FATALITIES THIRTY-SIX

Exact Number Killed Will Never Be Known

MANY CREMATED

Charred and Unknown Bodies Rest at Morgue—None Recovered Entire

By Associated Press.

PUEBLO, Colo., March 17.—While the exact number of the lives lost in the Adobe wreck, near Florence, on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, never will be known, it undoubtedly will take rank among great disasters in the history of railroading. Conservative estimates on the loss of life place the number of dead at thirty-six.

Sixteen charred and unrecognizable bodies lie in the Pueblo morgue. Five other persons known to be dead and possibly scores of bodies were burned to ashes. There was not a single entire body recovered from the wreckage with the exception of the engineer, who, although mangled, had not been reached by the flames.

The following names have been added to the list of the known dead:

PATRICK MURPHY, Florence, Colo.

RAY FIELDS, aged 10 years, Keystone, Wyo.

MRS. BELLE WEBB, Keystone, Wyo.

Murphy yesterday was reported among the seriously injured. He had dragged two passengers out of the burning car and when he returned to rescue the third, a gas explosion occurred and he was burned to death.

Mrs. William Burnside and her daughter and grandchild, said to be from some Kansas town, were erroneously included in the death list last night. All the injured will, it is believed, recover. It is not likely that the bodies of any of the other victims can be identified.

Lively, the operator whose failure to deliver the train order resulted in the collision, has not been arrested up to this morning and it is considered probable no action against him will be taken until after the coroner's inquest. Lively says of his failure to deliver the train order:

"I was asleep; that is all."

It is asserted that Lively had worked several days and nights in succession.

PUEBLO, Colo., March 17.—When advised by the [illegible] that night operator at Swallows, [illegible] made a confession [illegible] acknowledged that responsibility for the collision of two passenger trains on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad near Florence early yesterday morning, which resulted in a disastrous wreck. Lively is said to have been in a condition of stupor at the time, owing to a long watch at his post, the local officials of the Denver & Rio Grande denied positively last night having any knowledge of any such confession. It was stated, however, that the operator had assumed a longer shift on the night of the wreck than is usually required of him, but this, it is understood, for reasons only known to himself.

A list of the injured given out by the officials comprised twenty-two names:

The dead:

WALTER COSSLETT, engineer.

W. A. HOLLIS,

H. D. SUDDUTH, fireman on No. 16, Pueblo.

EDWARD E. BAIRD, deputy sheriff, Denver.

MITCHELL'S POLICY SUITS CONVENTION

Mine Workers Are Anxious to Avoid April Strike

Special to The Telegram.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 17.—The special convention of the United Mine Workers' of America yesterday afternoon adopted the following resolution reported by the scale committee:

"Whereas, The President of the United States has requested President Mitchell to make another effort to avert a strike of the coal miners of the country, and

Whereas, President Mitchell has called a convention at the request of the President of the United States, therefore be it

"Resolved, That we heartily indorse the policy and action of President Mitchell in this matter and now hold ourselves in readiness to meet our employers for the purpose of endeavoring to effect a satisfactory settlement of the wage question.

"WELLINGTON O'CONNOR, "Chairman.

"JOHN P. WHITE, "Secretary.

The convention also indorsed the action of the executive board in sustaining the finding of President John Mitchell in the matter of ousting Patrick Dolan and Bellingham from the presidency and vice presidency of district No. 5, Western Pennsylvania.

Only the pleas of President Mitchell and H. Wilson prevented the expulsion of Dolan from the organization.

The two actions followed immediately upon the partial report of the credentials committee, which had included the names of Bellingham and Dolan as delegates.

The anthracite miners' scale committee will make a reply to the anthracite operators' refusal to any of their demands. The document will be drafted by a subcommittee of seven and will be submitted to the committee as a whole before the Indianapolis conference ends. This course of action means that the miners' national convention will not take up the anthracite question in detail. It will, however, indorse the work and plans of the anthracite miners and pledge support.

There are indications that the miners in making their reply will modify some of their demands and thus make another effort for a peaceful settlement.

President Mitchell of the miners and F. L. Robbins, president of the Pittsburg Coal company and a leader among the operators, held a conference today at the national headquarters of the miners. Neither would discuss the subject of their conference.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 17.—Charles Broock, landlord of the Qimby notel, who recently returned from a trip to Germany, his native land, feels elated at having evened scores with a burly second mate who brutally beat him when he was a boy.

"My principal business home was to lick that fellow and I did not begrudge the time it took me to travel the 12,000 miles to do it," he said.

"Twenty-four years ago I was a deck boy on a sailing vessel plying between German ports and this fellow knocked me down and kicked me with his heavy boots for some trifling boyish offense. I told him at the time I would be big enough some day to pay him back and I remembered him all these years.

"I learned that he was boss of a stevedore gang in a village six miles from my native town and I took a carriage over there and found him. I took him to one side and told him who I was. I then proceeded to pay him back the licking he gave me and I gave him twenty-four years' interest. Then I hurried away in the carriage and avoided arrest.

"I learned afterward that the whole town had been terrorized by the fellow and that the people were glad some one had sand enough to give him the licking he deserved."

R. R. Superintendents Recommend Improvement

PLANS INCOMPLETE

Increase in Traffic at Fort Worth Makes Additional Facilities Imperative

Superintendents of the various railroads operating through Fort Worth have recommended to the management of their respective roads the advisability of building a belt railroad at Fort Worth. This statement comes from T. S. McDowell, general superintendent of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, who is here looking after some construction work now in progress on his road.

"The details and route of the proposed belt road have not yet been arranged," stated Mr. McDowell, "and we do not know what action the managements of the roads interested my take in the premises, but it seems to be universally understood that the growth of the traffic being handled through Fort Worth has become so enormous that provisions must be made for handling it more expeditiously.

"Our road is now beginning to build two miles of additional trackage here; two of these tracks will be near the water tank south of the city and the other will be near Dollard. The conditions at Fort Worth have greatly improved since my last visit here. The yards are now in good shape, but we know that it is only a question of time when the conditions we have had all winter will have to be met again, and it is with a view of meeting such conditions that hte belt road proopsition has been recommended. In addition to the additional trackage to be constructed here by the Katy, I understand that the other roads here will also increase their yardage, the total amount probably being between eight and ten miles."

Mr. McDowell states that the Katy is well supplied with coal, but that he does not anticipate a strike. He thinks that some arrangement will be effected next week to bring the operators and miners together.

R. J. Sullivan, division superintendent of the Katy, is with Mr. McDowell.

UNCLE OF THE PRESIDENT ILL

Robert B. Roosevelt Confined to Room in New York

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Robert B. Roosevelt, uncle of the President, is ill at his home here. Mr. Roosevelt's condition became known here when members of the Hudson-Fulton commission of which General Stewart L. Woodford is President, met informally at Mr. Roosevelt's invitation to discuss plans for the celebration, September 12, 1909, of the anniversaries of the discovery of the Hudson river in 1609 and of Robert Fulton's exploits with the steamboat Claremont in 1809. It was said that Mr. Roosevelt was seized yesterday with some rheumatic complaint in the legs, the exact nature of which the physicians did not immediately determine. He is kept to his rooms. His doctors say that the outcome of his illness is uncertain as Mr. Roosevelt is 76 years old and has not much strength.

Mr. Roosevelt was admitted to the bar in 1851, but retired from practice twenty years later. He was a member of congress during 1873-75 and United States minister to the Netherlands in 1888-90. He is the author of several works on fish and game.

At yesterday's meeting of the commission General James Grant Wilson, for Mr. Roosevelt, offered a project as incident to the proposed celebration for the erection on the Battery of a 650-foot column and statue of Henry Hudson. Mr. Roosevelt's idea is to provide 200 rooms in the pillar of the statue to be occupied by city employes as offices.

Dallas Religious Campaign Meeting at Opera House

Special to The Telegram.

DALLAS, Texas, March 17.—Closing yesterday's program in the Chapman evengelistic campaign a short general service was held last night in the Dallas opera house. Probably 1,000 people attended these services and there were about ten who responded to an invitation to accept Christ.

People who had witnessed a production of "The Maid and the Mummy" were invited to remain in their seats for the religious services as soon as the curtain had fallen. Many of them did so and they were joined by another large crowd, which had been waiting outside for the close of the performance.

The services were conducted by Dr. Chapman. Dr. Chapman is a quiet but forceful talker and there was not a minute when the attention of the audience was not riveted on his words.

Last night he told of the greatness of God's love. He talked about twenty minutes, relating incidents or personal experiences in illustration of his arguments. Many of the theatrical performers who had retired to their dressing rooms came out on the balconies and listened.

TELEGRAMS SENT

Texas, Mississippi and Alabama Notified of Supposed Yellow Fever Case

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 17.—A special to the Tribune from New Orleans says:

Health officers of Mississippi and Alabama are in this city to investigate a supposed case of yellow fever on which local physicians have come to no agreement.

Dr. C. H. Irion, president of the state board of health, yesterday furnished the press with the following statement:

"The case of Jules Ebernz was reported to this office as suspicions Monday afternoon, March 12, from the Charity hospital. Drs. Denegre, Martin and J. M. Batcheller diagnosed the case as catarrhal jaundice. Dr. Hamilton Jones, after three days' observation of the case, reports it as yellow fever. The health officers of Mississippi, Alabama and Texas, have been notified as per copy of telegram inclosed."

The case was treated as a suspicious case from the beginning and every precaution taken.

The following was sent to the state health officers of the three adjoining states:

"NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—Committee appointed to investigate suspicious fever cases. Charity hospital differ as to diagnosis. Invite you to come. C. H. IRON, M. D.,

"President State Board of Health."

Dr. Batcheller, house physician of the charity hospital, when asked regarding the case, said that the patient was Jules Ebernz, an oyster shucker, aged 30 years. He was taken to the hospital from a lodging house on March 8, and it was understood that he had been ill for about seven months. Dr. Batcheller stated that he had diagnosed the case as catarrhal jaundice and had seen no reason to alter his diagnosis. He had treated and observed hundreds of cases of yellow fever, and was positive that the patient was not suffering from that disease. Ebernz had been at the hospital for about seven days, and the house physician had ample opportunity to observe his ailment and to satisfy himself as to its nature.

Special to The Telegram.

RICHMOND, Va., March 17.—A pretty young woman stepped up to the ticket office of the Norfolk and Western depot at Norfolk and undertook to purchase a ticket for Richmond. All at once she discovered that she had lost her purse.

She was well dressed, having among her other wearing apparel a beautiful red silk underskirt, the lower ruffle of which showed as she sat for a few minutes in the ladies' waiting room. She struck a bargain with another woman in the room. She would sell the red silk petticoat for enough money to purchase a ticket to Richmond.

The pair retired to the waiting room and soon emerged together, but the silk petticoat had changed owners. The buyer carried the beautiful garment over her arm, while she who had worn it walked up to the ticket office and deposited the necessary amount that would entitle her to make the journey.

NEW YORK, March 17.—John M. Smith, 75 years old, who died in his home in Flatbush, was probably the last survivor in the Seminole war, which raged in Florida from 1835 to 1842. Mr. Smith enlisted as a drummer boy in the Fifth artillery, United States army. In 1840, when only 9 years old, and he had the distinction of having seen and talked with the great Seminole chief, Osceola.

Another remarkable thing about Mr. Smith was that when a young man he sent his discharge papers to Washington and made a formal application to the government for a land grant. His papers were pigeonholed for forty years in Washington before they were returned to him. The land he wished to acquire was the site of what is now a large part of the city of Chicago.

WHO KIDNAPED YOUNG BOZZUFFI?

Murdered Man Identified as One of Captors

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 17.—The police are trying to find the author of a letter received recently by John Bozzuffi, father of Antonio Bozzuffi, who was kidnaped by Italians and held forty-eight hours for a ransom. The letter, bearing skull and cross bones, says:

"Do not think that your son has escaped. We simply did not want to spill innocent blood. We want now the miserable sum of $5,000; otherwise great harm will fall upon your head."

The letter was written in Italian and unsigned. The kidnaping of young Bozzuffi is believed to have been followed by the murder of one of his captors. The body of an Italian found in a canal near Newark, N. J., was identified by the boy as that of one of the men who held him a prisoner.

MINE SITUATION HAMPERS STOCKS

Week in Market of East Mostly Professional

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Stocks have been left to professional dealers and fluctuations have been narrow and irregular during the week in Wall street. The rise in money rates without checking the upward course of foreign exchange has disappointed the hope of effectual relief for the money market by gold imports. With the interior demand for currency still undetermined the money outlook is regarded as too uncertain to justify extensive speculative commitments. The coal miners' contention still undecided, is a repressive influence. The supreme court decisions strengthening official powers over corporations add influence to the wide current agitation on the subject. The slow market for bonds is suggestive of an over supply of capital issues.

CONVICTS REVOLT

Are Dragged Chained Together Across Field and Finally Submit

Special to The Telegram.

WAYNESBORO, Ga., March 17.—Thirty convicts confined in camp near this place, who revolted on account of alleged bad treatment, were dragged while chained together by four mules until they submitted.

The convicts, all chained together, were in a large tent, used as sleeping quarters. This morning when ordered to turn out for work they refused, saying they were brutally treated.

