine, Mmes. Carra Lou Perkins, Lois Fagan, William J. Haley, W. M. Cooper, Lillian Land, H. A. Yoder, all of Pampa; also, Mmes. F. E. Rodgers and Willie Boyett of McLean; Mrs. J. L. Naylor of Panhandle and Robert Hoffman of Amarillo.

Altrusa Milestones' Program Subject By Mrs. Lorene Locke At Recent Meet

The piano music from Mrs. Mae Foreman Carr's talented fingers greeted Altrusa Club members as they assembled for their noon luncheon meeting on Monday in the Pampa Hotel.

Mrs. Jack P. Foster, president, opened the meeting by leading the unison repetition of the Altrusa blessing. Minutes were ready by Miss Ila Poole and treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Floy Heath.

Mrs. Eli E. Etheridge, chairman, gave a report of the nominating committee. Following balloting, it was announced that the new officers for the Altrusa Club during 1958-59 will be Mmes. Vernon L. Hobbs, president; Mark Heath, vice president; Miss Jean Chisholm, corresponding secretary; Mmes. Irl Smith, recording secretary; Margaret Payne, treasurer. To serve as directors are Mmes. W. A. York and B. M. Behrman.

Special guests at the luncheon were Miss Olivia Anne Swain, who is "Miss Pampa Youth and Community" beauty, Miss Evelyn Coffee and Miss Cora Mann. Miss Mann, Altrusa Girl-of-the Month for March, introduced Miss Evelyn Coffee, who has been chosen as the April Girl-of-the Month and presented with the Altrusa Medallion by Mrs. Irl Smith.

Approving recommendations of the executive committee, members voted that the club purchase four copies of the new classification guide; approved four new revisions of members' classification; and to pledge $300 to the Pampa Youth and Community Center.

Mrs. Lorene Locke, information chairman, reported that the Altrusa roadsigns are now erected in their place on the Miami, Amarillo, Borger, and Clarendon highways. She expressed appreciation to the local citizens and businesses, who had cooperated with their placing.

"Altrusa Milestones" was the topic of the program prepared and presented by Mrs. Locke, which illustrated the important milestones compiled nationally by Altrusa since its origin in 1915.

She then discussed the milestones accomplished by the local club beginning with its organization Oct. 11, 1952 with Mrs. F. M. Foster as its first president and had as its first project a candy sale from which $60 was realized.

Mrs. Flossie Anderson served as its next president, and it was in this year, 1953 that the Adult Education Course was sponsored by the club. Mrs. Anderwas was re-elected president to serve in 1954. The budget grew from a $88.65, plus $60, bank balance to a $700 proposed budget. The Nokomis Club, which is now known as Senior Center, was organized in this year and Altrusa joined the Council of Clubs. A "baby club," Borger, was sponsored by the local Club. And members voted approval of giving two scholarships to deserving senior girls.

In 1955, Mrs. Frank Lard assumed presidency of the club, which awarded two scholarships to Altrusa Girls and approved a scholarship for older women. Nokomis became Senior Center and a monthly radio program was inaugurated.

In 1956, when Mrs. Jack P. Foster was elected president, the club voted cooperation with other Service Clubs in local affairs; started the weekly radio programs; gave Founder's Fund Scholarships. Mrs. Foster in her second term as president for 1957-58, led the club in erecting Altrusa signs in strategic locations designating this city as an Altrusa Club city. The club, which now has a membership of 47 members, was awarded a Certificate of Achievement by Altrusa, International; and has started an honor recognition of the "outstanding woman executive of the year." Mrs. Mae Foreman Carr was so honored last year. A. Career Clinic program has been started with Miss Jean Chisholm, chairman. This year, the club won first place in the Beta Sigma Phi Table Setting Contest.

Mrs. Ray E. Wilson was winner of the door prize, a floral arrangement of Spring flowers designed by Mrs. Roy Kay.

MARCH AND APRIL—Miss Cora Mann, left, and Miss Evelyn Coffee, right, were chosen as Altrusa Girls-of-the Month. Miss Mann was honored as an outstanding senior girl for the month of March, while Miss Coffee is honored for the month of April. Altrusa Girls are chosen by a select board upon their merits as outstanding students and citizens. (News Photo)

Meat At Breakfast

Breakfast, in many ways, is the most important meal of the day. It supplies us with the basic for the morning activities — study, work or play. Meat in the breakfast menu provides high quality protein which gives us that get-up-and-go feeling, it helps to prevent mid-morning lag and helps restrict those high-calorie snacks that so often are part of the morning coffee break.

Mrs. Hofsess Is Cotillion Speaker

Twentieth Century Cotillion Club met with Mrs. Ralph McKinney, 1019 Christine, on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Lee Moore Jr., president, presided during the business meeting, as Mrs. Dale Thut, acting secretry, called roll, which was answered with "My Dream House." Mrs. N. J. Ellis gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Moore read a thanks note from the Altrusa Calub for Cotillion's participation in a Senior Center program and congratulations from Beta Sigma Phi for being a winner in the recent Table Setting Contest.

The Spring luncheon was discussed. Mrs. Charles Brauchle, chairman, reported that it is to be held on May 6 at one o'clock in the home of Mrs. W. L. Heskew, 1120 N. Somerville.

Mrs. George Hofsess gave the program on "Facts For Decorating." She suggested that "decorating is a personal thing. A person needs a decorator only to guide you as to what you want and need."

"In fashion, we are conformists, but in our homes we need please only ourselves and our families."

Mrs Hofsess displayed samples of original silk-screened prints by McKenzie, who started his designing in a barn in Panhandle, but now has a studio in Amarillo. McKenzie Designs depict Panhandle settings such as cattle and oil wells. She also showed the club a group of neutral colors set around a prize-winning lithograph done by Lynn Frank.

Members present were Mmes. Alvin Agan, Robert Boyd, Charles Brauchle, Thelma Bray, Bill Caffey, Jim Campbell, John Campbell, N. J. Ellis, J. B. Maguire Jr., Kenneth McGuire, Ralph McKinney, Bob Price, Dale Thut and Jim Brown.

Joseph A. Hill Chapel in Canyon was the scene of the recent married — April 4 at 4:00 marriage of Miss Sally Louise Cahill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Cahil, west of the city, to Jackie Dois Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Smith, Panhandle.

The double - ring ceremnoy was performed by Douglass J. Rohre, director of the Church of Christ Bible Chair, Canyon on April 4 at 4 p.m.

Amid a setting of white stock, daisies, greenery, and white candles.

Nuptial selections, preceding the ceremony, were played by Miss Sheila Lemons. Miss Norma Jean Balch sang "Because" and Sigmon Romberg's "Serenade."

Miss Mary Ann Becker was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Veta Bain Wiseman, Vega, and Miss Glanda Smith, Panhandle, sister of the bridegroom. The maid of honor wore an off - white suit with white accessories. The bridesmaids wore light blue suits with white accessories. They carried bouquets of white carnations centered in lace doilies and net.

Candlelighters were Miss Janice Smith, sister of the bridesgroom and Johnny Glen Cahill, brother of the bride. Miss Smith wore a light blue bull dress trimmed with white and a wristlet of light blue carnations.

O. D. Smith, father of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Aubery Lee Russell of Panhandle and Lawerence Roy Cahill Jr., brother of the bride.

Mrs. L. R. Cahill, mother of the bride, wore a beige polka-dotted suit with white accessories and Mrs. O. D. Smith, mother of the bridegroom, wore a light beige sheath dress with willow-green and tan accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white gardenias and white carnations.

Ushers were Vance Robinson of Hereford and Wayne Smith, Amarillo, both cousins of the bridegroom. Doyle Keith Robinson, Panhandle, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a street-length white lace dress trimmed with nine rows of white satin lace about the waist and a lace duster over the dress. She chose a white picture hat, white gloves, and white bow shoes. She carried white roses and carnations atop a white Bible with a white lace hankerchief.

After a short wedding trip, the couple are at home ten miles southeast of Panhandle. The bride was graduated from Pampa Senior High School and is now enrolled as a junior, education major at West Texas State College, Canyon. The bridegroom was graduated from Panhandle High School and is a senior biology major at West Texas State College, Canyon.

"Looking Forward To High School" Is Topic For Junior High PTA Meeting

Junior High School PTA met Thursday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium with Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer, president, presiding. Mrs. Shelhamer opened the meeting by congratulating the Junior High Choir and their director, Mr. Richard Sligar, on their recent sweepstakes win at Canyon. Mr. Sligar then introduced the choir who sang four religious numbers: "From God Shall Not Devide Thee" by Shultz, "On My Journey Home" by Sigmister, "Cantanta Domino," a Latin number, and "The Paper Reads by the Books", by Thompson.

Mrs. R. A. Mack, City Council president, acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Bob Andis.

During the business session, a committee was appointed to audit the treasurer's books. Committee members are: Mr. Jack Nichols, Mrs. Billy E. Tidwell, and Mrs. Lester Jones.

Mrs. Tidwell gave a report from the District Conference held in Shamrock on April 12. The theme of the conference was "Education is Life in the Making." A total of 227 persons registered for the conference. All schools in Pampa were represented and the principals of all schools in Pampa were present as well as Knox Kinard and B. R. Nuckols.

Pampa was selected as the site of the District Conference next year. The Junior High School publicity yearbook, prepared by Mrs. Tidwell was on display. This book received an Honorable Mention award at the conference.

Mrs. Joe L. Wells, leader for the evening, introduced L. J. Edmondson, principal of High School, and Mrs. Evelyn Milam, counselor of the High School, who gave the program, "Looking Forward to High School."

Mr. Edmondson said, "Much attention has been focused on education recently. There are many surveys and reports and studies taking place which will, no doubt, bring about some changes in our school in the future."

It was announced that the Gray County report on the status of education was finished last week and sent to the Govenor along with reports from all other counties in Texas.

Mr. Edmondson stressed that the 9th grade is the beginning of high school and the grades and records of the four years are permanent so "It is later than you think." He brought out that the individual should keep in mind the direction he is going and make long range plans.

