Wounds of Victims of Mishap Vary in Extent

SASA GRANDE, Ariz., Nov. 27. (AP)—An Oklahoma girl was dead, and a California man was believed dying today as the result of a head-on collision of two automobiles on the Casa Grande Tucson highway, east of Picocho. Twelve other persons were injured.

The accident occurred as dusk overhung the highway at sundown yesterday. The cars—nine persons in one and five in the other—collided and were demolished.

The dead:

Miss Virgie Williams, 16, Maude, Okla. Probably fatally injured.

N. J. Cavalier, Pasadena, Calif., broken hip, crushed chest.

Other injured:

Miss Mabel Bradshaw Maude, Okla., possibly fractured skull.

Mrs. John Williams, mother of Miss Williams, lacerations.

Mrs. Arthur Williams, broken jaw.

Leon Williams, lacerations.

Mabel Williams, broken leg.

William Williams, lacerations.

A. C. Thomas, Phoenix, broken hand, injured leg, face lacerations.

Mrs. A. C. Thomas, cuts and lacerations.

Two Thomas children, cuts and bruises.

Ovalier was driving the car containing Dr. and Mrs. Thomas and their two children, and Miss Bradshaw was driving the automobile in which the other injured and Virgie Williams were riding.

"KEMPY" TO BE PLAYED AGAIN THIS EVENING

The third and last performance of "Kempy" by the dramatic club of Central high school will be given this evening at 8:15 p. m., at the high school auditorium. A crowd double the size of that which attended the play last evening, when many counter attractions limited the audience, is anticipated for this performance.

"Kempy" is a three-act comedy, the first of the dramatic club's offering of the season. It was directed by Miss Velora Reed of the high school faculty, with Albert Doucette as stage manager. The cast includes: Virginia Rose, Susie Belle Hickman, Dorothy Doucette, Yvonne Thomas, Charles Thomas, Vernon Lawrence, Gene Patherree, and LeFors Doucette.

A greatly enjoyed feature of the performance last evening was the music furnished by the high school orchestra before the curtain and between acts with Thomas Panneth directing. Audrey Noel sang a solo, accompanied by the piano by Mrs. Thomas Panneth.

GRAND JURY RECESSES

The grand jury finished its investigations yesterday afternoon and adjourned until Friday when the annual report will be made. The twelve men have spent six of the ten weeks of district court making investigations and returning indictments. B. E. Finley is foreman. This session of the grand jury is the longest ever held in Gray county.

Clyde Patherree is in Wichita, Kan., on business. He will return Monday.

THANKSGIVING AT HOOVER'S TO BE SIMPLE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—Thanksgiving will be observed at the White House tomorrow in an old-fashioned way.

In the morning President and Mrs. Hoover will attend church services and then will spend the balance of the day with a few friends.

When evening rolls around, the mahogany table in the state dining room will be filled with both domesticated and wild turkeys along with "the trimmings" found on the board of most American homes. Mr. Hoover will have no business engagements, and along with all government departments, his executive office will be closed.

The two sons of the president will not be with their parents, so that note of the family atmosphere will be missing. They are coming for the Christmas holidays when there will be a Christmas tree and toys for the children of Herbert Hoover, Jr.

Six turkeys already have arrived at the White House. So far as the president is concerned, he is looking forward with particular pleasure to the wild gobbler sent by William M. Moody, postmaster of Washington. Two large domesticated turkeys were sent from Northern Minnesota and one each from North Dakota, Iowa, and California.

Puppet Show to Be Brought Here for Performance

The Jean Gras French Marionettes, reputedly the largest puppet show in America, will be brought to Pampa on Feb. 21, for two performances at the Central high school auditorium, according to an announcement from the Council of Clubs, which is to sponsor the Pampa engagement.

Contracts have been signed with Miss Irene Sherwood, advance agent, who appeared before the council executive committee. The French marionettes, Miss Sherwood told the committee, are much in demand, and this year will be seen in only a few of the larger cities of Texas, and in only two Panhandle towns, Amarillo and Pampa.

The puppet theatre, with its own sets, scenery, miniature furniture, and special lighting fixtures will be set up in the auditorium, where two plays and a number of specialty features will be shown. One hundred puppets including a symphony orchestra and an illuminated ballet, comprise the cast of the Gras theatre.

A matinee performance of "Uncle Wiggly" will be given for the benefit of the young school children, and arranged to attend. The play for the evening will be "Skippy." A play for adults. The illuminated ballet will be shown then to its greatest advantage. Each performance will afford two hours of entertainment, equally delightful to children and grown-ups.

—AND A SMILE

PRINCETON, N. H. (AP)—Go up, young man. Colonel Lindbergh, interviewed by the Daily Princetonian, has modernized Horace Greely. A young man will find it enormously to his advantage to learn to fly, the colonel says. Just as anyone can learn with ease to run a 30-foot launch, although a skilled pilot is necessary for an ocean liner, so one can learn to fly a private plane without the enormous effort involved to become a transport pilot.

The Tomb Clemenceau Chose

Georges Clemenceau, the "Tiger of France", was buried in a tomb erected under the guidance of his own hand. This exclusive picture shows the gravestone erected secretly by Clemenceau four years ago on his estate in southern France. It is deep in the woods and so completely surrounded by trees that few people have ever seen it and only a small number knew of its existence. The grave of his father, shown at the left, is directly beside the spot the "Tiger" picked for himself. A cameraman for NEA Service and the Pampa Daily News was allowed to take the picture only after he had promised Clemenceau it would not be used until after his death.

Thanksgiving Is Proclaimed by Mayor Osborne

WHEREAS—A merciful God has again blessed our people with the enjoyment of peace, happiness, and plenty, and

WHEREAS—It having become a worthy practice of our great Christian nation to set aside one day each year for the giving of thanks to the divine ruler of all things, and

WHEREAS—The president of our nation and the governor of our state has proclaimed Thursday November 28 a legal holiday to be set aside and observed as Thanksgiving day,

NOW THEREFORE—I, D. W. Osborne, mayor of the City of Pampa, by virtue of said office, hereby proclaim Thursday, November 28, a holiday hereby set aside to be observed as Thanksgiving day, and hereby call upon the entire citizenship of the City of Pampa, to in so far as possible refrain from the usual vocations of life, and with thankful hearts, pay reverence to the Creator of all things that are good, and whose mercy permits us to enjoy the happiness and prosperity of a kindly and justly governed nation.

GIANT PLANE CRASHES

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Nov. 27. (AP)—A 32-passenger, four-motored Fokker monoplane, with at least three persons on board, crashed into a house at Carle Place, near here, this afternoon and set fire to the plane and two adjoining houses.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Campbell plan to spend the holiday at Channing with Mrs. Campbell's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thut and small of Mr. Thut's sister, Mrs. C. P. Buckson of LeFors will be guests in the home for the holiday.

CENTRAL WILL BE QUARTERS FOR VISITORS

Hereford Delegation Is Likely to Have Parade

TWO HOLIDAYS GRANTED HERE

Harvesters May Lack Leader in Part of Game

Football fans hoping for a great Thanksgiving occasion at the Pampa-Hereford championship game were cheered today by a weather forecast of "fair Thursday."

The morning climax will be reached with the arrival of the Hereford special train bearing 400 fans, the school pep squad, the White Faces, and a brass band. The Green Jack-ets, girls' pep squad of Central high, will greet the visitors, and the American Legion band will be present if members can leave their work. The special train is due at 11:20 a. m.

A school truck will be at the station to carry the Hereford football equipment to the Central gymnasium. Central high school building will be headquarters for the visitors while they are here.

It is suggested that persons driving to Hereford field use the Miami highway, while those making return trips in trap-ping fans and visitors to the game use the street through the Cook-Adams addition. This plan will eliminate congestion, especially at the bridge south of the Cook-Adams addition.

are here. Beginning at 1:30 p. m., school buses will be operated from Central to the field to convey Hereford folk to Harvesters field.

Many citizens are expected to meet the special train and to offer transportation if needed. It is likely that the Hereford delegation will parade the business district under direction of city police and traffic officers.

Tomorrow and Friday will be special school holidays. A number of teachers will visit their parents or friends in neighboring cities. Pep rallies are being held by the students in preparation for the local game, which will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

Coach Odus Mitchell practiced the Harvesters against Hereford plays in secret Wednesday. On account of the epidemic of bruises suffered in the Memphis game, only light scrimmages were held this week.

Of the crumples, Henry Ayres, star left end, is improving and will start the game. Sausbury, captain and husky fullback, is feeling much better and may be able to smash the opposition as he has done all season. The most serious casualty was suffered by Lard, heady quarterback, who has not been able to practice this week and may not be in condition to do his customary broken field running.

Buckingham, who is good when he is "right," will likely be started, and Chastain, hero of the Memphis game, will be ready to go.

How to prevent Hereford sprinters from getting away is the chief problem confronting the Harvesters. Russell, in particular, will be watched, and his speedy partners will be kept under surveillance.

Hodges Freed on Bond of $9,000

STINNETT, Nov. 27. (AP)—Jim Hodges, who with former Constable Sam Jones of Borger stands indicted in connection with the murder of District Attorney John A. Holmes, was freed today on bond while his erstwhile companion still sought a surety for $9,000.