They also threatened to kill any keeper who approached them. Superintendent of Convicts Palmer hurried to the scene, and tried to induce the rebels to yield, but failed. Then Palmer resorted to the mule remedy. He had four large mules hitched to the center pole of the tent, to which the convicts were chained. Then whips were used on the mules and they sprang off, dragging the tent pole and convicts over the field. Superintendent Palmer continued to lash the mules, and for fully twenty minutes the convicts were bumped over focus and ridges that covered the grounds. The prisoners began to howl for mercy, but Superintendent Palmer kept up the dragging process until the convicts were thoroughly subdued, and after the dragging was stopped one convict sprang at the superintendent and was shot.

the convicts allege that they were served unfit food. It is said that when a legislative committee visited the camp Monday certain members expressed some sympathy for the convicts, and this caused the outbreak.

STORK COMES NOT DOCTOR MOBBED

Angry New York Women Cause Arrest of Faith Healer

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, March 17.—A group of excited women gathered in front of 343 East Seventeenth street today. Some of them shook their fists at one of the front windows and shouted: "Humbug, come out here." The crowd had grown to a considerable size when Policeman Heany got wind of it and strolled up.

"He promised me a baby. He got my good money, but I got no baby," explained one of the women to whom the policeman spoke.

Other women gathered about the "cop" and said they had been swindled in their plans to induce the stork to visit their homes. Heany counted fifteen of the aggrieved women and they told him that there were about forty others.

Sounds of strife next came out from the first floor hallway, and the policeman went inside to investigate. There were a dozen men in there. They were the husbands of the angry women on the sidewalk. They wanted the policeman to arrest Julius Benjamin, who had an office in the building.

"What did he do?" asked the policeman.

"He told my wife he'd bring a boy for her, as he had God in his house," said Heyman Goldfarb, a clothier.

"He promised to cure my wife without medicine or an operation," said Isidore Richter, a law clerk. Richter said he would make a complaint that the man had obtained money under false pretenses from him.

The policeman then arrested Benjamin, who was nearly mobbed by the angry women when he reached the sidewalk.

Benjamin is 33 years old. He is a good looking chap with black eyes and a pointed black beard, and he is a plausible talker. He is a Russian Jew and says that he is a faith healer by profession. A maid dressed in white ushers in the patients or customers. On some days, it is said, there are more than 100 men and women waiting to consult Benjamin.

The policeman set off for the Yorkville police court with his prisoner, and a dozen of the women, some with their husbands, went along. The apparel of the women indicated prosperity.

Benjamin charged $2 a visit and it is said some of the women have made hundreds of visits to him.

The magistrate held Benjamin in $1,000 bail for trial.

PLOT AGAINST PREM. WITTE

Jews Unable to Communicate With Minister

NO MERCY SHOWN

Gendarmerie Backs Mobs to Slaughter Refugees at Russian Seaports

By Associated Press.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 17.—There is already evidence that only a check and not a defeat has been administered to the revolutionists who are conducting the anti-Semitic agitation.

Premier Witte, after he had forced the decision of the cabinet to suppress the agitation knowing the ability of his opponents, took the precaution privately to ask the Jewish leaders to notify him instantly whenever Jewish inhabitants of any locality were threatened in order to place him in a position to insist that measures be taken to protect them. The Jewish leaders, however, now charge that the reactionary clique, with the connivance of the sympathetic local governors general, are boldly arranging to block such warnings. Leaders claim to have proof that orders have been given at special places, specifically citing Vitebsk, West Russia, not to transmit messages to the premier warning him of any imminence of trouble.

It is further charged, but proof is lacking, that this was done with the knowledge of Interior Minister Durnovo. It has been established that Count Podgorichanie, chief of the gendarmerie of Gomel, West Russia, who armed a mob there, while ostentatiously dismissed by M. Durnovo, was in reality only transferred to a better post at Yalta, Crimea.

In spite of the official denial of the shooting of undesirable refugees sent back to Russia from England, private information has been obtained tending to partially support the charge. Many refugees were sent to the Baltic ports, where the authorities were showing no mercy to the revolutionists, despite the emperor's instructions to display greater leniency. When the refugees disembarked, having fled from Russia without passports, they were regarded as susnects and some of them given short shrift.

New York Life Trustees Oppose Legal Action to Recover Fund

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 17.—The World today says:

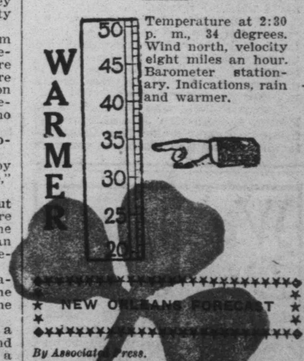

Opposition has arisen among the trustees of the New York Life Insurance Company to the proposed suits against the estate of John A. McCall to recover the "yellow dog" funds he gave to Andrew Hamilton and the $148,000 of policy holders' money he contributed to the republican national campaign in 1896, 1900 and 1904. It was said yesterday that this opposition was so strong that it would be able to defeat the proposition to sue.

It developed yesterday that the members of the finance committee, who served at the times the campaign payments were made, have about completed a plan to make good the total amount out of their own pockets.

The opposition to suing the estate of McCall has become so open that it is said the trustees favoring such action will not dare to bring before the trustees a resolution authorizing the procedure. Such a resolution will be necessary for authorization has only been given so far to sue McCall personally.

But no matter what may be done with reference to the McCall estate, suits will be brought against Hamilton for restitution.

MILLIONAIRES TURN SOCIALISTS

Group of Wealthy Young Men Leaders of Radical Set

Mr. Stokes was asked if he did not consider it remarkable that so many wealthy young men were embracing a theory at war with the very conditions which made their wealth possible.

"No," he replied calmly. "It means that some young men are spending their time thinking for the good of our republic, instead of pursuing the poor pleasures that riches make possible. I think this is a potent sign of an awakening among the people of all classes to the abuses of the day and hour in politics and business life."

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Will the socialist party be made a power in American politics by the sons of millionaires?

Paradoxical as it may seem, many of the young men who are heading the movement for a radical socialist propaganda in this country are heirs to vast fortunes.

The fact was emphasized by the recent attempt of radicals to get on a common ground at a meeting at the Brick House, the palatial country home of J. G. Phelps Stokes, as well as by the announcement of Joe Medill Patterson of Chicago that he had embraced the socialist creed.

If socialism were voted into force and its tenets accepted it would strike at the fortunes of some of the wealthiest families in the country and with their radical members themselves leading the attack.

Stokes, for instance, is the son of Anson Phelps Stokes, Wall street capitalist and multimillionaire, now retired. Robert Hunter, another socialist student, married one of Anson Phelps Stokes' daughters, wealthy in her own right. He is a settlement worker, and is the author of "Poverty," a book in which he makes the remarkable statement that 10,000,000 Americans are starving today—that is, under-nourished, because they have not means to buy the necessities of life.

Gaylord Wilshire, although he inherited millions, has long been a socialist and conducted a monthly magazine which essays to be an authority on the subject.

William Kent, a Chicago millionaire, who has his fortune invested in such a way that the returns will not exceed 3 per cent, made his ideas conspicuous at the recent Stokes congress.

Another wealthy radical is Arthur Brisbane, who inherited his fortune and is now the highest paid newspaper writer in the world, his salary being $42,000 a year. Brisbane attends fashionable society functions one day and rabidly attacks the treasurers of American wealth the next.

Joe Medill Patterson, son of the owner of the Chicago Tribune, who resigned his office under Mayor Dunne because he believed that even municipal ownership would fall short of effecting political reforms, while socialism would, was asked if he intended to divide his fortune with the poor. He explained that this would do no good, for the equalization of wealth must be accompanied by an equitable distribution of the sources of wealth, and that the whole body politic must agree; no individual effort would accomplish the desired end.

Everett Colby, the Wall street banker recently elected state senator in New eJrsey after a campaign in which he attacked corporation greed and espoused the cause of equal taxation, has expressed his belief that in a modified form and with proper education of the masses, socialism would work a great national reform.

There are half a dozen other wealthy young men who are more or less identified with the radical movement and attended the Stokes meeting. One of these is George Fred Williams, who is a former member of congress and a well-known Boston lawyer.

Young Stokes, who married Rose Pastor, the Russian Jewess who was formerly a cigar maker in a Cleveland factory, denies that his recent congress was for the purpose of forming a new political party on socialistic lines. It was merely for an exchange of views upon general conditions, he said.

COLLISION ON LA. AND ARK. RY.

One Man Dead, Two Seriously Injured

Special to The Telegram.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 17.—A message received here from Minden states that freight trains Nos. 203 and 175 on the Louisiana and Arkansas railroad had a head-on collision at 7 o'clock this morning at Long Springs, as a result of a misunderstainding of orders.

Frank Giles, a negro fireman, on train No. 203, was pinned between the engine and tender and instantly killed.

W. L. Winchester, the white fireman of train No. 175, had his right arm crushed off at the elbow.

H. B. Morgan, conductor of train No. 175, was crushed and probably fatally hurt.

METHODISTS TO SPEND $100,000

Plans for Handsome Church Are Accepted

WILL SEAT 2000 PEOPLE

Gray Pressed Brick Structure to Be Erected at Lot Corner of Seventh and Taylor Streets

The committee on plans for the new Methodist church met Friday afternoon and accepted the plans drawn by Smith & Schwenk. The plans accepted call for the erection of a building which itself will cost over $75,000 and which with its interior fittings will cost nearly $100,000.

The new church at Seventh and Taylor streets will be one of the most beautiful structures in the south. It will be finished in strict classic style and will be built of gray pressed brick, trimmed with stone. The entrance will be on Seventh street and will have six large Corinthian columns, supporting a pediment in the same style. The entrance will be directly behind the pulpit and entrance to the auditorium will be by means of two passageways, one to each side of the church. The plans are made for the erection of two balconies in the church, one on either side, but it is not certain as yet whether these balconies will be built at first.

Directly behind the church will be the Sunday school room, which will be so arranged that it can be thrown open and made a part of the church proper. The Sunday school auditorium will also have a balcony, with small rooms for the various classes on the main floor and the balcony alike.

The seating capacity of the church, including the Sunday school, will be about sixteen hundred. When the balconies are built in the church the capacity will be about two thousand.

The committee in charge of the selection of plans was composed of Rev. Alonzo Monk, pastor; Q. T. Moreland, A. J. Anderson, J. B. Baker, C. Conner and H. B. Francis.

$3,000 VERDICT IN DAMAGE SUIT

Case Resulting From North Ft Worth Collision Decided

The $15,000 damages case of Henrietta Robertson vs. Northern Texas Traction Company and the St. Louis and Francisco Railroad Company was given to the jury in the Seventeenth district court at noon Saturday and a verdict was reached in thirty minutes against the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad Company for $3,000.

This is one of the twenty-seven damage suits that followed a collision between a Traction Company car and a Frisco freight train on the north side Feb. 2, 1905, and it is the sixth case that has been tried. Notion of motion for a new trial was given. The case as to the Traction Company was dismissed on motion of plaintiff.

VETERANS HAVE INVESTIGATION

Confederate Home Discussed in Executive Session

Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, March 17.—The investigation at the State Confederate Veterans' Association is in progress behind closed doors. Your correspondent was refused admission into the inquisitorial chamber this morning by the investigating committee.

Dr. Tucker, speaking for the committee, said: "You will learn what we have found out when General Van Zandt gets our report, but not until that time."

Superintendent Chenoweth of the home is also denied admission into the star chamber, where the investigation is being held. The superintendent informed the committee that he was glad that it was here to make investigation, and, if it found that he was not doing his complete duty, that his resignation would be placed in their hands at once; on the other hand, if the committee found that there was nothing the matter with the management of the home, then the committee should be kicked out.

The committee is calling on every member of the home in alphabetical order, and they are catechised as to their treatment and the manner in which the state provides for them. Every member of the home is given an opportunity to testify. Under this arrangement the committee will be in session for at least a week. It expects to finish up in two days.

It is hoped that the recommendations of the committee will favor military discipline for the home. The investigation is being conducted by four members of the committee, Colonel Weeks reporting for duty this morning.

The cause of the investigation comes from the Hunt county regiment, which is not identified with the State Confederate Veterans' Association.

CLOUDS SAVE FRUIT TREES

Freezing Line Extends Below This City

Cloudy weather Friday night again saved the fruit crop in this section of the country, when the temperature went down to 30 degrees. Cloudy weather probably kept the temperature from going lower and forming a white frost.

The freezing line on Friday's map extends to south of Fort Worth and goes almost on a direct line east through Birmingham and then turns northward, showing that the temperatures through the entire south are low.

Railroad offices report cloudy and slightly warmer weather east to Marshall with probable rain. West to El Paso it is cloudy with a cold north wind. Cloudy but slightly warmer weather is reported to Whitesboro with rain threatening.

Along the Denver Road, partly cloudy with light northwest wind and low temperature is reported.

Official statement of conditions is as follows:

The low barometer area over the extreme northeast continues to cause snow in the east lake regions. Another low pressure center is noted over the extreme southwest, causing warmer, unsettled conditions.

The cold wave center is over eastern Kansas, causing generally fair cold weather throughout the middle Missouri valley. The 30 degree temperature extends as far south as Fort Worth and Atlanta. Snow is falling in the Tennessee mountains.

COURT REFUSES COS'. PETITION

State Wins Decision Against Express Companies

Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, March 17.—Judge V. L. Brooks of the Twenty-sixth district court today, in the express injunction cases, refused to give express companies a writ of injunction to restrain the state from collecting the taxes due under the Kennedy tax law. The suit was also to determine the amount of taxes due by express companies under this act. The court says:

"After hearing the evidence, I have concluded that the facts shown do not warrant the granting of the relief prayed for."