Miss Milam said the students are facing big decisions and also stressed the need for long range planning. She said a student should ask themselves some questions such as:"Am I looking forward to college? If so, which college? Am I going to work immediately after graduation from high school? What kind of job will I want? The student's answer to these questions will have an effect on the subjects he will want to take. There are many sources available to help with these decisions." Miss Milam explained the two different types of diplomas: the pre-college diploma and the vocational diploma. "Both diplomas require the same number of credits for graduation; the difference is in what you plan to do after graduation," she said.

Miss Milam then explained the required subjects and credits and suggested that as many required subjects as possible be taken during the freshman and sophomore years. "There are catalogues from most of the colleges in the office for parents and students use to help answer their questions; as well as occupational files, employment outlook, and the school credits required fo reach." Miss Millam showed the Pampa High School handbook, "Harvester Halls", which will be given to students entering high school next fall.

Both Miss Milam and Mr. Edmondson stressed that the transcript of the students' record will "follow you always", "that grades are important, attendance important, and you must have good attendance for good grades." Parents were encouraged to visit at any time and discuss their child's needs because the parents must "Encourage the student to choose a challenging schedule as far as their ability and interest." A question and answer period followed.

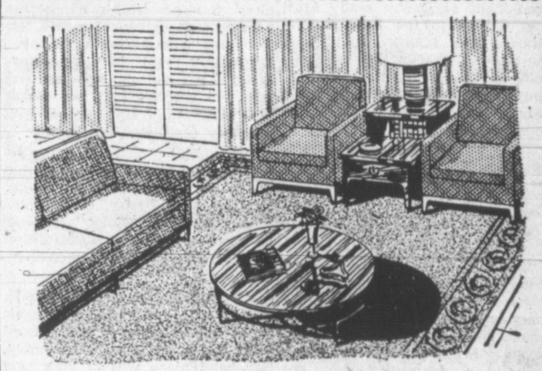

Mrs. Shelhamer closed the meeting with this thought: "Every day is Judgement Day. Use a lot of it."

Refreshments of cokes and cookies were served following the meeting.

"LIVE-ON" LUXURY

We are lucky to be living in an era where company manners and company rooms have become extinct. The thing that distinguishes today's happy home-maker from the maority of those of the past is that the line of demarcation that used to exist between the family's daily routine and the elaborate plannig and special efforts made to please guests has been wiped out. Today we plan our homes to make everyday a sturdy link in our chain of gracious living. We select furnishings and floor coverings that satisfy our desire to be surrounded by beauty and luxury, and fill our need for practicality as well.

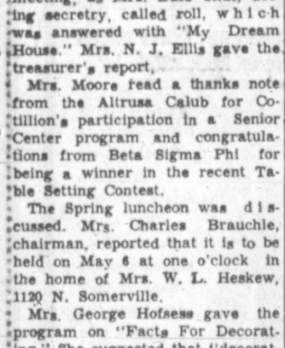

At first glance the room sketch above might seem to be impractical but such is not the case. The rugs—pale French blue (around which the decor has been planned)—are luxurious but sturdy—afford many years of live-on luxury. The deep, cushiony nylon pile is scrubbable and fade-proof. French blue—a shade deepr than the rug—is repeated in the sofa cover. Club chairs in warm duysty coral add a strong color note. Walls and draperies are a pale pinkish sand color.

Note how nicely the traditional tables fit into the contemporary setting.

When appointing your nome with furnisheings and accessories it is well to remember that "appropriatness" counts. To that end we strive always to bring you a wide variety of well-styled pieces that will blend with each other and with what you already have. So be sure and shop here first!

Post Nuptial Fete Honors Mrs. Lee

Mrs. John Lee, the former Miss Gaylene Riley, was honored with a post nuptial shower on Firday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Lee Jackson, aunt of the bride, 1436 N. Russell. Assistant hostesses were Mmes. Chester Shellhouse, great-aunt of the bride, Leon Richter, H. W. Bowerman, Jack Hasselvander and Miss Annette Holtman.

Mrs. Shellhouse presided at the guest registrar.

A pink carnation tied with gold ribbon was presented to the honoree. Her mother, Mrs. Henry Riley and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. John Woodward Lee, wore white carnation corsages tied with pink ribbon.

A lace cloth over pink covered the serving table, which was centered with a Spring floral arrangement flanked with pink tapers in brass candleholders. Punch was served from one end of the table by Mrs. Jackson. Mrs. Leon Richter presided at the cake service. Sheet cake decorated with two pink wedding bells, joined with a cluster of pink roses, was inscribed "Gaylene and John."

Approximately 75 guests attended or sent gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lee were united in marriage on April 12 at 3 p.m. in the parsonage of the First Methodist Church with Rem. W. W. Adcock performing the ceremony.

Bird lovers will find cleaning cages simpler if the bottom is lined. By using a waxed paper there is less chance of rusting from water dripped from the bath or drinking cup. To clean, remove botton liner and replace with fresh paper.

Twentith Anniversary, Reunion Dinner Observed By Lefors Art-Civic Club

(Special to The News)

LEFORS — 20th Anniversary and Reunion Banquet of past and present members of the Lefors Art and Civic Club was held in the Lefors High School Cafeteria recently.

Japanese theme was used throughout the banquet room. The tables were covered in white cloths with centerpiece of fresh-cut flowers arranged with Japanese umbrellas and intermingled along the tables with miniature Japanese figurines.

Place-cards were umbrella shaped, and the programs were decorated in Japanese character writing, while overhead hung Japanese lanterns.

"The Life of a School Teacher" was the program topic given by Mrs. R. D. Shepherd, guest speaker, Borger, a first-grade teacher at present and formerly a teacher in junior high. Mrs. Shepherd, who kept a diary throughout her teaching years, gave some of the high points of her dairy including some of the tragic, humorous and hilarious events in her teaching experiences throughout the years.

Also, on the program were Misses Gail Henson and Jerrir Barber, who gave a Japanese Dance in costume before a background of Japanese screen and motifs.

Mrs. H. W. Callan, president of the club, served as master of ceremonies. The welcome was given by Mrs. R. M. Watson, charter member and presently holding the office of vice president.

The response was by Mrs. Elvis Mathis of Hooker, Okla., also a charter and guest for the event.

Mmes. R. C. Ogden of Lefors and Cecil Houchin of Pampa, two senior members, who helped organize the club in 1938, were introduced.

Following the banquet the group went to the civic center for games of forty-two, bridge and visitation. Coffee was also served.

Out of town guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Marion Brown, Venus Collum, A. C. Houchin, Clyde Rodecape, all of Pampa; Ray Carruth of Borger, Bob Brown of Seminole, Okla., Max Brown of Stinnett, L. M. McGlathin of Ardmore, Gene Harlon of Skellytown, Elvis Mathis of Hooker, Okla., and Floyd Mathis of Tyrone, Okla.

Others present were Messrs. and Mmes. Howard Archer, Earl Atkinson, R. H. Barron, Ray Boyd, H. W. Callan, Ray Chastain, Bud Cumberledge, C. H. Gustin, Carl Hall, Scott Hall, Jerry Jacobs, James Jinks, Raymond Jordon, John Lantz, Ed Lehnick, Bill McBee, R. C. Ogden, L. R. Spence, Bill Watson, and Miss Norma Lantz.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Can a girl love two men at once? I met a Marine on a bus and we talked for 13 hours straight. In all that time I only slept one half hour (on his shoulder) and I dreamed we were married. I let him kiss me and there was no shame to it because there wasn't anything cheap about it. I got off the bus and my husband was there to meet me, and, Abby, I really love my husband with all my heart, but I can't get this Marine out of my mind. I took his address, but want to know if I should write to him?

IN LOVE WITH TWO MEN

Dear In: I would say that you are In Love with your husband, but feel a strong physical attraction for the Marine. The bus ride shook up your sense of values a little. Throw the Marine's address away. He'll get over it.

DEAR ABBY: As a manufacturer of model railroad trains, may I offer a valuable suggestion to the person who used coffee grounds for his miniature "hillside"? Discontinue this practice at once as it can foul up your moving parts.

J. J.

Dear J. J.: Thank you. This sounds like sound advice.

DEAR ABBY: You've got to help me. I am in seventh grade and have the worst reputation in school. I can lick any guy in school and everybody knows it. If I don't fight when someone chooses me, I am chicken, and if I do, then I am a bully. Anytime something goes wrong they send for me. No decent girl will talk to me and some boys have told me their folks don't want me around their house. What am I supposed to do?

DISGUSTED

Dear Disgusted: Go to the coach (or your favorite teacher) and tell him you want to learn to get along with other boys without using bully tactics. You will gain more by using your brain than your brawn.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 years old and am very much in love with a man who is 28. He farms and to tell you the truth the only thing my folks have against him is that he can't read or write as he was born in the hills of Arkansas. He doesn't care to learn, either, as he makes a good living farming. He loves me and wants to marry me. Do you think it is so important what he can't do?

IN LOVE

Dear Love: If his inability to read or write doesn't bother him, and it doesn't bother you, it shouldn't bother your folks.

CONFIDENTIAL To Joan: Better to leave the wolf at your door than to invite him in.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

National Piano Playing Auditions Begin Tomorrow In First Methodist Church

National Piano Playing Auditions will get underway tomorrow in the First Methodist Church, when Mrs. Madelon Skonbert arrives from Chicago to begin the hearings, which will continue through April 29.

Mrs. Skonberg is a member of the faculty of the Cosmopolitan School of Music in Chicago and, also, reviews concerts for the "Musical Leader." She has studied privately with Jan Chiapusso, Dutch pianist, and Gavin Williamson of the duo-harpsichord team of Manual and Williamson. She also attended Bush Conservatory, State Normal University in Illinois, the Chicago Musical College and North Park College.

Piano playing auditions are sponsored annually by the National Guild of Piano Teachers in 550 centers throughout the United States and Cuba. Last year, fifty-one thousand piano students participated. For the past twelve years, Pampa has been one of these centers and many local students have taken advantage of the opportunity to receive the help and constructive criticism offered by these outside judges. The movement was begun in 1929 in Abilene by Irl Allison, its founder and president.

