Akron Leaves Eastward Course To 'Visit' Commander's Mother At Cleburne

SHIP CROSSES TEXAS IN DAY OF FAIR SKIES

Dirigible Makes Good Time In Return Trip To Home Port

HEAT HURTS CREW

Big Craft Forced to Take To Higher Altitudes Over Desert

CLEBURNE, Texas, June 12. (AP)—In tribute to the mother of its commander, the U. S. navy Dirigible Akron flew low over Cleburne at 9 p. m. tonight. It passed directly over the home of Mrs. C. O. Rosendahl, mother of Commander Charles E. Rosendahl.

Advised in a telegram from Big Spring that the great airship, bearing her son and a crew of 81 would fly over the city, Mrs. Rosendahl and a group of neighbors from the former's front yard watched eagerly as the hour of arrival approached.

Hundreds of other persons, afoot and in automobiles, many of whom attended the public schools of Cleburne with Commander Rosendahl when he was a boy, lined nearby streets.

Out of the darkness to the northwest the Akron appeared, moving slowly, ablaze with lights revealed its long lines from stem to stern. Once it circled the town. Then, it turned and soared directly over the Rosendahl home.

Mrs. Rosendahl smiled. "I believe I'd like to be up there," she said.

Away to the northwest the Akron sped and soon its lights were lost in the darkness.

ABILENE, Texas, June 12. (AP)—The dirigible Akron sailed high over Abilene at 6:30 p. m., central standard time, today on an eastward course. It appeared to be using only seven of its eight engines.

WIND THREATENS NEAR PECOS

BIG SPRING, Texas, June 12. (AP)—The U. S. navy dirigible Akron passed here at 4:25 p. m., central standard time, today, en route from the Pacific coast to Lakehurst, N. J.

The big ship was cruising due east at a rate of speed estimated at between 50 and 60 miles an hour and at an altitude of 2,500 feet.

At 3:40 p. m. the Akron had passed over Midland, about 50 miles west of Big Spring. It was moving against a southeast wind and apparently was following the Texas and Pacific railway.

A radio message from Commander Rosendahl, asking a report on weather conditions, said the Akron had experienced no difficulties in

Mongol Fanatics Die Before Jap Gun Fire

HARBIN, Manchuria, June 12. (US)—Withering Japanese machine gun fire today twice repulsed the mad assaults of Mongol fanatic hordes who go naked into battle armed only with spears in the belief they are immortal.

The Mongols are members of a secret society which teaches that death in battle means reincarnation 20 minutes later. Red spears ornamented with red tassels are symbols of their belief and their only weapons.

Japanese army officials, reared in the code of the Samurai which teaches fearlessness in the face of death, were amazed at the bravery of the tribesmen and horried at the laughter in their ranks.

Hundreds of them fell in a foolhardy attack on a Japanese ammunition train near Imienpo, and scores more were killed in an engagement above Koshan, about 100 miles south of Blagoveschensk, Soviet frontier city.

Huge Liquor Hijacking Frustrated by Alarm

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12. (US)—Three men were arrested today charged by the police and federal prohibition authorities with attempting to hijack more than $100,000 worth of high grade liquors from the south end United States government bonded warehouse.

A slender piece of string, stretched across the floor of the plant frustrated the plot last night at the exact moment that the hijackers had completed their extensive preparations and were about to begin operations. The string tripped a burglar alarm that brought a horde of police, prohibition agents and private detectives swarming to the warehouse.

'Flying Hospital' Takes Two Injured Off Ship

PHILADELPHIA, June 12. (UP)—A large coast guard seaplane, turned into a flying hospital, flew 45 miles out to sea today, rescued two men who were seriously injured in an explosion aboard the Standard Oil Tanker Samuel Q. Brown, and brought them to this city.

Speaker Garner 'Out' a Few Days With Bronchitis

WASHINGTON, June 12. (US)—Speaker John Garner, suffering from bronchitis, will not be able to return to his duties until Thursday or Friday, his physician said today.

Dr. George Calver, house physician who examined him said there is no cause for alarm. At the same time his announcement disclosed the illness is much more severe than at first indicated. Tonight's bulletin read:

"Speaker Garner caught a slight cold last Friday. Saturday morning in the office he had a severe chill, and his temperature went above 103.

"He was taken to his hotel where his fever ran high until late in the afternoon when there was a drop to 102 degrees. During the night his temperature dropped to 99, to rise again to 99.6.

"His lungs are full of rales and he does considerable coughing, but on the whole his condition is quite satisfactory."

The speaker is dispensing with a nurse, Dr. Calver added, as he has the able ministration of Mrs. Garner. Majority Leader Rainey will continue as speaker pro tem until Mr. Garner's return.

BONUS VOTE IN HOUSE TODAY

Veterans Keep Up Morale Despite Rain

By FRASIER EDWARDS
Universal Service

WASHINGTON, June 12.—A bedraggled, nondescript, "army," soaked by a chilling rain and smeared with mud in the hodgepodge camp on Anacostia flats grinned cheerfully today, confident of drawing the first blood tomorrow in the battle of the bonus in congress.

The $2,400,000,000 veterans cash bonus bill, sponsored by Representative Wright Patman, Democrat of Texas, comes before the house tomorrow on the question of discharging the unfriendly rules committee from further consideration of the measure and paving the way for a direct vote on its passage.

Passage Conceded

Even the bitterest opponents of the bonus bill now concede passage through the house by a majority variously estimated from 15 by its foes to 70 by its friends. The real fight over the bonus will then come in the senate where a prolonged debate is in prospect and the result somewhat in doubt.

After that the bill must run the veto gauntlet at the White House and then come back to congress for the second round. And while the outcome of that battle appears dubious for the veterans the bonus expeditionary forces to a man are hopeful and determined to fight to the last trench.

By noon the official count of the B. E. F. converging on Washington from all points of the compass was 17,010 and more streaming in every hour. By the end of this week Commander-in-Chief Walter W. Waters estimated that his "army" will have grown to 30,000.

Strong Counter Revolt Breaks Out in Chile

BUENOS AIRES, June 12. (US)—A strong counter-revolutionary movement broke out today in Southern Chile, Santiago dispatches filtering through a rigid censorship declared. The center of the revolt against the radical-Socialist government which seized power a week ago was declared located at San Fernando.

Federal Agents Uncover Giant Liquor Ring

MILWAUKEE, June 12. (US)—Thanks to the undercover work of the federal agencies which gathered the evidence that sent Al Capone to prison, the government has unearthed a huge bootleg ring. Its members already secretly indicted at Madison, had connections that reached into Illinois, and Minnesota, it was learned today.

TAXI DRIVER ABSOLVED IN LINDY CASE

Chauffeur Still Held For Questioning, but By Own Volition

CHAFFS WITH POLICE

Query of Maid's Companions Reveals No Connection With Crime

By DOROTHY ROE
Universal Service Writer

TRENTON, N. J., June 12.—A happy-go-lucky ex-chauffeur, jack of all trades, lolled about the police barracks at Alpine, N. J., today and chaffed good naturedly the detectives who yesterday thought that with his arrest they had found at last the key to the labyrinthian mystery of the kidnaping and murder of the baby son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Ernest Brinkert, the former White Plains taxi driver picked up after the suicide of Violet Sharpe, timid English maid in the Morrow home, considered his long grilling by police a big joke today.

Wrong "Ernie"

After two young people from neighboring towns in New Jersey had told police that it was another "Ernie" who had gone riding with Miss Sharpe on the fateful night of March 1, and that her identification of Brinkert's photograph as that of her companion had been a mistake, the New Jersey state police saw another prospective solution of the crime come tumbling down about their ears.

Brinkert was still being held for questioning today, at his own volition.

He wasn't anxious to leave the police barracks.

For one day he had been the central figure in the biggest murder mystery in the world.

His name and his picture had been splashed across the nation's front pages.

His Hour of Fame

It was his one hour of fame, in a lifetime of obscurity.

And so today he did not complain when Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf announced a little wearily that Brinkert would be detained until police completed checking his alibi.

The official police bulletin of the progress of the case this afternoon ended with the somewhat pathetic statement:

"We are still looking for 'John'."

GIRL IN ENGLAND ABSOLVED OF CRIME

BEENHAM, Berkshire, England, June 12. (US)—Violet Sharpe, young English servant girl, whose unexplained suicide opened a new but fruitless line of investigation in the Lindbergh case, will be buried in the United States, her family announced today. They instructed that a wreath be placed on her grave.

Burial arrangements were made by her brother, Charles, as Scotland yard men declared their questioning of Violet's sister, Emily Edna, ended.

Requestioned for Hour

Emily was absolved of any connection with the Lindbergh mystery yesterday, but Inspector Horwell requestioned her for an hour today in an effort to see whether she could possibly throw any light on the baffling crime. After his talk Horwell announced:

"I am more than ever satisfied that Emily is a good respectable girl. The matter is now ended as far as I am concerned."

Emily, who left the United States several weeks after the Lindbergh kidnaping, told newspaper men:

"I didn't introduce Violet to Brinkert. I do not know how she could have come to know him if she did."

Of Violets' suicide just before she was to be requestioned by New Jersey police, Emily remarked:

"Police questioning is enough to get on anybody's nerves. The Scotland yarders asked me to relate my movements almost from the day I was born."

Mother of De Valera Dies at New York Home

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 12. (UP)—Mrs. Catherine Wheelwright, aged mother of President Eamon de Valera of Ireland, died at her home here today. She had been ill for several days.

Prayers Answered

These was nothing for Mrs. Martha Hausner to do but wait and hope and pray. Her adventurous husband, Stanislaus Hausner, had taken off alone from New York for Warsaw. Still optimistic, Mrs. Hausner's prayers were answered when a ship rescued the pilot from his plane a week after the take-off.

STAN HAUSNER PLANE SAVED

Rescued Flier Reported In Good Condition

HORTA, Azores, June 12. (US)—Stanislaus F. Hausner, transatlantic airman saved by the British oil tanker Circe Shell after eight days adrift at sea, is in good health and his plane has been salvaged, the naval radio station at Horta reported it learned from the tanker today.

The radio station did not learn whether the Circe Shell or some other vessel picked up the plane, but said Captain Wilson of the tanker reported it in good condition due to the fine weather and calm sea that prevailed while Hausner floated for anxious days on its fuslage. The Circe Shell declared it was taking Hausner to New Orleans, its next port of call.

Funeral Services Held For Banker at Clarendon

CLARENDON, Texas, June 12. (AP)—Funeral services were held here this afternoon for Holman Kennedy, 37, prominent Clarendon and Panhandle banker who died here Saturday afternoon of a self-inflicted gun wound. Pallbearers were those requested in a letter Kennedy left his wife.

The banker, cashier of the Donley County State bank since 1924 and president of the Panhandle Bankers association, shot himself in a local funeral parlor. Bank officials, friends and relatives remained puzzled today for a reason for the act.

Organization Advocates National Referendum Act

LOS ANGELES, June 12. (US)—"Twenty Million," a newly organized local group advocating a national referendum act under which any amendment to the constitution may be brought to popular vote, claimed today an enrollment of 2,200 in Los Angeles in its initial week of existence. Enrollments are now being made in Long Beach and Salt Lake City, its sponsors declare. A total of 20,000,000 names is the organization's goal.

STEAMER AGROUND

CAPE FEAR, N. C., June 12. (UP)—An unnamed Italian steamer of about 5,000 tons was reported aground about eight miles off Cape Fear coast guard station here today.

YOUNG ELECTRA MAN FATALLY HURT IN CRASH

Tom Sanford Succumbs In Vernon Hospital After Road Accident

FORMERLY WICHITAN

Seymour Woman Injured Here in Critical Condition

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, June 12.—Tom Sanford, 24, nephew of David G. Gray, manager of the Waggoner refinery here, was fatally injured in midafternoon when his automobile overturned while he was en route to Lake Kemp on the Electra-Vernon road. He died in a Vernon hospital shortly after 8 o'clock tonight.

Mr. Sanford, operator of a Waggoner filling station in Electra, was driving past a turn in the road about 20 miles west of Electra when the accident occurred. The automobile overturned several times after crashing into a ditch.

Cecil Bailey, an employe of the Waggoner plant at Rock Crossing, was a witness to the accident and carried the injured man to the Vernon hospital, where it was revealed he had received a fracture of the skull.

Young Sanford formerly resided in Wichita Falls, coming from his home in Helena, Ark., two and a half years ago to join Mr. Gray, who then was president of the Dale Oil and Refining company. Last November Mr. Gray removed to Electra to assume charge of the Waggoner plant and his nephew accompanied him.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete pending the arrival of members of his family, who are expected to arrive in Electra Monday. Funeral services probably will be held here Tuesday.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. E. Sanford; four brothers, Edward, John Reagan, David Duncan and Fay Gray Sanford; and two sisters, Celeste and Betty Jane Sanford, all of Helena.

Young Sanford participated in a number of Electra activities. He was a member of the Lions club and of the T. G. F. club.

SEYMOUR WOMAN CRITICALLY INJURED

Mrs. Sarah Sims, 70, of Seymour, Texas, was in a critical condition at the Wichita General hospital Sunday night suffering from paralysis brought on by an injury to her spine. She was injured at 12:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon in an automobile collision on a side road leading into the Burkburnett road when two machines crashed as the drivers were hurrying home to es-

Rites Held at Electra For Boy Victim of Auto

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, June 12.—Funeral services were held at the First Baptist church Sunday afternoon for Roy Glenn Harwell, 7, who was fatally injured Friday afternoon when struck by an auto while crossing a downtown street. Rev. W. W. Rivers officiated.

He is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Mason Harwell, two brothers and two sisters.

F. J. Hillengass was driver of the auto that struck the boy. Charges of driving while intoxicated were filed against him in Wichita Falls Saturday.

Cafe Operator Killed In Cross Plains Quarrel

CROSS PLAINS, Texas, June 12. (AP)—Archie Davidson, 29, oil field worker, died at Santa Anna today of a pistol wound received during a quarrel between Walter Farrow and another man last night.

Farrow was held in the county jail at Baird. The shooting occurred in front of the cafe he operates here.

Davidson is survived by his parents, seven brothers, and two sisters. A sister lives at Cisco and a brother at San Angelo. All the others live here.

Woman Evangelist Needs Rest, Physician Says

LOS ANGELES, June 11. (US)—Aimee Semple McPherson, ill evangelist, is in such a serious condition that she needs another trip abroad, her physician, Dr. E. H. Williams, declared tonight.

She is under the care of a nurse at a secluded suburban resort, he said, and cannot stand any excitement.

Under no conditions, the doctor said, will be permit her to attend the forthcoming $200,000 breach of promise suit against her husband, David Hutton.

West Texas Section Gets Good Rainfall

SAN ANGELO, Texas, June 12. (AP)—Rain fell over much of West Texas today. Within an hour and a half, 1.7 inch was recorded here. Rains of an inch or more were reported at Mertzon, Barnhart, Big Lake, Sonora, Eldorado, Christoval, Ballinger, Robert Lee, Carlsbad, Watervalley and Sterling City.

Republicans Start 'Serious Drinking' And Find Chicago's Best Speakeasies Well Prepared to Handle the Big Rush

CHICAGO, June 13. (UP)—It was almost as easy to buy liquor as orange or tomato juice in Chicago today.

Branch speakeasies blossomed out all along West Madison street, making the route visitors will follow to the Republican National convention in the stadium tomorrow an avenue of saloons.