Continuing, the court says: "The reason why such relief should not be granted, even conceding the correctness of complainants' construction of the law, is that none of respondents are now claiming that complainants is due the state any occupation taxes or penalties for any part of the year 1905 and none of them will institute suit against complainant to recover any such taxes or penalties, even if they are not restrained from so doing."

The court further says that the sole question sought to be raised is: "Has the attorney general given the proper construction to the statutes." On this point the court says he knows of no authority which would warrant the restraining of the attorney general from bringing the suit contemplated, even if it be conceded that his construction of the law is incorrect and that he could not, for that reason, recover in the suit when brought.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Have You Rheumatism, Kidney, Liver or Bladder Trouble?

To Prove What Swamp-Root, the Great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy, Will Do for YOU, All Our Readers May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Free by Mail

Pain or dull ache in the back is unmistakable evidence of kidney trouble. It is Nature's timely warning to show you that the track of health is not clear.

If these danger signals are unheeded, more serious results are sure to follow; Bright's disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble, may steal upon you.

The mild and the extraordinary effect of the world-famous kidney and bladder remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. A trial will convince any one—and you may have a sample bottle free, by mail.

Lame Back

Lame back is only one of many symptoms of kidney trouble. Other symptoms showing that you need Swamp-Root are, being obliged to pass water often during the day and to get up many times during the night, inability to hold your urine, smarting or irritation in passing, brick dust or sediment in the urine, catarrh of the bladder, uric acid, occasional headache, dizziness, poor digestion, sleeplessness, nervousness, sometimes the heart beats badly, rheumatism, bloating, irritability, wornout feeling, lack of ambition, loss of flesh, sallow complexion.

If your water when allowed to remain undisturbed in a glass or bottle for twenty-four hours, forms a sediment or settling, or has a cloudy appearance, it is evidence that your kidneys and bladder need immediate attention.

In taking Swamp-Root you afford natural help to Nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect healer and gentle aid to the kidneys that is known to medical science.

In order to prove the wonderful merits of Swamp-Root you may have a sample bottle and a book of valuable information, both sent absolutely free by mail. The book contains many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women cured. The value and success of Swamp-Root is so well known that our readers are advised to send for a sample bottle. In sending your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co. Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say you read this generous offer in The Fort Worth Daily Telegram. The genuineness of this offer is guaranteed.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at drug stores everywhere. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

DELAY GRANTED

Elliot F. Shepard's Auto Case in Paris Virtually Compromised

By Associated Press.

PARIS, March 17.—The authorities today granted six months' delay in the case of Elliot F. Shepard of New York, who was sentenced to pay a fine and be imprisoned for running over and killing a girl while driving in an automobile at Stouen, in April last. This is considered a virtual abandonment of the imprisonment part of the sentence.

FORT WORTH TO GIVE INVITATION

1907 Convention Button to Flood Dallas

Fort Worth's delegation to the cattlemen's convention is already beginning to go to Dallas, ready to extend a hearty invitation to the organization to return to this city, a movement to which there is scarcely any opposition.

The buttons to be worn at Dallas by the adherents of the Fort Worth proposition for the cattle raisers' convention in 1907 have arrived, but will not be given out until the convention convenes in Dallas Monday morning. The buttons are substantial oval-shaped, about two and a half inches long and an inch and a half wide and are printed in blue, bearing the words, "We Are for Fort Worth in 1907." The words "Fort Worth" are in big letters, as are also 1907.

About fifteen hundred of the buttons have been made.

But for some trouble and sorrow we should never know half the good there is about us.—Dickens.

JUDGE SWELLS CHARITY FUND

Money to Aid Children Given in Court

Three children left without anyone to take them back to their home in Abilene, because of the fact that their mother had been sent to jail in default of bond by the Federal court, brought pity to the hearts of the Federal court officers and lawyers Saturday morning and a collection was taken up in order to provide for sending them back to their home. Judge E. R. Meek and the officers of the court all contributed to the fund.

The children were brought from Abilene Saturday morning with their mother and their sister, Mrs. A. E. Guest and Lena Guest by Deputy Marshal Duncan of the Abilene district. The older women were under indictment charging sending obscene matter through the mails.

The bond of each was set at $250 by the court, and the mother, in default of bond, was sent to jail. The bond of the girl, who is only 14 years of age, was made by Williams Capps and she was released. The children are all girls of a young age and the collection was made in order to return them to their home in Abilene.

Deputy Marshal Duncan also brought in under capias John Hagar, Loncie Tucker and Ira Tucker, indicted on charges of injurying United States rural free delivery boxes. They made bond of $100 each.

The case of T. A. Rains vs. Armour & Co. and others is still on trial.

COMPETITION FOR CHICAGO SALOON

Church to Establish Places to Attract City Youth

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 17.—A social settlement designed to compete directly with neighboring saloons and dance halls, offering opportunities for refreshment as well as club rooms, a gymnasium and indoor games, is to be built by the Second Baptist church, Morgan and Monroe streets, of which the Rev. John Roach Straton is the pastor. Within a radius of three blocks of the church there are eighty-three saloons. With these and with their accompanying dance halls and dives the settlement will contend for the favor of the thousands of young men and women who live in the boarding houses which occupy the greater part of the region.

The settlement is to be a memorial to Mrs. Elizabeth Aiken, familiarly known as "Aunt Lizzie" Aiken, who was an army nurse during the civil war and during the forty years from that time until her death last January was connected with the Second church as city missionary. By her will she bequeathed $3,000 the savings of a lifetime, to the church. It has been determined to make this amount the nucleus of the settlement enterprise and in her memory the settlement will be known as the "Aunt Lizzie Aiken Memorial Institute."

A building to cost $100,000 will be erected on land immediately adjoining the church edifice, where the settlement will be conducted under distinctly Christian auspices.

STOPPED THE WEDDING

Elopement Wedding of 14-Year-Old Savannah, Ga., Girl Halted

Special to The Telegram.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 17.—The course of true love received a rude shock last night when E. A. Turner and 14-year-old Pearl Coleman was thrust apart at the altar where they hoped to wed.

As the fateful words were about to be pronounced by the Rev. Robert Vandeventer, the mother of the would-be bride rushed into the room and striking apart the two hands that were about to be clasped in the marriage vow she forbade the rite.

The girl fell fainting to the floor and the groom stood dazed at this frustration of his long planned elopement.

Dr. Vandeventer held the marriage license in his hands. Mrs. Coleman seized it and then defied the minister to proceed. Dr. Vandeventer begged her to allow the wedding ceremony to go on.

She refused and after the girl had been revived took her home.

San Antonio Owner to Farm 10,000 Acres Near Cotulla

Special to The Telegram.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 17.—Colonel J. D. Woodward of this city recently visited the town of Cotulla, between here and Laredo, where his ranch is located, five miles from the former place. On his place, Colonel Woodward is preparing to put into cultivation approximately 10,000 acres. One of the best artesian wells in south Texas is on this ranch. The well is not yet finished, but at a depth of 1,100 feet, is said to be flowing fifty gallons per minute. Drilling is being continued in the belief that a flow of 400 gallons per minutes will be had before the well is 100 feet deeper.

It is hoped to secure by popular subscription $30,000. The statue will represent Mr. Jefferson in the familiar character of Rip Van Winkle, and will be a life-size bronze figure, mounted on a granite pedestal. The Lincoln Historical Society will act as treasurer for the commission.

ACREAGE INCREASED

Cameron County Territory Raising More Cotton This Year

Special to The Telegram.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, March ...—In the territory adjacent to Sarita, a small town of Cameron county, last year there were 1,200 acres of land in cultivation, about one-third of which was in cotton; but this year the acreage is estimated at 2,300 acres. Of this 1,500 acres will be in cotton, 320 in watermelons, 150 in potatoes and the remainder in small vegetables and feedstuffs. Acreage as stated does not include many orchards planted this year, embracing oranges, pineapples and nuts.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

THE BRIDE OF THE MANIAC

Lost in Darksome Galleries She Found Delivery in Death

There was at that time in our employ, as viewer or overseer, a man of the name of Timmins, a good workman, but of a reserve and morose temper and with whom the men did not care to meddle. About this time the smallpox commenced its ravages dreadfully among the miners and Timmins' wife, to whom he was devotedly attached, became one of the first victims, being carried off in a short time.

This loss seemed to have quite changed the man. From a stern religionist he turned to drink, and no one was more reckless, more debauched and degraded.

His employers finally were obliged to tell him that at the end of the week he would be discharged.

He went to his work, and after a day or so he was missed, and when pay night came he did not appear at the table, so the cashier said:

"I suppose Timmins is drunk again; he'll come some other time."

But the men shook their heads darkly, and said among themselves they never thought any good would come of Black Jack Timmins.

About this time there was appointed to our mine a new manager, Mr. Woodward soon showed himself a clever man, and from the kindness and geniality of his temper made himself beloved among the men, a race always grateful for kindness. His daughter Meta was 17, and possessed one of those charming faces which to look at is to love.

They arrived in the new shaft one afternon and, after the cage had been arranged, Mr. Woodward, his daughter, and a miner named Baccuu descended. They were provided with candles and, arriving at the bottom, proceeded to visit the men. heir several workings and were thinking of returning when just as they came into an intercepting gallery a violent gust of wind extinguished all their candles and left them in perfect darkness.

For the first few moments no one spoke, and then Mr. Woodward encouraged his daughter by telling her that there could be no possible danger, as all they would have to do was to keep straight forward and they would come to the end of the shaft, and most likely some of the men would meet or overtake them, whe they would procure a light. When they had entered the pit with their lights they were full of confidence; the way seemed short, but now in the pitchy, Egyptian darkness, it seemed as if they would never find their way out. Minutes seemed lengthened into hours, and still they walked and walked and seemed no nearer their destination. At length Meta's delicate frame succumbed.

Raising the young girl between them, they again essayed to find their way. But soon the road became rough and broken, and they now realized that they had indeed wandered from the right track and were lost in the old galleries.

Hours passed and still no signs of the promised assistance; their strength began to fail, for where is there anything that robs one of all strength of purpose and of body as when the bright goddess hope takes her departure? It was just at the moment when Mr. Woodward felt his senses leave him with anguish when Meta exclaimed:

"Papa! is that a star I see shinning in the distance?"

They looked and beheld a faint glimmer of light. Hope immediately sprang up again in their minds.

They raised a feeble shout, but far from answering their hoped of expediting the assistance they stood so much in need of, it seemed to have a contrary effect, for the light immediately disappeared.

Shortly the light began to glimmer again, and presently they could perceive a figure approaching them—it was that of a man almost a skeleton. His black locks hung down to his waist, whilst in his eyes the fire of religionist he turned to drink, and no one was more reckless, more debauched and degraded.

His employers finally were obliged to tell him that at the end of the week he would be discharged.

Shortly the light began to glimmer again, and presently they could perceive a figure approaching them—it was that of a man almost a skeleton. His black locks hung down to his waist, whilst in his eyes the fire of "Black Jack," whispered Baccuu. And then they heard the madman exclaim:

"Who is it that invades my last home? Who, after taking all I held dear, drove me from the earth, and even in hell can't let me rest?"

He approached and suddenly his eyes fell on Meta, lying on the ground insensible.

"Mary, my darling, are you returned to comfort me?—you come back to—He, ha! I see the halo around her head. Man or devils shan't part us! And rushing forward he raised the fainting girl in his arms and fled swiftly away.

The two men followed as quickly as they could, guided by the sound of the maniac's footsteps and the occasional glimmer of his lamp. After their exhaustion they were no match for the frenzied speed of the maniman.

They gradually lost him, but still keeping on in the same direction they saw a gleam of light, and presently arrived at the foot of an old unused shaft. To the side of this shaft there had been ladders fixed down by which the miners in the olden time ascended as well as descended into the pit, but they were decayed and frail. Nevertheless it was evident that up this dangerous ascent the maniac had fled with his burden.

The two looked at each other in dismay and then they prepared to ascend. After a struggle they reached the top, and the first thing that met their eyes was Meta lying on the floor, insensible, and Timmins emerging from a ruined outhouse with a vessel of water in his hand. He advanced toward the form of the unconscious girl, but his eyes fell upon the approaching figures of the two men.

"Damn you!" he exclaimed, "you shan't part us again—she is mine—my beautiful—my bride!"

And before the agonized father or the astonished miner could interfere he had seized the poor girl in his arms, rushed to the mouth and jumped down full 300 feet, whence the mangled bodies of the maniac and his victim were taken out that night.

IMBODEN'S WEAKEST ORGAN

Leonard B. Imboden, former Fort Worth financier and bank promoter, has again passed within penitentiary walls, and with shaven head and striped garb, takes up the life which the law of the land says must be led by those who are convicted of a felony.

Imboden's stomach has revolted at the quality of the food furnished him at the Colorado state penitentiary, and for several meals he has pushed his plate back and left its contents untasted. It seems that he cannot as yet make up his mind to bring himself down to the diet of a penitentiary convict, but lies on his back in a cell and studies the top of the thing that stands between himself and the blessings of freedom.

He cannot eat, but that busy brain can go on and on in its interminable thinking. The restless mind can concoct new schemes and plans of daring operations that may again astonish the world when this nervous Texan is given his liberty and permitted to resume the battle of life. When that will be no one is prepared to say. Imboden believes he will be released in September, but the impression in Colorado is he will be there for some time yet.

