A goodwill tour brought a group of Lubbock businessmen to Olton for a visit with local merchants Monday afternoon.

Meeting at Hamill's Restaurant, Laus Hair welcomed the Lubbock group.

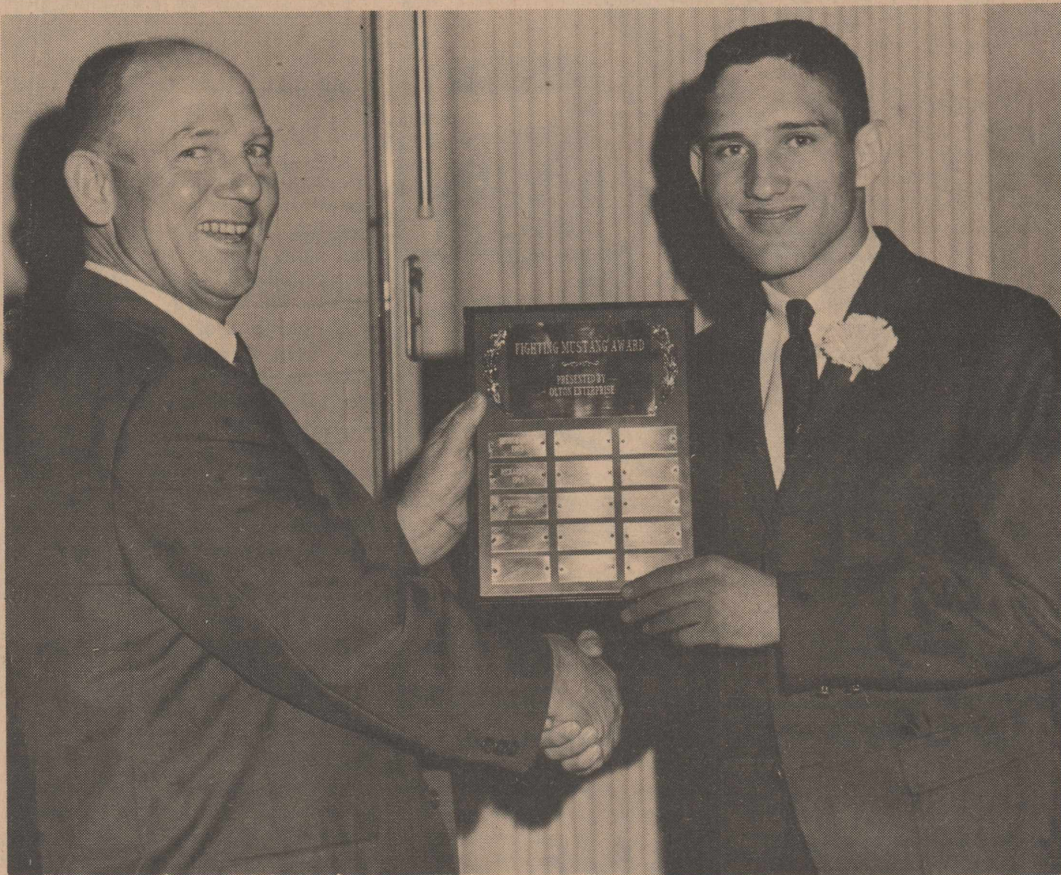

He said that the relationship enjoyed between Oltonites and Lubbock businesses was cordial and that having a city handy to supply services not available in a smaller town was convenient.

M. J. (Bud) Aderton, chairman of the wholesale development committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, spoke at the coffee-drinking session.

Two tickets to Lubbock Theatre Centre's Feb. 3-5 production of "Tea House of the August Moon" were won by Edley Hackler, Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture manager.

Others attending the Olton meet included Fred Thompson, Ralph Glover, Walter Struve, Doug Jones, G. H. Bley, George Caddel, Basil Sherman, Sue Hair, Bill Kelley, Bob Duncan, Kenneth Moore and Bill Turner.

The Lubbock group also visited with businessmen at Sudan and Muleshoe.

