Bangladesh 'ever grateful' to man who turned on lights

By Wade Warren
Staff Writer

Midwest Electric Co-Op has been the host for two visitors from Bangladesh this week as part of a training and study tour by representatives of rural electric systems in that country.

Ahsan Habib is the operations manager for the Rural Electrification Board (REB) of Bangladesh and Golam Hamidur Rahman serves as the board president of a rural electric distribution cooperative located in the northwestern corner of Bangladesh.

While talk has certainly been on the technical aspects of rural electrification associations in their native country and the United States, it has been a chance for Habib to renew his friendship with Vesta Orr, general manager of the Midwest Electric Co-Op.

Orr spent some five years in Bangladesh during the years the system was started in that country.

"We are forever grateful to this man," said Habib as he pointed to Orr.

Habib and Orr worked closely together in the formation of Bangladesh's rural electrification program as it is based on U.S. rural electric cooperative concepts.

Habib said Orr was responsible for the managment concept of the Rural Electrification Board (REB) in his country.

"With his guidance (referring to Orr), our REB has been internationally acclaimed," said Habib proudly.

Presently, there are 1.3 million meters in Bangladesh with approximately 6 million people being served.

"Before this program, only cities had electricity except for a few places where irrigation systems were powered by electricty," added Habib, who has been with the electrification program since its inception in the early 1980s.

There are currently 52 rural electric associations in Bangladesh as compared to 78 in Texas.

Those 52 associations serve an area about the size of Wisconsin, said Habib.

Orr said the response that the village people in Bangladesh had when electric lights were first turned on in their villages was similar to the way people in rural Texas responded when their homes received electricity for the first time.

"Unbelieveable," said Habib.

"Parties, dancing all night. One had to be there to see the joy in the eyes of the village people."

Habib said the advent of electricty in the villages meant a major lifestyle change for the village people.

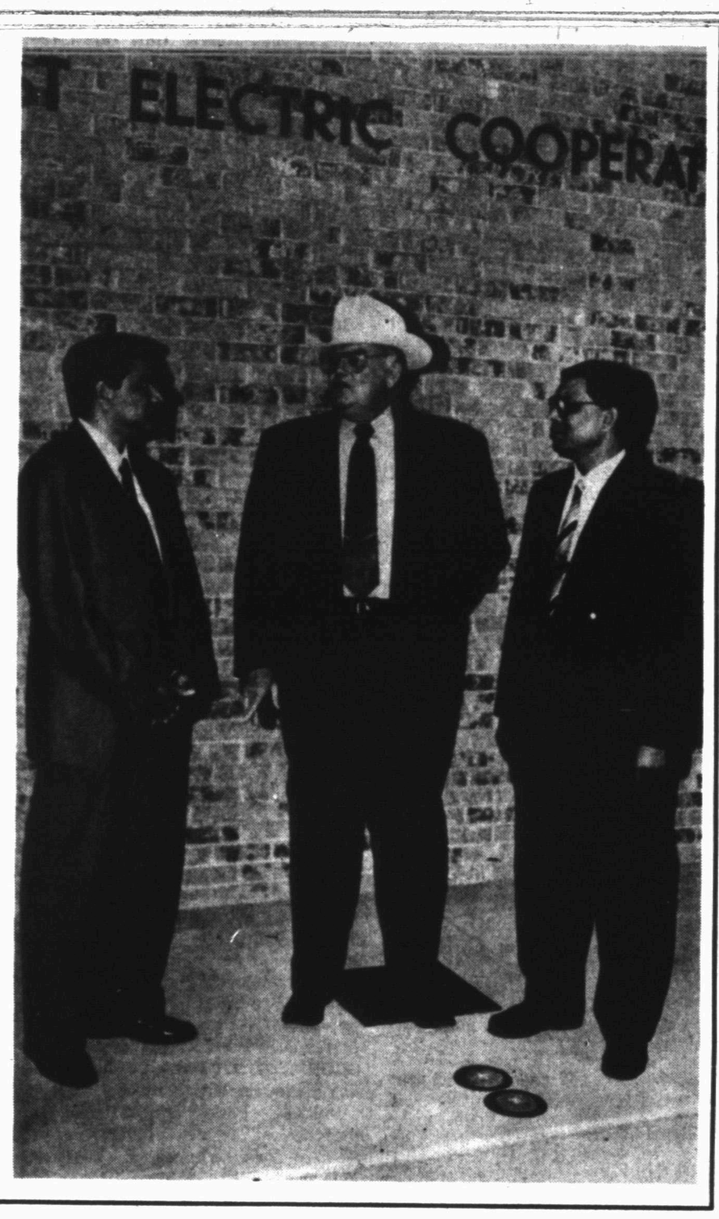

"It did two things," said Habib, in fluent English. "It stopped the migration from the villages to the cities and it reduced the growth of population in our crowded country," he said.

Industry now locates in the rural areas because of the availabilty of electricty and Habib matter of factly explains why the population is not growing as fast as it once was.

"Before, when the sun went down, there was only darkness in the villages," said Habib.

"There was nothing to do except produce children."

"Now there is television," Habib exclaimed.

Jury sets sentence at 20 years

After deliberating some 45 minutes Thursday afternoon, a 132nd District Court jury sentenced Lyle Franklin Brace to 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine, rejecting his attorney's plea for probation.

The same 10-woman, two-man jury had earlier that day taken just 20 minutes to find the 32-year-old Snyder man guilty of the possession of methamphetamine.

During the punishment phase, the jurors submitted a question to District Judge Ernie Armstrong concerning how fine money could be used.

Armstrong notified the jury through the bailiff that he was unable to provide that information and they should only consider the instructions he had given them earlier.

Shortly thereafter, at 3:20 p.m., the jury returned its verdict. The trial began Tuesday morning.

Following the sentencing, defense attorney Val Varley told Judge Armstrong that Brace was not able to pay for an appeals attorney and asked that one be appointed for him. Armstrong appointed Kevin Fine of Lubbock.

During the course of the trial Thursday morning, Varley was cited for contempt of court by Judge Armstrong, who fined the Lubbock attorney $100.

In pre-trial agreements, the attorneys had agreed not to bring up the fact that District Attorney Dana Cooley had represented Brace's wife in divorce proceedings. Varley mentioned that fact in open court and was cited.

