Police discover alleged drug lab

Police seized equipment they say was to be used to manufacture methamphetamine and jailed a 34-year-old man on charges of possession and manufacture of a controlled substance Monday afternoon.

Detectives say they first became suspicious of a possible "speed" lab Sunday afternoon after a parent reported their children had experienced some burning on the skin of their arms after playing in a white powder substance they found in a vacant house at 114 Peach St.

In checking out the house, police say they discovered what they believed to the paraphernalia used in the manufacture of methamphetamine.

The "white powder" is now believed to be an acid used in the manufacture of the drug.

Following that discovery, detectives determined that the house had recently been leased to an individual known as Danny Dell Way.

A further check on Way revealed three outstanding felony warrants for his arrest issued out of Stephenville on charges of manufacture of a controlled substance.

Police began watching the house and Way was arrested when he returned there around 6:30 p.m. Monday.

In addition to the lab equipment and chemicals, police seiz-

Legislature to consider tax hike bill

AUSTIN (AP) — The chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, who Monday introduced a tax increase bill, says it will be a struggle just to get that measure through his panel and before the full House.

"The committee was set up last session to kill tax bills. When you have a committee that's set up to kill tax bills, it's a pretty good mountain to cross to let a bill out in any form," Rep. Stan Schlueter, D-Killeen, said Monday.

Schlueter said that while he looks for a way to get the tax bill to the floor, House Speaker Gib Lewis will look for votes for final passage.

"The speaker's lobbying the members to help them make up their minds," Schlueter said. "I'm just trying to get the bill out of committee."

Many lawmakers voiced anger with the Senate for refusing to make deeper budget cuts to head off the need for a tax increase this year.

Rep. Jim Rudd, D-Brownfield, who headed House budget negotiators, said he wasn't happy with the $510 million budget-cutting plan the conference committee approved Friday night.

"It's a compromise, and I don't think either side likes it," Rudd said. "I think it'll be a difficult task to sell it (and convince House members) that the cuts are deep enough for a tax bill."

The Legislature is in its second special session of the year as it attempts to rewrite the 1986-87 budget to eliminate a projected $2.8 billion deficit. The problem has been that Senate leaders and the governor favor a mix of budget cuts and tax increases to balance the budget, but House members have favored slicing the budget instead of raising taxes.

The split continued throughout the first special session in August and it wasn't until late Friday night that a conference committee reached a compromise on budget cuts.

Court to mull FM 1611

At 9 a.m. Thursday, county commissioners will discuss acquiring a right-of-way for the proposed extension of FM 1611--an issue which has already prompted one 3-2 split vote of the court.

As proposed, the 3.7 mile extension would link FM 1607 and Texas Highway 350, creating a western truck route around Snyder.

To complete the route, county officials must purchase right-of-way for approximately 2 miles of property belonging to the Winston Brothers estate.

On May 22, County Judge Preston Wilson broke a 2-2 split among commissioners to accept a proposal to build the road from the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

In return, the county must agree to provide the right-of-way to the state.

Public comments regarding the state's proposal is still be to acepted at a meeting scheduled here Nov. 18. The place for the meeting has yet to be determined. At that time, citizens will have the opportunity to discuss the proposal with representatives of the highway department.

Written statements from the public will also be accepted for 10 days following the hearing.

MEETING DUSTY — All Snyder school students have now had the opportunity to meet "Dusty," a drug-sniffing dog which will be used in the prevention program to be implemented here. The visits were arranged to show both the dog's intelligence and friendliness. Buffalo auction again set

Following a tradition begun last year, a dinner and auction is planned as part of the White Buffalo Days observance here in October.

The Gala Auction is slated Oct. 4--a Saturday--in the atrium area of Willow Park Inn.

This year's event will mark also the unveiling of working models for the bronze white buffalo, to be erected at the Scurry Count Coliseum.

Two smaller versions of the statue, to measure some 7 ft. tall when completed, will be auctioned.

The bronze statues are the work of Snyder artist Robert Taylor.

The event will include a dinner of shrimp cocktail, lobster tail and Greek dessert served at 7:30 p.m. The meal will follow a social hour and silent auction to begin at 6 p.m.

A Broadway-style entertainment show will follow, featuring Sue Sewell, Rebecca Thornton, Jeff Milburn and Jim Rainbolt. It is under the direction of Jim Rambo, Western Texas College drama director, and Jerry Worsham, Snyder High School drama teacher.

The event will end at 9 p.m. with a live auction featuring the working model and larger version of Taylor's white buffalo.

Parent training slated at junior high tonight

Parents of junior high students in the Snyder system are invited to a parent-training workshop at the campus auditorium Tuesday at 7 p.m.

It will mark the second of three nighttime sessions planned this week for the parents of students at all grade levels. Similar meetings at Snyder elementary schools were held Monday and high school parents are invited to a final meeting Thursday.

Charles Anderson, principal, will be assisted by Bill Hartsfield, assistant principal, and Bobbie Box, district testing coordinator, in presenting Tuesday's program.

Topics for discussion will include the discipline management plan, study skills, testing information, curriculum, promotion and retention policy and grade requirements. A question and answer period will follow.

The sessions are designed to help the parents plan how to work best with their junior high-aged child during the school year. Handouts will be provided which suggest methods to achieve this.

Parents from each family are encouraged to attend. The workshop is not designed for children, however.

The workshop has been mandated by the Texas Legislature and the Texas Education Agency as part of House Bill 72 guidelines.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "When you get enough experience, you're often too old for the job."

Depending on his athletic failures in a particular week, Mickey Nunley of Line and Line has either his golf cart or his bass boat up for sale.

Nunley will tell you he's the county's top fisherman, but there are those close to the situation who know better.

A couple of weekends ago, the Snyder Bass Club had a tournament at Possum Kingdom Lake near Graham. All week Nunley predicted a tournament victory since Graham is his old hometown and he knew all the right places on the lake to fish.