Coach Holladay presents award to Tommy Hall

Fighting Mustang Honor Awarded To Tommy Hall

Tommy Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hall, received the Fighting Mustang Award at the Mustang athletic banquet here Saturday night.

The award, given by The Olton Enterprise, goes each year to the boy who is judged to have shown the most "heart," determination and fighting spirit during the football season.

Hall, presented the award by Head Coach Otis Holladay, started the season at quarterback, and later was switched to fullback. He played cornerback on defense, but was later switched to defensive halfback.

"He did everything he was asked to do, to the best of his ability, without a grumble," Holladay told the Enterprise.

Before presenting the award, Coach Holladay noted that athletes are born with varying amounts of ability, size and speed, but all have one thing in common, a heart...and their "heart" determines whether they always give 100 per cent effort.

Selection of Hall for the honor was made by the entire coaching staff.

Bill Turner, publisher of The Olton Enterprise, spoke briefly prior to the presentation by Holladay.

Previous winners were George Jones in 1963 and Richard Hall in 1964.

Main speaker at the banquet, Burl Huffman, Texas Tech baseball and freshman football coach, noted that schools are required to teach history, English, science and math and that these are necessary things.

"I say athletics is something we have to have, too, because that is where we, as coaches, teach leadership."

"Leaders, we never have enough of," he added.

Huffman also said that sports teach students that, no matter what job in life they have, they are to do it to the best of their ability and always strive for the top.

"Do your best," he emphasized, "and you can be proud."

Introduction of Huffman was by Bob Duncan, representing the Olton Quarterback Club. Coach Holladay expressed thanks to the Quarterback Club, to fans, administration, faculty, cheerleaders and the student body.

He then introduced the coaching staff, Ronnie Dennis, Tommy Lester, Cecil Todd, Jackie Moss and Sandra Meadows.

GINNINGS AT 52,830

With a new record in sight, cotton harvesting in the Olton area appears to be nearly over with only a small chance left for setting an all-time high.

Totals from seven area gins this week came to 52,830 bales, slightly less than 3,000 bales from the mark of 55,882 bales recorded last year.

One gin reported about 70-80 bales a day still coming in, but the rest reported, "just a few" coming in each day now.

Dennis introduced the B-team football boys and Lester introduced the seventh and eighth grade football and basketball teams as well as the B-team basketball boys and the freshman football boys.

Varsity football team was introduced by Holladay and varsity basketball boys were presented by Todd.

Moss introduced last year's track team and boys going out for the team this year.

Miss Meadows introduced girls' varsity and B-team. Gifts from the football teams were presented to the coaches by Don Mitchell, Joe Priest and Tommy Hall.

Steve Moss, Curtis Hall and Jack Burkhalter presented gifts from the team to the cheerleaders.

Invocation was by Supt. Ray Schultz and benediction by Priest.

Dinner music was furnished by Harold Carson and entertainment by the "Girls-A-Go-Go," Jackie Harrod, Judy Miller, Gayle Gunter, Joanie Floyd, Cheri Dorris and Sandy Skelton. The girls were accompanied by Mrs. Bob Allford.

A color television set, given in a drawing sponsored by the Quarterback Club, was won by Herbert Dunn, county tax-collector.

Fillies Win Pair, Boys Top Farwell

Basketball season ended for the first semester with a rush this week, with the girls continuing in their winning ways, and the boys dropping another tilt.

In Monday night play, the Fillies downed Anton, 55-27, while the boys were stopped by Anton, 72-47.

In action last Friday, both varsity teams took wins over Farwell clubs.

Coach Sandra Meadows' girls dropped Farwell, 49-41, while the boys sneaked past, 51-50.

In the Anton game, Sherry Caddel topped all scorers with 18 points, while Karen Hipp had 15, Lynn McGill had 12 and Susan Norfleet had 10.

Laura Akin was the defensive leader for the girls, collecting 10 rebounds and three steals. Donna Smith had four rebounds and two steals, and Kathy Kidd also had four rebounds.