He paid the fine shortly before noon Thursday in the district clerk's office.

Brace, who resided at 1912 Coleman No. 1, was arrested July 3 for possession of the drugs and was indicted by the county grand jury in August.

Brace had been out on a $5,000 bond since July 4.

Tax cut plan moves to Senate floor

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scaled-back version of the "Contract With America" tax cuts, including a $500-per-child credit, is headed to the Senate floor next week as part of a massive budget bill designed to eliminate the deficit by 2002.

It would cut taxes $245 billion over seven years and, in addition to the per-child credit, would dramatically expand eligibility for Individual Retirement Accounts and slash taxes on estates and on capital gains.

"This is a very good day for taxpayers who want to see a balanced budget and also want to spend more of their own money," Sen. Don Nickles, R-Okla., said Thursday.

The measure was adopted by the Senate Finance Committee on an 11-9 party-line vote after Republicans summarily defeated dozens of amendments offered by Democrats, who contend the GOP is robbing the poor to benefit the rich.

Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., told reporters he planned action Wednesday by the full Senate on the budget legislation, which also would save $270 billion in Medicare spending over seven years.

President Clinton has threatened to veto it unless Congress wrings substantially less from Medicare and reduces the tax cut. His own proposal would cut taxes $105 billion over seven years and focus the benefits more closely on the middle class.

Most Senate Democrats, however, declared their opposition to any tax cut as long as the budget deficit continues.

The House tax cut package, $354 billion over seven years, is less generous on retirement accounts and estate-tax relief but offers a considerably bigger reduction for businesses, senior citizens and recipients of capital gains.

The Senate would limit eligibility for the full per-child credit to single parents earning up to $75,000 and couples making up to $110,00. The House bill would extend eligibility to families earning up to $200,000.

Both bills contain a reduction in the marriage penalty, which results in many couples paying higher taxes than they would if they had remained single. Senators also included a $500 credit for student loan interest payments.

Democrats hammered at the fairness of the tax cut, particularly

City tax rebates fall

Sales tax rebates to the City of Snyder fell more than 12 percent this month, according to information provided by the State Comptroller's Office.

The city received $109,113.73 in sales tax rebates for October. That figure is down 12.18 percent from October of 1994, when the city took in $125,145.08.

The report also indicates that rebates are down 3.11 percent for the year, noting that the city has received $1,393,696.24 thus far in 1995, compared to $1,172,375.02 collected during the same period last year.

Sales tax rebates for October were up slightly for Scurry County. The county received $56,957.42 this month, compared to $56,846.42 in October of 1994. For the year-to-date, sales tax rebates to the county are up 9.82 percent, from $521,629.79 to $572,879.02.

This month's payments to Texas cities and counties is of taxes collected on August sales and reported to the Comptroller in September by businesses filing monthly tax returns.

WTC to host area college administrators, trustees

A meeting of the West Texas Administrators and Trustees will be hosted by Western Texas College at 7 this evening.

Represented will be Howard, Midland and Odessa College, as well as WTC.

The gathering is an annual meeting which rotates among the four colleges. The meeting is expected to focus on funding woes and loss of tax base — problems common to all four junior colleges.

Junior colleges receive income from enrollment, state funding and local property taxes. Because property values have greatly decreased due to a lack of oil production, colleges are looking to compensate for their financial losses.

In addition to tonight's meeting, which is expected to last approximately two hours, Western Texas will have its own annual planning session starting at noon Saturday.

Wife Can't Laugh Off Widow's Continued Calls to Husband

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1995 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: About six months ago, my husband received a telephone call from a recently widowed woman. It seems they had a brief affair 30 years ago when he was 20 years old and living in another state.

I was present when he received this call. We both thought it was funny and laughed about it.

Well, last night, he received a second call from this woman, and again he carried on a friendly conversation with her. (She started out by asking if I was home.)

I no longer think that this is funny. I think my husband should have stressed that he was a married man, and advised her to get on with her life.

Abby, I was widowed five years ago and I went through much pain and loneliness, but never did I call a married man in an effort to resume an old relationship. Never!

I expect there will be future calls from this woman, and I am hurt my husband didn't nip this in the bud. It is probably just an ego trip for him, but I feel a little less trust in him now than I did before. If the situation were reversed and I was getting the calls, I doubt if he would approve. Am I wrong to feel hurt?

DISILLUSIONED

DEAR DISILLUSIONED: No. Obviously, you feel more than just "hurt." You feel threatened — perhaps without cause. Let your husband know that the phone calls concern you, and ask that he discourage this woman from phoning again. If he refuses, you have reason to be upset.

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "Loves to Move" caught my eye because I could have written it. Her words are a carbon copy of my feelings.

Since I was 12 years old, I've found an unnatural delight in changing residences. At the time, my father's job required many moves — sometimes to another state. I considered each move a challenge.

After I married, my moving slowed down. because my husband didn't go along with my "gypsy" inclinations. Twenty-one years later, I divorced my husband and moved three times a year for the next six years.

Then, I married a man who was just like me, and during our 24-year marriage, we moved approximately 60 times.

Two years ago, I was left a widow. Abby, I am almost 75 years old, and I'm still moving.

I wanted to write this letter to show "Loves to Move" that there is someone else like her.

I would have written sooner, but I was in the middle of moving. You may use my name.

SIGNE CAGLE IN ST. LOUIS

DEAR SIGNE CAGLE: I've heard from many readers who have written to say they hate to move, but you are one of the few to say you love to move.

When I telephoned you to ask permission to use your name, you assured me that everything you wrote is true. Thank you for an unbelievable — but authentic — letter.

DEAR ABBY: Over the years, you have done many columns on the conduct of guests. I think my mother summed it up best when she said, "Guests can do anything and act any way they please in my home, but I decide who is invited back."

I've been reading your column and your sister's forever. You should both be on the bench.

BERNARD RUDD,
JUDGE, SUPERIOR COURT
OF NEW JERSEY

DEAR JUDGE RUDD: Thank you. But Ruth Bader Ginsberg already has "our" seat.

Candidate rips 'Gingrich radicals'

AUSTIN (AP) — With a blast at Republican "Gingrich radicals" and a pledge to hang onto Yellow Dog Democratic territory in East Texas, Houston lawyer Bill White has launched his bid to become state Democratic Party chairman.