This year the auditions are the largest ever held in Pampa. A total of 174 students from Pampa and surrounding area are enrolled and will be heard on the succeeding eight days. Mrs. H. A. Yoder is guild chairman for this area and Mrs. Irvin Cole assists as monitor.

The following piano teachers have students enrolled in the auditions, Sister Mary Catherine, Mmes. Carra Lou Perkins, Lois Fagan, William J. Haley, W. M. Cooper, Lillian Land, H. A. Yoder, all of Pampa; also, Mmes. F. E. Rodgers and Willie Boyett of McLean; Mrs. J. L. Naylor of Panhandle and Robert Hoffman of Amarillo.

Altrusa Milestones' Program Subject By Mrs. Lorene Locke At Recent Meet

The piano music from Mrs. Mae Foreman Carr's talented fingers greeted Altrusa Club members as they assembled for their noon luncheon meeting on Monday in the Pampa Hotel.

Mrs. Jack P. Foster, president, opened the meeting by leading the unison repetition of the Altrusa blessing. Minutes were ready by Miss Ila Poole and treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Floy Heath.

Mrs. Eli E. Etheridge, chairman, gave a report of the nominating committee. Following balloting, it was announced that the new officers for the Altrusa Club during 1958-59 will be Mmes. Vernon L. Hobbs, president; Mark Heath, vice president; Miss Jean Chisholm, corresponding secretary; Mmes. Irl Smith, recording secretary; Margaret Payne, treasurer. To serve as directors are Mmes. W. A. York and B. M. Behrman.

Special guests at the luncheon were Miss Olivia Anne Swain, who is "Miss Pampa Youth and Community" beauty, Miss Evelyn Coffee and Miss Cora Mann. Miss Mann, Altrusa Girl-of-the Month for March, introduced Miss Evelyn Coffee, who has been chosen as the April Girl-of-the Month and presented with the Altrusa Medallion by Mrs. Irl Smith.

Approving recommendations of the executive committee, members voted that the club purchase four copies of the new classification guide; approved four new revisions of members' classification; and to pledge $300 to the Pampa Youth and Community Center.

Mrs. Lorene Locke, information chairman, reported that the Altrusa roadsigns are now erected in their place on the Miami, Amarillo, Borger, and Clarendon highways. She expressed appreciation to the local citizens and businesses, who had cooperated with their placing.

"Altrusa Milestones" was the topic of the program prepared and presented by Mrs. Locke, which illustrated the important milestones compiled nationally by Altrusa since its origin in 1915.

She then discussed the milestones accomplished by the local club beginning with its organization Oct. 11, 1952 with Mrs. F. M. Foster as its first president and had as its first project a candy sale from which $60 was realized.

Mrs. Flossie Anderson served as its next president, and it was in this year, 1953 that the Adult Education Course was sponsored by the club. Mrs. Anderwas was re-elected president to serve in 1954. The budget grew from a $88.65, plus $60, bank balance to a $700 proposed budget. The Nokomis Club, which is now known as Senior Center, was organized in this year and Altrusa joined the Council of Clubs. A "baby club," Borger, was sponsored by the local Club. And members voted approval of giving two scholarships to deserving senior girls.

In 1955, Mrs. Frank Lard assumed presidency of the club, which awarded two scholarships to Altrusa Girls and approved a scholarship for older women. Nokomis became Senior Center and a monthly radio program was inaugurated.

In 1956, when Mrs. Jack P. Foster was elected president, the club voted cooperation with other Service Clubs in local affairs; started the weekly radio programs; gave Founder's Fund Scholarships. Mrs. Foster in her second term as president for 1957-58, led the club in erecting Altrusa signs in strategic locations designating this city as an Altrusa Club city. The club, which now has a membership of 47 members, was awarded a Certificate of Achievement by Altrusa, International; and has started an honor recognition of the "outstanding woman executive of the year." Mrs. Mae Foreman Carr was so honored last year. A. Career Clinic program has been started with Miss Jean Chisholm, chairman. This year, the club won first place in the Beta Sigma Phi Table Setting Contest.

Mrs. Ray E. Wilson was winner of the door prize, a floral arrangement of Spring flowers designed by Mrs. Roy Kay.

MARCH AND APRIL—Miss Cora Mann, left, and Miss Evelyn Coffee, right, were chosen as Altrusa Girls-of-the Month. Miss Mann was honored as an outstanding senior girl for the month of March, while Miss Coffee is honored for the month of April. Altrusa Girls are chosen by a select board upon their merits as outstanding students and citizens. (News Photo)

Meat At Breakfast

Breakfast, in many ways is the most important meal of the day. It supplies us with the body for the morning activities — study, work or play. Meat in the breakfast menu provides high quality protein which gives us that get-up-and-go feeling, it helps to prevent mid-morning lag and helps restrict those high-calorie snacks that so often are part of the morning coffee break.

The double - ring ceremnoy was performed by Douglass J. Rohre, director of the Church of Christ Bible Chair, Canyon on April 4 at 4 p.m.

Amid a setting of white stock, daisies, greenery, and white candles.

Nuptial selections, preceding the ceremony, were played by Miss Sheila Lemons. Miss Norma Jean Balch sang "Because" and Sigmon Romberg's "Serenade."

Miss Mary Ann Becker was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Veta Bain Wiseman, Vega, and Miss Glanda Smith, Panhandle, sister of the bridegroom. The maid of honor wore an off - white suit with white accessories. The bridesmaids wore light blue suits with white accessories. They carried bouquets of white carnations centered in lace doilies and net.

Candlelighters were Miss Janice Smith, sister of the bridesgroom and Johnny Glen Cahill, brother of the bride. Miss Smith wore a light blue bull dress trimmed with white and a wristlet of light blue carnations.

O. D. Smith, father of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Aubery Lee Russell of Panhandle and Lawerence Roy Cahill Jr., brother of the bride.

Mrs. L. R. Cahill, mother of the bride, wore a beige polka-dotted suit with white accessories and Mrs. O. D. Smith, mother of the bridegroom, wore a light beige sheath dress with willow-green and tan accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white gardenias and white carnations.

Ushers were Vance Robinson of Hereford and Wayne Smith, Amarillo, both cousins of the bridegroom. Doyle Keith Robinson, Panhandle, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a street-length white lace dress trimmed with nine rows of white satin lace about the waist and a lace duster over the dress. She chose a white picture hat, white gloves, and white bow shoes. She carried white roses and carnations atop a white Bible with a white lace hankerchief.

After a short wedding trip, the couple are at home ten miles southeast of Panhandle. The bride was graduated from Pampa Senior High School and is now enrolled as a junior, education major at West Texas State College, Canyon. The bridegroom was graduated from Panhandle High School and is a senior biology major at West Texas State College, Canyon.

"Looking Forward To High School" Is Topic For Junior High PTA Meeting

Junior High School PTA met Thursday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium with Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer, president, presiding. Mrs. Shelhamer opened the meeting by congratulating the Junior High Choir and their director, Mr. Richard Sligar, on their recent sweepstakes win at Canyon. Mr. Sligar then introduced the choir who sang four religious numbers: "From God Shall Not Devide Thee" by Shultz, "On My Journey Home" by Sigmister, "Cantanta Domino," a Latin number, and "The Paper Reads by the Books", by Thompson.

Mrs. R. A. Mack, City Council president, acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Bob Andis.

During the business session, a committee was appointed to audit the treasurer's books. Committee members are: Mr. Jack Nichols, Mrs. Billy E. Tidwell, and Mrs. Lester Jones.

Mrs. Tidwell gave a report from the District Conference held in Shamrock on April 12. The theme of the conference was "Education is Life in the Making." A total of 227 persons registered for the conference. All schools in Pampa were represented and the principals of all schools in Pampa were present as well as Knox Kinard and B. R. Nuckols.

Pampa was selected as the site of the District Conference next year. The Junior High School publicity yearbook, prepared by Mrs. Tidwell was on display. This book received an Honorable Mention award at the conference.

Mrs. Joe L. Wells, leader for the evening, introduced L. J. Edmondson, principal of High School, and Mrs. Evelyn Milam, counselor of the High School, who gave the program, "Looking Forward to High School."

Mr. Edmondson said, "Much attention has been focused on education recently. There are many surveys and reports and studies taking place which will, no doubt, bring about some changes in our school in the future."

It was announced that the Gray County report on the status of education was finished last week and sent to the Govenor along with reports from all other counties in Texas.

Mr. Edmondson stressed that the 9th grade is the beginning of high school and the grades and records of the four years are permanent so "It is later than you think." He brought out that the individual should keep in mind the direction he is going and make long range plans.

Miss Milam said the students are facing big decisions and also stressed the need for long range planning. She said a student should ask themselves some questions such as:"Am I looking forward to college? If so, which college? Am I going to work immediately after graduation from high school? What kind of job will I want? The student's answer to these questions will have an effect on the subjects he will want to take. There are many sources available to help with these decisions." Miss Milam explained the two different types of diplomas: the pre-college diploma and the vocational diploma. "Both diplomas require the same number of credits for graduation; the difference is in what you plan to do after graduation," she said.

Miss Milam then explained the required subjects and credits and suggested that as many required subjects as possible be taken during the freshman and sophomore years. "There are catalogues from most of the colleges in the office for parents and students use to help answer their questions; as well as occupational files, employment outlook, and the school credits required fo reach." Miss Millam showed the Pampa High School handbook, "Harvester Halls", which will be given to students entering high school next fall.

Both Miss Milam and Mr. Edmondson stressed that the transcript of the students' record will "follow you always", "that grades are important, attendance important, and you must have good attendance for good grades." Parents were encouraged to visit at any time and discuss their child's needs because the parents must "Encourage the student to choose a challenging schedule as far as their ability and interest." A question and answer period followed.

Mrs. Shelhamer closed the meeting with this thought: "Every day is Judgement Day. Use a lot of it."