Other rebounds were collected by Francine Struve, two, Robbie Langford, two and Iva Tanner, one.

In the boys' contest with Anton, Lanny McClain was the leading Olton scorer, with 12 points.

Both Jim Smith and Charles Church collected eight points in the contest, while Charles McClain and Roger Thompson each picked up seven.

Bobby Turner had three points, while Albert Key had two to complete the Olton scoring.

In the girls' game with Farwell last Friday, Miss Hipp was the leading scorer with 20 points while Miss Caddel had 16.

Susan Norfleet added another 11 points, while Lynn McGill had two.

On the defensive side, Miss

Akin was once again the standout with seven rebounds and three steals.

Miss Struve followed with five rebounds and two steals, while Miss Tanner had four and Miss Kidd two.

In the boys' contest with Farwell, Lanny McClain finished in his usual top spot in the Olton scoring column with 16 points, while Church tallied 12 and Thompson 10.

Jim Smith picked up seven points in the same contest, while Charles McClain had three, Turner, two, and Key, one.

Both varsity squads open district play with a pair of tilts with Dimmitt on tap Friday night starting at 7 p.m. at Dimmitt.

They return to the home courts Tuesday to tackle Aberrathy.

New Reading Project Opens

Final plans for the beginning of a federally financed remedial reading program in Olton schools received approval from the school board at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

This program, along with the disbanding of Bohner High School beginning next fall, came in for lengthy discussion in a session in which the board also:

1. Employed four new teachers.
2. Gave Elmer Moore, business manager-tax collector-counselor, a new two-year contract, at his current salary.
3. Authorized the administration to take bids on new uniforms for the high school band.
4. And accepted a high bid on the sale of four used school buses.

Clarence Carpenter, El Paso, agreed to pay $2420 for the buses.

The remedial reading program, for which a federal grant of $54,000 was made available to the school, is scheduled to begin Monday, when the second semester opens.

In October, the trustees approved Olton's participation in the Panhandle Educational Services Organization, PESO, area co-ordinator for federal funds available under Title I of the education act of 1965.

The $54,000 allocated to the Olton school district is to be used to upgrade teaching of "educationally deprived" children. Part of this money is to be used for the remedial reading program, its instructors, and the teaching aids which accompany it.

The program is designed to improve the reading of children in grades one through eight, especially those who may not be able to read as well as they should at their own particular grade level.

Equipment and consultants will be brought in early in the second semester to train Olton instructors.

Three remedial reading classrooms will be set up in the white schools, two at H. P. Webb Elementary and another at the Junior High. Another remedial reading classroom will be set up at Bohner School.

Approximately $4,900 of the original $54,000 is available for remodeling to accommodate the remedial reading program.

Plans are to convert the present all-purpose room at elementary for this purpose. Music classes now being taught there will be moved to another part of the elementary school.

Instructors named by Supt. Ray Schultz for the reading program are Mrs. Fred Young, who has been teaching first grade; Bob Allford, fifth grade teacher, and William Cottrell, junior high.

New teachers employed by the board are Mr. and Mrs. Doug Brunson, to replace Allford and Mrs. Young; Mrs. Lynn Clifton to replace Mrs. Robin Taylor, who resigned her home economics position in December; and Kay Pafford, to replace Mrs. Ray Schultz, who was teaching a second grade class on a temporary basis.

Grades 9-12 Go To OHS

With Olton schools' state accreditation hanging in the balance, the school board Tuesday night voted to disband Bohner High School beginning with the 1966-67 school term.

The ruling will result in all Olton students of high school standing—white and Negro—attending Olton High School starting next fall.

The board explained that Olton is operating a six-teacher, 12-grade school at Bohner this year with special approval from the Texas Education Agency.

State regulations call for at least seven teachers in such an operation, and enrollment at Bohner qualifies for only six.

"If we were to lose accreditation in any part of our system," Supt. Ray Schultz told the board, "it would affect the entire system. We can not let this happen."