Five hundred regular loop speakeasies that had closed temporarily to avoid last minute raids began unlocking their doors and laying in large stocks of intoxicants.

High pressure salesmen for the bigger bootlegging firms paced up and down Michigan boulevard, making sales talks in the hotels and passing out cards telling what number to call to get whiskey, gin, bacardi rum, cognac, champagne, or most any other drink a thirsty Republican could crave.

One enterprising bootlegger pressed his cards on every man he encountered in the crowded lobbies and corridors of the Congress hotel, Republican headquarters.

There was no sign downtown of the raids that Malachi L. Harney, prohibition administrator for this district, promised when he called 187 federal agents into the city a few weeks ago.

The federal agents made nine raids last Friday and several yesterday but they were all on saloons and beer flats in the outskirts. One federal agent, to mention whose name would cost his job, explained his attitude:

"Why should I get myself in bad by raiding a place now when some senator or other big political figure is liable to be there? Nor am I going to frisk anyone for a bottle or go prying around hotel rooms looking for liquor. A lot of the

WET-DRY FIGHT ON IN CHICAGO

Convention Delegates Open Bitter Battle

By ROBERT ST. JOHN
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, June 12.—Belligerent wets and drys drew their battle lines today and began firing their big guns in the fight over the Republican prohibition plank.

Two of the outstanding anti-prohibition leaders, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and Pierre S. Dupont, arrived in the city during the day.

As soon as he stepped from the train, the Columbia university president struck out at the "resubmission" plank that he said the administration "has in mind."

He called it "hypocritical, meaningless, a straddle and a childish suggestion."

Outlines Battle Plan

Then he outlined the fight he will make in the convention for an outright repeal committment.

Dupont said he was confident both parties would adopt repeal planks.

Senator Bingham of Connecticut served notice when he reached the city with the delegation from his state that he would take to the convention floor the fight for a repeal plank.

"I am opposed to any attempt to straddle," Bingham said, "or to the use of weasel words. The Republican party is either for repeal or not. I believe it is for repeal. The state delegation is 100 per cent for repeal.

"I will seek a plank calling for repeal of the 18th amendment, protection of states' rights and immediate modification of the Volstead act."

Cannon Hurls Charges

On the dry front Bishop James Cannon Jr. delivered two addresses calling for united action and branding the anti-prohibition activity "an attempt to take the brand of the criminal from the traffic in intoxicating liquor."

Other prohibition leaders addressed rallies, spoke in churches and held conferences to map out their campaign.

The Crusaders staged an air and water show along the lake front, while other anti-prohibitionists had spent the day cornering delegates, bustling from one hotel to another to exchange plans, or holding strategy meetings.

While the prohibition leaders all declined to discuss what they thought the outcome of the fight in the convention would be, Dr. Butler led the anti-prohibitionists

Dry Strategists Wire Hoover Their Stand

CHICAGO, June 12. (UP)—Dry strategists decided tonight to send notice direct to the White House that they will fight against a resubmission plank in the Republican party platform.

Leaders of the prohibition movement comprising the "dry board of strategy" said they would send forthwith to President Hoover at Washington a telegram substantially as follows:

If you have been informed that drys will stand for resubmission, you have been misinformed. We favor only observance and enforcement of the 18th amendment.

'Baering' Down On The News

BY ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

ALL IN CHICAGO JOIN THE LINEUP

Chicago, June 13.

The political leaders are all in Chicago today.

And the town can expect the bell cow to kick over another lamp.

The delegates are arriving by boat, airplane, train, motor car and thumb.

The badges run all sizes from saucers to soup plates. The delegates are here to save the nation and are already wearing their medals for the brave deed they are going to perform.

We figure the Republican convention to run a week. But we hope for no improvements. When the meeting is over the boys will still be Republicans.

The situation hasn't changed a bit since Cleveland and Kansas City. The wets are lined up against the drys. And the drys are lined up against the bar.

But when the fireworks and the chemical experiments are over we predict that the Democrats will announce they have discovered perfect insulation. One foot on the brass rail and the other foot on sawdust. And you can stand any shock in the world.

Garfield Denies Herb Dictated Platform

CHICAGO, June 12. (US)—Portraying President Hoover as refraining from dictations to the Republican national convention what it shall do on pending issues, James R. Garfield, slated for the chairman of the resolutions committee, today emphatically declared he had brought here "no prohibition plank from the White House."

Garfield said he had discussed with the president the prohibition issue and obtained from him his views "in principle," but he hastened to add that he could not disclose the executive's attitude. Garfield said:

"The president speaks for himself."

Senator Bingham Plans Wet Minority Report

CHICAGO, June 12. (US)—Upon arriving today, Senator Hiram Bingham, Republican of Connecticut, announced he will bring in a minority report unless the platform committee adopts a clear cut declaration for repeal of the 18th amendment.

Bingham will represent Connecticut on the platform committee. He said:

"I shall introduce a minority report if we can't get a clear, concise, and explicit statement from the committee on repeal."

Ex-Senator Wadsworth To Be Offered G. O. P.

CHICAGO, June 12. (US)—Former Senator James J. Wadsworth, of New York, will be placed in nomination for the vice presidency, it was learned tonight.

John R. Coen, delegate-at-large from Colorado, said he intends to propose Wadsworth to take the job now held by Vice President Curtis.

PRESIDENTIAL AGENTS STRIVE FOR HARMONY

Administration's First Real Attempt to Rule Party Sessions Starts

JOB ISSUE 'PAINFUL'

How to Phrase Hoover's Program and Plans Big Problem

By ROBERT BARRY
Universal Service Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 12.—President Hoover's first real attempt to bend the Republican national convention to his will began today.

Administration leaders arriving in droves began to pooh-pooh reports of numerous threatened uprisings against White House policies and program. They set about to arrange a schedule of procedure for the convention, which opens Tuesday, which would smother insurgency.

TURN ON THE FANS

CHICAGO, June 12. (US)—This Republican convention is too depressing for C. Bascom Slemp, Hoover stalwart and ex-secretary to President Coolidge.

He complained today to Postmaster General Brown:

"We ought to have some bands and some parades. These ought to be rollicking crowds in the hotel lobbies.

"Music would help take our minds off the depression."

Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills headed a cabinet group to take over the physical direction of the convention. Through Lawrence Richey, the president's confidential secretary, a running exchange of reports and views passed between the White House and Michigan avenue over a private telephone line.

Curtis Opposed

As the real business of the convention began to assume form these developments stood out:

In spite of White House frowns the movement to unseat Vice President Curtis and either draft Charles G. Dawes or pick some other wet gained adherents. Administration leaders asserted Curtis would be renominated.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of New York, disclosing the text of his prohibition repeal plank and assailing the "straddling" pussyfooting and hypocrisy of a mere resubmission plank, served notice he would not permit the Hoover forces to squelch him in the resolutions committee.

The Hoover program—what the president has done or tried to do and what he proposes to do—was revealed as the basis of the Republican declaration on the economic situation.

Bonus Drive Worries

In spite of the belief of many arriving delegates that the administration will suffer heavily by going no further than the president has recommended to congress, Secretary Mills was confident the convention would not do so. Taking notice of the serious situation which has developed in Washington through the bonus expeditionary force, the "give them a job or pay them their bonus" slogan has placed the platform shapers in such a tough spot they are fearful tonight their carefully prepared phrases of pious solicitude for the world war veterans without promising them anything substantial will not withstand much fire.

The cabineteers have come to Chicago hoping the Republicans will submerge all their differences and get together on the slogan devised in the Lincoln study in the White House:

"Don't change horses in the middle of the stream."

"Change Disastrous"

In other words, they want the Republicans to carry to the country the idea that while things may be bad they would have been a whole lot worse except that Herbert Hoover was at the helm and that it would be disastrous to make a change before his program should have had time to come to full fruition.

The administration forces began to get their signals crossed during the day. The cabinet forces were busy in some quarters spreading the gospel of harmony and the virtue of obedience in their efforts to smooth out the several controver-

Gasoline Refiners Experience Week Of Greatest Bull Market On Record

By PAUL S. HEDRICK

TULSA, Okla., June 12.—Among refiners of the Mid-Continent and other provinces of the country the week just ended—June 5 to 11—was a historic one, developing the greatest bull market that refiners have ever witnessed. The flood of orders rushed in from all over the consuming centers to which refiners of this district ship their gasoline and other petroleum products.

Jobbers broke all records in purchasing gasolines, lubricants and such products as come under the new federal excise taxes that go into effect at 12:01 a. m. June 21, so that they might have stocks on hand that would be tax free.

No estimate has been made of the volume of gasoline sold by refiners of Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, comprising the Mid-Continent province, but it was stated by refiners and sales managers that it was greater than made at any previous season.

Railroads Rushed

Railroads are rushed to move out the motor fuel so purchased and which must be received and in storage at the purchasers tanks on or before June 21, to escape paying the extra cent a gallon tax.

The buying wave started without any undue excitement and was well under way before many refiners had ever prepared for it, and it sent the wholesale tank car price

Hoover Followers and GOP Committee Battle For Control Of Convention

CHICAGO, June 12. (US)—The old warhorse of the Republican national committee came to gripe today with President Hoover's personal organization over control of the national convention.

Piqued over the president's alleged lack of leadership, several national committee men started an undercover movement to draft Charles G. Dawes for vice president and to select a new national chairman of their own choosing.

Warned in advance of this sentiment, members of President Hoover's cabinet were pouring in here with instructions from the White House to go down the line for the renomination of Vice President Curtis.

Despite administration efforts to minimize the boom for Dawes, those sponsoring the movement said positively that Dawes is willing to accept the vice presidency which he held under former President Coolidge.

Stampede Feared

In some quarters, the split was discounted as a little window dressing put on by the party managers to distract attention from the all-consuming issue of prohibition. The administration is patiently fearful that if the constant drumfire of attack against the dry law is continued, the convention may stampede and come out for direct repeal of the 18th amendment.

There is no disguising the fact, however, that there is strong antagonism on the national committ-

FIRST NATIVE TEXAN TO SIT IN SENATE DIES

Horace Chilton Succumbs At Age of 79 at Home In Dallas

DALLAS, June 12. (AP)—Horace Chilton, first native Texan to sit in the United States senate and contemporary of John H. Reagan and James Stephen Hogg, died at his home here today. He was 79 years old.

Horace Chilton was one of the few surviving chieftains of Texas politics of the '90's.

Successor to both John H. Reagan and Richard Coke in the United States senate, he was the first native Texan to sit in that body. Born in Smith county, Dec. 29, 1853, he became active in politics before he had reached the age of 21. He retired from the senate on March 3, 1901.

Dominant Figure

Although his public service covered only about 10 years, Senator Chilton was long a dominant figure in Texas politics. His early activities began with the Democratic state convention which elected Coke governor in 1874 and ended carpetbag rule in Texas and laid the ground for the state constitution adopted in 1876. He was assistant attorney general in the administration of Gov. O. M. Roberts.

In 1886 he made the nominating speech that launched the public career of James Stephen Hogg as attorney general and was campaign manager in Hogg's two memorable and successful campaigns for governor.

Chilton, in 1891, was appointed by Governor Hogg to serve the unexpired term of John Reagan in the United States senate. Reagan had resigned to become chairman of the newly created Texas railroad commission. In next year's election Roger Q. Mills of Corsicana defeated Chilton for the senate.

Opposed Treaty Vote

The legislature in 1895 elected Chilton to the United States senate to succeed "The Immortal Coke." He continued in that post seven years and upon retirement, was succeeded by Joseph Weldon Bailey. His senate service covered the latter part of Harrison's administration, all of Cleveland's second term and practically all of McKinley's occupancy of the White House. During that period many overshadowing questions confronted the American people, including free silver, tariff reduction and the Spanish-American war. In 1899 he withheld his approval in the viva voce vote on the treaty of peace with Spain because it included purchase of the Philippine islands. The state Democratic convention at Galveston the previous year had passed resolutions opposing retention of the islands.

Senator Chilton was a member of the distinguished and long powerful group of men from Tyler, which included Jim Hogg, Gov. R. B. Hubbard, W. S. Herndon and Supreme Court Justices John L. Henry and Sawnie Robertson.

cape what appeared to be an approaching wind storm.

Drivers of both cars told Sheriff Perry Browning they were rushing to escape the impending storm. Mrs. Sims was accompanied by her son, M. G. Hospital attendants described Mrs. Sims' condition as very unfavorable Sunday night.

WICHITAN THROWN THROUGH WINDSHIELD

Frank McDaniel, Iowa Park road, was reported in fair condition at the Wichita General hospital Sunday night after suffering serious injuries in an automobile collision at 2:25 o'clock Sunday morning at Sunset lane and Iowa Park road. Mr. McDaniel was thrown through the windshield of the car in which he was riding and suffered two deep lacerations about his head and face. Several stitches were taken in treating the injuries. Sheriff Perry Browning and Night Police Captain Ed McDonald investigated. Two children in the same car suffered minor bruises. Occupants of the other machine escaped injury.

WAGGONER EMPLOYES HURT IN ACCIDENTS

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, June 12.—Two employes of the Waggoner refinery were injured in automobile accidents near here Saturday night and Sunday.

H. A. Mitchell was attended at a hospital here late Saturday night for minor hurts. T. C. Brown, negro, received painful lacerations about the face and chest injuries shortly before noon Sunday en route to Lake Kemp. He received first aid from the Parmley Ogden hospital.

Lovers' Bodies Recovered From Volcano Firepit

HILO, Hawaii, June 12. (AP)—Into the fuming atmosphere of Halemaumau, Kilauea volcano's seething firepit, Rikan Kunishi descended today and reached the bodies of Sylvester Nunes and Margaret Enos, suicide and murder victims of the former's thwarted love.

Kunishi, a Japanese contractor, made the descent in a case suspended from a cable stretched across the huge pit. He wrapped the bodies of Nunes, 20, and his 17-year-old sweetheart in separate canvas slings, indicating his success in the venture by waving a white flag to watchers at the rim of the firepit.