The results are in--and everybody but Nunley is talking about the results. Artie Butler, school business manager, won the tournament.

Nunley would be able to handle that fact. What becomes difficult is the fact that Nunley's wife, Joann, finished third while Nunley failed to place.

Now, Nunley has vowed never to carry Joann fishing again, but he's also said that before. You might hurry...a fellow might still be able to get a good deal on a fishing rig. And if you hit him at just the right time, he might throw in the golf cart and the clubs to boot.

Folks who give blood during the Scurry County Blood drives are given some advice after donating. It is recommended that they not smoke for an hour and not do any strenuous work or exercise for seven hours.

Last week, Snyder financial institutions made a push for their employees to donate blood. Kate Owens, president's secretary at Snyder National Bank, was one of those who responded.

When Kate got home, husband Dudley noticed that Kate had not had a cigarette. "And that's not all," said Kate. "They told me not to do any hard work for seven days."

Drug to be tested

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Steps are being taken to bring the promising new drug AZT to the Wilford Hall Air Force Medical Center here to treat as many as 40 patients suffering from AIDS, officials said.

"I still haven't seen the data (on the drug) yet. But if it is as good as it appears to be, then it would be very exciting. It would be the first treatment that shows promise in treating this disease," said Lt. Col. Richard Winn, infectious-disease specialist at Wilford Hall.

Wilford Hall is the worldwide referral hospital for any form of AIDS virus infection among Air Force personnel.

Doctors and scientists from Wilford Hall, the Southwest Foundation for Biomedical Research and the University of Texas Health Science Center who are participating in a multimillion-dollar federal AIDS research project are expected to meet Thursday to map out a plan to bring AZT here for further testing and research.

72-year-old man killed by officers

GILMER, Texas (AP) — The fatal shooting of a 72-year-old man by sheriff's deputies when he allegedly pointed a gun at them after becoming upset when a hubcap rolled into his yard will be investigated by the Texas Rangers.

Upshur County Sheriff Dale Jewkes said Monday the shooting of Corbon Frank Capps, who died after being shot in the chest and leg early Sunday by deputies, was justified.

"I am sure the investigation will show the shooting was justified," Jewkes said at a news conference. "The officers had no choice but to shoot. I have asked the Texas Rangers to investigate the incident, but that is standard procedure in such a case."

Officials said Capps barricaded himself in his white frame house Sunday for three hours after deputies confronted him about alleged threats he made to a motorist.

Jewkes said the confrontation began when a motorist on a farm road had a flat tire and one of the hubcaps rolled into Capps' front yard.

"When the motorist tried to retrieve the hubcap, Capps came out of the house with a rifle and made threatening motions at the motorist," Jewkes said.

Jewkes said he had no idea why Capps would have threatened the motorist or the deputies who came to his house later. He said investigators were looking into Capps' history to see if there was other violent behavior.

When deputies arrived to investigate the motorist's reports of threats, the found Capps standing in his front yard with a rifle, which he allegedly pointed at them, Jewkes said.

The elderly man went in the house and left through a back door, only to be spotted hours later outside his house, according to the sheriff.

He went inside and barricaded himself there for three hours before officers finally went inside to confront him after using tear gas, the sheriff said.

Peter Gott, M.D.

Dentures and mouth irritation

DEAR DR. GOTT — My dentist says my sore mouth comes from slurping my dentures around. But my gums aren't sore — it's the inside of my mouth.

DEAR READER — Your dentist ought to know. Sometimes the delicate lining of the mouth can be more affected than the gums by ill-fitting dentures. Have your dentist correct your fit and see if your sore mouth disappears.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Since having a hysterectomy and bladder repair a year ago, I have noticed a strong odor from my urine — sometimes just in the morning, sometimes all day. It seems worse when I drink caffeine. Do I need a checkup?

DEAR READER — Urine may be more pungent when it is concentrated or contains products that were present in the diet. However, urinary infection is common in women who have required a catheter in the bladder after surgery such as yours. Therefore, you should ask your doctor to check your urine for infection. You may have developed a low-grade bladder infection that could give your urine a strong odor.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 78 and have had myasthenia gravis for four years. I'm up and around all day. I take 50 milligrams of Prednisone every fifth day. How long can I safely take this drug?

DEAR READER — Prednisone, a form of cortisone, is appropriate treatment for myasthenia gravis in elderly patients. Taking it every fifth day will minimize any side effects. If your doctor agrees, I think it's safe to continue this therapy indefinitely.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What is the function of the thyroid gland? Can we live without it?

DEAR READER — The thyroid gland is necessary for life because it secretes a hormone without which the body's cells cannot function. Thyroid hormone helps regulate nutrition, affects other hormones, allows for healing and growth, and is vital for many tissues, particularly nerves, muscles and the heart. Individuals whose thyroid glands are deficient must take synthetic thyroid hormone.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My friend, age 55, is gradually losing his eyebrows. His doctor tells him to eat better. What do you think?

DEAR READER — As people age, they tend to lose hair — eyebrows included. However, nutritional deficiencies and an underactive thyroid gland can make matters worse. Perhaps your friend would be relieved if the doctor were to perform some tests and give more concrete advice about diet.

It's important that you find a doctor who suits your needs — and Dr. Gott tells how in his new Health Report; CHOOSING A PHYSICIAN: MAKE A DECISION FOR GOOD HEALTH. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

GRASS SEED TO BE IN DEMAND

If you have grasses or forbs that can be harvested for seed this fall, you might make a bundle of money.

That's because at least five million pounds of seed will be needed to plant 1.1 million acres of land accepted in the Conservation Reserve Program in Texas this year.

And with another sign-up expected this winter, the demand could be even greater.

Sam Buchanan, district conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Snyder, said several kinds of seed are needed.

"There is going to be a strong demand for both native and introduced species," Buchanan said. "And the seed will probably bring premium prices."

Some of the grass seed needed include native bluestem mixtures, little bluestem, Indiangrass, switchgrass, sideoats grama, blue grama, King Ranch Bluestem, and green sprangletop.