Imboden says he is innocent. He says if he had been given opportunity he could have straightened out the affairs of the bank he is charged with wrecking, and depositors would not have lost one cent. He points to the fact that he went to Denver voluntarily to answer the charges against him, and insists that after his arrival there he was sent to state prison in order that popular clamor might be appeased, and that justice will yet be done him.

Perhaps so. But at this distance it looks as if the Texas man has succeeded in getting himself squarely in the middle of a very bad fix, and will have to pay the full penalty. There is not usually much mercy extended to men who are found guilty of bank wrecking.

CROWDING THE CATTLEMEN

The great stream of immigration that is pouring into Texas every day is rapidly settling up the waste places, but it is exerting a very bad effect on the live stock industry of this state as it has been conducted in past years. The settlers that are going into West Texas in an almost endless stream are forcing the cattle interests further west until many are finding it necessary to cross the Rio Grande.

Big pasture after big pasture has given away before the ruthless march of the man with the hoe, until as a matter of fact he has every thing his own way as far west as the Pecos. Abilene is located in the midst of what was one of the finest cow countries on the face of the earth twenty-five years ago, but the cow business has played out in the Abilene country today, and its people are very largely given over to the production of cotton. It is true there are still a great many cattle in the Abilene country, but the cattle business of that section is now conducted like it is in Tarrant county and other sections, that long ago surrendered the branding iron to take up the plow share.

In the country about Colorado City the cattlemen made their next stand and for a time things went on swimmingly. But one evil day a Kaufman county man arrived upon the scene and concluded to plant a little cotton by way of experiment. He managed to make a bale the first year, and it created a genuine commotion. For weeks it was displayed in a big bank window, and men gazed upon it as almost a great natural curiosity. That bale of cotton was the advance guard of nearly 20,000 shipped to market from Colorado City last season. One of the greatest cow towns in the state has been suddenly transformed into the other extreme, and many of the old time cowmen who once made their homes in Colorado City have moved still further west and others are preparing to follow.

Out in the Midland country the cowmen have had things their own way so long that they have been content to rest in a state of fancied security. They have never conceded that things could be raised out there without irrigation, but the man with the hoe invaded the Midland country last year, and he did so well a cotton gin has been built in the town of Midland. Land is being bought for agricultural purposes, and recently one of the largest cowmen in the Midland country bought a new ranch down on the Pecos, which is to be stocked from his Midland ranch, and is preparing to let that institution pass into the hands of the man with the hoe just as fast as he is able to put up the necessary collateral.

Out in the Pecos country the man with the hoe has already arrived, and has been doing things for several years with systems of irrigation. So it may be truly said that the man with the hoe is today chopping weeds on the east bank of the Pecos, and looking for a convenient place to locate a crossing. When the state school lands were placed on the market last year a number of these hardy men with the hoe attempted to gain foothold in El Paso county, and they were only turned back by the interposition of the absolute lease line.

Cattlemen are taking the situation good naturedly. They are meeting the demand for farming lands all over that western country by cutting up their ranches and selling them in small tracts, and some of them are looking for other locations in Mexico, while still others are moving to the larger Texas cities and preparing to go into different lines of business. The man with the hoe seems to be completely master of the situation. He is doing things all over West Texas.

INDEPENDENT COMMISSION FIRMS

Among the matters to come up for consideration at the Dallas meeting of the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas will be the advanced commission charges that have been inaugurated at Missouri river markets, and it is probable that Texas will lead off in this matter in the usual vigorous Texas style. It will be remembered that Judge Sam H. Cowan of this city, in a recent conference with commission men in Kansas City, not only told the commission men that stockmen would not submit to these advanced charges but that they would organize independent commission companies if necessary, and also ascertain if the existing live stock exchanges are being operated contrary to the law in the matter of their arbitrary agreements. Judge Cowan is attorney for both the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas and the American National Live Stock association, and is consequently in position to know just what he is talking about. It is known that the commission men do not propose to recede from their position and already the movement for independent companies is under way. The Denver News says:

As a result of the friction that has arisen between western cattlemen and members of the Omaha Live Stock exchange over a threatened increase in commissions to be charged for the sale of live stock it is probable that Colorado and Wyoming stockmen may unite to form a Denver Live Stock exhcange as a rival to that of the Nebraska city.

The establishment of new and larger packing houses in Denver has added to this city's desirability as a cattle market and many of the largest cattle raisers of the western states are anxious to have independent exchanges for the sale of cattle in Denver. Some weeks ago the Missouri river exchanges gave notice that they would exact an increase in commissions of $2 a car for all stock sold by them, the new rates to take effect April 1.

While the committee from the American National Live Stock association was on its way home from Washington last Saturday it stopped over in Omaha and discussed the matter with members of the Omaha Live Stock exchange. They declined to pay the advance demanded by the Omaha brokers, and gave the latter ten days in which to determine what course they would pursue.

"We cannot afford to pay the exorbitant commissions demanded by the Missouri river exchanges," said a member of the executive committee of the American association yesterday, "and in case they insist on having their pound of flesh we will withdraw from the exchanges and found an independent one of our own. We feel the venture would be successful and will go to it if we are driven by the greed of the Missouri river men."

It is evident from these expressions from the Denver paper that the western stockmen are thoroughly in earnest, and the commission men are up against the real thing in the attempted enforcement of the advanced charges which are scheduled to go into effect April 1. That the Texas stockmen have not already taken the threatened action is doubtless owing to the fact that it has been determined to await the coming together of the big association in annual convention, when every detail of the situation will be gone into carefully and there will be united and intelligent action.

The Dallas meeting promises to be a most interesting one, from the fact that there are sure to be some very interesting developments along the line indicated. The Texas cattlemen have reached the point where they feel they cannot submit to any impositions, and these advanced commission charges are only regarded in that light. The matter is going to be thoroughly thrashed out at Dallas, unless there is an unexpected hitch in the present program, and there is going to be some talk given out that will have the bark on it.

BRYAN STILL THE LEADER

Notwithstanding the constant efforts being made within the Democratic party to discredit William J. Bryan, and bring other men of national prominence to the front as prospective Democratic leaders, the masses of the Democratic party absolutely refuse to be swerved from their allegiance to the great commoner.

Judge Alton B. Parker, the man who led the party to one of the most disastrous defeats it has ever experienced, is said to have expressed the opinion that George B. McClelland is the most available man for the Democratic presidential nomination, but the suggestion will not carry much weight.

The masses of the Democratic party are not looking for a successful ward politician or Tammany heeler as a leader. They expect and demand that the man who is honored with that position shall have some of the elements of leadership and all the attributes of statesmanship. They will be satisfied with nothing short of the fullest measure that can be acquired in this direction.

It is for this reason that William J. Bryan still stands at the head of the Democratic party in this nation. He has proven his statesmanship and his interest in the toiling masses. It may be true he has twice led his party to defeat, but the indications all seem to denote that he is going to be given another opportunity.

Hell Roaring Jake Smith lost his army command because he took no prisoners. General Wood received Presidential commendation.

April 1, is rapidly drawing near, and it is the time set for the beginning of what threatens to become one of the biggest labor strikes in the history of the country, the effects of which may be far-reaching in the extreme. In the mean time, the public fondly hopes that moderation and conservatism will rule the conference now in progress, and the threatened dangers may be entirely averted.

Get ready for the pure food show. That is the next thing on the tapis, and it is a matter in which all citizens are equally interested.

This is the day when every patriotic son of the "ould sod" is expected to show his true colors by honoring the memory of Ireland's patron saint. And even nature seems to be in hearty sympathy with the custom, for already she is showing a "trifle of the grane."

Fort Worth extends greetings to the executive committee of the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas, now in session in Dallas, and trusts that every meeting held during the coming year will be at home, right here in Fort Worth—cowmen's official headquarters.

That Dallas man who came to Fort Worth and invested $40,000 in a Main street business lot and will soon begin work on a handsome three-story building, is a man of very sound judgment. Other citizens of Dallas can still find a few more such tempting opportunities.

The press is the molder of public opinion and stands as the bulwark of the people in the enjoyment of all personal liberties. And the press should do its plain duty in the premises.

General Wood's explanation in regard to the wholesale killing of Moro men, women and children, saying that it was necessary to slay indiscriminately, doesn't exactly satisfy right-thinking Americans, and an investigation by the war department is not unlikely. If the matter is thoroughly looked into he President's long time favorite may take a little slide down the toboggan of public estimation.—Sherman Register.

The people of the United States have been greatly shocked by the reported butchery of women and children in the Philippines, and nothing that General Wood has said is calculated to remove the general impression that a great wrong was committed.

The press of the state seems disposed to indulge in some very caustic criticism concerning the attorney general's department at Austin, but that fact does not seem to inspire the numerous office assistants with any desire to get busy.—Fort Worth Telegram.

Has The Telegram no mercy? Just think of the amount of work those office assistants are required to do in construing the Terrell election law! And still the questions pile up on them.—Houston Post.

There are matters of more moment to the people of Texas than explanations of the gaseous principles of the Terrell law, and the attorney general's department should take due notice and govern itself accordingly.

The personal friends, and they are many, of C. K. Bell will deeply sympathise with him in this hour of bereavement. His devotion to his mother has been most beautiful. For her comfort he has struggled and for her happiness he has lived. He shared with her his every thought and at her knees, even in mature manhood, he would kneel to say his prayers. He counted no sacrifice too great for the dear old mother. At the advanced age of 78 years she has fallen in sleep and the devoted son is indeed bereft of his dearest friend.—Waco Times-Herald.

Judge Bell's life has been devoted to the aged mother, who has been gathered to her reward, and his devotion, to her was as sincere as it was beautiful. And the man who loves his mother—the man who never forgets the duties he owes her, but always tenders to her all the homage of his nature, is always one of God's own noblemen. And such is Judge Charles K. Bell.

Magnetized Man

MENTONNE, Minn., March 16.—Jared Jewel of Mentonne, is quite low today with pneumonia, but his physician, G. G. Stown, is confident that he will recover, and, if he does so, Mr. Jewel will be glad to have suffered from the accident that brought on the pneumonia, because of the greater trouble it will have freed him from.

A year ago last summer, Mr. Jewel was struck by lightning while hoeing potatoes in his garden, and, although he did not seem to have suffered any particular physical injury from the shock, he immediately became heavily and permanently magnetized, so that he has suffered almost unbearable inconvenience from his peculiar condition. His being magnetized was first observed by friends who carried his unconscious form in from the garden where he was struck down by the lightning, and who noticed that the hoe and rake he had been using stuck to him as they would have done to a large magnet and were dragged along after him as he was being carried. His friends tried to pull them away, but this could not be done, and after they reached the house and were going through the kitchen he was suddenly jerked out of their hands and stuck tight to the stove, which, fortunately, had no fire in it, or Mr. Jewel would have been consumed, for he remained adhering firmly there for nearly an hour and long after he had recovered consciousness, until the stove was broken up and picked off him, piece by piece.

After this the magnetic power somewhat abated, but never left him and he was caused terrible inconvenience on account of it. Knives and forks would stick to his fingers. His watch was spoiled by the magnetism and when he went past any light, metallic object it would spring up and attach itself to him. Mischievous children would toss nails and pins against him as he walked along the street, and he would soon take on a most peculiar appearance with the bright pieces of metal scattered over his clothing. But a week ago his trouble culminated in his sticking fast to an iron bench out in a secluded portion of the park, and there he remained all night, unable to release himself and ashamed to exhibit his plight by calling for help.

At sunrise, however, the magnetic condition suddenly left him and he was able to come away, but exposure to the night air had given him a bad cold that soon developed into the pneumonia from which he is now suffering.

But he is no longer magnetized and feels the relief to be something wonderful. LE SUEUR LYRE.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Senator Blackburn was pictured as being very downcast in a Kentucky town the other day over the loss of his baggage. When he was asked what the baggage consisted of, the senator, according to the story, responded that "the cork came out."

"Joe, what about that story?" asked a constituent of the senator today.

"Not a word of truth in it. You know I would be more careful of the cork."

Quentin, the 11-year-old son of the President, is a pupil at one of the public schools of the city.

"Who can bring me some old gloves for cleaning off the blackboards?" the teacher asked the other day.

"I can," promptly said Quentin. "Nick gave me two pairs."

Senator Teller lost his voice the other day trying to address the senate. He has been in delicate health for a year past and has been obliged to be careful of his strength. He has served in public life continuously now ever since Colorado was admitted in 1876 and of late years the strain upon him has taxed his strength to the utmost. The political complications in his state of late years also have had much to do with his physical condition. The difficulty seems to be one of nervous exhaustion, and his physician expresses the hope that a few days' rest will restore his usual health. Mr. Teller when he found that he could not speak above a whisper sat down and a few minutes later retired from the chamber to his committee room and went home for the day.

Ex-Senator William E. Chandler was an interested attendant at the hearing by the house committee on election of the President, Vice President, and members of congress one afternoon recently, and just before the adjournment made a speech in support of the McCall bill, which was under consideration.

"I was a great advocate of the power of the federal government away back in the future," he began, and then gazed helplessly around the room trying to discover why everybody laughed. With the secret still undisclosed he went on to read the President's message recommending such a bill.

"This bill ought to have been passed last December," he said. "That lecture was to you."

"There are several features of the President's message not yet enacted into law," commented Chairman Gaines.