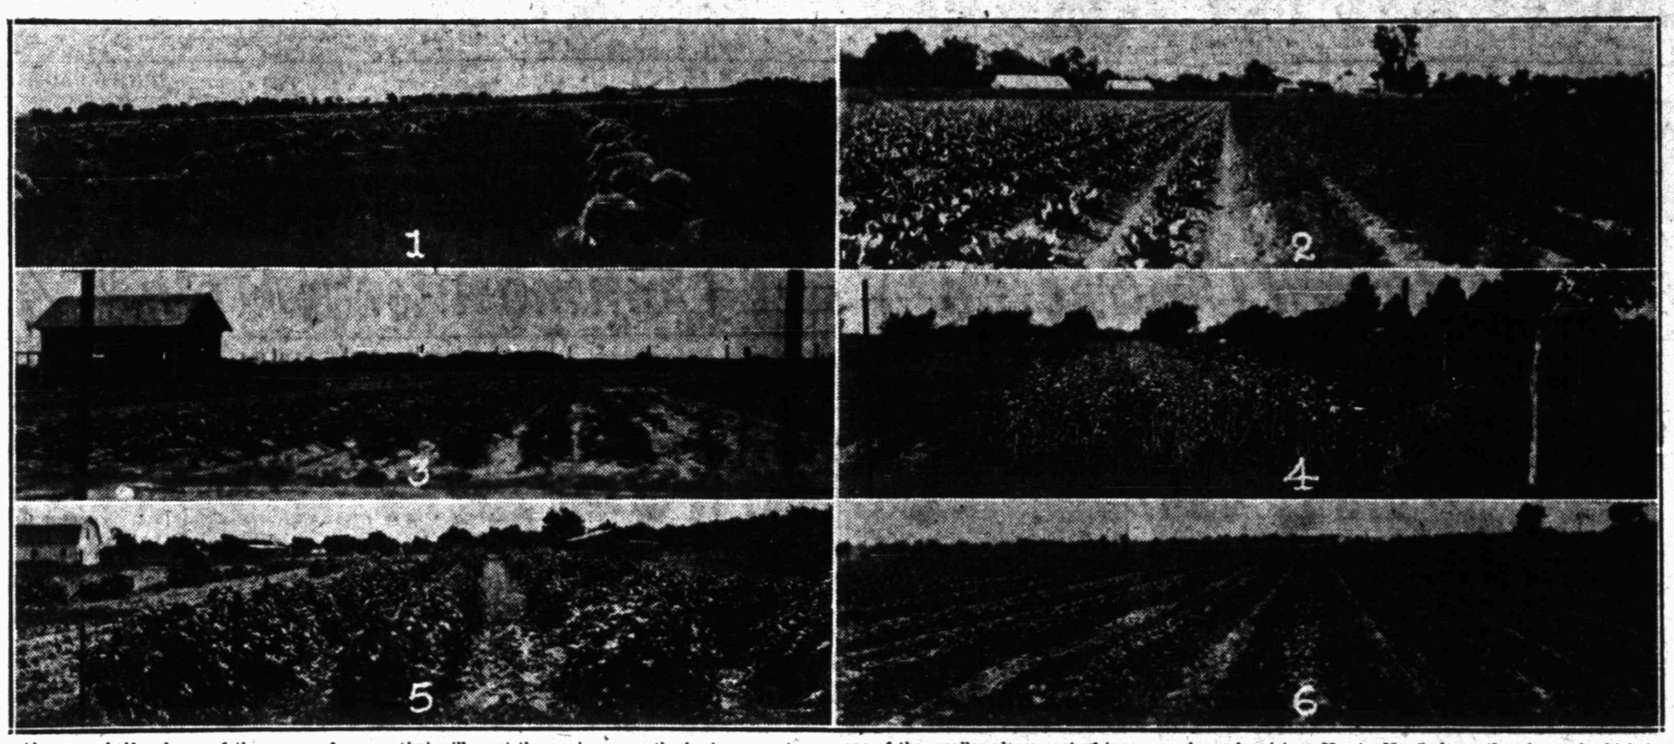

Nunes jumped into the pit with the girl June 2 after first shooting her because she refused to marry him. A coroner's jury has withheld its verdict pending an attempt to remove the bodies which landed on a ledge 900 feet below the rim of the pit.

INFANT DIES

VERNON, Texas, June 12.—Funeral services were held here today for Evelyn Fowler, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Fowler. The infant died at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Mr. Fowler is an employe of the Fort Worth and Denver railway.

Florida has 5,113 miles of drainage ditches.

The Valley Is All Dressed Up For Wednesday's Tour

Above are half a dozen of the scores of scenes that will greet those who go on the business men's annual tour of the irrigated valley next Wednesday.

Everything is in readiness for the tour, which will leave the courthouse at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday and return about 6 p. m. Dinner will be served at one of the stops. The trip will be made in passenger buses, and a charge of $1 will cover transportation and food.

Veterans Keep Up Morale Despite Rain

tion of the six camps now established, making arrangements to care for the constantly increasing ranks of the "army" with a special eye to sanitation.

"Happy" Glassford not only is the "guardian angel" of the B. E. F. but the honorary treasurer of the organization. All the men have come to know him and to appreciate his "common sense judgment" together with his military organizing ability.

When Glassford and Waters had reached the Anacostia camp, just across the eastern branch of the Potomac river, where the main body of the "army" is quartered, a cheer went up from the long "chow" lines standing in the steady downpour of rain.

"Ray for Happy! 'Ray for Waters!" shouted the men, which showed that their morale was still high despite the drenching.

Sea of Mud

This camp, erected on the "made" ground of the flats was a sea of mud—a hearty reminder of the mud of flanders fields where the poppies did not bloom. The camp commanders reported to Waters that all hands were sheltered but some of their feet stuck from the improvised shacks and lean-tos made of packing boxes and scraps of sheet metal.

Glassford halted a stream of thousands of automobiles bearing curiosity-seekers at the entrance of the camp and those sufficiently interested were forced to walk in the mud to see the sights. Among the visitors were Senator James Hamilton Lewis, Democrat of Illinois and Representative Rankin, Democrat of Mississippi, one of the leaders in the fight for the bonus.

Glassford estimated roughly that the present cost of feeding the veterans was $1,000 a day, but the food bill is mounting daily as the troops increase. To date $12,000 has been contributed to the scanty treasury and about $5,500 expended. Every mail brings contributions, some as small as a 25-cent piece.

Unknown Soldier Honored

In the morning, Commander Waters and 50 members of the Oregon contingent, including a dozen distinguished service cross men, paid reverent tribute to the Unknown Soldier. Standing in the rain before the great marble amphitheater at Arlington, the national cemetery, in the Virginia hills beyond the Potomac, Waters spoke a few words for the "rest of buddie's soul" and laid a wreath on the simple tomb.

"Comrades, there can be no greater honor or privilege to a veteran of the great war than that of paying formal tribute to our Unknown Comrade. We offered our all. He gave his all.

"In behalf of the B. E. F. and with deep reverence in my heart, I place this wreath upon his tomb."

Mrs. McHam Re-Elected To Bartlesville Post

Mrs. Effie McHam, executive secretary of the Family Relief society here for almost five years prior to last Oct. 1, and now executive secretary of the Bartlesville, Okla., Welfare association, has been reappointed to that position for another year beginning next Oct. 1, according to information received from that city.

Unusual satisfaction with the work of Mrs. McHam was said to have occasioned the early decision to renew her appointment to the position at Bartlesville.

Tribute was paid to Mrs. McHam by Mayor R. J. Daugherty of Bartlesville in announcing her retention as director of welfare work. He declared that a Bartlesville citizen who volunteered last fall to pay the salary of a full-time welfare worker, when Mrs. McHam was engaged, has accepted the same financial responsibility for the ensuing year as a result of his satisfaction with her work.

MRS. KATIE HANSEL

Funeral services for Mrs. Katie Hansel, 72, Charlie road, were held Sunday afternoon in Denton. She died at her home here Saturday afternoon and the body was forwarded to Denton by the Hines mortuary.

Gasoline Sales Make Record

of gasoline up from 4 to 4¾ cents a gallon to 5⅛ to 6⅛ cents a gallon, also boosting natural gasolines from 1⅝ to 2¾ cents, and strengthening the general refinery price structure.

Inquiry Saturday showed that the rush of buying was over, but refiners were busy as they could be rushing out the material bought. One large jobber, L. L. Coryell of Lincoln, Neb., and Des Moines, Iowa, is said to have bought 650 cars, and in escaping the one-cent gasoline tax, profiting more than $15,000. Others will make from $500 to $100,000 on their purchases.

A survey of the past week revealed activity in all grades of refinery and stabilized natural gasolines at steadily advancing prices. The demand started almost immediately after congress passed the budget balancing bill, and imposed new excise taxes on gasoline, lubricants and other products, when alert car-lot marketers sensed the possibilities of the federal gasoline tax being an important market factor. They began purchasing the low Octane U. S. motor product heavily on Friday and Saturday, June 3 and 4, and jobbers and distributors were active on Monday and Tuesday, taking practically everything offered for shipment prior to June 21.

So plain spoken were some of the buyers in their move to evade the federal tax that complaint was made to the treasury department at Washington, and the internal revenue commissioner's office has under study a plan to make all gasoline pay the tax, but late Saturday it was learned that the secretary of the treasury opposes such a move. However, conservative market observers warned buyers to proceed slowly and their action caused a slowing up of buying about Wednesday.

More interest was also shown in the better grades of low vapor tension stabilized natural gasolines, with quotations boosted from one-fourth of a cent over the preceding week to more than a full cent higher as the week closed. On the other hand, interest was hard to revive in the high vapor grades and prices were not sharply changed.

The various grades of cleaners naphthas, solvents, hydrocarbon gases and kindred products appear to have been overlooked in the wild scramble for gasolines. Little activity was reported in any of these products. Buying of kerosenes also continued slow and prices sagged slightly. Some pick-up was expected from jobbers in the agricultural areas, as the wheat harvest was getting under way. Distillates and furnace oils were about unchanged from the previous week, both as to demand and prices. Refiners tell of inquiries from larger tank wagon distributors seeking contracts. Gas oils also slumped and fuels were not so active.

Cline Addresses Kay Bible Class

Walter D. Cline aroused members of the Kay Bible class of the First Methodist church to profuse declarations of praise and commendation with an address Sunday morning on "Today's Problems," according to Oral Jones, president of the class.

Basing his address upon the designated Sunday school lesson for the day, Mr. Cline discussed political and economic conditions, social and religious problems, and the "opportunity for Christian organizations to pull the world out of chaos."

Mr. Cline spoke in place of Roy J. Daniel, regular class teacher, who was absent from the city.

Musical numbers by the Kay Bible class male quartet were given during the hour.

Bonus Marchers Injured As Freight Leaves Rails

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., June 12. (US)—Four men, claiming to be "bonus marchers" returning from Washington, were injured today when the fast westbound freight on which they were riding was derailed near here.

None was seriously injured.

They gave their names a Furman Ferguson, 26, North Carolina; Anthony Muskusky, 21, Grand Rapids, Mich.; John D. Devers, 38, Tunnelton, W. Va., and Earl Byrd, 36, Pricedale, Penn., a negro.

AKRON CROSSES TEXAS CALMLY

Big Ship Meets With Fair Weather

West Texas except at Pecos, where a strong northeast wind threatened to throw the ship off its course. It increased its altitude to 3,500 feet and rode out the squall.

The weather was reported clear from Midland to Dallas, about 350 miles, but cloudy east of Dallas.

A plane attached to the Akron landed at Pecos, establishing contact again as the ship flew over the city.

CALM WEATHER IN EL PASO AREA

EL PASO, Texas, June 13. (AP)—Favored by calm clear weather over most of its route, the navy dirigible Akron passed over El Paso at 9:25 a. m. (central standard time) today on its flight from the west coast airbase at Sunnyvale, Calif., to Lakehurst, N. J.

GOOD WEATHER

DALLAS, June 21. (AP)—Excellent flying conditions over the course of the dirigible Akron for several hundred miles east and west of Dallas were reported by the U. S. weather bureau today.

CREW SWELTERS OVER DESERTS

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 12. (AP)—The U. S. naval dirigible Akron, its crew sweltering even at an elevation of 4,000 feet, was over Texas today, following the general route of the Rio Grande river on the homeward flight from Sunnyvale, Calif., to Lakehurst, N. J.

The dirigible reached El Paso, Texas at 9:20 a. m. (central standard time), said messages received at the naval radio station here, and then set a course over Van Horn, Texas.

To lighten the loads at the higher altitudes, the Akron put her planes overboard. They preceded the dirigible to El Paso and then were taken aboard again.

The message explained the reason the Akron circled Phoenix last night. The crew of the big craft was adjusting the trim of the ship preparatory to crossing the mountains at high altitudes. There was some speculation concerning the cause of the move, some suggesting the dirigible was in distress.

Circle Over Fleet

"We arrived over Los Angeles in perfect visibility," the message said. "With an escort of planes from the Long Beach naval reserve air station, led by Lieutenant Koger, we proceeded to Los Angeles harbor and then circled over the U. S. fleet at anchor.

"Proceeding overland via Pomona and San Bernardino we went through the pass via Beaumont and Banning, battling every inch against blistering boisterous blasts from the desert and surrounding mountains.

"Even at 4,000 feet the temperature was 94 and remained around that value even over the Salton sea. Yuma was passed at 10:20 p. m. and at 12 Phoenix was reached.

"There we circled while adjusting the trim of the ship for crossing the mountains. At 5:17 (C. S. T.) we were over Tucson and shortly before daybreak at 4, Douglas was sighted and the course was set for El Paso. The Akron's two planes were put overboard to lighten the load at higher altitudes to be met, and proceeded by themselves to El Paso.

"At 9:20 El Paso was astern as the course is laid for Van Horn. Very high temperatures continue aloft, considerably in excess of surface values."

in expressing confidence his side would be victorious.

He declared there had been too much "loose talking" about resubmission.

It is not legally possible, he pointed out, to resubmit an amendment to the constitution; that if congress submits anything to the states it must be a new amendment providing some change in the 18th amendment, or its repeal.

"This resubmission business is all a fraud," he declared. "The word was invented by hypocrites who were afraid of the expression 'repeal.'

Not Binding

"What they really have in mind when they talk about resubmission is saying to the individual states, 'Won't you tell us what you think about this prohibition business?'

"Such a procedure is highly unconstitutional and constitutional lawyers quickly would prove it to be.

"But even if all the states were to heed such an invitation and express collective opinions, where would we be? Some would declare for repeal, others for modification, and still others for letting things alone. The consensus would not be binding in any way on anybody."

Dawes Put Up For Vice President

tee against Mr. Hoover's policies and political strategy.

This was first in evidence when the committee spurned the recommendations of Mr. Hoover's advisers and voted to seat the negro delegations from South Carolina and Mississippi, tossing out the "lily white" factions sponsored by Postmaster General Brown.

It cropped up again last night when Charles Dewey Hilles, of New York, at the dinner given by Chairman Fess, broke out with a ringing speech in which he said the convention must adopt a clean-cut resubmission plank without quibbling, pussy-footing or straddling. In view of the known dry views of Senator Fess, the Hilles speech will prove the highlight of the preconvention show. Outbursts of spontaneous applause and a rising demonstration indicated that the party leaders present were in complete accord with Hilles' views.

With practically all the outstanding party figures on the ground, the "back-room" conference got under way with a secret meeting at a downtown clubhouse. Present were Hilles, J. Henry Rorback of Connecticut, James Francis Burke and several others.

Others Prospects

The movement to draft Dawes had its inception with members of the inner council of the national committee although they were careful to warn against using their names. Actually they would like to have Dawes if it could be put over but they are fearful of what may happen if they steamroller Curtis.

Several other prospective candidates including Nicholas Murray Butler and Hilles, have been discussed. The old guard would be glad to put over any one of them, with or without White House consent, but they want to be sure that the candidate is "hand-picked."

The probability is that Curtis will be renominated largely because the move to drop him might prove embarrassing later.

other agents feel the same way about it."

A round of the principal speakeasies today was convincing proof that Mayor Anton J. Cermak was speaking pocosely when he said the other day that "there are no speakeasies in Chicago."

Two blocks west of the Drake hotel, where many prominent convention visitors are staying, two of the most ornate gold coast "drinking saloons" were thronged with men and women drinking elaborate and high priced concoctions.

At the "Cuisine," operated by the jaunty Dolly Weisberg whose recent ocean voyage to take his two dogs "for an airing" made front page news, the drinks were equally costly.

Chicago and Illinois politicians congregated in their favorite saloon a block from the city hall. Guests in the city who like food with their drinks frequented Dago Mike Mangano's places on the near north side.

Hundreds went in and out of the steel caged entrance of the vast speakeasy on West Madison just outside the loop. The place is reputed to be the "biggest speakeasy in the world."