Hodges' bonds, $7,500 on the murder indictment and $1,500 on a liquor charge, were approved yesterday when his bondsmen scheduled sureties totaling $94,000.

DAMAGE SUIT IS TO TEST LAND SALE

Alleging that their father, John Q. Sewell, illegally sold their interest in a half section of Wheeler county land after their mother died, a suit to recover damages in the amount of $100,000 and title to the land that has an un-estimated oil value has been filed in Wheeler county district court by Rufus Sewell and others, it was announced yesterday by the plaintiff's counsel, Judge Newton P. Willis.

The plaintiffs contend that they did not receive their share from the sale of 960 acres of land, half of which was rightfully theirs after their mother died. It is alleged the land sold for $20,000 in Oct. 1926 and there was no division of their mother's half among them after the sale was made.

The plaintiffs are Beulah and Bernette Kinard of McLean, LeRoy and Rufus Sewell of Pampa, Leonard Sewell of Santa Monica, Calif., Robert W. Sewell, Tipton, Okla.; H. H. Sewell, Chester, Calif.; Paul Sewell of Los Angeles and Willie Mae Sewell of Long Beach, Calif.

The action, which is being taken against four individuals and four prominent oil companies, asked for $100,000 as the proper rental for five years on the property, which is located within three miles of producing wells. Attorneys for the plaintiff are making the contention that the property has been illegally held for that length of time.

Three of the defendants named are nationally known oil companies. The group of defendants announced by Judge Willis include the Humble Oil and Refining company, Skelly oil company, Continental Oil company, Texas Company, A. E. Sims, Natchez, Miss.; Mark Huselby, Margie Edgar and George E. Montgomery of Amarillo.

Oklahoma Family Found Dead by Visiting Relatives

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 27. (AP)—Relatives arriving today at the home of T. M. Henley, 48, near Newala, south-east of here, to spend Thanksgiving, found the Henley family, consisting of the father and mother and two children, shot to death.

Carl J. Traub, justice of the peace, acting as coroner, expressed belief Henley had killed his wife, his children and himself.

Henley's body was found over a shot gun. The bodies of his wife, Mrs. Cora May Henley, and their two daughters, Wanda June, 6, and Flora, 1, were nearby. The four had been dead approximately ten days, deputy sheriffs estimated. William Beal, rural mail carrier said he had seen none of the family for more than a week.

Discovery of the bodies was made by C. J. Ballard brother of Mrs. Henley, who with other relatives arrived for a visit.

SHORT SERMON WILL BE GIVEN BY REV. HYDE

The Thanksgiving sermon of the Rev. A. A. Hyde, minister of the First Presbyterian church, will be approximately 12 minutes long this evening, he said today in connection with a remark that music would have a large place on the program.

Singers from the various churches are asked to meet at 7 o'clock at the First Methodist church to practice a special anthem. The service proper will begin at the same church at 7:30 o'clock.

Local singers are asked to volunteer, since many regular choir members will be out of the city.

The Rev. James Todd, Jr., will preside as chairman of the program, which has been arranged by the ministerial association of the city.

DEATH CAUSE OF FAILURE TO OPEN DOORS

H. A. McCauley Dies in Sapulpa Last Night

HAD ATTEMPTED TO GET LOAN

Twelve Institutions of State Involved in Probe

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 27. (AP)—C. Graves Shull, state bank commissioner, announced today that 12 state banks failed to open their doors today. The closings were an immediate result of the sudden death last night of H. A. McCauley, 55, of Sapulpa, who was interested in all twelve.

Representatives of the state bank department were placed in charge at each institution.

The banks announced to be closed were:

Sapulpa State bank; the Bank of Mounds; Henryetta State bank; Bank of Commerce, Weleetka; First State bank, Vian; Citizens State bank, Webster Falls; Davenport State bank; Oil-ton State bank; First State bank, Ter-lon; Avant State bank; Keystone State bank, and the Bank of Kellyville.

McCauley, former mayor of Sapulpa, died of apoplexy, it was said by his physician, Dr. P. K. Lewis.

C. J. Alexander, assistant state bank commissioner, in charge of the affairs of the Sapulpa State bank, said he understood McCauley was in Tulsa yesterday, attempting to arrange a loan to carry the Sapulpa bank over a crisis, but was unsuccessful.

Dr. Lewis was called to the McCauley home last night by Mrs. McCauley. She said her husband collapsed when the started to retire. He died less than an hour later without regaining consciousness.

H. L. Payne cashier of the Sapulpa bank, said McCauley was chairman of the board of most of the 13 banks in which he was interested. The American State bank at Porum was the only one of the group which had not closed its doors this morning.

Closing of the Sapulpa State bank, of which McCauley was president, leaves only the American National in Sapulpa. Henryetta also has only one remaining bank, the American Exchange State bank, which was taken over recently by the Exchange National bank of Tulsa.

Total deposits of the 12 failed banks, as of October 4, given in the last statements to the bank commission were $2,520,976. Capital stock totaled $310,000. McCauley was president of all the banks those at Henryetta, Webbers Falls and Vian.

Commissioner Shull attributed the failures to "frozen assets."

McCauley had $50,000 life insurance which was made payable to the banks which he controlled, Shull said. Most of the money was to go to the Sapulpa bank.

Shull said there was a possibility the bank at Henryetta, the one at Sapulpa, and possibly one or two others would be reopened in the near future.

Four Young Men Die at Crossing

CANTON, N. Y., Nov. 27. (AP)—Four young men en route home for the Thanksgiving holiday, were killed at a crossing near here today when their automobile was struck by a New York Central railroad train.

Three of the dead were identified as: Nelson P. Lobell of Victor, N. Y., junior at St. Lawrence; Raymond J. Beardslee of New Berlin, N. J., and W. B. Anderson of Bridgeport, Conn.

THERE MAY BE NOTHING NEW UNDER THE SUN, BUT THE INVENTIVE GENIUS OF MAN KEEPS ON WORKING OVERTIME.

During the last fiscal year the patent office received applications totalling 114,688, of which 92,231 were in connection with patents and the remainder applications for registrations of trade-marks, labels, and prints. Several patents were issued to Pampa men.

According to the annual report of the commissioner of patents, the granting of proper certificates on inventions entails such a huge amount of work that prompt action is impossible. At the rate patents are now being applied for, it would take five to six years to catch up and provide reasonable promptness. The office is greatly in need of more personnel.

It is very regrettable that this very important branch of the federal government is unable to give prompt service. The economic effect of delaying patent grants for many months, and thereby preventing manufacturing, is depressing. It also adds to the difficulties of patentees, who often spend nearly all their funds on their invention and then have to wait months or years to have it sufficiently protected to start production and obtain revenues.

THERE ARE STILL MANY PEOPLE IN TEXAS WHO HAVE NOT REALIZED THAT THE STATE'S PRISON SYSTEM IS FAR BEHIND THE TIME, IS ANTIQUATED IN COMPARISON WITH INSTITUTIONS IN NEARBY STATES, AND CANNOT BE REPAIRED.

Dr. A. C. Scott of Temple, member of the state prison board, recently said that "an examination showed that present walls at Huntsville are in a positively bad and irreparable condition."

Other statements of Dr. Scott should be of interest:

"There are at least 1,000 men within the state prisons today who will never reform, who are a menace to society. The state, regardless of cost and whether they ever earn a cent for the state must protect society against their escape."

"The present Texas prison system, located in the Brazos bottoms, is 75 years old, antiquated, and a disgrace to civilization, since many prisoners are turned out worse criminals than they entered. Prisoners convicted of minor offenses are thrown together with criminals of the worst type. Sanitary conditions are terrible. Prisoners often eat from the same plates, use the same cups not properly washed and sterilized, use the same bath tubs and towels, all of which spread diseases."

The prison system is hugely wasteful, whereas it could be made largely and consistently self-supporting. But even common decency and humane motives should result in complete modernization of the institutions. An equally bad situation is found in the eleemosynary institutions, as State Legion Commander Cox said here some time ago.

TWINKLES

Percy, the office mouse, says that his tribe is damned continually for wastefulness, but that insofar as his observation goes the crumbs around his table are greatly fewer than those about the over-loaded tables of human beings.

Local Scotchmen are reported to be putting a local disaster on their 1930 budgets in order to get back some of the Red Cross money that is being given in anticipation of great needs.

Are you air-minded? The proposed aerocade to Roswell's airport dedication will afford local leaders a chance to prove it.

Mrs. Hoover is herself an engineer, but she is better at smoothing mortar than social difficulties, it seems.

There is no accounting for tastes; and one American town is boasting much of having the largest monkey farm in the country.

Governor Roosevelt of Porto Rico is no linguist. Speaking to an audience in his poor Spanish, he revealed that he has been the "mother of four children." If he ever had a Spanish teacher, she must feel embarrassed by this "break."

Death Verdict Overturned

AUSTIN, Nov. 27. (AP)—Mauro Guajardo, given death in Williamson county for the murder of Arthur Bunnell, well known farmer of that community, was awarded a new trial by the court of criminal appeals today. The appellate court had previously affirmed the judgment of the court but today's decision to reverse and remand the case was taken on appellant's motion for a rehearing.