Since land placed in the CRP can be leased for hunting, seed for wild plum and forbs including Maximilian sunflower, Illinois bundleflower, and engelmanndaisy will probably be in very short supply.

"If you have land that can produce any of these seeds and it can be harvested, now is the time to act," Buchanan said. "Removing all livestock from the land will give it a chance to produce a seed crop. We also recommend that you contact a commercial seed grower to learn if you can work out a contract for handling the seed."

Richard Heizer, state plant materials specialist for SCS at Temple, has offered to serve as a clearing house to put farmers and ranchers who can harvest seed this year in contact with members of the Texas Seed Trade Association. For information, write Richard Heizer, Soil Conservaion Service, 101 South Main Street, Temple, TX 76501-7682, telephone (817) 774-1294.

Art Guild club meets

The Art Guild Study Club held its first monthly meeting of the '86-'87 year Tuesday at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. There were 20 members and one guest present. Hostesses were Pat Blakely, Delia McPherson and Jean McQuerry. A meal was served.

The special program was presented by Dan Osborne of Western Texas College. He explained "The Woman's Program" which is an applied psychology class geared to help women who come from many different walks of life, but especially those who have never been to college or have not worked while raising a family.

This program helps to raise self-esteem and change attitudes and is funded through private donations. In operation since last spring, the class has drawn many accolades.

Mrs. Merritt presented future events. Local clubs are asked to save green stamps. On Oct. 6, there will be a "Taste of Snyder;" a style show will be given Nov. 15 and a district convention will meet here next spring.

Polly Autry reported the financial status of the club and announced the club's $100 scholarship which was given to Suzette Harris.

Improving the odds

By James Jacoby

It's a sign of bad luck if you take two finesses and lose them both. East won the second diamond trick with the ace and returned a trump. South took the heart ace, reached dummy with a high club and finessed the 10 of hearts. West won the queen and played back a trump. Declarer later misguessed the location of the spade queen and was set.

It was certainly a tossup as to who had the queen of trumps, but there was another element to the problem. Any missing five cards of a suit will divide 3-2 more often than not — in fact, 68 percent of the time. If they do in this case, the contract can be assured by refusing the trump finesse. Instead, declarer should cash his second high heart. If the queen does not drop, he should then play out the high clubs. Eventually West will come on lead with the heart queen and be forced to lead the spade suit for the declarer, allowing the contract to be made.

What if East originally held Q-x-x-x in hearts? South can still force out the queen of hearts, pick up the other small heart and then try to guess the location of the spade queen to make the contract. The important thing is that he has taken his best play to make his bid.

Crickets swarm in search for love

AUSTIN (AP) — They're back.

By the hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions, the crickets crawled out of hiding about the first of September to begin their annual mating frenzy.

Cousins of the lowly cockroach, crickets will reproduce as many as three times before the first frost, and a female will lay 150 to 400 eggs, experts say.

While crickets are harmless to humans, their numbers make them a nuisance. And when they die, there's another problem.

"It's a very putrid smell that comes from dead crickets," said Bob Jenkins, who directs maintenance for the Capitol complex, which annually is overwhelmed with the insects.

"We sweep up thousands of them every morning. The problem we're having this year is it's humid and wet, and they smell. They get in the window wells," Jenkins said.

Crickets, like many other insects, swarm to artifical light sources after dark. The reason isn't fully understood, but University of Texas zoologist Larry Gilbert explained one theory.

Gilbert said researchers believe insects flying at night use distant light sources for orientation.

"They set an angle to the moon," he said. "However, if you mistake a street light for the moon, you would circle it and end up at it," Gilbert said.

And the crickets' chirp?

"It's the mating call of the male. He's calling to all his girlfriends to come see him," said Tom Kezar, Travis County Extension Service agent.

Field crickets prefer the outdoors and feed on plants, Kezar said. Occasionally, they invade buildings in search of warm, dry hiding places, but they will not set up permanent homes indoors.

Dear Abby

Son's Visits to Dad Were Gifts No One Could Steal

By Abigail Van Buren

1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I read those letters in your column about all the stealing that goes on in nursing homes. So many said they finally gave up and quit bringing gifts because they were stolen immediately.

While my father was in a nursing home, the gifts I gave him could not be "lost" or stolen. They were something he needed and wanted more than anything else. What were they? My visits!

Every day I would come and bathe him, shave him, feed him, and see that his toenails and fingernails were clipped. Then I'd sit and visit with him a while.

Material gifts were not wanted or needed. They only would have gotten in the way.

EUGENE BEGLEY,
LONDON, KY.

DEAR EUGENE: Thanks for driving home a valuable message. The best gift cannot be bought or sold. It's giving a part of oneself.

DEAR ABBY: I have never written to you before, and do so now only because of recent developments involving children turning in their parents to the authorities over drug abuse.

In general, the media applauded this action, yet I am having a terrible time justifying such action on the part of the children. It seems such a short time ago that the media brought to our attention a similar action by Chinese children. I recall thinking how terrible it would be to have our children violate the sanctity of the family.

I realize that drug abuse must be stopped, that this subject is somewhat taboo, and wonder if anyone else has addressed this subject. How do you feel about it?

DANIEL STRAWHECKER,
CINCINNATI

DEAR MR. STRAWHECKER: I realize that drug abuse is a serious problem that has taken on global dimensions. But I, along with you, am not comfortable with children turning in their parents. There must be a better way for children to show their parents how much they love them.

DEAR ABBY: I went to the new Presbyterian minister in town for counseling about my homosexuality. (He's about my age.) I gave him a paper I had written about Oscar Wilde. I was very proud of it because it rated an "A" in Victorian literature.

The minister called my father, repeated our conversation, and told him that I had given him "filth" to read!

I am devastated and embarrassed. Why would the minister betray me this way?

Naturally, I feel vindictive, but there was nothing I could do about it. I simply left that church and changed to the Lutheran church. What is your reaction?