Trustees voted to continue grades 1-8 at Bohner, starting with the 1966-67 term, under the "freedom of choice plan" which was adopted by the school board and also given federal approval last year.

Under this plan, all students—white and Negro—may elect to attend the campus of their choice in grades 1-8.

Registration this school year resulted in two Negro students attending the previously all-white high school and one Negro student attending H. P. Webb Elementary, also previously all white.

As a result of Tuesday night's ruling by trustees, approximately 35 Negro pupils in the 8th through 11th grades this year at Bohner are expected to attend what will be the community's only high school next fall—Olton High School.

That increase would send Olton High School's current enrollment of 272 well over the 300 mark beginning next fall. Bohner's enrollment in all 12 grades at latest count was 121.

Enrollment for the entire system stood at 1,402 as of last Friday, down about 40 students since early December.

Salvation Army Drive Slated

Annual fund raising drive for the local Salvation Army service unit committee will get underway here Thursday Feb. 3.

At a Monday meeting of the committee, local welfare work and plans for the annual drive were discussed.

Walter Struve will serve as chairman for the campaign.

BRAIN TEASER WINS AWARD

Kathy Cottrell, Olton seventh grader and daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Bill Cottrell is to receive $5 for submitting a "brain teaser" which was published in this week's Science World, a national scholastic magazine.

Only three or four entries are picked each week from hundreds submitted to the publication. If you'd like to try your luck, here is Miss Cottrell's entry.

Post Office Receipts Up

Postal receipts for Olton continue to climb, with total income for the local office topping last year's mark despite a last quarter slump.

A record $38,814.71 was taken in at the office during 1965, compared to a total of $36,635.59 taken in during the previous year.

Postmaster I. B. "Doc" Holt reported the increase, and said it came despite a slower than usual last quarter.

The mark compares with a $9,100 total in 1949 when Holt became postmaster. At that time, the office had a postmaster and two clerks.

The office now employs an extra part-time employee while handling approximately four times the volume it did 17 years ago.

Olton Youth Center dance for high school students is scheduled Friday Jan. 14 at the Merry-Go-Round.

About Half Of 1965 Cotton Going Into Government Loan

Cotton going into government loan is soaring far above average this year, according to Lamar, head of the Lamb County mar Aten, head of the Lamb County ASCS office.

Aten said $3.5 million had already been disbursed for cotton going into the loan this year, and he estimated approximately $15 million would be given out before loan payments were completed.

He estimated the loan would receive approximately half of the county's total harvest, far above the average for past years. Usually, about five percent of the total crop goes into the loan, Aten said.

Thus far the county office has made approximately 1,800 loans with each loan averaging about 120 bales.

He said the office at present is about $3 million behind in getting loan payments out. Aten said the figure represented about three days' delay in payments.

Aten said the county harvest should be nearly over, but classing and testing would delay the selling of some cotton until about the middle of February.

Damage $15,000 At Brown Blaze

The fourth major fire within two weeks caused an estimated $15,000 damage to a farm home north of Circle Saturday.

Olton's Fire Department answered a call to the George Brown Sr. residence about noon Saturday.

The fire was discovered by Mr. Brown, who saw smoke coming from the brick residence while he was plowing.

Mrs. Brown was in Plainview shopping at the time of the fire.

A leak in a butane line was blamed for the fire, which left only one room of the Brown's home intact.

The line, which ran through a closet in the north side of the home, apparently allowed enough gas into the closet to cause an explosion.

The clothes in the small room then apparently caught fire, and in turn started a bigger fire.

Mr. Brown said the fire destroyed the furnishings and sheetrock in five rooms of the home, and heavy smoke from the blaze ruined the interior of another room.

WHERE FIRE STARTED—This hole in the flooring marks the spot where clothes, set on fire by a leaking butane line, fell, starting a fire which heavily damaged the George Brown Sr. residence north of Circle. In the background is the line believed to have been the culprit in the fire.