Wife, Kids and Bullets

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—John Janis has a wife, seven children and two bullets in the leg. Broke and jobless, Janis saw a turkey hanging in a butcher shop. He took it. The owner shot him. Tomorrow will be just Thursday at Janis' house.

Miss Mary Shell, head of the mathematics department of Pampa high school, is to spend Thanksgiving in the home of a brother at Plainview.

Sure, They Must Be Sweet

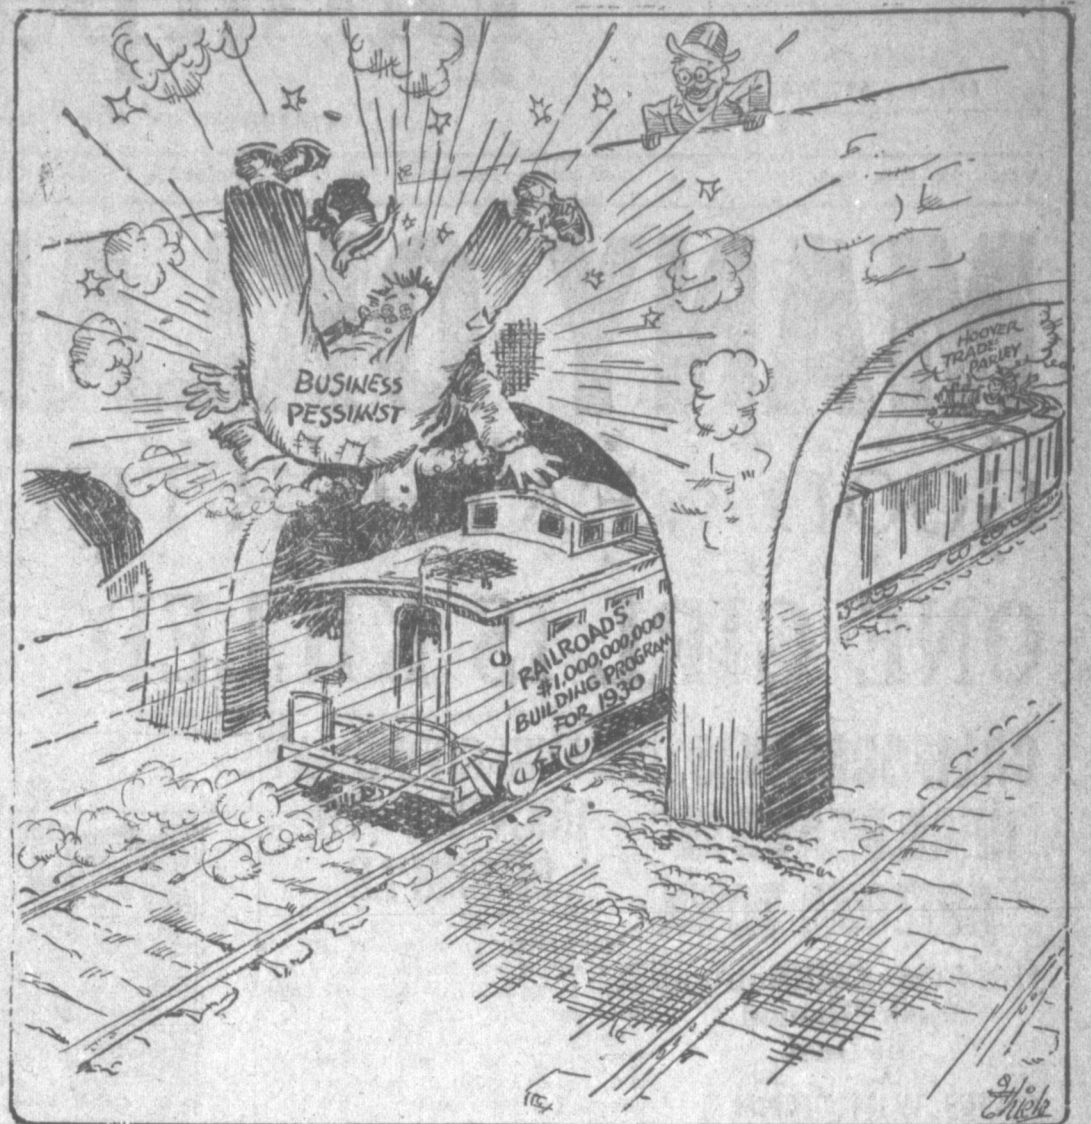

With such a fair gatherer as Lucille Ramsey, how could the grapes be sour? They're part of California's $35,000,000 grape crop and are located in one of the largest vineyards in the world at Guasti, Calif., near Los Angeles. During harvesting ceremonies vineyard workers are replaced for the day by pretty girl pickers.

The Boy Who Bit the Dog

It's an old journalistic joke that "for a dog to bite a man is not news, but for a man to bite a dog is news", and so Kansas City newspapers had a printable item the other day when Donald Koppel, 4 years old, bit his pup so severely on the back that the dog had to be treated at a hospital for animals. Donald told his parents it was in retaliation for the pup biting him while at play in the kitchen. But Donald and his pet are fast friends again, this picture having been taken after they became reconciled.

SENTENCES GIVEN TWO MEN WHO DEFEND SELVES

Two men who defended themselves in court yesterday received a one-year and two-year sentence from Gray county juries. Each of the two men said he desired no lawyer and wanted to defend himself.

O. O. Steele was found guilty of attempt to pass a forged check and drew a two-year sentence in the morning, while Roy Ashcraft was given a year and a day on a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor for the purpose of sale.

Steele in his testimony said he had served a term in the Missouri state penitentiary. Ashcraft admitted on the stand that he ran a hamburger stand near Pampa and kept beer in it. "I'm Pampa business men" who he testified would bring it out to him to put on ice, later coming out to drink it. He denied that he owned a quantity of liquor found by officers of the sheriff's department near the eating place.

Direct examination of Ashcraft revealed that he was born in Alaska during the gold rush and spent most of his life in Pacific coast towns, principally Seattle and San Francisco. Steele said he had never been indicted on a felony charge.

"Uncle Bob" Feeds Friends on Venison at New Schneider

More than 40 local oil operators and geologists were the guests of Robert Dunlop, better known to the oil fraternity and citizens of Gray county as "Uncle Bob," at a venison dinner served at the Schneider hotel last night. Mr. Dunlop has just returned from a successful deer hunt on his ranch in Southeastern Arizona.

Mr. Dunlop brought down one of the largest bucks ever killed in Arizona. He has been a resident of Pampa for the last three years and has drilled several oil wells in central and eastern Gray county.

In welcoming his friends to his dinner "Uncle Bob" used his pet names of Boll Weevils for the scouts and Rock Hounds for the geologists and producers, and told them to "dig in and don't stop until everything has disappeared."

GRANDVIEW NEWS

Grandview returned a basketball game with Hopkins No. 2 last Friday, winning with a score of 21 to 3. Hopkins No. 1 schools' boys' teams met the Grandview boys on Hopkins No. 2 court, to be defeated by a score of 9 to 5.

The Grandview Parent-Teacher association met Friday night. The membership voted to hold a pie supper on Dec. 7, to raise funds for a community Christmas tree.

A large group of people from Grandview were visitors in Pampa last Saturday. It included the following: Mr. and Mrs. Earl McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Jones and family, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Schaffer and sons, Curtis and Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Davis and daughters, Opal and Fae, Mr. and Mrs. George Benton and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Kuykendall.

Enough snow fell Thursday for the Grandview children to have a snow fight.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Carver were visitors in Pampa and Clarendon last Saturday.

SIX FORMER EXECUTIVES ARRESTED IN $3,500,000 MICHIGAN BANK SWINDLE

Charged with using and losing $3,000,000 of the funds of the Union Industrial Bank at Flint, Mich., in stock market speculation, six former executives of the institution shown above were arrested on charges of embezzlement. With one exception they are now said to have made nothing on the venture. They are: (1) John S. De Camp, former senior vice president; (2) Ivan P. Christensen, former assistant cashier; (3) Milton Pollock, former vice president; (4) Russell Runyon, former discount manager; (5) Mark H. Kelley, former vice president, and (6) Elton D. Graham, former vice president. It is probably the biggest bank embezzlement in the nation's history.

Appeals Court

AUSTIN, Nov. 27. (AP)—The following proceedings were had in the Court of Criminal Appeals today:

Affirmed: Neal Ross, Anderson; J. C. Lyles, Young; Walt Langston, Cherokee; L. G. Deuran, Taylor; Pablo Jazo, Harris; George Meredith, Potter; Dell Cooke, McLennan; William Magnuson, Potter.

Judgment reformed and affirmed: L. T. Toombs, Taylor; Bill Hix, Childress; J. L. Stanard, Taylor; Gordon Williams, Wood, (two cases); Roy Pickett, McLennan; S. M. Nations, Stephens; John Moncrief, Runnels; Robert Bowser, Hopkins.

Appeal reinstated, reversed and remanded: W. W. Neely, Crosby.

Appellant's motion for rehearing granted, reversed and remanded: Mauro Guajardo, Williamson.