White, 41, the former deputy U.S. energy secretary, said Thursday that most Texans want a more mainstream party than the GOP and that Democrats can win them over.

"The Democratic Party reflects the views of a vast majority of people on the issues that are most important to the country," White said. "The things that people care most about — like public education, clean air, clean water, providing local and community services to reduce crime — Democrats have been on the cutting edge on."

But led by U.S. House Speaker Newt Gingrich, Republicans are attacking programs that help average Americans while they also are trying to reduce taxes for the wealthy, White asserted. That, he said, could be the GOP's Achilles' heel.

"Right now, there's a growing perception that the radical Gingrich wing of the Republican Party is going too far," White said. "I think people are starting to get pretty uncomfortable with that wing of the party."

White said he hopes to persuade the State Democratic Executive Committee to pick him to succeed retiring chairman Bob Slagle, who's stepping down about seven months early after 15 years in the unpaid party post.

White raised about $2 million in Texas for President Clinton's last campaign. His candidacy has been promoted by the top five elected Democratic statewide officials.

The Democratic executive committee will hear from candidates on Nov. 4 and vote in early December. Former state Sen. Hector Uribe of Brownsville and former Attorney General Jim Mattox of Austin have indicated they are considering the race.

White said he has three immediate goals if elected chairman: retaining Democratic control of the Texas House and Texas Senate, and picking up at least one seat in the U.S. House during the 1996 elections.

He also said he would open an office in East Texas to help hold onto that longtime Democratic stronghold.

"We are going to fight, we are going to fight hard in East Texas to maintain that traditional Democratic ground," White said.

"I think the Democratic Party shares the basic values of East Texans when it comes to the economy and services of government, and we need to make that case."

Perry applauds ruling by the appeals court

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry is applauding a federal appeals court ruling that says a judge may not proceed toward federal control of the Edwards Aquifer.

"As we have maintained all along, the answer to managing the Edwards Aquifer will be found by Texans — and not by a federal judge or federal agency. Fortunately, the court of appeals agrees with us," Perry said.

"It is time for differences at the state level to be worked out and for practical solutions to be found for managing this crucial water resource," Perry said Thursday.

The state filed a request last week with the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that addressed several issues, including a bid to stop U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton from going forward with a plan to impose pumping limits on the aquifer on Jan. 1. The appeals court ruled Wednesday.

The aquifer, a huge underground river, is the sole source of drinking water for San Antonio.

It also provides irrigation for farmers and ranchers in six counties.

Your Birthday

Saturday, Oct. 21, 1995

You could be quite fortunate in the year ahead concerning valued relationships. When you establish alliances, they'll be of an enduring nature.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your mental attributes and powers of concentration may seem quite strong today. Devote your efforts to endeavors that challenge your imagination. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10150.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do not treat any money making ideas you get today with indifference. There are indications that they will be much better than you think and will have realistic, profitable potential.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You can advance your personal interests today, but you might have to assert yourself a trifle more than usual. In developments where you must be strong, try to also show tact.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) In delicate career situations today, proper timing will prove extremely important. If you play your trump card at the right moment, a large win will be possible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You are a kind and sensitive person and this sometimes leads others to believe they can take advantage of you. Bullies will get a big surprise today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Remain watchful for an opportunity today that could make it possible for you to participate in something successful that another already has going.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) For your own peace of mind, adopt a philosophical attitude today. It will guard you against getting uptight, even when persons or conditions move against you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A joint endeavor you're presently involved in shows good probabilities for success in the long run, even though conditions appear critical now.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Measures can be taken today to strengthen the bonds in one of your more significant relationships. It will be up to you to do the initial spade work.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Persons who dislike you may go out of their way to assist you today. Do not take their kindness for granted. Make sure to properly acknowledge it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This will be a good day to take a break if you're caught up with your responsibilities and duties. Do something fun that includes several friends.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You might have a pleasant surprise today as two situations that lacked promise and luster suddenly show stirrings of strength.

Father convicted

NEW YORK (AP) — A man who abducted his three young children and took them to Egypt became the first person convicted of international parental kidnapping under a 1993 U.S. law.

The children, however, remain in Egypt with their father's family because the country isn't a party to international law that requires the return of youngsters taken unlawfully to foreign countries, U.S. Attorney Zachary Carter said.

A jury convicted Ahmed Amer on Thursday. He faces a maximum three years in prison and a $250,000 fine when he is sentenced Dec. 15.

On the ballot

The following information is condensed from a special House Research Organization publication provided to better inform voters about the 14 amendments on the Nov. 5 ballot. It is the fourth in a series.

Proposition 4

READS: "The constitutional amendment permitting an encumbrance to be fixed on homestead property for an equity of partition, including a debt of a spouse resulting from a division or award of a homestead in a divorce proceeding, and for the refinance of a lein against a homestead, including a federal tax lein resulting from the tax debt of the owner."

INFORMATION: A borrower who fails to make required payments on a secured loan may lose the property pledged as loan security through a court-ordered forced sale or a non-judicial foreclosure procedure. However, the constitution allows the forced sale of a borrower's homestead only for debt incurred for these purposes: to purchase the home; to finance improvements to the home; and for taxes due on the home. The constitution effectively blocks use of a homestead as a security for loans for purposes other than those specified. The proposition would allow the forced sale of a homestead for two additional purposes: the payment of debts for owelties of partition and payment of debts for the refinancing of a federal tax lein against a homestead.

SUPPORTERS SAY: Under the amendment, the homestead could be used as collateral only for two narrowly specific purposes: to help a homeowner keep a homstead after a divorce or a death in a family, or when a federal tax lein is filed against the homstead. These purposes relate directly to maintaining the homestead, just as the current exceptions for loans to purchase or improve the homestead. Homeowners with unpaid federal tax bills currently face a "Catch-22" in which the federal government files a lein using the delinquent taxpayer's homestead as security for payment of back taxes but the owner of the property cannot do the same.

OPPONENTS SAY: Proposition 4 would establish two new ways for banks and other financial institutions to foreclose on a homestead. The constitutional homestead protection was intended to assure debtors and their families of a home and some means of support even in difficult circumstance. Proposition 4 would erode that protection. By undermining the fundamental purpose of the homstead protection, this amendment could help pave the way for further exceptions, including the possibility of home-equity lending.