Soviet 'Walk In Space' Hoax

Lloyd Mallan, one of the nation's top science writers, has reports that the Soviet 'walk in space' was another big hoax. To prove his point, Mallan consulted some of the foremost space and photography experts, running for them the official Kremlin films of the Communist "achievement." This story, which should have made page one of the big city press, was generally suppressed.

Writing in Science and Mechanics, Mallan reported out that the photos of Cosmonaut Leonov crawling out of the space capsule were taken from out in space, with the camera pointed head on. No one else was out in space, and the Soviets themselves reported that the only pictures of this "feat" had been taken by a camera which Leonov himself attached to the outside of the capsule.

U. S. Experts, examining the film, also found that it was a double exposure, with Leonov superimposed on the back ground of the earth below. Black and white stills, under careful scrutiny, revealed that Leonov was floating in a tank of water, to give the effect of weightlessness, and that he was suspended by fine wires.

And Dean C. B. Neblette of the Rochester Institute of Technology put his finger on the cause for this Soviet clumsiness.

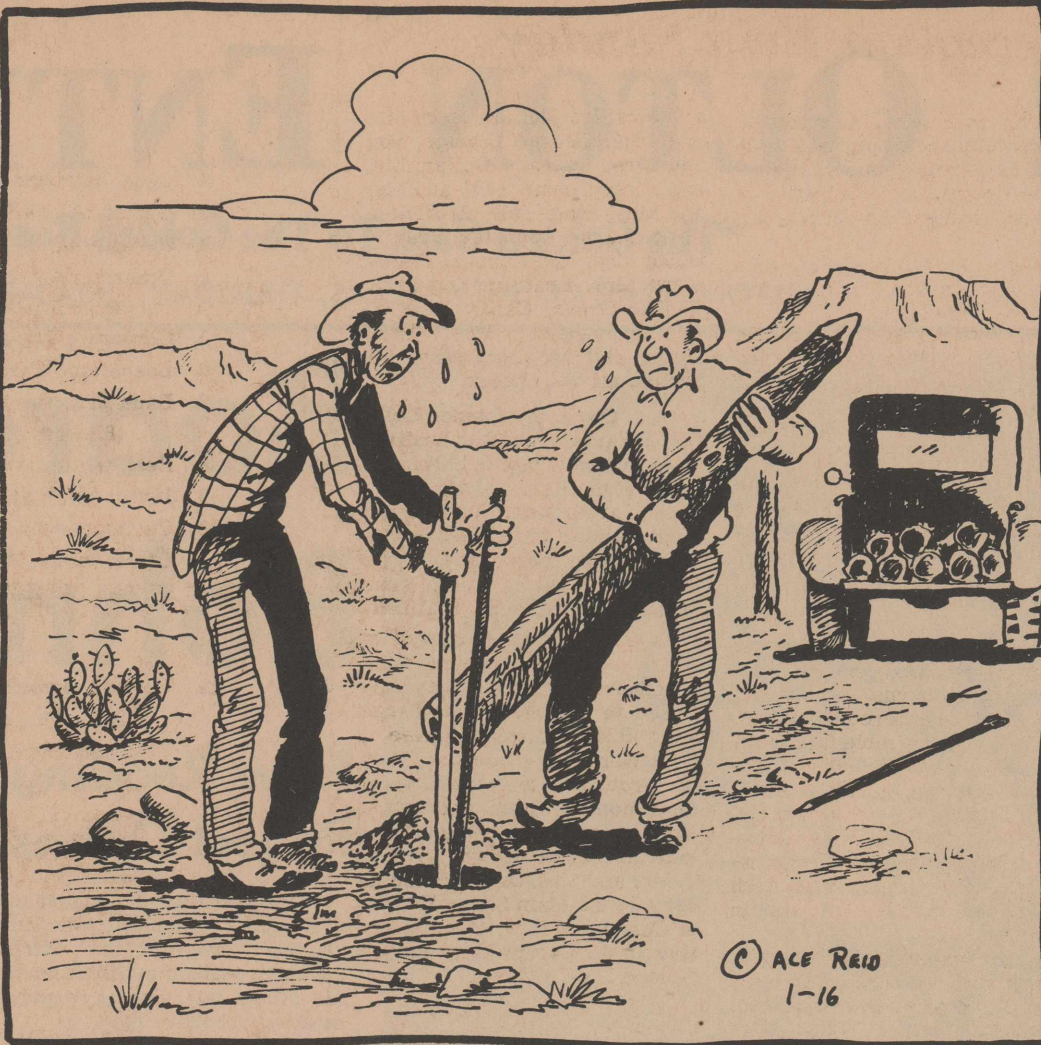

"They had to make this film before they had seen any other pictures of a man walking out in space," he said. "They had to do a lot of guessing."

This is not the first time Lloyd Mallan has caught Soviet scientist in an attempt of this kind.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, for reasons of its own, has stubbornly refused to put Soviet claims to the acid test of scientific analysis—but the truth will out.

BY AMY ADAMS

HANDS OFF!

Dear Amy:
I want you to know that I read your column every week. As a matter of fact, it is the first thing that I turn to when I read the paper, so I'm sure you can help me.

For three years I have been going with Louis who is now in his second year of college. I love this boy very much and he feels the same about me. He's very serious about life and just a good person all the way 'round.

My problem of course, concerns him. He always wants to pet. When I say no, he'll stop, but every time we are together, he wants to.

What can I do? I love him and I don't want to lose him.

I've tried everything I know in the way of dropping hints such as, "I've got to go, Ann, because my potatoes are boiling over," or "I don't feel well and must get off my feet," or "Someone's at the door," but she's so darn blockheaded, she can't take a hint.