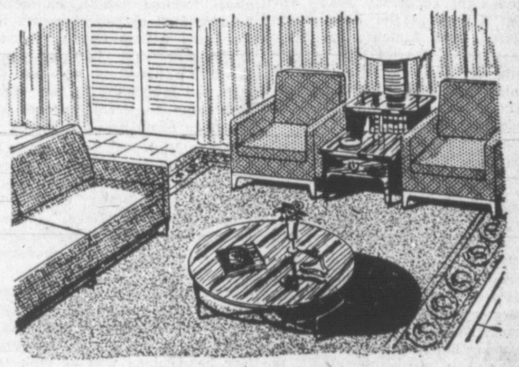

Refreshments of cokes and cookies were served following the meeting.

"LIVE-ON" LUXURY

We are lucky to be living in an era where company manners and company rooms have become extinct. The thing that distinguishes today's happy home-maker from the maority of those of the past is that the line of demarcation that used to exist between the family's daily routine and the elaborate plannig and special efforts made to please guests has been wiped out. Today we plan our homes to make everyday a sturdy link in our chain of gracious living. We select furnishings and floor coverings that satisfy our desire to be surrounded by beauty and luxury, and fill our need for practicality as well.

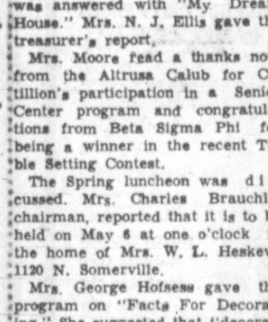

At first glance the room sketch above might seem to be impractical but such is not the case. The rugs—pale French blue (around which the decor has been planned)—are luxurious but sturdy—afford many years of live-on luxury. The deep, cushiony nylon pile is scrubbable and fade-proof. French blue—a shade deepr than the rug—is repeated in the sofa cover, Club chairs in warm duysty coral add a strong color note. Walls and draperies are a pale pinkish sand color.

Note how nicely the traditional tables fit into the contemporary setting.

When appointing your nome with furnisheings and accessories it is well to remember that "appropriatness" counts. To that end we strive always to bring you a wide variety of well-styled pieces that will blend with each other and with what you already have. So be sure and shop here first!

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Miss Jaco, Charles Darrell Marr In April Service

(Special to The News)

WHEELER — In an impressive candlelight ceremony read April 4 at 8 p.m. in the First Baptist Church, Miss Janice Jaco became the bride of Charles Darrell Marr, both of Amarillo. Rev. M. B. Smith, pastor of Highland Baptist Church, Pampa, officiated at the double-ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mari Jaco, Wheeler and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Marr, Borger.

Vows were exchanged before an altar flanked with candelabra holding pink cathedral tapers, entertwined with greenery, and two large styrofoam hearts wrapped in white net ruffling, adorned with fern and studded with two dozen pink camelias. Trellis covered with greenery completed the setting.

The nuptial prelude of organ selections was played by Mrs. Horold Loyd Lee. Miss Marilyn Smith, Pampa, and Frank O. Wofford sang, "Melody of Love," followed by a solo "Because" by Mr. Wofford. Mrs. Lee was the accompanist.

Mrs. Maxey Herd, San Antonio, served as matron of honor wearing a pink crystaline dress, fashioned after the bride's ensemble. Her head piece was of pink net adorned with flowers. She carried a colonial bouquet of blush pink camelias.

Bill Hood was best man. Joe Jaco, brother of the bride, and Lelland Dorsett served as ushers and candlelighters.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a white crystaline ballernia length gown fashioned with a fitted bodice and V-neck line. Her mitts were of white bride's lace. The fingertip Veil of French Illusion was attached to a half-crown. She carried a colonial bouquet of white camelias atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Jaco chose for her daughter's wedding a navy street dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink camelias. The mother of the bridegroom wore a two-piece aqua dress. Her corsage was of pink camelias.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor. Approximately two hundred guests were registered by Mrs. Dean Tipps.

Miss Smith furnished background music at the piano during the receiving hours.

The bride's table was covered with white net over pink taffeta accented with pink candles and pink camelias, and centered with the four-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Appointments were of crystal and silver. Miss Lonnell Lee presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Jess Moore served the wedding cake.

The couple will be at home at 1311-B West Sixteenth, Amarillo, following a brief wedding trip. For traveling Mrs. Marr chose a blue chemise dress with black patent accessories and a white camelia corsage.

RUTH MILLETT

"My husband likes me to be a blonde, or I wouldn't go through this ordeallvery three weeks," said the youngish matron, sitting in the beauty shop with all the ugly goop covering her head — the goop that keeps her naturally dark, but graying, tresses a gleaming gold.

So in an attempt to create the illusion that she is still the glamor girl her husband married, this 33-year-old mother of three diets and dyes, while her husband, five years older, eats what he likes and doesn't worry over his receding hairline.

It's not an unusual situation. More and more American men seem to feel that it is the duty of the wife to stay young-looking, no matter what the years do to the husband.

So long as the wife maintains the illusion of youth, the husband apparently doesn't feel his own age. He can't let her grow plump or gray, because if she does it makes Him feel old.

Well, it's an easy way for a man to kid himself that he has drunk from the fountain of youth. All the effort and self-denial fall on the wife.

It's she who spends long sessions in a beauty salon, goes hungry to stay slim, puts up with the tiresome chore of keeping her hair dyed the color her husban dlikes it, instead of letting it gradually turn gray.

It's she who hopefully pats creams and lotion on her face and tries to keep her chin line from sagging and crow's feet from developing around her eyes.

So you can't blame her if she occasionally wishes that the illusion of youth weren't so important to her husband. If it weren't, you can bet that a lot of women would grow comfortably and plumply middle-aged, instead of trying to look like girls long after they have graduated from that class.

Mrs. Hilbun To Head Exemplars

Miss Gerry Carruth was hostess to the Monday evening meeting of Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority in her home, 2008 Mary Ellen.

Plans were discussed for the Beans 'n Steak dinner to be held next month for winners in the attendance contest.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows, Mmes. Byron Hilbun, president; Jack White, vice president; Miss Virginia Baughn, secretary; Mrs. C. G. Godwin Jr., treasurer; Mmes. Roy McKee and Fred Myers, council representatives.

Pie and coffee were served during the social hour, which was spent in playing cards.

The next meeting for the chapter will be the Founder's Day Banquet to be held on April 29 in Colonial Inn.

Mrs. Nash Speaks On Lawn Planting

Merten Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. Archie Maness, 431 N. Sumner on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Bob Brandon, vice president, conducted a brief business meeting.

The program, "Planting a Lawn", was given by Mrs. A. M. Nash, who explained that the seeding and sprigging methods were less expensive. "In seeding, you should go east and west with half of the seed and from north to south with the other half. This can be covered with a gunny sack, where there may be blowing."

"The sprigging method is one that is a good way to start a lawn," she said. "The grass runners set very fast."

Mrs. Nash went on to say that the sodding method covers the area with blocks of grass and is solid. "It is too expensive for most people and is mainly used by the highway department on slopes that are inclined to wash badly with rains."

Mrs. Nash closed by saying that the most important thing is to plow and level the ground before starting a lawn.

Council report was given by Mrs. Vard Smith, in which she informed the members that the state meeting would be held on Aug. 13 in Austin.

During the business meeting, the members voted to change the meeting time from Tuesday afternoons to, Tuesday morning at 9:45 a.m.

Members present were Mmes. Vard Smith, Jack Howard, Archie Maness, Bob Brandon, A. M. Nash, Richard Barton and four children.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Nash, 721 N. West, on May 6 at 9:45 a.m.

The refreshment plate carried out the April Showers theme.

Mrs. R. P. Hallahan, a new member, won the guest prize.

Dickinson-Van Zandt Bethrothal Announced

(Special to The News)

WHEELER — Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Dickinson of McLean announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty Ruth, to Curtis Joe Van Zandt son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Van Zandt of Wheeler. The couple is planning an early August wedding in the McLean Methodist Church.

Fire fascinates youngsters and it is always wise to take as many precautions as possible for their safety. You can make a home preparataion in which to soak their play clothes. After drying, the clothing may be ironed safely. A formula for flame proofing material is a mixture of 7 ounces borax, 3 ounces boric acid and 2 quarts water.

Pampan And Son Have A Fine Collection Of Fossils, Stones

By WALLACE TRUESDELL
Pampa News Staff Writer

Fossils, old bottles and minerals are in the collection of an 11-year-old Pampa school boy.

On school days, Charles Jaynes comes home from the Horace Mann Fifth grade and pauses on the porch of 527 N. Sumner to say ehllo to his father's talking Minah bird. Then he may go back past the cabinet that houses his rock and mineral collection to his lapidary (stone Polishing) equipment in the back of the house.

The tumbler used to polish stones is likely to be turning as it may take over a month to turn out finished stones by the tumbler method. Charles and his father came back from their last field trip in New Mexico with a hundred pounds of agates. The Tumbler has a capacity of ten pounds.

On good field trips, the Jayneses may unearth fossils, minerals and wiskey bottles from a bygone age. Once they have the fossils home they clean them with a brush and ice pick and shellac them so that they will stay intact.

CHARLES' HOBBY

Young Palenotologist Charles Jaynes displays the lower jawbone of old Teleosceros Hicksi ,the American Rhinoceros. As Paleontologist Charles is a student of fossils. He also collects old bottles, rocks, minerals and Indian relics. Charles is in the fifth grade at Horace Mann. He won a prize in the Pampa Science Fair with a sample of his collection. (News Photo)

The agates are another operation. The first step is to get a cross section with a saw. This is fairly easy. They can then be put into the tumbler or they can be shaped by hand on the lapidary wheels.

In that case, Charles uses an aluminum pencil and a template to mark the shape. Then comes some more shaping with the saw. After that the stones go up against two grinding wheels, one fine and one coarse. The fine wheel smooths out the scratches left by the coarse grinding wheel. Then the agates are sanded and polished on another wheel and are ready to be made into jewelry.