Proprietors who opened up branch establishments on West Madison explained that they were afraid the convention visitors might not find their regular places. Lofts, garages, basement rooms, old warehouses and empty storerooms were fitted out hastily with makeshift bars and cheap tables and chairs. Those places will be abandoned after the conventions are over.

That the Republicans have already started serious drinking was manifest today when late risers flocked to soda fountains and restaurants for "bracers" of orange and tomato juice. There was such demand for these morning after drinks that several places exhausted their supplies.

Germans Unwilling To Renew Payments

BERLIN, June 12. (US)—Germany cannot resume reparations payments with the expiration of the Hoover moratorium and, moreover, is unwilling to sign any agreement binding her to pay in the future.

This, it was learned authoritatively today, is what Chancellor Von Papen will tell Europe when the powers convene at Lausanne Thursday.

The head of the new junker government leaves for Lausanne Tuesday to argue against any commitment on future reparations on the ground that "such a promise would be dishonest," it was stated.

He is also bent on conciliating France by eliminating the specter of rising Hitlerism from the French mind. It is stated Von Papen understands that only by a Franco-German reapproachment can the reparations problem be settled satisfactorily to Germany.

Germany does not hope for cancellation at Lausanne, but she does feel that something heralding cancellation must be decided on. An official close to the government today said:

"The reichstag elections next month should speed conciliation with France, who is disturbed by the fear of Hitlerism which heretofore loomed behind the Bruening government. The Von Papen government feels itself a safety valve against a Fascist revolution in Germany. It believes it guarantees the continuous revolutionary development of the reich by continuous contacts and compromises with the Hitlerites.

"Bruening hopes an economic upswing would kill Hitlerism. We are co-operating with Hitler, assuring him consideration."

National Magazine Prints Address By Mrs. Oneal

"Defender of Woods, Water and Wild Life," is the slogan printed beneath the name of the magazine "Outdoor America," the June issue of which has a full report of the national convention of the Izaak Walton league of America, which met in Chicago in the latter part of April. Local members of the Izaak Walton league, of which Senator Ben Oneal is president, are following that slogan and are performing real accomplishments in the field of conservation in spite of rigid economies that have handicapped the organization.

Senator Oneal is a director in the national organization, and Mrs. Ben G. Oneal of Wichita Falls, was the only woman honored by a request to be a speaker on the national program in the convention in Chicago. She was a participant in the special program that was broadcast direct from the convention floor during the national farm and home hour of N. B. C., using as her subject "Youth and Conservation." Her speech in full was published in the June "Outdoor America."

Mrs. Oneal's Talk

"Almost everyone to whom I am speaking today," said Mrs. Oneal, "believes in life insurance. It is a wise investment against an uncertain quantity, the future." With this introduction, she used the thesis that the insurance of conservation lies in the training properly of youth. Her speech in part, was as follows:

"Conservation's life insurance lies in the education and training of the youth of today. The future of the great out-of-doors will rest with these boys and girls when they are developed into the men and women of tomorrow. In their hands will lie the future power to protect or destroy the great natural resources which the Izaak Walton League of America is preserving today.

"Why has much of the natural beauty of many mighty waterfalls been destroyed? Some 'grown up boy' saw in them the possibilities of turning their power into money profits. His lust for gold caused him to forget that Nature had placed their beauties for the enjoyment of all not for the enrichment of a few. Why have certain species of game, the wild turkey, the deer, the antelope, the quail disappeared entirely from many of their native haunts? Because the on-march of civilization possessed wanton destroyers instead of thoughtful conservationists. All of these 'big boys' might have been directed, guided, into the proper paths if they had been instructed in youth. Why did it become necessary to establish international playgrounds as those of Superior National forest? Because native forests had fallen before the axe. The need of replanting was overlooked.

"This is not a time for indifference—not a time for neglect. It is a time to impart to the youth of America that indifference may mean destruction of God's great gifts to us, the forests and the streams.

"Countless ages were required to perfect these. The work of a few hours, a few days may destroy them. Destroyed they are lost to you and posterity for always.

Izaak Walton Program

"As the centers of population become more crowded and as the age of machinery tends to make more complex everyday life, there is need for the health giving and mind resting opportunities of out-of-door life. The older generation realizes that men and women need to get close to the heart of nature and this lesson must be impressed upon the youth to the end that they will preserve this great heritage. Youth does not always look to its future. It becomes the duty of the older generation to show them wherein they may in the end benefit.

"The Izaak Walton league has definitely set forth a program for interesting the juniors in their conservation activities. In doing this they are investing their life insurance in the proper training of the leaders of tomorrow. Even with all the interest already created in the Boy and Girl Scout movement, the Campfire Girls, the 4-H clubs, and the Junior Federated clubs, there is not well defined effort toward the instruction of the American youth in the conservation needs of the country or in bringing to their attention the need of making the out-of-doors of America a more healthful recreational place for those who come after. The Izaak Walton league is going to preserve for them with their help the woods, waters, the wild life free and intact from the inroads of commerce that they may in their life time enjoy recreations that will re-create.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We would speak today of dim and distant pictures. There are times when life is too crude and too crushing to dwell on the day and be sane in view. One must be thankful then, if there are dreams that he can hold tight—beauties that may save minds and spirits from destruction.

Few of us but have memories that are beautiful. Even the present catastrophic period does not brush the bloom from those treasured pictures in the mind, pictures that one fondly dreams, may germinate beauty for the future.

For ourself, moments of divine essence began when we were only a child. They came and thrilled us and we knew nothing of what they meant; they were to us only a suggestion of eternal beauty.

In such manner we were touched by wet honeysuckle that hung blooming over our passage when once we went to a side door at our home. With cognizance of the fragrance of the flower and the cleanliness of the earth, a deep content overwhelmed us. The sky was a partner with the moist green earth; nothing hot and dry and soiled seemed possible. Have you such moments to remember in your early teens?

Then there was an autumn eve- ning when on a country road, we saw blue wood smoke curling from log cabin chimneys. Indian summer spread its magic haze. Our heart and mind came into fellowship with nature and the restless spirit of a working day was changed into the peace of a fairyland twilight, just as the crescent moon and the evening star came to life after a dry day under a saffron sun.

We have seen the sun rise on the Tennessee river; seen the wooded quiet banks emerge from a mysterious night; have heard the valiant notes of waking birds as the light penetrated the lonely woods.

We have seen the sun set on a wide expanse of the Mississippi river; noted the glorious colors turn the muddy waters into a fairy land too beautiful for words.

There have been countless times when nature touched us with the hand of kinship; times when her beauty rubbed out ugly smudges made by frustrated ideals.

As we passed from youth into middle age, such simple things have meant salvation for a spirit that refuses to grow middle aged. Worries and anxieties may make lines on a face, but so long as nature is a friend, the lines do not grow ugly.

A maze of color in flowers (and our heart goes out to those who know we love them); even such sweet and simple songs as that of the common meadow lark; the silver gilt moon in the high blue sky and the indescribable beauty of the evening horizon in the western sky. Have you too known such revivifying moments?

Rehearsal of 50-Voice Ensemble Monday Eve

Members of a 50-voice women's ensemble will hold a special rehearsal Monday night at 8 o'clock at the First Methodist church under the direction of Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis for the presentation of "Exultation of the Cherubim," written by Mrs. Charlene B. Underwood of this city, in a sacred concert at the First Methodist church on the night of Sunday, June 26.

The ensemble consists of the Women's Choral club, women of the First Methodist church choir, and singers from other choirs in the city. The group is divided into two choruses, the choral club forming one such unit.

"Exultation of the "Cherubim" is an exultant musical setting of the "Gloria" common to religious musical service, the text having been revised slightly by Mrs. Underwood for this composition. The score for the first choir is written for middle-voice register, while the second choir is assigned more lyric passages in a higher register. The number will have double accompaniment with Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr. at the organ, and Mrs. W. L. Olmsted at the piano.

Mrs. Davis anounced that all members of the ensemble should be on hand promptly at 8 o'clock Monday night.

Dallas Guests Honored With Delightful Dance

Miss Joan Burlew was hostess at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Burlew, 1606 Hayes, Saturday night at a pretty party honoring her two charming house guests, Misses Dorothy Larson and Catherine O'Connell of Dallas.

The group drove to the country club where they danced for a while, then returned to Miss Burlew's home for the remainder of the evening. Dainty refreshments were served.

The guests included Misses Ellen Newby, Jean Hunter, Francys Marye Krauss, Sally Bancroft, Mary Brown Basham, La Rue Simmons, Mable Rowe, Helen Greene, Annabel Farley, Lucile Snyder, Martha Dunn of Dallas and the two honorees, Misses Larson and O'Connell; and W. A. Bachman, H. R. Hanks, Bill Huff, Ed Bebb, Fred Sehmann, Milton Eliot, Roland Dills, Jim Meredith, Paul Barnett, Malcolm Vordenbaum, Sidney Covington, Wilmont Hunt, Charles Hurd, Keith Porterfield, Willard Norris, Jeff Malone of Oklahoma City, Gardner Walker, George Napier, Harry Strief, Bill Huper, Harry Shain and Harry Ahern.

Mrs. J. T. Stevens Guest Reader In Dallas Meeting

Mrs. J. Truman Stevens was guest reader for the Poetry Society of Texas in the closing meeting of the season in Dallas Saturday, when approximately 50 poets from various points in Texas met in the society rooms in the Y. W. C. A. building. Beautifully gowned, and reading a group of her poems with splendid expression, the local writer is reported to have made a most successful appearance.

Preceding the program by Mrs. Stevens, poems submitted by poets from many towns were read. Acclamation gave first place to the poem, "Jewish Grandmother," read by Mrs. Sam Kruger of Wichita Falls, and a favorite in writing circles here. Mrs. Kruger was given her choice of any recently published volume of poetry.

The official judges voting on the poems gave the prize to Rev. Patrick D. Moreland, whose volume of poems was published by the society last year. The poem winning the $5 prize was "Seven Song." Rev. Patrick Moreland, former pastor of Grant Street Methodist church and then of the Methodist church in Archer City, is now pastor of the Kaufman, Texas, Methodist church. His verses and his splendid readings have attracted much attention in this vicinity and throughout Texas.

Mesdames Eugene Nicholson and A. G. Deathrage accompanied Mrs. Stevens to Dallas.

Mesdames J. L. Elkin, Ann Barker, C. R. Yauger and Sam Kruger were in a party attending the meeting and Mrs. H. F. Weldon, formerly of Wichita Falls and now of Longview, was present. All are prominent in poetry circles.

Step-Mother May Become Beautiful Name Says Writer

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I married a widower two years ago, who has one son now 26 years old. We are the best of friends; he could not be nicer to me if he were my own son, except when he wishes to address me or introduce me. He was nearly 17 when his mother died and he naturally cherishes her memory. I have tried to avoid anything like a usurping or possessive attitude in connection with him and treat him like a big sister, although I am old enough to be his mother. I wanted him to call me Mary but he seems to hesitate. The embarrassing part seems to be when he wants to introduced me to his friends. Please tell me if it is proper for him to call me, and to introduce me as "Mary," or should I insist that he call me and introduce me "mother."

Answer: I do not think it right to ask—let alone insist—that he call any other than his own mother. "Mother." If you have no objection to his calling you "Mary" (which is done so much in this day) it is entirely suitable. But he should introduce you as "my stepmother." Remember that the opprobrium of the word step-mother was brought about by the old fairy tales, and that the name step-mother can become almost as beautiful as mother. It is all a matter of personal relationship rather than of title. Speaking to you, he might call you "mater." Why don't you talk it over with him impersonally and frankly and ask him to decide on a name he likes?

Another mother writes me: What can I teach my little daughter to say to me instead of "huh?" She will say it in spite of all I can do or say?

Answer: Evidently you are not doing or saying enough to impress her young mind with the fact that all but very rude little girls must answer, "What did you say, mother?" or "What daddy?" or "What Aunt Jane?"

Any urgent request to which a personal reply from Mrs. Post is requested must be accompanied by a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Our Children

The Hoarder

Monday morning mother handed Sam and Sid their allowances. Sid said "Thanks, Mom," and stuck the money in his pocket without counting it. Sam said, "Thank you. Did you remember, mother, that you owed me two cents since last Friday for the newspaper I brought you? That's right. Thank you." Then he carefully counted the money in his purse, counted the money just given him, made an entry in his book, and locked up his funds in his private drawer.

"For goodness sake, what's keeping you," demanded Sid, prancing on the doorstep. "Come on. We'll be late. I want to stop in the stationery store, too."

"Plenty of time. What are you going to get in the shop?"

"Paper. Got to get theme paper. Term essay this week you know."

"Oh, yes. Look here, Sid. Take this pack. It's more than that one, about twice as much paper. And it costs only two cents more."

"It isn't as good paper, of course," said the shopkeeper, who knew his Sam.

"Oh, that's all right. Take that one Sid. It'll be enough for both of us. I left my money home."

"I thought I'd get good paper. I'd like to win the prize. Gee, I could use $25 this summer."

"Well, you can win it just as well on 12 cent paper as on 20. Come ahead. We'll be late."

Sid took the package of paper and the two hurried along to school. When they found their seats in the classroom Sid divided the paper in half and gave Sam one share, gave Katie Smith, who never had anything of the sort when it was needed, enough for her work, and put the rest in his desk ready for the essay writing. "Gee. I wonder what the subject will be. Hope it's something I know something about, that's all. I need the money."

Miss Horagn, the English teacher looked nervous. She hated prize essays. But duty was duty. She tapped her desk with her finger nail and the class sat at attention. "You will write the prize essay this morning. Paper to be white, seven by eleven. One side only. As many words as you like. As much time as you need. Write when you are ready."

There was a swish of paper, then silence. The teacher spoke again to the tense group sitting with pens poised and paper waiting as though for a race. "The subject will be: How to Spend Twenty-five Dollars."

Sid looked incredulous for a full second. Then understanding joy lighted his face and he set to work. "Of course you won it," said his mother laughing. "It was your own subject."

When the results were announced Sid had the reward. "Well," said Aunt Martha who hated a spendthrift, "I'll give Sam ten dollars for a prize if he writes a good essay on how to save twenty-five dollars."

Sam looked gratified. He got out his paper and pen and sat thinking. He thought for a long time. Sid came through the room and Sam said, "Say, Sid, write me a paper on how to save that twenty-five and I'll divide the money with you."

"I would if I could;" said Sid. "But I don't know how to save it. I'll give you half my prize. I was going to anyway."

Well, both of them need advice, instruction and supervision. Using money is the sort of work that needs experience, balance and understanding. Children are not born with those qualities.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Senate to Take Up Hunt For New Economies Today

WASHINGTON, June 12. (US)—Senate administration leaders, admittedly in a quandary, will meet tomorrow morning on a pin-hunt for the $150,000,000 in new government economies, demanded last night by President Hoover.

While Democratic leaders bombarded the White House fequest with accusations that the president himself is largely responsible for the breakdown of the budget balancing program, Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, chairman of the appropriations committee, frankly confessed he does not know where the new cuts are to come from.

Both he and Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, chairman of the finance committee, said the president had no suggestions today as to where the reductions are to be made.

American Pilgrims Land In Ireland for Congress

WASHINGTON, June 12. (US)—The United States must continue to exploit its foreign trade as one means of overcoming the depression, Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce declared in a radio address tonight.