I've thought of just hanging up in the middle of the conversation but I don't know if I should.

Please, Amy, tell me how to handle this 'lady' who has nothing to do but call me every day. I get so I hate to answer the phone, but of course I must, you never know who it might be.

Stella

G. N.

Dear G. N.

Anything past your hands is taboo.

Regardless what he wants to do. Stick to your guns.

Have clean, wholesome fun. Or you stand to lose more than just Lou!

Dear Stella:

There's only one way to handle a blockhead, and that's abruptly. Next time she calls, tell her plainly that you don't have time to talk indefinitely and you're limiting all telephone calls to 10 minutes. When time's up, say, "Bye, Dearie" and hang up!

Stella

Dear Amy:

I have been attracted to a man in my office. He's never asked for a date though he teases me a lot and is very friendly. One day we were talking about food and I said I was a good cook. He told me I could cook him a steak sometime and I agreed — all in fun, of course. Now all he talks about is that steak dinner. Do you think that this is his way of asking for a date?

Chesna

Dear Chesna:

Yes... a parlor date.

Dear Murray:

It's the best offer you'll ever get! (How do you look in green?)

Murray

Dear Amy:

I have a so-called good friend (female) who calls me constantly on the telephone any time of the day or evening and talks and talks — most of the time for 1 1/2 hours. It's mostly about her two darling children, and honestly, Amy, I had 6 of my own so I know how cute they can be and the cute things they can do. I don't have time to sit and chatter on the phone, and furthermore, to me, she's just plain boring. But inasmuch as she belongs to one of our clubs, and we do see each

Frantic, wild, exciting, astounding are just a few adjectives to describe the Varsity boys' game at Farwell. To those who weren't there, you really missed a game of good basketball! Our Mustangs put forth note - worthy efforts against the Farwell Steers to beat them 51-50 in a full game period and one overtime. The last minutes in the game, the Olton fans were in a spell of frenzy. With the fans' encouragement and the boys' will to win, they came home with a victory.

The varsity girls brought home another victory to make their record 16-3. With the efforts of the whole team, the girls put on quite a show for the Olton followers.

Even though the "B" team tried hard to hold back the forceful Steerettes, they were not as successful. But you can expect to see the girls win their next game and the games to follow.