State's motion for rehearing overruled: Cader Barfield, Bowie.

Appellant's motion for rehearing overruled without written opinion: James Powell, Atascosa; Sam DeJohn, Harris; Everett Leedy, Palo Pinto; Carey Williams, Harris; Earl Duke, Hamilton.

Coming Home

Miss Catherine Vincent, daughter of Mrs. W. P. Vincent will be home from Texas Women's college, Fort Worth, for Thanksgiving Day, arriving this afternoon.

noon. Miss Vincent, a freshman in the college, is an active member of the Susan M. Key Literary society, the Young Women's Christian Association, the Hughes West Texas club, and the Thespian club. She is reporter for the freshman class, and plays on the Mulkey Hall hockey team.

Lumber Company Employees Succeed in Deer Hunting

Harry Grove and H. E. "Karo" Whisler of the Sykes, Merriek & Boyd Lumber company returned yesterday from a successful deer hunt in Mason county. They were accompanied by J. M. Wilson of Coahoma, one of the best shots in the Southwest. The party "bagged" five fine bucks.

Mr. Grove got two of the kill. It was his first attempt at deer-hunting and he believes he is better at that than baseball playing. Mr. Whisler got one buck and lost another after he had crippled it. The Coahoma man landed his two bucks in four shots at long range with both on the run.

As a result of the kill, several News employees will enjoy a venison dinner.

Corsicana Man Is Shot by Wife in Early Morning

CORSICANA, Nov. 27. (P)—Luther Yerber, marble yard operator here, was shot and killed today by his wife.

She was charged with murder, made bond and was released. The shooting occurred at the Yerber home about 3 a. m. A single shot from a six-shooter entered Yerber's head, and he died almost instantly. The murder charge was filed in the court of Judge S. B. Jordan, justice of the peace.

An altercation was said to have preceded the shooting.

LONGHORNS TO BE FAVORITES IN AGGIE GRID

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 27. (AP)—Three Southwest conference football squads will put in their final licks today in preparation for the annual Thanksgiving festivities tomorrow. None of the trio can give thanks for an overly successful season.

The Texas university Longhorns and Texas Aggies, gridiron rivals since 1894 and getting more serious about it each year, will hold the spotlight in their thirty-sixth meeting in the cadets' new stadium at College Station. Special trains and automobiles will carry upward of 30,000 enthusiasts to the battle site. The Longhorns are favored to win.

Arkansas university Razorbacks are preparing for their season final against the Oklahoma Aggies, members of the Missouri valley conference, whom they tackle tomorrow at Stillwater. The bout will have no bearing on the title race, but will give the Porkers an opportunity to boost their standing, as the Aggies are accounted members of the Southwest circuit for the coming year. An Arkansas victory is forecast.

Tomorrow's tilt will serve as appetizers for the main show Saturday at Fort Worth. There is not so much tradition attached to the championship struggle between Texas Christian and Southern Methodist, but it promises to be more violent. The Mustangs are busy figuring out a defense against the forays of Cy Leland, Frog backfield terror. The Christians are laying plans to muzzle the dazzling serial game of the Ponies. Neither will be entirely successful.

Coach Morley Jennings will take his disappointing Baylor eleven to Houston for a final bout with the Rice Owls Saturday. The contest will occasion little interest under the circumstances. The Owls, as usual, will be favored to come up on the short end.

Coach Jennings, incidentally, has been fortified with the knowledge that he will be at the head of Baylor athletics for at least three more years. The Wolves were on his trail after the Bears lost to the Mustangs and Preps on successive Saturdays, but President S. P. Brooks of the university came to Jennings' defense with the announcement he would offer him a contract to run through 1932.

Critics who picked Baylor to win the conference crown now admit the school's material was not as strong as it appeared on paper. The Bears had only one Jake Wilson.

As comparative scores never mean anything when the Longhorns and Aggies get together, a close, hard fought game is looked for at College Station. Taken on their season's record, the Steers appear at least a touchdown stronger, but the Aggies are expected to offset this advantage with the inspired game they always play on their home grounds. They will be out to dedicate their new stadium in a fitting manner.

Art Shires Will Go Into Fighting

CHICAGO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires will make his debut as a professional fighter December 9 under the promotion of Jim Mullen.

"I'll knock a lot of those bums stiff," said Mr. Shires, who is first baseman, off and on, for the Chicago White Sox. "I'll make myself $20,000 in the off season. Then next spring I'll go out and knock a lot of pitchers loose from the box."

Promoter Mullen said Shires is "a big, powerful fellow, who should make a good fighter."

Shires' opponent was not announced.

GLENNA'S GREATEST RALLY

By O. B. KEELER

It is doubtful if any championship golf match in American annals ever produced quite so remarkable a finish as Miss Glenna Collett's match against Mrs. Harley Higbie of Detroit in the third round of the last women's championship at Oakland Hills, when the capable Detroit player was so near to breaking through the great Glenna's defense of her 1928 title.

Holding puts from all over the premises, against a shaky first nine by the champion, Mrs. Higbie worked around to the fifteenth tee 4 up—dormie 4—against the greatest of American woman golfers.

The case looked hopeless, from the champion's standpoint. But she stuck to her work and under the fierce strain she at last got the shots to working. A man's par 4 at the fifteenth and another at the dangerous sixteenth, across the lake, took back those two holes, when Mrs. Higbie failed to reach either by her second.

Still, a hole was all Mrs. Higbie needed on either of the next two holes, and the seventeenth is a one-shooter of 175 yards; a dangerous shot to an upland green guarded by an awe-inspiring bunker cutting into the hillside at the right-front of the green.

Here came the best shot Glenna played all week, and in a marvelously suitable spot. Playing her favorite club, Miss Collett placed the ball just four feet short of the flag, while Mrs. Higbie's ball skirted the edge of the bunker a dozen feet—and stayed out, but in a position that required a lofted chip to the pin. The ball rolled a dozen feet past, she missed coming back, and Glenna, putting carefully, won with a par 3, not trying for the deuce.

The champion then won the home hole with a par 5, despite a shovelled drive near a tree, which eventually left her a chip-shot from off the green. She laid it stone dead, and the strain over, she won the match with a great 4 on the 431-yard nineteenth.

Texas Telephones Increase Rapidly

Telephones in use in Texas increased in number 32.9 per cent in the five years between 1922 and 1927, according to figures of the federal census bureau recently released. Total number of phones in Texas were 614,657 in 1927 as compared with 462,424 in 1922. The bell system operated 400,319 in 1927 as against 213,112 in 1922, a growth of 87.8 per cent; independent, 214,338 in 1927 as compared with 249,312 in 1922, a drop of 14.0 per cent.

More recent study of the Texas situation shows that a new organization has entered the field. This is the Associated Telephone Utilities company. This company in the last few months has acquired by purchase a number of independent exchanges in Texas, Oklahoma, and other southwestern states.

Three years ago, the subsidiary companies of Associated Telephone Utilities company operated in one small city in Illinois, two in California and four Wisconsin towns. At that time, it controlled only 36,000 stations and had an income of about $1,000,000 a year. Today it operates 365,000 stations and has an income of $12,250,000.

Large and important groups of exchanges have been purchased in various states from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Michigan on the east to Washington and California on the west and from Canada to Texas. Rumors are current that other important purchases will be announced soon.

NEBRASKA TO SEEK TITLE IN NEXT CONTEST

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 27. (AP)—Football games in the Big Six tomorrow will be more or less an anti-climax to the season.

Games last week, pitting Missouri against its old foe, Kansas, matching Nebraska and the Kansas Aggies in a title game and involving Oklahoma with its arch rival, Oklahoma A. & M., were natural closing contests. Teams were keyed-up for them. But Kansas is the only team which ended its season.

Thanksgiving day struggles find these teams matched: Missouri and Oklahoma in Columbia; Iowa State and Nebraska in Lincoln; Kansas Aggies and Marquette in Milwaukee.

Nebraska needs only a tie with the tail-end Iowans to clinch its second consecutive conference title. Should the Iowans spring an upset—and it would be a real one—and beat the Cornhuskers, the winners of the Oklahoma-Missouri game would become champion. With this possibility in mind, the Tigers and Sooners are more eager for the game than they perhaps would be if no championship beckoned.

The Aggies will be making the conference's last attempt to win in inter-sectional combat hoping to help offset the long string of defeats that Big Six teams have taken this year from rivals from distant parts.

South Will See Two Score Grid Games Tomorrow

ATLANTA, Nov. 27. (AP)—Two score Thanksgiving day football games are slated for Dixie.

A duel of star quarterbacks is forecast for Lexington, Ky., when Tennessee, seeking another victory to add to its perfect record, pits Gene McEver, Dixie scoring leader, against "Shipwreck" Kelly, Kentucky's sophomore flash.

By winning, Tennessee will not only strengthen its bid for the conference title, but will retain possession of the coveted beer keg trophy, which for several years has passed back and forth between the winners of the annual feud.

Tulane goes to Baton Rouge to play Louisiana State, last obstacle to a clean slate and a claim for the championship.