Discounting the argument that most of the countries manufacture every thing they need he pointed out that while England is a great textile country we sell large quantities of textiles there, a large amount of cosmetics to France and dyes and "weenies" to Germany.

DON'T SUFFER WITH SUNBURN ...here's instant relief!

Beach First-Aid Stations Find NOXZEMA Best Remedy

...greaseless, too, doesn't stain clothes!

"We've tried just about every known remedy for sunburn at Coney Island First-Aid Stations—and we've found that the only sure way to relieve sunburn is to use Noxzema Cream," says John McMonigle, Chief of Coney Island Life-Guards.

Mr. McMonigle knows what is best for sunburn—he and his staff have tried all the well known remedies—treating thousands of cases every year. Noxzema was carefully tested—it has been used for five years steadily as the only sunburn remedy at Coney Island First-Aid Stations. It is also used at most other big beaches.

Don't take chances with a painful sunburn—get an inexpensive jar of Noxzema. It is not greasy. It's a snow-white stainless vanishing cream which sinks deep into your burned skin. Notice how soft, cool and soothing it feels on your hot, aching shoulders—how it takes out the "fire"—ends all pain instantly.

There's only one thoroughly tested sunburn remedy—that's Noxzema. Get a jar now at any drug or department store.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, June 10.—If John J. Pershing were not quite so far past military retirement age, or if he had picked some other forum for his antiprohibition remarks than an American club luncheon in Paris, there might be something in the nature of a Pershing presidential boom lifting his head about now.

JOHN J. PERSHING

There almost certainly would be if Pershing were a Democrat, which he is not. Yet probably Pershing's last presidential dream flickered out back in Kansas City with the echoes of that first ballot nomination for Herbert Hoover four years ago.

When a Boom Waned

The Bystander recalls vividly seeing the Pershing boom of 1928 going back to storage.

It was in the form of a mass of Pershing literature, all ready for distribution, which some of his ardent supporters had worked up and taken to Kansas City to await the psychological moment in a deadlock that did not come.

There was never anything to indicate that Pershing himself had any connection with the project, or even knew of it.

He would have welcomed the opportunity to round out his distinguished military career by a period of political service, however. The Bystander has had that long ago from his own lips.

At Kansas City the Pershing boom arrived and departed in its packing cases, never opened. The day after Hoover's nomination a heap of these big boxes were stacked on the curb of a downtown street for an hour or so, awaiting shipments back to storage. Their labels told what they were to any chance passersby.

Which recalls that Pershing always had trouble keeping his movements or plans wholly secret, even in war times. When he was ordered to France with his original staff, traveling by British commercial liner and in mufti to foil possible U-boat attack, the utmost precaution to keep his sailing date from enemy knowledge was taken.

When Pershing and his officers boarded the ship they discovered a lot of boxes and what-not, containing the office equipment for his first headquarters in France, dumped down on the dock. And all were discovered to be plainly marked for what they were with Pershing's name, that of the ship and all that, duly stenciled.

No Fish to Fry

Pershing's antiprohibition broadsides in Paris were "un-Pershingesque" for lack of caution and restraint.

That is good enough evidence to those who know Pershing that he had no political fish of his own to fry.

ELDORADO, Texas, June 12. (UP)—Another roping contest which may vie with the Odessa jackrabbit roping contest for popularity has come to the front here.

W. T. Whitten and Seth Ramsey, local ranchman, have opened a goat roping contest in a local park. Each roper is charged 75 cents for each throw. If he ropes a goat in ten seconds or less the animal is his. It is not necessary to tie the goat after the animal is roped.

MARRS FOR MAYOR

AMARILLO, Texas, June 12. (UP)—Lon D. Marrs, former mayor of Amarillo, has announced himself a candidate at the special election June 14 to fill the unexpired term of Col. Ernest O. Thompson. Marrs advocates reduction in taxes, and rigid economies. He retired from the office in 1924. One other candidate, Ross D. Rogers, has filed for the election.

Gasoline Carrying Heavy Tax Load

AMERICAN motorists who in 1931 paid an all-time record total of $536,397,458 in state gasoline taxes will be called upon to pay $150,000,000 more when the federal gasoline tax of 1 cent a gallon is added upon the state levies bringing the total $686,397,458 upon the basis of the same rates and consumption as in 1931.

State gross gasoline tax collections in 1931 totaled $569,809,522, an increase of $64,750,896 over the 1930 gross, but this amount was reduced by the necessity of paying back to the consumers in refund claims, $33,391,774, according to reports compiled by the U. S. bureau of public roads.

Refund claims in 1931 exceeded the 1930 total of $29,106,871 by $4,284,903, reflecting the reaction of consumers to high tax rates and the economic urge to avoid payment whenever possible. The effect of higher rates was reflected also in costs of collection and administration, which rose $1,105,130, or nearly 100 per cent, to a new peak of $2,117,317.

Diversion of gasoline tax revenue from the support of highways continued its upward trend, 1931 diversions amounting to $38,892,625, or some $11,513,639 more than the $27,378,986 diverted in 1930. Of this sum, however, $19,449,888 went into city streets, representing an increased expenditure for this purpose of $7,606,958. The amount diverted to "other than highway purposes" totaled $19,442,757, as compared with the sum of $15,536,056 in 1930, a gain of $3,906,701. Some $12,904,407 was expended upon schools in several states. Maryland used $75,000 for oyster propagation. Oklahoma spent $1,000,000 upon relief of the destitute, and $928,570 more for free distribution of seed. Louisiana used $1,879,556 for port and dock board expenses, New Jersey allocated $90,000 to waterways, and Mississippi spent $127,172 upon sea walls.

California again made the largest net collection among the states, $39,863,637. Ohio was second, New York third, and Texas fourth. The weighted average tax rate rose to 3.48 cents per gallon against 3.35 cents in 1930, 3.22 cents in 1929, and 3 cents in 1928. Actually, tax rates of the states ranged from 2 cents to 7 cents per gallon, and of counties and communities from ½ cent to 3 cents per gallon.

The report of the bureau failed to reveal how much was collected from these county and community levies upon gasoline, but conservative estimates place the total at $2,000,000. This would increase to $538,397,458 the total gasoline tax bill of 1931.

State gasoline taxes have been defended as warranted because of the use of its revenues for road building, thereby offering more opportunity for travel and a larger market for the taxed gasoline. We now see an increased percentage of this revenue being diverted to other purposes.

The federal levy is justified by the dire necessity of the federal government for revenue.

But is there not great danger that the great strain we are putting on the gasoline goose that lays the golden eggs of taxes will be too much for the bird and that it may sicken and lay fewer eggs.

The Silly Season for Politics

THE St. Louis lawyer who is seeking a Democratic nomination for the U. S. senate, and whose platform calls for the payment by the federal government of $720 a year to every citizen of the country, with $240 extra for each minor, serves to remind us that the political silly season is about to open in earnest.

Every campaign always brings to light a few candidates who are willing to promise the moon itself in their appeals to the voters; but it is evident that this year is going to give us an unusual number of them.

The voters are dissatisfied, restless; they want an improvement in their condition very badly, and when they feel that way the ordinary politician outdoes himself in making promises. Probably no one will go any farther than this St. Louis candidate—it would be almost impossible; but there will be a lot of campaign promises hardly less fantastic than his.

Insull's Case

ONE of the news stories telling of Samuel Insull's retirement from guidance of his vast industrial empire contained the following highly significant paragraph:

"In the years following 1924, according to observers, he himself became imbued with a belief that 'a new and everlasting era of prosperity' had arrived—a belief said to have been largely responsible for the present financial affairs in his utility system."

About all one can say to that is that Mr. Insull wasn't alone in his delusion. A lot of the rest of us used to feel the same way, too; and what happened to us is just about what happened to Mr. Insull. The whole country, in short, was deluded, and the country now is paying for its delusion. Mr. Insull simply typifies what befell the nation as a whole.

Lone Wolf

He hunts alone—he needs no fawning pack
To share his den or bring his prey to earth;
He has no meek contingent at his back,
To eat his spoils or undermine his worth;
And, living thus, he rouses the disdain
Of weaker foe who tremble in the night;
They envy him the glory of his reign,
They wonder at his courage in the fight.

Let him falter once—the pack creeps in,
Intent to gain the substance of his loot;
Let him but rise—the pack begins to thin
As they return to more secure pursuit;

Ah, little wolves, stay in your little class—
Pause for a while—and let a lone wolf pass! —DON WAHN.

There is not a word of truth in Dreiser's letter. I supplied him with the facts, but he seemed wholly disinclined to send the correction to either the Times or you. The truth is that Kearney was not fired at all. Mooney's contract had expired and we had decided not to renew it even before he made his speech. The speech, by the way, was none of our business. . . . I am somewhat bewildered by Dreiser's reasoning, it is so one-sided. His statements about this company are probably libelous, but they do get him publicity. I no longer consider him as a minor American tragedy but rather as a major American comedy.—Sincerely, R. H. Russia Assumes Role Of Creditor Nation

By STANLEY P. RICHARDSON

MOSCOW, June 12. (AP)—Assuming a new role on the international stage, Soviet Russia for the first time in the 15 years' existence of its Communist regime has become a creditor instead of an exclusively debtor nation.

In extending a long term credit of $8,000,000 to Turkey, the Soviet union has driven the first nail in a politico-economic structure which may become a landmark in history.

The action signalizes a new era in the relation of Soviet economy to the outside world. A brand new formula has been worked out by the Kremlin to make its influence felt abroad, not in violent revolutionary activity so often charged against this government, but by peaceful economic cooperation.

It illustrates more clearly than the tons of propaganda issuing from the Soviet press, the growing confidence here that the union's industrial progress has raised the nation to a plane where, for the first time, it can assume a measure of economic independence.

Credit Is Challenge

The fact that the Soviet government now finds itself able, even on a small scale and perhaps solely for political expediency, to give credit where heretofore it always has needed it is, in the view of foreign observers, a significant happening which must challenge the attention of students of world economy.

It was no accident that the proletarian dictatorship turned to the east for its first experiment along this line. Moreover, if results are satisfactory, there may be an attempt to apply the formula elsewhere than in Turkey.

Persia and Afghanistan have been mentioned as likely fields for expansion of the policy. The welcoming here of Prince Feisal, viceroy of the Hedjaz and second son of Ibn Saud, Arabia's ruler, widened this horizon for some of the more optimistic eyes in Moscow.

The theory is that by lending aid to struggling governments the Soviets can strike a telling blow to the influence hitherto exercised in those quarters by such imperialistic rivals as France and England.

Turkey a Willing Ally

Officials quarters do not conceal that this is the real explanation of the new policy. They refuse to say whether they expect eventually to open the doors of those countries to Communism; neither do they deny that this is the ultimate hope.

In Turkey the Soviet government found a partner ready for such an alliance. For 12 years these countries have enjoyed cordial relations, fostered by the Kremlin with an eye to the international advantage such friendship would entail. They are signatories to a bi-lateral pact of non-aggression and to various commercial agreements.

Turkey, with a backward agriculture as its mainstay and an industry that is only in its infancy, looked across the Black sea at the rapid economic development of its neighbor and found much from which it could profit.

Thus both countries were ripe for the alliance, which was clinched by the May day visit here of Ismet Pasha, premier of Mustapha Kemal's one-party republic. Ismet came with economic and political advisers, not only to return the good will visit to Turkey last year of Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet foreign commissioner, but also to inspect Soviet industry and agriculture.

Turks Get Machinery

Under the pact, the details of which are being worked out here by Turkish and Russian experts, the U. S. S. R. agrees to sell to Turkey tools, agricultural machines and fertilizers and to take in payment its choice of Turkish raw materials, probably wool, fruit and minerals.

The exact length of the credit has not been revealed and neither has the rate of interest, if any is being charged, but the agreement specifies that Turkey must make annual payments.

The eagerness of Russia for such an alliance was shown by its offer to make the credit larger, but Turkey said $8,000,000 would do.

Texas U. V. C. Chief Urges Delegations

HOUSTON, June 12. (AP)—C. E. Gilbert, commander of the Texas division of the United Confederate Veterans, has issued an appeal that all Texas camps have representation in the 42nd annual reunion at Richmond, Va., June 21 to 24.

Commander Gilbert announced appointment of the following Texas women to places of honor in the Texas delegation:

Mrs. J. E. Winfree of Houston, matron of honor; Mrs. Young Yates of Fort Worth, chaperon; Mrs. J. Ryan Peel of Houston, sponsor; Mrs. Roy E. Smith of Tyler, Mrs. Neta V. Taylor of Houston and Mrs. F. M. Fenn of Richmond, Texas, maids of honor; Mrs. W. T. Dalton of Dallas, official registered nurse.

The commander's staff is headed by J. E. Winfree of Houston, adjutant and chief. Others are H. C. Wright of Paris, Texas, lieutenant commander; Judge Edgar Scurry of Wichita Falls, judge advocate; Bawd Farrar of Waxahachie, historian; Judge Tom Simmons of Fort Worth, treasurer; Dr. Will Burrum of Clarksville, surgeon; Judge O. O. Crisman of Cleburne, quartermaster; W. A. Cline of Wharton, color sergeant and Bishop A. Frank Smith of Houston, chaplain.

Auto License Tags Cost Texas Less Than Others

AUSTIN, June 12. (AP)—Texas motor vehicle registration plates cost less per pair than for any state in the union, figures compiled by the state highway department show.

Mississippi pays less than Texas for its motor vehicle registration plates but only one plate is attached to each vehicle.

Texas' plates are purchased by the state board of control and last year cost six and one-half cents per plate. Colorado in 1931 paid 21¼ cents a pair and Massachusetts 20 cents a pair, the cost to other states ranging between Texas' low to Colorado's high.

Out of 26 states checked, 14 made their own plates, either in the state prisons or other state institutions, and 12 states purchased tags. The cost of making the plates in the prisons ranged from .067 per pair in South Dakota to 16 cents a pair in Pennsylvania.

Houston Children to Get Lunches During Summer

HOUSTON, June 12. (AP)—A wealthy Houston woman, who insisted upon remaining anonymous, will provide two meals a day, seven days a week, during the summer vacation to 2,000 public school children here.

The children were provided, throughout the school year, with free meals through the lunchrooms of the public school system, but their prospects would have been bleak for the summer months, due to the cessation of school activities, had it not been for the benefaction of this philanthropist.

The meals will be served in school lunchrooms at strategic points throughout the city.

COUNTY RAISES TURNIPS

AMARILLO, Texas, June 12. (UP) Potter county's courthouse square probably will be a garden of note this year and turnips and black-eyed peas will grow where a lawn once held forth. Judge Sam. B. Motlow had the square plowed and said the returns from the garden would be given to charity cases.

Graham Rotarians Fete Rotary Anns

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, June 12.—"Ladies night" was observed Friday night by the Graham Rotary club when members entertained Rotary Anns in an annual banquet at the First Presbyterian church. Judge Fred T. Arnold, incoming vice president acted as toastmaster. After the invocation by Rotarian Bryan H. Keathley and the singing of "America", 70 sat down to the banquet table.

H. L. Thornton led familiar songs. He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. H. L. MaKaig.

The feature of the evening was the Rotary play, "Extremes," presented by a local cast. The cast included S. Boyd Street, Sam B. Harbison, Homer L. Thornton, Mrs. D. C. Matthews, Miss Nell Sammons and Thomas Givins. The play was directed by Rotary Ann W. N. Varable.