Time to break nicotine gum habit

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My wife was a two-pack-a-day smoker until she kicked the habit 11 years ago, with the help of Nicorette chewing gum. Although I am proud of her for quitting cigarettes and grateful that she is now avoiding the health problems of smoking, I fear she may have traded one bad habit for another: She chews 10 to 20 pieces of the gum daily. Now I am concerned that there may be serious effects from the gum itself. Are my fears justified?

DEAR READER: Despite reassurances to the contrary by tobacco-company executives, nicotine is clearly addictive.

I am glad to hear that your wife has stopped smoking, because the health risks of cigarettes are substantial, and include heart disease, cancer, stroke, and other serious ailments. These consequences are believed due to the non-nicotine ingredients in tobacco and carbon monoxide.

Nonetheless, as you suspect, nicotine is far from harmless. The drug causes hypertension, constriction of arteries (thereby worsening various vascular disorders), rapid pulse, and chemical imbalances in the body. Acute nicotine withdrawal produces a wide array of symptoms, including craving, nervousness, sleep disturbances, anxiety, swings in mood, and weight gain.

Because of the effects of nicotine, Nicorette's manufacturer advises that the gum not be used by people with heart disease, angina, hyperthyroidism, peptic ulcer, hypertension, or peripheral vascular disease. In addition, the product should not be used for longer than six months.

To wean patients off Nicorette, the manufacturer recommends the following steps:

1. Reduce the number of pieces chewed by one a day every week.

2. Decrease chewing time with each 15 minutes. This releases less nicotine.

3. Replace standard Nicorette gum with the half-strength variety, containing two milligrams of nicotine, instead of the usual four milligrams.

4. Substitute sugarless gum (one a day every week).

I agree that your wife has chewed too much Nicorette gum for too long. Since the product is available only by prescription, your wife's physician should be both notified of her habit and involved in its solution. He can help her gradually reduce her dependence on the gum.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Help II: Mental/Substance Abuse." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10150. Be sure to mention the title.

Dallas teacher suspended for alleged racist remarks

DALLAS (AP) — A fifth grade social studies teacher has been suspended pending investigation of allegations she went into a racist diatribe during a discussion of the Million Man March and told a roomful of students they should "go back to Africa."

"She said black children are ignorant and stupid and black people need to go back to Africa where they belong," said Gloria-Von Johnson, 10, a student in the homeroom where the incident occurred.

She said Deen Williamson, 51, shouted and jabbed her finger in children's faces and then pulled her hair when she tried not to listen.

Clarence Glover, newly appointed administrator of cultural affairs, said the accusations "will not be taken lightly."

Other teachers at Umphrey Lee Elementary School, where 97.5 percent of the students are black, said they heard Ms. Williamson shouting at her students throughout the period the class was in session.

"In a district that is 87 percent minority, this is obviously a high priority," said Robby Collins, a special assistant to the school superintendent. "This cannot drag on."

Ms. Williamson, who is white, has 19 years' experience, seven of it in the Dallas schools, officials said.

Collins said the fact she was suspended did not imply any opinion on the part of the district concerning validity of the charges against her. He said possible outcomes range from clearing her of the charges to firing her.

The teacher's attorney, Richard Arnett of Austin, said his client declined to comment, on his advice. But Arnett said she denied making any of the remarks attributed to her by her students.

"She did not say anything like that, she would not say anything like that. She enjoys working with minority kids," Arnett said.

Her students were adamant that their teacher made a series of racist remarks during a discussion Tuesday of Nation of Islam leader Louis Farrakhan and the Million Man March in Washington one day earlier.

"She was talking about how Farrakhan was a racist," said Keith Foster, 12, "and about how black kids need to go back to Africa where they belong. She said it was hard for black kids to get into college, and we should go home and tell our parents we were stupid."

Jade Singleton, 10, who was also in the room, said Thursday, "I really don't have anything against her, but it was just that it really hurt us. My friend was talking about the Million Man March, and (the teacher) started getting mad."

Bridge is better than fish

By Phillip Alder

Fish is supposed to be good for the brain. But maybe bridge is better, as it keeps the mind active. And once you reach an advanced age, you can use Dennis Wolfberg's line: "There's one advantage to being 102. There's no peer pressure."

However, there are peers who play bridge. Arguably the best, Lord Harold Lever, died last August. He played today's deal in the sixth match between the House of Commons and House of Lords in 1980.

If the bidding looks strange, there was an extenuating circumstance: the score. It was rubber bridge with North-South 60 on and East-West 90. So, Lever, South, responded one no-trump to try to end the auction. However, Mrs. (now Baroness) Oppenheim, West, wasn't going quietly. Hence her dangerous two-diamond overcall.

West led the diamond five: three, jack, queen. A club to the 10 and jack was followed by the diamond eight: nine, 10, heart six. West switched to a subtle spade five. After winning with the king, East returned his last diamond.

Lever went up with his ace, successfully finessed dummy's club queen and cashed the club ace, getting the bad news. He continued with the spade ace and spade jack, overtaken with his queen. Again, bad news, but West had no defense. Her hand had counted out, so Lever had an answer to any discard.

When West threw the diamond seven, Lever exited with his last diamond. West cashed the club king, but then had to lead away from the heart king. Eight tricks in and another rubber won.

Phillip Alder's book, "Get Smarter at Bridge," is available, autographed upon request, for $14.95 from P.O. Box 169, Roslyn Hts., NY 11577-0169.

Ex-guards may sue, court says

BAYVIEW (AP) —. Four former Bayview detention center guards who contend they were fired for reporting sexual abuse may pursue their case in court, an appeals court has ruled.

The 13th District Court of Appeals overturned a lower court's ruling that the statute of limitations had expired on the guards' charges of civil conspiracy, loss of wages and infliction of emotional distress.

However, the court ruled the statute had expired on their claims of sexual assault, the former guards' attorney, Denis Downey, told the Valley Morning Star for Thursday editions.

A jury trial will be requested on the charges, Downey said.

"The conduct of the defendants is so outrageous and so wrongful that a jury would be sympathetic to the plaintiffs," Downey said. "I think finally a body of 12 men and women will do something about this."