WHAT THE GIRLS ARE WEARING

You see the crown is battered down;
One hardly can detect it.
Next season they, it's likely, may
A foot or two erect it;
But now, this spring, the proper thing
That's worn is nearly flat;
Nine-tenths you meet upon the street
Have got the pancake hat.

A soup plate filled by fingers skilled
With violets and roses,
A saucepan lid, 'neath daisies hid,
A stove mat trimmed with posies.
There may be some it won't become,
But, then, who cares for that?
We want a tile that's quite in style
And that's the pancake hat.

But did they set an omelet
On some heads I could mention,
Twould be a sight of rare delight
And it would draw attention.

Dr. Douglas Hyde, the leader of the Gaelic revival in Ireland, was talking about accents to a Philadelphian. Coming to the British accent, he said:

"The leading characteristic of the British accent is of course, the dropping of the 'h.' The dropping of the 'h' is very unfortunate. It causes innumerable embarrassments.

AN IMPERTINENT QUESTION

Recently there was a series of burglaries committed in the fashionable section of Baltimore. So anxious were the police authorities to apprehend the culprits that instructions were issued to the roundsmen to exercise extraordinary vigilance during their tours of inspection.

On one occasion, just after midnight, an officer saw emerging noiselessly from a house in Eutaw place a young man, who hastily darted down the street. The officer made after him as rapidly as possible. When he had stopped the young man, he said:

"Didn't you come out of the corner house just now?"

The young fellow, though of quite a respectable air seemed ill at ease. "I did," he answered, with some confusion.

"Do you live in that house?" sternly demanded the officer.

"Thats an impertinent question," replied the young man in a tone of great indignation. "I don't see what business of yours it is, so long as her father doesn't object."

Twenty-three Speakers at Big Meeting

A POSTOFFICE LOCATION

Site of Proposed North Fort Worth Station Discussed by the Candidate for Mayor

North Fort Worth and Rosen Heights office of The Telegram is located at 117 Exchange avenue, old phone 3959, where news items, subscriptions, advertisements and complaints of delivery should be left.

There were twenty-three speakers introduced at the first meeting of the municipal campaign in North Fort Worth Friday night. The initial night, although cold and damp, was marked by a big crowd, at least 500 people being assembled in the auditorium of the new school house. The principal speakers were W. D. Davis and L. G. Pritchard, candidates for mayor, and I. T. Valentine and John W. Baskin, candidates for city attorney.

M. H. Moore, superintendent of schools, was elected chairman of the meeting and was kept busy for the first hour introducing the candidates. Fifteen of them addressed the meeting during the first hour.

Mayor L. G. Pritchard addressed the meeting for about an hour. He said that there was nothing left for him to claim, the other candidates who had preceded him had claimed the credit for most of North Fort Worth's improvement. Mayor Pritchard devoted a part of his time to reading statistics, showing the condition of city affairs.

W. D. Davis followed with an address on the affairs pertaining to the campaign. He denied the rumors to the effect that he is a packing house man and as evidence to prove his statements he mentioned his stand and action while chairman of the equalization board in 1904.

Postoffice Location

Regarding his stand concerning the location of the postoffice which North Fort Worth is seeking to have established, Mr. Davis said: "I have always considered the crossing of Main street and Central avenue the center of North Fort Worth and it is there, or as near there as possible, that all public buildings ought to be located."

Before closing his address Mr. Davis stated that he was running his race alone. He stated that he was not being backed by any ring or set of fellows who were in any way bound to him.

Candidates for Attorney

City Attorney I. T. Valentine discussed the municipal questions and told of the tangled state of affairs at the beginning of the city. He explained some of the difficult problems that presented themselves in connection with the bond issue and other similar things which had been dealt with successfully.

John W. Baskin followed Mr. Valentine and spoke concerning the office and his ability. He gave his opponent full credit and said that the only point in question was the ability of the two to handle the legal affairs for the city's welfare.

J. J. Lydon was the only other candidate who made a speech of length. He reviewed his connection with the purchasing committee and other council boards.

Notes and Personals

George Henson, who is a member of the meat inspection force at the local packing houses, suffered a severe injury to a foot at the packing house a few days ago.

The business portion of North Fort Worth is being rapidly enlarged. Hardly a week passes but there is one or more new business house added to the present number.

Dr. Stephen Blount and V. L. Brown of the bureau of animal industry, with headquarters in North Fort Worth, are both ill.

Mrs. H. C. Hill of Walter, O. T., is visiting her mother, Mrs. B. A. Mallory of 2403 Chestnut avenue, Rosen Heights.

The aid society of the Rosen Heights Methodist church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. A. Sloan, 2217 Chestnut avenue.

W. D. Davis has been selected as superintendent of the fat cattle department of the fat stock show.

Miss Julia Christian returned Tuesday from a visit to relatives in Ellis county.

CONVENTION OPENS SATURDAY NIGHT

Session to Be Held in Christian Tabernacle

Delegates to the Y. M. C. A. convention are arriving in the city on every train. Among the first to arrive were the retiring state secretary, M. Lewis; the secretary-elect, S. A. Kinkaide, of Houston and J. L. Hunter of Waco.

The opening services of the convention will be held Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the Christian Tabernacle, Throckmorton and Fifth streets. The program will be as follows:

Song—"Blest be the tie that binds our hearts in Christian love; the fellowship of kindred minds is like to that above."

Opening prayer—Rev. J. B. French, D. D., Fort Worth, pastor of Broadway Presbyterian church.

Calling convention to order and appointment of nominating committee, William A. Wilson, Houston, retiring president, presiding.

Report of nominating committee.

Fellowship Service—"Draw near to God and He will draw near to you."

Benediction.

The Hillsboro Glee Club, composed of thirty members, will also sing at this meeting, as well as at other meetings.

The directors of the Y. M. C. A. in this city held a meeting at the Board of Trade rooms Friday night and discussed plans for the raising of $12,000 additional in order that the work of completing the new building here beyond the third floor can go on. The funds at present on hand are only enough to finish the building to its present height. The directors and business men who were present were decided that the sum could be raised and that the subscription list should be started immediately.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Lee McGrady of Motley county, is in the city a guest at the Metropolitan. Mr. McGrady states that there is a great deal of land changing hands in that county now and that land that was selling six years ago for $1 per acre can now be sold for as high as $12. The enhanced prices of the land, he states, are making some very rich men among the large land owners of his section.

Mr. McGrady reports that they are still picking cotton in his county and that the yield has been from one-half to a bale to the acre. The Panhandle is undoubtedly a cotton country, says Mr. McGrady.

"The soil does not require as much rain as in other sections of the state because it holds the moisture better than other land. This year there will be more cotton planted than ever before."

"I have just returned from a section of Texas where the glorious spring time of the year is in full blast," said Charles H. Taylor of Dallas at the Delaware Friday afternoon.

"I am interested in a large truck farm just above Brownsville on the Rio Grande and have just returned from a visit to it. I spent several days on the place and I never experienced such delightful conditions as now prevail there, while North Texas is writhing in the grip of the norther. The temperature there was simply delightful and the sky lovely.

"Corn on the farm is waist high, and about ready to tassle; strawberries are ripe and delicious, watermelons are as large as a man's fist and growing like mad. Cucumbers are ready for market and are being shipped out in large quantities. Cabbage is all headed and is going to market on every train; snap beans are ripe and the onion crop is nearly ready.

"The Brownsville country may not be an ideal part of Texas to live in the year around, but at this season it cannot be surpassed; and it is the coming garden spot of Texas so far as furnishing vegetables and certain fruits is concerned."

DEMURRAGE $60,000

Captain Tells How He Collected Huge Sum from Germany

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 17.—In a letter received yesterday by the owners, Captain David Van Horn told how he turned a trick on the German government in German Southwest Africa and sent home from the bark Helen A. Wyman over $60,000 collected from the Germans for demurrage. Incidentally the bark is coming with a cargo of mahogany, said to be the first brought here in an American vessel in competition with the French trade.

The Helen A. Wyman left Rosario last July with a cargo of hay, to be delivered to the German government at Luderitz Bay.

Arriving at her destination the captain found some thirty sailing vessels and steamers lying in the roadstead. A war was in progress inland and the German government had its hands full. Captain Van Horn was not in a hurry, though. He simply reported his arrival, filed his application for wharfage room and set down and waited. The wait lasted fifty-two days. Later he presented a bill for demurrage at the rate of $135 a day. This was paid.

SHEEP LOSS HEAVY

Wyoming Reports Say Snowstorms Have Depleted Herds—Cattle Safe

Special to The Telegram.

DENVER, Col., March 17.—Reports reach here from portions of Wyoming telling of much destruction to live stock due to heavy snow storms. The Campstool Company, east of Cheyenne, has already lost 600 sheep. Six thousand dead sheep are reported from Wamsutter. The animals had been deserted by the herders and drifted with the storm, piling up against the railroad right of way fences. But few losses of cattle have yet been reported.

Each minutes is said to witness the death of sixty-seven persons and the birth of seventy.

LABOR FAMINE ON RAILROADS

Western Lines Face Serious Building Situation

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 17.—Western railroads are facing a labor famine. Twenty-five thousand men are needed in the northwestern and southwestern states to build the roads that are already under way, and it is estimated that before the first of June more than twice that number will be required. There never has been such great activity in railroad building in the west as at present, and the visible supply of labor in that part of the country has been exhausted.

Railroad contractors have been able to resume work earlier this year than usual on account of the open winter, and they are making strenuous efforts to get men from the east to go west for this work. Ten thousand men are needed by the Western Pacific, the new Gould line to southern California, and they are offering from $2 to $2.25 a day for unskilled labor, with the chance of steady work until the cold weather sets in again next fall.

As has been mentioned in The Telegram, some of the railroads whose principal offices are in Fort Worth, have been finding difficulty in getting a sufficient number of men to work on the sections and in construction work all winter. In the southwestern part of the state, however, there has not been such a shortage as in that section there is a large supply of Mexican labor to be drawn upon. The latter do not make as good men for heavy work as the Irish section hand, or even as the negro, but they are being pressed into service in that section of the state by the hundreds.

Wages paid by the Texas roads have not been advanced to any very great extent by reason of the shortage experienced and according to the Chicago special, they are not as high as are offered by the western lines. The wages paid for section work and grading in Texas run about $1.25 per day, and for steel gangs the wages are $1.75 per day. There will be no trouble for laborers to find steady work in Texas this year, and the railroad contractors are anticipating some difficulty in securing the labor required for the extensive construction work in prospect this year.

Just how many men will be needed cannot be estimated now, with even an approximate degree of accuracy, but a safe assertion is that more men will be needed in Texas than in any other state because the amount of construction will be greater in Texas and there has not been a sufficient supply of men for heavy work before this construction began.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Heir to the Hoorah," with its setting in the western mining camp and scenes with typical American mining characters, made a big hit at Greenwall's opera house Friday matinee and night. The fame of it had spread and when the curtain went up for the evening performance there were few vacant seats in the house and most of these were taken by late comers.

Some people enjoy a comedy thoroughly without showing many signs of it, except in the way of a quiet smile, but Friday night these also joined into the general enjoyment of the play as was evidenced by the almost roars of laughter which came from all over the house. There were so many genuinely humorous parts to the play that one was hardly over before one was compelled to greet the next in the manner that the previous one had been welcomed.

Probably the most humorous act of the four was the second, with its banquet scene, given for the return of the hero of the play from a trip abroad, in which the miners all put on full dress uniform for the first time. The combinations which are used to make up the evening dress aid in the general hilarity.

The story of the play briefly told is that of owner of a valuable mine, Joe Lacy, in the west, who marries the daughter of a society grafter. In his efforts to become "civilized" she aparently tires of him and he goes off on a trip to Europe with his "maiden aunt." Upon his return the banquet is given by his old comrades, and at the close of the act comes the announcement of the heir of the Hoorah. In the next act Joe Lacy returns to his own and becomes actual owner of his house. The reconciliation comes at the very close of the play and his wife once more is compelled to admit she loves him, just after he orders the special car attached to the Overland Limited to take the mother-in-law east again. Besides the main plot, there are several minor plots, which develop into three engagements in the last act.

One of the features of the play here was the employment of a Jap to play the part of the Japanese valet, which he did very satisfactorily.

Mooney's Moving Pictures

Mooney's Moving Pictures will appear at Greenwall's opera house tonight. The Palestine Daily Visitor says of this amusement organization: "Mooney Electrical Company was the attraction at the Temple opera house last evening, and a fair-sized audience was present. It was an interesting entertainment and the pictures were particularly clear and worked without a hitch. The feature picture is 'Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman,' being a reproduction of the scenes of Kyrle Bellew's great play, and it is alone worth the price of admission."

Wills Musical Comedy Company

Another jolly musical comedy organization is coming to Greenwall's opera house for three nights, beginning Monday, March 19. It is the Wills Musical Comedy Company, which filled a successful engagement at this theater a few weeks ago.

Walter S. Wills, the grotesque dancer; James Leslie, a real comedian; John B. Wills, Kate Helston, Dick Thoms, Loretta Marshall, Lily Adams and all the old favorites will still head the company, which in its entirety numbers twenty-five. Popular prices will prevail during the engagement, and bargain matinees will be given on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons.

"A Jolly American Tramp" Coming

"A Jolly American Tramp," a comedy drama by the author of Sol Smith Russell's successes, "Peaceful Valley" and "A Poor Relation," will be the bill at Greenwall's opera house on Thursday matinee and night, March 22. Its theme relates the efforts of one of the world's unfortunates, who while shunned by society, yet fulfills the teachings of the good by aiding the oppressed and persecuted.