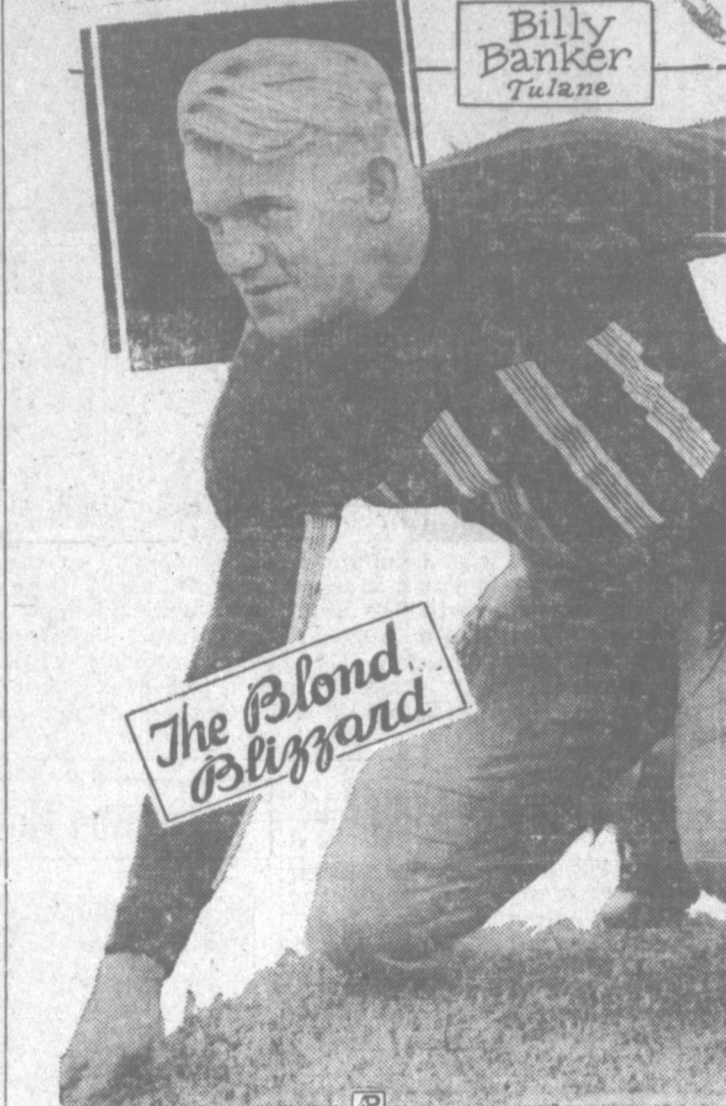

Bolstered by the return of their quarterback ace, Downes, Georgia, goes to Birmingham to clash with the University of Alabama in the twenty-second game of their series. Alabama is favored.

Vanderbilt and Sewanee come to grips in Nashville in the South's oldest gridiron rivalry and Auburn.

North Carolina lines up against Virginia at Chapel Hill in another traditional battle, and the University of Mississippi charges against the Mississippi Aggies.

TULANE HOPING TO COLLECT WITH BANKER SHOWING WAY

Billy Banker, the leading ground gainer of Tulane, is supported by a line of big boys who know how to bruise the opposition. The Green Wave banks on Banker to lead the way to the Southern conference football championship.

NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—Tulane's undefeated and untied Green Wave, which appears to be headed for at least partial ownership of the Southern conference football championship, has done three things no other Greenie team has been able to do.

Regarded a few years ago as just another setup for the stronger southern teams, Tulane was not recognized as one of the leading Dixie championship contenders until the Wave began establishing a few precedents in the way of victories. The Wave has rolled over Texas, A. & M., Georgia Tech, and Georgia, chalking up the initial Tulane victory over each of the three.

And when the Wave's fierce attack, led by the galloping Billy Banker, subdued the Texans and Georgians the Greenies carved a niche for themselves as one of the best teams Dixie ever has turned out.

Without a plentiful supply of capable reserves, the Wave has pounded away with the eleven regulars taking and giving the most of the punishment until the Green has taken on an iron tincture. An example of that spirit is Charlie Rucker, tackle who broke his nose in the Georgia game but continued his aggressive tactics and blocked a punt a few minutes after the play in which he was injured.

Despite the big hand given Billy Banker, the blonde blizzard and the Wave's leading ground gainer, and Little Ike Armstrong, his running mate, the bruising play of the line has been largely responsible for the Tulane triumphs.

Kitchens Arrives to End Training for His Fight

K. O. Kitchens arrived in town this morning with his boy friends from Miami to put on the finishing touches for Sammy Squires in their 6-round bout tomorrow night at the Pla-Mor. And judging from all reports, K. O. is going to have to add more touches to his technique to beat Squires than he has now.

A fight fan who has seen Pug Grubbs fight in Borger and who saw Sammy fight three years ago, says that Sammy had more stuff then than Pug has now. That Squires is likely to be bad news for K. O. is indicated by the fact that Sammy weighs 135 and Kitchens 128. Sammy is also two years older than our Kitchens. Squires' record is not available but one thing is certain he's going to be a match for Kitchens.

Folks are wondering what Platter is going to do to Cyclone Bonds tomorrow night. Platter has it on the Cyclone in height and reach by four or five inches and in weight by 16 pounds, but Cyclone has fought 28 fights while Platter has lost six. The sight of Bonds up against Platter in the ring is going to make the former look pretty small, but Bonds' fans remind you that a stick of dynamite can wreck, for instance a truck.

MOVIES

Good Looks Featured

Good looks and youth are two of the most desirable assets an actor can have on the screen today.

Proof of this is found in the brief but meteoric paths to success of a screen trio everybody knows—Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Mary Brian, and June Collyer.

Mary Brian went to Hollywood, played a week in a prolog of a stage production and then was given a screen test for the part of Wendy in "Peter Pan." Since her successful appearance in the J. M. Barrie play she has had featured roles in an average of seven plays a year.

Rogers never thought of motion picture acting until a Western theatre manager engineered his entry into the Paramount pictures school in New York. After he completed the course, buddy played in "Fascinating Youth." He since played in "Abie's Irish Rose," "Wings" and others.

June Collyer was invited to take a screen test when Allen Dwan was hunting for a lead in "East Side, West Side." Her youth, beautiful dimpled cheeks and personality got her a contract for the films, after her father, a well-to-do New York attorney, was persuaded to let her take up screen acting.

All three of these young and good-looking actors will be seen and heard in "River of Romance," Paramount all-talking picture which comes to the Rex today.

Club Women Consider Financial Problems in Semi-Monthly Program

A practical study of some of the financial problems faced by the women of today was made by members of the Twentieth Century club during the fortnight preceding their meeting of yesterday, climaxed with an excellent program given under the direction of Mrs. R. C. Campbell. The program was as follows:

Biographical sketch of Henry Ford and history of his industry, Mrs. I. B. Hughes.

"The Service of the Modern Bank of Today," Mrs. A. R. Sawyer.

"What a Woman Should Know About Insurance," Mrs. Joe M. Smith.

"What Women Should Know About a Will and the Laws of Their State," Mrs. W. A. Bratton.

An interesting round table discussion followed each topic, resulting in what members described as one of the most instructive and valuable programs ever presented in Twentieth Century club.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. A. H. Doucette, where a delightful social period was later enjoyed. Members present were: Mrs. F. M. Culbertson, Mrs. W. T. Fraser, Mrs. Raymond Harrah, Mrs. Paul Kaskihke, Mrs. H. D. Lewis, Mrs. R. W. Litchell, Mrs. Tom E. Rose, Mrs. Floyd Smith, Mrs. H. G. Twiford, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Sawyer, Mrs. Joe Smith and Mrs. Bratton. Special guests were Mrs. Marie Burge of Tulsa and Mrs. Emma LeFors.

Mrs. W. R. Campbell, who came to the city to make her home, after her marriage in the early autumn, was voted membership to the club.

Mrs. Mary Binsford and daughter, Miss Jewell and Miss Ruth, and Mr. and Mrs. P. Downs are spending Thanksgiving week with relatives and friends in Dallas.

Junior Twentieth Century Club Presents Thanksgiving Program

A Thanksgiving literary feast was enjoyed by members of the Junior Twentieth Century club, at their meeting yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Eli Willis. Mrs. Roy Bourland, program director, gave the historical background of the American Thanksgiving day, and told of similar festivals in other lands.

Oysters, first menu topic, was an interesting discussion of the culture and harvesting of oysters, and a description of the locale suited to oyster farming. It was given by Mrs. Tom Perkins afforded an occasion for reviewing the interesting history of macaroni. Mrs. Robert Chaffin gave an enlightening discussion.

The cultivation, harvesting, and marketing of cranberries were described by Mrs. Bourland. The romance of tropical scene, of strange modes of cultivation, and of shipping that lies behind a cup of coffee was depicted by Mrs. Clarence Barrett. Mrs. H. P. Elliott read a Thanksgiving poem as the closing numbers.

Mrs. Willis was hostess to the members at tea, following the conclusion of the program. Her guests were: Mrs. Fred Cary, Mrs. Lee Harrah, Mrs. N. A. Heiland, Mrs. Arthur Swanson, Mrs. C. C. Boles, Mrs. Barrett, Mrs. Bourland, Mrs. Chaffin, Mrs. Elliott, and Mrs. Tom Perkins.