BETRAYED IN ARKANSAS

DEAR BETRAYED: The minister's betrayal of your confidentiality is shocking. It is appalling that someone so lacking in integrity and intelligence could be a spiritual leader. Write a letter of complaint to the regional synod or presbytery (the address can be provided by any Presbyterian church in your area) and describe what happened. You would be performing a community service.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, Megan, was born on Dec. 28. How do you suggest we make her birthday "special," and not get lost in the shuffle of Christmas?

MOM AND DAD

DEAR MOM AND DAD: Celebrate Megan's birthday on June 28, and call it her "half birthday." I'm not kidding. Others who have had birthdays during the Christmas week have done it, and it's worked for them.

(P.S. My own son was born Dec. 22, and he didn't speak to me for almost a year!)

Texas law applies in plane crash suit

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — U.S. District Judge David O. Belew has ruled that relatives of those killed in the crash of Delta Flight 191, as well as the passengers who lived through it, may seek punitive damages from the airline.

It is a ruling, lawyers say, that ultimately could add millions of dollars in damages paid in the lawsuits filed against the airline.

Flight 191 crashed Aug. 2, 1985, while attempting to land at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport, killing 136 passengers and a motorist and injuring 27 passengers. It was the worst airline disaster in Texas history.

The judge's ruling Monday halted an attempt by Delta lawyers to limit punitive claims, which would, in effect punish the airline for allowing the crash to happen.

The ruling thus allows relatives of the victims to collect punitive damages in addition to compensatory damages sought to compensate the relatives for their losses caused by the accident.

Belew ruled that Texas law, which permits the payment of punitive damages, to prevail in the case. Delta lawyers had sought to apply the laws of Georgia, the home state of the airline. Georgia law would have limited punitive damages to those who actually survived the crash.

Belew wrote that his decision to apply Texas law was based on the state's interest in air safety in its skies. He ruled that Texas' interest in the case was greater than the interest of Georgia's.

"Texas' strong policy regarding punitive damages would be offended by the court's application of Georgia law on this issue," Belew wrote in his opinion.

Dallas Lawyer Windle Turley, chairman of a committee of lawyers representing families in their suits against the airline, said the ruling was significant.

Klansmen attract attention in city

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — It didn't look like a typical campaign stop for a gubernatorial candidate stumping across Texas.

But Charles Lee, grand dragon of the Invisible Empire of the Ku Klux Klan, is not a typical candidate for Texas governor. But he is a write-in candidate.

The candidate, accompanied by two "bodyguards," was standing beside the Winters Freeway in Abilene Monday, waving at passing motorists. The Klansmen were dressed in white robes with U.S. Marine fatigues under the robes.

The men in white turned more than a few heads Monday on the freeway just south of Humana Hospital.

"There are more and more people who see the Klan is not just a group that goes out and lynches people," said Lee. "We're a responsible Christian group."

In addition to campaigning, Lee said the klansmen were in Abilene to talk to local supporters about forming a local chapter.

"People are tired of do-nothing, dead-end candidates," Lee, 31, of Houston said. "Instead of complaining about it, I decided to do something about it.

Lee said that with Texas Gov. Mark White and former Gov. Bill Clements running for governor, "it's politics as usual."

Judge helps bank

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Five oilmen were temporarily blocked from getting the $69 million court judgment they won against MBank Abilene when a federal judge issued a restraining order against garnishing money from the bank.

U.S. District Judge David O. Belew's action Monday came at the request of the U.S. government, on behalf of the Federal Reserve Board, the Comptroller of the Currency and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

If the judgment were imposed, it would more than wipe out the $16 million in capital reported by the Abilene bank on June 30.

Belew set an Oct. 1 hearing on a temporary injunction.

Gets it against Astros...

Valenzuela wins 20th game

by The Associated Press

Fernando Valenzuela, a shining light in an otherwise dismal season for the Los Angeles Dodgers, no longer needs to explain to anyone why he has failed to win 20 games in his major league career.

The 25-year-old left-hander, the National League's Cy Young Award winner and Rookie of the Year in 1981, put that question to rest by pitching a two-hitter Monday night in a 9-2 victory over the Houston Astros that made him the first Mexican-born major leaguer ever to win 20 games in a season.

"It is special to me to be the first pitcher from my country to win 20 games," said Valenzuela, who may soon have company when another Mexican southpaw, Ted Higuera of Milwaukee, goes for his 20th Wednesday night.

But Valenzuela wasn't any happier than most of his teammates, who realize that since 1981 a players strike, poor defense, a lack of runs and a subpar bullpen have kept Valenzuela from reaching the magic number.

"I'm so thrilled about him winning 20," Dodger Manager Tom Lasorda said. "Every guy on our ballclub was pulling for him. He gives you his heart and soul every time he pitches."

"If there's one pitcher in the league who deserves to win 20, it's him," said Pedro Guerrero, whose second homer gave evidence that he is starting to round into form after a serious knee injury held him out for most of the year.

The loss left Houston's magic number at four, meaning any combination of Houston victories and San Francisco defeats totaling four would give the Astros the title.

Elsewhere in the NL, it was New York 5, St. Louis 2; Philadelphia 8, Pittsburgh 4; San Francisco 10, Cincinnati 7; Montreal 5, Chicago 2, and Atlanta 9, San Diego 8.

Mets 5, Cardinals 2

Dwight Gooden is warming up for New York's probable playoff matchup with Houston by getting cute.

"(Pitching coach) Mel (Stottlemyre) told me that the key was to show more than a curve and a fastball," said Gooden, 16-6, who pitched a two-hitter for his third complete game in four starts and 12th of the season. "I changed speeds and that will give me something extra for the Astros in the playoffs."

Vince Coleman stole his major-league-leading 101st base for the Cardinals.

Phillies 8, Pirates 4

There were so many firsts for Jeff Bittiger that the 24-year-old Philadelphia pitcher couldn't decide which impressed him the most.

He homered for his first major league hit, earned his first big-league victory and was credited with the game-winning RBI.