Charles explains that in the sawing and shaping it is very important to get a true oval for if a flat space is left in the center it will be impossible to get all the scratches out.

The lapidary process is swifter than the tumbler method but requires more manpower. Half a day can go into the perfection of one agate.

His father, Carl, says that the tumbler turns out a baroque type stone which may be any shape and can be mounted in jewelry just as they come from the tumbler. But for a given size stone the lapidary process is a must.

Carl Jaynes tells how this all got started. "I used to take the boy fishing and when he saw a bone I'd have to stop fishing and get it." The field trips have been going on for about four years now.

Charles' biggest fossil is the lower jaw of the Teleoceros Hicksi that roamed all over the Southwest. It is an early form of Rhinoceros. He also has a Mastodon tooth and an Ammonite shell. The Ammonite is an early form of sea life dating back 350 million years before other forms of animal life appeared on earth.

The Jaynes take great pride in the bottle collection that they have picked up in the last few months. Mostly they find them on the sites of old forts and saloons.

Occupying the place of honor in their collection is an old whiskey bottle that has turned purple. The older Jaynes declares that modern glass will not turn since it lacks the impurities of glass made around the turn of the century. Other bottles in the collection appear quite frosty although they were originally clear glass. The effect is caused by an earth rust producing white patina.

One bottle is so round that it has to be laid on its side. Once it was shipped from Dublin containing aereated water. "Probably Ginger Ale," says Carl Jaynes.

Charles is fascinated by the structure of the different minerals that have come his way. Celanite has a flower shape, culminating on occasion in a "perfect rose bud." Dolomite can take a pyramid structure. "People are just amazed with what nature will do with these shapes," Charles says.

To aid him in the study of minerals, Charles has an ultraviolet light that brings out the hidden fluorescence in almost any mineral. He finds that some minerals continue to glow when the light is taken away and some will shine until bit by sunlight.

Carl and his father are always on the lookout for Indian relics. By now they have picked up many varieties of arrowheads. Some of the finest work done in that line, they say, was by the Folsom man. Folsom points are very thin flint and require very fine work. The Folsom trademark seems to be a groove on one or both sides. This itself is an achievement for not all flint will take the groove.

Do you mourn because Pampa has no Museum of Natural History? You're wrong. And the head paleontologist is only 11-years-old.

Lassie Has Just Gotta Quit Shedding . . . Owners

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP) —Poor Lassie. She's just gotta quit shedding.

Unlike most dogs who only shed their coats, the amiable collie sheds owners. Her current TV family goes by the boards next month.

Young Jon Provost, who plays Tim, and George Chandler (Uncle Petrie) will stick around, but Ruth and Paul Martin (played by Cloris Leachman and Jon Shepodd) are deserting the Sunday night program for keeps.

Lassie found herself in much the same straights last spring when Jan Clayton and Tommy Rettig exited the show.

A Closet Drinker?

Does Lassie keep late hours? Is she a closet drinker? What's wrong with this dog who can't keep a family, does she suffer

None of these things, says Miss Leachman, who is responsible for this most recent crisis in the Lassie series family. Cloris wanted out to do more serious and "rewarding" roles. Shepodd, because he plays her husband, was doomed by her decision.

Will Cloris miss Lassie?

"I have a doberman pinschser," the willowy blonde answered without a trace of remorse.

"My role on the show was very limiting. There just wasn't much for me to do. Of course, I knew when I took the job, but I had hoped I'd be able to contribute more. John (Shepodd) felt the same way.

"Now the producers are looking for new parents who will play even smaller roles in the series than we did. But the producers have nothing to worry about as long as they have the boy and the dog."

Be that as it may, the public, and perhaps a few child welfare agencies, most certainly will be provoked. Both Timmy and Lassie are being shunted about like a pair of forsaken orphans. Audience credulity may be stretched to the breaking point if a third family invades the old Miller farm.

Seeks Vamp Role

Miss Leachman, who once played in "South Pacific" on Broadway for four weeks, wants to play vamp roles—a long whoop and holler from her TV farm wife characterization.

"I plan to do some singing, too," she avers, "and perhaps some movie work. I want to do more things that demand real acting talent.

"I'd never think of doing another series. It takes too much time away from my own family."

Cloris might be wise to seek villainess roles. Lassie fans are a loyal bunch. They doubtless will find it difficult to forgive her for walking out on Timmy and the nation's favorite canine.

Bit Parts: Spencer Tracy, long past the romantic leading man stage of his career, racked up a record for kissing cuties in his new picture, "The Last Hurrah," by bussing 75 darlings this week. The catch? They were babies for his campaign scenes as an eager politician... Zsa Zsa Gabor keeps gossips busy by dating Count "Baby" Pignatari, the Latin playboy who picketed Linda Christian with signs reading: "Linda Go Home."... Jerry Lewis leaves movietown this week for a two-week stand at the London Palladium... Elizabeth Taylor found her first day back at picture making too great a strain. MGM gave her the next two days to recover. The brunette beauty will resume her role in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" next week.

How Bad Are Things?

There's a familiar old story going the rounds which seems to be applicable to the current political and economic scene.

It seems that once upon a time there was an ambitious young writer who longed to see his efforts in print. However, his first writings were rejected so promptly that he began to be suspicious. He fancied that the editor to whom he sent his manuscripts wasn't reading everything he wrote. Therefore, he contrived a little scheme. With a drop of mucilage he fastened pages four and five of his next manuscript together and sent it off. In two days the package was returned with the formal rejection slip.

When the budding scribbler checked pages four and five his suspicions were confirmed. The two pages were still glued together. Obviously, the editor had not read beyond page four.

He quickly drafted a sarcastic note to the editor, accusing him of bad faith, poor editorial judgment and deceit. The editor's reply is a classic.

"You are correct. I did not read beyond page four. I don't have to eat all of a rotten egg before I know it is bad."

All of which brings us to a major question we might ask ourselves.

How bad do conditions have to get, before we know they are bad?

Within the memory of most adults certain conditions which pertained in this country have worsened perceptibly.

1. Your income was your own business. No one but you (unless you were a government employee) knew what you made, what you had, where you kept it, or what you did with it. It wasn't anyone's business but your own. Every man in the country was thus not only able, but in the main willing, to stand firmly on his own feet, look his neighbor straight in the eye, throw back his shoulders and forge ahead on his own strength and his own merit. Conditions have changed for the worse. Nowadays a government bureau knows everything about your income, where you get it, where you keep it, what you plan to do with it, and how much of it you can be compelled to hand over. You have no privacy in this area, and little self-respect. Today many men cringe, instead of walking proudly erect. They whine and whimper, filled with comparisons instead of ambition. They try to stay on the "good side" of the government, instead of standing four-square for principles.

2. You could make a financial success if you were industrious and saved your money. Many a fortune was started from very small beginnings. Hard work, honesty, perseverance and thrift were cardinal virtues. Today, a man's willingness to work hard to provide goods or services others might want is overshadowed by the government. You can't keep your profits. And hard work is often necessary in meaningless directions just to stay in business. For example there are countless forms, regulations, licenses, restrictions, taxes, reports and other red tape which take up a major portion of your time. Instead of concentrating on making a better product or providing a better service, you must concentrate first on keeping the government from closing you down under one pretext or another. Success is now not only a matter of excellence, but has become also a matter of political expedience. The government has become an interested third party in everything you do. Success for the newcomer, the beginner becomes increasingly difficult, year by year.

3. The draft, conscription, or forced labor in the military was believed to be un-American and tyrannical. We welcomed young Germans to this country because they fled from their father land in order to escape the Kaiser's forced military conscription. We thought they were heroes. Today, if a young American fled these shores for the same purpose, we would consider him disloyal, a traitor, or worse, if that is possible.

These are only three places in which things have worsened. Actually, the list is much longer. But as we said, how bad do things have to get before the American people will wake up and realize that they don't have to swallow the whole rotten socialist egg before they know it is rotten?

Responsibility Guards Itself By 3 Sanctions

In the last issue I was quoting from Frederic Bastiat's chapter on "Responsibility." The article ended by saying there were three sanctions:

Natural sanction.

Religious sanction.

Legal sanction.

Then Bastiat said that of the three, the natural sanction was the one that appealed to him as most fundamental. Then he discusses the religious sanction in this manner:

"Is an act vicious because a revelation from above has declared it to be so? Or has revelation declared it vicious because it produces consequences which are bad? These questions will probably always form a subject of controversy between the philosophical and the religious mind.

"I believe that Christianity can range itself on the side of those who answer the last of these two questions in the affirmative. Christianity itself tells us that it has not come to oppose the natural law, but to confirm it. We can scarcely admit that God, who is the supreme principle of order, should have made an arbitrary classification of human actions, that He should have denounced punishment on some, and promised reward to others, and this without any regard to the effects of these actions, that is to say, to their discordance, or concordance, in the universal harmony.

"When He said, 'Thou shalt not murder — thou shalt not steal,' no doubt He had in view to prohibit certain acts because they were hurtful to man and to society, which are His work.

"Regard to consequences is so powerful a consideration with man that if he belonged to a religion that forbade acts which universal experience proved to be useful, or that sanctioned the observance of habits palpably hurtful, I believe that such a religion could not be maintained, but that it would at length give way before the progress of knowledge. Men could not long suppose that the deliberate design of God was to cause evil and to interdict good.

"The question which I broach here has perhaps no very important bearing on Christianity, since it ordains only what is good in itself, and forbids only what is bad.

Natural Or Religious Sanction

"But the question I am now examining is this, whether in principle the religious sanction goes to confirm the natural sanction, or whether the natural sanction goes for nothing in presence of the religious sanction, and should give way to the latter when they come into collision.

"Now, if I am not mistaken, the tendency of ministers of religion is to pay little attention to the natural sanction. For this they have an unanswerable reason: 'God has ordained this; God has forbidden that.' There is no longer any room left for reasoning, for God is infallible and omnipotent. Although the act should lead to the destruction of the world, we must march on like blind men, just as we would do if God addressed us personally, and showed us heaven and hell.