Longfellow's Works Basis of Club Program Tuesday Afternoon

The works of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow were reviewed in a program given before El Progresso club at a meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. M. Bryson, with Mrs. Carson Loftus leading. "Roll call" was answered with quotations from favorite poems by the author.

Mrs. Loftus opened the lesson with a paper entitled, "The Secret of Longfellow's Popularity." Later she read selected sonnets. "Hymn of the Night" was read by Mrs. Charles Cook. Mrs. C. P. Buckler ably discussed Longfellow's sonnets. The long poem, "Evangeline," "Courtship of Miles Standish," and "Hiawatha," were analyzed by Mrs. J. C. Kelley, who gave the story of each.

"Hiawatha's Wooing," a clipping from the long poem, was read by Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar. Mrs. A. Cole recited and interpreted "Excelsior." "The Rainy Day" was read by Mrs. John V. Andrews. Mrs. Loftus conducted a question-and-answer discussion on Longfellow's style, the quality and range of his inspiration, and his mechanical peculiarities.

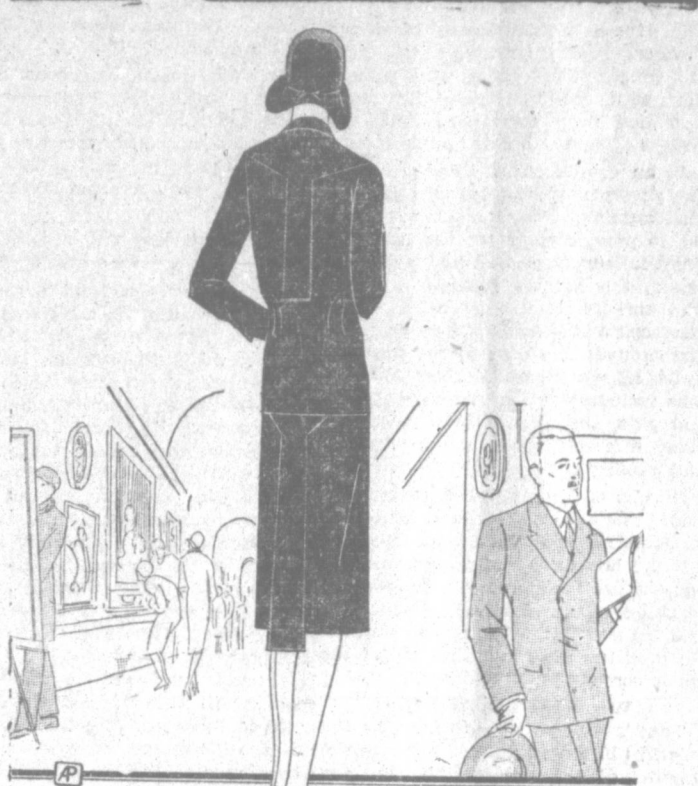

Members attending the meeting were as follows: Mrs. John V. Andrews, Mrs. George W. Briggs, Mrs. C. M. Bryson, Mrs. C. P. Buckler, Mrs. A. Cole, Mrs. C. C. Cook, Mrs. T. D. Hobart, Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, Mrs. H. L. Ledrick, Mrs. P. C. Ledrick, Mrs. Carson Loftus, Mrs. Dave Pope, Mrs. W. Purviance, and Mrs. J. C. Kelley.

When asked by Judge Ewing if Wade would appear for trial Friday, Curtis Douglass, his counsel, said he knew where he was and that he would "try to get him here."

Judge Ewin answered that Wade was under bond to appear in court on the day of his trial, and "he'd bet his son-and-answer discussion on Longfellow's style, the quality and range of his inspiration, and his mechanical peculiarities."

B. & P. Club Dinner Held in Tea Room with Attendance of Thirty

An enjoyable dinner meeting, featured by two program numbers, was enjoyed by members of the Business and Professional Women's club last evening at the tea room of the Pampa Drug store No. 2. Thirty members were present.

Following a discussion of various offers from productions companies for staging a home talent theatrical under auspices of the club, the membership asked that a committee consider the prospects for success and investigate other offers. Miss VeLora Reed was named chairman by the president, Mrs. Grace Higgins, with Miss Julia Mae Barnhart, Miss Ruth Anne Mitchell, Miss Jennie Ruth Williams, and Mrs. R. J. Kiser co-workers.

A second committee to investigate renting a piano was named as follows: Miss Jewell Love'ace, Mrs. Florence

Way, and Miss Madeline Tarpley Miss Louise Miller outlined plans for a club dance on Dec. 12.

The brief, but pleasing program followed the business session. Miss Jennie Ruth Williams read "The Rehearsal." Mrs. R. J. Kiser read from "The Independent Woman," national magazine of the B. & P. W. club, an article on the necessity of recreation and healthful exercise for the business and professional woman.

Miss Betal was a guest of the club. Members present were: Mrs. Bobbi Butterfield, Mrs. Roy Chisum, Mrs. K. G. Manning, Mrs. Ernest Gee, Mrs. R. J. Kiser, Mrs. Grace Higgins, Mrs. F. L. Lord, Mrs. E. E. McNutt, Mrs. Opa Madorin, Mrs. Houston Park, Mrs. P. O. Sanders, Mrs. Christine Smith, Mrs. Florence Way, Mrs. Charles I. Hughes, Miss Wilma Behrends, Miss Julie Mae Barnhart, Miss Bernice Chisum, Miss Lucille Keim, Miss Joyce Darnold, Miss Ruth Anne Mitchell, Miss Louise Miller, Miss Aurella Miller, Miss Gladys Payne, Miss Lucille Saunders, Miss Madeline Tarpley, and Miss Jennie Ruth Williams.

Rotary Club Has Boys As Guests in Luncheon Today

Members of the Rotary club were hosts to thirty-five newboys at the luncheon today at the Methodist church. Each boy was a guest of some Rotarian who entertained him with a Thanksgiving dinner and a program arranged by J. M. Dodson. Tom Nelson, who has charge of the Boys Work of the Amarillo Rotary club, made an interesting talk to the boys, impressing the necessity of thrift, loyalty, and trustworthiness. "Establish a goal then work toward that end. Any boy can be what he wants to be if he works properly for it," said Mr. Nelson. In a survey of the heroes of the boys and the vocations in which they were interested, Colonel Lindbergh and aviation were mentioned by almost half of the boys. Two interesting readings were given by Mrs. W. T. Fraser.

Special Grand Jury Ends Probe of Lynching Bee

EASTLAND, Nov. 27. (P)—The special grand jury called here to investigate the lynching of Marshall Ratliff, bank robber, was dispersed today, having yielded its voluminous mass of testimony to the regular jury which convenes Dec. 2.

The short time intervening before the date for the regular jury to meet was given as the reason for disbanding without definite action toward the band's hangmen.

In a report the jury called the lynching a "deplorable affair," and said that because of the "magnitude of the offense" and the short time left it recommended all information be turned over to the incoming grand jury. The special jury examined 150 witnesses during its four days of deliberation.

The report included a kind word for the county attorney's and sheriff's office, the former for cooperation and the latter in vindication. "It has come to our knowledge," the report said, "that there has been some criticism of the sheriff and members of his department because some of them were out of the city when the hanging took place. The officers were out of the city on business connected with their office."

The special session was called by Judge George L. Davenport the day after Ratliff's lynching. Ratliff was taken from his jail cell, where he was awaiting a sanity hearing, and hanged the night after he fatally wounded Peace Officer Tom Jones in an attempted jail escape.

CHURCHES

HOLY SOULS CHURCH

Forty hours devotion will begin Friday morning at Holy Souls church with a high mass of exposition at 8 o'clock, and will continue through Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

This devotion in memory of the forty hours during which the holy body of Jesus was in the sepulchre is of great antiquity, having been begun in Milan about the year 1534. Its observance soon spread into other cities of Italy and from there to other cities of the then known world. Catholics of this country first practiced the devotion when it was introduced into the diocese of Philadelphia in 1853.

The devotion consists primarily of adoration of Christ's real presence in the sacrament of the altar. The church realizing the good that can be done, not only in the way of dispelling false ideas held by some who misunderstand her teaching, but also in increasing the knowledge and devotion of her own children, permits sermons to be preached explaining the various phases of her doctrine of the eucharist.

Rev. F. E. Hillen, rector of Price Memorial college, Amarillo, will do the preaching during the course of devotions, namely at 8 o'clock mass on Friday and Saturday mornings and the 10 o'clock mass on Sunday, as well as at the 8 o'clock service each evening. The public is cordially invited to attend all of these services.

ABOUT FOLKS

By A. F.

Judge Ben Baldwin says his immediate and far-removed ancestors lived long lives and that he himself will be practicing law 30 years from now.

Bill Holmes, court reporter who has "took down" many a case, believes that even a lawyer makes a mistake when he decides to defend his own case, let alone a person who knows nothing about the law.