Cynthia Rodriguez, Beatrice Huerta and Frances Carmona filed a lawsuit in 1992 against camp officers, charging male guards had sexually abused them while on duty.

With former guard Anthony Hefner, they also alleged that female detainees were abused.

District Judge Darrell Hester threw the case out of court in May 1993, prompting the appeal.

"It took us almost five years, but the truth is going to come out," Ms. Rodriguez said.

Aggies looking to get back on track in SWC

By KEVIN O'HANLON
Associated Press Writer

A month ago, the world seemed within Texas A&M's grasp.

The Aggies were 2-0, ranked third in nation and appeared poised to steamroll through the schedule to a possible national championship showdown in the Fiesta Bowl against Florida State or Nebraska.

Then the steamroller got steamrolled.

Back-to-back losses to Colorado and Texas Tech were followed by a too-close-for-comfort 20-17 win against SMU last week.

The Aggies (3-2, 1-1 Southwest Conference) now are ranked 22nd and clinging to life, tied with Texas Tech for second in the league behind Baylor, Texas and TCU.

The Aggies travel to Waco Saturday to face a rugged Baylor club (4-1, 2-0), which sports the best defensive statistics in the league and some of the best in the nation.

The Bears are first in the SWC in rushing defense (91.8 yards per game, seventh in the nation), passing defense (a rating of 72.7, first in the nation), total defense (234 yards per game, third in the nation) and scoring defense (9.8 yards per game, third in the nation).

Aggies coach R.C. Slocum knows a loss will all but quash A&M's chances for a conference crown.

"I think the players all know that," Slocum said. "We're behind in (the SWC race) right now. We cannot afford to fall any more behind."

Baylor coach Chuck Reedy agreed.

"Once you get your second loss, you're pretty much going to be out of it," he said. "You're going to have a very tough time with two losses."

Slocum said he's hopeful running back Leeland McElroy, who's nursing a sprained ankle, will play Saturday.

In other SWC games, No. 14 Virginia visits No. 16 Texas, Tulane is at TCU, Rice visits No. 25 Tech and SMU plays at Houston.

The Texas game will be a homecoming for Virginia receiver Patrick Jeffers, a former Fort Worth Country Day star.

His 101 catches rank seventh on Virginia's career list, 13 behind Detroit Lions star Herman Moore. His 1,698 yards are fourth, 455 behind Tyrone Davis, a late cut of the New York Jets this summer. And his 15 career touchdown catches also rank fourth.

Texas coach John Mackovic said he also is impressed by Virginia quarterback Mike Groh.

"He's one of the top quarterbacks in the country. He has great numbers. He makes big plays and has great timing and feel," Mackovic said. "I enjoy watching him. He can really get hot."

Earlier this season, Virginia (6-2) trailed North Carolina State 24-23 with just over a minute left when Groh hit Jeffers on four straight downs. The nine-play, 69-yard drive gave Virginia a 29-24 victory.

Two weeks later at Clemson, Jeffers and Groh teamed on a 76-yard touchdown that helped seal the Cavaliers' first victory in 19 tries at Death Valley.

WTC in good shape at Tech

The Western Texas College rodeo team has three members sitting in first place following the opening performance of the Texas Tech Intercollegiate rodeo in Lubbock.

Cowgirl Chasity Rickman had a 7.7 time in goat tying. Right behind her is Tona Wright in second with a 7.8. KayCee Pluggee is sitting in ninth place with a 9.4.

Jaime Stewart had a 14.68 in barrels to take first place. Rickman is in fifth with a 15.4.

In saddle bronc riding, Lance Gaillard is sitting in first after a ride of 75. In steer wrestling, Ryan Weaver had a 4.6, good for second. Charles Addis got his steer in 5.6 while Cole Schaffer had a 5.7. Addis is in fourth and Schaffer is tied for fifth.

Cowboy Rod Lewis is in second place in bareback with a 65 and Brent Harvey is in ninth with a 11.0 in calf roping.

The rodeo continues tonight at 7:30 in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum. There will be slack after tonight's performance. The finals will be Saturday night at 7:30.

Hermleigh, Borden County clash tonight

Borden County Coyotes and the Hermleigh Cardinals highlight District 6, six-man football action tonight. The game is set for 7:30 in in Hermleigh.

Both teams are coming off loses after last Friday's play. Borden County was defeated by Loraine, 44-28, and Hermleigh lost to Highland, 46-8.

"I thought our guys played pretty well against a good Loraine ball club," said Borden County head coach Bobby Avery. "We still had a chance to win the ball game toward the end. Maybe we didn't bring home the win but as long as these guys continue to put out the effort that they did Friday night, I look for us to be right in the thick of things."

The Coyotes finished the night with 357 total yards, over 100 more than Loraine. Borden County's record is 4-2 overall, 0-1 in loop play.

Hermleigh will be looking to rebound after a disappointing loss to Highland. The only touchdown in the game for the Cardinals came with 7:28 left in the final period when Joey Sanchez caught a Larry Lambaren 54-yard pass.

Coach David Rogers was looking for a good week of practice in preparation for the Coyotes. Earlier in the week, Rogers had said, "We need to come together as a team, have good practices and play together as a team."

The Ira-Highland game as been cancelled due to grade problems at Ira. The Bulldogs are hoping to field a team next week when Hermleigh is scheduled to go to Ira.

The other game tonight features Loraine at Westbrook. Ira forfeited to Westbrook last week.

Hermleigh JHS defeats Borden County

Andy Luna ran for two touchdowns to help the Hermleigh Junior High defeat Borden County, 25-14, in Thursday night action.

Luna scored on runs of 38 and 45 yards. Also getting into the scoring scene were David Digby with a four-yard run and Nicholas Free on a two-yard run.

Quarterback Trey Roemisch was four for four passing. Outstanding defensive player was Caleb Callaway.

Lincoln takes SJHS seventh

The Snyder Junior High seventh grade teams were defeated by Abilene Lincoln Thursday night in Abilene. The A team was shut out 27-0, while the B team was narrowly defeated, 21-16.