At the Majestic

The last performances of the bill at the Majestic will be given this evening. It is seldom that one has the opportunity to behold two such marvelous types of human physical development as the Belleclaire brothers. The introduction to their entertainment on a crimson pedestal with appropriate draperies is a study in repose and awakening action. The Belleclaire brothers at one time were not stronger than the most ordinary person. All of the wonderful muscular development which they exhibit has been acquired in the past four years by constant exercise of the simplest kind and with due regard to abstemious living.

PURE FOOD SHOW BOOTHS PREPARED

Elaborate Decorations for Big Display

By forces of men working night and day, the Ellis building, corner Third and Throckmorton streets, has been filled with series of gaily decorated and brilliantly lighted booths, all in practical readiness for the opening of the Pure Food Show to begin Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, under the auspices of the Retail Grocers' and Butchers' Association.

Forces of decorators and carpenters have been busy about the place for the past week, preparing the large building for the event, the forest of posts and cross pieces having at last been transformed into a veritable fairies' bower.

Exhibits are now being placed in the booths, all of which will be open to receive the public on time.

Entering the building from Third street, the first show room is reached. Booths line all sides as well as available places in the center. Each has a distinct decoration, all, however, being connected by festoons and ceiling decofations of an elaborate sort.

Here all varieties of pure foods will be shown and samples served by large forces employed for the purpose.

Entering the next room additional booths are found, while at the extrem end is a large stage with an ample supply of scenery and theater fittings, where the vaudeville show will be given at each session.

A list of high-class acts, headed by Swor brothers, has been prepared for this part of the event, a performance appealing to the most exacting and careful people being announced. Rehearsal of this part of the show will be held before opening, to be witnessed by a committee of the association, whose approval must be secured to all parts.

Folowing the opening of the Pure Food Show for its run until the end of the month, demonstrations of pure foods will be given until 3:30 o'clock, succeeded by the vaudeville performance lasting an hour. After this demonstrations will again be given until the close of the session at 5:30 o'clock.

Night session will begin at 7 o'clock, with demonstrations until 8:30 o'clock, when the vaudeville show will be held. Night sessions will end at 10:30 o'clock. The same hours will be observed during the time the show is continued.

FOOD OR STIMULANT.

Ask your doctor if when he orders a patient to drink lots of pure milk he advises the addition of a large quantity of whiskey. He'll tell you "no" very emphatically. Yet there are people who, when ordered to get Scott's Emulsion, will accept some wine, cordial or extract of cod liver oil and think it is the same thing or better. If you want and need cod liver oil in its best, purest and most easily digested form, get Scott's Emulsion. If you want whiskey, that's another matter, but don't look for the same results.

HOUSE ROBBED

Hatchet Lying on Porch Used to Effect Entrance

T. C. Wheat of 811 Granger street called at the police station Saturday morning and reported that his residence had been robbed. Mr. Wheat was away from home when the burglary occurred. He states that the entrance to his residence was effected by prying open the screen window and also the inside window. This was done with a hatchet, which was found lying on the front porch. The hatchet belonged to Mr. Wheat and was lying where it was convenient for the use of the burglar. The entire house was searched, but only a few articles of minor values were taken.

WILL ASK MAYOR TO "PLAY BALL"

President Ward to Forward Invitation

"Will the mayor play baseball?"

That is the question occupying the attention of the fans to a great extent. W. H. Ward, president of the Fort Worth Baseball Association, has announced that he shall certainly ask Mayor Harris to pitch the first ball in the opening game with Cleburne April 26, and the rooters are now wondering whether he will accept the invitation.

Whether the new mayor will descend from his seat of dignity and participate in a ball game is unknown, but it will no doubt attract a much larger crowd if it is officially announced that the good magistrate decides to demonstrate his "wing" in opening the season. Quite a number of his friends have announced an intention to witness the game if the mayor is included in the cast of characters. They can already imagine his honor marching to the pitcher's box, stammer a few words in honor of the occasion, spit on his hands, then roll up his sleeves and give the batter a saft hit—on the spine.

The plan of having the chief magistrate opening the baseball season is now general throughout the country.

ROBBERY CHARGED

Section Man Reports Loss of $65 and Severe Beating

Frank Lavera, a section man, employed by the Teas and Pacific railroad, was robbed of $68.75 in a building in Rusk street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, about 6 o'clock Friday evening. Lavera was not only robbed, but he was badly beaten also, his face being severely lacerated and his coat being cut from near the collar clean across. This cut, however, did not hurt Lavera, as it did not penetrate deep enough.

Lavera states that he went into the place and bought a drink and that he was set upon by several negroes, who beat him and robbed him. Officer Bills accompanied Levera to the place where he says he was assaulted and robbed and found a gang of about fifty negroes in the establishment. Several were questioned about the affair, but none of them would confess any knowledge of it. The case was then turned over to detectives.

CLARK BUYS PAINTING

French Picture Purchased by Senatorial Copper King

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 17.—"Dogs in the Forest," a notable painting of the Barbizon school by N. V. Diaz, the French painter of forest glades has been purchased at private sale by Senator William A. Clark, who will add the picture to his fine collection of the Barbizon masters. Senator Clark bought the picture from a Fifth avenue art dealer. The canvas was one of the "hundred masterpieces" shown in Paris a few years ago, and is said to have been highly praised by connoisseurs of the Barbizon group of painters.

OARSMEN EAT EGGS

Diet of Cambridge Fast Crew Causes Curious Discussion

By Associated Press.

LONDON, March 17.—A record time row made by the Cambridge university crew in a practice trial for the Oxcam boat race has raised a curious discussion. The Cambridge crew was supposed to be a rather inferior one until the record was made. It appears that the crew has been largely dieted on eggs, which the Oxford oarsmen are inclined to taboo and hence a hot discussion has arisen as to the value of eggs in athletic training.

Former President "Burns Bridges" Behind Him for Vacation Trip

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 17.—The Tribune today says:

Former President Grover Cleveland went to Florida about a week ago and expects to stay there until the middle of April. He has cut himself off from all communication with his business associates and will not concern himself with the affairs of the Equitable until his return. There will be no meeting of the Equitable trustees while he is away. Mr. Cleveland will be 69 years of age tomorrow and will celebrate the day quietly in his retreat on the border of the Everglades.

SISTER: READ MY FREE OFFER

Wise Words to Sufferers

From a Woman of Notre Dame, Ind.

I will mail, free of any charge, this Home Treatment with full instructions and the history of my own case to any lady suffering from female trouble. You can cure yourself at home without the aid of any physician. It will cost you nothing to give the treatment a trial, and if you decide to continue it will only cost you about twelve cents a week. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. I have nothing to sell. Tell other sufferers of it—that is all I ask. It cures all, young or old.

If you feel a bearing-down sensation, sense of impending evil, pain in the back or bowels, creeping feeling up the spine, a desire to cry frequently, hot flashes, weariness, frequent desire to urinate, or if you have Leucorrhea (Whites), Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Profuse, Scanty or Painful Periods, Tumors or Growths, address MRS. M. SUMMERS, NOTRE DAME, IND., U. S. A., for the FREE TREATMENT and FULL INFORMATION.

Thousands besides myself have cured themselves with it. I send it in plain wrappers.

TO MOTHERS OF DAUGHTERS I will explain a simple Home Treatment which speedily and effectually cures Leucorrhea, Green Sickness and Painful or Irregular Menstruation in young ladies. It will save you anxiety and expense and save your daughter the humiliation of explaining her troubles to others. Plumpness and health always result from its use.

Wherever you live I can refer you to well-known ladies of your own state or county who know and will gladly tell any sufferer that this Home Treatment really cures all diseased conditions of our delicate female organism, thoroughly strengthens relaxed muscles and ligaments which cause displacement, and makes women well. Write to-day, as this offer will not be made again. Address

ELKS TO HAVE BIG ELEPHANT

Philadelphia Lodge Wants "Duke" for Parade

Special to The Telegram.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 17.—Determined that they will have Duke, the prison-proof elephant, the Elks of the city have appealed to Mayor Samuel B. Turner of Chester to help them. Duke is in Chester, and Thomas Hargreaves, who took the elephant from a freight car which he had battered to pieces, declares that Duke cannot be taken from him.

The Philadelphia Elks told Hargreaves that they had accepted Duke as a gift from Jacob Hope. There was general consternation in the Elks' camp when Hargreaves informed them that he was going to keep the animal.

William Supers Jr. and J. H. J. McNally, members of the board of trustees of the Philadelphia Elks, said:

"We will bring that elephant here if we have to go down in a body and take him in chains. We accepted him from Mr. Hope, who was trying to get rid of him for weeks. At that time Duke was stationed at Geneva, Ohio.

"When we agreed to take the elephant we sent two men to Geneva, and Duke started east with them. The train stopped at Chester. The elephant started to cut capers, and broke his car. Hargreaves, with the assistance of several men, took him to his stable. But that is no reason why he should keep him. We are willing to pay the animal's board for the last three weeks and do the square thing. That elephant must go to Denver with us and parade at our annual convention on July 16."

Joseph McCann, who is a member of the local Elks, has agreed to keep Duke in his coal yard at 1138 Washington avenue until the convention meets.

Duke's appetite costs $6 a day. His board here until the convention will cost $850. But even this does not deter the local Elks. Mr. Supers, who, besides being an Elk, is a member of the Union League and the Art Club, has agreed to pay the bill.

NATIVE SHAMROCK HERE

J. F. Lehane

J. F. Lehane, general freight and passenger agent of the Cotton Belt railroad and alderman of the Fourth ward, has perhaps the only native Irish shamrock being worn in the city in token of St. Patrick's Day.

Following her custom every year, his mother, a resident of Mallow county, Ireland, this year sent Mr. Lehane a box of shamrocks mailed so that they reached this city in time for display and distribution Saturday.

Persons of Irish descent alone were honored by Mr. Lehane in the distribution of the typical plant.

Wheat Market Quiet But Firm—Corn Prices Higher—Oats Dull and Featureless

Special to The Telegram.

CHICAGO, March 17. — Wheat—Wheat started a shade easier on the slight decline in Liverpool and the large Australian shipments, but showed good tone, and a fair advance, for the balance of the session. Trade was light throughout. Northwestern markets, including Winnipeg, led the advance. Reports of a better milling demand had a visible influence on sentiment. Demand at Minneapolis was said to be good with prices about ½c higher. Labor troubles are reported from Risa Rio. Local receipts were nine cars, with five expected on Monday. Northwestern receipts 246 cars, against 255 a year ago. Total primary movement 311,000 bushels, as against 389,000 bushels last year. Primary movement for the week, 400,000 bushels short of the previous week. Clearances, 103,000 bushels. World's shipments estimated at 9,600,000 bushels.

Corn—Corn was early firm on a light trade, edging up gradually during the day and closing at about the best prices. There was no pressure to speak of at any time and the cash situation is back of the present advance. Receipts are light, and spot values here have advanced faster than the future. Europe is showing more interest in offers and cables this morning brought acceptances. Liverpool was unchanged but firm on anticipation of lighter shipments. The spot market there ¼d to ½d higher. Primary movement for the week fell one million bushels short of the previous period, and 2,500,000 bushels short of a year ago. Clearances were 426,000 bushels. Primary movement today, 320,000 bushels, as against 737,000 bushels a year ago.

Oats—Oats were very quiet but steady, with no particular features. Cash market was unchanged. Local receipts were 8 cars, with 19 expected Monday. Clearances, 148,000 bushels.

Provisions—Renewal of the export demand for lard from Germany was the important feature in provisions and caused that article closing at a fair advance. Pork and ribs were up a little in sympathy. Estimated hogs for Monday, 35,000, and 155,000 for all next week.

PLAN HOGG MEMORIAL

Meeting to Arrange Program Held at Court House

At the meeting called by Colonel R. M. Wynne, James W. Swayne, Robert McCart, C. R. Bowlin and others, to be held at the court house Saturday at 3 p. m., for the purpose of arranging a program for the observance of Sunday, March 25, designated by Governor Lanham as memorial day in honor of the late James S. Hogg, the principal work scheduled was the appointment of a committee to secure speakers and probably another committee to arrange for suitable musical service.

James W. Swayne, who has been out of the county, has returned to the city in order to attend this meeting, and says that Fort Worth should not be behind other Texas cities in doing honor to one of the greatest Texans that ever lived.

Prices Respond to Sharp Advance in Liverpool—Trading Featureless—Close Steady

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Today's session of the Cotton Exchange was a dull and narrow affair, the combined efforts of the week-end and the proximity of the date of issuance of the government report tending to restrict active speculation. The trading was mostly for evening up purposes with shorts the most active, owing to a sharp advance in prices on the Liverpool market and further expressions of bullishness from the erstwhile bear leader.

Opening prices were 6 to 7 points higher for the near positions, in response to the foreign strength. Although there was a recession of 4 points immediately after the call, the undertone was firm at all times and prices eventually worked up to a net gain of 10 to 11 points, the close being steady with prices near the best of the day.

Spots were steady with prices 10 points higher at 10.25c for middling. Sales, 1,800 bales.

Futures ranged as follows:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
March	10.40	10.42	10.39	10.43-44
May	10.51	10.61	10.53	10.59-60

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, March 17.—The cotton market ruled quiet today, but the undertone was at all times firm owing to covering by shorts and the good demand locally for actual coton, with offerings very light.