Dr. J. J. Jacobs enjoyed the comedy, "Faró Neil," at the Rex this week. It's a travesty on one of the early westerns Dr. Jacobs said when he was a boy he used to sit in the peanut gallery of the theater in his home town, Portland, Ore., Sunday afternoons, and listen to the melodramatic ravings of the stock company villains, and heroines.

Clarence Kennedy gave away his cigarette lighter Monday morning. He says he's quit smoking the alleged coffin nails and that the "ancient prejudice has not been removed," because he's going to begin right now to "set a good example for that son of his—born Monday morning."

Assistant Postmaster O. K. Gaylor again emphasizes that the people better shop now and mail early for early delivery because there will be no mail delivery on Christmas day. One of the advantages of mailing Christmas packages early is they will not be crushed or damaged in the final rush that always precedes Christmas. Mr. Gaylor asks business establishments to bring Christmas greetings for patrons to the post office two weeks before Christmas so they may be prestamped and prepared for mailing now.

Tuesday night, came upon Charlie Duemke and G. C. Hubbard killing the Thanksgiving turkey by a method employed mostly by morticians and executioners of the cow, sow, and hen.

Pilgrims and Thanksgiving

By REV. W. H. SHULTS

As Thanksgiving Day approaches, every grateful and loyal citizen of our country is interested in the commemoration of the historical events which gave birth to the day.

The Reformation of the sixteenth century caused people to think for themselves. It made a profound impression on the religious mind and conscience of Christendom. Alignments were made, and different views prevailed. The Church of England was not satisfying the spiritual nature of her worshippers, demanding of them strict conformity to the letter of the laws of the church, but allowing them no independent desires to worship God according to the dictates of their consciences.

Many Were Persecuted

Hence, came into existence a branch known as the "separatists," persecuted on every side. Under the leadership of William Brewster and John Robinson, they left England and sought religious freedom—"Each for all and all for each"—to serve each other and live together in peace, love and holiness. They migrated to Leyden, in Holland, in 1608, but even there the English continued their persecution, and the following year they went to Amsterdam.

Fearing that their children might learn the Dutch language and customs, besides being subjected to "hard living," and fearing also that Spain would attack Holland, they returned to England. Their chief aim and purpose was to keep themselves "unspotted from the world."

Leave in Mayflower

On September 6, 1620, the Mayflower, bearing 102 pilgrims, left Plymouth, England, for the "stern and rockbound shore" of America, reaching Cape Cod on Nov. 9. From there they started for a place of settlement in the domain of the London company, which had granted them that privilege. The captain of the Mayflower accordingly sailed south about 40 miles, where the boat fell upon "dangerous shoals and roaring breakers." He finally selected a place for settlement which they called Plymouth Rock. This was on Dec. 21, 1620.

Here, in the rigors of winter they abode in the ship until a few log houses were built amid the exposures of ice, snow, and storm. It was a hard struggle. A contagion of some disease brought sickness and death. Nearly fifty died that first winter. At one time there were only seven persons among the men who were well, and these were scarcely able to care for the sick and bury the dead. More women died than men: fifteen of the twenty-one boys and one of the eleven girls died. But among the living were Brewster, Bradford and Miles Standish.

A Test of Faith

This was a severe test of their faith, but they stood the test without wavering. Their faith was as strong as the promises of God.

"They let their works and virtues shine."

"To prove the doctrine all divine."

In the spring of 1621, the Pilgrims set about completing enough huts to house them and also built a log church and a school house. Fortunately for them an Indian, Squanto, by name, taught them how to plant corn. About 20 acres of cleared land was discovered.

She Finds Relief After Ten Years

"I don't believe anyone ever got finer results from this new Sargon treatment than I did. I had become so weak and rundown from ten years suffering with stomach trouble that I simply felt like giving up. Nearly everything I ate disagreed with me; I was finally told that I needed an operation on my gall bladder. But I'm feeling so much better since taking Sargon that I fully believe that I am a well woman. I never suffer the slightest with indigestion now, and that dreadful pain in my side has completely disappeared. The Sargon Pills, that go with the tonic, seemed to have a stimulating effect on my liver and gall bladder, and my complexion has improved wonderfully. I feel worlds stronger, can even do my own housework, and I'm convinced that Sargon has saved me from an 1806 Cadiz St., Dallas. Father's Drug Co., Agents. ADV. operation."—Mrs. Catherine Taylor.

ered. Twenty-one men and six boys with hoes dug holes, placing two or three dead fish in each for fertilizer, before planting the seed. It was then according to the instructions of Squanto necessary to watch wolves so they would not dig up and eat the fish, and the crows to prevent their pulling up the corn.

Strangely Helped

There was a mysterious providence manifested in this. Squanto had been kidnapped by some pirates and taken from his tribe to be sold as a slave. Upon reaching London, however, he learned the English language and the customs of civilization, and after returning to America, was an interpreter and a mutual friend of the Indians and the Pilgrims.

He reported, at one time, through Samoset, an Indian from Maine, that Massasoit and his tribe were coming. Sixty of them already were in sight, and Squanto met them and effected a reconciliation, giving them knives, beads, and tobacco, and "fire water," and leaving young Edward Winslow as a hostage. A treaty of peace was amicably effected, and the Indians were given presents of bows, arrows, rugs, and cushions.

Thirty-five newcomers from London arrived during April of that year, but without tools or food. However, an abundant crop of corn rewarded the industry and toil of the Pilgrims, and the forest was full of game, and the streams yielded an abundance of fish.

Pilgrims Praise God

For these manifestations of divine providence, the Pilgrims felt that God had greatly blessed them, and praised Him with grateful hearts for their protection from starvation and the ravages of savage beasts and man.

As an expression of their gratitude, the governor proclaimed a day of Thanksgiving. Four hunters were sent out to provide game for the feast. A bountiful supply of corn had been harvested, the hunters brought in many wild turkeys, and other wild game. Massasoit and 90 Indians came as guests and brought five deer to the feast, in which all participated. About 140 persons including a large number of boys and girls, and men of both races, enjoyed a hearty good time in feasting and playing games.

It was a deeply religious celebration. The spiritual life and preaching of John Robinson before the Pilgrims left the homeland in England, and the equally holy and simple example and teaching of the layman schoolmaster and the preacher, William Brewster, influenced the piety and sincerity of the whole community of Pilgrims.

Was First Thanksgiving

That Thanksgiving celebrated by the Pilgrims in the autumn of 1621 was the original of our national Thanksgiving holiday. How different this celebration

Pampa Painter Dies Suddenly

Vernon Williamson 38, local painter and paper-hanger, died yesterday afternoon at a local hospital after a short illness. He was taken to the hospital Sunday.

Mr. Williamson had been married only six weeks. He is survived by his bride, and a half-brother who is living in Old Mexico. He is a member of the local painters' union, the Odd fellow lodge and was a veteran of the World war.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the G. C. Malone funeral home with Rev. D. H. Truhitte in charge.

Burial will be made in the local cemetery with the American Legion and painter's union performing last rites at the grave.

Williamson has been an employee of George H. Green, contractor, for the last three months.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Through the influence of his uncle, POLICE COMMISSIONER O'BRIEN, BONNIE DUNDEE sets on foot a "bait" technique under LIEUTENANT JOHN STRAWN of the homicide squad of Hamilton, a mid-western city.

On his first assignment Dundee "takes a room" in a house in MRS. RHODES' boarding house in order to be near a MRS. EMMA HOGARTH, who has written the police for protection, saying her life and money are in danger, and placing emphasis on EMIL SEVIER, a former boarder, Dundee's room is on the third floor near that of SEVIER. Dundee, stenographer DAISY SHERBORN, saleswoman, and TILDA, housemaid.

At dinner Dundee meets his fellow boarders, MR. and MRS. SHARP, CORA BARKER, pianist in a local theater; WALTER STYLES, proprietor of a men's furnishings store; NORMA DIXON, his pretty fiancée; and MRS. NUS, bookkeeper and mystery scenario writer; HENRY DOWD, middle-aged, nondescript, a newcomer out of work.

Dundee is reflecting that this is a horrible, friendly crew who a horrible cry of "Murder!" flashes out. DUSTY RHODES, Dundee's husband of Mrs. Rhodes, enters the room the cry came from.

"Mrs. Rhodes," Dundee says, "the boarders of Mrs. Hogarth's mislabeled, how she is room-bound because of heart trouble, and of her constant chattering of her will to name a new favorite. Norma, who is her latest favorite, agrees to introduce Dundee to the 'woman of mystery' that night."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

So it was decided, before dessert was reached, that Bonnie Dundee was to be introduced to Mrs. Hogarth that evening. Satisfied that the prospective meeting had been arranged adroitly, the young detective incoincidentally leaned back in his chair and studied his fellow-boarders keenly.

If, by chance, old Mrs. Hogarth was right and her life really in danger, what an opportunity he now had to observe all of his possible suspects before the crime was attempted or committed! But first was a foolish thought, he told himself sharply. It was his job to see that the crime was not committed.

"Bert, you aren't eating a thing!"

It was Cora Barker's voice, full of mingled anxiety and tenderness, that jerked Bonnie Dundee back from his day-dreaming, though the words were not addressed to him, but to the man on his left. Magnus, his name was, wasn't it?