"It may happen, even in the true religion, that actions in themselves innocent are forbidden by Divine authority. To exact interest for money, for example, has been pronounced sinful. Had mankind given obedience to that prohibition, the race would long since have disappeared from the face of the earth. For without interest the accumulation of capital is impossible; without capital there can be no co-operation of anterior and present labour; without this co-operation there can be no society; and without society man cannot exist.

Interest Is Useful

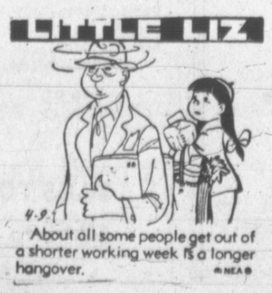

"On the other hand, on examining the subject of interest more nearly, we are convinced that not only is it useful in its general effects, but that there is in it nothing contrary to charity and truth—certainly not more than there is in the stipend of a minister of religion, and less than in certain perquisites belonging to his office

"Thus, all the power of the Church has not been able for an instant to supersede, in this respect, the nature of things. The most which has been accomplished is to cause to be disguised one of the forms, and that the least usual form, of exacting interest, in a number of very trifling transactions.

"In the same way, as regards precepts; when the Gospel says, 'Unto him who smiteth thee on the one cheek, offer also the other,' it gives a precept which, if taken literally, would destroy the right of legitimate defence in the individual, and consequently in society. Now, without this right, the existence of the human race is impossible."

"And what has happened? For eighteen hundred years this saying has been repeated as a mere conventionalism."

Robert Allen Reports

Rusia Is Testing More Nuclear Missile Than US

WASHINGTON — Russia is testing long-range ballistic missiles, capable of carrying catastrophic nuclear warheads, at a rate twenty times greater than the U.S.

This sinister score to date is:

U.S.

Approximately 40 intermediate range ballistic missiles have been tested. These trials include the Air Force's THOR and the Army's JUPITER, one version of which, JUPITER-C, orbited the first U.S. satellite in outer space — EXPLORER I.

No complete intercontinental ballistic missile has yet been fired. There have been seven tests of various stages of the Air Force's ATLAS; no "shots" of any kind of the TITIAN. Of the seven ATLAS tests, four were successful, three failures. Furthest distance covered was 400 miles.

SOVIET

More than 900 IRBMs tested at ranges of 600 to 1,500 miles.

8 complete ICBMs fired at distances of 4,000 to 6,000 miles.

Source of these grim statistics is Defense Secretary Neil McElroy. He disclosed them, in response to sharp questioning, at a private meeting of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee.

"Isn't it a fact," demanded Senator Stuart Symington (D., Mo.), "that development of a missile is directly related to the number of times it is tested; that a missile can be perfected only by extensive test firings?"

"That is correct," replied McElroy. "The number of firings has a great deal to do with the progress of a missile."

NEW FIRING RANGE — The Pentagon chief also told the senators that upwards of 400 Army, Navy and Air Force missiles of all types have been tested at the Cape Canaveral, Fla., proving center.

"We plan to appreciably step up our rate of testing when the Pacific coast missile range is completed," added McElroy.

Congress voted $35,000,000 for this new testing center, which becomes operational next year. It will be used particularly for firing the intercontinental ballistic ATLAS and TITAN. The Navy's intermediate range POLARIS is also slated for tests there.

Under questioning Secretary McElroy disclosed to the powerful Senate Committee that:

Eventually a choice will be made between the rival IRBMs JUPITER and THOR.

There has been no increase in ATLAS production, notwithstanding his January statement that output of this ICBM would be boosted one-third.

"What's the reason for this delay?" asked Senator Symington. "Why this reversal of policy, which is the first we've heard, and of which the country still knows nothing?"

"We have not changed the level of production because ATLAS needs further testing," explained McElroy. "There is no purpose in turning out an added number of these missiles until certain difficulties have been solved. As soon as that's done, production will definitely be increased."

"Is development of the JUPITER and THOR on schedule?" continued Symington.

"Yes," said McElroy. "Some improving still has to be done on both these missiles. We would like very much to determine which tests out best, so we can concentrate on producing that one. It is very expensive producing both of them."

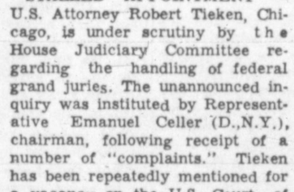

"Before that decision is made," said Symington, "you will notify Congress?"

"Yes," promised McElroy. "That is my intention."

"Be sure you don't forget it," advised Symington, without a smile.

STALLED APPOINTMENT — U.S. Attorney Robert Tieken, Chicago, is under scrutiny by the House Judiciary Committee regarding the handling of federal grand juries. The unannounced inquiry was instituted by Representative Emanuel Celler (D.,N.Y.), chairman, following receipt of a number of "complaints." Tieken has been repeatedly mentioned for a vacancy on the U.S. Court of Appeals. He has the backing for that of Senator Everett Dirksen (R.,Ill.), Attorney General William Rogers is aware of the Cellar Committee's probe . . . Senators Lister Hill (D., Ala.) and Wayne Mores (R., Ore.), longtime advocates of public power, are the leading speakers at the annual convention, May 6-8 in New Orleans, of the American Public Power Association.

Vice President Nixon is taking unusual pains to get acquainted with British correspondents in Washington and New York. He entertained a group of them at dinner in his home. He is the first Vice President to do that . . . Recently - retired Army Undersecretary Charles Finucane is reaffirming an old saying. "Many come to Washington but few go back to their home towns." Finucane is telling friends that he and his wife have decided to take up permanent residence in the Capital instead of returning to their one-time home in Washington State . . . Senator Frank Church (D., Ida.) is frequently reminding his colleagues that the Alaska statehood bill is still awaiting action, by calling attention to the fact that "the official flower of Alaska is the forget-me-not."

Even in Russia, it's not always easy to rig an election. The Soviet system allows only one slate of candidates on the ballots. But 580,641 Reds had the nerve to scratch out the names of these favorites when they went to the polls a couple of weeks ago. That's twice the number that did it in the previous election in 1954. Given time, the Soviets may produce something new in politics — an election that doesn't elect anybody. And a thing like that could spread. I'll bet our own politicos are more worried about this than they are about the race to the moon: Nobody's registered on the moon.

SENATE BILL CALLS FOR SECRET UNION BALLOT

By Maurice R. Franks

In my last article, I wrote of the absolute necessity for a secret ballot in the taking of union strike votes and promised that a procedure for providing same would be detailed in this article.

Mention was also made in my previous article that Senator Mundt (Rep.,S. Dak.) introduced Bill S-3045 in the United States Senate on March 6 that calls for such a secret ballot. Senator Mundt has incorporated in that Bill, a procedure, which he flatteringly has called "The Franks Plan." This procedure is as follows:

1) Only in the event of deadlocked negotiations and only after a full Explanatory Period of 20 days has run, will the union be at liberty to order a strike vote.

2) In response to such an order, a three-member Election Committee would then be established—a committee composed of a duly authorized representative of the union, a duly authorized representative of the employer and a duly authorized representative of the public. (The public member of Committee could be a representative of the National Labor Relations Board, or perhaps an available citizen acceptable to both the union and management.)

3) It would be the function of this Committee to send out blank ballots by first class mail to all workers coming under the scope of the union contract.

4) Ballots would be returnable only to a designated post - office box, which would be accessible only to the Election Committee as a body.

5) Accompanying each blank ballot, as mailed to the home of eligible voters, would be a simple instruction sheet outlining the mechanics of executing the ballot. Also enclosed would be two envelopes of different size and of different color.

6) The larger envelope—in color, for example, gray—would be addressed to the designated post-office box. On the back of this envelope would be space for the voters' original signature and home address. In case of dispute over the eligibility of any voter, the signature appearing on the gray envelope could be checked by the Election Committee against the established records of the company, the union, or both.

7) The ballot, after execution as designated by the accompanying instruction sheet, would be enclosed in the smaller of the two envelopes (white, let's say, for the sake of identification). This smaller, white envelope, providing no means whatever of identifying the voter, would then be sealed and mailed in the larger, gray envelop already addressed to the designated post-office box.

8) The Election Committee—as a body and only as a body—would collect the mail from the designated post-office box and together, before opening any mailing envelope, would check the eligibility of each voter to cast a strike ballot. Then, one by one, as eligibility is established, the gray mailing envelopes would be opened and the smaller, white envelope, provid- seals unbroken — would be removed and deposited in a large receptacle or ballot bix. Upon completion of this total operation, the sealed ballot envelope would be opened by the Election Committee as a body and the anonymous ballots counted.

9) The Election Committee, after doubled - checking the tally, would certify the vote for or against a strike.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

Exchange Between Pegler, Writer

The Savannah Morning News, a literate, genteel blade on God's side of the conflict, long has enjoyed the privilege of publishing these communications. In a deplorable deviation and by the grievous fault of Judd Arnett, a new boy engaged to run the editorial page, the Pegler essays were suppressed in the drawer of an old desk along with handouts from Edward I. Bernays, the National Conference of Distillers, Rectifiers and Vintners, and the U.S. Geodetic Survey.

But, on March 13 last, Mr. Arnett composed a column of contrition which I present, and ensuing correspondence of historical and literary importance, as follows:

Excerpts from Mr. Arnett's column of March 13:

"When we reported for duty in this fair haven and the man said: 'Edit the editorial page' we brought with us an antipathy to Westbrook Pegler. Since confession is said to be good for the soul, we will admit that this aversion resulted not from having read him to any great extent but from association with newspapermen who disapproved his penchant for thundering in where angels fear to tread.

"Thus, in the early days of our tenure, we dropped him substituting the work of contemporaries less apt to incite apoplexy among our gentle readers. And, finally, when the packet of Mr. Pegler's unused essays had reached the proportions of a football, we recommended that he be dropped.

"Happily, however, we began hearing from the publice. The 'What's happened to Pegler?' chorus never was deafening but it was persistent. Reporters were approached; there was a little mail—a postcard here, a letter there; a few people telephoned. All in all, there was a reasonable groundswell in favor of old Peg.