Liverpool prices were unexpectedly strong and on the first call here prices reflected the foreign advance, being 4 to 5 points higher. Mr. Price's attitude was the subject of considerable discussion and the general consensus of opinion was that he was sincere in his bullish convictions.

This encouraged the local crowd and there was no attempt to depress prices, the advance being gradual throughout the day, only culminating in the final trading with near positions selling at a net gain of 12 to 13 points. The closing tone was firm.

Spots were firm with prices 1-16c higher on a basis of 10⅝c for middling. Sales, 1,800 bales. F. o. b., 450 bales.

Futures ranged as follows:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close
March	10.54	10.62	10.53	10.63-64

GAME REPORTS AT BALL PARKS

Five of the Texas League franchise owners were present at the meeting of the league magnates in this city Saturday morning. The session lasted but a few minutes, in which time it was decided to complete the arrangements with the Western Union Telegraph Company to furnish reports of games being played in the league. Reports will be received at ball parks every three innings from the other two games of the league.

Contrary to some forecasts, the meeting this morning was entirely harmonious. It had been reported that the salary limit would be taken up and fought, but after the meeting this morning W. H. Ward states that the matter had not been discussed, as it had been settled at the last meeting that the limit shall be $1,000. The clubs will be allowed to carry but thirteen men after May 15.

Several minor matters came before the league members, but contrary to expectations, no change was made in the schedule.

Those present at the meeting were W. H. Ward, Fort Worth; T. W. Simpson, Waco; J. W. Roberts, Cleburne; Joe Bailey, Greenville, and Joe Gardner, Dallas. J. W. Eatons of Temple was absent.

MILITARY COMPANY ORGANIZED

ville Is Success

GAINESVILLE, Texas, March 17.—A meeting was held in the district court room last night for the purpose of organizing a military company in this city. A large number of citizens attended and fifty applicants were enrolled for the company.

George Richter was elected president of the meeting, which virtually means he will be elected captain. Edgar Oatis was elected secretary.

Another meeting will be held next Tuesday night, at which the organization will be completed and the necessary bonds that have to be made will be filled and forwarded to the adjutant general's office at Austin.

FIRE DESTROYS SCHOOL

St. Vincent's Academy at Shreveport, La., Is Total Loss

SHREVEPORT, La., March 17.—St. Vincent's Academy, established thirty years ago, and one of the most widely known Catholic institutions in the south, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. Loss $60,000; insurance $12,500.

The fire originated from a defective flue at the time that the teachers and pupils were at lunch. A panic resulted, but all escaped without injury.

CZAR SENDING TROTTER HERE

To Be Bred to Fast American Stock

Dr. T. L. Armstrong of Indianapolis, who is temporarily stationed at Fort Worth by the United States government, is in receipt of advices that there is to be a mare sent from Russia to Indianapolis to be bred to Sydney Dillon, the sire of Lou Dillon, the champion trottter of the world. Sydney Dillon is owned by Sterling R. Holt, a friend of Dr. Armstrong.

The cost of sending the mare from Russia to Indianapolis and returning her to Europe will be $2,000. Lou Dillon, of which Sydney Dillon is the sire, trots a mile in 1:58 and it is with the hope of getting such a colt that the Russian is going to so great an expense.

Dr. Armstrong is a horse enthusiast himself. He established the Indianapolis Horse Exchange years ago, and is the owner of Jipsy Queen, an animal he has brought to Texas to take part in some matinee trotting races. He states that there is a great future in Texas for standard bred horses.

"Texas is already beginning to buy a few high grade trotting horses and I expect to see more of these horses sold here every year," said Dr. Armstrong. "There is no climate anywhere in the United States which is better adapted to breeding fine horses and to developing them than Texas, and it is only a question of securing the proper breeds.

"Some idea of what the Texas farmers can do by getting high bred stock can be obtained," said Dr. Armstrong, "when I tell you that there was a filly sold at Indianapolis last week for $5,000 which was raised on a farm by a man who worked his horses and only had a few of them. Of course this is an exceptional instance, but there are hundreds of horses being marketed every week in Indianapolis for $250 and upward that are raised with as little expense as is incurred in raising ponies which sell for $40 and $50."

Dan Patch, the champion pacer of the world, was also raised in the state of Indiana by a small farmer and breeder. He was sold by the original owner for $20,000 and was subsequently sold for $60,000. Since then an offer of $180,000 has been refused for him. He paces a mile in 1:55¼.

Dr. Armstrong says that the trotting horses are now supplanting the draft horses for farm work, because they stand the heat better and get around faster. He is an enthusiast upon the trotters and pacers and thinks that the Texas farmers could reap great profits by breeding their horses to the best blooded animals to be found.

Rev. W. R. Hudson, Smithville, at the Cannon Avenue Cumberland Presbyterian church, morning service, and S. J. Brient, Beaumont, at the night service.

A MEMBER A DAY

Board of Trade Enrollment Increasing at Rapid Rate

That the people of Fort Worth are impressed with the advantages and benefits of the Board of Trade is manifested in no uncertain way by the number of voluntary and unsolicited additions to its membership. Thus far during this month there has been an average of one new member each day gained by persons who show their interest by going to the office and enrolling their names. This activity, the secretary says, speaks well for the public spirit of the business men of the city and is worthy of the highest commendation. It should be continued until every business man of Fort Worth is on the roll, and doing his part in advancing the interests of the city.

NEW SHOE STORE

F. M. Hoyt Company to Establish House Here

A. B. Jenks, representing the F. M. Hoyt Shoe Company, is in the city today, making arrangements to open a retail shoe house in this city on Main street, next door to the American National Bank. The store will handle the Beacon shoes, put out by the Hoyt Company exclusively. Mr. Jenks is at present engaged in the work of opening retail stores at Houston and Savannah, Ga., besides Fort Worth. A store in Dallas has been recently established. The company now has eighteen retail stores throughout the country.

DEATHS

R. W. Castleman

R. W. Castleman, formerly a live stock commission man of this city, died Thursday in Colorado. The body passed through here Friday night on the way to Austin for interment. J. B. Mitchell and family have gone to Austin to attend the funeral. R. W. Castleman was Mrs. Mitchell's brother.

THE BEST COUGH SYRUP

S. L. Apple, ex-probate judge, Ottawa Co., Kansas, writes: "This is to say that I have used Ballard's Horehound Syrup for years, and that I do not hesitate to recommend it as the best cough syrup I have ever used." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by Covey & Martin, 810 Main street, opposite Hotel Worth.

Industries Wanted

The Chicago and Northwestern Railway is receiving information from desirable points on its lines that industries of various kinds are desired. The opening up of the spring season, with good prospects for a continuance of the large business of the past year, is causing many communities to make strong efforts to locate new industries. Among the establishments desired are iron and woodworking concerns, cereal mills, canning works, cold storage plants and mills of various kinds, as well as mercantile establishments. Requests for particulars address to the Industrial Department of the C. and N. W. Ry., Chicago will be promptly attended to.

SANTA FE TO DOUBLE YARDS

Improvement in This City Is Arranged

The Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railroad proposes to double its yardage capacity in Fort Worth. J. W. Robbins, division superintendent of the road, with headquarters at Cleburne, who is in the city looking over the situation, made this announcement. The tracks are to be re-arranged and made longer and when the work is completed they will be capable of accommodating about twice the number of cars as the tracks here at present. Mr. Robbins states that the Santa Fe has been hampered more at Fort Worth by the inability of other roads to take freight than by any shortage of yardage capacity on the part of his road, but that the increase will naturally facilitate the handling of freight here.

Mr. Robbins states that the work on the proposed improvements at Fort Worth will begin in the near future. There are six sets of plans already prepared and under consideration and one of these will be chosen.

"The Santa Fe is giving the coal situation no attention whatever," stated Mr. Robbins. "We have but three coal burning locomotives on the Gulf branch of the system and they are not in service. The remainder are all oil burners with the exception of a few switch engines, and we have enough coal to run the latter."

New Denver Car

D. B. Keeler, vice president of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad, will hereafter have one of the most up-to-date private cars of any vice president of a railroad in Texas. The new car came out of the shops Saturday morning, but Mr. Keeler himself will not take the first ride in it. Colonel S. B. Dick, president of the Colorado and Northwestern railroad of Denver, Colo., who will be here Saturday night, en route from San Antonio to Denver, has been tendered the use of the car and he will break it in Sunday morning. Mr. Keeler is now in Denver and he will take charge of the car on its arrival there and return home in it. The car is equipped with electric lights and electric fans and all modern conveniences.

Checking Rate Sheet

Frank Jensen, chief clerk in the general passenger office of the Rock Island, returned Saturday morning from San Antonio, where he has been attending a meeting of the chief rate clerk, which was called for the purpose of checking over the Texas rate sheet. Mr. Jensen states that the work will not be finished for another week and that it is a tedious undertaking.

Notes and Personals

W. E. Green, vice president and general superintendent of the Cotton Belt, with headquarters at Tyler; W. N. Neff, division superintendent of the road, with headquarters at Mount Pleasant, and John F. Lehane, general freight and passenger agent, arrived in Fort Worth Friday night. Mr. Green and Mr. Neff left for Dallas Saturday morning and Mr. Lehane remained in the city to look after business interests.

A large homeseekers' excursion will leave St. Louis for Texas next Tuesday. C. W. Strain, the general passenger agent, states that the advices indicate that the excursion will be a large one. These homeseekers will visit the Panhandle of Texas and also the southern part of the state.

G. F. Griffin has been appointed assistant ticket agent at the Texas and Pacific station, to succeed Claude Hendrix, who has accepted a position with the Katy as assistant ticket agent. Mr. Hendrix suceeds W. H. Pritchett, who has resigned to go to the City of Mexico as has been announced in The Telegram.

BANKRUPT LAW DECLARED GOOD

Credit Men of City Oppose Repeal

The annual meeting of the Fort Worth Association of Credit Men was held Friday night in the Board of Trade rooms of this city. Mr. A. P. Foute, president, presided.

This being the annual meeting the election of officers was held, resulting in the election of the following: President, H. E. Gardner, of the Carter-Hunt Grocery company; vice president, Arthur D. Hodgson, of the Nash Hardware company; secretary, George Q. McGown, manager of the adjustment bureau; treasurer, W. E. Connell, of the Fort Worth National bank.

The applications of fourteen new members were read and after being favorably acted upon by the committee were elected to membership. Various subjects of interest to the credit men of the country were discussed and especially that concerning the national bankruptcy law. Mr. A. P. Foute reviewed the effort that is being made by the national association of credit men and other leading commercial organizations to have the present bankruptcy law amended and perpetuated and to this end Mr. Foute introduced the following resolution:

"That, whereas there have been several bills introduced in the congress of the United States for the repeal of the national bankruptcy law, we having been in active and constant contact with this law since its passage, have found that, though not perfect in detail, there has never been a law on our statute book that has more materially benefited the business interests of this country in the prevention of fraud, or the just and equitable division of assets among the creditors and the relief of honest debtors from burdensome debts. We earnestly deny the advocates of repeal, who claim that this law has served its purpose, believing that it should be a permanent and fixed policy of our government to maintain a uniform law of this character, leaving behind us as a forgotten legacy the multifarious laws and chaos that existed before the passage of the present bankrupt law. We emphatically indorse the amendment to the present act as proposed by the national association of credit men, but regard the law as it now stands immeasurably better than none and are unalterably opposed to its repeal. Therefore, be it Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to our representatives and senators in congress with our urgent and earnest request that they work and vote for the amendments as proposed by the national association of credit men and as a lasting favor to the jobbing and commercial interest of this country and the injustice to the unfortunate debtors, that they oppose its repeal."

This resolution was unanimously adopted and the secretary was instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to the congressmen and senators of this state and to the other branch associations of the national association in this section of the country soliciting their earnest co-operation. A committee was appointed consisting of the president, W. T. Coleman, T. E. Blanchard and the secretary to cooperate with the bureau committee and especially assist in the immediate perfecting of an organization of the bureau.

An executive committee was elected consisting of R. P. Smith of the Berger Manufacturing company, as chairman; C. E. Harkrider, of Harkrider-Morrison Produce Company; T. E. Blanchard, of the Waples-Platter Grocery company; William Monnig, of the Monnig Dry Goods company, and Oscar Wells, of the Fort Worth National bank.

A resolution was introduced and unanimously adopted, changing the name of the association from that of the Fort Worth Credit Men's Association to the Fort Worth Association of Credit Men as recommended by the national association.

ELECTION PROCLAMATION

Fort Worth, Texas, Feb. 9, 1906.—By virtue of section 55B of the amended charter of the city of Fort Worth, Texas, and by direction of the city council chamber at city hall, Fort Worth, Texas, Feb. 5, 1906, I hereby call a special election of the qualified voters of said city, to be held on the 10th day of April, 1906, during the legal hours for holding elections, for the purpose of submitting to said electors for their approval or disapproval the following ordinance:

Ordinance No. ....

An ordinance granting to the Northern Texas Traction Company, a corporation, and its assigns, the right and franchise to construct, maintain and operate a street railway over and upon certain streets in the city of Fort Worth, and to erect and maintain poles and overhead trolley wires thereon.