"They're all nice," Bittiger said. "I guess the home run was probably the most unexpected, but I'm here to pitch."

Angels, Bo-Sox move closer to wrapping up series titles

by The Associated Press

The California Angels and Boston Red Sox both moved a step closer to clinching their divisions. The Angels did it the hard way.

They played two games Monday and split them with Cleveland. Bobby Grich's three-run homer led to a 4-3 victory that cut the Angels' magic number to four before the Indians awakened for a 7-0 win in the nightcap.

The Red Sox did it the easy way, taking the night off and watching their magic number dwindle to three when Toronto lost 2-1 to Detroit, dropping the Blue Jays into a second-place tie with New York.

Grich's homer came with two out in the sixth inning and brought California back from a 3-1 deficit. It gave Don Sutton, 15-9, his 310th career win.

"We're very confident, with a lot of momentum, anxious to get to Boston," Grich said.

"We thought we should've won the first game. Grich's homer broke our backs," Cleveland's Joe Carter said. "We came back strong, because we're fighting for a strong finish, too."

Texas, nine games back in the West, refused to help out, beating Minnesota 2-0. In other American League games, New York beat Baltimore 4-2, Minnesota beat Kansas City 2-1 and Oakland beat Chicago 5-3.

In the second game at Anaheim, Rich Yett pitched a four-hitter in the third start of his career. Cleveland had 16 hits off four pitchers, starting with rookie Ray Chadwick, 0-5.

Yett, 5-3, pitched his first big-league complete game; he has made 35 relief appearances.

Rangers 2, Mariners 0

Texas rookie Edwin Correa, 11-13, threw a six-hit shutout, striking out 10 batters - which matched his season high. Seattle's Mark Langston, 12-13, struck out 11 batters and threw a three-hitter.

Ruben Sierra and Pete O'Brien homered for Texas's runs.

Pete Incaviglia struck out three times and tied the American League's single-season record with his 175th strikeout this season.

Tigers 2, Blue Jays 1

Detroit's Jack Morris threw a six-hitter for his 19th victory, outdoing a three-hit performance by Toronto's Jim Clancy.

"I had a hunch it would be a low-scoring game," Morris said. "Jim pitched a whale of a game himself. I could tell early he had his good stuff."

Clancy, 14-12, allowed two hits and both runs in the first inning, and lost his fifth straight game. John Grubb doubled home Alan Trammell and scored on a single by Darnell Coles, then Clancy set down 19 straight batters.