Martin Lamour, present secretary-treasurer presented the past president's pin to retiring President Boyd Street and introduced the new officers. Charles Atkinson is the new president and Wade A. Morris is director. The Graham Rotary club was organized in 1925.

Australia Scents Racket In Gambling Machines

SYDNEY, Australia, June 12. (AP)—Australians fear the thousands of "fruit" slot machines which are operating in Australia are the first signs of racketeering in the Antipodes.

Suddenly and mysteriously these gambling devices appeared in the saloons of New South Wales. Nobody knew whence they came, nor could it be discovered who controlled them.

Saloon-keepers, getting a fine rake-off from the big profits made, were disinclined to talk and the men who emptied the machines each morning "knew nothing."

Following a public agitation, the government of New South Wales banned the machines, but they operate in other states and in clubs, speakeasies and night haunts, where they make profits even higher than in the saloons.

T&P Names Sweetwater Livestock Headquarters

SWEETWATER, Texas, June 12. (AP)—Livestock developments in this territory and increase of cattle trade in the Sweetwater section have led to the selection of this city for the livestock department headquarters of the Texas & Pacific railroad, it has been announced.

John M. Simpson, livestock agent for the railroad, has arrived from Dallas, his former headquarters.

It is the first office of this nature to be placed in Sweetwater by any railroad.

Auto Fee Collections Pile Up in Harris County

HOUSTON, June 12. (AP)—While a district court's final decision in an attack on the validity of the state automobile tax law is awaited here, fees collected in this county continued to pile up.

License taxes held by the tax collector in escrow pending the outcome of the suit have reached about $800,000. A temporary injunction restrained the collector from forwarding the money to the state and still is in effect.

Sweetwater Area Ships Cattle to California

SWEETWATER, Texas, June 14. (AP)—Sweetwater and trade area has this year shipped to Los Angeles markets more than 150 carloads of grass-fed and finished cattle. Indications are that some 25,000 to 30,000 head of cattle and sheep will be fed in Sweetwater during the coming feed season. They are bringing top prices.

Q.—Please give examples of Gothic, Norman-Gothic, Renaissance, Romanesque, and Byzantine architecture in Washington, D. C. —H. E. K.

A.—Gothic: (English) The Washington Cathedral, Mount St. Alban's, Wisconsin avenue and Woodley road. Norman-Gothic: Smithsonian Institution, The Mall. Renaissance: Library of Congress, Capitol Hill. Romanesque: Sacred Heart Church, 16th St. & Park road, N. W. Byzantine: The Catholic Shrine (Cathedral) Catholic university, Brookland, D. C.

Q.—Are the giraffe and camel native to Africa?—D. F.

A.—The giraffe is exclusively an African animal, but the camel was probably imported from Asia.

Q.—Next to Demosthenes, who was considered the greatest Greek orator?—S. J.

A.—This distinction is usually given to Aeschines, who was often an opponent of Demosthenes in debate.

Q.—When a citizen of the United States leaves the country and joins the Soviet union, can he return to the United States?—M. A. S.

A.—If a citizen of the United States goes to the Soviet union and becomes a citizen of that country, he can return to the United States under the provisions of the immigration law only.

Q.—Are the fingerprints of identical twins alike?—T. G.

A.—The term identical twins means identical in appearance. Identical twins are always of the same sex. Usually even such minute items as the fingerprints of the right hand of one twin are more like the right hand prints of the other than like those of his or her own left hand ones. Occasionally one of a pair of identicals is right handed and the other left. In such cases, the right-hand of the right-hander is usually a perfectly good reversed carbon copy of the left-hand of the left-hander.

Q.—Was Joseph Conrad's father an educated man?—F. C.

A.—His father, a country squire, was a distinguished poet and literary critic. His mother was a gentlewoman.

Q.—Please give a short history of the Bank of France.—J. V. R.

A.—The Bank of France owes its origin to Napoleon. It was founded on Feb. 13, 1800. It does not belong to the state but to private shareholders. At the time of its foundation it had a capital of 30,000,000 francs and this was raised by degrees to 182,500,000 francs, which has been the capital of the bank since 1857.

Q.—How many people are killed by cobras in India?—E. M. M.

A.—It is estimated that about 20,000 persons are killed annually in India by poisonous snakes. Most of these snakes are various species of cobra. About 50,000 or 60,000 snakes are killed annually in India.

Q.—How many cadets go to the coast guard academy and how many apply for admission?—H. V. H.

A.—The United States coast guard says that the capacity of the academy is approximately 150 cadets. In the last few years the number of applicants has been steadily increasing from approximately 400 to 1,200 applications at the present time. It has been estimated that approximately 900 of the 1,200 applicants will take the examination. Last year between 60 and 65 of the applicants received appointments. It is thought that about the same number will be admitted this year.

Q.—Where is Liechtenstein?—J. T. M.

A.—It lies on the upper Rhine between Austria and Switzerland. On Nov. 7, 1918, the Diet declared its complete independence. By treaty with Switzerland, the latter country administers its posts and telegraphs.

Q.—Is Tony Wons an American? —C. McD.

A.—He is. He was born in Menasha, Wis.

Q.—What occasions the title "a belle Feronniere" applied to a portrait credited to Leonardo?—S. C.

A.—The belief that the subject of the portrait was the wife of the French advocate of Feron won for the picture its title. The theory is now discounted.

Q.—Who sat for The Spanish Beggar by Sargent?—D. B.

A.—Carmela Bertogna, a Spanish girl, whom Sargent saw in the south of France.

TEXAS REPEAL SEEMS DISTANT

Amendment and Dean Law Bar Saloons

AUSTIN, June 12. (UP)—Repeal of national prohibition would not open saloons in Texas. The Texas legislature could not reopen them. Only a referendum and repeal of a state constitutional amendment could liquor traffic be resumed.

If the state constitutional amendment should be repealed and the legislature then repealed the "Dean law," liquor sales in Texas would be lawful.

A question would still exist whether previous legislation, such as that prohibiting transportation of liquor in "dry" territory would have to be repealed of if they were superseded by the Dean law.

All this does not mean Texas would have to go thirsty. The Texan wanting his bottle of liquor or his case of beer would simply order it from New Orleans or from the nearest wet point in some other state.

Liquor so ordered could be shipped anywhere in Texas. It would be "interstate commerce" and could not lawfully be prohibited by any state legislation.

No formality would be required. Postoffice money orders could be sent to pay for the shipment. In fact that was the system used largely in dry territory in Texas before the days of national prohibition.

The clamor for national prohibition in Texas was not a clamor against the saloon. Saloons already had been abolished in this state. The drys complained that in violence to the expressed dry wishes of the states, they could not prohibit liquor without a national enactment.

State Preparing Parks For 100th Anniversary

AUSTIN, June 12, (AP)—D. E. Colp, chairman of the Texas state park board, believes sentiment in Texas is favorable to adoption of the constitutional amendment to permit the state to assist financially in the proposed Texas Centennial celebration in 1936. Colp recently returned from a tour of several sections of the state.

Colp stated he would recommend to the highway commission that work on roads leading to state parks be completed as speedily as possible so that visitors to the centennial, if held, could have easy access to the beauty spots and places of historic interest. The park board plans to have the parks in splendid condition for the celebration.

The park board chairman said he was gratified at the interest being taken in the four major state parks at Caddo lake, Palo Duro canyon, Davis Mountain park and Gaudalupe park.

ABILENE, Texas, June 12. (UP)—One hundred of the 289 students enrolled in Alta Vista school were on the honor roll and a girl, Betty Jo McIntosh, low fifth, led the school with an average grade of 96.7. Charles Adams, one grade above Miss McIntosh, led the boys with a grade of 94.1.

Zodiac Takes Klondike Pete For Buggy Ride

FORT WORTH, June 12. (UP)—Klondike Pete still believes in the Zodiac, although the 72-year-old boomer has lost his fortune made in the Alaskan gold rush.

No pick and shovel on the Yukon for Pete, he was born under the planet Libra and was meant to be a moneymaker.

So in 1889 when scores packed their picks and placer pans in answer to the Klondike fever, Peter Kern went to Chicago, bought $12,000 worth of diamonds and shipped for Alaska.

He arrived in Skagway in January while the miners were ice bound, waiting for the spring thaw.

"All the men were broke," Pete recalled. "The women had all the gold and did they like diamonds? Doggone my hide, if I didn't sell all those diamonds the first day."

Other shipments followed. Klondike Pete became the merchant prince of sinful Skagway, with its 165 saloons filled with ruthless gamblers and barroom women. He built a large cabin overlooking the Yukon river. Here he entertained profusely.

After 12 years in Alaska, Klondike Pete took the advice of a clairvoyant and deserted Alaska for El Paso, Texas, where the spiritualist had foreseen amazing success for him.

The clairvoyant's predictions came true. His jewelry business flourished. He invested heavily in real estate. A street in El Paso was named for him. Then business reversals swept away his fortune.

Pete now works with a wheelbarrow and hoe among the gardens of the Masonic home for aged at Arlington, near here. A trunk filled with souvenirs is all he has of his Alaskan venture. But Pete doesn't mind. It was all in store for him, according to the signs of the Zodiac, he said.

GREENBELT GOLF TOURNAMENT STARTS AT ELECTRA TODAY

OVER 100 ON HAND FOR MEET

10 Cities Enter Six-Man Teams

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, June 12.—Over 100 golfers of Northwest Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma, representing clubs holding membership in the Greenbelt Golf association, descended on Electra today for practice rounds preceding the association's seventh annual tournament, which gets under way Monday morning.

It was a talented crew that brushed up its iron and wood shots in preparation for a strenuous drive to unseat the defending title-

PHILLIPS WINS WEST TEXAS TOURNAMENT

SAN ANGELO, Texas, June 12. (AP)—Jimmy Phillips of Ranger, the medalist, upset tradition today by winning the championship tournament of the West Texas Golf association. He defeated Jack Satterwhite of Texon, 9 and 8, in the 36-hole finals over a rain-soaked course.

holder, L. S. (City) Walker, of Quanah. But the remarkable Quanah veteran, three-times winner of the title and therefore permanent possessor of the association's trophy, showed no weakness in his game and gave fair warning that he was out to make Greenbelt history by winning the title four times.

The two other Greenbelt golfers who have won the title in the six years of the association's history—R. V. West and Frank Foxhall of Memphis—also were on hand.

Walker won the title in 1926, 1927 and 1931; West won it in 1928; and Foxhall won it in 1929 and 1930.

Storms and heavy rains of the past few days have inflicted no damage to the Electra nine-hole course, members reported. Sand on a few of the greens was blown away, but this has been replaced, and the course is in near perfect condition.

The Electrans have made ready to play the perfect host to the army of visiting golfers, expected to number 125 or more.

At least 10 teams will compete for the team trophy, a form of competition new to the Greenbelt. Cities with six-man teams on hand for the tourney were announced as Crowell, Shamrock, Clarendon, Memphis, Childress, Quanah, Vernon, Frederick, Okla., Davidson, Okla., and Electra.

Bill Strachan, Weeks park professional at Wichita Falls, will be starter and referee. Qualifying play will be completed Monday, with the low 32 entering the championship flight. Match play will start Tuesday, ending with the finals on Thursday.

Outstanding Stars In Greenbelt Tourney Starting Today At Electra

Snapped in action, L. S. (City) Walker of Quanah, Greenbelt Golf association champion who will defend his title in the annual tournament starting today at Electra, is shown above on the Clarendon course, where he won the Greenbelt title for the third time last year. With him are two sterling golfers who also will be in the tournament this year. At the left is Jack Parr of Electra and next to him is Al Cooke of Clarendon.

Below is a snapshot of the clubhouse at the Electra course. In the foreground is a creek, which winds through the course offering many a test to the golfer's ability. The cream of the golf crop in Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma is expected to participate in this year's tournament, finals of which will be played Thursday.

CANNIBALS WIN TWO FROM BUCS

Junglemen Win First 7-6; Second, 6-4

LONGVIEW, Texas, June 12. (AP)—Making every hit count for a run and taking advantage of the wildness of Galveston hurlers the Longview Cannibals took both games of a doubleheader from the Galveston Bucs here this afternoon by scores of 7 to 6 and 6 to 4.

The hitting of Debs Garms featured the first game, his home run ending a four run rally that overcame an early Galveston lead.

Relief hurling by Fred Vincent featured the second game when he entered the game in the third inning with the bases full and none out. He fanned two and forced a third to ground to the infield.

Another doubleheader between the Bucs and Cannibals is scheduled Monday afternoon. Score:

FREE BEER?

BIRMINGHAM.—In a rattle-trap old "lizzie," Henry W. Hayssen who, if the people of the United States back him, might be the next president of the United States, rolled into town.

Henry was wound up for a campaign talk and, during it, revealed the following planks in his platform as a candidate on the Universal Brotherhood party ticket:

"Elect me president and I'll install a national pipe line of beer with a fountain on every street corner. Free beer.

"If I am elected commander in chief of the army and navy, I will turn our battleships into excursion boats. I will load them with surplus foodstuff and other commodities and send them as good will offerings to stricken nations of the world."

Dallas Herd Climbs Toward Top With Double Victory Over Beaumont Crew

DALLAS, June 12. (AP)—The Dallas Steers climbed within two and a half games of first place in the Texas league pennant race today by sweeping both games of a double header with the league-leading eBaumont Exporters. The first game score was 8 to 7 in 11 innings and the second, 6 to 2 in seven innings.

Three consecutive walks off Joe Sullivan, southpaw, after an error putting Louie Brower on base with none out in the eleventh, gave Dallas the opener. Jimmy Minogue, who started for Dallas, was relieved in the sixth and Lou Garland went in to get credit for the victory. The Steers shelled Buck Marrow fro mthe mound in the third and got to Dick Schulz, his successor, for one rally before he was removed in the eighth for a pinch hitter, Sullivan.

Schoolboy Rowe, young righthander who won his first six games in this league, was victim of the defeat in the nightcap, although Joe Jachym hurled the last two innings. Oscar Fuhr went the route for Dallas, holding the visitors hitless after the second. Scores:

CATS WIN PAIR

FORT WORTH, June 12. (AP)—Behind the strong pitching of Dick McCabe and Clarence Pickrel, the Fort Worth Panthers defeated San Antonio in both ends of a double header here today.

McCabe pitched the Panthers to a 5 to 2 victory in the first game, while Pickrel's decision in the second was 6 to 2. However, it wasn't so easily earned as that of McCabe, despite the fact that he allowed only two hits.

A wild streak in the sixth inning enabled the Indians to a 2 to 1 lead, but the San Antonio hurlers were even wilder and three were used in the sixth inning as the Panthers took advantage of their free tickets for five runs. The climaxing wallop was a double by Dutch Krauss with the bases loaded to pull the Panthers into the lead.

Herb Sanders started the first game for the Indians, but failed to last and Chief Eul Moore was needed to finish the game. It also took his pitching to halt the Panthers in the second game, after House, Kowalik and Smith had failed. House retired for a pinch hitter in the sixth, with Kowalik and Smith supplying the bases on balls. Score:

TIGERS BEAT A'S

DETROIT, June 12. (AP)—Jimmy Foxx bagged his 22nd home run of the season today but even with another four bagger by McNair thrown in, it wasn't enough and the Detroit Tigers defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 8 to 6 to even the series.

A pair of relentless rallies by the Tigers, in which Heinie Schuble and Gerald Walker, the young batting sensations, figured, won the game for the Tigers at the expense of big George Earnshaw, who lasted six and one-third innings.