Be it ordained by the city council of the city of Fort Worth, and by the duly qualified voters of said city at an election upon a referendum in accordance with the law in such cases made and provided:

Section 1. That in consideration of the stipulations and agreements hereinafter contained to be kept and performed by the Northern Texas Traction Company, and its assigns, and subject to the limitations herein set forth, the city of Fort Worth, a municipal corporation in the county of Tarrant and State of Texas, has granted and does hereby grant to the said Northern Texas Traction Company of Fort Worth, Tarrant county, Texas, and to its assigns, the right of way for a single track street car line, together with all necessary switches, sidetracks and turnouts over, along and upon the following streets and portions of streets, within the corporate limits of the city of Fort Worth, to-wit:

Beginning at the intersection of East Front street and Crump street; thence north over Crump street to the intersection of Crump and Morgan streets; thence east over Morgan street to Harding street; thence north over said Harding street to the intersection of Harding and East Eleventh streets; thence east over East Eleventh street to Steadman street, and the right of way is hereby granted to cross any and all street car tracks that may be intersected by said line of railway.

Sec. 2. That upon the conditions, limitation and considerations aforesaid and hereafter mentioned, the said city of Fort Worth has granted and does hereby grant unto the said Northern Texas Traction Company and its assigns, the right to construct, equip and maintain along and upon each of the said streets and portions of streets as set forth in section 1 hereof, a single line of street car track with all necessary switches, sidetracks and turnouts, and all necessary poles and wires and overhead equipment for propelling electric street cars by an overhead trolley system, and the right to operate street cars along and over its said tracks, to carry goods and passengers for hire upon and over said tracks, and to do all other things necessarily incident to the rights and privileges in this ordinance expressly granted.

Sec. 3. All tracks laid under the provisions of this ordinance, except switches, sidetracks and turnouts, and except at places where turns are made, and where the street is partially occupied by some other street car track, shall be laid and kept as nearly in the middle of the street as is practicable, and the top of each rail of each and every part of said track and the space between the rails shall be kept level with the surface of the street alongside, and the tracks, rails, poles, wires and all other equipment, shall be of standard quality, and so constructed and maintained that travel upon said streets shall not be unnecessarily obstructed or endangered at any place, and all matters of construction and maintenance shall be under the supervision of, and subject to the approval of the city engineer and city electrician and the city council. All rails on portions of streets that are now, or shall hereafter be paved, shall be first-class rails, of such kind as designated by the city engineer, and shall be laid in such manner as to make the least possible obstruction to vehicles, and shall be maintained in that condition.

Sec. 4. The said Northern Texas Traction Company, or its assigns, shall, at its or their own sole cost and expense, pave and repave, or otherwise surface and resurface and keep constantly in good order and condition with the same material with which the street outside is paved and surfaced, all that part of each street occupied by him or them which lies between the rails of said tracks, and for eighteen inches on each side thereof, and the said Northern Texas Traction Company, or its assigns, shall conform its or their tracks, and every part thereof, to the proper grade of each street and change the level of said tracks as often as and whenever the grade of any such street is changed, so that every part of each track shall always be kept at the duly established grade line, or as near thereto as the surface of the grade of the street outside of the said track will permit.

Sec. 5. The city engineer shall direct and point out the places at which poles erected under this ordinance shall be set; provided, however, that no poles shall be set in violation of any city ordinance.

Sec. 6. The rights, privileges and franchises granted by this ordinance shall exist and continue in favor of said Northern Texas Traction Company, and its assigns, for a period of twenty-five years from and after the date of the passage of this ordinance.

Sec. 7. That the said Northern Texas Traction Company will build and have in operation the aforesaid line of street railway within four months of the date of granting the franchise herein provided for, and in the event of the failure so to do said franchise shall be forfeited.

The aforesaid election will be held as follows: First ward, Mansion hotel, with Joe Lahey as presiding judge; Second ward, west side court house, with Will Smith as presiding judge; Third ward, Calhoun, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, with Carl Schilder as presiding judge; Fourth ward, city hall, with S. T. Bibb as presiding judge; Fifth ward, Tucker fire hall, with John A. Mugg as presiding judge; Sixth ward, Sixth ward fire hall, with M. J. Lewis as presiding judge; Seventh ward, O'Connell's store, South Main, with Hugh Woods as presiding judge; Eighth ward, Hemphill and Magnolia, with F. E. Dycus as presiding judge; Ninth ward, east side court house, with Theo. Mack as presiding judge.

THOMAS J. POWELL, Mayor.

TWO BIG STAKES AT NEW ORLEANS

City Derby and City Park Derby Are Events

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 17.—For the first time in its racing history, New Orleans will witness today the decision of two big stakes, the Crescent City Derby and the City Park Derby. There is no great difference in the money value of the two events and the horses engaged are about of the same class.

The distance in each race differs, the Crescent City event being one and one-eighth miles and the City Park one and a quarter miles.

The derby fields as they stand tonight are:

Crescent City Derby:
Johnson and Douson's Hollowmas, 116 (Obert).
A. H. and G. H. Morris' Lotus Eater, 116 (Lyne).
Mrs. T. Capos' Rolla, 116 (Moreland).
C. R. Ellison's Lady Navarre, 111 (Sewell).
C. R. Ellison's James Reddick, 116 (Perrine).
T. E. Mannix' Inobedient, 113 (W. Robbins).
S. C. Hildreth's Guiding Star, 116 (Jackson).
W. Shields' Ben Hodder, 122 (Redfern).
George Holle's Gold Mate, doubtful starter.

City Park:
A. Simon's Monterey, 122 (J. Jones).
S. Deimel's Rickey, 122 (D. Hall).
J. P. Phillips' Jack Dolan, 122 (H. Phillips).
T. Murray & Co.'s Orbicular, 122 (E. Morrison).
H. Shannon & Co.'s Debar, 122 (Troxler).
S. P. Kunz' Kercheval, 122 (W. Allen).
W. Holle's Tambeau, 122 (D. Austin).
E. Corrigan's Kargt, 122 (H. Larsen).
M. J. Daly's St. Joseph, 119 (J Daly).
Fred Cook's Minnie Adams, 117 (Nichols).
J. B. Lewman's Tarp, 117 (Koerner).

In case of rain, of which there is but little prospect, Minnie Adams will be scratched and Nicol will ride Monterey. The track was lumpy and slow today. The track was lumpy and slow today.

YESTERDAY'S RACE RESULTS

STAMPS HIGH PRICED

Rare Unused Set of Eight Sell for $2,501

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 17.—A rare set of eight unused United States postage stamps, in the collection of A. H. Scholler, sold for $2,501 at auction last night. The face value of the stamps is $1.75. It is a complete set of the issue of Aug. 14, 1861.

When the Civil war began there was a quantity of the 1857-60 issue of stamps in the seceding states. To prevent their use by the Confederate postmasters, the United States authorities declared that these stamps were no longer to be accepted for postage, and the issue of Aug. 14, 1861, was hurriedly prepared. They did not give satisfaction, however, and in the following month a new set was issued. These stamps are the earliest issue that can be used for mailing purposes. All previous issues have no value except to philatelists.

A Boston firm was the purchaser. It is supposed that the set was bought on order of the postoffice department, which is lacking a set.

A Live Wire

Every nerve is a live wire connecting some part of the body with the brain. They are so numerous that if you penetrate the skin with the point of a needle you will touch a nerve and receive a shock—pain it is called. Aches and pains come from a pressure, strain or injury to a nerve; the more prominent the nerve the greater the pain. When the pain comes from a large nerve it is called whether it be the facial nerves, or the heart, stomach, sciatic or other prominent nerve branch. To stop pain, then, you must relieve the strain or pressure upon the nerves. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills do this.

"I suffered intense pain, caused by neuralgia. I doctored and used various medicines without getting relief until I began taking Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They never fail to cure my headaches, and their use never leaves any bad after-effects."

ST. PATRICK HAD STRENUOUS LIFE

Ireland's Patron Spent Ninety Busy Years

St. Patrick, who is considered to have Irish people everywhere under his special protection, is greatly honored in America. Every year on St. Patrick's day, March 17, in the cities of the United States persons of all races—men, women and children, white, black, Jew, Christian and even Chinamen—wear conspicuously displayed a bit of green ribbon or a sprig of artificial shamrock. Many persons have tiny American flags twined with the green ribbon, and the effect is pretty. Truckmen have green rosettes fastened to their horses' bridles, and the flag of Ireland—green, with a golden harp upon it—is seen in many places.

There are in every city on the 17th of March processions of Irish Americans and banquets by Irish societies. It is said that Washington, when he was president more than a hundred years ago, attended a banquet of the society of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick. Last year President Roosevelt went to the annual dinner of the same society in Brooklyn and made a speech.

It is not much wonder that we in the United States like to show honor to the strong, merry saint of Ireland. He was so democratic in his ways, so devoted to his mission and such a worker that if he lived in our day in America we could call him a "hustler" and mean not a bit of disrespect either.

Little is known of the personal life of St. Patrick, because he cared so much more for his work of converting pagans than for the events in his private history. According to some authorities, he was born about the year 373, in the north of England. He was not an Irishman himself, though, neither an Englishman. Britain belonged to the Roman empire then, and the father of St. Patrick was a Roman officer attached to the imperial army in the north of England. The name "Patrick" is common enough now, but did you know that it is merely shortened from the Latin word "Patricius," which means patrician, or of noble birth? St. Patrick was, therefore, born a patrician, and his father was wealthy. But the Irish were not under Roman subjection, and they made raids across the sea into England, fighting and plundering wherever they could. On one of these raids they captured the Young Patricius and carried him off as a slave and made him tend cattle in Ireland for a hard master. Then he ran away and escaped to his home in the north of England.

There Patrick, not yet the saint, stayed for several years, living among his own people in luxury. The Roman empire had been Christianized at that time, and Patrick and his people were Christians. The Irish, however, were mostly still attached to the Druid form of worship, in which human victims were sacrificed on altars. The story is that Patrick had a vision of the Irish people holding out their hands to him, imploring him to come among them again and convert them to Christianity. This Patrick did, but not till he had first journeyed to France and studied and prayed and meditated for more than thirty years. He was sixty years old when he set out on his crusade to convert Ireland.

He argued with and persuaded the Druid priests to adopt Christianity, and at length they did so. One story is that the learned Druids objected strenuously to the doctrine of the Trinity, or three in one. Thereupon, they say, the saint picked from its stem a sprig of the three-leaved shamrock, saying: "See, do not three heads grow from one stem here?"

That, it is said, is the first appearance of the shamrock in history, and ever since then it has been the emblem of Ireland.

St. Patrick endured suffering, persecution and hardship, but nothing could quench his fiery zeal for his work. He brought the Irish clans into harmony among themselves. Father Chidwick writes that St. Patrick was the unifier and founder of the Irish nation. And with all his hard work the good saint lived to be ninety years old.

But if little is known of St. Patrick's actual life history, there are plenty of legends and tales of his marvelous and many good deeds. One of the best known is that of his driving the snakes out of Ireland. Before his time, the legend says, Ireland had as many snakes as other countries, venomous ones, too. St. Patrick was sorry for the people who were bitten by them, so he resolved to drive them out of the country. The tale runs that one day he addressed the snakes of Ireland, friendly-like, but still commanding, as one who had power over them, and requested them to quit his Christian country. Thereupon the serpents vanished and none was ever seen again. Anyway, there are no snakes in Ireland.

OIL BURNERS SMILE AT STRIKE

Southern Railroads Have No Worry

W. F. McClure, general freight and passenger agent of the Galveston, Houston and Henderson railroad, with headquarters at Galveston, spent Friday afternoon in the city. Mr. McClure states that his road is provided exclusively with oil burning locomotives and that they are therefore not worrying over the coal situation. He states that the freight and passenger traffic over the Galveston, Houston and Henderson is good and that conditions generally in the southern part of the state are excellent. His road handles the trains of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas and also the International and Great Northern between Houston and Galveston and, though the road is but fifty-two miles long, it handles a tonnage greater than that of many roads several times its length. It is one of the best equipped railroads in the state, and it is operated after the most approved and modern methods.

Mr. McClure began his career in Fort Worth, and is known to all of the old timers. In his early days he drove a mule car in this city. Since then he has filled railroad positions of various kinds all over Texas. For some years, however, he has held the position of general freight and passenger agent of the Galveston, Houston and Henderson, and he is one of the most popular and energetic officials in the state.

Lecture by Miss Smith of the Fort Worth Kindergarten Association was not held at Carnegie library Friday afternoon owing to her illness. No Saturday afternoon lecture was given today, the Saturday series having closed.

There was rather a light docket in the corporation court Saturday morning, the principal offenders being charged with drunkenness and vagrancy. Chief Maddox states that there are a number of the latter dropping in here on every train, getting ready to work the visitors who will be here during the Fat Stock Show next week, and that his men have been instructed to take charge of them as quickly as they land here and see that they leave.

The mass meeting in the Third ward Monday night at Seventeenth and Elm streets will be well entertained by speakers, among whom will be J. W. Swain, Robert McCart, William Capps, Judge Parker, Judge J. M. Martin and others. The Third ward car line franchise will be thoroughly discussed and all points explained to the people.

GIVES HEALTH, VIGAR AND TONE

Herbino is a boon for sufferers from anemia. By its use the blood is quickly regenerated and the color becomes normal. The drooping strength is revived. The languor is diminished. Health, vigor and tone predominate. New life and happy activity results. Mrs. Belle H. Shriel, Middlesborough, Ill., writes: I have been troubled with liver complaint and poor blood, and have found nothing to benefit me like Herbine. I hope never to be without it. I have wished that I had known of it in my husband's lifetime." 50c. Sold by Covey & Martin, 310 Main street, opposite Hotel Worth.