The more support the teams have, the more inspired the athletes are to win in competition of any kind.

SUPPORT BASKETBALL!!!!

Now that almost two weeks' worth of resolutions have been made and broken in this new year of 1966, let's make another one for each member of our OHS student body.

SUPPORT BASKETBALL!!!!

Football -- which deserves and gets almost 100 percent student support-- is over for this school year, and we are now in the midst of basketball season.

There are several reasons why we should count, "loud and strong," and actively support our basketball program.

Of first importance is being loyal basketball fans to our various teams; thus we gain in our general school spirit. We all realize how necessary school spirit is to student life and activity -- it makes the difference between a dull atmosphere within our school and a vibrant, exciting one.

If basketball is worthy in our school program, it's worth supporting.

From the player's viewpoint, our support is vital to his doing his job well. It's hard to play one's best to empty bleachers and an uninterested attitude. A team just naturally responds to the enthusiasm of a spirited student body, by putting forth extra effort and playing a better brand of ball. We have one of the best gymnasiums in the district. We need to fill it and really SUPPORT BASKETBALL!!!!

The 1965-66 OHS banquet season got off to a spirited start with the all-sports athletic banquet Saturday night.

Table decorations in blue and white cleverly depicted the various sports. A festive atmosphere was created by the colorful dresses and corsages of the girls and the "spruced up" appearance of the boys -- quite a contrast to the blue jeans and pleated skirts of the school day attire.

Dinner music by Harold Dean Carson plus lovely singing by a girls' sextet, accompanied by Mrs. Bob Allford, entertained the large group of parents, athletic boosters, faculty and students.

Certainly the high point of the evening was the inspiring and enthusiastic address of Coach Berl Huffman of Texas Tech. Another high point was the presentation of the Olton Enterprise's Fighting Mustang Award to Tommy Hall. Congratulations Tommy, for putting forth that extra effort during the 1965 football season. You represent all of our Fighting Mustangs!

ing Mustangs on the team this year.

Passing thought: Sports and athletic banquets definitely have something in common. Even though they both are enjoyable and rewarding, they both require plenty of "warming the bench."

Mrs. Hamilton was delivering the last lecture of the term: "The examination papers are now in the hands of the printer," she concluded.

"Now, are there any questions you would like to have answered?"

Silence prevailed for a moment; then a voice piped up: "Who is the printer?"

Sue Church: Pop, what should I wear with my green and purple socks?
Father: Hip boots!

Burney Hooper: Girls don't interest me. I prefer the companionship of the intelligent boys in my class.

Joe Priest: I'm broke, too.

Mr. Murphy: Albert, why do you keep looking at your watch?
Albert Key: I was afraid you wouldn't have time to finish this interesting lesson.

Mr. Ross: Stop playing that saxophone, or I'll go crazy.
Charles Church: Whoops! Too late. I stopped playing an hour ago.

Sharon Schreier, how in the world did catsup get on the ceiling Friday night?!!!

DAFFYNISHIONS

The tongue weighs practically nothing, yet it's surprising how few people can hold it.

Flattery: People telling you what you think of yourself.

Pedestrian: A man who thought the family didn't need two cars.

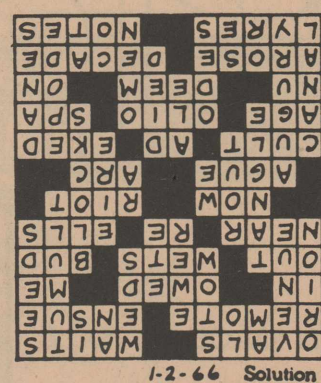

Skiing: A winter sport that people learn in several sittings.

This year, as in each preceding year, there are predictions for teenagers all over the world.

Such things as "hair styles, new lengths in dresses, skateboards, indoor party games, and stage life. Also adventures in the world of ice, school life, and new responsibilities.

Starting next week, we shall devote a section in our column to the predictions listed above. Adventure with us into the New Year of '66 and the New Year!