"So we started reading the pieces in the drawer and reached the conlusion that the guy is meaner than a billy - goat with dypsepis but the best turner of phrases since Henry Menchen, the peer of them all, and he reeks with honestly."

Excerpts from letter from Pegler to Arnett, March 26:

"Someone thereabouts sent me your column of hero - worship the main effect of which was an impression that you are a writer of considerable class and promise, though, I might say, a little over your depth in presuming to praise an incomparable. However, the slings and arrows of experience may your manners and teach you the folly of endorsing anything lest, in future, you step on a rake in the grass.

"I was discussing secular matters with Mr. J. D. Gortatowsky, or our College of Cardinals, and he said that, on the strength of your essay, he was scouting you. I said I had long ago quit that because all young reporters in the out - back have built - in acceptance at the second - best local golf club, two children, a mother-in-law with a habit of breaking her hip because she thinks she is Esther Williams and takes showers in the tub, a slightly delinquent mortgage, and a 1956 Dodge two instalments short of completion. Moreover, they all want to write TV columns and stack up their tabs for self and one, possibly wife, at the night - side haunts of the Hollywood trash. Damon Runyon used to scout bushers but he invariably turned jealous when they made good. He thought they were after his job. They were.

"This is to praise your wisdom and literary taste and forgive your error. I hope Gorty makes you an acceptable proposition and that you will come along to enjoy life in this juvenile and hilariously pretentious racket as long as profitably as I have.

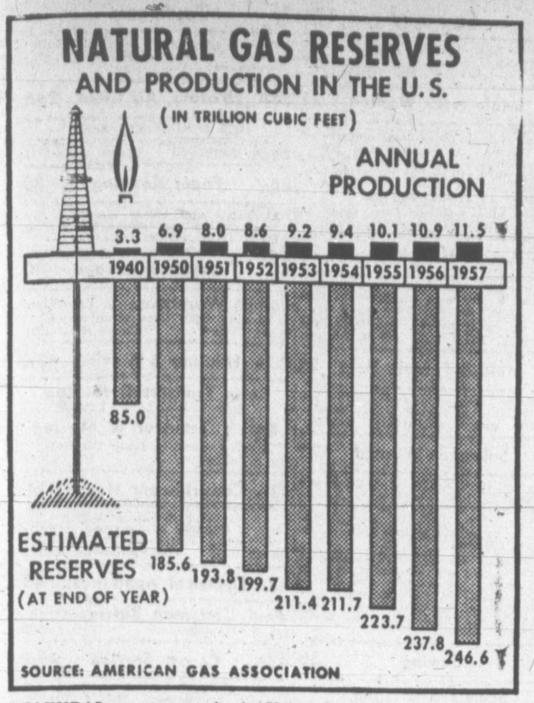

"If you join the Hearst concern you will learn that the bigotries of all the rumpled misnathropes are founded on personal bruises. The pay is the best ever, anywhere and, if you make the team, you live in first division and cut into the world series more often than not. Good fortune to you," etc.

From Arnett to Pegler, March 28:

"When your letter arrived I exclaimed, 'Here is a letter from Pegler' and shared my wine with the boys in the newsroom. Eventually, the ediot called me in and raised my salary. This constitutes a miracle so I feel sainted as well as loaded. Since your return we have had numerous letters. One was laudatory.

"I was a weekly scribe, printer, space salesman and sweeper until I observed that I was spending three hours a week doing what I wanted to do, writing, and 84 trying to dig flat mats out of a Linotype magazine. So I sold my paper in Illinois and hooked up with the St. Petersburg Times. But one day, after calling a Laustridge a Sombidge I came here as associate editor and chief editorial writer. Some days our paper looks as though it had been made up with a shovel but it always stands for something and is known as 'An Honest Newspaper'.

"I swait (be still my heart!) with demure expectancy, Mr. Gortatowsky's footfall on the stair."

NATURAL gas reserves in the United States advanced to an all-time high of 246.6 trillion cubic feet at the start of 1958 to show a net gain of 8.8 trillion cubic feet over the previous year. Production during 1957 hit a record of 11.5 trillion cubic feet but additional proved recoverable reserves amounted to 20.3 trillion cubic feet.

Cabot, Hercules Announce A New Plastic Composition

The early commercial availability of a new polyethylene-carbon black plastic composition with greatly improved properties was indicated today in a joint announcement by Hercules Powder Company and Godfrey L. Cabot, Inc.

The two companies said that they have undertaken a joint development program on the chemical cross-linging of polyethylene and carbon black compounds. The results to date indicate the cross-linking procedure will provide industry with a new economical, efficient material for insulating and jacketing wire and and cable, forming pipes and tubes, and for compression and transfer molded products.

Now for the first time compounds highly loaded with low-cost carbon black and polyethylene will be possible. The key factors which make possible the chemical cross-linking are the development of "Di-Cup," Hercules' dicumyl peroxide, and "Sterling MT," Cabot's thermal carbon black.

Advantages of the new plastics materials, formed as a result of this cross-linking, include substantially improved strength, improved resistance to heat, and greatly reduced environmental stress cracking. Additional advantages are exceptionally high resistance to attack by weather, solvents, and surface-active agents. All of these advantages are obtained with practically no sacrifice in the inherently good low-temperature properties of polyethylene.

Results to date indicate that by using "Hi-fax," Hercules' high-density polyethylene, instead of conventional polyethylene, the new plastics materials will have even greater strength and heat resistance, as well as the other advantages gained through chemical cross-linking.

Both Godfrey L. Cabot, Inc. and Hercules have been active in research in this field for several years. It is expected that the combined background of Cabot's long and successful experience in the manufacture and utilization of carbon blacks and Hercules' experience in the production and utilization of chemical cross-linking agents and polyethylene will lead to an early commercialization of this new process. Godfrey L. Cabot, Inc. had previously announced the test marketing of CAB-XL, the first polyethylene - carbon black-peroxide compound to be offered.

Celanese Producing Beta-Propiolactone

Celanese Corporation of America announces that it is now producing commercial quantities of beta-propiolactone, a petrochemical intermediate, at its Pampa plant. Celanese is the sole producer of the chemical.

Numerous 50-gallon drums of the product have already been shipped to various users; however, on Monday, April 7, 1958, the first tank car, 8000 gallons, rolled to the consumer. It is believed that this is the first tank car shipment of beta-propiolactone in the history of the chemical industry.

As a chemical intermdiate, beta-propiolactone's potential embraces a wide range of compounds such as amines, alcohols and others containing active hydrogen. In addition, it is used to improve the stability of starch-derived adhesives, and is used in the synthesis of acrylic acid and acrylates, markets for which are currently expanding in the textile and leather finishing, paper coating, adhesives and surface - coatings industries. It is also reported to modify textile fibers to improve hand and other properties.

While beta-propoactone is a powerful chemical which must be properly controlled for safety under conditions of use, it is reported to be effective for area and surface decontamination and is said to be an excellent sterilizing agent for biologicals because of its capacity to inactivate a wide variety of bacteria, fungi and viruses. The Army Chemical Corps announced recently that its scientists, in experiments at Fort Detrick, Maryland, had disinfected entire hospital buildings as well as electronic apparatus and transportation equipment by using the chemical in gaseous form.

Other experiments carried on at Henery Ford Hospital, Detroit and reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association, indicate that the chemical effectively eliminates infectious micro-organisms in arteries, bones and cartilage stored in tissue banks. It also is reported to be a promising chemical for the sterilizing of blood plasma. For such experimental uses under proper conditions Celanese can produre a specially purified grade of beta-propioladtone.

PPROA To Hold Meet In Amarillo

"Fuel for Thought," an apt title for discussion at an oil and gas meeting will be the topic of Congressman Oren Harris of Arkansas, author of the important natural [illegible] when he speaks at the 27th Annual Meeting of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association in Amarillo on May 1.

Frank Storm, Arrangements Chairman for the annual conclave of independent oil and gas people, Saturday announced the subject of Congressman Harris' talk along with other highlights of the forthcoming PPROA meeting. President John G. O'Brien, appointed Storm over all chairman of all convention committees. George Cree, Jr. of Pampa is vice chairman.

The Panhandle's Congressman, Walter Rogers, will make one of the major speeches of the meeting at a noon luncheon, May 1. Congressman Harris' talk will highlight the annual dinner that evening.

Other features of the luncheon program will include remarks by State Senator Grady Hazlewood on pending oil and gas legislation in Austin; and appearances by visiting presidents and other executives of other oil and gas associations. Russell B. Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association of America, headquartered in Washington D. C., will discuss the Washington scene from the standpoint of the laymen in the industry.

General Ernest O. Thompson, Amarillo's dynamic member of the Texas Railroad Commission, will introduce Congressman Harris at the dinner climaxing the annual meeting [illegible] President O'Brien will preside. E. J. Duncan, Jr., Pampa past PPROA president and chairman of the nominating committee, will report a new slate of officers and directors at the conclusion of the dinner.

Industry Will Absorb Engineers, But Slowly

By FRED DANZIG
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) —Engineers in the Class of '58 can expect to be absorbed by industry, but it may take a little more time than in past years.

A United Press spot check of some major engineering schools reveals that the June crop will not, for the most part, be able to walk off the campus and into a job. Production cutbacks have tightened up the job situation.

One student who is completing college on a scholarship provided by a large chemical company recently learned the bad news: sorry, the company has no opening for him at present. He's still looking.

Various authorities report the larger companies no longer are hiring "spare" engineers as they did in recent years.

Walter Kelly, director of placement for New York University's School of Engineering, said the number of firms interviewing June graduates is down from 200 to about 150.

Cancellations in Aircraft

"Most of the cancellations came from the aircraft group, but there are a few suppliers involved, too," said Kelly. "Those that are interviewing appear to have cut their manpower requirements considerably," he added.

"In general, graduate engineers last year averaged three to five offers, some as many as 12. This year, the top graduates get three to five offers. The others start from scratch," said Kelly.