"Too hot to eat, Cora?" Bert Magnus answered, with a deep sigh, as he pushed aside the dessert which had just been served him.

Dundee turned to look at him with more attention than he had yet bestowed upon his neighbor. His keen ears had told him that Cora Barker was in love with this man, and he wondered what sort of person her restless, passionate heart had chosen. He saw a man of medium height, darkbrown, rather oily hair going a little thin on top; light-gray eyes, behind rimless pince nez; a stubby, reddish mustache, many shades lighter than his hair. Neither handsome nor homely; just another man, say 35 years old. What did Cora Barker find in him, Dundee wondered?

"You'll be nice to her, won't you, Mr. Dundee? Not—laugh at her, even to yourself?"

"I'm afraid I had forgotten," Magnus confessed, smiling feebly and mopping the oily sweat from his face. "This heat—Listen, Cora! Suppose I go to the first show instead of the second, then maybe it will be cool; and I can get some good work done on the story."

"But you promised to take me out to supper after the theater closes," Cora reminded him.

The mild, plumpish man seemed to be looking for a way of escape. Then he brightened. "Toll you what, Cora? I'll go along with you now and see the first show, then come back here and work on my story till time to meet you at 11."

"That will be fine, Bert!" she cried. "But don't get impatient if you have to wait awhile for me. We have a new violinist, and I'll have to go over the score of the music for the new feature picture with him before it's shown tomorrow. It may be as late as half-past 11 when I'm through."

"Then I'll meet you at half-past 11," Bert assured her. "What happened to Sevier? Fired?"

Cora's nostrils flared and a queer expression crossed her face. "Yes," she answered briefly.

"Then other people besides Mrs. Hogarth must think Emil Sevier's a bad egg," Mr. Sharp, who had been listening unabashed, cut in. "This fiddler, Sevier, had the room next to the old lady," he explained to Dundee, "and she had Mrs. Rhodes kick him out. We never piano some day next winter and see your story unwinding on the screen!" She turned her indignant black eyes upon Bonnie Dundee.

Mr. Magnus writes scenarios, Mr. Dundee, and you can take my word for it that this story of his that 'came back today is better than nine out of 10 movies I have to look at. I play the piano in a movie theater over on Grand street, you know."

There was nothing but sympathy in Dundee's eyes as he turned to Bert Magnus. "I say—I'm awfully sorry you got a rotten break on your story, old man. Have you ever sold any yet?"

"I had a very encouraging letter from the scenario school whose course I subscribed to," Magnus evaded, stiffly. "Well—if you'll excuse me, I'll go up and do some work. I'm a bookkeeper, so I only have my evenings to write in, and because of this—and he held out his right hand, whose thin, unused-looking fingers seemed to be permanently curled like the petals of a withered flower—"I can't make much progress on the typewriter, so I have to keep plugging away pretty steadily. I've got a new slant on that story, Cora. I'm almost glad they sent it back. It'll be better than ever when it goes out again."

"Oh, Bert!" Cora's voice was heavy with "appointment-and sympathy." "And it's such a wonderful scenario, too! I bet they did open it, and had it copied, so they could steal your plot! You just wait! I bet I look up from my

There was nothing but sympathy in Dundee's eyes as he turned to Bert Magnus. "I say—I'm awfully sorry you got a rotten break on your story, old man. Have you ever sold any yet?"

"I had a very encouraging letter from the scenario school whose course I subscribed to," Magnus evaded, stiffly. "Well—if you'll excuse me, I'll go up and do some work. I'm a bookkeeper, so I only have my evenings to write in, and because of this—and he held out his right hand, whose thin, unused-looking fingers seemed to be permanently curled like the petals of a withered flower—"I can't make much progress on the typewriter, so I have to keep plugging away pretty steadily. I've got a new slant on that story, Cora. I'm almost glad they sent it back. It'll be better than ever when it goes out again."

"Oh, Bert!" Cora's voice was heavy with "appointment-and sympathy." "And it's such a wonderful scenario, too! I bet they did open it, and had it copied, so they could steal your plot! You just wait! I bet I look up from my plane some day next winter and see your story unwinding on the screen!" She turned her indignant black eyes upon Bonnie Dundee.

Mr. Magnus writes scenarios, Mr. Dundee, and you can take my word for it that this story of his that 'came back today is better than nine out of 10 movies I have to look at. I play the piano in a movie theater over on Grand street, you know."

knew the straight of it," he added regretfully. "But it seems that the old lady got it into her head that Cora's boy friend."

"He's not my 'boy friend!' Cora Barker denied vehemently.

"Well, was your boy friend then?" Mr. Sharp corrected himself amiably. "Anyway, seems like the old lady got it into her head that Sevier was plotting to rob her of her money. I guess he was behind a week or two with his board anyway, and Mrs. Rhodes told him his room was more welcome than his company. Mr. Henry Dowd, our talkative new boarder, has Sevier's old room, and they do say he nearly talks the old lady to death."

This was obviously intended to be very humorous, for Henry Dowd had not spoken during the entire meal, except to ask for salt or bread.

He spoke now. "As you know, Mr. Sharp, I've never met Mrs. Hogarth."

Dundee laughed. "Then you're not as curious as I am, Mr. Dowd."

The thin, commonplace man took off his glasses and polished the rimless oval lenses very deliberately. "I mind my own business," he said quietly.

"I've never met Mrs. Hogarth either, but after hearing the story all over again this evening, I'm beginning to get curious myself," Bert Magnus admitted. "You're always telling me to put some comedy relief into my scenarios, Cora. Maybe I'll look in on her this evening. If Dundee will give me an introduction—"

To Dundee's relief, but also to his bewilderment, Cora Barker interrupted with passionate vehemence: "Don't call on Mrs. Hogarth this evening, Bert! Promise me you won't."

Mrs. Rhodes, advancing rather majestically to the table to inquire if her guests had enjoyed their dinner, prevented Cora's getting the promise she had begged for so strangely.

"I was wondering, Mrs. Rhodes," Bert Magnus said tentatively, "if we couldn't hope to have our window screens in soon. I haven't noticed any flies yet, but the light bugs are rather annoying when I'm trying to write."

"Oh, dear! That dusty!" Mrs. Rhodes sighed. "Dusty! Dusty! Come here! ... How many times have I got to tell you to put those screens up? Here it is almost the first of July, and not a screen—"

"Now, Cora!" her husband protested sullenly. "Ain't I got other things to do besides put up screens? And on top of all my worries, that old hellion upstairs has to have a special screen, two layers of copper wire and a padlock, and the Lord only knows what else. Hope she can't get no air through it and'll smother!"

"Well, have you finished making her screen yet?" his wife prodded.

"I told her it'd be up Monday, and up Monday it'll be," Dusty Rhodes answered with weak violence. "Old fool! Threatening to have me arrested for 'misappropriation' funds! Huh! Old fool!"

It was a relief to Dundee to see Norma's slender body waving toward him.

"Mrs. Hogarth doesn't like to have visitors too soon after her meals," she confided, with a delicious air of intimacy.

CHILDREN TRY TO GO WHERE SANTA CLAUS IS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—Too eager to await the arrival of Santa Claus on Christmas eve, Dorothy and Eileen Belt, age five and four, today were wondering how to obtain a ticket to the north pole.

They started out on the journey yesterday. Hand in hand they walked into union station, strolled about looking at the trains, and when asked where they were going, both chimed:

"We wanta ticket to go where Santa Claus is."

The person who asked was Miss Edna Schneider of the Travelers' Aid Society. She told them that they could not make such a trip without their heavy winter coats and mittens, and while she and members of the society were trying to find out where the tots lived, Mrs. Phillips Belt arrived and led her youngsters home.

DEPUTY OUSTED IN WHEELER BY AN INJUNCTION

Tom C. Johnson was ousted as deputy sheriff of Wheeler county today by an injunction granted yesterday afternoon by Judge W. R. Ewing and served this morning. Request for the injunction was made by Raymond Allred, county attorney of Wheeler county, who said that since the legality of Johnson's right to hold office had been questioned, hundreds of citizens have demanded that he be removed if he were holding office unlawfully.

Johnson was recently given a 10-year sentence in prison on a charge of criminal assault by a Gray county jury here. Shortly afterward, Mr. Allred asked District Attorney Braly for an opinion regarding Johnson's right to continue as deputy. Quoting the statutes, Braly said that a penitentiary sentence automatically removed anyone from office. This opinion was sustained by a statement from the office of Attorney General Robert Lee Bobbitt. Johnson continued to act as deputy, contending that he was not disqualified until his appeal had been passed upon.

Judge Ewing in granting the injunction interpreted the statutes in the manner of Braly and the office of attorney general. Judge Ewing said he granted the injunction principally because he believes the official acts of Johnson since sentence was passed on him may be declared null and void, and would prove embarrassing at future court sessions in Wheeler county.

Kerens Business Block Is Burned

KERENS, Nov. 27. (AP)—A business block of Kerens was destroyed by fire which burned more than two hours before it was brought under control today by the fire departments of Kerens and Corsicana.

Seven stores, all one-story frame-and-brick structures, were burned to the ground. An explosion, cause undetermined, tore the roof off one of the structures. No estimate of the loss was immediately made.