Earl Whitehill lasted only five innings, allowing seven hits. Score:

Cubs Increase National League Lead With 13-Inning 5-3 Win Over Braves

BOSTON, June 12. (AP)—A two-run drive by the Cubs in the 13th broke up a pitchers' duel between Ben Cantwell and Guy Bush today and gave Chicago a 5 to 3 victory over the Braves. Today's triumph increased Chicago's lead in the National league race to a game and a half over the second place Braves.

Jurges' double, Moore's single and Herman's two-bagger pushed across the winning runs in the 13th. Flashy fielding by the Cub infield aided Bush in subduing the Braves. English at third averted at least three hits by sensational stops and handled 11 chances without an error.

Shires tied the game up in the seventh with a home run smash that hit the flagpole in right field. Score:

Swimming Classes To Start Monday

Everything is in readiness, it was announced at Westmoreland swimming pool Sunday, for the starting of the free swimming classes Monday morning. The classes will be held Mondays and Thursdays, starting at 10 a. m. and will be open to all women and children.

No charge is made for the lessons, but the customary charges for admission to the pool will be made.

Instruction was given to about 300 women and children last year, and it is hoped to exceed that figure this season. Tom Beaty, Morris Lee and others of the Westmoreland staff will be instructors.

Red Cross life saving lessons will also start Monday. These classes will be held from 5 to 6 p. m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Those who successfully complete the course will be given Red Cross certificates.

Belief Held Congress Won't Quit on Time

WASHINGTON, June 12. (US)—The blunt spoken Representative Will Wood of Indiana, ranking Republican and former chairman of the house appropriations committee, today epitomized the thought held by a vast majority of congress on the adjournment question in these words:

"I think we'll celebrate the Fourth of July here."

Few members of either chamber are willing to admit that their deliberations will last into next month, but the fact remains that both houses are in a legislative snarl that will not be untangled easily. This situation exists notwithstanding a tentative agreement between senate and house leaders to adjourn next Saturday.

Growing Streams Of Veterans Converge On Bewildered City

Streams of bonus-minded war veterans pouring into Washington by train, auto, and even on foot, created a situation which was as strange as it was full of dangerous possibilities. Veterans in Cleveland (upper left) swarmed aboard locomotives, stopped them with cross-ties on the track, demanded free rides to Washington. A contingent of several hundred left New York (lower left) hiking after a short train and ferry ride. "On to Washington" was the cry, voiced by leaders such as C. B. Cowen, Cleveland Communist (lower center) who is shown seeking "recruits" for the B. E. F. (Bonus Expeditionary Force.) As new arrivals dropped from box-cars (upper right), authorities made efforts to set up temporary shelters in Washington (lower right) so far as their limited funds would go. The national capitol (center right) was the goal of all, and every new arrival added tensity to a strained situation.

"Bring 'Em Back Alive"

By FRANK BUCK with EDWARD ANTHONY

For 13 exciting years, Frank Buck has been gathering live animals, reptiles and birds for American zoos, circuses, and dealers. He hunts them barehanded in jungle and mountain-fastness, in wildest Africa, in darkest Thibet—but he always brings 'em back alive.

He now tells about a 18,000-mile journey into the interior of Nepal to capture, at the order of Dr. William T. Hornaday of the New York Zoological park, a great armor-plated, single-horned Indian rhino—rare as the unicorn of fable. He obtains help from General Shum Shara, a nephew of the Maharajah of Nepal. Buck's plans are frustrated by the Ganges river which is on a rampage. He starts back for Singapore. Later he returns to collect the rare rhinos the Maharajah has captured for him. The most difficult part is transporting them to the rail head in India. After an exciting journey, he arrives in Calcutta with his rhinos.

Of the thousands of monkeys and apes Buck has brought to America from Asia, the most interesting was a female orang-utan picked up in Borneo which he named Gladys.

CHAPTER XV

Needless to say, I am not an animal trainer. Many animals that I have sold to circuses have been converted into fine performers but I have no interest myself in teaching animals tricks or stunts. It is out of my line entirely.

This is not by way of saying that I am not interested in trained animals. I am; but I must add that I find it much more absorbing to watch an animal like Gladys go through some routine that she has picked up herself than to watch the antics of animals trained to do certain tricks after rigorous discipline.

One day I was passing Gladys' place under the edge of the house on my way to the compound. In my hand I carried a tin wash-pan of water in which was soaking a big square piece of ordinary cotton cloth that I was about to use in washing a minor wound on the leg of a small animal. As I went by, my favorite orang-utan reached up and stopped me. Curious to see what she wanted, I stood by and did nothing. She was obviously interested in what I was carrying. (It was the customary thing for her to examine anything I had in my hand. I never discouraged the practice as I was on the lookout for reactions that would throw some light on the past life of this animal that interested me so.)

With both hands Gladys reached up for the wash-pan. I let her take it. She carried it two or three feet and then sat down on the ground with the pan in front of her, between her legs. She removed the rag from the water and began to scrub it with her fists like a laundress. Then she doused it in the water again and rubbed away vigorously as before. There was about five minutes of this, winding up in a final dousing of the rag. After first soaking it thoroughly, she picked it up with both hands and proceeded to wring it out, like an experienced washerwoman. Then she carefully unfolded it and shook it out. Then, putting one corner between her teeth she stretched it out flat with her hands. This done, she ran her eyes over it carefully to see if it was clean all over. Satisfied that it was, she walked over a few feet out of the shadow of the house to where there was some sun and spread the rag out neatly on the grass.

Gladys had gone through all the motions of an Asiatic woman washing clothes, winding up with the method of drying that they use. Partly, at least, I could now piece together Gladys' story. She had been raised in a native village, right in the bosom of the family. How she got there has to remain a matter for speculation; although a reasonable enough supposition is that when a baby she accompanied her mother in a raid on a durian tree on the outskirts of the village. (The durian is a jungle fruit about as big as a medium-sized cantaloupe, the favorite fruit of both apes and natives; it has a hard prickly rind, containing a soft, cream-colored pulp, of a most delicious flavor, though somewhat offensive odor). The natives, as frequently happens, might have speared the mother to get the suckling babe.

More than once in a Borneo village have I seen a woman nursing a baby on one breast and an infant orang on the other. Always there is that hope that a trader will come along and buy the ape.

Gladys probably grew up with the children of the family, playing with them and accompanying their mother to the river bank on wash day. There it is customary for the children to help and Gladys, not to be outdone, doubtless decided she would do her bit too. It was probably somewhat in this fashion that she learned the gentle art of laundering.

Gladys got to be so much fun that frequently I took her to Singapore with me where she became a familiar figure. She enjoyed nothing more than an automobile ride and when I would unleash her and let her climb into my car for one of those trips to Singapore she would embrace me so completely that I would have to disengage myself before I could drive. Then she would sit back in the seat like a lady out for an airing, confining her displays of affection to an occasional pat with her hand or a rub of her cheek against my arm.

My business over, Gladys would sit down with me in the bar of the Raffles hotel while I had a gin sling. Occasionally I would let her have a small glass of beer. Once, to see what she would do, I removed all chairs but one, in which I sat down, pretending to be unaware of Gladys' existence. Undaunted, she slid a chair over to the table and seated herself, reaching for my glass by way of announcing that she was ready for her beer.

On the way back to America Gladys was the pet of the President Cleveland (captained by my old friend George Yardley, one of the greatest of skippers, with whom I've made 11 of my 40 crossings of the Pacific). I had her installed on the boat deck where her chain gave her plenty of room for exercise.

As soon as the women on board heard of Gladys' accomplishments as a laundress they made regular trips to the boat deck with water-soaked handkerchiefs which Gladys would rub with her fists, wring out and spread on the deck in the sunshine.

The news also spread that my amusing orang-utan was fond of tea and at tea-time more than one lady would have her afternoon cup with Gladys. As much as Gladys liked beer, it was as nothing compared with her fondness for tea.

Once a lady on board accused Gladys of snubbing her offer of teatime refreshments. The orang drained the proffered cup of tea but refused the sandwiches and cakes that accompanied the offer. It was necessary to explain that Gladys had got into the habit of eating out of a plate. I had taught her this at Katong and, unless very hungry, she would ignore food that was placed on the bare deck. The food was placed on a plate and Gladys ate it.

The wireless operator of the President Cleveland developed quite a fondness for Gladys. He would pet the orang and feed her apples and bananas, and she in return would rub her head against him, and, in her more affectionate moments, embrace him.

One day Gladys, who still knew how, resorted to her old trick of unfastening her collar, which I had forgotten to padlock. A few minutes later she was in the wireless operator's quarters, looking for her friend. Failing to find him, she looked around to see what mischief she could do; and, evidently deciding that the bed was not properly made, pulled it apart. She was making a neat pile of the bedding in the middle of the bunk in an effort to arrange it like her own straw bed when the operator entered.

He let out a yelp of dismay, for overhead was a high voltage wire that ran through his quarters into the wireless room, and if this animal that was in the habit of climbing all over everything, decided to investigate that wire she'd be a dead orang-utan not long after she touched it.

The operator sent a boy to get me and I came running in and claimed the exploring Gladys. The operator afterwards told me that he sweated blood in the few minutes that intervened between the time he sent for me and my arrival. He stood there, he told me, ready to stun his favorite monkey with a water pitcher if she made a move in the direction of the wire.

Before the trip was over Gladys also made a reputation as a bookworm. A lady visitor brought a book with her and sat beside the orang and read. When the woman put the book down, Gladys picked it up, and, opening it up, held it for a full minute in the manner of a person reading. The fact that she held it upside down did not seem to affect her interest in what she found on the pages.

My parting with Gladys was the saddest animal farewell I've ever known. I hated to part with her. As she required the kind of attention she could only get in a good zoo, circus or similar place, I had to let her go. Besides I needed the $750 that she would bring. I sold her for that price to the municipal zoo in Madison, Wis. I could probably have secured a much better price if I had offered her to the movie people. One of the big companies, it developed, was looking for an ape such as Gladys, that could be taught to act.

But I had no regrets on that score. Perhaps Gladys had no ambitions to become a movie queen. In Madison I knew that she would have a good home and that her affectionate nature and interesting character would make her many friends.

FARLEY OPENS CHICAGO BASE

Roosevelt Manager Still Highly Optimistic

CHICAGO, June 12. (US)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt has the votes not only to assure nomination but to organize the Democratic convention, his campaign manager, James A. Farley, predicted today.

Farley came to Chicago to make final arrangements for Roosevelt's headquarters for the convention which starts June 27.

The presidential suite in one of the largest hotels has been reserved for Roosevelt, who may come to Chicago to take personal charge of his campaign for the nomination.

Al to Attend

Gov. Al Smith has already announced he will be in Chicago a week in advance of the convention.

About the only thing now troubling the Roosevelt forces, Farley indicated, is to find a suitable nominee for second place on the ticket. Five names are most prominently under consideration, including:

Melvin A. Traylor, Chicago banker, Governor White of Ohio, Governer Dern of Utah, Governor Woodring of Kansas and Senator Cordell Hull of Tennessee.

The movement to draft Traylor has gained considerable momentum among the rank and file.

Walsh for Chairman

Still exuding optimism, Farley declared that Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana would be elected permanent chairman of the convention over Jouett Shouse, executive chairman of the national committee. In a compromise arrangement in April, Shouse, backed by the Anti-Roosevelt people, was slated for permanent chairman, and Senator Barkley of Kentucky, a Roosevelt man, for the keynoter.

Since then, the Roosevelt managers, opening an aggressive attack on the Al Smith wing of the party, decided to try to ditch Shouse. Shouse retaliated by announcing he intends to battle to the end for the job.

Senator Walsh served as permanent chairman of the historic Madison Square Garden convention in 1924, when Smith and McAdoo fought each other for more than 100 ballots. Walsh was a McAdoo backer at that time. He is now a leader in the Roosevelt camp.

It was indicated that the Roosevelt managers will not try to abolish the two-thirds rule in advances of the nomination, but might do it afterwards.

Farley was confident that the Illinois delegation, after voting on the first ballot for Senator James Hamilton Lewis, will throw its 58 votes to Roosevelt.

Fort Worth Woman Dies After Auto Accident

FORT WORTH, June 12. (AP)—Hurled through the windshield of her husband's automobile when it crashed into an electric line pole here at 2 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Raymond Stripling, 23, Fort Worth, died two hours later in a hospital from loss of blood from a severed neck artery.

Headlights of a rapidly approaching automobile blinded Stripling, who veered his own machine sharply to avoid a collision. Stripling suffered only minor cuts and bruises.

James V. Allred to Open Campaign at Tyler Rally

AUSTIN, June 12. (AP)—James V. Allred, Texas attorney general, announced today he will open his campaign for re-election at an East Texas rally in Tyler Friday night.

Carl Estes, Tyler newspaper man, has charge of arrangements for the meeting, Allred announced. He said Earle B. Mayfield, former United States senator, and Dewey Lawrence, formerly assistant attorney general under R. L. Bobbitt, would participate.

America Must Continue Trade Exploit, Says Klein

QUEENSTOWN, Irish Free State, June 12. (US)—The first contingent of American pilgrims to the Eucharistic congress in Dublin landed here today from the Liner Brittanic. In their number were three bishops, three monsignors, 57 priests, and 24 nuns. The Liner Carinthia is expected to land about 1,000 pilgrims tomorrow.

AUTO LOOTED

S. J. Lawrence, Wichita Falls State hospital baker, reported to city police Sunday night that his automobile was looted during the afternoon while parked at Lake Wichita. The loss included a watch and chain, a .22 caliber rifle and two boxes of shells, a pair of shoes and a can of auto polish.

LEAVES HOSPITAL

Dr. H. A. Waller, former Wichita Falls dentist, was released from the Wichita General hospital Sunday and returned to his home at Amarillo.

The cotton boll weevil is preyed upon by 66 different bird enemies.

Wichita Boys Enjoy Tour Of 1,244 Miles

Forty-eight Wichita Falls area Boy Scouts, tanned and tired but smiling, returned Sunday afternoon from their annual educational tour under the supervision of Frank B. Creighton, scout executive.

On the road in two large motor buses since June 2, the youngsters covered 1,244 miles on their sight-seeing tour, making a three-day stop at Galveston the high point of the trip.

No casualties marred the tour, but the nearest approach to an unfortunate accident was reserved for the final lap from Fort Worth to Wichita Falls. About 10 miles from Fort Worth Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock, the second bus dropped a wheel because of a broken axle, wheeled into the roadside ditch, and eased over upon its top. The immediate exodus of excited youngsters by doors and windows revealed that none was injured in any way.

The first bus and baggage truck continued on to Wichita Falls, arriving about 1:30 p. m. The second bus was repaired where the break occurred, was turned over, left the ditch shortly after noon with its full complement of passengers, and reached this city about 4:30 p. m.

One member of the group was compelled by illness to abandon the trip, being sent home six days ago when seized with a genuine case of mumps.

Another, according to reports given, took an unscheduled dive over the sea wall at Galveston. While walking with the scout party along the wall, the youngster in question turned his sight seeing gaze toward a comely miss bathing in the nearby surf. As he waved his hand enthusiastically in her direction, his step wavered, dropping him suddenly over the edge of the wall. It was a 10-foot plunge. No hungry sharks were on the spot, and low tide protected him from a dousing.

While at Galveston, all members of the group enjoyed bathing in waters of the Gulf of Mexico, and also made a thorough inspection of an ocean-going freighter of the Mallory lines.