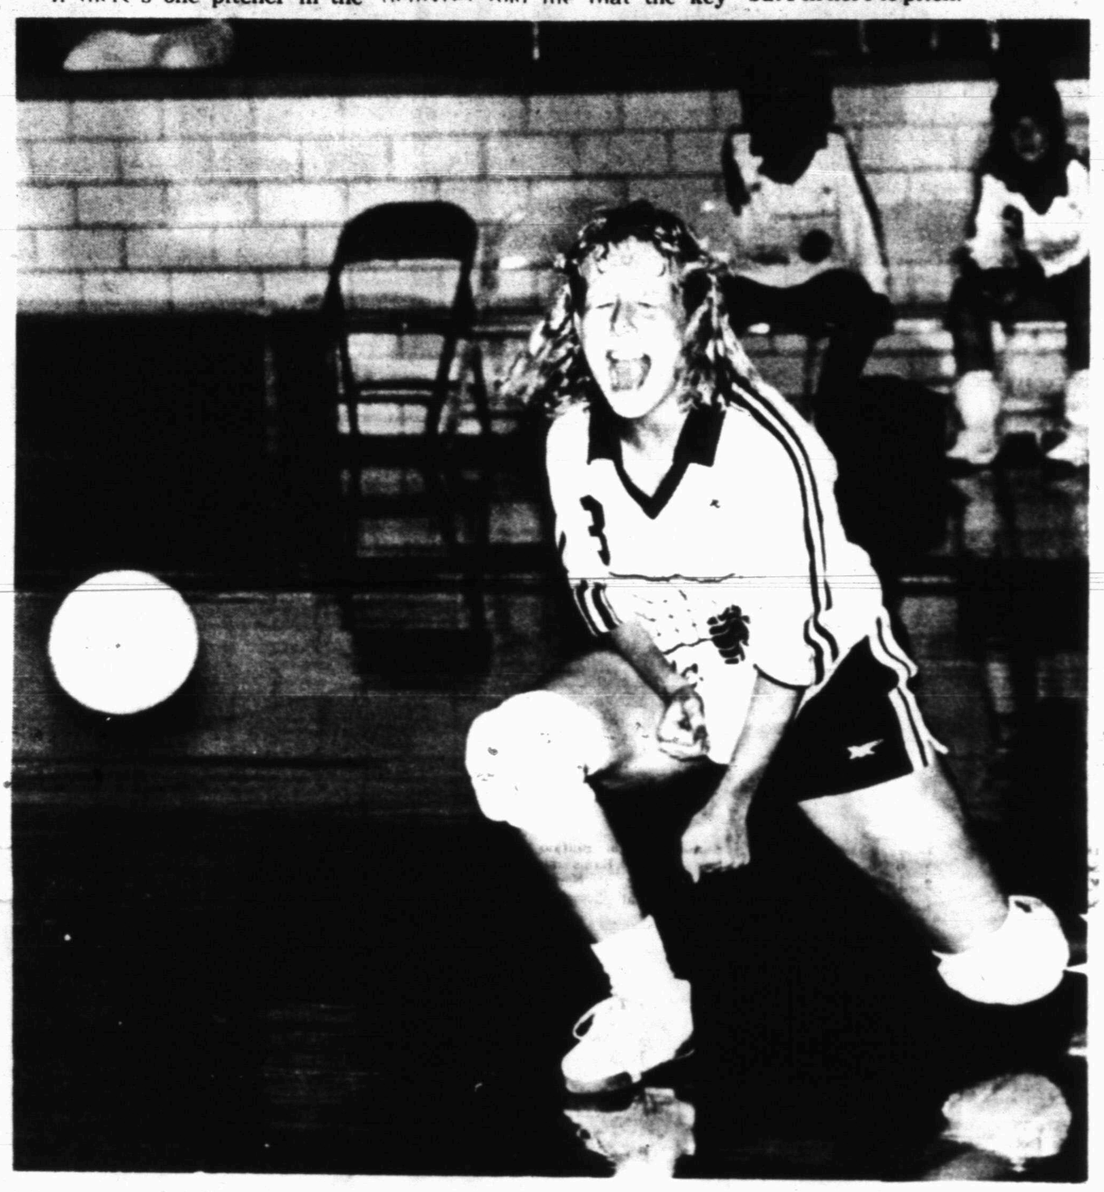

Morris, 19-8, struck out five, yielding the only Toronto run on Ernie Whitt's home run.

Whitt played after a restless night. He received a bomb threat at his home outside Detroit. The house was searched and Whitt said he spent the night sleeping on the couch with police and security dogs both inside and out.

Baseball great Frankie Frisch got his nickname of the "Fordham Flash" playing football at that university in New York.

Lady Tigers entertain Tors in key 2-4A match tonight

Snyder's Lady Tigers tangle with Lamesa in a key District 2-4A volleyball match here this evening.

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students for the 7:30 p.m. start. A freshman match will begin at 5 p.m., followed by a junior varsity match at 6:30 p.m.

"We'd like to see the gym full," said Snyder Coach Vicki Nelms.

"This is a very important game for us. We're not out of it (the district race) if we lose, by any means. But it's still an important match."

A loss by Snyder would put the Tigers at 3-3 in district play and fighting an uphill battle. With a victory, however, they would vault to 4-2. Lamesa comes into the match with a 4-1 record.

The Tigers are 13-8 for the season while Lamesa is 14-6.

To stop Lamesa tonight, the Tigers will have to overcome the front-line play of Monique Mason.

"She's very strong at the net. We're going to have to do our best to block her and we're going to have to play good defense," stressed Coach Nelms.

Defense leads Chicago to victory

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) - Defense usually sets the tone in professional football's oldest rivalry. The Chicago Bears' 25-12 victory over the Green Bay Packers Monday night fit the pattern.

Chicago's defense did the crucial work in the Bears' 15-point fourth quarter with a blocked field goal, a safety and an interception.

Dan Hampton blocked Al Del Greco's 52-yard field goal attempt to preserve a 13-12 Chicago lead. Steve McMichael followed with a disputed sack for a safety that put the Bears up 15-12, and Dave Duerson's interception led to Kevin Butler's final field goal.

"Hampton's block was great, the sacks were great, everything was great," Chicago Coach Mike Ditka said after the 132nd Bears-Packers meeting. "We have to give them credit. They play us tough."

Del Greco, who kicked field goals of 22, 46, 45 and 50 yards, lined up for the 52-yard attempt with 8:16 left in the game and the Packers trailing by one point.

"We probably shouldn't have tried that, but he was hot," Green Bay Coach Forrest Gregg said.

McMichael's sack with 5:21 remaining came on the first play after Tom Flynn intercepted a Steve Fuller pass. The turnover gave Green Bay the ball on its own 6-yard line.

On the next play, McMichael grabbed Packers quarterback Randy Wright, who escaped and scrambled out of the end zone but was ruled to have been in the defender's grasp.

"It was temporary if anything," Gregg said.

In addition, the Bears sacked Wright four times. McMichael had two sacks, including the safety, and defensive end Richard

Moon needs more protection says Oilers' Coach Glanville

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston quarterback Warren Moon doesn't even have to read the newspapers to know what's being said following Sunday's loss to Kansas City.

When the Oilers thrashed Green Bay 31-3 in the season opener and Moon was being praised as the team's leader, the veteran quarterback remained calm.

"If we come back and lose a game they'll be all over me again, so I take all of this in stride," Moon said of the early accolades.

Now the Oilers have lost two games in a row, including Sunday's 27-13 loss to Kansas City.

"After you play bad, you're raring to redeem yourself," Moon said. "You are only as good as your last game. Are people going to make a reaction to the rest of my career based on this one game?"

Moon must hope not. He completed 18 of 40 passes and two interceptions led to 14 Chiefs points.

Oiler Coach Jerry Glanville said part of the problem involved not protecting Moon, who was sacked three times and often chased out of the pocket.

"We didn't get those two things taken care of yesterday," Glanville said.

"When you don't protect the quarterback you have turnovers. We made it difficult on ourselves.

"We have to be smart enough not to make the turnover and give ourselves a chance. You look at the league statistics and we're at the bottom with Pittsburgh in takeaways and giveaways."

The Oilers, 1-2, host the winless Steelers Sunday.

The Oilers once again were playing with an unsettled offensive line that included newcomer Kent Hill, obtained last week in a trade with the Los Angeles Rams and Harvey Salem playing at a new position.

Jay Pennison started at center in place of injured Jim Romano.

"Anytime you change our offensive people, it causes pressure and pressure can cause interceptions," Glanville said. "We'll just go back to our priorities of protecting the quarterback.

The Chiefs took a 27-0 lead before Houston got its offense rolling in the second half.

Sherman Cocroft returned an interception 13 yards to Houston's 27 to set up Herman Heard's 11-yard touchdown and on the next series Moon was intercepted again by Greg Hill, who ran 27 yards for a touchdown.

Fullback Larry Moriarty missed much of the game with a shoulder injury and linebacker Frank Bush was sidelined during the game with a neck injury.

They are questionable for Sunday's game along with defensive end Richard Byrd, who suffered a sprained left knee.

Rookie Chuck Banks filled in for Moriarty and likely will get the start Sunday.

"Banks did in San Angelo (training camp) what you saw him do yesterday," Glanville said. "He's had a problem holding onto the football but we knew he had that kind of ability.