Federal Role Increases

Federal government has become a virtual dictator over management of Texas Employment Commission's operation of unemployment compensation and job placement program, a new Texas Research League study maintains.

Bureau of Employment Security of US Department of Labor has tightened controls over expenditure, administration and program leadership, study reports.

"The federal-state partnership which congress intended to prevail... has deteriorated to the point where the federal agency tends to dictate the details of the day-to-day management," says the League.

A real federal-state partnership concept can be restored, the study observes, only if congress: (1). restores to states responsibility for allocating ear-marked administrative funds on a workable formula and (2) provides for judicial review of issues between a state and federal agency.

GPCP Program Is Explained

BY BAILEY MAYE
SOIL CONSERVATIONIST

The Great Plains Conservation Program is a program intended to encourage proper land use and conservation.

Lamb County has been one of the most active counties in Texas in participating in the Great Plains Conservation Program. Two hundred and eighteen farmers and ranchers in Lamb County have signed Great Plains Program Contracts. Some 20 new contracts have already been developed since July 1 of last year.

The Great Plains Conservation Program has $60,000 to be used for soil and water conservation practices in the Lamb County Soil Conservation District for the 1966 fiscal year. This program is designed to help carry out a plan of operations that will help to minimize the climatic hazards and protect the land from erosion and to remain productive for future generations.

Through the Great Plains Conservation Program one can receive both technical and financial assistance for soil and water conserving practices. The program pays on the following practices and the following percentages of the Lamb County average cost:

Terracing, 70 percent; irrigation pipelines, 50 percent; land leveling, 50 percent; waterways, 80 percent; planting of grasses, 80 percent; farmstead windbreaks, 70 percent; diversion terraces, 70 percent; livestock wells, 50 percent; livestock storage facilities, 50 percent; brush control, 50 percent and re-seeding rangeland, 80 percent.

Application forms may be obtained from the County Agent, FHA, ASC, and SCS offices. Completed forms will be sent to the SCS office.

Senator Rogers Has Statement

Prior to his formal announcement as a candidate for reelection, Senator Andy Rogers issued a statement to the public this week.

"I had hoped a statement of this nature would not be necessary," Rogers said.

"However, during the last four months, my only known opponent and a few of his friends, have consistently and deliberately persisted in spreading the idea that I was not a candidate or might not be a candidate for re-election.

"Redistricting has changed the area and proportion of all our legislative districts, but I think it is only fair, due to the propaganda referred to above, that the citizens of our new 30th Senatorial District know that I am a candidate for reelection."

Lamb County Called Community On Wheels

Lamb County has really become a community on wheels. The number of cars in use, locally, has reached a record high.

The growth reflects the large-scale surge in automobile buying during the last few years.

The net result is, according to a national survey, that there are more cars in operation in the local area at the present time, in terms of population, than there are in most sections of the United States.

It shows that Lamb County had 10,070 registered passenger cars as of the beginning of this year, equivalent to 146 for every 100 families.

This was more than the ratio reported for the rest of the United States, where the number of cars per 100 families was 126. In the West South Central States it was 130.

The findings are from the latest consumer markets study, released by the Standard Rate and Data Service. Data is included for all sections of the country.

It indicates, as would be expected, that there is a direct relationship between income and car ownership. As family income rises, the number of cars operated and the quality of cars bought rise in proportion.

To a considerable degree, the growth in the automobile population reflects the intense urge that teen-agers have to drive their own cars.

To satisfy that thirst, many families are turning the used car over to junior instead of trading it in when a new car is bought.

In Lamb County, as a result, there has been a 17.6 percent increase in the number of cars in use since 1960. The total has climbed from 8,560 then to the 10,070 listed this year.

The difference represents the net change in the number of cars on the road, after allowing for the number that were scrapped. Nationally, the total junked in the past year amounted to more than 5,500,000, according to industry sources.

The trend toward two-car ownership has been an important factor in the current boom. The Automobile Manufacturers Association reports that 17.7 percent of all families in the United States have two or more cars.