An entire half-day was spent in going through shops, hangars, and other departments at Randolph field, famous airport near San Antonio. Boy scouts of that place served as a guard of honor. At Huntsville, the boys were conducted on a tour of the state penitentiary; and also driven around several of the state prison farms.

Charles Ross assisted Mr. Creighton in supervising the trip.

Georgia Women Students Gain Dismissal Powers

ATHENS, Ga., June 12. (AP)—Student government in fact as well as in name has been instituted by women students at the University of Georgia.

The new organization, authority of which is vested in a supreme ruling body called "The Student Council of the Student Government of Women of the University of Georgia," has complete power to dismiss any student upon unanimous vote.

Heretofore such action could be taken only by the dean of women. Freedom from faculty restraint, the students said, and giving each girl a chance to develop her individuality was the prime reason for enacting the new code.

Abilene Man to Direct Louisiana Tax League

ABILENE, Texas, June 12. (AP)—W. R. Lence, who for the past five years has been general manager of the Abilene and Southern railroad, a Texas and Pacific subsidiary, has announced his retirement from the railroad, to give all his time to taxation and public expenditures, a field in which he has been specializing for the past two years.

He will leave shortly for New Orleans to become managing director of the newly formed Louisiana Taxpayers association, an active body of statewide proportions.

Motley Wheat Harvest To Begin This Week

Special to The Record News

MATADOR, Texas, June 12.—Rain amounting to 2.64 inches has fallen over Motley county during the past week. Although some damage by hail has been reported, the crops will be greatly benefited by the moisture. Wheat harvest will begin next week.

Lockney City Council Reduces Sewer Rates

LOCKNEY, Texas, June 12. (AP)—The city council has voted to cut the sewer rate 50 per cent. The reduction is effective as of bills paid July 1. Under the new rate, charges for sewers in residences will be 50 cents a month and in business houses $1.

SCOUT MOVIE

Numerous insert shots for the new Boy Scout motion picture now being made by Scoutmaster Don Ross were taken Sunday afternoon in Boone's pasture. Insufficient numbers of scouts in attendance in uniform, however, prevented the making of other views, Mr. Ross said.

On next Sunday afternoon, new phases of scout work are to be photographed, it was announced. All boys who made the annual educational tour to Galveston are asked to be present in uniform. The exact time and hour for next Sunday's work will be announced later in the week, according to Mr. Ross.

TAKES FIRST FLIGHT

FORT WORTH, June 12. (UP)—Mrs. R. J. Thomas of Honey Grove has taken her first airplane ride at 70 years of age and now she wants to learn to pilot a plane. She is confident she can do it, she said, pointing out she learned to swim when 50 and to drive an automobile when 60.

THEY'VE GROWN UP

FLOYDADA, Texas, June 12. (UP)—For the first time in 26 years, public schools will open here next fall without a member of the L. H. Newell family in attendance. The youngest daughter, Faye Newell, was graduated this year.

COW HAS "SPARE"

SEAGRAVES, Texas, June 12. (UP)—A cow on the Robert E. Smith farm near here has six teats instead of four. Smith said the animal can be milked from five of the teats.

Uncle Sam Gets His Week-End 'Cut'

Nearly half of the billion-dollar tax bill will be collected in direct or indirect levies on week-end, vacation or other "fun," when the measure goes into effect. The drawing shows a few of the items expected to yield about $480,000,000.

Vacationers Drafted In New Taxes; 'Fun' Levies To Carry Heavy Load

By F. B. COLTON

WASHINGTON, June 12. (AP)—Vacationers bound for lakes, seashore, mountains or the open road will pay a large share of the billion dollars in new taxes voted by congress and going into effect this summer.

Nearly half the estimated new revenues, designed to balance the nation's budget, constitute a more or less direct "tax on fun."

Vacation and week-end pleasures, whether derived from auto rides, golf clubs or milk shakes, will pay a "cut" to Uncle Sam under the provisions of the senate bill.

Sporting Goods Taxed

The camper, overhauling his fishing tackle beside a campfire, and the flapper, displaying the latest in bathing suits and waterproof rouge at a beach resort, both help the government's treasury under the senate measure.

Sporting goods and cosmetics both are scheduled for a 10 per cent tax; matches for one-half to two cents per thousand.

Pleasure-seekers off for a month's tour or a day's picnic start "paying the piper" as soon as their car rolls away from the curb.

The measure levies a cent a gallon tax on gasoline, a cent a quart on oil and 2½ cents a pound on tires and tubes, respectively. The car itself is taxed 3 per cent, and new spark plugs, lights and other accessories 2 per cent.

Motor Boats Assessed

Boating enthusiasts would have to pull oars or paddles to avoid being taxed for their pleasure. Lolling in a motor boat or yacht will cost the owner from $10 to $200 a year according to the size of the pleasure craft.

Should the vacationer carry along a jug of homebrew for solace when the fish aren't biting, he will find himself taxed for wort, malt or grape concentrate. The rates are five cents a gallon, 35 cents a gallon and 40 per cent, respectively. A mechanical refrigerator to keep the brew cool would pay a five per cent tax.

The youngsters on the trip, meanwhile, buying candy, chewing gum and soft drinks at a roadside stand, would pay a tax ranging from 2 per cent on gum to nine cents a gallon on fountain syrups.

'Dates' Would Yield Taxes

Uncle Sam also would collect a "rakeoff" from every movie "date," —10 per cent on the girl friend's face powder, lipstick and jewelry, and 10 per cent on the boy friend's tickets if they cost more than 40 cents.

Even vacation memories, preserved by snapshots, would help balance the budget under the bill. It provides for a 10 per cent levy on the vacationist's camera.

Items that might be listed under the "tax on fun" are expected to yield about $480,000,000 of the total revenue of $1,113,000,000 provided by the new taxes.

Income Levies Yield $362,000,000

New income tax levies will yield about $362,000,000. Higher postage, beginning with a three-cent rate for letters, varying amounts on telephone, telegraph, radio and cable messages; two cents on bank checks; 10 per cent on safety deposit box leases; and charges on capital stock and bond issues, real estate conveyances, stock and bond transfers, are planned to yield many additional millions.

A 3 per cent tax on privately-operated electric utilities is scheduled to bring $55,000,000, and new tariffs on imported coal, oil, paraffin, asphalt, bitumen, lumber and copper are expected to provide $6,500,000.

Vogel to Announce Decision in Taxi Case

Decision on the application of J. W. McCutchen, G. C. Williams, and O. T. Robinson for writs of habeas corpus will be announced before 9 o'clock Monday morning, Judge Irvin J. Vogel of the county court at law stated Sunday afternoon.

The three applicants were convicted last week in corporation court on charges of violating the city's minimum taxi fare ordinance, and surrendered voluntarily Wednesday morning at police headquarters to begin serving jail sentences in lieu of payment of fines.

The hearing before Judge Vogel began last Wednesday afternoon and was continued to Saturday morning, at which time it was completed.

Angelo Man Finds Price Of Wool Increases 64 Times to Consumer

SAN ANGELO, Texas, June 12. (AP)—Dodd Price of San Angelo believes there's a moral to this tale but he can't find it.

He went into a drug store to but a half ounce of lamb's wool and it cost him 20 cents.

He figured at this rate somebody is getting $6.40 a pound for the commodity that is bringing the ranchmen 10 to 11 cents a pound.

Three Taxi Cases Set In City Court

Trial of dime taxi operators is scheduled to be resumed Monday in corporation court with three cases set for hearings before Judge Edgar Scurry. Double complaints have been filed in each of the three cases, charging violation of city ordinances against operation of a taxi without a license and the minimum-fare ordinance.

Three cases against second-hand dealers have been set for hearings before Judge Scurry Monday, growing out of recent recoveries of electrical fixtures, reported missing from a vacant building on Indiana and from the C. A. Spragins Jr. & Co. shop on Scott. Two charges of violating the ordinance against buying goods from minors have been filed and a double charge has been filed in a third case for violation of the same ordinance and another requiring dealers to report all purchases.

Five juveniles were arrested by police last week with recovery of the fixtures.

Galveston to Entertain Cruising Midshipmen

GALVESTON, June 12. (AP)—Elaborate plans are being made for the welcome and entertainment of the officers, cadets and crew of the United States battleship Wyoming, due here June 17 on a midshipman's training cruise.

With about 450 cadets from the naval academy at Annapolis aboard, the Wyoming's personnel will total about 1,000, it has been announced. The ship will be greeted on her arrival off shore by a flotilla of yachts and launches, while a flight of airplanes from the third attack group at Fort Crockett will circle overhead. A program of entertainment is being mapped out.

Capt. Benjamin Dutton, who commanded the dreadnaught on her visits here in October and February, is still commanding officer.

Gainesville Teachers To Receive M. A. Degrees

GAINESVILLE, Texas, June 12. (AP)—Seven teachers in the Gainesville public schools expect to complete their work preparatory to receiving their master of arts degree from universities in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas this summer. One teacher is working toward a doctor of philosophy degree.

THIEVES TAKE $300 EMBLEM

Loss of Jeweled Masonic Charm Reported

A Masonic watch charm, valued at $300, was stolen from the home of Charles S. Patterson, 1811 Seventh, Saturday night by prowlers who gained admittance by forcing a window screen. The watch charm contained 14 rubies and 19 diamonds and was a commandery and consistory emblem.

The charm had been presented to Mr. Patterson by employes of the Wichita Valley railway. Other loot taken in the raid on the Patterson home included a woman's purse and $1 in cash.

J. W. Jonas of the Bungalow tourist park here told police Sunday his residence had been robbed of a .38 caliber automatic pistol.

Clyde Smith, 1608 Bluff, reported to police early Sunday morning that his Chevrolet coach had been driven from the residence and a description of two youthful suspects was furnished officers.

A quantity of cigarets and tobacco and $13 was taken in a hijacking of a Waurika, Okla., filling station at 6:40 o'clock Sunday morning, according to reports received by police here. Two youthful bandits accomplished the job and left in a small roadster, reports said.

John Bratcher, arrested Saturday by Special Officers H. G. Ellis and Jess Leverett, will be turned over to Sheriff J. D. Lambert of Nolan county early this week for return to Sweetwater to face charges of robbery. Bratcher recently escaped from the Nolan county jail and following his arrest Saturday indicated to officers that he had given information on the forgery case in order to be given an opportunity for escape.

Bratcher and Charles Burleson were sentenced to five years each in the state prison in October, 1931, after they had been arrested in the freight yards here and a quantity of merchandise recovered. Both men found conditions difficult for escape at the Huntsville prison and were transferred to Gainesville at their request to face other charges. Burleson escaped at Gainesville and was recaptured at Waco recently. Bratcher found the Gainesville jail equally as hard to leave and was transferred to Sweetwater to face another charge at his request, according to the tale given officers here.

Air Lane Beacons Being Installed at Sweetwater

SWEETWATER, Texas, June 12. (AP)—All equipment has been installed for the government radio beacon station near the Sweetwater municipal airport. The only remaining work on the project is the erection of the four steel antenna towers and construction of the antennas, it was said.

This station is one of the series being installed on the southern transcontinental air route. From it will be broadcast a directional radio beam guiding pilots along the course at night or in bad weather. The next stations are at Fort Worth, on the east, and Wink to the west.

Joseph Dockendorf, of the lighthouse division of the department of commerce, is in charge of installation of the station here.

State May Operate Galveston-Bolivar Ferry

GALVESTON, June 12. (AP)—Moves to persuade the state highway commission to take over the operation of the Bolivar-Galveston ferry across the Galveston channel are expected to be instituted soon by the county commissioners' court.

This action will follow upon the federal government taking over maintenance of the ferry channel, recommendation of which has been made to congress. Dredging of the waterway has cost the county $15,000 yearly, while initial cost, including installation of docks and dredging, was about $350,000.

The ferry saves almost 60 miles to Port Arthur and the route via Bolivar peninsula is an extension of the hug-the-coast highway. The ferry is operated on a toll basis by a private company at the present time.

Harvest in Jones County Getting in Full Swing

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, June 12.—Jones county harvesting is getting into full swing. Next week all hands are expecting to be running full force in harvesting the good grain crop. There are some 10 or 12 combines recently purchased in the county to augment the machinery on hand and they will be ready to start next week.

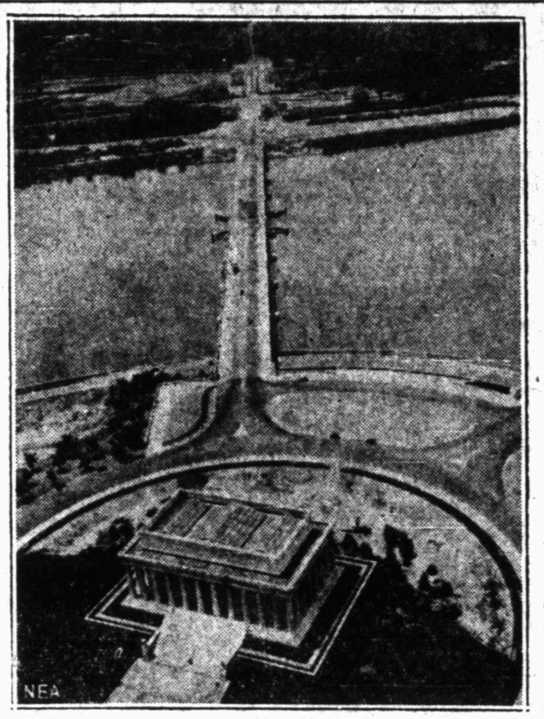

Estimates from the office of the county agent, C. C. Jobson, of Anson, states there is approximately 70,000 acres in small grain in the county this year; 50,000 of this acreage is planted to wheat, which is expected to yield about 15 bushels per acre. The 15,000 planted to oats is expected to average about 30 bushels an acre. Some 5,000 acres is planted in barley.

BANDIT TRIO TO FACE COURT

Accused Men Called For Trial Monday

Three alleged hijackers arrested two weeks ago by Sheriff Perry Browning and his deputies in a house on Seymour street will be the first defendants placed on trial before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court during the current week, it was announced Sunday.

J. O. Russell and Ted Rogers will face charges of robbery with firearms in connection with the robbery of the Kemp Kort Drug store on May 28 and the theft of a taxicab and clothing from Wilbur Wilks, taxicab driver here, earlier in the past month. Both men also have been indicted for theft over $50 for the theft of an automobile here and of a medicine bag from Dr. L. Mackechney's car. Max Berryhill, third member of the trio, was indicted also in the Kemp Kort and medicine bag robberies.

The next case docketed for trial this week is that of R. W. (Buster) Canada, charged with robbery by assault and violence in connection with the theft of a pistol from Night Jailer Sid Johnson last month in an unsuccessful effort to escape from the Wichita county jail. Canada is under five-year sentence for burglary.

Numerous other felony cases are listed for trial during the latter days of the week.

Bar to Discontinue Preliminary Exams

Examinations in ancient and medieval history and English literature before members of the local bar no longer will be required of applicants for admission to the bar, according to information received by Mrs. Gladys Reed, secretary of the Wichita County Bar association.

On June 9 the supreme court of Texas amended the rules governing admission to the bar by examination to eliminate the requirement of preliminary local examinations before an applicant could take his examinations before the court at Austin.

Three applicants filed notice here last month of intention to take the bar examinations, but did not take the local examinations for which tentative preparations had been made by the bar association in this county.