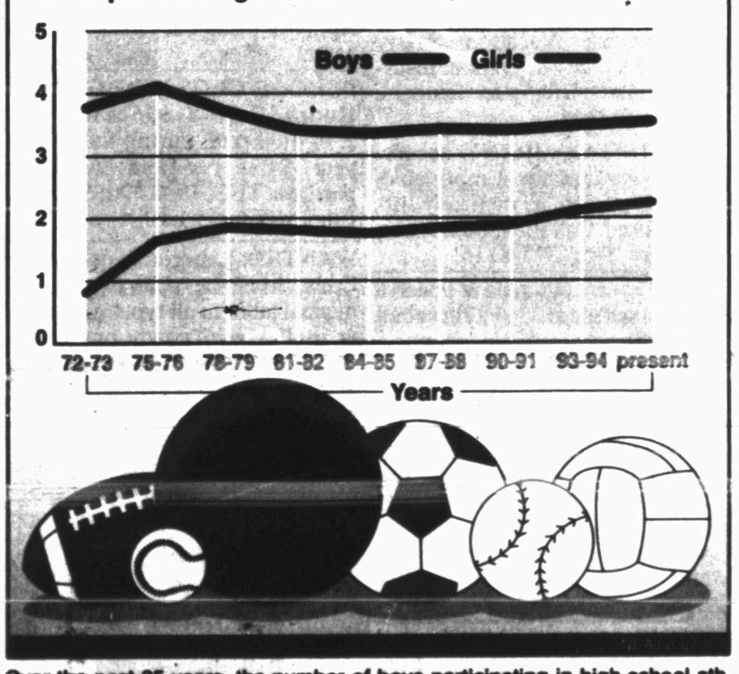

Outstanding players for the A team were Josh Arizmendi and R. J. Hernandez.

Tommy Sims accounted for all 16 points in the loss to Lincoln. Sims scored on runs of 60 and 15 yards. He also ran for both of the two-point conversions.

Players singled out by the coaching staff for outstanding offensive performance were David Beard, Garrett Luft and Sims while on the defensive side, Aris Lockett.

The seventh grade will play Lamesa next week at Travis Field.

Get in the game

Over the past 25 years, the number of boys participating in high-school athletics each year has remained relatively stable. But over the same time, girls' involvement in high-school athletics has grown by more than 600 percent: from less than 300,000 to more than 2.2 million.

DISTRICT 5-AAAA PREVIEW

By Brent Taylor
Sports Editor

Sweetwater has the upper hand in the district race after the first round of games. The Mustangs outlasted Estacado, 27-15. The other undefeated teams in district will play tonight. Frenship has the better season record, but Snyder is only one game behind. Estacado will look to rebound against Lamesa. The Golden Tors have the worst season record of the loop teams.

Snyder (4-2, 1-0) at Frenship (5-1, 1-0)

Last Week:
Snyder defeated Levelland 14-13
Frenship defeated Lamesa 49-6

Snyder will have to find some way to get past a very tough and big defensive line. Tailbacks L.S. McClain and Marlowe Riggins will have to run the way they have the past two outings for Snyder to have a chance.

Frenship comes into the game with the top-ranked offense and defense in the area. They broke into the top 10 in the state in defense last week and came in at number nine this week. The blue and gold Tigers have averaged giving up 144.3 yards a game.

Sweetwater (6-0, 1-0) at Levelland (4-2, 0-1)

Last Week:
Sweetwater defeated Estacado 27-15
Levelland lost to Snyder 14-13

Sweetwater will attempt to keep its perfect record intact when they travel to the South Plains to take on the Levelland Lobos. The Mustangs had to play four quarters to win last week. With Estacado driving for the tying touchdown, defensive back Dominis Solis picked off an Estacado pass and returned it 73 yards where Shaun Carr scored the clinching touchdown a few plays later.

You can almost bet Levelland has spent time this week working on extra point attempts. The Lobos missed a crucial one against Snyder, which would have tied the game. Like every team to face Sweetwater, Levelland will have to slow down Carr. No one has so far, and don't look for Levelland to either.

Lamesa (2-4, 0-1) at Estacado (4-2, 0-1)

Last Week:
Lamesa lost to Frenship 49-6
Estacado lost to Sweetwater 27-15

This should be a one-sided ballgame, but don't tell Lamesa that. Lamesa will be looking to put the wind back in their circulation after having it deflated last week by Frenship. Lamesa was only able to muster 134 yards of total offense while giving up 476 yards on defense.

The Matadors are also licking their wounds after being run over by Sweetwater. Despite Tyson Gatewood's 178 yards, Estacado could not put together enough offense to offset the Mustangs' 312 yards.

Snyder Junior High 8th splits with Lincoln

The Snyder Junior High eighth grade black team came away with a 26-12 win over Abilene Lincoln Thursday night at Travis Field.

Mark Rangel ran for three touchdowns from seven, four and 28 yards. He also had a 97-yard extra point return for two points. For the game, Rangel carried 14 times for 156 yards.

David Wilson scored on a 23-yard run. He finished the night with four carries for 35 yards and one pass reception for 10 yards.

Quarterback Trevor Kerr was two of six passing for 15 yards. Mike Martinez carried the ball six times for 15 yards and Leeroy Tavarez rushed three times for 20 yards.

Once again this week, the offensive line was praised by the coaching staff for another great game. The line is made up of Jacob Martinez, Wil Hardin, Trevis Wells, Joe Villa, Todd Dobson and Joe Gutierrez. Defensive standouts were Marciano Madrid, Billy Burleson and Jeromy Nelson.

The Gold team lost, 19-8. Snyder's touchdown came on a three-yard pass from Sonny Cumbie to Paul Camp.

For the night, Cumbie was was four of 15 throwing the ball for 28 yards. He also ran three times for 26 yards. Ray Carreon gained 182 yards on 20 carries. Camp carried for five yards on two carries. Justin Phillips caught two passes for 17 yards.

Outstanding player on offense were Joe Esparza, Randy Green, Corey Knipe, Kade Kubena and Isidro Villasana. On defense, outstanding players were Phillips, Villasana, Camp and Carreon.

Testimony opens in murder trial

LUBBOCK (AP) — Marine Sgt. Thomas Peeples says he was buying snacks from a vending machine, at about 9 p.m. on a Saturday in February, when a female voice caught his ear.

"'Can someone please come here?'" Peeples quoted the woman.

The marine says he walked to the corner to see a man exit Goodfellow Air Force Base's laundry building with his hand clinched around Army Pvt. Tracie Joy McBride. Authorities found her body north of San Angelo 12 days later.