There is no significant change in engineers' salary. Last year's starting average, $465 a month, is expected to hold up for this year.

William Cavanaugh, executive secretary of the Engineers Joint Council, said 34,500 bachelor degrees will be awarded in engineering this June. This is 2,500 fewer than had been forecast.

Herbert P. Catlin, director of placement at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., reported, "There is a good deal of holding back as far as hiring goes. Employers as a whole are being more conservative and selective."

Down 25 Per Cent

Thomas W. Harrington, Jr., placement officer at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said "Demand for graduates is down about 25 per cent from last year. But there still are more jobs than there are engineering graduates. This year, though, they may have to take a job other than the one they'd hoped for."

Dr. Donald Clark, placement bureau head at Cal Tech reported: "Job prospects for 1958 graduates will be very tight." He noted there will be 25 fewer companies interviewing graduates this year than last but a late fall pick-up is expected, when new government missile contracts begin to be felt.

A more optimistic note was sounded by Florence Watt, director of the placement bureau at the University of Southern California. "They're still looking the same as ever," she said of company interviewers.

At UCLA, Asst. Dean Warren A. Hall said, "The job situation is considerably tighter. Companies are looking for the cream of the crop."

API Meet Set Here Tuesday

The Panhandle Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute will meet on Tuesday, April 22, at 8 p.m. in the Palm Room of the Pampa City Hall.

Joe Kenworthy, Kewanee Oil Company engineer, will discuss waterflooding Brown Dolomite formation in the Panhandle Field.

The talk will be illustrated with color slides showing performance of the Kewanee Morse Flood.

Everybody bid away merrily until North and South arrived at their four spade contract. East and West could have gone to five clubs as a sacrifice and would only have been down one trick but they preferred to take the chance of beating South's game contract.

Correct defense would have beaten South one trick surely. All West had to do was to cash one club and shift to a diamond. Proper play also as it was quite likely that East had a high diamond for his club raise.

As it was West tried to cash a second club. South ruffed and led a heart to dummy's king which held the trick. Four rounds of trumps followed and South led a second heart toward dummy. After long thought he went up with the queen and when East produced the ace the hand collapsed. South lost two hearts, one club and two diamonds for down two.

South's play of the queen of hearts was bad. True, West might have held the ace and ducked but in that case South still would have gone down one trick. His only chance to make the contract would be the play of the ten.

Van Cliburn Says There Are:

No Political Barriers To Music

EDITORS NOTE: Van Cliburn, a 23-year-old American musician from Kilgore, Tex., created a sensation in Moscow this week when he won first prize on the Soviet union's international Tchaikovsky piano competition. In the following article, written for the United Press, Cliburn gives his own story of his experiences in Moscow.

By VAN CLIBURN
Written for the United Press

MOSCOW (UP)— There are no political barriers to music. The same blood running through Americans also runs through the Soviet people and compels us to create and enjoy the same art.

I've become even more aware of this since I have been in Moscow. What has thrilled me so much is the great spirit of musical unity achieved here at the Tchaikovsky competition by the different peoples of the world whose governments are at political loggerheads.

My closest associates during the past few weeks and the people who have perhaps been the kindest to me were two Russian pianists—Eduard Miansarvov and Naum Starkman, who both placed high in the final round competition.

Reaction Wonderful

The first day when I went to the conservatory to practice I heard a knock at my door. A smiling friendly young man entered and said, "Welcome to Moscow—my name is Eduard Miansarov but call me 'Eddie'."

We spent the next two hours playing and singing together.

From then on, we and Naum stuck together throughout our musical ordeal.

Russian reaction to my playing has been a wonderfully heartfelt one. These people have long felt that America has a fine culture but until recently have had not much proof of this. I helped to show them their feelings are right.

Bulganin Gracious

They are so pleased to learn that America loves their music—Tchaikovsky, Rachmaninoff, Shostakovich and other Russian composers—as much as they do. They know this love is genuine for the people can always detect insincerity in art just as they can racognize false mental attitudes in human beings.

Wednesday at the Kremlin reception I was very touched by the gracious manner of (former Premier Nikolai) Bulganin who congratulated me as he was getting ready to leave.

Mikoyan (first deputy premier) told me, "You've been a good diplomat between politicians to bring about peaceful relations. I wish America would send more like you."

Murray To Testify On Oil Imports

AUSTIN (UP)— Railroad Commissioner William J. Murray Saturday headed a list of 10 witnesses scheduled to testify before the governor's oil imports study commission at a one-day hearing April 25 in Corpus Christi.

Commission Chairman French Robertson of Abilene, in an announcement released through the office of Gov. Price Daniel, said the hearing will start at 9 a.m. in the Terrace Room of the Driscoll Hotel.

Those scheduled to testify include:

Gordon L. Lewis, co-chairman of the statistical committee of the Corpus Christi Chamber of Commerce; T. G. Peters, manager of the Alice Chamber of Commerce; Jerome J. O'Brien of San Antonio, president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Assn.; W. B. Wood of Dallas, a tax consultant, and state Rep. Ben A. Glusing of Kingsville.

The afternoon session will include testimony by John R. Scott, senior vice president of the Republic National Bank of Dallas; Murray; Byrd Harris of Corpus Christi, port director of the Nueces County Navigation District Port Authority, John W. Crutchfield of Corpus Christi, consulting petroleum engineer, and Virgil Crane of Corpus Christi, Crane Welding Co.

AICE To Meet In Dumas

The April meeting of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, Texas Panhandle Section, will be in Dumas on Wednesday, April 23. The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Dumas High School, Third and Klein Streets. Speaker for the evening will be Harry Gilstrap, business editor of ove Amarillo News and Globe Times.

Gilstrap was literally "weaned on printers ink." Son of a pioneer newspaperman in Chandler, Okla., he attended the University of Oklahoma, Oklahoma A & M College (now Oklahoma State College) and was graduated from George Washington University, Washington, D. C. In 1926 he became sports editor of the Muskogee (Oklahoma) Daily Phoenix and in 1946, following a tour with the Army Air Force, came to Amarillo as sports editor of both papers. In March, 1957, he accepted his present position as business editor. In 1946 Gilstrap received the Associated Press Managing Editors Association of Texas annual award as the state's outstanding sports editor and was recently presented with the Sears-Roebuck Foundation's first annual award "for consistent excellence in reporting the business scene."

Oilwomen To Meet In Dallas

Oilwomen from five states, some 250 in all, will converge on Dallas Saturday, April 26, for a full day's session on public relations, sponsored by the Dallas Desk and Derrick Club. The one-day meeting will be held at the Adolphus Hotel. Theme for the meeting is what oil women as individuals can do to help the public to a better understanding of the petroleum industry, according to Mrs. Penny Eades, President of the Dallas club. Representatives are pre-registered from all Desk and Derrick Clubs in the Associations Region IV, comprised of Arkansas and Eastern and Southern portions of Texas. Many Desk and Derrick members from adjacent states are also expected to attend.

Attending from Pampa are expected to be local Desk and Derrick members, Misses Eloise Braly and Dorothy Cox.

Texas Oil Allowable Inches Up

AUSTIN (UP)— Texas' oil allowable inched up 13,356 barrels daily during the last week to reach 2,450,430 barrels, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

A total of 51 oil well completions were reported. This hiked the figure for thus far this year to 4,257 as compared with 5,051 for the corresponding period last year.

Gas well completions rose to 694 as compared with last year's figure of 554 with the addition of 80 new wells.

There were 69 wildcat wells reported, 59 of which were dusters. Nine were producing oil, one was a gas well.

RECRUITING GETS RESULTS

WINSTON - SALEM, N.C. (UP) —Some 25 football players have signed grants-in-aid to attend Wake Forest College next September. "We feel we did a good job in our recruiting program last season, and there is no reason to think we haven't done as well this time," said head football coach Paul Amen.

FINE MISSOURI FARM & RANCH, HISTORIC WOOLEN MILL, TO BE SOLD AT PUBLIC AUCTION BY

Wayne Cook
Associates, Inc.

LOCATION: 2 miles on gravel road off U. S. Hy. 69 approx. 4 miles north of Excelsior Springs, Missouri, 35 minutes from Kansas City, Missouri.
SALE DATE: 10:00 AM (CST), May 6.
INSPECTION: April 21 to sale date.
FARM AND RANCH PROPERTY
The property to be auctioned, known as the old Watkins Farm, consists of approx. 1600 acres of fine Missouri rolling farm and ranch land, with approx. 700 acres fenced hog tight. The property is accessible on all sides by gravel road. Improvements include old Southern Centerhall Type 3-Story Brick Colonial originally completed in 1850 and rebuilt by present owners in 1945. Has hand-hewn and polished native walnut doors, facings, trim and winding staircase. House has 12 rooms, bath, double garage. Improvements also include machine shed, 60' x 100' cattle barn with loading chute, cattle pens and lots, and 6-room modern bungalow, new barn, shed, meathouse and garage. Abundant water in ponds, streams and wells. Property also includes old brick schoolhouse built in 1851 and brick church completed in the 1870's, as well as the old woolen mill. Owners wish to sell and return to their home in Texas.
OLD WOOLEN MILL
The contents of the historic old Watkins Woolen Mill are to be auctioned separately the same day. This Mill opened for business in 1861. It stands below the main house and, like the main house, is made of hand-fired bricks of native clay. It was closed abruptly in 1886 and stands today almost as it was then, with all machinery still in place. It is the oldest woolen mill west of the Mississippi and the oldest in the U. S. still standing complete. It is an historian's, antique collector's or dealer's dream, filled as it is with relics of a bygone era. In addition to the woolen mill machinery, there are two buggies, a surrey, a Victorian buggy, wagon wheels, hand tools, books, magazines and many, many other items of interest to the collector.
PROPERTY IS IDEAL FOR COUNTRY FARM AND RANCH, GAME PRESERVE, HISTORICAL SHRINE — OR FOR DEVELOPMENT.
Present owners will accept 29% down on property sale price, and carry balance for 10 years at 5%.
Write, wire, or call for illustrated brochure, complete details, terms of sale.