The Oilers waived defensive back Audrey McMillian to make room on the roster for defensive end William Fuller, obtained from the Los Angeles Rams in a trade last week.

Cowboys' defeat brings up questions, second-guessing

IRVING, Texas (AP) - The Valley Ranch headquarters of the Dallas Cowboys has become the home of second-guessing.

The Cowboys blew a 35-27 lead in the final four minutes Sunday to lose 37-35 to the Atlanta Falcons. The Cowboys' first defeat of the year produced such questions as:

- Why didn't Tony Hill get out of bounds sooner on the last play of the game?
- Why does Phil Pozderac hold?
- How could Atlanta quarterback Dave Archer complete a 65-yard pass to Floyd Dixon when the Falcons were in a desperate, must-pass situation?

Mick Luckhurst's 18-yard field goal with 20 seconds to play put the Falcons ahead by two points.

With time running out, quarterback Danny White hit wide receiver Tony Hill running down the left sidelines. Hill caught the ball near the Atlanta 30-yard line but couldn't get out of bounds before time ran out.

The play went 63 yards to Atlanta's 9.

"It was a judgment thing," Hill said. "I wasn't certain of the time. I was trying to score."

White said Monday Hill should not be blamed.

"It's hard for Tony to see the opening he did and to pull out of bounds," White said.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said, "We had 10 seconds left on the last play but Danny had to move around four or five seconds to get the pass off. By then we didn't have time to make the play."

Even more damaging was Pozderac's holding call on Timmy Newsome's 17-yard run to the Atlanta 32 with less than two minutes to play. The Falcons were out of timeouts. Pozderac's mistake put the ball back on the Dallas 41 and the Cowboys eventually had to punt.

"If we don't have the holding call we win the game," Landry said. "The holding penalty kept us from getting any more first downs. You can't win games like that with holding penalties."

Offensive line coach Jim Myers yanked Pozderac out of the game after the penalty.

Pozderac also was the culprit in the second quarter when his man escaped and hit White. The ball popped free and Mike Pitts ran 22 yards for a score with the fumble return.

Then there was the bomb to Dixon with the Dallas secondary watching like spectators, particularly rookie Johnny Holloway.

"We thought he (Archer) had a designed play, probably for an intermediate play out of bounds," said defensive back Everson Walls. "But when you see somebody open deep like that, you have to go for it."

The Cowboys next travel to St. Louis to meet the Cardinals, 0-3, in a Monday night game. St. Louis is coached by Gene Stallings, a longtime assistant coach for the Cowboys.

Injuries noted to Dorsett, Penn

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Running back Tony Dorsett and linebacker Jesse Penn were listed as questionable starters for the Dallas Cowboys against the St. Louis Cardinals in an NFL game on Monday night, Sept. 29.

Dorsett sprained his left knee and Penn jammed his neck in Sunday's 37 - 35 loss to the Atlanta Falcons.

Quarterback Danny White's pulled thigh wasn't reinjured and he was expected to practice on Wednesday.

NCAA checks out recruiting at Tech

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - The NCAA is conducting an official inquiry into alleged recruiting violations at Texas Tech University between 1982 and 1984, the school announced.

A statement issued Monday by the university said it has until Nov. 3 to respond to the allegations. The nature of those allegations was not detailed in the statement.

School officials refused to say what sport the inquiry involves, but said the allegations do not involve members of the current coaching staff or academic irregularities.

Texas Tech has been asked to make its own inquiry into the allegations and then appear before the NCAA Committee on Infractions, the school said.

Tech President Lauro F. Cavazos said the university wants "to bring an early and conclusive end to the inquiry in the interests of all concerned."

"You may be assured of our cooperation and intent to correct any shortcomings, if they exist, in our athletic program," Cavazos said in a letter to David Berst, NCAA director of enforcement.

Cavazos said the university would have no further comment.

DEFENSE

Dent, who's been in Ditka's doghouse for part of the year, also had two.

The Packers, 0-3, had no sacks, but held Walter Payton to 57 yards in 18 carries - the first game this season he has been held to less than 100 yards. Payton scored the game's first touchdown on a two-yard run in the second quarter, giving the Bears a 10-3 lead. They led 10-9 at the half, but trailed 12-10 entering the final period.

Go Ye Into All The World
Susie McEntire Luchsinger
will be sharing her song ministry
Wednesday Evening
Susie toured with her sister Reba, voted the Country Music Female Singer of the Year for 1984 and 1985, and appeared on such shows as Hee Haw, Johnny Carson, That Nashville Music, and the Ralph Emery Show. Paul Luchsinger, Susie's husband, is a Professional Rodeo Cowboy and has finished in the Top 15 of the World with PRCA the last five years.
One morning, in July 1984, God spoke to Paul and Susie and they responded by totally committing themselves to Him. They closed the doors to the clubs and God started opening doors for their ministry. They now go to churches where Susie sings and they both share their testimonies. Paul still rodeos and they tie the churches and rodeos into one schedule.

Manhunt continues for lone fugitive

WRIGHT CITY, Mo. (AP) — Townsfolk were warned to stay indoors today as more than 100 law officers searched for a man who shot two people to death, briefly abducted six others and wounded a policeman during a three-state crime spree.

Police carrying automatic weapons stopped cars and searched a freight train for Michael W. Jackson of Indianapolis, who turned 41 today.

Authorities said Jackson, his face painted black and silver, also stole seven vehicles during the rampage that began Monday morning in Indianapolis and took him through Illinois into eastern Missouri, authorities said.

Jackson once vowed "to buy some guns and start shooting people," authorities said. His mother once asked that he be put away for good because of fits of violence, The Indianapolis Star reported today.

He was believed to be on foot today near Wright City, about 35 miles west of St. Louis, said Missouri Highway Patrol Lt. Ralph Biele.

The town's 1,200 residents were warned to stay indoors as FBI agents and police searched the rural, wooded countryside on the ground and in helicopters. Jackson was believed to be carrying a sawed-off shotgun and a pistol.