Testimony began Thursday in the trial of Louis Jones, a former Army Ranger accused of kidnapping and killing Ms. McBride on Feb. 18.

The trial was moved from San Angelo after more than 7,500 area residents signed a petition favoring the death penalty for Jones. Federal prosecutors agreed to seek capital punishment.

Prosecutor Roger McRoberts said Jones, 45, abducted Ms. McBride from the laundry building and held her captive in a closet in his home for several hours. He then drove her to Coke County, where he killed her with a tire iron, McRoberts said.

Witnesses testified that the 19-year-old Minnesota native was talking on the telephone when her abductor approached.

"I knew she wasn't listening after a certain point," testified Dawn Walberg of Lino Lakes, Minn., who described her friend as distracted on the phone. Ms. Walberg said she heard background noises; then the phone went dead.

4 booked into jail

Four people were booked into Scurry County Jail Thursday, including one who was arrested on an outstanding felony warrant from Nolan County for forgery.

City officers arrested Diana Davis Young, 21, of 3915 Merrill at 5:47 p.m. at 1300 26th St. on the warrant for forgery.

Other arrests included a 41-year-old female who was taken into custody at Municipal Court at 10:45 a.m. to lay out fines for no insurance, public intoxication, leaving the scene of an accident and no liability insurance.

A 19-year-old male was arrested at 9:35 p.m. on outstanding DPS warrants for speeding and failure to appear.

At 11:42 p.m., officers arrested a 38-year-old male in the 2500 block of 27th Street for misdemeanor driving while intoxicated.

At 10:02 a.m. Thursday, a woman went to the police station and reported a person had assaulted her. An offense report for Class C assault was submitted.

A minor accident was reported at 10:23 a.m. in the parking lot of the Varsity Square Shopping Center. Involved were a 1984 Chevrolet driven by Michael Lindsey, Box 451, and a parked, unoccupied 1991 Mazda owned by Mindy Willis, 9853 County Road 2173, Fluvanna.

An offense report for theft of services was submitted at 3:24 p.m.

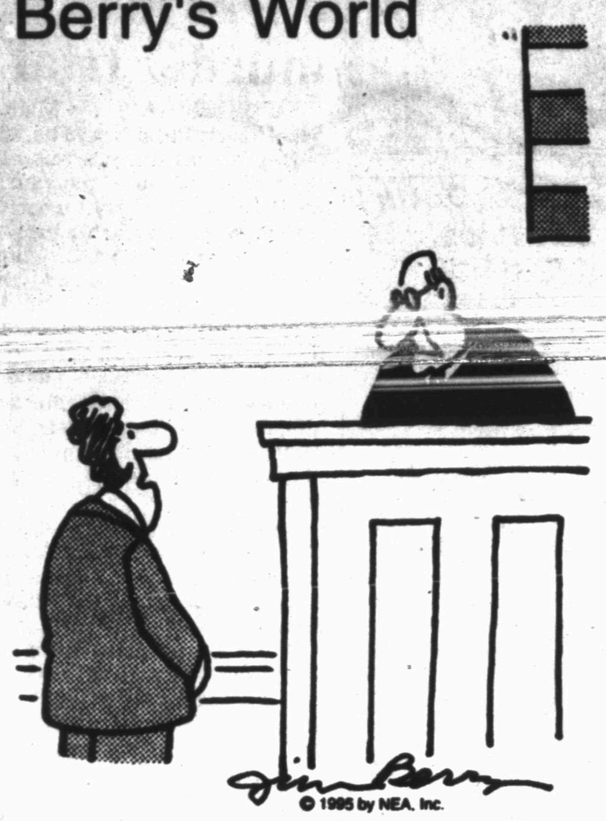

At 6:05 p.m., a woman requested to speak to a deputy in reference to her neighbor's dogs killing her goat.

An offense report for Class C assault was submitted at 6:11 p.m.

Stocks rally on eighth anniversary

NEW YORK (AP) — The Dow Jones industrial average rallied to another record Thursday, the eighth anniversary of the stock market crash that traumatized investors worldwide.

The index of 30 big-name U.S. corporate stocks rose nearly 25 points to finish at 4,802.45, just beating its record of 4,801.80 set Sept. 14.

Bomer approves discount for automobile insurance

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Insurance Commissioner Elton Bomer has approved a special auto insurance discount for students who make good grades.

The Academic Achievement Discount applies to high school juniors and seniors and college students who have a B average or better or a 3.0 grade point average or better on a 4.0 scale.

Male students must be under 25 years of age and female students must be under 21. Those drivers are legally classified as "youthful drivers" and generally pay more for insurance.

The amount of the discount won't be determined or go into effect until Bomer sets new benchmark rates for private passenger auto insurance, probably in early 1996.

The discount will be optional for insurance companies, so students are invited to shop around to find those companies that offer it, Bomer said Thursday.

"When students work hard in school and make good grades, they demonstrate a certain amount of responsibility and maturity," Bomer said. "These same traits are needed to be a good driver."

The student discount rule was approved in a law passed by the 1995 Legislature.

Rob Schneider, an insurance expert with the public watchdog group Consumers Union, said his organization supports the discount.

Insurance industry spokesman Rick Gentry praised Bomer's action.

"The benefits of the discount extend beyond premium savings because the strength of our economy is tied to the education of our work force," said Gentry, of the Insurance Information Institute.

Industry spokesman Jerry Johns, of the Southwestern Insurance Information Service, said experience has shown that students who maintain good grades usually are better drivers and use their cars less frequently than students with poorer grades.

About 40 other states allow similar discounts.

In other action Thursday, Bomer approved a proposal designed to encourage insurers to continue writing policies for mobile homes in coastal areas of Texas.

The new rule allows insurance companies to exclude from mobile home owners policies coverage for losses caused by windstorms, hurricanes, hail and floods.

Bomer said this will allow mobile home owners in Texas' 14 coastal counties to buy coverage for such things as fire and vandalism through the private insurance market.

Coverage for windstorm, hurricane and hail coverage would be obtained from the Texas Catastrophe Property Insurance Association — or Catpool — and flood insurance through the National Flood Insurance Program.

Bomer ordered companies to reduce premiums when windstorm, hurricane, hail and flood losses are excluded from a mobile homeowners policy.

"This is not perfect answer," Bomer said of the new rule, which applies only to the 14 Gulf Coast counties. "Mobile home owners along the coast may have to pay higher rates for the same type of coverage. But if we didn't act quickly, they would be left with no coverage at all."

Government silence miffs scientist

LONDON (AP) — Joseph Rotblat, the British scientist and anti-nuclear activist awarded the Nobel Peace Prize, has received international congratulations but not a word from Britain's government.

"Maybe the government doesn't agree with my policy on nuclear weapons, but even so, Nobel Prizes don't come very often," Rotblat said Thursday.

A spokesman for Prime Minister John Major said: "We are always very pleased when a British citizen wins a Nobel Prize."

State rests in Houston trial

HOUSTON (AP) — The state rested its case today as the eighth day of testimony began in the murder trial of Yolanda Saldivar, accused of killing Tejano singing star Selena in March.

The defense started its direct efforts to show the shooting was an accident after state District Judge Mike Westergren denied defense motions that he issue a directed verdict of acquittal, that he lessen the charge against her and that the state showed insufficent evidence.

"For the record, the state rests," Nueces County District Attorney Carlos Valdez said at 8:36 a.m. CDT.

The first defense witness was Ruben Deleon, sales director for the Days Inn where the shooting occurred. Deleon testified last week for the state and told of the chaos in the moments when the singer staggered into the motel lobby.

One witness told of the fatally wounded Selena telling motel employees to lock the door because she feared Ms. Saldivar would shoot again. Deleon said he did not hear those comments.

"I don't know what anyone else saw," he said. "I wasn't paying attention to people around me."

A motel housekeeper, Gloria Magana, said she "heard a lady screaming by the pool" but did not see Trinidad Espinoza, a motel maintenance worker who testified he saw Ms. Saldivar chasing Selena with a gun.

But under cross examination, she said Espinoza could have been there and she just didn't see him.

Defense attorneys also questioned Paul Rivera, the lead Corpus Christi police detective handling the case, and the officer who has come under scrutiny because Ms. Saldivar's confession made no mention that the shooting may have been accidental.

Medicare overhaul cheered by Republican lawmakers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ignoring a veto threat and Democratic predictions of their political demise, Republicans cheered as they passed a Medicare overhaul bill, their latest triumph in the conservative revolution launched last winter.

"This is a very, very great victory," exulted Speaker Newt Gingrich, architect of the measure that squeezes $270 billion from the program over seven years while offering senior citizens a menu of health care choices.

"It's a great victory of courage over fear," Gingrich said shortly after the 231-201 vote Thursday in a politically polarized House.

"It's a great victory for fact over fiction, it's a great victory for being positive over very nasty, dishonest and demagogic attack ads and it's a great victory for believing you can tell the truth to the American people."

Democrats, who spent the day charging Republicans were cutting Medicare to pay for tax cuts for the rich, thought it might be something else — mass political suicide by the conservative GOP majority that took power in January.

As Republican lawmakers cheered their handiwork, mocking Democrats stood on their side of the chamber, waving farewell and mouthing the word "bye."

"Unfortunately, it's another day of infamy for 40 million Americans who depend on Medicare for their health care," charged Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla. They will be "herded into managed care," he said, and the "money saved will be used for an unconscionable tax cut."

The measure now heads for the GOP-controlled Senate, where it is expected to reach the floor next week as part of broader legislation to balance the budget over seven years while providing a hefty tax cut.

Even as Republicans were muscling the measure through the House, President Clinton issued a stern veto threat.

Prison riot in Florida ends; six guards hurt

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Inmates, some with baseball bats, fought with guards, broke windows and set fire to three prison buildings in a riot that started as a quarrel in a prison yard. Authorities eventually regained control.

Six staffers at the Talladega Federal Correctional Institution were injured, along with two inmates, said Rich Phillips, a Justice Department spokesman.

The riot began about 6:15 p.m. Thursday and was quelled shortly after midnight. Prison spokeswoman Corliss Morange said this morning that the prison had been quiet overnight; efforts were under way this morning to assess damage.

The disturbance started with a group of inmates arguing in a yard in a maximum-security area, Phillips said. After scuffling with guards who tried to stop the fight, the inmates scattered throughout the prison, breaking windows and setting fires, he said.

Of the eight people injured, one inmate and one guard were hospitalized overnight, Morange said. She did not have their condition this morning; earlier, Phillips said the injuries were not life-threatening. The other six injured people were treated and released.

Talladega Fire Chief Roy Johnson said it took up to 45 minutes before firefighters could enter the prison to battle flames because inmates had controlled areas of the complex.

After six vexing delays, Columbia blasts off today

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — After six vexing delays, space shuttle Columbia and its crew blasted into orbit today on a science mission that will foreshadow life on NASA's planned international space station.

The 4.5 million-pound spaceship rose from its seaside pad at 9:53 a.m. An unusually thick cloud of white vapor enveloped Columbia as it left the pad, blocking it from view for several heart-stopping seconds. Officials attributed that to high humidity and the lighting angle.

The seven astronauts were thrilled to finally be on their way.

"That was a great ride, Houston," shuttle commander Kenneth Bowersox said after reaching orbit.

Columbia was three weeks late taking off because of bad weather and all sorts of technical trouble. Its six launch scrubs tied a shuttle record, set by Columbia nearly 10 years ago.

As they headed to the pad this morning, crew members wore their red, white and blue baseball caps backward for good luck.

Low clouds and rain this morning almost forced a record-breaking seventh delay.

Tax cuts considered

when combined with separate legislation squeezing $43 billion in savings from the earned-income tax credit for working families earning less than $28,000.

A new Treasury Department analysis, disputed by Republicans, said households earning $30,000 and less would see their tax liability rise under the Senate measures while families making more than $100,000 would get 48 percent of the tax cut.

"We are reducing taxes on all people who pay taxes. One of the things you have to understand is that it's the middle class and the upper class that are paying the big taxes," said Finance Committee Chairman William Roth, R-Del.

Congress' analysis of the measure shows 70 percent of the benefits going to households earning less than $75,000, he said.

Republicans had worked out their differences on the tax legislation in private last week and spent Thursday's public session formally rejecting Democratic amendments.