Four nervous residents reported suspicious noises near their homes early today, but the reports turned up nothing, said Sgt. Ron Wiedemann of the Missouri Highway Patrol.

Authorities set up checkpoints on all roads in the area, including Interstate 70 and its exit and entrance ramps. Officers shined lights into cars and checked the identification of drivers and passengers.

St. Charles County Sheriff's Department officers, wearing military fatigues, searched a freight train traveling through town, but found no trace of Jackson.

He was free on federal probation and had vowed not to be taken alive, said Indiana State Police Lt. Col. Donald Cox.

In a day that started almost 300 miles to the east in Indianapolis, Jackson killed his probation officer and a merchant, then abducted three people while stealing four vehicles to help him escape, authorities said.

In Frankfort, Ind., he forced a woman and her 2-year-old son to accompany him in her car, but released them five miles away, police said.

Jackson turned up in the Missouri town of O'Fallon, where he stole three more cars and abducted one man, and later shot a police officer in Wright City, authorities said. The officer was not seriously injured.

Jackson was convicted in September 1985 for on a federal charge of possessing illegal firearms and sentenced to one year in prison and three years' probation. In a report at the Marion County Jail, officials said Jackson vowed that "when he gets out of here, he is going to buy some guns and start shooting people."

He has been arrested more than 30 times in 17 years, the Star said. His record included a conviction on assault and battery in 1966 and on forged theft in 1969, said Wendy Snitko of the Indianapolis police.

Jackson's rampage began at his home when he allegedly shot and killed probation officer Thomas Gahl, 38, who was found with gunshot wounds in the legs, chest and head, said homicide Capt. Dennis Hawkins. Gahl apparently was to serve some legal papers.

Jackson apparently fled in a stolen pickup truck and drove to J.B.'s Market, where he ordered Jim Hall to give him money, Hawkins said. When Hall was slow in responding, he was shot in the throat and died.

Later, Russell Vanosdol was taken captive and ordered to drive his bread truck to Indianapolis International Airport, where he was forced out, police said.

Soon after, at an airport hotel, Mark McClean of Spencer was robbed and his truck commandeered, Hawkins said. It was abandoned on the city's west side.

Jodi Smith, 27, of Indianapolis, who apparently was taking out her garbage, was forced to drive to Frankfort in her car, which was later abandoned there, police said.

Police report money found

Police investigated two misdemeanor theft reports Monday, one involving missing cash which was later said recovered.

Detectives say they cleared a theft repot filed by Sam Kirkland, manager of the Cinema theatre, at 2:30 p.m.

He told them an undetermined amount of cash had apparently been taken from the theatre sometime over the weekend.

Police later reported identifying a suspect in the case and recovering all the missing money.

No arrest has been made with the case referred to the county attorney's office for further action.

Leona Ford of 2210 44th St. filed Monday's other theft report at 8:21 a.m.

She told police her grandson's 20-inch BMX bicycle had been stolen from outside her residence.

Value of the missing bike was estimated at $109.

Police also took reports for misdemeanor assault from two women who had been involved in a disturbance at the National Guard Armory Friday evening.

In other action Monday, city officers jailed one man for public intoxication and disorderly conduct and one on a misdemeanor warrant issued out of county court.

Fire call made to local bank

Units of the Snyder Fire Department were dispatched to a reported fire at the Snyder National Bank around 12:30 a.m. Tuesday.

A bank employee working late noticed smoke coming from the vents and called the department. It was determined, however, that the smoke was coming from a burned out motor in the bank's air conditioning system.

Gin office broken into

Sheriff's deputies are investigating a burglary of the office of the Co-Op Gin east of Snyder discovered by gin employees reporting for work Saturday morning.

According to reports, a window of the office was broken out and the building entered sometime overnight Friday.

Listed as taken were two or three rolls of quarters and an undetermined amount of $1 bills.

Police Chief Bill Stone said Tuesday morning the lab appeared to be set up and ready to operate at the time of the seizure.

Soviet to address U.N.

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Soviet foreign minister, who took notes as President Reagan told the General Assembly that the superpowers had progressed on arms control, will give a "very negative" response today, a Soviet official indicated.

Nuclear graveyard danger reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nuclear graveyard 60 miles wide and 600 miles above Earth is filling with debris from worn-out Soviet satellites that could collide some day and allow radioactive pieces to fall into the atmosphere, an expert in space junk says.

"The threat posed today is not serious at all, really," said Nicholas L. Johnson, author of a study to be published soon. But, he said, one-third of the 6,000 objects known to orbit the globe pass through the graveyard region and that the danger of collision increases as more waste is placed there.

The Soviets have parked 39 nuclear reactors — mostly spent power plants from low-flying ocean surveillance satellites — in the orbit, which is high enough to keep them from returning to Earth for hundreds of years.

The only U.S. space reactor, SNAP-10A, launched in April 1965 and operated successfully for 43 days in a 780-mile-high orbit, has started to break up and, according to Johnson, "spawned pieces of debris on at least six occasions." He said the nature of the debris and how it got free is unknown.

Johnson, a scientist with Teledyne Brown Engineering of Colorado Springs, Colo., which assesses Soviet space capabilities for military and civilian agencies, said nearly 3,000 pounds of radioactive debris is estimated to be orbiting in the region selected as a nuclear dump, about 600 miles above Earth.

"At the levels we now have, the odds are that in the near term, collision will not be a problem," he said. "But if the satellite population continues to grow, the possibility of being hit by something increases dramatically."

One such collision, not involving a nuclear-powered satellite, is thought to have caused the explosion of the Soviet Cosmos 1275 in 1981.

"There appears to be substantial evidence it collided with something," Johnson said.

The magazine Aviation Week and Space Technology says in its current issue that Soviet failures may have caused as many as six nuclear-powered satellites to fall back to Earth, some of them into the Pacific Ocean, largely intact.

Johnson's study will appear soon in the British publication, Space Policy.
